Multi-Millionaire Brewer Released by Abduction Gang

RANSOM LESS THAN DEMAND, POLICE TOLD

One Man Resembles Verne Sankey, Hamm Says

Copyright United Press ST. PAUL, June 19. (UP)—William Hamm, kidnaped multimillionaire brewer, returned home early today from near Wyoming, Tenn., after payment Saturday night of "some-what less than the $100,000" first demanded.

Detectives questioned him immediately. A secret group of business men offered $26,150 reward for capture of the kidnapers.

It was the fourth abduction in the city in two years. At least five men were believed to be implicated.

The ransom money was thrown from a brewing company truck on the highway north of St. Paul.

Hamm said one kidnaper resembled Verne Sankey, wanted in connection with many abductions.

CROP DESERTERS IMPOSE A HEAVY LOAD ON OWNERS

Land owners of Midland county whose renters borrowed crop production loan funds and later deserted the crop, can receive no rents from the land till the obligation is paid, a letter from Owen W. Sherrill, regional director, says.

The text of the letter: "We notice in passing through our correspondence an occasional case of a borrower deserting his crop. This is a serious problem on the part of both landlord and borrower. They are each a party to a binding obligation to the government and the record of this borrower will follow him in the future regardless of what part of the nation he may travel to. His government record is the most important one he will make in the next few years and everyone who is interested in the community record should encourage him to stick.

"Due to the blanket mortgage, the landlord can receive no rents until this loan is paid, and any crops produced by whoever cultivates this land are subject to the provisions of the mortgage covering the land. An accounting of the funds expended should be secured and, in the event supplemental payments are to follow, they will be made to the party carrying out the original contract and assuming the obligation upon the execution of an assumption agreement. Therefore, the close cooperation of the landlord is respectfully urged and expected in all cases. It is our desire in these cases generally for the landlord to be in charge, making a new tenant contract or working the land himself for the protection of his land and his rents.

"As stated above, any crops grown on this land are subject to our loan and mortgage. Therefore, committees, field men, county officials and others interested in the good record of the citizens of this community are respectfully urged to cooperate in cases of this kind to prevent farm abandonment and the weakening of government mortgage security. The deserters should be followed; the land should be cultivated; the loans are to be repaid. All that is necessary for our records here is a simple letter advising who is looking after this loan and land, and this office can furnish a form of assumption agreement.

"This letter is to respectfully request the united cooperation of all people generally. In any case this office desires notification at once in order that our field men may follow up the matter in the quickest possible time."

Work Begun on New Highway in Mexico

McALLEN, (UP)—Mexican road crews are working on the Reynosa-Monterrey division of the Monterrey-Matamoros section of the new highway linking north central and northeastern Mexico along the Rio Grande, according to word received by Mayor John W. Ewing.

One crew with a grading machine has started work on partially completed sections of the new highway, started two years ago by the Mexican federal government. Other crews have renewed construction of culverts and drainage structures on the right-of-way. Crews are scattered along a 25-mile stretch of the new road west of Reynosa.

Tiny Race Plane Of Special Build Seen Here Today

A 16-foot-wingspread monoplane that was built at odd moments by Mr. and Mrs. Art Chester, and which has been entered in the 375 cu. in. class races at Los Angeles in connection with the 1933 National Air races, was seen here this morning when the owners stopped over for a brief time en route from Chicago to the west coast.

The tiny plane, mounted on a truck, is due to fly with deceptive speed, however, the owner intimated. Its powerful Menasco engine, developing 134 horsepower at 2400 r. p. m., has pulled the craft through the air at more than 190 miles per hour in several trial flights. The engine is especially sturdy for light plane racing. Its cylinders are inverted and air cooled. Streamlining has been moulded in to the entirety of the craft, which has center wings, direct geared prop, cantilever undercarriage and spart-covered airwheels. Chester calls the craft a Chester Special.

Mrs. S. H. Smith, mother of Mrs. Chester, was with the inventors.

Marriage Report Is Denied Today

Denial of a report they had been married at Carlsbad, N. M., June 7 was made in joint statement this morning by Kender Webb, sheriff of Ector county, and Mrs. Batje Lou Wheeler of Midland.

Midland friends of the couple announced the wedding and the Reporter-Telegram carried the story on June 8.

The denial was made through Heister Shuffler, news editor of The Odessa News-Times, who telephoned The Reporter-Telegram.

"I congratulated the sheriff and Mrs. Wheeler, and they seemed surprised," Shuffler said. "They had not been to Carlsbad but, with Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Tom Jones and the Jones niece, Miss Norene Jones, went to Arizona to look over a ranch Webb proposed buying. They had not heard of their 'marriage' until their return yesterday."

Webb has been sheriff of Ector county for 10 years. Mrs. Wheeler has taught school in Midland county for three years, at the Stephenson, Warfield and Cotton Flat community schools.

HORSE TRAINING FOR JULY FOURTH MEETING STARTED

First training of horses for the July fourth Lions club race meet was begun on the Cowley park track this morning, after weeds and rocks had been cleared last week by welfare association labor and fences and rails had been replaced around the half mile oval.

E. E. Cook's Billy B. Jockey-Curtis Cook up, was breezed a quarter mile for the benefit of the "eagle eyes" of Doc Bloss who is taking a staling course to Ocala for three days of racing. If Cook does not send the horse there, he will run him here in the half mile event.

Henry Currie gave a paint cowboy his first experience on the track this morning, riding him with a jockey saddle and snaffle bits. Both horses were run against the watch.

Weeds were to be removed from the track where they had been cut and dragging was expected to follow soon. The polo field, where a game of donkey polo is matched between the Lions and Rotary clubs for July fourth, had not been cleared.

Advice had been received from Paul Harvey at Odessa that he will enter a two year old stallion, Rusty, probably in the three night distance. He bought the horse in the belief that he will run but has not yet given him a trial.

Information was being sent to horse owners at Big Spring, Wint and Stanton who were expected to have entries.

Meanwhile, interest increased here in possibility of a matched yearling race. A. C. Francis and John Duda have raised a dirt filly which shows promise under the training of Jockey Curtis Cook. The Netherlands bought a yearling chestnut filly from Claude Whalley which they say is fast for her age. Race program committee said today that if several yearlings are ready the race might be added to the program of half, three-eighths and quarter mile events.

Four or five entries for the quarter mile race were promised, indicating that a total purse of from $40 to $50 would be available for the one event.

Boys owning donkeys were urged to report at The Reporter-Telegram as provision is being made for those who allow use of the animals for the Lions-Rotary polo game.

'Juneteenth' Is Observed Today

"Juneteenth," Afro-American holiday generally observed south of the Mason-Dixon line, is in full swing in Midland today, with a representation from towns throughout this section.

The program included a noon barbecue and a dance tonight. Negroes jumped the gun a bit when they held a dance last night. Frenchy's orchestra played.

Jean Franklin is in general charge of the holiday, and John Anderson was in charge of the barbecue. Anderson said T. O. Midkiff donated a cow, and Clarence Scharbauer gave a cow to bell boys working at the Scharbauer hotel. Winston Ekin and Terry Ekin were cash contributors, and various Midland merchants gave part of the groceries for the barbecue.

TEXANS IN LEAD

CARLSBAD, N. M. (UP)—More than 40 per cent of the 5445 visitors to Carlsbad caverns here in May were Texans. Col. Thomas Boles, superintendent, said in reporting the visitors from 47 states, two territories and 11 foreign countries.

There were 2,214 Texans, 1,140 from New Mexico; 765 from California, 301 from Oklahoma, 128 from Colorado and 107 from Arizona.

The total was 120 less than in May last year and the smallest month's visitations since May, 1929.

DESIGNED FOR RESTORING PRE-WAR LINT PRICE

Acreage Curtailment Basis for the New Plan

WASHINGTON, June 19. (UP)—The secretary of agriculture announced today a program designed to restore pre-war cotton prices and to drastically curtail production for the current year.

Under the program, the government would lease 10,000,000 acres, paying the farmers from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 in cash benefits.

The program depends on response of producers to the government's campaign of a week or ten days, seeking agreements to curtailment. The program will not be instituted unless a minimum of 2,000,000 is curtailed.

Two alternative plans were offered. The first was for cash payment based on land productivity plus an option to buy government cotton at six cents per pound with $6 per acre for land yielding 100 pounds of lint and $12 per acre for land yielding 275 pounds or over.

The second plan was for outright lease without option, ranging from $7 to $20 per acre. The plan is similar to the wheat control program, with processor's tax raising prices.

ESCAPE INJURY IN AUTO WRECK

Pleasant anticipations of pulling fish out of a favorite haunt gave way to thumping a ride back to Midland, when Jim Flanigan and "Doc" Melear drove their car into a ditch near Fort Stockton and overturned it.

On a curve flanked by a bar pit, Melear mistook the pit for the road, and the car turned over three times when it plunged off into the ditch. Both men were thrown out. Both escaped with slight injuries, Melear getting a cut nose and assorted bruises and Flanigan, who was thrown through the top and clear of the machine, only a slight cut on the forehead.

While the men went to Fort Stockton for aid Melear's car was stripped. Sheriff Rooney and several deputies believe an arrest will follow this week.

REVIVAL DATES HERE CHANGED

The First Baptist church in conference Sunday morning, changed fall revival date to September 17 to October 1. It was found that the original dates conflicted with the plans of the Christian church revival.

Dr. H. E. Dana, head of the department of New Testament in the Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, has been chosen to conduct the revival, and has accepted. When notified by the committee of the above conflict he agreed to the change.

Dr. Dana is recognized as one of the outstanding leaders, not only of the state Baptist forces, but of the Southern Baptist convention. He is a noted scholar and brilliant speaker. In addition to his duties at the seminary, he is pastor of the First Baptist church at Ardmore, Okla.

SAFEGUARDING THE PUBLIC

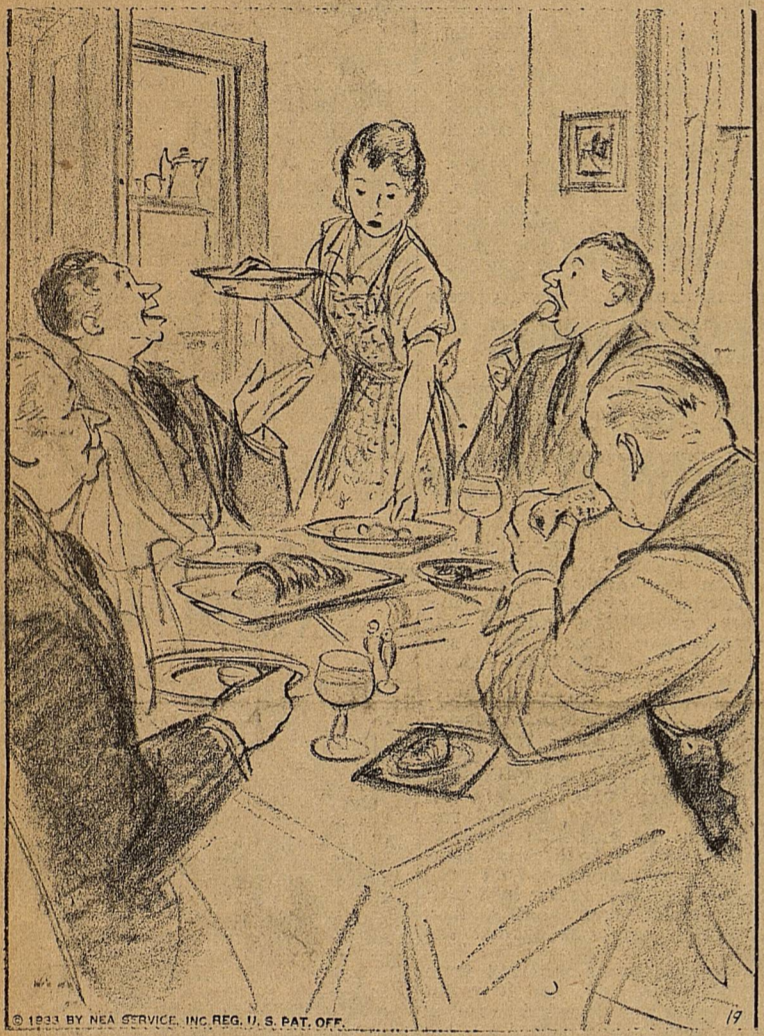

It is reported at Washington that the administration plans a thorough and complete overhauling of the federal food and drugs law. Such action is badly needed, and can be a real service to the consuming public.

Stricter rules governing the labels of cosmetic and patent medicine preparations are among the changes contemplated. One change proposed would prevent a manufacturer from including in his copy the names of diseases unless his preparation was actually a specific cure for such maladies.

We would get, under such a rule, no more of those concoctions warranted to be useful for everything from bunions to gallstones; we would get no more "sure cures" for tuberculosis, pneumonia and cancer. Things, in short, would be on a much sounder basis. It is to be hoped that the administration goes through with its plan.

Starting an automobile assembly plant with a ray of light from Arcurus, as was done recently at Chicago, seems to have been a very practical and literal method of hitching one's vehicle to a star.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

About those July fourth races. More people are going to be surprised at how good they are than you would expect. From what the boys were saying in here this morning, plenty of ponies will be entered to guarantee a good show and somebody may be surprised at how badly he gets beat.

Private information: H. E. Llewellyn has a horse named Gold Dollar. Does that suggest anything to you?

Some of the local boys are ambitious to reach the stage of horse racing where they can wear a "toot shirt" like Doc Bloss had on Saturday. It was a white shirt with blue collar and cuffs and a blue stripe down the front where the button holes are.

If I own a horse like Foreign Relations, I wouldn't wear any sort of a suit except one with big checks or gamblers' stripes.

Mrs. Vickers, who returned from the world's fair, said she doesn't advise anyone to go there with the expectation of resting his feet.

I've been telling you the best way to take a vacation is to go fishing. Bud Carroll and Bud Fain will back me up in that statement.

A local man made the statement that he wanted to do something constructive for the town, so a friend of his advised him to move out.

Fresh Vegetables Should Be Served On the Daily Menu

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article on the food needed for a family of five for one year is a continuation of the one printed in Sunday's Reporter-Telegram.

Fresh vegetables for the family the whole year round are hard to find in this section of Texas. Since leafy vegetables should be served daily, the housewife must find some way of providing them. It is estimated that a three-months' canned supply for the winter season would require 84 containers. Adding 36 more for emergencies and company, a total of 120 containers should be canned for a family of five.

These vegetables should be selected for this list: spinach, Swiss chard, cabbage, collards, broccoli, kraut, Brussels sprouts, mustard, turnip tops, beet tops, asparagus, New Zealand spinach, onion tops, kohl rabi, lettuce, cress, endive, tender greens, string beans, snap peas, English peas, green peppers, cabbage, cauliflower, rape, kale and wild greens.

According to a well-known nutritionist, the leafy or green vegetables required for one year total 728 pounds, 668 pounds of fresh and stored and 120 pounds of canned and dried.

A one-half acre garden or a plot 100x150 feet should furnish plenty of fresh vegetables and vegetables to can. One foot of row space for each pound of vegetables desired should be allowed.

Two strings that were attached to the picnic tables were given the couple. Following these they were led to trees and other tables, behind which they found packages containing amusing presents. The strings led back to the starting table, under which a large box containing miscellaneous gifts was placed.

Other parties are being arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Blackman.

WOBBLY BASE RUNNING CAUSES INDIANS TO LOSE TO ODESSA

TRIBE LOSES FIFTH GAME; THROWS SCARE ONLY

By JESS RODGERS
The Midland Indians lost another game yesterday, this time to George Elliott's imported Odessa club, but not before they had thrown a real scare into it. This leaves a total of two games won and five lost for the season.

Only dumb base running and a few bonhead plays on the field kept the locals from winning the game. In both the second and third innings Girdley of the Indians was thrown out at home after the coach on third base had failed to give him any signal to hold up. In the second there was none out at the time and Girdley would have scored a moment later had he waited, as Woody hit one that the Odessa second baseman muffed.

Odessa lost no time in taking a lead by scoring three times in the first frame on three hits and a fielder's choice. They scored three more runs in the second on four hits, one a triple by Travis, before the locals crossed the home plate.

The Indians scored twice in the second when Collum walked, Estes reached first on an error and Girdley hit one for two bases. They made four more to tie the score in the third after two men had been retired. Brown struck out, Moreno got a hit over third, Stevens struck out, and Collum, Estes, and Girdley hit successively. Girdley's rap in this inning was also good for two bases.

The visitors combined a walk, a triple, and infield out for two more in the fifth, and scored run number nine in the sixth on a triple and a single.

The locals were held scoreless from the third until the ninth when, after two were out, Stevens reached first on an infield error and crossed home on Cook's double. Collum, who had hit perfectly all day then hit to Watson who tagged Cook for the final out.

The outfield playing of Eb Estes was the feature of the day as he got no less than six putouts in left field. In the second he raced far into left center to take one with his back to the playing field to rob Anderson of a sure extra base hit.

Dameron of Odessa, with four hits out of five times at bat, and Collum of the Indians with three hits and a walk out of five trips up, were the day's leading hitters.

1,667,648 bales, as against only 1,533,589 for the same period of the 1930-1931 season. This was interpreted as meaning increased income from steambush operators and employees.

The lumber industry also experienced increased activity, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. The bureau report said unfilled orders at southern pine mills rose to an average per unit of 733,299 feet on May 27, the highest since March, 1931.

New construction closely followed oil and agriculture in augmented activity. Stimulated by prospects of receiving $250,000,000 in federal loans for self-liquidating public works, many communities were planning projects ranging from municipal water and power plants to park and highway improvements.

Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the state rehabilitation and relief committee, was in Washington with plans involving $194,854,794 already prepared and ready for submission to federal authorities.

New business concerns increased sharply during May, according to the state university's business research bureau. New corporations reported, last month, the bureau reported, totaled 151, an increase of 23 per cent over the total for April. Their total capital stock was $1,969,704.

They included 40 oil companies, 33 merchandising firms and 22 manufacturers.

Miscellaneous news included reports of increased automobile sales growth in the bank clearings, heavy returns to investors from rising stock and commodity markets and continuance or resumption of dividend payments.

ISOLATION SEEN IF U. S. FAILS AT ECONOMIC PARLEY

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 18.—International conferences are conceived by optimists and attended by pessimists.

The world economic conference meeting at London June 12 is no exception. High hopes for the restoration of an orderly economic world and of ten of billions of dollars in world trade have dwindled to modest aspirations.

Gatherings of nations usually achieve considerably less than their objective, but they nearly always achieve something. The optimists now count on the seriousness of the world economic situation to compel statements at least to call a halt on the present trend toward national isolation and the disappearance of trade.

Trade Revival Sought
Revival of world trade through co-operation is the goal of the economic conference. The alternative is commonly regarded as economic nationalism, intensified commercial warfare for world markets and resultant dangerous threats to peace.

What may very well emerge from the conference, however, is a breathing spell in the form of a truce which would give nations time to determine where they were at, without danger mean-while of slipping further into the economic whirlpool.

So many are the complications and divergencies of national viewpoints that it is best first to survey the chief agreed objectives of the London conference.

Stabilization of currencies and international exchanges.
Reduction or elimination of tariffs and other trade barriers.
An increase in prices.

Conference Problems
They may be considered in that order:

1. CURRENCY STABILIZATION
—Depreciations of national currencies in terms of those of other countries have led to a walter of tariff increases and new restrictions on trade. World markets for the great commodities have been contracted and prices have been broken down. Today the world has only about a third of the international trade of 1929. To change this trend it is necessary to get currencies stabilized with relation to each other.

The tendency of fluctuating currencies always is to reduce trade. The American policy is a general return to the gold standard, but differ as to when and under what conditions.

2. TRADE BARRIERS—Everyone agrees that these must be considered in connection with the exchange situation. Leaving trade barriers intact would keep world commerce confused, according to Secretary of State Hull.

The trade barriers include raised tariffs, new quota restrictions on goods, and exchange control systems in various countries which often make it a question whether a shipper from another country will be paid for his goods.

England has held she could not stabilize the pound unless she had normal outlets for her products. The American policy is one of reciprocal trade agreements.

3. PRICES—The administration's plan to raise American prices through inflation can be no part of an international co-operative arrangement unless world prices are also boosted. Our competitive position has been affected by currency fluctuations, and we will seek higher prices instead of the very low prices which now destroy the possibility of debt payments from abroad.

If we push up our internal prices without reference to what the rest of the world does and thus get out of line with prices in other countries, we can hardly expect to sell in foreign markets.

So our delegation at London will try to convince the other large mercantile nations that it is best to embark on a general price-raising policy which would benefit them as much as it would the United States.

Isolation Considered
The administration believes that if America has to isolate its own markets it will be in a better position than any other country, since we are more nearly self-sufficient.

But complete adoption of such a policy would require extensive domestic changes.

The country has been built up on a policy of selling as much goods abroad as it could and a revenue policy, according to the government's economic experts, would demand a reassignment of millions of persons. Cotton, for example, presents our biggest commodity situation, since half our annual cotton crop is sold abroad.

Many countries could not even attempt such isolation, and there would be a tendency toward national and regional groups such as we ourselves might try to organize in this hemisphere.

The American delegation will at least attempt to obtain a tariff truce, such as it has recently achieved with reservations. It hopes to see an international movement toward elimination of exchange restrictions, and an agreement on monetary policies with a view to eventual currency stabilization.

The administration also strongly favors an international program of public works, although it is not known in what form this and other suggestions for price-raising will be proposed.

Debts a Problem
If most of that modest program isn't achieved, the conference—certainly from our point of view—will be a failure.

International debts continue to appear as the ghost at the "feast." Debt negotiations may be carried on concurrently with the conference, but there is no promise that the next debt payments are due three days after the conference opens and unless there is a sensational surprise move from Washington the issue of payment or non-payment at that time will start the conference off in an atmosphere of recrimination.

Legion Posts to Build a Museum

AUSTIN (UP)—With silver disks American legion posts in Texas soon will set out to build a $750,000 memorial museum here and to make Texas "centennial conscious."

Their program started Friday with President Roosevelt's signing of a bill authorizing coinage of 1,500,000 half-dollars commemorating a "century of progress" in Texas.

The silver disks will be sold here for $1 each in a campaign similar to that which financed the Stone Mountain memorial. The $750,000 profits from the sale will be used to construct the museum, which probably will be located on the University of Texas campus.

The museum building also will house departmental offices of the legion and legion auxiliary. An ancient Bible will be the first object placed in the museum. Articles of historic value, relics, and specimens of Texas animal and bird life will be concentrated there.

What emblems will be engraved on the silver half-dollar is not known. The centennial half-dollars will be designed by a special legion committee soon.

The legion's part in the proposed Texas Centennial will not stop with silver disks. Marking all battlefields, erection of welcome signs on Texas trails and highways, a "paint up, clean up" campaign all over Texas and an essay contest on "Why Tour Texas in 1936," are some of the tasks set out for legionnaires, according to A. Garland Adair, chairman of the Legion's Centennial committee.

The American Red Cross operates under a special congressional charter granted Jan. 5, 1905.
