Q. Why are students at Colorado High School named to the "A" honor roll when they have an overall average of 90 or above, while students at Colorado Middle School are required to have all grades between 90 and 100?

A. CHS counselor Sam Huffman said the manner in which students are named to honor rolls is a matter of building policy. Thus, the CHS policy is designed to recognize more students by placing them on the honor roll while the CMS policy is designed to recognize a higher level of excellence.

Hunter dies of heart attack near Loraine

Leonard Franklin Bearden, who was associated with Waylan Baptist College at Plainview, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Joan Merket about 9:45 a.m.

Sheriff Wendell Bryant said a fellow hunter was about 200 yards from where Bearden had staked out. When Bearden failed to take a shot at a passing deer, he went to investigate.

Bearden's wife, Frantom, who was at the camp site, told the Sheriff that her husband had suffered a heart attack about a month prior, and his condition proved to be inoperable.

The man was picked up by Kiker-Seale Funeral Home and transported to Colorado City then was sent to Brownwood for services and burial. He was also reported to have a brother, Lowell, in Brownwood.

County gets $368, C-City $307 from mixed drinks

Mitchell County has received $368.93 as its share of $2951.42 State tax on mixed drink sales; and Colorado City has received $307.58 of $2,460.62 tax revenue.

The rebates represent the county's and city's share of the state's 12 percent mixed drink tax collected during the third quarter of 1988, July, August and September.

Locally, the mixed drink tax rebates come through operations of private clubs. Texas cities and counties each receive a 12.5 percent share of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries.

State-wide 221 counties and 438 cities that tax mixed drink sales received a total of $10.6 million. The state's general revenue fund received $33 million from the tax.

FROM THE SCRIPTURES— "But they have also erred through strong drink, and through intoxicating drink are out of the way." Isaiah 28:7

* * *

Thus far this year, there have been 103 Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) cases filed in Mitchell County Court. In most of the convictions of first time offenders, the typical penalties are a $400 fine, $96.50 in court costs, and 60 days in jail. Rather than serving the jail term, the defendants are usually placed on probation for a two-year period and must pay a probation fee of $25 per month and attend a DWI class at a cost of $50. If you add up all the costs, you will find that the average cost of a DWI conviction is $1,146.50. And, of course, should the probation provisions be violated a proportionate part of the jail time would have to be served.

Gene Dow

That's a pretty severe penalty, and on top of the humiliation experienced of being handcuffed, taken to jail, "booked", administered the "breathalyzer", next of kin notified, name published in the local paper, etc. you would think it would be enough to keep anyone from driving while intoxicated.

* * *

* * *

But if you think the DWI convictions are harsh, note the punishment (not always enforced) for drunk driving in these countries:

Bulgaria—Execution after second conviction of DWI.

Malaysia—Mandatory jail sentence and if driver is married, spouse also goes to jail.

Russia—Driver's license revoked for life.

South Africa—10-year prison term or $10,000 fine or both.

Turkey—Police take DWI drivers 20 miles away from town and force them to walk back under escort.

DID YOU KNOW? Big Tex, the 52-foot tall statue located at the entrance of the state fair in Dallas was not always a blue-jeaned, behatted cowboy. It was first a giant Santa Claus for the chamber of commerce in Kerens. In 1952, it was sold and made over as the state fair mascot.

COUNCIL

Burt said there are two types of abatements: (1) Re-development—Improvement of existing facilities with tax abatement being offered on the new improvements only, for optional renewal periods up to maximum of 15 years; (2) Increment—where the taxing entity involved could vote bonds to build a new facility and have the taxes pay off the bonds.

The proposal is to offer abatement for a business or industry that would create at least five new jobs; or an investment of at least $25,000 in improvements that would meet all zoning requirements. Burt added that the plan does not forgive taxes on value of original structures, inventory or personal property.

A committee composed of representatives of each of the taxing entities—City, County, School and Hospital— would serve as a screening committee, working with the Industrial Team, to make recommendations to the instigating entity.

If any of the participating entities choose not to approve a Tax Abatement approved by the others, it would not be allowed to tax the new or improved facility for a period of twice the length of the abatement. And in the City's case, it could not annex any new property while the tax abatement was in effect.

In other business:

* The Council approved a resolution of support to neighboring Fisher County in its opposition to the establishment of a hazardous Waste Disposal Site.

* Approved an ordinance adopting a zoning change from (A) Single Family Residential to (F) Local Retail District for Lots 6 and 7, Block 199, Original Town of Colorado City, located at 17th and Chestnut Streets. The change had been requested by Jim Hammond and Henry Bilberry.

* Fire Marshall Billy Ray Williamson reported receiving a request from the Anson Fire Department for GI truck parts. He pointed out that the Colorado City Fire Department had two old GI trucks, obtained from Civil Defense years ago, that are not being used nor any use for the parts. The Council approved giving the old trucks to Anson.

* Approved the City Secretary Glenna Garrett's financial report that showed $121,836.37 in income and $103,775.32 in expenditures in the General Fund; and $70,375.77 in revenue and $116,633.09 in expenditures in the Water and Sewer Fund during October.

* Approved current vouchers totaling $42,548.92 for payment.

City Manager Brenda Hammond reported that the Housing Standards Committee had scheduled a meeting for next Wednesday, Nov. 16, to consider objections filed by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Word, Mr. and Mrs. James Free, Bob Culpepper and Wendell Jordon to the condemnation of their properties.

She also reported that the City's annual Christmas Party has been set for December 16.

Mayor Jim Baum reported the formulation of a group selected to do some "brainstorming" on developing a more positive attitude and possibilities of getting the city moving forward. He said the group should work well with the new Tax Abatement Plan.

Councilman Tom Carlock inquired about the possibility of instigating plans for the construction of a new Little League ball park.

Councilman Howard Nelson indicating he had been receiving good input from citizens over the City's project of cleaning up old buildings.

Councilwoman Dee Hearn was present, but absent were Councilmen Bob Reily, Earl Plagens and Rex Thackerson. Others present were Chief Bobby Sparks, and City superintendents David Sanders and Buz Rich.

New officers elected for ladies auxiliary

New officers for the Colorado City Ladies Volunteer Fire Auxiliary have been elected.

They are Debby Guelker, president; Becky Wilson, vice president; Tina Williamson, secretary; Shelia Redwine, treasurer; Sharon Myers, public relations; and Martha Martinez, race team captain.

Purpose of the organization is to supply the volunteer firemen with food and drinks when they are out on long fires. They also help with the senior parties (Project Celebration) and the annual fire prevention coloring contest at local schools.

The auxiliary also participates in pumper races. This last year, the ladies won two first place trophies and one second place trophy in the Haskell Semi-Annual Convention last April. In October, the ladies brought home first, second and third place trophies from the Rotan Semi-Annual Convention.

The ladies auxiliary is trying to keep a scrapbook. If anyone has any pictures or history they could share, please contact Sharon Myers at 728-8492 after 5 p.m.

For the holiday season, the ladies auxiliary is having a drawing for $100 worth of groceries. Tickets may be obtained for $1 donations. Tickets are available from all officers and fireman's wives. The drawing will be held Nov. 18 at 2 p.m.

Computer users group organizes

The Colorado City area computer users group met Oct. 25 at the Medallion Room of Lone Wolf Electric Coop and elected officers and discussed goals, needs and the role of the group.

Mark Stingley, local computer consultant, was the evening's speaker, discussing various routines for handling files.

The group will propose a charter at the next meeting, which will be Nov. 29, 7-9 p.m. at the Medallion Room. The charter will define what the group actually hopes to achieve and the role it will play.

Stingley said it cannot be stressed too strongly the need for participation by those in the community who are interested in computers for this endeavor to be successful. Among the advantages of the group are the pooling of knowledge about computers and the implementation of that knowledge. It will provide a source of information for those who feel "lost" and have only their manual to turn to.

Officers elected were Trey Sheppard, president; Rev. Travis Monday, vice president; Mark Stingley, secretary pro-tem; and Randy Cooper, treasurer.

Others present were Frances Godwin, Billy Rhea, Patricia Rivera, Rusty Lee, Virginia Tammen, Mrs. Bill Cooper and Lavern Moody.

Earl Burk honored on 93rd birthday

Several family members were present including Mr. and Mrs. Billy Roach of Snyder, Dr. and Mrs. Pat Hanford, Ryan and Reese of Lamesa, Dr. Dee Roach of Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Strain and Haylee of Leonard, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roach, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Howe of Lubbock, Ty Roach of Lubbock, Irene Martin of Snyder, Gene Oliver of Phoenix, Ariz., Frances Macha of Dickinson, Delise Macha of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Burk of El Paso.

Colorado City AT WORK

by BRENDA HAMMOND
City Manager

On September 1, 1985, the Texas Water Commission assumed primary responsibility for protecting Texas' water resources as a result of the enactment of Senate Bill 249 by the 60th Texas Legislature. This legislation abolished the Texas Department of Water Resources and transferred most of its functions to the Texas Water Commission.

Currently, the Texas Water Commission has jurisdiction over numerous activities, including:

- surface water and water rights-permits, enforcement, planning and watermaster operations;
- water quality programs-permits, licenses, enforcement and planning;
- determination of suitability of certain federal projects;
- regulation of dam construction, maintenance and removal;
- response to spills of oil and hazardous materials;
- hazardous and solid waste management-permits, enforcement and planning;
- administration of a portion of the State's injection well program;
- regulation of water wells and drilled/mined shafts;
- administration of the National Flood Insurance Program;
- flood control improvement projects-plan, review, and approval and construction inspection;
- administration of the water rates program;
- certification program for wastewater treatment plant operators.

The Texas Water Commission emphasizes enforcement in order to protect Texas' valuable, finite resources - water - and the environment. The agency is responsible for implementing State laws relating to water and aggressively enforcing all rules, standards, orders, permits, licenses and laws under its jurisdiction.

To achieve these goals, several tools are provided by the Legislature. The Commission can assess administrative penalties up to $10,000 per day for each violation. Also, enforcement hearings are mandatory for permit holders who are substantially out of compliance with their permits for four consecutive months.

The Texas Water Commission is organized along programmatic lines to form an effective, efficient and responsive public agency. Permiting, enforcement and planning responsibilities for each major program is vested in each division responsible for that particular area.

We are governed by the Texas Water Commission in all of the areas mentioned. A great effort is made daily to remain in full compliance.

Texas politics: 'a contact sport'

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN–The 1988 election may be remembered as one which changed forever the way campaigns are waged in Texas, and a few words during the closing days by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen may best sum it up:

"In Texas, politics is a contact sport."

Indeed, it was.

Some observers say this election has permanently altered future campaigns. Others disagree, certain that Texas will not see another election like this one for years to come.

With two Texans on the presidential ballot, it is certain to be many years before the stakes are so high.

From the early primary days to Election Day polling, Texas was visited, wooed, and crisscrossed by every candidate who could beg, borrow or steal a plane to fly here.

Texas: Big Enchilada

This was the first year of the Super Tuesday primary. Texas was the big enchilada. All the hopefuls appeared and returned as often as appearances could be scheduled.

When the primary dust settled, two Texans sat at the top of the tickets, and every voting household felt the pressure.

Both parties let loose with heavy shelling in the form of relentless television spots.

The candidates spent untold millions on television and travel budgets while ignoring more traditional aspects of political campaigning.

Remember when most candidates would save funds so they could purchase last- minute spots?

Not this year. Both parties started buying time before the Labor Day picnic and never faltered.

For ten long weeks, voters endured a blitz of negative political messages.

For voters, the silver lining was first-time absentee voting without being out of town as an excuse. The positive aspect of the election is that voters participated in record numbers.

Hispanics File Against FBI

The FBI has harassed and intimidated Hispanic agents who successfuly sued the bureau for racial discrimination, according to documents filed in U.S. District Court in El Paso.

In papers filed last week, lawyers representing more than half of the bureau's 440 Hispanic agents asked for an injunction to prevent the bureau from harassing employees who joined in the suit.

One Hispanic agent said in an affidavit that the bureau had taken away his pistol in retaliation for his decision to testify in the trial last summer.

MCorp Asset Move

The Federal Reserve Board has temporarily ordered MCorp to prepare a plan to move $400 million in holding company assets into subsidiary banks that are short on cash.

According to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, a source who requested anonymity said the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency contacted MCorp subsidiary banks needing a cash infusion, asking them to provide an explanation of how they intend to increase capital.

MCorp, Texas's second-largest bank holding company, will file for protection under the U.S. bankruptcy code if it receives a permanent order for a cash transfer, the source told the newspaper.

Houston Bingo Probe

Attorney General Jim Mattox called for the investigation following reports of rigged games to steal money from charities.

Bullock has also asked Mattox to rule whether he can regulate high-stakes games planned for the Kickapoo Reservation in Eagle Pass.

Valley Voting Crucial

Ever since history turned up the story of how LBJ won his statewide election with mysterious votes from a Duval County graveyard, vote tallies from South Texas have always been suspect — whether rightly, wrongly or hypocritically — by at least a few pols in other parts of Texas.

Historically, South Texas has been a Democratic bastion, growing stronger with each election and placing more and more of their number into the political State Capitol establishment.

Some observers speculate, perhaps naively, that South Texas is now strong enough to divide into a two-party region.

However, if South Texas imitates other regions which went from Democrat to Republican, it will first develop a large block of independent voters, or ticket-splitters.

That could happen as early as this year, because Republicans are wooing Hispanics more ardently than ever before.

But the wooing could be undone somewhat if Hispanics react negatively to the Spanish-lauguage radio ads which advise that citizenship papers will be checked for first-time voters.

Perhaps more than any other voting pattern that will reveal itself this year, the Democrats need for South Texas to remain solid and the Republicans need it to crack. What it does will very much decide who will win state offices in '90.

Possible Conspiracy?

Rains' office said the design may be a conspiracy to defraud certain absentee voters in Hidalgo County. He's ordered all paper ballots reprinted and asked the Texas Rangers, the FBI and the U.S. Attorney to check.

Sharp thinks that's baloney, that Republicans are trying to paint a vote-stealing conspiracy out of a simple typographical error. He defended the county clerk there as already taking steps to correct the misprint.

That's when Republican partisans pointed out the Hidalgo County clerk is also a state co-chairman for the Dukakis-Bentsen campaign.

And it goes on and on from there. Likely, the implication of conspiracy will never be proven, but it is useful in staining the credibility of one's opponent for victory purposes.

After all, if you'll recall when Bill Clements beat Mark White in '86, an election bug was found in a Clements' campaign office shortly before the election.

No suspect was ever named but the incident played against White, who was already behind at that point. Some Democrats later suggested it was planted for Watergate-style headlines.

Like much of what goes on behind the scenes every election, we'll never know the truth, and the incident will become a footnote in Texas political lore.

Other Highlights

- Political campaigns continued to use the broadcast media almost exclusively in their candidate advertising, virtually ignoring daily and weekly newspapers.
- The Public Utility Commission nixed as a bad deal for ratepayers the power-plant trade taking Austin out of the South Texas Nuclear project and Houston Lighting & Power out of a court fight.
- Former Texas Speaker of the House Gus Mutscher, now the Washington County judge, was linked in a FBI probe of a real estate company which allegedly misled clients over $1 million in investments. Mutscher denied any wrongdoing.

- The Texas Racing Commission hired the racing secretary from New Mexico to start parimutuel horseracing here.
- Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, who is organizing an Austin meeting next month for non-OPEC nations, said Great Britain has bowed out but other oil producing countries such as Canada, Mexico, Oman, Egypt and Norway are favorable.
- Meeting in Laredo, directors of the University System of South Texas voted to make their schools part of the Texas A&M University System. A&M officials will decide this month if it will take over Laredo State, Corpus Christi State, and Texas A&I.
- State Rep. Glenn Repp tested electronic monitoring of non-violent parolees by wearing the anklet transmitter device for three days. Repp, a Duncanville Republican, said he will push for use of the device as a safe alternative to expensive prison terms.
- Thirty-five prospective track operators have told state gaming officials they want licences to build horse and dog racetracks across the state.

Letters to the editor

Health care

TO THE EDITOR:

Peace of mind for whom?

Our modern day Robin Hoods: Rep. San Rostenkowski, (D) Ill; Senator Lloyd Bentsen, (D) Tex; and Rep. John D. Dingell (D), Mich. are now robbing Senior Citizens in their new catastrophic health care bill.

Anything done by the government probably needs to be done, but private enterprise could do a better and a less costly job.

I hope the catastrophic health care doesn't lead to worse horror, Socialized Medicine. Socialized Medicine has already been tried and given up by England as too inefficient to health care and too costly to taxpayers.

I hope it isn't too late, when the people find out what Congressional Magic the legislation really entralls, to send Senator Bentsen and his colleagues home forever.

Hunters urged to donate excess venison

COLLEGE STATION— Texans who harvest more venison during the current deer season than their families can use may want to give the excess to the Salvation Army.

Dr. Don Steinbach, wildlife and fisheries project supervisor for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said harvesting deer is an important tool in game management and conservation.

He said increased doe harvest is needed in some areas of the state to bring deer populations more in line with food supplies.

"This venison, if it exceeds the need of the hunter's family, could be donated to the Salvation Army," Steinbach said.

Maj. Kenneth Brewer of Dallas, of the Texas Divisional Headquarters of the Salvation Army, said donations of venison can be accepted at 46 Salvation Army Corps Community Centers for use in feeding indigent families and transients across Texas.

These centers will accept deer that are field dressed to fully processed, but the more completely processed carcasses will be most appreciated to reduce operating costs," Brewer said.

Steinbach said hunters should be sure to follow rules in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Hunting Guide concerning a legible hunter's document, tags or permits when donating a deer carcass.

He said these guides are available from all hunting license dealers.

Steinbach said persons desiring more information about the deer carcass donation program should contact the nearest Salvation Army Corps Community Center in Texas or call Maj. Brewer, (214) 353-2731.

Wolves, Yellowjackets in bi-district battle

The 1988 class AAA state football playoffs begin this week and for the Colorado City Wolves, who face an unfamiliar opponent, it will be like a return to old stomping grounds.

Colorado City completed the regular season Friday with a 35-0 whipping of the Coahoma Bulldogs. The win gave the Wolves a 9-1 season record and a perfect 5-0 mark for the district 7-AAA crown. Friday night the Wolves take on the Llano Yellowjackets in a bi-district contest scheduled for 8 p.m. at San Angelo's Bobcat Stadium.

The Clyde Bulldogs, 35-10 winners over Wylie Friday, take their 8-2 season record and a 4-1 district 7-AAA runner-up record to Coleman for a rematch with the Brady Bulldogs. Clyde beat 8-AAA champion Brady in an earlier non-district game.

The district crown is Colorado City's first in 10 years but the Wolves played playoff games at San Angelo just four years ago. The Wolves won there twice to reach the regional round. Llano, runner-up of district 8-AAA, stands in the way of a repeat performance.

"We call them the Stingers," said 10 year Wolves coach Tom Ramsey. "They're actually district co-champions but we catch Llano because Brady beat them."

Llano, 5-5 for the year, finished 4-1 in 8-AAA. The Yellowjackets defeated Fredericksburg 20-17 Friday to clinch a spot in the playoffs. Brady, also 4-1, lost to Sonora 28-14 Friday but enters the playoffs as the district champion because of it's earlier win over Llano. Fredericksburg had been picked as the favorite to take the title.

Llano returned 7 offensive and 6 defensive starters.

"Fredericksburg dropped from 4A to 3A," said Ramsey. "Fredericksburg was favored but Llano pulled it off against them. They've got to be pretty good to get to the playoffs. You can't get to the playoffs without being good."

"Some districts are stronger than others but we have to worry about them," said Ramsey. "The records don't matter. What happens in those 48 minutes will decide everything."

"Llano has thrown the ball 50 times in the last two ballgames," said Ramsey. "They line up in a Wing-T but they'll go into a Pro-set. They seem to want to throw the ball a lot more than other teams in that area."

Ramsey was pleased with the Wolves' performance against Coahoma-including the play by the offensive second team. "The special unit we came up with was not our normal second team. It was our dirty dozen."

Ramsey said the Wolves will be ready to play Friday despite not knowing the Yellowjackets. "Just the fact that it's bi-district and the playoff atmosphere gets them ready," said Ramsey. "There's so many positives. It won't be personal like district games where the kids know the kids that they're playing but it doesn't matter."

"We tell them we're a district representative and they're a district representative and it's going to be a heck of a football game."

"We're going to have 34 kids in uniform," said Ramsey. Coach Ramsey said son George (hyper-extended knee) was the only casualty against Coahoma. Fullback Beau Rees suffered a hard hit to the stomach and was reportedly coughing up blood. "We're healthy," said Ramsey. "Beau received a blow to the lower abdomen and was passing blood. He's got that under control."

Loraine, Christoval to play Sixman rematch

The Loraine Bulldogs, who are in their first year of competing in a Sixman football district, successfully made a run for the playoffs and will be in bi-district action Friday night.

Loraine, 8-2 and 65-20 winners over Hermleigh Friday, lost this year only to teams ranked in the state's top five. The Bulldogs took second place in district 7 with a 4-1 record. Trent defeated the Bulldogs for the district title.

Loraine's other loss was a non-district 46-14 loss to now, top-ranked 10-0 Christoval.

The Bulldogs get another shot at the Cougars Friday when the two teams hook up in a bi-district contest scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Bronte.

This time around the Bulldogs will be looking to give the Cougars two halves of competition. Christoval held only a 14-8 halftime lead in the first encounter "but then started getting all the breaks" said Loraine coach Tommy Meredith after the game.

Christoval gained only 40 yards more than did Loraine and held a slight 16-14 edge in first downs. Meredith said that a weak passing game in that contest was a key to the loss.

Swoopes, Cubs beat Lady Wolves

SNYDER-Sheryl Swoopes and the Brownfield Cubs beat the Colorado City Lady Wolves 15-13,15-5 in a bi-district volleyball match here at Snyder High School gym Saturday morning.

Brownfield, 21-10 runner-up of district 5-AAA, advanced to an area contest against the Alpine Lady Bucks. The Lady Wolves, champions of district 6-AAA, ended the 1988 season at 11-12.

Colorado City gave Brownfield a closer contest than an earlier 15-2,15-7 loss at a Seminole tournament. The Lady Wolves held a 6-2 lead in the first game Saturday and were even with the Cubs as late as 12-12.

Mendy Conner served to give Colorado High School a 1-0 lead but two off target spikes by the Lady Wolves put Brownfield ahead 1-2.

A serve by Monica Hamilton tied it at 2-2 and three by Kendra Ritchey made for a 5-2 CHS lead. Denise Lowrance spiked a Laura Alvarez set for one of Ritchey's points.

The serving reached full cycle and Conner served to make it 6-2 but Brownfield scored five straight for a 7-6 lead. Swoopes, also a member of Brownfield's 1988 state championship basketball team, began her dominance of the match with a spike that began the five point run.

Two serves by Alvarez, including an ace, put CHS up 8-7 for a brief and final Lady Wolves lead. Two spikes and a dink by Swoopes led the Cubs to a 12-8 lead.

Ritchey served four straight points to make it a 12-12 game. A service ace by Lowrance kept the Lady Wolves one point behind at 14-13 by Swoopes ended the game with a hard kill down the line.

Swoopes made another scoring spike to begin the second game. The Cubs took a 4-1 lead with the Lady Wolves scoring on a Lowrance spike with Hamilton serving.

The Lady Wolves tied it at 4-4 with three serves by Lowrance that included a block by Amy Chitsey. Brownfield scored four points before a Conner serve made it 8-5 for the Cubs.

The Cubs scored the next seven points to take the match. Swoopes had two blocks, two spikes and two service points in the streak.

Plagens leads football game forecasters

Earl Plagens, publisher of The Record captured first place among the ten Local Football Forecasters, never relinquishing the lead throughout the 10 weeks of grid game forecasting.

Of the 250 games predicted in the Poll, Plagens guess 185 right with 65 wrong for a winning percentage of .740, and 6 games in front of second place. There was only 18 games difference in first and last place in the tight race.

John Martinez, distribution manager of the Record came from far behind gaining rapidly during the last four weeks of the poll to finish in a tie for second place with local farmer, Woody Anderson, who had held on to second place throughout the season. Both Martinez and Anderson finished with 179 games right, 71 wrong for an average of .716.

T. P. Fowler of Loraine, retired coach, finished in third place with 178 right, 72 wrong with an average of .712.

Playoffs!!!

The Colorado City Wolves, 9-1 champions of district 7-AAA, will be at San Angelo's Bobcat Stadium for an 8 p.m football contest against 5-5 district 8-AAA runner-up Llano. To reach Bobcat Stadium take Highway 208 South. At the outskirts of San Angelo will be a blinking yellow light. Turn right and then left (south) on Highway 67. Stay on Highway 67 until you reach Knickerbocker then turn right. Bobcat Stadium will be on the north side of Knickerbocker.

The Loraine Bulldogs, 8-2 runners-up of district 7 Sixman, will be taking on 10-0, top-ranked district 8 champion Christoval in a 7:30 p.m. contest at Bronte.

Phil Ball wins final Jackpot football contest

The only game missed by Ball was LSU's 19-18 win over Alabama. Even so, Ball had to rely on the tie-breaker score of the Dallas-NY Giants game to win the $25 in Football Bucks. Light Rivera also missed only one game, Philadelphia's 30-24 win over LA Rams. Rivera took the second place prize of $15 in Football Buck.

Nolan (Peewee) Russell broke a tie with 12 other entries who had missed only two games. He came within just 1 point of the Dallas-NY Giant score to win $10 in Bucks for third place.

Doctor liability affecting indigent care, insurance fees

A growing number of Texans are not receiving the care they need, while others are paying more for the care they get, according to a recent survey of Texas physicians.

The threat of a lawsuit is causing some physicians to limit services to indigent patients, while rising medical liability premiums have increased fees to other patients, according to a recent statewide survey conducted for the Texas Medical Association.

"The medical liability situation continues to get worse for doctors and patients due to decisions by the Texas Supreme Court. Over and over, the court has expanded liability and invented new ways to recover damages, and this is hurting our patients," said Dr. Val F. Borum, TMA president.

Fear of a lawsuit has led 10 percent of all physicians responding to the survey and 21 percent of obstetricians/gynecologists (OBGs) to limit services to indigent patients. At the same time, 7 out of ten physicians have increased diagnostic testing and four out of ten have increased hospitalizations due to the threat of a lawsuit or claim.

The high cost of medical liability insurance has forced 37 percent of physicians to limit or eliminate certain services, according to the survey of 1,600 doctors conducted by Opinion Analyists, Inc., Austin. Most dramatic, 45 percent of family doctors have stopped delivering babies and nearly a third of emergency physicians have limited emergency room procedures.

Physicians responding to the survey said many medical services now limited or eliminated could be restored if reasonable limits were set on their liability. Forty-two percent claimed they are either very likely or somewhat likely to increase their availability to treat indigent patients if they had limits on liability or state indemnity.

More than a fourth of the respondents who deliver babies said they would deliver more babies of their liability exposure was limited to eight years from the present 20. Thirty-eight percent of the OBGs said they would deliver more babies if this provision was changed.

Besides making health care services less accessible to Texans, the medical liability crisis is affecting what they pay for their care. Respondents estimated that nearly 15 percent of the average patient bill is due to defensive medicine, the practice or ordering extra tests, consultations, and hospitalizations for additional protection in the event of a lawsuit.

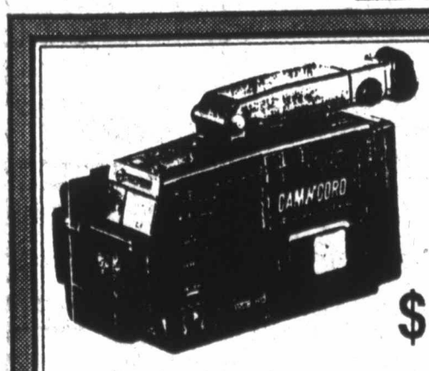

Texas physicians are paying anywhere from 37 to 117 percent more for professional liability insurance in 1988 over 1986 rates, according to the survey. Slightly more than half of those responding said they would need to raise their fees to patients not covered by Medicare or Medicaid if there is an increase in professional liability insurance premiums.

Ironically, the most highly trained physician specialists are most often sued. These include most surgeons, such as neurosurgeons and orthopedic, general, and specialized surgeons, as well as physicians in emergency medicine.

"Most often it's not the bad doctor who gets sued. Many highly trained specialist perform the most high-risk procedures," said Dr. Borum, an anesthesiologist from Fort Worth.

Liability insurance premiums were increased in nine percent of the suits or claims mentioned by doctors in the study. However, policies were ended in another seven percent and in two percent insurance companies limited the amount of coverage available.

Local students attend national leadership training conference

Seven Westbrook High School Future Homemakers of America members recently participated in a weekend leadership training conference held at the Hyatt Regency in Houston.

Nearly 2,000 men and women and their adult advisers took part in activities designed to help them analyze their leadership qualities and develop their potentials.

Westbrook students attending were Nancy Martinez, Custodia Rincones, Chrystal Kelly, Linda Cantu, Sherry Putman, Shanna Burnett and Lisa Putman. Accompanying them were adviser Mrs. Louree Upton and parent Mrs. Winnie Putman.

The youth-developed meeting theme, "New Attitude," encouraged participants to expand their personal leadership capabilities. Participants chose from 17 workshops in areas such as program management, community service, financial management, career exploration, peer education and communications. Issues sessions addressed AIDS prevention, self-esteem, decision making, child abuse and date rape.

During the conference, Nancy Martinez took part in a special workshop; for chapter reporters and was brought up-to-date on the role as liaison to the media. She also learned about tools and techniques for publicizing chapter activities.

The Houston meeting was the first in a series of nationally sponsored training conferences, called Cluster Meetings, to be held this fall. Since a primary goal of Future Homemakers of America is to help youth develop leadership skills that will prepare them for active roles in their homes, schools and communities, the organization offers this "hands-on" learning weekend in four different locales across the country each year.

Future Homemakers of America is a national vocational student organization serving 285,000 teenage male and female members. Founded in 1945, the organization has involved over 8 million young people and has grown to over 11,000 chapters. Participation in national projects and chapter activities helps members develop "skills for life" - planning, goal setting, problem solving, decision making and interpersonal communication - necessary both in the home and the work place.

Future Homemakers of America is the only in-school student organization with the family as its central focus. Chapters develop programs with the recognition that everyone is a homemaker and in today's society, preparation to be a wage earner, community leader and caring family member is important to all young people.

Question and answer forum scheduled by Loraine board

Beginning in November, 30 minutes before the school board meeting, Loraine ISD will hold a question and answer forum. One will be held each month thereafter before each board meeting.

The forums are for anyone who has any question about any school policy. Two board members and the administrators will be present each month to answer questions.

The first forum will be held Monday, Nov. 14, at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Anyone who might have a question is invited and encouraged to attend.

"We hope for this to be a way to improve communications between the school and community," said Glenn Sanders, superintendent.

'Non-profit' status doesn't mean tax free

Ask Bob Bullock

Editor's Note: Bob Bullock, Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, answers questions from taxpayers in his monthly column, "Ask Bob Bullock." If you have a question about state taxes, write to: Bob Bullock, Comptroller of Public Accounts, Austin, Texas, 78774, or call 1-800-252-5555.

Dear Bob Bullock:

We've just started a non-profit corporation and we've filed the necessary paperwork with the Texas Secretary of State's office. Since we're non-profit, aren't we automatically exempt from paying the state's franchise and sales taxes?

H.R.
Houston

Dear H.R.:

Filing with the Secretary of State's office is the first step toward becoming any kind of corporation in Texas. But just being a non-profit corporation doesn't qualify you for an exemption from state taxes.

If you want to be considered tax-exempt by the state, you need to contact my agency. To do that, just write us a letter or give us a call, and depending on your organization, we'll tell you what papers to send with your application for tax-exempt status.

Dear Bob Bullock:

I'm the advertising manager of an out-of-state company with retail outlets in Texas. We often have advertising inserts printed by out-of-state companies and shipped directly to newspaper distributors across Texas. Is sales tax due on the printing charges for the insert?

W.L.
Dallas

Dear W.L.:

First, I want to make sure everyone knows we're talking about printing charges here. Advertising by itself is not taxable in Texas.

In this case, sales tax isn't due on the printing costs, since the printer is sending the inserts directly to the actual newspaper's distributor.

However, if you had inserts printed out-of-state or in Texas, and the printer shipped them to your customers or stores in Texas, you'd need to pay tax, even if you turn around and send them to a newspaper.

Dear Bob Bullock:

I help students find local, state and national scholarships they're eligible to apply for. The student fills out paperwork, which I send to an out-of-state company to run through their computer. The company then sends the data directly to the student. Since I'm not actually delivering the information, should I collect sales tax on my fee to the students?

R.J.
Houston

Dear R.J.:

Even though you don't actually mail the data to the students, you're still providing them with an information service, which is taxable. So you should collect sales tax on your total charge to the student.

Be sure and issue a resale certificate to the out-of-state company you're working with instead of paying them state sales tax, since you're already collecting the tax from your customers.

Dear Bob Bullock:

Yesterday, I bought a pair of jeans and was charged nine percent state and local sales tax. I thought the maximum sales tax allowed in Texas was eight percent?

D.D.
Dallas

Dear D.D.:

You're right--the maximum sales tax rate that can be collected in Texas is eight percent. If this happens, give us a call and we'll straighten out the retailer.

Correction: In the September issue of this column, we said that golf cart rental fees charged by non-profit country clubs aren't taxable. These fees are taxable. However, golf cart shed rental fees charged by non-profit clubs aren't taxable.

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

On Sunday, Christene's sister, Sylvia Moon and Kim came from Odessa and Mrs. Edna Fowler of Loraine was there. They enjoyed an early Thanksgiving dinner.

* * *

Bill and Faye Scarber of Pecos visited their kids and grandkids, Tommy, Sharon and girls. They also visited in Abilene while they were here.

* * *

Recently Sharon Green attended a funeral in Abilene for her cousin. Bill and Faye Scarber came for the funeral as he was the nephew of Faye. His name was Bill Harris from Abilene.

* * *

Bertha Faye Snyder and her friends, Doris Williamson and Betty Reeves of Colorado City are home after a recent vacation trip to Paragosa Springs. They visited in several interesting places.

They stayed at Eagles Nest and had trouble getting all the junk they took along to the nest.

It rained on them all the way home but still they found lots of sight-seeing places. They had a lot of fun but really were glad to be home.

* * *

We are having a revival at our church this week. If you are home lonely, disgusted and bored, come on to the church at 7 p.m. I am sure you would feel better after visiting with friends and relatives. The singing is good, the preaching is good, so all we need now are a few more people to help fill our pews.

Rev. Rick Alkire is leading our singing and Rev. Shon Wagner is doing the preaching.

* * *

We have several real sick people in our town. Some are in the hospitals in Lubbock, San Angelo, Sweetwater. We hope you all are soon better.

* * *

Our junior high kids finished up their football season this week. Wish it could have been on a winning season, but it wasn't so we are still proud of you.

This is the little group of guys we have followed all around in the summer to watch them play baseball. They are good at that also. Good luck in basketball.

* * *

Thanks for high school game. I believe some guy wrote in paper that Loraine watched the Rudy Sanchez show Friday night, but Rudy knows he wasn't the only guy there and that is one of the reasons we love him. He knows it takes everyone to make a team. Rudy, you were great and so was everyone else.

I want one of you guys to tell me what that side line chain was all about. I never did really know who the joke was on. Shawn, sorry you didn't get to play, but I am sure it was the best for you.

* * *

* * *

Oh yes, I forgot to give the most important news of the week. After lots of delay and hard work, a group of guys I know about were ready for deer season or so they thought.

Glenn Sanders left his house around 5 a.m., headed south for the lease. Several miles on down the road he encountered a deer. I really don't know any details except he hit and killed the deer.

Good luck Glenn and don't get hurt. It could happen the next time.

Producers urged to respond to crop surveys

AUSTIN - The Texas Agricultural Statistics Service will begin contacting farmers and ranchers across the state in late November for 1988 acreage, yield and production totals and end-of-year livestock and poultry inventories.

"Changes in the national farm program and t his summer's dry weather certainly had an impact on Texas agriculture, and these surveys should help us summarize where the industry stands at the end of 1988," state statistician Dennis Findley said.

"Information from these confidential surveys conducted by mail, telephone or in person also will help producers make their plans for the coming year.

"Sound production and marketing decisions required good, reliable information and some advanced planning, and our reports provide producers with solid facts and figures they can incorporate into their plans," Findley said.

The Texas service will be trying to keep survey costs at a minimum this year because of budget cuts, so Findley is urging producers to return their mailed questionnaires as soon as possible.

"Remember, these are sample surveys, so if you are contacted it is important to provide the requested information, since one producer represents similar operations of the same type and size. Our estimates can be no better than the numbers producers provide," Findley said.

Results of the surveys will be published in early 1989. Anyone wanting a copy of the results can write Information Section, Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78767.
