Citizens voice concern over possible detention center

Chief Juvenile Probation Officer Bruce Ballou addressed a variety of concerns put to him at a public forum Tuesday night concerning the possible conversion of the old Caprock Hospital building into a Juvenile Detention Center.

The majority of those who spoke appeared to be against the use of the building for a detention center.

The reasons for their opposition were varied, ranging from concerns for safety, escapes, "the look of the detention center", what type of children would be housed there, and what type of people would be visiting.

Although those in attendance appeared to be in agreement over the good quality of Ballou's current work with juveniles, there were questions over what would happen with the detention center if Ballou was not in charge.

The majority of those who spoke were against having the detention center in "their neighborhood", citing the close proximity of their homes and schools. Although, some of those who spoke were only against the location of the center, not against the center itself.

One man said he would be in favor of the center if it was 1-2 miles outside of town. There was some agreement over this statement.

Ballou handed out a survey to all those present and pleaded with them to fill it out and let him, and the commissioners, know how they feel.

Ballou said the survey would be in the newspaper and spread around the county.

"I don't want to do this if the community is not in favor of it," said Ballou. "If the message is clear that the majority of the people don't want it, then I don't want to go through the time and energy to pursue it."

Ballou said he was in favor of the project. "The PAC has been opened now for 2 1/2 years and we have served over 300 kids. If we had paid for that lock-up it would have cost the county $350,000."

"We have never had a child walk away, and I believe it is because of our dedicated staff and because we teach them skills that help them to be successful."

"We operated the PAC in black by $40,000, and it is only a 12 bed facility. We did not spend the county's $12,000 set aside for juvenile services. It has been successful because the community has been behind it, and juvenile crime has decreased in the county's PAC serves by 49%."

Ballou said the detention center would create approximately 25 jobs, "which could mean 25 families moving into the community."

"The revenue generated would go into the general operating budget of Floyd County"

Ballou estimated the detention center could be a 50 bed facility and generate 1 million in revenue. "It would take 60% to operate which would put back $400,000 into general county budget."

When asked what type of kids would be placed in the center, Ballou said he would use the same type of screening process used at the PAC. "There are kids who aren't allowed in PAC now," said Ballou. "We can set our own standards and our own limits. If they act up we can send them back. We have the right to put that in our contract and refuse service."

The ages of the children would range from 10-16 years.

Over the question of funding, Ballou said the money for the project would come from state funding, state grants, and local funding. "Grant money can't be used for construction, but the state can give construction money."

When questioned about security and the "look" of the facility, Ballou said it was his intention to hire a security coordinator with 2 staff members who will train personnel.

"Doors would be opened and closed by a control panel. Procedures would be implemented on moving kids within the facility."

"The outside will not have floodlights on every corner and barbed wire around the facility. The face of the building would stay open and the back would be fenced--similar to the type of fence used for the Day Care Center."

Floydada Police Chief Darrell Gooch said a plan has been discussed to contract with the police department for 2 armed policemen to patrol the outside of the grounds at night, and to cross train the new drug dog to track people.

"We used to have a revolving door with juveniles," said Gooch. "Since Bruce and the PAC over 1/2 of our juvenile crime problem has been

We sure lucked out with Punkin Day weather on Saturday afternoon.

The morning cold was almost too much to bear for vendors and workers, but the day turned out beautiful and the crowd really picked up.

The games were played by enthusiastic participants under beautiful sunshine and calm winds.

It wouldn't have been possible to convince the morning workers that the day would turn out this way as they had battled 13 degree wind chill factor weather early in the morning.

Even the leather clad motorcycle riders were feeling the cold—but they endured it and stayed with us. I'm glad they did.

The only complaint I heard was from some vendors who complained of the kids who were running around spraying people with string and the spray dye that goes on hair. One booth was used as a cut through place for kids, and there were some kids who were purposely aiming for his expensive woodwork to spray with their cans.

One vendor told the kids if he saw them run through one more time he was going to sit the kid in a chair and wait for the police.

The same vendor said he would not be back.

I know the chamber tries to keep a lid on these things. They request the vendors ahead of time not to sell that stuff. Not only because it is annoying to the guests, but it is also a pain to clean up around the courtyard.

The vendors say, "I won't sell it," and then they put it out anyway.

My son, and a friend of his, saw some kids stealing the cans and told them to put it back. They did.

I don't mean to put a damper on the day—because it was wonderful. However, in the future we can all chip in and get a handle on this problem. Tell the vendor you don't appreciate his selling that junk, and complain to the police. They will put a stop to it if the chamber can't.

I sure do appreciate all the hard work that went into the day. The chamber of commerce, the youth groups from the Methodist and Baptist churches, the Floydada Booster Club, the Boy Scouts, and the 4-H really all deserve a great big THANK-YOU. Many of the chamber workers were out there at 5:30 a.m. getting ready.

Larry Ogden was great on the traveling microphone. It is such a good way to keep everyone involved with what is happening everywhere on the square. I'm glad the Punkin Day committee has kept this tradition.

I needed Larry because nobody seemed to stick to the schedule on the roster and I missed a lot of pictures. I would be taking motorcycle game pictures and the pumpkin rolling races were going on somewhere else—or maybe I was feeding my face. I did a lot of that too.

After lunch the games really keep you hopping. There is never a dull moment, and that is what keeps people coming back. Thanks to everyone who pitched in to show off our community.

For many months, even years, we have been meaning to write a column about the National Guard, and those who served in it. We apologize for being so late in finally putting it in print, but better late than never.

In the first place we find it absolutely abominable that so many of those "journalists" now practicing their trade would complain that somebody, whether Quayle, Bush, or whomever, went into the service of their country via the National Guard, as opposed to the Regular Army, or the Navy, or as opposed to waiting for the draft.

We should say up front that we were part of the old Regular Army. We volunteered in the U.S. Army on our 18th birthday in 1941 to go fight whoever was the enemy of these United States. At that time Hitler was overrunning Europe, allied with one Joseph Stalin, who was overrunning the rest of the Eurasian continent. Our entry into the war was only a matter of time, and, we might add, a matter of political leadership.

Then we had the National Guard, just as we do today. My father, once I had made up my mind to go into the service, encouraged me to go into the National Guard. His reasoning was simple and wise. If war broke out, which it probably would, everybody would have to go, and if I were in the National Guard I would at least get to go and fight with people from my own community, with people I knew. In the end I chose the other route, for reasons we need not go into now.

Nevertheless, many friends chose the National Guard route and they fell on many battlefields, from Italy to Indonesia. The "Lost Battalion", a part of the Texas National Guard on its way from the United States to help us out in the Philippines just before the war broke out, was captured in Java in the early stages of the war and spent its time building bridges and roads in Burma. They suffered tremendous casualties.

Elements of the Texas National Guard suffered tremendous casualties in the invasion of Italy. The 200th Regiment of the New Mexico National Guard, out of New Mexico, managed to get to Bataan before the war broke out, and served honorably and well throughout the siege of Bataan. A few even managed to get across the channel to Corregidor, where they continued the fight for another month. Without a great deal of training, they were thrown into that war at the behest of people far up the chain of command. They, as did others in the National Guard, went where they were told to go, did what they were told to do, and suffered the consequences, just as the rest of us did. We have never heard reports that any of them turned tail and ran. They certainly didn't hide out in Oxford.

Now there is a big flap about the fact that our Governor, George W. Bush, went into the Texas Air National Guard during the Vietnam War, for the purpose, the implication goes, of getting out of service in Vietnam. Quite frankly, we don't know why he went into the Guard. Perhaps he did think his chances of being sent to Vietnam were less if he went into the Guard. But the point is that he put on the uniform and stood ready to be sent wherever his superiors decided to send him. In so doing he was, in our humble opinion, several cuts above many of those who hid out in other places, under other guises, and are now criticizing him...and by implication, criticizing the Guard.

In saying what we have said we don't want anyone to think we are trying to pull the Governor's chestnuts out of the fire. We differ with him on many issues. He is wrong on the immigration thing. He is wrong on some other things as well. He is wrong, for instance, on the matter of affirmative action, where he has offered much less than aggressive leadership on a subject that cries out for aggressive leadership. He is timid, in our own opinion, in not voicing more support for those who have fought the good fight over the years and made it possible for him to be where he is today.

But we think he is getting a bum rap on the Guard thing. As far as we know the Guard served honorably and well wherever it was asked to serve. I do know we would have been exceedingly happy to have had a few thousand more in Bataan and on Corregidor.

A warrant, issued by the Floyd County Court, was served October 2 on Jose Manuel Ascencio, 32, of Lockney, for assault. He was taken to the Floyd County Jail.

Citizens voice concerns...

solved—not because we are locking them up but because the programs help. Our repeat offenders are down 95%.

Concerns were raised over the stability of Ballou's programs. For instance, if Ballou moved on would his rules over who gets in be followed.

The question was asked, "Who has control over who we let in?"

Ballou said the juvenile board (which consists of the district judge and four county judges) has the ultimate control and he has to answer to their standards and criteria.

Ballou said the renovations in the hospital would include taking out all doors and replacing them with more secure doors, air conditioning, heating, and plumbing, and changing walls to accommodate classrooms.

Ballou said the project has not progressed to a stage of negotiating for the price of the hospital. "We might consider leasing the hospital. The improvements would add to the value of the building. If we bought it later, we could buy it with the money generated by the program."

Ballou reiterated that he would not advance on any program without community support. "Please fill out the surveys and encourage your neighbors to do the same."

ASC reminds women about mammograms

The American Cancer Society is currently staging a campaign to remind women age 40 and above of the importance of having a mammogram once a year.

During the month of October, ACS is stressing breast cancer awareness and making every effort to convince women to "tell a friend" that the best prevention against cancer is early detection.

This Thursday, October 7th, there will be a mobile unit at the Cogdell Clinic for screening and mammograms.

Breast cancer is the leading form of women's cancer and the second deadliest; but, if detected and treated early enough, it is almost 100% curable.

Call 796-6579 for information or to make an appointment; or, go to Cogdell Clinic Thursday and talk to the nurse in charge.

Cancer screening offered at reduced prices

By: Melissa Long, CEA-FCS

This year, more than 175,000 women in the United States will learn for the first time that they have breast cancer, and more than 43,000 women will lose their lives. Breast cancer is the most frequently diagnosed cancer in women in America; however, early detection and prompt treatment can significantly reduce the suffering and deaths caused by this disease.

National Mammography Day is (October 15 - the third Friday in October). Mammography, an "x-ray of the breast, is the single most effective method of detecting breast changes that may be cancer, long before physical symptoms can be seen or felt.

"Early detection, followed by up-to-date treatment, provides a woman with a better chance for long-term freedom from breast cancer, said (local representative, affiliation). "Mammography screening should begin at the age of 40 and continue routinely - once is not enough. Women must make mammography screening a part of their regular health care routine."

The first National Mammography Day was proclaimed by President Bill Clinton on October 19, 1992. Held the third Friday of each October as part of the National Breast Cancer Awareness Month (NBCAM) program, National Mammography Day serves to encourage women to take part in regular, routine mammography screening.

The National Breast Cancer Awareness Month program is dedicated to increasing public knowledge about the importance of the early detection of breast cancer. NBCAM's nationwide education campaign reaches out to the general public; city, state, and federal governments; health care professionals; employers; members of the news media; and women of all ages and ethnic groups. The combined activities of 18 national public service organizations, professional associations, and government agencies ensures that the NBCAM message is heard by thousands of women and their families. For more information about certified mammography facilities in our area that will be offering reduced-fee screenings during October, call 1-800-ACS-2345.

FHS Whirlwinds dominate the Roosevelt Eagles in 53-0 rout

By Bill Gray

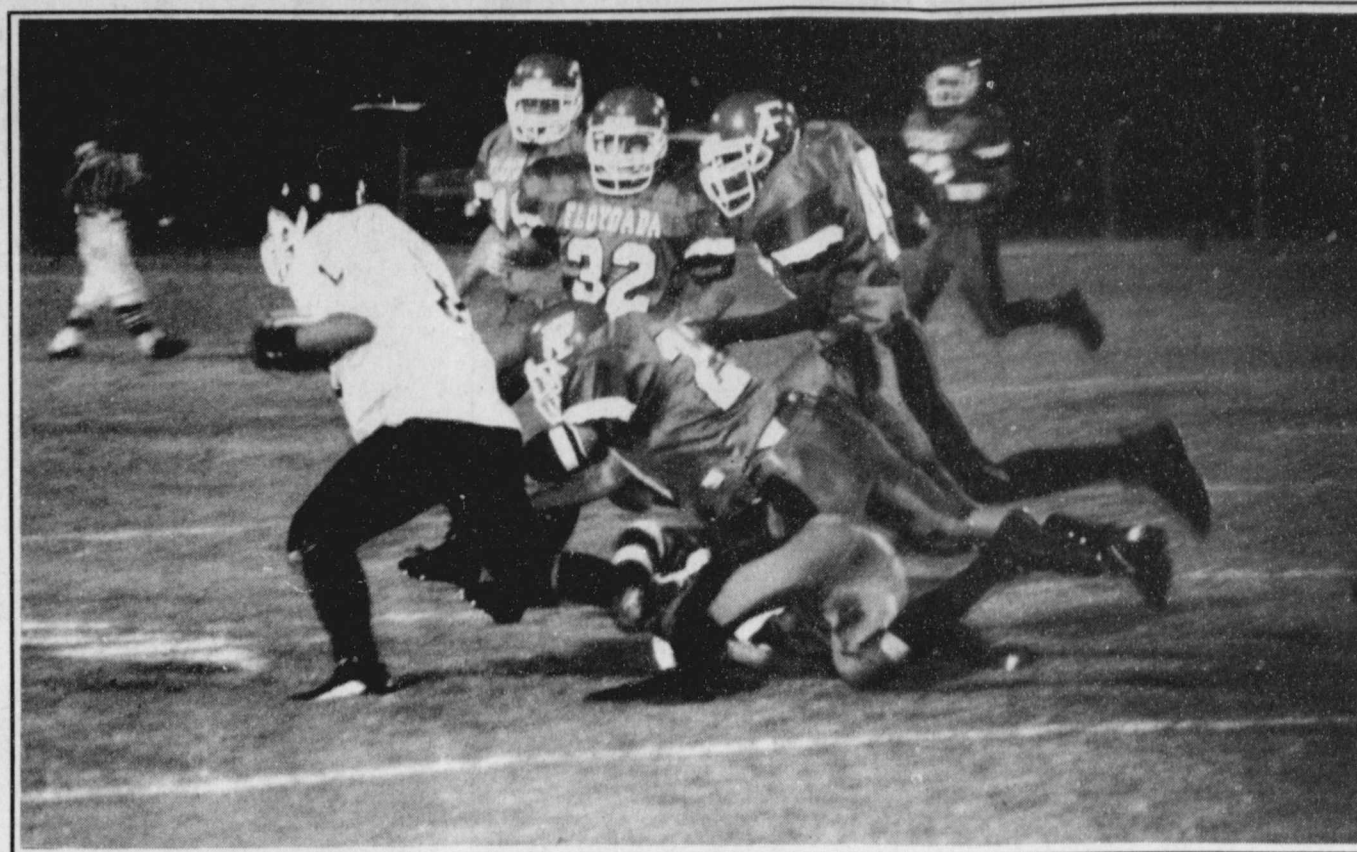

It was only a matter of time before the Floydada Whirlwinds put together their potentially-powerful wishbone offense. In one of their most impressive offensive showings in recent years, the Whirlwinds accomplished that goal last Friday with a 53-0 blanking of Lubbock Roosevelt. The Eagles, winless in five non-district games, will host the Lubbock Cooper Pirates as both Lubbock County squads open District 3-3A play. The Whirlwinds will take a three-game winning streak into their District 7-2A opener at Ralls tomorrow night. The Jackrabbits (2-3) are coming off a 20-14 loss to Tahoka.

So domineering were the Whirlwinds over the Roosevelt Eagles that Roosevelt didn't register its initial first down until well into the third quarter. Floydada's stingy defense allowed the Eagles only one pass completion for 12 yards and a total offensive output of only 57 yards. In summing up the game, Floydada coach Tim Daughtrey said, "We thought the kids executed really well tonight, both offensively and defensively." The coach added, "We've made some huge strides in the last three weeks, especially seeing the team work so well in practice and developing the confidence to play hard and execute well."

Coach Daughtrey also noted, "We're going to keep getting better and I think better things are in stock for us down the road. We've just got to take them one game at a time from here on in, starting with Ralls this week. We knew Roosevelt was down this year, entering their game with us at 0-4, and we just knew we couldn't just show up and win the game. We've got to play four solid quarters in every game from here in. Ralls has been struggling so far this year, but they have some talented and skilled people. They played Tahoka tough, and Tahoka gave us all we could handle (in a pre-season scrimmage). Ralls will be waiting to play us on their turf, so we had better be well-prepared. We're excited about going into district play with the momentum we have right now."

Against Lubbock Roosevelt at Wester Field, Justin McGuire got Floydada rolling by capping a 7-play, 58-yard drive with a 22-yard touchdown run four minutes into the game. Isabelo Irlas kicked the first of five extra points for the night to give the 'Winds the early 7-0 lead. Following a Roosevelt turnover, the Whirlwinds then marched 51 yards in only four plays, with Edward Porter scoring the first of four touchdowns from 24 yards out. McGuire's 60-yard plus punt return set up Floydada's third score of the opening period, with Porter carrying from a yard out at the end of the period.

By the end of the first quarter, it was obvious that Floydada's wishbone attack was being jump-started by fullback David Lightfoot. For the second straight week, the senior fullback would run for over 100 yards. Although he didn't score any points, his first and second down slashes (with excellent up-front blocking from the Whirlwind line) opened the running lanes to the option. Quarterback Dusty Anderson and the running back tandem of McGuire and Edward Porter made positive yardage on every offensive thrust of the night. Porter would run for 123 yards on 10 carries, including touchdown runs of 24, 1, 24, and 38 yards.

Following a 7-play, 49 yard drive in the first five minutes of the second quarter, Justin McGuire posted his second TD from five yards out. Porter would score again before intermission from 24 yards as the Whirlwinds carried a 33-0 lead into the locker room.

Roosevelt came out with its most serious threat in the opening minutes of the third quarter, but was unable to advance only to the Whirlwind 39-yard line before being forced to punt. Edward Porter capped a 5-play, 90-yard drive by taking an option pitch from Anderson and streaking down the west sideline for the 38-yard touchdown. Following an Eagle turnover deep in Roosevelt territory, the 'Winds moved five yards in two plays with Jermaine Wickware carrying the final yard.

The Whirlwinds utilized a number of different combinations of running backs in the final period as the scoreboard clock ran continuously. Freshman Dustin Covington and backup running back Tyrel Fuller were able to receive some valuable playing time, as did backup quarterback Jeff Lyles and Zack McNew. The Whirlwinds haven't had the luxury of being able to use so many different people on offense all year. Anderson scored on a 19-yard keeper off the option for the final margin of victory at the 4:51 mark of the fourth quarter.

It was an impressive victory, and, according to Coach Daughtrey, "Just what we needed going into district play. It was an all-out team effort with good overall execution. After all our adversities these past weeks, this solid victory is really a confidence-builder going into these next important weeks."

Bill's notes:

It was a true blow-out in every way, especially on the offense. Floydada's offensive line play, especially by seniors Corey Clemens and Shane Lloyd and underclassmen, Bryce Bowley, T. J. Fuller and Tyrel Fuller, continues to improve with each outing. The line's quickness is melding well with the quickness and timing in the backfield to make the option plays work, and it did against Roosevelt - especially on Dusty's perfectly-executed option pitch to Porter for the 23-yard TD at the end of the first half. That play gets my nod for the offensive play of the game. Edward Porter, with 123 yards rushing and four scores, is my selection for the offensive player of the game. There was not one particular individual standout for defensive player of the game... that notice should be given to Floydada's defensive front 7. They worked as well as any unit all year to completely shut down an offense. Clay Horn's key pass interception, which set up a Whirlwind score, is my pick for defensive play of the game. Horn and Dustin Covington are my choices for headhunters for the stick they made on Michael Caffey following Porter's first TD of the opening quarter.

The Roosevelt win was big in every way, especially to get that kind of momentum going into district. The execution and teamwork are light years away from where they were only a couple of games ago. This type of improvement is going to carry deep into the season. In Coach Daughtrey's "one game at a time" plan, Ralls is waiting for the chance for the first time a Floydada varsity has been on the Jackrabbit field in over 25 years. The 'Rabbits are not to be taken lightly, just because of their record.

A team like that can really jump up and grab an upset... just ask R. C. Slocum and the Texas Aggies. It's so good to see the Whirlwinds clicking so well in most aspects of the game as they go into District 7-2A action.

Whirlwinds' JVs fell to the Roosevelt Eagles' JVs

By Bill Gray

Lubbock Roosevelt's junior varsity dominated play in every aspect of the game to defeat the Whirlwind JV 27-0 at Acuff last week. In their final tuneup for District 7-2A play, the Whirlwind JV managed just 70 yards rushing in 29 attempts. Scott Nixon completed passes of 11 and 18 yards to Brad Yeary and Andrew Arvizu, respectively.

The Eagles rolled up 227 yards on the ground and 31 yards on a single pass completion for 258 yards total offense. Roosevelt led 14-0 at halftime on the strength of touchdown runs of 10 yards and 9 yards. The Eagles added touchdowns of 16 yards and 19 yards in the second half for their final margin of victory.

Brady Rainwater led Floydada rushers with 33 yards on 5 carries, followed by Anthony Suarez with 28 yards on 6 attempts. Others carrying the ball for Floydada were Andrew Arvizu 5-9, Brady Yeary 6-5, and Scott Nixon 7-(05).

Penalties and mistakes put a stop to several Floydada scoring threats. The JV 'Winds were penalized 6 times for a total of 65 yards, while the young Eagles drew only two penalties for 20 yards. The JV Whirlwinds, still looking for their first win of 1999, will host the Ralls Jackrabbit junior varsity to open District 7-2A at Wester Field on October 7.

National 4-H Week

Skyler Cornelius, 5 year 4-Her... I like 4-H because we learn how to do public speaking. We also do share the fun plays. And we get to be with our friends all the time.

I like showing rabbits and I learned how to sit them and the basic way to handle them. I also like sewing and I learned how to lay out the pattern, cut out the pattern, and sew. I also like selling cow patty bingo tickets. Cancy Cabler

What I like about 4-H. I like 4-H because I like to show cattle. And I like to go to the 4-H meetings because you can vote. And you can learn gun safety and you can learn to use a rifle. And I like food shows. Will Foster, age 9

4-H is a Awesome Club. To me it means responsibility, fun, and activities to enjoy with your friends. If your not in 4-H, join, it's guaranteed a great time. Its lots of work but it makes you think about your future. That's why I'm in 4-H and its a blast. Ashley Kay Brock, Age 13

My name is Amanda Hancock and I am a member of the Lockney 4-H Club. My favorite project in 4-H is Sheep.

Floydada 4-H Club News

By Melissa Dunlap

The second Floydada 4-H Club meeting was held on September 27, 1999, at 7:00 in the Massie Activity Center. Cienna Carthel called the meeting to order.

Randa Roberson let the Pledge of Allegiance and Dillon Chesshir led the 4-H motto and pledge. Then Beth Crossland gave the inspiration.

Next Mathew Miller gave a mini-demonstration. Molly Long introduced special guest, Coach Alex Salazar and introduced the new 4-H member which was Enrique de Ochoa.

Various reports were given by B.J. Chappell, Cody Ware, Cheryl Reed, Skyler Cornelius, Melissa Dunlap, Rachel Miller, and Bonnie Dunlap. Skyler Cornelius then introduced guest speaker Debra Pugh, a fitness expert.

Cienna Carthel was in charge of the Community service which was canned food for the Spirit of Sharing. Elizabeth Bertrand brought the door prizes which were won by Tyler Chesshir and Martha Garza.

Bonnie Dunlap read a thank-you note from PAC and Gayla Marble talked about the Cake Walk for Punkin Days. Britney Brotherton talked about the Fun Run at Punkin Days and then Tate Greer led everyone in Recreation. The meeting was adjourned by Cienna Carthel.

Refreshments were brought by Robert, Bonnie, and Melissa Dunlap, Erika, Laura, Rachel, and Matthew Miller, and Chance and KatieBeth Crossland. Parents in charge were John and Judy Dunlap, Hugh and Karen Miller and Dana Crossland.

National 4-H Week October 3-9, 1999

The things I like about 4-H are fun, learning, and friends. There is archery, riflery, and animals. There is cooking and eating. There is carnivals and stock shows.

There are jackets, patches and pins to earn. But most of all I like the meetings when I get to spend time with my friends. Jacob Martin

I like 4-H because you get to be in the Pee-Wee Food Show. You get to cook, and chow down. I like to show pigs, and do all the other fun things in 4-H! Jordan Cornelius

What I like about 4-H is that you can be involved in your choice of activities. I participate in the activities I enjoy like cooking, sewing, and photography. All the adult leaders are nice and make 4-H fun. Meghan Graham

I like 4-H because you can join so many things in 4-H. Archery, sewing, cooking, livestock judging are just a few of the things you can do. My favorite thing to do is show pigs. I joined 4-H because some friends of ours told me it was fun and their right. If your not in 4-H yet, then get in it now! Jesalyn Bradley

I like 4-H because of shooting and archery sports. It's not only fun, but you can earn points toward awards by attending and shooting projects. Jay McGaugh

PROCLAMATION

I, William D. Hardin, County Judge of Floyd County, in cooperation with the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) and the Floyd County Farm Bureau do hereby proclaim the week of October 3-9, 1999, as Fire Prevention Week. This week commemorates the Great Chicago Fire of 1871, which killed more than 250 persons, left 100,000 homeless, and destroyed more than 17,400 buildings.

WHEREAS Smoke and poisonous gases are the leading causes of death in homes, and can kill a person long before the flames will; and

WHEREAS Underestimating the power of fire and the time it will take to escape a home fire put people at severe risk of fire death and injury; and

WHEREAS Developing and practicing a home fire escape plan at least twice a year are critical to escaping a real fire safely; and

WHEREAS A complete home escape plan includes working smoke alarms, everyone in the household knowing two ways out of every room, having an outside location where everyone will meet upon exiting, and memorizing the local fire department's emergency telephone number; and

WHEREAS The Fire Prevention Week 1999 theme "Fire Drills: The Great Escape!" emphasizes the extreme importance of not only having a home fire escape plan but physically practicing it regularly;

DOES THE MAN IN YOUR LIFE TOTALLY FRUSTRATE YOU?
(EXERT FROM "BONKERS"
MAY/JUNE 1999)
(#1 OF 3)

By Ron Trusler

The man in your life probably does frustrate you in several ways that may be hard to put into words. Perhaps the following will help.

Some men frustrate their spouses when they behave like an extra child to care for. He may act like a spoiled child who as a small boy did not have to do many chores. Everyone else did them for him. He may look at what you do as "woman's work." He needs a woman to fill his Mama's shoes.

If you have a man in your life like this, it may not be all bad. It is nice to feel needed because he is needy. You may feel important and in charge. If he treated his mother well, chances are he will treat you well, also.

However, it will not take too long before the strain will get you. Having the responsibility in a relationship is difficult. You are likely to feel your husband is an extra child at home and you will feel overwhelmed with too much responsibility and very little help.

You may be vulnerable for this type of relationship, if you are a nurturing person and like to be in control of things. Many nurturing women grew up with the responsibility for the care of younger ones and received reinforcement for being so hard working. When you get sick and tired of it, you will probably let him know about it but he will respond exactly like a spoiled child. He will pout, brood, or throw a fit, and accuse you of nagging.

If you want to change things you will have to focus on yourself—not him. Dethrone the king! Elevate yourself to royalty for a change. Shifting focus to yourself involves removing attention from him and his problems to you, your interests and personal growth.

You are not on strike. You are not rebelling or refusing to do things. You simply do not have the time to do every thing as you once did, since you have started taking that college course, that piano or swimming lesson.

Be assured, he will not like all this attention you are giving yourself instead of him. Because for the first time, he will be expected to act as a grown up would act

Next week's article will be about when you cannot get the man in your life to talk to you.

Applications being accepted for emergency farm loans

Applications for emergency farm loan for losses caused by extreme fire hazards that occurred on August 1, 1999 and continuing are being accepted at the Farm Service Agency (FSA) office located in Floydada, Becky Rainer said today.

Floyd County is one of 227 in Texas recently named by Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman eligible for loan to cover part of actual production losses resulting from the extreme fire hazards.

Mrs. Rainer said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses or the operating loan needed to continue in business, whichever is less. For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest is 3.75 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least 30 percent loss of production to be eligible for an FSA emergency loan," Mrs. Rainer said. Farmers participating the Federal Crop Insurance program will have to figure in proceeds from the programs in determining their loss.

"Applications for loans under this emergency designation will be accepted until May 1, 2000 but farmers should apply as soon as possible. Delays in applying could create backlogs in processing and possibly over into the new farming season," Mrs. Rainer said.

FSA is a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It is authorized to provide disaster emergency loans to recognized farmers who work at and rely on farming for a substantial part of their living. Eligibility is extended to individual farmers who are U.S. citizens and to farming partnerships, corporations or cooperatives in which U.S. citizens hold a majority interest.

The FSA office in Floydada is open from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

AWP lock-in procedure on Upland seed

By Shawn Wade
Producers wanting to look in an Adjusted World Price for the purpose of receiving a Loan Deficiency Payment (LDP) on cotton prior to ginning can do so on cotton harvested and stored in modules, racks or trailers under rules adopted by the USDA Farm Service Agency and distributed to State and Local offices October 1,

The rule states that a producer will be able to lock in a single, irrevocable AWP rate for each module and that FSA would then calculate the LDP payments for the bales ginned from that module based on the locked-in AWP rate.

In order to participate under this rule the producers will be required to submit a module number supplied by the cooperating gin and, subsequently, production evidence identifying the specific bales produced from each unique module number for which an AWP has been locked-in.

Anyone needing additional information about participating in this process should contact their local Farm Service Agency office for further information.

Farm Bureau wake up call meeting

By Danny Nutt

A meeting scheduled October 14 and 15 in Lubbock should serve as a wake-up call to farmers and ranchers who stand to lose important crop protection tools if the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) continues on its present course in implementing the Food Quality Protection Act (FQPA).

"Many farmers are not aware of the urgency of this issue," President Danny Nutt of the Farm Bureau said. "They aren't considering this is a real problem. They will, however, when they wake up one morning and find they can no longer use these valuable crop protectants. Then they'll panic. Hopefully, this meeting will help them realize the importance of the issue before it is too late."

This conference, sponsored by Farm Bureau and a number of other agricultural groups, is an attempt to get agricultural producers involved in an effort to hold the government agency to a common-sense approach in implementing the food safety law.

Nutt said EPA, under the food safety law, is mandated to assess and reassess all risks for all crop protection products. August 3 is the deadline to complete the evaluation of the first group of products, the organophosphates and carbamates, both which are widely used in Texas. EPA has threatened to ban all organophosphates and carbamates.

"Such a sweeping ban is unnecessary," Nutt said. "EPA is proceeding on faulty assumptions and flawed data. This could wind up dealing a severe blow to Texas agriculture, and it doesn't have to happen."

Nutt said EPA is taking shortcuts to implement FQPA. Farm Bureau, the American Farm Bureau Federation and many other agricultural groups have filed suit to require the EPA to follow the statutory requirements in making its assessments, he added.

Nutt encouraged Farm Bureau members to attend the conference, scheduled to be held at the Lubbock Holiday Inn Plaza. Information on the act and its potential effects on agriculture, and coalition building efforts to bring a common sense approach toward implementation of FQPA will be featured.

For more information contact Danny Nutt at 983-5809.

House approves AG appropriations bill

By Shawn Wade

With the approval of the FY 2000 Agricultural Appropriations Bill cotton producers can mark one in the win column as virtually all the industry's needs were met.

As a result of today's action by the House, the Conference Report on the Agriculture Appropriations Bill has only to pass the Senate and receive the President's signature in order to become law. After clearing these last two obstacles the first part of the assistance package should be on its way to producers in a matter of days.

The House gave final approval to the Appropriations Bill/Agricultural Assistance Package with a final vote of 240 For and 175 Against.

On the positive side it is clear that cotton will receive many of the tools it needs to weather the current economic crisis as funding has been provided for:

1) Supplemental Ag Market Transition Act payment totaling 100 percent of the 1999 AMTA payment rate with separate $40,000 payment limit applied;

2) Funding for Step 2 of the cotton competitiveness provisions for the life of the current Farm Bill;

3) A doubling of the Loan Deficiency Payment/Marketing Loan Gain payment limitation from $75,000 to $150,000 per entity;

4) A continuation of the 30 percent additional Crop Insurance premium subsidy first initiated in 1999, and

5) Funding for a $1.2 Billion Crop Loss Assistance Program under which producers who suffered catastrophic crop losses in 1999 will be able to apply.

Other provisions of the assistance package include funding for payment to producers of quota and non-quota peanuts, direct payments to growers of soybeans and minor oilseed producers, permanent authority for advance AMTA payments, generic authority for a commodity certificate program, and assistance for dairy and livestock producers.

TASS surveys to provide valuable information on farm chemicals

By Shawn Wade

Over the next few weeks, many Texas farmers and ranchers will receive one of two surveys from the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service to determine chemical use patterns by agricultural producers.

Producers are encouraged to participate fully with these surveys since they are the only source for accurate nationwide statistics on chemical use.

If contacted, producers are encouraged to fully participate and understand that all responses are confidential and will be used to project an accurate estimate of agricultural chemical use and needs.

The information will also be used in the decision making process associated with the Food Quality Protection Act (FQPA) and the review and registration of both currently available and new products for agricultural use.

Final report generated by the upcoming survey will be published in July 2000.

National 4-H Week October 3-9, 1999

I like to show cattle and hang around with my friends. Showing cattle is ok, but sometimes I get a little mad showing. Showing is a great opportunity and you have to pay attention to the judge and your cattle.

Sagayle Foster, Lockney 4-H Club

My name is Nathan Hancock and I am a member of the Lockney 4-H Club. My Sheep project is the one I like the most. We have shown all different kinds of sheep over the years.

I like 4-H because it challenges you. You learn stuff. They are really nice. They teach you how to eat well.

Titus Miller

Because of the many different 4-H workshops in horticulture, I love to garden. I have learned about container gardening, how to plant and care for perennials, annuals and herbs. I love the many different activities 4-H has to offer any young person willing to work hard. I'm proud to be an active member of the Floyd County 4-H.

Kayla Kelley

With my many different experiences in 4-H, I have learned how to properly sew garments and household items, cook nutritious meals, and to care for animals and livestock.

Katie Kelley

4-H has given me more confidence with myself. I have had opportunities that I don't feel I would have had without being a 4-H member. There are so many things to participate in that everyone has an opportunity to participate in the things that they like.

Courtlyn Long (Lockney 4-H)

Hello, my name is Enrique. I did archery in 4-H. Archery is a sport that you use a bow and arrow. We used a target. I got to put my target up by myself. Dillon's mother helped us. I got to checkout bow and arrow. I talked to my friend and had fun. Thank you.
