Israel Denies Charge

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)-Lebanese officials said Israeli artillery joined right-wing Christian guns in shelling Palestinian-held Nabatiyeh and other Moslem villages in southern Lebanon today, but Israel denied involvement.

Witnesses described the shelling of Nabatiyeh, eight miles north of the Israeli border as the heaviest since a U.S. mediated truce went into effect Sept. 26.

US To Return Crown

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)-The official Hungarian news agency MTI reported briefly today that the United States plans to return the Crown of St. Stephen and other crown jewels to Hungary.

There has been no comment yet from the Budapest government on the Carter administration's decision to return the 1,000-year-old crown, Hungary's national symbol.

Military Crash Kills 5

FORT RILEY, Kan. (AP)-Five soldiers were killed Saturday morning when a military plane crashed just after taking off from Marshall Field at Fort Riley, the Army announced.

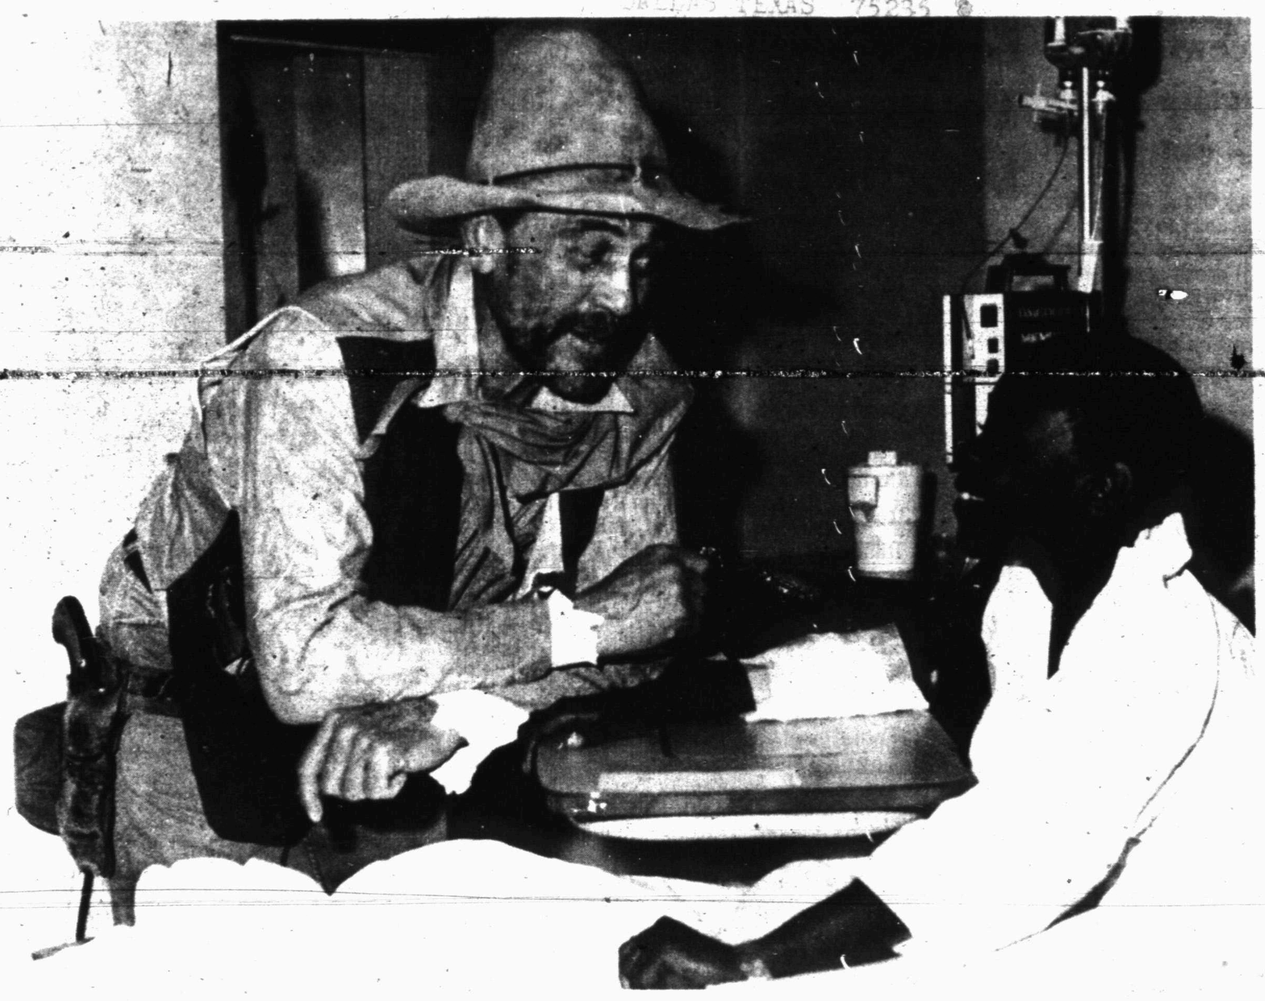

The plane crashed at about 6:25 a.m. near the Grandview Plaza shopping center and mobile home area between Marshall Field and Junction City.

Other details were not available. Names of the victims were withheld until families could be notified.

Sweet Bill To Carter

WASHINGTON (AP)-A proposed 18-month delay of a federal ban on saccharin is on President Carter's desk after receiving final congressional approval, even as a new study linked the artificial sweetener to cancer in animals.

The Senate approved the measure on a voice vote Friday after a House-Senate conference committee ironed out differences in two versions passed earlier this year.

SURPRISE VISIT--Jeffrey Rose, 8, a patient in Cogdell Memorial Hospital, got a pleasant surprise Friday evening when Festus, the folksy deputy of the Gunsmoke television series, walked into his hospital room for a visit. Ken Curtis, who played the role of Festus, was in town to appear Saturday night at the Texas Cowboy Artists Association awards banquet, and one of his first stops in Snyder was the hospital. # US Offers Park A Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)-The United States offered to seek dismissal of the indictment against South Korean businessman Tongsun Park in exchange for his help in presenting evidence in the Justice Department probe of Korean influence peddling, President Carter said today.

Carter, in an official report to Congress on the cooperation of the Seoul government in the Justice Department investigation, also confirmed an earlier report that South Korea had sent the United States "an important new proposal" for the interrogation of Park.

Park has balked at talking to U.S. investigators and the Seoul government insists it cannot compel him to cooperate or testify at a U.S. trial.

The president's report did not disclose any details of the new Korean proposal.

The Koreans have said that the proposal has brought the two sides close to an agreement on Park's cooperation, but Assistant U.S. Atty. Gen. Benjamin Civiletti, whose attempts to question Park in Seoul failed, has said no such agreement was near.

Carter said in the report, required by Congress, that while Civiletti was in Seoul last month, the United States proposed that Park be interrogated in third country "under conditions which would provide verification of the truthfulness of his testimony."

"If sufficient evidence were thereby gained of indictable offenses by United States officials, Mr. Park's later appearance would be required in the United States for trial testimony," the report said.

"The United States proposed that, if Mr. Park faithfully completed these steps, the Justice Department would seek dismissal of the indictment against him," Carter said in the message to the House and Senate.

"The basis of these U.S. proposals was the need to secure truthful and effective testimony for successful prosecutions at trials in the United States," he said.

Hospital Addition Would Strengthen All Services

Scurry County is one of the places in Texas that will have more than the seven constitutional amendments to consider at the polls Tuesday.

A $4 million hospital bond issue will be presented on a separate ballot at all polling places in the county.

The funds from the bonds would be used to finance construction of a major addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. The addition would provide 50 more beds.

However, the additional beds for patients represent only a portion of the facilities that would be expanded and improved in the project.

Architects have prepared plans for a three-story addition, which would extend north from the present entrance to the emergency treatment facilities.

The basement of the new structure would provide storage facilities for all supplies and for all of the hospital's "housekeeping" services. These services are virtually without space in the present building. Also, there would be a general storage area for records in the basement.

On the ground floor, plans provide for one large emergency room with treatment facilities for five patients, and another emergency room for minor surgery and emergency patients in serious trauma.

Also on the ground floor, there would be a doctor's library and dressing room, the respiratory therapy department, the physical therapy department and the medical records department.

The shifting of these services, some of them from makeshift quarters now, would enable the hospital to provide an X-ray waiting room (patients awaiting X-rays now must wait in the hall), and also leave space for increasing the size of the hospital's laboratory.

Removal of the physical therapy service to the new addition would leave space in the older building that could provide additional services, including intensive care rooms.

Thus, the new addition not only would offer more beds for patients, but also would strengthen and expand many services which have been hard pressed for space heretofore.

Also, hospital authorities have called attention to the fact that two of the medical students now on scholarship in the Auxiliary's medical student scholarship program are due to begin practice here by the time the new addition would be completed and that several other doctors have indicated an interest in practicing here.

Charles Cullar, the city's zoning officer, says another new record has already been set this month in city building.

A permit was issued the past week for the smallest commercial building ever entered on the city's books. It was for a 32-square-foot structure in Varsity Square Shopping Center for a photo finishing concern.

We were out of the office the other day when Mule Kayser brought his Inca dove by for inspection. We have never seen an Inca dove outside a zoo. But we do know that wild birds seem to be moving around more than they did in earlier years. At least that appears to be the case in this area. Some of the birds we see here now were virtually unknown in this region 25 or 30 years ago, we are told, including the cardinal and the bluejay.

The bluejays here are not quite so bright in color as those down there in East Texas, but they make the same noise. Perhaps our abundant sunshine causes their blue to fade slightly.

We used to watch the jays in the East Texas woodlands. And they would watch us. They sound the alarm when anyone enters the woods. But usually after you proceed among the trees for a while they become rather quiet. But a look upward usually reveals that they are moving along with you, mostly silent, but watching your every move.

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is shooting for a lively program for its annual banquet. The event is still a long way off (March 3), but the groundwork is being laid. This is the banquet where they plan to serve a meal of Scurry County products and put the spotlight on local agriculture.

Reagan Brown, Texas Agriculture Commissioner and a very capable speaker, already has agreed to be one of the headliners. The Chamber hopes to get Carol Foreman the U.S. Department of Agriculture Consumer Advocate, to speak, also. It should be an interesting evening indeed if these plans materialize.

President Carter Postpones Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)--President Carter has decided to postpone his trip abroad this month until after Congress completes its work on an energy program, probably not before mid-December, it has been learned.

The White House would not confirm the postponment.

But in Paris, French officials said President Valery Giscard d'Estaing was informed today that Carter's planned visit to the French capital on Nov. 29-the seventh stop of the trip-has been postponed.

Elysee Palace officials said U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hartmann delivered the U.S. message today, citing the congressional debate on energy policy.

French officials said no new date was suggested.

In New Delhi, India, an Indian government spokesman said a letter from Carter, delivered today, indicated that Carter is postponing his scheduled Nov. 27-19 visit to India because of "compelling domestic reasons."

Carter had been scheduled to leave Nov. 22 on a trip that was to have taken him to Venezuela, Brazil, Nigeria, India, Iran, Saudi Arabia, France, Poland an Brussels.

Officials said the administration was considering re-scheduling the trip early next year.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Friday that Carter's decision on the trip will be announced next week.

The president is scheduled to make a televised energy address Tuesday night and the White House has broadly hinted he will announcec cancellation of the trip then.

CIA Hopes Tours Will Improve Image

WASHINGTON (AP)-The CIA, which long has maintained a low profile or no profile, wants to improve its public image by allowing recognized groups and institutions to tour its suburban Virginia headquarters.

But the agency on Friday rejected the notion that its facilities should be opened to regular tours by the general public.

A CIA spokesman did not specify how the agency would determine which groups and institutions will be recognized.

But he said the idea of regular tours by the general public was scuttled following an experiment in which 3,700 members of agency families toured the headquarters.

Month's Building Totals $382,310

Snyder's building figures were off to a modest start in the first month of the city's new fiscal year.

The total for October was $382,310, with most of it going for residential construction.

Included in the 17 permits issued during the month were six for single-family dwellings and four for mobile homes, accounting for a total of 10 living units.

The October permits ran the total for the calendar year to $6,523,847. The city set an all-time record for the fiscal year which ended on Sept. 30 with permits covering construction valued at $8,724,872. The total last month was virtually the same as for October of 1976, when the month's permit aggregated $395,329.

Nuclear Plant Hazards Found

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-A Citizens group said today that the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has found electrical and fire hazards in a major safety system found at nuclear power plants.

The group, the Union of concerned Scientists, said the government should shut down all affected plants until the problem is corrected.

The organization said it learned of the problem through a purported memorandum from one NRC official to another, in which the safety defects were described.

Nuclear safety engineer Robert D. Pollard, a former NRC employee, petitioned the agency for the suspension of power plant operations where such defects exist. The petition urged the NRC to take immediate action to remedy the deficiencies.

An NRC spokeswoman confirmed that the petition had been filed, but had no immediate comment on other portions of the announcement by the citizen's group.

The radioactive, heat-producing core of a nuclear power plant must be kept from overheating, usually by the use of circulating water.

Nuclear engineers generally agree that the worst accident that could happen to such a power plant might be a sudden leak of cooling water. A sudden leakage could allow the core to overheat, melt, and then perhaps burn or blast its way through its building, releasing radioactive gases into the outside air.

To prevent such an accident, power plants have backup emergency cooling systems designed to pour water rapidly into the core if the main cooling system should suddenly fail.

But both systems depend on electrical wiring and connections for their vital controls.

On March 22, 1975, the vulnerability of power plants to electrical failures was demonstrated at the Tennessee Valley Authority's Browns Ferry nuclear plant in Alabama. Workmen using a candle accidentally set fire to the insulation of electrical cables.

The blaze remained under control but the plant was forced to shut down.

Cotton Harvest Moving Rapidly

Good harvest weather kept Scurry County cotton moving to the gins the past week.

By the end of the week, well over 30,000 bales had come out of the fields. The nine gins in the county had processed 24,926 bales by Friday and they had 6,395 bales waiting on their yards.

Reports the past week indicated that yields continued high and that the harvest possibly was no more than half done.

Pat Walker Salon To Open Monday

The Pat Walker Figure Salon, located in the Varsity Square Shopping Center at 30th St. and College Ave., officially opens Monday at 8 a.m.

Not a spa and not a gymnasium, the Pat Walker Figure Salon is a weight reducing center, said owner Doris Alexander.

Customers need not undress, said Mrs. Alexander. They need only to take off their shoes and mount one of the salon's exercising machines.

The 1,000 square-foot facility has five exercising machines, Mrs. Alexander said. Charts are kept for the individualized figure correction of each patron, she added.

The center is open, said Mrs. Alexander, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Employees at the salon are Linda Berryman and Kathy Edwards.

Policewoman Criticizes Prosecutor

TULSA, Okla. (AP)-The state has charged two men with assault and battery for allegedly kissing policewomen, but Tulsa's top policewoman says the city prosecutor's refusal to bring the charges himself has made women officers "the object of ridicule."

"A female officer is not a sex object. We have a tough enough job...to have to put up with something like this is wrong...so inherently wrong," Sgt. Monte Peterson said Friday.

Her criticism was aimed at City Prosecutor Jack Morgan, who refused on Wednesday to file charges after policewomen Perri Burnett and Rosie Nadeau reported that each was kissed by a man she stopped for questioning.

Morgan said there was no indication of intent to do "corporal harm."

"I don't think there is any law against kissing a police officer," he said. "Maybe they should ask the commissioners to get a law passed covering it."

Morgan's "sexist attitude has made women officers the object of ridicule," Ms. Peterson said. "The day this came out in news stories, I went into a restaurant and the customers were laughing about it."

Link Cats To Plague Infection

ATLANTA (AP)-Domestic cats appear to be the most likely source of human infection in two cases of bubonic plague in California this year, the national Center for Disease Control said.

"Cats and dogs have been shown experimentally to be susceptible to plague infection, although cats may develop more severe illness," the CDC said Friday in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Epidemiologist said veterinarians in the West and Midwest, where plague is not uncommon, should be aware that domestic pets brought to their offices for treatment may have plague.

Fifteen cases of bubonic plague in humans have been reported in the United States this year, compared with 16 cases last year and 20 in 1975.

States reporting cases this year include: New Mexico 7, Arizona 3, California 3, and 1 each in Colorado and Oregon.

Theft, Two Mishaps Are Logged Here

A reported theft and two minor traffic accidents were investigated Friday by police.

Yvonne Hopson told officers that while she was at a local laundry mat the billfold was taken from her purse. The loss, she told police, is estimated at $10. The incident was reported at 12:44 p.m. Friday.

The city's first accident was reported at Snyder High School at 8:50 a.m. A 1971 Ford driven by William Delmar Vickers Jr. was in collision with a parked 1977 Chevrolet owned by Donald Mark Eiring.

The next mishap occurred at the Taco Villa and was reported at 12:42 p.m. The collision involved a 1976 Buick driven by Brenda Harden and a 1963 Chevrolet driven by Kathryn Kubena.

Wallace Aides Prepare For Race

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)-Gov. George C. Wallace's press secretary says the governor's cabinet and closest aides met this week in preparation for a race by Wallace for the U.S. Senate next year.

Billy Joe Camp, doubling as campaign director, said the meeting was held to "clear up confusion" about the campaign and to tell those attending "how to make contributions."

Camp said those cabinet officials and aides who were still in doubt about whether Wallace intended to seek the seat now held by Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., "were assured that he is running."

2 Hospitalized Following Road Mishap

Elizabeth Beard of Snyder and Ina Lou Smith of Fluvanna were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital early Saturday morning following a major two-car collision.

Initial reports of the mishap indicate that Mrs. Smith sustained a broken arm and that Mrs. Beard was hospitalized with a suspected hip injury.

Investigating highway patrolmen reported the mishap occurred at 6:25 a.m. Saturday, approximately 3.7 miles north of Snyder at the intersection of Farm to Market Road 1611 and a service road leading to U.S. 84.

The collision involved a 1966 Chevrolet driven by Clyde Smith and a 1977 Ford driven by Mrs. Beard. Extensive damages were reported to each vehicle.

FLASHBACK--Snyder Coach Mike Jenkins, Thursday. "Our objective is to knock Dunbar out of the race...We're definitely going out there Friday night to win."

ACCOUNT--Tigers, 7-11 point underdogs, stage an upset. Dunbar is out of the district running.

By BILL McCLELLAN

Yes sir, Coach Mike Jenkins' Tigers put on a good one for the hometown fans Friday night, outlasting Lubbock Dunbar, 16-13.

"We did two things the kids can be real proud of," noted a jubulant Coach Jenkins following the victory. "We stopped them twice when they were driving, and we came back after we were behind, driving 69 yards to score."

With Dunbar out of the race, San Angelo Lake View, 28-0 winners over Sweetwater Friday, can already celebrate a district title, despite having one game left to play.

But, Jenkins makes clear, "We didn't beat them for Lake View; we beat them for the Tigers." And believe him, they earned it.

With Snyder ahead 9-6 at the half, Dunbar came roaring back. They started moving after a Wayne Williams kickoff return to Tiger 46.

Ernest White picked up 11 yards on the first play, but a fumble, the Panther's third of the night, found its way to Tiger John Hopkins and the drive fizzled.

Minutes later however-after forcing Snyder to punt-quarterback Daryl Green found Williams-on a perfectly executed 72-yard pass play for the go-ahead TD. Robert Tolbert booted the point after, and Dunbar led for the first time, 13-9.

FLASHBACK - Coach Mike Jenkins, Thursday. "Our kids play hard and stay with it, and you know, anything can happen in a ball game."

ACCOUNT-Tigers mount a 69-yard scoring drive and go to win, 16-13.

It was a determined march by the Tigers; their longest of the year. On second down from the 31, Johnson ran for a 13-yard gain and one of five Snyder first downs in the drive. That got 'em moving.

The junior quarterback was stopped on the next play, but Clay Peterson took 6 on the second. Another half-dozen yards by Johnson netted the Tigers new life with a second first down.

Luck was with the home team and a 15-yard personal penalty delivered the Tigers to the Panther 29. From there the Bengals were unstopable. Peterson crashed for 3, Johnson for 8 and Richard Crayton scrambled for 15 more before Peterson ripper over from the 4-yard line. Willis' PAT was good, and Snyder took the game-and any title hopes-away from the Panthers.

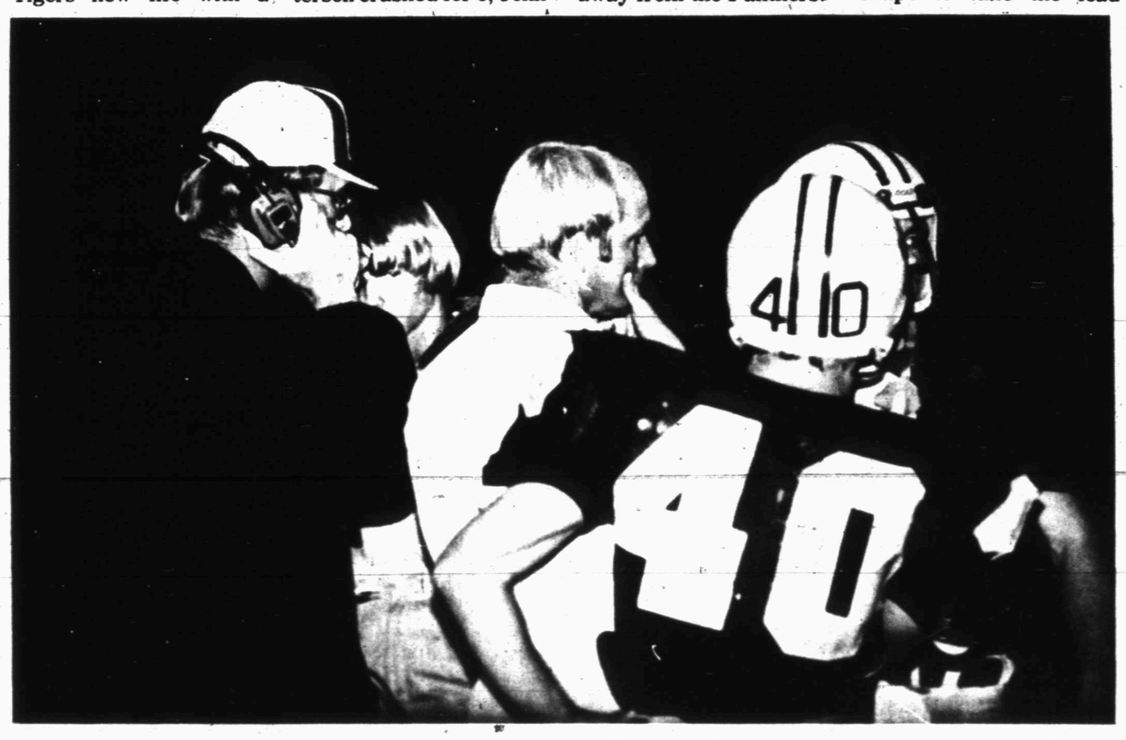

The cardiac fourth quarter was a defensive battle. With seconds left in the third stanza, Darrell Thomas fell on a Snyder fumble at the 21, and Dunbar looked in good shape to take the lead again.

Three trys netted only four yards though, and on fourth down, the Tigers thwarted a fake field goal and regained possession.

Still later in the final set, David Zajicek snared a Dunbar pass which set the host team in good field position on the Panther 21. The Tigers moved it to the 7, but on second down a fumble foiled Snyder's hopes of increasing its lead.

The Panthers got one more chance deep in the TRENT--The Hobbs Panthers picked up a win on their final outing of the season here Friday, demolishing the Gorillas, 56-24.

"We played as well as we could have played against Trent," said Hobbs Coach Vic McElrath following the victory. "Our defense did an exceptional job and we capitalized on the Trent mistakes."

The win gives Hobbs a 3-2 mark in district, and is their best finish in at least eight years.

The Panthers took advantage of two interceptions and five fumbles in winning their fourth season battle. Wade Pierson and Billy Hambrick handled the scoring, while Wayne Jones got them there on 15 rushes for 101 yards.

The Panthers put three touchdowns in during the first quarter, with Pierson taking the honors on two. The freshman star ran for 12 yards and a TD for his first score, then intercepted a Trent pass and rambled 50 yards for the second. Mark Anderle booted both sets of extra points good.

Late in the first set, Wayne Jones ran in from 10 yards away. Again, Anderle kicked the conversion.

Trent opened their assault in the second quarter as Herbert Beaver raced across from 30 yards out. Minutes later Gilbert Beaver passed for a 46-yard touchdown to Robert Freeman for another score. Both extra-point attempts failed.

Hobbs immediately came back however, with two checks to cash for themselves. The first read Pierson from 20 yards out while the other was ticketed to Hambrick from a yard away. Anderle pick-

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW...
Brought To You By Danny Lunsford

Here's the story about how the famous Notre Dame "Victory March" was written...(This is the song that starts out "Cheer, Cheer For Old Notre Dame")...It has become the best known football tune of all-time--and, actually, it was written by a priest, in 1909...One day at a game that season, Father Michael Shea decided Notre Dame should have an appropriate song...At the time, they didn't have one...After the game, Father Shea went to a piano in a nearby building, but someone was using the piano...So, Father Shea then went to the Sacred Heart Church on campus and composed the song on the organ at the church!...His brother, John Shea, then wrote the words...And thus, football's most famous fight song was written on a church organ.

Did you know football fields were not always 100 yards long from goal line to goal line?...When football started, the field was 140 yards...Then, they shortened it to 110 yards in 1880...The present rule making the football field 100 yards was not put into effect till 1912.

MCCAULLEY--Ira's Bulldogs, searching for a zone win in their last game of the season, found one in a big way here Friday night as they blasted the Eagles, 94-42.

Senior running back Fred Kesner racked up 299 yards on 16 carries as the 'Dogs compiled 791 yards against the hapless McCaulley team.

Kesner, clearly the offensive star of the game, also caught three passes for 101 yards and threw two others for 60 yards, accounting for some 400 total yards. He also scored 50 of the Ira points, including the Bulldog's first touchdown.

With 9:03 left in the opening quarter, Kesner scored on a 5-yard run. Joe Hall passed complete to David Mosley for the point-after. From then on, the two teams lit up the register faster than a grocery clerk.

One minute later, McCaully's Bobby Benavides scored on a 50-yard pass play. The PAT missed.

Ira retaliated on a 21-yard pass to Joe Hall, then scored again as Fred Kesner pushed in from a yard out. Hall passed to Darryl Calley for a one-point conversion.

Thirty-five seconds later, Kesner scored again, nabbing a 52-yard pass to put Ira further ahead. Hall kicked the PAT.

In the second quarter, McCaulley scored as Mike Wilkerson grabbed a 2-yard pass in the end zone.

James Jeffery kicked the 2-point conversion.

Faster than the score could change, Ira racked up two more touchdowns. Mosley ran 29 yards for the first, and Kesner garnered a 35-yard pass for the second. Hall kicked both sets of conversions.

Meanwhile, the Eagles tried to come back. James Jeffery scored on a 35-yard run 5:20 deep into the quarter, but 18 seconds after, Kesner screamed for a 71-yard touchdown gallop to pile up Ira's advantage. The points-after were booted by Jeffery and Hall.

Mike Wilkerson scored again for McCaulley with 3:12 remaining, but 19 seconds later Ira did it again as Scott Kesner sprinted for 49 yards. With :04 left before the half, Fred Kesner took off on another 41-yard run to give the Bulldogs a 66-30 lead.

The third quarter was more of the same, with R.D. Phillips scoring on two passes of 15 and 10 yards, and Kesner blasting for a 79-yard run. Kesner kicked one PAT.

The Eagle scores came on an 8-yard pass to Benavides and a 47-yard run by Jeffery.

With 7:49 left on the clock, Keith Bryant scored from 37 yards out to put Ira ahead by 52 points and the six-man 45 point rule went into effect, ending the contest.

Rip Past New Home, 20-0

Coyotes Cap Zone!

NEW HOME--The Borden County Coyotes, who lost four of their first five ball games this year, have roared back to win five zone battles in a row...including a 20-0 romp over New Home here Friday, to net the District 3-B west zone championship.

"We're beginning to get everything rolling, clicking together and looking good," Coach Bill Killian agreed Saturday morning. "New Home had a tremendous team. Our kids covered the pass real well and our defense rose to the occasion. We're real proud of all of them."

Borden County got on the board with 8:08 left in the second quarter as fullback Craig Peterson scored from a yard out. The 10-play, 55-yard drive ignited when Tony Benadivez pounced on a New Home fumble at the 45-yard line.

New Home threatened twice in the ball game. A punt recovery gave them possession on the Coyote 10-yard line in the initial quarter, but Borden County held. Still later, the host team drove 70 yards towards paydirt, but an alert Blane Dyess intercepted a would-be New Home touchdown pass to thwart the march.

With 8:06 remaining in the third quarter, halfback Eurdist Rinehart crossed over for the second Coyote touchdown from 2 yards away. He also ran over the points-after.

Then in the fourth set, Borden County's Travis Rinehart scored on a 13-yard run to cap a 12-play, 40-yard drive that sealed the Coyote victory. The PAT failed.

With the west zone championship in hand, Coach Killian's Coyotes go back to the drawing board in preparation for Jayton. 14-0 winners over Sterling City Friday night and east zone champions.

Highland Halts Card Title Hopes

HIGHLAND--The Hornets got off to an early start here Friday night, then held out to a 42-13 win over Hermleigh in a game which decided the District 3-B six-man south zone champion.

Stanley Warren did all the scoring for Hermleigh, crashing in from 5 yards in the third quarter and 2 yards in the fourth. He also ran over one 2-point conversion.

Despite obvious disappointment over the loss, Cardinal Coach Clarence Spieker can look at the season with a good feeling.

"We were picked to finish fourth in our zone before the season started and we ended up tying for the zone," he noted. "You hear about rebuilding years, actually this was a rebuilding year for us. We lost seven seniors last year, and had only three to build around.

"I was real pleased with the progress the kids made, and I really think they did a tremendous job. I'd like to personally thank our three seniors, Carroldon Burleson, Joe Don Williamson and David Cole, for their leadership on and off the field. I think a lot of our success came from them."

Snyder Coach...

game. Green hit Williams on a 40-yard pass to take Dunbar down to the Snyder 21 with 1:21 left but after three imcomplete tosses, Gary Hamilton intercepted for the Tigers, who then ran the clock out.

"We're real proud of them, coming back after losing to Estacado and playing one of their best games all year," cited Jenkins. They stayed after them at a time of the year when kids may not play hard; when they're out of the race and all. It's that kind of characteristic that makes you a winner."

With the victory, Snyder puts up a 3-2 district mark and a 4-5 season record. A win over Brownfield here Nov. 11 would even the year's total to 5-5.

Snyder got rolling first in the district 3-AAA tilt with 7:08 remaining in the inital quarter as nose guard Gary Hamilton recovered a fumble on the Dunbar nine. After three plays failed to net a touchdown, Richard Willis came in and booted a 23-yard field goal to put the Cats ahead.

Midway through the second stanza Snyder took advantage of another Panther fumble; this one recovered on the Dunbar 28 by Willis.

The Tigers drove towards the paymaster with runs of 5, 6, 3 and 2 yards by Crayton, a 4-yard pickup by Peterson and a Johnson to Mitch Mackey 8-yard pass.

With 5:36 left before the half, fullback Tommy Smith found his way over from inches out to boost Snyder's lead, 9-0. The point-after try failed.

But, as Jenkins noted earlier in the week, "They're (Dunbar) going to come down here to play," and they did.

The Panthers began playing on the next kickoff, which Bruce McKnight returned all the way to the Snyder 46. Three plays later, Dunbar was knocking at the door, with a first and ten at the Tiger 6-yard line.

It was a cat-fight for the next three downs, as Dunbar edged to the 1.

Then on fourth and goal, quarterback Daryl Green plunged over for the score. Robert Tolbert's point-after try failed, but Dunbar was in the game to stay, 9-6. The 54-yard, 7-play drive was aided by a 30-yard scamper from flanker Kenneth James.

The 72-yard Green to Williams pass in the third quarter put Dunbar ahead, but it was a night when the Tigers did most everything right, and their 69-yard drive capped the game's scoring at 16-13.

Panthers Plow...

ed up the change on one occasion, and Hobbs led at the half, 38-12.

The Panthers almost threw the 45-point rule into effect in the third quarter, with Hambrick scoring on two occasions before Trent could get going.

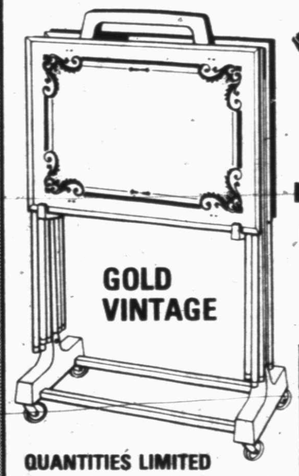

Early in the quarter, Hambrick recovered a Gorilla loose ball in the end zone for six points. The conversion failed. Later, he shot in from 2 yards away for another score. Again the conversion missed but Hobbs led, 50-12.

Trent retaliated as James Mays passed to Robert Freeman for 25 yards and a touchdown. Mays also found Freeman early in the fourth period on a 65-yard bomb. Both PATs failed and the Gorillas were through for the night.

Pierson snared Hobbs' final scored as he intercepted his second touchdown of the night; this one a 56 yarder. The conversion failed.

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

SECTION C, SUN., NOV. 6, 1977

THIS LONG--Deanna Williams, left, and Teresa Edmiaston study plans for one of the props to be used in the WTC production of "Medea" Nov. 16-19. The play was first performed in 432 BC, and even though the WTC production will be based on a modernized script the set will be planned to recreate the ancient background.

THE BUILDERS--Sarah Coleman, left, Jane Ann Womack, center, and Dennis McMenamy are shown at work on the "Medea" set. All three will be appearing on stage, but members of the cast often double over in the technical crews as well. "Medea" is the first production of the 1977-78 season for the WTC drama department.

Opening Nov. 16 At WTC

Sets For 'Medea' Nearly Ready

Set construction for the Western Texas College theatre department production of "Medea" is nearing completion, according to Jeanne Kobuszewski, stage director.

"Medea" will open Nov. 16 and run through Nov. 19 in the WTC Fine Arts Theatre. Advance tickets are now on sale at Snyder National Bank, West Texas State Bank, Snyder Drug and the Fine Arts Division office.

The new set, formalistic in style, hosts the house of Corinth, massive in size, utilizing large platforms, step units and pillars of stone in variations of grays. Formalism locates the action of a play and must compliment the strength of the characters who act and react within its boundaries, Ms. Kobuszewski commented.

Lee Kirby, who portrays Jason in the play, serves as master carpenter for set construction. Dennis McMenamy is co-construction head. Serving on the building crew are LaDonna Powell, Ann Dowdy, Junanne Brock, Teresa Edmiaston and Gay Lunday. Members of the set crew are Deanna Williams, Miss Dowdy, Miss Lunday, Jane Ann Womack, Bill Martin, Joe Mendoza, Miss Edmiaston, Joe Boldon, Amy Martin, Miss Powell, Luther Williams, Miss Brock, Tressie Griffin, Kathy Howell, Regina Gruben, Olga Barbosa and Jeri Bavousett.

Sarah Coleman is serving as assistant director for the production and is superviser for the makeup crew. Since "Medea" was first performed in 432 BC, the makeup crew has spent several hours researching the hairstyles for women and beards for men who will be appearing on stage.

Costume designs are under the supervision of Karen Sears, assisted by Miss Coleman. The lighting crew consists of Chief Engineers Kirby and McMenamy, assisted by Mendoza, Richard Galvan and Miss Lunday. Miss Lunday will also be in charge of house management, handling ticket sales, programs and seating at the performances.

Miss Brock, who will be appearing as Medea, heads the publicity crew. Joe Boldon is in charge of photography, while Miss Sears will design publicity posters.

Admission for the performance will be $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students. Reservations may be made by calling the Fine Arts Division office at 573-8511, extension 234.

Natural Gas Prices Up 19%

AUSTIN (AP)-State Comptroller Bob Bullock says natural gas prices in Texas increased 19 percent during the first half of the state's business year.

Bullock said his analysis for Sept. 1, 1976 to Feb. 28, 1977, showed that the price for all Texas natural gas averaged 81.1 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf) for the six-month period. He said this was 11.8 cents over the fiscal 1976 average price of 69.3.

Bullock said the average price of Texas-produced natural gas to in-state buyers during the six months was 97.1 cents per mcf compared to the 46.8 cents that out-of-state buyers paid.

Tot Passes Swimming Test

LOS ALAMITOS, Calif. (AP) - Nine-month-old Fred Garcia III has become the youngest person ever to pass the beginner's stage of the Red Cross swimming test in Greta Andersen's swimming school here.

For his achievement, Fred received Miss Andersen's gold medal from the 1948 Olympics and a Red Cross certification card, which he promptly attempted to eat.

The son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Garcia blew bubbles, bobbed his head and swam 30 feet. He floated on his back 30 seconds and bounced back up when pushed to the bottom in 5 feet of water. He did all this after only 15 swimming lessons.

The Red Cross test also required that he jump into the pool and swim, but since Fred couldn't walk yet, he just sat on the ledge and fell in.

Batik, Metal Designs Featured At Museum

Batik paintings by Martha Gowen and unique designs in metal by Mike Gowen are among the items which will make up an arts and crafts show opening today in the Scurry County Museum.

The show is to remain through mid-December.

Most of the items displayed are for sale, and Christmas shoppers will have the opportunity to select some ususual gifts from the array. There are many items in the $10 to $35 price range along with some at higher prices. Exhibitors in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Gowen include Karen Sears, Katherine Elkins, Weldon Sears and Del and Jo Ann Hirst, all of Snyder, Donna Dye of Colorado City, Karen Teague of Austin and C. Warren Cullar of Bertram.

Some quilts from the Senior Center will also be included.

Mr. and Mrs. Gowen will be exhibiting in the museum for the first time. Mrs. Gowen's batik is sure to be of special interest to persons who have done batik themselves.

Batik is an ancient art form of dyeing fabric. Molten wax is painted onto the fabric to keep the dye from penetrating certain areas when the fabric is submersed in the dye. As the fabric is rewaxed and dyed in various colors, tiny cracks develop in the wax, allowing the dye to seep into the fabric causing a marbling effect along with the design and color. Mrs. Gowen's batiks have such detail that they resemble watercolors, and she also does watercolors.

Gowen is relatively new to the art scene, but he has already received numerour awards and honors at shows throughout Texas and New Mexico. His metal sculptures reflect the rugged individuality of the West Texas plains where he grew up, and his attention is frequently captured by the ramshackle farm buildings, windmills and barbed wire fences characteristic of the area. Delicate butterflies and flowers are also to be found in his works. Weather-beaten wood also holds a charm for Gowen and provide the inspiration for many of his larger works.

The Scurry County Museum, located on the campus of Western Texas College, is open each weekday and from 1-5 p.m. on Sundays. The permanent exhibit gallery traces the history of the Scurry County area from pre-historic times to the present, while temporary exhibits such as the arts and crafts show are placed in the lobby and the multi-purpose room. The museum has a small gift shop of its own, and visitors are invited to shop there the year around.

BATIK ARTIST--Martha Gowen holds one of the batik paintings she will be showing in the Scurry County Museum arts and crafts show opening today. Mrs. Gowen also does watercolors, which are in great demand by galleries and private collections throughout the Southwest.

Depressed Dad Abandons Girl

FORBING, La. (AP)-A man stopped at a children's home and asked that his daughter be watched while he fixed his car. He did not return.

But the two-page handwritten letter pinned to the 7-year-old girl's sweater told the story: He suffered from a "hopeless" illness and had "no one else to turn to" with the mentally retarded child.

A spokesman for the Caddo Parish Sheriff's Department said Friday that authorities were trying to identify the child, left Thursday at the Holy Angels School for retarded youngsters and adults.

The man did not leave his name, nor that of the child, who does not appear able to hear or speak, the spokesman said.

"I feel hysteria over the act of separating with her, yet it is an act of love," the man wrote. "Years of anguish and fear have brought me to your door of mercy, to God, and my church.

"I have no family, no one else to turn to for moral or financial support. During each operation I have had, just thinking of her has aided me.

"But I am in the midst of depression and hopelessness today. There is so little time to find her security away from the indignities of public agencies. I am filled with strong feeling that you, as nuns, will understand my plight."

He said he despaired over his "hopeless" illness and his increasing inability to care for the child he loved.

The letter did not indicate the nature of the father's illness.

"You never know what God wants to do," said Sister Zita, director of Holy Angels, which houses and educates 170 infants, children and adults. "He brought her to the right place. We will care for her."

Nuns who saw the man described him as about 5-feet-8, 140 pounds, with brown hair and a moustache.

"He was very neat," Sister Zita said. "The girl, too, was neat and clean."

The girl was given a physical examination Friday. Sister Zita said she may be slightly undernourished.

"It's not a case of child neglect at all," Teros said. "Looks like a situation where he left here here thinking it was the very best place in the world."

"Because I said so" is not a reason, says Debby Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Neither adult, teenager nor child, she says, accept it as a justification for behavior.

Aviation Education Session Set

An aviation education meeting has been scheduled for Thursday night at Western Texas College.

The meeting will be held in Room 102 of the Academic Science Building and the first session, which will deal with "Stalling for Safety," is set for 7 p.m.

This will be followed by a session on "Mountain Flying" at 8 p.m. and another session on "Winter Flying," set for 9 p.m.

All pilots in the area have been invited to attend the meeting.

More information may be obtained by calling Bob Stanfield, the Chamber of Commerce in Snyder, or Ray C. Raney, Lubbock Accident Prevention Specialist. Raney may be reached at 806-762-0335.

Traffic Death Rate Near High

AUSTIN (AP)-Texas' traffic death rate is slowing approaching the high figures reached before the 55 miles-per-hour speed law became effective in 1973, the Department of Public Safety says.

DPS statisticians said Friday that deaths on Texas streets and highways so far this year total 2,908 compared to 2,654 in 1976, a 10 per cent increase.

The 1973 total for the same period was 3,074 deaths.

DPS said there have been 2,555 accidents this year in which deaths occurred, compared to 2,291 last year, an increase of 12 percent.

Flying Claims Threat To TM

SOUTH FALLSBURG, N.Y. (AP)- They talk about smooth liftoffs and bumpy landings as pilot trainees, stewardesses and hang-glider addicts might.

But this is at the Capital of the Age of Enlightenment, a handsome campus of the transcendental meditation movement, and "they" are advanced disciples who claim they can fly-levitate-with mind power as the sole propellant.

"We are in the beginning stages of flying," says John Konhaus, acting director of the TM movement in the United States. "It comes in stages. At first it looks like they're hopping like frogs. Then they become lighter and lighter as growth of consciousness develops."

Some devoted followers think the movement's credibility will be badly strained by the levitation claims. There's skepticism within TM.

Joseph and Devanie Wagner are meditators. She says, "I have no doubt that I will leave the ground." Her husband, a systems analyst for a research firm, says the whole business is a hoax.

Mrs. Wagner hasn't seen the flying but has heard it. "I saw a lot of them take pillows and foam rubber, and I stuck around by the door. I heard a lot of knocking and thudding."

The TM levitators assert they can rise one or two teet from the full lotus, a position with the left ankle on top of the right thigh and vice versa, and then move forward three, six, maybe 10 feet.

Could a skilled gymnast perform the feat? "No way," says Dick Mulvihill, director of the National Academy of Gymnasts in Eugene, Ore. "With the full lotus, there's no way to gain thrust."

In addition to the beginning, or hopping stages, TMers talk of reports about initiates actually hovering with greater mastery over gravity.

"At this stage, we have most control in taking off," says flier Gale Merman, secretary to magician Doug Henning. "Landings tend to be rough."Says Allen Solof, a daily flier and one of 450 TM executive governors in the United States:

"There is a great deal of group consciousness. If one person begins to fly, it starts the other people up. It's like popcorn. Once it goes, they all start going."

Konhaus runs the Capital of the Age of Enlightenment near this Catskills community. The guests usually are serious professional men and women. The men wear three-piece suits, the women afternoon apparel of party dresses. The atmosphere is serene, the meals vegetarian and those who smoke must do so outside.

Visitors are welcome to see the flying rooms-one for men and one for women. The floors are covered with foam rubber, and there's more foam rubber stacked in the hallways.

Rains Should Boost Small Grain, Pastures

COLLEGE STATION (AP)-Rain over eastern and southern sections of Texas the first part of the week should boost small grain plantings and winter pastures.

However, much more rain is needed to fill stock tanks and to replenish soil that has been dried by months of drouth conditions.

The rains will allow planting of wheat and oats which should get off to a good start with some additional moisture, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Also, the rains should slow the exodus of livestock to markets as winter pasture prospects improve.

Harvest operations made good progress in western and northern areas that missed the rains.

Some fall vegetables are moving to market in South Texas along with citrus. The sugar cane harvest is under way in the Rio Grande Valley while sugar beet harvesting is active in the High Plains, said Pfannstiel.

Reports from district extension agents showed the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: The sorghum yields are lower than anticipated. Soybean harvesting is active, with above average yields. The cotton harvest is moving slowly, with a freeze needed to kill vegetative growth. Wheat is developing slowly due to dry conditions. Movement of stocker cattle is heavy.

SOUTH PLAINS: The cotton harvest has good to excellent yields and is of excellent quality. Harvesting is 60 to 70 per cent complete in Southern counties and about 20 percent complete in northern sections. The sorghum harvest is virtually complete and soybean harvesting is moving toward completion. Sugar beets are about 50 percent harvested. Some lettuce and carrots are still being harvested.

ROLLING PLAINS: Good rains a week ago should boost winter grazing prospects from small grains. Farmers are now trying to complete planting. Cotton harvesting is active and is nearing the halfway point. Sorghum harvesting is about complete. A good peanut crop is being harvested in Hall, Motley and Stonewall counties.

NORTH CENTRAL: The cotton harvest is virtually complete, with fair yeilds. Harvesting of peanuts, soybeans and pecans is active, with soybeans and pecans producing poor yields. Planting of wheat and oats is 75 percent complete but moisture is needed to get the crop up. Fall gardens, pastures and ranges are also in dire need of rain.

NORTHEAST: Scattered rains will help small grains but more moisture is needed for sustained growth. The corn crop has been about 60 percent of normal due to the dry weather. Sorghum harvesting remains active. The sweet potato harvest is about complete, with average yields. The pecan crop is light. Cattle are losing weight due to limited grazing.

FAR WEST: Recent rains should boost fall crops and wheat for grazing. Sorghum harvesting is about complete while the cotton harvest ranges from 20 to 85 per cent complete. Culled cows and sheep continue to move to market. A good pecan harvest is in progress. Ranchers are preparing for the upcoming deer season.

WEST CENTRAL: Recent rains slowed the cotton and peanut harvests but should boost samll grains. However, more moisture is needed. Cotton yields are ranging from fair to good. The peanut crop is generally good. Pecans are dropping, with only a fair harvest in prospect. Some supplemental feeding of livestock continues.

CENTRAL: Parts of the area received light rains, but much more mositure is needed. About 75 percent of the peanut crop is in. Yields are down. Pecans are being harvested; yields are expected to be fair. Cattle are in poor condition due to limited grazing; heavy marketing continues.

EAST: Good rains in some sections should help small grains and winter pastures. Harvesting of cotton and peanuts is in the latter stages, with fair to good yields. Pecan harvesting is active, with yields down. Cattle have lost weight due to poor grazing conditions. Supplemental feeding is under way.

SOUTHEAST AND UPPER GULF COAST: Good rains will help wheat and oat plantings and fall vegetable gardens. Harvesting of soybeans and the second rice crop was delayed. Pecan yields are excellent in some counties. Grazing is average to below average, with livestock generally in good condition.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Scattered rains will help small grain plantings. Pecan harvesting continues, with yields poor to fair. Fall gardens will benefit from the rains. Grazing conditions are below average, with livestock in poor to fair condition. Cattle marketing continues heavy; there is some feeding.

SOUTHWEST: Good rains have boosted small grain plantings and have caused some slowdown in cattle marketing.

PROTECT PEACH TREES FROM DISEASES

Peach trees in Scurry County can fall victim to disease problems unless treated by a copper fungicide. A material called Kocide 101 will effectively deter two fungus diseases and bacterial leaf spot when applied in the fall after the first frost.

Most peach trees had a big crop this year, so special care should be taken to protect the trees. Complications brought on by the heavy loads of fruit and drought intensify the need for special care.

Coryneum blight is a fungus that attacks peach trees and causes a circular purple spot on the foliage and in severe cases, attacks the fruit. Another fungus disease is peach leaf curl. This disease results in a thickened and misshaped leaf.

Bacterial leaf spot attacks both the leaf and the fruit and reduces fruit quality so that it is unsaleable.

The important thing is that a fall spray application is necessary to keep these diseases from striking your peach trees next spring. So Kocide 101 should be applied as a spray after the first killing frost which normally is about now.

Proper applications for home orchard trees require 1½ tablespoons of kocide 101 per gallon of water. For larger operations, mix two pounds of the copper type fungicide with 100 gallons of water.

TIME FOR SOIL SAMPLING

Any farming operation requires planning, and this is particularly true when it comes to applying fertilizer. Fertilizer applications should be based on a soil test, and fall is a good time to talk soil samples for testing.

Containers and instructions for submitting soil samples are available at the county Extension office. Based on a soil test, a sound fertilization program can be developed for the coming crop year.

Such a program will be increasingly important in the months ahead. Under present economic conditions, low yields are not profitable, and fertilization, at least with nitrogen, is generally necessary for profitable yields. Yet, the need for each plant nutrient and its potential profitability should be closely evaluated.

With current high production costs, uncertainty about farm prices, and other risks in crop production, farmers must study their fertilizer needs more closely than ever to make sound management decisions.

Philosophy Course Is Added To Curriculum

By WESLEY KRUGER

HERMLEIGH - Hermleigh High School is offering a philosophy course this year. This is the first time in the school's history that a philosophy course has been offered.

Mike Brown, who doubles as seventh through tenth grades science teacher, is the philosophy instructor. Brown received a BS degree in microbiology and a BA degree in philosophy from Texas Tech University.

Brown feels as though his study of philosophy has been very beneficial to him personally. He states that this study has taught him "to think," has given him the tools of thought, has allowed him to be more open-minded, and has taught him not only to question, but how to question, why to question, and what to question.

The philosophy course at Hermleigh is offered to students in the tenth, eleventh, and twelth grades. Brown will be attempting to have his students establish a relationship between knowledge, truth, and belief. He wants his students to develop an attitude of open-mindedness, to determine what things should be questioned, and to develop skills in questioning those things critically. His ultimate goal is to help students develop a more rational way of living.

Brown emphasizes that an understanding of philosophy teaches people not only to answer questions, but also to question answers. In past times and even today, people tend to accept general beliefs without question. The application of philosophical thought frees people to question beliefs and not label them as being right just because they are the common beliefs.

INSTRUCTOR — Mike Brown, philosophy instructor at Hermleigh High School, stresses the importance of philosophical thought to his students.

Minnesota Bans Outdoor Lamps

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)-Minnesota has banned decorative outdoor gas lamps, as a means of conserving natural gas.

Although widely promoted by utility firms a few years ago, the lamps are now viewed as a waste of natural gas needed for heating homes.

The ban was ordered by the 1976 state legislature but was postponed until Oct. 1, 1977, giving time for homeowners to convert their lamps to electricity.

Teddy Suffered Early Defeat

NEW YORK (AP)-Losing an important election does not necessarily mean the end of a political career, many politicians have found.

Teddy Roosevelt, for example, lost the tumultuous New York City mayoral election in 1886 to a Tammany Hall politician, yet later rose to more impressive political heights.

An episode highlighting the 28-year-old Republican's unsuccessful bid for this city's top political job is a feature in "The Best of Families," and eight-week drama series for the Public Broadcasting Service to be shown this fall. Roosevelt was born here in 1858 at 28 East 20th St.

Parents to Visit Schools Next Week.

A student writes a welcome message on the blackboard.

"What did you do in school today?" many parents ask their kids when they get home.

Now, more than in many years, they really want to know the answer.

Parents everywhere are becoming more interested in schools.

Many parents will be visiting schools during National Education Week, November 13-19.

They want to find out how well you are learning. They also want to know how well you are taught.

Many schools are giving tests to check and see how the kids and teachers are doing.

They are interested in how competent (kom-pe-tent) you are or how well you have learned what you should know.

Some schools are going "back to the basics." This means that they are teaching a lot of reading, writing and arithmetic. They are also trying to improve your discipline or how well you behave at school.

Mini Fact: California has more school age children than any other state. Alaska has the least number of school age children.

Newspapers Go To School

Newspapers are stepping into the classroom and teaching the kids a thing or two.

Papers are being used to teach math, science, reading, social studies and other subjects.

Young readers are discovering the fun of finding out what's in the news.

Newspapers are giving lessons about everyday life.

Newspapers are stepping into more and more classrooms.

Newspaper in Education

There are 1792 daily papers in this country. About 450 of them have Newspaper in Education programs.

Many weekly papers have this program, too.

The newspapers work with local schools to find ways to make learning more interesting by using the paper.

Some papers hire teachers whose job it is to visit the schools and work with the teachers and kids.

Many teachers are working on their own by bringing the paper into class.

Why Newspapers?

Text books are often out of date by the time they reach the classroom. The newspaper is a "new book" every day.

Newspapers have something for everyone. There are comics, news, horoscopes, advice columns, ads, movie news, weather and other stories.

Newspapers can be messed up. You can cut them. You can write on them. You can paste them down.

Newspapers give kids a chance to practice some of the adult reading that they will be doing when they grow up . . . and leave the text books behind.

Ways Newspapers Are Used

These are a few of the many ways newspapers can teach in the classroom or at home.

Before kids learn to read, they can look at and talk about the pictures.

Beginning readers can try to find the letters in the alphabet. They sound out the words in the headlines.

Older kids can talk about the comics and front page and local news, the weather and TV schedules and reviews.

They cut the comic strips into boxes and see if someone can get them back in the right order.

Newspapers are good reading teachers. They also help kids learn to live in the adult world.

Ads teach math!

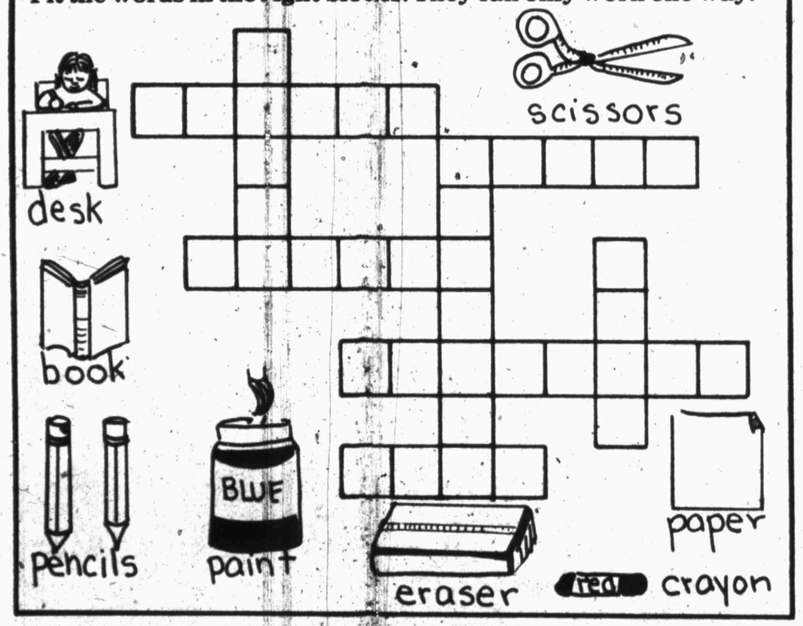

Kids study them and decide how to plan their day.

They keep up with what is going on in their town.

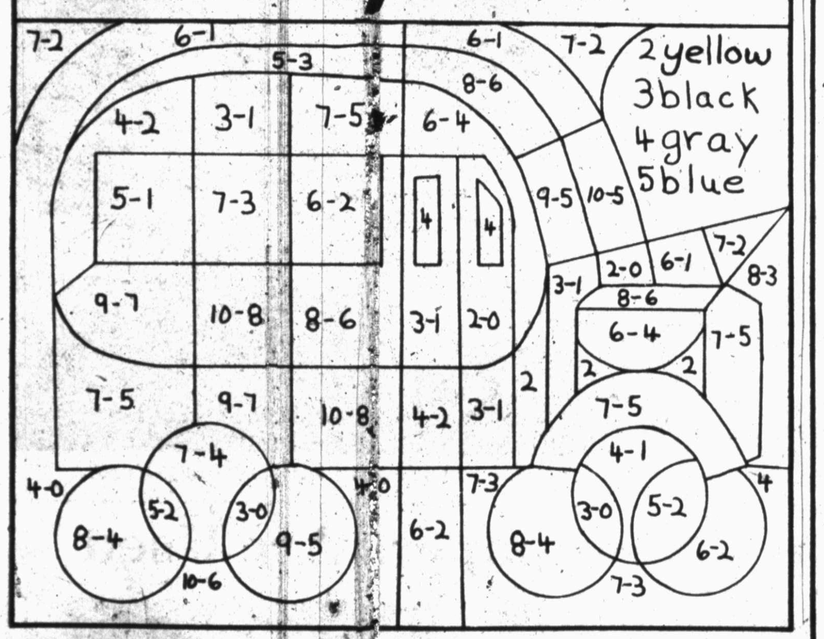

They can learn the difference between fact and opinion.

The Mini Page Goes To School, Too

The Mini Page goes into homes and into schools, too.

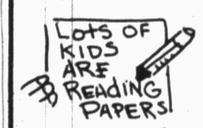

It teaches the joy of reading and learning from the local newspaper.

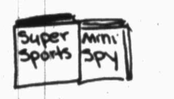

Here are some ideas on how to use The Mini Page at school.

Hang up your Mini Page as a poster.

1. Newspaper
2. Education
3. Classroom
4. read

- The teacher writes some of the key words on the board. You figure them out. You copy them and keep a Mini Page notebook. Make up your own sentences, using the words.
- Read the stories and rewrite them in your own words. Make up stories about the pictures.
- After you have finished reading The Mini Page, cut it apart to make booklets of your favorite features.
- Many Mini Page recipes are especially for the classroom. Have you done any classroom cooking lately?
- Save each copy of The Mini Page and make a scrapbook so you can enjoy it all year around.
- Go to the library and get books about Mini Page subjects.
- Many younger kids have their Mini Pages read to them. You older ones can read The Mini Page by yourself. Answer the questions in the Quiz-a-Roo, usually found on page 4.
- Staple your Mini Page on thick construction paper. Make a file of your favorite subjects. Bring them out for reading and reference later on.
- Some teachers "laminate" or put a special plastic coating over The Mini Page so they can keep it for a long, long time. The kids can work the puzzles over and over again by using a special pencil and then wiping off the answers.

Super Sport: Walter Payton

There are a lot of people in pro football who would be happy to see Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton hibernate.

Walter is in his fourth season with the Bears. Last year, the 5 foot, 11 inch, ball carrier led the National Football Conference in rushing with 1,390 yards. He was named player of the year by a magazine, "Sporting News."

Off-season, Walter works on his masters degree in communications at Jackson State. He is also interested in youth work.

He grew up in Mississippi. He enjoys toying with his CB radio and dancing. ©UPS

Sugar provides energy

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB–I am very active and my preferred recreation is tennis. I eat two or three lumps of sugar between sets to provide "quick energy." I am told that this is in error and that it can actually cause a decrease in blood sugar. Is this correct? What is "blood sugar" and how is it produced?

DEAR READER--Most people seem to forget there is such a thing as digestion. Food of any type has to be processed by the stomach and small intestine before it can be absorbed into the blood stream.

Protein and fat, particularly, are not emptied from the stomach very rapidly. Fat may remain in the stomach for hours. Food in the stomach cannot be absorbed and hence cannot provide a single calorie of energy. That is what is wrong with the steak and egg meal before football games and the like. The steak and egg are usually still in the stomach after the game is over.

Carbohydrates are more rapidly processed by the stomach than any other food. If they are soluble as sugar is, the liquid solution is rapidly emptied into the small intestine where it can be broken down and absorbed for immediate use as energy.

Sugar is glucose and fructose hooked together into one molecule. The molecule is broken down in the small intestine and within 30 minutes to one hour after ingesting a solution of sugar water you will reach a peak blood level of these substances. The fructose is converted to glucose in the energy process. All carbohydrates from any and all sources eventually are converted to glucose for energy. This includes the carbohydrates in cereals, fresh fruits and vegetables.

The sugar you eat between sets does provide energy if you need it. Blood sugar is a general term and could include glucose and fructose and even galactose (part of milk sugar). The major portion of it is glucose. We are particularly interested in blood glucose in terms of diagnosing diabetes or hypoglycemia (often called low blood sugar, but it really means low blood glucose level).

It is not true that the sugar you eat between sets will lower your blood sugar. Some sensitive people who have hypoglycemia will have an excess outpouring of insulin which in turn may cause a rebound low blood glucose level because of the insulin action.

Exercise causes the body to burn glucose. This can significantly lower the blood glucose level. That is why a diabetic who takes insulin may need to eat more or take less insulin if he is going to exercise. The exercise and regular amount of insulin combined may cause an insulin reaction–hypoglycemia. Diabetics need to regulate both their food intake and their exercise to maintain a reasonably stable level of blood glucose.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-8, Sugar and Starch: Carbohydrates, so you can learn the facts about sugar, glucose, starch and why all carbohydrates are similar and related. That way you can avoid being confused by statements such as being told your taking a lump of sugar will lower your blood sugar. Others who want to know the facts can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for this issue to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB–My husband and I get into arguments over whether or not I can become pregnant. He says no and I'm afraid I may still become pregnant.

I am not taking the pill and am 56 years old. I haven't had my period in more than three years but I believe I am still going through the change as I get very nervous at times and still get estrogen shots. How long must I get shots? It's over 18 years now.

DEAR READER–If you get pregnant you are likely to set a new record. Published accounts say that the oldest woman to have a child was 56 at the time of the birth. Some of my readers have brought to my attention at least two instances of women who were 57 who gave birth. Since you must be past your 56th birthdate and it will take nine months to have a child you will be at the top of the record if you achieve that rare distinction.

Many doctors believe that if a woman in her 50s goes through the menopause and doesn't menstruate for one year she is not likely to get pregnant. Others prefer to wait two years after menstruation has stopped before saying that a woman is no longer fertile.

The symptoms you have may not be from menopause. It is very likely that your ovaries have not been functional for nearly all of the three years since you have stopped menstruating. There is a lot of the confusion about what symptoms are caused by menopause. Put simply, a lot of people get nervous who are not going through the change of life, including men.

To give you a better understanding of the change in life and what symptoms it really causes I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Whether or not a woman needs estrogen after menopause is an individual matter. Some women produce enough female hormones from the adrenal gland to get along quite well and others do not. Only an examination by your physician can answer the question of whether or not you need it.

For women who need estrogen support it is really replacement hormone therapy to help do part of what the ovaries used to do. In these women the female hormones help to prevent changes in the vagina cells that cause dryness and may lead to chronic infections. The hormones are specific for controlling hot flashes caused by lack of estrogen.

There is some evidence that adequate amounts of estrogen help to protect against osteoporosis (dissolving bones) but less indication that they stop the process once it has begun.

There are good studies that show that women taking female hormones after the ovaries stop functioning, or have been removed, have a much lower death rate from a variety of medical conditions, and live healthier and happier lives. Women who take estrogen after the menopause should have careful regular medical examinations to be certain there is no evidence of breast cancer and there are no signs of malignancy of the uterus if a hysterectomy has not been done.

Goodfellows Begin Plans

A preliminary meeting of Snyder Goodfellows was held Thursday at The Shack to begin plans for the Christmas season.

Members suggested that the organization ask for good and complete toys as well as repairable toys, and that no missing parts of dolls, puzzles or bicycles be accepted this year.

Also, members attending agreed that the organization should make a special effort to reach the aged and infirm, giving them top priority in the Goodfellows program.

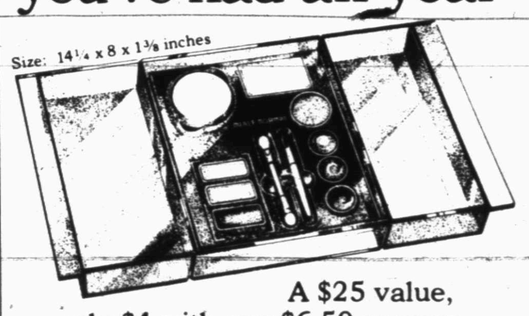

Collections for Goodfellows will be launched by the RSVP on Dec. 5 at Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank.

Future meetings will deal with collection and distribution of canned goods and toys.

Baby Boom Still Affecting Everybody

By TERRY KIRKPATRICK
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It began in 1946 with the notion that things were finally looking up, a national euphoria released by the end of depression and war. By 1961, as though some intangible limit had been reached, it was over.

It was a wave of childbearing, and it produced a generation so large that it was called the Postwar Baby Boom.

Slowly and inexorably this generation rearranged the country: first the maternity wards weren't big enough, then new elementary schools had to be built, later more high schools and colleges. Through sheer numbers the postwar children set new standards, rediscovering bicycles and baggy pants, marching on Washington and retreating to Vermont, flooding colleges and then flogging them as irrelevant.

This crowd of people, today 16 to 31, shows up in double digit unemployment rates for teenagers, the housing crunch, the crime rate, debate over a later retirement age, doctors of philosophy driving taxicabs.

"In the past five years we have come to recognize much more fully the scope of this baby boom," says Peter Morrison, a population analyst with the Rand Corp. "Demographers are discovering that its effects run far deeper than we recognized.

The baby boom was an interruption of the gradual graying of America. Sixty million babies were born in the 15 boom years from 1946 to 1961. In the preceding 15 years, only 40 million had been born, and in the 15 years after 1961 just under 54 million.

The baby boom affected everybody. The whole society had to reorient itself to feed, clothe, educate and find jobs for it.

Attitudes of this generation toward itself and the world were molded by unique events. It was the first generation to grow up with the television, the transistor and the polio vaccine, the first to sit in the family room and watch men walk on the moon.

Just as important is the way it developed great expectations, nourished by education and prosperity, then saw them trammeled in its constant elbowing for position. There were too many people expecting too much.

"By reason of their experience, this generation is much more sophisticated, cynical, much more willing to challenge traditions, more willing to accept changes," says Philip Houser, director of the Population Research Center at the University of Chicago. "We may be in from some basic changes that this generation will insist upon."

The postwar generation already is carrying into its middle-aged years new ideas about family life, the value of work, education, leisure time, food and neighborhoods.

In 1944 Cole Porter's "Don't Fence Me In" was released, and the millions of servicemen who returned the next year seemed to take it as a theme. They moved out into what had been farm fields - where their children would be bigger than the trees they wanted to climb - and built homes with money guaranteed by the GI bill.

The number of marriages jumped from 1.6 million in 1945 to 2.3 million in 1946. The number of births jumped from 2.9 million to 3.4 million.

"The baby boom is probably the first generation raised in middle class affluence, and they have taken it for granted," says Denis Johnston, a demographer in the U.S. Office of Management and Budget. "I was 35 when I first bought an automobile. That's unknown in this generation."

Today, the babies born in 1946 are 31 years old and have formed their own households. "I would argue that they had a shocking experience," Johnston says. The affluence was impossible to sustain."

Now that the first of the post-war children have grown and left home, their old neighborhoods - the first strongholds in the great march to suburbia - look different.

Across the nation, communities that debated higher school taxes in the 1950s to accommodate the baby boom are debating today which schools to close. That's because the baby boom was followed by a rather dramatic "baby bust," an unexpected occurrence that magnified the impact of the baby boom.

Demographers supposed that another population surge would happen when the postwar children reached child-bearing age in the 1960s. But it didn't.

The rate at which women were bearing children at the peak of the boom in 1957 - which implied nearly 3.8 births for each woman over her lifetime - was a record for modern times. By 1973 the rate had dropped to 1.9 births per woman.

The nationwide enrollment in elementary and secondary schools rose from 48 million in 1964 to 51 million in 1973, then slipped back to 50 million in 1975. And the National Center for Education Statistics projects that it will drop to 46 million by 1985.

This means difficult decisions not only for school districts but for those of the postwar generation who chose teaching as a career. Nearly half of those who received degrees in 1975 qualifying them to teach and who looked for a job didn't find one, the center estimates.

The same expansion occurred at colleges and universities as the baby boom generation entered. Enrollment rose from 1.5 million in 1952 to 6.3 million in 1972. Not only were there 11.6 million more people of college age in 1972, but the proportion of them going to college had risen from 11 percent to 25 percent, the Census Bureau says.

Because more people were going to college, more people were entering society with high aspirations that often couldn't be satisfied.

More than 5,000 teenagers mobbed job centers in New York one day this past summer for a chance at 2,000 jobs. Similar scenes occurred in Chicago and Los Angeles. Behind them is the way the baby boom has flooded the labor force.

At any one time in 1975, 3.6 million people aged 16 to 24 were unable to find jobs, the National Commission for Man-power Policy found. Another 600,000 wanted to work but had become discouraged and quit looking.

"We have paid a substantial price for this condition," Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts said this year. "The opportunity to participate in the nation's prosperity-or even to have a job-has been denied a significant segment of the population."

While the total population grew by 5.3 percent between 1970 and 1976, the 25 to 34 year age group-the first-home buying group-grew by more than 27 percent, the Census Bureau says.

"This year we expect 1.4 million new single-family housing starts," said Bob Sheheen, associate chief economist of the National Association of Homebuilders. "We attribute this to a great extent to the postwar population bulge."

Many young couples can only afford a house if both are working. The association found in a survey last year that 58.5 percent of the first-time buyers of new houses were working couples.

With couples having fewer children or none at all, houses may become smaller.

The baby boom generation will have its own troubles with retirement.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

The relative humidity falls as a house is heated. You must continuously add water to the air to maintain a healthful humidity level during winter. How much water is needed? Usually one gallon of water per room, per day, during winter heating. A small pan of water on stove or radiator is not adequate. A good humidifier to maintain 50 per cent humidity is a wise investment for health.

Insurance Protects Movie Monster

NEW ORLEANS (AP)- Godzilla, the movie monster known as the scourge of cities and human life, is protected by insurance.

"When we were approached to issue the insurance," said Edward Yerger, resident vice president of Fireman's Fund Insurance Companies branch here, "no one had the nerve to turn Godzilla down.

"But we're not complete pushovers. We'd heard Godzilla has breath that would fry a chicken, so we wrote the policy to exclude any loss caused by extreme temperatures, as well as wear and tear, dishonesty, flood and mysterious disappearance," Yerger added.

The request for coverage, made by Cinema Shares International, was actually for a monster costume used to promote a Godzilla film at theaters around the country. The insurance firm wrote a scheduled articles floater with a $5,000 limit.

Eagle Forum To Meet

The Snyder Chapter of Eagle Forum will meet in the Science Lecture Hall of Western Texas College Monday, November 7 at 7:30 p.m.

The speaker for the meeting will be Mrs. Don Workman of Lubbock. Mrs. Workman is one of 15 women appointed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe to the Texas Commission on the Status of Women. She attended the International Women's year Conference in Austin and her address Monday night will discuss the resolutions passed at that June IWY conference. Those resolutions support federal funding for 24 hour child care centers, advocate wages for housewives, support ratification of the ERA, support the rights of homosexuals and abortions paid for by federal tax dollars.

Mrs. Workman believes that such resolutions do not reflect the goals and ideals of todays woman. Men are welcomed to attend.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand was played 20 years ago in the last quarter of an important team match.

You are in seven spades and it is a cinch to see that your opponents would also be there.

Your team was well behind at the three-quarter mark and you realize that your only chance to win will be to make seven while your opposite team goes down.

The hand is going to depend on taking a successful heart finesse and when you get around to it you have managed to eliminate everything but hearts and East has discarded one. Hence, he started with four—West with three—so the odds are slightly in favor of playing East for her ladyship.

Pedro Cabral of New York decided after long thought that the other South would take the percentage play. He played West for the queen and made the grand slam.

Now, what would you do if you were at the other table and only wanted to make the same play that Pedro made.

The other South took the percentage play, lost the slam, but still won the match by a very small margin.

Ask the Jacobys

A Michigan reader wants to know what the four-spade bid means in the partnership sequence: one diamond, one spade, four spades.

Most experts play it as showing the same 18 or 19 points in support of spades as standard bidders do, but add the extra proviso that their hand does not include a singleton or void.

RECIPE FOR EXPERIMENTING—This recipe for Golden Apple Crunch is worth trying. Bits O Brickle, bits of almond-flavored toffee, ground into crunchy nuggets—. Four recipes are printed on the back of the bag.

Like To Experiment?

Try A New Product

Heath, manufacturer of that old-favorite English Toffee Candy Bar, is introducing a new baking item: Bits 'O Brickle. This unique new product, to be stocked on the supermarket shelf in the baking needs section, is Heath's first entry in baking products.

Bits 'O Brickle are crunchy nuggest of almond-flavored toffee--just like the inside of a Heath Bar. They come in a foil pouch ready for use, with four delicious recipes featured on the back of the bag.

With cold weather ahead, Heath offers the following additional recipe for experimenting with Bits 'O Brickle. It is very simple and easy to prepare, freezes beautifully, and is delicious.

Would you like more Brickle recipes? Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Brickle Brochure, Heath Candy Company, P.O. Box No. 679, Robinson, IL 62454. You will receive a new pamphlet now being printed.

GOLDEN APPLE CRUNCH

Preheat oven to 350. In 9-inch square pan, spread one can (1½ pound) apple filling. Sprinkle lightly with cinnamon. Next, sprinkle dry contents of a single-layer yellow cake mix over top of apple filling. Sprinkle lightly once again with cinnamon, then with ½ cup Bits 'O Brickle and, if desired, with ¼ cup chopped nuts. Drizzle 1-3 cup melted margarine over top. Bake at 350 for 25-30 minutes, til golden brown and bubbly. Serve warm. Delicious with a scoop of vanilla ice cream topped with a sprinkling of Bits 'O Brickle.

HACKING JACKET is just the right length to team up with pants or, as shown, with a tartan circle skirt. Both are wool, polyester, acrylic and nylon blends. By RT.

Library Gets Manuscript

EASTON, Md. (AP)-Author James A. Michener is donating the outline, manuscript and other papers he used in writing his forthcoming novel to a small Maryland library.

Michener, whose novel portrays four centuries of life around the Chesapeake Bay, said he chose the Talbot County Free Library "primarily to pay honor to its splendid new building and to its location on the Eastern Shore."

The Pulitzer Prize - winning author has spent the last 18 months on the Shore researching and writing the book, due to be published next year.

The library board, according to Thursday's announcement, agreed that the manuscript and accompanying notes of the book will not be exhibited until the book has been on the stands for a year.

Oscar Wilde, British author-playwright, was born in Ireland in 1856.

TG&Y Opens Doors To Public Monday

STORE MANAGERS—Co-managers of the T.G.&Y. store are Wayne Scarber (left) and Juan Ramirez. Both have managerial experience from T.G.&Y. stores in Lubbock. (SDN Staff Photo)

Open House Set Today

The second major store at the Varsity Square Shopping Center, T.G.&Y., will formally open its doors to the public Monday at 9 a.m.

An open house at T.G.&Y. will be observed at the store today from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. However, the open house, said store managers, is intended for store employees, the news media, and city officials. The store, they added, will not be open for business until Monday morning.

A variety store, T.G.&Y. has stock items ranging from Christmas tinsel and calculators to greeting cards and automotive supplies, said co-managers Wayne Scarber and Juan Ramirez.

Scarber, 31, has been a manager of T.G.&Y. stores for three years. A Lubbock native, Scarber also has eight years experience with discount chain in which he managed stores in Odessa and Abilene.

Ramirez, 23, has been in the employ of T.G.&Y. five years. Four of those years, he said, were spent as an assistant manager at a T.G.&Y. store in Lubbock.

With 40,000 square feet, T.G.&Y. is the largest store in the Varsity Square Shopping Center, located at the intersection of 30th St. and College Ave.

Three weeks have been required for stocking the merchandise. When fully operational, Scarber said he estimates the store will employ approximately 60 persons, both full-time and part-time.

Being a variety store, T.G.&Y. carries a wide range of merchandise. The store has clothing, houseware items, builder' hardware supplies, plants, candy, toys, shoes, cosmetics, party supplies, and jewelry. For customer convenience, the store also has 11 checkout stations.

FABRIC SELECTION—Mary Fowler, left, and Margie Thompson, both employees of T.G.&Y., are shown in the fabric section of the store. (SDN Staff Photo)

"In all sincerity, Snyder is a fine town," said Scarber. He added he has experienced an "outstanding acceptance" in Snyder by store employes and townsmen.

"I really like Snyder," said Ramirez, a native of Smyer. "I'm used to a small town."

The T.G&Y. store is open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

SEASONAL DECORATIONS ALSO—Karen Herriage places a stocking on an artificial Christmas tree at T.G.&Y. The store carries a selection of Christmas decorations. (SDN Staff Photo)

IN SPORTING GOODS DEPARTMENT—Martha Sauceda, a T.G.&Y. employee, is shown arranging the fishing rods in the store's sporting goods section. (SDN Staff Photo)

a big 'yes' for bonds

Scurry County voters should overwhelmingly approve the hospital bonds in next Tuesday's election.

The proposed hospital project may well be the key to the direction this community goes in the next decade, and by community we refer to the county as a whole. The time has long-since passed when citizens could afford the luxury of drawing sharp lines between rural and urban interests in counties such as Scurry.

The delivery of medical service has become an increasingly nagging problem outside metropolitan areas. It already has reached the stage where only those who provide the latest facilities and the doctors are able to remain afloat in an industry that faces ever-increasing demands and ever-expanding red tape. The small community hospitals with two or three doctors on staff are fading rapidly, and those serving areas our size must decide now which way they want to go, up or down.

The county hospital here, Cogdell Memorial, already has established itself as an institution providing service for an expanding clientele. In fact, the demands for services have expanded to the point that it must either retrench or move forward.

The timing of the project appears ideal, if there can be such a thing in these times. The county's resources are healthy enough to bear the burden with a minimum of drain on the taxpayers. The coliseum bonds will be paid off by the time payments would begin on the hospital bonds.

The need for the addition to the hospital has been well-documented. It has the support of the hospital board, the county commissioners court, the medical staff and, judging from the petitions with more than 2,000 names, a big segment of the population. All that remains now is for this support to be translated into ballots next Tuesday.

There should be a good turnout at the polls and a huge majority should approve the bonds.

nuclear milestone

A significant milestone in the history of man's use of energy was passed this year: electricity generated by nuclear power plants in America surpassed that generated by hydroelectric plants.

The Federal Power Commission reports that nuclear plants accounted for 12 percent of all the electricity produced in the United States in the first six months of 1977. The nuclear total was 123.8 million megawatt hours. (A megawatt is 1 million watts.)

This exceed hydro generation, which totaled nearly 110.4 million megawatt hours, or 10.7 percent of the nation's electrical output.

Nuclear is now challenging natural gas (13.2 percent) for third place fuel in electricity generation, behind oil (17.8 percent) and coal (46.1 percent).

For the past several days, the mail here has been filled with recipe entries in the SDN first annual cooking contest.

Mrs. Travis Burleson of Hermleigh sent us a different sort of recipe entitled "How to Bake A Cake."

Light Oven, get out bowl, spoons, and ingredients.

Grease pans, chop nuts. Remove 18 blocks and 7 toy autos from kitchen table.

Measure 2 cups flour; remove kids hands from flour, wash kids. Measure 1 cup more flour to replace flour on floor.

Put flour, salt, baking powder in sifter. Get dust pan and sweep pieces of bowl which kids knocked on floor.

Get another bowl. Answer doorbell. Answer phone.

Bandage foot cut on missed piece of bowl.

Return to kitchen. Remove kids' hands from bowl. Wash kids. Get out eggs. Answer phone.

Take greased pan and remove ¼ inch salt. Look for kids that did it. Grease another pan. Answer doorbell.

Return to kitchen, remove kids hands from bowl. Wash shortening, etc., off kids. Take up greased pans and remove chopped egg shells layering bottom.

Head for kids who flee, knocking bowl off table with mixer still going. Wash kitchen floor, table ceiling, walls, dishes, kids.

Call bakery.

According to a national merchandising consulting firm, men's leisure suits are out and few men's shops will continue to stock leisure suits, the firm said.

Most men are slow to accept fashion changes, therefore many of us bought our first one long after they had become popular. Now, many have perfectly good leisure suits that the fashion world says is out of style.

But take heart men, the same firm says that the concept of informality that leisure suits fostered still remains. In other words, sports coats and slacks are back.

...hmm, we didn't even know they were gone.

practical view

Wally Hickel was governor of Alaska. Then he was U.S. Secretary of the Interior.

He has fought for both the protection of our wilderness and the development of our resources.

Nobody has demonstrated more balanced concern for both our "wants" and our "needs." Further, Wally Hickel, since his own pioneering days in Alaska, has demonstrated an ability to see beyond the horizons that limit most of us.

Let's look at tomorrow through his eyes.

Wally Hickel believes that in centuries to come all the land on earth will be enjoyed by man for living and for recreation.

He believes that the resources we need will come from the oceans, the vast desert areas, the Arctic and the Antarctic.

Out of the ranks of the conservationists and the developers we need to raise a new generation of what Hickel calls "practical environmentalists."

A "practical environmentalist," says Hickel, is in love with God and nature–but he is also in love with his fellow man.

A "practical environmentalist" loves a forest with all its beauty and quietness and wildlife–but he also cares about the needs of people for heat and light and food.

A practical environmentalist will not stand for desecrating our land–but he is not afraid of finding and extracting the resources God put on earth for man's use.

Presently, Wally Hickel is anxious about the struggle between those who would greedily plunder Alaska and those who would lock up that state's resources and allow no development.

Alaska has 31 of the 33 most important minerals used by modern industry, at least half of them in commercial quantities. In readily accessible areas of Alaska there are a trillion tons of coal; in less accessible areas, 8 trillion tons.

President Carter recently asked American industry to produce a billion tons a year. At that rate Alaska could supply all we need for 1,000 to 8,000 years!

And yet there are environmentalists in Congress who want a third of Alaska, including these great fossil fuel and mineral reserves, to be kept in wilderness status.

In an analogy which anybody can understand, Wally Hickel says that overprotection–whether it is of nature or a child–will destroy that which you are trying to preserve.

Thus the need for practical environmentalists.

These are those who will shape the future, not shrink from it, who will show us earth people, who for 6,000 years have been crawling over the skin of the apple, how properly to feast on its inexhaustible insides.

Bar Admissions Hit New High

CHICAGO (AP)-The National Council of Bar Examiners says bar admissions in 1976 reached a record high for the seventh consecutive year.

The NCBE, an affiliate of the American Bar Association, says the total number of people admitted to practice in 49 states, the District of Columbia, Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands was 35,741. Exact admissions figures for Florida were not available, the NCBE says.

WASHINTON - (NEA) - When Stanford University biologist Donald Kennedy agreed last spring to become commissioner of the beleaguered Food and Drug Administration, his friends in the health field thought he had slipped a cog.

Taking on the FDA job, they warned, was akin to accepting the captaincy of the Titanic.

With the possible exception of the OSHA, the Occupational Health and Safety Administration of the Labor Department, there wasn't an agency in the federal government with a worse reputation.

Kennedy's friends needn't have worried, it is now apparent. The new FDA commissioner has turned out to be one of the greatest boat-rockers to hit Washington in years, but there is no sign his ship is sinking.

On the contrary, under Kennedy's leadership, the FDA has suddenly seized an unexpectedly major role in the formulation of health policy in the Carter administration.

And that development is rapidly giving both the medical profession and the multibillion dollar pharmaceutical industry an Excedrin headache.

Kennedy and his boss, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., are launching a drive for the first major revision of U.S. drug laws since 1962 - and there is good reason to believe they will succeed.

The groundwork for such an overhaul has already been established on Capitol Hill by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate's health subcommittee, and to a lesser extent, by his House counterpart, Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

For nearly four years, Sen Kennedy has been holding hearings that pinpointed inadequacies in FDA's current procedures for testing and approving new drugs, and for reviewing the safety and efficacy of drugs already on the market.

When Congress returns in January, the Kennedy subcommittee will take up drug laws revision as its first order of business. And for the first time, the administration will be supporting the effort.

Donald Kennedy isn't waiting, however, for new authority from Congress to force some changes in the way drugs are marketed and prescribed.

He has already announced a controversial new program to require that certain classes of drugs include printed inserts for patients explaining side effects that may accompany usage.

Both drug companies and doctors are resisting this "patient labeling" proposal, fearing that side effect warnings could discourage patients from taking drugs prescribed by their physicians.

But Kennedy is plowing ahead, convinced that patients have every right to understand the risks as well as the benefits associated with widely prescribed drugs such as tranquilizers.

The FDA commissioner believes physicians have a responsibility to learn more about the adverse reactions from drugs they prescribe, and to share such information with their patients. Inserts in drug packages, such as those which now accompany birth control pills, could force better doctor-patient communication, he contends.

The "patient labeling" proposal is tame in comparison with some of the added regulatory powers FDA is seeking in the proposed drug laws revisions, long overdue in most cases.

By this time next year, Congress and the public are likely to be immersed in the most vigorous debate over drug policies since the Kefauver hearings more than a decade ago.

For that, we can all thank Donald Kennedy. He has given a much-needed transfusion - and unaccustomed agility - to an agency one of his colleagues once described as "a slowly moving target that bleeds profusely when hit."

To The Daily News:

I had the opportunity this past August to work in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital as part of my resident training program in Family Practice. Because I plan to practice in Snyder after completion of my training program, my experience while there was beneficial in more than just the further accumulation of medical information, in that I became acquainted with the hospital staff, administrators, nursing staff, and the hospital facilities in general.

Medically speaking, for a community its size, it is apparent that Snyder has considerably more to offer its population than do most other towns in Texas. But considering Snyder's dynamic state, one is made acutely aware of the apparent need for further development of its medical facilities. Undoubtedly, Snyder's rapid growth and the continued rapid growth of medical science is going to demand of the people of Snyder to continue to expand existing facilities and build new ones, if the citizens of the community and the area are to be afforded the type of medical care they need and deserve.

I hope, that as a future citizen and physician in Snyder, that the current plans for addition and expansion of the Hospital are carried to completion through the affirmation of the bond election next week.

Paul A. Thompson, M.D.

To The Daily News:

The federally funded IWY conference received 5 million dollars to determine the needs and desires of the American woman. State conferences were held in all 50 states and resolutions adopted. These resolutions support:

1. Abortions paid for by the government.
2. Federal child-care programs with a 2 billion budget.
3. Legal status for homemakers calling for social security payments of 8 percent under a housewife's name.
4. Support of legal rights of homosexuals.

These resolutions reflect the viewpoint of Bella Abzug, chairman of the IWY, and her committee.

For that reason, I believe it is imperative for women that do not support these resolutions to be in Houston Nov. 18-21.

Wanda Justice

To The Daily News:

The editorial concerning the IWY conference indicated conservative women should not have a voice, but instead should remain the silent majority.

As established by law, the IWY conference in Houston this coming November 18 should reflect all women's viewpoints. I believe in equal job opportunities and equal pay for women as guaranteed by the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1972. I believe women should have access to credit on an equal basis with men as guaranteed by the Equal Credit Opportunity Act of 1974. I also believe that women should have equal educational opportunities as provided in the Education Amendments of 1972.

But most of all, I believe I have a right to be heard.

it's possible

When theologicans say that the core of sin is rebellion against God, they stop short of the mark. The deeper question is why would people rebel against a beautiful God? The answer is that every person is born with a negative self-image, which is reflected in an inherent distrust and a fear of failure in relationships. We tend to rebel, which is to say we set up a defensive mechanism to protect ourselves from any possible relationship that appears to be threatening.

A newly born infant lacks any capacity to trust. In the first stage of development, the child begins to learn the experience of trust. Following the traumatic experience of birth, which is, when you think about it, a rude and shocking way to enter the world, the infant moves from nontrust to trust. Through soft stroking, bathing, feeding, holding, the new occupant learns during this first year of life, that this noisy alien world isn't so horrible after all.

During the second year – stage two – the initial feelings of trust becomes self-confidence. The infant learns to crawl and then, after a time, discovers how to stand. Now comes the thrill of the vertical dimension. Suddenly, the child feels tall.

In succeeding stages of his growth, the child is challenged to experience individually, to discover the ability to make choices, the power to make decisions, and learns also, the rewards of achievement. As achievement piles on achievement, he discovers his selfhood. He tries, fails, tries again and finally learns. So he moves emotionally from lack of trust, to trust, to self-confidence.

But then, something tragic may happen. This infantile self-belief may be stunted and fail to blossom into its fullest flower. The deep-seated core of distrust may again threaten to assert itself, warning the growing person; "Be careful. You may get hurt." Almost without knowing it, self-confidence begins to disappear in adolescence and adulthood. The resulting caution tends to further throttle and strangle self-confidence.

Self-confidence becomes supplanted by a fear of failure – which becomes a pattern, a habit. And with what devious results! The fear of failure, rising from a lack of self-trust, becomes a desire to fail. "If I don't try, I'll not fail." "If I just sit there on the end of the bench where the coach won't see me, I won't go up to the plate and strike out." "If I don't try to quit smoking, I won't fail in my efforts to kick the habit." You see how it works. The way to succeed is to fail even to try.

So a negative self-image becomes the major emotional disorder that entangles human beings in a web of failure-producing attitudes. We choose to fail because we don't dare succeed. As a result, we fail because we choose to fail.

Your biggest problem is yourself! You are the only person who can say, "It's impossible." What's the difference between a possibility and an impossibility? Quite simple. The difference is a person; an attitude; and two words. The person is you! The attitude is "I CAN." The two words are "I WILL." Your deepest desire is to love yourself. If you love yourself you will believe in yourself. If you will believe in yourself, you will believe in God and you will think it's possible!

CHOICES
Karen Blaker Ph.D.

Mixed motives

By Karen Blaker, Ph. D.

If a troubled person can't or won't call a crisis phone himself, a close friend or relative sometimes calls instead. Such callers may have mixed motives, as illustrated by the following excerpt from a hot line conversation.

Mother: John, my son, wants to talk to someone about the problem he has with making friends. He is 16 and is really too attached to us. He comes home every day right after school. Now, I really think that it's his father's fault. I mean, with a father who is always at work, how could a boy grow up in a normal way? Now, I think....

Dr. B: Excuse me, but you said that your son wants to speak with someone?

Mother: Yes. He's right here by the phone. He would talk with anyone, anyone I told him he could trust. He's such a good boy. I feel so lucky to have him—if he just didn't have that problem making friends.

HOT LINE

Dr. B: I'm still not sure what you want...are you calling to get the name of a counselor for your son?

Mother: Oh, no. You see, I think he can talk to you, don't you? You could probably straighten out this one problem.

Dr. B: Well, I don't know about straightening out his problem, but I would like to talk to him. What did you say his name was?

Mother: John. His name is John. It was my choice—that name. I picked his name, his clothes, his toys—I have taken complete care of him all by myself. I already told you that he has had no father to speak of. All that time he spends at the office....

Dr. B: You did call so that I could talk to John, right?

Mother: Yes. I'm sorry. I get talking and just don't know where or when to stop. There is so much I want to tell you.

Dr. B: I think there are things that you want to discuss, but I get the feeling now that you are hesitant about putting John on the phone.

Mother: Well, a little. But I guess if I stand right beside him, I can help him if he needs anything.

Dr. B: It would probably be best if John had some privacy while he talked with me.

Mother: I can tell that you don't understand how much John needs me. I'm not sure I want him to talk to you after all. You probably couldn't help him get friends.

Dr. B: I have an idea. Since you seem to want to be with John when he tries to work out his problems, I'm going to refer you to a family counselor. Then you, your husband, and John can work out your problems together.

Mother: I like that idea—being with John while we work on his problems. But my husband probably won't go. He's so busy. It must be so hard for John having a father like that....

It soon became clear that the mother was afraid that her son might form close relationships outside the family. Therefore, she couldn't let him speak with me, and she certainly couldn't allow him to make friends. This, along with her persistent attacks on the father, led me to recommend family counseling.

It really worked for this San Antonio lady

Faye Lynch lost: 23¼ lbs & 38 inches in approximately 8 months.

She Writes:

Before I really realized it was happening, I found myself in the same condition as so many women over 35 find themselves. I was very much overweight. I tried with some success to lose weight on my own, but I didn't lose the inches that I needed, as well as enough fat. After reading Pat Walker's ad, I decided to go and see what they could offer me! The results have been fantastic. I am now back to the size and weight that I was at eighteen. Physically and mentally I feel better than I have felt in years, but the very best part is the pride and interest that my husband has taken in my program. I think everyone should consider going to Pat Walker. It is the greatest thing that has ever happened to help people with a weight problem.

'Cindy' On ABC In December

LOS ANGELES (AP) - You remember the story: Cinderella goes to the Sugar Hill Ball in a limo, meets the dashing Marine and loses her sneaker rushing out at midnight.

You don't? Well, you will in the all-black musical version, called "Cindy," that ABC airs in December. It stars newcomer Charlaine Woodard as the girl from Harlem.

The production is being readied by James L. Brooks, Stan Daniels, David Davis and Ed Weinberger, the team largely responsible for "Rhoda," "Phyllis" and the Mary Tyler Moore and Bob Newhart shows.

Church Offers All Comforts of Home

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Our church sent the following newsletter to all its members:

NO-COP-OUT SUNDAY

To make it possible for everybody to attend church next Sunday:

Cots will be placed in the back for those who say Sunday is the only day they can sleep.

Blankets will be provided for those who say the church is too cold.

Fans will be provided for those who say the church is too hot.

We will have hearing aids for those who say the minister talks too soft—and cotton for those who say he talks too loud—and alarm clocks for those who say he talks too long!

Calculators will be available for those who enjoy counting the hypocrites present.

Finally, the sanctuary will be decorated with both Christmas poinsettias and Easter lilies for those who have never seen a church without them.

YOUR MIAMI FAN

DEAR FAN: Thanks for a dandy day-brightener.

DEAR ABBY: You have helped so many minority groups by educating the public, will you please help another?

We are the blind who use white canes to travel, and by travel, I mean go to the mailbox, grocery store, pharmacy and to work.

Please tell the driving public that some states have a white cane law, which states: "When a person with a white can steps off the curb, traffic in ALL DIRECTIONS must stop until that person regains a curb. Motorists who violate this law are guilty of a misdemeanor."

Even if it were not a law, compassion and courtesy should prevail.

Albany, N.Y., is a training center for the blind. They are trying to develop confidence in the sightless to go about alone, but some of the motorists here either don't know the law or choose to ignore it. Please use my letter, Abby, as I am afraid to go out alone.

SIGHTLESS IN ALBANY

DEAR SIGHTLESS: And speaking of consideration for the blind, orchids to Robert Meyer of the Yankee Silversmith Inn in Wallingford, Conn., for providing duplicate menus in BRAILLE!

DEAR ABBY: Recently you had a letter in your column from HEARTSICK GRANNY whose daughter wants to give one of a pair of twin infants away because she was born with a club foot and a cleft palate, which they couldn't afford to correct.

Abby, the Shriners maintain 22 hospitals for crippled children. Their services are FREE, regardless or color, creed or religion.

I hope it's not too late to get this information to that family.

K.O., BURLINGAME, CAL.

DEAR K.O.: Thank you and the hundreds of others who recommended the Shrine Hospitals. And don't forget the National Foundation-March of Dimes. Their thing is diagnosing, treating and preventing birth defects, as well as family planning and genetic counseling.

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you knew how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Small Turnout Seen In Texas Election Tuesday

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

Texans cast a vote Tuesday on seven proposed amendments to the state's much-amended constitution, with Houston and Dallas expected to provide most of the votes.

Most polling places will open at 7 a.m. All must close at 7 p.m.

The Texas Election Bureau estimates that only about 20 percent of Texas' 5.9 million eligible voters will bother to cast ballots. Most of these will be in the Houston and Dallas areas where controversial local issues will pull voters to the polls.

The secretary of state has no estimate but hopes there will be a turnout of more than 20 percent.

Local issues that will dictate turnout in a number of areas include:

—In Houston, voters will make a decision in a 12-way mayor's race, a city council contest, name a new city comptroller, and select four school board members.

—In Dallas, the voters will name a new state representative and determine the outcome of a $215 million bond package designed to finance a new courthouse, jail and other capital improvements.

—San Antonio has the proposition of a metropolitan transit authority, coupled with a one-half percent increase in the city sales tax rate.

—Austin will be filling a state representative vacancy and deciding if $17 million should be spent to build a new jail and remodel the courthouse.

—Amarillo area voters will be selecting a new state senator. El Paso voters will be selecting a new state representative.

Since the present state constitution was adopted by voters in 1876, there have been 221 changes accepted and 130 other proposed amendments refused.

The seven proposed amendments on the Nov. 8 ballot were approved by the 1977 Legislature along with eight other proposals that will be on the November 1978 ballot.

Two of the current proposed constitution changes have attracted more attention than the others.

The first proposition on the ballot would increase the size of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, one of the most overworked appellate courts in the nation, from five to nine members. It also would permit judges to sit in panels of three to speed review of cases appealed to them from local district courts.

Proponents say the change would speed up justice and relieve the court's workload. Opponents say Texas has too many judges already, and it would be better to merge the criminal and civil courts, rather than encourage separate divisions.

The No. 6 proposition, probably the most controversial on the ballot, would let the legislature authorize Texas' national and state banks to use electronic devices in shopping centers and other remote locations to pay bills, make deposits, withdraw money and make other fund transfers. Supporters say it would augment the present checking system, giving customers an optional and speedier method of handling their money. Opponents see it as a foot-in-the-door for branch banking, which is prohibited by the constitution.

Proposition No. 2 would provide another $200 million for the veterans land program, plus allowing unmarried widows of veterans to buy land under the low down payment, low-interest terms. Proponents say the extension of the 30-year-old program is needed to be sure all Vietnam veterans are included. Opponents say the federal government provides adequately for veterans.

Proposed amendment No. 3 would allow a district court to deny bail to a person accused of a felony while out on bail following a previous indictment. It also would deny bail to a repeat offender who is caught using a deadly weapon in committing another felony. Proponents say it would curb crimes. opponents argue it violates personal rights.

Proposition No. 4 would allow the legislature to grant exemptions from state property taxes to preserve cultural, historical or natural history sites. Opponents say this erodes the tax base, particularly in central sections of older cities.

Another proposed amendment, No. 5, would permit the legislature to let producers of poultry, livestock and other raw agricultural commodities to form associations and collect assessment on sales of their products to promote their business. Opponents say it means consumers will end up paying higher food prices.

Amendment No. 7 would change the name of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission to the State Commission on Judicial Conduct. It also would enlarge body from nine to 11 members. Opponents say this would leave only four judicial members on the commission and would be a threat to an independent judiciary.
