

SINGERS TO MEET AT FAIRVIEW CHURCH

Tornadoes Battle Midland Bulldogs Friday Night

MIDLAND REPRESENTED BY STRONG TEAM

The two remaining football games for Lamesa on its home grounds are with the Midland Bulldogs Friday night and the Post Antelopes the following Friday night.

Midland has obtained the services of one of the outstanding players of the State and nation as coach in the person of Dutch Baumgarten. Coach Baumgarten was rated All-Southwestern Conference player during his University of Texas playing career and was captain of the University Longhorns during his senior year.

Midland brings a heavy and ambitious team to Lamesa for Friday night's contest. They want to avenge former defeats administered to them by the Golden Tornadoes. Midland has suffered three defeats on the local field and they think this is their year to resume athletic relations with the Golden Tornadoes.

The Bulldogs have started their conference games with a win over the powerful Big Lake Wolves after having played Colorado to a close score.

Midland represents District Nine, Conference B while Lamesa is in District Three. Each team is rated one of the strongest in its conference and each has won the district title of its conference about as many times as the other.

Midland is one of the most noted schools in Western Texas. It has a large student body and forty units of affiliation with the University of Texas and State Department of Education which are twelve more than the local school offers.

Midland is also one of the oldest established school systems in the West and has had Mr. W. W. Lackey as superintendent of their system for more than a quarter of a century. Mr. Lackey and scores of Midland fans, pep squad and band members are expected here for the game, which will be played under the lights beginning at 7:45 P. M.

Lamesa Defeats Lubbock Cowhands Friday Night 51-6

The Lamesa High Golden Tornadoes encountered stubborn opposition in the Lubbock High School Cowhands last Friday night but won by a rather one-sided score of 51 to 6. The touchdowns were made as follows: three by Jordan, two by McKinnon, one by Harrell, one by Burdine and one by Berry. Cozens kicked three goals from placement following touchdowns to score three points.

The Lubbock touchdown was the result of a nicely executed forward pass over the middle of the line while the Lamesa safety man was out of position and the receiver had only to run for the marker which he did in good enough time.

McKinnon suffered a severe bruise to his leg and Boswell had not fully recovered from an injury to his left shoulder suffered in the McCamey game so Lamesa resorted to substitutes for these two players and as the game progressed, practically all the members of the squad of reserves saw action.

The last two games have resulted in rather heavy scoring by the locals which have been able to score from practically all positions on the field and single touchdowns for the opposition, and the fans gain the impression that the opposition was weak. Local football followers seem to agree that the visiting teams were stronger than the scores might indicate and point to the 22 to 0 victory of McCamey over Colorado in a class A conference game following the defeat of McCamey here the week before.

The local team has one more game to go into conference competition with Post on Lamesa's Field October 26th. The remaining game is an inter-district game between Midland of District 12 and Lamesa representing District three.

Goodwill Programs Are Being Watched

Daily newspapers are carrying stories on Lamesa's Goodwill Programs. Chambers of Commerce over the country are writing for detailed information as to how these programs are planned and how they are working.

Many here believe better results are being had by the plan used this year than has been had heretofore. More personal contact is had with the method used this year. The local chamber of commerce plans to keep these programs up, officials state.

Good Will Trip To O'Donnell

It is being planned to carry our band and as many Lamesa citizens as can go to O'Donnell on October 30, provided this date suits the O'Donnell people, in the last of Lamesa's good will trips for the month.

This matter has been talked with several Lamesa and O'Donnell people and the idea seems to meet the approval of all to whom it is mentioned.

For the past several years Lamesa has conducted goodwill trips, carried her band, and stopped in O'Donnell for a few minutes, gave a short program and received the very cordial welcome of these good people, but it is felt this year a real heart to heart talk and meeting with these people in a two community wide program for the sole purpose of getting together and knowing each other better will be on of the best things both towns could do. We all need to get together with our neighbors more than we have. When we learn each other better we will like one another more.

O'Donnell and Lamesa are neighbors and have always been friends. Lamesa people go to O'Donnell and O'Donnell people go to Lamesa and all feel at home. There is no competition between the two towns. They have many things of interest in common and why should not these two communities work together.

Watch for the final announcement of arrangements for this meeting and make your plans to go.

Luncheon Club Entertains Ackerly Citizens Tuesday

Twenty-one Ackerly citizens were in Lamesa and were guests of the Lamesa Luncheon Club Tuesday noon of this week.

A good and most enjoyable program was given the club by the Ackerly people, led by Superintendent J. L. Childs of the Ackerly schools. Miss Opal Richmon, teacher of music in the Ackerly schools gave a piano solo and the three Misses Green entertained with a trio of vocal music, both numbers being highly enjoyed.

Supt. Childs gave a most interesting and educational talk along the lines of Ackerly people trading in Lamesa. He pointed out that better bargains can be had in Lamesa than in other towns where he had traded and that personally he liked to come to Lamesa and trade here because he found goods cheaper and because the Lamesa merchants were a more friendly set of people.

Louis B. Reed gave the Ackerly people a most cordial welcome to Lamesa which was very characteristic of both the "Lamesa spirit" and Louis Reed himself.

Those present from Ackerly were: Robert Shipp, J. W. Coleman, Fay Green, Eddy Green, Sam Cooksey, Ed Criswell Jack Archer, Jess Archer, Evelyn Archer, Mrs. Jack Archer, W. S. Morrow, Beta Faye Green, Marie Green, Hazel Dawn Green, J. Brittain, Luther Ruddleal, J. L. Childs, W. H. Hayworth, P. A. Campbell, Opal Richmon and Roy Fleetwood.

Lamesa business men present were Caryl Baldwin, Louis B. Reed, Dr. J. D. Burlison, T. C. Cotton, W. L. Marr, W. B. Collins, Rufus Reeves, W. K. Crawley, C. A. Hollingsworth, Philip Yonge, Dr. J. C. Loveless, Cecil Speck, George Norman, V. Z. Rogers, V. O. Key, Sam Richardson, A. B. Heffernan, Rev. E. F. Cole, L. B. Vaughn, Mrs. Matt McCall, F. T. McCollum, Wm. A. Wilson, J. T. Allen.

Absentee Voting Started October 17

Absentee voting started Wednesday October 17, 20 days before the general election on November 6, according to County Clerk S. M. Mitchell.

There are always fewer absentee ballots cast in the general election than in the primaries, this being due to the less intense interest and to the fact that the vacation season is over, and fewer persons are away from home on election day.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Marriage license were issued to Chester Guinn and Miss Margaret Lauderdale, October 13; Elmer Russell Cole and Miss Lorene McCullough, October 13; Carl M. Cox and Miss Geneva Bowen, October 13; and Jerry Ham and Miss Jewel Wright, October 14.

Next Tuesday Welch Day In Lamesa

Perennial Prognosticator

According to J. T. Browning, Mayor and leading citizen of Welch, at least 20 to 25 of the Welch people will be here Tuesday noon for Luncheon and program with the Lamesa Luncheon Club.

Yes, and the Welch folks will bring a program too. Mr. Browning said Wednesday morning of this week while talking on this matter that he would have two good entertaining numbers and a good talk by his people for the Luncheon club, which meets at noon Tuesday's in the Williams Hotel.

Mr. Browning is going to tell Lamesa how came Welch, how it has grown and what its future is. The entire program will be very interesting, no doubt, and many Lamesans will not miss this treat.

This will make the fourth meeting of this kind sponsored by the Lamesa Luncheon club this month. The idea is to create good will and to get better acquainted with Lamesa's neighbors.

Following the luncheon meeting the Welch people will spend considerable time visiting among Lamesa stores and places of business here. Mr. Business Man get ready—dress your stores up—Welch is coming—and you are to be the host. Let's make them feel at home in Lamesa.

I. N. McNew Dies In Big Spring Hospital

Funeral services were held Sunday in Big Spring for Isaac Nelson McNew, aged 75 years, who passed away Saturday morning at 6 o'clock in a Big Spring hospital, from injuries received when he was hit by a train on Thursday. Burial was made in the Lamesa cemetery.

Mr. McNew, known to his many friends as "Uncle Ike", was a pioneer resident of Howard county, having resided in the city of Big Spring for the past 33 years.

Survivors are three brothers, John J. E. and J. M. McNew, and two sisters, Mrs. W. D. Edmondson and Mrs. J. H. Cope, Lamesa.

Infant Daughter Of Welch Fretwell Dies

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Welch Fretwell passed away at their home on Tuesday, October 16. Funeral services were held the same day with Rev. E. F. Cole officiating. Burial was made in the Lamesa cemetery.

American Legion To Stage Costume Ball

The Allen Houston Post of the American Legion at their regular meeting on Monday night voted to sponsor a benefit Costume Ball on the night of Halloween, October 31 to be held at their hall in Lamesa.

Legionnaires and members of the auxiliaries of neighboring towns are being invited to attend, and a large crowd is expected. Good music will be had.

American Legion To Have Nov. 11 Program

A patriotic program followed by entertainment is being planned by the Allen-Houston post of the American Legion at their hall in Lamesa on November 11th. Two committees have been selected, one for arrangement and one for entertainment, and invitations are being sent out to all Legionnaires and their wives to assure a big celebration of this historic day.

Plans Being Made For Biggest Trades Day

Special Services At M. E. Church

As a culmination of the observance of Childhood and Youth Week, there will be special emphasis on our responsibility to children of our community, Sunday, October 21, at the Methodist church.

The pastor will speak along this line at the eleven o'clock hour; in the evening at 7:30, two playlets will be given under the direction of Mesdames Dunlop and Marr. These are for the adults of the church and community, in an effort to bring a message of renewed responsibility of joyous partnership in the ordinary activities of the home, and in the religious training and worship.

After the brief program the teachers of the children's department and the intermediate department, will hold open house for all parents of the children of the church, as well as all other adult members.

You are cordially invited to attend these services on Sunday, October 21, morning and evening.

Mrs. Callie Everheart Passed Away Sunday

Mrs. Callie Everheart, aged 78 years, passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. O. B. Norman, on Sunday morning, October 14th.

Mrs. Everheart had been confined to her bed for the past six months suffering with a broken hip received in a fall.

Funeral services were held in Whitewright Monday afternoon at 2:30. She was buried beside her husband, who preceded her in death some twenty years.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Norman, four sons, J. V. Everheart, and W. H. Everheart, Rotan, J. M. Everheart, Sherman, and Everett Everheart, Lamesa.

The Courier joins with the family's many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harp have returned from a several weeks stay in Pittsburg, Texas.

SATURDAY NIGHT AND SUNDAY, OCT. 20-21 DATES SET FOR EVENT

The Dawson County Semi-Annual Singing Convention will meet with the Fairview church this coming Saturday night and all day Sunday. The class will meet at eight o'clock on Saturday night and 10:45 Sunday morning.

All singers of the county and all people who love good singing are urged to attend this convention. Be sure and attend the meeting Saturday night, for this will be an important part of the convention.

The convention has been given publicity through the newspapers in all adjoining counties, therefore a large crowd is expected. Many of the noted singers are also expected. The ones having leading light song books are asked to bring them, also bring lunch on Sunday.

The people of the Fairview community are making big plans to entertain all singers so come out and help make the convention a joyous success.

Retail Merchants Association To Make Survey of Employees

During the week of November 5, the local Retail Merchants Association will complete its survey and credit information of all employees in Lamesa. The results of this survey will be furnished members of the organization for their information in determining "if the employees of Lamesa, in the shops, in the stores, in the schools, in city and county and in fact employees in any business in Lamesa, are spending the money paid them by Lamesa employers—in Lamesa with Lamesa merchants and if not—where they are spending it" it is pointed out.

At this time of year, the officials of the Association point out, numerous credit reports are coming to its desk from near by towns asking for credit information on citizens of Dawson county. In making these reports ample opportunity is afforded to get correct information as to who is trading away from home and where the trading is done.

Many people think they are not checked up on in other towns when they go there to buy. Local Association officials point out that this is a mistake. Much detailed information must be furnished to outside towns and outside merchants before much credit is extended.

When approached on this question the other day, one employee said "It is none of anybody's business where I spend my money. It is mine and I will do as I please." The employer of this person said, "Maybe you had better go to town an act you a job, if you persist in spending your money there." Another employer said, "If Lamesa money is good enough to pay on the salary—it is good enough to spend here."

The Retail Merchants Association is asking all employees to report to its office any irregularities in this matter they find.

Ackerly Citizens Are Working Together

Did you meet those fine people who were up Tuesday of this week from Ackerly? They had lunch with the Lamesa Luncheon Club and then they mixed and visited the various stores in Lamesa. They had a fine visit and got better acquainted here with our people. It was a fine opportunity for us to know and appreciate these good people better.

One thing noticed as outstanding about those Ackerly people. Every one of them were 100 percent sold on their town and community. They would not admit that Ackerly was smaller than Lamesa. They were really loyal to their community. Men quit their places of business to come here and enjoy the luncheon and to visit in Lamesa that they might make a good showing for their town and community. They just took a day off, so to speak, to make the trip.

Another thing we all have to take our hats off to Ackerly for is the wonderful manner in which they entertain the large crowds that go there around the last of June. There are thousands of people from several counties attend the annual feed and barbecue at Ackerly each year. How do they do it? Many have asked that question. The answer is: Every man and woman in Ackerly is pulling together for their community and their town. They have 'the spit, the pluck and the push that gets the job done.

Our hats are off to our sister city and community Ackerly—Come to see us again.

Mrs. Bill Watson of Lubbock is here visiting her mother, Mrs. L. E. Eager.

Heeseman was plannin' the same trick I pulled. Progar an' another feller ketchin' us takin' the girl out. The other feller got away."

"That's wuss 'han ever!" screamed Smoky. "Heeseman will find out."

"Huh. I should smile in particular that he will. We seen his outfit on your trail!"

"Shet up! Hosses comin'!"

The ensuing rush was quelled by Smoky's ringing order. "Hold on! It's Jeff!"

An opening in the grove showed bridges plunging upon them.

"Heeseman's outfit trailin' us," he announced. "Back about five miles when I left my post."

"Fellers, grab your rifles an' take to cover," yelled Smoky.

Hays made a dive for his horse and, mounting, leaned over to take up a rope halter round the neck of the horse Miss Herrick was riding.

"You lied—to me," she cried, angrily. "You assured me that if I'd come without resistance you'd soon arrange for my freedom. Here we are miles from Star ranch."

Hays paid not the slightest attention to her, but started off, leading her horse.

"Jim Wall, are you going to permit this outrage?"

"I'm powerless, Miss Herrick," he replied, hurriedly. "If Heeseman catches us you'll be worse off."

The leader headed down the slope, dragging Miss Herrick's horse. Jim could hear the girl's protestations. The other riders made haste to line the pack horses. Smoky brought up the rear.

No doubt about Hays knowing his way! He rode as one familiar with this red clay and gray gravel canyon. The pack horses kicked up a dust like a red cloud.

Jim kept unobtrusively working ahead until there were only three pack horses in front of him, and he could see Hays and the girl at intervals.

Hays yelled back for his riders to hurry. He pointed to the left wall as if any moment their pursuers might appear there.

The next sign from Smoky was a rifle shot. Jim espied something flash along the rim, high up and far back, out of range, if it were a pursuer.

"Rustle!" shrilled Smoky. "I seen riders. They ducked back. They'll aim to head us off."

Hays bawled back an order and pointed aloft.

Suddenly riders popped into view back on the point of an intersecting canyon. Hays and Latimer opened fire with their revolvers. The riders began to return the fire with rifles. Jim saw Latimer knocked off his horse, but he leaped up and mounted again, apparently not badly injured. He raced ahead after Hays, who rode fast, dragging the girl's horse, and at the same time shooting at the riders until he passed around a corner of the canyon. Latimer soon disappeared after him. Then the riders above turned their attention to the rest of Hays' outfit.

Jim had a quarter of a mile to ride to pass the corner ahead to safety. The pack horses were scattered, tearing up the canyon. Jim gained on them. Then he began to shoot.

One of his first shots hit a horse, and his seventh connected with a rider, who plunged like a crippled rabbit back out of sight. The others of Heeseman's outfit took alarm, dodged here and there to hide, or ran back. Jim emptied the magazine of his rifle just before he passed round into the zone of safety.

He halted Bay to a halt, and soon the pack horses galloped by, every pack riding well. Lincoln dashed into sight first, closely followed by Mac, Happy Jack and Jeff, all with guns smoking. And lastly came Slocum, hatless, blood on his face.

"Jest barked," panted Slocum. "Load yer guns—an' ride on!"

Around the next turn they came upon Hays and his two riders. With a big intersecting canyon on the left it looked as if their pursuers had held up.

Deeper and deeper grew the canyon. Mid-afternoon found the fugitives entering a less constricted area, where sunlight and open ahead attested to the vicinity of a wider canyon, surely the Dirty Devil. And so it proved.

Hays waited for his riders and the pack animals to reach him.

"Hank, air you aimin' for the roost you always give us a hunch about but never produced?" asked Slocum.

"I've saved it up, Smoky, fer jest some such deal as this."

Jim, over the back of his horse, watched Miss Herrick. She was tiring and her head drooped.

The robber took up her halter and, straddling his horse, he spurred into the muddy stream. He lead into the middle of the river and then turned downstream.

An hour later, he turned into a crack that could not be seen a hundred yards back, and when Jim reached it he was amazed to see the robber leading up another narrow gorge, down which ran another swift, narrow stream. Jim appreciated that a man would have had to know where this entrance was, or he could never have found it. The opening was hidden by a point of wall which curved out and around.

This gash wound like a snake into the bowels of the colored, overhanging earth. Presently they reached a bottom from which weird, black, bold walls stood up, ragged of rim against the sky.

"Hyar we air," called out Hays. "Throw saddles an' packs. Let the hosses go. No fear of hosses ever leavin' this place."

Jim's night-owl eyes discerned Hays lifting Miss Herrick off her horse and half carrying her off toward the rustling cottonwoods. Jim, making pretense of leading his horse, followed until Hays stopped at the border of what appeared a round grove of cottonwoods impenetrable to the sight.

"Oh, for G—d's sake—let go of me!" gasped the girl, and sank down on the grass.

"You may as well get used to that," replied Hays, in a low voice. "Do you want anythin' to eat?"

"Water—only water. I'm—choking."

"I'll fetch some, an' a bed fer you."

Little did Hays realize, as he strode back to the horses that Jim stood there in the gloom, a clutching hand on his gun and mad lust for blood in his heart. Jim knew he meant to kill Hays. Why not now? But as before he had the sagacity and the will to resist a terrible craving.

With nerveless hands he unpacked his outfit. Then he sat down upon his bed roll, exhausted, and gazed around him. The place fascinated. An owl hooted down somewhere in the canyon, and far away a wolf bayed bloodthirstily.

Soon a crackle of fire turned Jim to see a growing light, and dark forms of men. Jim waited until he saw Hays go to the camp fire, and then he, too, joined the men.

"What kind of a roost is it, Hank? Anythin' like the Dragon canyon?"

"No. I seen that place once. It's a cave high up—forty feet mebbe, from the canyon bed. Only one outlet to the burrow, an' that's by the same way you come. This roost has four. We could never be ketchin' in a hundred years."

"Hank, how'd the lady stand the ride?"

"She's all in."

"Gosh, no wonder. That was a job fer men."

"Reckon I'll put up the little tent fer my lady guest."

"Hank, how air you goin' to collect that ransom now?" inquired Lincoln.

"I dunno. Heeseman shore spoiled my plan."

Jim watched the robber chief minister to the wounded Latimer. While he was bandaging the wound Jim stole away in the darkness toward where the chief had left his prisoner.

It was dark as pitch toward the grove of cottonwoods, but Jim located gray objects against the black grass. He stole closer.

"Where are you, Miss Herrick?" he called in a tense whisper. "It's Jim Wall."

He heard a sound made by boots scraping on canvas. Peering sharply he finally located her sitting up on a half-unrolled bed, and he dropped on one knee. Her eyes appeared unnaturally large and black in her white face.

"Oh, you must be careful. He said he'd shoot any man who came near me," she whispered.

"He would—if he could. But he'll never kill me, Miss Herrick," Jim whispered back. "I want to tell you I'll get you out of this some way or other. Keep up your courage. Fight him—if—"

"I felt you'd—save me," she interrupted, her soft voice breaking. "Oh, if I had only listened to you! But I wasn't afraid. I left both my door and windows open. That's how they got in. I ordered them out. But he made that Sparrow man point a gun at me. He jerked me out of bed—throwing me on the floor. I was half stunned. Then he ordered me to dress to ride."

"Keep your nerve," interposed Jim, with a backward glance toward the camp fire. "But I'll not deceive you. Hank Hays is capable of anything. His men are loyal. Except me. I'm with them, though I don't belong to the outfit. I could kill him any time, but I'd have to fight the rest. The odds are too great. I'd never save you that way. You must help me play for time—till opportunity offers."

"I trust you—I'll do as you say. . .

LAMESA HI-LIFE

Hilburn Gilliam, '36, Reporter

Mr. Marr, city mayor, cooperated with the president and governor last week which was fire prevention week. He appointed Mr. William A. Wilson to speak at school on "Fires and Fire Prevention" Tuesday. Mr. Wilson gave some of the main causes of the fires and reported that 65 per cent of the property within Lamesa City limits are insured against fire. The fires here last year lost for the city itself 12 per cent credit and acquired for it an extra 6 per cent penalty, making a total penalty of 18 per cent. The work the school did on fire prevention last week is helping to reduce the penalty and to lower fire insurance.

Wednesday morning Rev. Biggerstaff, pastor of the Church of Christ, gave the assembly a splendid address on a very appropriate subject for high school pupils, "Counting the Cost."

The school enrollment is still increasing. Every week some new pupils are coming in. Three new pupils enrolled last week. Two were from Hancock—Victor Miller and Mattie Ruth Harrell and one from Fairview Leona Towns. There are several students here from other counties, Borden, Howard and Gaines.

Thursday morning the Freshmen gave the assembly program. It consisted of several songs by a group of Freshmen, an amusing monologue by Virginia Lindsey, and a piano solo by Inez Sharp.

The school has applied for extra affiliated credit this year in band and orchestra work and in advanced Texas history. Mr. King has the teaching of the band and orchestra work while Mr. Ogletree will have the Texas History classes.

The high school band played for the Grammar School pupils Tuesday morning.

This is the sixth week of school. High school grades are to be given out on Monday of next week. This reminds us that one sixth of the 36 week school year will have been completed.

The pep leaders led a pep rally Friday morning in chapel.

Lamesa Golden Tornadoes of former years are playing still. George Addison and Aubra Noncaster are on the Sul Ross State Teachers College team; Red Gresham, Jimmie

Lamesa Lions Club Designate November As Fellowship Month

The Lamesa Lions Club in business session Wednesday at noon this week adopted a resolution designating the month of November as "Fellowship" month.

Dr. J. M. Harrington, president of the club appointed the following committees to carry out the spirit of fellowship during the month. Attendance committee: Wm. A. Wilson, J. R. Flaniken and Joe Williams; Program: Mrs. A. G. Barnard, W. G. Weekes, R. E. Kirk, Rufus Reeves

Following closely on the heels of "Goodwill" month which was sponsored by the Lamesa Luncheon club during the month of October, the Lions will feature "Fellowship" month as something new and different here. The purpose is to get more people, who live in Dawson county, to know Lamesa, her people, her merchants and her professional men. Many guests will be invited to the special luncheons given by the Lions during November according to the attendance committee.

Lamesa's best talent will be placed on the programs at these meetings during this month of fellowship.

H. E. Baldrige was elected secretary-treasurer of the club.

A. G. Barnard had charge of the program. Miss Elizabeth Arnett sang two solos which were highly enjoyed by the club. Hugh Lott gave the address of the hour.

Delphian Club Observes Art Week With Program and Tea

The annual observation of National Art Week was carried out by the Delphian Club in the form of a tea Tuesday evening at the local club house.

The program consisted of interesting and educational reviews of paintings and painters lives.

Miss Commie Zell Barnes, first on the program gave the life of Elizabeth Ney. Having visited the Elizabeth Ney studios in Austin as well as having collected unique facts of Miss Ney's professional and private life, Miss Barnes made a most effective report.

Mrs. O. E. Dunlop gave a clever burlesque on Woman in Art Galleries, and the Junior girls quartet gave two most pleasing numbers accompanied by Miss Merrick.

Mrs. Hardy Morgan, discussed famous Texas painters and has been fortunate enough to have studied under Miss Martha Simpkins, a product of Dallas; thus Mrs. Morgan was able to bring a detailed description of Miss Simpkins' personality. She made mention of H. A. McCordie's paintings, which hang in the House of Representatives at Austin. They are "Dawn of the Alamo" and "The Battle of San Jacinto." The latter was finished after seven years work.

Onderdonk, a product of San Antonio, and probably Texas' most famous painter was then discussed by Mrs. Morgan. His son, Julian Onderdonk was first to bring fame to the Blue Bonnet. Mrs. Morgan stressed seeing the Texas Centennial in 1936 where these famous artists may be more thoroughly studied. Mrs. Morgan's reports are always inspiring.

Miss Thelma Merrick gave the bright spots in Art Museums. Miss Merrick gave a sketch of outstanding art work from famous collections which she saw and studied in her recent Omnibus trip. In the Metropolitan Art Museum, which is the largest in the United States, Miss Merrick selected, "The Horse Fair" by Rosa Bon Huer, French painter. Hoffman's work was on display at the Delphian church, New York. She made interesting mention of pictures exhibited at the Little Church of the Good Shepherd, at Tarpon Springs, Fla., Peabody Museum, Salem Mass. and the exhibition at the Fair in Chicago. Miss Merrick stressed her appreciation of religious art especially in character study and her description was most impressive.

The program was opened and closed by Mrs. Arthur Hull. Frosted punch and macaroons was served to about 42 guests.

Hostesses were Mesdames Lindsey, E. R. Yates, Eldrid Travis, Carl Rountree, Matt McCall and Miss Commie Zell Barnes.

Womans Study Club Have Program on Art

The Woman's Study Club held their regular meeting, October 12, at the club house.

After the regular business meeting, Mrs. Allen gave a very interesting program on Art, a brief review of Art was given from the crude beginning of design up to the great painters. Homer the great marine painter was discussed at length. Mrs. Allen had a number of prints received from the University of Texas, also twenty-five small ones she presented as favors.

The club house was made very attractive by beautiful bouquets of fall flowers and a splendid display of paintings furnished by the local artists.

Those represented in the art display were Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Lovelless, Mrs. Cason and Mrs. Yates.

Delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Jack Phinizy and Mrs. Elzie Burleson, former presidents, served at the tea table.

Mrs. Ross Gibson, first vice president, Mrs. Guy Weekes, Federated counselor, and Mrs. A. N. Randle, recording secretary were hostesses.

Reports From County Clubs

By Miss Madeline Cox
Home Demonstration Agent
Dawson County

The twenty five feet of tile laid in Mrs. Otis Peterson's garden have been worth much more than the time and effort expended, according to Mrs. Peterson.

The tile was laid in Mrs. Peterson's tomatoes which were slow in starting to bear. After the tile was put down the tomatoes started bearing and have continued since.

Mrs. Peterson has gathered over five bushels of tomatoes. "I have not canned any tomatoes because I did not feel that it was right as long as my neighbors had no tomatoes to use fresh," said Mrs. Peterson.

It is unusual to find every girl in a 4-H club wanting to be a bedroom demonstrator. This is the situation that exists in the Mullins 4-H club.

The Mullins 4-H club has an enrollment of thirteen members. It was decided that each girl would start her bedroom work and the most enthusiastic and industrious girl would be chosen for bedroom demonstrator.

The garden demonstrator will make at least a hundred feet of tile and plant as large a variety of vegetables as she can. Each garden operator will make at least fifteen foot of tile and plant on the tile, comparing it with her surface irrigated plot.

Wardrobe Pattern School

Sixteen clubs of Dawson county were represented at the wardrobe pattern school held Monday and Tuesday by Misses Bernice Westbrook and Nannie Hill home demonstration agents from Lamb and Hockley counties respectively.

The wardrobe demonstrators representing their clubs felt that they had gained much with which to start wardrobe work in their clubs. Each wardrobe demonstrator will take the pattern work to her club. The goal of each demonstrator will be to create a desire in every club member for a foundation pattern.

The following demonstrators represented their clubs: Mrs. W. C. McKenzie, Klondike; Mrs. Oscar McLendon, Hancock; Mrs. J. R. Tipton, Fairview; Mrs. E. A. Wright, O. K.; Mrs. W. H. Green, Woody; Mrs. Gus Schmidt, Central; Mrs. E. L. Craddock, Wilson; Mrs. D. Freeman, Sparenberg; Mrs. R. E. Echols, McCarty; Miss Hattie Wasson, Ballard; Miss Eudora Bruce, Patricia; Mrs. Gaston Robison, Midway; Miss Esther Davis, Randall; Mrs. I. J. Brandon Shumake; Mrs. T. H. Calhoun Higginbotham; and Mrs. L. P. Burger from Munger.

The wardrobe demonstrators of Dawson county wish to express their appreciation to the following for their cooperation in helping with the Pattern school: Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, Forrest Lumber Company, Yates Hardware, and The Fair Store.

KLONDIKE H. D. CLUB
MET OCTOBER 11TH

The president of the Klondike H. D. Club called the house to order at 2:30 October 11th. After prayer by Mrs. E. M. McCulloch the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting and the twenty-four members present answered the roll call with the name of a vegetable. Mrs. Hardy Morgan was a welcome visitor.

Mrs. Joe McNew was elected librarian, Mrs. W. C. McKenzie wardrobe demonstrator and Mrs. Buster Rhodes, pantry demonstrator.

Miss Cox gave an interesting demonstration on how to make tomato juice, its uses and methods of canning.

Refreshments of delicious cake and punch were served by Mrs. Slaton, Mrs. Joe McNew and Mrs. McCulloch.

We wish all members to be present at 2 o'clock Thursday, October 25. The Club extends a hearty welcome to visitors and new members.—Reporter.

HANCOCK H. D. CLUB MET LAST WEDNESDAY

The Home Demonstration club of Hancock met last Wednesday afternoon at the school house. The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. Harrell.

A very interesting Bible lesson was rendered. At the close of the program we had a business session, electing Mrs. R. L. Butcher sponsor for the girls club and Mrs. W. T. Williams council representative.

The club will meet again, October 24. Miss Cox will be with us and will talk on fall wardrobes.—Reporter.

HIGGINBOTHAM H. D. CLUB
MET OCTOBER 10TH

The Higginbotham Home Demonstration club met with Mrs. T. H. Calhoun October 10th. There were twelve members present and one visitor. Two new members were added to the club roll.

Miss Cox gave a demonstration on the canning of tomato juice.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. P. Cozart, October 24 at 2:30.—Reporter.

WOODY H. D. CLUB MET
OCTOBER 16TH

The Woody Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. C. W. Morris, October 16. Seven members were present with two visitors.

The following program was rendered: Song, "There Shall be Showers of Blessings"; Scripture reading, Mrs. D. L. Adcock; "A Home Without Books Is Like a Body Without a Soul", Mrs. McMullin. Roll call was answered with the name of a good book or a writer. "Let's hold the family together with good books," Mrs. J. L. Morris. Open house discussion on household helps from magazines. Citizens Resent "Chislers" At Local Football Games

A foot note on the bottom of a circular distributed here this week by the city school's Athletic Association drew some fire on the streets. It referred to certain "chislers" who park their cars on the outside of the park fence and watch the games at night.

The warm invitation was given by the Association to come on the inside and help the boys to carry on a worthwhile entertainment.

Yes, it referred to "cars"—"sitting in cars" etc. Think of it. People parking and sitting in automobiles outside of the ball park to keep from paying a small and paltry sum of two bits to forty-five cents and get a good seat in the grand stand. If every one did this, how do you expect such entertainment could be financed?

What kind of an example is being set to our young people by such practice? Is it right any way?

The Lamesa spirit is "Pay for what you get—and pay as you go." Let every one who pays to see the game Friday night notice particularly who it is that sits in their cars outside the fence to watch the game free. Watch for Lamesa's chislers.

W. B. Thomas Killed In Highway Mishap

W. B. Thomas of Pride community was fatally injured when he was struck by a car Friday evening, the accident occurring about nine o'clock on the highway a few miles north of Hindman. He died in a local sanitarium early Saturday morning.

Funeral services were conducted at Pride church at two o'clock Sunday afternoon, and interment was made in the cemetery there. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Thomas, his widow, and six children, Margaret 12; Lester, 10; Charles 8; Jewel 6; Pauline 4; and Harrol, 2; and by nine brothers and sisters.

The accident was apparently unavoidable. Thomas had been at work in the local stock pens, and had caught a ride nearly all the way home. He had walked only a short distance down the highway before he was struck. The car, driven by C. D. Denny, Texas appraiser for the farm credit administration, struck him with such force that his skull was crushed and his neck broken. Denny was on his way to his home in Memphis to attend the funeral of a relative, who was himself killed in an automobile accident Thursday night.

Lights of a car he had just met blinded Mr. Denny and he did not see Thomas until too late to avoid striking him. Denny states that he was driving about 40 miles an hour. He carried the unconscious man on into O'Donnell, but two local physicians were out on calls and a third was confined to his bed because of serious illness, so he brought him to Lamesa.

The sheriff's department went to the scene of the accident, but we understand that no charges will be filed against Denny.

The Courier joins with friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

Well Known Preacher To Be Here Oct. 24th

Rev. Bud Robinson (Uncle Buddie) will be with the local congregation of the Church of the Nazarene at 7:00 P. M. Wednesday, October 24th.

Uncle Buddie, as he is known in most states of the union, and other lands, as well; has just recently returned from a trip to the Holy Land and other foreign points. He will be able to tell us of things that perhaps we never heard before, pertaining to the advances of Christianity on foreign soils.

It has been said of Uncle Bud that he could view the Holy Land with ten other men, and get more out of it than the other ten put together. Be sure and hear this world known preacher. All are welcome.

A. L. Dennis, Pastor.

63 Bales of Cotton Ginned in County

Reports show that there were 63 bales of cotton ginned in the county from the crop of the prior to October 1, 1934, as compared with 220 bales ginned to October 1, 1933.

R. S. Stanfield, Special Agent.

ATTENTION FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH MEMBERS

The box for Buckner Orphans Home, that was to have been packed last Monday, for various reasons, was held over until next Monday October 22 at 4 o'clock.

We are taking this opportunity of urging, not only the women, but the men and others to help out in this worthy cause. Remember that there are hundreds of children in the home who have neither father nor mother and they can use anything in the way of school supplies and clothing that it takes for your own children. Cash is always acceptable. Make donation to: Mrs. W. E. Cox Sr., Mrs. S. C. Albertson, Mrs. Jom Key, Mrs. J. D. Dyer, Mrs. Bernie Holt or Mrs. M. L. Standifer.

Bob Lavender was on the sick list a few days this week.
