SISD Trustees Support At-Large Stance

The election discrimination suit recently filed against the Sonora Independent School District by Rebecca Martinez, Board President Jimmy Condra made the statement that he felt that it would be inappropriate to comment in depth about any pending litigation at this time.

The school board discussed the matter in executive session in a special meeting on May 3. They decided at that time to turn the matter over to the school district's legal counsel for the responsive pleadings to the charge of election discrimination by reason of having at-large trustees, rather than establishing single-member districts.

Condra further stated that he felt that electing school trustees at large, as mandated by state law for having fewer than 66,000 students in attendance, was in the best interest of this district, its electorate, and of the young people attending the Sonora school. Having trustees who represent all the people, rather than those living in only one area, insures that the welfare of each and every child is watched over by all seven members, Condra concluded.

The Sonora I.S.D. Board of Trustees is currently made up of Jimmy Condra, president; Scott Shurley, secretary; and members (all at-large) Kenneth Cayce, Dr. Johnny Fields, Sam Perez, Sammie Stewart, and Carl Teaff. The suit, filed on April 11, 1983, in the San Angelo

Division of the United States District Court, names as defendants all seven board members, the Sonora I.S.D., and Superintendent W.A.

McAndrew. The Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. of Kerrville is representing Mrs. Martinez in the civil action.

Blood Mobile to be in Sonora on May 11, 1983

Our community blood program relies on totally voluntary blood donors to meet the blood needs of patients in area hospitals. Providing high quality blood and blood components whenever and wherever they're needed is our blood program's greatest responsibility. But this responsibility can't be met without the voluntary donations of healthy people—like all of us.

Less than 5 percent of the people who are eligible to donate give blood. That's just not enough. Advances in modern medical technology, such as open heart surgery procedures and organ transplants, are causing rapid increases in blood needs. In fact, it's estimated that 6 out of 10 of us will need blood or blood derivatives sometime during our lives. It goes without saying that those of us in good health should give blood to provide for those in need.

Many of us are frightened by the idea of giving blood. Or we say we're just "too busy" to take the time to donate. Or we find some other excuse to avoid it. But when a patient needs blood, even the best excuses won't help. There is no substitute for blood and no source other than healthy, human blood donors—people like us.

The entire process lasts only about 30 minutes. First, we answer some questions about our medical history and current state of health. Our temperature, pulse, blood pressure and blood iron level will be checked. The actual blood donation takes only a few minutes—no big deal! We relax a few minutes afterwards, have a light refreshment, and then we're on our way. That's all there is to it! The United Blood Services' Blood

Mobile of San Angelo will be in Sonora today, May 11th, at the Founders Room of the First National Bank building from 1 p.m. - 7 p.m. There will be a drawing for two cash prizes at the conclusion of the blood drive. For more information, contact Nelda Mayfield at 387-3096.

So, no more excuses. LET'S DONATE BLOOD TODAY! Knowing we've helped sustain life for one or more persons should make us feel terrific. And the patients who receive our blood will be thankful for the rest of their lives!

Clalene Stewart selected for American Musical Ambassador Band membership.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Because of the anger and feeling of futility that have built up inside me, I feel impelled to write this letter. Many will say that this letter of opinion is not valid because the deceased in question was my brother-in-law. Yes, I feel for him because his death was such a waste, but more so my emotions are geared toward my sister, Margarita, his widow. For seven months, she has suffered the memory of his awful death. Last week, another blow was dealt to her by our local judicial system.

Let me go back to Sept. 3, 1982. Louis "Louie" Velez was shot to death by Armando "Chato" Avila in the wee hours of the morning. Much of what I know about the whys and hows is hearsay so it will remain unmentioned. The authorities, in order to protect Mr. Avila's rights, will not release information to anyone including his widow. But the following facts do exist:

1. Louis Velez was unarmed. 2. He could not have been shot in self-defense since he was still in the car when found. He was shot through the back of the head (the mortician told my sister to be sure that no one touched his face or it would cave in since there was nothing left) and though his shoulder. 3. The coroner told Margarita that he was shot from two feet away. 4. Louie was a brawler, but he would fight anyone face to face not shoot him though the back. In fact, he had told my sister that the day any man beat him fair and square he would shake that man's hand and never fight again.

On April 25, 1983, the farce began. The trial to decide whether Mr. Avila was guilty or not can only be called a farce. Everything appeared on the up and up. Many possible jurors were called for selection. Mr. Bill Mason our district attorney told Margarita that he was going for murder one. We were all looking forward to an eventual trial and we were hopeful for a satisfactory verdict.

Abruptly, on April 26, 1983, proceedings were halted. The murder weapon, the one piece of physical evidence, was lost by the United States Postal System. Margarita left the courthouse thinking that proceedings would only be postponed. It was only hours later that she found out what was decided behind her back since Mr. Bill Mason did not have the courtesy to keep her informed. Mr. Avila was given a 10-year probated sentence and fined $2,500.00.

In my own mind, I have tried to find valid reasons for the above judgment. Certain questions naturally emerge. Did Louie deserve what he got for living life on the fast lane? What was he doing out so late? Why did he have to fight when so many others would simply walk away from that kind of situation? Yes, these questions and others can only be answered by each person's individual conscience. But remember Louis Velez was unarmed and like you and me, he was a human being. Basically he was a good person; he had his faults. Unfortunately, there are not too many perfect people in this world, if any.

I believe the type of judgment rendered in this case should worry all of us. You parents with children, married women, or young women with boyfriends ask yourselves if you would want Mr. Williams to sentence your loved one's murderer with such a "sentence". What would your insides feel like to see that person riding around town as though he were losing no sleep over having taken your loved one's life? How would you feel to have your calls and letters, no matter how insistent, left unanswered by the district attorney? Before the grand jury was set, Margarita called Mr. Mason many times and wrote letters to find out what was going on. Mr. Mason was always in conference. It was only after friends in high positions helped her that he finally talked to her. Then the trial begins and he sells her out. Was the murder weapon really lost or was it a convenient setup to expedite "justice". Coverups have happened before. This is America, the land where anything is possible, especially when a buck is involved. But this is also America the land where fairness and justice should ideally exist.

In short, Parker & Stokes and Mr. Avila must be feeling smug in their victory, but they must remember that eventually we all meet our Maker. Carmen Vela

Tribute to Volunteer Firemen

We all know that no one is safe from the rage of fire. In a matter of minutes fire can destroy everything we have worked for in a life time. Even more than economic losses in a tragic blaze, there may be the loss of a life or lives. When the brutality of fire is brought to the minds of all of us. We give little thought to our volunteer firemen and his family.

There are two essentials a volunteer fireman needs. Of course he must be a light sleeper ready to jump into his clothes and head out into the night with out regard to the weather, as soon as the alarm is sounded.

He needs a lot of backing, for he must battle any and all kinds of fires-even those that could have been prevented, as some set by someone for one reason or another. A volunteer fireman is in a position to see the best and worst in people. He can see the good in those he works with to save someone's belongings whether, its a shack with second hand furniture and clothing, or the most expensive things.

He knows about the kind hearted people who help get the families clothes and furniture to start out again. The goodness he sees keeps him going. But then it must be the bad things like arson that toughens him and makes him determined to go on.

Every volunteer has one commission goal and that is to serve and protect the people and their possessions.

Let us not forget to thank the auxiliary that is made up of the wives and families of the volunteer firemen. They are waiting at home and praying that each one will come home safely.

Graduating fourth in her class with a four-year grade point average of 93.94, she was a National English Merit Awards nominee. She participated in the state news writing contest and was a regional qualifier on the debate team. She was editor-in-chief of the Sonora High School newspaper.

Cushing had previously announced the signing of Dinah Nichols from Hartley, Patti Hayes of San Antonio Clark, Liz Grant of Houston Cypress Creek and Clara Campbell of Dallas Carter.

Cushing's Dusters finished the 1982-83 season with a 26-6 record and won the Western Junior College Athletic Conference championship.

Ramey Elected Texas Bar Prexy

Lawyers in Texas elected Tom B. Ramey, Jr., of Tyler as President-Elect of the State Bar of Texas. At the same time, Berry Roberts of Austin was voted President-Elect of the Texas Young Lawyers Association (TYLA). She is the first woman to hold that position.

Ramey defeated O.J. Weber of Beaumont to win the office. Ramey, an attorney with the Texas bar since 1951, is in private practice. He entered the U.S. Navy in 1943 and served duty on destroyers until 1946. After his Navy discharge, he received his Master's of Business Administration degree from Harvard Business School of Texas in 1951.

Country Folk

By Jerry Lackey
P.O. Box 1542, San Angelo, TX 76902

Late arrival of spring, the combination of little moisture and March winds in April, have placed West Texas on the verge of a drought before hot weather arrives. Many ranchmen have gone back to supplemental feeding, others never stopped.

On travels the last couple of weeks on behalf of clients, I have viewed the country and returned home each time with eye opening facts. "We need a good rain!" That pretty much summarizes the conditions all over West Texas.

Just behind a rain storm from San Angelo to San Antonio two weekends ago, I was surprised to see it greener and more moisture the nearer to the Alamo City.

James Sammons, Brady ranchman, said the terrain there "was in good shape now, but some new moisture would be welcomed."

I make a brief jaunt the middle of last week to place new memorial envelopes for West Texas Rehab Center (They have San Angelo Rehab addresses on them.) I found the countryside green and dry. Eldorado banker Richard A. Sterling said they needed a rain.

But parts of Schleicher County appears in good shape, greening up, but the western part looks like the dead of winter. From Ozona to Barnhart, it is dry.

John Dublin was trying to shear about 125 head of sheep at Barnhart. "It's not the weather that's holding us back," he laughed. "This old dry weather is just right for shearing. I can't get a shearer to drive out there for less than two bucks a head. I believe I would be ahead to load the whole flock in a gooseneck and bring them to town for a haircut!"

Boze Hartgrove says, "If you think it's dry at Barnhart, drive on over to Stiles. It's so dry, the only green grass you can find is in the draws, and you have to get down on your hands and knees to find it."

John Parks, president of Ozona National Bank, believes it will rain before summer. "If it does or doesn't, I will still lend money to the Crockett County ranchers to buy more feed," he added.

Lon Slaughter comments, "It's dry around Sanderson, again. I have been out there converting my pasture wells from electric pumps back to windmills. I believe it would save about $10,000 per year."

J.W. West is going back to feeding livestock on his Coke County ranch. "I drove up there every morning from San Angelo all winter, I guess I can drive up there three days a week, at least, until this drought is over."

Last weekend, besides attending the Chadbourne Ranch Sale at Bronte, I ventured down to nose around on my own ranch, Caparrosa, South of Fort McKavett in Kimble County. Now, there is another dry strip. We need rain, too!

Vietnam Veterans Monument Dedicated

An awe-inspiring national shrine, honoring the sacrifices made by American servicemen and women during the Vietnam War, will be dedicated here on Memorial Day, May 30, as the DAV Vietnam Veterans National Memorial.

Thousands of Vietnam veterans, families of those killed in Vietnam, and veterans of other wars are expected to throng the peaceful Moreno Valley in Northern New Mexico where the memorial rises dramatically from a hillside dotted with pinon pines and native grasses.

Mixed Drink Taxes Reported by Bullock

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said collection of the state's 10 percent mixed drink tax during the first quarter of 1983 was up 2.7 percent over the same period last year.

Bullock said the state received $36.1 million in taxes on the sale of mixed drinks during the first three months of 1983.

Bullock's office is sending checks totaling $10.5 million to 220 counties and 415 cities as their share of the gross receipts tax on mixed drinks for the first quarter.

The state's general revenue fund will receive the balance--$25.6 million--of the tax money collected.

Texas cities and counties each receive a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's office.

Bullock said the mixed drink tax brought in a total of $140.2 million during 1982.

Late Federal Tax Payments Can Cost Far More Than 16 Percent

Borrowing money from the government by paying taxes late can be an expensive decision, the Internal Revenue Service says.

A 16 percent per year compound interest rate and a late payment penalty of one-half of one percent per month, or six percent per year, is added to late tax payments. Also, if your return is more than 60 days late, the penalty will not be less than $100 percent of the tax due, whichever is smaller.

Consequently, deferring the payment of taxes in favor of bills to other creditors can prove to be far more costly in the long run. Borrowing money to pay taxes makes good sense.

Reports from Washington

Strategic Force Modernization Must Go Forward

Once a year, Muscovites are treated to the spectacle of Soviet military might. Brigades of soldiers in full battle dress, as well as a panoply of modern Soviet weaponry pass in review before the top Communist leaders. To many in America, this annual event has come to symbolize the willingness of the Soviets to outspend us on defense and to serve as an added reminder that the Communist objective remains potential world domination.

Through the years the Soviets have continued to demonstrate that they regard military power, including nuclear weapons, as a means of projecting their influence. In the Soviet strategic view, nuclear weapons are closely related to and are integrated with, other military and political efforts used to advance the Communist interests.

Unfortunately, in recent years our strategic planners chose not to modernize and update weapons that made up our strategic triad, a means of deterrence composed of three parts — nuclear weaponry carried by bombers in the air, submarines in the sea, and missiles based on land.

Upon taking office, President Reagan initiated a much-needed review of U.S. strategic forces coupled with the need to modernize them. In October, 1981, he announced a strategic force modernization program to ensure the continued freedom of the United States and our allies from coercion or nuclear attack. Deemed essential to this force modernization was the continued development of the MX.

Determination of a permanent basing mode for the MX is an issue which the President and Congress are still attempting to resolve. In an effort to finally conclude this issue, the President in January appointed a bipartisan Commission on Strategic Forces, composed of distinguished defense experts. The Commission was charged with reviewing the purpose, character, and size of the strategic forces of the U.S.

In its report to the President, the Commission has made several unanimous recommendations.

First, it strongly urges that the strategic modernization program continue and reaffirms the need for improvements in the command, control and communication of our strategic forces.

Second, the Commission finds that the MX is needed to start a modernization program to match the Soviet threat, to provide continued deterrence to Soviet attack, to reassure our allies, and to induce the Soviets to move toward arms control agreements.

Third, the Commission recommends that we begin the design of a small, mobile, single-warhead missile to be ready for deployment in the early 1990s. Final decisions about this missile and its basing are expected to be influenced by several major developments: the evolution of Soviet strategic programs, the path of arms control agreements, and the results of our own research of specific basing modes.

Finally, the Commission underscored the need for ambitious arms control negotiations that would lead to agreements that are balanced, would promote stability, and would result in the meaningful, verifiable reductions that we all seek.

I join with the President in commending the Commission for a job well done. Despite the wide range of views held by members in the past, they have come together in unanimous support of a program designed to strengthen our national security, reduce the risk of war and ultimately reduce the level of nuclear weapons.

The tragedy is that we have waited so long to modernize. Currently the Soviets enjoy a virtual two to one edge in land-based missiles. Furthermore, while 77% of our strategic forces are now 15 years old or older, 77% of the Soviet strategic forces are only five years of age.

Statistics such as this clearly exemplify the misguided thinking of recent years, which held that if we set a peaceful example and do not modernize, the Soviets will follow suit. For example, the Soviets refused to negotiate any reductions in their intermediate range forces until the U.S. announced its own plans in the 1960s. It is strength — not intent — that will command the respect of the Soviet Union and bring them to a sincere negotiating table.

Unless we complete the modernization of our land-based missile systems, the Soviet Union will have no real reason to negotiate meaningful reductions. And we will also weaken the deterrent posture that has preserved the peace for more than a generation. These proposals demand our prompt attention and considered careful judgement.

Texas A&M Horse Short Course May 26-27

Horse enthusiasts will be treated to a wide range of activities at the 1983 Horse Short Course at Texas A&M University May 26-27.

Among these will be a session on management recommendations, a tour of Brazos County horse farms, a cutting horse training clinic, a horse sale and open cutting horse contests.

"This year's short course deals in all facets of the horse industry—production, management, training and use," says Dr. Doug Householder, horse specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service is conducting the short course in conjunction with Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science.

"We are combining some key discussions on horse production with a training clinic and farm tours to see actual demonstrations and practical applications of various methods and techniques," adds Householder. "The sale the second day is designed to raise funds to complete the A&M Animal Science Department's N.W. 'Dick' Freeman Arena. Mr. Freeman contributed immensely to Texas A&M's horse program as well as to the Texas horse industry."

Discussions during the opening session of the short course, which begins with registration at 7:30 a.m., include exercise physiology in horse training and conditioning, reproductive performance in broodmares, controlling flies on horse ranches, and an overview of horse research at Texas A&M.

The Brazos County Extension Horse Committee is hosting a tour of county horse farms that afternoon. Stops will include the Hank Bird Quarter Horses and the Windham Ranch.

Buster Welch of Merkel, a professional horse trainer, will conduct a cutting horse clinic the first evening at Texas A&M's new livestock pavilion. The clinic will include live demonstrations on riding and training the cutting horse, notes Householder.

The special Freeman Arena Development Horse Sale will be featured the second day of the short course and will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. at the livestock pavilion. The sale will offer a mixed set of about 60 yearlings, two- and three-year-olds, and pregnant mares of fashionable cutting, halter, race and performance breeding from the Texas A&M herd as well as from several prominent Texas horse producers.

The two-day program of activities will conclude with an NCHA (National Cutting Horse Association) Open Cutting Horse Contest beginning at 6 p.m. Friday.

Registration information on the Horse Short Course is available from any county Extension office or from Householder, Department of Animal Science Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Poisonous Plants in Pastures Increase Costs

Poisonous plants in pastures in Texas cause tremendous losses every year to both livestock producers and consumers. The losses to consumers are in the higher prices they must pay for livestock products because of grower losses in animal deaths; loss of production of meat, milk, wool and mohair; and reproduction problems.

It's estimated that in some years poisonous plants in Texas alone cost the livestock industry more than a hundred million dollars; losses probably average 10-30 million dollars per year, according to Dr. Murl Bailey, a toxicologist in the College of Vet Medicine at Texas A&M and one of the team of scientists involved in research on this problem for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Bailey is a national and international authority on treatment of animals poisoned by plants or chemicals. However, the problem isn't confined to Texas ranges; Bailey says that losses for the Great Plains and Western States run into the hundreds of millions of dollars each year.

It's impossible to accurately estimate the indirect costs of losses from animals that have been poisoned without dying but left chronically ill.

Equally difficult to assess are the economic losses from the thousands of acres of rangeland left unused part of the year, or year round, because of poisonous plants.

More than 130 species of poisonous plants are known to grow in Texas, with at least 80 of them recognized to be of economic importance.

Poisoned animals often exhibit a number of symptoms, Bailey says, and some of these are similar for quite different plants. However, identification of the plant which caused the poisoning is essential in order to prescribe treatment.

To narrow the field, Bailey has grouped plants into categories under a major symptom. For example, under REPRODUCTION, we find broomweed (also known as turpentine weed or slinkweed) which in some years can cause 40- to 50% abortion rates. Locoweeds also cause abortions and other reproductive problems.

Plants causing NERVOUS SIGNS include guajillo, a legume that's a valuable browse plant but during a drought, sheep and goats may develop a CNS (Central Nervous System) syndrome if they eat only this plant for six months or longer. Animals have a "rubbery" action of the legs and the syndrome is called "limberleg" or "guajillo wobles."

Locoweeds, already listed in the "abortion" section so causes habituation (addiction) and CNS syndrome. The red-stemmed peavine produces a hindquarter paralysis in sheep, goats, and cattle which is a progressive disease. A respiratory syndrome, (breathing problems) also occurs in those affected animals which recover from the locomotor syndrome (problems in walking or standing).

Bitterweed, probably the single most important plant to the sheep industry in Texas, occurs west of the 99th meridian in Texas (roughly, of a line drawn between Wichita Falls and San Antonio). TAES scientists discovered the toxic agent is hymenoxon, and are now working on feed additives and other preventive measures. Sheep can become addicted to bitterweed and are then "poor-doers."

Rayless goldenrod can affect all domestic animals and produces a condition called "trembles" or the "jimmies."

*Caltrop*s, cause animals to develop a weakness of the rear legs with a knuckling of the fetlock joints, and the condition progresses to paralysis of the hindquarters. Cattle, sheep, and goats are susceptible.

Coyotillo, is a shrub with seeds and leaves that are highly toxic to goats, sheep, cattle, horses, swine, guinea pigs, primates, and humans. Signs are similar to guajillo intoxication but coyotillo is an acute intoxication requiring only about 1 tablespoon of fruit per sheep while guajillo intoxication requires chronic ingestion.

Chronically affected animals show depression with a weakness of the hind limbs and knuckling of the fetlock joints.

Lobelia grows along the Texas Gulf Coast and affects cattle, sheep and goats. Though the clinical syndrome proceeds to depression, coma and death, some animals remain recumbent and depressed for several weeks but will eat and drink if nourishment is placed in the mouth. Many of these animals will survive.

African or Mexican Rue are plants that grow on disturbed soils and are difficult to eradicate. Cattle, sheep, and probably horses are susceptible. Acutely, animals exhibit stiffness, trembling, incoordination, frequent urination and hypersalivation (slobbering).

Chronically affected animals show depression with a weak-

RRC Approves Two Requests to Lower Gas Transportation Rates

The Railroad Commission has approved contract amendments sought by natural gas pipeline companies in the state which will lower gas transportation costs to other companies.

Commission approval of contract offered by Red River Pipeline to Intrate Gas Co. will mean lower costs for gas that may be resold to Houston Pipe Line Co., Westar, and Junction Natural Gas Co.

The decrease in rates will, in turn, affect downstream city gate rates. The city gate is the delivery point at which a city distribution system receives gas from its supplier.

With the change, Red River's annual revenues will decrease by approximately $3,402,460. The contract amendment will allow Red River to reduce the rates charged for the transportation of gas from 48.6 cents per Mcf (thousand cubic feet) to 20 cents per Mcf for a two-year period.

The Commission also approved a contract amendment proposed by Winnie Pipeline Co. for the transportation of gas delivered by Winnie to Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. for Lone Star Gas Co.

The rate will decrease from $.1825 per Mcf to $.15 per Mcf for gas transported on and after April 1, 1983. However, the rate change will have no effect on Lone Star's bills for city gate deliveries or any of its bills to transmission pipelines buying gas from Lone Star.

Offshore Production

State leases in bays, inlets and the Gulf of Mexico produced 73,832 barrels of crude oil during February, in contrast to 73,215 barrels in January and 69,052 barrels in February a year ago, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace. So far this year, offshore state leases have produced 147,047 barrels of crude oil.

Gas well production from state leases amounted to 14,351,758 Mcf in February against 18,076,463 Mcf in January and 15,907,569 Mcf in February of 1982. Total gas well gas production from offshore leases so far this year has been 32,428,221 Mcf.

Casinghead gas production totaled 287,078 Mcf in February against 257,856

Mcf in January and 200,856 in February 1982. To date this year, total casinghead gas production has reached 544,934 Mcf. Condensate production from state leases amounted to 63,690 barrels in February, as compared to 68,573 barrels in January and 48,690 barrels in February, as compared to 68,573 barrels in January and 48,082 barrels in February of 1982. Through the first two months of the year, total condensate production in 1983 reached 132,263. In February, offshore crude production was about 0.1 percent of total estimated crude production in Texas. Offshore gas well gas production was approximately 4.2 percent of the state total.

Refining Summary

Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace announced that 59 refineries in Texas processed 120,355,123 barrels of crude oil and hydrocarbon blends during January.

January's volume compares to 128,794,144 barrels in December 1982 and 123,402,215 barrels in January 1982. Texas refineries ran 91,847,204 barrels of crude oil in January compared to 94,313,868 barrels in December 1982 and 93,832,275 barrels in 1982.

Products manufactured in January totaled 122,121,

646 barrels, down from 125,935,222 barrels in December 1982 and down from the 125,738,901 barrels in January 1982.

January manufacture of motor gasoline totaled 53,532,266 barrels, compared to 54,830,757 barrels in December 1982 and 50,451, 569 barrels in January of 1982.

Texas refineries manufactured 12,283,347 barrels of home heating oil in January—an increase of 2,249,780 barrels from the December 1982 volume. January output was 12,283,347 barrels.

Texas Crude Oil Production in February

Texas crude oil production totaled 66,316,416 barrels in February, according to Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace. The figure compares with reported January production totaling 74,517,565 barrels and February 1982 production of 67,399,418 barrels.

Texas oil production averaged 2,368,444 barrels daily in February, down from 2,403,792 barrels daily in January and down from 2,407,122 barrels daily in February 1982.

The February production allowable totaled 84,742,341 barrels. The preliminary February summary induced Texas oil production was 21.7 percent under the allowable for the month.

ENSTAR Earnings

ENSTAR Corporation reported that net earnings for the first quarter of 1983 increased to $11.2 million, or 85 cents per share, from $10.5 million, or 79 cents per share, for the first quarter of 1982. Revenues for 1983's quarter totaled $93.8 million, virtually unchanged from $95.1 million for the prior-year period.

The higher 1983 earnings were due principally to improved results from gas transmission and distribution operations in Alaska and $4.1 million realized after taxes from the sale of a coal-producing property in Texas. Operating profit (earnings before interest, taxes, corporate overhead and minority interests) increased 7 percent to $50.7 million for the quarter and funds derived from operations (cash flow) were up 8 percent to $37.5 million.

In announcing the quarterly earnings, O. Charles Honig, ENSTAR's chairman and president, cautioned that results for each of the next two quarters are not likely to match those of the first quarter. He noted that the average price of LNG delivered to Japan from the Badak plant in Indonesia was reduced to $4.51 per million BTUs on March 21, 1983 in response to official OPEC price cuts. For the last shipment made prior to the reduction, the LNG price was $5.42 per million BTUs.

Additionally, as a result of a planned shutdown for maintenance at the LNG plant in April and the rupture of a cryogenic exchanger in one of the two production units, it is estimated that only 7 to 10 shipments will be made out of service for the entire quarter. The plant operator does not yet have an exact assessment of damage suffered from the previously announced accident.

The original schedule for expansion of the LNG plant anticipated that the third production unit would be onstream by August 1983 and the fourth by the last quarter, but every effort is being made to accelerate this construction schedule.

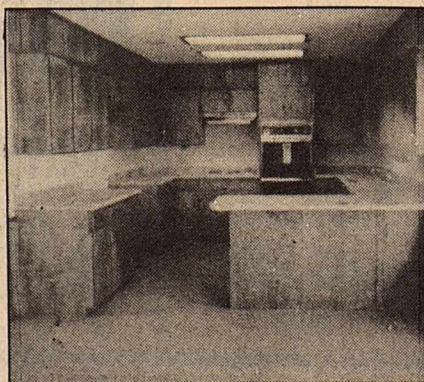

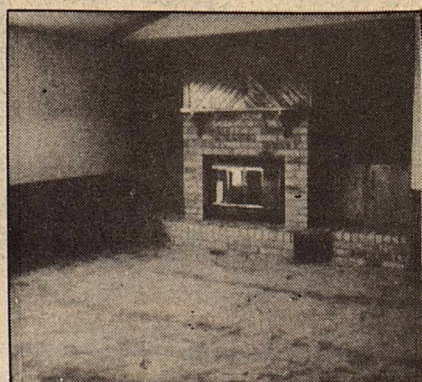

Mr. Honig also said domestic oil prices have declined since early 1983 from about $31 per barrel to the $29 level. He added that the Company's first quarter natural gas production curtailments were less than 1982's 4 percent, but that higher curtailments are a possibility over the next few months. ENSTAR Corporation is a diversified energy company active in domestic and international oil and gas operations, natural gas transmission and distribution in Alaska, and engineering and construction of oil and gas processing facilities.

Necia Rhiddlehoover to Wed Louis Humphreys May 27

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Rhiddlehoover of Sonora and Sheila Smith of White Oak, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Necia Rhiddlehoover, to Louis Humphreys, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Humphreys of Sonora.

The wedding date is set for May 27th.

Necia Rhiddlehoover, Louis Humphreys

Joshua Don Glasscock Born on Feb. 1st

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Don Glasscock announce the arrival of their new born son, Joshua Don, born February 1, 1983. He weighed 4 lbs. 5 ozs. and was 17 inches long.

He has one sister, Tiffany, she is 1 1/2 years old. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Brownlee and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Glasscock.

District Attorney Bill Mason has recently been involved in a series of meetings with the Attorney General of the State of Texas, Jim Mattox, where-in discussions were held relative to the establishment of an Organized Crime Unit for the 112th and 83rd Judicial Districts and surrounding counties. These meetings were held at the instance of District Attorney Mason in order to arrive at some means of establishing a crime strike force within this area. Mason said that there are various strike forces operating within the State, and that he had examined the operation of one such strike force located in central Texas. He said strike forces are used to augment law enforcement by being able to operate across jurisdictional lines that statutorily restrict local law enforcement. Further, he said that the Organized Crime Unit provides undercover agents who are generally unknown to the locale in which they work. He said that funding for such an operation comes directly from the State of Texas rather than from the various counties involved. Such an Organized Crime Unit operates with the knowledge and cooperation of all local law enforcement groups by utilizing various personnel from local law enforcement agencies on a periodic basis. In effect, Mason said, the strike force can operate where local law enforcement agencies hands are tied.

Mason said that he and the Attorney General are still working in an attempt to establish such a Unit for this area. At their last meeting, which also included the Chief of the Criminal Justice Commission, Mr. Pena, and his assistants, Mr. Bullington and Mr. Champion, the subject primarily discussed was the funding for such an operation. Further meetings are to be scheduled, and Mason said that he is in regular contact with the Attorney General relative to this and other matters concerning our area.

In other matters related to law enforcement, Mason recently appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee to testify against Senate Bill Number 603, authored by Senate Ray Farabee, which is designed to effectively destroy the Enhancement Statute, Article 12.42 of the Penal Code of the State of Texas. That Statute provides that where a person is on trial for any felony offense, and is shown to have been convicted of two previous felony offenses, upon a finding of guilty he shall be punished by confinement in the Texas Department of Corrections for life. The Statute in its present form is an excellent tool for law enforcement and an even better deterrent to the repeat offender. Mason appeared before the State Committee on the Judiciary along with John Holmes, District Attorney from Houston, Texas. Mason and Holmes attempted to show the Committee the necessity for maintaining the Statute in its present form, giving it a view from the standpoint of both metropolitan and rural prosecutors. Mason is a member of various committees, on of which is the legislative committee of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association. This committee is responsible for monitoring proposed legislation in order to maintain a high level of statutory protection for the citizens of this State. Mason is in Austin on a regular basis to assist in monitoring proposed legislation and to work with those elected officials responsible for effective law enforcement on a statewide basis.

DID YOU KNOW?

Children up to their 18th birthday are treated free-of-charge without regard to race, color or religious affiliation in the 18 Shriners Hospitals For Crippled Children and three Shriners Burns Institutes.

All of the money used to operate the Shriners Hospitals and Shriners Burns Institutes comes from personal endowments, Shrine fund-raising projects and individual Shriners. No Federal tax dollars or government grants are used.

As Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children completed their 60th year, they did so with the knowledge that they have cured or substantially helped more than 249,000 children since the first Hospital opened in Shreveport, Louisiana, in 1922.

In 1981 more than 13,800 new applications were approved by the 21 Hospitals, which include the three Burns Institutes.

More than 16,125,190 patient days have been recorded in our 18 Orthopedic Units and 402,188 patient days in the brief history of our Burns Institutes. The first Burns Institute was opened in Galveston in 1966.

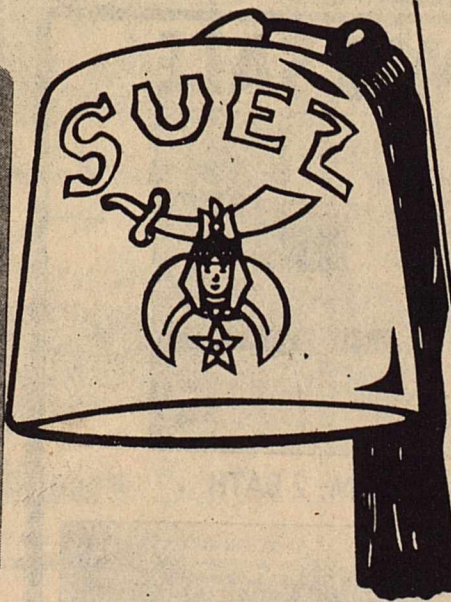

The average length of stay for acute burns patients from January through December 1981 was 32 days. The average length of stay for patients in the 18 Orthopedic Units for the same period was 26 days.

Since Shriners Hospitals were established, more than $582 million has been spent by the Shriners for operating all 21 Shriners Hospitals. The Shrine has spent over $104 million in construction costs and an extensive building program is under way at this time. The 1982 operating budget for Shriners Hospitals will run in excess of $81 million.

Help us help crippled and burned children . . .

from Alice . . . one of over 249,000 crippled and burned children helped through your donations since 1922!

Dear Shriners Hospital,
Thank you very much for everything. Everybody here was very nice to me.
I am going to miss being here and all the nice people very much. I appreciate you're helping my legs get better. If I see someone else whose legs are like mine, I will tell them how good the Shriners were to me. The Shriners make life for people like me much easier and happier.
You help make everybody well like God wanted. Me and my family thank you very much for helping me.
I love you Shriners, with all love and respect,
