School Trustee Race Crowded

The race to select two members to the Hereford Rural High School Board of Trustees became one of the hottest political battles in the county as two more filed for office before the deadline Thursday.

Filing for the trustee race were Ed Dzauk Sr., and H. H. Miller of Dawn. The petition for Miller's entry into the race was filed by 11 qualified voters of the area.

Around Town

Hereford public schools' most enthusiastic booster, Fred Baird, was honored Friday night during the traditional dinner for past school board trustees, given (and paid for) by the current trustees. Fred recently submitted his letter of resignation, to become effective Sept. 1, 1962. He has been a most loyal and devoted worker in the school system, acting as tax assessor and financial secretary to the board. No matter where Hereford athletic teams played — Roswell or Austin or Oklahoma City — Fred was there. He said that he went to make sure Hereford got its share of the game receipts, but really he wanted just as much to see Hereford teams in action.

Fred, and many others, will be happy to know that Hereford ex Ken Clearman is returning to baseball this year. Ken is attending Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, on a basketball scholarship after playing two years at Howard County Junior College. He was on Hereford's fine basketball team of 1958-59. Now, Eastern is starting a baseball and basketball program and Ken is a candidate for the shortstop position. If nothing else, the Hounds may have the tallest baseball team in the country. The nine pitchers range from 6-2 to 6-5, with first base aspirants from 6-3 to 6-8. There are two players listed at 5-9, with the rest taller.

What do you think of Hereford? What are some of its advantages or its shortcomings? You will have a chance to answer these and many other questions for yourself right now. The Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce is conducting a community attitude survey. A copy of the questionnaire will be found on pages 6 and 7, Section Two, of this issue of the Sunday Brand. Just clip it out and check the answers. Then take a few extra moments and write out your opinions in answer to the final questions. It should be an interesting survey and, when completed, will provide a basis for community action.

Ed Dzauk Sr., Virgil Dodson and Bill Thompson were in Austin Thursday for a special meeting on migrant labor. It was called the Texas Conference on Education for Adult Migrant Workers and was sponsored jointly by the Texas Committee on Migrant Farm Workers and the Good Neighbor Commission of Texas. They reported that it is likely that some state legislation will be needed to forestall possible federal intervention, either by federal legislation or national labor groups.

Whiteface Booster Club will meet Monday, March 12, at 8 p.m. in the Hereford Community Center. Special guests will be members of the Hereford.

Bulletin

The contract for the construction of King's Manor, a home for older adults, was let to Knox and Galley, a Lubbock contracting firm, following negotiations. Cost of the construction was set at $166,103 as the contract was signed in Lubbock on Saturday.

The announcement of the contract was made by Palmer Norton, president of the Hereford Area Foundation. Norton has been in Lubbock this week negotiating with the contracting firm.

Construction on the home is slated to begin within the next few weeks.

Also contesting for the two posts in the election slated for April 7 are the incumbents, Ivan Block and Dr. L. B. Barnett, plus Leroy K. Williamson and J. F. Martin.

The two incumbents were the first to file in the race followed by Williamson. With less than a week remaining before the deadline, Martin filed bringing the number of candidates to four.

With Dzauk and Miller filing in the race Thursday, the number jumped to six to equal the number in board of trustees race last year.

In other county school board races, Leo Forrest, incumbent, remained unopposed in his race for trustee-at-large of the Deaf Smith County School District.

Jack Weaver, who is seeking election to the position of county trustee-at-large of County Trustee Commissioners Precinct 3 of the Walcott Common School District 6, also remained unopposed.

Vehicle License Sales Are Slow

Vehicle license registration is moving slowly in Deaf Smith County, according to county tax assessor Nell Miller.

By Friday, only 1,244 passenger vehicles had been registered along with 172 commercial and 355 farm vehicles.

In 1961, some 10,143 licenses were issued — an all-time high for the county and the first time more than 10,000 vehicles had been registered. Mrs. Miller said she estimates that total vehicle registration in the county this year should be 10,600.

Deadline for registration is March 31, she pointed out. Persons registering vehicles are asked to bring copies to their title, as well as 1961 license receipts.

Reorganize FTA At High School

Hereford High School reorganized the Future Teachers of America organization in a special meeting held Wednesday. There were some 75 students on hand to make plans and elect officers, according to Mrs. John Madison, club sponsor.

Discontinued two years ago, the club will only try to get organized the remainder of the school year. Future Teachers will affiliate with the state and national organizations next semester.

Elected as president of the organization for high school students who are interested in the teaching profession as a career was Suzanne Higgins. Alice McClain was named vice president, and Ronda Neff, secretary. Other officers will be elected in the next monthly meeting.

Stanton Junior High School has had an active F.T.A. organization for the past three years.

'Middleman' L. J. Iwig Improving Hereford Herds

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND STAFF REPORTER

Cowboy, doctor, teacher, cattleman, and lab technician — that's the maze of careers combined into one L. J. Iwig, a man who has one of the most rewarding jobs that he could imagine as a Texan.

Iwig, a former professor of agriculture and science at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, has been a pioneer in the technique of artificial breeding of top-quality registered beef and dairy cattle. Since Iwig resigned from his position at Midwestern University some 14 years ago, he has artificially bred some 14,000 head of the nation's best calves.

Kiwanians Plan Ping Pong Meet

Hereford Kiwanis Club announced plans for the first city-wide ping-pong tournament to be held in the Community Center on Monday, March 19. All high school and junior high students are eligible to compete in the tourney.

Entrants will compete for first, second, and third place trophies, which will be on display during the event.

There will be no entrance fee, and the Kiwanians urge ping-pong players to sign up for the competition sometime between now and Monday, March 19.

The event is scheduled between the hours of 6-8 p.m. The tourney will last for as many nights as are required to eliminate players, depending upon how many entries are on hand.

Iwig worked with one of the first three herds in the nation to successfully employ artificial breeding techniques, and was one of the pioneers in the technique.

Iwig has served as a "Middleman" between some of the nation's greatest breeding bulls and top-notch cows. If the proof of his success lies in the pudding, Iwig can point to countless championship Herefords at numerous cattle expositions across the nation that were conceived artificially.

Iwig received most of his college training at Texas A&M, but was graduated from Midwestern University. He later returned to Midwestern as an agriculture and science instructor.

Association Will Hold Horse Show

It has been announced that the Golden Spread Quarterhorse Association will sponsor the annual quarterhorse show here this year. The Hereford Riders Club has sponsored the show for the past eight years.

Date for the Hereford Quarterhorse Show has been set for April 6, according to O. G. Hill Jr., president of the Golden Spread Quarterhorse Association.

With the cooperation of the Hereford Riders Club, the sponsors are planning "one of the biggest horse shows ever held in Hereford."

"We expect a Class A show, with over 150 horses," stated Hill. The exhibition is accredited by the Golden Spread Quarterhorse Association and the American Quarterhorse Association as well as the National Cutting Horse Association.

J. D. Craft, of Jacksboro, Tex., vice president of the National Cutting Horse Association, will be on hand to judge all entries. Craft is considered one of the most prominent quarterhorse judges in the nation, according to Hill.

Anyone with a registered quarterhorse will be eligible for entry in the registered divisions, and all horses, registered or not, may compete in the open classes.

Points from the show will count in all of the above-mentioned associations.

Sponsors will award 18 silver trophy buckles to class winners, and 12 silver platters will be presented to the various champions.

Hill is working along with other Association officers in making arrangements for the show. Other officials include Herbert Stewart, Clovis, first vice president; J. B. MacNaughton, Vega, second vice president; and Mrs. Doris Moore, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer.

Hereford Riders Club will operate the concession and aid in the show, according to Riders Club president, Mrs. Merdith Ireland.

Hutson Boosted At Post Office

Postmaster Nolan Grady announced Friday that Billy Hutson has been promoted to the position of Mails Foreman at the Hereford Post Office. Hutson was promoted as the result of recent changes at the post office due to the retirement of a rural carrier.

Hutson has been with the post office department here since 1949. Before his promotion, Hutson served as a window clerk.

Herd Again Rallies, Beating Pampa 9-8; Takes On Sandies

On a dusty, wind-swept diamond, Hereford won its second game of the season against 3-AAAA competition Friday. And again the Whitefaces had to rally in the final inning after trailing throughout the game as it beat Pampa 9-8.

Originally scheduled as a double-header, it was decided to play a single nine inning game instead. And it took almost exactly that long for Hereford to win.

Hereford will try to spoil still another 3-AAAA team's first outing, playing Amarillo High School there at 4 p.m. Tuesday, March 13.

The Herd played catch-up throughout the game Friday, finally moving ahead by a single run in the bottom of the eighth.

With two out, however, the Harvesters came back for a pair of runs that put them in front. Hereford took advantage of a pair of walks, a single and wild pitch to win after a double play erased all but one of the base runners.

Pampa's coach originally said he didn't want to play two games because of a lack of pitching. But he and Hereford coach Willie Williams thought they were going to need another can or two of hurriers before the game was finished.

The Harvesters changed pitchers four times, finishing with the one who started. And Hereford used four pitchers, all different.

Pampa's lead-off batter drew a walk and turned it into a score as the game opened. Gerrell Owens moved around on a fielder's choice, a single and an error.

The Harvesters picked up another run in the second on a walk, two singles and a passed ball. That was all their scoring until the sixth.

Hereford was having its troubles at the plate, trying to solve the offerings of Jerry Glover. He set the Whitefaces down in order through the first four innings, although eight of the 12 at bat during that time hit good solid shots ... right to (Continued on Page 3)

WINNING RUN CAME IN with a cloud of dust here Friday afternoon as the Hereford Whitefaces edged the Pampa Harvesters 9-8. Arnold Powell scored from third base on a wild pitch. The throw from the catcher to Pampa hurler

Organ Is Given Assembly Of God Sunday Morning

A new organ, the gift of the Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Jackson, 441 N. Miles, will be formally dedicated at the morning worship service of the Assembly of God Church with the Rev. W. W. Marcontell, officiating, assisted by the Board of Deacons.

In accepting the gift to the church, the Rev. Marcontell said, "This gift will meet a long desired need in our church and will assist us to take care of some of the expansion needs we are anticipating for our church in the very near future."

Funds set aside for the organ, he stated, will now be available for other needs of the church. The expansion and remodeling

Five Women Attend Party At Canadian

Friday, Mar. 2, a group of five Hereford women, Mesdames Russell Carver, Iva N. Block, Ansel McDowell, Jimmie Gillentine and J. W. Witherspoon, got up early (6 a.m.) and headed for Canadian, arriving just in time for a coffee given by Violet Mathers, Lesbeth Mitchell, and Georgia Kelly, in the Mathers home. Then they migrated to the Snyder home for a bridge luncheon hosted by Rachel Snyder, Mary Alice Nix, Elizabeth Glenn and Katie George. About 40 guests attended. The Hereford guests got back home about 10:30 that night, after stopping in Amarillo for supper.

The public is invited to attend the dedication service slated Sunday.

Trustees of the Hereford Rural High School District will have their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 13, and probably will be discussing proposed plant expansion, in addition to other items.

Hereford's baseball team came through again Friday after trailing throughout the game. It was an interesting game for the spectators... although far too dusty and chilly to be comfortable. Nothing is more exciting than a team that comes charging back to win in the last moment. But, it would suit us just as well to get out front a bit earlier.

Tuesday, the team will be in Amarillo to tangle with the Sandies. Starting time is 4 p.m.

And enjoy watching a team win. After taking it on the chin. But a wider margin is easier on the heart.

Hereford picked up a single run in the last of the fifth as Dan McDowell belted a double. He came in on singles by Joe Cabrera and Joe Mack Hale.

Pampa's 2-1 lead suddenly grew to 5-1 in the top of the sixth. Three singles, a sacrifice fly and a double by Mike Clark accounted for the runs.

In the last of the sixth, Hereford picked up two more runs. Arnold Powell singled and moved around as McDowell singled and moved to second on an error. McDowell came in as Eugene Green grounded out. Hereford narrowed the gap to a single run in the seventh when Cabrera singled and went around on an error and a sacrifice fly by Ken Loerwald.

In the eighth Pampa's John Arthur belted a fast ball over center field for a homer and the Harvesters led 6-4.

Hereford finally got in front in the last of the eighth on a three-run outburst. Powell singled, McDowell got on by error and Green drew a walk to load the bases. Richard Casas walked to push in one run, Cabrera got on by error to add another. Hale singled to drive in the third before Cabrera was tagged out on Loerwald's sacrifice bunt.

Down by one run, Pampa came back in the first of the ninth for a pair of runs to regain the lead. With two out, Owens got on by error and Butch Crossland walked before Larry Gregory pounded out a double to drive them in.

But the Whitefaces were equal to the challenge. Ronny Duncan and Powell drew walks. McDowell singled in one run before Green hit into a double play that moved Powell to third and erased McDowell at second.

As Mickey Stevens came to the plate, Pampa hurler Jerry Glover threw a pitch high above the catcher and Powell raced home for the winning run.

McDowell slugged a double and two singles in his five times at bat, while Joe Mack Hale drove in two runs with his two singles in four trips. Also contributing two singles in four times at bat were Arnold Powell and Joe Cabrera.

Crossland, Gregory, and Arthur all had two hits in five times at bat for the Harvesters.

It was a wild game for the scorekeepers, especially on the pitchers. Mickey Stevens started for Hereford, working three innings. He gave up two runs on two hits, struck out six and walked five. He was relieved by Jim Haney, who worked two innings. Haney allowed no runs, struck out two, walked none and gave up one hit. He also hit one batter.

Gary Kendrick worked two-thirds on an inning, allowing three runs on four hits, walking none and striking out none. Reliever Richard Casas worked three and one-third innings. He gave up three runs on two hits, struck out five and walked one.

Casas got credit for the victory, his second of the year. Pampa started with Jerry Glover, who worked the first five innings, then came back in the ninth for two-thirds, when the game ended. He gave up one run on three hits, struck out six, hit one batter and walked none. He was relieved by Bobby Price, who worked two innings, allowing five runs on four hits, while striking out one and walking none. He also was charged with a balk. Mike Clark came on in the eighth. He gave up three runs on two hits, struck out none and walked none.

Pampa stranded 14 men, while Hereford left six on base. Hereford's outstanding defensive plays included two rolling catches by McDowell, John Buck's twisting leap to catch a fly deep behind second base and Eugene Green's grab and peg of a spinning ball hit just in front of the plate.

help out a few of my friends around there with breeding," he says. Iwig stayed at the university one and one-half years, before finally resigning in order to work in the field with his artificial insemination techniques.

At this time, Iwig was working strictly with dairy herds. "Dairymen were about ten years ahead of beef cattle raisers in using artificial breeding," he pointed out.

"I was approached by W. H. Hammond in the fall of 1948. He wanted me to work with his registered Herefords, which are recognized as some of the best in the nation."

After proving the qualities of artificial breeding with Hammond, Iwig was called upon to help develop herds from Texas to Canada. He has worked with such well-known ranches among the cattlemen as the Bridwell Hereford Ranch.

"I did some work here for Jack Renfro in 1959," he recalled. "I have worked with George Nance over at Canyon in the past."

Since 1948, Iwig has worked with herds throughout the country, developing them and training others at times in the tricky techniques involved.

"I was working up in Kansas last year, when Mr. Renfro called and asked if I'd like to come back 'home' to Texas."

"Eskimo Ranch has one of the best set-ups I have ever seen for artificial breeding. We can easily observe all of the cows, and the pens are excellent for working cattle.

"Renfro has some of the best herd sires I've ever worked with, as well as top cows to breed them with," Iwig gestured while riding across one of the pastures.

Very enthusiastic about his work, Iwig explained, "I think the main advantage of an artificial insemination program is that you can breed a larger number of cattle from 'proven' bulls."

"By this, I mean if you have a good bull that you know is all right, you can work with him to develop a uniform herd."

Trading his lariat rope for his microscope and moving from the wide open range into the laboratory, Iwig makes tests to determine reproductive possibilities with the various bulls. When one is selected for breeding, the "fidelious" portion of his job begins.

Through the use of artificial apparatus the semen is obtained from the sire. Great care has to be taken to protect it from heat, bacteria, and other things that would prevent or endanger conception.

Iwig then stores it in glass ampules, which are sealed with an acetylin torch. In an operation that takes hours, the ampules are placed in a box which is gradually filled with dry ice, lowering the temperature slowly. When the box is filled, the temperature has plunged to some 110 degrees below zero.

"I can still use semen that I froze five years ago," Iwig stated. "We have been freezing semen since 1955."

Longer storage of semen would seldom be necessary, since the semen loses all value for a registered cattle breeder when the bull dies.

"If we can get an average of 65 per cent conception, we're doing all right, depending upon the bull. That is about all most bulls will average."

"Many cattle breeders worry about artificial insemination creating an over-supply of good cattle and ruining the market, but I don't think so," Iwig said. "First of all, there is a shortage of personnel who know how to do the job."

"Mainly," he continued, "the operation is expensive, and I don't think it would be economical on a commercial basis. What we're trying to do is to get more use out of one bull. Bulls can sire larger numbers of better cattle with artificial breeding."

While a good bull could normally sire as many as 50 calves in one year, artificial breeding could increase the number to 400 per week — if breeders demanded it, "but that isn't what we want to do," Iwig stressed. "With artificial methods, a breeder can develop uniform herds of cattle from his best sires. He can also get the maximum use from expensive bulls."

"This will increase the value of the best bulls to a great extent," he said. "We can protect our valuable herd sires by limiting their use."

Iwig does not foresee the day when artificial breeding will "take the country", but conscientious cattle breeders can use the method to improve and create uniformity in their herds.

And so it is fitting that a pioneer in the development of top-quality livestock comes to make his home in Hereford, "The Hereford Capital," in order to carry on the improvement and fame of the Hereford breed.

THE Vogue

Color Comes in Threes

A new wave of fashion comes in tri-color in a dress Carlye calls 'Americana' because it's so freedom-loving. Of linen-weave imported Italian silk, saddle-stitched and banded in contrasting colors.

The Elegant Diagonal

Carlye casts important overtones for spring in a dress of rich silk surah. The diagonal of the print and the side-wrap front, richly lavished with soutache braid, define a look that is both slimming and assured.

Mrs. Marvin Charles Kastrop
nee Miss Judy Alice Taylor

Marriage Of Judy Taylor Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Taylor Jr. of Canyon announce the marriage of their daughter, Judy Alice, to Marvin Charles Kastrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Kastrop of Palacios.

They were married earlier this year in a ceremony in Laredo, Mexico.

Mrs. Kastrop was graduated from Canyon High School and attended West Texas State College in Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Kastrop are at home at 1219 Parkway, Austin, where both are attending the University of Texas.

Mrs. Kastrop is a former resident of Hereford, having lived here with her parents. She is the grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Pinkert of Hereford.

Miss Lugena Kaye Guinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Guinn of 105 Avenue B, and David Layton Sawyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Sawyer, Rt. 5, exchanged wedding vows on Sunday afternoon, Mar. 4, at three o'clock in the sanctuary of the Central Church of Christ in Hereford.

Earnest E. Highers, minister of the Central Church of Christ, read the double ring ceremony before the altar that was flanked by wedding candelabra, filled with blue tapers, and accented by baskets of white gladioli. An arrangement of blue carnations was placed at the guest register. Blue and white satin bows marked the pews.

A chorus, composed of friends of the bride and groom and directed by Stan Knox, hummed background music for the vocal solos of Bob Beaty. He sang "Wither Thou Goest" and "O Promise Me." As the bridal party entered the church, the chorus hummed the "Wedding March." "Be With Us Lord" was sung by the chorus after the prayer at the close of the ceremony. As the bridal party left the church, the chorus sang "How Sweet, How Heavenly."

Miss Judy Guinn served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Patsy Fowler of Rogers, Tex., cousin of the groom, and Miss Jan Reese of Hereford. All of the attendants wore identical dresses of pastel blue cotton satin fashioned with full skirts, low V-necklines in the back, short sleeves and blue organza sashes that were wrapped at the waists and tied in large bows in the back. They wore matching blue satin shoes, short white gloves, and small white headpieces with nose veils. Each attendant carried a long stemmed white rose.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were escorted to the reception hall of the church. Mrs. Kenneth Gooch and Mrs. Marilyn Johnston presided at the refreshment table. Mrs. Jerry Brothers registered the guests and assisted at the bride's table.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Herbert A. Duncan, wore a blue dress and a corsage of white feathered carnations. Mrs. Dan Jones, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue dress with matching jacket, trimmed with a white collar. Her corsage was made of white feathered carnations.

For the short wedding trip to points in New Mexico, the bride wore her wedding dress and a corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet. After Mar. 13, the couple will be at home at 409 East Third, Hereford.

Book Reviewed At La Madre Mia Meet

La Madre Mia Study Club met on Thursday evening, Feb. 22, in the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank. Mrs. Joe Locke was hostess and used a George Washington theme in decorations and refreshments. Dishes of chocolate covered cherries and nuts centered the individual tables and a branch with artificial cherries and a hatchet centered the main table.

Mrs. John Smith, club president, presided over the business session. Reports were heard from the finance, social, courtesy and telephone committees.

A letter of appreciation from Henry Aycock was read thanking the club for its participation in the March of Dimes. An out-of-town trip was planned for Mar. 22.

For the program, Mrs. Leon Billington reviewed the book, The Mouse That Roared, by Leonard Wibberley. Mrs. Billington said, "The story is a delightful fantasy. A tiny country found itself in dire financial need and no source of revenue. Some of the more worldly leaders of the country realized that there was a vast, untouched reservoir across the ocean known as the United States of America, a powerful country with a bulging treasury. Girding themselves with armor, bows and helmets they sailed abroad in their invasion fleet... one small ship. Their object was to establish a beachhead in New York City, fight valiantly... and lose. Then, as a defeated enemy, their country would become eligible for foreign aid from the United States. The flow of green dollars would restore their economy and balance their deflated budget."

"Imagine their surprise as they sailed into the mammoth harbor area and weren't even challenged, much less opposed. Gathering their swords and lances, they bravely marched toward the heart of the huge city, and encountered not a single soul. What they didn't know was that the city was having its first completely successful civil defense drill. The invaders had expected crushing defeat, but instead found that they had won the field of battle, without a casualty. This wasn't what they had expected, or anticipated. But all's well that ends well, and the hand-

Martha Carol Duncan Marries Wendell Paul Jones Saturday

Miss Martha Carol Duncan, daughter of Mrs. Herbert A. Duncan of Hereford, and Wendell Paul Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jones of Route 4, Hereford, exchanged wedding vows on Saturday evening, Mar. 10, at 7 o'clock in the sanctuary of the Avenue Baptist Church. The Rev. Clarence F. Powell, pastor, read the double ring ceremony before the church altar.

Mrs. Marilyn Johnson attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a yellow sheer wool sheath dress with matching yellow shoes and a hat fashioned of yellow roses and carried a small bouquet of white feathered mums.

Paul Harrison of Hereford served the groom as best man. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Edwin E. Duncan of Lawton, Okla., was dressed in a white sheer wool dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice, rolled collar, short sleeves, and a skirt of unpressed pleats. The collar and belt were trimmed with touches of gold. She wore a small white hat with a veil, short white gloves and matching shoes. She carried a bridal bouquet that was made in a cascade arrangement of feathered white mums.

Mrs. Billy Wall, organist, played "I Love You Truly" and other traditional wedding selections during the ceremony and as the bridal party left the church.

A reception, immediately following the ceremony, was hosted by the bride's mother and groom's parents in the fellowship hall of the church. Mrs. Kenneth Gooch and Mrs. Marilyn Johnston presided at the refreshment table. Mrs. Jerry Brothers registered the guests and assisted at the bride's table.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Herbert A. Duncan, wore a blue dress and a corsage of white feathered carnations. Mrs. Dan Jones, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue dress with matching jacket, trimmed with a white collar. Her corsage was made of white feathered carnations.

The book is a Pulitzer prize winner for 1961. Mrs. Babione said, "At the age of eight, Scout Finch is an entrenched free-thinker. She can accept her father's warning that is a sin to kill a mockingbird, because mockingbirds harm no one and give great pleasure. The benefits said to be gained from going to school and keeping her temper seem to elude her."

"The place of this enchanting, intensely moving story is Maycomb, Ala. The time is the Depression, but Scout and her brother, Jem, are seldom depressed. They have appalling gifts for entertaining themselves — appalling, that is, to almost everyone except their wise father, Atticus. "Also because Atticus is what he is, and because he lives where he does, he and the children are plunged into a conflict that indelibly marks their lives — gives Scout some basis for thinking she knows just about as much about the world as she needs to."

Attending were Mesdames Tommy Carnahan, Bill Dameron, Joe Easley, James Ellis Higgins, Hilton Higgins, Dennis Lomas, Walter London Jr., Eugene Noel, John Douglas Pitman, Dwaine Walker, Arthur Fuston, Buddy Pickens, Oliver Streu, Ronald Babione, George Mager, a guest, and the hostess, Mrs. Terry Kirby.

Medical Discoveries Are Discussed At Meeting

The home of Mrs. R. G. Blue was the meeting place for members of the Lone Star Study Club for their regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 27. Mrs. Jack Grady assisted Mrs. Blue as hostess.

The devotional was given by Mrs. S. S. Williams.

The program, "Recent Discoveries Affecting Our Lives," was presented by Mrs. Norman Moore. She said, "Miracle drugs had, as a forerunner, the sulphur drugs. Many people died 25 years ago who could have lived today had the miracle drugs been available. Statistics show that one in seven lived in 1939, one in two live now if the new medicines we have prove successful. Cancer cannot much longer destroy life with the great progress in miracle drugs against it. Doctors see in the future that people will be improved spiritually as well as physically and intellectually."

A dinner party, honoring husbands of the club members, is scheduled for Mar. 13, Tuesday, in the Community Room of the First National Bank at 7 p.m.

Attending the meeting were Mesdames R. G. Blue, L. L. Chisum, J. J. Durham, A. T. Frye, Jack Grady, H. E. Henlee, Jim Higgins, John N. Jacobsen Jr., C. D. Kelton, Joe Kendall, Vivian Major, Norman Moore, Guy Newsom, C. O. Phillips, S. S. Williams and Baker Womble.

Miss Candy Perkins of Friona, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and carried a basket of white flower petals. Mitch Guinn, brother of the bride, was ringbearer carrying the rings on a white satin pillow.

Donald Lee Walser attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Cheek of Lamesa and Gary Sawyer of Floydada, cousins of the groom. Serving as ushers were James Braly and Billy B. Baker of Hereford, and Gary Lee Guinn and Neil Floyd of Friona, cousins of the bride.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal wedding gown of white slipper satin fashioned in princess style with a sweetheart neckline, long petal point sleeves buttoned at the wrist with tiny satin buttons, and lace applique at the neckline and down the front of the gown to the hem and around the bottom of the skirt.

The gown was made by the bride. Her elbow length veil was made of white tulle, trimmed with lace on the lower edges, and was attached to a tiara of sequins and pearls. She carried a single red Duchess rose. She wore her maternal's grandmother's wedding ring on her right hand as something old, and a gold wrist watch, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. E. A. Guinn, mother of the bride, wore a light green imported silk brocade ensemble with matching hat and gloves, and bone accessories. Her corsage was made of light green carnations.

The groom's mother, Mrs. E. D. Sawyer, wore a bone "silk-in" dress with matching dust-er, blue hat and gloves, bone accessories, and corsage of blue carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the fellowship room of the church. Parents of the couple and members of the bridal party formed the receiving line.

The bride's table was appointed in crystal and silver with an arrangement of blue carnations forming the centerpiece. The table was laid with a blue and white cloth. The tiered wedding cake and punch were served by friends of the bride and groom.

When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride was dressed in a candlelight beige imported raw silk dress and matching bow jacket, bone shoes and bag, and aqua feathered hat and gloves. Her corsage was gardenias. The couple will be at home after Mar. 11 on Rt. 5, 12 miles west of Hereford.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School, class of 1960, where she was active in the Future Homemakers of America and the D. E. Club. She attended the Cliff Mann School of Floral Design in Denver, Colo. For the past eleven months she has been employed as secretary for the Central Church of Christ of Hereford.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Hereford High School, attended Texas Tech in Lubbock and West Texas State College in Canyon. He is a member of Young Farmers of Hereford. While in high school, he was active in Future Farmers. In 1960, he received his American Farmers degree in Kansas City, Mo. He is engaged in farming with his father near Hereford.

Hereford Grain Has Plant For Chemical Mixing

Installation of a complete fertilizer mixing plant in Hereford was announced this week by Hereford Grain Corporation directors, who said that a special demonstration of the mixing plant will be held Thursday, March 15, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., on the location west of their Sears elevator division on Highway 60.

"We will be able to mix anything that it is possible to mix chemically," said Curtis Roach, manager, "and we feel that we will save the people of the area considerable freight expense which would otherwise be paid on shipping water from distant points. We are anxious to have every person interested visit our plant on the Highway 60 location, at which time we will explain details concerning the modern mixing process."

ADRIAN NEWS

Building, Remodeling Seen Throughout Community

BY SUE BROWNLEE

Adrian has many new buildings and additions under construction now.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leslie have moved a house in and are adding extra rooms to it. The house is located on the west side of town. The Baptist Church has a large addition going up on its property, connecting it with the present building. The addition is far enough along to give an idea of its size.

M. H. Zaring Sr. and his cousin have added on to their house, along with putting on new windows, aluminum screen doors. They also changed the front doorway and still aren't through.

The M. H. Zaring Jr. family is adding a large double garage to their home. Across the street from the Zarings, the George Gruhlkeys are building onto the back of their house, adding a large kitchen and another bath.

All these improvements are adding to the looks of the town. Claude Heaton was found dead in his trailer Sunday morning on the Webb land, just west of Tom Fields. The funeral was held Tuesday at Amarillo with interment at Wildorado.

The program was given by the exchange students, Peter Lantz and Gillian McArthur. They were introduced by Miss Gladys Setliff. Lantz talked on his homeland of Sweden, followed by a question and answer session. Miss McArthur showed colored slides of Scotland, her homeland.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Tommy Braddy, S. L. Garrison, Earl Huekabee, Marvin Knox, Garland Solomon, George Springer, Art Stoy, Ed Wilson Jr., J. W. Witherspoon, an honorary member, Mrs. R. P. Conaway, Miss Gladys Setliff, and the special guests, Miss Gillian McArthur and Peter Lantz.

Tying for third place with a lowball score of 61 were teams comprised of Stan Barrett, Muleshoe; Don Bryant, Muleshoe; Glen Day, Plainview; and Ruby Garrett, Plainview; and a foursome of John Shackelford, Lubbock; Al Allison, Levelland; H. B. Carson, Olton; and Keith Larve, Hereford.

Low professionals at the meet were Elwyn Stabaugh, Amarillo, and Joe Coronado, Friona, with 67, and Burt Watkins of Pampa, who swung a 68 at the Pitman links.

Amateurs swinging low were Roland Adams of Lubbock who landed a 64, and Russell Haberor, Muleshoe, and Bob Childers, Canyon, who came in with 68's.

Pro-pro partnership lows included Bud Posey, Hereford, and Elwyn Stabaugh, Amarillo, swinging 65; Bobbie Williams, Amarillo, and Burt Watkins, Pampa, with a 67 score; and Joe Hauck, Borger, and Fred Rengergrass, Olton, with 67; along with Joe Coronado, Friona, and Carroll Beavers, Levelland, who swung 67's.

Local golf pro Bud Posey has announced plans for free golf lessons starting this week. Classes for women and youngsters have been arranged, with Posey and Brad Wilson instructing the courses.

All interested ladies and youngsters are invited to call the Pro Shop at EM4-2782, or come by before Sunday night for further details and registration.

There will be both a ladies' morning and afternoon class as well as a Saturday class for youngsters. Instruction will begin this week and last for seven straight weeks, Posey said. Classes will be held at 9:30 p.m.

Text Book Investigations Should Have Sole Aim Of Improving Books

Occasionally self-styled "conservatives" become so extremely radical that they defeat their intended purpose. Such could easily become the situation in the study of public school text books in Texas.

Without a doubt, our text books do need to be examined carefully at regular intervals and, since our school teachers are just as good Americans as the next, it does seem that classroom teacher organizations and Parent-Teacher groups might well discuss the content of the text books which they are required to use.

In a nutshell, we have in mind such statements as crediting the winning of World War II to the United Nations, or the extolling of socialism as basic to America's greatness. Any mis-statements of this type should be inexcusable. On the other hand, it does seem useless to inflict name calling just because some committee members happens to be in a position to do so, and we are afraid that some of the text book investigations may easily have used to further individual political opinions—rather than merely cure text book flaws.

Meanwhile, if our text books are in politics on any level, they should definitely be removed. Most people work hard with the idea of providing an education for their children — and upon the success of this achievement fairly well depends the future of our country. Misinformation distributed through text books constitutes base treason in the most flagrant form.

Parents, too, can most easily check text books from time to time by actually reading the books, and by talking with their children. In most cases either or both of these methods would make all of us better citizens. Needless to say, all parents are not going to agree on any single point, which provides all the more reason for each family to make its own careful investigation into this matter.

First and foremost, however, the sole aim should be that of establishing acceptable text books. Those who might be inclined to use this phase as a political wedge for personal gain or as a "red herring" will undoubtedly make matters worse instead of better, and they should be classed along with those people who might be inclined to misrepresent honest facts.

A Question Of 'Fun' Vs. Food'

Government red tape occasionally gets wrapped so heavily that the outcome is ridiculous, and the case of Harland Frye of Hereford in connection with the Texas Water Commission appears to be a good example.

As we understand things, Mr. Frye would like to build a small earthen dam on his property about three miles south of Black in Parmer County. The proposal is, of course, based on conservation of irrigation tail water and other phases strongly recommended by government agencies; county, state and national.

The big trouble, on the other hand, stems from the fact that the dam would impound water on the Buffalo Lake watershed — and Buffalo Lake likes a lot being full enough to run over the spillways. Supporting the lake enthusiasts is the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, which last week went on record opposing such barriers.

This line of thought brings up the point of whether it is better to use our water for growing food, or for swimming and fishing — and we guess the answer would depend upon how hungry one might be.

In all of the rounds of bickering, the fact still remains that the land belongs to Mr. Frye and, whether this counts for anything or not, we presume he will still be expected to make the payments and to dig up the money for his taxes.

Furthermore, it emphasizes just how deep we have fallen into the clutches of bureaucracy. We knew that a Canyon man was not allowed to feed his wheat to his own cattle, and we read a few years ago about farmers who could not eat their own potatoes — but this is the first time we have run across anyone taking a stand against water conservation. Out in this country, it is tantamount to being against motherhood — and that's a step further than most politicians usually like to go.

Keeping Faith With Hereford

King's Manor, the Methodist-sponsored home for older adults, will hold formal groundbreaking ceremonies March 23, and the occasion will be important from more than one standpoint.

Faced with higher than anticipated bids on the proposed home, directors of the steering committee gathered last week, and decided to go ahead on the project without further delay. In general, the group seemed to feel that Hereford had kept faith with the Methodist foundation — and it was now time for the foundation to keep faith with Hereford. Knowledge that one is dealing with such an interested and dependable group should go a long way toward dispelling any doubts which may have arisen when the project was turned over to the church foundation.

The home will be an experiment in this area for the church, as well as for the people of this community, although the Methodists are successfully operating similar homes in other areas. Such sincerity and consideration, it seems to us, should go a long way toward insuring success for the project.

Meanwhile, Hereford does have a deep interest in King's Manor. It started as a community project, and was originally financed with Hereford dollars, although the Methodist foundation proposes to expand the original plans. The community is still watching the project carefully and with hopes that it may provide an answer to a problem which is cropping up all over the nation.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Some call it the "No Club." No clergymen are members, there are no dues, no elections, no outside activities. Yet, the Bible Reading Breakfast Group of San Francisco affirms spirituality as well as good fellowship. For 18 years, Protestants, Catholics, Jews and "not-so-sures" have met to read and discuss the Bible before going to work. Among the 300 members are judges, politicians, a coach, sculptor and governor of the state. Members must arise at 5 or 6 a.m. on Thursdays to make the 7 o'clock meetings in the Olympic athletic club. "We don't talk about results," a former city supervisor member told me, "but the man you won't cross the street with before the meeting may be the man you walk away with afterwards."

Kid's Sayings Crop Up In The Oddest Places

By Mrs. R. L. Criswell
To borrow a phrase from Art Linkletter, "kids say the darnedest things." And one might add, "in the most inopportune places." But sometimes it seems that God instills the answers in their innocent little minds.

One day a five-year-old was looking through an album of snapshots of her mother's. There were many pictures, some when mother was not much older than the little daughter. After some time she called, "Mother, where was I when all these pictures were made?" Before her mother could phrase a proper answer, the little girl said, "I guess I was in God's house then, wasn't I?"

A small boy playing out one early spring evening came in for his mother to tie his shoe-laces. Being busy preparing the evening meal, she said, "Sorry I can't do it right now son, but I will directly." He sat down to wait, but was impatient to get back to play. As his impatience grew he asked, "Mother, just how long is directly anyhow?"

Sunday School teachers of small ones, and nursery workers will vouch for the tot's coming up with the unanswerables, and sometime answering for themselves in a very understanding way.

A little tot of two was fascinated with a piano and entranced with its music. One evening at bedtime, her grandmother played a number of nursery songs ending with "Listen to the Mockingbird," with variations. Her mother thinking to impress her with the music, told her to listen and she could hear the bird say "tweet tweet" in the variation.

She listened happily and went on to bed. Early in the morning she awakened the family banging on the piano from end to end. Suddenly, and in great disgust, she came to her grandmother and said, "Grandmother, I can't make that old piano say 'tweet, tweet'."

The family had gone to Red River for a vacation. They were all fond of horseback riding, even the little miss of four. Late one afternoon they were caught in a fog which was all but impenetrable. As it closed around the little girl looked around in wonder and said, "Mummy, I can't see, I can't see."

Jokingly her father said, "Why not, open your eyes and you can see," whereupon she squinted her eyes tightly together, opened them wide and said, "I has get 'em open and I still can't see anything but fuzzy."

In the nursery one day a little girl snatched a doll from another and promptly whacked her over the head with the toy. The nursery worker came, took the doll and returned it to the first tot. When she reached for the doll, explaining as she did so that little girls must not take toys away from each other and she must give it back, at the same time taking hold of the doll, "I'll scream if you do; I'll scream if you do," said the tot but she was so amazed that the worker returned the doll she forgot to do the screaming.

In Sunday School one morning the teacher asked the group of four year olds where God was? (Continued on page 8)

COACH REINSTATED AT HEARING

The Muleshoe Independent School District Board of Trustees, unable to back up their charges of two weeks ago, Monday night voted to retract the charges against Bill Taylor, head coach and athletic director, and further voted to offer him the job back if he wanted it. Taylor apparently was satisfied with the revote. He had told the board members prior to their vote, "I honestly believe that I have been an asset to your school, but the main thing I'm interested in is having my record cleared." The Muleshoe coach requested the hearing to have definite explanations of the charges made against him when his contract was not renewed.

CROWD HEARS HOSPITAL PLANS

Plans for a $275,000 program to modernize and enlarge Hardeman County's Memorial Hospital got an enthusiastic blast-off Monday night when some 175 county residents attended a public mass meeting in the court house. The meeting originally scheduled for the county court room was moved upstairs to the district court room but still it was standing room only. Dr. R. R. McDaniel, senior member of the Quanah Clinic staff and practicing physician and surgeon here for some 48 years, received a standing ovation after announcing he is giving his clinic property to the hospital for the expansion program. More than 126 persons remained after the meeting to sign four copies of a petition requesting the county commissioners to call an election for a $275,000 hospital bond issue.

MOTION DENIED FOR NEW TRIAL

After a day spent in hearing testimony from four jurors in the recent suit brought by Fort Worth architect Wyatt C. Hedrick against Ochiltree County, Judge Max W. Boyer denied the defendant's motion for a new trial. This paves the way for appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals by the county as defendant in the suit. In announcing his decision to deny the motion for a new trial, Judge Boyer said, "There has been no evidence presented here today to show any intimidation or coercion toward Miss Todd as a juror in this suit. Misconduct of the jurors must be established and it must be material to the case. The evidence presented here today failed to establish this," Judge Boyer said.

NEW HOSPITAL HOPES SOAR

County Judge Raymond Wilson and local hospital officials have evidenced guarded optimism over the prospects for approval in September of Hill-Burton funds for construction of a new Castro County Hospital. Most recent progress in this direction came last Thursday when an inspection of local hospital facilities was made by David E. Barker, engineer, Division of Hospital Services of the State Health Department. Barker indicated late Thursday he would recommend the removal of Castro County from a hospital district with Deaf Smith and Parmer Counties and making the county an independent district by itself. The relatively large number of hospital beds in the Deaf Smith-Parmer-Castro hospital district has been a major cause for the county's application remaining in the lowly C priority category.

COMMISSIONERS HOLD LIVELY SESSION

Commissioners Court turned into a lively session Monday afternoon when Randall County policy makers opened sealed bids on 30 voting machines. The courtroom color reached its height when representatives from two of the three bidding companies presented sales spiels. Only $37 separated the two bids, and both firms pulled no verbal punches to get the contract. After representatives debated long and hard, commissioners award the contract to Rockwell Mfg. Co. of Jamestown, N. Y., on its bid of $1798.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm seems a little worried about us this week, but we can handle his problem.

Dear editor:

I was looking over a stack of bills which arrived on the first of the month and to get my mind off the subject I opened up a newspaper and the first article I noticed said that the cost of living stayed the same last month, it didn't go up or down.

What I'd like to know is where does the government get its figures?

The cost of living, as far as I can tell, has been going up every month for the past 25 years, and sometimes it doesn't even wait 30 days, it goes up right in the middle of a month.

It's my theory that the experts in Washington who read the economic index and whatever else they read to get these figures on the cost of living are sort of like meter readers. If a meter reader misreads your meter one month and your bill is a little lower than you figured it'd be, that doesn't mean the cost of living has dropped, it only means the error will be corrected on the next reading and the cost of living will get back up high where it's always been.

Since that article on the cost of living didn't get my mind off my bills, I turned a page and ran into an article that made me feel better.

According to it, the United States government now owes a trillion dollars, which if The Sunday Brand has got enough zeroes on its typesetting machine, reads $1,000,000,000,000.00, and if you haven't got that many zeroes you'd better buy some more as the chances of the figure getting smaller are mighty slim and you've got to keep abreast of the times. Just to be on the safe side, maybe you ought to order a dozen or so more.

The reason I felt better about this is that if the Federal government can live apparently cheerful under this load, why should a few monthly bills bother me?

By the way, if you can find anybody who can prove his cost of living is less now that it was the last time he looked, I wish you'd get hold of him and bring him into town. I'd like to talk to him, if he's able to have visitors.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

What Is Your Opinion About Hereford?

What do you think of your home town? What are its failings — its strong points — its greatest needs?

In an effort to get the answers to these questions, members of the Hereford Junior Chamber of Commerce will be making house-to-house surveys with copies of this questionnaire, developed by the national Jaycee organization.

Since Jaycees won't be able to call at every home, the Brand is printing copies of the questions as a public service. You are asked to clip it out and fill in the answers. If the Jaycees fail to call at your home, you are asked to mail the completed questionnaire to:

The final weekend of Hereford's first Women's Invitational Tournament resulted in local bowlers copping three of the first four places in the team event but bowing to out-of-town entrants in the singles and doubles events.

Over 100 area bowlers entered the competition which began Saturday, Feb. 23, and ended on Sunday, March 4. The Hereford Sunset Kegglers and Sunset Skittles leagues sponsored the tourney in co-operation with the management of the local bowling lanes.

Mrs. Charles Owens is president of the Sunset Kegglers League and Mrs. Glen Watts heads the Sunset Skittles League. Miss Alice Lueb served as Tournament Secretary and co-ordinator.

Held in conjunction with the tournament, the Allibi Sweeper drew numerous entries among both local and out-of-town bowlers.

Cash awards and trophies were given first-place winners in each event, with trophies going to other winners in the tourney. Other winners in the Allibi Sweeper received cash awards.

Kids...

Promptly she was answered with, "I know. He's home in our bathroom." "How do you know that?" asked the teacher. "Well this morning my father went to the bathroom and the door was locked and he said, 'My God, are you in there yet?'" But not all the answers come from the children, some of their elders also know some:

A man named Joshua Perkins was hailed into court for making the famous mountain dew. After the evidence was made and still he vowed his innocence the judge looked him over carefully and said, "Um mmm. Are you the Joshua that made the sun stand still?" "Oh, no sir, I'm the one that made the moon shine", Joshua answered.
