Fike and Hunt Open Highway Gulf Station

Howard Fike and Bill Hunt have announced the formal opening of the Highway Gulf Station, 8th Street and Highway 83, for Saturday, November 16.

This is a long-time location for Gulf Products in Wellington, but the station has been completey rebuilt, enlarged, and the exterior refinished with white porcelanized tile, making it one of the most modern in the Wellington area, Homer and Howard Holton, Gulf consignee here, point out.

"In picking Fike and Hunt to operate the station, Gulf has two young men who already are well known to the public and who are eager to serve your car and truck service needs," the Holtons added.

Highway Gulf will handle all products of that company, Gulf Crest, No-Nox and Good Gulf gasoline; Gulf-Pride motor oil, and Gulf tires and batteries.

For the opening day, the owners are offering a number of gifts to those who stop and visit.

Both operators were reared here. Fike has been employed by the City of Wellington, while Hunt has been working in stations and automobile parts stores. Both are members of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department.

Quanah Firm Submits Low Bid On Wellington Housing Project

Low bid on Wellington's Public Housing project was submitted by Barker Construction Company of Quanah, for $305,200, N. M. Higdon, manager of the Wellington Housing Authority said following the opening of bids November 7.

Upon approval by the Public Housing Authority, Fort Worth, a contract will be awarded.

This bid, submitted by S. P. Barker, owner, was one of five received on the project, ranging up to $330,000.

In the meantime, the Wellington Housing Authority will request from the Public Housing Authority, Washington, additional funds to make up the difference between the $265,000 allotted for the Wellington project, and the $305,200 contract.

This will be a formality, Higdon said, since PHA increased the amount allocated for construction from $1,750 per room to $2,000 per room after the Wellington project was approved. This in itself will bring the money available to within $4,500 of the contract price.

Barker told Higdon and other members of the Wellington Housing Authority that he can move into town within 10 days after the contract is awarded, which probably would be in mid-December.

Higdon said construction probably will not start before January 1, 1958.

Wellington's Siamese Twins Die Mon. Night

Guadalupe and Raquel Estrada, Siamese twin girls born to Mrs. Lina Estrada in St. Joseph's Hospital, October 19, died there Monday night, November 11, at the age of 22 days.

The cause of their death has not been announced.

The birth of these babies made medical history for St. Joseph's Hospital and wire services carried stories of the twins throughout the nation.

The fact that they lived at all was considered a tribute to Dr. Dale Watkins, who cared for them and the staff of St. Joseph's.

Studies were under way to determine if they could be separated.

Graveside services for the babies were held Tuesday at 3 p. m. and burial was in West Wellington cemetery by Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Estrada, mother of the twins, arrived here about a month before their birth with other Spanish American workers, and was living at the Lee White farm at Kelley. She has 8 other living children.

Mr. Anderson maintained his home here, but during last summer he went to Colorado to visit children living there. He returned to El Paso recently and was planning to be back in Wellington for Thanksgiving. His death followed an illness of only a few hours.

He was born in Mississippi January 27, 1872, but as a boy came with his family to Center Point, Ark., where he grew up. Mr. Anderson came to the Acme-Quanah area as a young man, and later was in the dry goods business in Eldorado, Oklahoma.

He moved here 49 years ago and established the A and W store, which he continued to operate for many years.

After disposing of that business, he was associated with C. E. Stone as manager of a store in Wheeler. Still later he worked with Dodgin's Men's Store and for Enis Shaded, in The Hub. After that store was sold, he worked for the Army Store. It was only about two years ago that he retired.

He was married to Miss Lavillla Knox on December 25, 1904, in Mesquite. At that time he was living in Eldorado, Okla.

She died in an automobile accident between Hedley and Clarendon in the early 1920's, and he was left with the responsibility of rearing their five young children.

"I can't get the commissioners to give me a detailed audit of the office," Rainey told The Wellington Leader. "I am putting the money back in the office so we can make our monthly reports and go on with the business of the office, hoping that sometime we can find out what happened.

"I am going by the Coan's Audit. I have been waiting because I thought maybe we could find the mistake or the cause of the shortage."

A shortage was reported to the commissioners court and an audit by F. E. Coan, Amarillo accountant, set the figure at $924.24. A

Commissioners to Consider Road Engineer Nov. 25

Appointment of a road supervisor may be sooner than expected. The Commissioners Court met Tuesday, Nov. 12, to canvass the election returns of Nov. 5. The court found all returns as certified in the unofficial election returns to be correct including the controversial unit road system which passed by a vote of 363 to 258.

The Court also announced that it will receive applications for the position of road engineer on Monday, November 25, since the law governing road administrators goes into effect immediately after the election is canvased.

On that date the Commissioners Court of Collingsworth County will interview applications or receive applications for the new position of road administrator as approved by the voters in the recent election.

Two applications have been submitted to the court, Gene Jenkins of Lubbock, who formerly worked on the county roads, and Alex Coleman of Dozier. Cortez Barnett was discussed for the place, but after the court meeting he said: "I would not say that I did (submit an application) and I wouldn't say that I didn't". He added that he would be willing to serve in the office if he was wanted.

In other action, the commissioners passed an order agreeing to furnish right of way on the three FM roads approved for the new 2-year program; approved four requests for lowering tax valuations; and approved 84 bills and rejected three.

In other orders, an extra deputy was allowed in the county clerk's office for no more than two weeks in November, and for December; and authorized an extra deputy in the tax assessor-collector office effective November 16.

County officials will not be required to make monthy reports, as they have in the past, and each county commissioner was authorized to continue road maintenance in his precinct pending the appointment of a county engineer. Each commissioner is limited to the expense of $400 up to November 25.

Second Place at Stake

Rockets Close Season Against Quanah Here

The Skyrockets meet the Quanah Indians at Powell Field Friday night, November 15, in the game that will determine the second place winner in district 3-AA. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Perryton Rangers already have cinched the district crown. They play the Shamrock Irish this week but even in event of a loss, described as "the most unlikely thing possible", they will still be first.

As the district record stands, Wellington and Quanah are tied for second place. Just below ranks Childress and at the bottom is Shamrock, which has not won a conference game.

The Rocket-Indian playing record in the same, 6 wins and three losses.

Twelve Rockets, all graduating seniors, will play their last game of high school football against Quanah: backs Pat Wilkins, Jerry Elbert, Charles Welch and Farris Wood; and linesmen Richard Tigert, Glen Warrick, Randall Raburn, Carl Daves, Jim Forrester, Ronnie Thomason, Richard Carter and Cloyce Scarberry.

The Indians are a dangerous rival for the Rockets. Coaches John Hurley and Frank Lindsey consider them to have the best offensive ball club Wellington has met all year. They run a split T in a series to perfection, with some belly series mixed in.

"They run it like it is supposed to be run, and they have a wealth of material," Hurley commented.

The Indians have what Hurley considers the two outstanding tackles in the district, Walkup, a 226 pounder, and Ennis, 207 pounds. They are flanked on each side by a pair of good ends, Stockstill and Scott. But the line is built around these tackles.

In the backfield there are Cromartie, a quarterback who does an excellent job running the split T series; Smith and Morrison, half-

1958 Ford Features Styling and Economy

The 1958 Ford car line featuring major styling changes, the most efficient engines in the car's history, a new automatic transmission and new optional air suspension, now on display at Collingsworth Motor Co., Kelly Pigg, owner, said.

"At a cost of $185,000,000 we have developed a new Ford that incorporates some of the most extensive changes ever made in the car," J. Wright, Ford Motor Co. vice president, said.

Historically, auto companies have made basic changes in their cars every three years, he pointed out.

"But in its 1958 models Ford has actually created fundamental design and engineering changes just one year after its completely new 1957 model," he said.

Demonstrating this change are twenty-one models on two separate wheelbases; the Fairlane and Fairlane 500, with an overall lengtr of 207 inches, and the Custom, Custom 300 and the station wagon, measuring 202 inches.

The external appearance of the new car features, Ford's sculptured in-metal treatment in which styling lines are molded into the sheet metal itself.

The new distinctive styling is emphasized in a front view of the massive wrap-around one-piece bumper with anodized aluminum "jet intake" grille, dual headlights, and Power Flow Hood. New sheet metal treatment incorporates redesigned front fenders, new roof with seven front-to-rear flutes or grooves, and trunk lid and rear quarter panel innovations. From the rear, the 1958 Ford is distinctive with a "V" sculptured trunk lid flaring into twin safety oval taillights.

Ford introduces the newest and most modern V-8 overhead valve engines in its 1958 line — the 332 and 352 cubic inch displacement engines. The result of more than 25 years' sales and engineering leadership in V-8 engines, these engines combine new highs of efficiency, durability and economy with the added time and cost sav ngs of quick service accessibility.

Also new will be air suspension for springs at each wheel. Air pressure inside the domes, which is supplied by a compressor and air storage tank, which varies according to the weight of passengers and luggage to keep the car at a constant height and optimum springing for a "boulevard ride". Switches on the car's doors operate valves to quickly readjust height and balance when passengers enter or alight. Other valves make slower adjustments for luggage, etc.

Ford also continues its policy of improving safety packaging for driver and passengers, which it pioneered in its 1956 models. The deep center steering wheel, shatterproof rear view mirror and safety door locks, standard in all models, and the optional seat belts and padded instrument panel and sun visors all have been improved for 1958.

Exterior trim and interior fabrics and color treatments will be new for 1958 as will distinctive two-tone combinations of new colors. Optional equipment includes a full line of power asssits, two models of transistorized radios, two models of air conditioning units, and two types of heaters.

Letters from the People

Highland Baptist Church
415 New York Ave.
Arlington, Texas

Mr. Deskins Wells
Wellington Leader
Dear Deck,

I'm sorry that our subscription expired to the Leader some weeks ago. We had thought we could get by without it, but every week that passes we feel that our knowledge and relationship with the old home town is severed. Therefore, you will find enclosed a check for a subscription for the ensuing year.

May I give you this report regarding the growth in the City of Arlington. In 1950 the population was 7,000. Today the report is that it is 45,000 plus and continues to grow. Within the next ten years, the Greater South West Corporation of Arlington is to employ 160,000 people, or the prediction is. So you can see that the one time little town between Ft. Worth and Dallas is fast coming to the standing of a city in every report.

Give my regards to your family and my many friends there.

In conclusion, you will find an article published in last week's Arlington News and it will speak for itself.

Sincerely,
Tommy L. Austin

Mrs. Timmons Injured in Wreck

Mrs. Reece Timmons, Matador, was injured in a car wreck Sunday, Nov. 10, when the car in which she, her husband and two children were riding ran off a culvert a mile west of Childress.

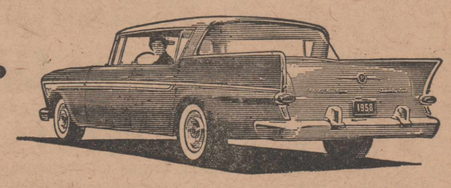

A truck driven by a Mexican pulled into the wrong lane before making a turn, forcing Timmons, the driver of the car, off the road. When the car ran into the culvert, Mrs. Timmons hit the rear view mirror and the wind shield.

Her injuries included lacerations on the face, a slight concussion, and four broken ribs. She is now in the Childress hospital. Mr. Timmons hit the steering wheel, but his condition was not considered serious. The two children, Aaron and Ann, who were riding in the back seat were not hurt.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

AUSTIN, Tex.—Gov. Price Daniel's special session legislative program apparently is on the way to being passed — with additions and changes here and there.

Both Senate and House passed water bills — differing quite a bit from each other, and even more from the measure the governor requested.

Governor Daniel asked for a statewide water planning division with an appropriation of $1,024,000. He also asked for state authority to contract with the federal government for water storage in federal reservoirs.

Cut out of the House Bill was the water storage provision. Appropriation also was reduced to about $951,000.

Senate cut the appropriation to $600,240 and gave the proposed new division authority to do research, but not to formulate an overall plan. It authorized conservation storage agreements, but only if they are first approved by the Legislature.

Biggest wrangle came when the House members tried to insert an amendment that would allow landowners to use water from small farm lakes for irrigation. Present law limits these lakes to domestic and livestock uses except with a special permit.

Result was a city vs. farm battle of the sort that has derailed overall water programming efforts for years. Amendment was added in the House.

LOBBY PROPOSALS — After all the furore, both House and Senate lobby control bills looked pretty mild.

Both would require registration of paid lobbyists and reports on how much they spend to influence legislation (over $50 in the Senate bill; over $25 in the House bill.)

Neither would require details on how the money was spent.

A proposed substitute measure in the House would make the lawmakers responsible for reporting money spent on them by lobbyists.

SECRET STUDY PROPOSED—Supporters of the crime study commission bill were dismayed at the turn it took in the House.

Before passage, the House put in a provision that the commission's sessions should be behind closed doors. It also gave it no power to subpoena witnesses.

It was the secret session part which disturbed the governor. Main purpose of the commission, he said, was to give the public more information on law enforcement and crime prevention.

TANGLED TRAIL — Senate investigating committee continued efforts to chop through the tangled financial history of three Dallas insurance firms.

Apparent purpose is to discover whether these companies were playing fast and loose with the policy and stockholders' money without restraint from the state regulatory agency.

Chairman Sen. Charles Herring said at the beginning of the inquiry that he felt the Legislature was catching the brunt of public indignation that sometimes stemmed form negligence by state agencies.

Pierce P. Brooks and Lester Hall of National Bankers Life were questioned about the complicated exchanges and re-exchanges of money and stock between that company and now-bankrupt ICT Corp.

Outcome was a $2,000,000 loss to ICT stockholders. Hall said hindsight made some of the deals look bad now, but they seemed perfectly all right at the time they were made.

Former employees of Preferred Life testified they had been instructed to conceal records from Insurance Department examiners. Company books didn't balance, they said, and there was a backlog of unpaid claims.

TAX STUDY LAUNCHED — For the first time in Texas history, work is under way to draw up the "big picture" on state taxes.

State Tax Commission, created by the last Legislature, has begun its work of finding out who pays how much to the state. Plan is to have the Texas Research League do the data-gathering with help from eminent experts in the field.

Findings will be presented to the next regular session which is expected to be faced with a deficit and the necessity of putting new taxes on someone.

But commission members emphasized they would present no recommendations for new taxes, only facts on current ones.

EARLY END — an early freeze caused a sharp halt in crop growth for about half the state. It damaged some sorghum fields, reports USDA, and hit all areas which still had late cotton crops to be harvested. Other areas reported ruined maise and damaged grazing.

Freeze was not unexpected in Panhandle, said USDA, but came unusually eary for south central counties.

AT IT AGAIN — For the third time in a row, a new Travis County grand jury has set to work with the charge to discover any possible misconduct by state officials. Gov. Price Daniel urged the investigation. "Wild and unwarranted charges do great harm," he said, "and the makers should be given opportunity to put up or shut up".

Judge Mace Thurman echoed this view at the swearing-in session. Any citizen with information on malfeasance in office has not only the right, but an obligation to go to the grand jury, he said. Object: to indict the guilty and clear the innocent of charges from "insinuation or rumor".

PRISON EDUCATOR HONORED — Some 100 Texas notables attended an Austin luncheon honoring Dr. George Beto, credited with giving Texas the nation's first school behind bars.

Dr. Beto, a member of the Board of Corrections, is given chief credit for establishing a program whereby men in state prison can complete a high school education. Some 188 have received diplomas.

Former Gov. Allan Shivers, who appointed Beto to the board, served as master-of-ceremonies for the luncheon. Governor Daniel also joined in the tribute. Beto is president of Concordia Lutheran College in Austin.

SHORT SNORTS—State Health Department sounded a sober note of caution to fall hunters. Gun accidents killed 169 Texans last year. Department suggests hunters study firearm safety rules, go easy on drinking and avoid getting overtired . . . After study, directors of the State Bar of Texas said they didn't agree with the American Bar Association canon prohibiting photographic coverage in courtrooms. Control should be with the individual trial judge, they said.

MRS. SWEET'S LITTLE ACRE—No small potatoes is the unusual prize of Mrs. Dee Sweet who works for a TV station in Indianapolis, Ind. Mrs. Sweet checks the potato harvest on the acre of Limestone, Maine, land she won in a lottery ticket at the 1957 Convention of American Women of Radio and Television. She and her husband drove to Limestone to supervise the gathering of about 490 bushels of spuds.

Rockets Take Shamrock; Set Pace for Second Place in District

By LYNDON CRELIA

Wellington's flu-ridden Rockets roared past the Shamrock Irishmen 32 to 7 Friday night, November 8 on the Irish's own Denver Field. This was the Rockets third conference game, and left them with a 2 win, one loss record, making next Friday night's game with Quanah the decisive factor in whether they will be second or third place in District 3-AA.

The Rockets easily controlled the game, holding the Irish scoreless until late in the fourth quarter, while they racked up 5 touchdowns for themselves. The first of the tallys came on a 15 yard run by QB Jerry Elbert. The drive originated back on the Irish 40 yard line where the Irish ball carrier was hit hard by the Wellington line, and was jarred loose from the ball, and end Randal Raburn covered the pigskin for the Rockets. Four plays later Elbert crashed through the left side of the Irish defense, and over for the TD. Pat Wilkins did the honors on kick for extra point, putting the Rockets out front 7 to 0.

Next score in the quarter came on a 2 play drive to pay dirt by the Rockets. The Irish were forced to punt from their 27, and the ball was taken down on the 50 by the Rockets. Opening play saw Farris Wood rack up a 19 yard run, down to the 31, and on the next play HB Billy Lockhart tore through the Irish line and went 31 more yards for the TD. The kick for extra point failed.

Second quarter got under way with the Irish in control of the ball, but they didn't even make it out of their own end of the field before losing it on a fumble to the Rockets. HB Carroll Nunnelley was the man who came out of the scramble with the ball, on the Irish 43 yard line, and this set the field for another Rocket drive to pay dirt. Wood, slashing off right tackle, carried over from 6 yards out for the touchdown. Again Wilkins booted the extra point across.

Last score in the second frame climaxed a 63 yard drive by the Rockets. The scoring play came on a 20 yard pass from Pat Wilkins to Randal Raburn, who gathered it in in the end-zone. The kick for extra point failed, leaving the score 26-0 at the half.

The third quarter went scoreless, with the ball going back and forth between the teams, with neither being able to set up a scoring drive. There were two fumble recoveries in this quarter, one on the Rockets and one on the Irish. Carroll Nunnelley again was the man coming out with the credit of recovering the Irish fumble.

Fourth quarter got under way with the Irish in control, but it was short lived, as 3 plays later Rocket Back Farris Wood out raced the Irish receiver on a pass play, and hauled down the pigskin. This put the ball in play on the Shamrock 35 yard line, and set up another Rocket touchdown. Wood carried on the first play for 6 yards, and on the next, Pat Wilkins tossed a 15 yard aerial to Jerry Elbert, who went the rest of the way for the TD. The try for extra point failed.

Final score in the game came on an Irish pass play, and gave them the only score they had in the entire game. The pass was from Donnie Dodgen to Joe Jernigan, good for 30 yards, and Jernigan went about 50 more for the TD. The extra point was made on another pass from Dodgen, this time to LE Kenneth Foster.

As the score indicates, the Rocket defense and offense both were really on the ball throughout the game. There were no standouts on either, as the team worked together all the way in a grand showing of both teamwork and skill. Nearly everyone on the squad got in on the action, and the reserves filled the regulars places with the fine work that promises much for next year's ball club.

City Invited to Have "Day" at Fat Stock Show

Wellington has been invited to have a "day" at the 1958 Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth by President-Manager W. R. Watt.

In his letter to Wellington, Watt urged that a cowgirl sweetheart be named so that she can be introduced to the rodeo audience in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum. The city also is invited to send its high school band so that the students may give a concert on the stock show grounds. The band members will be guests at the rodeo performance.

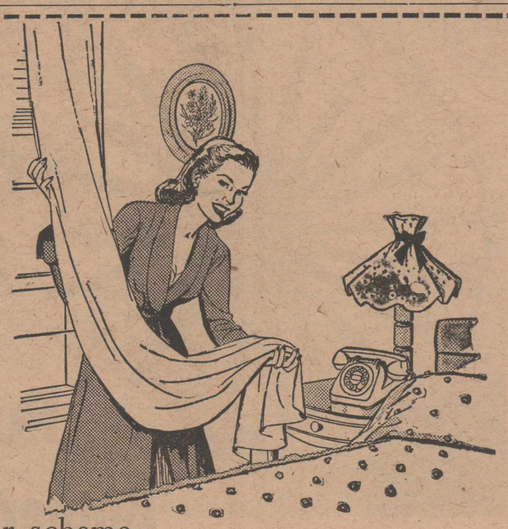

Watt expressed the hope that the city also would have a delegation of citizens wearing hatbands or badges proclaiming their hometown. They will be offered a special section of seats at the rodeo.

I Saw-

By Virginia Robey

The balls of fire and strange objects floating around Panhandle air brought form Edgar Poff the memory that in 1906, when his family was living in the Fresno community, one night a bright ball of fire flashed through the sky, lighting up his room as if someone had turned on an electric light, he told Charley Caldwell. There were other reports of this same light at Bowie, points downstate, and it was last seen going out over the Gulf of Mexico. Apparently Collingsworth countians of 50 years ago did not get too excited about these natural phenomenon.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell, incidentally, have been getting up early on clear mornings watching for Sputniks I and II, and they saw No. I.

A note from the A. T. Sanders, who now have a plumbing company in Levelland: "That's our home town there, although we have been away for eleven years, but may move back before long."

Jack Ford telling recently that his grandfather, born and raised in Poland while it was under Russian domination, warned his grandchildren until his death a year or two ago, that one day they would have to fight Russia. A graduate of the University of Warsaw, he was a construction engineer on the Trans-Siberian railway Russia put through in the 1880's and there saw Bolsheviks, as early communists were called, sent as political prisoners to wrok on the railway, and starved until they died. And as they starved, these men would tell their fellow workers: "We may die, but just wait," Jack's grandfather would recall.

Jack has an immediate concern, too. A cousin in Poland, a Catholic priest, was taken to Russia a few years ago, after he failed to preach as the communists directed. The family has heard no more.

O. T. Lackey who lived here as a boy and has come back to practice law, is known to his boyhood friends as Jack. The other day he told me why: "You can't spell my name, and nobody else ever could except my father and Miss Katherine Boverie. It's O-r-r-i-n. My father found that name in a story he was reading, and the only other person I ever knew with it was a full blood Kiowa Indian. Before I left here, the man I was working for asked me how to spell it. "Good Lord, boy, you'll never get anywhere with a name like that. Let me give you a name," he said, so he wrote out my pay check Jack Lackey."

Louise Vaughan, who did so much work on the flower show, saying a few days ago that she'd dreamed about making flower arrangements every night since the show was held. "That dream is getting awfully boring," she added.

M. L. Burks directing traffic for the Queen contest parade with one arm and holding his smallest daughter in the other . . . Carolyn Couch, now of Homer, La., driving in the parade, to the surprise of her father, Orval, who was watching from the sidewalk.

READ THE WANT-ADS

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where during the last session of the Wisconsin legislature it is said the lobbyists spent $14,134 on drinks for the lawmakers.

Which seems like a lot of money for coffee, soda pop, etc., especially when buying the drinks is not a guaranteed way to get votes and influence.

Like my political neighbor ran for constable one time and bought every voter in the county a cup of coffee during his campaign. But his opponent did the same thing. Which evened up the special benefits and forced the people to fall back on the old-fashioned custom of Voting for the better man.

I see where Secretary of Labor Mitchell ran across what he considers a profound truth here the other day and he immediately uttered same. Says this country couldn't get along without its women.

My cheerful neighbor says you can't hardly get along with them, either, but it's fun to try.

And he thinks what we need now is somebody to give us men a little pat on the back because we also serve a useful purpose by working to support the government while the women work to support our families.

There is a mail order house which is now making all of us established suckers a proposition to the effect that they will sell dogs on the installment plan.

These are very high class dogs, too. Some of them cost as much as $74.88 and my class-conscious neighbor says he don't think it is fair to dogs of this standing to put them within the reach of short-pedigreed people.

The only upper bracket dog I ever owned only cost $35 but he soon left home and I don't know whether it was to keep from associating with me or my $2 cat.

Every day it seems like there is another story in the papers about how interest rates are getting higher everywhere money is for rent.

My gloomy neighbor says the price of nearly everything else is going up, so he don't see any reason why interest ought to be backward in this respect.

But he says that whatever the rate, a man gets mighty little for his money when he pays it out for interest. No green stamps, no box tops, and you can't eat it, wear it, drink it, nor pet it.

I note that the names of senators and congressmen are getting in the home-town papers more often these last few weeks.

Congress has been let out for quite a spell, but some of the boys are just now gettting home because they came by way of Europe. People are flocking around to hear them make speeches, and are treating them like visiting royalty.

But my non-fawning neighbor says playing up to these boys is mostly wasted time. Since the bureaucratts took over, the elected type of legislator don't have much say about who gets the soft government jobs any more.

There was a piece in the paper here the other day which reports Mr. Eisenhower as saying the way for us people to beat inflation is to buy less when prices are going up.

My practical neighbor says he is way ahead of the President on this point, being as he has always made it a habit to buy less of it when stuff gets to costing more.

But he don't aim to put in for any medal for helping to hold the Inflation line in this manner, because he says all of the credit really belongs to his banker who hates overdrafts.

"THEY'RE CATCHING ON, BUT THEY CAN'T CATCH UP." That's how lots of people feel about the "new 1958" cars that are trying to match the Dodge Swept-Wing look. These other cars have been lowered some, but still seem high and boxy by comparison. A few are "catching on" to fins, but they're years from "catching up." And the air suspension offered by some cars (at well over $100 extra) can't compare with the sway-free, dip-free ride of Dodge Torsion-Aire (standard equipment on all models). So on your way home from someone else's new car showing, stop in and compare it with Swept-Wing 58 by Dodge. You'll see what we mean.

It was pointed out at the time that this did not necessarily mean money was taken, that it could have come about through mistakes over a period of time.

Rainey then asked that a detailed audit be made of the office.

"I do not know what happened to the money, but if there is a shortage I want it straightened out," Rainey said. He added that he would not be satisfied with the matter unless a detailed audit is made.

backs, and Newell, fullback.

As far as the club is concerned, the Rockets are all ready to go with the exception of Richard Carter who has a broken foot. Some of the boys, however, are still in a state of recuperating from the flu and all are out of condition due to lack of practice.

Because of weather, they were able to work out only one day last week, and while they have done a lot of running, this doesn't take the place of work on the field.

Hurley said the boys would not work out this week as long as weather was such that they could suffer flu relapses. "Our boys health is worth more than that," he said.

His coaches were pleased with the performance of Pat Wilkins at Shamrock, and the young star apparently has recovered from his arm injury.

The Rockets now have four quarterbacks, where as a week or two ago they had trouble finding one able to play.

Mr. and Mrs. William Horton and Lesa spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boley Tabor.

How to Keep a Free Press FREE

SELDOM does Freedom of the Press disappear in one annihilating blow.

In countries where the Press has been chained, there was first a period when it failed to realize and resist the beginnings of its end — the first encroachments on its freedom. There were powerful interests which wanted certain facts "kept out of the newspapers." There was pressure here and pressure there to have the truth withheld.

Before the Press of any nation succumbs to tyranny, there always has been a period of failure to speak out.

Here in America there is only the limitation of national security — the necessity to protect and preserve confidential military and scientific information — which can be accepted by a Press that is determined to stay free.

America's newspapers have made, and will continue to make, a conscientious effort to protect that security — at the same time keeping the people informed as fully as possible on all matters concerning their welfare. So long as American newspapers pursue that policy fearlessly, our Press, our people and our country shall remain free of tyranny.
