Mrs. V. J. Simpson

City Woman Observes Golden Anniversary in HD Work

By Mrs. Ed Brown

Jenny Lee Simpson, who has been a continuous member of the Home Demonstration Club for almost fifty years, is convinced that no other organization provides such friendly association, such helpful guidance towards better living, and such loyalty to family life. It is second only to the church in its development of the life of an individual.

"Why, I remember the year Extension work was born!" enthusiastically recalled Mrs. V. J. Simpson of Wellington. "In 1908 Tom Marks was the editor of The Jacksboro Gazette. He began organizing corn clubs for boys. He was interested primarily in growing more and better corn per acre. From this interest, started in these corn clubs, our demonstration club work has grown until today it includes every member of the farm family and even urban families."

Mrs. Simpson, born Jenny Lee King, had just finished high school at Jacksboro in 1908 when the pig clubs were organized. For three years she cared for an invalid mother and was courted by a young farmer, Virgil J. Simpson. During this time, Jenny Lee read in The Gazette and heard from neighbors of the success of the newly organized clubs. At her mother's death, she married Virgil and they went to Edna to make their home. Here, they found very active men and women Extension Clubs. L. C. Wilkerson was the county agent and his wife, Pauline, was the Demonstration Agent.

"Pauline was of German descent—her mother and father having come from Germany, and she was one of the best agents I have ever known," commented Mrs. Simpson.

"That was my first club work, and how I did enjoy it! Why, I drove a buggy three miles and carried my infant daughter; yet I rarely missed a meeting."

She was soon elected president of the club, and because of her enthusiasm was appointed chairman of Red Cross work at Edna during World War I. The members under her leadership did a vast amount of

Harper Lists Changes in City Faculty

The resignation of two teachers and the election of one new faculty member was announced this week by J. L. Harper, superintendent of schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clark resigned and he will attend the University of New Mexico next year on a National Science Foundation scholarship. He will do graduate work.

Clark taught math in the Wellington elementary school.

Mrs. Tolbert Painter, junior high teacher, was transferred to high school and will teach second year algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry and trigonometry.

Mrs. Chester White, who lives three miles north of Wellington, was elected to teach sixth grade in junior high. Mrs. White lived for a number of years in the Quail community before she and Mr. White moved to their present home.

She began her college studies after her children were growing up and was graduated from Clarendon Junior College, then returned to WTSC for her senior work and received her degree this spring.

Cotton Insect School Here on Friday

A cotton insect school will be held here Friday, July 7, to teach local growers how to identify harmful and beneficial insects so they can make their own insect counts to determine if cotton should be sprayed.

Plans for the school were announced by Bob Lynch, county agent, and this will be one of a series to be held through the cotton-growing season.

The farmers will meet at 9 a.m. at the Farmers Co-op Gin and from there they will go to several cotton fields in the

City Street Program Now Under Way

Asphalt arrived Friday, June 30 for the city's summer street improvement program, City Manager Bura Handley announced.

There will be 7 blocks of new paving, along with a considerable amount of resurfacing and curb and gutter installation, he said.

Paving will be laid around the two unpaved sides of Ellison Park and a parking area put down on the north side. Park Lane will be extended one block through the Lewis Green Addition, a block east of East Avenue. Curb and gutter will be installed. As this is a private development, Mr. Green pays the cost of the paving, curb and gutter and the city will do the work. Additional parking will be put down at First Baptist Church and Trinity Methodist Church.

Curb and gutter will be laid from the east side of the school campus south to the football stadium, to connect with 17th Street. Surfacing will probably be next year.

There will be a block of new surfacing on 11th Street between West Avenue and Amarillo Street.

Seventeenth Street along the south edge of town will be resurfaced as will the old part of Park Lane.

Other summer street work will be on the east end of 15th Street. Water will be diverted down the Fort Worth and Denver right of way, and this will make possible future widening of the street at the Lucky Corner intersection.

W. E. McBride Dies Suddenly in Amarillo

W. E. McBride, Collingsworth county resident for a quarter of a century, died unexpectedly at the home of a daughter in Amarillo Monday, July 2 at 9:45 a.m. He was hospitalized there earlier and remained in that city to convalesce, but his condition was thought to be improving.

Mr. McBride came here with his family from Hedley in 1938 and bought a farm in the Lillie community. Several years later they moved to their present home four and a half miles south of Wellington.

Born at Columbus, Ga., July 31, 1885, Willie E. McBride was 75 years of age. He came to Texas with his parents at

Pan-Fork Baptist Encampment Begins Sessions on Monday

The 1961 session of the Pan-Fork Encampment will open Monday, July 10, and continue for three weeks, closing Thursday, July 27, the Rev. Glenn Hickey, pastor of First Baptist Church, announced this week.

There will be three sessions: the first, for junior boys, will close Thursday, July 13, and the camp for junior girls will be from Monday, July 17 through Thursday, July 20.

The final camp, for older boys and girls, will be from Monday, July 24, through Thursday, July 27.

Approximately 800 boys and girls from the Eastern half of the Panhandle will participate in the three camps.

Special sessions will be conducted by missionaries, two of whom have served the Indians of the Southwest.

A well-rounded program of inspiration, evangelism, missionary study and recreation is planned, the Rev. Mr. Hickey said.

Personnel of the three camps was named this week by the Pan-Fork officials. Camp pastor for the opening week when boys 9 through 12 will attend, is the Rev. Dan Beltz of McLean, while the Rev. M. E. Upchurch of Sunray will be the evangelist; the Rev. Frank A. Venable of Amarillo, former missionary to the Indians, camp missionary; Ron Holloway of Borger, educational director; Stan Richardson of Borger, music director, and the Rev. Luther Berry of Lefors will conduct the morning watch.

During the junior girls camp when youngsters 9 through 12 years will be at the encampment, the Rev. Charles Uzzle will be camp pastor; the Rev. Jeff Moore of Borger, evangelist; the Rev. Mike Naranjo of Taos, N.M., missionary to the Indians, camp missionary; Marvin Knox of Borger, recreational director; Jerry Baxter of Pampa, music director, and the Rev. Gene North of Lela, morning watch.

For the final session, attended by boys and girls 13 years and up, the Rev. Walter Davis of Groom will be the camp pastor; Jimmy Wilson of Cactus, evangelist; Mrs. M. V. Gonneson, camp missionary; Bill Webb of Borger, recreational director; Dick Waters of Pantex, music director; and the Rev. J. B. North of Samnorwood, morning watch.

The boys and girls will begin their day at 6:30 a.m. with bugle call and lights go out at 10:30 p.m.

Insect Infestation Around Dodson Heavy

A fast build-up in cotton insect infestation has occurred in the Dodson area, Edwin Crowder of Dodson Cooperative Enterprises reported Tuesday evening, July 4.

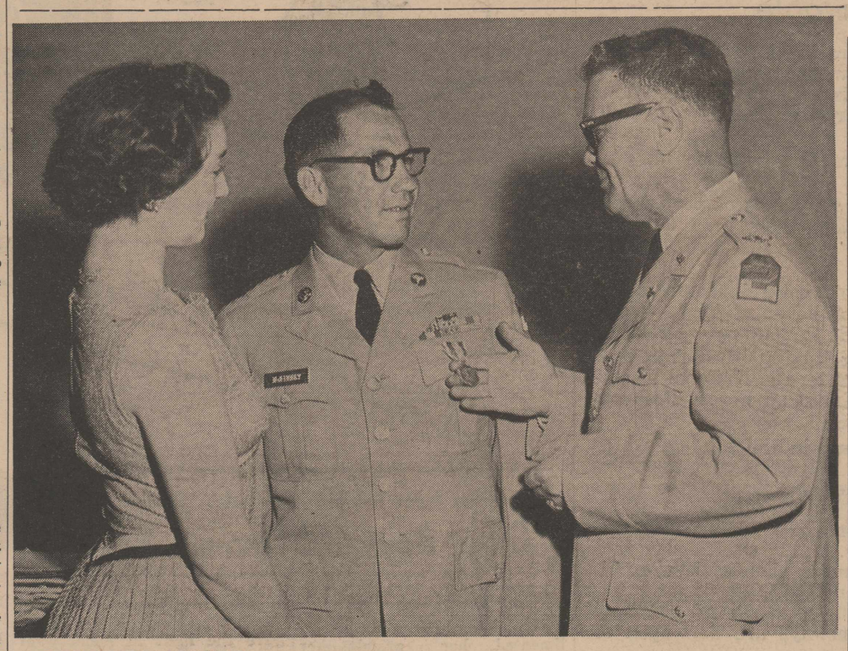

There are far more boll weevils than this time last year, and most of these are overwintered weevil.

Farmers who sprayed early to control insects have good clean cotton, but there are plenty of weevil in the other. Already grubs are being found in the little forms, Crowder told The Wellington Leader.

There are also a few boll worms. "I never saw them this early. We usually get them the latter part of July," he said.

He estimated approximately 30% of the farmers in that area either sprayed early or are spraying their cotton now.

Harvest Finished on County's Million Dollar Wheat Crop

RECEIVES AWARD

M-Sgt. Lavell McKinney, formerly of Wellington, here received the Army Commendation Medal from Colonel James L. Massey, acting chief of staff, 2nd Army at Fort G. G. Meade, Maryland. His wife, Marjorie, looks on. McKinney is the son of Harley McKinney.

Collingsworth's million dollar wheat crop is in the elevators and growers can look back on one of the highest per acre yields in the county's history and probably the largest gross yield in a decade. It is believed to surpass even last year's bumper crop.

A total of 334 cars of wheat were delivered to four elevators in the county. In addition to this, approximately 29 cars of barley were marketed in Wellington and Dodson.

In spite of rain that fell in early June, neither buyers nor growers recall a crop harvested quicker.

The quality was uniformly high, almost all of it No. 1 wheat.

"We haven't had a bad load of wheat," Earl Keller of Warrick Feed Store remarked.

Most of the crop went in the government loan at $1.68½ per bushel, and considerable optimism is developing on this point. The price of wheat has risen 8¢ per bushel since the local crop was harvested, due mainly to reports of a short crop through the Middle West and into Canada.

A county average yield of 25 bushels per acre is the estimate of most buyers, several bushels better than last year's average.

At Dodson, Edwin Crowder of Dodson Cooperative Enterprises estimated a community wide average of 26 or 27 bushels, compared to 21 or 22 last year. The acreage in that area was down a little, with fewer 15-acre tracts.

Several factors influenced the rapid pace at which the crop was cut.

"It got ripe a little earlier and the combine boys stayed here a little longer. Then a number of commercial operators have more machines," Jones Singley of Singley Mill and Elevator said.

"The machines are larger, they travel faster, there are more of them. We have bigger trucks and the weather was good for the most part," Keller commented.

"We sowed a little earlier around Dodson, there was a better growing season through the winter, and it grew off better. We started harvesting about 5 days earlier than last year. When the June 3 rains started last year, we had received 20,000 bushels. When the rain started on June 2 this year, we had received 120,000 bushels," Crowder said.

M-Sgt. McKinney Gets Army Decoration

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md.—Master Sergeant LaVell McKinney receives the Army Commendation Medal from Col. James L. Massey, acting Chief of Staff, headquarters Second U.S. Army, here. Mrs. McKinney attended the ceremony to see her husband receive the award.

M/Sgt. McKinney, as former chief of the Administrative office, assistant Chief of Staff, G-4 (Logistics), Second Army, was honored for implementing additional administrative and logistical policies and changes that improved administration.

He is currently assigned to the 68th Medical Group at Ft. Meade as S/4 (Logistics- noncommissioned officer.

A 1942 graduate of Gould, Okla., high school, he and his wife, Marjorie, reside at 7017A Christian Loop, Fort Meade, Md. His father, Harley C. McKinney, lives in Wellington.

Rev. Michael Ill in Amarillo

The Rev. J. F. Michael suffered a light stroke at his home Saturday and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

Sunday he was taken to Amarillo for tests and possible additional treatment. Mrs. Michael said his condition was improved at the time they left.

She accompanied him to Amarillo, as did Mr. and Mrs. Orville Vaughan. The latter couple returned with Guy Owens, who took Rev. Michael in a Kelso ambulance.

Boys 4-H Club Meeting Friday

A meeting of Wellington 4-H Club boys has been called for Friday night by County Agent Bob Lynch. The meeting will be in the county court room beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Instruction will be given on 4-H record keeping.

Four-H Club boys from other schools are invited to meet with the Wellington group.

Frank Bourland, Pioneer County Rancher, Dies

Frank Bourland, whose family has had ranching interests in the county for nearly 65 years, died suddenly in Clarendon Monday afternoon, June 26, shortly after he and his son-in-law, James R. Ross of Quail had made a cattle delivery to Amarillo. His last wish, that of every old cowboy, was fulfilled—that he die with his boots on.

Frank Lynn Bourland was born in Gainesville May 5, 1881, the son of William Reese (Bill) and Mary Bush Bourland.

Bill Bourland and his oldest son, Mack, bought a tract of land in Collingsworth county in 1897 and established ranch headquarters, and Frank Bourland joined them in 1899. Two members of the Bourland

State-Wide Survey

Extension Service Program Under Study

State and district agents of the Texas Extension Service visited Collingsworth county Tuesday, June 27, to study the program of work being presented here. This is the initial phase of a three-year program in which the extension service program in every Texas county will be studied.

Meeting with Bob Lynch, county agent, and Miss Kathryn Potter, home demonstration agent, were Miss Gladys Martin, state home demonstration agent; D. G. Young, state agricultural agent, both of College Station; Miss Edith Wilson, district home demonstration agent, and W. W. Grisham, district agricultural agent, both from Amarillo.

The group also conferred with John Coleman, chairman of the county program committee, the official group which advises with the extension service agents here in their programs of work, and with Mrs. Emil Kersten, chairman of the county Home Demonstration Club Council.

Both state and district officials expressed satisfaction with the program in the county.

Every phase of work was touched, including that of the Northwest Texas Research Demonstration program.

After an evaluation of the program, district agents will work with Miss Potter and Lynch in those phases which will be stressed in the future.

The Extension Service program of study was initiated this year. Studies similar to the one here will be carried on in every county of Texas. Collingsworth was one of the five counties in the Panhandle chosen for study this year, and the remainder will be covered during the coming two years.

Indian Find Opens Story of Life 500 Years Ago

The perfectly preserved skeleton found buried in the bank of Salt Fork River recently is possibly that of a young Indian woman, who may well have lived and died a hundred years before Columbus discovered America.

Under the practiced eye of an archeologist, the find takes on fascination and interest. It's story expands to include a permanent settlement near the burial site, and in bits of broken pottery and flints there is to be read the story of the meeting of two distinct Indian cultures in what is now Collingsworth.

Jack T. Hughes, assistant professor of geology at West Texas State College, Canyon, and curator of paleontology at Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, inspected the skeleton and visited the site Thursday, June 29, along with Judge Raymond Horton, one of the group who recovered the skeleton, and Max Courtney, Wellington Leader employee who collects Indian items as a hobby. Courtney had visited the site of the village earlier.

"This skeleton, with one exception, is the best preserved I have ever found in the Panhandle," Hughes told The Wellington Leader.

A genial man with great enthusiasm for his work, Hughes speaks knowingly of Panhandle life 500 years ago. He dispelled several first guesses about the skeleton, to point out that from the archeological viewpoint, things are not always what they seem.

"I'm inclined to think it is the skeleton of a woman and that she was a young woman, probably 30 to 35 years old," he remarked. The skeletal structure led to this conclusion.

"Nearly all Indian skeletons have the teeth worn off very short as this one does," he continued. "They got lots of sand in their food. Just think how much you get when you go camping. Then they used sandstone grinding implements to grind their corn. The sand wore off and mixed with their food. It was not unusual for the teeth to be worn almost to the gums in a young Indian," he continued.

"I think it was a young adult. The bones of the skull were not completely fused."

The "sitting position" usually referred to in Indian burials is hardly that. Archeologists refer to it as the flexed or folded position—the knees drawn up to the chest, and the skeleton lying on its side. The Collingsworth Indian was on her right side.

"This is the exclusive Indian form of burial in the Panhandle," Hughes explains.

There is reason for this type of burial.

"The Indians had inadequate digging equipment for digging in the hard ground. Usually it was a buffalo shoulder blade," he remarked.

There is the possible religious implication. This is the pre-natal position, and Indians always have had a strong feeling for the "Mother Earth."

It is a chain of circumstantial evidence that leads from the burial site to the nearby Indian village on a bluff overlooking Salt Fork, now a plowed field, but there is enough for Hughes to believe she was one of its people.

"I was able to collect enough trash to identify the kind of Indians who lived here," he said. This included: bits of hearth stone, broken and burned deer and buffalo bones, mussel shells, flint flakes, broken pieces of pottery, arrow points, scrapers and chippers of flint and sandstone grinding implements. There was a fragment of a carved sandstone pipe.

Private Enterprise Makes Land for Play Available

We hear much of the vacation lands made available for use by the public without cost by the federal government, but little is said about land under the control of private enterprise that is also free for the use by the public.

The Amarillo Daily News in a recent editorial brought out these facts:

It's vacation time again for millions of people, and for those who enjoy spending their time hunting, fishing, swimming, camping — or just plain loafing — a new horizon is near.

Firms developing America's natural resources are making countless millions of acres of land — and water—available to the public for outdoor recreation.

Here are some interesting tidbits culled from two recent surveys, one conducted by the National Chamber and the other by the American Forest Products Industries:

Item: More than 180 firms in the mining, water and power, forest products, petroleum and other industries have already opened much of their lands to the general public.

Item: About 50 such firms are adding new recreational facilities this year.

Item: Nearly a hundred more plan to develop additional facilities in the near future.

Item: Upwards of 70,000,000 acres of company owned scenic land and waterways are now open to public use.

Although hundreds of companies operating in the natural resources field have facilities available to the vacationing public, neither vandalism nor unintentional damage has proved to be a major problem.

This is something of an encouraging note since Americans made more than 6,000,000 visits to recreation areas established by wood producing and processing companies alone last year.

The fact that private firms are busy filling a need this country has needed for years, Americans who enjoy 'roughing it' can do so in a little more comfortable style.

604 in County Receive $30,473 Social Security

By the end of 1960, there were 19,233 people in the Texas Panhandle receiving old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits, according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office. The total benefits paid to these people for December 1960 was $1,129,145.

This is an increase in the number of people receiving benefits by about 10.5% over the same month in the previous year, Geldon said.

Nationally, almost 15 million people were receiving about a billion dollars a month in old-age, survivor and disability insurance benefits at the close of 1960.

Collingsworth County people participate and share in this program along with the rest of the United States. In December 1960 there were 604 persons in the county receiving monthly payments. These insurance benefits totaled $30,473 for that month.

For the entire State of Texas, old-age, survivors, and disability insurance payments at the end of December 1960 were being paid to 599,032 persons at the rate of $33,439,869 per month. Benefits totaling $397,481,000 were paid in Texas during 1960.

Area Tennis Tourneys Listed

MEMPHIS.—Plans were announced this week by Barney Bevers of Lakeview and David Duncan of Memphis that two and possibly three tennis tournaments will be held during the next two months on the Lakeview and Memphis courts.

Bevers, who has sponsored a tennis tournament each summer in Lakeview for the past several years, announced that the Lakeview tournament will get under way at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, July 13 and will continue through Sunday, July 16.

Duncan stated this week that as tentative plans now stand, the Memphis tournament will be held in Memphis on July 27 through 31, and another tournament in Memphis during the month of August.

He has received inquiries from Wellington, Childress, Panhandle, Littlefield, Amarillo, Turkey and Quitaque, from top calibre tennis players who have proved themselves in tournaments, college and high school competition.

"We are expecting over 100 entries in the Lakeview tournament," he said, "and we will have brackets for all kinds of tennis players."

The brackets will include: men's singles and doubles; women's singles and doubles; open mixed doubles (to all mixed teams whether high school, college, or post school); high school boys' singles and doubles; high school girls' singles and doubles; and the men's and women's doubles of the "Has Beens" bracket.

The "Has Beens" is open to all persons who have been former tennis players but who have just started to play again or to those who have just taken up the game, it was explained.

Gibson Home from Algeria

Jimmy Gibson reached New York by plane Thursday, June 29, after two weeks in Jebel-Onk, Algeria, where he completed drilling an oil well.

Gibson is employed by Well Completions Company, with headquarters in Denver, which uses an air-pressure method to complete drilling of oil and gas wells. Most of his work has been in the Panhandle.

Mrs. Gibson and their small son remained here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell of Amarillo were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell and son, Walter Jack.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

Oh, but I DO have my glasses on!

Today, this is becoming a fairly common statement. Many people are being fitted with CONTACT lenses, with perfect success, eliminating heavy spectacles. In many instances, much better vision is achieved with contacts.

Progress in this field of vision care has been tremendous even in the last two years. Use of contacts now may be possible for you even if unsuccessful before.

Not all optometrists fit contact lenses. Those who do not will refer the work to those with special training.

For information, write Texas Optometric Association, Contact Lens Section, Bolm Bldg., Austin, Texas.

Miss Judith Wilson, Dickie Sweat Wed in Church Ceremony Saturday

The First Baptist Church in Wellington was the setting of the wedding of Miss Judith Ann Wilson and Dickie Sweat Saturday, July 1, at six o'clock in the evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sweat.

The Rev. Russell Pogue of Petersburg performed the double ring ceremony.

Foliage, intermingled with white roses covered the arch that centered the altar area. On either side were candelabras and baskets holding sunburst arrangements of white gladioli, mounted on wrought iron standards. Double tapers were at the head of the bridal aisle, and pews were marked with white satin bows.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. John Harper, organist, and Miss Sue Wilson, vocalist, who included among her numbers, "A Bride's Vow," with both the words and music by the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of tulle and Alencon lace. The bodice was styled with a sabrina neckline, a deep lace yoke accented with sequins and long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt of misty tulle was edged with a broad band of lace at the front, while the back was formed by five deep tiers of tulle, each edged in lace, and terminating in a chapel train. The bride's double fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls and lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations surrounding an orchid.

Miss Doris Blasingame of Canyon was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Anita Yvonne Moody, Miss Kay Huntsman of Hale Center, and Miss Judy Lane of Sunray. They wore identical dresses of turquoise chiffon fashioned with basque waists and sweetheart necklines. The full skirts were street length. Their head pieces were turquoise net circlets with chiffon bows, and they carried nosegays of white carnations.

Billy Bob Jackson of Hale Center was the best man, and ushers were Grover Graham, Gano Wilson and Billy Wilson, brothers of the bride, and Gene Sweat, brother of the bridegroom.

Lighting the candles were Miss Kim Ward of Hereford and Miss Oleta Mercer of Littlefield, while little Miss Marianne Gilbreth was flower girl and Brad Stoker of Mineral Wells, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

The reception which followed the wedding was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sweat at 1611 Dalhart Street. The bride's table was covered with a white linen cutwork cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. Lighted tapers in crystal holders were at either side, and other appointments were of crystal.

Miss Jenny Ann Kennedy served the wedding cake and Miss Cordelia Harris poured. Guests were registered by Miss Linda Jenkins.

As the couple left for Denver, Colo., where they will make their home, the bride wore a sheath of turquoise silk with a matching jacket. Her accessories were white and her corsage a white orchid.

The bride was graduated from Quail high school in 1960 and is one of the county's outstanding young musicians. She attended West Texas State College, Canyon, last year, and in both high school and college studied piano under Miss Pauline Brigham. She was pianist for the school chorus six years and was chosen best all around girl of the high school two years. In college she was active in the music club.

The bridegroom was graduated from high school in Wellington and attended Texas Technological College and West Texas State College. He is now serving in the U.S. Air Force as an airman third class, stationed at Lowry Air Force Base, Denver.

L. B. Lee of Wichita Falls is visiting his mother, Mrs. Joe Wilson and Mr. Wilson in Dodson.

Luncheon for Wedding Party

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sweat were hosts at the rehearsal luncheon Saturday, July 1, honoring the wedding party of Miss Judith Wilson and their son, Dickie Sweat.

The serving table was centered with a miniature bride and a groom in an Air Force uniform, in a setting of turquoise and white carnations. Side arrangements were wedding bells tied with turquoise ribbon.

Attending were Miss Wilson, Mr. Sweat, the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Pogue and two younger sons of Petersburg, Mrs. John Harper, Miss Sue Wilson, Miss Doris Blasingame of Canyon, Miss __nita Moody, Miss Kay Huntsman of Hale Center, Miss Judy Lane of Sunray, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bob Jackson of Hale Center, Grover Graham, Gano Wilson, Billy Wilson, Gene Sweat, Marianne Gilbreth, Mrs. Green Stoker and son, Brad of Mineral Wells, Kim Ward of Hereford, Oleta Mercer of Littlefield, Miss Linda Jenkins, Miss Cordelia Harris, Miss Jenny Ann Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, parents of the bride, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Sweat.

Paul Crume Book Reviewed

A recently published book, "A Texan at Bay," by a former Panhandle resident, Paul Crume, was reviewed by Mrs. Bernice Welch for members of the Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening, June 27.

During the entertainment period, accordion numbers were presented by Miss Donna Lowrie and a humorous reading by Miss Darlene Rainey of Samnorwood was given.

Mrs. Rufus Sweat, president was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Calvin Aaron and Mrs. Steve Owens were program directors.

Attending were Mmes. J. D. Aaron, Calvin Aaron, Owens, Jean Wynn, John Justice, J. P. Cummings, Fred Watkins, Jimmie Kelso, Lola Lee Roark, Dee Coleman, J. D. Phipps, Raymond Patton, H. B. Lowrie, H. L. Jenkins, also

Care Insurance for Dairymen

A good program for growing dairy replacement heifers is the safest insurance against problems that heifers may have at calving the first time, according to John C. Thompson, nationally known dairy authority and manager of the Ralston Purina Company's dairy research.

Some dairymen believe they should breed their first-calf heifers to beef bulls in order to get smaller calves. Thompson believes this practice is too often a substitute for a proper calf growing program. It is a costly practice that results in the loss of one generation of dairy breeding stock. Thompson contends that if the heifers are grown right and bred at the right stage of development, they are completely capable of producing safely a first calf of their own breed.

Recent college research gives evidence that cross-breeding may not be as instrumental in producing a small calf as some dairymen believe. This research indicates the heifer herself has a major influence on the size of the calf.

In a University of Illinois test, calves from Holstein dams by Angus bulls were 18.8 pounds heavier than those from Guernsey dams by the same sires.

Tests at the University of Wisconsin showed that Angus bull-Holstein heifer crosses produced calves five pounds heavier than Holstein bull-Angus heifer, thus illustrating again the influence of the dam on the size of the calf.

To grow a heifer properly, Thompson recommends a diet of high quality forage plus 3 pounds of good growing ration daily from four months of age to 90 days before calving. The heifer is then placed on a dry cow ration. She should be bred when she has reached the proper breeding weight for her breed, regardless of her age. This often is before 18 months of age for heifers grown on a good program.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brewer were their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Brown of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Trimble and son, of Memphis.

4 That the ballots for said election shall be substantially as follows:

"FOR A FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD TAX OF NOT EXCEEDING THIRTY CENTS (30¢) ON THE ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) VALUATION"
"AGAINST A FARM-TO-MARKET ROAD TAX OF NOT EXCEEDING THIRTY CENTS (30¢) ON THE ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS ($100.00) VALUATION"

5. Only legally qualified electors who own taxable property in the County and who have duly rendered the same for taxation shall be qualified to vote and all such electors shall vote in the election precinct of their residence.

6. The Sheriff or any Constable of this County shall post a notice of said election in each of the election precincts above specified at least fourteen days before the date set for the election. After posting said notices, the Sheriff or Constable so posting them shall make return on a copy thereof showing how and when he executed the same. Said notice shall also be published on the same day in each of two successive weeks in the "WELLINGTON LEADER," a newspaper of general circulation, published within said County, the date of the first publication to be not less than fourteen days prior to the date herein set for said election. Said notice shall be a substantial copy of this election order.

7. The manner of holding said election shall be governed by the provisions of the Election Code of the State of Texas, as amended.

PASSED AND APPROVED this the 16th day of June, 1961.
C. C. BISHOP, County Judge, Collingsworth County, Texas.
ATTEST:

The Greenbelt Television Translator System Is On Full Power Now

Turn your antenas so there will be no obstructions. Tune the TV set to the fine points. Make sure your TV is working properly. There are 3 stations on, 4, 7 and 10, all out of Amarillo. Let your directors know what kind of reception you are getting, regardless of whether it is good or bad. There will be a directors meeting Tuesday night July 11th at 8:00 o'clock. Later we will have a meeting of all the members before it is approved.

It will be necessary for an additional 140 people to pay in before we will have enough money to pay for the system and service it for one year. Please come to the Farm Bureau Office, Wellington, and pay your membership. The directors or no one locally receives any money for this service.

Fishermen Can Get Caught, Too Without License

AUSTIN.—This is the time of the year when many fishermen get caught without licenses, according to Capt. E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

This license is required for all persons between the ages of 17 and 65, who fish outside their home county, or who fish with any type of winding device, such as rod and reel, regardless of where they fish. The $2.15 license applies to residents and non-residents alike. It can be bought in practically all sporting goods stores and many other places through the state.

The law enforcement director warned that with the summer months, all fishermen should be careful to have the required licenses. While persons over 65 years of age are not required to have a license, there is an exemption certificate available for the asking, and it is good to have one of these in possession because it properly establishes the age when the fisherman is checked by a game warden.

Better Breakfast Kills 10 o clock Hunger Pains

AUSTIN.—If you suffer from "ten o'clock hunger," better revise your breakfast habits, State Health Department nutritionists advise.

"Ten o'clock hunger" is the expression nutritionists use to describe the body condition which comes with an inadequate breakfast. Victims usually feel weak and giddy by mid-morning. They may be hungry, yet have no taste for lunch. Or, of they are able to eat a big lunch, they will become unbearably sleepy by early afternoon.

Studies with volunteers of all ages have proved conclusively that poor breakfast habits are directly responsible for fatigue, dullness, irritability, and a general feeling of cussedness. Volunteers fed a good breakfast were more productive and alert, easier to get along with than their hungry counterparts.

Visiting here recently from Norwalk, Calif., were Mrs. Darrell Crooks and her three children, Carol, Jimmy and Keith, and her father, E. W. Jenkins. They were guests of Jenkins' other daughter, Mrs. William O'Rear and family. Keith Crooks also visited with Darrell Colson.

Places Open in Recovery Unit for This Area

A new Air Force Reserve outfit is being organized in Childress and there will be plenty of good opening for qualified people in an area of slightly over a 50-mile radius of that city, announced Lt. Col. James E. Ragsdale of Childress, designated Commander of the new unit.

The new Reserve unit will be the 9416th Air Force Reserve Recovery Squadron and will operate from a civilian airport as a military base in the event regular military air bases are knocked out by enemy action.

Col. Ragsdale said there will be paid positions for Reserve airmen in eleven different career fields.

"The airmen we need now are administrative specialists, safety technicians, air operations men, communications specialists, ground radio operators, wood workers, plumbers, heavy equipment operators, air policemen, firefighters and medical doctors, nurses and technicians," Col. Ragsdale said.

"These will be paid positions with training two days a month and an annual two-week tour of active duty," he added.

At present, only former servicemen are eligible for enlistment in the new unit, but they can be from other services—not just the Air Force.

For administrative purposes the new 9416th Squadron will come under the 8508th Air Force Reserve Recovery Group, Fort Worth. The Squadron's official birthday came on July 1, 1961, but much of the groundwork had already been accomplished and enlistments accepted.

The idea behind the Recovery type operation for Air Force Reservists is that in case of nuclear war, air bases rather than cities will be the prime targets.

The Air Force believes that its alert system will prevent bombers and fighters from being caught on the ground, but after an attack they might not have bases to return to.

The Continental Air Command organized seven recovery groups last year. Seventy-five more are now being organized throughout the country. Each group will have at least one squadron that will operate from either civilian airports or inactive Air Force strips capable of handling big Air Force jets.

The recovery units, with their small cadre of doctors, nurses, firefighters, crash and rescue men, communications specialists and others, will care for the planes and air crews when they come in for landings.

If the aircraft are not badly damaged, they would be prepared for flights to the nearest Air Force base still capable of repairing them for further combat missions.

People in this area interested in obtaining additional information on the new Childress Recovery Squadron may contact Col. James E. Ragsdale, either by phone or by writing him in care of P.O. Box 790, Childress.

To Band and Twirling School

ABILENE.—Carol Blain of Wellington high school has been accepted for the 1961 summer band and twirling school at McMurry College, July 16-29.

Dr. Raymond T. Bynum, director, has announced that students participate in two public concerts during the two-week school. Their course of instruction includes both band work and section training on individual instruments. The school includes a well-planned recreational program.

Dr. Bynum, who directs the McMurry College Band, will begin his fifteenth year at the college next fall. For many years he directed the Abilene High School Band.

News of Men in Service

AUSTIN.—Two Wellington men are participating in the Texas National Guard's popular "Take Six" program, 36th (Texas) Infantry Division Headquarters announced today.

The "Take Six" program consists of two phases of sixes, a division spokesman said. Under the program, a young man may volunteer for six months active duty with the U.S. Army, then spend the remainder of his six-year military obligation as a member of the Texas National Guard.

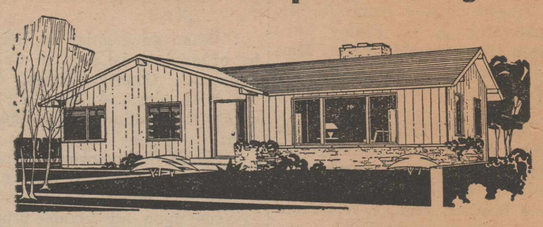

During active duty the Guardsman receives eight weeks basic training and spends the remainder of his time training for his assignment with his local Guard unit.

The two Wellington Guardsmen are Jerry D. Duncan and William P. Estes. They are now taking basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. Following six months of active duty training, they will drill with the Wellington Guard Unit, Co. E, 1st Battle Group, 42nd Infantry.

Mrs. Herman Belew and son, Mike, left Saturday for a few days visit with Mr. Belew, who has a fleet of combines in the harvest at Oakley, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crawley made a business trip last week to Ft. Sumner, House, and Tucumcari, N.M. In House they also visited her uncle, C. M. Devenport.

Camp Fire Day Camp Set for July 25-28

The Wellington Camp Fire Council president, Bobo Castleberry, has announced the annual Camp Fire Day Camp to be held from Tuesday through Friday, July 25 to 28.

It will be at the same camp site, on the Willie Smith farm on Buck Creek. School buses will carry the girls to the camp site at 7 a.m. and return them to town at 11 a.m., on each of the four days.

The camp is for Bluebirds, girls in the second, third and fourth grades in schools, and Camp Fire Girls, who are in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

This year the Camp Fire Council is inviting any girl of those ages who is interested in joining the Camp Fire organization to take part in the camp also.

Each girl must fill out a registration blank and pay a $2 fee by July 21, Castleberry said.

Those who have not belonged the organization may secure blanks from the camp directors, Mrs. James Sullivan or Mrs. John Sherman.

A registered nurse will be present each day and the girls will be covered by insurance, according to council members. Leaders and mothers will attend the camp as helpers. This year, the groups will not attend separately, each with its leader, but will attend together, with different helpers, according to the plans.

As in other years, the camp will include exploring along Buck Creek, cooking, hiking, and craft work.

Texas Has Tallest Capitol

Naturally it's taller! The Texas State Capitol at Austin is taller than any other state capitol and reaches higher into the atmosphere than the capitol building in Washington, D.C.

Next time you're in Austin, be sure and make a trip through this majestic domed granite capital. You'll notice something different on every visit.

Take a look at the door hinges, for example, and the inlaid flooring. They were made especially for this building, but often are overlooked by many of the visitors to this great capitol.

Austin is quite a recreational center, too; so you'd better plan for a long stay at this Central Texas beauty spot.

Texas Produces One Diamond

Austin.—Only one "well-authenticated" diamond has ever been found in Texas—in Foard county in 1911.

The largest gem-quality topaz crystal ever found in North America, a pale-blue crystal, which would yield a single gem of about 500 carats, came from Mason county.

Those and other facts about "Texas Gemstones" are found in a new illustrated handbook published by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology.

Elbert A. King Jr. of Austin, University of Texas graduate geology student and former Bureau of Economic Geology student assistant, wrote the handbook.

The 42-page bulletin is second in a new series of popular publications by the Bureau of Economic Geology. First guide book was "Texas Fossils, An Amateur Collectors' Handbook."

"Texas Gemstones" contains individual summaries of properties of some 30 gemstones, as well as a section on cutting and polishing gemstones. Also included are about 30 photographs and drawings and a glossary of 95 geologic terms.

Copies of "Texas Gemstones" are available at 40¢ each from the Bureau of Economic Geology, University of Texas, Austin 12.

Food Helps to Hold Birds

AUSTIN.—Cover and food for blue quail in North Texas is being provided on the farm of Joe B. Nicewarner of Morton, who has planned a real wildlife project on his land.

His work is described in an article in the current issue of Texas Game and Fish Magazine. Edward E. Thomas, a U.S. Department of Agriculture worker, tells of the improvements made on Nicewarner's farm, located predominately clean-tilled, irrigated farm land.

Nicewarner enjoys hunting quail himself and has attempted to provide cover and food as nearly like a virgin area as possible.

He hauls in truckloads of tree limbs. They were placed criss-cross on a stack of posts to provide brush covers. They [illegible] the area. Weed seed are planted to provide ample food. Old tires are split to provide water catchers.

He recommends other landowners take similar steps to provide both cover and feed for birds.

Asphalt Highway Mileage Soars

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Asphalt-paved mileage on the state highway systems has almost doubled since the end of World War II.

Asphalt paving, which totaled 242,248 miles in 1945, had reachted 478,455 miles in 1959 as reported in the latest edition of "Highway Statistics." The increase in high-type (or so-called "heavy-duty") asphalt pavement has been even more phenomenal. This figure has climbed from 68,245 to 246,478 miles, reflecting the rising popularity of this type of modern pavement.

It took plenty of everything—from paint to parts to people—to make and deliver a billion dollars worth of electrical appliances and equipment bought last lear by the 17,000,000 consumer-owners of America's Rural Electric Systems.

This great new market for everything electrical means more jobs, and better jobs, in towns and cities across our broad land. And it's a market that didn't exist until people like us banded together to serve ourselves with low cost electric light and power.

We are happy and proud that our efforts to serve the unserved in rural America—together with those of almost 1,000 other REA financed rural electrics—have brought this new impetus to the economy of the entire nation.

It's another reason why we say that rural electrification is good for all Americans.

Fair Premium List for FHA Announced

The premium list and rules for entries in the Future Homemakers division of the 1961 Collingsworth County Free Fair were announced this week by Mrs. George Henry, chairman.

Members of the committee met recently with other Fair committees to help work out plans for that event.

Serving with Mrs. Henry are Mrs. David Clark and Mrs. Arva Knight of the Samnorwood school district; Mrs. Monty Mitchell and Mrs. Jerry DePauw of the Quail school district, and Mrs. Dee Coleman of Wellington.

The premium money totals $108.75 in this division, with both money and ribbons going to the first three place winners in each class.

Mrs. Henry said that no article which has been entered previously in this show may be entered in this show and only one article in each division may be entered by any one person. There will be no names or numbers on the clothing or handwork.

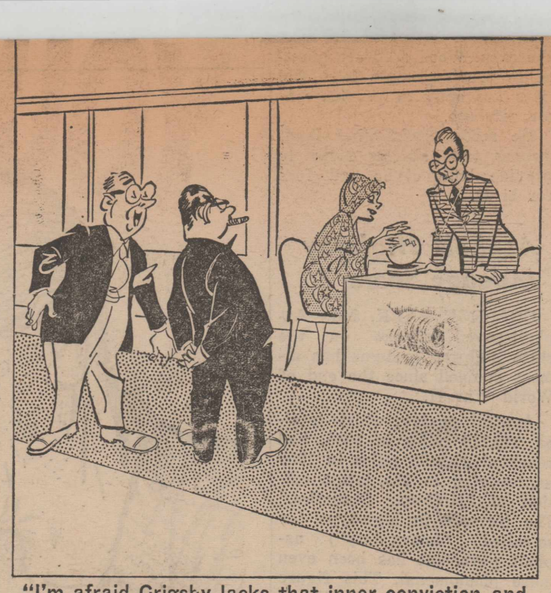

All foods must be saran wrapped on paper plates or cardboard; all canned products are to be in pink jars except peaches and peach pickles. Jellies and pickles will be opened for judging.

Each individual must do her own work, it was stressed, and entries must be in place by 10 a.m. Friday, Sept. 1 and will remain until 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 2.

A grand champion will be named, and cash awards for the champion, second, third, fourth and fifth place individual high point winners.

First, second and third place prizes will be awarded the homemaking departments of the three schools participating.

In the Homemaking I class, prize money will be $1.50 for first; $1.00 second, and 50¢ third for dresses; and $1.00, 75¢ and 50¢ for blouses and skirts, and slim jims or shorts suits.

"I'm afraid Grigsby lacks that inner conviction and self confidence!"

Homemaking III: dressy dresses, tailored dresses and formals or semi-formals: first, $1.75; second, $1.25; and third, 75¢; slim jims or shorts suits: first, $1.00; second 75¢; and third 50¢.

Open class, Homemaking I, II and III: suits. first, $1.75; second, $1.25; and third 75¢. Premium money on child's garments, pajamas, house coats, aprons, pillow cases, embroidered articles, fancy pillows and aluminum trays will be: first, 75¢; second 50¢; and third, 25¢.

Foods

Premium money of 75¢ for first place, 50¢ for second and 25¢ for third will be paid on rolled cookies, dropped cakes, bar cookies, marshmallow fudge, standard fudge, Martha Washington candy, divinity and peanut brittle.

On cakes, the premium money will be first, $1.00; second, 75¢ and third 50¢, and the types will be uniced angel food, uniced sponge cake, German chocolate cake, devil's food cake, iced layer cake and fancy decorated cakes.

Premium money for pies will be first 75¢, second 50¢, and third 25¢, and entries will be of both the fruit and pecan varieties.

For breads, premiums of 75¢ 50¢ and 25¢ will be paid on biscuits, cornbread sticks and muffins, fruit or nut loafs, yeast rolls, sweet rolls, tea rings, bubble loafs, etc.

Canning

Premiums for all classes of canning will be first prize 75¢, second, 50¢ and third 25¢. Vegetable entries will include green beans, peas, corn, tomatoes, tomato juice. Fruits will be apricots, peaches and pears; pickles: cucumber, peach and beet; peach preserves; and plum, grape or berry jelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patton, Dan and L. M., of Antioch, Calif., visited here during the week end in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Patton.

Accidents Kill 5,200 in 1960

AUSTIN.—Accidents killed 93,000 Americans last year — including more than 5,200 Texans. How many of these people died because they were "accident prone"?

There is no way of knowing, of course. "Accident-prone" is a phrase coined by the experts —psychologists, industry men and others on the theory that many accidents result from the victims' emotional makeup.

Studies by agencies interested in health and safety have shown that relatively few people are responsible for a high percentage of accidents. Conclusion: a person who has had one accident is more likely to be involved in another than a person who has had none at all.

Wages of Parents Covered by Social Security Law

Wages paid to a parent who works in a business for his son or daughter are covered by social security starting this year, says Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office.

This recent change in the law does not apply to domestic work in the private home of one's child; such work is still excluded from social security coverage.

"The new provision applies only if there is a bona fide employment relationship between the owner of a business and his parent," Geldon explained. "In such a case the wages which are paid for services rendered are credited to the parent's social security account the same as an unrelated worker's wages are credited."

The wage credits which a parent earns will be used to determine his right to receive retirement, disability and family insurance benefits.

The first social security tax return and wage report to include the wages of a parent was due in the month of April for the first three months this year.

CANTINFLAS

Personal

Mrs. Don Hyden and son and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Roberson and son of Amarillo were here last week visiting with relatives. The two women are the daughters of Mrs. Eva Fulcher and sisters of Mrs. Cecil Browning and Albert Fulcher. Roberson is the son of Mrs. M. L. Roberson and brother of Otis Roberson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Coleman and daughter, Anne, left Saturday on vacation to Corpus Christi and other points in that area.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley McMillin were in Oklahoma City over the week end visiting relatives.

Mrs. Harry Henderson of Mooresville, Ind.-was here for 2 weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. A. G. Sisk and other relatives in this area.

The Needham families, including Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Needham and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Needham and children returned recently from a weeks vacation trip to Missouri. They visited in St. Louis with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie G'll and their children, Eddie Jr., Evana and Mary Ann. The group enjoyed fishing on the Mississippi River. Mrs. G'll is a sister of the Needham men and will be remembered here as Wanda Needham.

Mrs. Howard Christian and children, Bob, Nancy and Karen, of Fort Worth, are here visiting her parents, Judge and Mrs. C. C. Bishop. Judge Bishop reports that Mrs. Bishop is slowly improving after her long illness.

Mrs. Robert Henard and daughter, Frances, of Plains, came last week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson.

Logan Cummings and Bill Cummings of Austin were here last week on business and visiting with their sister, Mrs. W. W. Neeley.

Mrs. Reda Stephens and son, Walter, of Madera, Calif., spent last week here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hughey and Phillip, and her sister, Mrs. J. W. White and family of Kelley. Her daughters, Muriel and Karen Stephens, who stayed with Mr. and Mrs. White during the school year, returned to California with Mrs. Stephens.

Here to spend the fourth of July holidays in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Killingsworth were their son, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth and Jerry, and their granddaughter, Cindy Stafford, all of Dimmitt.

Mrs. Treva Jones of Oakdale, Calif., and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Peterson and baby daughter, of Sacramento, Calif., visited here recently with Mrs. Jones' mother, Mrs. Cora Gosnel and with a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Neeley. Also dinner guests on Sunday in the Gosnel home were her brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brown of Clovis, N.M., and Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Pendergrass.

Danny Ammons and his cousin, Arlo Hopwood, visited on Wednesday in Alanreed with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ammons.

Here to spend the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Robertson and Miss Dorothy Robertson were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Ingram and three sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Raburn McKee and family, all of Amarillo, and Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Robertson Jr. and family of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sanford, Patsy and Roger of Wichita Falls were guests over the week end in the home of his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sanford and family. Patsy and Roger remained here for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hiett had part of their children home for the holiday week end. They were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hiett and Mari Lisa, of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Jenkins of Stinnett; and Don Hiett, a student this summer at Abilene Christian College, Abilene.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crawley recently were their nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Blaylock and granddaughters of Muleshoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Spillman were in Austin Thursday and Friday, where he called at the Governor's office on business for Hall county.

Mr. and Mrs. Ired Thomas and Joye visited Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in the home of their daughter and family at Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tolleson, Elaine, Thomas, Wayne, Greg and David.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchell and son, Ronald, of Lubbock were here last week visiting in the home of his mother, Mrs. R. E. Mitchell. They are former county residents but have made their home in Lubbock for the last nine years. She is the former Faye Jolley of Lutie. Mr. Mitchell is recovering from major surgery performed in a Lubbock hospital the last of May.

PASS IT TO ME!—Like a basketball player awaiting a rebound in a dream sequence, a worker guides a massive aluminum sphere into place. The metal ball will store liquid hydrogen in Sacramento, Calif.

Visiting recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe West were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Young, Arlo, Tommy Jo and Sedonia Ann, of Rialto, Calif. Also visiting with the Wests were her sister, Mrs. Mary Presnal and granddaughter, Marilyn Hunneycutt of Gainesville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ammons of Alanreed spent Saturday and Sunday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe West.

Mrs. Ernest Harwell, Mrs. Jimmie Kelso and Mrs. Hubert Leach left Monday to take Mrs. Ernest Keith Peach to Biloxi, Miss., to join her husband, stationed there with the Air Force. Peach has entered that branch of service as a career. The Harwells had returned only Sunday night from LaVeta, Colo., where they were looking after their lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Mauldin and children, Kay, Kim and Kris, of Albuquerque, N. M., are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. David Chase, Tim and Dan, of Dallas, visited his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Sullivan and Phyllis Ann over the July 4 holiday. The Chase family visited here earlier this summer from their home in Massachusetts, and since then they have moved to Dallas to live.

Kirby Campbell attended the annual Canadian rodeo over the week end.

Patricia Sullivan, student in Sam Houston State College at Huntsville, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sullivan over the July 4 holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Petr and children, Sherri, Viki and Randy, of Dallas, were guests last week in the home of her aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Graham. Mrs. Petr is the former Wanda Faye Archer and made her home here with Mr. and Mrs. Graham for several years. She is a graduate nurse at St. Paul's Hospital, Dallas.

Week end guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Agee were their son, Billy Frank Agee, from Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, and his fiancee, Miss Emili Beyette, a senior student at North Texas State College, Denton.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match
Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon . . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most . . . made by FORD . . . America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The omnibus farm bill seems dead for this session. Congress has decided that they would write the farm bills for one more year at least and not turn it over to Freeman and a hand-picked committee. Even so this is no time to be complacent. Congress has already passed ten of the sixteen bills asked by Kennedy in January, and every one of them means more spending, more inflation, more taxes, more controls and more regimentation. Ten out of sixteen of the kind of bills Kennedy recommended is ten too many.

Not being able to get out and talk to people is a handicap in writing a column. I have little information on how people are reacting to the coming election on renewing the 30¢ increase in county taxes. My guess is that the election will be more likely to carry than it did a month and a half ago. There will be a lot fewer people voting on July 15 than went to the polls in May.

Yes, we have peaches in Collingsworth county this year. Lucian Bearden brought us a box of Red Haven peaches from the orchard of Charlie Bearden. They were perfect in size, flavor and texture. The Red Haven is the earliest ripening peach of the Haven family. It is a yellow meated freestone, but the outer skin is a beautiful shade of red. I simply must get some of these off to Wes Izzard of The Amarillo News in order that he can learn that the best peaches in the Panhandle are grown in Collingsworth.

Jerry Nix also reports he has plenty of peaches—fewer than last year but better in quality. I will not vouch for that, for I have seen none of the peaches.

Several people have told the paper that the wild plums have worms in them this year. Jake Tarter must do better than that by us helpy-selfy people. He should spray the wild plums at the proper season of the year. Otherwise the "lady" who tried to run him off from his own plum patch is liable to show up complaining about the quality of the free fruit in 1962.

The June rains have produced the most luxuriant vegetable gardens in years right here in the city limits of Wellington. Of course the people who did the plowing and hoeing deserve a little of the credit. To me these gardens are even prettier than the lawns and shrubs and they are exciting this summer.

The Richard Baileys were over for a cook-out on the evening of the Fourth and Richard told me of killing a spreading adder near Salt Fork. Did any of you ever see such a snake in this county? If so, I will apologize to Mr. Bailey. Not to be outdone, I told him about the time the late Tom Stall and I went grape picking on Sweetwater and I saw a hoop snake—there being no such reptile in existence.

Frank Bourland

family still live on the ranch, Fred Bourland, son of Mack Bourland, and Jean Bourland Ross, daughter of Frank Bourland.

Frank Bourland attended Baylor University, Waco, and Metropolitan Business College in Dallas.

After leaving the ranch here he became associated with the business life of Clarendon, where the family has continued to maintain a home.

On Dec. 23, 1908, Mr. Bourland was married to Edna Condron.

He and the late W. D. Van Eaton were associated in the cattle business until the death of the latter, then he and the late W. R. Holder were partners in the same business for a number of years.

The partnership of Mack and Frank Bourland was terminated by the death of the former, and at that time Frank Bourland and his son-in-law, James R. Ross, became active partners.

His interests were not confined to ranching alone, but entailed many civic activities. He devoted much time to the Red Cross and was chairman of the Liberty Bond Drives during World War I. For his untiring work, he was honored with a lifetime membership.

He also served his church, the First Methodist, faithfully and in many capacities.

One of his great interests was his work with Clarendon College, founded in 1898 and moved in 1927. He was a long-time member of the board and worked to help raise this college to a Grade A senior institution.

Mr. Bourland was an active member of the American Hereford Association and the Rolling Plains Hereford Association.

Final rites were conducted in the First Methodist Church in Clarendon Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. Pall bearers were Marvin Salmon of Canyon and his nephews, Jack Bourland of Pampa, Fred Bourland of Quail, Ralph Bourland of Plainview, James E. Bourland of McKinney, and Jere Hinckley of Dallas.

Honorary pall bearers were members of the J. R. Porter Sunday School Class and John McClellan, Carroll Knorpp, Fred Russell and John M. Bass of Clarendon. Burial was in Citizens Cemetery, Clarendon.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Frank Bourland of the home; two daughters, Mrs. Robert G. Dillard of Austin, and Mrs. Ross of Quail; seven grandchildren, three great-grandchildren; one brother, Fenn H. Bourland of Newberg, Oregon, and a sister, Mrs. Oscar L. Jenkins of Dallas.

A County Record

Last Neeley Child Graduates This Year

As Mr. and Mrs. Z. J. Neeley watched their son, Walter, receive his diploma from Quail high school this spring, something of an era closed in their lives, but they set what may be a record in Collingsworth county educational history.

Walter was the youngest of nine children to graduate at Quail, and none of these children ever attended another school. Their association with the Quail school spans 29 years.

Mrs. Neeley also received her education at Quail.

Neeley, too, has been a part of the system, for with the exception of one or two terms, he served as trustee from the time his oldest child started to school until about a year ago, when he resigned as Quail trustee to accept an appointment on the county school board.

Most of the nine children have married Quail ex-students.

First of the children to graduate was Alpha, 18 years ago, after an outstanding basketball career in which she was named to the all-state basketball team. She married Quail ex-student Ted Brock, and they with their three children, live here.

Johnny graduated the next year, and is now Mrs. Leon Handley. They and their three children live north of Amarillo, where Handley works for an oil company.

Raymond and Faye, graduated the same year. Neeley is not sure which year it was, though. "If you have that many graduate, you forget which one graduated when," he remarked.

Raymond, married to Delma Jones, lives in Wellington with their three children and operates a wrecking company. Faye married James Cunningham of Samnorwood, who now teaches at Whiteface. They have two boys.

Next to graduate was Joyce, who married Ronald Kersten, lives here and has three girls. He is with East Side Welding.

Jack Neeley, after a period in the army, was married to another Quail exstudent, Ellen Messer, and works at the Wellington State Bank.

The youngest girl, Fern, married Kenneth Jett of Quail and they live in Denver City, where he is with an oil company. They have a boy and a girl.

Z. J. Neeley, Jr., also married a Quail girl, Tommie Souder and they have one boy. He is with an office supply company in Amarillo.

Walter is spending most of his summer farming, and in September he will enroll in Clarendon Junior College.

Three others of the Neeley children continued their education beyond Quail: Alpha attended a business college in Fort Worth; Jack went to West Texas State College, Canyon; and Faye to Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Neeley was one of the school trustees who helped with the consolidation of Quail school district.

"But Jess Thompson, principal of the Quail school, was really the man who decided on consolidation," Neeley declares. Thompson did not stay with the school after consolidation, but Neeley has served as a trustee with the three superintendents the school has had, Carl Chaudoin, Noah Cunningham and Herman Moseley.

There is one part Neeley does not like to recall—the drop in the number of children in the huge school district.

For a time after consolidation, the number continued to rise, to a peak of around 600. Then families began to move away, and now there are less than 200 boys and girls in the district.

W. E. McBride

the age of 16, settling at Agents, Parker county. He was married to Miss Tennie Holland March 14, 1908, and they lived in Parker county several years before moving to Newcastle, where he worked in the coal mines eight years. When the mines were closed during World War I, he brought his family to Hedley, where he again farmed for 13 years.

Mr. McBride was active in church and community life. He became a member of the Baptist Church 39 years ago and had served as Sunday school superintendent before coming here. He also was a member of the board of trustees of the Bray school in Donley county.

Funeral services were conducted at First Baptist Church Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. by the Rev. Glenn Hickey, pastor, and the Rev. Howard Jones of Amarillo. Burial was in the North Wellington Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Harvey Gaddis, John Tate of Hedley, Charlie Amerson, J. L. Harris, Dick Lindley and Tommy Bain of Hedley.

Surviving Mr. McBride are his wife, of the home; four daughters and two sons: Mrs. Viola Mann of Clarendon; Mrs. Inez Matthews of Sulphur Springs; Mrs. Leska Lundegreen of Amarillo, in whose home he was staying; Mrs. Thelma McGinnis of Amarillo; Eugene McBride of Edmond, Okla.; and Cecil Travis McBride of Canyon.

Other survivors are a brother and sister, A. C. McBride of Wewoka, Okla., and Mrs. H. L. Wood of Haskell, also 11 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

In charge of the school will be Lynch, Dick Sweat, manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin, and Jon Robertson, entomologist with a commercial chemical company at Vernon.

Just now, flea hoppers are prevalent, with some boll worm infestation, and in the southeast part of the county, a few boll weevil, Lynch said.

All of these will be studied so that farmers can identify damage being done by them.

Lynch urged all cotton farmers to attend.

Masons to Memphis Meet on July 10

Approximately 100 area Masons will be in Memphis Monday evening, July 10, to attend a meeting honoring two state officers of the organization.

Those to be honored are Irvin S. Johnsey of Memphis, Most Illustrious Grand Master of the Grand Council of the Royal and Select Masters of Texas; and S. A. Verinder of Dallas, Most Excellent Grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas.

The meeting will be held at the Masonic Hall and will get underway at 7 p.m. with a dinner. This will be followed with a meeting at 8 p.m.

All Masons from Memphis, Childress, Wellington, Clarendon and Shamrock have been invited to attend.

In addition to his present position, Johnsey has served in the past as Master of the Memphis Lodge No. 729; Head of Chapter, Council and Commandry locally; District Deputy Grand Master of these bodies; member of the Red Cross of Constantine; Knight of the York Cross of Honor, Priory No. 23; 32nd degree Scottish Rite of Dallas; member of Khiva Shrine.

The visitor from Dallas, S. A. Verinder, has headed all the York Rite Masonic bodies in Dallas and is a 32nd degree Scottish Rite Mason.

Verinder will assist Johnsey with the meeting in Memphis.

Club Receives Merit Award

The Wellington Federated Music Club has received an award of merit for its work in promoting American Music, culminating in its "Parade of American Music" presentation.

The program presented several of Wellington's student musicians.

The certificate was received Monday, July 3, by Mrs. Bernice Welch, club president, and was presented by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Min. and Mrs. Grandol Forehand and family returned home last of the week after a vacation trip to Colorado. They were accompanied on the trip by her parents, who live in Dalhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunter visited last week in Port Lavaca with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cunningham and family. Mrs. Cunningham and the children came home with them for several weeks' visit here.

SCD Sub-Area Meeting Here on August 17

Supervisors of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District will be hosts at a sub-area meeting August 17, John Robert Henard, chairman, announced following the regular meeting of the board Saturday, July 1.

The meeting will begin at 4 p.m. and will be followed by a supper.

Supervisors of four soil conservation districts and work unit conservationists in those districts will attend. Special guests will be representatives of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Zook Thomas, member of the Salt Fork SCD board, will be one of the speakers and the remainder of the program is to be worked out.

The purpose of the meeting is to co-ordinate work and study problems common to the four soil conservation districts.

Here to help the local group work out the meeting was Lee Scribner of Turkey, a member of the Hall County SCD board of supervisors and also Area I vice president of the Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Church to Hear Leading Worker for Freedom

The initial announcement was made this week of the revival at West Avenue Church of Christ from July 30 through August 6, which will feature Dr. James O. Baird, president of Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City.

A world traveler, he works with Dr. George Benson, who is internationally known for the "School of American Studies" at Harding College, Searcy, Ark.

"We believe Dr. Baird's appearance here will be of interest to the public in general, as well as to the members of our church," Minister J. R. Patterson said.

Further plans for the revival will be announced later, Mr. Patterson said.

Mrs. Simpson

sewing, especially making bandages for the Red Cross, during this time.

When the Simpsons moved to the rural community of Midway, Collingsworth county, she became a charter member of that club. "Miss Rose Erisman was our demonstrator, and she was a wonderful leader. She inspired us to do our best."

"It was the year 1928 that our home was blown away. A black swirling cloud coming from the southwest caused us to go to our cellar about 11 a.m. Soon we were joined by a neighbor and two frightened children. We felt the wind, we heard the roar. When we peeped outside, our little home was gone. Dumfounded and confused, we were hunting here and there for treasures when other high winds and twisters forced us back to our refuge—the cellar. At nightfall our neighbor would have gone home, but a washed out bridge and swirling waters prevented. Trembling from fear and cold we spent the night in our new home. How grateful we were as we consumed the bountiful breakfast prepared for us by Mrs. Robert Brewer—a dear friend and club member who is now dead."

Jenny Lee recalls that during this time, Mrs. Wood Coleman and Mrs. A. O. Sweat were pantry demonstrators in the county. "They had just learned to use the new pressure cookers, and they canned everything they could find. Each woman took great pride in making her canned products look colorful and appetizing. How happy we were to have the club members visit us and we proudly exhibited our pantries with row after row of gleaming canned products."

"These canned vegetables were a long step from dried beans and sow belly," she observed, "but it took a lot of work and patience on the part of our agents to teach us home makers how it was done. We were real proud of our new cookers even though there was an occasional blow up. Take for instance the morning Mrs. Jones decided to use hers to cook up a batch of pineapples. Instead of waiting until her cooker registered zero, she started to remove the lid. The pressure lifted the lid, and at once pineapple juice and fruit juice went flying through the air. There was pineapple all over the kitchen and even bits of it in Ada's hair," laughed Jenny Lee.

While serving as president of the Midway Club, she was appointed supervisor of the making of quilts and mattresses. This was a special project during World War II to help use up the surplus cotton.

"Our small club made 51 mattresses and 73 quilts, and I helped with every one of them," proudly exclaimed Mrs. Simpson.

Living closer to Samnorwood she joined that club when it was organized and served in all the various offices during the nine years she was a member.

When on account of Mr. Simpson's health, the family moved to Wellington, Jenny Lee at once joined the Demonstration Club and became a very active member and office holder.

In 1945 she was sent as a delegate from the county to the Farmers Short Course at College Station. She attended State Demonstration meetings in Dallas and Houston and district meetings at Canyon, Amarillo, Paducah and other cities. She also served as T.H. D.A. chairman. As a delegate to these state and county councils she was able to help her county club members by giving detailed reports of these meetings.

"Our two daughters, Mrs. Pauline Nichols of Shamrock, and Mrs. Virginia Fourmentin of Wellington were reared as 4-Hers. I was one of the 4-H county sponsors for many years, and I loved the work with the youth of our county.

"Home Demonstration Club work has been a great influence towards helping me rear my family and make a success of my married life," Mrs. Simpson continued. "I learned the best methods in seed selection, gardening, caring for the sick, improving the appearance of my home and also the appearance of each individual in my family, and the value of citizenship."

Mrs. Simpson advises every woman and child to become a member of some Extension Service organization. "There's just no other organization which turns out better all-round citizens," she added, "and my very dearest friends are those I have worked with in Demonstration work during all these many years."

On account of her husband's illness, Mrs. Simpson is no longer an active member of her club, but she'll always be present in spirit. Miss Kathryn Potter, our present efficient county demonstrator says she often visits and gleans valuable information from Mrs. Simpson's rich store of club knowledge—even takes her as a visitor to club meetings.

"Club work is just a part of me and my family — like breathing and eating and living," Mrs. Simpson mused, "and will be until I die."

Indian

"This village belongs to the Washita River Culture. It is best known archeologically in Western Oklahoma. We haven't really studied these Indians in the Eastern Panhandle."

These early Collingsworth people lived in houses that were partially dug out, then built up in wattle and daub construction. Enough trash — used here in the archeological sense to indicate such items as those named above — has been found in the field to indicate a number of houses, and Hughes believes it probably was a medium size village.

No actual house remains were found in the brief period the group was at the site Thursday, but he is convinced it was a permanent settlement.

"It has the feel," Hughes said, describing the insight that archeologists gain after years of work.

"I'm almost sure further study will reveal houses."

While the Washita River Indian culture is fairly well known and explored to the east of here, in Oklahoma, there was another comparatively well known in the Central Panhandle, the Panhandle Pueblo culture.

And Collingsworth appears to have been the meeting place of the two. Broken bits of pottery picked up were from both cultures, and there is a distinct difference.

This county has more than its share of Indian remains.

"It is definitely a rich country from the standpoint of Indian remains. One reason you have more than your share is that there were more timber, more game and more water than there is to the west," he indicated the sweeping high plains.

"Archeologically, you are in a border zone, and this enhances interest for the archeologist."

Hughes digressed briefly to discuss the appearance of the Indians of the period.

"The shape of the skull here is unusual. The Panhandle pueblo Indians had round skulls. This one is intermediate. Viewed from the top, it is vaguely pentagonal. It is well known in some parts, but not here.

"We are not too sure of the exact span of time these people lived here, but it must have been 1300 or 1400 A.D." he went on. "And we cannot say whether the village was here at the beginning of the period or the middle or near the end of the span."

What was first believed to be the bones of horses were identified by the Canyon archeologist as those of a bison. There were no horses in the Panhandle until the Spanish explorers entered the territory.

Hughes praised Judge Horton's acute observation of many points about the burial site, which gave valuable information concerning this find.

The skeleton was discovered by three Dozier boys, Jerry Latham, Ray Kirklin and Billy Kirklin, who saw the skull high in the north bank of Salt Fork as they rode their horses down the river bed. It is on the Clyde Brown farm.

The boys took the skull home, and with their fathers, reported the find to the sheriff's office. Judge Horton, with Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Hodge and the boys, returned to complete excavation of the skeleton.

Horton later notified the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum.

Hughes got a bonus from his trip to Wellington. Another skull, found a number of years ago by Claude McKinney and left at the Wellington Clinic, was turned over to the museum by Dr. Dale Watkins and Dr. Carter Holcomb.

This appears to be a long skull, and if further examination bears this out, it may prove to be that of a far earlier inhabitant of Collingsworth for Indians of this characteristic skull were in the area several thousand years ago. The skull is less well preserved than the one found recently. Hughes made no attempt to estimate the age of this newest acquisition.

Taking time to explain the work of the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in this field, he said that an attempt was being made to record and locate on maps all Indian remains found in the Panhandle.

Time takes its toll of these. A few more washing rains would have carried away the skeleton found high in the Salt Fork band — one of the best preserved ever found in the Panhandle.

He urged those who make these finds to notify him at the museum.

"Just because the bones appear to be crumbling doesn't mean they can't be saved," he explained. "If they can be dug out at all, they can be treated with a solution that will preserve them for the future.

Hughes hopes to return to Collingsworth in the near future to continue his studies in this county that has more than its share of Indian remains.

Though more than 1000 languages are spoken in India, only 10 are in general use.
