Reds Closing Crimean Trap

Zaporozhe Taken, 100,000 Germans Face Entrapment

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 15. — The Red Army captured the Dnieper river bend stronghold of Zaporozhe yesterday, sealed off Melitopol for early conquest and cut its railway link with the Crimea, and in a new break-through north of Kiev smashed three German divisions, Moscow announced early today.

The fall of the east bank industrial citadel of Zaporozhe opened the way for a Soviet landslide southward into the Crimea where 100,000 German troops risk encirclement. Front dispatches said Soviet units already were pursuing German remnants from the broken Zaporozhe-Melitopol line.

Nearly 10,000 Slain

Nearly 10,000 Germans were slain as the Russians overwhelmed Zaporozhe's desperate Nazi garrison, and fought their way toward early triumphs at Kiev on the middle Dnieper, and Gomel in White Russia.

The Germans, still throwing their precious reserves into the inferno raging on both sides of Kiev, lost 3,000 men in one area there, 3,000 at Zaporozhe, 1,500 at Gomel and 2,000 at Melitopol, on the basis of preliminary data, said Moscow's midnight communique supplement. Sixty-one German tanks and 105 enemy guns were destroyed.

"In the area north of Kiev," it added, "our tanks broke through German positions and smashed three enemy divisions."

Much Equipment Abandoned

Huge quantities of equipment were declared to have been abandoned by the Germans around Zaporozhe and inside that city which is near the site of the giant Dnieper dam.

Sixty-five miles to the south Russian troops had isolated German troops clinging to the roofs and entrenched in cellars inside Melitipol after cutting them off from the Crimea by snapping the main railway into the peninsula at two points, the Soviet daily communique disclosed.

Fighting over heaps of German dead, the Russians also were closing in on Kiev on the west bank of the middle Dnieper from bridgeheads established north and south of the capital. Front dispatches said the Russians were smashing ahead in a furious effort to take Kiev before German dynamite squads had completed the wrecking of the city, already in flames.

Gomel On Verge Of Fall

Gomel, in lower White Russia, also appeared to be on the verge of falling to the Russians, who had crossed the Sozh river above and below the city and now were attacking its gates. Gomel also

Manpower Ban Tightens Today

Whole Nation Goes Under WMC Control

By MAX HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. — The nation officially goes under stricter manpower regulations tomorrow and Joe Doaks will find it harder to change jobs unless he is increasing his usefulness in the war effort.

Regulations designated "minimum provisions" and giving the U. S. Employment service tighter rein over migration and yes or no control over hiring of workers in "critical" occupations now will apply uniformly to all areas.

Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt, in a statement, stressed that the minimum provisions do not mean control by the employment service over all hiring, but said that the door is open for adoption of such a system, or modification thereof, in areas which need tighter controls.

20 Areas Now Operating

War Manpower commission officials in an informal press conference disclosed that about 20 areas have been operating under plans which involve government consent for the hiring of either: (1) all workers, (2) all males, or (3) all "essential" workers.

The officials could not provide a list of localities where it controls "essential" workers. They said this list is in a state of flux and added that it's not yet known here how many additional areas are adopting tomorrow regulations more stringent than the minimum.

The minimum provisions, now universally applicable, include:

1. A worker who leaves an "essential" or "locally-needed" activity may not take another job within 60 days unless it would "aid in the effective prosecution of the war." This condition will not be considered fulfilled unless the new job is important to the war and unless the worker has either a statement of availability from the previous employer or the consent of the USES.

Benefits Of Worker

2. A worker deserves such a statement of availability if he is discharged or laid off for a week or more, if continued employment would be an undue hardship, or if he is subjected to sub-standard wages or working conditions.

3. The USES can issue statements of availability to employes of a company which does not comply with WMC regulations.

4. The USES must approve hiring of a worker just arrived in the locality, and must approve job transfers from agricultural to a non-agricultural activity.

5. The USES may offer to other work any employe whose highest skill is not being fully utilized full time.

Soldiers Are Killed En Route To Homes

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 14 (AP) — Four soldiers of Camp Bowie en route to their homes on 15-day furlough were killed when their automobile was wrecked and burned near Stephenville last night.

The men were identified by the Camp Bowie public relations officer as:

T/4 Henry L. Rickard, 26, Oakland, Calif., owner of the car; Pvt. James F. Goggin, 21, Charleston, Mass.; Pvt. Homer D. Peck, 20, Jefferson, Ga.; Pvt. First Class Henry F. Haher, 25, Hartford, Conn.

The public relations office said the soldiers had planned to board a train at Fort Worth for their homes. All were members of Headquarters company, a tank destroyer unit.

The automobile burned after a collision with a pickup truck.

Cafe Prices To Face Adjustment

Operators Confer With OPA Officials

Adjustment of certain prices charged for food in Lubbock restaurants and cafes is due within the next few weeks, it was indicated in a harmonious meeting of more than 100 restaurant and drug store operators with district Office of Price Administration officials in the assembly room of the West Texas Gas company Thursday afternoon.

Discrepancies in prices charged for various items were revealed in a survey taken by the OPA during the period of April 4 to April 10 and adjustments are to be made in price ceiling scales so that there will more or less of an equalized price on a commodity throughout the 120 eating establishments.

First Of Kind In Nation

Thursday's meeting was the first of its kind to be held in the nation and represented the institution of a test case in the adoption of local price ceilings for eating establishments instead of having the prices set in Washington.

"You people have stayed well in line with your prices," J. B. Mooney, district price officer, told the gathering after explaining the price ceiling regulations and revealing the range of prices charged on various items of food throughout the city. "This meeting has been called for the sole purpose of helping you to work out your price problems . . .

"We want to work out this ceiling problem to your best advantage," Mooney continued . . . "You might have to take off a few of the frills but we want you to be able to give the public substantial food and still make for yourselves a fair margin of profit."

Five Classifications

Mooney explained that five classifications would be set up in the city, first, the smaller eating places; second, restaurants and cafes; third, the hotels; fourth, drug stores; and fifth, sandwich shops. Copies of the price ceiling regulations with the classifications and price ceilings for each group will be prepared after an exhaustive study and research by district OPA officials and will be mailed to each individual operator.

"Don't expect these tomorrow, or the next day," Mooney said, ex-

12 Japs Downed On Kahili Raid

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Friday, Oct. 15. (AP)—In a new raid on Kahili, Japan's chief airdrome on the last important enemy Solomons holding of Bougainville, American planes have downed 12 Zeroes in sky battles.

This announcement in today's communique added to the latest bag of enemy planes there. Yesterday's communique had reported the downing of 21 Japanese aircraft in the Bougainville sector.

In the new raid, more than 100 American bombers and fighters attacked Kahili, which is near Buin on south Bougainville.

Cargo Ships Pounded

Mitchell medium bombers swept above Bougainville and in attacks on shipping are believed to have sunk two enemy cargo vessels.

The raids were characterized as harmless.

The Kahili airdrome is the biggest air base barring the northward progress of the Allies up the Solomons toward Rabaul, the enmy's New Britain fortress which on Tuesday was hit by a 350-ton bombing attack.

The latest Kahili raid was executed in daylight by Liberator heavy bombers, Avenger torpedo bombers and Dauntless divebombers. Fires visible for 30 miles were started in the supply areas.

After shooting down 12 out of the 25 interceptors, all the raiders got home, the communique said.

Gen. Jackson To Be Buried In Arlington

General Jackson, commanding a division in the maneuver area, was injured when the small plane from which he was observing his maneuvering troops, struck a tree along a highway. S/Sgt. Robert W. Miller, Wichita, Kan., pilot of the plane, was seriously injured, but is improving.

Jackson was commander of the 84th infantry division at Camp Howze, Gainsville, Texas, prior to the maneuvers.

Today Is Last Day To Mail Overseas Christmas Gifts

HAVE you mailed that Christmas package to thata Soldier overseas?

Today is the last day Christmas packages can be mailed to the fighting men overseas who are serving in the United States Army and the deadline is 12 o'clock midnight.

Packages must not weigh over five pounds and must not be over 36 inches in girth and length combined, according to the postal regulations.

All packages, the postal authorities stated, must be wrapped securely and must be packed in metal, wooden or solid fiber board or strong corrugated card board boxes.

This strict regulation or packing the Christmas packages helps to insure that packages reach the addressee in good shape.

Perishable goods, intoxicating drinks, matches, inflammable fluids and other such articles are forbidden by the post office department, it was announced.

The mailing deadline on packages for men serving in the United States Navy is November 1, and Christmas packages may be mailed through that day. Packages to the Navy men carry the same packing orders and mailing instructions as to the men in the Army.

60 Forts Lost And 104 Nazis Downed On Sweeping Raid

Foray Reaches Deep Into Germany For Second Smash Against Big German Plant

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 15. — U. S. Flying Fortresses reached deep into Germany yesterday to smash the ball bearing plant at Schweinfurt and lost a record number of 60 bombers while knocking down 91 fighters in what was probably the fiercest single air battle ever fought.

Escorting Thunderbolts—P-47 fighters—accounted for another 13 aircraft, boosting the total of enemy losses to 104. Two American fighters were missing, boosting the raiders' total losses to 62.

"Large Formation"

Size of the attacking groups was not announced but U. S. Army headquarters referred to them as "large formations."

It was the second smash in two months at the industrial city in south-central Germany.

The heaviest previous American loss was 59 bombers on the Regensburg-Schweinfurt shuttle raid to Africa Aug. 17.

The American loss represented 600 American fliers killed or missing and perhaps $20,000,000 worth of precision bombing and fighting machinery.

But preliminary reports indicated that the plant, whose products form key parts of the German war machine, was knocked out of production.

Bombs Pour Into Target

"There ought to be ball bearings rolling all over Germany tonight," said one crewman who watched hundreds of bombs pour into the target despite the desperate efforts of German fighter planes to break up the attack.

Sgt. William R. Mortimer of Rimersburg, Pa., a ball-turret gunner, who fought his way home, said "there was a better concentration on this raid than at Marienburg in East Prussia and I saw both."

The Berlin radio declared in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press that competent military authorities announced 70 British-American planes had been shot down during the day and that this number was "likely to be augmented" later.

Other Plants Knocked Out

About the time the news of the new attack on the German industrial center was released, the U. S. Eighth Air force announced that both the huge Focke Wulf assembly plant at Marienburg in East Prussia, and the component factory at Anklam, in eastern Germany, had been knocked out of production by American precision blows Oct. 9.

The plant at Marienburg alone accounted for almost half the assembly of Focke Wulfs and the Anklam establishment was an im-

Harried Hitler, Worried By Seriousness Of Slav Front, Puts Rommel In Full Charge

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Adolf Hitler, whose armies have been pounded increasingly hard in Yugoslavia, has placed his ace soldier, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, in general command of operations against the Yugoslav patriots, the Berlin radio said tonight.

The announcement followed receipt of a Swiss report through Stockholm that Rommel had been placed in full charge of all Nazi-occupied Italy, with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring recalled from his command of southern Italy after a quarrel with Rommel.

Unrest Seethes At Home

Announcement of assumption of the Yugoslav command by Rommel was made in a German home service broadcast recorded by the ministry of information. Circumstances indicated it was made to quiet unrest in Germany regarding developments in the Balkans.

The Germans thus made it clear that they regard the Yugoslav patriots as a full-fledged battle foe and that they no longer are trying to dismiss them as mere "bandit bands."

There was no indication that Rommel was being withdrawn from his Italian command to take over the Balkans personally, but rather it appeared he would act in a supervisory capacity with Field Marshal Baron Maxmilian von Weichs, recently named Balkan commander in chief.

New Balkans Command

The Yugoslav government in Cairo disclosed today that a new general headquarters under von Weichs had been established for the Balkans in Belgrade. A large staff was said to be operating there.

All these developments made it clear that the Germans, already locked in land battles in Russia and Italy and engaged in a great air war in the west and at home, now had turned full attention and their best efforts to the Balkan situation.

Balkan tension rose to a new pitch for the Germans as Axis commentators expressed increasing fears that the Allies were ready to strike a new blow in the Mediterranean area, to be timed with a general offensive in Italy.

The German radio war reporter Lutz Koch said today that the Yugoslav patriots were "armed to the teeth," and that they had important aircraft units.

Heavy Fighting Admitted

In one of the Germans' frankest admissions that fighting is heavy in Yugoslavia, Koch declared that for two weeks now operations have been carried out against the partisans and that "the severity of the fighting is not over yet," he observed.

Even as he spoke, this German reporter said, "battles are still going on in northeastern Italy, Istria and farther to the east." He said that Fiume was twice attacked by guerrilla forces coming from Bakar, who "even penetrated Susak."

Susak lies alongside Fiume on the coast at the head of the Istrian peninsula.

Doubled Social Security Asked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — An administration spokesman today recommended double social security taxes next year, while Congress showed signs of an inclination to scrap the Treasury's schedule of proposed income tax boosts and adopt a sales tax.

Chairman A. L. Altmeyer of the Social Security board told the Senate Finance committee it would be unwise for Congress to interfere with the increase in social security levies scheduled for next year under existing law. This would boost payroll taxes on employees and employers from one to two per cent.

Affects Revenue Bill

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) asked the committee to hold hearings on the question whether an increase should be permitted.

Whatever is done about social security taxes is expected to have an effect on the final shape of the new revenue bill on which the House Ways and Means committee is working.

Secretary Morgenthau recognized this in asking $10,500,000,000 in new general taxes. He expressed belief that social security ought to be broadened to cover new groups and risks, and payroll taxes raised to bring in $5,300,000 additional revenue annually.

Lower Income Groups

"If payroll taxes are increased," he added, "the income taxes should at that time be made substantially lower than I have suggested to avoid an excessive tax burden on the lower income groups."

The scheduled 100 per cent increase in social security taxes would yield an estimated $1,400,000,000 in 1944.

Within the ways and means committee, the trend appeared to be definitely toward a sales tax. There was talk of one of 5 per cent, with no exemptions, estimated to raise $3,500,000,000 a year.

City Discusses Rat Campaign

Funds Also Voted For Use Of Guard

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

Discussions which foreshadow an early rat extermination campaign in Lubbock featured the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

Much other business also was transacted, including the approval of a large portion of the money requested as a budget for Lubbock county units of Texas Defense guard; the adoption on first reading of an ordinance providing for the appointment of a city planning commission; authorization of the purchase of replacement clothing for fire department members; and further discussions of a controversy that has arisen as the result of the operations of a "soft drink and dance" place near Senior High school.

Procedure Explained

The procedure usually followed in conducting rat eradication campaigns was explained to members of the commission by E. G. Pope, representative of the division of predatory and rodent control of the department of the interior with headquarters in Lubbock.

Appearing before the commission by invitation, Pope explained that his division would provide the supervision, make the necessary poison available at cost, and would supervise the mixing and placing of the poison. He estimated that the cost of such a campaign to local sponsors would be between $700 and $1,200. The supervision, he added, could be provided only in business and industrial areas although poison, with instructions, probably could be made available for use in residential districts.

Since the Junior Chamber of Commerce is planning the sponsorship of a campaign, the commission took no action. However, members of the commission and Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, gave assurances of their fullest cooperation, if and when the campaign is undertaken. All were agreed that, if it is conducted, it should be at once.

AFL Refuses To Work With Soviet Unions

BOSTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — The American Federation of Labor terminated its convention today with an attack on American communists and an emphatic reaffirmation of its refusal to collaborate with Soviet trade unions on wartime problems.

The delegates re-elected President William Green, Secretary-Treasurer George Meany and all 13 vice presidents; assailed labor conscription and government by "directives" and shaply condemned the wage control authority vested in Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson.

A proposed constitutional amendment permitting the federation to examine the membership records of affiliated unions was temporarily blocked. New Orleans was chosen for the 1944 convention.

Yanks Smash Volturno Line

Troops Storm Across At Several Points At Capua

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Oct. 14. — The Germans' first natural defense line before Rome—the steep-banked Volturno river—has been smashed by the Fifth Army at several points near Capua in a furious night assault in which Allied engineers bridged the stream under withering German fire, Allied headquarters announced today.

American and British infantry and armored forces, including tanks, stormed across the river in darkness early yesterday after having repelled a futile Nazi assault on Capua, and today were fighting fiercely to expand their bridgeheads against desperate enemy resistance.

So murderous was the aerial cover given Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's attacking troops that German infantry was pinned down to its defensive positions north of the Volturno and not a single Nazi tank was able to join the battle.

Firmly Established

There was no exact information how far Allied vanguards had penetrated beyond the river, but an official announcement that bridgeheads had been firmly established indicated Clark's troops had pushed northward far enough to ensure them against German counterattacks.

Throughout today a stream of Allied tanks, artillery, supplies and men rumbled over the makeshift bridges, braving heavy Nazi fire, to support the advance units that were fanning out along the Volturno's northern shore.

The Germans were falling back toward the Garliano river and Aurunci and Ausoni mountains. There they undoubtedly will make another stand.

(A Berlin broadcast said seaborne British troops, following typical Allied leapfrog tactics, had landed at the mouth of the Volturno where it flows into the Mediterranean and threatened to flank the entire German defense system along the stream.)

Fierce Nazi Defense

The fierceness with which the Germans are defending Rome indicates their appreciation of the value of the Eternal City for its political and religious effect.

Gen Clark took advantage of subsiding floods and drying ground to hurl his forces into the attack on the Volturno behind a terrific artillery barrage that tore Nazi defenses to shreds. Hundreds of medium and fighter-bombers thundered immediately overhead to daze and demoralize the Germans, who had taken advantage of protracted rainy period to build formidable defenses.

The first waves of Allied combat troops swam and crossed the water barrier in assault boats and amphibious trucks in the face of a tempest of steel from Nazi machineguns, mortars, rifles and ar-

Governor Coke Will Run Again

AMARILLO, Oct. 14. (AP)—The Globe quoted Gov. Coke Stevenson today as saying he would be a candidate for re-election.

The governor, asked for confirmation, flatly denied he had thus thrown his hat into the ring for next summer's primaries. But the newspaper struck by its story and added a statement from Charles Simmons, secretary of the State Democratic Executive committee, who accompanied Stevenson here for a celebration honoring war mothers.

The Globe quoted Simons: "The governor will stand for re-election.

"Under normal circumstances he likely would not. He would like to retire to his ranch but if the people want him to remain the governor in time of war he will offer his services."

The paper continued: In an interview Stevenson said he would accede to a suggestion made in a recent Houston Chronicle editorial the governor said: "Yes, I think I'll accede."

The story, appearing in the afternoon, was available to the governor.

Ex-Nazi Sees Quick War End If Germans Knew The Facts

CAMP WOLTERS, Oct. 14. (AP)— "If the average German soldier knew what I know now, Germany would surrender in 12 hours," says a former Nazi Army lieutenant now in his sixth week of basic training here.

Pvt. Ludwg A. Schoendorf led a platoon of machine gunners in the German Army which marched into Austria. He brought up the rear of the Army invading Czechoslovakia. The camp newspaper, the Longhorn, also relates:

Schoendorf twice met Hitler face to face, first when der fuehrer presented him his commission, again when Schoendorf was given a citation for a wound.

Of those days the soldier said: "Mein Kampf was our field manual. As early as 1935 we knew that we were going to take Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. It was all in the book. Russia was the big goal, but no one in Germany thought England would declare war when Hitler ordered the Army into Poland. When we went into Austria . . . and Czechoslovakia . . . the people seemed glad to see us I didn't learn until later that the whole thing — celebrations and all — was a put-up job."

Private Schoendorf summed up: "Hitler lied to us. I've learned since I've been in America that he lied about everything. He betrayed his own people, and now he's beginning to pay for it. I think Germany will be out of this war by the first of the year."

The training in the German Army, he said, was "about the

Super Bomber Almost Ready

Several Of Deadly Giants Delivered

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. — A new American super-bomber hauling more explosives and having vastly greater range than any existing warplane now is in actual production.

An unspecified number of the deadly new air giants has been delivered to the Army within the last several weeks.

An increased rate of output is scheduled for this month.

Dwarfing the Consolidated Liberator and Boeing Flying Fortress, the new dreadnaught of the sky is reckoned capable of bringing the innermost production centers of Hitler's European fortress and the Japanese empire within the sights of United State bombardiers.

Identified As B-29

The plane has been identified as the B-29 by the Army weekly Yank, in a recent article which declared:

"A new super Fortress, the B-29, is being built which will have a greater bomb capacity and longer range than any existing bomber."

From previous guarded reports which have cleared military censorship, it appeared that officials do not expect to see the new airplane in combat before 1944. This presumably is because of the time required to attain full-scale production, train crews, and eliminate any "bugs" which may show up in the early models.

Spells Nazis' Fate

A prediction that the new heavyweight puncher will be "the determining factor in crushing Germany" came last summer from Eddie Rickenbacker, World war ace. In June he told the 10th United States Army Airforce in New Delhi, India, that the new bomber would join the Liberators and Fortresses in 1944.

He also told the American pilots and crewmen that the superbomber would have double the load and fighting power of the planes they were flying and was especially designed for bombing Europe.

"No nation could survive the pounding a fleet of these planes can deliver and they will be out in mass production next year," Rickenbacker said.

Banking Group Acts To Outlaw Subsidies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — In a direct blow at the administration's program to control prices through the roll-back system, the House banking committee today wrote into a new Commodity Credit corporation bill a ban on outlaw government subsidies at the end of this year.

The action came on a vote of 16-10, with the ten Republican members voting solidly for the prohibition. The new measure would extend the life of the CCC until July 1, 1945. Simultaeously the committee denied the agency's request for a boost in its borrowing authority from $3,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following eye-witness account of Tuesday's big air raid against Rabaul, New Britain, was dispatched to the New York Times by its staff correspondent, Frank L. Kluckhohn. Eleven newsmen went on the mission and Kluckhohn was among the seven who got over the target. Kluckhohn's dispatch was made available to the Associated Press by the New York Times after the bomber in which AP's William F. Boni was a passenger failed to reach the target because of engine trouble).

By FRANK L. KLUCKHOHN
New York Times Correspondent

ABOARD A BOMBER, Over Rabaul, Oct. 12. (Delayed) — Far below us ships are bursting into flames or leaving white wakes as they circle frantically. A pall of black and pinkish gray smoke dims the wide area of airfields and installations where waves of United States medium bombers strafed earlier.

A big salvo of 1,000-pound bombs has listed a large vessel from the water, covering it with spray and smoke. Docks are being blasted from existence.

Fruitless Ack-Ack

Black puffs of ack-ack appear fruitlessly far off from us. Yellow gun flashes from a warship break along her whole length.

This is the greatest blow yet struck anywhere in the Pacific, with hundreds of planes, heavy bombers, medium bombers and fighters pounding the harbor, airfields and gun installations at this north end of New Britain island, which is the anchor of the Japanese position in the southwest Pacific and South Pacific. Gen. Douglas MacArthur had scraped together and had repaired for this effort every Liberator, Flying Fortress, Mitchell and Boston he could lay hands on for this powerful assault. Some RAF Beauforts were employed for special attack.

Before many squadrons of Liberators arrived over the target mediums, large Mitchells, with a heavy fighter escort, had strafed airfields and gun positions at a perilously low level. Brightly burning planes, particularly around the edge of one leading airfield within our vision, bear witness to the fact that scores of enemy planes were destroyed on the ground.

Japanese In Frenzy

Now we are drilling over our target, the harbor, in banked echelon. The American emblem is gleaming on the wings and the Japanese below are in an obvious frenzy.

Several enemy destroyers are running in circles, weaving white wakes. Some big transports are running in all directions. One dock is vanishing and a ship moored there is listing.

Obviously this is not as important affair as Pearl Harbor by a long way but probably every man hidden behind an oxygen mask in these American planes filling the sky feels a glow of satisfaction on seeing the Japanese on the receiving end of this great surprise attack, knowing the Japanese are dismayed as flock after flock of heavy bombs string to the harbor.

Heavy guns are following us as we make our run in. Shells explode above and below us. Now our bombs are away and we watch them hit between two vessels, probably getting one.

This is like a colored motion picture of destruction, but because our earphones are on it is a silent one. From our plane we can see five good-sized ships casting up black smoke. Now five strings of bombs are landing on a ship that seems to puff from our view.

There is a startling contrast between its green-rimmed harbor with its wooded peninsula, lazy white clouds on the horizon and seemingly peaceful town of Rabaul. But it is the principal enemy garrison town in this whole area and the destruction had to be wrought. From our height it seems unreal.

No one would suggest that this compares with the mass air attacks in Europe but it is highly dramatic and — unlike the big Rome raid, for instance, where cultural treasures had to be considered—we are trying to eliminate every enemy thing we can.

Chocolate Shortage Proves Distressing To Fountain "Bugs"

By ROBERT MOORE, JR.
Avalanche Staff Writer

For some months now, lovers of candy have been accustomed to find their dealer temporarily out of the favorite makes of chocolate bars. And now, the inevitable has happened! It is becoming practically impossible to buy a chocolate milk shake at your soda fountain. Request for that popular beverage invariably draws a noncholant reply, "We're out of chocolate."

Wholesale dealers' reports are conflicting in regard to the supply of the chocolate used in making the syrup. One large dealer of this product stated that his supply had been cut 60 per cent as compared with last year, however, his lot was improving. He further added that he had a shortage of about 300 other drug sundries.

Another dealer reported that his supply of chocolate had been cut 50 per cent as compared with last year, but that he had the promise of the government that his supply would be increased. However, he had not received all of his June quota, as yet.

The shortage of chocolate is blamed on the fact that the cocoa bean must be shipped to this country from South America. As our ships better control the seas, the supply probably will be increased. Meanwhile, we must make the best of the situation and chalk this up as another score to be settled with Hitler and Co.

Sub Depots Busy On ASC Birthday

Work goes on as usual at Lubbock's two Army air field sub depots as the units observe the second birthday of the Air command today, which now spreads around the globe servicing and supplying Uncle Sam's Air forces.

The two sub depots at Lubbock Army Air field and South Plains Army Air field are units of the ASC and as such help keep 'em flying at the big twin engine Bobcat base west of town and the large advanced glider pilot training center north of the city.

Highlight of the day at SPAAF will be an inspection of the sub depot by a number of Lubbock citizens. Mayor Carl E. Slaton has been invited to head the group. The visitors are expected to arrive about 10:30 o'clock.

Supply Needed Parts

The heart of the Air Service command is its supply system through which United States fliers and planes all over the world get the supplies they need. Bolts and bombers, bullets and bombs, fuel and lubricants, flying suits and jungle kits, radio sets and medical needs, all are made available by the ASC to the Allied Air Force units wherever they are.

The sub depots handle in most cases only the big job which cannot be handled by the regular enlisted crews, the men who "baby" their planes and keep them in top-notch shape in training and in combat. It is the major repair jobs which necessitates the use of heavy machinery with which the ASC works.

The LAAF 60th sub depot was established Nov. 25, 1941. The infant supply and maintenance setup was handled by Major (now a colonel) Harry S. Bishop, a Texan, now an overseas veteran of the ASC who helped supply the Army Air Forces in North Africa. Capt. Clifford A. Turner of Saginaw, Mich., is present commanding officer.

Opened At SPAAF In 1942

The SPAAF 411th sub depot was established Feb. 17, 1942. It's first commanding officer was Capt. (now a major) Robert P. Baldwin. Major Ira J. Sellers of Birmingham, Ala., is now commanding officer of the SPAAF sub depot.

Military and civilian personnel work round the clock in these plants. Included in the civilian heads of departments at LAAF are the following who have not been mentioned in previous reports on activities of the sub depots, Max J. Snider, fabric department; A. L. Stratton, engine installation; L. O. Biggers, radio department; David W. Fogerson, parachute; Wener A. Mangold, wood mill; B. W. Richards, chief clerk of the sub depot; Mrs. Helen W. Carr, chief clerk in headquarters office; Mrs. Sylvia S. Liston, statistician; O. R. Sadler, tech supply; William G. Kimman, drafting and blue prints, and Elmo N. Jefferson, who is shop superintendent.

Civilian Leaders

Civilian heads of department at SPAAF not mentioned in previous accounts include Joe Burrell, shop superintnedent; Malcolm Russell, engine installations; Clifford O. Biggers, radio; A. G. Sommers, wood mill; Frank Easley, fabric and parachute department; Miss Barbara Frye, drafting; B. M. Keese, chief clerk in headquarters; Cecil Huff, chief supply clerk; Miss Jean Clapp, statistician, and O. L. Beach, in charge of instruments.

Portugal Makes Germans Unhappy

LONDON, Oct. 14. (U.P.)—A German broadcast said today that Portugal may be forced to suffer the "consequences" of a deliberate breach of neutrality as result of her transfer of air and sea bases in the Azores to the Allies.

The broadcast, made by the German Transocean agency, said that the controlled Nazi press was veering to the belief that Portugal intentionally had broken her neutrality. Previously, the German view had been that the Allies blackmailed Portugal into relinquishing the bases.

Must Draw Consequences

"An official German declaration regarding the Azores may accuse Portugal of a deliberate breach of neutrality with the result that she must draw the consequences accordingly," the broadcast said.

Reports reaching London from Lisbon by way of Madrid said that Portugal was preparing for the worst, though the majority of the population did not expect a violent reaction from Berlin.

British convoys were reported by Madrid to have landed abundant quantities of guns, planes, trucks, jeeps and other supplies, including several thousand tons of munitions, in recent weeks. British experts went along to teach the Portuguese how to use the equipment, the report said.

Some Portuguese, fearing German air raids, abandoned their homes in Lisbon, Oporto and Coimbra and went into the country.

Texas Tech Briefs

To find prospective employees, R. T. Shields of General Electric Co. in Dallas and Dan Hickey of the El Paso office will interview senior electrical and mechanical engineering students Monday in the Engineering building.

Senior class meeting will be held tonight at 7:15 o'clock in room 220 of the Administration building on Tech campus to decide on the senior gift for this year, according to Frank Vernon, president. Also, a meeting of the Sophomore class has been scheduled for 7:15 o'clock tonight in room 101 of the Chemistry building to fill vacancies in offices of students who disqualified themselves.

The awards convocation of Texas Tech will be held on November 13, the same day as the combined Parents - Homecoming day, it was decided at a meeting of the convocation committee recently. This will be the first convocation of its kind in Tech history.

Board of directors of the Engineering society voted at their last meeting to extend membership of the society to students of the Army Specialized Training unit at Tech. This membership will allow them to attend meetings and social affairs given by the society. November 5 was selected as the date for the annual Engineers' ball.

Homer Robertson, 1932 Tech graduate and geology major, was recently on the campus after he returned from abroad, where he was among a party doing geophysical exploration work in Palestine, Egypt, India and Burma. Coming homeward, Robertson flew from Rangoon to Chungking, arriving there forty-five minutes after Japs had bombed it, and arrived in Hongkong while it was being besieged. He is now engaged in geophysical work in Texas.

Large "Home Brew" Cache Is Taken Here

About 500 bottles of 'home brew' were confiscated by the Texas Liquor Control board Thursday afternoon when the L-Men cracked down on an aged negro's home in Lubbock. A majority of the cache was located in a chicken house at the rear, while the rest was inside the house.

The negro man, about 60, has been arrested several times on similar charges of violating the Liquor Laws of Texas, according to C. D. McClain, district supervisor.

The cache included also a ten gallon keg of choc and a 30-gallon keg of choc.

Making the raid Thursday with McClain were Frank Mitchell and Earl Backus, inspectors in the Lubbock district office.

Charges on the aged negro are expected to be filed Friday morning, it was announced.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ONE of the finest opportunities to develop personality is through a deep interest in the other person and in what he is saying. How many of us there are who like to talk; how few who pay the respect of listening.

COLUMN WRITING

SEVERAL years ago when we started writing this column a wise newspaperman gave us this counsel: "Get around town—find out what people are talking about. Give your daily readers a little daily jolt on something they are talking about at home, perhaps, and can talk about some more. Make some of them happy, but in spite of all you can do you'll make some of them sore. That they read it at all is the thing."

And now we read this advice to aspiring writers: "He is great who inspires others to think for themselves; he is great who shocks you; irritates you; affronts you so that you are jostled out of your wonted ways—pulled out of your mental ruts. That writer is great who, you alternately like and hate."

VISITING CLUBWOMEN

LUBBOCK county clubwomen are pleased that Miss Ethel Foster, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. J. W. Walker, TFWC director to the General Federation; Mrs. Wesley Izzard, seventh district president, and other club women are taking time out of their busy lives to appear at the City and County Federations programs today at First Presbyterian church.

Miss Foster, in addition to her many duties as presiding officer over 70,000 club women, is on the directorates of the United War chest and recently was appointed by Governor Stevenson to the Postwar Economic Planning Commission for the state. Although she has not announced a subject for today's talk, one can be assured that it will be on the theme of women and war.

MINUS TWO

THE two-pants suit is not likely to return to the American scene soon, according to the War Production board. It was thought that we might follow Canada's lead and put them back in production at the forthcoming wool conference. Pleats in trousers, and perhaps vests, would probably be considered first.

Sioux Indian Life Is Explained At School

His Indian name is "Little Bear Claw" and his war bonnet was won through his work with boy scouts. In his speech Mr. Runkles informed children of life of Sioux tribe, the customs and education. He also demonstrated the different kinds of dances pointing out that each movement had a special meaning as shown in his rendition of dance of the medicine man, war dance and the hunter's dance.

Red Action Clears Big Parley Hurdle

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 14. — Russia's acceptance of Marshal Badoglio's Italian government appeared tonight on the eve of the three-power conference in Moscow to have removed one of the main sources of irritation among the Soviet Union, the United States and Great Britain.

The three nation's joint declaration accepting Italy as a co-belligerent, recognizing the royal Italian government and accepting its cooperation against Germany was published prominently in the official press. Detailed Soviet comment was not forthcoming immediately, but the statement was taken generally as a welcome clarification of atmosphere.

Had Printed Criticism

The Russian press previously had not concealed its dislike for such figures as Admiral Darlan and Marshal Badoglio, and frequently has criticized the Allied military government of occupied territories and the policy of maintaining former opponents in power in occupied territories.

Soviet insistence on the application of the principles of democracy in territories previously occupied by the enemy was satisfied by the provision of the point declaration that the Italian government would submit to the will of the people after the war.

Thus agreement appeared to have been reached between the Russians and other United Nations which are faced with the problem of maintaining order and marshalling all possible forces in recaptured regions.

Soviet participation in the declaration gave evidence of a desire for political as well as the military cooperation which the official Communist party newspaper Pravda yesterday described as the first problem before the three-power conference of foreign secretaries.

Italians Ready For Crack At Ex-Masters

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS IN ITALY, Oct. 14. (AP)—Now that Italy is at war with Germany, all the Italian land, naval and air forces are hoping for a crack at their former allies, Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio declares.

The 72-year-old marshal, his face beaming after reading a prepared statement announcing his government had joined in the fight against Germany, said all Italian military forces had been placed at the disposal of General Eisenhower.

"My troops are especially suited for mountain warfare and there are a considerable number of them," he added.

The premier explained that "even before my government's declaration I ordered Italian troops to fight with the Allies in Corsica against the Germans and our troops are fighting in the Balkans and northern Italy too.

"The will to fight prevails not only in the heads of the Italian government, but in all military forces and among the people."

He was asked what he thought might be the German reaction to the war declaration, particularly whether it might have any effect within the areas still unconquered.

"They can't do worse than what they've done already in Italy," he asserted.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 4 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

CASE HISTORY NO. 206. This patient had developed fainting spells which grew in number and severity as time went on. During one of these spells she struck her head on the floor and on trying to rise discovered that all use had gone from her legs. Despite costly advice and treatment the condition gradually became worse. Sensation as well as movement was lost in the limbs. Eventually she was carried into a Chiropractor's office where analysis revealed the nerve pressure that was the cause of her trouble. The first simple adjustment enabled her to move her toes. In three week's time, leg movement returned, and a week later she was able to walk again. There has been no recurrence of the fainting spells since Chiropractic adjustments were given.

CASE HISTORY NO. 468. Severe headaches had troubled this woman for eight years, the attacks occurring sometimes two and three times a week. She had obtained only temporary relief from the many treatments undertaken, and when she finally decided to try Chiropractic it was, she explained, "her last hope." A series of spinal adjustments brought immediate relief, and within 3 months the headaches had apparently ceased. Headaches occurred twice during the following six months, and in both instances Chiropractic adjustment brought prompt relief. There have been no headaches since.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? The Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve enervy is distributed through the nervous system to control all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By x-ray, analysis and spinal adjustment the Chiropractor is able to relieve nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.

Red Raiders Take It Easy As Tilt With SPAAF Nears

Texas Tech's youthful Red Raiders took it easy Thursday afternoon, and will hold a final workout tonight under the stadium lights in preparing for the veteran stars of South Plains Army Air Field Saturday night at Tech Stadium.

There was no scrimmage Thursday, and Coach Dell Morgan devoted most of the afternoon workout to giving individual attention to the men. He had the ends working together, guards and tackles together, blocking backs together and fullbacks, tailbacks and wingbacks together.

Buster Melton, ace backfield man, was injured in practice late Wednesday evening, and may not be able to start the game against the soldiers Saturday night.

Another regular on the doubtful starter list was Bob Brewer, who was injured in the Texas Aggie game two weeks ago.

The youthful Tech eleven will face a tough test in the rugged, veteran SPAAF team, but are hopeful that they will be ready to open up a bag of tricks that will gain them another win—the second of the season. Tech's Lone victory was over the rugged LAAF eleven in the season's opener.

Another shift in the Tech lineup was made this week in order to bolster the line play, and found Raymond Smith, a blocking back being moved into left tackle. Smith has been showing up good at this new post, and will likely start the game against the soldiers.

Knee Injury Knock Out Star Army Back

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (AP)—Doug Kenna, one of the most discussed backs in the East this year although he hasn't played a minute, has re-injured his knee and will be lost to the Army eleven until the Navy game, Joe Cahill of the U. S. Military Academy athletic department said today.

Cahill, here for Saturday's game between Army and Columbia, said Lt. Col. Earl Blaik took the blankets off Kenna in last night's practice and on the first play the star back was spilled by a scrub end. He was unable to rise but later walked off the field under his own power.

It was Kenna's presence on the Cadet grid roster that helped the Army coaches decide to switch to the T-formation. He starred in the brief spring practices after being hobbled by the same knee most of last season and escaped further hurts until a few days before the opening game with Villanova this fall.

That injury, diagnosed as a severed nerve in the knee, apparently was healed and he was ready to take his place in the lineup for the remainder of the season when felled again.

Kenna, a sophomore from Jackson, Miss., was an exceptional punter and was described by Blaik as the best back to report for football at West Point since the appearance of the late Red Cagle.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 14 (AP) — Golfer Morgan Jones shot an ace on the 130-yard No. 14 hole.

Five others in the party followed in order—one took, two, three, four, five and six strokes.

Jones was the high man for the round with 82—and the golfer who took six shots on the 14th won with a 73.

SPAAF Tapers Off In Drills For Tech Tilt

South Plains Army Air Field's Winged Commando football team began tapering off yesterday with a little pass scrimmage and some dummy scrimmage in preparation for their game Saturday night with Texas Tech's Red Raiders in Tech stadium.

Except for an "epidemic" of bruises, sore muscles and charley-horses among the SPAAF tailbacks, all the Winged Commandos were feeling at peak form with the exception of big Joe Maroo, 215-pound tackle who turned his ankle in the LAAF game. Maroo has been playing center for the past few days.

With tailbacks Ray Cagni, Joe Eager and Don Jackson nursing slight injuries, Coach Nathan B. Eubank had shifted Bernie Stock and J. P. Persons to tailback from the wingback spot, but yesterday Stock, a 145-pound, southpaw, was on the sidelines with a bad shoulder hurt in Wednesday's rough scrimmage.

It appeared Cagni, Eager and Jackson all might be ready to go Saturday night, and coaches were hopeful Stock would be in uniform and ready to take the field also.

Meanwhile, big J. P. Persons, 190-pounder from Oklahoma City University, continued to look good on running plays. Persons was a track star in college and when given time to get up speed is a very fast man, with his weight making him hard to stop.

SPAAF continued to practice new plays which the Commandos hope will go places against Tech The Commandos also had a lengthy scrimmage against all types of pass plays. Last night, the soldiers went through a skull practice session.

Favorites Keep Pace In Texas Golf Meet

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 14. (AP) — Favorites again survived match play in the seventh annual Texas State Senior Golf Tournament as the field narrowed down to eight men today. Quarter-finals and semi-finals will be played tomorrow, with 36-hold finals in all flights scheduled for Saturday.

Sandies To Be Tested Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

A trimming—not just around the edges—is indicated for the list of undefeated, untied teams this week-end as the Texas schoolboy football campaign rolls to the half-way mark.

At least four members of the select circle appear in danger and among them is Amarillo which must repel what may be Oklahoma's best team of the season—Norman.

Quanah meets Vernon, Kerrville plays Brackenridge (San Antonio) and Highland Park (Dallas) goes to Sherman in other games in which elevens with unsullied records face visible hazards. It's a safe bet that others in the perfect list will fall.

Mostly the schedule this week-end is made up of conference games with 13 districts involved. No game packs the interest of Amarillo and Norman. Here indeed appears an excellent chance for the mighty Sandies to tumble.

Highland Park and Sherman play the only game matching unbeaten teams. The Scottie are undefeated and untied. Sherman has not been beaten but has been tied.

Two of the teams with perfect records do not have games this week. They are Masonic Home (Fort Worth) and Goose Creek.

The week-end schedule for the state:

Friday—Norman, Okla. at Amarillo, Phillips at Pampa, Midland at Plainview, Brownfield at Levelland, Electra at Wichita Falls (conference), Olney at Burkburnett (conference), Quanah at Vernon (conference), Graham at Childress (conference), Odessa at Abilene (conference), Lamesa at Big Spring (conference), Ballinger at Sweetwater, Cisco at San Angelo, Austin (El Paso) vs Bowie (El Paso) (conference), Tuleta at Roswell, N. M., Greenville at Paris, Highland Park (Dallas) at Sherman, Denton at Gainesville, Denison at McKinney, LaDonia at Sulphur Springs, Paschal (Fort Worth) vs Amon Carter-Riverside (Fort Worth) (conference), North Dallas vs Forest (Dallas) (conference), Ranger at Brownwood (conference), Stephenville at Breckenridge (conference), Mineral Wells at Weatherford (conference), Waco at Corsicana (conference), Temple at Cleburne (conference), Bryan at Ennis (conference), Mexia at Waxahachie (conference), Gladewater at Tyler (conference), Longview at Texarkana (conference), Jacksonville at Athens, Kilgore at Marshall (conference), Austin (Houston) at Nacogdoches, Palestine at Lufkin (conference), Livingston at Henderson (conference), Lamar (Houston) vs San Jacinto (Houston) (conference), Port Arthur at Conroe (conference), Beaumont vs South Park (Beaumont) (conference), Kerrville at Brackenridge (San Antonio) (conference), Harlingen at Edinburg (conference), McAllen at Robstown (conference), Weslaco at San Benito.

Saturday—North Side (Fort Worth) vs Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) (conference), Sunset (Dallas) vs Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) (conference), Reagan (Houston) vs Sam Houston (Houston) (conference), Orange at Galveston (conference), Corpus Christi at San Antonio Tech (conference).

Missouri Plays Navy Team Of Don Faurot

Both teams will base their offensive action on the "T" formation and the former Missouri headman, Lt. Don Faurot, sends an all-cadet lineup onto the field against his old Alma Mater, now coached by Faurot's former assistant, Chauncey Simpson.

Aggies Favored Over Frogs In Southwest Top Feature

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Southwest Conference football teams, having vindicated themselves in intersectional play, move into family squabbles this week-end with a knock-down, drag-out battle at Fort Worth between Texas Christian and the Texas Aggies as the feature.

Texas and Arkansas meet in Austin and Winless Rice and Southern Methodist clash at Dallas in other conference games Saturday but the point of interest is T. C. U. Stadium where age tackles youth and a major championship contender will emerge.

The schoolboys of Aggieland will find themselves favored to beat the veterans of Texas Christian mostly because of the great margin of manpower boasted by A. and M.

Texas will be a prohibitive favorite to turn back Arkansas but the Rice-Southern Methodist tilt is strictly a toss-up. S. M. U. has lost heavily to the service and through injuries but the Mustangs did not look bad even in their two defeats. Rice lacks a scoring punch — the Owls have made only seven points in three games—but so do the Mustangs. What punch they had went out last week when Bill Squires, who had made both of S. M. U.'s touchdowns, was lost for the season due to a leg hurt.

Texas also is handicapped by injuries with fullback Bobby Coy Lee and alternate tailback Billy Main likely to see only part-time service Saturday but Coach D. X. Bible picked up a valuable backfield addition this week in J. R. Callahan, former Texas Tech star who became eligible for football when the V-5 trainees were given permission to play.

All the football interest this week isn't centered on the Southwest Conference. At Austin Friday night Southwestern plays the North Texas Aggies in the second game between these two teams.

The only other college team in Texas—Texas Tech—plays Saturday night, meeting South Plains Army Air Field at Lubbock.

Texas Aggies Select Aggie Day Sweetheart

DENTON, Tex., Oct. 14 (AP) — Lovely Lena Marie Adams of Bryan, senior at Texas State College for Women; has been chosen by the Texas Aggies as Sweetheart of the A. and M.-TCU football classic in Fort Worth Saturday.

The Aggie Day Sweetheart traditionally sits in the special reviewing stand of the game, takes part in a presentation ceremony at the half, and reigns as queen of the week-end festivities.

This is not the first time Miss Adams has been an Aggie favorite. Two years ago she represented A. and M. at the University of Texas Spring Round-Up. The same year, incidentally, Camp Wolters servicemen voted her most beautiful sophomore at TSC.

Bing Turner Is Dizzy Dean Of Texas Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 14. (AP)—Stanley (Bing) Turner, 200-pound redhead, arrived at Texas A&M with this remark to Coach Homer Norton:

"Hello, Coach Norton; I'm Turner. I'm going to be your star this year."

"Well, Turner, I'm glad to meet you," replied Norton; "and I hope you're even better than you think you are."

"I can kick, pass, call signals and tote the leather if that's what you need, coach," the youngster shot back.

With such talk came predictions that the confident Mr. Turner would be taken down a peg or two the first time he hit the practice field.

Bing Turner matched his words with deeds. Today he leads the Southwest conference in scoring, punting and kick-off yardage, and he's a point-after-touchdown specialist coaches dream about.

Before the season started he reported to the practice field early every day. He got a football to take to his room so he could work on his kicking during off-hours from his studies. When fall training began the irrepressible Bing hit the ground running, passing, punting and playing a whale of a defensive game.

Turner has scored four Aggie touchdowns, made nine of ten attempted conversions (a bad pass from center spoiled the other), averaged 40 yards punting (he got off one for 87 yards) and once when he was penalized 15 yards for failing to report to the officials before a kick-off he just put a little more stuff on his boot and the ball traveled 80 yards. Turner also tackled the receiver.

Stan wanted No. 39 when he came to A&M. That's the great John Kimbrough's number. "If Kimbrough was All-America I'll be double All-America." Bing he didn't get No. 39—it has been retired permanently at Aggieland.

In addition to his gridiron accomplishments, Turner is quite a piano player and slings a mean baritone on the singing side. Also, as the reader undoubtedly has suspected by now, he's an accomplished conversationalist.

Cowhands Play For Home Eans

Coach Howard "Admiral" Price turned loose the Lubbock Cowhands for a lengthy scrimmage session Thursday afternoon at Chapman Field, working the offense in alternate teams as a tune-up for the game this afternoon at 4 o'clock with Ropesville High school.

The game will be played at Chapman Field.

With one team getting the signals while the other ran one play it put the defensive team on the jump to keep up, but it brought out some flashy plays on both sides.

The offensive teams used the advantage given them by rapid changes of lineups and were ripping off nice gains, both on the ground and in the air. The squad stopped off early, however, and Coach Price announced himself as well pleased with the showing of the club.

But in spite of the showing by the Cowhands this week, they will be the underdogs against the undefeated visitors who have allowed only one touchdown to be scored against them this season.

Hirst Kayos Turcotte In Third At Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 14. (AP)—Chuck Hirst, one of the fastest hitters Dallas boxing fans have seen, knocked out Dick Turcotte in the third round of their scheduled ten-round fight here tonight before a crowd of 1100.

Hirst, a Detroit welterweight now at Waco Army Air Field, sent Turcotte, a Waterbury, Conn., boxer who is stationed at Blackland Army Air Field, also of Waco, to the canvass with a terrific left to the stomach.

The blow traveled not more than a foot but Turcotte hit the floor with a thud and didn't move while the referee counted him out.

Turcotte had shaded Hirst in the opening round but Hirst got going in the second with a flurry of left hooks that kept Turcotte backed to the ropes.

Hirst weighed 147 pounds, Turcotte 145.

Southwestern Expects NTAC To Take To Air

GEORGETOWN, Tex., Oct. 14. (AP) — Pass defense has occupied most of the recent practice time for the Southwestern university Pirates this week as they prepared for their second meeting with the North Texas Aggies.

Southwestern plays NTAC at Austin Friday night.

Outstanding play by the hefty Pirate line in the first four games has led Coach R. M. Medley to believe the Aggies will consider a passing attack their most potent weapon against Southwestern.

In the season opener the Aggies and the Pirates met in Fort Worth, with Southwestern on the long end of a 20 to 0 score.

Stop Manpower Wastage!

DEMAND by members of the Truman Senatorial Investigating committee for increased production in the North American Aviation plant near Dallas brings into clearer focus one of the many questions that have been raised in connection with attempts to obtain passage of a universal labor draft law.

The question is simply this: Do the reported manpower shortages in many war industries result chiefly from too few workmen, or from the inefficient use of those actually on the payrolls.

The senatorial demand supports the suspicion that, so far as the Dallas plant is concerned, production could be increased with the more efficient use of the manpower and tools actually available. True, the Dallas plant is only one among a great many throughout the nation. But it also is true that previous reports have been to the effect that its production records have been considered reasonably satisfactory, if not above average. Certainly there have been no accusations that its record supplied the "horrible example" among those of aviation plants. The assumption is justified that conditions similar to those reported at North American also will be found in a great many, if not most, defense plants.

Just what those conditions may be has not been revealed. But there are suspicions, and occasional specific charges, that employes in many war plants are so numerous that they actually get in each other's way; that, in many instances, in some cases, labor union practices effectively discourage a working pace which is faster than that set by the slowest and the laziest of those who pay union dues.

It is entirely possible that, even working at top efficiency, war plants might not be able to maintain desired production schedules without increased manpower. But certainly those plants should not be given additional manpower from any source if they are wasting that already on their payrolls.

Handwriting On The Wall

ACTION of the Office of Censorship in relaxing restrictions on the reporting of weather forecasts undoubtedly means very substantial progress toward solving one of the most acute problems of early stages of the war. This was the problem of the enemy submarine lurking off our Atlantic and Gulf coastal shores.

It was largely because of these submarines that the restrictions were put into effect. Every efforts was made to keep from them the knowledge of existing or anticipated weather within the United States because, with that information, an accurate forecast of the approaching weather for their areas of operation would not have been difficult. Nothing is more important to the crew of a cruising submarine than weather information.

Naturally there can be no supposition that there won't be any more U-boat sinkings within sight of our shores. Occasional prowlers, or packs of prowlers, may be expected to operate anywhere at anytime. But it must be assumed, from actions like that of the Office of Censorship, that they will be occasional and not in the numbers which, for many months, established the front lines of the Battle of the Atlantic along the American coastline. Upon the seas, as upon the land fronts, the enemy has been forced to draw in his lines. Even if the Battle of the Atlantic has not been won, the enemy unquestionably is retreating.

Thus, although it must be expected that, in a great many things, conditions will get a good deal worse before they improve, sufficient progress has been made toward victory that this statement no longer applies to all things. In some instances, perhaps minor ones, the worst is in the past. The fact that we are allowed once again to talk about the weather much as we choose proves this to be true.

The Star Spangled Banner has been transposed to the key of A-flat, bringing those high notes within the range of the average American who could now sing the National Anthem if he knew the words.

Referring to Philadelphia's politics, an editor asks, "Is Philadelphia corrupt and contented?" It is if it is contented.

Believe It Or Not! --- By Robert Ripley

Murder In Convoy

Yesterday: Rollins, embittered by his experience with Joan, tells his whole story to the colonel, seeks mercy for previously having concealed certain facts. The colonel tells him he is too valuable to be lost to a court martial, extends his sympathy to Greg for his ill-fated romance. Officers of the convoy break open sealed orders, discover strategy for eluding Nazi craft and getting all of troops safely to England.

TO THE "WELCOME SNAIL"

CHAPTER XI

Deliberately or not, Lieutenant Rollins was given the toughest organization chores upon arrival at Aldershot Camp. Assigned to the Divisional Headquarters Staff, he had been rushed immediately upon arrival at a Scottish port to the nearest railway terminal and sent, with a number of other officers, directly to Aldershot to handle endless detail work associated with the billeting of the Canadian soldiers due to follow on troop trains.

But Rollins was glad of the 20-hour-a-day job. It helped take his mind off other thoughts that gnawed into his brain at every leisure moment. Besides, the tragic experience on "T 9" had taken the edge off the glamor to be expected at the end of the zigzaggy Atlantic odyssey. The zip had gone out of the whole drama, and his soul was haunted by a memory—the soft light in a pair of blue eyes as he glanced fleetingly in Joan's direction that awful night in the O. C.'s cabin.

That he had followed the stern path of duty didn't ease his pain. There are emotions that rise above patriotism, and in the softness of those blue eyes—even after his "betrayal"—Greg had read forgiveness. He could have sworn that she had given him a kindly smile, as much as to say that she understood. But he felt every moment he had spent with the girl would remain forever with him.

That night before landing had provided many thrills. In the late afternoon, the troops had plainly heard intensive gunfire in the distant southeast and, strangely enough, the convoy had immediately veered off an oddly irregular course in the direction of the action. An hour or so after sunset, the booming noises had ended, and the ocean expanse had assumed the mantle of awesome tranquility that comes with night.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when a lonely winking light off the starboard bow made the night young Oustide, the ship remained its same gloomy blacked-out self, but, inside, it was pulsating with life and good fellowship.

That lonely light meant the convoy had actually come within sight of land—most likely Northern Ireland—and although the ships were obviously in dangerous waters the thrill of seeing a lighthouse after so many days at sea dominated all other sensations.

The party lasted to dawn when the men found themselves sailing serenely along the River Clyde flanked on either side by rolling Scottish hills with pretty villages dotting the breathtaking greenness.

Bands reappeared, and the troops sang as the convoy approached a big harbor later in the day. The escorting men-of-war lined up on the sides, and the tars stood on deck at attention, in salute to the passing contingent. Famed rivalry between Army and Navy went by the boards, and the soldiers cheered themselves hoarse. It was a superb moment—enough almost for any man's lifetime.

Next morning, Greg and his fellow staff officers reached Aldershot Camp. Army transport autos rushed them from the railway terminal through typically English lanes, bordered by wellkept green hedges, quaint little villages, endless parade grounds level as a billiard table, pretty streams and dense wooded areas. Occasionally they slowed down along the left side of the road for passing lines of marching troops or motorized convoys.

Greg remembered that back home he had heard a speaker compare the size of Montreal with that of Aldershot—Montreal, 32,000 acres, and Aldershot, 30,000 acres. And ,too, that speaker had dwelt on the fact that upon these parade grounds where Canadian feet now marched, Romans once marched to war, and ruins somewhere in the Aldershot area marked the spot where King Alfred had built fortifications a thousand years before.

But that was all the time he had for romantically historical reflections. A few minutes after arriving at Vimy Barracks—the Divisional H. Q.—Rollins and his companions were put to work. In fact, for 25 hours he was at a desk without even leaving for meals.

Now, three days after arriving at Aldershot, the hectic preliminary work had been completed. Headquarters Companies of the various units would now take over, and Rollins found himself reading a notification from his O. C. that would ordinarily have brought a cheer to his lips. He had been granted his 48 hours' leave effective immediately instead of having to wait for the expected 10 days.

With a grim smile, he fingered the brisk army note. A look-see at London would have been a new high for him ig . . . if . . . He shook his head.

Seated in a London-bound train, Greg read with interest a delayed newspaper report of the landing of "another contingent from Canada—this time a complete division—at an unnamed Scottish port."

Another headline caught his eye: NAZIS BLITZED IN CONVOY ATTACK. Under it a heading read: U-BOAT TRAP BACKFIRES WITH HEAVY LOSSES.

"It was announced today by the Admiralty that a major assault on an incoming convoy was repulsed with heavy losses suffered by the Nazis. At least five U-boats weer destroyed," the account stated, "and 12 enemy bombers and fighters down in one of the fiercest engagements of short duration seen in the war to date.

"The Admiralty admitted that the force and co-ordination of the enemy attack would indicate that a trap had been set for the convoy, but the Navy had no intention of allowing 'any more Jervis Bay tragedies.'

"No indication was given of the size of the British escort or of the whereabouts of the attack, but it was stated that some of the planes shot down carried R. A. F. markings which is alleged to have been the reason for the sinking of a liner some weeks ago. It would appear, therefore, that the R. A. F. has devised a signal system that has checkmated the latest Hitlerian device.

"Except for one fighter which failed to return from the engagement, the only loss suffered by the British forces was some damage to a destroyer and the sinking of a trawler, the Loch Lomond. The gallant skipper, whose name had not yet been ascertained as this edition went to press, found himself near a U-boat that had apparently been driven to the surface by depth-charges.

"Instead of veering away from the U-boat and allowing nearby warships to attack, the Loch Lomond turned her bow directly at the Nazi and approached full speed ahead. A British destroyer

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHENEVER you think of a super-duper sleuth you naturally think of a beetle-browed, heavy-set, flat-heeled, thick-necked, jowl-jawed comic-strip type of dick.

You certainly wouldn't connect him with literature, art—or dreaming.

Yet here is what J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, told interviewers upon his return from a trip to the West Coast:

"Sitting out under the Sierra mountains you look around and realize that despite the headaches of bureaucracy and the turmoil of war, this world has gone on a lot longer than any of us and will be here far a long time afterward."

Hoover is right.

And you don't have to take a trip all the way to the Sierras, either, to realize how insignificant all these human turmoils are.

Look right out into your garden.

Out in back of mine is a bed of petunias.

For five years now my wife has picked the tiny little seeds off every fall and put them into a box.

Every spring she throws them around and out of these little dried-up, pin-point-size bits come more and more petunias, in gorgeous blues and pinks and reds and purples.

With all your science, all your money, all your education, you couldn't make one tiny little petunia seed. Could you?

TAKE a common cold. For four days now I've been sneezing and feeling mierable.

"I've taken orange juice and aspirin, eggnoggs and inhalants, gargled with salt, bicarbonate and several solutions. I've gone to bed early, slept twelve hours in a stretch, been cranky and made everybody around me call me names behind my back.

All of a sudden, bingo, the cold will be gone, I'll feel fine again, the world will be a wonderful place to live in, and people will say I'm not such a bad guy after all.

(And, by the way, the war means absolutely nothing to me while I am sniffling, sneezing and coughing.)

Yes, it doesn't take a detective to discover that there are more important things in this world than crooks and bureaucrats and cockroaches and human beings.

A fellow was telling us about a rattlesnake, and what a nasty, treacherous creature it is.

Whereupon I asked:

"Have you ever looked at the matter from the rattlesnake's point of view?"

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT will not run for a fourth term if he heeds the advice of some of his most observant scouts who have toured the country within the last few weeks. He can be beaten, according to his own emissaries, if the Republicans do not make a colossal mistake in the nomination of their ticket.

Word is that the grass-roots folks are mad at Washington. People resent rationing, bungling and the incessant suabbling in the capital. They feel that they, not the administration, are winning the war by the labor of their hands and the sacrifice of their sons. Back in "the sticks" neither the President nor Chief of Staff Marshall gets credit for downing the Axis.

Some of the White House messengers report that Mr. Roosevelt will be lucky if he carries a single state beyond the Mississippi river, save those below the Mason-Dixon line. They have told him that he is likely to lose such key commonwealths as New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Minnesota, the Dakotas, California and the New England area. Without their electoral votes he cannot possibly win.

It is generally conceded now that if the President does not head the slate, no Democrat can hold the country.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE: FDR's recent behavior suggests that he may not want another tenure of office, although politicos are generally reconciled to his demanding a renomination. A few things he has done indicate that he may not be interested in a fourth term:

He advanced a tax law which will make many enemies for him among the millions in both high and low brackets. No man seeking ballots would propose such a measure.

He suggested subsidy schemes which are fought by nearly all producing organizations, including the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the national cooperatives. In the last few days their officials ranted against the administration program before Senate and House Committees.

He refused to see a delegation of distinguished Zionists who wanted to talk with him about their desire to make Palestine a real homeland after the conflict. He shunted their spokesmen off to gladhander Marvin H. McIntyre, who knows little of the geography or history of Judea. And the rabbis left the White House in a mean mood.

In view of the influence of their race in the ranks of urban labor, the President's attitude is incomprehensible. It begins to look as if he is not thinking or acting in terms of votes.

DESIRES: Russia's exhibition of industrial and military might has given her a favored position in the postwar sweepstakes. Whereas Moscow was a weak and disintegrating power during the Versailles discussions, it will be the dominating factor of the next settlement.

This prophesy is made by our leading War and Navy experts, not by the somewhat unrealistic State department. Our military and naval men, who deal in practical world politics rather than in shadowy diplomacy, have a clearer conception than Cordell Hull's staff of the role the Kremlin will play when the fighting ends.

From 1920 to 1940, according to this thesis, the Baltic, Central European and Balkan nations looked toward Paris and London as their protectors against both Berlin and Moscow. Laval and Chamberlain —and Herbert Hoover to a certain extent—saw those states as buffers to the westward spread of Communism. Then the little fellows were glad to have the support of the western capitalistic countries.

But France and England proved to be poor backstops when Hitler overran Europe. All that the democracies including the United States could furnish were promises of eventual freedom.

Stalin has battled the German monster and won. He wishes to have the Baltic, Central European and Balkan territories under his soversignty after the conflict. He has made no secret bones about his ambitions. And now, contrary to their 1920 desires, there is evidence that some of the statesmen of the minor principalities want him, too.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE arrival of Lord Mountbatten and Lt. Gen. Somervell in New Delhi proclaims the official opening of the Burma campaign.

The magnitude of the undertaking to which the U. S. and Britain are now irrevocably committed should be recognized by the public to avoid foolish expectations of too much progress, too soon.

Difficulties overcome in acquiring ports in the Pacific were described in this column yesterday. Today some of the problems of Asiatic jungle combat are outlined.

The new Allied commander is mobilizing a huge striking force that will eventually be hurled against Burma and the Malay Peninsula. But in the past few months the U. S. Tenth Air Force, mocking the fury of the monsoons, has ruined in advance the Japanese harbor installations at Rangoon and so effectively bombed the entire railroad system that trains only creep out at night.

POISONOUS: The English in the north have specialized in guerrilla tactics to wreck enemy communications and obliterate outposts.

Discarding the old pukka soldiering technique by which colonial mossbacks stupidly lost a rich slice of the empire, the British GHQ now relies on daring and brilliant young officers—many of them experienced big-game hunters—to lead bands of Burmese scouts and Kachin hillmen in tracking down and ambushing Nipponese patrols.

An amazing feature of their exploits is that the levies are not armed with the latest weapons and burdened with cumbersome impediments. The guns of the natives are often so crude that they fire pebbles instead of bullets.

The men are adroit in snaring human prey: They line elephant trails with poisonous spikes and in the dark stampede unsuspecting Japanese sentinels into these deadly enclosures.

WIZARDS: American aviation contingents surmounted innumerable physical obstacles to prepare the bases necessary for Mountbatten's coming expedition.

Before we could even approach airplane striking distance of the Japanese, we had to move equipment from India to Assam. But the province is separated from Bengal by the Brahmaputra, one of the world's longest rivers across which there is not a single bridge.

Transportation by the normally poor facilities in this region comes to an almost complete standstill during the wet season. The downpour lasts from May until November. The rainfall is 150 inches.

Usually when Uncle Sam constructs airfields—even in the Pacific islands—he is equipped with bulldozers, steel mats, steam shovels, hard surfacing materials and skilled personnel. But the U. S. Engineer corps in India were without modern implements most of the time.

Our "hairy-eared" wizards mustered droves of coolies who cleared tea plantations. Stones in the locality were found only in riverbeds. Boulders for runway foundations were pulled from the bottoms of streams and carried to the airdromes in baskets on the heads of the natives. Gangs dragged ancient stone rollers to pack down the rock.

Our officers had no authority to force the Hindus to stay on the job. An argument arising about not enough loose change in their pay, a cholera rumor or the sight of a Japanese plane would cause the workers to disappear into the forests, leaving our sergeants in a state of blasphemous futility.

And yet, despite drenching cloudbursts, enervating heat, and utterly unreliable helpers, Americans became the masters of the jungle.

Pranks Pay Off As Soldier Author Writes Best Seller

By NEA Service

SIMPSON, Minn., Oct. 14.—"It's just like Richard!" said Mrs. John St. George about her son's book, which is selling so fast that she and Mrs. St. George scarcely know what to do with the money, besides reshingling the roof.

"Richard was always funny that way. Never serious. And we were troubled about him.

"His father always said, 'Don't worry so, Ma. Anybody that full of life is bound to amount to something.'

"But I couldn't help worrying, especially when one of Richard's pranks finally got him expelled from college. I don't know what I would have done if he hadn't been coming up to draft age, anyway."

All the other 77 people in this town call him Ozzie. They have done so ever since Richard's high-school-age attachment to a monkey, Oswald, grew so strong it was impossible to budge the boy from the pet store window where Oswald lived.

Twice a week, now, they get an illustrated letter from him somewhere in Australia—Corp. Thos. R. St. George, 23, a thickset boy with unruly blond hair, nose still bumped where it was busted in a hockey game, and sharp grey eyes.

GETS BRAKELESS BIKE

"DEAR FOLKS: You see I've got a bicycle now," the last one reports, with Ozzie's sketch cinching the matter. "One of the fellows in Hq. Co. 128 gave it to me for practically nothing. It hasn't any brakes whatsoever, but so far I've only fallen off once. The biggest trouble is staying within the camp limits down hill. . . . Another kid bought a horse for four pounds, about $12."

When St. George arrived at Camp Roberts after being inducted late in 1941, he wrote: "My uniform ain't custom built but neither am I." This and all his subsequent letters have been sprinkled with casual little sketches.

About that time one of Ozzie's pals, who had a girl friend on a San Francisco newspaper, suggested that she might arrange for the publication of some of his observations of G. I. life. Ozzie turned out 14 pieces and all that reached the editor were printed with alacrity. They also were noticed by a New York publisher, who asked Ozzie to write him a book. Ozzie did that too.

Last summer Mrs. St. George received a strange telegram from the publisher, and cabled it on to Richard: "Book club selected your manuscript."

"What Book club?" Ozzie cabled back. Mrs. St. George then had to wire the publisher again, before she could cable her son that it was the big and famous Book of the Month club—whose selection of an author is bound to net him from $20,000 to $30,000. This time, it may amount to more, for already "Care of Postmaster," has run up to 405,000 copies sold.

MOTHER BOUGHT BOOK

RICHARD advised his parents to do anything they wanted with his fortune. The first thing Mrs. St. George did was to buy a copy of the book. Then she called in the roofers. And next she went in to Rochester, to find a bank to handle Richard's checks and convert them into war bonds for him.

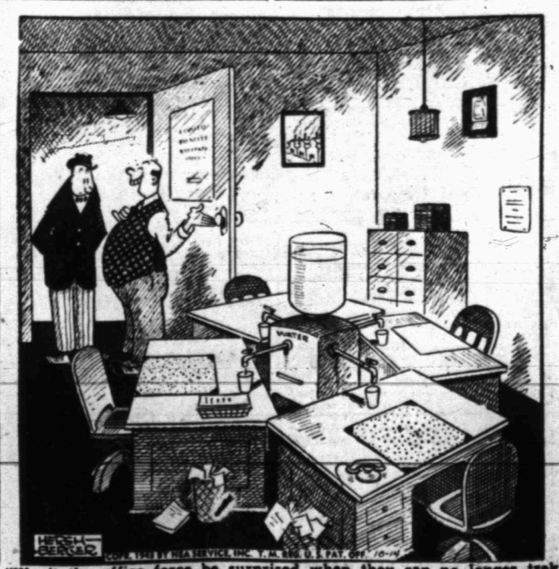

It was in Australia that Richard got his rank of sergeant, and a job on the camp newspaper.

"Somebody is always killing some sort of lizard or finding something in his bed, and it's up to us reporters to find out all about it," he reported, picturing himself bent over a soldier with a reptile bigger than he was.

Sgt. St. George always wanted to be a cartoonist, but it was literary activity that got him into trouble a college. It seems there were four fellows who needed a theme apiece.

"I wrote four just alike—they were all just-alike guys," Richard confessed to the dean, who saw nothing funny about it.

Funny Business

"Won't the office force be surprised when they can no longer trek to the cooler for water every five minutes?"

Germans Admit Prestige Hurt

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 14. (AP)—An authoritative German periodical, Heinrich Himmler's weekly Das Schwarze Korps, openly acknowledged today that the Nazi retreat in Russia had resulted in "a tremendous loss of political prestige for Germany"—"a loss which now troubles many of us."

This organ of Himmler, gestapo chief and powerful minister of the interior, also stated that Germany had suffered a serious economic loss in being forced out of the fertile grainlands of Russia's Ukraine.

Compensation Claimed

Although these frank admissions were coupled with an assertion that loss of prestige had been compensated for by a strategic gain in the retreat, it was noted that they came at a time when Berlin's propagandists were struggling with the problem of explaining two other important setbacks: the opening by Portugal of Azores bases to the British and Italy's becoming a co-belligerent of the Allies.

Das Schwarze Korps warned Germans that if they are unable to intensify agricultural production sufficiently in 1944 to make up for the loss of the Ukraine breadbasket, the effects will be felt fully after next year's harvest

Congratulations To:

LEADERS UP POINT OR SO

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Buyers were a bit more courageous in today's stock market and leaders generally recovered fractions to a point or so.

Mild irregularity prevailed at the start. Rails then began to rise and other departments soon got aboard. Activity was slack throughout, however, and negligible selling at the last reduced best prices here and there without altering the main trend.

On the side of bullish sentiment was persistently good war news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .2 of a point at 49.8. Only 768 individual issues were traded. Of these 416 were higher, 171 lower and 181 unchanged. Transfers of 474,073 shares compared with 591,830 the day before.

Both carrier stocks and bonds were aided by dividend forecasts and indications most roads, as the result of climbing revenues, were putting their financial structures in good shape for postwar conditions. Western Union and Postal Telegraph were up 1⅞ and 1⅜, respectively, as more attention was given to profits prospects for the mergered communications concerns. United Corp. preferred moved up ¾ in the wake of a pleasing financial statement.

Schoendorf managed to leave the German Army by joining the German merchant marine. He worked as a baker in New York and Chicago and later in a New Orleans shipyard. He was inducted on Aug. 3, 1943.

Dissolution Of MP In Italy Is Hinted

(By The Associated Press)

The Berlin radio today quoted Roberto Farinacci, secretary-general of the Fascist party and minister of state in the Nazi-inspired puppet government of Benito Mussolini, as forecasting the possible dissolution of the Carabinieri (Italian military police).

In an article in "Regime Fasciste," the broadcast said, Farinacci wrote that he formerly had the greatest confidence in the impartiality of the Carabinieri but that since last July 25, the day Mussolini was ousted from power, this confidence had been destroyed by the Carabinieri themselves.

Farinacci also advocated confiscation of all private radio sets in Italy. "This demand is motivated by the allegation that notwithstanding all warnings, Italians continued to listen in to broadcasts from London, New York and Moscow," the broadcast said.

tillery. Once across they were across they were quickly reinforced by American tanks, which charged over bridges thrown together by the engineers. Reports from the front today said the tanks were threatening to isolate German forces on either side of the main bridgehead.

The Nazis, apparently anticipating the attack, had rushed fresh units south from Rome to try to hold their line. They now have seven divisions strung across the Italian front, and they are showing signs of extreme fatigue from constant Allied pressure.

Just before Clark's forces sprang forward yesterday morning, the Germans launched a sharp attack in the Capua area. Some detachments managed to cross the river and gain a brief foothold at the edges of the town, but they were annihilated.

The Germans even threw their carefully-hoarded fighter plane strength into the struggle, but a flight of 16 Messerschmitts was beaten off by Spitfires. All through yesterday and last night the battle raged, and it was obvious the Germans meant to fight for every foot of ground.

Whole Line Aflame

The length of the line from the Mediterranean to the Adriatic was flaming with battle. Allied troops after a heavy fight northwest of Benevento captured the town of Guardia, four miles north of Calore river and only nine miles east of the upper Vulturno.

Farther to the northeast the British and Canadians of the British Eighth Army pushed seven miles to occupy Gildone, which is only six miles from Campobasso, an important inland road junction.

In the most dramatic blow of the day's widespread air offensive, American medium bombers protected by Lightning fighters raided German held Tirana, the capital of Albania, for the first time. They reported heavy destruction to a Nazi airbase there. Other bombers and fighters made smashing attacks on railway lines, communications and troops. They were unchallenged.

portant manufacturer of vital parts for German fighters.

The big roller bearing factory supplying the prime essentials of almost every type of equipment necessary for modern warfare occupies 72 closely packed acres on the River Main at Schweinfurt, and was the target of a big American attack on Sept. 17.

1,000-Mile Round Trip

Today's blow carried the Americans on a round trip of approximately 1,000 miles—another long range attack which is becoming more common daily—but was considerably shorter than the record. On Oct. 9 a force went all the way to east Germany, Poland and East Prussia to hit two aircraft factories and docks and ships at Grynia and Danzig.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, U. S. Air force commander, disclosed only four days ago that American bomber strength in Britain has grown to the point where the Eighth Air force is able to send out armadas numbering more than 400 heavy planes. Forces of this size presumably have been used during the most recent attacks.

Today's raid broke a lull in Britain-based operations by both the Americans and the RAF. British heavy bombers have not been out since the night of Oct. 8 when they struck heavily at Hanover and Bremen.

Banking Circles Are Uneasy In Argentina

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 14. (AP) — Unconfirmed dispatches from Buenos Aires said today that the president of the Central Argentine bank, Ernesto Bosch, had resigned in solidarity with minister of finance Jorge Santamarina whose disappearance from the government yesterday was said to be provoking misgivings in banking circles in Argentina.

Santamarina who was formerly president of the Banco de la Nacion generally commanded confidence for his experience in the administration of the country's economic affairs, these advices added.

Other reliable reports from the Argentine capital said several newspapermen were arrested yesterday morning for inquiring about the resignation of three cabinet ministers. They were accused of disseminating false news but were released when the resignations were officially disclosed.

Wallace Urges Research Agency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP) — Vice President Wallace today urged establishment of a great government scientific research agency to maintain "a constant flow of new ideas and industries" into the post-war economy and promote full employment and full use of productive resources.

Unless the government engages in research, he told a Senate Military subcommittee, free enterprise in an age of helicopters, television, light metals, plastics and new foods may be "shackled and restrained" by concentration in a few corporations of control over new inventions.

No Exclusive Domain

"The application of modern science," he said, "should not be the exclusive domain of great corporations and cartels who can, if they desire, restrict and suppress new inventions and scientific information to suit their own interests instead of the public interests.

"Small business cannot support the large and costly laboratories which are necessary for modern industrial research. To fill this need government must make available these facilities."

The committee is considering a bill by Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) for a government office of scientific and technical mobilization. Kilgore proposes that the agency have wide powers to finance and encourage scientific developments as well as engaging in research itself.

City Commission

guard budget was taken after recommendations from a joint committee representing the city commission, the county commissioners court and the Slaton city commission were read. Members of the committee were J. O. Jones and W. B. Price, representing the city commission; P. B. Penney and Ben Mansker, of the county commission; and L. B. Wootton and J. A. Elliott of the Slaton commission.

They recommended approval of a budget totaling $2,857.20 for the TSG units in the county, with the city paying $1,428.50, the county $1,000 and the Slaton commission $428.70. The guard had asked for a total of approximately $4,900.

The city commission approved the recommendations and immediately authorized the city's part of the appropriation.

City Planning Board

The city planning commission authorized under the ordinance adopted on first reading will consist of seven appointed members, the city engineer and the city manager. The body will have general supervision over the operation of the Lubbock city plan. Enactment does not become final, however, until it is passed on a second reading.

New attire for the fire department is to consist of 50 pairs of pants, 50 shirts, 18 caps and three coats, the total cost being $770.40.

The commission also authorized the purchase of two Burroughs adding machines at $230.40 each for the city auditing department.

Members of the commission decided to defer action on a proposed ordinance forbidding operations of juke boxes for dancing within fixed distances of public schools after talking with Mrs. Veda Molloy, operator of the Malt shop, across the street from Senior High school of 2113 Nineteenth street. School officials have objected to dancing by high school students in the place during school hours. City officials suggested that Mrs. Molloy and school officials try to work out, between themselves, a solution to the problem that has arisen there.

Rent Offer Declined

The request of Carl Scoggins to lease approximately 80 acres of city land formerly used for dumping purposes north of the city limits for grazing at 75 cents per acre per year was declined.

An appropriation of $1,000 for City-County Welfare association was approved.

Payment of $84 to Mrs. Mary Everhart in settlement of personal injuries claimed to have been received when she tripped over the raised edge of a sidewalk last May 25 was authorized.

Contractor's bonds of J. B. Vickery as gas fitter and of W. A. Lindsey as gas fitter and for public works were approved. Approval likewise was given the official bond of W. A. Sylvester, who was employed recently as deputy city tax assessor-collector.

Present at the commission meeting were Mayor Carl E. Slaton and Commissioners W. B. Price, J. O. Jones and Garland Newsom.

Two Destroyers Lost; Japs Slash At Attu

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—The two-year-old destroyer Bristol and the slightly older destroyer Buck were lost this week in the Mediterranean, the Navy announced today in a report telling also of a fruitless Japanese bombing raid on Attu in the Aleutians.

Complete casualty reports from the destroyers have not been received. Navy officials said the casualties aboard the Bristol were "moderate" and the Buck casualties "somewhat heavier."

Japanese bombers, raiding Attu for the first time since the island was wrested from the enemy more than four months ago, were driven off without damaging the air field from which American planes have flown out to pound the enemy's big north Pacific base at Paramushiro.

Restaurant Prices

plaining that conferences would be held with various operators before specific ceilings were established.

He cited, for instance, the prices charged for menus with eggs back in April which were based on low-priced eggs and said adjustments are certain to be made on egg-items as wholesale prices have advanced in the past several months in this area to a point near the ceiling for the nation.

Probable Adjustments

A breakfast with one egg, toast and coffee will probably range from 20 cents to 25 cents under the new schedule of prices and 30 to 35 cents with bacon, ham or sausage added, Mooney explained. The range has formerly been from 25 cents to 45 cents for such a breakfast. He cited an instance of where one smaller eating place had been charging 60 cents for a breakfast of two eggs, bacon, toast and coffee which was top price for the city and is certain to be adjusted.

Adoption of the price ceilings and regulations will tend to bring about adjustments to a level of prices in the various classes of eating establishments throughout the city and set up margin of profits which will tend to reduce pirating of labor from one place to another, Mooney said.

Milk Price Hike

Another indication of a set ceiling on an item was the price of milk, Mooney said. It is almost certain to be six cents for a half pint which a number of places are now getting. It was indicated by several operators, however, that their price of five cents a glass would still prevail even if the ceiling was set at the six-cent level.

Prices of plate lunches ranged from 35 to 60 cents in the survey taken by OPA and adjustment in the price ceilings will strike a price somewhere within that range, Mooney indicated.

"Understand this," Mooney declared, "we want to work out this price problem so that no hardship will be placed on anyone and we think it can be done."

He was given a raise-of-hands pledge of harmony at the close of the session.

Japs Batter Chinese Back On Burma Road

CHUNGKING, Oct. 14. (AP)—Reinforced Japanese units pushed north along the Burma road at its entrance into southwestern China today, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters admitted, as Chinese forces fought desperately to hold the five-pronged enemy drive in check.

After announcing yesterday that the Japanese had sent three columns into the advance, the Chinese high command said tonight that two more columns had entered the fighting in the vicinity of the Shuanhungchiao river and Lungma.

Japanese troops, based on Changachieh, continued their northward push toward Kantingchieh, the Chinese said, reaching Tatangtse where "brisk" interceptive fighting is going on.

Nazis Face Trap

was reported being put to the torch by German incendiarists.

Marshal Premier Joseph Stalin announced the capture of Zaporozhe in an order of the day, hailing it as one of the enemy's "decisive strongpoints" on the lower Dnieper.

Knocking out the upper anchor of Germany's 90-mile defense line running southward through Melitopol to the Sea of Azov, the Russians now were in a position to swing southward and free the Crimea, cutting off the huge German forces manning the peninsula, whose only land link with the mainland now is a single track railway running northwestward through Perekop to Kherson near the mouth of the winding Dnieper.

Face Annihilation

The broken German armies that had manned the Zaporozhe-Melitipol line also were threatened with annihilation in trying to flee across the mudflats between the lower Dnieper and the Sea of Azov just above the Crimea. There are no natural defenses left to them until they reach the safety of the western bank of the Dnieper.

Gen. Rodion Malinovsky's Army took Zaporozhe, a city of nearly 200,000 five miles southeast of the site at Kichkas of the $100,000,000 hydroelectric works and dam which the Russians destroyed in August, 1941.

The victory could prove to be a decisive blow at the entire German line from the Crimea northwestward to White Russia.

Its significance was noted by Stalin who ordered Moscow's 224 victory cannon to fire 24 salvoes.

The nearest Russian troops attacking from the mainland toward the Crimea were those under Col. Gen. Feodor Tolbukhin whose Army wiped out or captured 41,000 Germans in the Taganrog trap sprung early last month.

A Tass dispatch broadcast by Moscow also said that a steady stream of Russian troops were reaching the western tip of the Tamanpen insula of the Caucasus across the two-mile-wide Kerch Strait from the Crimea. These troops undoubtedly were going to make an amphibious attack from the east on the Crimea while the forces under Malinovsky and Tolbukhin struck from the north.

Dispatches from Moscow by Associated Press correspondent Henry C. Cassidy said there was no indication that the German 17th Army was withdrawing from the imperilled Crimea. He said the Germans apparently intended to try to hold the peninsula, supplying troops by sea and air and clinging to such formidable positions as the Perekop isthmus in the northwest and Sevastopol in the southwest.

He pointed out, however, that there were no natural defenses barring the way of the Soviets now that they have cracked the Zaporozhe-Melitopol line, and said the isolation of the Crimea garrison would be one of the hardest blows suffered by Germany since the Stalingrad disaster.

Whether the Red Army would immediately assault the Crimean fortress or drive on past it to the mouth of the Dnieper remained to be seen, he said. Soviet tactics generally adopted during the 1943 offensive would indicate the latter course, and a westward push also would cut the German-built Perekop-Kherson railway, the last Crimean line left to the enemy.

The daily communique said the Germans were suffering "enormous losses in manpower and equipment" in the fight raging inside and outside of Melitopol.

Jap Seamen Swarm U.S. Rescue Boats

A U. S. TORPEDO BOAT BASE, New Georgia, Solomons Islands, Oct. 12. (Delayed) (AP) — Capture of the largest group of Japanese naval personnel ever taken out of the water as prisoners in this war was described today by American naval officers who said the hardest part of their job was in keeping the enemy from swarming into rescue boats faster than they could be handled.

"If you think the Japanese never surrender you should have seen these," said a PT section leader who directed the rescue, Lt. (jg) R. E. Keresey, Montclair, N. J.

Several scores of survivors were captured by four PT boats. The Japanese were survivors of the Vella gulf naval battle on the night of Oct. 10 when American destroyers sank one enemy cruiser and two destroyers.

Probe Continues In Fatal Glider Mishap

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (UP)—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today that "some action has been taken and more is being contemplated" in the investigation of the Army glider crash which killed 10 persons at St. Louis on Aug. 1.

"The matter is not concluded," he said at his press conference. "But a careful, complete and thorough investigation is in progress."

Disaster Stalking Germans In Italy

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A month short of the 25th anniversary of German surrender in the World war, Nazi armies in Russia and in Italy appear doomed to renew their current backward marches, stalked by disaster perils.

In Italy, the Volturno-Biferno front is crumbling to its collapse under combined 5th and 8th Army flanking and frontal Allied attacks. The roads to Rome are being forced hour by hour. It is questionable even now whether the enemy stand north of the punctured and outflanked Volturno line is more than strong rear-guard action to facilitate escape of the main Nazi forces deployed across the peninsula.

SIMPSON

Russian troops battling at Melitopol, south of the great bend of the Dnieper, meanwhile are within less than 100 miles of the only remaining Nazi escape route from the Crimea. No formidable natural obstacle remains to impede a quick march to Perekop that would make the Crimea a deadly trap for invaders caught within it. Subsidence of fall rains make the terrain below the Dnieper available for a war of maneuver in which Russian Cossack cavalry could again figure.

Critical For Nazis

That the Nazi situation in the south is critical cannot be doubted. Russian penetration to the head of the Perekop isthmus connection with the Crimea must inevitably also force evacuation of the whole of the Dnieper plateau within the river bend. It would be vulnerable from the south as well as from the north and east.

Russian bridgeheads on the right bank below Kiev and east of Kremenchug already menace the main supply route for all Nazi forces in the bend, the Beltersarkov-Dneperopetrovsk railway. It seems impossible that the German high command has not already begun a withdrawal from both the Crimea and Dnieper plateau.

Allied seizure of the vital Vinchiaturo communications hinge in the center of the whole Volturno-Biferno line in Italy is reported from Nazi-controlled sources in France but unconfirmed as yet. There is no doubt, however, that converging 5th and 8th Army columns were within striking distance of the road junction Thursday and had not met sufficient resistance to indicate a Nazi die-hard stand in its defense.

May Plan Entrapment

That tends to make 5th Army crossing of the lower Volturno both east and west of the main road crossing at Capua look like entrapment moves rather than frontal attacks.

The fight along the Volturno-Calore-Biferno front has gone far enough to make it crystal clear that the Nazi command cannot hold any positions across the Italian peninsula below the Etruscan or Po potential main defense points without bringing into action more troops than have yet been engaged. Not more than seven of the reputed 20 to 25 Nazi divisions in Italy have been engaged so far.

Murder In Convoy

was forced to hold its fire in fear of hitting the trawler while the U-boat opened fire on the Loch Lomond. It was point-blank range, and the trawler was severely hit several times, sinking before achieving its evident purpose to ram the U-boat which was later captured by the destroyer. No survivors of the Loch Lomond have been reported."

Rollins smiled sadly to himself. He was recalling the ruddy-faced Scot who had stood on the bridge and waved merrily as he passed the troop ships back in the Canadian port while the men sang the song suggested by the painted-over name on the bow.

It was evening when Greg landed in Waterloo Station. For the first time, the lieutenant found himself in something of a quandary. Where would he go? London was cloaked in its nightly blackout shadows, and there was nothing to be seen by pedestrians. A roast beef dinner at Simpson's might be the best bet. He felt his way gingerly into a cab.

"To Simpson's, driver, and there's no hurry." He settled back in the darkness, then leaned forward again, tapping the glass. "Could you drive me, instead, to a restaurant on Greek Street in the Soho? It's called the 'Welcome Snail'."

In the gloom of the cab, Rollins' face was lined with a whimsical smile. This would have been a glorious night if he had been on his way to a meeting with Joan. He mentally pictured the scene, and even imagined how she would look, what they would talk about and . . . He shook his head. This was tearing open wounds that had cut deeply into his very being.

Post-War Plan Is 'Too General'

By JOHN L. CUTTER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Both proponents and opponents of United States participation in an international organization for preserving the peace today labelled the Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee's resolution "too general."

But there were strong indications, despite the criticism of extremeists on both sides, that the proposal would be approved by the full committee, and possibly the Senate, without change or much delay. Comment indicated that not more than six or seven votes may be cast against it in the 23-man full committee which includes almost one quarter of the 98 members of the Senate.

Ultimate Okeh Seen

Predictions of ultimate acceptance of the resolution were based on approval of it by both the Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate, as well as the contentions of the leaders and subcommittee members that the declaration is as specific as Congress can be at this time on postwar international relations.

The important section of the resolution urges that the United States join other free and sovereign nations in stabilizing and maintaining "international authority with power to prevent aggression and to preserve the peace of the world."

To Take Up Tuesday

The full Senate committee probably will consider it next Tuesday, but debate then is expected to be only a dress rehearsal for the arguments in prospect when the resolution reaches the Senate floor. That will be reminiscent of debate on the League of Nations in the early 1920's with silver-haired Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Calif., life-long foe of international commitments and a leader of the opposition to Woodrow Wilson's league, certain to play a prominent role.

"I'll never vote to put this country in a straight jacket," Johnson said today. "I'll leave it for the country to decide such great questions as they arise."

Conservation Payment Deduction Decreases

The rate of deducation applicable to Lubbock county for recovering required amount of association expenses from 1943 agricultural conservation payments is 2.2 per cent. Walter Y. Wells, secretary of Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association was advised Thursday. This compares with 2 per cent deducted in 1942 and 3.7 per cent deducted in 1941.

The amount of money spent by the ACA in 1943 was much less than in 1942, Wells said. The increase in the deduction factor was due to a reduction in the amount of money appropriated to carry out war board and other work not strictly connected with the AAA program, he added.

The per cent to be deducted from each producers' check is so small that we do not believe any producer will be dissatisfied," Wells said. "About 850 applications for payment have been submitted to the state office for payment and more will be submitted weekly. Producers should begin receiving checks within the next week or two.

"Any producer who has earned all the production practice or soil building payment he intends to earn should notify this office immediately in order that his application can be typed," Wells advised.

TRIP CANCELLED

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 14. (AP)—Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, here for an address tonight, revealed today that he had cancelled his scheduled goodwill trip into Mexico. Instead, he said, he will speak in Austin tomorrow and then return to Washington, D. C.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sinewy Beef Can Be Made Tender

There is to be more beef available the next few months according to recent government reports. But it won't be the fine-grained tender beef we'd like to have, even in the choice cuts, because the cattle did not go through the usual grain-fed fattening process of normal times. There is less fat on the meat—and fat contributes to the flavor of good beef. There will be more gristle. But meat is meat these days and any beef at all is greeted with huzzahs. Cooking sinewy beef to melting tenderness is easy enough if you choose the slower processes such as stewing, braising or soup making. Marinating is an old-world device for breaking down tough meat tissues and imparting delicious flavor. Even the toughest chuck will respond to the three-day marinating process needed in the making of this true Milwaukee Sauerbraten recipe:

MILWAUKEE SAUERBRATEN

3 lbs. beef chuck, whole (rump or round)
1 large or two small onions, cut in rings
2 or 3 stalks celery, sliced
¼ cup sugar
1 large carrot, sliced
6 gingersnaps
Salt, pepper
1 tsp. whole allspice
vinegar

Sprinkle beef well with salt and pepper and rub in thoroughly. Place with onion rings and allspice in deep earthen dish. Make mixture of one part water to two parts vinegar (or if vinegar is strong, half and half) to cover the meat. Add ½ teaspoon salt. Cover dish well and let stand in cool place three or four days.

Put meat in Dutch oven with the onion and a little of the spiced vinegar. Place, uncovered, in a hot oven until evenly browned, then cover tightly and let cook slowly about three hours or until tender. And more spiced vinegar, if necessary. When ready, remove meat, slice for serving and keep hot. Strain liquid in pan, skimming off fat. Return to pan with ¼ cup sugar. Add ginger snaps, broken into small pieces. Blend in well. Stir gravy until thick and smooth. Season to taste, then pour over sliced meat and serve immediately.

Fishermen have never seen such a demand for their catch as there is these protein-rationed days. Sigh, if you must, for the days when fish was a menu afterthought. We have begun to respect even the humblest varieties and gladly pay meat prices for fish that used to get little more than a once-a-week nod. And we have learned to like fish and to hunt interesting ways to prepare it. The following recipe calls for cod but any white, flaky fish, such as halibut or the low-cost skate wing (also called Rajah fish or ray), will do, too.

LEMON CREAMED CODFISH

1½ lbs. codfish
4 tbs. margarine
2 small onions, chopped
Salt and pepper
Juice 1 lemon
2 tbs. sour or sweet cream (or evaporated milk)
1-2 tsp. paprika
Parsley garnish

Steam codfish, whole, in small amount of water with a bouquet garni (a few allspice berries, a chili pepper, a bay leaf, a blade of mace tied in a sprig or two of parsley). Saute onions in margaine, add lemon juice, cream and paprika. Cook until sauce is thickened. Remove cooked fish to serving platter and pour sauce over it. Garnish with parsley and onion slices. Serves 6.

The tasty oyster is with us again—not in quantity and the price is high because of the shortage of boats, qualified oystermen and oyster shuckers. But here's an oyster-snack recipe the men of the family, in particular, will enjoy as a side-effect with scrambled eggs for Sunday night supper. Excellent, too, they are with beer and pretzles.

OLD-FASHIONED OYSTER PICKLES

1 quart (or more) opened oysters
Whole red pepper, blades of mace
Salt, whole cloves
Whole black pepper

To each quart of oyster liquor add 1 teaspoon whole black pepper, 1 pod red pepper, broken in bits, 2 blades mace, 2 dozen cloves, ½ pint vingar. Add oysters to mixture and simmer gently for a few minutes until edges curl. Lift oysters out and place in small, clean jars. Boil the pickle mixture, strain and pour over oysters. Cover jars tightly and store in refrigerator or in a dark, cool place. Use within five weeks, using up contents of each jar as soon as possible after opening (and there will be no problem about this!)

Tripe is still often enough a major offering in the meat markets and too few of us know how to work it into our menus. Here is an interesting recipe for this relatively unfamiliar meat which can, if you get adventurous, help you solve the shortage and contend with the point problem.

TRIPE FRIED IN BATTER

1 lb. tripe, fresh or pickled
1 cup sifted flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 egg beaten
1 tsp. fat
¾ cup milk
½ cup fat
1 tsp. prepared mustard
1 cup medium white sauce

Cut tender boiled tripe into pieces for serving. Sift together dry ingredients. Add egg and the teaspoon fat to milk and combine with dry ingredients. Mix until smooth. Dip tripe in this batter. Fry in shallow hot fat until brown on both sides. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with sauce made by blending mustard with white sauce. Garnish with deviled eggs. Serves 4.

NEA Food And Markets Editor

Dinner-as-usual is not just around the corner. Despite our all-time high in food production for 1943, there will not be enough food in total to satisfy all demands here and abroad, and there will be a continuing shortage of some of our favorite foods.

That's the gist of a report of the War Food administration approved by both the War and Navy departments, as well as the OPA, Lend-Lease and the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations. If we find ourselves limited to one egg a day and jugging the rabbit for dinner instead of broiling a beefsteak, there will be a war reason behind it.

The Nazi policy has been to conquer first, then starve the conquered people. But the Allies feed the vanquished. We learned on the long march from Casablanca to Tunisia that food is a good antidote to Nazi propaganda. And we are learning quickly in Sicily that victuals nurture victory.

Roy F. Hendrickson, director of the Food Distribution administration, says food must follow our armies very closely if we intend to win unconditional peace as well as unconditional surrender with a minimum loss of life. For that reason, the greater the success of our armies, the greater the need for careful food management.

It isn't humanitarianism that prompts our determination to feed riots, revolution and burning hatred succumb to the more stable promptings of nourished minds. It's a military tactic to hasten victory and cut down our casualty lists. Food consumption in Italy is about 30 per cent below prewar standards, and about the same in France, Belgium and other lands under the Hitler shadow.

Will Re-Equip Europe

Herbert H. Lehman, Director of the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation Operations, insists that when the fighting stops, our immediate job will be the relief of famine. However, once that job is done, he believes that Europe can be helped to produce for herself again. We then shall pass into the sound commercial procedure or replenishing European farms with livestock, machinery, seeds and fertilizer. The demand for these things will be tremendous for 10 to 15 years, and if intelligently handled will prevent any such collapse of prices as followed the last war.

The War Food administration, Office of Price administration, the OWI and the War Advertising council are starting a concerted effort to make the nation aware of our over-all food problem—in terms of civilian consumption, Army and Navy needs, Lend-lease, rehabilitation and other demands for food caused by war and normal living. The campaign, now under way, is labeled "Food Fights For Freedom." Underlying the campaign is the recognition of the fact that the demand for food has increased faster than the possible supply. So something must be done about it.

Why Feed Enemies?

Largely because of lack of information, some civilians resent and have opposed the policy of feeding conquered peoples when we at home must endure shortages. Many parents who bravely have given their sons to the armed forces question the wisdom of giving a mess of soybeans to defeated Italians.

Much of this resentment is based on the false belief that we are feeding Europeans through philanthropic motives rather than as past of our over-all military policy. Once that fact is understood, the entire civilian population may be willing to back up the Food Fights for Freedom campaign here at home and leave the fighting and feeding to our military leaders. They promise that such an arrangement definitely will get the boys home sooner.

Appetizing Casserole Of Sweet Potatoes

This is one of those dishes that can be tossed together in on time. It's not only delicious, but full of health, too. If you prepare the cold boiled sweet potatoes and the cranberries ahead of time, you can have this dish ready in ten minutes . . . very important these busy days. Serve it with fragrant, hearty cups of coffee, and the whole family will come back for "seconds." Here is the recipe for savory sweet potatoes:

SAVORY SWEET POTATOES

3 medium-sized sweet potatoes
1 cup cranberries
½ cup water
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 apple, cored and thinly sliced
3 slices bacon

Scrub potatoes and boil. Peel and cut in lengthwise halves. Cook cranberries with water until skins burst, add sugar and stir until dissolved. Arrange cranberries on bottom of oven-proof platter. Place halved potatoes over cranberries and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place 3 slices of apple on each potato and top with half strip of bacon. Bake in a hot oven (450 degree F.) about ten minutes until bacon is crisp. Yield: 6 servings.

Lamofilm

3 PLY PACKAGE

Sealed with Rubber!

For added protection, all Admiration Lamofilm packages are wrapped and sealed with cellophane. This helps prevent moisture from seeping in between the inner-liner and outer paper bag.

Admiration's Lamofilm package is no hastily contrived wartime substitute. It's a special coffee container, scientifically designed to preserve the freshness—and therefore the aroma and flavor—of freshly-ground coffee. The inner-liner of the package is made of two sheets of grease and moisture proof paper, bonded together by a patented, rubberized cohesive. Hold a piece of the liner briefly over a match and you'll see. The lithographed paper bag which holds the liner gives added protection, strength—and a third "ply". Thus Admiration comes in three-bags-in-one. But that's not all. These are wrapped and heat sealed in moisture proof cellophane—still another protection. When you open your package of Admiration and you gather in that first, wonderful whiff of aroma—you'll understand what a really revolutionary development the Lamofilm package is. Buy it and save the difference.

Sketchy Casualty News All Available When Conveyed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP) — "I regret to inform you . . ."

These words begin the telegram which notifies a family that an American soldier is missing in action.

The scanty information in the telegram often is the only word available for weeks and months.

What the family frequently does not realize, said Col. George F. Herbert today, is that the wire also contains all the information available to the War department.

Reports Are Checked

Herbert, as head of the casualty branch of the adjutant general's office, is the officer who receives the casualty reports from troop commanders, checks them — with the assistance of a staff of officers and civilians—as thoroughly as he can against the possibility of error, and finally prepares the telegram which is sent by Adjutant General James A. Ulio.

"We know the uncertainty and the anguish experienced by the families of men who are missing in action," said Col. Herbert.

"We would like to give them more information. But the plain truth is that, nine times out of ten, the only source of additional information is the enemy, the government of the country with which we are at war, and there is simply no way to bring pressure to bear on an enemy government."

Prompted By Meeting

His summary of the situation was prompted by published accounts of a meeting of Kansas City parents whose sons are missing in action. The group of 40 decided to send to their congressmen, the Army, the Navy, the Red Cross and the YMCA, names of 127 Kansas City boys in uniform, hoping for some additional word.

The War department has discontinued giving the exact geographical location where a man disappears. This is to protect those who escape capture.

Those captured or killed in enemy territory without the knowledge of their fellow Americans can only be listed as "missing" until some definite report on their status is recevied from the enemy, said Herbert.

In the case of Germany — and formerly of Italy — these reports usually are forwarded through the International Red Cross in most cases within a few weeks, but occasionally taking as long as four months. The Japanese, on the other hand, make little effort to supply such information. A year and a half since the fall of the Philippines, the Army still has not received reports on all the men on Bataan and Corregidor.

The information that a soldier has been killed is telegraphed to the individual he listed as his "emergency addressee." This is followed promptly by a personal letter, not a "form" communication — outlining any additional information available about the circumstances of his death.

Letters Contain Details

Other letters are sent — reporting the time and place of the soldier's burial, arrangements that can be made to return his body to this country after the war; concerning pay and benefits due him; a letter from the Veterans administration about his life insurance.

If the soldier is missing, the telegram is the only communication to his family — since it contains all the information available — until some change in that status is reported.

In the case of wounded men the notice to their families is accompanied by an invitation that a telegram of cheer be sent by the family at Army expense. Reports on the soldier's progress are made at intervals of about two weeks.

Congress Beset On Prohibition Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—Congress is being showered daily with petitions on the prohibition issue—572 in the three weeks since its summer vacation—but to date has ignored them anw, according to many congressional leaders, will continue to do so.

The bill of rights of the constitution guarantees the people the right to petition Congress—and the Congressional Record indicates that thousands of Americans are taking full advantage of it.

WCTU Appears Prominent

A tabulation of petitions received by Congress since it came back from the summer recess revealed that nearly all of them were on the subject of prohibition. From September 17 through the end of last week, Congress received 355 petitions for enactment of prohibition for the duration of the war and 217 against it.

The number of names on the petitions ranged from a dozen to nearly a thousand, although the most of them carried about 25. The petitions urging prohibition came for the most part from WCTU organizations, church groups and women. Virtually all of them the peitions against prohibition received in the last three weeks came from St. Louis, one of the great brewing centers.

Bryson Bill Incentive

The petition campaign is not new. A spot check of the Congressional Record since the first of the year revealed that petitions have been pouring in daily.

Th latest spurt in agitation for prohibition began after introduction of a bill by Rep Joseph R. Bryson, D., S. C., which would stop the sale of alcoholic liquors "until the conclusion of the present war, and thereafter until the termination of demobilization." The purpose of the bill is "to reduce absenteeism, conserve manpower, and speed production of materials necessary for the winning of the war."

Most congressional leaders declined to comment for publication on the petition campaign for the prohibition bill. Their attitude, expressed privately, was to let sleeping dogs lie.

"No Prohibition Problem"

Chairman Adolph J. Sabath, D., Ill., of the House rules committee, however, said he was opposed to creating new domestic issues now. Asked if the thought prohibition would help win the war, he replied: "My God, no!"

A ranking member of the House judiciary committee, to which the Bryson bill was referred, said "we'll bury that bill."

Another committee member said there was no prohibition problem.

"Why, you can't get any liquor," he said, 'and sometimes you can't even buy a bottle of beer."

Prohibition advocates claim that the big breweries and distillers are behind the campaign against the Bryson bill. The opponents, in turn, charge that professional drys seeking to use the war to force prohibition on the country again are supporting it.

Rep. Walker C. Ploeser, R., Mo., whose home is in St. Louis, said he was unaware of any propaganda campaign but added that "of course, the brewers would be against prohibition."

Germans Tangled Up On Their Geography

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP) — The United States board on geographical names gave a horse laugh today to the German military "experts" who spent two years fortifying the wrong town.

Dr. Meredith F. Burrill, director of the board, in a report to Interior Secretary Ickes, told of three towns in the west central section of Norway, all named Leikanger.

"One Leikanger, a small village, said Burrill, "is in the political division of More and two are in Sogn of Fordane.

"Seemingly without checking, the German high command issued orders to fortify Leikanger in Sogn of Fordane. The Nazi commander in that section of Norway only knew of one Leikanger in Sogn and he picked the wrong one.

"He worked for two years building a fortification before a new Nazi super-supervisor discovered the error.

COBB RECOVERING

Typhus Fever Under Control

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—American medical discoveries which promise to wipe out typhus fever among American forces all over the world were described to the American Public Health association today.

Typhus has been the largest killer in all previous large-scale wars outside the United States. The American discoveries, which range from preventatives to vaccines, probably would end typhus in all countries, provided they were used.

Few Cases Known

The typhus measures were described by Brigadier General James S. Simmons, director of the Army's preventive medicine division, just returned from a four-month visit of war theaters. There have been to date, he said, only three or four cases of typhus among all American troops. All recovered.

"First we have a dusting powder," he said. "If a soldier sprinkles it in his underwear no louse will enter his clothing for about four days."

Body lice are the carriers of typhus. Further, the Americans have discovered the methyl bromide is a miraculous killer of both lice, and louse eggs, in clothing. Steam chambers had to be used in World War one.

Clothing Protected

Now a soldier's clothing, packed as tightly as possible inside his barrack bag, can be put in a box filled with methyl bromide vapor, and within an hour every cootie and its eggs will be dead clear to the center of the bag.

The military forces also have the Cox vaccine, developed by this officer of the public health service. Tried in mild doses in the Orient, it did not prevent typhus, but none of the vaccinated victims died. Now the Army has a more concentrated form of this vaccine, under trial in Cairo.

P-T Squadron In Mediterranean, Nicknamed "Odd Job Boys," Has An Impressive Record

By DANA ADAMS SCHMIDT
United Press Staff Writer

AN ADVANCED MEDITERRANEAN NAVAL BASE, Oct. 14. (U.P.)—The members of an 18-boat U. S. P-T squadron, self-styled the "Odd Job Boys," today listed an impressive record although they pointedly avoid the glamor of their Pacific cousins.

In Six months of Mediterranean duty, they have blown up one big enemy ammunition ship, sent a 6,000-ton transport to the bottom, knocked out three German and Italian E-boats and blasted five German armed landing craft out of the water.

The "Odd Jobbers," commanded by Lt. Cmdr. Stanley M. Barnes, of Cambridge, Mass., have also captured the Liparis islands, rounded up Axis land troops escaping from Sicily and helped in the capture of Naples by acting as sitting-ducks for enemy shore batteries while Allied forces located the source of fire.

Capture Italian Admiral

Other highlights included the exploits of Lt. Knox Eldredge, of Miami, Fla., who captured the staff of an Italian admiral trying to escape inu a motorboat with the paymaster's cases, and of Lt. Ernest C. Arbucke, of Dallas, Texas, who took a division of three boats out to sink the 6,000-ton merchant ship.

"It was somewhat galling," said Lt. Jack "Doc" Oswald, of San Francisco, "with all of us searching the darkness with our glasses to have a British MTB craft pull up alongside and ask, 'do you mind if we go in and torpedo that ship your just passed?"

"It turned out the British target was an old wreck, while in the next second we sighted an ammunition ship that went up with a terrific explosion."

Two nights later Arbuckle was out with Lt. Harold Manakee, of Baltimore, when they encountered three German F-lighters in the Gulf of Gioia and sank two of them. In the encounter, Arbuckle, who commanded the division, was wounded, and Manakee, actually a land-based officer, took charge and brought the unit safely in.

Capture of the islands of Liparis was credited to Lt. (jg) Ed (The Count) Dubose, of Fort Worth, Texas. He captured a boatload of 45 Italian soldiers after a 20-minute duel with a German escort of E-boats, and then moved in on the islands and demanded and got unconditional surrender.

Lt. John Barry Mutty, of Bangalore, Maine, second in command of the squadron, engaged some other E-boats in a battle the following night and sank two.

Rites Conducted For 'Uncle Bob' Williams

SNYDER, Oct. 14. (Special)—Last rites were read Thursday morning at Camp Springs Methodist church for R. T. "Uncle Bob" Williams, 86, who died in Waco Tuesday. Williams had been a resident of Camp Springs 31 years.

"Uncle Bob," as he was widely known, had been a leader in the Camp Methodist Church several years and was a 32nd degree Mason, member of Snyder Commandery No. 69 and holder of the 50-year Masonic service pin.

For the last four years he had lived with relatives in Lubbock and Waco.

Survivors include these children: Mrs. W. P. Tipps, Lubbock; Mrs. Jess Phillips, Rotan; Mrs. Smith, Oklahoma; Mrs. Montgomery, Aquilla, Hill county; Major R. K. Williams, U. S. Army; John Williams, Waco; and Garland Williams, who has been in the Navy since 1918.

British Use Military Version Of Rope Trick

LONDON, Oct. 14. (AP)—When there aren't barrage balloons handy with their cables to entangle enemy planes, the British, it was disclosed today, have been using a military version of the "Indian rope trick," shooting wires into the air where they are supported for a time by parachutes.

In 37 times when the device was used on land, the announcement said three enemy planes were destroyed, four were probably damaged and at least seven were diverted from the target.

At sea, at least 35 ships were saved from damage this way and nine enemy planes were destroyed.

Fuel Concern Bids No Good For Axis

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Official concern over the rate of bringing new 100-octane gasoline plants into production—although the program already is ahead of the schedule fixed only last year—offers substantial evidence that stil more terrible things are being prepared for the Axis.

Just a year after making their first 100-plane attack on the European fortress, American bombing planes began going over in forces four times that large. The power used in such missions is reflected all the way back to this country in increased demands for training, testing and transport.

Fuel Output At Peak

While the present output of the super fuel for planes is several times larger than anything foreseen in pre-Pearl Harbor estimates, the United Nations Flying forces could use still more—not only in more and bigger raids, but in new and bigger warplanes in greater numbers than had been thought possible.

The concern over 100-octane fuel plant construction was emphasized by the decision of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air forces, to revoke his ban on tours by returned war heroes and warplanes to permit two bomber crews and their battered ships to visit 26 plants in 14 states. The crews will tell their stories to some 20,000 construction workers in an efforts to dramatize the importance of the building program.

50 Plants Operating

One crew in a marauder named "Old Hellcat," which has flown in 50 fighting missions, already has started an 18-stop journey from Maryland to Texas.

There now are nearly 50 plants making 100-octane gasoline, with about half as many more under construction. Eventually 126 plants will be operating.

Cock-fighting is one of the favorite sports in Puerto Rico.

WTCC Ballot Being Endorsed By Towns

ABILENE, Oct. 14 (AP) — The West Texas Chamber of Commerce reports its 11-point referendum ballot, including a plank urging a national post-war economy based on free enterprise, free competition, private initiative and private financing, has been endorsed by a score of town meetings.

The No. 5 plank proposes that after victory "we petition the Congress of the United States to direct the termination of wartime regulaions and restrictions imposed upon the people and upon business, together with the liquidation of such wartime boards, bureaus and commissions making such recommendations."

Hollywood Surprised At Deanna's Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14. (AP)—A romance which Hollywood thought was a cinch to endure, and in which the blase town took an interest almost affectionate, has ended in the divorce courts.

The film town, which takes marriages and separations in stride with a shrug of the shoulders, was actually surprised yesterday when Deanna Durbin filed suit for divorce from young Vaughn Paul, who had been her friend since she was a mere kid. Miss Durbin is only 20 now, and Paul, a naval lieutenant (jg) and former associate film producer, is 28.

Penalties Set On Draft Neglect

WASHINGTON, Oct 14. (AP)—Draft-age men who "haven't kept up with their selective service obligations—including the fellow who forgot to notify his local board of a change of address—are to be tossed into class 1-A after Nov. 1 and ordered to report for induction.

Selective service, announcing this today, said delinquents who do not respond to such orders will be reported for prosecution which could lead to a sentence of five years in prison, $10,000 fine or both.

Most men become delinquent for failure to do one of the following:

Register, return a completed questionnaire within ten days, fill questionnaires truthfully, keep the local board advised of an address where mail will always reach the registrant, report for physical examination, or report for induction.

By Sept. 1 about 95,000 delinquency cases were pending, about half of which had been reported to United States attorneys.

Selective service said manpower demands and fairness to men in the armed forces make it impossible to put up even with carelessness any longer.

When classifying delinquents into 1-A, local boards are to disregard their order numbers or occupational or dependency status. However, the man so classified may request a personal appearance before his local board or reopening of the case, or he may appeal.

But if he is found to have become a delinquent knowingly, he loses appeal rights and his claims to deferment on occupational or other grounds will be ignored.

Good Luck Dice Hit Eleven For General

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Oct. 12. (Delayed) (AP)—Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney rolled his famous good luck dice today before his Fifth Air Force struck a sledgehammer blow at Japan's key base of Rabaul, New Britain.

After he did that, he felt better.

General Kenney has carried the tiny dice ever since a Catholic priest in Paris gave them to him in 1917, blessed them and told Kenney they would always bring him luck provided he did not use them to make money.

Kenney always has carried them in his watch pocket except once—and that time his plane crashed, almost killing him. He has called on the dice to roll a lucky number a few times but seldom has shown them to any one.

After the armada of planes was in the air, the little man who boasts he has the best air force in the world took out his dice, rattled them and rolled while others in the room held their breath.

The dice bounced over the desk top and stopped He had shot an eleven.

Jalopy Prices Reach New High In Midwest

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Oct. 14. (U.P.)—The used-automobile market is a "tight proposition." Take it from midwestern dealers who bid against each other in what is described as "the largest used-car auction in the world."

In a recent session of the weekly sale, dealers from a dozen states paid some $200,000 for an assortment of approximately 300 vehicles, ranging from broken-down and almost rubberless jalopies of 1930 vintage to barely pre-Pearl Harbor models.

They bid up prices on late-model cars to a point several hundred dollars above the sum needed to drive those same automobiles into the family garage the day they came off the assembly lines.

Typical of the prices was the $1,250 bid on a 1941 de luxe coupe, which sold, when new, for $926. The speedometer indicated it had been driven 11,000 miles. The dealer who made the top bid indicated his "mark-up" would make the price to the ultimate owner $1,450 or $1,500, approximately 50 per cent above its original "new-car" cost.

At the other end of the scale was a 1930 model A Ford, wheezing in all four cylinders and showing plainly the strain of its 13 years of service. Its tires appeared ready to sag into complete collapse at any moment. But it brought $180.

As a further indication of the trend, Jack Garner, a Kansas City dealer, pointed to a 1939 Chevrolet. "Two years ago", he said, "you could have bought that car for less than $500. It would take about $725 now."

He has been in uniform since April 15, 1942. Capt. and Mrs. Grinnell reside here at 2221 Twentyfirst street.

Rabaul Air Victory Brings Domination

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

The smashing American air victory at Rabaul on New Britain completes American domination of the air and sea in the entire southwestern Pacific area covering northern New Guinea, the Bismarck archipelago and the Solomons.

It probably means the Japanese position there is untenable. Rabaul is the keystone of Japanese defense, standing at the peak of a triangle which extends southwestward to Madang on New Guinea and southeastward to the northern Solomons.

With Rabaul crippled, adequate supply or reinforcement of the other positions becomes almost impossible. The Japanese are unlikely to risk any major part of their fleet to restore Rabaul, they expect an imminent American naval and air attack on the Marshall and Gilbert islands in the central Pacific.

Supply Lines Crippled

Hence General MacArthur is in a position to renew the attack on Rabaul at will and keep it knocked out as a base of supply. Since Wewak, the main air base on New Guinea, was similiarly crippled by earlier air assaults, American occupation of the remainder of northeastern New Guinea, the northern Solomons and New Britain itself becomes, in effect, a mopping up operation.

It will not be an easy one, however, since the Japanese are likely to resist until overwhelmed. New Britain is much larger than any one of the Solomons and defended heavily. The Japanese are supposed to have around 40,000 troops in the vicinity of Rabaul, and strong forces at Gasmata and other points on the island.

New Attacks Expected

While this operation is in progress, the American fleet and air force is expected to strike from the east against the Marshalls and Gilberts. The main Japanese naval base at Truk in the Carolines would then be threatened both from the south and east.

The Japanese are aware of the danger, since the official Domei news agency was heard broadcasting today a prediction that an American attack on the Gilberts is expected to be the next move.

Domei added that a great and decisive naval battle would result. That, however, would be too good to be true, from the American viewpoint. With the present balance of naval power in the Pacific, such a battle could only end in disaster for Japan, which would be automatically out of the war if her sea power were broken.

Plants Turn To Civilian Goods

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 14. (AP)—Reconversion to the production of peace-time materials already has occurred in many former war factories, says the president of the American Society of Tool Engineers, which concluded a semi-annual meeting here today.

"Many factories have dismantled war production assembly lines and are producing peace-time goods," President Ray H. Morris of West Hartford, Conn., said yesterday in a session devoted to reconversion problems.

Production Peak Passed

This means, Morris said, that the production peak for certain war goods has been passed.

"For example," he continued, "the United States had to manufacture 2,000,000,000 (B) .30 and .50 caliber cartridges during the first six months of the war, but there was no need to continue their manufacture at the same rate after the six-month period.

"Thus, many of the factories which once produced shells have been told to return to peace-time production."

New Treatment Used

The use of sub-zero refrigeration, instead of extreme heat, in the treatment of tool steel was discussed by several engineers, including G. B. Berlien, chief metallurgist of the Lindberg Steel Treating company of Chicago.

"Tools made by this process are much more satisfactory," Berlien said. "They are stronger and they last longer."

Other speakers said that in some instances the use of both extreme heat and extreme cold on tool steel was proving highly satisfactory.

Most adults need 1.3 grams of phosphorous a day.

Latin Union Formed By Three Countries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP) — Representatives of France, Italy and Republican Spain have formed a "Latin union" to fight Fascists in their own countries as soon as the Nazis are pushed out.

Count Carlo Sforza, reported on his way to Italy to work with Marshal Badoglio in the battle against Italy's newly declared enemy—Germany, is Italian president of the union.

General Charles de Gaulle, co-president of the French committee for national liberation, has been invited to be French president but has not yet accepted.

Asked to state the purpose of the union, Lionello Venturi, one of the Italian founders, declared, "we are opposed by the Nazis and the local Fascists so we must organize to fight the local Fascists when the Nazis are shoved out. We must associate together to understand each other and bring our countries to a mutual understanding."

Man Keeps Promise But Loses His Life

AURORA, Ill., Oct. 14. (AP)—Carl Gustafson, 55, has kept his promise to his niece, Mrs. Joseph Veres, that he would let no harm come to her mongrel dog while she was away visiting her husband, a Marine.

As had been his daily custom since Mrs. Veres left home, Gustafson took the dog with him yesterday when he went to work.

When the dog dashed out into the highway in the path of an automobile, Gustafson ran after it. He was struck by the car and fatally injured. The dog was not hurt.
