Police Budget Cut in Half

FITTS MAKES PROTEST WHEN COUNCIL ACTS

Half Million Voted For Budget By City Heads

Appropriations totalling more than half a millino—$587,377.01 to be exact—were made by the city council Monday night to meet the city's running expenses for the ensuing year.

This impressive total will be necessary to meet the running expenses of the city and to meet its obligations despite the cutting of departmental budgets down to the bone—in some cases below he minimum necessary figure, councilmen declared.

The total as appropriated is more than $150,000 more than the current revenue, which last year ran only a few thousands in excess of $400,000.

Part of the appropriations, however, come from bond funds, as for instance the $62,000 to the city, and a part is taken care of in the new loans and under the bond funds left for permanent improvements, as for instance the $30,000 worth of notes and the $25,000 on the fire station, which are due this year.

This, with the $60,000 idle revenue which can be obtained under existing tax levies and valuations if the charter is amended to give the council power to transfer surplus funds, will enable the city to skin through and break even—perhaps do a little better without a material increase in the tax rate.

The police department allowance, $30,500, was vigorously protested by Commissioner Fitts.

"Such a budget would simply mean that the police department could no longer afford the people of the town the necessary protection," he declared, with reference to the $30,500 proposed by the mayor. Last year, he pointed out, the department required $60,000 and the year before $80,000 and more.

While indicating that the amounts might be increased by additional emergency appropriations later, Mayor Collier firmly declared that the city must cut its measure according to the cloth. "I don't care if you have to take up public subscription to help out," he declared.

"We've only got so much to spend and we must make that do."

Fitts Recalls Income

Commissioner Fitts referred to the income through the police court, which he said amounted to practically as much as the expenses of the police department, and asked if that could not be given the police department. Some of that comes back indirectly, he was informed, as half of all fines save traffic fines go into the general fund—the other half go

China Reunited In Near Future

By Associated Press.

PEKING, June 19.—Two significant developments today pointed to a reunited China in the near future. One was found in official advices from Canton that Sun Yat Sen's downfall was complete. The other came in a telegram from the three provinces at Manchuria, where Chang Tao Lin has attempted to establish a separate empire, that the three provinces were ready to join the United China movement.

FOREIGNERS FLEE FROM FIRING.

PEKING, June 19.—Foreigners at Canton were forced to flee for safety from the indiseriminate firing of Sun Yat Sen's gunboat Sunday, according to a Canton dispatch to foreign legations here. Two thousand persons, including many foreigners, boarded a vessel when hostilities opened and went to Hong-Kong.

Hide Your Stills in Cabbage Patches But Don't Let the Cork Float Above!

A CONAN DOYLE'S Sherlock Holmes hasn't a thing on Wichita Falls' officers.

A tale as wierd, as mysterious and as interesting as any that A. Conan ever wrote was brought back to the city Monday afternoon when Police Chief J. W. McCormick and Ranger Sergeant Koonsman returned to the police station with L. J. Estes and locked him behind steel bars. He is charged with having a whisky still in his possession.

They started out to hunt for oil, according to the chief. And they knew, almost, that they were not going to hit a dry hole.

The chief tells the best story of the occurrence in his own language:

"We had been asked to investigate a leakage in an oil company's main pipe line. Sergeant Koonsman and I went out near Red river and started our investigation. One of the men who was helping us, informed us that a 50-barrel oil tank had been stolen some three months ago, and was believed to be buried near the main line in a certain field.

"Working on the theory that someone was tapping the line and stealing oil, we began prodding the ground with spades near the main line in the field pointed out to us.

"Our investigation led us into to a cabbage patch, where, digging away as we were, Sergeant Koonsman's spade struck some boards. We dug the cabbage and boards away and discovered the tank, which had some oil in it then.

"Continuing our investigation for the lines that we thought led back to the main line, we struck other boards buried beneath the cabbage. Upon digging these up we unearthed five barrels of mash, about ready for the run."

The chief said that location of the mash, which they had been smelling all during their investigation, led them to institute a search for a still. Nowhere about the place could one be located. Finally, about to give up their hunt, the chief suggested that both he and Sergeant Koonsman investigate the contents of a water tank that was suspended in the air about 20 feet.

The tank was full of muddy water, the chief said, and revealed nothing at a glance. A cork, however, which was floating about on top of the water, attracted attention, and when it was pulled toward the side, Chief McCormick tugged away at it and dragged out a 50-gallon whisky still that had been submerged in the water.

Ester was then placed under arrest and brought to Wichita Falls. The oil tank, according to Chief McCormick, was identified by J. B. Stern. However, no charges as to that have been made against Ester.

A further investigation into the pipe line will be made, it was stated last night. In the meanwhile, Ester awaits a hearing before Commissioner Lantz, and Chief McCormick is displaying his cork and bait.

INJUNCTION ON ROAD ORDERED

Act to Halt Paving On County Road

Injunction proceedings will be brought against the county commissioners court this morning to halt work on the paving of the Clay county highway into Wichita Falls along the Forth Worth street-East Seventeenth street route and to compel its being paved in on Jalonic street, it was agreed at a meeting of the city council, attended by members of the school board, Monday night.

Although the injunction will be brought by private individuals, the school board, which erected the Barwise school on Jalonic on account of its being the designated highway, and the city, which acquired a tourist park just off Jalonic for the same reason will be interested parties in the action.

The litigation will be of an entirely friendly nature as regards the two bodies for the commissioners court, the discussion indicated. The Jalonic street route was the original choice of the commissioners court, and councilmen and members of the school board expressed the belief that the commissioners made an agreement to go the other way through an all round misunderstanding, but that the commissioners can not voluntarily get out of the agreement that it has made in the meantime with residents along East Seventeenth and Fort Worth streets.

"It would be next to criminal to bring the road through anyway save on Jalonic street," W. R. Ferguson, who with Mrs. M. M. Adickes represented the school board at the hearing. "This is so if for no other reason than the benefit to the patrons of the Barwise school, which serves a district extending two miles beyond the school on this road—and for the benefit to the people who purchased homes along this road knowing that it was the designated route for the highway."

The mayor was instructed to send county commissioners an official letter indicating that the city council had designated that route as the one for the road to enter the city, and had come to an agreement with the Wichita Valley railroad as regards the crossing over the lines right of way—a factor which held up the fixing of the route for some time.

Mainly About People

Woman In Power—They're Electioneering—May Beat Bachelors—

By H. N. F.

THIS IS WOMAN'S AGE. CAME to the world war and the women in all civilized lands won the ballot. America came in behind Russia. Germany came in ahead of England. John Bull let them after a stubborn fight. Now the new constitution of the Irish free state lifts all restrictions on account of sex and gives the ballot to all women who have attained the age of 21.

There is a new paramount issue away down in Maine. Senator Frederick Hale is a candidate for re-election. He is an old bachelor. His leading rival is a married man and the wife of the rival is making a speaking campaign of the state urging the republican women voters to cast out Hale.

SHE SAYS AN ANCIENT bachelor has no business to be making laws for human beings; that he is incapable of understanding the needs of the people; is selfish and hard boiled and cold and his sympathies are with the select few and not with the perspiring many.

Hale is on the rack. He is mollycoddled. He does not understand women. He does not know how to frame an answer to the argument. He is accused of having robbed some good woman of a husband and perhaps some unborn children of a father. These Maine yankees are peculiar people. Politically speaking they go hell bent. They go hell bent against Hale on primary election day it will be for the reason that a woman invented the bachelor issue and the voters fell for it.

THERE ARE THREE SCORE bachelor members of congress standing for election this fall.

If Hale of Maine goes down in defeat Monday, June 19th, then his brother bachelors, senators and congressmen should go gunning for bachelor maids and join the noble order of Benedict.

This old world survived the stone age, the iron age, the golden age and now that the woman's age has been ushered in the selfish bachelor of uncertain years may be driven out of the political arena. He deserves it. Make him help to carry the white man's burden.

MARS-PLANET OF MYSTERY —is now sweeping toward the earth. Heavens. If Mars should come in collision with Robert Lee Hendrick carrying his fiery cross in his right hand and the American flag in his left, what will Sterling P. Strong do to prevent the wrecking of worlds?

Mars hit the earth in 1914 and piled up a debt of $350,000,000,000 for the people who are left alive to pay. Now we know just what makes the wild men wild and they are wild in every land under the sun. Mars is about to hit the earth again.

SECRETARY OF WAR JOHN W. Weeks made a notable address to the graduating class at West Point. This is an excerpt. "It is but a step from civilization to barbarism. It took centuries to reclaim the world from barbarism but civilization is secure only as long as organized governments are secure and the law of the land is based on justice and right and behind the law is the power to enforce it.

The civilization it has taken over two thousand years to develop will vanish like a burst bubble the moment the authority behind the law is removed." This has been the experience of all the ages. It is but a step from civilization to barbarism. There are places even in America where it requires all the restraining influence of the safe and the sane to prevent the thoughtless, the narrow, the indifferent and the selfish to refrain from taking the step. Whenever authority behind the law is removed it is a plunge back to barbarism.

More Railmen Strike

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 19.—A strike vote of railway clerks and freight handlers employed by the New York Central railroad has been authorized, it was learned here tonight.

Strike ballots will be sent out tomorrow morning, it was announced by Frank W. Grosser, general organizer of the Brotherhood of Railway and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employes.

"Genuine Canadian Rye" at $8 per—Rare Bargain," Sounds Almost Right But Lands Enterprising Youth in Jail

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Two young men, one said to be the son of a minister, were arrested by postal inspectors today on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The two, Milton Lewis and Will Thornton Silman, were said to have sent out three thousand copies of a letter offering to sell "genuine Canadian rye at $8 the quart—a rare bargain." Prospective customers were told to send the money by return mail and the rye would be delivered within six days.

When questioned today they explained that although it was genuine Canadian rye that they had promised to deliver, it was not in the liquid form. They told postal inspectors that they intended to purchase a quantity of the rye grain, bottle it and send it to the customers. When asked whether they did not think their prices were high, they were reported to have said:

"Well, the persons that bought it ought to suffer the consequences."

FLOOD WATERS CAUSE HEAVY CROP DAMAGE

Cotton Lands Are Inundated When Levee Breaks

By Associated Press.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 19.—About 1,500 acres of cotton was inundated when a levee at South Sharyland, near Mission, Hidalgo county, gave way late today to the strain of flood waters in the Rio Grande. This is the first serious levee break in the rush of the waters to the gulf. The cotton, buried beneath the water, according to reports here, would have been ready for picking in about two weeks. Estimates received here place the crop loss at more than a million dollars. The flood situation in Mission is not affected by this break.

Reports of heavy crop losses on the Mexican side of the lower Rio Grande began dribbling into Brownsville tonight. In one section near Matamoros, thousands of bales of cotton on the stalk ready to pick are said to have been destroyed.

River observers, in view of the rapid fall of the Rio Grande at Rio Grande City today, believe that the present flood waters will have drained considerably before the reported rise from Eagle Pass reaches the extreme lower section. It is estimated that the fresh rise will not reach Brownsville for four days.

RIVER RISES AT LAREDO

By Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, June 19.—Rising at the rate of almost one foot an hour, the Rio Grande at Laredo was reported to be at a stage of 25 feet tonight at 6 o'clock. This was an increase of four feet over its height there shortly after noon. The flood stage at this locality is 27 feet and the highest the water is known to have stood is 24 feet, in September, 1919. The crest is expected there at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is not likely that the water at Laredo will reach as great an overflow as that today and Sunday at Eagle Pass, it is said by James H. Jarboe, local weather observer. The crest of 46 feet 7 inches, which passed Eagle Pass early Monday and shattered all previous high water marks, will be broadened out by the time it

ANNUAL NAVAL BILL PASSED

Senate Provides For 86,000 Men

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The annual naval appropriation bill, carrying approximately $295,450,000 and providing for an enlisted personnel of 86,000 men was passed late today by the senate and sent to conference with the house.

Action on the enlisted personnel, now about 115,000, is final as the senate accepted the house decision and the question will now come before the conferees who will deal principally with senate increases of about $44,000,000 over the house bill. There was no record vote on final passage and no effort was made to reduce the enlisted personnel.

Haiti Still Occupied

Unsuccessful efforts to end American occupation of Haiti, the Dominican republic, and Nicaragua, and to launch a congressional investigation of navy administration, marked the final day's debate. An amendment by Senator King, democrat, Utah, providing for withdrawal of American marines from the two republics and Nicaragua, Dec. 31, next, was rejected 42 to 9, after a nearly all-day debate in which the American policy of intervention was both attacked and defended.

Small to Know Fate In 10 Days

By Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 19.—Governor Len Small, charged with conspiracy to defraud the state of interest money on public funds, probably will know his fate within another week or ten days.

Unexpectedly taking court, jury lawyers, and spectators by surprise, C. C. LeForge, chief of counsel for the governor, announced today at the opening of the defense that the governor would offer no evidence and would in fact stand on the evidence produced by the prosecution.

Farm Hand Charged With Killing Woman

By Associated Press.

CONROE, Texas, June 19.—J. H. Bloodsworth was arrested near Fosteria late today on a warrant charging murder in connection with the finding of the body of Mrs. McShan at her farm home near here Sunday night. Mrs. McShane, who lived alone on the farm, is said to have employed Bloodsworth as a farm hand up to last week when he was discharged. The woman's head was crushed. Two pistols were found on the place, one in the room where the body was discovered and the other in the yard.

REMOVE GUARDS.

By Associated Press.

MARION, Ill., June 19.—The southern Illinois coal company will remove all arms from the watchmen at its strip mine near here, which began mining coal last week, the first to begin operations in Illinois since the miners' strike became effective April 1. This announcement was made following a conference here today between representatives of the adjutant general, county officials and W. J. Lester, president of the coal company.

Gipson Must Resign Or Withdraw from Legislative Race

Prosecutor Forced to Lose According to Wording of Clause in the Charter

E. H. Gipson, special city prosecutor who has lead the attack of the police department in its drive during the past few weeks against lawlessness in Wichita Falls, is automatically out of the city office by reason of candidacy for the legislature, it developed at Monday night's meeting of the city council.

A chance reference to the city charter provisions, which automatically relieves from office any city official, or employe, who becomes a candidate for any other office, brought out this fact.

Question as to whether Judge W. B. Chauncey's candidacy for county chairman of the democratic executive committee does not have the same effect in relieving him from the position of police judge was also discussed.

It was apparently decided that the county chairman's office was a political and not a public office.

Gipson must withdraw from the legislative race, leaving a clear field for F. G. Swanson, a local attorney who is also candidate for the same place, or Police Commissioner Fitts must find another attorney to fill the special prosecutor's position, it was apparently the sense of the council.

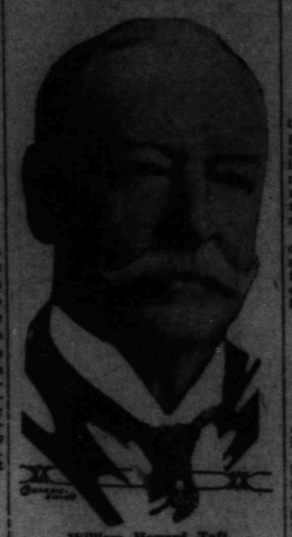

The councilmen in expressing themselves this way indicated their regret, as the members of the body have indicated entire suport and approval to the work of the police department under the lead of Mr. Gipson as the legal representative of the city.

The language of the charter on this point, however, they held clear and unmistakable. Police Commissioner Fitts, although he has had offers of assistance from a number of attorneys for help in his drive, was plainly disturbed by the development.

"This is ruining us," he said with feeling. He had only a short time before remarked on the remarkable work being done under the lead of Mr. Gipson.

Just what action Commissioner Fitts intends be did not indicate Monday night. He pointed out at the time that the attorney took the office as city prosecutor that he was doing so at a sacrifice. Holding of a position in the legislature, it is public knowledge, involves even more of a sacrifice. It is a work that Mr. Gipson, however, has always had an ambition to perform, and it is not known which work he will give up at this time. In case he makes up his mind to remain a candidate in the legislative race, the names of any one of half a dozen local attorneys may be brought forward by the police commissioner.

BRITAIN LAUDS JUSTICE TAFT

Jurist Speaks to Notable Crowd

By Associated Press.

LONDON, June 19.—Britain's foremost statesmen, jurists and lawyers and a great body of American friends joined in an impressive reception to William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, on his first public appearance in England tonight. He was the guest of honor at the Pilgrim's banquet, at which five members of the cabinet, many former cabinet members and the greatest legal minds in the country lent their presence.

Rarely before has a visiting American received such a spontaneous welcome. The king, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught sought messages of greeting and the Earl of Balfour and the Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, dean of St. Paul's, testified to the affection and admiration in which Mr. Taft is held by the English people.

Mr. Taft was introduced by the Earl of Balfour, who expressed the hope that the distinguished visitor would not measure the warmth of Great Britain's greeting by the prevailing chilly weather.

Mr. Taft, said Lord Balfour, occupied one of the unique positions in the world. Elevated to the highest executive office and the highest judicial position, he had discharged the duties of both in a way to command the approval not only of America but of the world. He himself and the members of the British delegation at the Washington conference were under deep and lasting obligations to Mr. Taft for his kindly aid and helpful counsel in approaching one of the most difficult problems England had ever faced.

Dallas Mother Sees Baby Killed

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, June 19.—Ruth Stovinsky, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stovinsky, was killed here late today when she ran from behind an automobile and in front of a moving street car. Her mother witnessed the accident.

Texas to Get Land Taxes

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 19.—A lein of $250,000 on all properties of the Stewart Land company, and all subsidiary companies, now in the hands of receivers, was granted here late today by Judge A. S. Vanvalkenburgh of the federal court. The lien is to secure receivership certificates which will be issued by R. B. Creager, receiver of the Stewart companies in Texas. The money is to be used in completing the Stewart Irrigation projects in the Rio Grande valley and for the payment of approximately $55,000 in back taxes due in Texas.

Centenarian Dies At Georgetown

By Associated Press.

GEORGETOWN, Texas, June 19.—Mrs. Martha Weir Ward, aged 101 years, died at her home here today after a short illness. Mrs. Ward was born at Columbia, S. C., October 7, 1821. The body was shipped to Athens, Tennessee for interment.

EVEN COUNTY COMMITTEES ERR

By Associated Press.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, June 19.—W. F. Johnson, candidate for sheriff of Nueces county, is looking for another candidate by the same name, but whose initials are E. F. The name was placed on the ballot today by the county executive committee with that of Sheriff Frank Robinson, candidate for re-election, and Hines Wright.

TARIFF AHEAD OF BONUS BILL

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The compromise agreement of republican leaders to defer action on the soldiers' bonus bill until after the tariff measure has been disposed of was approved today at a conference of majority senators. The vote was 27 to 11. At the same time the conference went on record as favoring final action on the bonus before any recess or adjournment of congress.

Coburn Makes Bond

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—William S. Coburn, former grand goblin of the ku klux klan, furnished a bond for $5,000 late today for appearance on an indictment charging him and 36 other alleged members of the klan with felony in connection with a raid at Inglewood.

Judge Frederick W. Houser voluntarily increased Coburn's bail from $1,000 to $5,000 this morning, when the ex-grand goblin appeared to plead.

Women Slain

By Associated Press.

STATZBORO, Ga., June 19.—Mrs. M. B. Dixon, 38, and her daughter, Mrs. Padrie, 18, were found slain in an automobile between Clio and Dover late today. The daughter's husband has been arrested and taken to some other county jail for safe keeping, it was learned from county officers tonight.

BULLETS END LIVES OF TWO NEAR QUANAH

German Gas Drives A. E. F. Veteran To Despair

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, June 19.—Joe Graham wanted to die.

Joe was a veteran of the world war. His health was bad. He had been gassed in combat and since the armistice had suffered depression in spirits.

But Joe was in love. She was Miss Lillie Bidwell.

The couple were inseparable. Each knew the thoughts of the other.

"If you go—then I, too, will go," she told him.

And so it came to pass. The death pact was agreed to.

The man shot the woman to death and then turned the gun on himself. He died in a hospital late today.

Employing a chauffeur to drive them out of town and into the country, the couple rode forth early this morning, happy in the thought that death—the grim creature universally feared—would end the suffering of the veteran whose life had been ruined by gas wounds.

They chatted as the chauffeur rattled over the country road. In fact, the couple was so normal and seemed so light-hearted that the driver never once suspicioned that anything out of the ordinary was to take place.

Order Car Stopped.

He had been employed to take them for a spin in the country. He should worry if they huddled together on the back seat; what meant crooning words to him. But suddenly his mind was puzzled.

"Stop that car!" came the command.

The driver drew up to a standstill.

"Now you get out and walk to town."

The chauffeur was dumbfounded.

Hears Report of Gun.

Then a gun was brandished. Whatever thoughts of hesitancy in the mind of the chauffeur were dispelled. He began to tread toward Quanah.

Just as he was leaving a shot was fired, then another.

Then a number of staccato reports from a revolver were heard.

The chauffeur continued his journey to town. Five miles he had to walk but an excited man can travel many miles quickly.

Straight went the chauffeur to the sheriff's office. There he told the story to Sheriff Gober. An ambulance was called, and dispatched to the scene.

What they found in the death car was the body of a woman cold in death. A man was at her side. He groaned in agony. Blood smeared the seats, dripped partly down the sides of the car, ran cold and was left only a stain.

The woman had been shot first.

"She begged me to kill her first," Graham confessed before he died.

The gun had been pressed close to her heart. The man was evidently cool and composed. He pulled the trigger and fired twice.

Her death was almost instantaneous.

As the woman dropped in death the man pressed the weapon to his own body and fired. But excitement seemed to get the better of him. He failed to kill himself then, although the wounds were serious.

"I may not have died," Graham confessed while fighting for breath late today in a hospital, "but I had the forethought to do a good job of it.....I took an overdose of strychnine before I pulled the trigger." The man lingered until 4 o'clock when he died.

Poor Health Cause

Poor health, resulting from gas received in combat while with the American expeditionary forces, had kept Graham in a state of depression for months, those who knew him said. He received a pension from the government, it is said, being practically disabled. He was married last Christmas, but he and his wife are understood to have been separated for some time.

Mrs. Bidwell is also separated from her husband. She is about 25 years of age, and is said to be the daughter of the chief of police of Altus, Okla.

Labor Opposes Retail Sales Tax

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 19.—Opposition to a retail sales tax with a warning that efforts can be expected to have it written into the soldier bonus bill, and the re-declaration of a policy opposed to unrestricted immigration marked the action today of the American Federation of Labor convention as it settled down to its final week's work.

By unanimous vote, the convention directed officers of the federation to wage the fight against the sales tax with "unabated force," the decision of the delegates coming without debate on the legislative committee's report.

Weeks Opposes Officers Bill

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Weeks today opposed before the house military committee the bill which would place on the regular retired list of the army officers of the emergency army who were incapacitated in service during the world war.

"Much as I regret it, I protest against any officer not connected with the active service being included in the retired list," the secretary said. "If it were merely a bill for compensating the officers of the emergency army, I would approve it.

Speaker Thomas of Texas House, Here Yesterday, Says Disposition Will Be Made of Pen System at Next Session

"I expect some disposition of the present prison system to be made at the next regular session of the legislature, and it is my opinion that a special session should be called to relieve the rural school situation."

Thus spoke Charles Thomas, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, who passed through Wichita Falls Monday on a business mission. Mr. Thomas, who spent a portion of the day at the Kemp hotel, refused to state the nature of his business, although he said that he "always mixed business trips with politics."

In speaking of the prison system, which, he said, has gotten into a big financial tangle, Mr. Thomas said that he feared Texas would be in a tight financial strait before Sept. 1. He stated that Governor Neff had borrowed $750,000 from a firm in Kansas City to be used on the prison system already, and that it would be in debt over a million dollars by the first of the year.

"Three weeks ago 24,000 acres of cotton was washed away on state prison farm lands by the floods," he said, declaring that cotton has been the

INDEPENDENTS CAN VOTE IN PRIMARY HERE

Teeth Pulled Out Of State Measure By Local Heads

Without a dissenting vote, members of the Wichita county democratic executive committee Monday afternoon pulled the teeth of the primary test adopted by the state committee, and let the way open to all those who wandered into other folds and cast their ballots for candidates bearing strange banners to return and participate in this election.

The third section of the new test, the one shutting out of the primary those who voted for candidates other than democratic nominees in 1920, or those who gave aid and comfort in any form to candidates other than the party nominees, was eliminated without discussion on motion of Charles I. Francis.

The two sections remaining constitute practically the party pledge —although the voter assumes an obligation to support all the party nominees, national, state and county—preventing those who normally vote a republican national and state democratic ticket from coming into this year's election with all those who in 1920 bolted the whole ticket.

Other business transacted by the committee, which met in the office of P. B. Cox, chairman at 1:30 Monday, included the drawing for places on the tickets by various candidates, and the apointment of election judges. In the drawing it developed by Judge William N. Bonner, who announced his candidacy for representative in the legislature, place 1, at the eleventh hour Saturday, would not make the race, his withdrawal being telephoned to Chairman Cox early Monday morning.

The names of the candidates will appear in the following order on the official ballot, preceded by the statutory pledge that the voter is a democrat and will support the nominees of the party in the general election:

BOILED POTATOES

Select medium Irish potatoes, as smooth as possible, wash very clean, peel a ring around each potato lengthwise, drop in rapidly boiling water and cook till they can be pierced easily with a fork. Drain off water, place on back of range for a few minutes, covered with a clean folded cloth. Serve with fried country ham with brindle gravy or crisp bacon with cream gravy.

France Also to Join International Business Parley

By Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, June 19.—France's decision to co-operate with the other European powers in the forthcoming negotiations with the Russian soviet had a buoyant influence on the conference here today. Arrangements for the meeting with the bolsheviki were advanced by the formation of three sub-commissions. In accordance with the Genoa agreement, the names of the countries represented on the various sub-commissions will be communicated to Moscow tomorrow.

France's adherence, which was officially announced at today's session by M. Benoist, is not without reservation, however. The French minister read a letter saying that he had been instructed by his government to make known that France would be represented at the meeting on June 26, with the Russians.

FLOOD WATERS

gets to this point, it is believed, and will not send the gauge as high as it did in its earlier stage.

The rise is expected to reach Rio Grande City tomorrow. Whether this will mean widespread damage for this section and below will depend in large measure upon the state of the rise at that time and also the condition of the San Juan river.

While the Southern Pacific railway is repairing washouts between Sanderson and Lozier occasioned by the rise, trains Nos. 101 and 102, the limiteds, are being routed from El Paso to Sierra Blanca, from there to Fort Worth on the Texas & Pacific, to Houston on the Houston & Texas Central, and thence to New Orleans. The reverse route is followed by the westbound trains. The other Southern Pacific trains are going as far as Del Rio west and to Sanderson toward the east.

Following a request from city officials at Eagle Pass, where the vehicle and railroad bridges were washed out late Sunday night, Maj. Gen. John L. Hines tonight started an investigation as to the cost of constructing a pontoon bridge over the Rio Grande. A dispatch received in San Antonio tonight from Eafle Pass said the request had been made also of the war department through Congressman Garner.

Suffering in Mexico

Reports received in San Antonio indicate much suffering at Piedras Negras, directly across the Rio Grande from the Texas town. The inhabitants of the Mexican town depend upon Eagle Pass for their food supply and traffic between the two cities was interrupted late Sunday night when the railroad and vehicle bridge valued at $250,000 went out. Telephone and telegraph lines across the river also are gone.

The crest of the rise reached Eagle Pass early this morning, the gauge registering 50 feet, the highest in 56 years. The river from a half to one mile wide, but was rapidly falling.

Loss to farmers in irrigation ditches will run into the thousands.

Sabinas, Mexico, is reported almost washed away by the Sabinas river, and Allende, severely damaged.

A corps of about 100 men were in a race tonight with time, constructing a three-foot levee in a low-land section of Rio Grande City, between there and Fort Ringgold, to protect that border town from a flood which was expected to reach there at 12 o'clock tonight, following an exceptionally heavy rain this afternoon at Zapata, 70 miles up the river, causing sharp rises in the river there and at Roma, 15 miles west of here.

Levees Hold

The levee here covers a stretch of lowland more than 500 feet wide. Little fear of a flood in the town proper is entertained, owing to the location of the city on comparatively high ground.

With the water receding today at Eagle Pass after the passage of the crest at 2 o'clock in the morning, interest in the Rio Grande flood centered on Laredo. A rise is generally felt at the latter point about 24 hours after passing Eagle Pass, according to weather observer Jarboe of the San Antonio bureau.

AID SOUGHT FOR FLOODED COUNTRY.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The American consul at Piedras Negras, Mexico, reporting today to the department from Eagle Pass on the American side of the river said communication with Piedras Negras had been entirely cut off when flood waters washed away both bridges last night. He recommended that steps to re-establish communication with a pontoon bridge be taken and the state department referred the matter to the war department and also prepared to take it up with Mexican federal authorities as the maintenance of the destroyed international bridge, which the pontoons would replace is a joint responsibility on the two governments.

The consul apparently was on the American side of the river at the time the crest of the flood struck the bridges and carried them away. His message said the flood was subsiding today but that indications were that another crest was in sight. His message gave no estimates of property losses on either side of the river, nor did it mention whether there had been any casualties.

ing into the sanitary fund and all traffic funds to the street funds.

The budget this year must be rigidly lived up to, if Commissioner Shepherd's suggestion is carried out.

"I am in favor of agreeing on this budget, and then if a department runs out of money, I am in favor of saying to the head of that department 'You've had your money—not another nickel,'" he declared.

The largest single appropriation is that from the general fund, providing for the departmental running expenses, which is $301,766.51. Next comes the appropriation for the interest and sinking fund, $205,860.64, and that for the street funds, $56,-175.58.

The largest of the departmental appropriations made from the general fund is for the hospital, $62,000—most of which, however, comes out of money derived from bond issue and not from general revenue. That is about a fifth of the total.

The fire department comes next with roughly a sixth of this appropriation, $53,488.45.

Other departmental appropriations are:

Inspections, $4,650.00.
Administration, $18,700.00.
Contingent, $5,000.00.
Reserve, $4,620.00.
Engineer, $6,829.67.
City hall, $27,000.00.
Hospital, $62,000.00.
Tax assessor office, $9,100.00.
City clerk office, $9,400.00.
Sanitary, $16,821.50.
Sewer operation, $1,512.00.
Notes matured, $59,944.56.
Fire station, $25,000.00.
Police, $30,500.00.

Stock Company Opens At Majestic

The Roy E. Fox stock company, a company of dramatic vaudeville and musical artists, opened an indefinite engagement at the Majestic theater on last night to a crowded house.

Leon (Jim) Bostwick and Hazel Fox were seen in the leading parts supported by a cast, namely: V. A. (Toby) McIntosh as comedian, who kept the audience in a continual laughter all during the story; Margaret Espy and Roy Fisher were seen in the light comedy parts; Gordon Bostwick as the mean man (the villian); Bones Wilkinson and Mae Fisher were seen in the characters.

Vaudeville was run between the acts and an orchestra is carried by this company. The same program will be on again tonight with a matinee tomorrow afternoon and again tomorrow night. Program changing again on Thursday night, at which time another good story, entitled, "What a Woman Will Do." It is the intention of Mr. Fox to keep this company in the Majestic all during the summer. Special arrangements have been made to keep the house cool and good programs will always be seen changing twice each week, on Mondays and Thursdays, with a matinee on each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

HOUSTON, Texas, June 19.—Frankie Garcia of Houston outpointed Battling Reddy of New York in a 12-round bout, according to newspaper men at the ring side. Garcia had the better of the last few rounds.

Kid Flake of Galveston knocked out Johnny Romaine of Philadelphia in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 19.—Jack Dempsey will meet Andre Andersen of Chicago in a five round exhibition bout here on the night of Monday, July 3, Dan Lackey, local boxing promoter, announced tonight.

GALVESTON, Texas, June 19.—Sam Langford of Boston and Bear-Cat Wright of Galveston, went 12 rounds to a draw here tonight as a climax to the emancipation day celebration here. The decision, however, met with disfavor from many in the audience, who contended that it should have been given to Langford.

ELECTION ON CHARTER LIKELY

Interior Tax Limits May Be Abolished

Steps for the calling of a charter amendment election at an early date for the purpose of abolishing the "interior" tax limits, or in other words the abitrary divisions of the taxes into the various funds as now provided, in order that some of the departments which are now chronically in the red may have a living allowance at the expense of others which have more money than they need each year, were set in motion by the city council Monday night.

The steps were taken following the passage of and discussion of the ordinance making appropriation for the next year which, in spite of the most rigid cuts in all departments will result in the city's running further behind unless surplus funds derived in certain tax funds may be devoted to other departments.

The city will not be asked to increase the $2 maximum tax limit now written into the charter. It will be asked to abolish the limits which provide that 60 cents of the taxes levied go into the general fund, 15 into the street, 12 into the park and 3 into the library, $1 into the interest and sinking funds, etc., allowing the application of the money as the council finds to the best interests of the city. This results in the street fund, which may receive only 15 cents, running far behind, while the park fund, for instance, which is allowed only 3 cents on the hundred less than the streets in the revennes, always has money in excess of its needs, and the interest and sinking funds sums far in excess of their needs, and resulting in the street department being chronically broke in spite of only a "lick and a promise" toward actual maintenance of the streets.

On the basis of the same tax rate and renditions of last year, $1.06, or 34 cents less than the limit now provided and 84 cents less than the constitutional limit for cities, the abolishing of the arbitrary provision would have put the city actually about $60,000 to the good for the last year.

The tax rate of the city of Wichita Falls, even were taxes placed would be much lower than that of to the limit allowed by charter, the leading cities of Texas, it was pointed out, most of whom are up to the constitutional limit. The relation of the general and street funds in Wichita Falls is 60 to 15 cents, while in Fort Worth and Dallas, for instance, it is 50 for the general to 75 for the street, it was pointed out at the meeting.

The calling of a charter election for this purpose was indicated as an early necessity by Mayor Cline before the end of his term, and was brought up again Monday night by Mayor Collier.

"It will have to be done sooner or later, if the city is to continue to function as a city should," Mayor Collier said.

"At the same time I did not wish to bring it up until we had shown the people a disposition to trim expenses to the bone," he said to members of the council, who were objecting that the allowances for their departments for the coming year were too small.

Something like 90 days will be required before the matter may come to a vote. City Attorney Mann indicated the legal procedure. He is preparing the instruments necessary to start the matter at an early meeting of the council.

Ordinance Up For Loan to City

Success of the efforts of the city to secure a $250,000 ten-year lease to take up its floating indebtedness was indicated Monday night by the presentation of the necessary ordinance for the loan as drawn up by the attorneys of the financial house making the loan to the city.

The ordinance was passed on its first reading, and is to be passed on the next two meetings at special meetings of the council to be held today and tomorrow. Today's meeting will be at 3:00 this afternoon.

The new plumbing inspection ordinance and the ordinance granting the Katy necessary franchise changes changes in connection with the building of its new freight house were passed on second readings.

VET REUNION OPENS AMID GALA SCENES

Richmond Proves Be Genial Host For Grey Army

By Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., June 19.—All the affection and sentiment that an unforgetting community could expect today was bestowed by Richmond residents on the gray-clad soldiers, who, from every section of the south, once more have gathered within the historic city's borders for the thirty-second annual reunion of the United Confederate veterans.

As if sensing, in some measure, the possibility that this may be the last time when the fast thinning band of men, who fought for the confederacy, will meet together in the city that once was the heart of their beloved cause, Richmond folk, in countless ways, are showing these aged veterans that they are not forgetting, and that the south still cherishes with abiding pride the deeds that gave the gray armies undying fame sixty years ago.

Special trains last night and all day today arrived with veterans, their families and friends. As the old soldiers detrained they were met by boy scouts who tenderly and manfully led them to their quarters.

Within the eloquent picture of youth and age, when boy scout led his honored charge to a waiting home, today was painted a little sidelight of the spirit that had caught the day. Upon reaching the front of a building from whose superstructure waved the Stars and Bars, an old white haired veteran, his arm linked with that of a boy scout, reverently uncovered in salute and with head erect, proudly passed his beloved banner. At the same moment he met a comrade going in the opposite direction.

"Brother," said the latter, "you'll have to keep it off; they're all over town."

Rich and Poor Alike.

Many of these aged men have come here feeble and penniless. But it matters not their rank, if only in the dark days of '61 and '65 they followed Lee and Jackson, they are honored guests in the mansions of the rich or the cottage of the poor, according to their chance.

A rechecking late today of the number of veterans attending the reunion indicates that less than 4,000 are in the city—remnants of what once was a glorious legion. A problem has been found in the matter of housing the visitors, who with the veterans, it is estimated, number 50,000.

money-making crop of the prison system.

Texas has nearly 75,000 acres of land which is attached to the prison system, he said, 35,000 of which is in cultivation. In this connection, Mr. Thomas said that rather than place the prisoners on the farms to work the rest of their lives, "I think the prison should be moved to within 75 miles of Austin, let the long term prisoners hire out to manufacturing industries which could place their plants within the prison walls at a gain to them, and place the short-termers on the public roads."

The visitor said that he favored paying each of the prisoners a small remuneration for their daily work, and making them send the money back to their homes, "for," he said, "there are many of them that have families who need help."

There are over 3,000 prisoners in the state penitentiary and on state farms at the present time, Mr. Thomas said.

"I agree with the rural school advocates that something should be done to relieve the rural school situation," Mr. Thomas stated, "and I think a special session of the legislature should be called to handle that matter."

In speaking of the state depository act, which Mr. Thomas said "I read more about in the Record News this morning," the visitor recalled that he was the proponent of the measure in the house, after it had been passed in the senate through the activity of its author, Senator Hopkins of Denton. The bill, he said, needs some changes to insure equitable and just distribution over the state.

"However, it is bringing in $500,000 per year interest on state funds," he concluded, "whereas before we didn't get anything."

INDICT HIGH ARMY OFFICER

Neutrality Violation Is Charged

By Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., June 19.—A federal indictment today was made public, charging Lieut. Col. Marcellus H. Thompson, sone-in-law of George Harvey, ambassador to the court of St. James, with conspiring to violate the neutrality laws by attempting to ship arms to Sin Feiners, aboard the freighter East Side, in whose bunkers were found 495 machine guns, when she was seized at Hoboken a year ago.

With Colonel Thompson was indicted the Auto Ordnance company of which he is president, and seven other individuals, including alleged purchasing agents, salesman and truck men. Colonel Thompson, who served with distinction in the American expeditionary forces, and two other defendants, pleaded not guilty in Newark this afternoon and were released in $2,500 bail each.

PHOTOS ILLUSTRATE RADIO LECTURES

(By International News Service.)

DAYTON, Ohio, June 19.—By means of the exhibition of pictures simultaneously with the broadcasting of his lecture by radio, R. Hayes Hamilton, Xenia, expects to revolutionize lecturing customs here.

At the same time that the Rike Kumler wireless station here is sending out Mr. Hamilton's lecture on the Yellowstone National Park there will be thrown upon screens in Columbus, Ohio, Xenia, Ohio, and St. Paul Minn., 42 hand-colored stereopticon telephotographs illustrating the lecture.

It is claimed this will be the first time the radio has been used in an attempt to give an illustrated lecture in a number of places at the same time.

Each picture has been numbered. Each series will be announced before being shown. This will enable the operators in the three cities to be sure and show the correct pictures simultaneously while the lecture is progressing.

Hamilton, while an officer of the American Red Cross, entertained disabled soldiers as a traveling lecturer. He originated, it is claimed, the plan of throwing the pictures on the ceiling, instead of the wall, in order that bedridden patients, reclining on their backs, could be entertained.

Shoot Oil Well; Get New Sand in Kemp-Munger-Allen Pool

K. M. A. WELL GETS NEW TEST

Producer In Block 25 Now Flowing

With a flow estimated between 250 and 300 barrels a day resulting fro man experiment in shooting the 1,500 foot sand in an old 1,700 foot well in the Kemp Munger Allen pool on Monday, prospects are good for an immediate revival of activities in this field, which has been almost dormant for over a year.

The well experimented upon was one belonging to J. M. Franklin, on lot 17, block 25, in the original K. M. A. pool. The casing was shot at 1,560 feet, where the log of the well showed a sand formation, when the well was drilled about three years ago. The well was taken down to the 1,700 foot sand, without any testing of the shallow sand. In the original K. M. A. field the 1,500 foot sand, which was later developed in some very nice wells further south, was unnoticed, the main interest being to hunt for the deep sand.

The Cline Oil Company is preparing to shoot an offset well, it is stated. Success to this venture will probably mean considerable activity of this sort, where the 1,700 foot wells have dropped considerably in their production. The Franklin well had ceased producing, it is stated.

Not a Gallon of Crude Oil Imported During First Two Months of Year as Against 80,000 Gallons Last Year

By B. N. TIMMONS,
Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The imports of the principal petroleum products into France during January and February included no receipts of crude oil, as against an average monthly imports of about 10,000 gallons in 1921, and about 80,000 gallons during the first two months of 1921, according to official French statistics.

The imports of essences (chiefly gasoline) for consumption amounted to some 28,000,000 gallons, as compared to about 22,000,000 gallons received during the corresponding period of 1921, thus showing an increase of about 27 per cent.

Refined petroleum imports (largely kerosene) totaled about 21,000,000 gallons, which was an increase of 82 per cent over the figure for January and February, 1921. Imports of lubricating and other heavy oils were 572,403 quintals (1 quintal equal to 220.4 pounds) and was nearly three times those for the corresponding period of 1921.

In addition to the products measured in hectoliters, there were imported 1,610 quintals of refined petroleum and 160 quintals of essences for the first two months of the year.

Imports of other mineral-oil products, which the French statistics do not list separately, according to countries of origin, included 112,187 quintals of petroleum residues, 1,296 quintals of petroleum pitch, 3,406 quintals of paraffin and lignite wax, and 65 quintals of vaseline.

HUERTA TO GET NEW PROPOSAL

Oil Magnate Open Conference Today

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The five oil company heads who are to open a series of conferences tomorrow with Adolfo De La Huerta, Mexican minister of finance, will place before him a proposition that their companies act in concert rather than individually in leaving the coast country to prospect for oil in the inland sections of Mexico.

This was stated authoritatively tonight with the explanation that the American oil men believe the oil bearing land along the Mexican Gulf coast has all been proven or disproven by now, so that those seeking new fields must go into virgin territory. Should oil be found inland, petroleum officials contended, it would be too expensive for each of the companies to build separate storage, pumping and pipe line facilities.

The oil officials who are to meet Dr. De La Huerta tomorrow to take up this matter and others connected with the Mexican petroleum situation are the same five who reached an agreement with the Obergon administration in Mexico City last fall by which the tax situation was "made more bearable," as one of them expressed it. They are Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey; E. L. Doheny, chairman of the Mexican Petroleum company; Harry F. Sinclair, of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company; J. W. Vandyke, head of the Atlantic Refining company, and Amos L. Beatty, president of the Texas company.

TEXAS FIRST IN MANY CROPS

State Leads All In Oil Production

BY S. RAYMOND BROOKS
Austin Correspondent.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 19.—Texas stands first in the production of many crops and in the total crop value, ahead of all other states, according to data just compiled by Agricultural Commissioner George B. Terrell, and issued in the form of a statistical agriculture bulletin.

Texas is first in cotton production, with the last reported crop amounting to 4,345,000 bales, Mr. Terrell reports; and is also ahead of all other states in having 167,034,720 acres of land; with $71,802,957 in its state permanent school fund; first with 16,045 miles of railroad, first in value of cattle, possessing livestock valued at $305,610,919; first in the number of farms, having 436,033 distinct farms, and in the total acreage of 114,021,621 acres in farms; and far ahead of other states in its total value of $1,971,542,103 for its 1919 crop, as shown by the 1920 census figures quoted in the bulletin.

Texas leads all other states for the first three months of 1922 in the production of oil, with 33,225,000 barrels reported, though the state was third for 1921, the report shows.

Texas oil production in 1921 was 103,322,000 barrels, or more than one-fourth of the entire world's supply, according to estimates made, though the state was behind both California and Oklahoma in oil production.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The emergency fleet corporation has just entered into a contract with the Texas company for the movement of between 500,000 and 1,000,000 cases of oil to east and south African ports. This movement will be based on monthly shipments and extend over a period of a year.

The emergency fleet corporation's service to east and south African ports was recently established under the managing agency of the Mallory Transport Lines, Inc.

The first sailing will be the S. S. Eastern Glade, June 24, to be followed by the S. S. Eastern Crown, the latter part of July. Monthly sailings will be maintained thereafter and this contract will give the Mallory Transport Lines, Inc., a nucleus of cargo for each ship, thereby assuring shippers of regular sailings of American flag steamers in this trade.

MEXICAN SEABOARD PRODUCTION DROPS

NEW YORK, June 19.—It was announced yesterday that the production of the Mexican Seaboard Oil company for the week ended June 10 was 774,579 barrels, compared with 781,376 barrels for the previous week.

ABANDONED OIL FIELD REOPENS

Tiny Pennsylvania Town Excited

By Associated Press.

TIDIOUTE, Pa., June 19.—This little town which a quarter of a century ago was the scene of heavy oil production, today was again in the throes of an oil excitement, occasioned by two new wells. Hundreds of strangers were here, many of them to watch the operations of the renewed field.

The first well, which was brought in about six weeks ago, reached the oil at 1,050 feet and started with a flow of 155 barrels a day. The second well began with 222 barrels but has fallen off to 150 barrels. Neither of these wells has been shot and the oil which commands $3.50 a barrel, is flowing naturally through the casings.

While the field never completely dried up, it has been fully 20 years, oil experts say, since Tidioute had a well producing more than one barrel a day.

Wells Cemented In Minerva Field

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 19.—Cementing of wells in the Minerva oil field, where drilling has been hampered by inflow of water has virtually ended the trouble, according to J. W. Hassell, chief of the oil and gas division, state railroad commission, who stated he has been making a consistent effort to compel operators to cement wells in such districts as are troubled with water.

GUARANTY TRUST TO PAY DIVIDEND ANGLO-AMERICAN

Special to the Record News.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Anglo-American Oil company, Ltd., of England, has announced that on and after July 15 it will pay a final dividend of 2 shillings per share, free of income tax in the United States, for the year ended Dec. 31, 1921. This brings the total dividend for 1921 up to 15 per cent.

In the United States, the dividend will be paid by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, at the equivalent rate of $4.50 per pound sterling—equal to 45 cents per share—to all holders of share warrants to bearer issued by the company in exchange for Coupon 23, attached to such share warrants.

Two Deputies to Kep Electra Oil Field Peaceful

Because a boom is attracting numerous persons to the Electra oil field, Sheriff Fred K. Smith made preparations Monday and handle any emergency, that might break in that vicinity, and to keep down lawlessness, working, as he said Monday, on the theory that an "ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure."

Deputy Sheriffs Berry and Chas Tarver henceforth will work in the Electra territory, with rigid instructions to prohibit any lawlessness that might develop.

Tarver, who was formerly in charge of the county jail here, has been relieved at the jail by Deputy Sheriff W. W. Allen, who will have direct supervision of the place now.

"I sent Tarver and Berry to Electra to keep down hijacking and gambling," Sheriff Smith stated Monday in speaking of the changes. "I will not permit any violations of the law in Wichita county that come to my attention while I am in office," he continued, "and the crooks positively shall not operate gambling houses anywhere in the county."

ONE PRIMARY FOR GOVERNOR

THERE are several candidates for governor. But considered as a horse race Neff is way out in the lead and the odds-on-favorite.

Most of us will fairly be fed up with politics by the end of July. The senatorial campaign promises to develop vigorously.

If Neff has not your idea of having been better than an average governor, wouldn't it be just as well to vote for him at the first primary, even though you may feel like casting a complimentary vote in favor of one of the minor candidates?

All of us know that it is necessary in Texas to elect a governor for a second term unless he has proven a failure during his first term.

Certain candidates are maintaining that Neff has proven such a failure. If you vote for them, you will be registering your belief also that Neff is a governmental failure.

Incidentally you will be aiding and embarrassing a man without means by forcing him to the expense of a second primary, when he is already faced with the necessity of keeping up a governor's position for two years more upon less than $80.00 a week.

The only Texans who should vote against Neff in the first primary are those who believe that it is desirable that Neff be defeated. The votes against Neff should be protest votes against his first administration.

If you think that Neff is the honest and conscientious executive the writer believes he is, you will vote for him in the first primary, regardless of personal friendship for any other candidate. You will not, however, as a patriotic Texas, cast a complimentary vote for a minor candidate merely because such a candidate is your friend. Such a course would embarrass a sensitive mind, which with almost two years experience back of it, hopes to achieve a vigorous constructive program during the more than two years that remain.

Neff's is not a rabid mind. It is, however, a thorough and a sincere mind. There is real reason to hope that such a mind will achieve during the next two years the courageous activity necessary in the accomplishment of permanent and far-reaching progress.

DEMOCRACY AND EQUALITY

SPEAKING of Caruso's voice and referring to the fact that it was his own peculiar gift, and not common to men, the New York Globe recently observed:

"Nature is not democratic; she gives some women beauty and leaves others, of equal or greater merit, plain; she makes some persons intelligent and some stupid; she endows some with power to please and makes others incapable of inspiring friendship or admiration. In brief, we are not born free and equal nor do we become so; to some the gods bring gifts and others they pass by; these are aristocracies of voices, of beauty and of intelligence. The best democracy can ever do is to give every Caruso a chance to sing."

The idea here expressed is true enough. The wording is not happy. It confuses democracy with equality of personal gifts.

Democracy is equality, but it is only equality of opportunity

All democracy does is to remove artificial and unjust privileges and restrictions.

Far from implying an equality of capacity, democracy is based upon variety and inequality.

It is artificial aristocracies that absurdly call every member of an abritrary group noble, that call every jackdaw and mudhen a nightingale simply because he is somebody's nephew or enjoys some other unearned privilege.

Autocracy, the class system and the theory of heredity, shut the doors to opportunity and give the Carusos no chance to sing.

Democracy is merely the law of Nature as applied to society. Its effect is to give the reward to the man who earns it. And not to some ninny who enjoys the favor of the court.

Democracy has more great men and outstanding samples of genius than artistocracy; the only difference is that they are really great and are not merely called great.

Democracy produces a Lincoln, finding its national leader among the rail splitters.

Democracy discovers and exalts the most skilful statesman in England in the person of a little Welsh attorney while autocracy heaps honors upon the commonplace descendant of a very commonplace German family simply because it is royal.

Always the real leaders of men, the real kings have come up from the common people. The finest flowers in the human flora grow in the woods pasture and not in the hothouse; no privileged class, no Royal house, no carefully selected stock produced a Leonardo or a Michelangelo in art, a Shakespeare or Burns in letters, a Galli Curci or Paderewski in music, a Socrates or Kant in philosophy, an Edison or Pasteur in science, a Wesley or a Knox in religion.

Neither autocracy nor democracy has anything to do with the personal qualification of individuals. All they have to do is with conditions.

Democracy opens all the doors, and lets in the sunshine and free air.

Autocracy is an attempt to improve human society by enclosing it in an artificial edifice of which some chambers may be gilded salons but most are stinking prison cells.

Herbert C Hoover has been told that certain mining kings have advanced the price of coal as much as $5.00 a ton since he issued his price fixing order. Now what is Herbert C. Hoover going to do about it? Isn't business, business?

Hon. George W. Steere, chairman of the county democratic executive committee of Tarrant, is opposed to the state committee test. It is his personal opinion that the state committee made a mistake. His opposition is based on the claim the democratic party should not in the primary shut its doors to congress. George W. Steere is one of the stalwart and consistent democrats of Fort Worth. He insists that converts should be welcomed, in and out of Texas, by those who are in charge of the machinery of the democratic party. Is it going to be a dog fight?

Hell is a lake of fire under the earth but the devil himself never goes near the place. Supreme Dictator Voliva of Zion City, Illinois, makes the announcement. Supreme Dictator Voliva must have visited Chicago and had his feet scorched.

GENEROUS MEN.

Few of us are sordid misere when good counsel should be sprung, and as welter-weight advisers we all wield a fluent tongue. When a man comes up and hits me for a loan of fifty cents, oftentimes my conscience twits me, for I'm prone, like other gents, to indulge in long discourses on the folly of his way, till my larynx sore and hoarse is, and my hair is turning gray. And I mark the victim listen to my words of golden worth, and I see his teardrops glisten as they trickle to the earth. Always I feel shamed and bitter when I've rounded out my spiel, and dismissed the wayworn critter with a guilder or a wheel. If another seedy caller at my wigwam door appears, I will give him half a dollar and not lecture him to tears. For I know that words are useless when a hungry man comes by; they are stale and flat and juiceless, and won't take the place of pie. But the love of declamation gets me when the bo arrives, and I hand him an oration 'stead of honey from the hives. And my ardor's not diminished by the thought that I'm a bore: and the bo, when I have finished, will receive two bits or more.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

MORVICH TELLS THE ARUTH ABOUT A DERBY WINNER'S SENSATIONS.

(Talking to a horse is a comparatively simple thing, but getting an answer is quite difficult. Only a few people have ever done it. For that reason the following interview should be appreciated.

"Would you mind telling me how you won the Kentucky Derby?" asked the reporter, making the initial mistake of approaching Morvich from the right side. A saddle horse must always be approached from the left.

"How I won what?" asked Morvich, regarding the newspaperman out of the corner of his eye the way Mark Hanna used to.

"The Kentucky Derby," repeated the reporter. "The race of last Saturday—the greatest classic of the American turf—the premier event of the racing world—the Blue Grass epic, and all that sort of thing."

"Oh, is that what it was?" asked Morvich, crossing one of his bum knees. "I knew the race was a mile and a quarter, but I didn't think its name was the same distance. So it was the Derby I won, eh?....Well, what of it?"

"The Derby is one of the great fixtures of the turf," explained the reporter, somewhat puzzled by Morvich's inappreciation.

"To me a race is a race. Names don't mean anything."

o o o

"What were your emotions? What were you thinking of as you ran the race?"

"I wasn't thinking of anything but oats," replied Morvich. "I knew the quicker I got it all over with the sooner I'd get back to the barn for lunch and recreation."

o o o

"But the glory of your name going down into turf history as a winner of the great American racing classic, the thrill of flashing past the judges' stand before the cheering thousands, the satisfaction of winning the purse of $50,000, the glow of pride as the floral horseshoe was put about your neck?" asked the reporter.

"Say, did you win the Derby or did I?" asked Morvich sarcastically. "All that stuff you're talking is news to me. As I told you in the first place. I didn't know it was the Derby. And as for my name going down in history nobody even asked me my name, not even the feller that took movies of me after the race. So far as thrill of flashing past the judges' stand first is concerned, it's no particular thrill. As a young man starting out in life I made a resolution always to flash past the stand first; I've always done it, so where's there any thrill? It's got so it actually bores me. On the level, I sometimes think I'd like to finish fourth just to get a new sensation. And as for the floral horseshoe stuff, it made no hit with me. I thought it was a funeral piece. The guy that presented it looked like an undertaker and for a few minutes I thought I'd been sold as a hearse horse. What was the idea of it, anyway?"

o o o

"That was a tribute to your speed and gameness," informed the porter. "You were one of a few horses in turf history to get it."

"I'm glad to know it," replied Morvich, "but they took it away from me right after the pictures. . . . . I didn't get a chance to taste it!"

"Taste it!" exclaimed the reporter. I never had anything like it fed to me and I don't know how good it would have been, but it looked pretty, particularly the green stuff. But when I got to the stable and looked around for it it wasn't there."

The Mucker

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Billy was more nearly happy again than he had been since the day he had renounced Barbara Harding to the man he thought she loved. He read and re-read the accounts in the papers, and then searching for more references to himself off the sporting page he ran upon the very name that had been constantly in his thoughts for all these months—Harding.

Persistent rumor has it that the engagement of the beautiful Miss Harding to Wm. J. Mallory has been broken. Miss Harding could not be seen at her father's home up to a late hour last night. Mr. Mallory refused to discuss the matter, but would not deny the rumor.

There was more, but that was all that Billy Byrne read. The paper dropped from his hand. Battles and championships faded from his thoughts. He sat with his eyes bent upon the floor, and his mind was thousands of miles away across the broad Pacific upon a little island in the midst of a turbulent stream.

And far uptown another sat with the same paper in her hand. Barbara Harding was glancing through the sporting sheet in search of the scores of yesterday's woman's golf tournament. And as she searched her eyes suddenly became riveted upon the picture of a giant man, and she forgot about tournaments and low scores. Hastily she searched the heads and text until she came upon the name — "'Sailor' Byrne!'"

Yes! It must be he. Greedily she read and re-read all that had been written about him. Yes, she, Barbara Harding, scion of an aristocratic house—ultra-society girl, read and re-read the accounts of a brutal prize fight.

A half hour later a messenger boy found "Sailor" Byrne the center of an admiring throng in Professor Cassidy's third-floor gymnasium. With worshiping eyes taking in his new hero from head to foot the youth handed Byrne a note.

He stood staring at the heavy weight until he had perused it.

"Any answer?" he asked.

"No answer, kid," replied Byrne, "that I can't take myself," and he tossed a dollar to the worshiping boy.

An hour later Billy Byrne was ascending the broad, white steps that lead to the entrance of Anthony Harding's New York house. The servant who answered his ring eyed him suspiciously, for Billy Byrne still dressed like a teamster on holiday. He had no card!

"Tell Miss Harding that Mr. Byrne has come," he said.

The servant left him standing in the hallway, and started to ascend the great staircase, but halfway up he met Miss Harding coming down.

"Never mind, Smith," she said. "I am expecting Mr. Byrne," and then seeing that the fellow had not seated her visitor she added, "He is a very dear friend." Smith faded quickly from the scene.

"Billy!" cried the girl, rushing toward him with out-stretched hands. "O Billy, we thought you were dead. How long have you been here? Why haven't you been to see me?"

Byrne hesitated.

A great, mad hope had been surging through his being since he had read of the broken engagement and received the girl's note. And now in her eyes in her whole attitude, he could read, as unmistakably as though her lips had formed the words that he had not hoped in vain.

But some strange influence had seemed suddenly to come to work upon him. Even in the brief moment of his entrance into the magnificence of Anthony Harding's home he had felt a strange little stricture of the throat—a choking, half-suffocating sensation.

The attitude of the servant, the splendor of the furnishings, the stateliness of the great hall, and the apartments opening upon it—all had whispered to him that he did not "belong."

And now Barbara, clothed in some wondrous foreign creation, belied by her very appearance the expression that suffused her eyes.

No, Billy Byrne, the mucker, did not belong there. Nor ever could he belong, more than Barbara ever could have "belonged" on Grand Avenue. And Billy Byrne knew it now. His heart went cold. The bottom seemed suddenly to have dropped out of his life.

Bravely he had battled to forget this wonderful creature, or, rather, his hopeless love for her—her he could never forget. But the note from her, and the sight of her had but served to rekindle the old fire within his breast.

He thought quickly. His own life or happiness did not count. Nothing counted now but Barbara. He had seen the lovelight in her eyes. He thanked God that he had realized what it all would have meant, before he let her see that he had seen it.

"I've been back several months," he said, presently in answer to her question; "but I got sense enough to stay where I belong. Gee! wouldn't I look great comin' up here buttin' in wit youse bunch of highlifes?"

Billy slapped his thigh resoundingly and laughed in stentorian tones that caused the eyebrows of the sensitive Smith on the floor above to elevate in shocked horror.

"Den dere was de mills. I couldn't break away from me work, could I, to chase a bunch of skirts?"

Barbara felt a qualm of keen disappointment that Billy had fallen again into the old dialect that she had all but eradicated during those days upon distant "Manhattan Island."

"I wouldn't o' come up atal," he went on, "if I hadn't o' read in de poiper how youse an' Mallory had busted. I t'ought I'd breeze in an' see wot de trouble was."

His eyes had been averted, mostly, as he talked. Now he swung suddenly upon her.

"He's on de square, ain't he?" he demanded.

"Yes," said Barbara. She was not quite sure whether to feel offended or not. But the memory of Billy's antecedents came to his rescue. Of course, he didn't know that it was such terrible bad form to broach such a subject to her, she thought.

"Well, then," continued the mucker, "wot's up? Mallory's de guy fer youse. Youse loved him or youse wouldn't have got engaged to him."

The statement was almost an interrogation.

Barbara nodded affirmatively.

"You see, Billy," she started, "I have always known Mr. Mallory, and always thought that I loved him until—until——" There was no answering light in Billy's eyes—no encouragement for the words that were on her lips. She halted lamely. "Then," she went on presently, "we became engaged after we reached New York. We all thought you dead," she concluded simply.

"Do you think as much of him now as you did when you promised to marry him?" he asked, ignoring her reference to himself and all that it implied.

Barbara nodded.

"What is at the bottom of this row?" persisted Billy. He had fallen back into the decent pronunciation that Barbara had taught him, but neither noticed the change. For a moment he had forgotten that he was playing a part. Then he recollected.

"Nothing much," replied the girl. "I couldn't rid myself of the feeling that they had murdered you, by leaving you back there alone and wounded. I began to think 'coward' every time I saw Mr. Mallory. I couldn't marry him, feeling that way toward him, and, Billy, I really never loved him as—as—" Again she stumbled, but the mucker made no attempt to grasp the opportunity opened before him.

Instead he crossed the library to the telephone. Running through the book he came presently upon the number he sought. A moment later he had his connection.

"Is this Mallory?" he asked.

"I'm Byrne—Billy Byrne. De guy dat cracked your puss fer youse on de Lotus."

"Dead, hell! Not me. Say, I'm up here at Barbara's."

"Yes, dats wot I said. She wants youse to beat it up here's swift as youse kin beat it."

Barbara Harding stepped forward. Her eyes were blazing.

"How dare you?" she cried, attempting to seize the telephone from Billy's grasp.

He turned his huge frame between her and the instrument. "Git a move!" he shouted into the mouthpiece. "Goodbye!" and he hung up.

Then he turned back toward the angry girl.

"Look here," he said. "Once youse was strong on de sob stuff wit me, tellin' me how noble I was, an' all de different tings youse would do fer me to repay all I done fer youse. Now youse got de chance."

"What do you mean?" asked the girl, puzzled. "What can I do for you?"

"Youse kin do dis fer me. When Mallory gits here youse kin tell him dat de management is all on again—see?"

In the wide eyes of the girl Billy read a deeper hurt than he had dreamed of. He had thought that it would not be difficult for her to turn back from the vulgar mucker to the polished gentleman. And when he saw that she was suffering, and guessed that it was because he had tried to crush her love by brute force he could carry the game no further.

"O Barbara," he exclaimed, "can't you see that Mallory is your kind—that he is a fit mate for you. I have learned since I came into this house a few minutes ago the unbridgeable chasm that stretches between Billy Byrne, the mucker, and such as you. Once I aspired; but now I know just as you must have always known, that a single lifetime is far too short for a man to cover the distance from Grand Avenue to Riverside Drive.

"I want you to be happy, Barbara, just as I intend to be. Back there in Chicago there are plenty of girls on Grand Avenue as straight and clean and fine as they make 'em on Riverside Drive. Girls of my own kind, they are, and I'm going back there to find the one that God intended for me. You've taught me what a good girl can do toward making a man of a beast. You've taught me pride and self-respect. You've taught me so much that I'd rather that I'd die back there beneath the spears of Oda Iseka's warriors than live here beneath the sneers and contempt of servants, and the pity and condescension of your friends.

"I want you to be happy, Barbara, and so I want you to promise me that you'll marry Billy Mallory. There isn't any man on earth quite good enough for you; but Mallory comes nearer to it than anyone I know. I've heard 'em talking about him around town since I came back—and there isn't a rotten story chalked up against him nowhere, and that's a lot more than you can say for ninety-nine of a hundred New Yorkers that are talked about at all.

Miss Boyd Entertains Friends With Unique Party Saturday Night

Deviating somewhat from the usual form of entertainment, Miss Frances Boyd was hostess to a group of friends at a balloon swimming party given at the Golf club Saturday evening, celebrating her fourteenth birthday.

After a good time spent in the water, a dainty refreshment course was served at the club.

Decorations of balloons featured the dining room decorations and were also given for favors.

Those in the party included: Misses Elizabeth Couper, Helen Grisham, Doris and Reva Ray Brown, Thelma Fisher, Margaret McDonald, Fay Fisher and Evelyn Frances Lyle.

Chaperones were: Mrs. J. F. Boyd and Mary Colquitt.

WICHITANS REMINDED OF DAY NURSERY TOTS.

Wichitans are reminded before they commence their pilgrimage to various summer homes, that the permanent home for the Day Nursery has been bought and it is hoped by the federation women who have the management of the nursery in charge, that a large part of the $6,300, the amount paid for the home, will be available to be applied on the price of the property before the local women begin to leave. The home is a seven room frame building located at 502 Lamar, and known as the Harry Davenport home.

The nursery management expects to move their small charges into the new home by the first of July that they may have the advantage of the more spacious quarters during the warm weather, and those who are leaving for cooler climes, are urged not to forget the little ones left behind that have to be cared for while their mothers are earning a livelihood.

TODAY'S POEM

OLD LADY MAKE-BELIEVE

They call her old in years, and yet
No word she utters of regret
That she is old. Instead her joys
Are Fancy's inexpensive toys—
Dream-dolls that come to her and play
Before her window every day.

She makes believe the flowers that bloom
Before the window of her room
Are glad things that she used to know
In Childhood's happy long ago.
She talks to each as though it were
A living, loving part of her.

She goes to them at dawn's first light
To ask how they had slept last night.
At evening, if the day were hot,
She takes her worn old sprinkling pot,
And while the blossoms nod and blink
Pours each a cool, refreshing drink.

She names each rose that pokes its head
Down from the trellis overhead;
Each Johnny-Jump-up is a clown
Like those the circus brings to town;
The hollyhocks drum majors grand
Who lead her floral circus band.

Ask why she so delights to play
This game of childhood every day,
She'll tell you, as the blushes come
Deep red as her geranium;
"Why should I pine and fret and frown?
Old Age is Childhood upside down!"
—William Herschell in the Indianapolis News.

KLAN TELLS SHERIFF "CLEAN OUT" HOUSES

By Associated Press.

ASTORIA, Ore., June 19.—Copies of a letter addressed to Ole Nelson, sheriff of Clatsop county and signed "Pacific Klan No. 2, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan," were left at newspaper offices here yesterday. The letter warns the sheriff to "clean out" certain roadhouses of the county and threatens in the event of his failure to do so, contempt and drastic action.

HEAVY STORM.

By Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 18.—Damage estimated at several thousand dollars was done here late today by a terrific wind and rain storm that lasted for nearly an hour. A tower on the Constitution building was struck by lightning and bricks scattered for many yards over the street in front of the structure.

Texas Cattlewoman Goes to New York And Has Difficult Time Making Folk Believe That She Really Runs Ranch

Where did you get your idea of a cattleman? From well known fiction, which describes a big, brawny, gruff man with a loud suit, a huge diamond pin in a red tie, a sombrero-like hat and money sticking out of all pockets? Well that description might be true, but there is at least one case on record where it is all wrong.

There is nothing about Mrs. J. Riley Green of Wolfe City, Texas, to remind one of the stories of wild west cattlemen. Mrs. Green is said to be the only woman in the United States who is engaged in business as a sales manager of high grade dairy cattle.

The accompanying photograph of her was taken upon a recent business trip to New York. She was dressed in the mode of the hour and was feminine from her becoming sailor to the tips of her smart gray suede oxfords.

SUMMER JOBS POPULAR WITH COLLEGE GIRLS

According to an analysis of summer jobs held by undergraduate college girls, the girls are now engaged in gainful vacation occupations to a surprising extent. While the survey was confined to two states, it is believed that the facts brought to light are fairly typical of the general trend throughout the country.

Vacation idleness is scorned by 60 per cent of the total enrollment of women undergraduates in one university and by 40 per cent of all those attending the womens' colleges and universities represented in the survey.

Clerking, serving as Western Union operators, demonstrating, acting as cashiers, playing in motion picture theaters, cooking in lumber camps, managing a farm, acting as time keeper in a shop, running machines in factories and dispensing sodas over the soda fountain were among the jobs listed.

Twenty-five to thirty per cent of the girls who answered the questionnaire did stenography, bookkeeping, comptometer operating or general clerical work. Many of the girls are supporting themselves through college, but aside from those who must earn money during vacations to help pay college expenses, there are others by the hundreds to whom the desire to be of some definite use in the world impels them to work through their school vacation.

TITLED WOMEN NOW WORK

Titled women of Quality street are now business women of Bond street in London. Some of the proudest names in Great Britain are connected now with successful businesses of various kinds.

Princess Troubetzkiy, formerly of the Russian imperial court, has just moved into a new studio because her business of painting hats and glassware has become so large that her former quarters proved woefully inadequate. Queen Mary heads the list of her patrons. The princess admits she makes a comfortable living. Her fortune was lost in the Russian revolution.

An up-to-date garage is the property of Gabrielle Borthwick. It is in Park lane and she is on duty at 9 o'clock evening morning. An expert driver and mechanic, she gives her personal supervision to every car that comes into the garage. Her bank account is growing.

FASHIONS

Here Is a Graceful Dinner Dress.

One of the daintiest dinner frocks seen for some time is illustrated in the sketch. It could be made of a pale yellow taffeta and trimmed with bands of wide silver braid or cloth of silver, with silver thread embroidery in a simple dot design outlining the bands. The back of the frock is plain, and it is held in at the rather low waist line with a girdle formed of a twist of the taffeta with a silver cord.

Naturally the color scheme might be varied to suit the individual; but the line of the frock is very graceful and charming. Taffeta always is a good choice for a warm weather evening or dance frock.

Sharing honors with taffeta are various laces. Some very cool, pretty evening gowns made of white, black, or dyed laces are shown, usually made over sheer silk slips in self-tone, the only note of color contrast appearing in the ornamental girdle, which may be of metal or semi-precious stones, or consist of a dainty wreath of flowers.

Printed chiffons are also in high favor for evening and dance frocks for summer. These fabrics are so gorgeously colorful that they require absolutely no trimming.

Designs are now beginning to bring out advance displays of frocks, suits, etc., for fall and winter. Among the novel notes is the frock with skirt that is quite plain in the back and with decided fulness or flare in front. For instance, in a navy crepe frock displaying this feature the lower part of the skirt front was cut in a sort of circular or apron effect, giving at first the impression that the wearer had the skirt on wrong, and that the fulness really belonged in the back. But it did not!

Three piece suits or frocks with matching coats promise to be popular again. Some of the handsomest of the early fall street outfits are fashioned along these lines.

MURDER CHARGE FOLLOWS SHOOTING

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, June 19.—A charge of murder was filed today against C. T. Goodson, following the fatal shooting last night of George Buzzett, 19, newspaper salesman. Goodson surrendered to the police after the shooting. The shooting followed a quarrel earlier in the evening when Goodson, his sister and another couple looked in at a dance hall. Buzzett's body was sent this morning to Austin, where his mother resides.

Little Stories for Bedtime

JIMMY AND UNC' BILLY TELL DIFFERENT STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest didn't know what to believe. First came Peter Rabbit with the strangest kind of a story about being chased by a terrible creature without legs, head or tail. He said that it had come down the hill where Prickly Porcupine lives in the Green Forest. Jimmy Skunk, who, you know, is not afraid of anything had been sent to call on Prickly Porky and ask him if he had seen any strange creature such as Peter Rabbit had told about. He had said that he had not been any stranger in that part of the Green Forest, and Jimmy Lad straightway returned to the Green Meadows and told all his friends there that Peter Rabbit must have had something the matter with his eyes or else was crazy, for Prickly Porky hadn't been away from home and yet had seen nothing unusual.

At the same time Unc' Billy Possum was going about in the Green Forest telling everybody he met that he had called on Prickly Porky and that Prickly Porky had told him that Peter Rabbit undoubtedly had seen something strange. Of course Jimmy Skunk's story soon spread through the Green Forest and Unc' Billy Possum's story soon spread over the Green Meadows and so nobody knew what to believe or think. If Jimmy Skunk was right, why, Peter Rabbit's queer story wasn't to be believed at all. If Unc' Billy was right, why, Peter's story wasn't as crazy as it sounded.

Of course all this aroused a great deal of talk and curiosity, and those who had the most courage began to make visits to the hill where Prickly Porky lives to see if they could see for themselves anything out of the usual. But they always found that part of the Green Forest just as usual, and always, if they saw Prickly Porky at all, he seemed to be fast asleep, and no one liked to wake him to ask questions. Little by little they began to think that Jimmy Rabbit's terrible creature existed only in Peter's imagination. About this time Unc' Billy Possum told of having just such an experience as Peter had. It happened just as it did with Peter, very early in the morning, just as he was passing the foot of the hill where Prickly Porky lives.

"Ah was just passing along minding mah own business, when Ah heard a noise up on the hill behind me," said Unc' Billy, "and when Ah looked up there was something coming straight down at me and Ah couldn't see any legs or head or tail."

"What did you do, Unc' Billy?" asked Booby Coon.

"What did Ah do? Ah did just what you'alls would have done—Ah ran!" replied Unc' Billy, looking around he little circle of forest and meadow people listening with round eyes and open mouths.

"Yes, sah, Ah done run and Ah didn't turn around until Ah was safe in mah holler tree."

"Pooh!" sneered Reddy Fox, who had been listening. "You're a coward. I wouldn't have run! I would have waited and found out what it was. You and Peter Rabbit would run away from your own shadows."

"You don't dare go there yourself at daybreak tomorrow!" retored Unc' Billy.

"I do, too!" declared Reddy, angrily, though he didn't have the least intention of going.

"All right. Ah'm going to be up in a tree where Ah can watch tomorrow mo'ning and see if yo' are as brave as yo' talk," declared Unc' Billy.

Then Reddy knew that he would have to go or else be called a coward. "I'll be there," he snarled angrily, as he slunk away.

THEY'RE HIGH

By ELOISE

No, it is not skirts they are wearing high in Paris this year. Indeed, skirts are even longer than they have been for some time. It is collars which milady has decided to wear even for the summer months. Several tailored frocks shown by leading Paris designers feature the high collar.

Here is a smartly tailored gown which will serve nicely on the cooler evenings. The gray cloth of the skirt is combined with a blouse of striped material. The skirt has two huge pleats at each hip and a wide belt of the striped material. The high collar goes to the extreme for summer wear when it adds a bit of fur at the neck. The final French idea is added in the sleeves which have the magic touch given by the "ragged" ribbon effect.

BABIES KEEP WATCH OVER MOTHER'S BODY

By Associated Press.

HOUSTON, June 19. — Liberty county officers are investigating the death of Mrs. Jerry McShan whose body was found Sunday afternoon at her home near Cleveland, Texas. Apparently she had been dead for several days and the skull was crushed. A pistol near the body had been fired but another pistol was found in the yard from which two shots had been discharged.

By the side of the body were two children, one three years old and the other seven months old. They apparently had been without food since their mother's death and one of them was in a serious condition.

Beauty Spots

By MABEL CARTER

No. 21 of Series

Beautiful, magnificent, gorgeous are among the many descriptive adjectives used by passersby when speaking of the lovely Jeff Waggoner home on Buchanan street, but the casual observer does not see half of the beauty of the place, for it is not visable from the street.

A large lawn extending the full length and breadth of the front yard, is fenced off from the back and garage on one side, and from a rose garden on the other by a hedge of shrubbery. And right here let me stop and tell you about the wonderful rose garden. A white lattice fence incloses it on the east and west sides with entrances of arched gates over which Dorothy Perkins rose vines trail their way. When in season these vines are full of wonderful dainty pink roses. The garden is divided into circles and diamond shaped beds surrounded by gravel walks. A large bunch of red cannas furnish the adornment of the central bed surrounded by shasta daisies, periwinkles, nasturtiums, roses and other colorful fragrant blossoms.

A diamond-shaped bed completely filled with princess weathers as a feature, the flowers looking their prettiest in the fall and winter, while another bed filled with large brilliant red double poples nearby, are the show of the bower during the spring season. In a hedge which divides the grounds from those of the neighbor on the south, are many colors of the old-fashioned senia, intermingled with the lavender shades of the soft cedar, cannas of various colors, and many other blossoms and shrubs.

The hedge fence which separates the lawn from the garden, is arranged of many varieties of vines, and shrubbery. One of particular beauty, as well as of unusual rarity, is a bush resembling the holly tree in winter, with the rich green leaves and red berries. On the back fence are many honeysuckle and Dorothy Perkins rose vines. Rambling ivy also wends its way over many parts of the house.

Beautiful boxes filled with foliage plants and verbenia are at the bottom of rose vines which run over a lattice on either side of the door, leading into the house. The lawn is terraced up to the porch, where large white urns filled with ferns and foliage plants are arranged on either side of the entrance.

In the center of all this beauty is one of the most imposing homes in the city, constructed of red fire proof brick, and built on the quaint colonial style of architecture. This is indeed one of Wichita Falls' real beauty spots.

Kansans Will Defy School Dance Rule

By Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kans., June 19.—School teachers' certificate may not be revoked by the state superintendent for dancing and dances may be held in school houses at the discretion of school boards. That is understood to be the substance of an opinion this evening by Attorney General Richard J. Hopkins.

The opinion is being prepared as a result of action by State Superintendent Lorraine P. Wooster in refusing to renew the certificate of Mrs. Clara White, school teacher of Eminence, Finney county, because she participated in a dance held at the Eminence school. Earle Dixon, member of the Eminence school board, has announced there will be a dance at the school on July 3, in defiance of Miss Wooster's orders.

CHURCH WORKER GETS RESULTS FROM ADS

By International News Service.

BOSTON, June 18.—Paid advertising is a phase of church efficiency which gets results, Mrs. Caroline B. Atherton, corresponding secretary of the Alliance of Unitarian and other Liberal Christian women, told anniversary week delegates at the annual meeting in Tremont Temple.

As a result of a co-operative advertising programe to promote the distribution of religious literature, 96 Alliance branches, the American Unitarian association and the Unitarian Laymen's league, she declared, received more than 6,000 requests for publications from parts of the world as remote as Alaska and the Malay states.

TALK OF NATIONAL LEAGUE

A few weeks ago the Braves were on a well-greased toboggan headed for the deepest, darkest corner of the National league cellar. Boston fans were kissing 'em good-bye. Now the team is going at a breakneck pace. Oeschger, Miller, Fillingim and McQuillan are hurling great ball and getting good support. The Beaneaters' recent feat in licking the Cardinals three straight and then annihilating the Giants indicated their present speed.

Shrine Committee Explains Diamond Ring Proposition to Young Ladies Of Wichita and Adjoining Section

The shrine commitee addresses this to the ladies of this section:

The Shrine contestants for the most popular girl in Wichita Falls and surrounding territory is getting under way very satisfactorily. However, there is still a wonderful opportunity for some of our popular young ladies to enter and win this car. The work done so far has been preliminary and if you enter your name today you will have as good a chance as anyone to win.

Any lady entering this contest from now until June 22 will be given a valuable prize, and a prize is being arranged for those already in. Look over the list of contestants and you will fully realize, being as popular as you are, that you will have no trouble in winning.

The first prize will be a five-passenger Chevrolet phaeton and then after the car has been awarded, the ones standing next highest, both in the city and in the country, will each receive a $300.00 diamond ring.

The winner, or the one proving to be the most popular by receiving the most votes, will be crowned Queen Wichita at the circus. The balance, according to their standing, will be assigned various positions in the queen's court. The opportunity to enter is open to any lady, married or single, in Wichita Falls and surrounding territory. Do not miss this opportunity to be acclaimed the most popular lady in this section.

The list of contestants and their standing is as follows: Miss Jolena Graves, 12,200 votes; Miss Anna Mae Cato, 12,000; Mrs. Gertrude Green 11,500; Miss Maude Murphy, 11,000; Miss Louise Fitzgerald 11,000; Miss Robbye Harrison 10,000; Miss Ethel Morton 10,000; Miss Gertrude Hines 10,000; Miss Louise Friess 10,000; Miss Mildred Day 10,000; Mrs. Maye Bennett 9,500; Miss Sadie Addicks 9,000; Miss Thelma Cain 7,000

Spectacular Gains Featured

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Aside from a few speculative favorites, whose strength was traceable to technical conditions, trading in today's stock market showed no material alteration from recent unsettled movements. Dealings were the lightest of any full session in many weeks, scarcely totaling 735,000 shares.

Further spectacular movements in Mexican oils were the outstanding features. Mexican Petroleum, losing first at a premium of 1-32 per cent and later at 1-16c scored an additional extreme advance of 17½ points to the year's record price of 163¼, closing at a net gain of 14¼ points.

Pan-American A and B, shares, general Asphalt, Standard Oil of California, California Petroleum, Pacific Oil and Houston Oil were 2 to 4 points up at their best, but eased substantially under realizing.

Steels, equipments, motors and shippings followed the same uncertain course, gross advances of 1 to 3½ point in those issues suffering general impairment in the last half of the session. Studebaker, one of the day's foremost features, retained only a small part of its 3-point rise.

Although last week's report of the clearing house banks disclosed the year's high record for actual loans and discounts, money on call remained easy. The initial rate of 3 per cent was lowered to 2½ per cent shortly after noon and recent quotations for 30 and 60 day loans were unaltered.

Steady reactions marked the day's trading in foreign exchange, the British rate falling almost 5 cents from last Saturday's final price. French, Italian and Belgium bills dropped 15.10 and 8 points respectively, the German mark approximated .030 and declines among neutrals ran from 8 to 20 points. Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland remittances showing little support.

"FLIVVER" IS LUXURY SAYS FRENCH COURT

(By International News Service)

PARIS, June 18.—Is a flivver a luxury?

French law says it is. It demands a "taxe de luxe" of 10 per cent on everything that runs on four wheels and east gasoline, irrespective of age, race or previous condition of servitude.

M. Maurice Ajam, deputy, comes to bat for the flivver. He proposes that the chamber of deputies suppress the tax on all motor cars of less value than 15,000 francs (about $1,500, which, in France, means flivvers and their kin.

"It won't make much difference in the budget," M. Ajam is reported to have argued.

RUTH HAS RIVAL

(By International News Service)

ROSEVILLE, Ill., June 18.—With the score tied "Bambino" Stork made his 17th "home run," bringing the male representatives into the lead. The latest tally was made at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah McBride, where at ninth son now resides. Stork is making no predictions as to what his total will be, but a record mark is expected.

PRISONER'S FATE DECIDED BY DICE

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 18.—Judge Prindiville and newspaper reporters 'shot crap" in the courtroom in the South Clark street station. But not for the pastime. The little black spots on the ivories were to determine the fate of a prisoner.

The dice rattled across the judge's bench, while a score of policemen and court attaches watched with interest. The only one present who did not enjoy the proceedings was Ambrose Levins. Ambrose had just told the judge that he was the maker of the dice, which were crooked. One pair had only sixes, fives and threes on them. Two other pair were "loaded."

One roll was enough for the judge.

"Twenty-five dollars and cost," he said when the "game" was over. "You're worse than a gambler. You furnish the tools with which crooks dupe their victims."

ENGLISH SCIENTISTS DECLARE MILK WAR

(By International News Service)

LONDON, June 18.—Bootleg whiskey may be the cause of controversy in America, but here in "wet" England a controversy is raging over milk.

"Never drink milk; it is an unnatural food save for the young," declared Dr. C. Webb Johnson.

"Great nations have been fed upon milk and have prospered— the Scotch and the British, for instance," retorted Prof. H. E. Armstrong.

That was enough, the fight is on. The pro-milk and the anti-milk advocates are now up to their elbows in ink writing letters to "The Times."

SHARP ADVANCE IN FUTURES

Foreign Demand and Showers Credited

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Reports that foreign spinners were showing greater uneasiness over the question of raw cotton supplies and a renewal of showers or rains in the belt, led a sharp advance in the futures market here today. All months made new high records for the season with October selling at $22.87, or 89 points above the closing quotation of Saturday and 15 points above the low price touched on the reaction of last week. That delivery closed at $22.70 with the general market closing firm at a net advance of 70 to 75 points.

The market opened firm at advance of 24 to 30 points on the higher Liverpool cables, and bullish British trade advices. There was a good deal of realizing by old longs which caused moderate reactions from time to time during the day, but trade buying was reported while there was covering by sellers of last week and fresh commission house buying on the setbacks.

There were also bullish reports from southern spot markets on the advance which extended to $22.90 for July and $22.62 for December, or 86 to 89 points above last week's final quotations. The close was a few points off from the best under profit-taking. Exports for the day were 10,505 bales, making 5,549,562 so far this season. Port receipts, 13,544; United States port stocks, 761,858.

NEW YORK BONDS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 19.—A new record price for liberty third 4¼s at 100.10 and the strength of several oil issues were the only constructive features of today's dull and generally lower bond market. Among government loans Mexican external issues were again most reactionary, the fours and two classes of 5s making net declines of 3 to 5¼ points. British offerings were not appraciably affected by the weakness of exchange, but French municipals, Danish 6s and Dominion of Canada of 1931 showed marked heaviness.

The trend among rails was lower, St. Paul convertible 4½s, Illinois Central 4s of 1952 and underlying issues of the Erie, Seaboard, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Peoria & Eastern and Wheeling & Lake Erie roads recording losses of fractions to almost 3 points.

Maryland 7½s, the regular 8s and warrant 8s were better by one to three points in anticiuation of favorable action on the company's stock in the near future. Total sales, par value, aggregated $13,541,000.

ROMANCE ENDS IN PRISON

Miss Marica Kane.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 14.—Ivor Bassett, 33, was principal of the little school in Ravelstoke, a small village near here.

He was married and everything was lovely in the modest little Bassett home.

Last January Marica Kane, pretty, 21, of good Canadian family, came to teach in the little school.

Now both Marica and Ivor occupy cells in a San Francisco prison.

Once more it was the old story—love at first sight is what they call it, a forgotten wife, a deserted home.

Things went along as usual or nearly so in the little brick school house until a month ago. One morning the pupils came but their teachers were missing. They had answered the call of love.

Marica realizes now that the path of illicit love leads only to a dingy cell but she is defiant never-the-less.

"I'm willing to pay the price for our love." She breathed defiance as she spoke.

"We told his wife of our love for each other; he begged her to give him his freedom. She refused.

"So there was nothing left for us to do but leave—we could not deny the claims of our love."

Their "honeymoon" lasted but three weeks. They had come to Frisco thinking to escape the law but telegraphic warrants followed.

Marica has been ordered returned to Ravelstoke while Bassett faces extradition on larceny charges and possible investigation for violation of the Mann act.

Canadian authorities charge he took school funds when he left.

BUSINESS NEWS

By Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—With automobile makers and other factories clamoring for sheet steel, that branch of the steel industry in the Youngstown district today began a schedule of operations more nearly approaching 100 per cent than at any time since the war boom. Of eight mills scheduled to resume today, seven were able to get enough skilled labor. The addition leaves only three mills of the 113 in the district idle.

NEW YORK.—Mexican Petroleum was the sensation of today's stock market, rising from 145 3-4, last week's final price, to 162 by 2 o'clock, about 50,000 shares changing hands on the rise.

Other foreign oils were strong as also were a number of domestic issues but the market otherwise was irregular.

NEW YORK.—Sharp advances were registered in the market today with prices establishing a new high record for the season owing to a report that foreign spinners were growing nervous over the outlook for next season's supply and the reappearance of unsettled weather with showers or rains in the south.

WASHINGTON.—Existence of a "combination" of banking, railroad and industrial interests dominating industry and deflating labor, charged recently by W. Jett Lauck, representative of the railroad unions, was denied before the senate interstate commerce committee today by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson. The same charges were denied a fortnight ago before the committee by Daniel Willard, chairman of the Baltimore and Ohio board.

NEWARK.—Judge Bodine in federal court today confirmed the sale of the Willys corporation plant at Elizabeth to the Durant Motor car company for $5,525,00. No objections were made to the confirmation.

LOCAL PRODUCE

The leading retailers of the city report that with few exceptions the prices were the same as those of last week. Fresh eggs rose a small margin from their last week's quotation. Butter also rose above its past figure.

There is very little of the early wheat shipped in to date as threshing is just beginning in all the neighborhoods of this vicinity.

Prices ran around the following figures Monday:

Eggs	25c to 35c
Hens	22c
Springs	40c
Butter	30c to 45c
Corn, per bushel	72c
Oats, per bushel	50c
Prairie hay, per bale	40c to 50c
Millet hay, per bale	65c
Baled oat straw, per bale	40c

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE HEAVY

Market Advantage With Sellers

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 19.—With harvesting widespread and weather auspicious, the selling side had the advantage today in the wheat market. Prices closed heavy, 1 3-8c to 1 7-8c net lower, July 1.10 to 1.10 1-8, and September 1.10 3-4 to 1.10 7-8. Corn finished 1-4 to 1-2c down, oats unchanged to 3-8@1-2c higher, and provisions unchanged to 12c up.

Rapid progress in harvest operations was made evident by reports from a great part of the winter crop belt. New wheat was being received at St. Louis and threshing was going on in Illinois, Nebraska also sent word that cutting of wheat had started, and would quickly become general. Big arrivals at Kansas City, 473 carloads, tends further to weaken the market here, as inference being drawn that the carryover of old wheat in the country was greatly in excess of what most traders had supposed.

Changes in hog values governed the provision market.

Voice of the People

OPPOSES KU KLUX.

Asserting that he believes the ku klux klan is antagonistic to America and American principles and ideas, the following letter was received by the Record News. It is published as the opinion of E. Dan Deventer, the writer.

Record News:

I am not a K. K. because the K. K. speaks against and seeks to bring reproach upon a great race of patriotic Americans, the Jews. These people have proven their worth as citizens in the realm of letters, of statesmenship and finance. They have proven their loyalty upon every American battlefield.

I am not a K. K. because the K. K. is fighting against one of the branches of the christian religion, namely those of Catholic faith. Catholics have proven their worth in so many ways that an extended defense of them would be ridiculous and absurd, because it is unnecessary. But let us call to mind the Catholic statesmen, jurists, educators, and philanthropists who are serving humanity at the present day. They have proven true to their country in every emergency in American history and hallowed every American battlfield with their blood.

I am not a K. K. because the K. K. would inaugurate a reign of fear and a system of irresponsible espionage on American soil. This should be condemned by every true American. It has already resulted in outrages and bloodshed.

I am not a K. K. because the K. K., while pretending to uphold the law, freely violate it, for instance:

They go about armed in violation and defiance of the law. They travel the highways with car numbers covered in violation of the law. They attend church with hideous masks and disturb religious worship in violation of the law. They have been caught beating men uncondemned. They have killed officers of the law who tried to protect them. Despite the fact that they work in secret, they are being brought to jusice in practically every state of the union for their unlawful acts.

I am not a K. K. because the K. K. seeks to discredit and belittle the great statesman Woodrow Wilson. Against such defamers he needs no defense.

It seeks to aid statesmanship by slander. It seeks to aid christianity by untruth and an un-christian spirit. It seeks to aid law enforcement by breaking the law. It is organizing hypocracy and intolerance. It is marshalled and led by men full of bigotry and deceit.

Men join the K. K. thinking it is a movement to aid law enforcement. They leave it because they find it to be an aid to hoodelism.

Too many join the K. K. without a knowledge of what it is trying to do. A careful reading of their papers show that it is trying to divide the people into antagonistic camps. It would array Protestant against Catholic, Jew against Gentile. It rivals the dirtiest of the radical newspapers in vituperation and abuse of those it dislikes.

If people would read their propagandist literature and newspapers, few would join them.

The more I read of it, the more certain it appears that there is no room in America for such an organization and no room in the hearts of real Americans for the prejudice that it engenders.

"E. VAN DEVENTER."

Terrell Man Reports Bealing

By Associated Press.

TERRELL, Texas, June 19.—Chet Lawson, proprietor of a sandwich stand, told police today that he was abducted from his place of business Saturday night and given a whipping. Lawson said he was tied to a tree by masked men and that he later freed himself by cutting the rope with his teeth. He said he was not severely beaten.

BEYOND RECALL.

Caller—'Ere, mister, if I gets a restitution of conjugal rights against my 'usband, can the law make 'im come back to me?

Lawyer—We could get a decree to that effect, madam. Where is your husband?

Caller—'E's doin' a life sentence. —London Opinion.

JUDGE CHARGES 30TH JURORS

He Tells Value Of Perjury Conviction

"The judge, sheriff nor any one else decreed that you should come here," Judge H. R. Wilson stated to 12 grand jurors as he charged them Monday morning in the 30th district court for the June term, "but a jury commission of three men, appointed in the proper manner at the last term of court drew your names for service."

The magistrate called the grand jury's attention to this fact in stating how they had come to be on the jury, and stated that it might be well for him to comment on it.

Certain things stated in the penal code of Texas, Judge Wilson said, were requisite to the work of the grand jury.

Judge Wilson called the grand jury's attention to the anti-trust law, stating that the measure was enacted for the purpose of preventing conspiracies for the purpose of fixing prices. He told the 12 jurors that it is unlawful for a common carrier to make a rate for one person that they would not allow to be used by a contemporary.

"When I have finished this," Judge Wilson said in referring to the state law against liquor traffic, "I shall have finished the grand triumvirate —bawdy houses, gaming and liquor— that combines and does more for the manufacture of law violation than any other things."

"Perjury," Judge Wilson declared, "is making a false statement in a procedure at law in a material matter, it isn't telling just a 'common lie.'"

In this connection, the magistrate said that "if you could find a bill on perjury that would bring a conviction, it would do more for this court than anything you could do."

The magistrate explained that the grand jurors could resolve themselves into a petit jury and decide the cases brought before them as an easy method of procedure in voting true bills of indictments. He stated that he had no idea how long the jury would be in session, and urged that the jurors hold no prejudices against those brought before them.

Appointment of a bailiff was left to the discretion of the grand jury, J. A. Richolt being designated as foreman. The jury consists of C. H. Clark, W. R. Hibb, M. J. Gardner, Tom Corridon, O. L. Clark, C. W. Snider, J. A. Wie, L. E. Cowling, J. C. Cooper, I. K. Williams and A. E. Guinn.

Wilbarger Deputy Is Charged

Following a preliminary hearing held before United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz Monday afternoon, Sam Brandon and Earnest Tarpley were held in the sum of $750 bond, while a joint charge of possession of liquor as to defendant F. A. N. O'Neal, former chief deputy of Wilbarger county, was continued for furter investigation.

O'Neal, Tarpley and Brandon were arrested and charged jointly with possession of whisky recently following the discovery of 50 gallons of whisky on the O'Neal farm near Vernon, made by Federal Officer Archie Tyler.

Hearing of the case occupied the entire afternoon, numerous witnesses being placed on the stand by the government in making out its case.

O'Neal claimed that he had found the whisky on a recent raid, and that he had carried it to his place and buried it. He said that he had not taken it to the court house at Vernon or to the Wilbarger county jail because "the sheriff told me not to, that some one was drinking up all the evidence we were getting in such cases."

Who Wants to Wed At Shrine Circus?

STILL WANT TO OUST GARNER

Suit Filed In Supreme Court Monday

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 19.—There was filed in the supreme court today a petition seeking mandamus proceedings against action of the ninth court of civil appeals decision in reinstating Sheriff Garner of Beaumont after he had been ousted from office in the district court because of alleged membership in the ku klux klan.

The petition is styled "E. A. McDowell, judge, versus Hon. L. B. Hightower, chief justice." It was filed by W. D. Gordon of Beaumont.

Judge McDowell, regular judge of that district court, seeks to compel the ninth appeal court to rescind its action in reinstating Sheriff Garner after he had been ousted by a jury trial under Judge Street, sitting in place of Judge McDowell, who had recused himself. "Irreparable damage may be done the public service through the act of the court of civil appeals in destroying the power given by law to the 60th district court," the petition read in part.

The supreme court goes on its three months vacation next week. Wednesday being the final day for decisions. It is thought, however, that this case will be handed down on next Wednesday.

ADMINISTRATRIX NAMED

Mrs. William Baker was appointed as temporary administratrix of the estate of her husband, deceased, by Judge Jones in the county court Monday. The estate includes certain insurance policies that must be executed.

$90 Collected By Corporate Court

A vagrant, two drunks and two traffic violations netted the corporate court a total of $90 collections in less than 10 minutes of procedure Monday morning when police court opened.

It possibly sets a new pace for the court.

The vagrant entered a plea of guilty, was fined $50 because he wasn't the vicious type, paid his fine and walked out with a smile. Two drunks followed him and pleaded guilty, one being fined $15 and the other $10, while two traffic violators pleaded guilty and were fined $10 and $5 respectively.

CHASTAIN FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. O. J. Chastain, age 60, who died in a local hospital at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, were conducted from the Merkle and Lunn chapel Monday morning at 11 o'clock, the Rev. J. Lem Keevil, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery.

School Board Gets Plans For College

Complete plans for the new high school and junior college building, to provide facilities for giving the last two years of high school and first two years of college work to 1,500 students, were received by the school board Monday from W. B. Itner of St. Louis, school architect.

Twenty-five class rooms, two gymnasiums, machine shops for teaching manual arts, an auditorium in which the entire school can be assembled and which will be available for community gatherings, and other features, all of which were fully outlined by Mr. Itner on his last visit about a month ago, are incorporated in the plans.

The outside of the building as shown by the plans has an appearance of simple dignity, the ornate being avoided.

The plans, which are practically the same as carefully considered by the board and approved, will be considered by the board at an early meeting.

ONE DEAD AFTER CORSICANA GUN FIGHT

By Associated Press.

CORSICANA, Texas, June 19.—Ben Roberts, 50, died in a local hospital this morning of wounds received in a shooting affray late Saturday at a farm 12 files southeast of Corsicana. Tom Stewart, 43, brother-in-law of Roberts, is in jail formally charged with the shooting in which Aaron Roberts, son of the dead man, also was wounded slightly.

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."—STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers — You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adapted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure her.

Pimples Keep Young Men Down!

They Make Women, Too, a Puzzle. How S. S. S. Stops Skin Eruptions Positively.

Pimples and skin eruptions have a price,—you pay for every pustule, black-head and pimple on your face. Pimples produce prejudice and prevent prosperity. Your heart may be gold, but who wants to kiss eruptions! Pimply men don't look like the owners of anything. Pimply women, too, are puzzles, with no prospects and no power. Young men and women, here's the positive way out. Physics and purgatives will fail. What you need is a scientific blood-cleanser. S. S. S. is one of the most powerful destroyers of blood impurities. You can prove this in a short time. S. S. S. has been passed on by a jury of millions of people just like yourself. It is considered one of the most powerful vegetable blood-purifiers and flush-pufflers in existence. That's why you hear of so many underweight people putting on lost flesh in a hurry, why you hear of so many rheumatics being freed from this scourge, with S. S. S. Start today with S. S. S. and see your face clear and your skin get ruddier, your flesh firmer. It will give you a boost in your career. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

S. S. S. Will Rid You of the Crushing Pimple-Calamity.

Two Work Hard After Seeing Judge

They were not drunk; they had just had a little "Jake."

At least that's what the pair of defendants told Judge W. B. Chauncey in corporate court Monday morning, as they stood before the bar.

The judge took a look at their hands and then asked them where they were employed. Both had been at work on the dam near here, they testified, and would get back on the job the first chance they had to leave town.

So the court, not always the hard cruel hand that it is taken to be, extended clemency, as it were, and placed both on probation.

They departed in a hurry for their work, and no doubt there were two men busier at the dam yesterday than ever before.

But that's not the first time the corporate court has been lenient; it has been lenient, careful and considerate in practically every instance since the new regime occurred. And several defendants, both those who received fines and those who were discharged, have been heard to say as they left the court room:

"That's a fair court."

Wm. Canty Dies Late Sunday Night

The body of William H. Canty, 33, member of the land department of the Texas company, who died late Sunday night from acute kidney trouble, was taken Monday afternoon to his former home at Pascagoula, Mississippi for burial.

Funeral services were conducted at the family home here Monday afternoon just before departure, by Rev. Mr. George.

Mr. Canty is survived by a wife and two small children, and by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Canty, and brothers, Frank and Herbert Canty, who arrived shortly before his death.

Mrs. Canty and the children are returning to Pascagoula to make their home. Mr. Canty has been connected with the land and lease department of the Texas company here for about three years, and has been for rthe past seven years connected with the company in other capacities.

Highway Routing Again Taken Up

Routing of the Meridian highway through Wichita county is likely to take on more angles.

This was brought out during the meeting of the county commissioners' court Monday, when J. P. Jackson, R. E. Shepherd and Mrs. Adickes were appointed as a committee to ascertain the route best adapted to the city.

The committee is instructed to visit Fort Worth street residents in regard to changing the route to Jalonic street.

Jalonic street property holders and Fort Worth street residents have wrangled among others almost continuously since the question of routing was first brought up. There is little likelihood that a settlement to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned will result through this method, it was stated yesterday.

Limbs Ached, Tired, Draggy

Oklahoma Lady Had Not Been Well for a Year, and Regrets She Did Not Take Cardui Sooner

HINTON, Okla—"I feel greatly improved since taking Cardui, and I only regret I did not commence sooner," writes Mrs. George Curry, of Route 3, this place. Mrs. Curry says she had not been well in over a year when she began taking Cardui.

"I have suffered a great deal with nervousness and this seemed to come from womanly weakness," she explained.

"I had headache. I was very weak and tired across my back.

"My limbs ached, and I did not feel like doing anything.

"I had the tired draggy feeling and I suffered so.

"I would have bearing-down pains, first my hips and down each side.

"I suffered each month and would get so weak and worn out.

"Some told me of Cardui, and I began to use it. It did me a world of good. It took two bottles to make me know I was getting better, but by taking it regularly, I saw great improvement, and am now stronger.

"I owe my health to Cardui."

This well-known medicine, which Mrs. Curry mentions, is a mild, medicinal, purely vegetable tonic, used with success for more than 40 years in the treatment of many simple womanly ailments. Thousands of women have written that they were benefited by taking Cardui.
