Dan Moody, candidate for governor, told his audience at the outset of the biggest Moody for Governor rally that has ever been held on the plains. Between 5,000 and 10,000 were present.

"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a picture-son of this week.

SYNOPSIS

John Mannering, district attorney, rushes to the apartment of Jerome Wallace, his opponent in the coming election, to find his wife, Eileen, there. He accuses her of having been present at the raid, that night, of a notorious inn and she does not deny it. Young Bob Mannering, their son, is in jail, accused of manslaughter in having caused a woman's death in an automobile smash. Wallace was a suitor of Eileen's before her marriage.

"You did this thing, so that your lover might beat me, eh?"
"No," she cried, and again and again, "No," while she tried to tear her hands to his lips to stay his words he could not unsay.
"But all reasoning, he thrust back her hands and faced them both. She wild with fear and Wallace with a twisted smile upon his lips.
"You might have waited until morning. Then, you might have learned that tonight I resigned." He made a gesture towards Wallace. He hated in his tone bitter, biting. "You have a clear field, now."
"Do you, do you both," he cried and made for the door, but only to pause and, turning, point his finger at Eileen. "You're put him in office, do you. But, thank God, I can still fight. I'm going to fight him and save my son." Then, Mannering was gone.
Like some demoted creature, Eileen followed after him. Through the hallway, into the street, she rushed madly, to come finally to the car in which he had that moment seated himself.

"This here lady, she's sick and wants a room."

"John," she sobbed piteously, "let me in, let me in."
His answer was to signal the driver to go on.
White and distraught, she was left on the curb staring after the departing car, a wife who was not wanted. Finally dazed, faint, half-conscious of what she was doing, she turned to move away. And passing her own taxi, its driver spoke to her. Like one in a trance, she climbed in at the door he held open for her and sank limply upon the cushions.
"Where to, now?" said the driver, and he had to repeat his question again and again before she answered him.
"Drive," she said, wearily. "Just drive—and drive—and drive."

CHAPTER XII

Reddy Gear, taxi cab driver, yawned, nodded and straightened up with a shiver as the chill air of the early morning struck in to his bones. Mechanically, he swung his taxi over to speed by the lumbering bulk of a great truck with but few spare inches between himself and disaster. He frowned, but with never a thought to the exigencies of traffic. These were in the day's work and he had other perplexities. Unused to profound contemplation, they lay heavily upon him.
In his perplexity, he gazed moodily about him. On the one hand, a great forest in all its primeval grandeur, skirted the road and filled the air with the rich odor of resinous pine and hemlock. On the other, the wide reaches of a river, silvery beneath the rising sun, stretched away. Yet, Red was not interested in the lumber industry, nor was he given to faring forth upon the water. Taxi cabs, trees, carburetors and passengers summed his world. At the moment, a passenger who rode on and on. Suppose this one proposed to continue on forever? In Red's mind, there arose a vision of an extraordinary taxi cab journey. One that would send him on through the years with that motionless and eyed passenger always behind. Send him on, until he became an ancient bearded man and she a toothless hag. It might seem that this would be the acme of success to one of Red's calling. But he had no such feeling. Rounding a curve, there lay before him a village nestled in the midst of the forest on the bank of the river. At sight of the town came resolution. A novel one too in a taxi driver. He turned and shouted at Eileen.

"Say—don't you want to stop at this next town?"

She turned to gaze at him, her face blank as if she had difficulty in locating herself, to finally nod wearily.
As a man who sees himself relieved of a burden, Red drove on to finally stop before a little hotel, weather worn and dilapidated. He helped Eileen out of the taxi and she stumbled partway up the steps leading to the rickety porch, where she paused, lacking the strength to proceed.
Intent upon ridding himself of his passenger, Red moved on to the door and thundered clamorously upon it with his fist. For a few moments there was no sign of life, then steps sounded within, the door was opened and a sleepy landlady in his shirt sleeves appeared.
"This here lady," said Red, "she's sick and wants a room."
"I dunno," responded the hotel man doubtfully, scratching his towed head. "Don't nobody but lumberjacks an' mill hands stay here, an' what's more, this ain't no hospital."
"She ain't," said Red hastily, "she ain't what you'd call really sick, just tired. What she wants is just rest and she ain't a bit particular how she gets it, so long as she gets it. What's more," he continued, speaking with marvelous confidence upon a subject which had caused him no little personal misgivings, "she's got lots of money and ain't caring about what she pays for anything, so long as she gets it."

Before so fair spoken a recommendation as Red's what innkeeper could remain obdurate, what one long hesitate? Certainly the doubts of this one were promptly dispelled. Hardly had Red ceased speaking than the hotel man, all courtesy and attention in his rough way, was ushering Eileen into the house, up the stairs and down a long hall into a plainly furnished room. There he paused to regard her kindly, if curiously.
"Anything else, ma'am? What we got ain't much, but all you got to do is to holler an' it's yours."
Her senses numbed with grief and unutterably wearied by the events of the night, Eileen shook her head, hardly aware of what the man had said. Too dazed had she been to be aware of other things, too. That she had given Reddy a bill of a denomination which had lifted his tried soul from the slough of despair to the heights of joy was a thing to which she perhaps would have given little heed had she realized it. But had she known of Diane Bledsoe's presence, and, above all else, her extraordinary behavior Eileen would have found food for much thought.

For Diane had seen and recognized Eileen, early as it was, that morning. Out for a morning horseback ride, Diane had cantered up just as Reddy had assisted Eileen from the taxicab, and she had paused uncertainly on the hovering bulk of a great truck with but few spare inches between himself and disaster. He frowned, but with never a thought to the exigencies of traffic. These were in the day's work and he had other perplexities. Unused to profound contemplation, they lay heavily upon him.

HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTEREST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

Fashion Notes

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 19.—Women have learned that the house must be colorful and homelike in Summer as well as in Winter. No longer do we find the furniture covered with drab linen slip covers and mirrors covered with mosquito netting. The old-fashioned parlor is gone. After gazing all Winter at Wintry drapes, Madame changes her entire color-scheme with ne wdrapes, cushions, table runners and slip covers.

The materials used for Summer coverings should be chosen with care since they should last for several seasons. It does not pay to buy cheap cretonnes which fade in one season since the making of the covers costs more than the material and a good material will last from three to five years or more. There are new linens, denims and cretonnes which have the pattern extending through both sides of the material and these have wonderful wearing qualities. They come in both stripes and floral designs and are far cheaper in the long run than materials which are printed on one side and not guaranteed to be sunfast. Greens, yellows and orange colors are lovely ones for Summer months, and where all three of these colors are combined the effect is bound to be bright and summery. Stripes are a bit newer than floral designs this season but the size of the room and of the furniture must be taken into consideration before selecting either one or the other. A room with Italian furniture looks best with slip covers combining stripes in Italian colorings. An English room requires flowered chintz or small figured material. The modern room with modern furniture may use plain material, stripes or gay patterned material. As a rule large pieces of furniture can use smaller pieces. However, where there are several large pieces, one must use smaller patterned materials or use plenty of plain color with the figured. For instance, a room of Italian type recently finished by a decorator, has two large couches covered with slip covers striped in green, gold and black. An overstuffed chair is covered in plain old gold and another smaller chair is covered in green bound in black.

It is not a good plan to have too many pieces covered with the same material. One can use plain goods used on the main pieces. This rule applies to striped as well as floral-designed goods.

A novel room of a modern Summer home has black wicker furniture with each chair cushion of a different color, the cushions include blue, yellow, fuchsia, light green and dull rose. This combination of colors gives a decidedly summery effect at small expense.

CANYON TO HAVE FIRST PIPE ORGAN

CANYON, Tex., June 19.—Canyon will soon be provided with its first church pipe organ; C. R. Burrow, local lumber dealer, has provided a very fine pipe organ for the Presbyterian church which is now nearing completion.

quarters the pipe organ of the present church will be removed to Canyon.

An arrangement has been made whereby pipe organ students of the West Texas State Teachers College can use the Presbyterian organ.

Menu For Today

Cheese should be used freely in the diet, but remember that it is a concentrated food and should not be eaten after a heavy meal. One pound of cheese contains as much nourishment as two pounds of porterhouse steak, besides being rich in minerals necessary for bone building and all body processes. Ground steak cakes make an inexpensive meal. Buy an inexpensive cut of round or shoulder steak and grind. Shape in little cakes, season and broil over a hot fire in a pan with ut a little fat added. A little onion juice for seasoning is liked by many. Be careful not to overcook as this makes it hard and causes it to lose flavor.

NATIONAL GREATNESS—"What great nation is there that hath God so nigh unto them, as the Lord our God is whensoever we call upon Him." Deut. 4:7.

SUMMERTIME

It was a dizzy old winter, with its threatened outbreaks in Europe, and a hectic old spring, but this is the good old summertime. Life is short and time is fleeting, and why should we be always in a hurry and nursing a perpetual worry?

Last month we slipped into our B. V. D.s and this month we ought to take a lesson from the weather and slip out of our long accustomed mental traces and go dashing headlong to the open pastures, where the June grass is lush and the birds are singing as joyously as before the kaiser descended upon Belgium, bringing in his wake such a scourge of plagues as would have made Egypt appear a pleasant paradise by comparison.

We've grown accustomed to look upon life darkly. We have had wars and rumors of wars. We have known sufficiently of evil and doubt. Our minds are weary of the turmoil and strife. We long for the quiet ways we knew before the war, and dame summer is knocking at the door and bidding us cast dull care aside for a time; it is inviting us to forget our perplexities, toss aside the problems that we have not been able to solve and go a-summering.

And he is a wise man who will listen. There is something in the season that demands relaxation. It is not by accident that the railroads and the steamboat lines run excursions from June to September; it is not by chance that the seaside and mountain resorts are in full blast then, that the schools are closed and the play grounds open. When the sun is high, the inclination to mental effort is low. Even the farmer who rejoices in the heat of summer pauses for breath between the seasons of harvest and fall plowing, and all the rest of us should take the hint and do likewise.

It is summer again. The thermometer, if not the almanac, proves it. Therefore a fig for a care, a fig for woe; let the world come, let the world go—until fall breezes blow.

IDEAL OLD AGE

There is a tradition that when a busy man retires he is near the end of his string—that if he isn't already on the edge of helpless old age, he hastens the time. And there are many cases in point. Yet we find Sir Oliver Lodge, turned 75, declaring that when a man retires he becomes younger.

At least it works that way with him. He feels younger and looks younger than he did when he was still in the harness. He concludes: "Everyone should retire in good time, for there is no tonic like it. You want to retire before you are played out, for it gives so much more opportunity to do all that you desire."

Evidently it depends on what a man does after he retires. If he does nothing, naturally his life is empty and he fades and sinks. With living interests to pursue, with experiences and adventures long desired but hitherto prevented by the daily grind and with retirement entered upon while physical and mental vigor remain the retired man or woman should find the latter years what they ought to be, the pleasantest of life. This is the ideal of the future.

WEATHER AND RADIO

Western Europe, like America, has been having a late spring and Pail Painleve, French war minister, blames the cold, rainy weather on radio.

He is very learned about it. "Radio telephonic emissions," he explains produce a hertzian fog, which is ionized and electricized and turns to water. This happens even inside of houses. "One therefore can conclude that the multitude of radio telephonic waves in the ether produce the same effect upon the atmosphere, the result being a June with rain every day."

We do not know about that. Seems to us that the weather musses up radio more than radio musses up the weather.

BOOTLEG POISON

What can be said for the madness of the people who drink bootleg rum. In New York federal chemists during the past two years had examined 50,000 samples of booze and found that 98 per cent of the entire 50,000 samples had been made in New York from denatured alcohol. Now denatured alcohol is a spirit which has been made unsafe for human consumption by the admixture of poison, and is designed to be used for manufacturing purposes only. But the unprincipled bootleggers and others secure quantities of this alcohol, remove as much of the poison as they can, then mix it with colorings and flavorings and sell it to those who are fully aware that they are breaking the law by purchasing it and ought to know that they are committing suicide by drinking it. For eleven months of 1925 the deaths in New York from alcoholic poisoning were 511. It is said that there is a steady increase in the consumption of denatured alcohol throughout the country of about a million gallons a year. Perhaps it would be well to prohibit the use of alcohol even for manufacturing purposes if the murderous bootlegger diverts it from its legitimate use and poisons people with his vile and deadly decoctions.

HIGH CLOTHING AIDS HEALTH IN GIVING BODY PORES A CHANCE

Sunshine is very essential to the health of the human body. A scientist recently declared that the skin of the body should be exposed as often as possible to sunlight, and experiments made in this direction proved that the subjects were more healthy than those who were not so treated. If this is correct then the natural conclusion to be derived is that women of today will gradually grow more healthy than men.

If the women of Lubbock are to be taken as any indication, the female of the species is getting a lot more benefit from sunshine than the men are.

While so far as can be learned Lubbock has none of the champion minimum weight clothing dressers, she has some who are trimming down on the weight of their wearing apparel a whole lot and brevity seems to be the keynote of all feminine attire.

One young woman of another city who claims to wear the lightest weight clothing lays her claim to this distinction by the announcement that her entire outfit worn at one time weighs only 24 ounces. This of course beats the men folks by a long way. And with garments which weigh so little it is a certainty that a lot of sunshine is bound to filter through and the subject is going to get all the benefits to be derived from such exposure.

GETTING INTO A RUT

Owing to the growing tendency toward specialization in every department of human activity it is becoming more difficult for the average man to keep in touch with what is going on outside his own immediate interests. He becomes so engrossed with his special line of work that he runs a great risk of getting into a rut. While the exactions of modern business and professional life lead necessarily to a high degree of specialization they should not be permitted to unduly restrict one's mental horizon. Everyone should take sufficient time to keep abreast with important developments in the world about him. By doing so he will often encounter ideas which will be of practical benefit in his own sphere of effort. Above all he should lay aside routine duties frequently for the purpose of indulging in systematic thinking. Many men are able to evolve their best ideas in some quiet spot away from the scene of their daily labors. Whatever may be the details of any method adopted, a portion of one's time should be devoted to sound reading covering varied subjects. Otherwise he will inevitably get into a rut. And getting into rut is bad for his intellect and bad for his business.

WET AND DRY

If anything could be more ludicrously complicated than the wet and dry issue today we should like to know what it might be. With the fanatics on both sides shouting their lungs out, the busy bootlegger still operates and normal citizens buy liquor at a great advance over prohibition prices and the government collects an income tax on all illegitimate business! A farce? Well, rather.

INADEQUATE PENALTIES

"Present penalties are not adequate," says Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General in charge of Prohibition, commenting on the difficulties standing in the way of successful enforcement. Miss Willebrandt is absolutely correct. Prohibition offenders get off much too easily. A few stiff fines or jail sentences would not only serve to help enforcement but would crystallize public sentiment either for or against the dry regime and thus enable the country to arrive at some definite conclusion concerning prohibition.

CARELESSNESS WORSE THAN WAR

The summer season, with its traffic-crowded highways, is with us again and stories of smash-ups and grade crossing accidents are on the front page of every newspaper. Most of these terrible accidents are unnecessary. Most could be avoided by a little care. Why not take it? Is life so cheap that we can throw it away?

WAR IS BAD ENOUGH, BUT PEACE ISN'T MUCH BETTER, AS FAR AS SLAUGHTER IS CONCERNED. OF 62,000,000 LIVES LOST IN WORLD DISASTERS SINCE 1914, ONLY 9,000,000 WERE LOST IN WAR. "CIVIL STRIFE" ACCOUNTED FOR 6,000,000 MORE, ACCORDING TO AN OFFICIAL OF THE RED CROSS. SERIOUS INJURIES DURING THIS PERIOD REACHED THE TREMENDOUS TOTAL OF 140,000,000, OF WHICH THE WAR WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR 20,000,000 AND EPIDEMICS 100,000,000. WAR INJURIES AND DEATHS; IT IS NOW GENERALLY AGREED, ARE MOSTLY PREVENTABLE BY RATIONAL MEASURES TO STOP WARS BEFORE THEY START. EPIDEMICS AND INDUSTRIAL INJURIES ARE STILL MORE PREVENTABLE, REQUIRING FOR THE MOST PART ONLY THE TAKING OF THOUGHT AND THE SPENDING OF A LITTLE MONEY. THE METHODS IN MOST CASES ARE ALREADY KNOWN. BUT HUMANITY IS CARELESS AND DILATORY ABOUT THE MOST SERIOUS PROBLEMS OF LIFE.

THE WRONG TIME TO DISCUSS EXCESS POUNDAGE

So Think We

We think if all the bad men were in the penitentiary there would be no need of lawyers

We think that times change and men change, but principles remain the same.

We think possibly the reason that many people fail to vote democracy straight is because it has too many warps in it.

We think that Moody's platform is Ferguson and Ferguson's platform is Moody.

We think the fellow who said "A little more nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men" possibly did not refer to Texas politics.

We think it is not necessary for people to tell about doing their work well. Plenty of people will find it out anyway.

We think the electric chair is about as busy now as the high chair used to be.

We think more screens makes fewer flies, provided proper care is taken of the outside of the home.

We think that America really is to be congratulated. She is now spending more money for face powder than for gun powder.

We think there is only one thing that can be said in favor of capital punishment, and that is so far as the courts of this land are concerned it is final, and pardon boards can not turn the criminal back on the public.

We think that emancipation day brought joy to at least one colored heart or colored man's heart. The Ferguson's let loose one of the inmates of the pen on a pardon after having been once paroled and then put back for misconduct. The poor boy we presume was penniless and friendless.

We think that if Britain expects to get real results from her note to soviet Russia she should have accompanied it by a big stick. We doubt if the average Russian would know what to do with even a pet note.

We think the same folks who think it too hot to go to church on Sunday complain about it being too cold in the winter. We are of the opinion that they possibly do not know whether it is hot or cold in the church.

We think there is on thing about a poor memory—it takes a fellow self satisfied.

We think Lubbock could be a lot more sanitary.

It Is Reported

That congress will soon adjourn. We are of the opinion that it might just as well.

That several gas and oil wells will be put down in counties west of Lubbock within the next few months.

That you never know a man thoroughly until you have gone fishing with him once.

That the colored population of this city celebrated the nineteenth in a very sane and sensible manner. No casualties reported.

That the most expensive thing in the home is carelessness.

That the crossing on the Santa Fe on Broadway is in bad condition. We respectfully invite the attention of the proper authorities.

That hundreds of chamber of commerce visitors are arriving in Amarillo today.

That burglars stole nearly thirty dollars worth of cigarettes from a Farwell store a few days ago. Wonder if cigarettes were not to blame for it.

Now by the guy who said that we would have no summer in 1926, that we will have no winter. We would like to think that he is right in the latter instance, but we don't believe a word of it.

That strong drink and gasoline is one of the most dangerous combinations that can be found.

That there will be more people attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Amarillo this year than ever attended a like meeting before.

That strangers in this town as well as in other towns experience a great embarrassment in parking ordinances as they travel along. We believe a uniform parking ordinance would be very beneficial to tourists.

To Stamp Out Slavery

The governments of the earth are getting together to abolish slavery and put an end to forced labor. All states have been invited by the League of Nations to co-operate in this effort. The extraordinary report of the temporary commission shows how great a part of mankind is still economically to be set free.

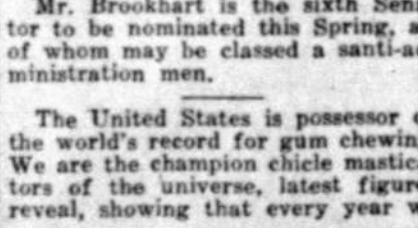

Capitalizing Antiquity

Modern Greece is now exploiting ancient Greece in true American style, and, as usual, Americans are paying the bill. The Grecian government is now charging an entrance fee of $5 for each tourist who wants to visit the Parthenon. The resulting revenue is used to pay the guards required and any balance goes toward the upkeep of the National Museum of Antiquities.

Smith W. Brookhart overwhelmed Senator Albert B. Cummins in the Republican senatorial primary in Iowa, a result which is not inconsistent with the history of politics in the state for a period of years stretching back to 1908, when Cummins entered the Senate.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST
BLACK EYES
Full many a blackened eye I've seen I've had one, sadly I confess, And all this tragedy may mean I need not speculate or guess, I know just how this curse appears. To all the grinning world I know all the sneickers and the sneers Which greet a man's discolored eye. Black eyes, it seems, are food for mirth. Laughter is all that they receive. Though accidentally brought to birth None will the simple tale believe, "Aha," the world exclaims with glee "Who decorated you last night? Who found you where you shouldn't be? It must have been a royal fight." I've met a hundred men or more, Along my journey through the years, Who've walked into an open door, Or bumped their eyes on chandeliers. Or tumbled down the stairs, or tripped Against a rocking chair at night, My black-eyed friends have always slipped. And none has ever had a fight. A black eye is a curious thing; The grinning world jibes and jeers Looks on the colored swollen ring. And makes of it a cause for sneers. But men whose eyes are blacked are queer— Not one in all the lengthy list That I have known through many a year. Admitted that he'd stopped a fist.

AMARILLO NEWS-POST TOURNAMENT HAVING MANY APPLICANTS FOR ENTRIES; LUBBOCK HUBBERS NOT YET ENTERED

Tucumcari, New Mexico, has made application to the sports department of The Amarillo News-Globe to represent New Mexico in the baseball tournament to be held here August 14 to 22, inclusive.

Tucumcari proposes to take the cream of six teams in a county league, strengthen the batteries and make a bid for fame and money in The Amarillo News-Globe tournament, according to C. S. Wharton, associate editor of The Tucumcari American and manager of the Tucumcari baseball club.

The sports department of The News-Globe is investigating the claims of Tucumcari team to representation in the tournament here, and unless other New Mexico entries are received at an early date may declare that team the official representative of New Mexico in the meet here provided their record and roster of players will justify their entrance.

However, it is understood that Rosewell, Clovis and Belen, New Mexico have teams contemplating applying for entrance in the tournament. No definite application has been received by The News-Globe from these places.

Oil men here from Wichita Falls and Tulsa are urging the entrance of teams from those two cities. Denver is also contemplating asking reservation for one team in The News-Globe tournament.

Panhandle teams expecting to compete in the tournament are asked to rush their entrance application by letter in order that no worthy team in this section be overlooked. Evidence that The Amarillo News-Globe tournament in its first year will rank with the leading baseball tournaments in the country is contained in the numerous letters of inquiry regarding the tournament and the general interest manifested in it over the southwest.

Not more than ten teams will be allowed in the tournament and these teams will likely represent several southwestern states.

Only one team has been accepted for the tournament to date, and that is the Post City team. This squad, representing the lower caprock section below the South Plains, is building a team now which is being pointed toward first place in the tournament.

Gold baseballs, huge silver trophies, cups and scores of other valuable prizes are being arranged for virtually every feature of the tournament.

A $25 silver loving cup is to be given to the most valuable player. The cup has been donated by J. E. Clements of the City Drug Store. He also gave a $15 cup for the leading batsman.

Co-operation in closing the entry list at an early date will be appreciated. Critz (2), Picinich, Walker, Nixon, Grimes, Roush, Henline. Three-base hits: Frisberg, Home run, Mokon. Welding Theory Changing
As a result of experimental work with atoms of hydrogen the theory of welding may be revolutionized. The idea behind the experiments is to pass the hydrogen atoms through an electric arc which produces a flame vastly hotter than the acetylene torch heretofore principally used for welding. By getting this heat welding of ordinary materials will be possible it is said, that will make the welded portions as strong as one original piece. If the experiments are developed commercially it may mean the passing of riveting to a large extent.

PLACE OF WOMEN IN POLITICS

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—Recent primary campaigns and other political activities of the last few weeks have developed the place of women in politics.

Even to an extent greater than in the last presidential campaign, women have organized their votes in states throughout the country that their new suffrage might be represented at the polls.

The development was strikingly illustrated in the recent Pennsylvania contest where all three candidates had separate women's organizations with women workers in charge. Senator George Wharton Pepper, unsuccessful incumbent, claimed to have 8,000 women at the polls as workers on election day in the city of Philadelphia alone. The feminine contingent of the other candidates was smaller in number but the effect of their presence was felt.

Interest among women at the polls ran so high that one quite prominent case was reported to Philadelphia police that a woman working in the interests of one of the senatorial candidates had been set upon by two women working for another candidate with disastrous results to the hair, face and eyes of the three partisans concerned.

Mrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, president of the Political Study club in a speech here recently said: "Women are seeking facts on national issues, political questions and government policies. To this end they have organized study clubs, and converted the 'culture clubs' of yesterday into organizations dealing with problems which the men face at the polls."

Mrs. Aitchison is working for organization of more study clubs, it being her belief that the first purpose of women in politics is "to obtain first hand information if possible on matters affecting the welfare of the nation, and to learn the opinions of those who are regarded as authoritative."

The United States is still behind some other nations in giving women places in congress. The German Reichstag recently elected, gave 33 women posts out of a total membership of 493.

The House of Representatives here has 435 members and only 3 women.

Some time ago Mrs. Julius Kahn of California made her maiden speech. She was recognized by Speaker Nick Longworth as "the gentlewoman from California."

Later when Mrs. John Jacob Rogers of Massachusetts followed with

FILM INTRODUCES PERSONALITIES OF GREAT INTEREST

Two interesting although strongly contrasted personalities are introduced to America by "The Devil's Circus," starring Norma Shearer, the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming to the Lyric Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

One, of course, is the director, Benjamin Christianson, the Danish author, director, playwright and actor, whose first American made production is "The Devil's Circus" and who is well known on the Continent.

The other is 6-year-old Joyce Coad, the child who has the role of Little Anita.

Hailed as one of the most sensational finds in child prodigies for years, Little Joyce was given this important role without having had any other screen experience and in competition with hundreds of motion picture children already established in the films.

CONGRESSMAN MAKES BEER

LA GUARDIA OF NEW YORK USES ANDREWS' MALT TONIC

WASHINGTON, June 19.—A congressman in his office here today made a palatably foamy brown beverage which looked like beer, tasted like beer, and was, according to him, actually beer.

Tonight dry leaders were uncorking vials of wrath upon the beer-maker, Representative La Guardia, independent socialist, New York, and upon General Lincoln Andrews, prohibition chief whose recent permit for manufacture and sale of "malt tonic" containing from 3.75 to 4.12 per cent alcohol enabled La Guardia to purchase the most necessary ingredient at any drug store.

La Guardia's formula to make his beer at a cost of fifteen cents a glass was:

Mix one or two or three parts of one of the two malt tonics now on the market with one part of ordinary near beer, containing one half of one per cent alcohol. Both bottles should be iced and it should be drunk at once.

DAN MOODY

greatly needs, while "Farmer Jim" is passing an empty plate for repeated vindications that if given would not bring about a necessity of more and more vindication.

ATTACKS BOND PLAN

Mr. Moody attacked Ferguson's attempt to recommend to the people of Texas that the highway bonds be repudiated. "He would turn this state into a Bolshevik Russia and have it refuse to pay its financial obligations," Moody said.

"Ferguson has said that the bonds were held by out-of-state bond houses, whereas the facts are that the Woodmen of the World hold nearly twenty million dollars worth of the bond the permanent school funds own quite an amount of them," Moody said.

The large crowd—apparently made up largely of Moody supporters, voiced their approval of his attack by deafening cheering, being joined by two bands in noising up the place when the attorney general reached the climax of his attack.

Quotation of evidence, instead of mud-slinging, as has been charged, Moody declared, is the basis on which he is demanding the retirement from office at the end of the present campaign of the Ferguson's, and the audience, which filled Plainview's city square, applauded his attack.

"You see the spectacle of Jim Ferguson going about the country saying that no grand jury had indicted him. No grand jury has indicted him. He is not a public official. He is responsible neither to the law nor to the people."

$500 a month. Now Morris Brown used to live in Bell county (applause and laughter) and while we were conducting this investigation another citizen of Bell county (laughter) whose name was Jim Ferguson went down to San Antonio and conferred with Morris Brown (applause). I want to ask you, do you believe that Morris Brown got all of that money, $500 a month and fifty per cent of the profits, just because he had worked hard for Jim Ferguson (applause)?"

"Now it has been said that I am slinging mud. I am slinging and not mud (applause). Facts hurt more than mud. I have made charge this evening that Jim Ferguson was using the office of governor, which his wife holds, to reward his personal friends. If I prove this to be true, is it not the duty of a candidate to know why he was a charge?"

"There is a man named Charley Hurdleston who used to live at Fort Worth. Eight years ago he loaned Jim Ferguson $9,500.

"When Mrs. Ferguson won the last democratic nomination for governor, the state executive committee met at Houston. Dr. Splawn had retired as the candidate of the party for railroad commissioner. This man Charley Hurdleston was a candidate for that place, Jim Ferguson, to whom he had loaned $9,500, supported him.

"Hurdleston was asked if he belonged to the Ku Klux Klan. Jim Ferguson, after Hurdleston said that he did, defended his membership by asserting that Charley had joined it because he was in the contracting business, and wanted to get business and make money, and therefore joined the Ku Klux Klan to make money. The committee refused to place Hurdleston's name on the ticket.

"Then Hurdleston went to Austin. He organized the Marine Construction company, and got a road contract. (laughter). He was glad he didn't get railroad commissioner of Texas. He said he named the company Marine because he had owned stock in the Marine Oil company and had been paid 100 cents on the dollar. Well having a road contract in the Ferguson administration is better than having stock in a paying oil company. Hurdleston's company got enormous contracts, and company was well named.

"A man named Maddox is an official of the State government. He was appointed by Jim Ferguson. It came out that he had been given a check by the Sherman & Youmans company for $3,500. He was hailed before a court of inquiry. He was asked if this road company which had been given valuable contracts by the Ferguson administration had paid him $3,500. He said that this is true. He was part of this money, and he told the then asked if Jim Ferguson got any corza of inquiry that he refused to answer the question on the grounds that might incriminate him. If Jim Ferguson had got no part of the money why didn't he say so."

"You see the spectacle of Jim Ferguson going about the country saying that no grand jury had indicted him. No grand jury has indicted him. He is not a public official. He is responsible neither to the law nor to the people."

Nordyke and Warlick Return

County Judge Chas. Nordyke and Marvin T. Warlick, a member of the Lubbock County Commissioners Court, returned to their homes here late yesterday from Wichita Falls, where they inspected a new type of concrete highway that has been built there.

This was just the beginning of a series of inspections that will be made by the commissioners prior to their awarding contracts for the building of highways in Lubbock county.

While the court has been silent on the road building program for Lubbock county, it is known that the commissioners are not at all impressed with the idea of building caliche roads, as planned a year ago, but believe that more permanent roads should be built.

Concrete or brick on concrete base will in all probability be adopted for use in Lubbock county, members of the court have agreed.

Bond issues will have to be voted to finance the building of hard surfaced roads unless the caliche abundance of hich can be found in this county, is used.

Of outstanding interest was the last group of songs, "An Old English Air," "Howdy Do, Miss Springtime," "The Dove and the Lily," and "Little Black Rose."

Brownfield Hotel To Open July 1

APPROPRIATE CELEBRATION IN WHICH ALL TOWN WILL JOIN BEING PLANNED

BROWNFIELD, June 19.—The new Hotel Brownfield, is rapidly nearing completion and it is expected that it will be occupied and opened for service about July 1st, but the formal opening date has not yet been decided.

Mr. J. C. Bond, the lessee expects to stage a banquet within a short time after complete installation of equipment. The building is a two-story affair with commodious lobby, dining room and sample rooms for traveling men and contains thirty five guest rooms with bath connections.

The main entrance to the lobby is located on the east side of the building, while the south side will house a dry goods store and a barber shop with rear connections with the hotel lobby.

Mr. Edwin Hester, well known over West Texas as a chef of the first class, has been employed to preside over the kitchen which will no doubt be pleasing news to the traveling public.

Mr. Bond is an experienced hotel man and has disposed of all other interests and will devote his entire energies toward rendering satisfactory service to his guests.

The citizens of Brownfield are very proud of this institution and it was secured by efforts of some of our citizens who saw to it that it was erected by private capital and the public was not called upon to subscribe for any stock.

Hollywood Takes To New Writers

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 19.—Timid scenario writers heretofore listed as "aspirants" are now known in Hollywood as "virtual unknowns". The distinction lies in the fact that their manuscripts, previously returned unopened, are being accepted.

Admitting the change a welcome, the authors believe their good fortune due to the recent "foreign invasion," when a studio without its imported, debonair writer was like a leading man with a black eye. It required lots of explaining.

The alien element cost producers more money than they care to become loquacious about. Hotel bills, sky high salaries and exploitation come to large figures.

When the brain children of the visitors hit th exhibitors there was talk of just what the word "negative" means. The box office reception given the films is still cause among producers for a deep reticence bordering on the mute.

Even the name of Michael Arlen is said to cause a certain official to wince and squirm for two minutes. Less art and more crudity if we must but stories with more "stuff" are to them the instructions given scenario heads.

So now the life line has been thrown out to the various and sundry in film writing mechanics. Cream puffs instead of rebuffs is the menu for writers who have been, until now, just unfortunate.

Cecil B. DeMille has announced the purchase of six original stories by new writers. Advertising matter printed for Warner Brothers relates that four stories by "virtually unknown" authors are on their production program for the next year.

Big names no longer mean anything, say producers. The story's the thing. And certain film writers are now departing from a long established diet of hot cakes and coffee.

Post Delegation Here Sunday A. M.

The Post City delegation to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention will stop here for a short visit with Lubbock citizens Sunday morning at 9:30, to give Lubbock a sample of the pep that Post will demonstrate at Amarillo. The famous Post City Band will give Lubbock a short concert while here and a good crowd is expected to gather on the court house lawn to hear the music and to welcome Post to Lubbock.

The Post delegation is to support Lubbock for the 1927 convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to word from Geo. Sampson, secretary of the Post City Chamber of Commerce. Lubbock citizens will respond to this spirit of co-operation by gathering to welcome the delegates from Post.

Thames Has Double Ebb Vagaries of the Thames river in London aroused more than ordinary interest recently when there was a double ebb and flow of the tide. The manifestation was not only rare but at times it is difficult to explain. Before the Thames was embanked however, its vagaries were more frequent than now. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries it was reported to have had double tides and in 1658 it ebbed and flowed twice in three hours. In 1662 three tides in four hours were recorded.

Buried Alive, He Lives. The well known Fakir Tabra Bey recently gave a demonstration in London, witnessed by many doctors and well known men, in which he permitted himself to be buried alive. He placed himself in a state of catalepsy. His nostrils were plugged with cotton and he was placed in a coffin. The coffin then was covered with sand. At the end of ten minutes the coffin was dug up and when the lid was removed the fakir was found insensible—in a few minutes, however, he recovered consciousness.

Inventors Bend Efforts Toward Aviation Safety

By JOSEPH W. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—All parts of the country are attempting to perfect devices to make flying as safe as walking, it is learned at the U. S. Patent Office.

Inventions of every description, to prevent airplanes from crashing to the earth, have been sent in to Commissioner T. E. Robertson. Patents have been granted on about 300 types and an equally large number have been rejected or are pending.

Parachutes, balloon, extra wings, gas bags, and all sorts of trick devices to keep planes in the air in case of engine trouble or other accident have been patented recently.

Two Philadelphians have patented a balloon parachute safety device which they believe will prevent aviation disasters. Under their plan there is a large parachute and a balloon on the top wings of a plane.

Automatically when a plane begins to fall or at the release of a catch by the pilot the parachute opens and the gas bag begins to fill with non-inflammable gas. The balloon part is to right the ship while the parachute is to bring it slowly and safely to the earth. This safety apparatus is supposed to prevent an airplane from crashing and is supposed to bring it right side up whether it is doing a tail spin, nose dive or side swipe.

A North Carolina inventor patented a contrivance that fits snugly on the upper wings of a plane and opens into a parachute when the pilot touches a spring.

Still another has a parachute on the tail end of the plane, his theory is that the heavy engine will force a ship to fall nose down and the chute on the rudder end will bring the craft slowly to the earth in case of an emergency.

Officials of the Patent Office said however that the parachute devices for airplanes was not very successful as it requires such large chutes. They pointed out that if it takes 50 square feet to hold a man up in the air it would take a parachute many times larger to save a plane.

Balloon and gas bag safety apparatus, they said, were well enough if the pilot has time enough to fill his bags with lifting gas in the face of an emergency.

Aviation will still be hazardous, it was pointed out, until one of the inventors strike upon a safety contrivance that will be effective in case of fire as well as engine trouble, collapsed wings and other accidents that occur in the air.

Tech Textile Mill Makes First Cloth

The first cloth to be made in the Tech textile mill was turned out the first of this week. It was a trousering material and was woven on a Stafford two harness loom. The warp was grey, blue and black with a black filling.

The work is preliminary in the work of the mill, which will be supervised by Prof. E. W. Camp during the summer months. According to Mr. Camp, the mill will be complete in every detail for the fall term and both theory and practice work will be taught. Additional help will be employed to assist in the laboratories. Several courses in designing will be given next year and it is the plan of the officials to make this unit one of the strongest in the textile course.

Additional weaving will be done in the mill when the eight harness Crompton and Knowles looms are started up. They will weave dress goods, both plain and fancy. Several of the students are helping in the mill this summer with the completion.

Moody at Snyder Hits Fergusonism

(Special to the Avalanche) SNYDER, June 19.—The people of Scurry County gave Dan Moody a great hearing today. The city tabernacle, holding 1,500 people, was crowded and hundreds of people were standing up.

Dan Moody was then introduced and made a great address, setting forth his platform and exposing the record of Jim Ferguson and exposing the evils of Fergusonism. The crowd was enthusiastic in its approval and hundreds crowded up at the close to shake the candidates' hands.

SILLIMAN EVANS HERE TO REPORT MOODY'S SPEECH TONIGHT

Big Expenditures To Attract Profits Movie Magnates

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 19.—More millions are being spent in motion-picture production today than ever before in film history. In past years the big picture was the exception—today it is the rule.

Good films, regardless of cost, are the real money-makers, according to a survey of past and present big-scale productions. Bad ones are expensive at any price.

Film audiences everywhere are demanding a better class of entertainment with a lavish hand to meet the demand.

The greatest money-maker in the business has been "The Birth of a Nation," D. W. Griffith's old favorite, made more than 10 years ago. It cost $150,000, and has made a gross return to date of more than $5,000,000.

The most expensive picture ever made is "Ben Hur." This spectacular production cost the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. More than $2,000,000 of this was wasted in taking scenes which were subsequently junked.

The picture was only recently released, and whether or not it will return a profit to the producers is highly speculative.

Contrasted with "Ben Hur" is "The Big Parade," made by the same producers, at an approximate cost of $600,000. Although running less than a year, this war film has already grossed nearly $2,000,000, and the owners estimate it should net around $6,000,000 within another 12 months.

"Ben Hur" is running consistently behind "The Big Parade" in nearly every city, although it cost from six to eight times as much to produce.

"The Covered Wagon," Paramount's historical epic, has been one of the most profitable films ever made. It cost approximately $800,000, and to date has yielded a gross return of more than $6,000,000.

James Cruze, who made "The Covered Wagon," is no vindictive man. His next picture, "Old Ironsides," cost of the sea. Next to "Ben Hur," it will be the highest priced picture ever made. It is costing between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

Dollar for dollar there will probably be more results in actual celluloid in this production than in any film ever made, for Cruze is notoriously the most efficient "shooter" in the business.

After Jesse L. Lasky saw the first five reels of the epic story, with the cost already a million and a half, he wired Cruze to "shoot the piece" and to spend any amount of time and money on it. The big battle scenes are now being filmed, with 2,000 men under salary at from $5 to 10 per day, plus living expenses on location. Overhead on the picture, which will require two months to make, is approximately $35,000 a day.

Paramount is now lavishing money on other productions, also. "Beau Geste," recently completed, cost $800,000. "The Rough Riders," a story of Theodore Roosevelt and the Spanish-American war, is to be filmed this summer at a cost of $1,000,000. "Behind the Front" cost only $165,000, but it has netted many times this amount already.

Warner Brothers expended big sums on "The Sea Beast" and "Lady Windermere's Fan," but both pictures have netted enormous profits thus far.

"The Phantom of the Opera" made considerable money for Universal, and "The Iron Horse" was a veritable gold mine for Fox.

"The Vanishing American" and "The Pony Express" both expensive productions, were big money-makers for Paramount.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "clean-up" is "The Merry Widow" directed by Eric von Stroheim. The cost of this picture has never been given out—it was considerable, but it is an enormous box-office success.

"Creed" made by van Stroheim for the same cost a fortune, and was a big "flop."

Von Stroheim is now directing "The Wedding March," another lavish spectacle for Paramount.

CONTRACTS LET AT SAN ANGELO FOR SCHOOLS

J. W. Neveas of San Angelo will build the new ward for $43,665 and Grandberg and Blaizen of San Antonio will remodel and enlarge the other buildings for $98,794. Scaffolding and plumbing will be installed in the five buildings, respectively, by Chalkey Bros. San Antonio, for $6,784, and Pettay Plumbing Company, San Angelo, for $7,297.

Phelps and Dawces, San Antonio architects, will revise plans before bids are received for rebuilding of the Junior high school and establishment of a junior college. Opening of the latter is planned in September, 1927. For the entire program $500,000 in bonds is available.

TWELVE MONTHS' WOOL SELLING AT 38 CENTS

History of Texas Volunteer Firemen

Fire Chief Twitty of Lubbock, returning from the firemen's convention at Harlingen recently, brought with him the following interesting history of the volunteer firemen of Texas, compiled by the McKinney fire department:

"The State Firemen's Association of Texas was organized at Austin, Texas, Nov. 1, 1876. W. C. Connor of Dallas was its first president, and J. W. Gollidge of Waco was its first secretary. The following cities sent delegates to that convention, namely: Dallas, Galveston, Waco, Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Sherman, Brenham, Calvert, Bryan, Brownsville, Hempstead, and Austin.

"The second annual convention was held at Dallas, Texas, June 13, 14, 15, 1877. W. C. Connor of Dallas was re-elected president of the Association for the second term. The third annual convention was held at Calveston, June 13, 14 and 15, 1878. W. C. Connor was re-elected president of the Association for the third term.

"At a convention held at Waco, beginning on the 18th day of May, 1892, a committee consisting of Jas. L. Storey, Ed R. Kone, J. R. Porter, J. Ed Kaufman and August Tiller was appointed. The duty of this committee was to formulate a charter under which this association is supposed to operate for a period of fifty years unless sooner dissolved in the manner provided by the law.

"The first annual meeting held under the present charter was held at Corsicana, Tex., beginning the second Wednesday of May, 1903. We do not know just what problems and difficulties were encountered by those who gave their time, their talent and their means to formulate and perpetuate the principles which the members of this association have always so loyally and so faithfully stood for. In looking through the files we find a copy of the proceedings of the twenty-third annual convention of the State Firemen's Association of Texas held at Waco, Texas, May 11th, 1898, being more than twenty-eight years ago. When glancing over the proceedings of that convention we find the name of W. N. Norwood, President; Pitt S. Turner, First Vice-President; Lee J. Rountree, Second Vice-President; W. M. Abernathy, Third Vice-President; A. F. Rose, Fourth Vice-President; Jas L. Storey, Treasurer; J. T. Ellis, Recording Secretary. On some of the committee we find the names of Carl Drake, John Julian, O. C. Connor, Geo. A. King, Wiley Jones, W. C. Connor, E. E. Taylor, W. B. Nance, W. M. Abernathy, Joseph A. Nagle. When we find such characters as these shaping the destiny of any organization we have no fear that they are unable to cope with any problem or difficulty that might arise. You will notice that at the meeting in Austin, Tex., in 1876 when the association was organized there was at that time thirteen towns

NO SPEECHES AT W. T. S. T. C. BANQUET DURING CONVENTION

CANYON, Tex., June 19.—An unusual feature of the banquet to be held at the West Texas State Teachers College to entertain the officers and directors of the West Texas Chambers of Commerce and several members of the legislature is that there will be no speeches. The banquet is to be on the opening night of the convention.

Music will be furnished by the orchestra of the Teachers college under the direction of Wallace R. Clark, head of the music department. About one hundred fifty guests are expected to gather at Consins Hall for the event. Honor guests will be brought from Amarillo in cars furnished by Canyon citizens.

AID ASKED FOR MOTHER OF FIRST WAR VICTIM

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Representative Bloom, Democrat, of New York, is sponsoring a bill to grant $10,000 to Mrs. Annie M. Ropulucci, of Washington, mother of the first American sailor killed in the World War.

John E. Eopolucci, boatswain's mate, who had served 10 years in the navy, was killed when the steamship Aztec was torpedoed or mined off the coast of France, April 1, 1917. The war risk insurance act was not made effective until April 6 and the appropriation sought represents the sum the sailor's widow and mother would have received had he died a few days later. His brother William, was killed on the Arbonne battlefield.

Traffic police in Constantinople take excessive pride in their dress and carriage. They wear crimson and brass helmets and carry a baton of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy. They take great pride in outfitting one another in the neatness of their uniforms and in their carriage. The effect is striking to tourists visiting that country.

GATHERING GRAIN SPECIMENS NOW FOR EXHIBIT THIS FALL AT PANHANDLE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

Wheat, rye and barley, are ripe over the Panhandle and South Plains section and agricultural committees representing the various counties surrounding Lubbock and the communities in Lubbock county are at work gathering the small grain crops for exhibition in the agricultural department of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, September 29-30, October 1-2, according to D. F. Eaton, superintendent of the department.

Those who do not get these crops in the next few days will come up missing in their exhibit this fall, according to Eaton. Oats will be ripe in a few days and will have to be gathered.

Gathering Wild Grass
Some of the committees are gathering tame and wild grasses, prairie hay, wild rye, sweet clover, and alfalfa. Other crops are looking particularly good at this time with plenty of moisture in the soil and the crops up to a good stand. With prospects the best in years, the directors of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair are expecting to have one of the best agricultural displays this year that has ever been seen in a regional fair in the Southwest.

The directors are working to sign every community in Lubbock county and all the Panhandle-South Plains counties up for exhibits for the fair this year. The fair has long been known as the "Show Window of the Plains," and the agricultural display is always an index to the prosperity of the section. This year the agricultural display is going to show a prosperous section, according to present conditions.

Hornsby Comes of Pioneer Stock

Judge John W. Hornsby, candidate for attorney general, who was here last night was born and spent his boyhood days on a farm at Hornsby's Bend in Travis county where his great-grandfather Reuben Hornsby, pioneer and Indian fighter, located in 1830 as a member of Stephen F. Austin's upper colony. His grandfather William W. Hornsby was a veteran of the Mexican wars of 1836 and 1845. His father, Malcolm M. Hornsby, served with the Confederacy throughout the Civil War and was later sheriff of Travis county for several years. Judge Hornsby was educated in the Austin public schools and Trinity University.

Judge Hornsby has rendered able and conspicuous service to the state in line with the duties of the attorney general's office. Some years ago he instituted and successfully conducted through all the courts, against an array of prominent legal talent, the famous "Punch and Chicken Salad" case, the result being a considerable saving to the tax payers. He has successfully represented the state in a number of penalty suits for violations of the oil and gas conservation laws.

In the conflict between Texas and Oklahoma, Judge Hornsby, as Texas receiver, by a clever ruse, ousted the Oklahoma receiver and gained possession of the valuable property in controversy and retained it, although threatened with the militia of that state.

During recent years, he discovered and developed the facts upon which a judgment for more than $17,000.00 was collected for the state in one anti-trust suit which he was joined by the attorney general. More than enough to pay the salary of the attorney general for four years.

In addition to these services, he has prosecuted a number of important criminal cases, including three murder cases in which death penalty verdicts were rendered.

Judge Hornsby has met the members of every Texas legislature for more than a quarter of a century, and during the past thirty years has personally known thousands of the young people who have been students in the University of Texas.

He is well equipped and in every way qualified to properly and efficiently represent the state, and to safeguard and protect the interest of the people at all times, which he will faithfully do.

WHEAT HARVEST IN BAILEY COUNTY NEAT

MULESHOE, June 19—The E. R. Hart Company reported the sale of three combines this week which indicates that wheat harvest is here.

It will begin within the next ten days and the crop was never better in the history of the county. Many farmer predict that the best will yield around 40 bushels per acre. There is only one sorrow so far and that is the acreage is not large.

Excellent growing conditions have prevailed since the sowing. One farmer was heard to remark, "I have seen fine wheat in Kansas and Nebraska, but I have never seen any that would compare with the fields of the Muleshoe country." An Iowa man visiting here said of Wagon Brothers crop north of town, "It is like the wheat that used to grow in Iowa." He also thought that this particular crop would produce from 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

Corn, sorghum-grains, and cotton are in excellent condition and comprise the chief row crops.

Irrigated fields this year, contain sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, onions cantaloupes and water melons.

TO THE VOTERS OF LUBBOCK COUNTY

I would like to say a few words in regard to the public weighing here, as a young man serving my first term. I am in the race for reelection for a second term. I have heard no complaints against my weighing. Our wagon scales are put down in concrete, and they are looked after very closely and open for inspection to any and every one, and if at any time you should not find me there day or night, just telephone me and I will be glad to serve you. If there is anything else that you are in doubt about the weigher's job, will be mighty glad to talk with you about it.

Blood Transfusion Saves Woman's Life

Miss Virginia Gray, nurse at the Lubbock Sanitarium, practically saved the life of Mrs. Will Groves of Abernathy Friday by giving a pint of her blood in transfusion to Mrs. Groves.

Mrs. Groves was brought to the sanitarium very weak from the loss of blood. A transfusion as the only possible means of her recovery. The members of her family and several neighbors submitted to the test but none were compatible. Miss Gray volunteered hurriedly for the transfusion in an effort to save Mrs. Groves' life.

The transfusion was a success and Mrs. Groves is greatly improved and doing well.

PATENTS GRANTED TO TEXAS FOLKS

COMPILED BY MUNN & CO., PATENT ATTORNEYS

Of 982 patents issued in the last week, Texas inventors obtained 23.

That these inventions are worth while is attested by the number of patents that already have been assigned for manufacture and sale. In other cases the inventors are planning to manufacture them themselves or still are negotiating for assignments or royalties.

The following information is compiled by Munn & Co., of New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Rex G. Hamaker, of Houston. Polish Rod Clamp. This resides in the provision of a polish rod clamp or grip, which is of sturdy construction and consequently very durable, and which at the same time is of simple construction so that it may be cheaply and easily produced.

Walter James Garner, of Petrolia. Leak Stopping Device. This relates to a device devised particularly for stopping a leak in a pipe such as is likely to occur more particularly where the ends of two pipe sections are coupled together.

Laust K. Laursen, of College Station. Countersink. It is the principal object of this invention to provide a tool, and particularly a countersink, with a cutting blade or edge so arranged that it will tend to cut rather than scrape the work.

John W. Jackson, of Dallas. Washing Machine. This invention relates to improvements in steam washers for clothes and it relates to certain novel features of arrangement of the parts thereof.

Charles R. Nalle, of Wichita Falls. Card Holder. This provides means for holding a plurality of cards or the like in rows or pairs so that the cards may be quickly and readily inserted in the desired place and likewise removed.

John B. Hawley, Jr., of Fort Worth. Construction of Monolithic Structures. This has to do with improvements in the construction of monolithic structures such as concrete walls, foundations, etc. It also has to do with the apparatus and the method by which the same is used in practice.

Charles S. Crickmer, of Dallas. Piston Packing. This invention has particularly to do with that type of packing in which a flexible or elastic member is compressed about a rod sliding through by means of fluid pressure. Mr. Crickmer assigns his patent to the Guiberson Corporation.

Levi Nichols, of Edinburg. Stalk Cutter. This invention relates to improvements in stalk cutters, and has more particular reference to a stalk cutting machine adapted to be drawn over a field for cutting into small sections stalks of weeds and plants which have been previously chopped down.

Luke Morris, of Dallas. Churn. The object of this invention is to provide a carrier so arranged that the receptacle may be easily and readily inserted into the carrier or removed therefrom. Mr. Morris assigns his patent to J. R. Jones and S. E. Jones (one-half).

James E. Stalsby and John R. Martin, of Houston. Pipe Puller. This provides a pipe puller designed to engage over the upper end of pipe stuck in a well bore, and by means of which the pipe may be withdrawn.

The inventors assign their patent to W. K. H. Company, of Houston.

William C. Smith, of Corsicana. Gauge Cock for Boilers. A further object of this invention is to make provision for the use of a longitudinally adjustable multiple-sided packing which permits the use of piston packing, lead bars or other material and enables the use of each side of the material.

Charles S. Crickmer, of Dallas. Deflector for Slip Actuating Weights. A further object of this invention is to apply such deflector to the device without enclosing the weight-sustaining spring and thereby avoiding a sand trap. Mr. Crickmer assigns his patent to the Guiberson Corporation.

Bertie S. Harrington, of Fort Worth. Blending Machine. This invention has to do with the preparation of substances such as lard, lard compounds, and the like, and is particularly concerned with a machine for improving the texture of such substances by the application thereto of a blending action.

FIND SWELL FOSSILS IN WELL

In drilling an oil well recently near Medicine Hat, a stratum of fish and shell fossils was found. The fossils were struck at a depth of 3720 feet and it was apparent that they were being washed into the well. Other finds were reported, iron pyrites and lacuna were found at varying depths, the lacuna rock being about 750 feet down.

FARM EFFICIENCY INCREASED

From 1910 to 1920 American farm labor increased in efficiency about 23.5 per cent for, although the number of farm workers decreased in that time 9 per cent, the crop production increased 11 per cent. Greater use of power and modern machinery is largely responsible, of course, and it is said that the average farmer used five times as much machinery as he did fifty years ago.

Old Spanish Trail To Cost A Million

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 19—

Many have realized the Old Spanish Trail is a noted highway with an alluring name and history and the subject of magazine and newspaper story more than any national route. Probably few had realized the great bridge and road construction progress until the announcement last week that the eastern section St. Augustine, Florida to San Antonio, Texas, will cost over $46,000,000 to complete of which $46,000,000 is shown as completed or in progress or financed and authorized; also that two-thirds of the mileage from St. Augustine to San Antonio is now paved or being paved or financed and authorized for paving. This according to reports from Old Spanish Trail Headquarters, San Antonio, Texas, whose managing director, Harrel Ayers, has just returned from a three month's inspection and conference across Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and East Texas.

Until a similar inspection is made of the western section, San Antonio, Texas, to San Diego, California, the compilation of costs and progress westward cannot be given. It is shown another $40,000,000 will be needed before the Old Spanish Trail is paved or improved enough from coast to coast to carry all travel satisfactorily. All south-bound highways will feed into this trunkline and it must become the distributing system for that accumulation of traffic. So much new investment and development are already started in the Old Spanish Trail territory eastward it is evident, Mr. Ayers states, a new continental migration is now well started to establish new homes. Land values have increased enormously.

Sunshine, water and fertility abound in proven richness among the farmlands both east and west to repay the incoming settlers. New playgrounds are opening along the gulf, in the hills of West Texas, in the mountains and among the mystic deserts of the West. Southern Florida and southern California will cease to be the only resorts; instead western Florida, southern Alabama, the Mississippi coast, southern Louisiana, embracing the Mexican gulf region and southern Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California embracing the Mexican border region will be welded together into one national playground and into a new empire of agriculture, industry and commerce.

The report shows completed asphalt and concrete roads and new bridges, St. Augustine to San Antonio of $15,917,350 with another $14,449,000 for paved roads and bridges to be completed this summer, fall and winter, with $13,157,000 more appropriated for paving and bridges to be completed as fast as possible. This does not include the improved sand clay and gravel roads amounting to another $3,445,000. This is an astonishing financial and construction record and explains the extensive investment and development already under such headway in western Florida, southern Alabama, Mississippi and Texas.

While the people are told increased travel or great rains may break down sections now quite satisfactory but not permanently built nevertheless it is expected the construction to be completed this year will close all gaps and open the Old Spanish Trail from coast to coast after ten years of the most devoted co-operation of any great project in the history of the United States.

Judge Crory of San Antonio ordered that three boys arrested for stealing an automobile must go to bed every night at 9:30 until the are 21, or go to jail.

NEW ELECTIONS NEAR IN FRANCE

DISSOLUTION OF CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES EXPECTED

By United News

PARIS, June 18.—Each new political development in France is bringing nearer a dissolution of the chamber of deputies and a call for new elections, leading statesmen believe, following announcement of former Premier Herriot's call to head a new cabinet.

The financial crisis would then be entrusted to a government unhampered by politics and the sole mandate of the governing group would be to bring order out of what is becoming more and more a state of chaos.

Herriot's acceptance of the task of cabinet forming adds strength to this prediction. Even if the former government had succeeded and announced a cabinet shortly, it is thought that his government will be short lived. Financiers are suspicious of Herriot's policies, believing that under his administration the franc would suffer further decline.

Dissolution of the chamber and new elections are looked upon as serious steps at this time, especially when it is realized that a form of dictatorship might be necessary to revive the exchange during the elections.

UNCLE SAM'S ADVICE TO HOUSEWIVES

By United Press

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—The Argentine ant is the household's most serious pest and often causes homes to be vacated. Uncle Sam tells housewives:

From Texas to the Atlantic the ant, in dark brown hordes, attacks gardens, ruins orchards, and swarms into houses. Introduced years ago on coffee ships arriving at New Orleans from Brazil and Argentine the ants have been distributed throughout Southern states and California.

To keep the ant out of the house Uncle Sam advises that a barrier of tape, saturated in bichlorid of mercury solution be put up at entrances. This tape can also be put around table legs, chair legs and as the ants climb upward they will be killed.

NATIONAL PARKS OPEN TOMORROW

By United Press

GARDINER, Mont., June 19.—Director Stephen E. Mather, of the National Park Service, will start the summer procession of tourists to the national parks tomorrow at the opening exercises in Yellowstone Park.

Although many of the parks are open throughout the year now for recreation during the winter, June has come to be the park opening season for Glacier, Mt. Lassen, Mt. Ranier Zion and some of the smaller parks which have official opening dates.

Crater Lake park, in Oregon, will not open until July 1, however, while Mesa Verde, Colo., and Sequoia, Calif., opened in May.

The opening day at Yellowstone is always the occasion for a unique celebration. Cowboys and Indians usually participate and one year the "big chiefs" of the states held a governor's conference that day, but this year the Rotary Clubs of the vicinity will put on the show.

A feature is to be the participation of the Helena, Mont., Boys Band The Ladies Sextette, of Minneapolis, also has made the trip to augment the musical program. A banquet is to be held in the park in the evening.

ICE! DELIVERY SERVICE!!

The first consideration in the purchase of ice should be its quality. This company manufactures ice from pure clean water with the most modern facilities available!

The second consideration should be costs and weights. We believe that any one who will investigate will believe that today ice is being sold on a fair basis in Lubbock. Weights are correct insofar as mechanical perfection has been reached.

To the housewives of this city, the next and one of the most important consideration is—delivery service! It doesn't matter if ice is pure, well frozen, correctly weighed and fairly sold—if it isn't delivered to your home at the time you need it most!

Delivery service maintained by this company in the City of Lubbock is unexcelled in the State. Busy wagons with courteous delivery men are assisted in prompt deliveries by auxiliary trucks which take ice to them on their runs direct from the storage plant.

Constructive criticism of the service rendered by this company is something we will appreciate from our customers.

MILLION CATHOLICS IN CHICAGO PREPARE FOR EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

By J. L. O'SULLIVAN
(United Press Correspondent)

CHICAGO, June 19.—Old world and new world gathered on the common ground of religion today as more than 1,000,000 Catholics prepared for the age old pageantry which will mark the opening of the Twenty-eighth International Eucharistic Congress at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Within the glimmering white walls of Chicago's great Soldiers' Field—memorial to the Chicago war dead—more than 100,000 persons are expected to congregate to hear John Cardinal Bonanza, papal legate, give the words that will open the four days service unto Jesus Christ in the Sacrament of the Holy Eucharist.

For months many committees—operating in almost every civilized city of the world—have been busily preparing for this opening moment of the world's greatest religious gathering. The hundreds of thousands who are here for the event have come from more than 30 nations. Thousands more are expected Monday.

The program for the opening session of the great gathering will be elaborate.

First will be the solemn high mass. In every church of the city, with visiting bishops—conducting—the masses will begin at 5 a. m. Immediately following will be a low mass. These will continue at half hour intervals until noon.

All of the congressists are expected to partake of holy communion at these morning masses and to participate in the Spiritual Bouquet of One Million Communions.

But at 11 a. m. the real pageantry begins.

Headed-in on one side by the teaming loop district, with high buildings along the boulevard casting their reflections over the giant stadium, and on the other, by the white capped waters of Lake Michigan, Soldiers Field will be an elaborate setting for the solemn pageantry of the congress.

Just at 11 o'clock, as the golden cross atop of reflections over the stadium, a solemn pontifical high mass will begin with the Right Rev. Thomas Louis Hygien, Bishop of Namur, Belgium, as celebrant.

Bishop Hygien is president of the permanent committee of the International Eucharistic Congress.

Following the mass, the Very Rev. Msgr. Dennis J. Dunner, Chicago, will read the papal brief of blessing to the thousands of crusaders.

Immediately thereafter, George Cardinal Mundelein, Chicago's own cardinal who was instrumental in bringing the great gathering to the United States for the first time in its history, will read the address of welcome.

The response will come from John Cardinal Bonanza, papal legate and arch bishop of Mittlene.

Cardinal Bonanza has been in this country for a month preparing for the congress and arrived in Chicago last week aboard a special train which was painted a cardinal red in honor of His Eminence.

Cardinal Bonanza's response will end the opening general session but two other affairs will be held during the day.

At 3 p. m. the 23 sectional meetings—sessions held for visiting delegates with speakers using the language of that delegation—will begin. These will be held daily through the congress.

Holy Hour has been set at 6 p. m. Every church in the arch diocese will observe this Holy Hour and the sermon at each church will be by a visiting bishop.

SAYS ICE CREAM IS MADE WITH BUBBLES

By United Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 19.—"Puffed" ice cream is the latest worry of W. C. Fraser, city sealer. In contending that it should be sold by weight instead of measure, Fraser says he had received several complaints from dealers that manufacturers are swelling the icy delicacy by the use of carbon dioxide gas.

"The use of carbon dioxide puffs the ice cream until a large percentage of it is air," said Fraser. "The retailer sustains the largest loss, for when he dips into the ice cream to sell it to a customer the air is squeezed out. He merely pays for air and loses it when he sells the cream to the customer."

Senator Paul Dupuy and Dr. Marcel Knecht head an official delegation sent by the French Government. Sir Robert Baird and Sir William Henry Veno are among the delegation from Great Britain.

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and William M. Jardine, Secretary of Agriculture, represent the United States Government.

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company, and Sir Henry Worth Thornton, president and chairman of the board of the Canadian National Railways, will be speakers when the business sessions start Monday.

Among other speakers are to be Bruce Barton, Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce; Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin; C. Harold Vernon, of London; Lieutenant Colonel Edward F. Lawson, of London; Judge C. E. Lobdell, fiscal agent, Federal Land Banks, Washington, and C. Woodbridge, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Secretary Hoover will sound the keynote of the convention in a talk on "Advertising—Stabilizer of Prosperity," in which he will give his impressions of the worth of advertising in sustaining business activity. Secretary Jardine will discuss the value of advertising in helping the farmer to market his surplus production.

The Poor Richard Club, of Philadelphia, composed of 700 advertising men, has arranged a program of varied and colorful entertainment, under the direction of Rowe Stewart, former president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, for 10,000 visitors who will be here until next Friday (June 25).

A novel feature of the convention will be a series of midnight shows under the direction of Karl Bloomington, former president of the London music hall type of entertainment as a pattern. Mr. Bloomington has arranged for 36 acts from vaudeville and from musical comedy shows to move from one roof garden to another in the course of two hours entertainment on June 21, 22 and 23.

Tours to Valley Forge and other historical points are included in the program of entertainment for visiting women, also receptions at the estates of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stotenburg, at Chestnut Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre DuPont, near Wilmington.

A reception by the Philadelphia Club of Advertising Women is on the program for Tuesday night, June 22, and on the following night the visitors will be guests of the Poor Richard Club at the Music Festival to be given in the Sesqui stadium by the Philadelphia Music League.

On Friday, June 25, the visiting golfers will be guests of 20 clubs in and near Philadelphia. J. B. Mackenzie, chairman of the Golf Committee, has arranged a number of matches for cups.

The convention opens tomorrow at an inspirational meeting in the main Sesqui-Centennial auditorium seating 15,000 persons, at which Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, and Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick, of Philadelphia, will deliver addresses of welcome. The keynote address of the convention will be delivered by Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

All sessions of the convention will be broadcast by radio station WLIT.

COCHRAN COUNTY DEVELOPING INTO FINE FARMING COMMUNITY; LARGE RANCHES BEING BROKEN INTO MANY FINE FARMS

With lands as fertile as the "Valley of the Nile", with a climate as fine as California's; with rain sufficient and ample to make good crops and without many of the drawbacks of the older settlements of the average country; Cochran county is rapidly developing into a wonderful farming section. Thousands of acres of the most fertile land to be found in any climate, is either being offered or will soon be offered to the public for farming purposes. These lands vary in texture from a dark chocolate loam to heavy sandy soils, offering varieties suitable to the whims and preferences of various personalities. Some are preferable to certain kinds of crops and others are better adapted to other crops.

The lands, climate and rainfall of Cochran county is suitable to the various crops generally found in the southern and south central states. It is a proven corn section, fine for all the various grain sorghums crops, plenty of fine wheat and oats land; great for syrup making cane; undefeated for melons and kindred crops; gardening and trucking where attempted in unsurpassed; a fine fruit and orchard section; and with all these, it is still within the cotton belt, both from the standpoint of location and climate and rainfall.

Cochran county will equal any climate for dairy farming. Feed crops are as sure as any crop in any land. Many average farmers are now selling twelve to fifteen dollars worth of these products weekly. With the advent of better transportation facilities and better marketing connections, dairy farming will make great strides in this section. When a farm can be purchased and paid for at the rate of seven dollars per week and when three or four good Jersey milk cows will make that much money per week and leave the farmer a like amount for living expenses, and when the feed for feeding such a number of cows can be raised surely on thirty or forty acre of land, leaving the balance of the farm for profits, the advantages will surely be seen and appreciated by stock farmers throughout the land.

Cochran county is a great "Hog and Hominy" country. It is a proven corn section. Fifty bushels per acre is not uncommon and a failure of corn is practically unknown. Numerous farmers now in the county have a surplus of corn and they are building up the hog pens in a remarkable hurry. With the growing scarcity of meats, the constantly lessening of the cattle range, the increased prices of meat and especially pork; the hog industry is bound to come to any section that is undeniably a corn country. Hogs and corn in Cochran county will soon pay for a good home and make the grower independent while doing so. It is an indisputable fact.

Chickens and milo maize will soon pay for a farm in the "Baby County." The readers of The Morning Monitor this week will find choice lands advertised for sale without cash payments and on terms such that $350 per year will keep up the interest and pay off the principal on a $5,000 farm. This is less than $7 per week. One hundred good hens will more than pay for the farm. Water is fine and abundant at a shallow depth. Truck crops, gardens, and orchards go hand in hand with the poultry. In fact, the climate and the conditions are ideal for the poultry industry.

We have fine wheat and oats land in Cochran county. The dark chocolate loams are exactly the same as are famous for wheat in other sections, and it is wheat lands in Cochran county, too. Thousands of acres of fine loams will make oats that would no doubt put the famous "Carter" crop to shame. Of course, we have necessarily been looking for money crops like cotton, but oats will receive attention before many years and be an important crop on the future hog, dairy and stock farm of Cochran county.

From one hundred thousand to two hundred thousand gallons of fine table syrup will probably be manufactured in Cochran county during the season of 1926. The famous red cut-claw lands of this section have proven unexcelled for making a high grade of table syrup. The seasons and climate have proven almost perfectly adapted to syrup making cane and the product therefrom is great. The South Plains Syrup Mills is preparing to erect at Morton within the next ninety days a mill that will manufacture a thousand gallons of fine syrup daily. The lands around Morton, especially the red, cut-claw lands have been proven to produce cane that will make a very high grade of syrup of a very high quality flavor and practically as clear as honey. When it is considered that the average crop will make from 200 to 400 gallons of syrup which will wholesale at from eighty to ninety cents per bucket of ten pounds it is readily observable that such a crop means no little thing for a community or county.

Watermelons, say boy! They do grow in Cochran county. Tom Watsons are favored for shipping qualities. Last year fine melons grew in the center of Cochran county public roads. Fields were full of them. In regular melon patches, they rotted by the ton in the field uncalled for and unhandled. Cantaloupes are a fine crop and do remarkably well. If outsiders will but visit Cochran county during the melon season, all doubts on this score will be forever removed from the mind of the "Missourian."

Cherry cordial and grape wine. No, no, that was before the days of old-man Volstead. We mean, cherry pie and grape juice, now. Anyway, cherries and grapes are considered a "Never Fail Crop." Orchards and arbors of ten and twelve years standing have never been known to fail. Plums, peaches, pears and apples do well. One reliable person told the writer within the last two weeks that he had not failed to have a good crop of cherries and grapes in the past twelve years. He stated further, that his crop of over a hundred trees this year would be sold in the orchard, not at his gate for a bit a pound, not a bad money crop is that. The now famous California seedless white white grapes will produce as well on thirty dollar Cochran county lands as "Spider fashions" are very popular at fashionable race meetings and lar lands of other climes. It's a demonstrated fact. Sweet potatoes, Burbank spuds, cabbage, beans, beets, lettuce, onions, squashes, sweet corn pumpkins, tomatoes, oh well you will have to see a Cochran county irrigated garden and berry patch to appreciate its merits. Berries and vegetables fresh from the garden throughout the summer and from the cellar throughout the winter. This now middle June but lots and lots of unused vegetables and fruits are still in the cellars from the crops of last year. Half an acre properly irrigated furnishes the family.

SPIDER DESIGN CAUGHT IN FASHION WEB

By United Press
LONDON, June 19.—There are no flies on Miss Muffet of 1926. Instead of running away from the spider she now has him embroidered on her light summer wraps. It is quite likely that his web is there, too, done neatly in black or colors to contrast with the material of the flowing garments.
"Spider fashions" are very popular at fashionable race meetings and other sporting events, and the English designers have scored a success in creation. As the spider weaves his web in unexpected places, so may this decoration be found in unexpected places on milady's clothes. The web may swing over the shoulder or be weaved in the folds of the loose coat.

The fashion has also been adopted for evening wear. Realistic spiders are seen worked in the finest silks. Similar designs are also being used for scarfs and even hats.

The designers here have stopped at nothing to achieve original effects this season. As a contrast for the vicious spider they have pillaged the bishop's wardrobe for the cut of a coat that will be simple and at the same time distinctive. The result is a sleeveless coat that resembles the bishop's stole.

These designs, taken from the ecclesiastical vestment have long straight, open fronts which hang down like those of his stole and are attached under the arms to a plain black drapery, and so form a coat proper. The present vogue for patterned fabrics used in association with plain materials is demonstrated effectively in these sleeveless wraps. A plain georgette or crepe de chine frock is entirely altered in character when a stole-like coat of floral patterned fabric in brilliant colors is added.

By means of a stole and a fichu, which is a picturesque revival from the days of Marie Antoinette which has suddenly made its appearance, one frock can be made to present two entirely different aspects, and so cut down the summer dress bill.

CHARGE SCHOOL PERSECUTION IN CHINA

PEKING, June 19.—A "persecution of education" in China has progressed to such a point where any student or teacher displaying independence of thought is likely to be arrested as if he were a criminal, charges the Nationalist organ "People's Tribune" which is published in English in Peking.

According to the Tribune, a regular hunt is being conducted in educational institutions for the alleged purpose of eradicating bolshevik influence, but the term bolshevik is subject to such wide interpretation that the ban on free thought has spread beyond all reason.

"The systematic searches made in educational institutions and the fear of arrest has caused actual panic to spread among educators and many have fled in order to escape the danger that they believe awaits them," declares the paper. "This persecution of education is going on in spite of the fact that Marshal Chang Tso-lin has made it known that he bears no animosity to the educational world and has no desire to harm the students or teachers in any way. It must be supposed that this declaration was not made sincerely or that his wishes are not being obeyed in Peking."

Entering into discussion of the underlying causes of this unruliness the Tribune finds that their opponents feel students should not engage in politics but should stick to their studies. If Chinese students engaged in "rag" as in England there could be only indulgence, but their elders object to the fact that the students and teachers "keenly take to heart the condition of their country and are urged on by a strong desire to improve it," the paper believes.

Owen D. Young, co-author of the Dawes plan, is a keen observer of men and affairs, as a recent utterance of his will indicate: "When unadjusted gears come into conflict, one set gets stripped; when man-made laws conflict with those of nature and science, there is not the slightest doubt which will strip the others."

Articles and Local News about South-Plains Farmers; Prepared by Welton Winn, Practical Farmer

What We Learned on Our Trip Tuesday Evening

Through the kindness of Mr. David F. Eaton, our efficient county agent, we had the pleasure of a hasty trip to Slaton and Southland. First, we want to say the crops from Slaton to Southland are not quite as far advanced as are the crops from Slaton back to Lubbock. One reason, we learned, is that they had a hail down that way that caused a lot of the crops to be planted over.

On our return trip from Southland, we stopped at Slaton, or near there, at the farm of Mr. W. P. Florence. He lives just on the edge of the city and has nice small dairy farms, also 20 fine Jersey cows. Mr. Florence has his farm in fine condition. Mr. Eaton helped Mr. Florence to select some cows and we think had done some terracing for him. Mr. Eaton said that this farmer was succeeding nicely with his dairy herd, and had some very fine looking cows and heifers.

On our return from Slaton, we stopped at the home of Mr. C. Z. Fine. Mr. Fine was out in the farm at work but we looked over part of the farm as Mrs. Fine had informed Mr. Eaton that there was some kind of flea that seemed to be injuring the cotton. Mr. Eaton examined the cotton and the fleas and gave it as his opinion that they would not last long or do any material damage to the cotton. The cotton on the Fine farm is about as large or the largest we have seen. The boys are in Boys Club work, and showed Mr. Eaton some of their crops. They take great interest in club work.

The work Mr. Eaton is doing with the boys of this county will go very beneficial to them in all their farm operations in the years to come.

We visited the farm of S. A. Johnson, who lives just north of the railroad north of Pacey. Mr. Johnson owns a section of very fine land and

CANYON PARAGRAPHS

Summer is certainly here. When the thermometer stands around 100 degrees, when the old male gets tired and wants to quit an hour before sun down, and when the fly swarm on the cows back so thickly that it sends the milk bucket across the lot at the slightest provocation, and when the old fattening hog hunts the shade and grunts and snores in his misery, then we know that it is summer. However, summer weather is just what we need at this time to make the cotton grow the fastest that it has ever grown; we believe that Canyon community, as a whole, has the best crop in Lubbock county, and we know they are better than those in Crosby county.

It is reported that Mrs. Sides is going to have the concrete tank in good condition for swimming. We appreciate her kindness in permitting our young people to swim there, and we hope that there will be nothing destroyed this summer.

Some one is scratching the surface of State Highway No. 53, between Idalou and Lubbock and is calling it grading a road. We appreciate the fact that somewhere between the state highway commission and our present governor "in name" that things are in such a condition as to hinder the proper handling of our highways. But since No. 53 has beyond a doubt the most travel of any road in Lubbock county and adjoining territory, we do believe that it is time that our appointee of the governor should be informed that there is such a highway and see if the dirt is soft enough to be raised up high enough so that when we have a rain, a visitor won't think he is in a country where they have canals as a means of travel from one village to another.

Talking of roads reminds us that Mr. Pruitt is in the race for county commissioner. Mr. Pruitt has all the qualifications that go to make a real commissioner, and we wish him luck in the Democratic Primary.

Candidate time is generally the hottest time of the year. Every one is the best man for the place or else he is asking the people to support him out of pity for the poor and crippled. We will be glad when the time comes when the people will not be fooled by the man that puts on an affected smile and a Joe Bailey hand shake, and kisses the babies and remarks how beautiful all the old maids are, but will look into the past record of each man as to character and qualifications. We should not be running a charity institution but put in a man or woman that is capable of managing their office in a real business way. However, we want all of the candidates to come and see us, get acquainted, and give us your side of the question.

Canyon will be well represented at the Dan Moody meeting Saturday night. Every one is anxious to see the man that has the nerve to buck against a man who is supposed to have a higher position. We are sure that there will be as many present at this meeting as there are calls for "Beverage" bottles and malt extract at a wholesale house.

Sunday was a dull day with the most of us. However, a few of us managed to get away for the day. Mr. Jesse Congar made a trip to Silver Falls Lake, and Ted Barnett was a visitor in Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Rocca Sides had as visitors Sunday evening Wilburn Lemon, Erwin and Early Daniel, Adolph Sides, Glenn Burgess, Geneva Daniel, Irene and Willie Perry, Della and Ruth McClean. Ice cream helped to chase away the extreme heat.

We think that the most outlandish thing that ever happened, occurred Sunday afternoon, when a tipsy inhabitant of a town about 50 miles northeast collided with a car that was parked on a high graded road west of the school house and he went head first into the ditch. After paying someone $20 to get him out of the ditch, he backed into the ditch on the other side of the road.

A wrecker had to be called and the man into whose car the imbibed of intoxicating drink had collided, did his best to have the lawbreaker put where he belonged, but a service car was too handy and our man got away. We think that this man narrowly escaped an embarrassment that no one would be proud of. Perhaps some day the Society of old Maids for the prevention of cruelty to Tom Cate will organize a campaign to make our highways safe for humanity.

Miss Eupha Lemon, who has been teaching school in northwest ward, has entered the Tech and is preparing for some real big things.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keigons have returned from Van Zandt safe and sound. We are glad they are back as we need Mr. Ammann help to organize a proposed negro minstrel.

Miss Mattie Lou Lollar of Athens, Texas, is visiting with relatives in Canyon and Lubbock.

Mr. Will Reagan, and family, of Olney, Texas, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Barnett. They report a good wheat crop in that section of the country.

Things seem dull now, but cheer up, the Fourth is near, and even if they don't know that there is such a day, back in Georgia, the people of Canyon will celebrate in a fit manner the day of our declaration of independence.

SHORT ROWS

Don't cut the lawn too short if a dry spell sets in. Sea the blade higher in dry weather. It will protect the roots of the grass to let it stay a little way above ground.

Sow beans every ten days. The first bean crop is the best. It doesn't pay to make the same crop bear too much.

Try a few bulbs of tuberous begonias for your shady window boxes if you can't find anything that blooms in them.

Hill up the corn before it gets too tall. This is old-fashioned gardening but it hasn't been improved upon. The corn needs hilling. Don't let anybody beguile you from this task.

Don't let peppers and eggplants lack water. They are hard drinkers.

Give asters a dressing of wood ashes, hardwood preferred. This is a valuable enough fertilizer to be worth buying.

Don't let dandelions seed in the lawn. It has been a wonderful dandelion year. Rake up heads when they are clipped. Some of them will ripen their seeds and fuzz off if left lying on the grass. Try sulphate of iron on them.

Keep a weather eye on the bugs and blights. Keep the sprayer in working order and shoot on sight.

Kill ants in the garden with carbon bisulphide. Thrust a stick into the middle of the hill. Pour in a spoonful of bisulphide and cover the hole.

Sow calceolara seeds for late fall. These obliging plants are one of the last to succumb to frosts and will furnish the latest bouquets.

Don't cut delphinium spikes to the ground. Snip the bloom spike off just below the lowest blooms. This will make much stronger plants for another year.

Put in seed of winter radishes. They will make big roots by fall for winter storage. Fresh radishes from the cellar are a novelty in many families. They are tender-fleshed and snappy-flavored.

FARM GOSSIP

Nation's Backbone

You are always hearing that the farmer is the backbone of the nation and the papers have been saying that the farmer is broke.

Do you know of any other business that can survive the reverses that the farm business can and its a good thing that this business has such resistant powers, because more would quit after bad years than do.

One old farmer told us the other day he would quit, but he was so side up so he couldn't; but he was just joking because we happened to know that he was a successful farmer and a money maker.

Farming is just like any other business when it comes to success or failure over a number of years. The farmer, who is a combination producer and business man will succeed and his less fortunate brother will fail.

LAKEVIEW ITEMS

Rotten Eggs Some Good

When you call a fellow a "bad egg" or "rotten egg" you mean that he is good for nothing and a waste. This term is applied because most people think that no use whatever can be made of rotten eggs, but they are being used in the big egg gathering centers by plants established there to manufacture protein for medicinal purposes from the yolks and commercial albumens to be used in making films, photo plates and other things are being made from the whites.

Experiments are now being made to extract chemicals from eggs that are so decomposed that the yolks and whites have run together and even now some of these are being used mixed with other feeds for hogs.

Its getting so that smart folks are not letting any materials go to waste and if they can make anything good out of rotten eggs they ought to make fine things from the better farm products.

Drought Curtails Booze

There has been a fairly serious drought in nearly state and its effect has been far-reaching. One effect has been to make liquor a traveling man told us the other day that farmers in a section of a certain southern state had quit planting corn almost altogether and had gone into making whiskey. They claim they can make more money selling their corn by the gallon than by the bushel.

They say folks down there think the law should be hard on the fellow who makes this "rot gut" stuff, but should kinder overlook those making real quality booze.

Judging Contests

Every year many judging contests are held all over this great country.

Farmers boys and girls form judging teams and hold contests on cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens and other farm things. The best judge usually gets the prize in these contests.

But on the beaches and at inland water places, there are held chicken judging contests too—but the judges don't get the prize there—O! No, the best shaped chicken is declared the winner.

Well its all right, we guess, most folks do like to look over good shaped things of nature and even some of the farmers wouldn't turn around if a real bathing beauty contest was being conducted within Ford distance.

Women, God Bless 'Em

Women are funny things, they cry when they are glad and cry when they won't and they say no when they mean yes; men just can't understand them and the can't get on with them or without them.

The farm women are just like all other kinds, but seriously fellows we ought to try and understand them better and say we will let them have

WHAT THE FARMERS SAY

Mr. T. C. Calley, who lives up near Shallowater was in the city Saturday. He tells us that the farmers in his neighborhood have their land better this last winter and spring than they had formerly and this he thinks is one reason the crops are growing off so nicely.

There had been more corn planted this year than common and the corn crops all looked very promising at present.

He has one neighbor who raised 30 bushels of corn per acre last year and this crop had caused several others to try corn growing this year.

Tom Hendrix, who lives south of the city about seven miles was in Saturday, he has the best crop he has ever had since he has been in the county. He said his corn is extra fine. He thinks that there should be a lot of cane grown for syrup making. Mr. Hendrix believes in growing his own meat each year. He has two fine sows, and was prevailed on to sell all his pigs he did not need to make his own meat, to his neighbors. Mr. Hendricks has some fine cows and a nice flock of chickens.

D. M. Moore, who lives 22 miles southwest of the city was in Monday. He has lived there two years; the crops in his community are all up in good condition and most all soaked out and is now making rapid growth. He thinks there is some increase in cotton acreage and also in feed crops, as quite a lot of new land has been put in cultivation this last winter. There is a fair acreage planted to corn this year and the crop is very promising at present. Farmers down his way are taking more interest in poultry and 'raking more cows than they have before. They are trying more to grow all the things they need for a good living on their own farms. He said all the farmers were in good spirits over the fine season's and the good outlook for a big crop.

W. J. Evans was here from Brewster county Saturday. He has been down there two years, crop conditions are good down in that section this year. He said both grass and crops are very fine all over that part of the state and that he had traveled over most all the country between here and there and all the way the crops and grass are fine. He said the southwestern part of the state is in the best condition it has been in many years, every body cheerful over the good conditions existing.

crop. Often they can be harvested up to Thanksgiving. A few plants of kale will give greens to be picked all winter in the open ground. The long green leaves of the kale can be getting a start where the early onions came out.

This is the time to make the garden take up the work for the second half of the season, too often the time when the home gardener quits and lets the vegetables struggle with the weeds for the rest of the year, trusting to the crops which are well started to hold their own.

One Important Thing that Should Not be Overlooked

With the appearance of dry weather, there should be kept in mind the importance of good cultivation of the soil, there is enough moisture in the soil to make a fairly good crop. We think where ever it is possible the drag harrow should be used freely, it can be run over the cotton for some time yet with good results. It has the good effect of stopping all evaporation besides it packs or settles the ground down so that the evaporation is less than it is on land not harrowed. Too much importance can not be placed on the use of the harrow in growing crops. In growing corn we have often found that running a small harrow through the rows after all other cultivation had been discontinued was very helpful to the crop. But found that to have the wide rows as mentioned in our corn growing articles, was the best way as it is much easier to run the harrow in the wide rows. Frequent cultivation of the right kind, will cause the crops to grow and hold their own in very dry times.

As the season advances and the weather gets dryer is the time to rush the cultivation of the crops but it must be of a kind that will conserve the moisture.

CANADA PROTECTS RAILWAYS

The custom of American manufacturers of automobiles to drive new cars across the Canadian border has annoyed the customs department at Ottawa, the officials of which maintain that this is a discrimination against the railways that should be stopped. They say it is not only unfair to the railways but if allowed to continue would cause congestion in the highways at times.

Texas State Board of Health Weekly News Letter

HOT DAYS HARD ON CHILDREN

AUSTIN, Tex., June 19.—With the advent of hot weather, mothers are urged by Dr. H. O. Sappington state health officer, to use every precaution in safeguarding the health of their children, as the long hot days exact a heavy strain upon a child's resistant powers against disease.

Milk, fruit, and vegetables, he advised, "are especially beneficial to the health of children, as they are easily digested and also contain the vitamins that are so necessary to growth. Children should be fed at regular intervals, and not allowed to eat at any and all times. It is well to give them five meals per day, and milk should be included in the mid-morning and afternoon lunches as well as at regular meals.

"Milk is the best all-round food and every child should drink at least a quart per day. Certified or pasteurized milk is preferable for children, but is not always available. If any doubt exists as to the safety of the milk supply, the milk can be pasteurized at home by heating to the point of 145 degrees Fahrenheit. Water should also be boiled, and then cooled before giving to children to drink if there is any suspicion of contamination.

"Unless otherwise advised by a physician, babies should be breast-fed, as bottle-fed babies have a far less chance for life. Orange and tomato juice in limited quantities, with plenty of wholesome water, are the only things that should be added to the diet of a nursing baby, and solid foods should never be given. Before weaning, which should be done between the ages of 9 to 12 months, the family physician should be consulted as to baby's diet. Infantile diarrhea, or what is commonly called "flux" is usually due to contaminated food or water. Call a physician at the first signs of intestinal disturbances."

High Lights of the American Health Congress

"What can be done to insure greater permanency for county public health nursing service," was the subject of a paper read by Miss L. Jane Duffy, state supervisory nurse, at the recent meeting of the American Health Congress at Atlantic City. The organization of a strong central committee, each member of which to be responsible for some phase of the work, was urged by her as one of the first steps in the installation of a county public health nursing service.

"The success of the work, according to Miss Duffy, depends to a large extent upon the interest and efficiency of this committee and the ability of the nurse to successfully carry out the health program. Much time and publicity should also be given to the development of the idea of community responsibility in health matters. When once the people of a community realize that they are indirectly if not directly responsible for the cases of preventable diseases occurring in their midst then the success of a health program is assured.

Meeting a Success

"The meeting of the American Health Congress, which is composed of 16 national health organizations, was a decided success and marks a new era in health work," stated Miss Duffy, "inasmuch as this is the first time a health meeting covering so many fields of activities was ever attempted, and it portrays much for the betterment of public health throughout the country.

"A feature of the program was the address of Herbert Hoover, who urged upon child health workers the thorough education of parents in child health protection methods. International Organization for World Health was also the theme of a stirring address given by George E. Vincent, Ph. D. of New York City.

"That 10,000 lives are sacrificed needlessly from diphtheria in the United States each year, was declared by Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., state health officer of New York, to be a stigma upon this country inasmuch as protection against this disease may be obtained by the administration of toxin-antitoxin, and that 90 per cent of these deaths occur in children under 5 years of age."

"GIVE AND LET GIVE" IS DENTIST'S POLICY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—A Kansas City dentist has found a unique method to compete with mail order firms that send unsolicited articles to persons and then send a bill a couple of days later.

The dentist received a package containing several neckties, followed by a letter reading: "We hope you like the neckties we sent you. Inclosed you will find our bill for $5."

Resolving on reprisals the dentist went to his work bench and there took two old plates. These were mailed to the necktie firm, with the following letter: "I hope these plates will fit you or some of your help. Inclosed you will find my bill for $100. I shall expect to receive check for $95 by return mail."

Politicians Seek French Finance Panacea Vainly

BY J. W. T. MASON (Written for the United Press)

France has reached the test position in her struggle to keep the franc from going the way of the mark. Efforts of the governing politicians of the Chamber of Deputies to force the Bank of France to use its gold reserve to support the falling paper currency have failed. International financiers, likewise, have refused to pour any more good money after bad and have declined to advance further loans unless the French budget is balanced.

The franc has thus been brought to the edge of the precipice and unless the French people come to their own relief, internal bankruptcy inevitably will result in a short while.

Internal bankruptcy means that there will have to be a revaluation of the franc and French domestic bonds will have to be partly cancelled, by making future interest and redemptions payable in francs having only a small part of the original value. There is no immediate prospect that such a debacle will mean necessarily similar cancellation of France's bonds sold in foreign markets.

But, French statesmen have recently been making speeches declaring that if France falls, financially, she will not fall alone. This may mean that the foreign loans will be partly repudiated or it may be no more than a threat, spoken to compel international bankers to feed more free gold to France. Probably, if France is compelled to repudiate her domestic bonds, every effort will be made to sustain France's financial honor abroad, for at least a time.

Otherwise, France would inevitably fall to the permanent level of a second class power. The resolute refusal of the Bank of France to use its reserve funds to prevent a further fall in the franc is the best sign possible that financial acumen has not entirely vanished from Paris. The franc is falling because France is not meeting her expenses. The government is grasping out more than it is taking in. The politicians, searching everywhere for gold, know that in the vaults of the Bank of France is the bank's gold reserve, used to give at least some value to the paper money in circulation. If this gold could be got out of the hands of the financiers and into possession of the politicians, it would be used to buy paper francs, at a stated rate, thus preventing a further fall in the currency.

But, such a procedure could last only as long as the gold lasted. After that, francs would start falling again; and all the gold of the Bank of France would be gone. The politicians, unfamiliar with economics and finance, profess to believe that a temporary prop of the franc would have a permanent effect. This is an absurdity. Nothing can have a permanently beneficial effect on the franc except the balancing of the French budget.

The Bank of France has seen the situation in its full actuality and has passed the problem back to the politicians where it belongs.

All the financiers in the world cannot now save France. Only the politicians can do this and they can do it only by making France pay her expenses. The politicians, however, are still timid and refuse to increase taxation, preferring to search for a magic talisman and are experimenting with every new device suggested to them. Their latest substitute for taxation is to try to cut down french imports, the purpose being to force the nation to economize, hoping thereby that existing taxation will bring in larger returns, and stimulate domestic industry. But, French industry is now working at full manpower. There are no unemployed in France. By cutting down imports, the exports which pay for the imports will also be cut down, in the long run, one cancelling the other.

This plan, therefore, will fail as have all the other improvisations of the past. The politicians balancing themselves on the edge for so long no longer get dizzy looking into the abyss. This is their peril. If France falls, it will not be because of dizziness but because of indifference and inability to see the consequences of going down into the depths. The politicians seem to believe that once down, the world will organize a rescue party for France. That is not the teaching of history. There is no necessity for France pitching into darkness. France has the money to buy her own salvation if only the politicians will extract it before it is too late.

SHIP HAS NINE DECKS

Recently the "Ile de France" was launched in France and when completed will be one of the biggest vessels of her type afloat. She will have nine decks or about the height of a twelve story building. The "Ile de France" will be a 40,000-ton vessel. Heretofore France, in her maritime enterprises, has gone in for elegance and comfort in her passenger ships.

X-RAY SPOTS OLD MASTERS

CAN DETERMINE THE GENUINE PAINTINGS AND SUPPLY DETAILS ARTISTS METHODS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 19.—X-ray experiments on old paintings recently renewed at Harvard University, have disclosed a possible method of determining the authorship of "old masters."

This announcement was made here by Alan Burroughs, who has assisted Edward W. Forbes, director of the Fogg Museum, in the tests.

Last summer, 150 negatives were filed for reference following similar experiments. Now, according to Burroughs, 50 additional X-ray tests have been completed with even more convincing results.

"I X-ray as many old pictures as I can," said Burroughs in discussing the work, "comparing the X-ray negatives carefully with the surface of the pictures so as to determine which parts of the radiograph indicate conditions hidden beneath the surface.

"Then the X-rays must be correlated as the paintings themselves have been by connoisseurs. Agreements and disagreements must be noted so that the information furnished by the X-ray can be checked against the information furnished by the trained eye of the picture expert and by the historian.

"The startling fact is that the X-ray discloses information not only corroborating the expert so that the layman can appreciate the fact, but aiding new facts which are extremely important for the connoisseur to know.

"It is along this line that I expect the best results. The Fogg Museum is gradually accumulating a collection of negatives which show how different artists manage their paints from the start in the first strokes of underpaint. It is obvious that as much can be learned about an artist's style from his preparatory work as from the finishing strokes which appear on the surface. It is also evident that in some cases study of the underpaint may furnish clues which are lacking on the surface.

"The experiments have already proved that forgeries can quite generally be detected by means of the X-ray. I believe it will be proven before long that the problems of attribution can be solved as successfully through the same means."

Here is a car of tremendous power... a car that will give you the thrilling performance of over 55 miles an hour, whenever you want it.

That will pick up in high gear from 5 to 40 miles an hour in 21 seconds.

It is the first closed car that ever took the famous Sierra Grade, at San Jose, California, on high.

This is average performance of the Overland Six... in the hands of average owners... the kind you can expect when you drive this car.

Full 40-horsepower is delivered in a straight line from its low swung engine through to the rear-axle shaft.

This big sturdy Six will out-pull, out-run and out-perform anything else of its size, or weight, or price-class.

It is a car of exceptional comfort. The big, broad doors are 32 1/2 inches wide. You can get in or out with the utmost ease.

Seats are wide, luxuriously comfortable. There is more cubic feet of space inside than in any car of this price... with plenty of room for five full-size passengers. Room to stretch your legs without feeling cramped or crowded.

Nothing has been spared to make this car a positive comfort-revelation. Owners accustomed to more expensive cars tell us this is true.

It is a strikingly beautiful car.

Frankly, we took the 18 best cars of America and Europe and combined their salient features in this new-type Overland Six.

In justice to yourself, see this car.

LUBBOCK DELEGATION MEETS CANDIDATE ENROUTE

"I believe in education. I favor a liberal policy on the part of this government toward our entire educational system. The Texas Technological College represents a new era of development of education in our state and stands as an encouragement to the boys and girls of Texas more especially West Texas, to better equip themselves to become good citizens and to fit them for leadership in society." Dan Moody, candidate for governor, told his audience at the outset of the biggest Moody for Governor rally that has ever been held on the plains.

ATTACKS BOND PLAN

Mr. Moody attacked Ferguson's attempt to recommend to the people of Texas that the highway bonds be repudiated. "He would turn this state into a Bolshevik Russia and have it refuse to pay its financial obligations," Moody said.

The large crowd—apparently made up largely of Moody supporters—voiced their approval of his attack by deafening cheering, being joined by two bands in noising up the place when the attorney general reached the climax of his attack.

BOY SCOUT CAMP DONATIONS REACH $1,785.00; DUGGAN FROM LITTLEFIELD GIVES $885.00 CHECK

Donations to the Boy Scout Camp Improvement Fund which will be used to beautify and remodel the camp site donated recently to the South Plains Council by the C. W. Post estate, totaled $1785 late last night. Several of the prominent men of the town and this section sent in their checks and stated that they were vitally interested in the scout movement.

A. P. Duggan, of Littlefield, gave $885 to top the fund. He was followed by the Texas Utilities Company who donated the entire lighting system for the camp. This will include the poles, wiring, switches, and fixtures for the entire camp. A total of $25000 is needed to make the camp suitable for use by the boys this summer. This fund does not include the lighting plant as the Texas Utilities Company gave this separate from the cash fund. Fifteen hundred dollars is needed to construct the dam across the canyon and work is expected to begin on this project right away. The water supply system will cost $800 and the latrine system, road to camp, remodeling of house and cleaning of springs will take around $1200. The expense of a caretaker will be included in this fund also.

This camp is one of the assets of the South Plains in making the right kind of men and the older generation should take advantage of this opportunity. The place is ideal for a camp and will make a meeting place for all the youngsters of the South Plains council.

The citizens of the South Plains should do their best toward the future citizens and make the camp a real place in which to spend summer and hike days.

RE-AUDIT THEN COURT WILL DECIDE ON JULY 1 ON FURTHER EXTENSION

Clark M. Mullican, judge of the 72nd Judicial District Court, this morning issued an order extending the time at which the court order for re-audit of the city books is to begin from June 21st to July 1st or 15th, dependent on circumstances surrounding the completion of the regular audit now under way.

The order was made by the court on motion of the attorneys for the City of Lubbock setting out the necessity for such extension.

On behalf of the defendants, J. R. Germany and Martin S. Ruby, charged by indictments with misappropriation of city funds, the court announced that when the audit being made by the city has been completed auditors entirely disinterested in proceedings will be appointed to make a court audit covering the matters in controversy and that these auditors will be certified accountants.

The court order this morning was not unexpected.

PLAINVIEW, June 19.—S. Campbell, carpenter of Springfield, Mo., was instantly killed at Plainview Saturday at 11:30 a. m., when he fell head first to a concrete floor from a distance of ninety feet, while he was at work on an elevator under construction for the Harvest Queen Mills. Mr. Campbell was inside a tank of the elevator and was driving a wedge when he lost his footing and fell, according to workmen. Mr. Campbell is survived by a wife and four children who recently moved to Plainview from Springfield, and by several brothers. He was associated with the Southwestern Engineering Co., and came here in order to work with them on the elevator. His body will be shipped to Springfield.

This is the second accident to occur within the past five days on the construction of this new mill and elevator. E. Browning of this city fell fifty three feet to a concrete floor when a rung on the ladder pulled loose, however, he landed on his feet, breaking both legs and causing a number of other injuries. He is still alive in the Plainview Sanitarium.

Tech Textile Mill Makes First Cloth

The first cloth to be made in the Tech textile mill was turned out the first of this week. It was a trousering material and was woven on a Stafford two harness loom. The warp was grey, blue and black with a black filling.

The work is preliminary in the work of the mill which will be supervised by Prof. E. W. Camp during the summer months. According to Mr. Camp, the mill will be complete in every detail for the fall term and both theory and practice work will be taught. Additional help will be employed to assist in the laboratories. Several courses in designing will be given next year and it is the plan of the officials to make this unit one of the strongest in the textile course.

Additional weaving will be done in the mill when the eight harness Crompton and Knowles looms are started up. They will weave dress goods, both plain and fancy. Several of the students are helping in the mill this summer with the completion.

GATHERING GRAIN SPECIMENS NOW FOR EXHIBIT THIS FALL AT PANHANDLE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

Wheat, rye and barley, are ripe over the Panhandle and South Plains section and agricultural committees representing the various counties surrounding Lubbock and the communities in Lubbock county are at work gathering the small grain crops for exhibition in the agricultural department of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, September 29-30, October 1-2, according to D. F. Eaton, superintendent of the department.

Those who do not get these crops in the next few days will come up missing in their exhibit this fall, according to Eaton. Oats will be ripe in a few days and will have to be gathered.

Gathering Wild Grass

Some of the committees are gathering tame and wild grasses, prairie hay, wild rye, sweet clover, and alfalfa. Other crops are looking particularly good at this time with plenty of moisture in the soil and the crops up to a good stand. With prospects the best in years, the directors of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair are expecting to have one of the best agricultural displays this year that has ever been seen in a regional fair in the Southwest.

The directors are working to give every community in Lubbock county and all the Panhandle-South Plains counties up for exhibits for the fair this year. The fair has long been known as the "Show Window of the Plains," and the agricultural display is always an index to the prosperity of the section. This year the agricultural display is going to show a prosperous section, according to present conditions.

Big Expenditures To Attract Profits Movie Magnates

By LINCOLN QUARBERG
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 19.—More millions are being spent in motion picture production today than ever before in film history. In past years the big picture was the exception—today it is the rule.

Good films, regardless of cost, are the real money-makers, according to a survey of past and present big-budget productions. Bad ones are expensive at any price.

Film audiences everywhere are demanding a better class of entertainment and the producers are spending with a lavish hand to meet the demand.

The greatest money-maker in the business has been "The Birth of a Nation," D. W. Griffith's old favorite, made more than 10 years ago. It cost $150,000, and has made a gross return to date of more than $5,000,000.

The most expensive picture ever made is "Ben Hur." This spectacular production cost the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Company between $4,000,000 and $2,000,000. More than $2,000,000 of this was wasted in taking scenes which were subsequently junked.

The picture was only recently released, and whether or not it will return a profit to the producers is highly speculative.

Contrasted with "Ben Hur" is "The Big Parade," made by the same producer, at an approximate cost of $600,000. Although running less than a year, this war film has already grossed nearly $2,000,000, and the owners estimate it should net around $6,000,000 within another 12 months.

"Ben Hur" is running consistently behind "The Big Parade" in nearly every city, although it cost from six to eight times as much to produce.

"The Covered Wagon," Paramount's historical epic, has been one of the most profitable films ever made. It cost approximately $800,000, and to date has yielded a gross return of more than $6,000,000.

James Cruze, who made "The Covered Wagon," is now directing Paramount's most ambitious film effort, "Old Ironsides," epic of the sea. Next to "Ben Hur," it will be the highest priced picture ever made. It is costing between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

Dollar for dollar there will probably be more results in actual celluloid in this production than in any film ever made. For Cruze is notoriously the most efficient "shooter" in the business.

After Jesse L. Lasky saw the first five reels of the epic story, with the cost already a million and a half, he wired Cruze to "shoot the piece" and to spend any amount of time and money on it. The big battle scenes are now being filmed, with 2,000 extras under salary, at from $5 to 10 per day, plus living expenses on location. Overhead on the picture, which will require two months to make, is approximately $35,000 a day.

Paramount is now lavishing money on other productions, also. "Beau Geste," recently completed, cost $900,000. "The Rough Riders," a story of Theodore Roosevelt and the Spanish-American war, is to be filmed this summer at a cost of $1,000,000. "Behind the Front" cost only $155,000, but it has netted many times this amount already.

Warner Brothers expended big sums on "The Sea Beast" and "Lady Windermere's Fan," but both pictures have netted enormous profits thus far.

"The Phantom of the Opera" made considerable money for Universal, and "The Iron Horse" was a veritable gold mine for Fox.

"The Vanishing American" and "The Pony Express" both expensive productions, were big money-makers for Paramount.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "cleanup" is "The Merry Widow" directed by Eric von Stroheim. The cost of this picture has never been given out—it was considerable, but it is an enormous box-office success.

"Creda" made by von Stroheim for the same cost a fortune, and was a big "flop."

Von Stroheim is now directing "The Wedding March," another lavish spectacle for Paramount.

CONTRACTS LET AT SAN ANGELO FOR SCHOOLS

SAN ANGELO, June 19.—Awarding of contracts for the erection of 15, of a ward school in Santa Rita addition and for the remodeling and enlarging of four other schools by the opening of the next school term was announced Friday by the San Angelo Board of Education. The contracts total approximately $151,510.

J. W. Neeves of San Angelo will build the new ward for $43,665 and Grandberg and Blazen of San Antonio will remodel and enlarge the other buildings for $93,764. Seating plants and plumbing will be installed in the five buildings, respectively, by Chalkey Bros. San Antonio, for $6,784, and Petzey Plumbing Company, San Angelo, for $7,227.

Phelps and Dewees, San Antonio architects, will revise plans before bids are received for rebuilding of the junior high school and establishment of a junior college. Opening of the latter is planned in September, 1927. For the entire program $500,000 in bonds is available.

TWELVE MONTHS' WOOL SELLING AT 38 CENTS

SAN ANGELO, June 19.—Sale of 12-months' Spring wool continued Thursday at Merton, at prices reported to average 38 cents a pound. Sales Wednesday totaled 183,000 pounds of long and 50,000 pounds of short fleeces. One long clip equaled the season's peak for the state of 38 1-2 cents and the short wool brought around 30 cents.

History of Texas Volunteer Firemen

Fire Chief Twitty of Lubbock, returning from the firemen's convention at Harlingen recently, brought with him the following interesting history of the volunteer firemen of Texas, compiled by the McKinney fire department:

"The State Firemen's Association of Texas was organized at Austin, Texas, Nov. 1, 1876. W. C. Connor of Dallas was its first president, and J. W. Golledge of Waco was its first secretary. The following cities sent delegates to that convention, namely: Dallas, Galveston, Waco, Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Sherman, Brenham, Calvert, Bryan, Brownsville, Hempstead, and Austin.

"The second annual convention was held at Dallas, Texas, June 13, 14, 15, 1877. W. C. Connor of Dallas was re-elected president of the Association for the second term. The third annual convention was held at Galveston, June 13, 14 and 15, 1878. W. C. Connor was re-elected president of the Association for the third term.

At a convention held at Waco, beginning on the 18th day of May, 1902, a committee consisting of Jas. L. Storey, Ed R. Kone, J. R. Porter, J. Ed Kaufman and August Tiller was appointed. The duty of this committee was to formulate a charter under which this association is supposed to operate for a period of fifty years unless sooner dissolved in the manner provided by the law.

The first annual meeting held under the present charter was held at Corsicana, Tex., beginning the second Wednesday of May, 1903. We do not know just what problems and difficulties were encountered by those who gave their time, their talent and their means to formulate and perpetuate the principles which the members of this association have always so loyally and so faithfully stood for. In looking through the files we find a copy of the proceedings of the twenty-third annual convention of the State Firemen's Association of Texas held at Waco, Texas, May 11th, 1898, being more than twenty-eight years ago. When glancing over the proceedings of that convention we find the name of W. N. Norwood, President; Pitt S. Turner, First Vice-President; Lee J. Rountree, Second Vice-President; W. M. Abernathy, Third Vice-President; A. F. Rose, Fourth Vice-President; Jas. L. Storey, Treasurer; J. T. Ellis, Recording Secretary. On some of the committee we find the names of Carl Drake, John Julian, O. C. Connor, Geo. A. King, Wiley Jones, W. C. Connor, E. E. Taylor, W. E. Nanes, W. M. Abernathy, Joseph A. Nagle. When we find such characters as these shaping the destiny of any organization we have no fear that they are unable to cope with any problem or difficulty that might arise. You will notice that at the meeting in Austin, Tex., in 1876 when the association was organized there was at that time thirteen towns represented, our secretary's report for 1925 shows that 162 towns paid dues.

"The Volunteer Fireman's Monument was erected on the State Capitol grounds at Austin, Texas, in the year of 1895, was unveiled on July 7th, 1896. A crowd of 5,000 people attended the unveiling of the monument. Judge E. R. Kone, of San Marcos, President of the Association at that time delivered the dedication address. John M. Furman of Belton also spoke, as did others.

"The following inscription appears on the monument at this time, 'In Memory, Eugene T. Deats, Sr., Colorado Fire Co. No. 2, lost his life in service at Blind Institute fire Nov. 9th, 1877.'

"Bert Strickland of Cisco Fire Department, Cisco, Texas.

"Fred J. Ferris, Ennis, Tex., born Oct. 25th, 1885, died Sept. 4th, 1910 from injuries received in discharge of his duties as a volunteer fireman.

"Joseph J. Turpin, born May 16, 1881, died June 22, 1911, Hose Co. No. 1, Denton, Texas.

"Ernest J. Bushey, born Sept. 27, 1894, died June 22, 1911, member combination Co. No. 1, Denton, Tex.

"Tom E. Quinn, born July 24th, 1827, died April 22nd, 1915, member North Austin Co. No. 6, Austin, Texas.

"Floyd Wm. Acebo, born August 18th, 1894, died Feb. 18th, 1914, member Pioneer Fire Co. No. 1, Corpus Christi, Texas."

AID ASKED FOR MOTHER OF FIRST WAR VICTIM

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Representative Bloom, Democrat, of New York, is sponsoring a bill to grant $10,000 to Mrs. Annie M. Eppolucci, of Washington, mother of the first American sailor killed in the World War.

John J. Eppolucci, boatswain's mate, who had served 10 years in the navy, was killed when the steamship Aztec was torpedoed or mined off the coast of France, April 1, 1917. The war risk insurance act was not made effective until April 6 and the appropriation sought represents the sum the sailor's widow mother would have received had he died a few days later. His brother William, was killed on the Argonne battlefield.

NO SPEECHES AT W. T. S. T. C. BANQUET DURING CONVENTION

CANYON, Tex., June 19.—An unusual feature of the banquet to be held at the West Texas State Teachers College to entertain the officers and directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and several members of the legislature is that there will be no speeches. The banquet is to be on the opening night of the convention.

Music will be furnished by the orchestra of the Teachers college under the direction of Wallace E. Clark, head of the music department. About one hundred fifty guests are expected to gather at Cousins Hall for the event. Honor guests will be brought from Amarillo in cars furnished by Canyon citizens.

They wear crimson and brass helmets and carry a baton of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy. They take great pride in outdoor uniforms and in their carriage. ## Brownfield Hotel To Open July 1

APPROPRIATE CELEBRATION IN WHICH ALL TOWN WILL JOIN BEING PLANNED

BROWNFIELD, June 19.—The new Hotel Brownfield, is rapidly nearing completion and it is expected that it will be occupied and opened for service about July 1st, but the formal opening date has not yet been decided.

Mr. J. C. Bond, the lessee expects to stage a banquet within a short time after complete installation of equipment.

The building is a two-story affair with commodious lobby, dining room and sample rooms for traveling men and contains thirty five guest rooms with bath connections.

The main entrance to the lobby is located on the east side of the building, while the south side will house a dry-goods store and a barber shop with rear connections with the hotel lobby.

Mr. Edwin Hester, well known over West Texas as a chef of the first class, has been employed to preside over the kitchen which will no doubt be pleasing news to the traveling public.

Mr. Bond is an experienced hotel man and has disposed of all other interests and will devote his entire energies toward rendering satisfactory service to his guests.

The citizens of Brownfield are very proud of this institution and it was secured by efforts of some of our citizens who saw to it that it was erected by private capital and the public was not called upon to subscribe for any stock.

Hollywood Takes To New Writers

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 19.—Timid scenario writers heretofore listed as "aspirants" are now known in Hollywood as "virtual unknowns". The distinction lies in the fact that their manuscripts, previously returned unopened, are being accepted.

Admitting the change a welcome, the authors believe their good fortune due to the recent "foreign invasion," when a studio without its imported, debonair writer was like a leading man with a black eye. It required lots of explaining.

The alien element cost producers more money than they care to become loquacious about. Hotel bills, sky high salaries and exploitation come to large figures.

When the brain children of the visitors hit the exhibitors there was talk of just what the word "negative" means. The box office reception given the films is still cause among producers for a deep reticence bordering on the mute.

Even the name of Michael Arles is said to cause a certain official to wince and squirm for two minutes. Less art and more crudity if we must, but stories with more "stuff" are to them the instructions given scenario heads.

So now the life line has been thrown out to the various and sundry in film writing mechanics. Clean puffs instead of rebuffs is the motto for writers who have been, until now, just unfortunate.

Cecil B. DeMille has announced the purchase of six original stories by new writers. Advertising matter printed for Warner Brothers relates that four stories by "virtually unknown" authors are on their production program for the next year.

Big names no longer mean anything, say producers. The story's the thing.

And certain film writers are now departing from a long-established diet of hot cakes and coffee.

Thames Has Double Ebb

Vagaries of the Thames river in London aroused more than ordinary interest recently when there was a double ebb and flow of the tide. The manifestation was not only rare but at times it is difficult to explain. Before the Thames was embanked however, its vagaries were more frequent than now. In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries it was reported to have had double tides and in 1658 it ebbed and flowed twice in three hours. In 1662 three tides in four hours were recorded.

Buried Alive, He Lives

The well known Fakir Tabra Bey recently gave a demonstration in London, witnessed by many doctors and well known men; in which he permitted himself to be buried alive. He placed himself in a state of catalepsy. His nostrils were plugged with cotton and he was placed in a coffin. The coffin then was covered with sand. At the end of ten minutes the coffin was dug up and when the lid was removed the fakir was found insensible—in a few minutes, however, he recovered consciousness.

Inventors Bend Efforts Toward Aviation Safety

By JOSEPH W. WASNEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19—

All parts of the country are attempting to perfect devices to make flying as safe as walking, it is learned at the U. S. Patent Office.

Inventions of every description, to prevent airplanes from crashing to the earth, have been sent in to Commissioner T. E. Robertson. Patents have been granted on about 300 types and an equally large number have been rejected or are pending.

Parachutes, balloons, extra wings, gas bags, and all sorts of trick devices to keep planes in the air in case of engine trouble or other accident have been patented recently.

Two Philadelphians have patented a balloon parachute safety device which they believe will prevent aviation disasters. Under their plan there is a large parachute and a balloon on the top wings of a plane.

Automatically when a plane begins to fall or at the release of a catch by the pilot the parachute opens and the gas bag begins to fill with non-inflammable gas. The balloon part is to right the ship while the parachute is to bring it slowly and safely to the earth. This safety apparatus is supposed to prevent an airplane from crashing and is supposed to bring it right side up whether it is doing a tail spin, nose dive or side swerve.

A North Carolina inventor patented a contrivance that fits snugly on the upper lips of a plane and opens into a parachute when the pilot touches a spring.

Still another has a parachute on the tail end of the plane, his theory is that the heavy engine will force a ship to fall nose down and the chute on the rudder end will bring the craft slowly to the earth in case of an emergency.

Officials of the Patent Office said however that the parachute devices for airplanes was not very successful as it requires such large chutes. They pointed out that if it takes 50 square feet to hold a man up in the air it would take a parachute many times larger to save a plane.

Balloon and gas bag safety apparatus, they said, were well enough if the pilot has time enough to fill his bags with lifting gas in the face of an emergency.

Aviation will still be hazardous, it was pointed out, until one of the inventors strike upon a safety contrivance that will be effective in case of fire as well as engine trouble, collapsed wings and other accidents that occur in the air.

had—had presented its evidence under the direction of an expensive staff of lawyers, the jury, in less than twenty minutes, held that the contracts had been let in probable fraud of the people and the taxpayers of Texas.

"We had an auditor to go into the books, and then had depositions made. We found that a man named Morris Brown was participating in the profits of that company. He was getting fifty per cent of these profits in Bexar county on maintenance contracts, and before we compelled cancellation of the contracts the Hoffman Construction Company was being paid $77,000 per year, in twelve equal installments, for maintenance in Bexar county. After six months, they had received more than $55,000 from the state, and had spent less than $6,000 on the roads of that county. We had that contract cancelled, and have no apology to make to Jim Ferguson."

"We asked the officials of that company about Morris Brown; asked them why they were paying him $500 per month, and one half of the net profits. Here is what they said:

"Well, Morris used to live in Bell county. He worked awful hard in the last election, to help elect the Ferguson. We thought he ought to be taken care of, so we tried to get him a job as a lobbyist. We got him a job down there at Austin as a lobbyist, but the legislature did not seem to take to him, and he didn't do any good. We then brought him down here and we are giving him a salary of $500 and a half of our net profits."

"Morris Brown used to live in Bell county. Do you know of anybody else who used to live there? (laughter). And he got $500 a month and half of the net profits. That is a lot of money, when you take into consideration the fact that out of that $55,500 they had dug from the state, besides their right to use a force account, they had spent only $6,000, and therefore Morris Brown drew one half of those profits and $500 a month. Now Morris Brown used to live in Bell county (applause and laughter) and while we were conducting this investigation another citizen of Bell county (laughter) his name was Jim Ferguson went down to San Antonio and conferred with Morris Brown (applause). I want to ask you, do you believe that Morris Brown got all of that money, $500 a month and fifty per cent of the profits, just because he had worked hard for Jim Ferguson (applause). "Now it has been said that I am slinging mud, I am slinging and not mud (applause). Facts hurt more than mud. I have made charge this evening that Jim Ferguson was using the office of governor, which his wife holds, to reward his personal friends. If I prove this to be true, is it not the duty of a candidate to know why he makes a charge."
