Salvation Army Drive Begins

The Salvation Army Service Unit will kick off its annual fund raising campaign in Wellington on Dec. 14, it was announced by Dr. Charles Jones, campaign chairman. It will continue two weeks.

The goal is $800.

Funds collected in the drive will be used to pay for The Salvation Army's services to the underprivileged in Wellington through the current fiscal year. The local Salvation Army Service Unit Committee is headed by Chairman Judge Zook Thomas. Billy Moseley is treasurer.

"Our campaign workers and Service Unit committee members are in harness for the big drive. We know that the people of Wellington will come through with flying colors as they have consistently in the past," Dr. Jones said.

The Wellington Service Unit Committee, composed of business and civic leaders, carries out a year-around program to help with emergency needs. In the name of The Salvation Army whom it represents, the committee pays for food, lodging, utilities and such basic necessities that families or individuals may require in a temporary crisis.

The Service Unit also acts as liaison for The Salvation Army's state-wide program, which includes summer outings for boys at Camp Hoblitzelle, care for unwed mothers at the Home and Hospital in San Antonio, help for paroled prisoners, relief in major disasters, and other services.

One third of the funds collected will remain with the county unit, it was pointed out. They will be used by the committee in the ways it believes best.

The remainder of the funds will go to the state organization to carry out its programs.

The total cost of administering the Salvation Army program is less than 10 per cent of the funds collected, it is pointed out, and this is possible because approximately 99 per cent of the people working with the Salvation Army are unpaid volunteers.

County, City Receive $45,052 In Revenue Sharing Payments

Collingsworth County and the City of Wellington have received their initial checks to cover the first payment under the federal revenue sharing program. They total $45,052.

The county's check, which arrived Monday, amounted to $34,690, according to Judge Zook Thomas.

The City's check was for $10,362, Mayor John Coleman said, and it arrived Tuesday.

It is anticipated that the second revenue sharing payments will be made soon after the beginning of 1973, Edward A. Fox, director of the office of Revenue Sharing has notified both the city and county.

The program will continue for a 5 year period.

Mayor Coleman and City Manager Lyman Daniel said that the city has set up several projects to be carried out with this money.

These proposals include the purchase of a new street sweeper and a sewer rodder; purchase of a panel truck for the Fire Department, for which the city has already obligated itself.

Part of the money will go on the purchase of 120 acres to be used as a new dump ground at such a time as the city has to close down the one north of town.

The city has arranged for the purchase of the farm owned by J.M. Strong, Jr., of Dalt, one mile west and three-quarters south of the southwest corner of town, at a cost of $15,000, Mayor Coleman said. One thousand dollars of this has been in escrow for a number of months.

The mayor explained that the dump ground north of town is almost full, and besides this, the city has been warned by the Texas State Department of Health concerning the tract north of town. It will be closed at such a time as the health department designates, it was explained.

With any funds left over, there will be some repair on the community center, Mr. Daniel said.

Generally, there are few strings attached to the expenditure of revenue sharing funds Mr. Fox said.

Units of local government have discretion to expand their revenue sharing payments on —See #4, page 12

Entomologist Honored For Control Progress

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. -- (Spl) ... Dr. John G. Thomas, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service whose work in developing insect pest management programs has slashed control costs and protected the environment has been given the Texas Superior Service Award for outstanding educational programs. Thomas is formerly of College Station and is presently on leave with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C.

Dr. John E. Hutchison, Extension Service director, presented the award to Thomas Wednesday (Dec. 6) during the week-long State Extension Conference at the Hemisfair Convention Center in San Antonio.

The citation accompanying the award stated: "For creative dynamic leadership, untiring service and personal dedication to planning and implementing educational programs for insect control techniques in cotton, grain sorghum, pecans and livestock that have resulted in new opportunities for Texas producers."

The Collingsworth County native holds B.S. degrees in entomology and agricultural economics and a M.S. degree in entomology, all from Texas A&M University. In 1970 he received a Ph. D. in entomology from Kansas State University.

For three years Thomas served as Extension area entomologist at Lubbock before becoming a member of the headquarters staff at Texas A&M in 1963. He served one year as a research assistant at Kansas State and returned to Texas A&M in 1965.

His work in establishing the Intensified Cotton Insect Control Program in the Blacklands earned growers an extra eight million dollars in the first season of operation and increased lint yields 50 pounds per acre over the previous five-year average.

Thomas has been involved with the High Plains Diapause Boll Weevil Control Program since 1962. During the last four years he has also initiated 30 community or country-wide diapause programs in Gulf Coast counties.

Some of Thomas's other most significant works include the initiation of a statewide pecan nut casebearer banding program, establishment of the annual sorghum midge survey on the High Plains, and early work in cattle grub control demonstrations.

Norwood Teams Meet Shamrock There Dec. 19

Samnrowood Eaglettes and Eagles will travel to Shamrock Tuesday, December 19, for their final game before Christmas holidays begin.

This will be the second meeting for the girls and the third for the boys teams.

Shamrock played at Norwood Tuesday night, Dec. 12, and the Irish defeated Samnrowood 76-66 in the Shamrock tournament earlier this month.

This should be an extremely tough game for the Samnrowood girls, Coach Kenneth Martindale said, as keen rivalry has developed between these teams.

Shamrock boys have both height and speed to go along with their accuracy in hitting the basket.

Mrs. Ellason, Jim Rudy Marry in Home Ceremony Sunday Afternoon

Mrs. Carolyn Ellason of Del Rio and Jim Rudy were married Sunday, December 10, in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rudy of 1301 East 9th Street. The Reverend Elvis Pitts officiated at the five o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dale Sutton of 909 Hudson Drive, Del Rio.

The wedding party stood before a natural green Christmas tree, decorated in traditional style.

The bride wore a floor-length gown hand-made in Mexico. Fashioned in empire style of powder blue twinkle over satin, it was banded at the hemline by Chantilly lace. The collar was of matching lace, which had a rose motif outlined in seed pearls. Her powder blue chapel length veil had the same lace and pearl detail. She carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations on a Bible. Nestled among the flowers was an antique cameo, which several generations of Rudy brides have carried.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her niece, Miss Linda Brown of Arlington.

Larry Pippins of Arlington was the best man, and the ring bearer was Rhonda Rudy, niece of the bridegroom of Lewisville.

After the ceremony, a reception honored the couple.

The bride's table was laid with a white net cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. Four-branched candelabras were on each side.

Mrs. Calvin Mitchell and Miss Angela Mitchell served the wedding cake and Mrs. Paul Jones of Childress poured.

The bride attended school at San Saba and at the time of her marriage, she was cashier for A.P. Thomas Restaurant. A graduate of Wellington High School, the bridegroom also attended Clarendon Junior College. He is employed by Lancer Mobile Homes in Childress.

Upon returning from their wedding trip to Del Rio, the couple will live in Childress.

Senior Girls Compete for Annual Homemaker of Tomorrow Honors

College scholarships totaling $111,000 will be at stake Tuesday (Dec. 5) when high school seniors here and throughout the country join in the written knowledge and attitude examination of the 1973 Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow. This year, for the first time in the 19-year history of the educational program, boys are eligible to participate. Taking these tests were senior girls from Wellington, Quail and Samnorwood.

Tomorrow here. This student will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor to the Betty Crocker Search, and will, together with all other school winners, remain in the running for state and national honors.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow -- one from each state and the District of Columbia -- will be awarded $1,500 scholarships. To be chosen in judging centering on performance in the written examination, they will also earn for their schools a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopaedia Britannica Educational Corporation. Second-ranking participants in each state will receive $500 college grants.

Late next April, the 51 State Homemakers of Tomorrow, each accompanied by a faculty adviser, will gather in Washington, D.C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Personal observation and interviews during the tour will be added factors in the selection, from the state winners, of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships of the four national winners will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, and $3,000 and $2,000. A $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship, instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, will be part of the program again this year.

Chicken Marguerite Delicious Make-Ahead Holiday Dish That Freezes

If you would be a blithe spirit at Christmas, you must have done some cooking ahead of time. . . And it is all the better if you have that blessing on the modern scene, the freezer.

Because some foods come out of their frozen state more delicious than when they went in, their recipes are always sought. This week several of these come from the Taylor Wine Company of Hammondsport, N.Y.

One especially delicious holiday make-ahead main dish, from "The Cook It and Freeze It Book," by Margaret Deeds Murphy is Cold Chicken Marguerite.

Here is how it is done: COLD CHICKEN MARGUERITE

4 fryers (2½ to 3 lbs. each) cut up
½ cup olive or vegetable oil
2 cups sherry*
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper.
2 teaspoons paprika
1 teaspoon dry tarragon
4 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Cut up chickens; save bony pieces for chicken broth. Place chicken sections in single layer in flat baking dish. Pour oil over chicken. Pour sherry over chicken. Sprinkle chicken with mixture of salt, pepper, paprika and tarragon; dot with butter. Bake in oven about 40 minutes at 350 degrees or until chicken is tender and browned. Baste with sherry several times during cooking. Makes 16 servings.

To freeze: chill. Wrap pieces individually with freezer.

Christmas Party Given 4-H Girls

The Red Raiders 4-H Club met in the home of Mrs. James Boswell Wednesday, December 6, to be measured for the 4-H dresses they will make in January.

A Christmas party was given the girls. Mrs. Boswell read a Christmas story to the girls, and later they visited a rest home.

Members present were Robin Amonett, Rosa Benton, Sandra Bishop, Tami Boswell, Kelly Covey, Connie Daves, Laura Gragson, Teresa Hodges, Callie McDonald, Beverly Orr, Cynthia Reeves and Gail Rudy.

Leaders present were Mrs. Boswell and Miss Glenda Kiker. The next meeting will be Wednesday, December 27.

wrap. Over-wrap in family size units. Seal, label, date and freeze.

To serve: Defrost and unwrap chicken. Serve cold. Storage time: Up to three months.

* Although we are in a dry area "cooking sherry" can be had at most grocery stores and is perfectly legal. This is sherry to which salt and some other seasonings have been added and it is totally unfit for drinking. However, it is just as delicious for cooking as is the table sherry.

Also, if you have not cooked with wines, be assured that the alcoholic content of the wine cooks off leaving only the delicious taste.

Rockets, McLean Girls Win Norwood Tourney

Wellington boys and McLean girls were champions of the annual Samnorwood tournament, which closed Saturday night, December 9.

Shamrock boys and Briscoe girls were second; Lakeview girls and Quail boys were third, while consolation winners were McLean boys and Allison girls.

The sportsmanship trophy went to Lakeview girls and Briscoe boys.

The championship boys finals was one of the closer games of the entire tournament. Wellington scored the first two points, then Shamrock tied it up. The Skyrockets pulled ahead, and although Shamrock came to within two points several times, they were never ahead, nor was the game ever tied again.

Wellington led 19-13 at the end of the first period, 33-31 at the half, and 47-41 at the third period.

Wellington's balanced scoring was credited with winning the game. Bobby Shrubs led Wellington scoring with 16 points; Jay Thomas and Dickie Johnson had 11 each; Bruce Oney 10 and Barry Long four.

Walter Bond scored 31 points for Shamrock, 10 of these in the final period. Ronald Gregg had 10 points, Sammy Jackson 9, Randy Gouge 6 and Randy Reeder one.

McLean girls, who defeated Briscoe, 51-38 to take the girls division crown, were leading by a single point at the end of the first period. They extended the lead to 10 points and 13 points at the third period. Play was about even during the final period. Sherri Haynes led the McLean scoring with 30 points and Debbie Douthet had 25 for Briscoe.

Results of the first round, girls division games were: McLean over Allison 84-40; Lakeview over Shamrock 57-54; Briscoe over Wellington 43-39 and Quail over Samnorwood 42-40.

In the consolation finals Allison defeated Samnorwood 65-36.

In the championship bracket, second round, McLean defeated Lakeview 59-36 and Briscoe won over Quail 60-37, to put McLean and Briscoe in the girls finals.

Lakeview then defeated Quail 56-45 for third place. BOYS PLAY

The first round of boys play saw Shamrock win over McLean 53-48; Quail over Allison 79-57; Wellington over Briscoe 85-65; and Samnorwood over Lakeview 75-60.

Going into the boys consolation bracket, McLean defeated Allison 62 to 57 and Briscoe won over Lakeview 74-64. McLean then defeated Briscoe 70-67 to win consolation.

Back in the championship bracket, second round, Shamrock won over Quail 46-44, with the Irish Ronald Gregg hitting a basket for the Irish on a 20-foot jump shot with 6 seconds left in the game. Quail could not counter with a score before time ran out.

In the other second round game, Wellington defeated Samnorwood 80-51.

Quail then defeated Samnorwood 77-56 for third place and Wellington and Shamrock went into the championship finals.

This was a good tournament, in spite of weather and cotton harvest now under way, Coach Kenneth Martindale said.

Notes from Your County Home Demonstration Agent

by Miss Sherry Arnold

Before the Christmas tree is down after-Christmas sales will be inviting consumers to spend any money or credit they may have left -- so better be ready.

Families can save between 15 and 25 per cent on purchases at these sales if they buy wisely by planning, judging and comparing.

Nothing is a bargain unless you need it and can use it. Being an effective sales shopper requires a plan -- a plan that gives shopping a purpose. It helps the consumer easily recognize items that meet a need and items with just an eye appeal.

Shoppers should know three things about sale items in order to judge and compare -- the original price of the item, store policies on sales, and why the item is on sale.

Year-end sales enable retailers to reduce inventory before having to report it on income tax forms. The less inventory they have, the less time and money they spend taking inventory.

However, the shopper should look for words and phrases that signal other reasons for sales -- words such as "irregulars, imperfect, manufacturer's seconds, comparable value and limited supply."

The only way to judge an item for its ability to meet a family need is to inspect it carefully for condition, construction and performance, and read labels, warranties or guarantees if they're provided.

Also, consider shopping at both the start and close of a big sale.

Best selection is most likely available the first day, but you may find further price reductions the last day.

Consider other costs of the sale item, apart from the price itself. Time, effort and money spent getting to the store -- or credit used to make sales purchases -- may offset some of the price reduction.

Shopping at sales tempts the consumer to buy without thinking -- so plan, judge and compare before buying.

Locomotive Given P&W

DIBOLL -- One of the last active Temple Industries steam locomotives will soon return to main-line duty.

Number 28, a Baldwin "Pershing" class 2-8-0, was donated by Temple Industries to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for use on the state railroad between Rusk and Palestine.

Old Number 28 had been sitting idle on a Temple siding at Pipeline since 1955.

In presenting the engine to the Parks and Wildlife Department, Temple Industries Chairman Arthur Temple said: "It is particularly fitting that Engine 28 become a part of Texas' future again. She performed yeoman service in the earlier days of railroad logging, and now will become a source of nostalgic enjoyment for thousands of tourists and visitors. We are proud to help make this new recreation concept a part of the East Texas scene."

The engine was built in 1917 for the U.S. War Department and served with the army until 1947.

She served on the Tremont and Gulf Railway and was purchased by Temple Lumber, now Temple Industries, in 1955.

The 88-ton locomotive was operated by the logging department at Pineland.

Parks and Wildlife Department officials say the engine will be restored to its original condition when last operated by Temple.

Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Jack Stone said, "Finding a steam locomotive in repairable condition is nothing short of a miracle, and to have the engine donated by Temple Industries is more than we hoped for."

Stone said that work on replacing the Rusk-Palestine roadbed is underway, and that Engine 28 should be soon puffing her way through the East Texas Pineywoods.

Families Now Self-Supporting Through CAC

Approximately 40 local families who formerly met poverty level guidelines have become self-supporting through the work with the Community Action Program, Mrs. Jimmie Sessions told Kiwanis Club members Friday, December 8.

Mrs. Sessions, who is rural program specialist with the Texas Panhandle Community Action Corporation, explained that not all of these families were on welfare, but they did meet the federal poverty guidelines.

They are now completely out from under these poverty guidelines and are making their own way, Mrs. Sessions said. In addition to these, CAC is still working with several others who are now partially self supporting, and it is their hope that they too, can take care of their own needs.

Mrs. Sessions explained the goals of CAC and added that one of the biggest needs at present is assistance for the elderly in the low-income bracket.

Paul Spillman, Kiwanis president, was in charge of the meeting.

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Proposals for major "reform" statutes and changes in the House and Senate rules have been drawn by Texas legislative leaders.

Rep. Price Daniel Jr., Liberty, slated to be the next Speaker of the House of Representatives, has announced a nine-point "reform" program. Several Senate members and Lt. Gov.-elect Bill Hobby, Houston, have discussed proposals to change some of the "reform" rules adopted by the fourth called session of the 62nd Legislature.

Speaking to a seminar sponsored by the Texas Society of Association Executives, Daniel listed these proposed changes in state statutes -- which he feels are necessary because of a "mandate" of Texas voters this year:

1. A one term limit for the Speaker of the House of Representatives.
 2. Elimination of the pledge card system for election of the House Speaker -- where pledges are exchanged for support of legislation.
 3. Disclosure by the Speaker of contributions to support his campaign for that office.
 4. A limit on the number of conferees on tax bills.
 5. A new "Open records" law which would provide more access to public documents -- with certain guidelines and safeguards.
 6. Improvements of campaign contributions laws.
 7. Tightening of the laws governing lobbyist registration.
 8. An ethics code for legislators.
 9. Changes in the state's "Open Meetings" law to provide the public with more information about actions of governmental bodies.
- Daniel said these proposed "reform measures should not be tagged with "liberal" or "conservative" labels. "Liberal and conservative labels are unfair to the 77 new members of the Legislature. They have not yet cast a vote. The new members will be more independent and reform minded, because that's what the voters demanded in the primary, run-off and general elections this year," he added.
- "I don't believe we should over-react to the problems of the past," he said when he discussed major changes in House rules which will be introduced.

three branches of state government -- executive, legislative and judicial -- will be appointing 36 Texans to a citizens' commission to study needed constitutional changes and report its recommendations next November.

A resolution to create this citizens' commission will be introduced in the 63rd Legislature, and the 36 appointees will be selected by a committee of the elected leaders of state government.

This committee will probably include the Governor, Lt. Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and Presiding Judge of the Criminal Appeals Court.

At a recent meeting of leaders in the drive for constitutional reform, the addition of the Attorney General to that committee was supported.

LAWMAKERS LOOK AT BUDGET -- Key lawmakers who make up the Legislative Budget Board met here this week to take a look at multi-billion-dollar state spending plans the legislature must pass on soon.

Other signs of preparation for a vital and stormy 63rd legislative session are apparent.

Lt. Gov.-elect Hobby has moved to temporary offices and has assembled a staff. Speaker-elect Daniel also is putting together a staff.

Both the incoming Lieutenant Governor and Speaker are working on their assignments to key standing committees which process legislation, although they prefer not to talk too much publicly about this important chore.

The Legislature, under new leadership and with a near-record crop of freshmen members, faces a staggering array of tasks.

In addition to the usual problems of making spending fit income, lawmakers have assigned themselves a monumental task of furthering legislative reform.

A hangover from the 1971 session is House of Representatives redistricting which must be redone or left to a federal court for boundary realignment.

Big decisions will also be necessary in the education field if the U.S. Supreme Court upholds a December, 1971, decision invalidating the present Texas system of financing public school education.

"SHIELD LAW" BACKED --- Speaker-to-be Daniel has informed newspapers, radio and television stations he will back a bill in the Legislature next year to protect confidentially of news sources.

Daniel's letter to publishers and station heads noted the U.S. Supreme Court has held newsmen do not have constitutional rights to protect their news sources.

"It is my firm belief that, in the face of the recent ruling, and without statutory protection, the inevitable result will be loss of confidential sources of information," said Daniel. "News sources will dry up, thus depriving the public of the fullest news coverage possible. For the press to be an effective watchdog over public affairs and government officials, newsmen should not be required to disclose confidential news sources."

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where Christmas, a holiday that is theoretically dedicated to celebrating Christ's birthday, may be unconstitutional because the honoree has religious connections.

It should be remembered that Sundays also are religious holidays and people who observe them, especially public employees, are constitutional minutemen.

Every government payroller, therefore, clean back to 1776, who hasn't been docked for taking off on Sundays should have to pay back one-seventh of all weekly wages he has drawn.

D.E. SCOTT
Crossroads, U.S.A.

AG OPINIONS -- A law making it a penal offense to provide alcoholic beverages to inmates of the Texas Prison System does not apply to county jails, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

* The Welfare Department may refund money advanced to it by public or private agencies for providing the non-federal share of estimated costs of social services programs when actual costs are less than anticipated.

* A Water Quality Board secretary may sell transcripts of official board meetings as long as the work doesn't interfere with duties as a state employee.

Revenue Sharing Calls for Careful Study of Expenditures

In the next few days, the city and county will receive the first installment of their portions of federal sharing funds, which will continue over the 5-year life of the program.

The second installment for the current fiscal year is expected in January.

These monies will be used to cover practical expenditures, permitted within the Revenue Sharing guidelines, such as equipment purchases and street improvement.

Revenue Sharing funds are meant to cover those projects that will materially improve the general welfare, safety, attractiveness, and general living conditions of the county and city without going into the annual budget.

Only by serious, thoughtful study can the recipients of this windfall be sure that they get a dollar's worth of value for every dollar they spend.

A New Age of Technology

The last moon flight in the Apollo series is scheduled to begin Dec. 6. But the vast benefits from space technology for mankind are just emerging. Some of those benefits were discussed at a conference of the American Astronautical Society in Dallas.

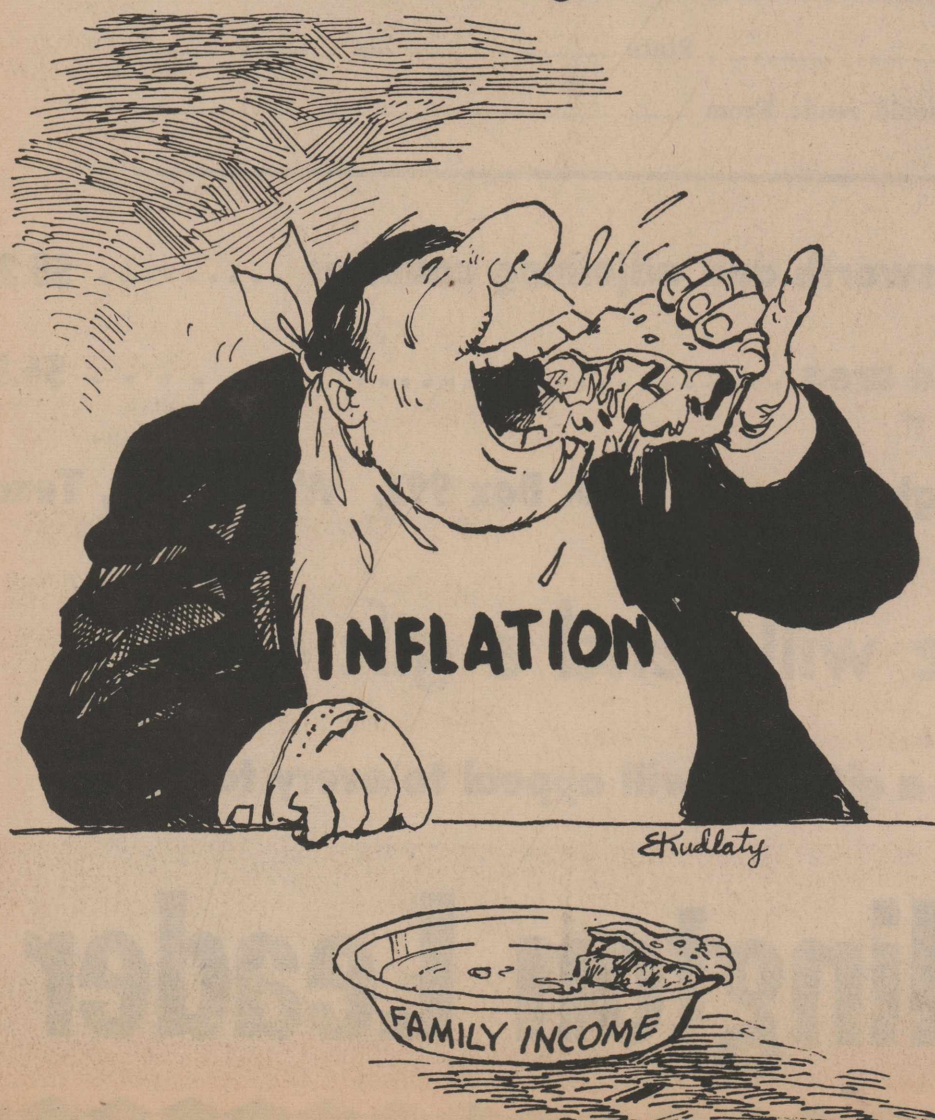

"We have developed a tremendous inventory of high technology by going to the moon," said Dr. Paul Richards, the society's president. "We now want to transfer technology to other areas of economics that really never had motivation or governmental support to do this technology."

The medical technology used to monitor health of men in flights to the moon will be used in bringing better health care to people in rural areas. Surveys of earth from space will help to locate badly needed petroleum and other mineral reserves. Eyes from space will be able to detect diseases in crops and forests much quicker than eyes of farmers standing in the fields. The list of other potential benefits is long.

The December flight of Apollo 17, therefore, will not be an end, but a beginning; the beginning of a new technological age whose benefits all of us on earth can share.

Catfish Farming Lagging in Texas

Texas may lead the nation in beef production, but it is lagging behind in catfish, although there are several farms in the southeast Panhandle.

Three agricultural economists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Dr. Ronald Laceywell, Harold Jambers and Dr. John P. Nichols, have found that Texas catfish farmers have lower yields per acre than do their counterparts in other states. Higher prices for catfish in Texas, however, have caused net returns to be about the same.

Catfish farming is a relatively recent development in agriculture. Lakes and ponds are stocked with catfish which are fed daily on special catfish feed. Harvesting is done when the catfish reach a certain size.

Average yield per acre for Texas catfish farms is 932 pounds for farms under 10 acres and 653 pounds for larger farms. Other farms, particularly in the South, have averaged between 1,000 and 2,000 pounds per acre.

It appears, the economists said, that a major reason for lower yields in Texas is that producers harvest only the quantity of fish that will sell at the higher prices. This means some fish may remain in ponds at harvest due to a lack of market outlets.

The 10-acre farm (acres being determined by surface area of the lake) seems to be the dividing point in Texas catfish production, the economists said. Investment per acre, not including land, decreases from $1,325 for less than 10 acres to $640 over 10.

Total costs to produce a pound of catfish were 80 cents for the smaller producer and 37 cents for the larger. The average price received by Texas producers was only 68 cents a pound, however, emphasizing the advantage of larger production facilities. Small producers, who would be operating at a loss if they sold at the average price, make money by developing special markets such as local stores and restaurants at higher prices.

Prices ranged from 35 to $1.25 cents a pound, with the larger operations receiving the lower prices.

Some disadvantages of increasing size were observed, the economists, also members

Mother of Mrs. Allred Dies

Mrs. Mary Smith Morgan, 78, of Niagara, North Carolina, died in a Pinehurst, N.C. hospital November 27, after a 7-year illness.

She was the mother of Mrs. Louis Allred and of B.C. Morgan of Shamrock, formerly of Wellington.

Mrs. Morgan served almost 22 years as Niagara postmaster and assistant postmaster. She received her appointment as postmaster in 1940 and served until 1949. She then was assistant postmaster until 1962. Mrs. Morgan had visited here a number of times.

Funeral services were conducted November 30, with burial in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Survivors are her husband, Benjamin C. Morgan; three daughters, four sons, 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Allred and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and children, Harold and Nelda, went to the services.

of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology at Texas A&M University, said. The price per pound received declined as size increased and the yield per acre declined as size increased.

The lower costs associated with the 10-acre or larger farm, however, more than offset any decrease in price and yield per acre.

Texas catfish farmers also have facilities to produce more, the researchers found. The unused capacity appears to be due to limited market outlets and would require the establishment of a viable marketing system and the identification and expansion of market opportunities.

County Men Report on Farmers Union Meeting

ARLINGTON, -- The Texas Farmers Union Convention wound up Saturday with the re-election of its officers and the adoption of a 40 page policy statement which outlines a battle plan to improve the conditions of the independent family farmer and rancher.

Attending from Wellington were President and Mrs. Donald Langley, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Breeding and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Canada and Miss Sherri Canada. Re-elected TFFU President was Waco farmer Jay Naman. Vice President is again Joe Rankin of Ralls.

The policy statement covers a wide range of issues from international trade to local taxes. On the international front the statement calls for new International Wheat Agreement with provisions for minimum prices. It also calls for the renewal and the expansion of the Food for Peace Program and the protection of domestic products from competing imports.

Nationally, the policy outlines a comprehensive new farm program calling for aggressive government policy in such areas as supply management, to bring farm prices to parity. The statement calls for a federal reserve program for storage commodities, for higher loan rates to bring the market prices up, an increase of credit to farmers through programs such as Farmers Home Administration, support for the REA through continued low interest loans, and continued support for farm cooperatives.

The statement singled out taxes and corporate farming as priority issues on the state level. It calls for legislation to control expansion of corporate agricultural enterprises and on the tax front it calls for a natural resource tax and a corporate profits tax and it urges that land, as long as it continues to be used in agriculture, be assessed on its value for agricultural uses only.

Rocket B in Childress Play

Wellington B team lost to three strong teams in the annual Childress Invitational B team tournament December 7, 8 and 9.

Wellington held the Childress B team to a 16-16 tie at half-time of the first round, but Childress pulled ahead strong to win 49-34, Coach Lester Guesby reported. Sammy Gonzales was high point man with 16.

The Skyrocket B team then met Paducah in consolation play and lost 55-47, inspite of making 54 per cent of their free shots. George Brewer and Gonzales led the scoring with 12 each.

Their last game, Saturday, was to determine placings. In this, Wellington lost to Shamrock a close game 46-44, out scoring their opponent 16 points to 11 during the final period. The buzzer sounded before they could make the crucial two points. Edward Thomas was high point man with 12.

FOG shrouded the Galveston-Houston area December 3 causing a collision and the backing up of dozens of ships in the Houston Ship Channel. One of these was a Russian grain vessel. It was the first to come for the wheat for which they traded following Nixon's visit to Moscow. Several U.S. freighters carrying grain have gone down the channel in recent weeks.

THE SALE of wheat to Russia is a good thing and will help both countries. It has boosted the price of wheat and will keep it at a good price at least through 1973. But as a part of the facts unfold, you can't keep from wondering if the United States could not have been a considerably sharper trader and still acquired the same immediate and better long range benefits.

IN 1972 Russia suffered the most disastrous crop failure in over 100 years which followed on the heels of a failure of major extent in 1971. As a result they were desperate for wheat and we could have secured almost any reasonable world price and any terms we asked. Instead we sold the grain at a modest figure and loaned them $500 million with which to buy it. We could have simply sold them the grain and let them take the $500 million out of their budget for armaments. How do you think the Soviets would have played it if they had the U.S. in an bind like that?

STORIES on new developments here in Houston run into such huge figures that a remodeling job must run into the millions of dollars before it can make the inside pages of the newspapers. The Shamrock Hilton is now on the third stage of a multi-million renovation. Included in the work is complete redecoration of all the interior of the building. In addition they have built the Shamrock Cinemas across Main Street from the hotel and an Airport Terminal in front of the hotel. Helicopters can be seen landing and taking off at various times of the day.

THE Shamrock Hilton is the luxury hotel that Oilman Glenn H. McCarthy built in 1949 four miles out from Downtown Houston at the end of Main Street. Some of you may remember the "celebration" of the opening that was shown on TV. The Equitable Life Assurance Co. took it over after a few years and The Hilton Corporation acquired the mortgage from Equitable in 1954 and it has been operated by that globe circling chain since that time.

MARSHALL WELLS is the Executive Secretary of Houston Endowment, Inc. which is the foundation created by the late Jesse Jones. The Houston Endowment still owns and operates the Houston Chronicle, which among a long list of outstanding accomplishments publishes the second largest classified section in the United States. The classified section of last Sunday's edition was 44 pages of solid classified.

MARSHALL says that distribution is an ever growing problem with the metropolitan traffic growing more congested, it is difficult to get the mail trucks to all the dealers on time. The Chronicle is discussing the possibility of establishing auxiliary printing plants located 50 or more miles from the giant central plant in Houston.

THE EDITING, advertising and business activities as well as the composition would continue to be down in the central plant. Entire pages would be transmitted by electronics to the presses of the auxiliary plants and the giant presses would be rolling within minutes of the final O.K. at the downtown plant. The distribution of the papers from the auxiliary will fan back toward Houston proper as well as outward in the Houston area. The idea is in the talking stage now; but it could be in the planning stage tomorrow.

BILL ESTES is another Wellington man who has been by to see me since I have been in Houston. He is a dental student at The University of Texas Dental School at the Medical Center. He has three and a half more years to get his degree. His wife, the former Alcie Holiman, teaches school in Alief, a suburb of Houston, while Bill goes to school. Fortunately their son Paul is able to attend the same school where his mother teaches. The Dental School is right next to M.C. Anderson and the building is finished in the same type of marble. I hope to get by to see him at his work some morning if my chores will permit.

THE OTHER afternoon I was sitting on a stone bench in front of the M.D. Anderson Clinic waiting for the bus when the lady sitting next to me asked me if I lived in Houston. I told her no, that I lived in the Panhandle. She remarked that perhaps I knew where they lived. We live in Shamrock, she said. I told her yes that I published the Wellington Leader. She smiled and said: "I thought you looked familiar; we have bought office supplies in your place."

SHE was Mrs. Paul F. Stuckler, wife of the pastor of The Lutheran Church of Shamrock. He had a small tumor removed; but she had not had any report at the time we were talking.

AN ex-Navy man is also an out patient of M.D. Anderson and stays at the same hostelry and takes treatment similar to mine. He had been expecting to be discharged and go home for good this Friday. Monday the doctors informed him that he would have to stay at least two more weeks. He came back to the hotel fuming. He was going to -- jump ship, throw his gear overboard, blow the torpedo tube -- and finally paused to ask me what I thought. I said, "Well, if you do the first, you can't do the other two and if you reverse the series of events, I doubt if you will ever get off the ship."

More merchants are participating in this year's program and more buyers are requesting trades day tickets on their purchases.

Mrs. Margaret Vines, Chamber of Commerce manager, said there were approximately 25 per cent more tickets in the hopper than for the second drawing a year ago. Merchants themselves are asking for more tickets to give away, she added.

Winners of the December 9 drawing were:
Mrs. Tommy Powell, $35 script.

Mrs. Loyd Clark, $25 script.
Mrs. Jack Needham, $15 script.

Children receiving radios were Mary Pendergraft and Wesley Anderson.

Mrs. Vines reminded that children must be accompanied by at least one parent to be eligible to receive a gift, should their tickets be drawn.

In addition to the three script drawings, the children's item to be drawn is one tape recorder.

Rockets Drop Double-Header

Wellington Skyrockets dropped a game to a strong Hedley quintet 63-57, in Skyrocket Gym Tuesday night December 5. On the same evening, the girls lost their first games to Hedley 49-33.

Hedley girls got on the board for 15 points in the first quarter, while Wellington failed to score. The Rockettes came back strong in the second and accounted for 17 points, while holding their opponents to 13, but even so, they trailed at halftime 28-17. Play for the remainder of the game was about even, but the Rockettes were never able to overcome their first quarter handicap.

Shauna White scored 25 points for Hedley, while Patti McAlister led Wellington with 14.

Wellington Skyrockets led 10-5 at the end of the first period, but Hedley pulled ahead for a halftime count of 30-25. Hedley boys had a big 23-point lead in the third, while Wellington made only 10. From the playing standpoint, the last quarter belonged to Wellington boys, who accounted for 22 points and held Hedley to 10. It was not quiet enough, however, and the game ended with Hedley leading 6 points.

Baviel Bolin scored 22 points for Hedley, Bobby Shrubs 20 for Wellington.
