Yanks On Iwo Carve Out Minor Advances

New Blow Dealt To Jap Shipping

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Thursday, March 8—American ground forces on Luzon have penetrated below Manila to the south coast for the first time while planes, in attacks along the approaches to the Asiatic mainland, have sunk or damaged two enemy warships and 16 freighters, some used as transports.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced these successes in his communique today.

Scattered Resistance

Meeting only scattered resistance, Eighth Army Yanks reached the southern Lt on shores at Balayan bay, while east of Manila the heaviest air strikes in support of a ground action ever recorded in the Southwest Pacific featured as an assault on the enemy's Shimbu line.

In two days, heavy bombers, attack planes and dive bombers pounded the heavily-defended mountain line, some 20 miles east and northeast of Manila, with more than 900 tons of bombs. Heavy Liberators alone made more than 75 sorties.

Despite the severe hammering the going was still tough for the Yanks. The Japanese are firmly entrenched from Antipolo to Wawa on the Marikina watershed.

To Clean Out Mountains

With the remnants of the original Nippon Luzon Army hopelessly split up in the islands' mountainous areas and in the northeast Cagayan valley, Yanks of 10 divisions are being prepared for what Gen. Douglas MacArthur calls the "final phases" of Luzon's total liberation.

The Americans will be aided by strong Filipino guerrilla armies, one of which has already cleared the strategic northwest coast on the China sea.

Tokyo Says Battle Near

As General MacArthur reported regrouping of his forces for the final cleanup radio Tokyo quoted the Japanese Domei agency as saying a major battle is imminent near American-held Montalban, in the Manila water-

Tough Japs Still Show No Signs Of Cracking Despite Heavy Battering

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Thursday, March 8—In hand to hand combat, United States Marines drove two 500-yard salients Wednesday into the rocky, intricately fortified north end of Iwo but the Japanese still showed no signs of cracking on the 17th day of the invasion.

All three Marine divisions, on the second day of a renewed offensive to end the bloody operation, registered gains but they were spotty and officers were not inclined to regard them as significant.

Small Arms Jap Fire

The Nipponese resistance was with "small arms and machine gun fire." There was no reference to mortar and artillery opposition.

The big gain Wednesday was registered on the west side by Maj. Gen. Keller E. Rockey's Fifth Marine division.

Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine's Third Marine division also punched ahead in the center where the Leathernecks are getting into position to cut the Nipponese garrison in two.

Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Gates' Fourth Marine division gained up to 200 yards.

Reports Are Vague

Reports received at headquarters were vague as to the specific locations of the new gains.

The progress was stepped up over that of Tuesday when the allout offensive to crush the last Japanese organized resistance was opened. Tuesday's gains were measured in meager yards.

Carrier planes continued to neutralize Japanese bases in the Bonins north of Iwo, hitting Chichi and Haha with rockets and bombs.

The rolling barrage which launched Tuesday's attack was the most intense ever put down by the Marines in such a restricted area reported AP war correspondent Morrie Landsberg from the expeditionary force flagship. Big guns of the three Marine divisions, corps artillery, carrier planes and naval batteries participated for 62 minutes.

It was clear, said Landsberg, that the Japanese are not disorganized, as they were in final

British Fret For Action By Fleet

By ALEX SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 7.—Britain is determined to range her Navy alongside U. S. naval forces in the Pacific to play "a full and worthy part in the speedy overthrow of the Japanese empire," A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, said in the House of Commons today.

He said that this would be done in spite of a renewed threat of a German U-boat offensive that might require strong British naval action in Atlantic waters.

Deny Minor Factor Role

His declaration came as London naval circles denied reports that British war vessels were likely to prove a minor factor in Pacific naval operations. Without referring to the reports, Alexander told Commons that "we have been steadily massing forces for the Far East, with the great fleet train of supply, accommodation, repair and amenity ships which they will require to sustain them."

"Operations already conducted," he said, "are but the beginning of the tasks of the British Pacific fleet and the East Indies fleet, which will continue to be reinforced and supplied so that they may play an ever-growing part in the defeat of Japan."

Asserting that "experiences gained in supporting landings (in the European theater) will stand us in good stead in our united operations against Japan," the first lord stated: "A large share of the task of defeating Japan will fall upon the men of the royal and merchant navies."

Alexander mentioned the powerful battleships Queen Elizabeth and Valiant and the battle cruiser Renown, as being "among other vessels" ready for action in the Far East.

In London, naval men countered reports that the British fleet was likely to prove an impotent factor in the Pacific because of lack of speed with the assertion that the Royal Navy has both battleships and carriers in those waters capable of matching American warships.

In the House of Lords, Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield urged a special government investigation at the "earliest practicable moment" of the organization and administration of imperial defense "to safeguard the empire against future unreadiness for war."

More Red Cross Funds Come In

A more encouraging aspect was given to the outcome of Lubbock county's Red Cross War Fund campaign when another $11,472 was turned in to War Fund headquarters yesterday by workers. The figure for contributions now stands at $58,419.44, George P. Kuykendall, general chairman said. Slaton, with a quota of $6,000 will start its drive next Tuesday.

In the women's division, Mrs. Hub Jones, chairman, reported that $10,767 had come in, with no reports yet from two teams. She said that pick-up solicitations of the Junior Welfare League which will be finished by Friday, were expected to bring the women's total up to its $12,000 quota. Mrs. Alton Hall is pick-up committee chairman. Mrs. Jones also reported that every captain on her committee had exceeded her last year's collections, and that several had even doubled their record.

Citizens of the Cooper community have contributed $1,638 to the Red Cross War Fund, Roy Boyd, rural chairman of the current drive, announced Wednesday night following a rally in that vicinity.

The community's quota is $2,000. Chaplain Arlyn E. Conard of Lubbock Army Air field was principal speaker. Two movies, "A Community Sing-Song" and "The Normandy Invasion," were shown.

Plans At Slaton

At a Slaton meeting Tuesday night of all Red Cross chapter chairmen, committees were appointed and workers were assigned their territories and given until March 13 to complete their plans for the Red Cross War Fund solicitation campaign.

The drive will begin next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock when a kick-off breakfast at the Slaton clubhouse will launch the camp: .n. All workers, both men and women, will attend and immediately following, will begin their solicitation work.

Wet-Dry Vote Set Saturday In Gaines

SEMINOLE, March 7 (Special)—Gaines county citizens again will vote on the question of legalizing sale of beer in a special election Saturday.

The county went dry in April of 1944 by approximately 200 votes after four years in which sales of wine and beer were legal. The impending election, however, is hinged on the issue of beer only.

Thus far, both dry and wet forces have conducted quiet campaigns, according to Mrs. Juanita Brown, acting county clerk.

The county commissioners court called the election Feb. 12, after being presented with the proper petition.

Argentina To Get 'Comeback' Chance

By FLORA LEWIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXICO CITY, March 7.—American nations represented here were ready today to extend a polite hand to Argentina. It may touch off a bombshell in Buenos Aires.

The declaration on Argentina, which officials expect will receive unanimous approval by the inter-American conference, warmly invites that country to move into the new continental system and the United Nations under her own steam.

It is scheduled to be taken up in the steering committee tomorrow morning and acted upon in the final plenary session tomorrow afternoon. All the other resolutions have been formally passed. There are no indications, however, that any changes will be made from the draft as it now stands.

Word that the document was coming out has already produced a reaction in Argentina, with acting Foreign Minister Cesar Ameghino declaring he has decided to reaffirm his country's "respect for the personality" sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of all other American nations."

The statement aroused mixed feeling here. Since the declaration on Argentina implies that Buenos Aires go to war, some officials saw Ameghino's remark as an attempt to avoid a declaration of war.

The resolution on Argentina is phased so carefully that it does not contain a single menacing or demanding word. Yet, delegates from twenty nations have injected into their message, a firm note making it clear that only concrete and far-reaching action by the Argentine government can reunite the hemisphere.

Nation Gets Choice

The friendly, respectful tone of the declaration officials feel, puts this choice before the Argentine government: Changing its ways or attempting what would be the extremely difficult job of justifying a refusal to its own people.

The declaration is framed as an answer to the Argentine request last October for a conference to consider its diplomatic isolation.

It "deplores that the circumstances" which kept Argentina from participating in the Mexico conference have not undergone "any change to justify that this conference" move to reestablish "as is its greatest wish, uniformity in the political solidarity of all the American states."

Indivisible Unity

Declaring that "the unity of the people of America is indivisible," the resolution invites Argentina to "put herself in a position" to sign decisions taken here and the United Nations pact.

In effect, this makes an Argentine declaration of war requisite to general recognition, although no mention is made of this point.

"The conference hopes," the document continues, "that the Argentine nation will cooperate with the other American nations, following a common policy and complementing her own so as to become a member of the United Nations."

The declaration provides that Mexican Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla shall forward the massage to Argentina through the Pan-American union.

Two Probable Changes

From the point of view of the nations here, the declaration will make two important changes in the Argentine situation:

1. It presents a solid front of 20 nations looking at Buenos Aires, rather than a U. S.-Argentine feud with other countries maneuvering back and forth.

2. It creates an atmosphere of friendliness, backed by strength, with issues laid firmly on hemisphere unity and security rather than on personalities or politics.

It is considered noteworthy that delegates here decided to avoid making any direct distinction between the Argentine government and people. This, officials felt, increases changes of a friendly reaction from the country and removes any opportunity for Buenos Aires to cry "persecution."

Nurses Draft Is Passed By House

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—House passage sent to the Senate today legislation requiring the registration of all women nurses over 19 and under 45 and making liable for induction all those not married before March 15, 1945. The vote was 347 to 42.

Before approving the measure by a roll-call vote after three days of debate, the House corrected an amendment adopted yesterday yesterday that would have permitted nurses to evade induction by refusing to accept commissions as officers. Instead, it adopted a requirement that commissions must be offered nurses but refusal of a nurse to accept one would not prevent induction.

To Get Benefits

Also written in during the closing hours of debate were provisions extending veterans' benefits to inducted nurses and making male nurses of draft age liable to induction as service nurses.

Earlier the House had stricken a provision requiring the induction of Cadet Nurse corps graduates before non-cadets are drafted, and approved an amendment giving local draft boards the final determination, subject to appeal, in deferring essential civilian nurses.

While specifically exempting nurses married prior to March 15, 1945, from induction, the legislation requires all nurses in the specified age group to register, whether married or not.

LORD DAWSON OF PENN

Pioneer Physician Of Royalty Dies

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—Lord Dawson of Penn, the King's physician, who probably had treated more of Europe's royalty than any other doctor and yet found time for the poor of London's east end, died today at the age of 80. He had undergone an operation six months ago.

Lord Lawson, made a baron in 1920 and a viscount in 1936, became physician-in-ordinary to King Edward VII in 1907 and continued the same duties for George V, Edward VIII and George VI.

He attended Queen Alexandria, Princess Victoria, Prince Arthur of Connaught, Queen Maud of Norway and the Princess Royal. Leopold of the Belgians visited him privately in London soon after becoming king.

Lord Dawson thought birth control was being overdone. "I have no ambition that we should produce litters," he once said, "but a family of four is ideal."

Nazis Report All-Out Push By Russians

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, March 8.—The Russians hurled seven armies yesterday into an all-out frontal offensive towards Berlin from bridgeheads on the Oder river 30 to 40 miles to the east, the Germans announced.

Moscow was officially silent, as is customary at the start of a major operation, but unofficial dispatches from the Soviet capital hinted guardedly that the German accounts might be substantially correct.

German broadcasts said the attackers, Marshal G. K. Zhukov's First White Russion Army group, jumped off after a gigantic 24-hour artillery barrage and punched into the outer defenses of Kuestrin, west bank Oder river fortress which was under attack from the north, east and south. Two tank armies were among Zhukov's forces, these alarmed announcers said.

Signs Point To Drive

A dispatch late last night from Associated Press correspondent Gilmore in Moscow said "many signs pointed tonight to early launching of the all-out offensive on Berlin," and continued, "the logical place for the first attack is Marshal Zhukov's Oder front."

The Germans said Zhukov's activities already had commenced with a roaring offensive that extended along about 100 miles of the Oder front but was concentrated mainly almost directly east of Berlin.

The Russians officially dealt with other sectors in their regular communique and in three orders of the day by Premier Stalin.

One order announced that Zhukov's right wing, which only Tuesday had thrust to the Oder's Baltic sea outlet, had captured Stepenitz, Gollnow and Massow, 15 miles northeast and east of Stettin. The communique listed other towns captured in that zone along the Oder's east bank and the Stettiner haff (lagoon) from 13 miles northeast of Stettin northward to the sea, a distance of 35 miles.

Senate Rejects Manpower Plan

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—The Senate rejected today two proposals for compulsory manpower controls, clearing the way for a vote—probably tomorrow—on a milder bill recommended by the military affairs committee.

In midafternoon, the members turned down by a vote of 60 to 23 an attempt by Senator Bailey (D-NC) to apply the work-or-fight principle to men between 18 and 45 years of age not engaged in an "essential" occupation.

Substitute Defeated

Then, just before quitting for the day, they defeated, 54 to 27 a complete substitute bill sponsored by Senator Revercomb (R-WVa). In addition to authorizing the War Manpower commission to establish employment ceilings, the Revercomb proposal would have prescribed the work-draft for men of 18 to 45 "not performing substantial work in a lawful occupation."

Advocates of the military commitee bill, which calls for a large degree of voluntary cooperation in channeling the nation's workers where they are needed most, claimed the net result was favorable to their cause.

Senator Chandler (D-Ky), who doesn't think any such legislation is needed, forecast that the committee measure would fall just as did the two propositions voted upon today.

Chaos Marks Nazi Flight

Quick Sweep Of Coblenz, Bonn Seen; Great Masses Of Supplies Captured

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, March 8—Tanks of the American Third Army stormed up to the west bank of the Rhine northwest of Coblenz last night, having plunged more than 50 miles inside Germany in a whirlwind advance that sent the enemy reeling in chaotic defeat.

The German collapse on the Third Army front, started by the Fourth Armored division's breakthrough at Bitburg three days ago, soon developed into a rout with other units of the Third Army plunging eastward and the First Army swinging southward after the capture of Cologne.

Nazis Are Helpless

It was the Ardennes breakthrough in reverse. The Germans obviously had nothing with which to prevent the American sweep from enveloping Coblenz and Bonn.

Dispatches said there actually was no semblance of a front in the Third Army sector.

Virtually all resistance had been overwhelmed and the German troops appeared concerned only with retreating to safety or surrendering as quickly as possible. Masses of Nazi equipment were destroyed and supply dumps were captured so rapidly that the loot had not been evaluated.

TOTAL PRISONER COUNT

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Forces, Paris, March 7 (AP)—The total prisoner count for Allied armies on the Western front reached 1,002,929 today.

Of that total, the American First Army captured 260,140. The U. S. Third Army took 190,886, while the American Seventh bagged 93,107 and the Ninth 89,330.

The Canadian First Army has captured 143,114, the British Second Army 104,336, the French First Army 85,824 and the French forces of the interior 19,907.

The Fourth Armored division reached the river just north of Coblenz in a drive which carried 29 miles in 12 hours. In its greatest surge since Normandy the Third Army had covered 65 miles in 58 hours, making the western Allies' deepest penetration of the Reich.

The enemy fell back in hectic retreat and offered but little resistance as Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's men rolled through town after town and streaked past thousands of prisoners, captured in such numbers they could not all be chaperoned to the rear.

To the north the U. S. First

Cologne Looters Make Whoopee

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLOGNE, Germany, March 7—German looted German in ruined Cologne today as the iron discipline of 12 years of Nazi rule crumbled under an exuberance that accompanied American occupation of the Reich's fourth largest metropolis.

Food dumps, liquor warehouses, and clothing floors of the city's remaining department stores were raided by wine-happy citizens rioting in bomb-destroyed "Alstade"—or the old city section of ancient Cologne.

Troops Too Busy

Combat troops completing final mopping up states of their occupation of the city were too busy with their own problems to do more than hold in check this demonstration of spontaneous looting by the city's poor.

"The celebration is on," said Lt. Walter H. Stevens of Salt Lake City, after a tour of the waterfront area. "It's like Saturday night back home when the carnival's in town.

"They are milling around so much in some places that you can't get a peep through the streets. They are going crazy. They are carrying big boxes of cheeses, cases of liquor and all the clothes they can lug with them."

Drunks Run Wild

In the cobblestoned area bordering the Rhine where the city's most famous buildings are centered, drunken German men and women staggered from one side street to another waving wine bottles and offering them to the American soldiers they encountered.

They had taken the wine from the cellars of hotels and homes whose owners had fled. Some of the women tried to climb into jeeps to ride through their own destroyed city.

Since soldiers are fined up to two-thirds of six months of their pay and confined at hard labor for six months for fraternizing with German civilians, the roistering citizens got a brush-off in most cases.

"The Germans are looting everything they can find," said Maj. Guthrie May of Evansville, Ind. "I just saw women walking down the streets with big bundles of clothing that still had price tags on it under their arms."

Civilian Production Of Men's Garb Delayed

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—To meet increased military requirements, WPB today ordered large manufacturers of men's clothing to accept and fill military orders until Aug. 31 before working on civilian production.

The action extends an order scheduled to expire April 30. Affected manufacturers must accept military contracts for at least 135 per cent of all overcoats produced by them between July 1, 1944 and September 30, 1944.

Planes Step Up Isolation Raids

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 7—Approximately 1,200 American heavy bombers and straling fighters stepped up the offensive aimed at isolating the Ruhr from main German supply lines today with attacks on three rail belts running into the menaced German industrial zone.

While the rail lines were being hammered, four motor fuel plants within the battered Ruhr were bombarded in a coordinated assault.

RAF bombers were reported over western Germany again tonight by the Nazis' "achtung" warning service.

During the day British Halifaxes continued round-the-clock attacks on enemy shipping in the Skagerrak, scored a direct hit on a big merchant vessel.

Giant Viaduct Pounded

More than 900 Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the U. S. Eighth Air force and 250 fighters attacked the long, concrete, four-track viaduct near Bielefeld, 60 miles northeast of the Ruhr on the main line to central Germany and struck at rail yards at Soest, 30 miles of Dortmund, and Siegen, 35 miles east of Cologne.

Three benzol plants and an oil refinery in the Dortmund area, including the small but important Harpenerweg refinery and the Castrop Rauxel benzol plant, also were bombed.

The weather restricted close support of ground forces by tactical units based in France and Belgium.

Meanwhile Berlin was visited by Mosquitos for the 15th consecutive night. Crews clearly saw flashes of Russian cannon to the east.

Air Forces Officer Cleared In Mercy Shooting Of Buddy

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH
Associated Press Staff Writer

KUNMING, March 2 (Delayed)—A 31-year-old air force officer, whose two shots from his service pistol ended the agonized screaming of a 20-year-old sergeant gunner hopelessly trapped in a flaming plane, was acquitted today of a charge of voluntary manslaughter.

Seven colonels deliberated 30 minutes before clearing the lieutenant colonel, commander of a fighter group, veteran of 80 missions and ranking officer at the forward base. The defendant did not testify.

(Neither his name nor the victim's was given in this dispatch. Presumably censorship withheld them.)

It was reported that the decision hinged on reasonable doubt as to whether death was caused by the shots or burning, and on the degree of provocation.

Ten witnesses told this story of the shooting last Jan. 18:

It was a gray January afternoon when the B25 with a crew of five returned from a mission, overshot its landing and hurtled down a 60-foot embankment.

As rescuers surrounded the plane, flames leaped high, the top turret guns and oxygen tanks exploded from the heat.

Braving the flames, fellow fliers pulled out the dead co-pilot and rescued the seriously injured pilot. They found the sergeant gunner bear-trapped in the flight compartment, his legs caught by buckled metal.

Six men tried to pull the still-conscious gunner free. There was

Patton Swims Icy River And Men Follow To Take Town

BALTIMORE, March 7 (AP)—The story of how Lt. Gen. George S. Patton twice swam the 150-foot Sure river in Germany in January under heavy machine gun fire, inspiring "thousands of troops to follow him," was told today by one of the men who did.

S/Sgt. Thomas J. Defibaugh of Cumberland, Md., one of the soldiers who followed Patton across the Sure, said "there was about a foot of snow on the ground when he got to the Sure river somewhere near the meeting place of the Luxembourg, German and Belgian borders.

"We learned that we had to take the town of Bettendorf on the opposite side and do it quickly," said Defibaugh, a member of the Fourth Infantry division which helped relieve the pressure on Americans trapped at Bastogne by the German counter-offensive last December.

"The Germans began firing machine guns and artillery at us as we came up to the river bank," continued Defibaugh, now touring war plants in the Baltimore area with other heroes of Bastogne.

"Just before dawn we started going across in three-man boats. The river was very swift and cold and had pieces of ice floating in it.

"After a while though, General Patton called the boats back and ordered the men to swim across with rifles, bazookas and everything they could carry because they were 'sitting pigeons' for the Germans in the boats, sitting two

Churchill's War-End Views May Embarrass Administration Plans

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 7. — Prime Minster Churchill's announcement that one good, coordinated Allied offensive would end the war in Europe came at a time when it may embarrass administration plans.

Pending in Congress are bills to draft nurses and to draft manpower. In New Bedford, Mass., specially selected for the experiment, the War Manpower commission already is drafting skilled labor.

Union leaders bitterly protest the circumstances of the New Bedford labor draft. If they miss the implications of Churchill's front line remarks it will be surprising.

Churchill Statement

Visting the Canadian First Army ... e. the weekend, Churchill addressed the troops.

"Anyone can see," he told them, "that one good strong heave all together will bring the war in Europe to its end."

Bewildered civilians may wonder whether this is another false alarm, of which there have been a couple of notable examples. But the facts of the front this time seem to support official optimism. And the fact that Churchill, a master of pessimism and forebodings, has publicly said such a thing backs up the reports from the Rhineland that Germany is in a bad way.

Effects May Be Weighty

The effect of his remarks on manpower draft legislation, however, could be considerable. There already are a good many legislators who believe that e vnts are overtaking the administration's labor bill and will swamp it. Churchill's optimism comes, also, at a time when the nation is adjusting itself to a midnight curfew to save coal, transportation and energy, in general, for the war effort.

Acceptance by the public and business... n affected by the curfew has been almost 100 per cent. But it has not been without requests here and there for more specific explanation ... how much of what is to be conserved and for how long.

One strictly unofficial speculation regarding the purpose of the curfew is that it was intended in part to build up some potential resentment against John L. Lewis if he leads his mine workers on an April 1 strike.

Logical Explanation

It then could be explained pretty effectively that a strike had been foreseen, that coal stocks were dangerously low and that the administration had moved for conservation at the first suspicion that the miners might throw down their tools. The customers then could blame Lewis for their early-to-bed predicament.

In any event, Chuchill's words are likely to be taken at face value. They were passed by the censor and they have not been denied. In August, 1943, there was a published report that Churchill had predicted the end of the European war by Christmas of that year. The man of blood, sweat and tears denied that at once.

Specialists Puzzled By Strange Chicken

MANHATTAN, Kan., March 7 (AP)—This beats the "which came first, chicken or egg" gag.

Poultry specialists at the Kansas State college said today they had a "half and half" chicken and were going to carry on numerous experiments as a result of the finding.

The "half and half" chicken was divided perfectly, the right side having white skin and large bones characteristic of a black Astralorpe, and the left side having yellow skin and the small bone structure of a white leghorn.

"Nature became confused during the embryonic development of the chicken," Dr. D. C. Warren, professor of poultry husbandry, explained.

The fowl was sent to the college by a packing plant in Clay Center, Kan.

Lubbock Couple Hurt In Forced Landing

A Lubbock couple, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cone, were injured Tuesday when Cone made a forced landing in his private plane in a heavy fog 20 miles south of Bakersfield, Calif., according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Mrs. Cone suffered a back injury and Cone received bruises, cuts and shock. They are in a Bakersfield hospital.

Mrs. Dora D. Vandagriff, mother of Mrs. Cone, who is staying with the Cone children at 2802 Twenty-third, said Wednesday she had received a telephone call from her daughter informing her of the accident and giving a few details. She reported she and Mr. Cone had to walk five miles before they got transportation to the hospital.

Cone, an oil broker, is a son of Mrs. Jesse Cone, 3002 Twenty-first. He and his wife left here by plane Sunday for California, where Mr. Cone was to attend to business matters.

Army Protests Ship Disposal Proposal

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—The Army protested today that a pending bill to dispose of surplus vessels after the war might leave it without essential cargo shipping space.

War Secretary Stimson, in a letter to the House merchant marine committee, said the measure "fails to assure the War department the right to withhold from disposal . . . the troop and cargo vessels necessary to meet the Army's present and future requirements."

20 Years

OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE

1945 marks the 20th Anniversary of the Southwestern Public Service Company as a public servant. It has been 20 years of pleasant association with our customers; progressive people, good neighborly folks—and to those customers who have joined us in the past two or three years we extend a most cordial welcome.

We point with pardonable pride to our record of service during the past years. It is a record of constantly improved service at ever decreasing rates. This will continue to be our policy.

Our company has many constructive plans for developing the territory we serve after Victory is won. We pledge to do our part in helping to develop the many rich resources available. By working together, we can realize an even finer and more productive area than we now have.

We appreciate your patronage and will show this appreciation by continuing to serve you with the best electric service possible at the lowest possible rates.

New Stabilizer Promises Early Settlement Of Wage Policy Fuss

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—William H. Davis, newly named economic stabilizer, said today that a months-old wage policy dispute on "fringe demands" would be settled immediately.

Terms of settlement, he told a news conference, will come from Fred M. Vinson, his predecessor in the top anti-inflation spot and his adversary in the dispute.

As chairman of the War Labor board, Davis has voted for such fringe demands, which involve such wage side issues as vacations, shift differentials, etc. In that Senate, his new appointment was viewed in labor circles as encouraging.

Vinson Confirmed

Vinson has held that no increase should be cleared before the Office of Price administration certifies that they will not increase prices. Vinson has now been confirmed in the job of federal loan chief and is due to take this office tomorrow.

Reports asked Davis whether the change in positions could mean wage increases are in store for labor. He replied only: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

But Davis did say that he would not be bound by Vinson's policies because "an economiv stabilizer has got to make his own decisions."

New WLB Chairman

In naming the 65-year-old Davis today to head the Office of Economic Stabilization, President Roosevelt elevated George W. Taylor, 43-year-old University of Pennsylvania professor, from the labor board's No. 2 spot to its chairmanship.

Both are in hot spots, no strange experience for either.

Davis promptly made clear that he thinks the government should control wage decreases when manpower shortages are no more, just as it now controls age increases in a labor-hungry market.

Standard Of Living

And, he told the Senate Banking committee in a discussion of continued wage controls, those regulations thus far have allowed maintenance of "the standard of living of the working man."

Generally, he expressed his philosophy on the link between wages and living costs thus: "It doesn't do any good to increase dollar wages if prices also go up."

What is important, Davis said, is the "take-home groceries."

Congressional comment on the Davis appointment—he will have broad powers over the effort to curb prices and wages—was generally favorable. (The job does not require Senate confirmation.)

Original Papers Are Read For Composers

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth presided at a business session held by Lubbock Composers and Authors League at First Presbyterian Fellowship hall Monday night.

J. A. Mullins was in charge of the program which had "March" as its theme. Mrs. T. E. Buckner gave a list of markets and contests from the Writer's Journal, Mrs. May Michael read a short story of which she is the author, "Spring has Her Fling" and Mrs. Claud Keeton gave an original article on "Why I Write." Other members read original poems.

Members present were Dr. Ellsworth and Mr. Mullins, Mesdames E. V. Nickell, T. A. Hulin, Ethel Hamilton, John LeMond, Keeton, J. M. Hall, C. W. Gunn, Michael, and Buckner.

Texas Discussed By Dallasite And Nazi Who Shot Him Down

TEMPLE, Tex., March 7 (AP) — Texas—not the weather—was the happy medium of conversation for a Dallas flyer and the fighter pilot who shot him down, Lt. Ernest Davis revealed yesterday.

Lt. Davis, who was shot down over Austria, met the German fighter pilot in a hospital, where both were recovering from injuries. Davis said the German bragged of shooting his bomber "Sky Worm" from the sky.

"He said he was in turn shot down by a P-38, and was extremely arrogant. He claimed he had fought in Africa, Italy, Russia and Germany, and as for the war, there was no chance of the Germans' losing it—according to him.

"The only time we got on equal basis was when I mentioned Texas, then he became almost friendly. He wanted to know all about cowpunchers and six-shooters.

"He said he was coming to the states after the war and harped about 'the wild, open west'."

Lt. Davis' right arm was amputated in the German hospital. He is recovering at McCloskey General hospital now.

Red Cross Dispatches Masks To Iwo Jima

HONOLULU, March 7 (AP) — Five thousand white gauze surgical masks have been rushed by the Red Cross to Iwo Jima to protect American Marines from sulphur dust and volcanic ash as they fight the bloody battle for that strategic island.

Volcanic ash has been one of the great curses on Iwo. It has filled the eyes, mouths and lungs of the Leathernecks and has clogged their guns and motor vehicles.

The Marines on Mount Suribachi were affected by sulphur fumes recently when the volcano began to throw off clouds of choking dust.

English Dancing Girl Spared; Yank To Die

LONDON, March 7 (AP) — The life of Mrs. Elizabeth Marina Jones, 18-year-old British striptease dancer sentenced to die for the robbery-slaying of a London taxi driver was spared today by an eleventh hour intervention of Home Secretary Herbert Morrison.

The girl's partner in the slaying, Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulton of Cambridge, Mass., will be hanged in the courtyard of Pentonville prison at dawn tomorrow, however, barring some unexpected last minute development.

Kaiser Says Jobs For Vets Vital

WASHINGTON, March 7 (U.P.)—Victory is not enough—"there is only one way to save America," Shipbuilder Henry A. Kaiser said today, "and that is to provide employment."

"There is only one way to repay the people who have died for us," he told the Senate Small Business committee, "and that is to provide jobs for those who are left, and to create prosperity."

Kaiser was discussing the future of the aluminum and magnesium industries after the war. He called for "a clear-cut, decisive policy from Congress" on the disposal of surplus plants.

The big question Congress has to decide, he said, is whether the goal in the sale of surplus plants is dollars or employment.

"No one questions that we are going to win the war," he said, "but everyone wonders if we are going to have employment."

Sen. James M. Mead, (D-NY), blamed the new Surplus Property board for "lack of progress" in setting up a policy.

W. S. James, chief engineer, Studebaker Corp., South Bend, Ind., testified that he believed low-cost magnesium and aluminum would have a tremendous market in the automotive industry. They would reduce bulk and weight. But costs of producing light metals must be lowered he said, because "the automotive industry is the most highly competitive in America."

Kaiser predicted for the postwar world 60-knot destroyers made of aluminum and high capacity cargo trucks made of magnesium.

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Cold Aid

Soothes Rawness Due To Throat and Bronchial Irritations

Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to do its pain-easing work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along newer help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For all your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro.

"Can France Regain Her Place As a World Power?"

"Yes!" says Leon Henderson

"No!" says Lewis Gannett

Has this war permanently crippled France or will the defeat of Germany present her with an unrivalled chance to develop? The course of the coming peace may depend on the answer. On America's Town Meeting tonight four authorities clash on this bristling question. On one side are Leon Henderson (former OPA director; recently adviser to the Foreign Economic Administration) and Richard de Rochemont (National President France Forever). On the other side are Lewis Gannett (Herald Tribune correspondent just back from France) and Louis Fischer (author, foreign correspondent). For excitement, information, tune in tonight. America's Town Meeting, sponsored by The Reader's Digest. 7:30 KFYO

How the earth has "shrunk" is illustrated by the fact that in 1620 the Mayflower took 65 days to cross the Atlantic; in 1938, the first steamship took 15 days; in 1938 the Queen Mary needed four days for the crossing while today it can be done in 15 hours by air.

Have a Coke is a simple gesture of good will that says the same thing in Afrikaans that it does in English. It's an easily-understood way to let people know that you wish them well. NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

LUBBOCK BUS COMPANY

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

VOLUNTEER women workers who canvassed Lubbock's residential section Tuesday and Wednesday for contributions to meet the quota of the Red Cross war fund learned a bit of distinguishing qualities of human nature. By the way, if you failed to answer the door on purpose and are ashamed of yourself, you'll have another chance today, since Junior Welfare League members are calling on homes that were overlooked.

Although most of the captains and their workers quoted said they found donors generous and cooperative, others were not so fortunate and had several experiences that lowered their spirits on the disagreeable, dank day.

ONE woman listened to the opening remarks about the purpose of the call and then said politely and firmly, "I've recently moved to Lubbock and I'm not joining anything just now."

A sailor came to the door at another home and called his mother who said, "My boy's home now and I don't believe I need to give anymore."

A father at one residence said gruffly, just before shutting the door squarely in the faces of two young women who had asked for a contribution: "I have given two boys to the war. What have you given?"

The women decided against ringing the door bell again and telling the man there might be a time when the organization would be responsible for saving the lives of his sons; with the plasma they are responsible for or through food packages given to prisoners of war through the Red Cross.

On the brighter side there was the house where a one hundred dollar bill was stuck in an envelope with the note that the housekeeper had to leave and didn't want to miss out in the drive. And another place where a woman who is mother of a downtown business explained she had contributed there but also was leaving a donation in the door because she knew the team wanted to have one hundred per cent contributions in that block.

THE elderly people who contributed were especially appealing, according to some of the workers. One old man said to the attractive young woman who called at his house, "Well honey I don't have any income, just a pension but I've been saving for the Red Cross." Whereupon he opened his bill fold and took out a brand new dollar bill, the only one he had.

An old lady came running breathlessly out of her house Tuesday afternoon and called a worker in to give her a contribution and offer the apology, "I felt so bad that I missed you this morning." The woman's husband, who was ill, gave two dollars.

A sweet old man came over to the headquarters to bring a check for $25 and to explain he lived in a rooming house and "they never would have found me to ask for the money."

One mother, who recently returned from the West Coast where she visited her wounded son, said the Red Cross had taken care of her the entire time she was there and she wanted to pay five dollars . . . Two workers called at a house where a young woman was grieving over a returned letter, the first of several that will come-back to her because her husband was killed in action in Europe several weeks ago. They are going back to see her and to make the acquaintance of her two small children . . . One woman braved the wind on her bicycle to make her calls, since her gas coupons didn't allow the treat of using the car . . . A temporary resident, Mrs. Earl Houston of Shreveport, La., and a visitor, Mrs. Sarah West of Fort Worth, former Lubbockite, asked Mrs. Hub Jones, chairman of the women's division, for jobs and both worked at headquarters, checking returns.

IN THE MAIL

TO Mrs. N. and Mrs. J. R. McFarland: Your letters came to the desk and we are not publishing them because we have learned there are state laws and city ordnances covering the complaints of which you write and nothing has come of either restriction.

We suppose it could be summed up by saying people with culture do not spit on the sidewalks; others have no consideration.

CONGRATULATIONS

BIRTHDAY congratulations go to Mrs. Martha Copeland who is 89 years old today. If we had Tom Brenaman's wit, we'd write a little essay but lacking his voice and his talent we'll only say "Happy birthday and may you have many more of them!"

SEEKS RECORD

SEVERAL years ago when Lubbock residents were having a craze on doing square dances and other folk whirl abouts, some records of "Rustic Schottische" were in circulation. Where are they today?

E. J. Yowery, director of athletics in the Lubbock Public schools, says the schools are planning a play day this year similar to the one that was so successful last spring. In the meantime they are looking for the record and would like several platters since hundreds of children are to learn the dance. Will you please check your records and if you have one get in touch with Mr. Lowrey?

Nutrition Course To Be Taught

A Red Cross Nutrition course of ten two-hour classes will begin Friday, March 9, in Annex L of the Home Economics building at Texas Tech, Mrs. C. B. Qualia, nutrition chairman, has announced.

Mrs. Gladys Holden of the college home economics division will instruct the class, which will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 until 11:30 a. m.

Topic of the first meeting will be "Are Americans Well Fed" and following discussions will be on meal planning and nutrition, with demonstrations and field trips as a further part of the course.

Women interested in enrolling in the classes may call Mrs. Qualia at 6139.

Baptist Women Attend Meeting

The monthly business meeting and luncheon for First Baptist T. E. L. class were held Wednesday afternoon at the church annex with Mrs. G. V. Pardue presiding. Thirty members and four visitors attended.

A prayer by Mrs. J. H. Armes opened the meeting, a talk on a six-point standard Sunday school was given by Mrs. Boswell and a prayer was led by Mrs. Ed Vaughn.

Easter decorations for the luncheon were arranged by Mrs. E. V. Middleton and her daughter, Miss Ouida Middleton. Mrs. Virginia Fann's group served.

DOUBLE-TALK SAILOR . . . Walter Florell's current contribution to the whimsy of the season. Two complete doll-sized sailors in candy straw, trimmed in ribbon and daisies, worn back, tilted forward or sidewise.

Scouts Entertain Mothers, Teachers

Mothers and teachers of members of Girl Scout troop 27 were entertained with a tea given Wednesday afternoon at the Little House by the troop. Miss Rosemary Head, executive secretary and a special guest, poured.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a bouquet of yellow acacia and purple sweetpeas. A musical program was given.

With this tea, the following members of the troop completed requirements for a hostess badge:

Elaine Kallas, Mary Nell Jones, Helen Johnston, Billie Joan Hughett, Carolyn Taylor, Betty Jean Hancock, Mary Belle Perryman, Patsy Lou McPhearson, Joan Pruett, Peggy Davis, Elsie Portwood, Katie Lou Julian, Patricia Norman, Delores Beavers, Delores Calvert, Bobby Ann Pool, Johnnell McKendie and Iris Jean Rogers.

Seventeen attended. Mesdames C. C. Perryman and J. E. Hancock are troop leaders.

P.-T.A. TO MEET

K. Carter Parent-Teacher association will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock instead of having a regular afternoon meeting. There will be a musical program and social hour.

Personals

P. B. Hooker, Guy Smith and Roe McCleskey are leaving this morning for Chicago where they will attend business.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron D. Hughes and son, Bobby, former Lubbock residents, were guests of Dr. J. H. Haney, 1929 Texas Ave., last week. They also visited in Muleshoe before returning to their home in Greenville.

Association Plans Farewell Dinner

A farewell dinner will be given March 20 in the home of Mrs. N. A. Cox, 1711 Seventeenth, for members of the West Texas hospital Alumnae association who are entering the service.

Plans for the dinner were discussed at a meeting of the association with Mrs. Ellis R. Foreman 2208 Tenth, Tuesday night with Mrs. Hershel Bradley assistant hostess. Twenty were present.

Mrs. Bill Mabray presented a paper on "Indocarditis" and a general discussion followed. The association's next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Mabray, 2611 Twenty-third April 3 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. Al Dobbs assistant hostess.

Needle Clubs Have Afternoon Meetings

Regular Wednesday afternoon meetings were held by needle clubs.

Mrs. Dixie White, 1520 Twenty-eighth, was hostess to Fit and Fashion club and served refreshments to the following:

Mesdames O. R. Bantz, J. W. Reid, M. E. Witt, Marlin Hayhurst, H. J. McCabe, Floyd Honey, Rogers Orr and Henry Elder.

Arnett-Benson Needle club quilted for the Red Cross at an all-day meeting at Locust Street chapel Tuesday. Mrs. A. L. Cranfill was hostess.

Others attending were Mesdames I. T. Weed, J. E. Reid, Verne Morris, C. R. Minor, R. P. Housour, C. C. Heatley, and J. F. Eddleman.

Members voted to meet every other Tuesday instead of each first and third Wednesday. The next meeting will be March 20 with Mrs. W. L. Armstrong, 2607 Elm, at 2 p. m.

Demonstration Clubs Meet For Programs

Miss Clara Pratt gave a demonstration of refinishing furniture with oil for Wolfforth Home Demonstration club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. R. S. Hobgood recently.

Mrs. S. R. Jerden conducted a quiz on divorce.

Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt was a visitor. The next meeting will be with Mrs. R. R. Hutcheson.

The painting of furniture was discussed by Miss Pratt for Plainview Highway Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. T. A. Hulen Tuesday afternoon.

Ten members and one visitor attended.

The club will meet March 20 for an all-day quilting and covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. George Vaught.

The 38-piece Whiteface band will play the following numbers led by Herbert Lindsey: Anchors Aweigh, Azales Overture, When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, An Irish Lullaby, Shine On Harvest Moon, Don't Fence Me In, Gold and Silver, Merry Widow Selection, Pop Goes the Weasil, High School Cadets and The Star Spangled Banner.

There will be no admission price and the public is invited.

Church Class Makes Quilts For Red Cross

Thirty-two members of Asbury Methodist Awakened Wesleyan class met at the church for business and a luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. M. W. Holloway gave a devotional. In the afternoon the group quilted two quilts for the Red Cross.

Take Off Ugly Fat With This Home Recipe

Here is an inexpensive home recipe for taking off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Add enough grapefruit juice to make a pint. Then just take two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle and get your money back.

Friendship Club Attends Luncheon

Dressed in western clothes, members of Ideal Friendship club and guests attended a luncheon and party in the home of Mrs. Mae Gilbert, 1707 Thirty-first, Tuesday. Table places were marked with cattle brands.

A miniature covered wagon, tree stumps and cacti formed the centerpiece. The menu consisted of ham, baked beans, candied carrots, hot rolls, a green tossed salad, pound cake and coffee.

In the afternoon bingo was played and there was a scrambled name contest which was won by Mrs. H. I. Robinson, a guest.

Mrs. B. E. Needles, also a guest, was voted to be wearing the most typical garb.

Other guests were Mesdames J. E. Maisen, Charles Ross, Harvey Austin and members present were Mesdames Wade Cooper, Mack Johnson, Mary E. Payne, D. M. Davis, E. P. Norwood, Frank Mitchell, J. C. Richards, W. T. Milam, T. E. May, Fay Westmoreland.

The club's April 3 meeting will be with Mrs. C. E. Fike.

Almost a quart of water is secreted by the nose every 24 hours.

THOUSANDS EAT THIS CEREAL TO HELP KEEP UP BLOOD'S IRON LEVEL

DONOR OF 9 PINTS OF BLOOD

If healthy, why don't you donate blood?
Mrs. Elsie Carl, 5024 Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago, Ill., has given 9 pints—has been donating regularly since Pearl Harbor. Such patriotic men and women, everywhere, can tell you that anyone in good health can give blood. The fluid part of the blood is restored in a few hours. Maintaining the body's proper iron level helps to replenish your good red blood.

One-ounce dish of KELLOGG'S All-Bran gives over 1/3 of your daily minimum iron needs

YOUR intake of iron is too important to your well-being and vitality to be left to chance. For this important mineral is essential in making good red blood to replace the blood your body wears out.

The best place to get iron is in foods. But not many foods are rich in available iron. In fact, it is not easy to get an abundance of this important mineral in the ordinary diet. Thus, your iron intake can get low without your knowing it.

Fortunately, there is an everyday cereal that is a rich, inexpensive source of readily assimilable iron. It's ALL-BRAN, made by the Kellogg folks of Battle Creek. Ounce for ounce, this famous cereal gives you 50% more iron than calves' liver.

In addition, this toasty nut-brown cereal is an important source of calcium, phosphorus and essential vitamins. That's because ALL-BRAN is made from the vital outer layers of finest wheat.

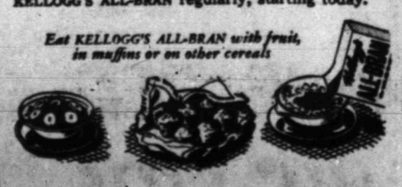

KELLOGG'S All-Bran is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat

Nature makes a habit of storing the larger share of protective food elements in the skin of the potato and the peel of the apple. Into the vital outer layers of wheat, too, Nature packs some of the grain's most important nutrients. ALL-BRAN is made of these vital outer layers, and is more abundant in many food elements than whole wheat itself.

America's Great Regulating Cereal

Besides being a storehouse of iron and other important food elements, delicious KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is a great natural regulating cereal. Millions of people eat it regularly. One ounce eaten daily is usually adequate for satisfactory laxation. ALL-BRAN, which is triple-milled for golden softness, does not interfere with normal digestion.

Be sure your family gets adequate amounts of iron and other important food elements. Serve KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, starting today.

Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN with fruit, in muffins or on other cereals

Local Couple Off Today For Chile On Good Neighbor Drilling Project

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Morrison of Lubbock will leave by train this afternoon for New Orleans, on the first leg of a train-plane trip to Puenta Arenas, Chile.

There in the storied land well below 50 degrees south latitude, near where Chile dips into the Straight of Magellan and emerges onto Tierra del Fuego, Morrison will act as manager of operations for George P. Livermore, Inc., of Lubbock, in contract drilling of oil wells for Corporacion de Fomento de la Produccion of Chile.

Business Men-Patriots

The Chilean corporation is composed of business men-patriots who already have implemented plans for hydro-electric, cement and tire production plants.

"Our enterprise if strictly contractual and limited to one year," Morrison quoted Livermore as saying. "It does not give our corporation any mineral concessions. It is a Good Neighbor gesture, more educational in scope than anything else.

"In a land where Shell produces the only oil, a bare 400 barrels a month, and where 20,000 barrels a day is required for national consumption, we hope by our drilling in a government reserve to aid Chile in finding and recovering its petroleum resources. Chileans themselves will be employed as drilling crews, supervised in education-through-practice by 14 select men who are to be named in time to leave this area the latter part of April."

City Of 40,000 People

Puentos Arenas is a city of 40,000, and is the most southerly metropolis in the world. It lies 20 degrees south of the most southerly past of Australia—as far south of the equator as Edmonton, Canada, is north of it. Seventy miles to the northward rear the Andes. Its romantic factors of cultural, medical and business attainments are made more enticing when it is learned that the climate is much like that of the South Plains. Winter's minimum temperatures do not fall below zero and the summer's maximum does not exceed 80. Summer winds off the ocean are steady, at 35 miles an hour. Chileans speak a pure Castilian, and their standard of living is excellent.

Their ability to drill for oil will be sharpened by the quality of men who will go there from Lubbock: drillers, tool dressers and derrick men, about half of whom will be accompanied by their wives and children of sub-school years and for whom the Chilean corporation will construct individual living quarters near drilling sites.

Equipment Of Best

Equipment to be shipped also indicates the scope of operations: one rotary rig, a heavy duty jackknife derrick and a Fort Worth spudder, both diesel powered, and vast quantities of pipe and casing, a 15- and a 10-ton truck, and repairs. The nearest supply station will be 800 miles away in the Argentine, and most replaceable equipment must come from the States.

The Morrisons will fly from New Orleans to Balboa by Pan-American airlines, to Lima and to Santiago, from where they will be "on their own" to travel the remainder of the twisting coastline to its tip.

They will have 5-day layovers at Balboa, where their older son Pfc. David Morrison, now a flight instructor on B-29s at Lowrie field, Denver, did engineering projects for the Army in 1942; and at Lima. At New Orleans they will visit briefly with their other son W. S., who is en route to a port of embarkation.

Long Experience

Morris came to the Permian basin of West Texas in 1926, to the Yates oil field. He was a production foreman for Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company, a subsidiary of Ohio Oil company. He has lived at 3023 Twentieth since November of 1937, and was production superintendent for Honolulu Oil corporation until November, when he resigned to join Livermore.

"It will be an experience for a fellow who hasn't been farther than Arkansas and Juarez," he said.

Lamesa Sergeant Has Close Calls On Lib But It Flies Home

HEADQUARTERS 13TH AAF, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC — The 13th AAF's husky Liberators can take "a hell of a pounding" without giving in, a Lamesa, Texas, flier testified when his plane flew back from a Philippines raid with nine 20 millimeter cannon shell holes in the wings and shapnel scars all over the fuselage and nose.

Technical Sergeant Orbin E. Houchin of Lamesa was engineer on the Liberator. Lead ship in a strong 13th AAF formation attacking Bacolod airdrome on Negroes Island in the central Philippines, Sergeant Houchin's plane was singled out by four Jap fighters for a bitter sky duel. Three of the Nips streaked out of the clouds a few minutes after the Liberator dumped its bomb load squarely on the Bacolod runway. They sent 20 millimeter shells crashing into the tail of the big, lumbering bomber.

Staff Sergeant G. Carson, Boulder, Colorado, the tail gunner, was pierced in the head and legs by steel fragments as a shell from the first zero exploded in his compartment. Without waiting to inspect himself for injuries, Carson fought off the three Zeros with his twin 50 calibre machine guns. "One enemy fighter banked sharply to avoid Carson's fire, and was shot down by two P-38's flying nearby as escort for the bomber.

As the last of the three Zeros finished its pass at the Lib's tail, another Jap attacked head-on. A 20 millimeter shell slammed into the pilot's compartment and exploded three feet from the heads of the pilot, and the co-pilot. Miraculously, neither was hurt.

When the Liberator landed at its home strip at an advance 13th AAF Dutch East Indies base, Sergeant Houchin and the other crew members, surveying the damage, agreed luck had flown with them.

In addition to the holes in the wings, tail and nose, fires had skimmed the wings. Tremendous backwash from the props had put out the flames before they could cause serious damage, however.

Placements By USES Decline In February

Placement of male workers in the Lubbock area by the U. S. Employment service decreased from 197 in January to 161 in February, according to M. W. Waldron, manager of that agency here. However, the number of people coming into the office increased slightly, he said.

Not more than 20 per cent of the men who contacted the office, located at 1207 Thirteenth, were actually seeking jobs and were immediately available for those jobs. The remaining 80 per cent were asking for statements of availability, or seeking other information.

Of the 2,104 men coming into the office, 349 were referred to jobs, and of the 161 hired by local employers, 123 went into work designated as essential to the war effort.

During February, 28 men and 19 women were hired by essential war industries outside the Lubbock area, as compared with 136 men and 13 women hired by such industries in January.

A number of the men left in the labor market in the Lubbock area are "job shoppers," according to interviewers at the USES office and employers to whom the applicants are sent, Waldron said. They refuse jobs on the basis of too little pay, unsatisfactory working conditions, poor housing facilities, and various other reasons. Also, he said, because of the employment stabilization plan and the pending "work or fight" legislation, male workers are staying on their jobs, and consequently, with their employment needs decreased, employers have become more independent about the type of worker they hire.

Gallup Analyzes The November Vote

Union -- Non-Union Labor Sharply Split By Politics

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—An analysis of the labor vote in the 1944 presidential elections reveals three basic facts of interest to political strategists.

The principal facts emerging from the analysis are these:

GALLUP

1. Roosevelt again won a large majority of the labor vote.

2. In spite of this, however, he continued to lose support in the ranks of labor, his strength in this group dropping four points in 1944, as compared to that of 1940.

3. The November election emphasized a growing split between political preferences of union and non-union labor. Union labor showed no defection from the President in the last election. Non-union labor moved sharply away from Roosevelt.

The fact that, while Roosevelt won a large majority of labor support in the last election, he continued to lose voting strength in that group is shown in the following table. This compares the Roosevelt labor vote from 1936 through 1944, on the basis of how people in this group told field reporters they voted:

Vote In Labor Group

1936	74%
1940	66
1944	62

The growing split between the political views of union and non-union labor is shown in the following table giving the union and non-union vote in 1936, 1940 and 1944:

Per Cent for FDR

	Union Vote	Non-Un. Vote
1936	80%	72%
1940	72	64
1944	72	56

Thus, from 1936 to 1940, Roosevelt lost eight points in both groups, but last November, when defection in the union labor groups halted, there was another eight point drop in the Roosevelt vote among non-union voters.

There was virtually no defection among CIO union members as compared to 1940, even though its rolls carried many thousands of new members. This is also true of the AFL.

Moreover, President Roosevelt's strength among CIO members continues to be greater than among AFL members.

Following is a table showing the Roosevelt vote among CIO and AFL voters in 1944 and 1940, as well as among the voters in all unions (CIO, AFL and others) combined.

Per Cent for FDR

	Union Vote	Non-Un. Vote
CIO	78%	79%
AFL	69	71
All Unions Combined	72	72

Dr. Rainey Pumps For Liberal Texas

NEW YORK, March 7. (U.P.) — Dr. Homer P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, predicted last night that that state would soon have a "political housecleaning" because "the great masses of the people in the South are liberal; they want a better Texas and a better South."

Rainey told a southern conference for human welfare dinner that he had been removed from the university presidency last November in "a planned attack to get control of all education in the state."

"There was a small group which tried to steal the electoral vote last fall," Rainey said. "We now have them in the open where we can deal with them better. We think we're doing that."

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, honor guest at the dinner, urged increased educational opportunities for the entire nation. "When men come back to us from the war," she said, "they will not all go back to their homes, but many will go elsewhere, seeking opportunity. Many who lacked educational advantages in the South may be hampered."

Negroes Urge Rainey To Run For Governor

DALLAS, March 7 (AP) — The Rev. P. E. Womack, pastor of the Smith Chapel African Methodist church of Dallas, today said he had forwarded Dr. Homre P. Rainey, former president of the University of Texas, a resolution urging him to become a Democratic candidate for governor in 1946.

He said the resolution was adopted at a Dallas-Waxahachie district meeting of the African Methodist Episcopal ministerial alliance. "Our belief is that Dr. Rainey would be fair and impartial to all, regardless of race, creed or color," he said.

Texan Recounts Leading Group In Liberating Cabanatuan Prisoners

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A sun-bronzed Texan told today how he led the Sixth Ranger batalion squad which broke through the outside gates of the Cabanatuan prison camp where 513 American and Allied prisoners were liberated after 38 months imprisonment in the Philippines.

It was just after dark on Jan. 30 that S/Sgt. Theodore R. Richardson, 25, of Dallas, and his group of men carried out their daring role in operation that surprised and led to the slaughter of 500 Japanese.

Told At News Conference

Richardson and 11 others who participated in the rescue related their experiences at a news conference today at the War department.

The Rangers, nearing the end of a 25-mile trek within enemy lines, waited in a ditch across a roadway in front of the prison until a signal was given, then sprinted for the gate while other units were attacking the stockade from the sides and rear.

A Jap pillbox was near the gate, and from within a sentry opened up with a machinegun. Simultaneously, Richardson and his men opened fire.

Gun Shot From Hand

"I had a little trouble as we headed towards that gate," grinned Richardson, a chain store employe before entering the Army in February 1942.

"I got my gun shot out of my hand, but I got it back. I used it a few seconds later to shoot off the padlock of the gate so we could break into the place."

Once inside, Richardson's men dashed to the right side of the stockade where the Japanese soldiers were quartered, while other units followed and headed for the left side where the American and Allied prisoners were held.

"We were near the center of the stockade, betwen the officers and enlisted men's quarters, when some Jap stepped up and in perfect English asked 'what's going on here,'" added the sergeant.

Fixed Up In Hurry

"About a hundred shots from pistols and machine guns fixed that Jap up in a hurry."

With hand grenades and gun fire the Yanks dispatched about 200 Japs who were within the stockade. About 300 more were killed on the road near the stockade when ambushed as they hurried toward the prison camp.

Richardson and the other Rangers with him arrived in this country a week ago. They are to leave Saturday on a tour of war industrial centers.

A Vital Message To Men Who Feel Old

Why not regain the vim and vitality you once enjoyed?

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for CASELLA stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try CASELLA tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? There is nothing harmful in these tablets. They contain Celery seed, Thiamin Chloride, Passion Flower, Iron. Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula.

New Mexico Indian's Boy Scout Training Wins Battle Medals

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN GERMANY—One of the star patrol scouts of the western front is a full-blooded Navajo Indian who has killed 40 Japanese and at lesat six Germans—and things his Boy Scout training helped to make him a medal-winning soldier.

Twice-wounded Pfc. Clifford (The Chief) Etsitty still likes to lead combat patrols and has made some hundred volunteer expeditions into enemy territory to gather information.

Hero In Two Theaters

The 20-year-old Mexican Springs, N. M., Indian doesn't look particularly menacing. He is small —5 feet 5 tall and weighing 147 pounds—but he has the wiry endurance built up by years of range riding and bronco busting.

He has proved himself a hero in two theaters of war—the Pacific and European — but he would rather go on patrols than talk about them. He speaks slowly, looking steadily at you through deep brown eyes and twisting his neat small hands nervously. He is calm and unruffled but he isn't used to talking.

Got Japs On Attu

"I got my Japs on Attu in 20 days there," he said. "It was mostly night ambush work. We would wear white snow suits, pick a place in the snow and lay there until the Japs tried to come up. Then we would pick them off. I used an old model Springfield rifle then. Now I use an M1."

"The Chief" received his first Purple Heart on Attu where a bursting mortor shell smashed his jaw. He spent five months in a hospital at Dutch Harbor and two more months in a Texas hospital. Then was sent to the 99th division and now he is the prize scout of Company G.

"I could see very well at night when I was on Attu," he said. "But I got a piece of shrapnel just above my left eye and it cut down my vision on that side. I don't mind night patrols but I would rather go out at daylight."

"The Chief" goes out with eleven other men on combat patrols and with three men on listening post patrols. He always goes first—and that's the way the men with him prefer it. They rely on him heavily. He carries only a rifle, no knife and no food besause most patrols last only about three hours.

Pneumonia is the foremost cause of deaths among children in the United States, with whooping cough second.

Saipan B-29 Base Is Civilian Shopper's Heaven; Even Girdles

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

B-29 BASE, Saipan. — Memo to the folks back home: This is a civilian shopper's heaven. No ration coupons, no parking problems (a jeep will snuggle happily wherever it can get one wheel on the ground) and all the clerks know there's a war on but keep it their own little secret.

It's also a clerk's heaven. Ask Tech Sgt. Norman Wolfe, Camas, Wash., chief clerk at the local SAK's Fifth avenue—or quartermaster's, as the sign over the wood-and-canvas emporium labels it.

"There's just one thing good about this job," I overheard Sergeant Wolfe telling a pretty Army nurse, Eleanor Gene ("Lazy") Lazynski, Milwaukee, Wis., who had come in with four others from the hospital here to buy her "spring wardrobe."

"And that is . . .?" asked 2nd Lt. Lazynski.

"We've got what we've got. You take it or leave it," he grinned. "And believe me — that's good when a guy's job in civilian life was selling women's hats!"

Second Lt. Mary Ribakusky, Mountain View, N. J., was shopping for a dainty feminine item labeled "suit H.B.T.—with drop seat" or otherwise a pair of fatigue overalls.

"There are just two sizes, Mary," advised 2nd Lt. Grace McKay, Milwaukee. "Two sizes—too large, too small."

"But you can get a real girdle—real elastic," said 2nd Lt. L. Arley Wolfe, Mankato, Minn. "Tell that to the girls back home!"

The other nurse was looking over an assortment of "brassieres bandeau," "panties cotton," "stockings women's rayon."—I quote the labels on what at home are known as intimate garments. She was 2nd Lt. Ellen M. Thompson, Eagle River, Wisc., and she bought.

Coalition Sure To Beat Williams

WASHINGTON, March 7 (U.P.) —The Senate's Republican-Southern Democrat coalition was confident today that it could prevent confirmation of Aubrey Williams, whose nomination as Rural Electrification administrator may come up later this week.

A late poll taken by members of the coalition lists 47 votes against Williams. They are sure they can pick up several more votes, but this number probably would be sufficient to defeat the former National Youth administrator.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar, (D-Tenn), a leader in the anti-Williams fight told reporters "we will beat Williams by 8 or 10 votes. Williams' nomination was disapproved last week by the Senate agriculture committee by a vote of 12 to 8.

McKellar said the fact that the Senate confirmed Henry A. Wallace as Commerce secretary despite coalition objections would have no bearing on the Williams issue.

Some coalitioners believe that a number of Senators who went along with the administration on Wallace will balk at Williams "to get right" with their non-New Deal constituents.

Meanwhile Sen. Henrik Shipstead, (R-Minn), said he was receiving wide support from state REA organizations for his bill to take REA out of the Department of Agriculture. Co-sponsors of the bill are Sens. George D. Aiken, (R-Vt), and Burton K. Wheeler, (D-Mont). Similar bills have been offered in the House.

Landlord Attempts To "Burn" Tenants Out

FORT WORTH, March 7. (U.P.)—Curtis T. Williams, 40, was free on bond today after telling police he tried to evict the tenants of his house by setting fire to the place "because they were behind in thir rent."

Police said Williams told them it was he who ignited a pile of hay last Thursday night under the house in which Mrs. Lucy Bell Whitehead and her two sons were asleep. The sons put out the fire with water from rain-filled holes. Someone had overturned a water barrel beside the house.

"The reason I did this was to get the tenants out,' 'said Williams. "They were behind in their rent and I had no intention of ever trying to collect the insurance."

Williams faces charges of arson.

U. S. Army field telephone set

One of five million reasons why you are waiting for a telephone

More than 5,000,000 military telephones have been made by Western Electric, our peacetime supplier of telephone equipment. Each one adds to the reasons why 200,000 people in the Southwest are waiting for telephone service.

Besides telephones, Western Electric is making for the armed forces thousands of switchboards, millions of miles of wire and cable, hundreds of thousands of combat radios, radar equipment and automatic gun directors. Little time and few skilled hands are left to make "civilian" telephone equipmen..

That's why it's hard to say when everyone now waiting for new telephone service will get it. At best, it will not be soon. Thanks for your continued understanding.

Spectacular Sea Rescue Of B-29 Crash Victim Recounted On Saipan

By ROBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AT A B-29 BASE ON SAIPAN, March 7 (Via Navy Radio)—The longest sea-air rescue yet effected brought back to this base a survivor of a ditched Superfortress who had spent four and a half days on a life raft several hundred miles away.

He was popular, handsome Maj. Hugh Mahoney, Corpus Christi, Tex., and the pilot of the rescuing Navy seaplane was Lt. M. W. Kouns, jr., Oakland, Calif., who made a spectacular open sea landing in a heavy PBM to pick up Mahoney.

Extra Navigation

Mahoney joined a B-29 crew as an extra navigator on a bombing mission Febrnary 27. Over the target, one engine of the giant plane died and the propellor feathered, but an hour later number three engine ran away and the pilot could not feather the prop. Windmilling wildly, the prop finally melted and fell off, tearing a huge hole in the fuselage. All knew the plane would be lost as it began losing altitude.

"The pilot ditched beautifully in heavy ground swells at least 12 feet high," Mahoney said. "The plane stayed afloat more than an hour and broke in half at the midsection. I got clear and saw others getting free of the wreckage. I saw one man without a Mae West (life jacket) and I threw him mine but he missed and I think he drowned."

Mahone could not say much about what happened to the others of the plane's crew except that he saw eight inflating and getting into life rafts.

Eight Others Rescued

(Eight other survivors of the crash were taken aboard a destroyer the day before Mahoney was picked up. Their names were unavailable presently.)

The next day he saw one B-29 and 24 hours later he sighted three Navy planes, one of which he later learned spotted him. On the fourth day a Navy plane dropped two shipwreck kits, including water and fruit juices.

Mahoney had lost 15 pounds but otherwise was in excellent condition and high spirits when the smoke from his last flare caught the eye of G. M. Garrett, Houston, Tex., a member of Lt. Koun's plane crew.

Only Two Survive Loss Of Ammunition Ship

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Lieut. Commander Perry L. Stinson of the Coast Guard told today how he stood on the shore of South Pacific island and watched his ammunition-laden cargo ship, the Serpens, explode and sink a mile off shore.

Loss of the 14,250-ton ship was announced by the Navy last week. Commander Stinson, from Dermott, Ark., told a news conference that of the approximately 200 men on board, only two survived. They were Seaman Kelsey K. Kemp, Barren Springs, Va., and Seaman George Kennedy, San Marcos, Tex.

Army Offers Rewards For Brilliant Ideas

DALLAS, March 7. (AP)—The Army is encouraging its civilian employees and military personnel to think. The question is "How would you suggest getting your job done quicker or better or cheaper?" The reward for a man with a bright idea is cash if he's a civilian and a furlough, recommendation for promotion, or the Legion of Merit if he's a soldier.

And many good suggestions have come to the Army Service forces sponsoring the national victory suggestion program. The over-all result is an estimated $1,185,000 saving a year for army operations in the Southwest, Eighth Service command headquarters in Dallas said today.

Cpl. William V. Budlis, on duty at the station hospital, Camp Wolters, Texas, enjoyed a 14-day furlough for suggesting that unused equipment issued the men at the station be sent overseas.

Dallas' New Trolleys To Be Conductor-less

DALLAS, March 7. (U.P.)—The Dallas Railway and Terminal company, which operates the city's transportation system, is getting 25 brand-new, streamlined streetcars this month.

But . . . under the new selective service ruling to take 70 per cent of essential industry workers under 30, the system stands to lose at least 88 operators. So . . . the problem is this: New streetcars and no conductors.

Mrs. Roosevelt Given Real Harem Costumes

WASHINGTON, March 7. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has a crown, but she says it's too heavy to wear.

She and her daughter, Mrs. Anna Boettiger, also have some real harem costumes, she disclosed at her news conference today, but haven't worn them.

The harem gowns are new gifts of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, but the first lady said she could not recall offhand which near eastern potentate it was who sent her the bejeweled gold crown two years ago.

It arrived after the Casablanca conference, she explained, and now reposes in the Roosevelt library at Hyde Park.

"It is the most terrific thing you ever saw," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "Nobody could possibly wear it. It is too heavy."

Battle Vet Plagued By Thirteen-itis

TEMPLE, March 7. (U.P.)—Besides losing his left leg from artillery fire in a battle in France, Pvt. Raymond S. Hathcock, of Florence, Ala., is suffering from thirteen-itis.

The private was born in 1913, went overseas on Sept. 13, 1944 after a trip on a troop train consisting of 13 cars. He landed in France on Friday, the 13th.

He was wounded on the 13th of the following month, got to Halifax on the 13th of the next month, arrived at McClosky general hospital here and was assigned to bed No. 13.

Pvt. Hathcock was with the 328 infantry—and those numbers add up to 13. He also is 31 years of age—also 13; if turned around.

Dallasite's Divorce Pleading Boomerangs

DALLAS, March 7 (U.P.) — A Dallas man got more than he expected when he sued for divorce from his wife. He told the court his wife nagged him. She even called up people just to talk about him.

The wife's attorney then brought in a witness for his client. The witness testified that the man's wife made the calls all right—to find her husband when he was out with other women.

A Report to TEXAS INDUSTRY

The year 1944 was a record-breaking year for the Texas Employers' Insurance Association, with premium income reaching an all-time high of $6,830,457, and with substantial increases in assets and surplus, as shown by the graph below.

43,612 ACCIDENT CASES

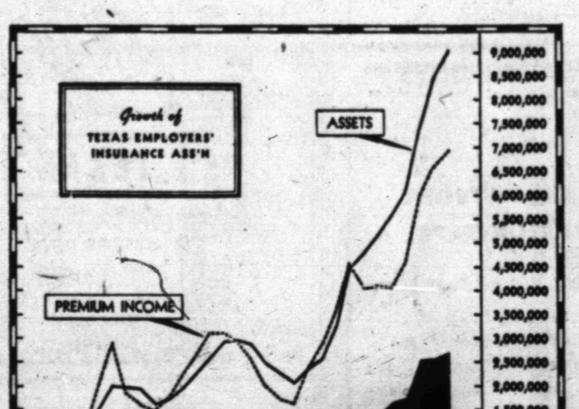

Last year, 43,612 accident cases, including 152 fatalities, were reported to the Association's 19 district offices in Texas. Although this was the largest number of claims ever reported in a single year, they were so promptly and efficiently handled that the Association had only 129 claims involved in litigation at the end of 1944.

In order to combat the increase in frequency and severity of industrial accidents, the Texas Employers' Insurance Association has greatly increased its staff of Safety Engineers, already the largest in the State. This has enabled the Association to intensify its accident-prevention program and thereby conserve manpower vital to the war effort.

$1,909,000 IN DIVIDENDS PAID IN 1944

During 1944, Texas Employers' Insurance Association paid $1,909,000 in dividends to its policyholders, which amount represented the savings effected on 1943 operations. Dividends, representing savings on 1944 operations, will be paid during 1945.

Are you taking advantage of the superior service facilities and savings offered by Texas' largest writer of Workmen's Compensation Insurance? If not, why not call or write the district office nearest you.

Diamond English

The matter of grading diamonds for color, cutting and internal cleanliness really gets down to how good one wants his eyesight to be or how honest he might be. After all, diamonds are about like people's faces—no two a-like; and besides that sometimes what one might call Top Silver Cape, another fellow would call it a blue white.

It just gets down, therefore, to how honest or intelligent one is or how careful one is in slinging "the King's English."

Therefore, your sole protection lies in the reliability of the jeweler you choose.

Schoolboys Open Cage Meet Today

AUSTIN, Tex., March 7 (AP)—A half dozen top arbiters of Texas basketball will toot the whistles and call the fouls for 240 schoolboy cagers who tomorrow begin the annual Interscholastic League state basketball tournament here.

Referees for the meet which continues through Saturday and determination of titlists in AA, A and B conferences are Ziggy Sears of Fort Worth, Dusty Boggess of Dallas, Abb Curtis of Fort Worth, Mike Williamson of San Antonio, John Morrow of Waco and J. T. Looney of Houston.

In all 24 teams will see action. They are the cream of the state's high school cagers, survivors of long, hard competition in their own bailiwicks.

Mount Enterprise and Sugarland of Conference B, touch off the firing at 9 a. m. tomorrow. All games are slated for the University of Texas' huge Gregory gym.

Tournament activities, including presentation of awards following each of three championship games, will be broadcast on the Texas State network.

Arkansas Solons Put Over Raise For Coach

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 7. (AP)—Sports-minded members of the Arkansas legislature pushed to final passage today a bill authorizing $12,500 annual salary for the University of Arkansas head grid coach "to put Arkansas football teams on the map."

Rep. J. L. Erwin of Desha county, captain of the 1932 Arkansas eleven, steered the measure to 53-33 passage in the House over an opposition group which protested that the salary would be higher than that paid the university president or the governor and which insisted that subsidization of athletes was the proper way to build winning teams.

The bill, which now goes to Gov. Ben Laney for his signature, authorizes university trustees to use up to $12,500 a year from Arkansas gate receipts to pay the head coach. Athletic Director Glen Rose, who piloted the Razorbacks to a third place spot in the Southwest Conference last season in his first year as head mentor, was reported to receive $5,500 a year.

Erwin cited experiences of the University of Texas and Tulsa university as evidence that Arkansas could build a winning team by keeping a top-notch grid coach. Rose's first year record at Arkansas was mentioned in the bill as being "outstanding" and sponsors of the measure said one of the purposes of the measure was to keep him at the university if possible.

Meads Bowlers Keep Climbing In League

Sweeping three straight games over the S. and Q. Clothiers, Meads Bakery bowling five moved into a tie wth Lions club for second place in the City-Commercial league race at the Plamor alleys Wednesday night, to continue the clubs sensational climb from deep in the second division.

It was the only clean sweep of the night, and in other matches the league leading Hub Laundry won two from Armour's, Optimists club won two over DeKalb Oilers and Coca-Cola took a pair from Lions club.

Scoring honors of the night went to Coca-Cola bowlers, with Charles Begey getting the best series with 577 pins, and Grandville Young toppling 234 pins for the best single game.

Cagers Seek Victory In Third Attempts

COLUMBUS, O., March 7. (AP)—Ohio State's basketball team and Bowling Green's Coach W. Harold Anderson are putting their faith in that old "third time's a charm-" superstition.

Ohio State last night accepted an invitation to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association's basketball tournament. It will be the third time the Bucks have competed in that tournament and they're still looking for their first National title.

Earlier in the day, Bowling Green accepted an invitation to play in the New York Madison Square Garden Invitation tournament. This will be the third time Coach Anderson has had a team in that event and he's still looking for his first tournament winner.

Petersburg To Battle Memphis

PETERSBURG, Mar. 7 (Special) The hard fighting Petersburg pugilistic powers of the padded arena will face another serious challenge in the defense of their home corral Friday night at 8:30 o'clock when Stormy Davis and his Memphis Cyclones blow into the local camp for a fifteen fight dual match.

From Memphis has come some outstanding high school boxers in bygone years and it is an accepted fact that the present crop of fighting sons from the sandy soils of Hall county is among the best in the history of the school. Under the tutelage of Coach Stormy Davis, the Memphis zephers have blown the props from beneath some of the best high school boxing teams in the state and there is little doubt that they will sorely test the hard fighting Petersburg battlers.

Petersburg will be fresh from a well earned win over the fighting Irish of Shamrock High school and will make a determined bid to keep on the win side of the victory ledger. The local fistic performers have begun to show the power and timing in their punches that brought them so many early round victories during last year and the Memphis gladiators will be facing a bristling crew anyone of whom may explode with a hypnotic producing punch.

Two of Shamrock's gallant Irishmen were early pounded into dreamland during last week's card and two others were reeling helplessly from vicious fistic barrages. John Phillips and Emmett Myers were quick KO victors and Hollis Black and Ralph White were near victors via the same route.

It is expected that the greatest crowd in the history of ring warfare will greet Memphis on its invasion of the Petersburg arena. Since the beginning of boxing in Petersburg the crowds have progressively grown larger until now the capactiy of the gym is taxed to capacity at every home appearance. Ringsides are available for out of town orders at the City Drug store in Petersburg.

Bean Bronchos Win Pair Over Sanders

Bean's Bronchos took both ends of a twin bill over the Sanders Bulldoggers, while Wilson Wranglers and Central Ward Spurs were splitting even, Wednesday afternoon in the Lubbock grade school volleyball league.

The Bean boys nosed out an 18-17 win in a closely fought duel, but the Bean girls had less trouble, winning 45-12.

The Central girls nosed out a 48-37 win over Wilson, but the Wilson boys won easily by a 42-16 count.

Groce Furniture Five Noses By Outsiders

The Groce Furniture cage five from Lubbock nosed by the Idalou Outsiders Wednesday night at the Idalou gym, 50-47, in the deciding game of the series.

The game drew a large crowd, and the boys gave them plenty of thrills in the close battle.

Billy Kelley of Idalou copped the scoring honors of the ball game, looping in 20 points, while Bob Galey paced the winners with 17 points.

Cubs Prepare To Leave For Camp

CHICAGO, March 7. (AP) — A handful of Chicago Cubs tonight departed for French Lick, Ind., where Manager Charlie Grimm hopefully plans to send the Bruins through the opening spring training session of the National League season tomorrow.

Traveling Secretary Bob Lewis invited 16 of the 37 players on the Cubs' roster to make the jaunt from Chicago to the flood-plagued Indiana base. Shortly before train time, several were unreported.

Other squad members were instructed to get to French Lick from their winter residences as best they could.

Six pitchers, one catcher, five infielders and four outfielders were among the 16 players invited to leave with Lewis.

Neither Lewis nor General Manager James T. Gallagher would even attempt to guess how many of the club's 37 players would be on hand tomorrow.

Gallagher said there were 11 players from whom he hadn't heard for months. Like the other 15 major league clubs, the Bruins have reason to suspect that many baseballers are up in the air over the manpower situation and are waiting for Washington to make a clarifying move on work-or-fight proposals before they report.

Lewis asserted that all baseball strategists could do was "watch-and-pray" until the season opened.

"It may be that Cholly and myself will play catch the whole spring practice," joked the rotund secretary.

The squad Lewis invited included: Pitchers Ed Hanyzewski, Bob Chipman, Paul Erickson, George Hennessy, Ray Prim and Al Nusser; Catcher Joe Stephenson; Infielders Phil Cavarretta, Don Johnson, Len Merullo, Bill Schuster and John Ostrowski; and Outfilders Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, Andy Pafko, Frank Secory and Cecil Garriott.

Four Ball Play To Have Pre-War Flavor

MIAMI, Fla., March 7. (AP) — Familiar faces and scorching scores will lend a pre-war flavor tomorrow to the first round of the $7,500 International Four-Ball golf tournament.

Thirty-two of the sharpest-shooting professionals in the game, paired in teams, are to battle at match play over the Miami Springs Municipal course, a duffer's dream of a layout.

The starter's calls will sound like old times. He'll sing out the names of Byron Nelson, Sammy Snead, Lt. Ben Hogan and Craig Wood—the Big Four of the era before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Twelve members of the current field competed in the last previous four-ball, the event of 1942 when the outsiders Chandler Harper and Herman Keiser survived a wave of upsets which washed out all the stars.

The top-seeded combination of Nelson and Harold McSpaden will encounter Willie Klein and Pvt. Otey Crisman tomorrow. Neither Nelson nor McSpaden liked the favorite's role.

"We're darkhorses. It'll be an upset if we win," said McSpaden, and Nelson added: "We've never done well together in the past."

FROGS OPEN CAMP

FORT WORTH, March 7. (AP) — Twenty eight candidates reported to Coach Dutch Meyer this afternoon for TCU's first baseball workout since 1942. The Horned Frogs are one of five teams competing in the sport in the Southwest Conference this year.

In 13 twin bills to date, Madison Square Garden has drawn 214,279 basketball fans, for an average of 16,500.

Two Days Of Track Opens Today At Chapman Field

Two squads of Cowboys and two of Cowhands will open two days of track and field events scheduled for Chapman field Thursday afternoon, and again Friday afternoon, at which time the senior trackmen will take over the spotlight.

The meet this afternoon, scheduled for 4 o'clock, will be the first of two planned for this season between the freshmen and sophomores of Lubbock schools. The second will be held one week later.

There will be two squads of each group entered in the meet, with the Cowboys Red and White, and the Cowhands Black and Gold.

The meet on Friday afternoon will be a practice meet, open to any schools of this area desiring to get a workout for their track hopefuls, and is expected to attract a number of area schools.

The two latest entries for the meet came from Tahoka and Denver City, which boosts the Class A schools entered to four. Levelland and Andrews entered earlier in the week.

No formal track workouts have been started at Tahoka, but Supt. W. T. Hanes said that a number of boys had been working out on their own for several days, and these would be entered in the meet here.

The Denver City Mustangs, one of the most potent track teams of this area last season, is reported to have another strong club this year, and Coach Wilson Head's boys are expected to be plenty tough.

Just what teams will show up without advance notice remains to be seen.

Finance Evens Cage Series With Line

Finance cagers evened up the series for the squadron basketball league playoff Wednesday afternoon at the Lubbock Army Air field gym by winning the second game, 27-21, over the Section C Line club.

Foll of the winners and Colla for the losers shared scoring honors of the game, each getting 11 points.

The deciding game of the series will be played Friday.

Fish, Game Laws To Be Revamped By Bill

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—A measure completely revamping the state's fish and game laws by extending the regulatory powers of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission, was introduced in the Senate today by Howard Carney of Atlanta.

The measure authorizes the commission to make a continuous study and research of the supply and factors limiting the increase of game birds, fur bearing and game animals and fresh water fish, and then determine when any species is being reduced below recuperative potentials through hunting and fishing.

Under the proposed law, the commission instead of the legislature, would have the power to prescribe not only the number to be taken but also size, sex or age limitations.

The measure would repeal all general and special laws insofar as they provide open seasons, bag and possession limits, or regulate means and methods of taking.

Carney's bill does not set up any new licenses fees, nor does it permit the commission to prescribe additional hunting or fishing license fees. It does not repeal the present state laws on game storage, on hunting deer with lights, the ban on the use of poison or explosives, hunting from boat or plane, or sale restrictions on fur bearing animals or fresh water fish.

The measure would give the commission authority to declare an open season on doe deer if a survey revealed there were too many old ones.

In the case of depletion of game fish or birds in any specified area of the state, the commission under this authority could establish a protective reserve until the depleted species had been restored.

Girls State Tourney Opens At Hillsboro

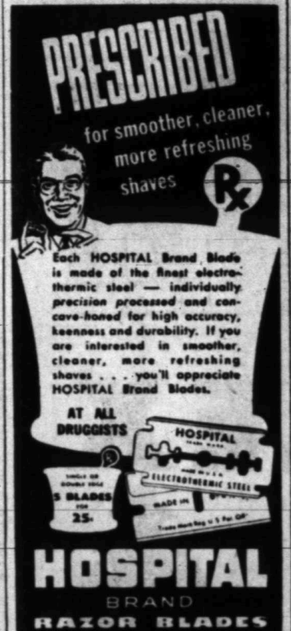

HILLSBORO, Tex., March 7 (AP) Sixteen sextettes were poised tonight for the kickoff tomorrow of the Texas State High School girls' basketball championship tournament.

Twenty-three championship and consolation games will be played during the three-day tournament, with the finals scheduled Saturday night.

China's Clippers are heavy favorites to take the sixth annual tournament, bringing the most impressive record to the meet: 97 straight victories.

Defending champion, Acquilla is on hand again, and other entries are Follett, Lott, Union, Jonesboro, Friona, Hermleigh, Novice, Bloomington, Comfort, Lapoynor, Whitharral, Mesquite, Aledo and Avinger.

First night games will be played at Abbott and Bynum, with play moving to Hillsboro Thursday and Friday. Semi-final games are slated Saturday morning.

The New OPA Rulings

Why Not "Choose Up Again?"

WE have never been critical of the over-all operations of the Office of Price Administration. We believe no one would be critical of that government agency after carefully noting the size of the job it has to do and coming to a realization that OPA, or something like it, is necessary to the public's well being during wartime.

As a matter of fact, since Chester Bowles has been head man at OPA, we marvel at the way the agency has operated. By and large, it has done a good job—and those screaming loudest against it would be howling even harder if there were no controls on prices and commodities and unfettered inflation and shortages were abroad in the land.

But while giving OPA full credit, and admitting that its over-all task is a terrific one, we conclude that its more recent directives regarding the retailing of dry goods have been poorly conceived. We come to this conclusion after talking with various merchants, all of whom tell us (along with some OPA executives) that the directives are almost impossible of interpretation and understanding by common mortals.

These recent directives, we take it, are the product of an army of Philadelphia lawyers, all suffering from hangovers and psycho-neurosis. The mountain has labored and instead of bringing forth a mouse, has brought forth a plague—as "off the record" testimony by some OPA-ers, themselves, brings out.

Our information is that large drygoods retailers and chain organizations, which hire all the way from one to 40 people to study and interpret OPA regulations, can do a fair job of charting their course as ordered by recent directives. But the smaller storekeepers are pulling their hair out trying to figure out terminology and the routine demanded by glittering generalities which might as well be written in Sanskrit.

Maybe it would be a good idea if the recent directives were junked and a new set, easy to understand and easy to put into operation, were drawn up in their place.

That way, OPA, the merchants involved —and the general public—would all "get a break."

Anyhow, it's something to think about.

A Good Deal All Around

It bodes well for the nation that President Roosevelt and U. S. Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, Republican tower of strength, were able, "through exchange of cordial and mutually satisfactory letters," to get together on the senator's becoming a member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations parley set for San Francisco next month. Our delegation to San Francisco will be stronger for Senator Vandenberg's presence; Mr. Roosevelt's prestige with the Senate will be strengthened—something that is important now and will continue to be even more important as time rolls on and peace negotiations become more definite.

As Mr. Roosevelt, himself, has said, the problems of international co-operation and world peace are not partisan. Senator Vandenberg, while a member of the party in opposition to the administration, is an outstanding statesman. He has the talents to help solve world affairs. Mr. Roosevelt is wise in seeking to use them.

Praise From The Enemy

AMERICANS have good reason to know and take pride in the valor of their fighting men. The record from every theater of war leaves no doubt.

But valor and experience in war are two different things. While courage may be inherent, combat experience comes only the hard way. The combination is necessary for the highest battle efficiency. Even the enemy admits that American troops on the Western Front now have the combination.

The admission comes from a German major who has fought against American troops in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany. He was captured by the U. S. Ninth Army in its big offensive across the Roer river. Here is what he had to say about the Americans as he has known them from North Africa to now:

"They were always tough, but they lacked experience then. I think the American Army is just now reaching its peak. They've shown more daring and warlike technique over the past weekend than I can ever remember seeing before. Their integration of different arms has surprised us. We still don't know where we're 'at'."

That is the comment of a German professional soldier, and nobody denies the German professional soldier's skill in war. Grudging praise from such a source is praise indeed. It bodes no good for Germany's chances of stopping the Americans short of victory.

Abbott & Costello have gone from bad to worse—specifically, from vaudeville gags to slap-stick comedy.

CHICAGO—THE YOUNG GIANT

II

For about four decades of the last century—from 1840 until well into the 1880's—Chicago grew more rapidly in population and in commercial importance than any other community in the world. It was like a hearty lad who outgrows his clothes before he has had time to get used to them One strange feature of this button-bursting expansion is that the site of Chicago was about the last place along the shore of Lake Michigan where one might reasonably expect the birth of a metropolis. The town stood at the mouth of the Chicago river, which at that time was too shallow for navigation. The land was low, wet and malarial. The ground on which the city's principal business section stands—now known as the Loop—was a marsh only a few inches higher than the level of the lake.

In 1837 the Illinois legislature had incorporated the community as a city the name of Chicago.

Its name in popular speech was Slab Town, and so it was known far and wide. It was called Slab Town because every house in the community was a hastily fung-together, boxlike structure of boards or split logs. Besides Chicago and Slab Town the place had still another name, evolved from the experiences of strangers who had unwittingly tried to dash across a street in rainy weather. By them it was called the Mud Hole of the Prairies.

The new little city had a population of about 4000, made up chiefly of fur traders, grain buyers, wagoners, blacksmiths, gamblers and shopkeepers—as well as a lot of idle adventurers, ready for anything except hard work. In manner or deportment its residents were like those of the other new towns of the Middle West. They drank their tumblers of raw whisky, gambled excessively, danced all night, whooped and yelled and fired guns and pistols frequently, with or without adequate incentive. Murders occurred too often to attract much attention.

But neither mud nor murders held Chicago down. In 1857, 20 years after its incorporation, the city had 93,000 inhabitants and newcomers were still arriving in an unbroken stream. It had 10 first-class hotels—among them the Tremont, a four-story brick structure—besides 40-odd hostelries of lower degree. There were a dozen banks, 40 newspapers and periodicals of various kinds, and 1500 business establishments. It was the terminus of 11 trunk line railroads, and more than 100 trains arrived or departed every day.

It was no longer called Slab Town but the derisive name of Mud Hole of the Prairies still remained. After every rain the black prairie soil became a vast mud puddle, with shallow ponds of muddy water standing in the streets.

In 1855 engineers and drainage experts who had studied the situation concluded that the only practicable solution was to raise the whole area 12 feet above the level of the lake by covering it with fresh soil.

It was a prodigious undertaking and Chicago tackled it with the energy of muscular youth. Two square miles of land—streets, gardens, lawns and back yards—were eventually covered with earth sucked from the bed of the river, for a channel-deepening job was going on at the same time.

Nothing could stop the rushing progress of the wonder city of the Midwest. By 1870 its population had grown up to 300,000. Farms on the prairie were surrounded and swallowed by the advancing city, and poor farmers, to their own amazement, found themselves rich from the sale of their land. As a meatpacking center Chicago had passed Cincinnati. Seventeen huge grain elevators, with a capacity of 12 million bushels, raised their tall heads alongside the freight yards. Chicago wholesale houses had become the largest of their kind, and their salesmen were to be found traveling all over the western states, selling goods to legion of retail merchants.

Stone sidewalks had been laid in the downtown business section, but the rest of the city—even in the wealthy districts—still tripped along on planks. A huge sewage system had been established; it had only one serious fault—it wouldn't work. On the lake shore rose the palatial homes of the new-rich; some of them were marble palaces. Along the Chicago river, and north, west and south were the homes of the laboring poor; some of them were muddy hovels, made of rough boards.

The city was always full of strangers who had come to better their fortunes, or to escape the consequence of their misdeeds, or to avoid their creditors. But there were also many decent workmen who hoped to obtain work in a railroad shop or an industrial plant, for Chicago employers were said to pay higher wages than those prevailing in the east. The boisterous city of glamor and mud, easy fortunes and loose spending, also attracted a swarm of gamblers and plausible swindlers.

Young men who were just beginning their careers, or who had not been able to find a place for themselves at home, were probably the most numerous of all the newcomers.

One of these young men was Jeff Martin, who arrived in Chicago in the fall of 1871, having come from his home town of Annapolis, Md.

PIONEER RANCHER DIES

SAN ANTONIO, March 7. (AP)—Peter Joseph Classen, 86, pioneer South Texas rancher, died Tuesday at his home on the Classen ranch. A native of Bexar county, Classen was a leading breeder of sheep and registered cattle in the state. Funeral services will be held here Thursday afternoon.

Back-To-Soil Move Is Urged By Teubel

Henry Teubal of Aulia, former Lubbock citizen and now president of Tulia Kiwanis club, said that a back-to-the-land movement must be started after this war if this or any other nation is to survive, when he addressed the luncheon of Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday in Hilton hotel.

"There are only two ways that a nation can be destroyed; war and destruction, or erosion due to neglect of the soil," he said. "We must preserve our soil for posterity and for our returning service men if we are to survive."

The world is faced with the most important decision in history, he said, adding that there are two alternatives; one to centralize in the big cities with the possibility of becoming slaves, and the other to insure individual freedom through decentralization of the country's economy.

Teubel, who is a native of Germany, was introduced by Herbert B. Teal, program chairman.

Speaking on behalf of the proposal of Rep. Preston E. Smith of Lubbock to apportion certain University of Texas funds among the other state supported colleges, G. H. Nelson, Lubbock attorney, asked that a committee be appointed from the Rotary club to meet with similar committees from other civic clubs at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce offices. President C. A. Bestwick appointed the following to that committee: George Dupree, O. W. Ribble, John W. Broome, Chas. A. Guy and Jack Parsons.

Hawaiian music on the program was furnished by I. D. Dunagan and J. K. Kalana. Visiting Rotarians were Bill Blakeney of Abilene and G. C. Tubbs of Floydada.

Give To The Red Cross!

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A 73-year-old New York landlord was fined $1,000 and given a three-months suspended jail sentence for charging his tenants more than ceiling prices.

"The only reason I am so lenient," said the judge, "is because of the age of the convicted defendant."

BRANDEIS

A 70-year-old lunch room proprietor, also in New York, was arrested and is facing trial for charging 30 cents a package for cigarettes.

Both of these fellows were in comfortable circumstances, neither really needed the money.

Both of them had decent homes, their living habits were modest, their physical condition no better than their ages warrant.

What makes people who don't need money so greedy, what makes them snatch every penny—legitimate or otherwise — when they know darn well that—in the words of the well-known play — "You can't take it with you?"

It is the same vice that is responsible for so many of the world's ills—GREED.

You probably know people like that in your own acquaintance.

They never have enough, they are never satisfied.

There can be no happiness where there is greed.

It isn't always money the greedy person is after.

It often is power, success, social standing.

All these are forms of greed and all these destroy happiness and friendship.

There is a great difference between greed and ambition.

You are perfectly justified in making the best of your abilities and opportunities.

You have a right to the good things of life if you can get them by normal work, normal ambition and normal effort.

But if you become grasping and avaricious you get to hate yourself, and soon you will be hated by all those who have to come into contact with you.

I have seen sable coats and mink jackets in store windows that I would have liked my wife to have.

But I am not going to break a window or my heart trying to get them.

It is very nice to ride around in a Cadillac, but a Ford has four wheels, too, and a pretty good engine. And I have seen more happy people in Fords than in Cadillacs.

SOMEHOW, the people who have just enough and are satisfied with what they have, seem to get much more out of life than those who always want more.

And I, for one, would much rather see a happy face in a muskrat coat than a frozen-hearted dowager in a chinchilla creation.

Just the other evening I went to the Metropolitan Opera. The "golden horseshoe" was full of diamonds and costly furs. And the people who wore them looked bored and applauded, but politely.

But way up in the gallery there were hundreds who shouted and clapped and enjoyed every minute of it. There wasn't a mink coat in sight. But there was happiness and joy at $1.10 a seat.

The opera was the same for both—the "golden horseshoe" and the gallery.

Axis Losses In U. S. Discussed

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A STRONG congressional movement to insure American citizens against financial losses from Axis depredations has bumped into administration indifference and open opposition from the same outside influences which were active after the last war. Then the kaiser's victims in this country did not recoup in full; many waited for years before receiving only partial repayment.

The measure which would prevent a repetition of this fiasco has been introduced by Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart of Fresno, California, a founder of the American Legion. It provides that German and Japanese funds and property now held by our Government—estimated to be worth approximately $750,000,000—should be sold to the highest bidder and the proceeds divided among legitimate American claimants.

TUCKER

After World War I, Congress passed a law which enabled the Germans to recover approximately 80 per cent of their holdings in the United States. The other Allies received compensation for their nationals through the payment of reparations; but, as this country did not sign the Treaty of Versailles, our sufferers had to engage in protracted and unsatisfactory negotiations before they got any cash at all. Meanwhile, the American people bought millions of German bonds, which were used to make good these losses.

Berlin regained control of valuable patent rights because of our policy at that time. As a result, the postwar Reich was able to rebuild the system of cartels which forced United States corporations to be dependent upon our former enemy in many lines of international trade. Had it not been for our generous program, economic and diplomatic experts maintain, Hitler would not have had the resources for rearming.

DENOUNCE: The late Sen. Bill Borah of Idaho, whose partiality to German interests derived largely from his intense hatred of Great Britain, was the parliamentary leader in demanding the return of prewar property to Berlin. He contended that international law and precedent, as well as historic American policy, required such action.

Two other individuals gave him great aid, and they have bobbed up again. The first is Prof. Edwin Borchard of Yale, whose appearances before congressional committees 25 years ago drew the fire of John Garner, then a member of the Huose. The other "friend of the court" was Otto C. Sommerich of the New York firm of Katz & Sommerich.

The Manhattan lawyer opposed retention of alien property then as legal representative of the Deutsche Bank and Discontogesellschaft fo Berlin. He carried his opposition as far as the Supreme court. Both men have written letters and made statements condemning the Gearhart proposal. The Californian threatens to denounce their activities on the floor; indeed, he has already referred to them without identifying them.

DELAY: Cordell Hull, on the House Ways and Means committee in 1919, joined with Mr. Garner in labeling the outright return of the holdings as "the greatest steal in history."

But about a year ago, when he was still Secretary of State, the Tennesseean gave a formal opinion that the Gearhart measure was "premature" and urged that settlement of the question be deferred until the end of the war, "when our policy will have been determined."

Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, and Leo Crowley, head of the Foreign Economic administration, likewise counsel delay. The former holds enemy funds which have been frozen, while Crowley has charge of the Axis physical property which was seized at the outbreak of the conflict.

OUTFOX: Congressional strategists have hit upon what they regard as a sure-fire method of venting their hostility to the White House and sidetracking administration schemes without too ostentatious a show of opposition. They have invoked their power to decide which committee shall consider certain measures, and they have combined with Republicans behind closed doors to gain their ends.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WITH both President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill reporting on the Crimea conference, debate opens wide on its covenants and the agenda for the San Francisco gathering.

After tentatively endorsing the basic principles that seem to have been agreed upon at Yalta, influential Republicans kept their fingers crossed until hearing more fully from the White House and 10 Downing Street. Now they have something definitely to chew on.

Here is the consensus of some of America's outstanding authorities on foreign relations residing in New York, many of whom have served in high positions in the government:

LEMAN

In their opinion the Big Three solemnly reaffirmed the sidetracked Atlantic Charter—as they did at previous meetings Hence men like Hoover, Vandenberg, Stassen and others think that it is better strategy to take them at their word than to reject all that was accomplished on the shores of the Black Sea.

But certain powerful GOP chiefs still suspect that Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin do not intend to fulfill their pledges. By placing the President, Prime Minister and Commissiar on their honor, Republican leaders are in a position to support them if they keep their promises but to rip them up the back if they welsh on them.

New York bigwigs interviewed declare that, if the Crimea conferees are telling the whole truth, their compact has removed the threat of a Communistic dominated postwar Berlin run by puppets such as the Free Germany group of generals and refugees now in Moscow.

It also binds Russia not to attempt a unilateral peace treaty, and guarantees that she will share in —not hog—the military control of the Reich. Up to now there has been ample ground to worry lest the Kremlin insist on playing first fiddle in Europe.

TREATIES: But special measures should be advocated at the Golden Gate to supplement the Dumbarton Oaks plan, according to the Manhattan statesmen.

In fact, one such proposal may soon be announced in detail—new flexible machinery for the revision of unsatisfactory treaties. This suggestion was originally made early in the war by former President Hoover and he is even more convinced since the Yalta communique that it is necessary.

In a nutshell, a provision is recommended for treaty signatories to have a rehearing within a 10-year period after the settlement. It would save a smaller nation—Poland, for example—from the belief that she was irrevocably tied in a strait jacket from which she could only free herself by intrigue, violence and power politics.

Economic and political conditions can alter drastically in a decade—witness recent history. New circumstances may well justify a re-examination of earlier decisions. The prospect of changes would prevent the permanent guarantee of disputed frontiers—like the Curzon Line—aand would offer a cooling-off interim for the day plenipotentiaries could take up their maps without heat.

In theory either of two parties to a pact can now reopen discussions. But if the major power objects to reconsideration, the weaker usually gets nowhere. The San Francisco conference will be asked to build the revision machinery into international law so that all countries in the world may enforce the right of a treaty signatory to fair renegotiations and dispositions.

We have been on an A gasoline ration so long that we are beginning to develop symptoms of agrophobia.

Wallace To "Carry Ball" For New Dealers

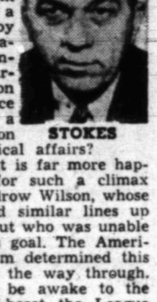

World Affairs Hold FDR's Eye

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Another anniversary has come around. Franklin D. Roosevelt has been in the White House for 12 years. He has completed three full presidential terms. A very natural question arises:

Where does he go from here?

He still faces the final test, his bid for a big niche in the hall of American history, perhaps world history.

STOKES

Will he be able to round out a career rich in domestic reform and bright with the conduct of a successful war by leading this nation into an international security organization and thus place the country in a dormant position in world political affairs?

Mr. Roosevelt is far more happily situated for such a climax than was Woodrow Wilson, whose career followed similar lines up to this point, but who was unable to achieve this goal. The American people seem determined this time to go all the way through. They seem to be awake to the pitfalls which beset the League of Nations, a quarter of a century ago; and they seem to be alert to see that the Senate does not frustrate them again.

FDR Proceeds Carefully

President Roosevelt is determined to cap his career with a realization of the Wilson objective. He is placing that first, above everything else. He has shown himself willing to compromise here and there, to sit down with the Senate as Woodrow Wilson failed to do, to accomplish the goal.

He is very conscious of the mistakes of his World War I chief, with whom he served. He has proceeded every step of the way with that other career in mind. He has included Congress and its Republican leaders in all of his plans in a co-operative endeavor.

THIS emphasis on international objectives, with other matters relegated to secondary consideration, has raised a program for the liberal wing of his party as it looks forward to the rest of the Fourth Term administration, as it contemplates all the serious matters of domestic concern.

There is much talk of that problem now. For the domestic field is going to be chock-full of all the problems incident to a period of reconstruction from war. It is in the minds of New Dealers that the reconstruction should be carried out along progressive lines and that bold thinking and planning should be the order in fashioning an economic structure that will provide jobs for everybody.

President May Help Some

It is manifest already that this is going to require a constant fight along the domestic front, because Congress is still much on the conservative side. The mandate of the last election turned largely on foreign policy and did not seem to work much for progressivism in the domestic economy. The attitude of Congress on domestic issues makes that clear.

How much will President Roosevelt help with his leadership along the domestic front? Thus far, events indicate that, because of his compelling desire to achieve his international aims, he is likely to pay less attention to that front, at least until the other situation is well in hand. He does not want to stir up Congress too much, nor to provoke it.

IT seems indicated that he will leave the burden of this fight to the New Dealers. The President will be on hand to supply an occasional prod when it does not interfere too much with his international plans, but the main fight on the domestic front will be left to the New Dealers. In this connection it becomes important therefore that Henry Wallace, who carries the hopes of the New Dealers, has again been given a place in the administration.

That's why Henry Wallace becomes an important figure. Much depends on his efforts to keep the Democratic party a progressive party. It is a real challenge for the progressives in the party. They may as well recognize it.

El Paso Man Fights For Bar Recognition

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—An effort by Harold M. Hankamer, formerly of El Paso and now of Houston, to compel the clerk of the Supreme court to enter his name on the rolls as a member of the bar was taken under consideration today by the court.

It granted Hankamer's motion for leave to file a petition for a writ of mandamus seeking to compel Clerk George H. Templin to so list Hankamer's name.

Hankamer, a former member of the legislature, was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary on an indictment charging conversion of an estate, at El Paso. On Feb. 11, 1944, his petition recites, he was granted a full pardon and restoration of citizenship and has served and been honorably discharged from the armed forces of the United States.

Hankamer's petition contends that his license to practice law was "not revoked by court judgment in an independent action . . . brought for that purpose" by a grievance committee of the state bar, and further, that his pardon completely erases the portion of the original judgment in his trial under which his right to practice law was revoked.

STOCKS LOSE MODERATELY

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP)—Many stocks fell back for moderate losses today under a slow selling movement in the wake of an early advance in the leaders.

Pivotal industrials and rails generally finished fractions to a point lower with some above the bottoms. Sugars and a few specialties showed gains. The oils had good support at the end. Volume was 1,400,000 shares compared with 1,690,000 yesterday.

The market's reversal seemed partly the result of technical considerations and as well as failure of the steels, yesterday's leaders, to carry through on their morning rise.

Down a point or so were Chrysler, Allied Chemical and Philip Morris. In the group off fractions were Bethlehem Steel, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Westinghouse and Northern Pacific.

Standard Oil (NJ) rose 1⅛, Standard Oil of California ¾, American Sugar ¾ and West Indies Sugar ⅝.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was unchanged at 62.6. The rail average was down .4 of a point at 37.4.

The native eschscholtzia's common name is California poppy.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, March 7 (AP) — Sentiment was sufficiently unsettled in the cotton futures market to bring in light liquidation and hedging which met indifferent trade support today.

Closing prices were 10 cents a bale higher to 45 cents lower. New crop deliveries were under greatest selling pressure throughout the session. Spot cotton markets were quiet but steady, reflecting the lack of offerings from producers who are putting most of their cotton in the loan and purchase program.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to 45 lower.

Patton's Forces Surge To Rhine

Army struck southward along the Rhine's west bank from captured Cologne to a point only two miles from Bonn; the First and Third armies together having formed in the past week the greatest Allied breakthrough since St. Lo.

The Allied prisoner bag on the Western front soared past the one-million mark as Gen. Patton's men rounded them up by the thousands with such speed an accurate count was not possible tonight.

The German Army which fled before the Third "was the most complete picture of defeat the war in the west has produced," wrote the veteran Associated Press correspondent Edward D. Ball. "Its men were beaten, its equipment destroyed."

Much Nazi Wreckage

Thousand of German vehicles and armor were blasted into flaming wrecks and German prisoners streamed westward in droves through the Fourth division's narrow corridor, many of them unescorted and carrying white flags over their heads.

"Civilians along the corridor watched in amazement as the American armor rolled past hour after hour," Associated Press correspondent Thoburn Wiant wrote from the Third Army front. "Many towns through which the armor spread were untouched because the Germans were not ready, or were unwilling, to offer resistance."

The city of Coblenz, lying at the confluence of the Rhine and the Moselle and serving as a communications hub for a large area, was "almost within the grasp" of the Third Army tonight, correspondent Ball wrote from the front.

First Nears Bonn

With the U. S. First Army smashing against Nazi defenses only two miles from Bonn, river city south of captured Cologne, Gen. Eisenhower's mighty forces threatened to overrun the remaining enemy-held portion of Germany north of the Moselle river and perhaps cut off most of the German troops still fighting west of a 50-mile sector of the Rhine from Coblenz to Cologne.

On this ninth anniversary of Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland American troops had cleared out all of shattered Cologne except the extreme southeast corner and were drawn up firmly along a 90-mile stretch of the wide Rhine from Cologne north to the Dutch border with the exception of a major enemy pocket at Wesel.

Other Units Fan Out

Other Third Army units fanned out east of the Kyll river from which the breakthrough started, driving generally northeastward. The Fifth division, protecting the Fourth Armored's right flank, worked northward and captured Spangdahlen, seven miles east of Bitburg, and entered Schwarzenborn, 10 miles northeast of Bitburg.

The 90th Infantry captured Gerolstein and reached Peln, 10 miles due east of Pruem, while the 11th Armored crossed the Kyll some 12 miles northeast of Pruem and seized Oberbettingen and Neiderbettingen.

Somewhere between 10,000 and 20,000 Nazis were fighting hard to hold the Wesel bridgehead against converging Canadian, British and American troops, who had squeezed them into an area of about eight-by-five miles, and no important Allied advances were reported there today.

Headquarters slapped a blackout on operations of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army south of Rheinbach, which is 21 miles south of Cologne and nine miles southwest of Bonn. There were official reports, however, of American advances up to seven miles in this area.

Weather Helps Nazis

The Nazis continued to receive tremendous help from the weather, rain and low clouds over the entire Western front grounding Allied tactical airforces and preventing aerial interference with the enemy retreat.

The First Army's 104th Infantry division went briskly about its task of clearing the last Nazis out of the Marienburg district of Cologne next to the river, while the Eighth Infantry division pushed across the Cologne-Euskirchen highway and captured Meschenich three miles south of Cologne.

North of Cologne other First Army units cleared the Germans out of the town of Zons, on the west bank of the Rhine six miles south of Duesseldorf, a field dispatch reported. This was the last Nazi bridgehead between Cologne and Wesel. German resistance was extremely light all along the First Army front.

Refugees Choke Town

American troops who rolled into Bruhl, five miles south of Cologne and two miles west of the Rhine, found the town choked with between 10,000 and 20,000 refugees from Cologne.

The Ninth Army took 1,700 prisoners yesterday, bringing its total since Feb. 23 to 26,400. The Canadian First Army had captured 20,500 since Feb. 8, including 400 yesterday. The U. S. First took 2,319 yesterday to bring its bag since Feb. 23 to 23,165. Thus these three Allied armies had captured more than 69,000 Nazis in their drive to clear the territory west of the Rhine.

The Third Army's bag of 1,586 yesterday — probably including few if any taken in the spectacular breakthrough toward Coblenz —brought its total since Feb. 1 to 34,893. In all, the Western Allies had captured more than 1,000,000 Germans since the landing in Normandy.

SESSION TOPICS ANNOUNCED

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP) — War lessons in rehabilitation and in youth counseling will be topics of primary interest at the first sessions of the Texas Society for Mental Hygiene here tomorrow, Miss Margaret Peck, general chairman, announced.

Senate Group Favors Relocation Proposal

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—A Senate committee tonight favorably reported a proposed constitutional amendment providing for relocation of the University of Texas medical school.

The resolution providing for submission to the electorate of the proposed amendment to the constitution now goes to the floor of the Senate for debate, with the committee recommendation that it be approved.

Proposed constitutional amendments must be approved by two-thirds majority of both House and Senate before they are submitted to a vote of the people.

Civilian Tire Increase Put Off Indefinitely

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP) — Increased production of civilian passenger car tires has been put off indefinitely.

Production will be limited to 5,000,000 a quarter "pending clarification of the impact of the shortages of carbon black and tire cord on future passenger tire output," the War Production board announced today.

This is the same production rate as for the first quarter of this year.

Russian Front

Baltic, thus was placed in increasingly grave danger and had lost much of its importance as an outer citadel for the capital.

Another Stalin order announced that the second White Russian Army had captured Starogard, 25 miles south of Danzig, and Mewe, 35 miles southeast, while the communique added a list of 200 communities taken by that Army in 5 to 6-mile advances along a front stretching from the Vistula river to the Baltic near Rueganwalde.

Stalin's third order, recalling a forgotten front, said the Second Ukraine Army had taken Banska-Stiavnica (Schmenitz) in Slovakia 82 miles northeast of Bratislava.

It also credited the First White Russian group with final liquidation of an encircled German grouping near the Pomeranian town of Schivelbein, with at least 8,000 of the enemy captured, including a lieutenant general and his staff.

The Germans said the Russians had broken into the Baltic fortress of Kolberg and were hastening to end the entire Baltic camaign but devoted most of their broadcasts to accounts of the offensive aimed at Berlin.

The Nazis said Zhukov was attacking repeatedly from bridgeheads on the west bank of the Oder, with Kuestrin as the focal point but with the assaults constantly being extended.

stages of other champaigns in the Pacific.

The rugged terrain and a slice of the northeast shoreline still held by the enemy prevented general use of American tanks. Employing flame throwers to sear out the Nipponese from their pillboxes, the Devildogs pushed forward slowly against enemy fire that sometimes came from several directions with pre-registered aim.

Although out-numbered, the enemy remnants fought back bitterly from behind every crag, from thick-walled pillboxes and in gullies and ravings.

Enemy dead reached 14,456 by 6 p. m., Monday, headquarters reported. That left less than 6,000, including the wounded, out of an enemy garrison originally estimated at 20,000 for the last ditch stand.

His screams rose above the roar of the flames.

An engineering officer fired one shot into the ground to see if the pistol functioned, took aim, wavered and turned away saying "I can't do it."

"Don't shoot me! Pull me out of here," screamed the gunner.

The trapped man quieted. He gazed at the colonel. Then his mud-smeared head slumped and his eyes turned away. Two shots were almost indistinguishable above the exploding 50 calibre bullets.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., March 7 (AP)— Mrs. Peter Fraser, wife of the Prime Minister, died today after a long illness.

News Briefs

Mrs. R. A. Davis, 66, of Morton died in Lubbock General hospital Wednesday morning. She was brought to the hospital Tuesday night suffering a cerebal hemorrhage. The body is at the Singleton Funeral home in Morton.

Approximately 175 persons attended the annual loyalty banquet of the First Presbyterian church Wednesday night in Fellowship hall, Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor, reported. Sunday school officers and members of the 1938 class of elders and deacons were elected, and the new church budget was presented. Dr. R. C. Goodwin served as toastmaster.

A black 1942 model Oldsmobile was stolen Tuesday night in Littlefield, Lamb County Sheriff Sam Hutson informed Lubbock police.

Fire did heavy damage Wednesday morning to the 1502 Twenty-fifth residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Robertson, firemen said. The kitchen was reported "burned almost completely out." All paper on the living room ceiling and much of it on the room's walls was destroyed and furniture damaged. Firemen guessed that the origin was either in the kitchen stove or trash basket.

Yanks In Italy Score Heavy Mountain Gain

By LYNN HEINZERLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, March 7—The U. S. Tenth Mountain division has scored a five-mile advance through some of Italy's most rugged terrain and against heavy German artillery, machinegun and mortar fire during the last three days, Allied headquarters announced today.

Lifting a three-day blackout on news of action in the Apennines southwest of Bologna, headquarters said the action was "a most successful limited objective attack" which resulted in the capture of a number of dominating peaks west of the Bologna-Pistoia highway, the town of Castel d'Aiano, 20 miles from Bologna, and 1,200 prisoners.

The American assault was supported by Brazilian troops operating on the right flank of the mountaineers. The Brazilians seized Castel Nuovo, three miles southeast of Casted d'Aiano and a mile west of the Bologna-pistoia highway.

In addition to the prisoners taken by the advancing Americans, German losses in killed and wounded were said to have been heavy. Many of the Nazis had come into the line only from 12 to 24 hours before as Field Marshal Albert Kesselring threw in reinforcements.

shed sector about eight miles northeast of the war-wrecked metropolis.

That the final phases of the 59-day-old campaign will be tedious was strikingly indicated when doughboys, operating from liberated Manila, were forced to make 17 amphibious strikes in Manila bay, following artillery barrages, to root Japanese suicide remnants from wrecked ships in the harbor.

The Japanese, who fled to the hulks from Manila, were burned out with flame throwers or blasted with grenades and automatic weapons.

Few Sealed On Corregidor

An American headquarters spokesman said the survivors of the 6,000 Japanese on Corregidor island have been sealed off in 300 caves and tunnels by paratroopers of the 503rd regiment. They refused to surrender and are doomed to die in the underground recesses.

In the strategic south-central Luzon sector, 11th airborne troops struck through the volcanic country and took the town of Tiaong. These doughboys are about 25 airline miles northeast of vital Batangas bay.

The wife of General MacArthur and his six-year-old son arrived in Manila from Australia aboard the first refrigerator ship to enter the bay in more than three years. She is to help care for liberated internees and aid in rehabilitation of the city and its populace.

Patton's Swim

or three feet out of the water.

"He figured the men would have a better chance swimming since they would then present only the tops of their heads as targets to the enemy gunners.

"To show us it could be done and to inspire the troops, General Patton jumped into the water and swam across to the opposite bank, than swam back. Thousands of troops followed him."

Inspired by Patton's daring, the soldiers fought "like madmen" for Bettendorf, Defibaugh related, and they took it after a bitter day and a half battle which established the Americans on high ground overlooking Germany.

Approval Of Tech Directors Voted

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP) — The Senate committee on governor's nominations today approved the names of three members of the board of directors of Texas Technological college at Lubbock and a member of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission.

The committee approved the names of Charles O. Thompson of Colorado City, A. G. (Pat) Mayse of Paris and Mark McGee of Fort Worth as members of the board of directors of Texas Tech.

The name of Frank Jones of Marfa, as a member of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission and of John T. Rather of Houston, for the state board of architectural examiners was also sent to the Senate floor for consideration.

Midwest Flood Threat Waning

CINCINNATI, March 7 (AP) — Flood waters of midwestern rivers — principally the historically menacing Ohio—grew deeper tonight, but the end of the valley's greatest wartime flood threat was in sight.

River forecasters predicted crests of from 15 to 20 feet above flood level would be reached tomorrow all along the Ohio and its tributaries as colder weather turned an incessant rain to a wispy snow.

Thousands of families along a 1,000-mile stretch of lowlands scurried to higher ground and war production staggered under reduced operations.

Eight Known Dead

At least eight lives were lost and the property loss was believed to be in the millions.

Western Pennsylvania had its worst flood in eight years as the Monongahela and Allegheny spewed muddy flood waters out of banks and forced hundreds of families from their home.

The crest at the confluence of the two rivers in Pittsburgh — where the Ohio comes to life—was expected to be 33 to 34 feet tonight or tomorrow.

The river town of Portsmouth, Ohio, had the Ohio hanging on its neck like the Sword of Damocles—with only a thin thread of concrete and sandbags keeping water from the business district. A 62-foot floodwall was hastily reinforced and topped, but the relentlessly rising river was expected to approach 64 or 65 feet by tomorrow morning.

70-Foot Crest Expected

Cincinnati's expected crest was 70 feet, 18 feet above flood stage, and 10 feet below the record 1937 flood which caused nearly half billion dollars of damage.

Tributary Mill creek at Cincinnati was a major flood menace and was the stream which inundated Lunken municipal airfield to a depth of 15 feet in places.

Louisville, Ky.'s streets were deep with water at places. A weather forecaster predicted a crest of 46 feet—18 above flood stage—would be reached tomorrow and that the flood waters would begin to ebb Friday.

Tennessee Lowlands

The Mississippi river flooded into western Tennessee lowlands, forcing hundreds to higher land and the White river in Arkansas was being held in check only by rapid reinforcement of levees.

The Red Cross, state, city and federal agencies poured a stream of relief personnel and material into flood-stricken areas and military forces were used as guards and to aid in evacuating flooded sections.

Boat Capsized, Trio Drown, 22 Missing

MEMPHIS, March 7 (AP)— An assault boat carrying some 25 Army men capsized in the swollen White river at Week's Landing, Ark., and three bodies have been recovered, Col. G. W. Miller, district Army engineer, reported late tonight.

The rest of the men are unaccounted for, Miller said, but there's a possibility some are clinging to roots and trees. Life preservers had been issued them.

They were patroling the flood-threatened levees in the area.

Other small boats have been rushed to the scene and an intensive search is being carried on.

Arkansas state police have been notified and respirators have been requested. Ambulances were called from the Stuttgart, Ark., Army air base.

The accident occurred about 10:30 p. m. (cwt).

London Dock Strike Ties Up War Goods

LONDON, March 7 (AP)—Hope for the resumption by tomorrow of the movement of vital war material now jammed on London docks were dashed tonight when stevedores failed to reach a decision at a meeting.

Other striking dockworkers—approximately 10,000 are out in all—said they were ready to return if the stevedores did. The stevedores plan to meet again tomorrow. The strike began a week ago.

Railroad Workers Get Strike Notice

DENVER, March 7 (AP)—Engineers, trainmen and yard service employes of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad received telegraphic notice today to strike tomorrow at 6 p. m. (mwt).

The Denver & Rio Grande Western, one of Colorado's principal railroads, operates a skein of trackage throughout this region, and runs lines into adjacent states.

Tax Change Killed By House Committee

AUSTIN, March 7 (AP)—Quick death in a House committee today met a bill proposing that two cents of the four-cent per gallon gasoline tax now refunded on non-highway use gasoline be given to rural schools.

Another House committee recently killed a bill exempting school owned and operated buses from payment of the gasoline tax.

Yanks In West Smash Ahead But Spotlight Turns To Soviet Drive

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Despite a news blackout on First Army operations in the Bonn-Cologne sector on the Rhine which may cover an immediate American attempt to force a river crossing, the center of gravity in the European war seemed definitely shifting from west to east again.

SIMPSON

That was the implication of a German official announcement that Marshal Zhukov's White Russian Army, the cutting edge of the Russian sweep from the Vistula to the Oder, was on the move.

It said the Russians, paced by a massive gun barrage, were striking full force at the Kustrin and Zehden east bank redoubts that guard the critical span of the middle Oder 40 and 30 miles respectively from Berlin.

That represents at least a 50-mile-wide assault from a point due east of Berlin to an even closer range attack due northeast at Zedhen. It also indicates Russian selection of the most vulnerable sector of the Berlin seige perimeter for the initial effort to breach the Oder line because of the flat lands lying west of the river.

There is no natural obstacle of any consequence beyond the Oder confronting the Russians except a few minor streams and the Steinbeck hills, a low cluster lying between Bad Freienwalde and Strausberg.

As usual Moscow ignored the Berlin report. It is not apt to say anything of operations there until objectives have been attained and consolidated; but the scene of action as outlined by the Nazis sufficiently indicates what that objective must be. There is ample elbow room west of the middle Oder for establishment of a wide and deep bridgehead from which to launch the final march on Berlin from the east and northeast under more favorable terrain conditions than in an approach from the southeast across the Neisse-Oder line.

Flanks Are Cleared

With all central and western Pomerania cleared of the Nazi foe, Zhukov has nothing to fear on his right flank. On his left, Ukrainian armies have pulled up abreast of the Oder front along the Neisse and are in position to widen the final attack perimeter three-fold if they have not already struck. And width of assault front is a vital element in Russian tactical deployment. The wider it is the thinner drawn must be the ranks of the dwindling German Army to oppose it and the easier the achievement of a breakthrough to Berlin itself.

The very silence of Moscow as to developments on the middle Oder line is significant. With the right flank situation cleared up by close investment of Stettin at the Oder mouth, Moscow turned far to the south for an official report on a Red Army victory. It told of a surge northward in Slovakia at a point 80 miles east of Bratislavia and the capture of Banska-Stiavnica. The town lies due north of Budapest on a through rail and road connection leading direct through Jablonka pass to the south side of the Moravian gap through which Russian forces have been slowly edging toward Vienna from the northeast.

The Russian advance northward at that point in Slovakia is the first definite indication from the south of an attempt to seal off the Nazi bulge eastward in the Carpathians.

Capt. Seagraves Is Now Reported Dead

Capt. Robert K. Seagraves, who was previously reported as missing in action since June 6, is now known to have been killed in action, the War department notified his wife, Mrs. Frieda Seagraves of 1316 Fifteenth.

Captain Seagraves, holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with five bronze and one silver cluster, is a son of Mrs. Leona Seagraves, of Anderson, Ind. He received his commission at Midland Army Air field in June, 1942, and went overseas the following May.

Captain Seagraves, a bombardier in a B-26 with the Ninth Air force was shot down over France on D-Day.

Mrs. Seagraves is employed in the FHA department of Lubbock National bank.

NUGENT E. BROWN

Austin Man Buys Crosbyton Review

CROSBYTON, March 7. — Sale of the Crosbyton Review newspaper to Nugent E. Brown of Austin and Nacogdoches was announced Tuesday by W. M. Curry, publisher of the Review the last 21 years.

Brown, who has been on duty with the Army Air forces for over three years as a public relations officer with the rank of captain, his last station being Bergstrom field at Austin, has been retired to inactive status with the Army and took over his new duties March 2.

Well Known Over State

The new owner is author of the book, "B Hall, Texas," a history of Nacogdoches county and other historical volumes. He is well known over Texas, having been in newspaper and publicity work for 20 years, at various times with the Houston Post, Dallas Dispatch, Kilgore Daily News, Nacogroches Herald and operator of a publicity bureau in Austin for five years before the war.

During his recent tour of duty with the Army, Capt. Brown was public relations officer at Columbus, Miss., Tuskegee, Ala., Stuttgart, Ark., and at Bergstrom field, in addition to temporary duty at AAF headquarters in Washington.

Mrs. Brown and son, Harlan, will join the new publisher here this week.

Rehearing Overruled In Land Title Case

The Texas supreme court Wednesday overruled an application for a motion of rehearing in the case of Jessie Mae Robinson and others against Annie Mae Murrell and others, from Lubbock county, the Associated Press announced from Austin.

The high court recently affirmed a decision of the Amarillo court of civil appeals which, in turn, had supported a judgment of Judge Dan Blair of 72nd district court in Lubbock for defendants Annie Mae Murrell and others.

The action, for partition of 320 acres of Lubbock county land, described as the east half of section 30, block JS, turned on intent of a grantor years ago in handing down the property, the trial and appellate courts having found clauses in the conveyance that were inconsistent with each other.

Trial and appellate courts interpreted ownership of the land to have been vested in Annie Mae Murrell and others since the death of the grantee, who was interpreted to have held only a life estate in the property and thus could not pass it to plaintiffs and appellants, who were not named in the conveyance; rather, that the property should descend to Annie Mae Murrell and others, who specifically were named to inherit it.

Pistol-Packin' Lad Facing Return To Reform Institution

A boy, described by a taxi driver as a pistol-packing youngster, was held Wednesday in Lubbock county jail for investigation that likely will remand him to a state reform institution at Gatesville, city-county juvenile officials said.

Early Sunday, the taxi driver charged, the youth "pulled a gun" on him.

The youth told John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor, he used the gun in "self-protection."

Wilson's logical answer had to do with the necessity, if any, of the suspect's having "had the gun on, in the first place."

The incident was not the first irregularity in the youth's "rather spotty career."

He was mixed last year with others of approximate age in looting of rooms in a downtown hotel, and theft of a radio, money and other property.

En route to the reform institution, the suspect now held grabbed the gun of the transporting officer and pitched it into the back seat with the other two prisoners.

Only quick action of the officer prevented possibility of further criminal violence.

He swept his arm around, following the passage of the weapon, and seized the gun before it could be brought to bear on him.

That was in the fall of last year. The youth held here was released in December, on "furlough."

Explanation Meeting On Deferments Set

Joe Arrington, chairman of the Lubbock district maintenance advisory committee of the Office of Defens Transportation, Wednesday said in order that employers of all highway transport operating companies and maintenance establishments might be fully informed of their responsibilities and to acquaint them with the procedure necessary in filing the information required for men on whom they seek deferment, arrangements had been made for a meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the assembly room of the West Texas Gas company.

Speakers familiar with the procedure will appear on the program. Distribution of the bulletin, "Employer Responsibilities," will be made at the close of the meeting.

Only those employers who submit lists and form 42-A Special, (revised), will be eligible to have their employes certified for deferments.

The importance of this meeting is vital to all highway transportation operating companies and maintenance establishments, Arrington said. Arrangements should be made for a representative to be in attendance.

News Briefs

Paul White, formerly of Lubbock, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the field, according to information received by his wife, the former Miss Lou White. Lt. White, who was formerly news editor of the Port Arthur Daily News and assistant regional director of the Office of War Information at Dallas, is now attached to the public relations section of the American Army headquarters in Paris. He is a graduate of Texas Tech.

The report that Lt. George E. Holman, 21, husband of Mrs. Irene Holman of 1914 Eighteenth, has been missing in action over Austria since Feb. 7 was confirmed in a letter to Mrs. Holman from the commanding general of the Fifteenth Air Force in Italy. The letter said Lt. Holman's bomber, a B-24 Liberator, left the flight formation after a bombing raid on the Moonsbierbaum oil refineries near Vienna, and that when last seen it was under control as it disappeared into the undercast. This happened near Obersatong, Austria, the letter said.

S/Sgt. Randolph Billingsley has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Billingsley of 2709 Thirtieth, from a German prison camp. He parachuted Oct. 20 from his aerial gunner's station on a B-24 Liberator bomber over Germany. He said he was well, had nothing to do except lie around in a dormitory and eat and sleep. He asked that Red Cross send candy, pudding, cigarets and sugar. His greatest concern, he said, "next to the uncertainty proceding the opening of my parachute," was how his parents took the news of his missing in action. He said, "I am looking forward to flying back with my crew. Maybe I'll see you before you get this letter."
