

The Art Of Living

Someone has sent me a clipping that has passed from hand to hand for many years. I don't know who its original author was, but what he had to say should be read by everyone. The clipping is headed "Something to Think About" and updated, it reads:

"In 1923, a very important meeting was held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago. Attending this meeting were nine of the world's most successful financiers. Those present included:

- "The president of the largest independent steel company;
- "The president of the largest utility company;
- "The greatest wheat speculator;
- "The president of the New York Stock Exchange;
- "A member of the President's Cabinet;
- "The greatest 'bear' on Wall Street;
- "The head of the world's greatest monopoly;
- "The president of the Bank of International Settlements."

"Certainly we must admit that here were gathered a group of the world's most successful men. At least, these were men who thought they had found the secret of 'making money.' Thirty years later, this is what had happened to each of them:

"The president of the largest independent steel company—Charles Schwab—had died a bankrupt and lived on borrowed money for five years before his death.

"The president of the greatest utility company—Samuel Insull—had died a fugitive from justice and penniless in a foreign land.

"The greatest wheat speculator—Arthur Cutten—had died abroad, insolvent.

"The president of the New York Stock Exchange—Richard Whitney—had served a term in Sing Sing penitentiary.

"The member of the President's Cabinet—Albert Fall—had been pardoned from prison so that he could die at home.

"The greatest 'bear' on Wall Street—Jesse Livermore—had died a suicide.

"The head of the greatest monopoly—Ivar Kruger—had died a suicide.

"The president of the Bank of International Settlements—Leon Fraser—had died a suicide.

"All of these men learned the art of making money, but not one of them learned how to live."

This unknown author has pointed a great moral for us all. The important thing in living is to learn how to live. Living is an art and each of us must master for himself the art of living.

What is the art of living? It is simply living as God meant you to live.

And how can you find out how to do it? There is a book which has told men for generations how to live. This book is the Bible and in it you will find a complete blueprint of the art of living in every detail.

"But," you say, "I've never been any good at reading blueprints."

Well, that's what your church is for. Your minister, priest or rabbi has spent a lifetime learning the particular blueprint your own faith recommends as a guide to the art of living. Go to your place of worship, go to your spiritual advisor, and get the help that's waiting there for you.

Tomorrow may be too late. If you haven't mastered the art of living, all you hold dear may come tumbling down about you and leave you destitute, alone and with nothing. The man who has mastered the art of living has faith and integrity and he knows that, no matter what happens, everything still lies before him.

Two Seek City Council Posts

The Spring election campaign, heading toward the April 7 city election, was launched here Saturday as the first two candidates filed for positions on the City Council.

James L. Daugherty Files As Candidate For School Trustee

James L. (Jim) Daugherty, Midland cleaning plant operator and active in civic affairs here for years, Saturday announced his candidacy for a place on the Board of Education of the Midland Independent School District.

"I have no axe to grind," said the 46-year-old Daugherty, "and I'm not running as the representative of any clique."

"I am simply offering my services to the citizens of the school district for this important job of helping to run our schools."

A native of Killeen, Daugherty moved to Midland in 1936 and opened the Excel-Sure Cleaners in the Hotel Scharbauer building. Three years ago he built the building his business now occupies at 2203 West Texas Street.

Two of his children, L. G. (Copper) Daugherty and Diana Daugherty, are Midland High School graduates, a son now is in the fourth grade and another son will start to school next year.

Daugherty is a past president of the Lions Club here and a past district governor of Lions International. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and the Church of Christ.

City Asks Bids In February On South Side Sewer Project

The City of Midland called for bids Saturday on a project which will bring sewerage service to every developed section of the south side of Midland within the next 60 to 90 days.

Bids on the sewer extensions will be opened on February 18 at City Hall, according to an announcement by City Manager W. H. Oswald.

"These extensions are being timed," said the city manager, "so they will be ready to go into service about the time the new south outfall sewer line, now under construction, is completed."

The extension of the sewer service was described as the "culmination of plans started two years ago when we started the program which included construction of outfall lines on the south side and north side of the city."

The project, he said, will be split into two portions so two separate contractors can be working at the same time to rush it through to completion before the hot summer weather.

The project will cost between $85,000 and $90,000, he estimated.

Two-Year Program
The new extension project will involve all of Hines addition and unserved portions of Southern Addition, Lindsey Acres, Haley Heights and Stockard Acres.

The extension of the sewer service was described as the "culmination of plans started two years ago when we started the program which included construction of outfall lines on the south side and north side of the city."

OLD SOLDIER SPEAKS AGAIN—

Mac Says Formosa Blockade Sent Red China Into Korea

NEW YORK —(AP)— Gen. Douglas MacArthur Saturday night lauded the reported plan to pull the U. S. Seventh Fleet out of the Formosa Strait and said it would "correct Truman's order sending it there was a 'fundamental error which has contaminated the entire Far Eastern situation.'"

The former Far Eastern commander also said the Truman order, which created a naval blockade of Formosa, was instrumental in bringing Red China into the Korean conflict "after the North Korean armies had been destroyed."

MacArthur made his statement in commenting on Washington reports that President Eisenhower intends to revoke the order issued June 27, 1950, by his predecessor, would correct Anomoly.

If Eisenhower orders the Seventh Fleet out of the Formosa Strait, MacArthur said, it would "correct one of the strangest anomalies known to military history."

Such a course "should be supported by all loyal Americans irrespective of party," he added.

Truman's order sealed off China's forces from Formosa from the Chinese mainland. Should Eisenhower cancel the order, a way would be opened for Chinese Nationalist raids on the Communist-held mainland.

MacArthur, fired as Far Eastern commander by Truman, issued his statement here through his aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

General MacArthur said Truman's action placed a "restriction on the activity of the free Chinese forces" and "gave public notice that the Chinese Reds were to enjoy unopposed sanctuary in the struggle for Asia between the forces of communism and those of the free world."

BIGGEST, BEST EDITION NEARS

Progress is the watchword as work progresses on the annual Petroleum Progress Edition of The Reporter-Telegram to be published in mid-March.

News and advertising staff members are busily engaged on the huge edition, which is designed to reflect the extensive growth and rapid progress of cities and communities of the vast Permian Basin Empire.

Every effort is being made to make the 1953 edition the "biggest, best and most complete" ever published in West Texas.

Copy, both advertising and news, now is being accepted for the giant Progress Edition.

The General's statement then added:

"It was undoubtedly this decision with its implications which emboldened the Chinese Communist forces to intervene in increasing strength in Indochina, in Korea, in Tibet, and along the entire periphery of their aggressive advance in Asia."

"It has been stated," MacArthur added, "that the purpose of the order by Truman to the Seventh Fleet was to prevent the spread of war but the result has been just the opposite."

The former Far Eastern commander then said: "The modification of the Seventh Fleet's orders should be supported by all loyal Americans irrespective of party. It certainly is time for this change."

MacArthur said the "protection" afforded by the sealing off of China's forces on Formosa from the Chinese mainland by the Seventh Fleet actually "permitted the transfer of the very Communist armies assigned to the coastal defense of Central China for the attack upon our forces in Korea."

"Indeed the concept of such sanctuary immunity unquestionably predominantly influenced Red China to enter the Korean conflict after the North Korean armies had been destroyed. xxx"

One Week Added To Dimes March

Midland County's annual March of Dimes was extended another week Saturday as campaign leaders reported contributions still are $10,000 short of the $26,000 goal for 1953.

"Reports indicate many residents have not yet been contacted," said Chairman Ray Gwyn. "We hope to contact every one in Midland by the end of the week."

As the drive neared the end of two weeks of intensive effort, Gwyn reported $15,000 had been collected but pointed out that that figure still was $5,000 less than was contributed during 1952.

So this week, scores of workers will concentrate their efforts in the business district of the city, contacting business men and office workers.

Members of the Shrine Club have volunteered to work the downtown area Friday and Saturday and volunteers still are needed to help reach the goal by the end of the week.

Organizations or individuals interested in working should contact the March of Dimes headquarters by calling 4-6269.

Midland mothers contributed their efforts last week in collecting more than $10,000 in an all-out, one-night Mothers' March on Polo. School children have added another $1,200 with their dime cards.

Drive officials looked for returns from mailed folders to help boost the total.

"The folders mailed out to more than 9,000 Midland residents," said Gwyn "still were being received at headquarters Saturday. However, the number received in each mail was growing smaller. Every person who has one of these folders should mail it in as soon as possible."

STANTON — Wesley W. Williams, 55, farmer in the Courtney community, was found shot fatally at his home about 7:30 a.m. Saturday. His wife discovered the body in the bathroom.

Williams had suffered 22 caliber bullet wounds in the head. He was in ill health.

Justice Martin Gibson of Stanton was continuing an investigation Saturday afternoon, expecting to record the coroner's verdict Monday.

Services pending for Williams at Arrington Funeral Home.

Williams came to Martin County 32 years ago from Putnam, in Callahan County.

Survivors include the widow; a son, Wesley W. Williams, Jr., of Stanton; the mother, Mrs. R. D. Williams, Sr., of Putnam, and five brothers, School Supt. Nat Williams of Lubbock, Everett, of Crosbyton, Lynn, of Moran, and Louis, R. D. Jr., and J. N. Williams, all of Putnam.

Contract Awarded For Construction Of West Texas Gas Company Building

A new building, designed specifically for customer convenience, will be constructed for the West Texas Gas Company at the southeast corner of Missouri and Pecos Streets, C. I. Wall, president of the company, announced Saturday.

Contract for the construction of the one story, 100x100-foot building has been let to James A. Puckett of Midland on a bid of $111,894. Joe Youngblood, pioneer Midland resident, will be the owner of the building. Architects are Atchison and Atkinson of Lubbock. The edifice is scheduled for completion in August of this year. R. W. Lewis is the gas company's Midland manager.

Drive-In Pay Window
"We are utilizing every modern convenience to provide pleasant and efficient service for our customers," Wall said.

"Incorporated in the building will be a drive-in pay window, two of the most modern kitchens in West Texas, a large room for special social and civic club meetings, all-year gas air conditioning, a spacious lobby for the public and for display of gas appliances and community promotions, an 'after-hours' phery of their aggressive advance in Asia."

"It has been stated," MacArthur added, "that the purpose of the order by Truman to the Seventh Fleet was to prevent the spread of war but the result has been just the opposite."

The former Far Eastern commander then said: "The modification of the Seventh Fleet's orders should be supported by all loyal Americans irrespective of party. It certainly is time for this change."

Only 49 Safe Of 177 Known Aboard Vessel

DONAGHADEE, NORTHERN IRELAND —(AP)— The British sea ferry ship Princess Victoria sank in a howling hurricane Saturday, sending 128 men, women and children to death in raging seas within sight of land.

Dazed survivors said the 2,694-ton vessel plying between Scotland and Ireland went under after "five hours of hell."

At 11:13 p.m., hours after the disaster, port officials announced there were only 49 known survivors out of the 177 persons aboard the Princess Victoria.

She was battered by 115-mile-an-hour winds. Huge waves splintered lifeboats before they could be launched.

Terror-stricken passengers, all outfitted with lifebelts, plunged into the seething waters as the skipper, Capt. James Ferguson, gave the order to abandon ship. It was barely five miles off the mouth of Belfast harbor in the Irish Sea.

Survivors reaching this port said the Princess Victoria capsized and went down within minutes after Ferguson gave the abandon-ship order.

Worst Storm In Years
The sturdy little ferry was carrying 177 persons—123 passengers and 54 crewmen—when it ran into the worst storm to sweep the Northern Coast of Britain in years.

By 10 p.m., 35 survivors—all men—were landed here by the Donaghadee lifeboat station.

Officials said the Royal Navy destroyer Contest picked up eight others.

There were reports—unconfirmed—that several small rescue craft had found a few survivors.

The sudden hurricane also flooded coastal towns, sank many small moored vessels and washed cottages out to sea.

As the winds hit, the 262-ton English trawler Michael Griffiths with 15 aboard, vanished without trace off the Southern Hebrides Islands of Scotland.

The Princess Victoria got in trouble soon after she left Stranraer, Scotland, her home port, on her regular 36-mile run to Larne, Northern Ireland. Winds up to 111 miles an hour rocked her to a 25-degree list. Children and adults alike were uneasy. By order, they donned lifebelts, as the oil-burning twin-screw steamer struggled on.

Frantic Distress Call
Just before the Princess Victoria gave up, Ferguson radioed this frantic SOS:

"Mountainous seas have swamped engine room. Preparations being made abandon ship. Launching lifeboats impossible because of heavy seas."

Other vessels in the area fought their way to the ferry's position to give a hand, but the Princess Victoria went down.

Stack Of Unopened Mail Holds Secret Of Voting Strength
The secret of Midland County's 1953 voting strength lay Saturday night in a pile of unopened mail.

The big rush was over and County Tax Collector J. M. Speed finally locked up his office at 10 p.m. Saturday as the late comers got under the deadline wire in paying their poll taxes.

Only about 4,750 receipts had been issued, along with some 600 exemption certificates.

"But we won't know the final figure on qualified voters," said Speed, "until we open that stack of letters and issue receipts on them as well as on applications which will be turned in by special deputies."

Illinois Senator Denounces State Tidelands Ownership

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) Saturday night denounced a proposal to give states clear title to submerged oil lands off their shores as a 40 billion dollar "giveaway."

He discussed the Tidelands bill in the first of a new series of transcribed radio broadcasts over Illinois stations. He discussed the same subject in a filmed telecast over Chicago television station WGN.

Douglas said the offshore oil lands belong to the people of all 48 states and the income from them should be used to increase teachers' salaries and improve schools throughout the country.

But, he conceded, it now "seems likely" Congress will pass legislation to give the lands to California, Texas and Louisiana. He went on:

"The thought of Congress giving away over 40 billions of dollars in oil resources, part of which belong to Illinois, has made me think of the plight of the schools and teachers in Illinois and in the whole country."

"Here is 40 billion dollars which many want to give away at the very time when our school districts cannot raise enough money to give our children the education which should be theirs."

Douglas said he is backing an amendment by Senator Hill (D-Ala.) to the Tidelands bill under which most of the revenues from off-shore oil would be allocated among all the states for education.

'Oklahoma' Booked Here February 20

The Theatre Guild's fabulous "Oklahoma!" the Rodgers and Hammerstein world-famous musical, will be presented in the Midland High School Auditorium on February 20, under the sponsorship of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

"Oklahoma!" is beginning its tenth consecutive nation-wide tour from coast to coast, with new scenery, costumes and electrical effects requiring two 70-foot railroad baggage cars to transport the production from city to city.

Featured in this Theatre Guild National company are: Ralph Lowe, Florence Henderson, Jerry Mann, Jacquelin Daniels, Mary Mario, Victor Griffin, Alfred Gibelli, Jr., Judy Rawlins, Gwen Martin, Victor Reilly, Charles Hart, Marjor Reilly and others, including a large cast of boys and girls chorus, plus a symphony orchestra of 20 conducted by Peter Laurini.

"Oklahoma!" now holds the all-time record of musicals, topping such great successes as "Annie Get You Gun," the famed "Ziegfeld Follies," "South Pacific," "King and I," "Call Me Madam," "Show Boat," "The Merry Widow," "Carousel," and "Brigadoon."

The company is of exactly the same strength as when first toured: 75 brilliant singers, actors and dancers; plus the symphony orchestra to play Rodgers' unforgettable music. "Oh, What A Beautiful Mornin'!" "The Surrey With the Fringe On Top," "People Will Say We're in Love," "Everything is Up-to-date in Kansas City," "I'm Just a Girl Who Can't Say No!" "Pore Jude Is Daid," "Many a New Day," "Out of My Dreams," and the stirring "Oklahoma!"

Tickets now are on sale by mail order only. All orders should be addressed to Wemple's, P. O. Box 408, Odessa.

Three Men Injured In Work Accidents

Three men were given emergency treatment Friday at Western Clinic Hospital for injuries suffered in working accidents. All but one were released immediately after medical care. The third man was discharged Saturday.

G. N. Gentry, 308 East Malden Lane, who works for the General Engineering Company, fell on a concrete runway while working at the Schaubauer Hotel. His back and left arm were injured.

Eugene M. Hodge, Midland, was hit on the forehead by a caliper, receiving lacerations which required sutures. He is employed by the El Paso Natural Gas Company.

Gale Harding, a truck driver employed by the Bill Tucker Construction Company, hurt his finger. Minor amputation was ordered, with reconstruction of the finger. He lives in Odessa.

Lake Yields Body Of Missing Texan

FAIRFIELD, TEXAS.—(AP)— The body of John Davis Burleson, 51, retired businessman missing more than a week, was found Saturday in a lake about 13 miles east of here.

Sheriff Henry Brown said Burleson was last seen in Fairfield January 24. He said an extensive search was not made for him because he frequently made trips out of town. Burleson's automobile was found Friday near the lake. Searchers with grappling hooks found the body near the bank.

Burleson had operated a funeral home and a furniture store and had farm and livestock property. He was a director of the Fairfield State Bank.

New UT President Takes Over Monday

AUSTIN.—(AP)— Dr. Logan Wilson, 45, a native Texan, takes over as president of the University of Texas Monday facing plenty of duties to keep him busy.

The former academic vice president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina will be charged with administering the affairs of 12 colleges and schools, 61 teaching departments and 52 research and service units in Austin. He also is responsible for administration of the Institute of Marine Science at Port Aransas and the J. W. McDonald Observatory at Fort Davis.

Prevention Labeled Best Polio Weapon

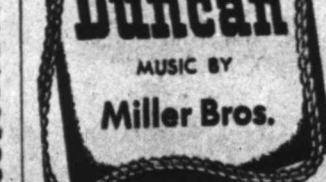

AUSTIN.—(AP)— "An ounce of prevention" still will beat that "pound of cure."

Although a vaccine for preventing polio is in sight, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said Saturday sanitation is still the best answer against the cripple.

Since the vaccine and also the use of gamma globulin for lessening the effects of the disease are in the experimental stage, cleanliness is polio's best opponent, Dr. Cox said.

An uncontaminated water supply, efficient sewage system, proper garbage disposal and personal cleanliness will never be replaced by any vaccine, no matter what the disease, he said.

Movie Stars Due In Midland Sunday

One of Hollywood's top performers for many years, Preston Foster, comes to the Ranchland Hill Country Club Sunday evening for two performances. He will be accompanied by his wife, Sheila D'Arcy.

Foster will appear in the role of a troubadour, being joined by his actress wife in 45-minute shows at 5:45 p.m. and following the buffet supper for club members and guests. Although his screen roles have cast him as a handsome heavy and western tough guy, Foster went to Hollywood to seek a career as a singer. He's picked up a guitar and now is demonstrating with success his wares as a singer.

Midlander Sees Red Berlin As Graveyard For Germans

East Berlin is a graveyard of fine buildings and starving Germans, reported Alan Harris, young Midlander. He recently returned to the United States after an extensive tour with the H-SU Cowboy band.

The famed college group went on the jaunt to Europe in a USO-sponsored excursion. They played at military installations overseas. Five girls and 25 men students were included in the entourage.

The Russian zone of East Berlin was inspected by the band members on a closely supervised trip. But the evidence of Russian domination, with its ruinous effects, could not be concealed.

Harris said here over the weekend most of the East Germans he saw looked cold and hungry. The red and black Communist flags flew everywhere, and as he expressed it, "You couldn't put your finger on a building without hitting one."

There also were statues of Russian leaders, such as Stalin and Lenin, spotted frequently at locations throughout East Berlin. Harris said the Russians were not permitting the Germans to forget their presence.

He characterized the East German police force as a "regular army," already mobilized as a military body. Harris, commenting on the Russian soldiery, tagged them as looking "very efficient."

The Russian troops pretended to ignore the young American college students traveling in their midst but he recalled receiving some ugly glances cast in his direction.

Harris reported one case of Russian "progress." The finest ancient castle in Germany was razed in their sector. In its place went a parade ground, to be used for Communist meetings and youth rallies.

He saw the usual collection of signs, such as "Americans Go Home," and messages on how the Russians were saving the Germans from the American capitalists.

The band members drove by a huge cemetery, built by the Russians to inter their heroes killed in the Battle of Berlin. It was filled with the dead of the Russian army lost in World War II.

Laborers 'Freeing'

But women, most of them without coats, were shoveling snow from the sidewalks and monuments of the cemetery, in the dead of winter. Harris said the German slave laborers looked as if they were freezing.

The Russians seemed to have no concern for the welfare of the East Germans in their charge. Economic standards for the Germans were bad, with a low living standard prevalent in East Berlin.

Germans in the Communist sector had to trade at the Russian nationalized stores. Their movements were rigidly controlled, and those allowed to visit West Berlin could take nothing along, except clothing.

No luggage or goods of any sort could be transported to the American section of Berlin by the East Germans. And they were hurt by the unfavorable rate of money exchange when they sought to buy items in West Berlin.

In spite of the restrictions, Harris told of a report by an American officer who said 15,000 East Germans were moving permanently to West Berlin each month, leaving everything they owned behind for the Russians to take.

He said the West Germans are grateful for the American troops now stationed in West Berlin. They seem to realize they are the only force holding back communism from the rest of Germany.

Railroads Thriving

The Russians control transportation in all sectors of Berlin. Harris said the West Berlin railroads were thriving, but the East Berlin areas seemed to be dead, with little freight moving in or out.

He also noticed that there were few bombed out buildings in the American section of Berlin, with many destroyed in the Russian occupied part of the German city.

The H-SU Cowboy band left the United States on December 20 and returned January 10 to Abilene. Other countries covered in their European tour included England, Italy, France, Iceland and Newfoundland.

Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Owens, who live at 918 North Edwards Street in Midland.

HONORS OHIO—The 150th anniversary of Ohio's statehood will be marked by the issuance of this three-cent commemorative postage stamp, to go on first-day sale at Chillicothe on March 2. The design features an outline of the state, which forms a background for Ohio's Great Seal. At each side is a row of eight stars, representing the 16 states admitted prior to Ohio. The 17th star, representing Ohio, appears above the north border of the map. In lower left corner is a buckeye leaf, symbolizing the state's nickname.

Wage, Price Curbs To Die, Says Taft

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Eisenhower Administration intends to let price-wage controls die April 30 but still is undecided about maintaining standby machinery, Senator Taft of Ohio indicated Saturday.

Taft, the Senate Republican leader, made it clear he himself is opposed to enacting any standby controls law, as suggested by Chairman Capehart (R-Ind.) of the Senate Banking Committee.

"I don't think we should give legal recognition to the principle of controls," Taft declared. "We should have a free economy in peacetime. If a big war emergency arises, Congress can act quickly."

Under a standby plan Congress would grant President Eisenhower wage-price control powers to be held in abeyance unless a big inflationary upsurge threatened.

Taft said he thinks it may be necessary to continue controls over the allocation of some strategic materials because of the Korean War. He said rent ceilings should be handled by the states.

With indications that the standby control question still is up in the air, Eisenhower talked the matter over with Capehart and Representative Wolcott (R-Mich.), chairman of the House Banking Committee, at a White House conference Saturday.

Wolcott has opposed the standby controls favored by Capehart. The

NON-PARTISAN, BUT ALL IN FUN—

Famed Alfalfa Party Picks New Dealer For President

WASHINGTON—(P)—Washington's famous Alfalfa Club had some fun Saturday night by "nominating" Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson for President before the Eisenhower Administration was two weeks old.

The nominating was done at a dinner attended by six members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet and almost 600 of the nation's political, business and judicial leaders.

Jackson, a New Deal Democrat, accepted with gusto and made a speech spoofing the Eisenhower regime as the first in U. S. history to be "completely motorized." This was a crack at the appointment of General Motors executives to high posts.

It was all strictly non-partisan. Senator Robert A. Taft, Senate Republican leader, placed Jackson in nomination, and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, critic of many "Fair Deal" acts, was among those escorting the jurist to the platform.

Like all the 39 Alfalfa dinners before this one, it was all in fun. The club, made up of Democrats and Republicans and leaders from all walks of life in the nation's capital, has been nominating presidents of the United States for years. None ever has been elected.

Wears High Silk Hat

The fortieth annual banquet was held at the Hotel Statler. Its high point was reached when Justice Jackson, in high silk hat instead of a Homburg, accepted the presidential nomination.

Describing the new Eisenhower Administration as one of supreme self-confidence, he said wryly:

"It has not been equalled in America since the early settlers of Connecticut proclaimed that their colony would be governed by the laws of God—until they found time to make better ones."

With an allusion to Eisenhower's inaugural Homburg and his general choice of General Motors officials for top administration posts, Jackson continued:

"A new era is at hand. The horse-and-buggy days are at an end and we behold the first administration to be completely motorized. Its first important decision was to banish the high hat."

Forthright, Fearless

"Far be it from me to question the motive, but I point out that there just isn't headroom for a top hat in a General Motors car. They had to give up one or the other."

The jurist, promising "not to speak over the voters' heads in his campaign, said:

"I will make a forthright and fearless stand on all issues that are not in controversy. I shall allow no self-evident point to pass in argument."

I shall discuss controversial questions in the aloof and impartial language of the judicial opinion. That will make my position invulnerable, because it will be incomprehensible."

Jackson's peroration was an assertion that the American people have not known how to get rid of the Democrats without electing the Republicans.

"Now," he concluded, "they will want to find out how to get rid of the Republicans without bringing back the Democrats. The answer to their prayer is the noble—and futile —Alfalfa Party."

Army Chief Says Operation Smack No Shooting Show

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Army's chief of staff, back Saturday from Korea, stoutly defended Operation Smack as "perfectly sound and legitimate" and not a shooting show staged for brass hat observers.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins told reporters who met him at the airport he was astonished that anyone would think Gen. James A. Van Fleet, the Eighth Army commander, would expend lives in a demonstration.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly," Collins said, "that General Van Fleet is more concerned over any operation that causes the loss of a single life than anyone except a parent or relative of a man."

Van Fleet's headquarters already has denied that the attack last Sunday on Little Spud Hill in North Korea was any staged show. Of about 220 U. S. 7th Division men in the assault, three were killed and about 60 wounded.

Collins has been asked to tell about the raid, carried out before visiting generals and war correspondents, in a public hearing

Tuesday of the House Armed Services Committee.

Committee Chairman Short (R-Mo.) and Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.), who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in a joint statement Friday the operation was "necessary for tactical reasons."

They said a preliminary check convinced them it failed to attain its objective — capture of prisoners through coordinated air-artillery-infantry assault—because of combat reasons which "are not unusual."

Earlier reports of the action, especially about a colored cover timetable handed the observers, kicked up a two-day furor in Congress. Army spokesmen said such operational timetables are routine in Korea and only the colored cover was unusual.

Iran Slams Door In Russia's Face On Seafood Pact

TEHRAN, IRAN—(P)—Russia lost her partnership Saturday in a Russian-Iranian Caspian fisheries company that provides much of the Soviet Union's caviar and other seafood. With the expiration of a 25-year pact for joint operation, Iran is taking full control.

It is understood the Iranians plan to pay the Russians in fish for their half of the physical properties and give them the right to buy all the company's output.

The operation broadens a nationalist program Premier Mohammed Mossadeq launched last year by nationalizing Iranian properties of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Reese Airmen Collect Funds For Interment Of Slain Girl

LUBBOCK —(AP)— Cadet Walter E. Whitaker's former comrades at Reese Air Force Base were taking up a collection Saturday to help pay funeral expenses for the high school girl he is accused of strangling, stripping and burying in a lonely grave.

Scores of officers and men from the base—near here where Whitaker, 20, formerly stationed—including the commanding officer, Col. C. P. West—attended the funeral of Joyce Fern White Friday.

They were among an estimated 2,000 who packed Lubbock's First Baptist Church.

One unidentified Reese airman told the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal: "I didn't know her but I've read so much about her I feel she was a friend."

Whitaker, handsome son of a Hartford, Conn., trucking family, led officers onto the plains west of here Wednesday and dug up Miss White's nude body from a shallow grave. He also pointed out the spot where the high school senior's clothes were buried, about 100 yards away.

Whitaker is being held without bond. He was bound over to the grand jury which meets February 9.

A justice of the peace returned a verdict of death from strangulation in the 18-year-old girl's death. District Attorney Travis Shelton said an autopsy showed Miss White had been "sexually assaulted shortly before or near the time of her death."

Whitaker recently was transferred from Reese AFB to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio. Shortly after his arrest in San Antonio Tuesday he told officers that "there was another girl I loved more than I loved Joyce."

It wasn't known how much Reese men have collected but the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said the money would go to Mrs. Lena White, widowed mother of the slain girl.

Whitaker's parents had not arrived Saturday. The Avalanche-Journal quoted Burton Burks, Lubbock lawyer and former district attorney, as saying Whitaker's relatives had talked to him by telephone but that no definite plans have been made for Burks to defend Whitaker.

Exchange Club Plans Golden Deeds Award

The first annual Golden Deeds award of the Midland Exchange Club will be presented to a Midland citizen on February 11 at a banquet at the Midland Country Club. Plans for the presentation were announced Saturday by the club, of which Jack Briscoe is president.

The award will go to the person who, in the opinion of the award committee and the club as a whole, has over the past year or number of years displayed the most unselfish and consistent will to serve their fellow men and the community without thought of personal reward or recognition.

The awards committee is headed by Bob Atwill and its recommendation will be submitted to the club for approval. Candidates may be nominated by schools, civic organizations, Chamber of Commerce, churches and individuals.

The recipient will be given an engraved plaque with a certificate of award and expression of appreciation by the Exchange Club. In addition a permanent Book of Golden Deeds will be inscribed with the name and decorated with the picture of this year's recipient and placed on permanent display at the Midland Public Library.

The Exchange Club, which meets each Thursday, was chartered March 8, 1952, with Robert I. Dickey as president and Robert Stripling as vice president.

Officials at the present time include besides Briscoe as president; Frank Giffert, vice president; Edwin Vandenberg, secretary; Bill Osborn, treasurer, and Joe Sauer, Bob Atwill, VanDen Bark, Fred Bouschens, Clint Ledebur and Phil Yeckel, members of the board of control.

Thirty-three oil and professional men make up the club membership. The organization stresses service to children such as furnishing braces for the crippled and sponsoring camp trips for deserving youngsters.

Sabres Chalk Up II-I Combat Edge Over Soviet-Built Jets

SEOUL—(P)—The Air Force said Saturday Sabre jets have attained a combat superiority of 11 to 1 over the Russian-made Communist MIG-15's.

This sensational ratio was achieved over two years of fighting the Reds in their own back yard over Northwest Korea. The ratio formerly was 8 to 1 in favor of the Sabres.

The Fifth Air Force said Sabre pilots have destroyed 548 MIG's since they first went into action in December, 1950. During that time, 49 Sabres were downed in combat.

These figures represent only confirmed MIG kills. The Air Force said, "Many badly crippled MIG's which limp across the Yalu River boundary line of Manchuria and become total losses to the Reds through crash or explosion are not claimed as destruction."

"Despite the controversy which has raged over the relative performance qualities of the two air-planes," the Air Force said, "the record stands preponderantly in favor of the Sabre jet fighter."

However, the Air Force has conceded that the MIG has a climb superiority over the Sabre and performs better at high altitudes. This is because the MIG is a lighter plane.

U. S. airmen agree that their electronic gun sight is the best available, and they feel the Sabre is "better armed."

"Sabre jets have returned from combat and landed safely with holes four feet square torn in wing or tail sections," the Air Force said.

But other advantages are all on the Sabre's side, according to data compiled by the Air Force.

Nevertheless, the MIG's go down steadily. In September of last year, 63 of the Red fighters were destroyed, with a loss of seven Sabres. And in January, 1953, American pilots made 40 kills while losing only two Sabres in action for a 20 to 1 ratio.

The MIG's still are a deadly threat to the slower F-84 and F-80 jet fighters used now mainly as fighter-bombers. The MIG's also have forced four-engine B-29 Superfortresses to drop daylight bombing and are menacing the unescorted bombers on night raids.

Dulles Dissolves New Vincent Probe

WASHINGTON—(P)—Secretary of State Dulles has dismissed a special board set up by former Secretary Acheson to make a new study of loyalty charges against John Carter Vincent, veteran diplomat. Dulles plans to "take action" on the basis of recommendations already before him.

This was announced Saturday by the State Department with the release of an exchange of letters between John Learned Hand of New York, chairman of the Acheson-appointed group, and Dulles.

Bickering Lawyers Exhaust New Panel In Parsons Trial

WICHITA FALLS—(P)—Bickering lawyers, needing only one more juror for the Mary Jean Parsons' bridegroom murder trial ran out of prospects again Saturday, and the judge sent the sheriff to get more off the streets.

This was a victory for the state, and in effect the ruling by Judge Arthur Tippetts wiped out Saturday's proceedings as wasted effort. Tippetts overruled a defense motion that he declare a mistrial.

The trial will resume Monday with 40 new veniremen and with the same number of challenges available to both sides as when court opened Saturday.

Mrs. Parsons, 22, is charged with killing her husband, Richard O. Parsons, 24, last February 16. The blonde, blue-eyed Tulsa heiress told officers she shot him in the head as he lay in bed in their El Paso apartment. She said they had quarreled over help given them by her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Fleece of Tulsa.

The original 300-man venire was exhausted Friday after 11 jurors were chosen.

Tippetts granted a defense motion to choose 75 more takersmen from the jury wheel for Saturday.

When the lawyers failed to find a twelfth juror Saturday, Tippetts ordered Sheriff Weldon Bailey and two deputies to round up 40 prospects and have them in court Monday.

Parents Stand By

Mrs. Parsons showed only scant interest in the proceedings. Occasionally she would glance at her five lawyers or at a prospective juror.

Mrs. Parsons' parents have been at each court session. A sister-in-law, Mrs. John Fleece of Tulsa, has been here since Tuesday. A brother, Tom Fleece of Midland, an oil man, watched the proceedings Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Parsons, free on $50,000 bond, is staying in one of the smaller, more conservative hotels. She seldom has been seen except for her walks to and from the courthouse. Hotel attendants said she takes all her meals in her room.

Liberal-Conservative Scrap Seen In Legislative Offing

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN—(P)—The Legislature "has taken hold of its problems," House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt said Saturday after the third week of the session.

"The main problem is preparing the budget for our state services," Senterfitt said.

"I detect an unusually keen interest," Senterfitt admitted the Legislature still is in the routine hearing stage.

Public hearings on bills start this week. Two to be heard at 7:30 p.m. Monday before House committees have stirred interest outside the Capitol:

1. A measure to prohibit crossing of candidates.

2. A measure to prohibit the State Parks Board from building hotels, lodges or motels.

Bill On Filing Ready Early

Cross filing of the same candidate on both the Democratic and Republican tickets was permitted in last November's general election for the first time in Texas history. Liberal Democrats didn't like it. Rep. A. D. Downer, Center, had the bill to abolish it ready at the beginning of the session. Printed postcards from Minnie Fisher Cunningham, a former state Democratic committeewoman from New Waverly, have been received by some representatives urging attendance at Monday's hearing.

"Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad! Remember last November's election," the cards say.

The bill to stop the Parks Board from building hotels or lodges peaked up folks in Denison, where plans for an Eisenhower Lodge on Lake Texoma already have started. The bill would stop that. Its author, Rep. Jack Fish, Wharton, said he had in mind to prevent the construction of a proposed million dollar hotel in Inks Lake on the Colorado River near Burnet because he didn't think the state should go into competition with private enterprise. Fish's bill would allow construction of not more than 12 cabins on a state park.

Lines Aren't Drawn

The more controversial bills—such as the ones to increase teachers' pay, to permit horse racing and to tax natural gas—have been introduced but haven't been set for public hearing.

Lines aren't clearly drawn yet on the major issues. Since all 181 members of the Legislature are announced Democrats, they can't divide on party lines but do on issues. And the lines more often than not are between liberals and conservatives.

The liberals have rallied around a natural gas compressor tax—just as last session they held out for a natural gas gathering tax. The three major tax bills introduced so far have been on natural gas. The last, filed last week by Rep. George Hinson, Mineola, would put the tax on gas under contract for a year or more. Hinson said it would hit the big pipe line companies with long-term contracts.

Rep. Gabe Garrett, Corpus Christi, still is working on the idea of an invoice tax on business turn-over a year in Texas. The two per cent tax he contemplates would bring in $160,000,000. He wants to eliminate all the various taxes now on such items as natural gas, sulphur, beer and playing cards. Those taxes brought in $178,000,000 last year.

from Vladivostok, west of Japan. Other strong signals come from the Pacific Ocean east of Japan and it is my opinion that these probably are sent by Russian submarines. A ship would be too easy to find. I believe subs are to blame."

A former U. S. Navy pilot, Lawton flew antisubmarine patrol missions over the Atlantic in World War II.

Pilots Are Forewarned

S. E. Joiner of Childress, Texas, chief pilot of Japan Air Lines, and M. D. Sheets of New Brighton, Pa., another pilot for the same line, also told of receiving the same treacherous signals.

"The signals are on the same frequency as radio homing beacons in Japan," said Lawton, of Oakland, Calif., in an interview.

"If we followed the signals as we fly north from Tokyo to the island of Hokkaido, we would crash into mountains. If we followed similar signals as we fly from Hokkaido toward Tokyo, we would soon be lost over the Pacific."

Lawton emphasized, however, that since pilots are aware of the false signals, they rely on other, trustworthy navigational aides, averting any danger.

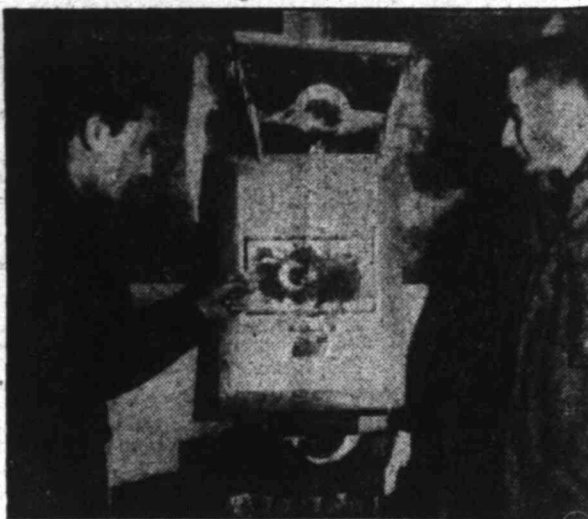

NEVER TRUST A MAN, HONEY

BERLIN—(P)—A young German film studio workman got a jail sentence Saturday and his girl friend is hopping mad—at him. He took a fake $100 bill from the set of a movie about counterfeiters and told her to break it for him. She obediently went to the bank. Then came the law. The judge believed her story. The boy friend got 30 days.

$100,000 In Jewels Pilfered From Locker

NEW YORK—(P)—Dante Briglante, a gem merchant, told police Saturday $100,000 worth of unset jewels he placed in a 10-cent public locker had been stolen. He said they were not insured.

Briglante said he placed the emeralds, diamonds, sapphires and rubies in the locker Friday while negotiating a deal for them. When he returned, the locker and a half-dozen others had been jammed open.

The Turks renowned for their combat courage, have hung the map above a copy of the Koran.

False Alarms Keep Firemen On Move

False alarms continue to plague the Midland Fire Department. One was turned in for the residence of C. A. Pigford, 2309 Country Club Drive, at 4:08 p.m. Friday. It was the third in that block in a week.

A grass fire was reported at the intersection of Douglas and L Streets at 8:14 a.m. Saturday. Again no blaze was found.

A cookstove became overheated in another fire incident at 4:15 p.m. Friday. It happened at the residence of C. W. Mathews, 609 North Main Street. No damage was caused.

A studio couch caught fire at the home of Eddie Oglin, 604 North Dallas Street, at 10 a.m. Saturday. Cause was unknown. Minor damage resulted.

TRASH FIRE GOES 'BOOM'

HOUSTON—(P)—Mrs. Marian Crouch had a high caliber trash fire Saturday.

Deputy Sheriff George Hilton said the woman unknowingly tossed several .45 caliber cartridges into the fire along with trash.

The cartridge exploded and a fragment struck Mrs. Crouch, 64, in the back of the neck. Her condition was reported not serious.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

One game is a sellout and another a cinch for Midland's biggest basketball week, getting underway Tuesday night when the Bulldogs tackle Sweetwater in a non-district encounter.

When those two schoolboy clubs pair off in the high school gym, it kicks off enough of the thumpity-thump to register on a seismograph like a San Francisco earthquake.

In the first place, seven major games are listed—count 'em: three here for the high school, one here and one away for Phillips 66 and one here and one away for Rotary Engineers.

Then add two each for the two junior highs, four for the elementary schools, four for the city league, and one for the Midland High sophomore team.

The biggest gainer by all this will be the Irby Weaver Leader Dog Fund which the Lions Club is sponsoring. Lions now are selling tickets to the February 5 clash between Phillips 66 and the Ada Oilers of Houston, a National Industrial League team.

It takes place at the high school gym at 8 p.m. (And, incidentally, add another game: they plan a prelin to this bill).

Lions predict a sellout, a take of enough money to send Irby Weaver, concessionaire at the Post Office Building, to Michigan where he will purchase a leader dog and go through a short training program to accustom himself to the dog's guidance.

The Ada team, which, like Phillips, is contributing its expenses to the fund, is one of America's foremost five, compares to the great Bartlesville 66er club that won recently over Midland's team.

Its squad lists such players as Jim Dowles, 1952 all-Southwest Conference player at Texas; Ralph Johnson, Baylor's all-time great from 1952; Royce Ray, Houston University's all-Missouri Valley player; Joe Jones of Oklahoma A&M; and so on up to Johnny Stanich, who played for UCLA in college and made all-American later with Bartlesville.

Bill Kleine, too, is with the team. He is, you remember, the player who started out as a Midland 66er early this season.

And most of all—big Walt Davis of Texas A&M, the Olympic high jump champion.

An interesting item about the Ada team is that its coach was an early day Bevo Francis.

Francis' 116 points in a Rio Grande (Ohio) game recently, in fact, seems tender to the total compiled by Ada's Harold Schmidt.

Schmidt racked up, in the day of the center jump, the low scoring game and pre-fast break era, a total of 96 points while playing amateur ball for Chicago's Rainbow Athletic Club. Fans—in that year of 1923—must have wondered if the game was going to the dogs.

so. The feat made his "Believe It or Not."

As for Rotary, Coach Jack Locke Saturday said the Engineers' game with the Globe-Trotters at Odessa February 7 is a complete sellout. That assured 3,000 fans will watch the Midland five go to Odessa for a return battle with the colorful negro troupe.

Midland High plays its first home district games in a month when Lubbock and Amarillo come here Friday and Saturday, respectively.

66ers Defeat Webb Airmen By 87 To 61

The Phillips 66ers encountered little difficulty in turning back Webb Air Base of Big Spring, 87 to 61, in the Midland-High School gymnasium Saturday night.

The Airmen slipped out in front of the Midlanders, 19-13 in the first quarter, then faded like a dew-drenched flower in a mid-morning sun. The 66ers dropped in 30 points in the second quarter to take a 43 to 35 lead at halftime.

A 28-point last quarter spurge carried the 66ers to the decided victory.

Gerald Tucker, the Olympic star of yesteryears, totaled 37 points to end up far ahead of the pack. Team-mate Kenny Jastrow registered 15 for runnerup honors among the 66ers.

Heater sank 18 points to take scoring laurels for the invaders. Simpson made 15 for Webb and Mann 14 as tallying honors were divided as far as the Airmen were concerned.

Cincy Offers To Buy Kiner

CINCINNATI—(P)—General Manager Gabe Paul notified his office Saturday from New York he would make an offer to Pittsburgh for outfielder Ralph Kiner.

Paul and Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pirates, are in New York attending the major league baseball meetings.

Kiner, the league's leading home run hitter over the last several years, hit 37 homers last season to tie with Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs for the loop leadership. His batting average slipped, however, to .244. Kiner has not signed a Pittsburgh contract for the 1953 season.

Paul did not disclose what he had to offer Rickey for Kiner but it was understood it would be cash and players.

MONAHANS—Rotary Engineers turned down the El Paso Natural Gas cage club of Jal, N. M., Saturday night, 72-56, pulling away.

Clay Whitless lead the parade with 20 of the points. Halftime score was 32-26 with the Midlanders out in front.

Mark-Ye-Well, Fleet Bird Big Santa Anita Winners

ARCADIA, CALIF.—(P)—Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well and Fleet Bird whipped out a one-two triumph in the fashion expected Saturday to dominate the $100,000 Santa Anita Maternity.

Mark-Ye-Well, the nation's leading money winner in the three-year-old division last year, won as he pleased and collected $65,000.

His running mate, coming up fast in the stretch, added $30,000 more to the simply filled Calumet treasure chest for his second place finish.

Happy Go Lucky, flown here from New Orleans by owner H. G. Bockman of Aurora, Ill., surrendered the place spot to Fleet Bird and wound up third and winner of $20,000.

The Brookmeade Stable's Roaring Bull was fourth, worth $10,000.

Borger Beats Midlanders

BORGER—The Borger Bulldogs won their second straight game on their home court Saturday night by downing the Midland Bulldogs by a 61-45 score.

Borger was never behind in the scoring but it wasn't until the third quarter that the home team pulled ahead to a 10-point lead and Coach Ter Hanna began running in substitutes.

The game was fairly close until the final period with neither team particularly fired up for the occasion.

Borger hit only 35 per cent of their shots and Midland only 34 per cent. Simpson Leads

The Borger attack was led by Allen Simpson, who collects 23 points, while Guard Roy Kinsey paced the Midlanders at Coach Red Rutledge with 13 points. Harold Paden was second in the Midland scoring with an even dozen points.

Norman Dillard of Borger started the scoring in the first quarter with a free throw and two field goals before anyone else could get in on the act.

Borger led 16-14 at the end of the first quarter and had moved to a 31-26 advantage by halftime. At the end of the third quarter Borger led by a 44-34 count.

Cowden, San Jacinto Eliminated In Close San Angelo Contests

Cowden and San Jacinto failed to survive the early rounds of the San Angelo Invitational Junior High School basketball tournament Friday.

But Cowden lost in an overtime game to Robert Lee of San Angelo, 52 to 50. The San Angeliens had overcome an early lead to tie Cowden in the last minute of regulation play.

Jim Owens and Larry Sapp had led the Midlanders into the second quarter with a 13-point margin. However, the lead had dwindled to four points at halftime.

Cowden bounced back to a 12-point margin in the third quarter but could not maintain the pace in the last period as the Angeliens caught afire.

Thomas Edison of San Angelo handed San Jacinto a 47 to 42 licking. Cooper paced the San Jacinto scoring with 16 points, followed by Chancellor with 10.

Two Midland Gloves Boxers Win Titles

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Reporters-Telegram Sports Editor ODESSA—Only Bill Burns, 116-pound Midland boxer, whose main duty was to train and serve as second to Midland boxers, and Danny Gonzales, San Angelo flyweight, broke the monotony of an Odessa-dominated regional Golden Gloves tournament here Saturday night.

Burns is one of two Midland open fighters and he earned his way to the state championship fights in Fort Worth without facing an opponent.

Gonzales eliminated defending champion Chili Reeves for his division title but Reeves will represent this region in the Fort Worth meet since Gonzales will have to win at the San Angelo tournament to go to Fort Worth.

Burns will be making his second trip to the state meet after he won the regional there in 1949 only to have to remain out of the finals because of a broken thumb.

Odessa's team—40 strong—scored 28 points to win the team trophy while Midland could boast only about half that many points to win second with 22. Both teams won 20 bouts but Odessa had six open division champions, worth two points per win, while novices earned one point per victory.

Andrews was third with 14 points, while San Angelo had 13. Monahans 3, Grandfalls 3.

Reeves lost his bout on a split decision.

He was thoroughly tugged throughout the first two rounds by Gonzales' right hand and the 1952 San Angelo champion coasted through the final round.

Midland had two novice champions and one—Charlie Crites—won the sportsmanship trophy of the tournament as well as the middleweight title. He whipped Winford McCurry of Midland in the finals after winning a default and two Friday night victories.

Morgan Wins Title

Pat Morgan of Midland won the featherweight title on a default victory over Doyle Nelson of Andrews, who broke his thumb in a semi-final bout. Morgan outclassed Don Warren of Midland in a semi-final match.

The tournament champions are:

Open Division
Flyweight—Danny Gonzales, San Angelo.

Bantamweight—Bill Burns, Midland.

Featherweight—Gerald Reeves, Odessa.

Lightweight—Robert Rigby, Odessa.

Welterweight—Loy Mead, Odessa.

Middleweight—James Adams, Odessa.

Light Heavyweight—Bruce Price, Odessa.

Heavyweight—Thomas Brown, Odessa.

Flyweight—Benny Mote, Odessa.

Bantamweight—Rubin Munoz, Odessa.

Featherweight—Pat Morgan, Midland.

Lightweight—Spud Green, Andrews.

Welterweight—Pete Chapa, San Angelo.

Middleweight—Charlie Crites, Midland.

Light Heavyweight—Don Outrell, Monahans.

Heavyweight—Butch Vining, Andrews.

Green won the outstanding fighter's award and Benny Davis of Monahans won the Charles Cox outstanding boxer trophy.

Kruger Holds Slight Lead In Bowling

Kruger Jewelry held on to their slim first place lead in the recent series of bowling battles in the Ladies League. Troy Cleaners followed in second spot, with Neely Agency a close third.

Results included: Kruger Jewelry, winning two out of three from Miller High Life; Neely Agency beating Troy Cleaners in two of three games; I. W. Hynd Company, two out of three from Midland Office Machine Company; and House of Beauty, two of three tilts with Schlitz. Only West Texas Office Supply had a clean sweep, downing Airway Cash Grocery three straight.

Troy Cleaners is currently leading the league with high team game of 623 and high series with 1646.

Ide Robinson led in individual high game with 176, and Felba Ware led in high series with 427.

Bolt, Dutch Tie In Tucson

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(P)—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Tommy Bolt tied for the lead of the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf Tournament Saturday after 54 holes with scores of 199. Their scores were 11 under par.

Bolt played almost faultless golf as he gained three strokes on Harrison, who had led the field through two rounds.

Chandler Harper, former PGA champ, and Tony Holguin were a single stroke behind with 200.

Johnny Palmer shot his third round of sub-par golf for 202. He had a one-stroke lead on Iverson Martin.

Bolt has shown none of the temper for which he is noted. He had not gone over par while banging out 11 birdies.

"I'm playing good, all-around golf," Bolt said. "I haven't been in any serious trouble."

Ellen DeChicchis Leads MHS To 9-7 Net Win Over Abilene

Midland High's No. 1 girls single player, Ellen DeChicchis, avenged her only defeat this season by winning Saturday to lead the Bulldogs by Abilene High School's tennis team, 9-7.

Miss DeChicchis last week was beaten by Pat Bennett but came back for an easy victory, 6-3, 6-1, Saturday.

The boys of Midland won over Abilene's boys in four of seven matches, with James Wolfe, the No. 1 singles player for the Bulldogs leading the way. He whipped Owen Cook, 7-5, 6-2.

The Midland winners in boys play were Bill Vandevanter over Owen Cook, 7-5, 6-1, and John Galle over Larry Asbury, 9-7, 6-4, in singles, and Kenneth Hughes and Charles Bleiker over Asbury and Hines, 6-2, 6-0, in doubles.

Pampa Blasts Bulldog Quint

PAMPA — Twenty-one players from both Midland and Pampa got in on the scoring—only six didn't—in a Harvester victory parade that took a 72-34 District 1-AAAA basketball game involving 27 players Friday night.

Pampa was hottest—hitting 80 per cent of its field goal tries—and had most reserves, using 15. And in the meantime, starter Fred Woods fired in 19 points to lead individual scoring.

Pampa went ahead 7-6 in the early stages and zoomed to an 18-9 first quarter margin, a 38-18 halftime mark and a 56-20 third period score. Only Tom Dyer scored, with a field goal, in Midland's third quarter.

Midland which completed 31 per cent of its field goal attempts, was led by Bill Mims' eight points.

Veck's, Saigh's Woes Share Spotlight At Owners Meeting

NEW YORK —(AP)— Bill Veck, president of the St. Louis Browns, protested to Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick Saturday against three clubs in the American League which have barred him from night games in their parks.

Fred Saigh, beleaguered owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, shared the headlines with Veck when he named eight prominent St. Louis executives he was considering for a committee to run the Redbirds. Saigh, sentenced last week to 15 months in prison for income tax evasion, did not attend the major league meetings of the club owners that ended Saturday. Veck was very much in prominence. After being rebuffed on all sides, the Browns' boss was closeted with Frick 90 minutes pleading his case.

Neither Veck nor Frick would comment on their discussion. Veck appealed to Frick to intercede in his television squabble with the New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox. Veck asked for a uniform baseball rule that would guarantee all clubs an equality in night dates. This, he claimed, was the original American League rule in 1939, the year night ball was started.

In a retaliatory move because of Veck's refusal to permit televising of the Browns' games at their ball parks, the Yankees, Indians and Red Sox, have refused to grant any night games to the St. Louis club. "If these clubs can throw me out of their night schedules, which will cost our club $30,000," Veck complained, "Then there will be no limit to what they can do with their money weapon of night baseball. What is to prevent any of them from threatening a poor club with a player to sell, so that the club will be removed from the night schedule unless the player is delivered at a certain price? That is the point of equity I present."

Saigh said he intended to see these men to form a three-man committee to run his Cardinals: Davis Calhoun, Jack Hickok and Arthur Blumeyer, bankers; Edwin Clark, president of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company; Arthur Atkinson, president of Wabash Railroad; Edgar Rand, president of International Shoe Company; Wesley McAfee, president of Union Electric Company; and Charles Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical Company.

Busby, Haney Go To League Meeting; Stephenson Signs

The Midland Indians Saturday listed one more player signed for 1953 as officials of the club got ready to attend Sunday's Longhorn League meeting in Abilene.

Charles (Tex) Stephenson, a combination outfielder-infielder, came to terms as the sixth to sign. Stephenson will be carried as a returning national defense serviceman and not as a rookie or limited service player. He was a member of the team before going into service. Stephenson has been discharged and works now in Midland.

Meanwhile, Business Manager Horace Busby, who announced the signing and Playing Manager Jay Haney prepared to attend the session of League representatives at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in Abilene.

President Hal Sayles of the League called the meeting to adopt a 1953 schedule. The slate, however, will be a routine business. The main topic is to locate the league franchise belonging to A. C. Gonzales of Del Rio.

Gonzales pulled his team out of Sweetwater last year and after it was placed at Pecos, that town was unable to provide a park site.

Lamesa and Hobbs, N. M., are chief contenders for the franchise site.

Midland officials said that its president, Marion Flynn, may be unable to attend the meeting because of business in Fort Worth where he is attending the Stock Show as an officer.

MOVIES ON TAP FOR EX-INDIANS

President Hector Dyer of the Stanford Club extended an invitation to the public to attend its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday when movies of two Stanford games will be shown.

The meeting will be held in the Humboldt Building conference room. The films of Stanford - UCLA and Stanford-Washington games will be shown to the alumni and guests, Dyer said.

McMurry To Award Letters To Andrews, Monahans Players

ABILENE—Hartwell Martin of Monahans and Wayne Graham of Andrews will receive letters for their 1952 play with the McMurry football team, the school announced Saturday.

Athletic Director Wilford Moore said 24 players have been recommended for letters. Two—Bob Lovin of Abilene and Billy Wayne Sisson of Littlefield—were named team captains.

Martin, a back, is one of five players who completed their play at McMurry. He will graduate in the Spring. Graham will play again next year. He also is a back.

LIKE OLD TIMES—That Joe DiMaggio is still the apple of kids' eyes was evidenced at Arcadia, Calif., where the retired Yankee outfielder was swarmed over by autograph seekers after appearing in a March of Dimes charity game. (NEA)

Sawed-Off Bat Too Rugged For Giants' Hank Thompson

NEW YORK—(AP)—A taxi driver beat Henry (Hank) Thompson, 27, New York Giants baseball player, about the head and face with a sawed-off baseball bat in an argument after a pre-dawn automobile collision Saturday, police reported.

Thompson, a negro, was taken to Mother Cabrini Hospital, where 14 stitches were required. He is an outfielder and a third baseman.

Police identified the taxi driver as William Winfrey, 30, also a negro, and arrested him on a charge of felonious assault. He pleaded innocent when arraigned in Felony Court and was paroled pending a hearing February 3.

Police said a cab operated by Winfrey and an auto driven by Thompson collided at an intersection in Harlem.

They said the cab driver, six feet, three and weighing 190 pounds, and the ballplayer got out of the cars and began arguing.

Winfrey pulled the sawed-off bat out of the cab and struck Thompson, they said. Winfrey contended at his arraignment that Thompson assaulted him.

Harry Gumbert Out As White Cap Pilot

GALESTON—(AP)—Harry Gumbert is "out" as general manager of the Galveston White Caps because of a salary disagreement.

Stockholders of the Gulf Coast League Baseball Club decided here Friday not to rehire Gumbert.

"We found it impossible to pay him a salary like the one he received last year," said James Bradner, new secretary-treasurer.

Gumbert said he received $7,500 last season.

Bradner revealed the job of field manager had been offered Barney

White, hard hitting White Cap right fielder. White managed Temple in the Big State League in 1949.

White told a reporter, "I haven't made up my mind about the job yet. I've got to think about it a little. The offer certainly came as a surprise."

The Brooklyn Dodgers scored the most runs (775) in the National League last year but also had the most men left on base (1,154), which is an average of more than seven

Washington Frosh Mentor Moves Up

SEATTLE —(AP)— University of Washington regents hired freshman John Cherberg Saturday to succeed displaced Howard Odell as head football coach for a one-year term.

Odell said the discharge was for "personal reasons." He stands to receive $15,000 for the remaining year of his contract.

Bigwigs Eye El Paso Open

EL PASO—(P)—The $5,000 El Paso Open Golf Tournament starts Tuesday with golfdom's big names fighting it out.

National Open Champion Julius Boros will share honors with Cary Middlecoff, who won the El Paso title last year when the club here rejoined the parade of tournaments.

Also scheduled to compete are Jim Ferrier, Jack Burke, Jr., Earl Stewart, Jr., Dutch Harrison, Al Bessellink and Tommy Bolt. Then there'll be Bill Navy, who set a new PGA putting record and tied the national competitive record with a 60-stroke, 19-putt round in last year's open.

Boros said he would rejoin the touring pro field for the meet here. The meet also is expected to draw top amateurs from Texas and New Mexico. Don Addington, winner of last fall's El Paso Amateur Invitational, is expected Monday.

Texas Tech Assistant Resigns Coaching Post

LUBBOCK—(P)—Bobby Goad, Texas Tech assistant football coach, the last two seasons, Saturday submitted his resignation, effective February 15, to enter private business in Tulsa.

Goad will be associated in the insurance business with Forest S. DeBernard of Tulsa.

Announcement of Goad's resignation, given informally last month, was held up to permit him to sell his house and to fulfill academic obligations. Goad has been an assistant professor of physical education.

Tag Team Match Highlights Odessa Wrestling Program

ODESSA—An Australian tag team match will highlight the wrestling program in Odessa Monday night.

Daisy Davis and Herb Parks go after Ray Urbano and Whitley Walberg for the best two out of three falls or a one-hour time limit. This is half of a double main event. The other half sends Buck Lipscomb against Frankie Hart.

The opening bout at 8:15 p.m. sees negro wrestlers in action. Napoleon Daniels and Albert Wynne, both of Odessa, go after it.

Reservations may be arranged by dialing 7-0901 or 7-9316 in Odessa.

Sammy Baugh Begins Career As Grid Coach At H-SU Spring Drills

ABILENE—Football's greatest passing star, Sammy Baugh, takes his first fulltime coaching job here either February 5 or 6 when Hardin-Simmons University opens Spring training.

Baugh has helped with Spring drills in previous years but, after retiring from the professional Washington Redskins, joins the staff as a fulltime member this year.

Twenty-seven lettermen will be on hand for practice. Coach Murray Evans has announced. He has not yet decided on which of the two possible dates to start the exercises.

Tide Water Gains On Superior In Race For Lead In Petroleum Bowling League

Superior Oil Company, with three of its games already under protest, finds its lead in the Petroleum Bowling League even shakier now after dropping two of three games last week to Tide Water Oil Company.

Tide Water Oil's victories moved it within four games of the league leaders.

Meanwhile, three teams garnered clean sweeps last week. Phillips 66 breezed past Standard Oil of Texas, 3-0, as did Al Boring Drafting Service over Tex-Harvey Oil Company and American Trading Company over Core Laboratories.

These other matches were decided two games to one: West End Magnolia over Midland Geophysical, Ohio Oil over Drillers Petroleum Products, West Texas Reproduction over Union Oil, Honolulu Oil over Axelson Manufacturing Company, Seaboard Oil over Rotary Engineers and State Exploration over Stuart Photo Print.

Al Boring Drafting Services continued its perennial lead in team scoring with a 914 high game and 2,570 high series tally.

Ken Baker rolled last week's top series with 552 pins and Ford Buehrle topped individual game scores with 221.

League team captains and officials will meet Sunday to decide on a protest filed against Superior by Phillips 66 after the former was awarded a forfeit from the 66ers two weeks ago.

The standings:

Team	W	L
Superior Oil	39	15
Tide Water Oil	35	19
W. Texas Reproduction	32	22
Union Oil	31	23
Phillips 66	30.5	23.5

Pal Garner, Partner Bow Out To McWane, Riley In Four-Ball

HOLLYWOOD, FLA.—(P)—Defending Champions Polly Riley of Fort Worth and Bea McWane squeaked a belated rally by their opponents Saturday and won a spot in the finals of the Women's International Four-Ball Gold Tournament.

They will make their third bid for the championship in the 36-hole final Sunday against Mary Lena Faulk and Mary Ann Downey.

Miss Riley and Miss McWane defeated Pat Garner of Midland, Texas, and Marjorie Lindsay McMillan, 2-up.

Miss Faulk and Miss Downey also had to fight off a rally to beat Carol Dringer and Mary Agnes Wall, 2 and 1.

Mrs. McMillan and Miss Garner had to go 23 holes to defeat Betty Rowland of Lexington, Ky., and Kathy McKinnon of Lake Worth, Fla., in Friday's quarter-final—the longest match of the tournament so far.

Martinez Says He Wants Chuck Davey Or Chico Vejar Next

NEW YORK—(P)—Vince Martinez, the 1952 rookie of the year, has his eye on a fight with Chuck Davey but he's willing to settle for Chico Vejar, the man who made Davey famous.

"I'd like to fight that Davey," said Martinez after his unanimous decision win over Carmine Fiore Friday night at Madison Square Garden. "Everyone says he's so good. I think I can beat him right now."

Reminded that Davey had other business—his welter title challenge against Champion Kid Gavilan at Chicago, February 11, Martinez agreed he also would like a shot at Vejar, then a red hot TV sensation, that shot Davey into the high brackets of the income tax derby.

WT-NM Schedules 142-Game Calendar

ABILENE—(P)—A 142-game schedule for the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League was announced Saturday by President Hal Sayles.

The season will open April 24 and will close September 11 with the All-Star game at Lubbock July 23. Each club will have 70 dates and 71 games and the same number on the road. Doubleheaders are scheduled for July 4 and Labor Day.

Members of the league are Albuquerque, Clovis, Border, Amarillo, Pampa, Lubbock, Plainview and Abilene.

Club Owners Seek Slash In Gate Tax

SHREVEPORT—(P)—Texas League club owners decided to ask a 50 per cent cut in the federal tax on baseball admissions.

They said the 20 per cent excise tax was reducing their receipts because they could not pass it on to the fans and had to absorb it themselves.

Storm Sewer Project Added To Big Spring Street Plans

A storm sewer to alleviate flooding conditions in some sections of North Midland will be included in plans for widening North Big Spring Street, City Manager W. H. Oswald said Saturday.

Plans for the storm sewer were disclosed as the city began clearing the way for the state to start the project of widening Big Spring Street to 65 feet from West Texas Street to the Midland Draw.

Oswald said the storm sewer, ranging from 24 to 48 inches in diameter, will begin at West Nobles Street and extend to the Midland Draw.

"There is an area of about 120 acres around Nobles and Big Spring Streets that forms a slight sink when it rains," Oswald explains.

"This water flows into the Progress Park area, where last Summer some of the homes were flooded.

"With this storm sewer we hope to drain this water into Midland Draw before it floods down into Progress Park."

Oswald said the widening project will be turned over to the State Highway Department as soon as the assessment program for the construction of curbs and gutters is worked out.

The cost of the curbs and gutters will be assessed against the individual property owners while the cost of widening the street will be borne by the state.

Where curbs and gutters already have been built, the city will bear the cost of moving them back under the widening program.

The assessment procedure probably will be launched at the meeting of the City Council next Thursday, Oswald said.

The city already has sent letters to North Big Spring residents, recommending they move trees now located on the strip to be used in the street widening.

"If they want to move the trees back on their property," said the city manager, "that will be fine.

"If they don't, the city will remove them and replant them on park sites around the city."

Three Known Dead As Hail, Wind Storms Batter Texas

A violent thunderstorm ripped into Houston late Saturday with wind gusts up to 88 miles an hour and was blamed for three deaths. Several persons were injured.

With the wind blasts came hail stones and a downpour of rain that flooded streets and disrupted electrical service.

The storm was one of a series

Midland Woman Hurt In Highway Accident

A 72-year-old Midland woman was injured Saturday when the automobile in which she was riding plunged from Highway 80 east of the city and overturned in a ditch. Mrs. S. L. Caffey, who lives on Route 2, east of Midland, was in Midland Memorial Hospital with a fractured collarbone and several fractured ribs.

Mrs. Caffey was riding in an automobile driven by her son, Samuel Marshall Caffey, 38, of Peecos.

State Highway Patrolman Ocie Renfrow said Caffey was driving toward Midland when another automobile, driven by John Rayford Barron, 31, of Waco, attempted to pass him.

Renfrow said the approach of another car caused Barron to swing in swiftly behind Caffey, hitting his car in the rear and causing it to plunge from the highway.

The Caffey car was described as a total loss.

Army Team Blasts Top From Blazing Offshore Gas Well

ABOARD A PATROL BOAT IN THE GULF OF MEXICO—A 75-million-pound Army rocket team succeeded Saturday in blasting off the top of a blazing offshore gas well, turning the trick on its thirty-fourth try.

With the top off, the flames from the well shot skyward Sunday, experts will use dynamite to try to snuff out the fire so the well can be capped.

Three of the Army infantrymen from Camp Polk, La., were old hands at firing at the well top. Last Tuesday, they crouched behind sandbags and fired at another burning well.

They succeeded in loosening the steel T-shaped pipe so firefighters could loop the fixture and pull it off to direct the blowtorch-like flames skyward instead of from each end of the crossbar on the "T."

get within half a mile of the town. Largest ship endangered by the mountainous seas which lashed the coast was the 7,131-ton steamer Clan MacQuarrie, which grounded in the Outer Hebrides. Its 66 crewmen were taken to safety at ebb tide.

Off the Yorkshire coast, the disabled 902-ton British motorship Memphis broke her cable while being towed to safety by a tug and was reported drifting helplessly 15 miles off the town of Withernsea.

It was not known how many were aboard.

Coastal Dwellers Trapped

In Suffolk County, floods left a scene of destruction in the fishing port of Lowestoft. It has a population of 46,000. Wartime air raid sirens wailed a warning to civil defense workers and ambulance men to help the stranded. Many streets were under four feet of water. The town was plunged into darkness as waters seeped into the generating plant.

In Southeast Britain, wind-whipped tides flooded the town of Kent (population 18,000). Rescue parties worked through the night moving out trapped inhabitants.

Hundreds were trapped in the blacked-out village of Whitstable on the North Kentish coast as waves poured over the new sea defense wall still under construction.

Large areas of the town, which has a population of 18,000, were turned into a six-foot lake. Telephone service failed.

Much of the Ipswich County town town of Suffolk lay under flood waters four to six feet deep. Ambulances were called to rescue inhabitants from the dock area.

All along the east coast gales and tides rushed up river estuaries, causing the waters to overflow their banks.

At Scarborough, Yorkshire, raging seas tore gaping holes in a sea wall and rushed in, tearing nearby bungalows to splinters.

POSTS OF JAM

In Australia, fence posts exude the fragrance of raspberry jam. The odor comes from the timbers of the umbrella bush, which is used for the posts.

March Of Dimes Promise Keeps Cash Drawer Empty

CHURUBUSCO, IND. — (P) — Grocer John Shelton shelved out dimes like corn for the second straight day as small fry of this little community ganged up on him to help the March of Dimes.

Shelton had advertised he would give a dime to the March of Dimes campaign for every youngster who visited his market this weekend.

Pupils of Churubusco school persuaded their principal to dismiss them Friday just long enough to visit the store in a body—800 strong.

Then the kindergarten teacher decided it would be a good day to take her 68 pupils on a field trip to a grocery store to see how one operates. She chose Shelton's store.

The visits started again Saturday and Shelton, who expected to attract about 100 children in this town of 1,233 population, was adding dimes by the dozens to the polo fund.

"I'm glad I didn't make the offer in Chicago," he said.

FIRE CHIEF'S FORTUNE FADES

WHITESVILLE, KY. — (P) — The fire chief's home burned to the ground Saturday and his firefighters didn't lift a finger.

Fire Chief Harvey Embury said that, because the nearest fire hydrant was 2,000 feet away, the city fire truck couldn't be used.

The chief theorized a defective fuse caused the blaze, which destroyed the frame house and its furnishings.

Dulles Tells Italy Eisenhower Seeks Fast Unity Action

ROME — (P) — President Eisenhower has told Italy and indirectly the rest of Western Europe he is interested highly in speedy formation of the European Defense Community.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi disclosed this Saturday night after a two-hour meeting with Secretary of State Dulles and Mutual Security Administrator Harold Stassen.

Dulles delivered the message from Eisenhower in the form of a letter from the President to De Gasperi, an old Eisenhower friend.

De Gasperi said Dulles can assure the President "we have the very same desires in this matter." "We are especially close to the United States in our feelings . . . on the defense community," the Premier added.

128 Drown—

toria had plunged to the bottom. The British destroyer Contest and four merchant ships joined in a hunt for the victims. Circling aircraft sighted some passengers and crewmen on lifeboats and rafts and dropped flares to mark the positions.

But many of the groups had disappeared by the time surface rescue craft got there.

One of the planes was a U. S. Air Force C-81 "Transporter" piloted by Capt. Neal A. Byrd, which was diverted to the rescue mission while on a training flight from its base at Southport.

Most of the persons sighted were dead. The first of the survivors landed at Donaghadee at 6:15 p.m. As they walked up the steps from a rescue boat, they were cheered by a waiting crowd.

Some were rushed off to hospitals. Others were able to walk to a nearby hotel.

Water Pours In

Among the survivors was Fusilier Walter Baker, 20, who was on his way home to Armagh after serving with the Royal Irish Fusiliers in Germany.

"After we left Loch Ryan (Scotland) we were hit by a tremendous sea," he said. "The water burst open doors at the back of the ship and water poured in."

"The vessel started to list and drift. We were told to put on lifebelts. It was stated that a destroyer was coming to help us."

"After the doors had burst open, mailbags and luggage floated to the surface of the water. About 3 o'clock, we got an order to abandon ship."

"We jumped into lifeboats or rafts or anything else that floated. There were 18 other people in my lifeboat, but one of the others which was launched was smashed."

"There were dozens of rafts. Many people jumped into the water. The ship listed gradually over. Then, after 10 minutes, she disappeared suddenly as we watched."

"Under the new policy the Department of Justice will maintain a record of all pardons and commutations granted in the future, which will be open to inspection by Congress, the press and others who have a legitimate interest."

This is a reversal of policy followed for a number of years. The government has taken the position that, generally speaking, it would not announce pardons except in response to specific inquiries from reporters.

HOUSTON MAN KILLED

HOUSTON — (P) — Richard Robinson, 50, was injured fatally Saturday in a fall from a railroad tank car on which he was working. He was a native of Grand Saline.

Navy Guns Clobber Wonsan, Most Likely Target For Invasion

SEOUL — (P) — The Reds' best-ice-free harbor at Wonsan on the Korean East Coast—paralyzed by the longest siege in U. S. naval history—was blasted all day Saturday by 16-inch guns of the battleship Missouri and swarms of fighter-bombers from three aircraft carriers.

The Navy described the port as a "blackened mess, marked only by columns which formerly were the smokestacks of busy industrial plants."

Wonsan is considered a likely target for an amphibious assault should the United Nations decide to push north. Any landing there would menace thousands of North Korean troops below it on the eastern end of the 156-mile front.

The relentless air war raged on. Pilots of the Fifth Air Force reported Saturday they caught a large group of Reds, in the open on the Eastern Front and killed or wounded more than 130.

The Fifth Air Force said Sabre jet pilots shot down 40 Russian-built MIG's in January as against loss of two Sabres, a remarkable ratio of 20 to one.

Navy Does Nothing As Current 'Owner' Of Tideland Areas

WASHINGTON — (P) — A Navy spokesman said Saturday the service has taken no action under the presidential act putting offshore oil lands into a naval petroleum reserve.

Capt. Robert Meade, director of the naval petroleum reserve, came here from Denver to confer with the Navy's legal authorities.

Meade said he had conferred with the Navy's judge advocate general about the submerged oil lands. He said the only conclusion reached was: "The whole question must be determined as a national policy by President Eisenhower and Congress."

"We have taken no action at all on the oil lands except to study the matter created by the order."

The order placing the Tidelands in the naval reserve was one of President Truman's last acts.

Martin Luther is credited with writing 37 hymns, of which "A Mighty Fortress" is regarded as his masterpiece.

Scofield Hearing Scheduled In June

AUSTIN — (P) — Frank Scofield, former South Texas Internal Revenue collector, will be arraigned in June, U. S. Attorney General Charles Herring said Saturday.

Scofield was indicted Thursday on eight counts, six of which charged violation of the law prohibiting activities of federal employees. The alleged violations were said to have occurred before Scofield resigned his post last February.

Scofield, a rancher near Austin, is free on $5,000 bond. Former Gov. Dan Moody of Austin is his lawyer.

LEGAL NOTICES

CONTRACTOR'S NOTICE OF TEXAS HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

Sealed proposals for installation of Four Flashing Beacon Highway Traffic Signals at the following locations: Intersection U. S. Hwy. 80 and State Hwy. 137 in Stanton; Intersection of F. M. Hwy. 11 and F. M. Hwy. 1053 in Imperial; and Intersections of State Hwy. 31 and North "G" Street and South "I" Street in Andrews, will be received at the Highway Department in Peecos, until 9:00 A. M. Feb. 16, 1953, and then publicly opened and read.

This is a "Public Works" Project, as defined in House Bill No. 34 of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas and House Bill No. 115 of the 44th Legislature of the State of Texas, and as such is subject to the provisions of said House Bills. No provisions herein are intended to be in conflict with the provisions of said Acts.

In accordance with the provisions of said House Bills, the State Highway Commission has ascertained and set forth in the proposal the wage rates for each craft or type of workman or machine needed to execute the work on above named project, now prevailing in the locality in which the work is to be performed. The Contractor shall pay not less than these wage rates as shown in the proposal for each craft or type of laborer, workman or machine employed on this project.

Legal holiday work shall be paid for at the regular governing rates. Plans and specifications available at the office of R. L. Faltinson, District Engineer, Peecos, Texas, and Texas Highway Department, Austin. Until rights reserved. (Feb. 4-11)

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

HAS MIDLAND SOCIETY accepted you? If not, maybe it can be traced to your not having a home in which to entertain. But a HOME is much more than this. And here is one with that "much more." Three large bedrooms, modernistic living room with slab window overlooking rear patio, two tile baths, and attached garage. Breath-taking kitchen with more cabinets than you can use. Central heating, central air conditioning, and huge utility room. It's new, it's brick, it's carpeted, and can be purchased for ONLY $7,000 down, including closing costs. $21,000. Please, appointment only.

THE YEARLING ON CHESTNUT LANE. This well constructed home ushers you into a security of knowing that it was well designed and well built. Two lovely bedrooms, large living room with "L" shaped dining area, family-sized bath, and attached garage. Panel-ray heating. In excellent condition thru-out. Assume FHA loan. Priced at $11,250.

WE MEN WILL INSIST upon whistling at beautiful women. And women, bless 'em, will whistle at a beautiful kitchen. In this particular home, they are justified. Challenge me by asking us to escort you thru it and the rest of the home. 'Course, it's got bedrooms, too. Two. And a den, and two ceramic tile baths, and a utility room, and an attached garage, and full carpeting, and central heating and air conditioning, and magnificent landscaping, and fence. All this, and on Country Club, too. But there's so much, much more for only $29,500.

WE EXTEND OUR SINCEREST best wishes to the Western States Mutual Life Insurance of Dallas for giving Midland as its future home. To all the men instrumental in this move, our sincerest thanks. See even an insurance company needs a home of its own.

IF YOU TRY, I'll bet that you could talk us into trading your house in on this home. It's brick, new, has two bedrooms and den (or three bedrooms), two tile baths, lovely living room and dining area, and attached garage. You'll love the tile kitchen, the carpeting, the convenience of central heating, and the deep lot. You first pick up the telephone, then you dial 2-1693, then you ask to see the trade-in house priced at only $16,500. We'll do the rest.

2307 CUTHBERT. (Of course, you'd like me to say more. That I have said "Cuthbert" should be enough. The Chinese have a phrase for it. Besides, I don't have space for a thousand words.)

DRIVE-BUYS OF THE WEEK:

1403 West Michigan

3111 Thomas

ON WEST ESTES STREET (Midland, that is), there stands a vacant home. It stands, waiting it out for a smart buyer to come along. It's been a sleeper among our listings. And the smart shopper gets 3 bedrooms, living room, dining room, tile bath, utility room, and attached garage. Clean-line construction of brick and asbestos siding, it has some carpeting, distributed heating, air-conditioning unit, and attic insulation. This one, you've GOT to see. Priced at $13,750.

TO THOSE OF YOU who were unable to secure one of our Kessler Street homes, hold your fire. We got plans.

THE OWNERS MIGHT NOT KNOW IT, but their home has a poker room in it. I guess that they politely call it a den. Anyway, they do know of the 3 large bedrooms, 2 baths, the full living room, separate dining room, and the 2-car attached garage. Huge furnace room, selectively carpeted, central heating and air-conditioning. High tile fence, enthusiastic water well covered by a huge well house, and unexcelled location. I could prolong this teasing by saying that it is brick with a shake shingle roof, completely draped, touch-plate lighting system, over 2,200 sq. ft. over-all, and spacious lawns. But I'll stop with the price. $26,500.

DRIVE CAREFULLY. It's lots more fun not to be a statistic!

Texas Gulf Growth Brings Move To Larger Quarters

Headquarters offices for the West Texas-New Mexico division of Texas Gulf Producing Company were moved Saturday to the second floor of the new Midland National Bank Building.

In the new location the Texas Gulf offices will occupy 15 rooms which cover approximately 3,500 feet of floor space.

The concerns' Midland office was established in September, 1944. At that time it occupied one room in the First National Bank Building and had one employee—a geologist.

Eight years ago—on Feb. 1, 1945—it still was occupying that one room and at that time it had two employees—H. Winston Hull, who joined the concern on that date as division agent and division landman, and a stenographer. The geologist who had been the original Texas Gulf employee in Midland, having left the company at that time.

Now the Midland division office of Texas Gulf has 18 regular employees on its staff.

The move to the new location was made because more space was needed for the offices than was available in the First National Bank Building, Hull said Saturday.

At the time the company established its office in Midland it already had acquired some production in the Permian Basin of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. However, Texas Gulf production in the Permian Basin now is more than four times as large as it was eight years ago.

Major Discovery

Texas Gulf Producing Company No. 1 E. V. Headlee, recently completed flowing Ellenburger discovery in Central-East Ector County, three miles northeast of Odessa and 17 miles southwest of Midland is considered by many oil industry observers to be one of the major discoveries of this area of recent years.

That wildcat flowed in excess of 100 barrels of oil per hour from the Ellenburger on preliminary tests.

On official Railroad Commission potential test it produced in excess of 600 barrels of oil per day through a small tubing choke.

Texas Gulf now appears to have another important completion in sight at its No. 1-D State, North-west Lea County, New Mexico, exploration, one-half of a mile north of the nearest completed oil well in the Moore (Devonian) field.

That project has entered the Devonian and is high to the closest oil well in the nearby field. It is expected to be completed as a producer.

More Authority

The Texas Gulf organization in Midland went on a full division status on January 1 of this year. That arrangement gives the Midland executives of the concern more responsibility and more authority than they have heretofore had.

Hull, a senior executive of the Midland division and now carries the title of division manager. The division handles all activities of Texas Gulf in West Texas, North Texas, West-Central Texas, the Texas Panhandle and all of New Mexico. Its official designation in the West Texas-New Mexico division of Texas Gulf Producing Company.

In addition to Hull, other Texas Gulf executives and employees in the West Texas-New Mexico division are:

Forest Finals In N-C Ector

Forest Oil Corporation has completed its No. 1-L TXL as a Pennsylvanian lime discovery in North-Central Ector County. The well was completed for a 24-hour flow of 261.36 barrels of 40.2-gravity oil and no water.

Mid-Continent Moves Midland Offices To New Bank Building

Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation has moved its divisional production department and its district land and geological departments into the second floor of the new Midland National Bank Building.

The offices formerly were located in the Tower Building.

Allen J. Watts is district landman for the concern and C. L. Long is district geologist.

Harold Smith is division production superintendent and E. J. Pierce is division production engineer.

The move was made Saturday.

Oil Shows Found At TPC&O Tester In C-W Lea Area

Flow was through a 12/64-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 8,521-31 feet which had been treated with 750 gallons of acid and perforations from 8,671 to 8,691 feet which had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

Gas-oil ratio was 671-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 500 pounds and there was a packer on the casing.

Location of the new opener is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 31, block 45, T-1-N, T&P survey and three miles east of the town of Goldsmith.

The project was drilled to total depth of 11,902 feet in the Ellenburger and made water in that formation.

Details Announced For Shell District Offices In Roswell

Further details on the establishment of a new Shell Oil Company office in Roswell, New Mexico, have been announced by Joe T. Dickerson, Midland Area vice president.

The new location is a District Land Office and District Exploration Office, supervising those phases of Shell activities throughout southeastern New Mexico. Approximately 20 persons will constitute the staff.

In addition all seismic crews and other field personnel in the area will report to the Roswell office.

B. J. Ferris, district geologist, and W. P. Scaife, district geophysicist, are in charge of Exploration activities. R. D. Monckres, district land agent, is in charge of the Roswell District Land office.

After April 1, 1953, the offices now at 400 North Main Street in Roswell, will be located on the second floor of the Hinkle Building at the corner of Third and Main Streets. The permanent mailing address is P. O. Box 654, Roswell, New Mexico.

Foley Is Elected Vice President Of The Texas Company

The Texas Company has announced that J. W. Foley, assistant to the chairman of the board, had been elected a vice president. He will continue to serve as assistant to the chairman of the board.

He started with The Texas Company in June, 1932, as a rotary rig helper, and a year later became a petroleum engineer. From 1937 to 1940 he was petroleum engineer for Bahrain Petroleum Company, Ltd., on Bahrain Island in the Persian Gulf. Returning to this country, he was located in Louisiana and later became Superintendent of Gas-Gasoline Operations.

In 1947 Foley went to Houston as assistant to the manager of the producing department. In 1948 he was named assistant division manager of the Oklahoma Division at Tulsa. In 1949 he was made assistant to the vice president, producing department, New York. In 1950 he became Assistant to the Chairman of the Board.

Awards For Old Hands To Be Made At Tulsa

TULSA—Oil centers over the United States are being asked to nominate candidates for the "Pioneer of Pioneers" and a "Grand Old Man" awards to be made at the May 14-23 International Petroleum Exposition at Tulsa.

The award for "Pioneer of Pioneers" will be made on the basis of the length of service and valuable contributions to the industry, regardless of the division. However, candidates for this award must have been active in the oil industry for at least 50 years.

Qualifications for "Grand Old Man" awards include at least 40 years active service, actual age, and valuable contributions to the petroleum division in which each candidate has been active.

"Grand Old Man" awards will be made in the following divisions: production, pipeline, refining, natural gasoline, gas, and equipment and supplies.

Official entry blanks may be secured by writing W. J. Sherry, Chairman, PEP Old Timers Committee, Box 5246 Donaldson Station, Tulsa, Okla. All entries must be postmarked not later than April 15.

The announcement may cause some reminiscing, because it puts a spotlight on the men who have been engaged in various phases of the oil industry since "way back when."

The first presentation of these awards was made in 1927 by the late John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who awarded medals during the petroleum exposition that year to J. Alex Stephens, Tulsa, "Grand Old Man," and to Jacob Shesley, Franklin, Pa., "Pioneer of Pioneers."

SW Kent Wildcat Taking Reef DST

Drilling & Exploration Company, Inc., of Houston and Midland No. 1-B Wilson-Connell, wildcat in Southwest Kent County, is at total depth of 7,358 feet and is taking a drillstem test from 7,358 to 7,385 feet.

Top of the reef line is at 7,300 feet on derrick floor elevation of 2,515 feet.

Operator drillstem tested in the Pennsylvanian lime at 7,331 to 7,375 feet. Tool was open one hour. Recovery was 150 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 20, block 5, H&GN survey and three and one-half miles southeast of the town of Polar.

Signal Planning Granite Prospector In Roosevelt

Signal Oil & Gas Company is reported to be planning to start drilling in the near future on an 800-acre lease under and adjacent to the drillate.

In securing the lease interest, Holder and Ross assumed an obligation to drill the 800-foot on granite test.

They turned the lease and the drilling obligations to Signal for an unreported consideration. The wildcat is to be operated by Gulf Oil Corporation, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company and Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Fee name for the wildcat has not been selected. It is on Federal land.

Well Completions Show Major Gain

AUSTIN—(P)—Oil well completions for this week rose to 218 from last week's 121, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

Gas well completions reached 26 as against seven last week.

Total oil well completions for the year is 763 as compared to 890 for last year.

Wildcat oil drillings totaled 21, gas drillings two, and dry holes 67. Wildcaters have drilled 43 oil wells this year, three gas wells, and 281 dry wells.

Devonian Opener In Upton Finished

Gulf Oil Corporation has completed its No. 1 McKelroy Ranch Company-State, flowing discovery from the Devonian in Central-West Upton County, has been completed for a daily potential of 402.46 barrels of 47.1-gravity oil through a one-quarter-inch choke.

Production is coming from perforations at 10,690-335 and 10,650-600 feet, with gas-oil ratio 2,544-1.

Potential was based on an actual 12-hour flow of 218 barrels of oil.

Hole is bottomed at 12,763 feet in the Ellenburger and plugged back to 10,603 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 182, block E, OCS&RG survey. It is one mile east of the shallow McKelroy field. It is 18 miles northwest of Rankin.

Lahee Of Sun To Receive High Honor

Morgan J. Davis, President of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, announces that, by unanimous action of the medal award committee and unanimous approval of the executive committee, Frederick Henry Lahee, Sun Oil Company, Dallas, has been named recipient of the Sidney Powers Memorial Medal of the association, for:

"His outstanding achievements in and continuing contributions to the field of petroleum geology as an educator, author, skilled administrator and executive, and as a pioneer in the gathering and use of hydrocarbon reserve and exploration data."

This highest honor in petroleum geology is named in honor of the late Sidney Powers of Tulsa, 14th president of the A.A.P.G. Only six other geologists have received this coveted gold medal. They are Wallace K. Pratt, 1945; Alexander Deussen, 1947; A. I. Leverson, 1948; E. DeGolyer, 1950; the late Max Steineke, 1951; and K. C. Reel, 1952.

Dr. Lahee was born in Hingham, Mass. and obtained his formal education at Harvard, receiving the Ph.D. degree in 1911. He taught at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1912-1918, and during this period published the widely-used handbook "Field Geology," which has gone through several editions.

Lahee joined the geological staff of the Sun Oil Company in 1918,

Processing Work Started At Three Bar Gas Plant

Processing of gas at the Three Bar Gas Injection and Gasoline Plant, Andrews County, was begun last week. The plant is part of a project designed to increase the ultimate recovery of oil from the Three Bar field.

In 1951, three of the four producing companies in the field—Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, Champlin Refining Company, and The Superior Oil Company—entered into a unitization agreement; and the fourth operator in the field, Humble Oil & Refining Company, joined with the other three in a cooperative gas injection program. Gas from both the unit and the Humble area, which is in the northern portion of the field, is being processed in the plant. Stanolind is operator of both the plant—which is owned jointly by the four companies—and the Three Bar Unit.

To Add Compressors
Gas compression operations were started last November at the new plant, located in the Three Bar field approximately 17 miles south-west of Andrews. Using three 1320-horsepower gas-engine driven compressors, the plant can presently handle up to 11 million cubic feet of gas per day. Installation of two additional 1320-horsepower compressors will be completed this April to increase the compression capacity to 18.5 million cubic feet per day. The total producing area includes some 5,000 acres, with 36 producing wells and three injection wells casinghead gas from the producing wells reaches the plant at a pressure of three pounds per square inch gauge and is compressed to the absorber operating pressure of 700 pounds per square inch gauge. Residue gas is compressed to 2,700 pounds per square inch gauge for injection into the producing formation.

Expected Recovery
Expected daily recovery at the 11 million cubic feet per day capacity will be approximately 15,000 gallons of 12-pound gasoline, 20,000 gallons of butane, and 23,000 gallons of propane.

Process heating in the plant is done by direct gas-fired heaters and by circulating hot oil. Stripping steam used in distillation is obtained from a steam generator utilizing hot oil as a heat source. One small oil field type boiler is used to provide steam for tracing and miscellaneous heating jobs in cold weather. Power is supplied by three 400-kilowatt gas-engine driven generators.

Storage Cavities
Two 50,000 barrel underground salt cavities, to be completed within the next few months, will be used to store butane and propane recovered in the plant.

The company has about 40 employees at the plant. Plant superintendent is G. A. Ayling. W. A. Bice is plant clerk, and G. H. Sanders is plant engineer.

C. B. Pierce is Stanolind's field project engineer in charge of construction. The prime contractor for the plant design and construction is the Hudson Engineering Corporation of Houston.

Lone Star Now Operating Midland District Office

Lone Star Gas Company and Lone Star Producing Company now are operating from their new West Texas exploration and gas supply district headquarters in Midland, according to announcement by E. A. Brown of Dallas, exploration and gas supply division manager and vice president of the producing company.

All activities around oil and gas developments in West Texas and New Mexico will be handled out of the Midland office, Brown said.

The Lone Star official also announced the appointment of G. A. Plummer, formerly of Eastland, and a veteran Lone Star employee, as West Texas district manager in charge of the Midland office located in the newly constructed Forest Oil Corporation Building at the corner of Ohio and Marfield Streets.

Includes Scouting
Gas company procedure to be handled from the Midland office includes scouting operations and gas purchase contracts, while the producing company will handle oil and gas development, exploration and related subjects in the West Texas-New Mexico areas. Lone Star Producing Company is the wholly owned subsidiary of Lone Star Gas Company.

Other personnel assigned to the Midland office includes Ernest J. Sneed, production foreman; Harry Ottel, production engineer; Lane Horstman, geologist; John A. Cochran, land agent; T. J. Huddleston, district scout; B. D. Reynolds, who will assist Huddleston, and Mrs. Harry Ottel, office assistant.

Truman's Tidelands Act Unsound Says API Prexy

NEW YORK—Former President Truman's executive order setting aside the submerged lands of the Continental Shelf as a naval petroleum reserve was termed unsound and without basis by Frank M. Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute.

Porter, in a statement issued in New York, said Truman lacked authority under the law to take this step since his statutory authority extended only to public lands of the United States. The attorney general ruled previously that the offshore lands are not public lands, Porter noted.

Even if the lands involved were public lands and Truman had authority, President Eisenhower or the Congress has the power to revoke the Truman order, the API president continued.

Lack of Understanding
He pointed out further that the Truman statement saying it would be "the height of folly for the United States to give away vast quantities of oil contained in the Continental Shelf and then buy back this same oil at stiff prices" discloses a lack of understanding of the costs of exploring for and developing crude oil reserves on the Continental Shelf, and the manner in which operations have been conducted heretofore in this area. The institute president explained: "Normally the method for securing the development of public and private lands for oil and gas is through the issuance of leases providing for cash considerations (bonuses), annual rentals and royalties.

"Leases issued by the coastal states on the offshore lands have provided for substantial bonuses and annual rentals prior to production and for not less than one-eighth royalties. The bonuses and rentals received by the coastal states are greatly in excess of those received by the federal government in leasing upland areas of the public domain.

"Oil and gas can be recovered from the Continental Shelf area only at great cost.

Costly Operation
"Exploration and producing operations are costly under normal circumstances and where they are carried out on the open sea, subject to the hazards of the winds and waves, and require expensive installations, and involve high transportation costs and excess labor expense, these costs are increased many fold.

"Even if the federal government itself should undertake development, the oil and gas resources could be made available only at substantial costs."

Porter declared it has been this nation's experience that resources such as oil and gas can be most economically produced by private enterprise in a free economy. Throughout our history, he said, this system has proved best in securing the development of the petroleum resources needed for the nation's security. Moreover, he added, the idea of hoarding oil and gas in a naval reserve was discarded some years ago by the Defense Department as unsound.

Statement False
Porter also said the Truman statement inferred that the United States cannot produce enough oil to meet its consumption and that this deficit is expected to grow. He stated: "This is contrary to fact."

"Since the end of World War II the petroleum industry has not only met an increasing demand but has developed a reserve producing capacity of approximately 1,000,000 barrels per day in excess of current high rates of production.

"If we are to continue to maintain this excess productive capacity, which is the minimum required for the national defense and a healthy domestic economy, it is imperative that the President and the Congress act speedily to make offshore lands available for development.

"These offshore reserves have no value either to the national defense or our domestic economy unless and until they have been proven and developed. Further delay in exploring and developing these reserves in order that they may be available in times of emergency might well endanger our national security."

RRC Approves Big Scurry Unit

AUSTIN —(AP)—The Railroad Commission Friday approved the Scurry County unitization program, the largest unit operation ever attempted in Texas.

The program encompassing 47,439 acres, can go into effect—under terms of the contract—March 1. Attorney J. A. Rauhut, who presented the application of Sunray Oil Corporation and Magnolia Oil Company for unitization, said every effort would be made to start a unitized program by that date.

Voluntary Agreement
Unitization will cover the Canyon reef lime reservoir of the Kelley-Snyder and Diamond M. pools.

The agreement, allowed under Texas' voluntary unitization law, was signed by 1,900 persons, including 96.18 per cent of the working interest in the area and 83.84 per cent of the royalty acres. Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said.

Announcing unanimous commission approval, Thompson issued a statement noting proponents had testified the expected recovery under unitization would be 1,180,000-1,200,000 barrels of oil. This would mean recovery of 720,000,000 barrels more oil than anticipated under present individual development.

Large Expenditure
"The operating interests carry the entire cost of the installations necessary for repressuring, the cost of which was estimated to be $60,000-100,000," Thompson observed.

"The royalty owners pay nothing on this cost. The non-signers are not interfered with so far as their allowable is concerned by the approval of this unitization plan."

"The present plan shares the allowable production 50 per cent on acreage and 50 per cent per well. This continues to be the plan of operation, except under the unitization plan the signers agree that within the unitized area, after allowables have been set 50-50 by the commission, the signers will then ask permission from the commission to close in high gas-oil ratio wells and transfer their allowable to low gas-oil ratio wells, and the water-injection wells that are needed will be located after notice and hearing before the commission."

To Maintain Pressure
The purpose of the plan is to utilize reservoir energy to the highest degree possible, and to maintain pressure by injection of water and natural gas at the best places within the unitized area, regardless of ownership. The signers of the unitization area will then divide their proceeds on the basis of 25 per cent per well and 75 per cent of acre feet in the reservoir."

The order also made it clear the commission retains all its powers and duties as pertains to conservation of oil and gas in the involved area; that approval of the unit in no way can be construed to mean delegation of any such power.

WASHINGTON OIL—Domestic Industry And High Crude Prices Are Defended By Chapman

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A healthy crude oil price structure is imperative for U. S. national security, according to former Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman.

A drop in the price, which could come if foreign oil were dumped on world markets at lower prices, would slow up U. S. domestic drilling, he is convinced.

The tragedy of this, he feels, is that U. S. oil is the government's primary concern from the national defense standpoint. Chapman believes a barrel of U. S. oil is more important than oil from anywhere else.

Chapman, who quit as secretary January 20, put his views on paper January 17 in a letter scolding Attorney General James P. McGranery for his presentation of the government's case against the alleged oil "cartel."

The arguments in court of Leonard J. Emmerglick had inaccuracies, said Chapman. The Chapman letter is under study by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr.

The letter is important. It represents the first expression of a top government official, while in office, in defense of high crude oil prices and in defense of American oil as of primary concern.

Chapman pointed out that Emmerglick also said prices of Middle East crude oil are too high and that a restoration of competition in the area will bring lower prices.

It is a matter of simple economics, Chapman explained, that increased supplies of petroleum from the Middle East, at reduced prices, materially would depreciate the world market price for oil, and tend to reduce crude oil prices in the United States.

Such a reduction in crude oil prices most certainly would deter the incentive to drill more domestic wells, he went on. The greater the reduction in domestic crude oil prices, the greater the deterrent would be to drilling additional wells.

Emmerglick is right that it is contrary to national security interests to diminish the incentive to drill more wells, the secretary continued.

Of course, he added, a barrel of oil within our borders is more important to us than any other barrel of oil. A strong, healthy and vigorous domestic industry is of vital importance to our economy.

Healthy Domestic Industry
The domestic industry must be our primary concern, he added. In discussing supply problems in terms of foreign oil, we are assuming a strong and healthy domestic industry.

If that presently fortunate situation should ever deteriorate, our supply problem would be very greatly increased, he said. But the facts are that to date the domestic incentive to drill wells still exceeds the available supplies of pipe.

Chapman's letter rapped the Justice Department on two other points. The "cartel" did not hold up domestic drilling; it was the shortage of tubular goods. True, Chapman said, U. S. reserve capacity is only 15 per cent of production, but this is due to pipe shortages, not the "cartel."

An aviation gasoline shortage for commercial planes struck last May, but again the "cartel" is not at fault. It was the oil strike, Chapman said.

All in all, the Chapman letter stands out as one of the better defenses of the domestic industry.

Russell B. Brown, counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, took a dim view of the reported contents of the Chapman letter.

In a report to members over the weekend, he questioned Chapman's view that foreign activities have failed to hamper oil drilling by domestic producers, and that pipe shortages alone have held back drilling.

"This argument that the availability of pipe has been the sole limiting factor in the industry's efforts to expand productive capacity, disregarding all other economic factors, is obviously erroneous," wrote Brown.

"There have been many factors that have affected the income and the incentive of the domestic industry to expand."

Mexican Oil Hands Ask Foreign Firms' Concessions Cease

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—A Mexican oil workers union says certain concessions given foreign firms threaten the nation's oil program and asks the government to cancel them.

The Sindicato de Trabajadores Petroleros also asked the government Friday to end what it called a fuel monopoly it said had been granted La Distribuidora Mexico, S. A., a Mexican firm.

The union said Distribuidora, in operation less than a year, already had boosted the price of diesel and fuel oil and had caused living costs to climb.

The foreign firms listed as having received concessions were: E. H. Pawley, Mexican American Independent Company, Kermac Contractors, Signal Oil Company, Sharmax Company, Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company, The Hydraulic Company, Latin American Exploration Company, Wiegand Brothers, Rotary Engineering Company, Geophysical Service Company, Schlumberger Corporation, Perforaciones, S. A., Perforaciones Economicas, S. A., Tre-O-Lite Company, Seismograph Service, American Exploration Company, Lithmus Development Company, Petroleos y Derivados, Perforadora del Golfo and Rotenka, S. A.

Great Western Completes Major Extender In Terry

Great Western Drilling Company No. 1 Brit Clare has been completed as a major extension to production in the Prentice field of Northwest Terry County.

Operator filed potential test of 623.76 barrels of 20-gravity oil through a one-inch choke with 90 pounds pressure on tubing. Gas-oil ratio was 336-1.

Production is coming from the open hole section at 5,898-5,912 feet.

Location is 1,960 feet from north and 690 feet from west lines of section 27, block D-14, C&M survey. It is eight miles north of Tokio and approximately two miles northeast of production in the Prentice field.

Kerr Is Appointed Top Geophysicist By Conoco In Midland

Charlton Kerr, Roswell, N. M., division geophysicist for Continental Oil Company, has been appointed division geophysicist, with headquarters at Midland. It was announced today in Fort Worth, by D. D. Christner, southwestern region exploration manager.

He succeeds E. L. Mount, who has transferred to Oklahoma City as assistant regional geophysicist for Conoco's central region.

Kerr joined Continental in 1938 as a surveyor's helper with an oil exploration party. He was promoted to party chief in 1950 after holding a succession of exploration party positions and serving more than four years with the U. S. Army during World War II. He became an exploration supervisor at Midland in 1951 but transferred to Roswell later that year as division geophysicist.

He is a native of Pasadena, Calif., and attended the University of

Flight Of Germans To West Zone Blamed Formally On Soviets

BONN, GERMANY —(AP)—The Western Allies formally accused the Russians Saturday of causing the flight of more than 100,000 East Germans to the West during 1952 "by systematically depriving the German population there of basic rights and basic freedoms."

In notes to Gen. V. I. Chulikov, Soviet commander in East Germany, the U. S., Britain and France also branded as "totally misplaced" Soviet charges that the Western Powers are supporting espionage and terroristic centers in West Berlin and West Germany.

The three occupation powers ridiculed claims by the Russians that the latter had to curtail contact between East and West Germany to protect the East Zone population from "the subversive work of the West Berlin spying-diversionary organizations."

The apple blossom is the official state flower of both Arkansas and Michigan.

WESTERN BUILDING . . . new star on Midland's skyline.

Western Building Opens For Business

The Western Building—a four-story building of stone, concrete and metal which is the latest addition to Midland's skyline—is completed and ready for business.

The first office tenants began moving in Saturday and Norton's Auto Park, Inc., which will occupy 90 per cent of the floor space, will open for business Monday morning.

The building, located at Texas and Big Spring Streets, will be managed by Ralph Geisler, manager of the McClintic Building and the Petroleum Building.

The ultra-modern structure, designed by Architect Wyatt Hedrick, can later be converted into a 10-story office building, if desired, with elevators replacing the ramps which currently will be used by the auto-parking service.

Owned by Jack C. Vaughn and Grady H. Vaughn, Jr., of Dallas, the Western Building brings to Midland its first multi-floored off-the-street parking facility and 24-hour service is available by the day, week or month.

Offices Air-Conditioned

The first-floor will be used by private offices, which are air-conditioned, have refrigerated water fountains, rubber tile flooring and acoustical ceilings throughout.

The building has a basement of 12,450 square feet while the other floors have an additional 42,000 square feet. Space on the roof is available for automobile parking.

The exterior design has employed a combination of materials which gain much color and unusual contemporary design.

The East facade has a certical treatment enclosed by cast stone trim, which forms the major facing of the building. The vertical treatment is continuous panel of insulated metal panels.

The other major facing—the south side—is entirely of cast stone. The exterior treatment on the first floor is a combination of continuous glass windows, cast granite and pink ledge stone.

The main entrance for the office tenants, is located on the east side with the automobile entrance on the south side. Continuous horizontal metal-louvers ventilate the automobile storage areas on the upper floors.

The automobile storage portion of the building will have space for 200 automobiles and will operate with the latest type facilities, including the automatic man-lift and a public address system for rapid dispatch of cars.

Norton's Auto Park, Inc., headed by Ralph M. Norton as president, has been in the automobile parking business in Dallas and other Texas cities for approximately 21 years.

Houdyshell is Manager Earl Houdyshell, who has been managing the company's biggest parking garage in Dallas and has had 20 years' experience in parking company operations, will be manager of the firm in Midland.

It is the plan of the company to work out a program of cooperation with Midland merchants to subsidize parking, a system which has worked well in connection with theaters and banks in other cities.

Occupying offices on the first floor will be Houston Oilfield Material Company, Inc., Room 101; Jack L. Hamon and Company, Room 102; Joe W. McSpade and Charles C. Green, Jr., Room 103; Southwestern Securities Company, Room 104; Frank Jackson and Cabell Bruce, Room 104-A; Barold Sales Division, Room 105; and William P. Castleman, Jr., J. Earl Wilson and W. H. Ground, Room 106.

WOMEN FOUND GUILTY PUSAN, KOREA—(AP)—Three attractive young Korean women have been convicted of spying for the Communists and two of them were sentenced to life imprisonment, the South Korean government said Saturday.

Nine of 10 Americans worked at producing food in Revolutionary times; today only one in five works on farms or produces foods.

Venture In NE Hale Plugged, Abandoned

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., of Lubbock has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 W. B. Pool, which in Northeast Hale County, at total depth of 3,352 feet in dry dolomite in the middle Permian. No shows of production were encountered.

Location was 330 feet from south and east lines of section 8, block D-4 and three and one-half miles northeast of Plainview.

Magnolia Finishes New Producer In Fort Stockton Pool

Magnolia Petroleum Company has completed No. 1 Mary Jo Deiker as a new producer in the Fort Stockton field of West-Central Pecos County.

The well flowed 24 hours through a 12-64-inch choke to make an initial production of 116.61 barrels of 34.4-gravity oil plus two per cent water. Gas-oil ratio was 870-1.

Top of pay is 3,072 feet and total depth is 3,088 feet. Five and one-half-inch casing is set on bottom. Production is coming from perforations between 3,072 feet and 3,078 feet which had been fractured with 750 gallons.

Location of the new well is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 4, block 114, GC&SF survey.

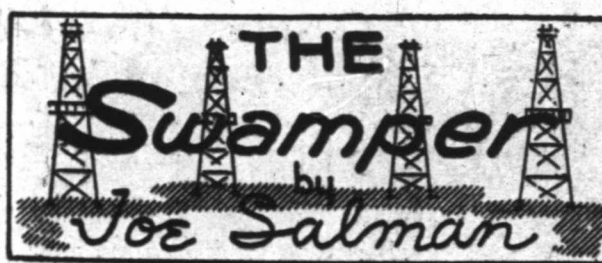

Strawn Completion To Be Attempted At NW Crockett Test

Houston Oil Company of Texas was plugging back for completion attempt in the Strawn at No. 1 Mrs. Margaret A. Shannon Estate, Ellenburger failure in Northwest Crockett County.

It was drilled 8,189 feet in barren Ellenburger. Production was indicated in the Strawn on a drillstem test from 6,450 to 6,790 feet.

Location is two miles northwest of the shallow Shannon field and 1,685 feet from south and 2,433 feet from east lines of Richard Pillow survey.

CHINESE KILL SPYS TAIPEH—(AP)—Five Chinese Communists were executed Saturday, bringing to 90 the announced number of executions since November 26.

Two former Midlanders, L. A. (Abe) Walker and Z. B. (Zach) Jones, have joined the West Texas Division of Taylor Oil & Gas Company with offices in San Angelo. Walker will serve in the capacity of Permian Basin geologist and Jones will be permit man and landman. These are newly-created positions.

Walker is a native of Jacksonville and Jones was born in San Angelo. Both men worked for Humble Oil & Refining Company in Midland.

Jerome J. (Jerry) O'Brien, formerly vice president of Monterey Oil Company of Texas, has been named president of Monterey Exploration Company, with headquarters in San Antonio.

The original Texas affiliate, Monterey Oil Company of Texas, has been liquidated in conformity with a general reorganization and consolidation plan which has been in progress since Monterey Company took over the properties of Jergins Oil Company in June of 1952.

Monterey Exploration Company, which replaced Monterey Oil Company of Texas, is a wholly owned subsidiary of Monterey Oil Company and will have complete responsibility of the company's Mid-Continent operations.

L. F. McCollum, president of Continental Oil Company will be featured speaker at the third annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain section of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, to be held in Casper, Wyo., April 23-24.

More than 1,500 members of the association and their guests are expected to attend the session, first to be held in Casper.

In addition to the keynote speaker, the program will include discussions of the various prospective and productive areas of the Rockies by speakers recognized as authorities on the specific areas. Almost a full day will be devoted to a discussion of the various aspects of the Williston Basin in the United States and Canada.

The Tulsa Desk & Derrick Club is sponsoring an essay contest for all members of the Desk & Derrick Clubs of North America, in conjunction with the International Petroleum Exposition & Congress in Tulsa.

Expense paid trip to the oil exposition, courtesy of the exposition board of chairman, will go to the winner of the contest. The winner will be honored at a banquet to be held during the show. The essay—judging panel will be composed of a number of prominent oil men and women from throughout the country.

South Central Region of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers will meet October 7-9 at Tulsa. Headquarters will be in Mayo Hotel. Other details will be announced at a latter date.

John W. Henderson and John S. Runge have been added to the Midland staff of Skelly Oil Company. Both men have been added to the geological department. Runge comes to Midland from Hobbs, N. M., and Henderson from Tulsa.

Ralph Lowe of Midland No. 1-A State, has been designated the discovery well of the Marsh (Delaware Sand) field of Culberson County. Trebol Oil Company and E. G. Rodman No. 1 Radford Grocery has been named the opener of the Rodman-Noel (Grayburg) field of Upton County.

Texas-New Mexico Development Corporation is a new oil exploration firm. Chartered in Delaware, the home office has been opened in Abilene under the supervision of L. G. (Dusty) Rhodes, Abilene drilling contractor and oil producer. He is president of the concern. Executive vice president and chief geologist is C. S. Noland, former geologist for Skelly Oil Company.

R. S. (Dick) Cate, formerly with Sun Oil Company, is landman. H. L. Corley, formerly of Dallas, is treasurer and R. G. Pettengill of New York is secretary.

Rotaries Increase In Midland County

Rotary drilling activity increased in Midland and Andrews Counties during the 15-day period ended January 28, according to the semi-monthly survey conducted by the Reed Roller Bit Company's Midland office.

Watson Now With Monahans Concern

Marsh S. Watson, Jr. has resigned as Water Flood Engineer for Richardson & Bass in the West Texas Division and joined the firm of Buckles and Hostetler, oil production consultants, Monahans. Watson is a Petroleum Engineering graduate of New Mexico School of Mines, and received a masters degree in Petroleum Engineering from the University of Oklahoma. He has done petroleum engineering work for major companies in Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, California, and South America. For the past three years he has been active in water flood projects in West Texas.

Midland jumped from 16 to 20 units while Andrews County was climbing from 33 to 36. The 36 for Andrews makes it the most active county in the West Texas portion of the Permian Basin. Lea County still leads the Basin with 118, although that area lost eight rigs during the 15-day period.

Counties showing increases on the last tally are Dawson, from seven to nine; Ector, from 21 to 22; Martin from three to four; Pecos, from 14 to 16; Tom Green from three to four and Yoakum from 10 to 11.

The Spraberry Trend, including Midland, Upton, Reagan, Glasscock, and Sterling Counties, lost from 41 to 32. The 32 rotaries operating in the Trend represent the lowest mark for that area during the past two years.

Counties included in the Reed survey, with activity for January 10 and 25 are:

More Than 1,000 Oil Men Expected At API Meeting

F. E. Hatfield, Gulf Oil Corporation, in charge of general arrangements for the American Petroleum Institute Division of Production Southwestern District meeting which will be held in Fort Worth at Hilton Hotel, March 4-6, Saturday predicted an attendance of 1,000 or more executive and technical oil men from Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Hatfield pointed particularly to a general session on March 5 which will feature addresses by Burt Hull, board chairman of West Coast Pipe Line Company, Dallas; Lyon F. Terry, vice president of Chase National Bank, New York, and F. H. Willbrand, manager of Mid-Continent operations at Oklahoma City, for Sohio Petroleum Company.

Hull will relate progress in planning the projected $95,000,000 24-inch crude oil pipe line from Midland to the Pacific Coast and will describe probable effect of the new line in vastly strengthening the demand for Permian Basin crude. Terry will enumerate some important considerations in the valuing and financing of oil and gas properties and ventures, and Willbrand will talk on the conversion of technical personnel to supervisors and managers.

Other Meetings
Other meetings on March 5 and 6, Hatfield said, will present a number of papers on new developments in drilling and production methods, materials and equipment. A drilling fluid for high-temperature formations will be described by T. E. Watkins, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Dallas, while B. E. Morgan and G. K. Dumbauld, Humble Oil & Refining Company, Houston will cover new aspects of gel cementing. J. M. Bugbee, Shell Oil Company Houston, will suggest measures for prevention and control of loss of drilling fluid circulation. Other drilling papers include one on current practices in West Texas by Humble Oil & Refining Company engineers David Johnston, McOmney, and W. R. Johnston of Midland.

Service Oil Company, publicity; S. J. Iverson, Iverson Supply Company, entertainment; Ray Elmer, Kobe, Inc., registration, and Roy T. Durst, Rowan Oil Company, housing and meeting room arrangements.

Texas Wages Show Increase To Highest Figures In History

AUSTIN—(AP)—Weekly and hourly earnings of Texas factory workers soared to the highest peak in history in December, the Texas Employment Commission reported Saturday.

Transportation equipment workers, chiefly those in aircraft and shipbuilding, got the greatest increase in average weekly earnings. Machinery employees (electrical not included) and oil field machinery workers showed the only minus averages.

Crude petroleum production workers get the highest average weekly pay, while refinery workers lead in hourly pay, TEC said.

The $70.25 weekly pay average of factory workers in December was up 75 cents from November and $4.48 from December, 1951. The average work-week has reached 43.1 hours.

Sawmill Worker Gets Five-Year Term In Wife's Slaying

LONGVIEW—(AP)—A jury found sawmill worker Don Black guilty in the fatal shooting of his wife and sentenced him to five years in prison.

Black, 49, Wood County was tried on a charge of shooting his wife to death with a shotgun near Jack Gilliam's sawmill near Winnabow April 30. He also was charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Gilliam, which occurred the same day, and was scheduled for a later trial in that case.

The state contended the killing was planned carefully and asked the death penalty.

Defense attorneys said emotional disturbances brought on by his wife's alleged infidelity had driven Black temporarily insane.

Work Is Never Done

When the government cracks a spy ring as it did recently, it inevitably must give comfort to average citizens who appreciate reassurance that our counter-espionage agents are steadily vigilant.

They could read with pleasure of the departure from these shores of Yuri Novikov, second secretary of the Russian Embassy in Washington, the alleged director of the spy network.

One almost can hear some of them saying: "Well, now we're rid of him, and the others will soon be on trial. Let's hope that's the last of them."

There is in the attitude of many Americans toward the activities of foreign agents a kind of pained surprise that they could take place here at all.

Throughout the battle in this country against internal communism, there always has been implicit the idea that we were striving toward a goal with a nice finality to it. In other words, that we would reach that time when there would be no Communists at all in the government, and none of the outside with any access to vital secrets.

Unfortunately, this notion accords very poorly with the facts of life. So long as we have potential enemies abroad in the world, so long shall we have to cope with their agents. Cracking one spy ring, or two, or three, does not eliminate the danger, although it may minimize it importantly.

There always are other spy rings, and if by some chance they should all be discovered, new ones soon would spring up to replace them. Novikov is gone, but who seriously can doubt that his successor already has been chosen and is functioning full tilt?

As head of the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith warned last fall that Russian agents may have filtered even into that organization. Later he sought to play down that warning, but realists recognized he was talking basic sense.

Foreign agents are not like some non-recurring plague which, once eradicated, never will return to hurt the nation. They are a continuing pestilence, against which an imperiled nation must employ its counter-espionage weapons in an unending effort.

Because well-publicized drives against foreign agents and their networks do not permanently wipe out the spy menace, that does not mean such campaigns are futile. On the contrary, if wisely managed to safeguard the liberties of innocents, these vastly may assist in lessening the national danger.

But the important thing to remember is that the work never is done. We should learn to get over our surprise when spies are turned up in high places and low. There will be more tomorrow. By the very nature of our free and open democracy, we are probably less spy-proof than any land on earth.

Irony In Cold Heart Policy

There is tremendous irony in the whole Russian Communist effort to present its case to the world.

From the start Red leaders have understood the appeal, both to intellectuals and to the downtrodden millions, of its program of sweeping collective action engineered in the people's name.

The magnets have been the ideal of cooperation to achieve the good of all, the tangible nature of the cause, the apparent system of order in a world of shattering chaos.

That the ideal and the cause basically have been fraudulent seems not to have hurt them materially in some places. The Communist idea still exerts tremendous pull.

But what has hurt is the Reds' repeated need to yield to the ruthless demands of the game of power politics their leaders are playing. And so, again and again, they have been compelled to expose their raw brutality to maintain their crude cult of power intact.

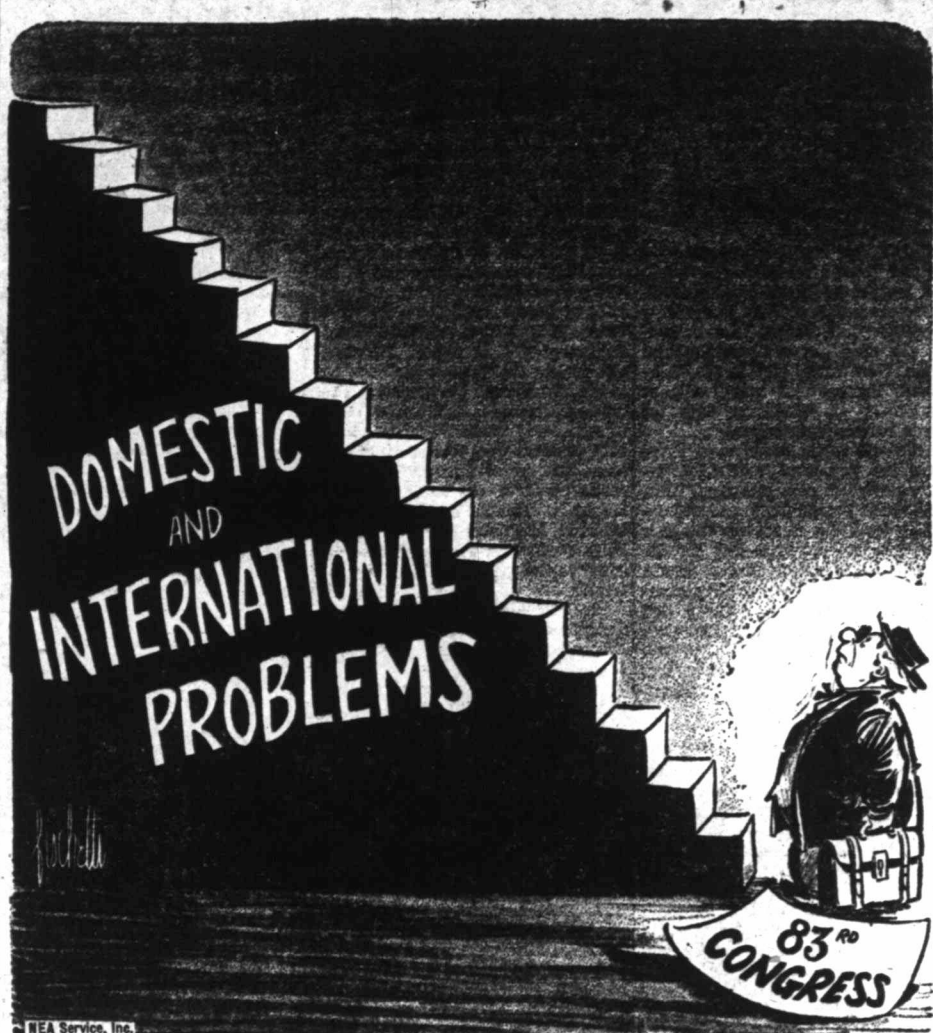

In the 1920's there were killings and exiles. From 1934 to 1938, the bloodiest purges in Soviet history smeared the pages of the Communist dream. Now, once more, the heads are rolling, with the heavy weight falling upon the Jews of Russia and the satellites.

These things cannot be kept secret, and they cannot be avoided in a regime that really is nothing but a self-perpetuating power group. That is the irony. The internal compulsions of a power cult inevitably must shatter and devour every vestige of the dream that was fashioned as the shining lure to attract the world to its false banners.

For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness,

When you can show them the dollars, your friends will give you credit for having the sense.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Dulles may reverse Franco aid policy; Alien Property probe bogs down after six months; Dulles favors independent Voice of America.

WASHINGTON—It looks like Dictator Franco of Spain is in for trouble with new Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

It now has been more than a year since Congress overrode White House and State Department objections and appropriated $100,000,000 for aid to Spain. Since then, Acheson's State Department deftly withheld this money until Franco in turn would grant the United States naval and air bases. Franco, in turn has been stalling until the Republicans came in, hoping for a better deal.

Specifically, the United States wants three naval bases, plus five air bases. But the Spanish dictator has been a tough negotiator. Although talking plausibly about the need for American aid, he has refused to lease these eight bases until the United States agreed to modernize all 22 divisions of the Spanish Army; also agreed to give Spain equal priority with NATO nations for military shipments.

This is the last thing the U. S. armed forces want to do. First, supplies are badly needed in Korea, where the military shortage still is serious. Second, we have made long-term commitments for arms to France, Italy and other NATO nations. Third, Franco has not agreed to use his army elsewhere in Europe and if American arms were used to modernize it, it would defend only Spain.

Now that the Republicans have taken over, Franco may be surprised. Secretary of State Dulles may be even tougher than Acheson. He has hinted privately he may withdraw an offer to Spain already agreed to by our negotiators which turns over the $100,000,000 to Spain with no strings attached, letting Franco spend it in any way he pleases. This was to be an outright gift.

However, Dulles is a tough trader. The new secretary of State thinks this should be a loan, not gift, which will bring walls of anguish from the Spanish dictator.

Bogged-Down Probe
The Senate's investigation of Alien Property scandals started off in a blaze of publicity. But not a word has been heard about it lately. Not even a single public hearing has been held.

This column can report, however, that the Senate's investigation of Alien Property scandals started off in a blaze of publicity. But not a word has been heard about it lately. Not even a single public hearing has been held.

vested businesses after leaving their government employment and may have drawn the union director's fee paid to non-employees, the confidential report states. "Salaries of officials are quite large in some instances. In at least one instance, an individual drawing approximately $7,000 per year (as government) salary was rewarded with $30,000 per year starting salary by the vested business enterprise."

As for possible Communist infiltration, the report adds ominously: "This search and other routine inquiries revealed that several persons who are identical with present officials of the Office of Alien Property, have been named as affiliated with the American League for Peace and Democracy and the National Lawyers' Guild. In one instance a person of the same name as that of a present official of the Alien Property Office was listed in the Daily Worker as a signer of a statement in defense of the Communist Party."

The report also questioned the high rate of commissions paid to the New York brokerage firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane.

During fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, the average commission paid to Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane equaled 0.2360 per cent of the proceeds received on the sales handled by them, while the average commission paid all other brokers averaged 0.0614 per cent.

What will be done about all this is left up to the new Republican chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Senator Langer of North Dakota.

Department Of Peace
Congressman Bob Chipmunk of Ohio, new GOP chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, lectured his colleagues against news leaks the other day. Not a word of John Foster Dulles' testimony on reorganizing the State Department must leak to the press, he warned.

However, one thing Dulles outlined behind closed doors was a new plan for the much-maligned, much-debated Voice of America. He wants to make it completely independent of the State Department.

"The State Department primarily is a policy-making agency and I intend as much as possible to restore its proper function," Dulles declared. "In my opinion the department has become too unwieldy since taking on the Voice of America program. The right way to handle the job would be the creation of a separate agency for propaganda."

"Many people, including members of Congress, have felt that the Voice never should have been under the State Department in the first place, because its broadcasts are labeled as official expressions of the department. From a propaganda standpoint, it would be much more effective if the Voice had a separate setup."

Note—An independent Voice of America might fit into the proposal of newspaper publisher Frank Gannett for a "Department of Peace," which would correlate all agencies working for peace in the world.

When the American Contract Bridge League recently published all 256 hands of the recent World Championship Match, held in New York I was reminded of many of the classic hands of other world championships. Today's hand, for example, was played in the first such match, held in Bermuda in 1890.

Johnny Crawford was the enterprising soul who made the three spade bid on the South hand. Johnny wouldn't teach this bid to a pupil, and he wasn't exactly proud of it at the time—but he was dealt thirteen cards, and Johnny hates to pass any time he is lucky enough to be dealt thirteen cards.

George Rapee modestly raised to four spades, never dreaming that his partner had opened such a mousetrap. When West doubled, Rapee went for broke with a redouble. This was sound enough, of course. South could hardly be set more than one trick with such a dummy, and might make the contract with overtricks if he had a really sound opening three-bid.

Crawford should have lost a trick in each suit, but an opponent slipped. I'll say this for Crawford: he gets himself out on a limb often enough, but you can't afford to make mistakes against him.

West opened a trump, and East took the ace and returned a trump to dummy's king. Crawford returned a low heart from dummy, and West took the nine of hearts and shifted to a low diamond. Crawford then ruffed a heart to enter his own hand, after which he led his singleton club towards dummy.

West hemmed and hawed over this way and finally decided not to take his ace. Crawford shot up with dummy's king of clubs to win the trick, cashed the ace of diamonds, and ruffed another heart.

He then led a low diamond to drop the West's queen, after which his jack of diamonds was good for his tenth trick.

CARD SENSE

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-J-10-7-3. Hearts 7-5. Diamond 3. Clubs K-J-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. Since you have a very strong six-card suit, you are perfectly willing to rebid in spades if your partner simply goes back to hearts.

I WAS buttoning the cuffs of my shirt when the buzzer on my front door rang loud and long. It wasn't the kind of ring you like to hear in the morning. This had been a sharp determined sound and it kept going while I came through the sitting room and threw the door open, ready to snarl.

For a moment I didn't recognize her. She wore a dowdy hat, too big for her thin face. I could barely see two wide strained eyes under the brim. Her mouth was fixed in a hard pinched line and she was only an inch away from crying.

I motioned for her to come in. "You may not remember me," she said hesitantly. "We met briefly at the Future Americans office. I am Miss Jacobs."

I grunted something I couldn't understand myself. "Any relation to William Jacobs?" I asked stupidly.

She nodded in short tense jerks of her head. "Willie was my husband," she said. Her thick brown hair was twisted into a loose precarious knot at the base of her neck and it was ready to flop down any minute. She put a light suitcase down on the floor and dropped wearily into a chair.

I moved back to the couch and sat down, not liking any part of this. Coincidence came thick and often in my business but I never can get over the feeling that they have to tie in.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Dems Juggled Oil Cartel Case And Fumbled At Last Minute

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The dirtiest brat left on the Eisenhower doorstep by the departing Democrats is the now-celebrated international oil cartel case.

The inside story of last-minute handling of this problem child by the Truman Administration just now is beginning to come out. It involved a wide split in the Truman Cabinet and the National Security Council, which is the top government defense planning group.

The sequence of events leading up to this grand snafu goes back to Iran's 1951 nationalization of its oil properties, then under long lease to the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

In July, 1951, J. Howard McGrath, the U. S. attorney general, granted to Defense Production Administrator C. E. Wilson authority to form a foreign petroleum supply committee from 19 leading U. S. oil companies, with complete immunity from any possible anti-trust prosecution. Purpose of this "voluntary agreement," as it was called, was to help meet the world oil shortage caused by the shutdown of 700,000 barrels of daily oil production from the Iranian fields.

By July, 1952, the world oil supply situation had been largely straightened out. The 19-company "plan for action No. 1," under which this had been accomplished, therefore was suspended.

Two of the companies dropped out of the agreement. But the other 17 continued to work together in a Park Avenue, New York, headquarters, which they maintained at their own expense, to furnish the government with world oil supply information on request.

Sought To End Agreement
Last September, however, Attorney General James P. McGrath, who had succeeded McGrath, wrote to Henry H. Fowler, who had succeeded Wilson, that there was no longer any need for continuance of this voluntary agreement among the oil companies. McGrath requested that their association be suspended. This automatically would end the immunity from possible anti-trust action.

Fowler wrote back in October that in the opinion of the secretaries of Defense and Interior, the need for government cooperation with the oil companies still existed.

Some areas of the world had only a 10-day reserve of aviation gas on hand. It was necessary for the U. S. government to know what these supplies were at all times. The information could be obtained only from the oil companies who also could get information on foreign oil stocks.

In spite of this, Attorney General McGrath on January 7 repeated his request to Fowler that the voluntary agreement be suspended. The matter then was taken to the Cabinet meeting January 16.

Fowler explained that with a settlement of the Iranian oil crisis pending, the world oil supply situation again might be upset. He then showed McGrath an unsigned draft of a letter in which he asked authority to continue the foreign petroleum supply committee.

McGrath then asked Fowler not to send that letter until Department forward as though she were trying to get close to a fire. She fingered a heavy woolen leather handbag on her lap and looked down at the floor.

"Is it true, Mr. Wilde?" she asked me tensely. Her thin hands clenched on the clasp of her bag and I could see long trail tendons written under the pressure. "Is it true, really? That Willie was a... thief?"

She had turned a hopeful, pleading expression to me and her eyes demanded a denial. "Maybe you could give me an argument on it," I said hopefully. "The proof isn't definite."

She shook her head. "No," she said brokenly. "No, it is not for that I have come..." She chewed her lip and looked quickly down at the floor so that I wouldn't see the sudden bitter tears standing large in her eyes.

SHE tightened her jaw with firm pride and she brought her head up high. "I do not wish to... to profit from a thief," she said nervously. Her clenched hands broke open the clasp of the handbag and she took out a thick brown envelope and held it toward me. "I wish to repay," she said solemnly. "All."

I took the envelope absently, bounced it in my hand and looked at her. Just giving the envelope to me had eased a lot of her tension. She closed her bag and let her hands drop open beside her. I put it down on the coffee table between us.

"Look, Mrs. Jacobs," I said clumsily. "I see what you have in mind but I don't think it's strictly necessary. It's up to the law to establish that this money came from an illegal source before they can ask you to..."

"No," she said quickly. "There is no question to me. It must be repaid. All." Her eyes brimmed again with hot, tired tears and she shoved the envelope into my hands again. "I cannot ask Lida to do this for me, too," she said. "She has already done too much for me. And now she insists I must come to stay with her until... until..." After a choked silence, she said, "Will you not take it? Please?"

"Sure," I mumbled. "Sure." She added with some satisfaction. "Ah, that is better," she said softly. "Here I have $800. That is all I have. Is that enough?"

"Sure," I said again. "It's plenty." She frowned and leaned closer. "But surely that is not the exact amount?" she asked in a puzzled tone.

I cleared my throat roughly and stood up for a minute. "Your husband is suspected of taking some merchandise from the store. We don't actually know that he took anything. We don't have the proof," I hesitated for a breath, then asked: "You know what has happened?"

HER head bowed low into her chest. "I know he has taken his life," she said in a strained whisper.

"Yes," I said. "Well, that closes it, you see. We aren't going to look for any more proof. Even if I wanted to, Mr. Jonas wouldn't let me. Now, the best thing for you to do is to hold onto this money and wait a little while. I'll tell Mr. Jonas that you want to repay the losses, and he can tell you what the amount is when we know it."

"No," she said wearily. "You are trying to mislead me. I know. It was a great deal of money, then?"

"It probably wasn't much after he sold the stuff," I said flatly. "It's possible that he didn't make more than $800 out of it."

"But he took a great deal more than that? No, I will not take the money again. You will please give this to Mr. Jonas and tell him... tell him..." She sat quietly, breathing in deep gulps, fighting for control. Tears moved slowly down her cheeks but she didn't dab a handkerchief at them. "I shall be staying at his house, Mr. Wilde," she said. "I could not face him, knowing that..."

Bills To Put New Tax Bites On Phases Of Oil Industry Flood Capital Hopper

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN —(AP)— A wad of bills aimed at tapping the oil and gas industry's tax-toughy pocketbook are expected to stir up a storm in the Legislature.

It is a running battle between forces who feel the mammoth industry in the nation's largest oil producing state already is paying its fair share of government costs and those who contend natural resources taxes are the best source of new state revenue.

The newly-organized Legislature is faced with a major problem in stretching state funds over a variety of insistent demands for new services. There is a gap of at least $5 million dollars between spending requests and Governor Shivers' proposed budget of 165 million dollars for general services for the next two fiscal years.

That does not include 100 million dollars which highway officials say is needed to bring the state's primary roads up to par. Shivers has recommended a cent a gallon boost on the gasoline sales tax to improve highways.

Shivers also told the Legislature if it found it had to raise money it might look to the long-time gas transmission companies for it.

The natural gas transmission lines challenged last session's new tax on them in court. More than 11 million dollars is tied up because of that lawsuit.

The gas transmission people would be hit by a compressor tax bill introduced by Rep. Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde, who figures it would bring in 60 million dollars a year. It would not supplant the gathering tax but would be in addition to it.

Price Fixing Asked
The natural gas industry also has a wary eye on at least three price fixing bills. Rep. Jack Bryan, Buffalo, and Senator Wardlow Lane, Center each has a bill giving the Railroad Commission power to establish minimum prices at the wellhead. Senator Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, introduced a bill to give the commission power to fix prices in the huge Panhandle area.

Natural gas in the Texas Panhandle is selling for about half what it is in Oklahoma, he said.

Hazlewood believes his bill — defeated last session—would also help solve the state's money problem.

Some other tax bills.
By Rep. Grady Hogue, Martin's Mill, a processing tax of one cent a gallon on all combustible condensates which includes all forms of gasoline coupled with a two-cent a gallon cut in the gasoline sales tax. He figures it would raise $4 million dollars a year.

Invoice Tax Sought

By Charles Hughes, Sherman, an occupation tax of 11/20 of one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas processed in Texas. He proposed an additional 9/20 of one cent tax if the present gathering tax of 9/20 of one cent finally is invalidated.

Rep. Gabe Garrett, Corpus Christi, is working on a bill to eliminate percentage taxes now existing on such items as natural gas, sulphur and beer. He would substitute a one and one-half per cent invoice tax on practically all business.

Rep. Sam Sellers, Waco, has a bill which would put a two-cent processing tax on practically all burnable petroleum products and he estimates it would raise 200 million a year.

Two Companies Report Earnings

NEW YORK —(AP)—Earnings reported include:
Freeport Sulphur Company for 12 months ending December 31, net income of $1,235,750, equal to $3.65 a share for 1952, compared with net income of $6,908,897 for 1951, equal to $2.57 a share.

Sun Oil Company, for 12 months ending December 31, net income of $48,813,663, equal to $6.01 a share, compared with $45,353,643 and $6.35 a share for the previous year.

Texans Set Record In Insurance Buying

AUSTIN — Texans bought more fire, windstorm and extended coverage insurance in 1952 than in any other year in history, Fire Insurance Commissioner Paul H. Brown announced Saturday.

Fire insurance premiums reported through the Texas Insurance Checking Office totaled $67,945,584 last year—almost $3,500,000 more than in 1951 for an increase of seven per cent. Windstorm and extended coverage premiums totaled $46,778,983 in 1952—a gain of eight per cent over the $43,349,500 Texans spent for this kind of insurance protection in 1951.

Commissioner Brown said the increase in insurance premiums was due largely to new construction, inflation and heavy inventories. There were no general changes in fire, windstorm and extended coverage rates during 1952, although there were some adjustments applying to specific classes of risks, he said.

Realization by property owners that they need more insurance to protect the inflated values of their property is one reason for the increased buying, Commissioner Brown said. He believes that property owners probably will continue to increase their insurance coverage so long as values are inflated.

75 Extra Policemen Combat Jay-Walking

DETROIT —(AP)—Seventy-five policemen have been shifted from other duty to see that pedestrians obey the traffic laws in an attempt to cut down the rising toll of traffic deaths. Pedestrians will get tickets from policemen for any law violations.

Director of Traffic James A. Hoye says there were 184 traffic deaths last year, 87 of which were caused by the pedestrian himself.

ANOTHER OIL BUILDING—The new Forest Building at West Ohio and North Marienfeld Streets in Midland houses the headquarters offices of Forest Oil Corporation of Lone Gas Company and Lone Star Producing Company for their West Texas-New Mexico divisions. The structure was erected by John P. Butler. Forest has a long-term lease on it and has sub-leased some of the space to the Lone Star companies.

GREAT WESTERN HEADQUARTERS—The headquarters offices of Great Western Drilling Company and its affiliate, Great Western Producers, Inc., now are located in the new Fidelity Life Union Life Insurance Company Building in Midland. The structure is at North Loraine and West Michigan Streets. Great Western recently moved its general office to this city from Lubbock. The Midland district offices of Fidelity Union Life Insurance Company, owner of the building also are in it.

SPARSLEY SETTLED

Most sparsely settled of all the states of the Union is Nevada, with its population of 138,000 being fewer than two persons per square mile.

Cab Driver's Widow Unwilling To Ask Mercy For Slayers

EL PASO (AP)—The widow of a slain cab driver says she is unwilling right now to ask for mercy for the two youths convicted of his murder.

"I feel sorry for their parents," Mrs. Jesus A. Gonzales said, but "I just can't feel sorry for the boys."

Pfc. Marvin Lee Austin, 21, Maraduke, Ark., and Pvt. Raymond Leslie Button, 22, Des Moines, Ia., were found guilty Thursday of shooting Gonzales and burning his body in his cab November 22.

Mrs. Gonzales talked to a reporter Saturday as she prepared breakfast for her four small children.

She told of a visit by young Austin's father, H. W. Austin. He was accompanied by a clergyman.

"We all prayed," Mrs. Gonzales said. "Mr. Austin cried. He asked me if he could help me or my family in any way."

"He did not ask me whether I would ask for mercy for the boys. Nobody has asked me."

"I don't know."

A&M Development Fund Gifts Increase

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—The Texas A&M College Development Fund set a new record during 1952 for money received when students, former students and friends contributed $98,224.61.

Dick Hervey, secretary of the Former Students Association, said that while the total amount received was a record, the total number of contributions was down to 8,201.

Of the total received, $26,758.66 was marked for certain uses in line with wishes of the donors.

Motor carriers move about nine billion tons of freight a year in the United States.

Another Oil Production Record Set In November

Crude-oil production of the free, non-Communist world reached a new record in November, the Oil and Gas Journal reported.

Daily average output during the month was 11,700,100 barrels. This total represented an increase of 135,400 barrels daily, or 1.2 per cent, over the previous month.

The trade publication pointed out that world crude production still is rising but at a slower rate than was the case during the first two years after the outbreak of the war in Korea. The November production was 6.6 per cent over November, 1951, and increases in this range are anticipated during 1953.

Most of the increase in November was due to record high production in the United States. Fields in this country poured out an average of 6,600,000 barrels daily during the month, a new all-time peak. Foreign production, on the other hand, showed a lesser gain of about 44,000 barrels daily.

Much of the over-all gain in foreign production was due to higher output in Venezuela. Venezuelan production slumped badly during the summer because of weakness of the heavy fuel oil market. The downward trend was reversed in October, and that country's output in November represented a further increase of almost 51,000 barrels daily.

In the Middle East, production in Kuwait was up sharply, but this was offset by a decline in Iraq. Kuwait's output, at 792,400 barrels daily, was only about 18,000 barrels daily below the all-time high for this country which was reached last July. The dip from October to November in Iraq amounted to about 41,000 barrels daily and was due to the fact that some pumping facilities still are not completed on the new 30- and 32-inch pipe line from Kirkuk field to Basra, Syria.

THE PROTECTING ARM OF THE LAW

Nancy's not afraid of policemen. You can tell that by her open expression of friendliness as she looks up at the officer helping her across the street.

In some countries the law is not so kind. It is not used, as in America to protect the individual. It is not made for the masses, but for the few to do with as they please.

In our great land you'll see policemen at nearly every city school, not to correct, but to protect your children at the street crossings.

That is because our country and its laws have been founded on Christianity.

Support your church and give your children continued protection and the freedom to live, learn, and worship as they please.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The market at the Midland Livestock auction last Thursday was fairly steady on most classes of cattle, but cows going to the packer sold 50 cents to $1 lower. Receipts totaled 300 head.

Good to choice fat calves and yearlings went at $19 to $22; medium to good $17 to $19 and cull and common, $13 to $15.50.

Good to choice cows brought $13 to $15.50; medium to good, $12 to $13; canners and cutters, $9 to $12. Bulls drew $14 to $18.

Stocker steer calves auctioned at $20 to $22, and stocker heifer calves brought $18 to $21.

Cow and calf pairs went at $124 to $185.

Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings went at $13 to $15.

Dub Clark, San Angelo auctioneer, will work the annual Glascock County Livestock Show at Garden City, February 6, Glascock County Agent Oliver F. West has announced.

The auction sale of 31 lambs and three calves will be held immediately following the free barbecue which is scheduled at noon.

Judging will get underway at 10 a.m. and will be concluded by barbecue time. L. M. Hargrave of Texas Tech, Lubbock assisted by E. L. Tiner of Big Spring will judge the 60 lambs and five calves entered in the club show.

All West Texans are invited to attend the annual event at Garden City.

President Eisenhower received an invitation to attend the annual Silver Spur Rodeo at Yuma, Ariz., even before the new President took office. But the President of the United States declined graciously—in writing—to the Yuma Jaycees who had extended the invitation.

Which reminds that plans already are well underway for the staging of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo, June 3-7. It will be the best ever, so start making your plans now to attend.

The annual convention of the American Brahman Breeders Association is scheduled February 11-14 at Houston. It will be held in connection with the Houston Fat Stock Show, which opens February 4. A gala time is planned, according to advance information received by DSG.

El Paso isn't ordinarily an exciting city. Citizens there show a sincere but decorous enthusiasm for such events and attractions as their renowned mid-Winter Sun Carnival, their college and high school football teams, their symphony and concert programs, and myriad other activities—but comes rodeo time each year, and decorum gets the boot.

The sixteenth running of El Paso's Southwestern Livestock Show and Championship Rodeo is scheduled February 8-15.

Already rodeo fever there is beginning to mount, and by opening performance El Pasoans, almost to a man, will have sipped at the cup of Western tradition, and an otherwise staid citizenry will be decked out in loud shirts, bright scarfs, high-heeled boots, and ten gallon hats. It will be rodeo time in the border city.

The country south of Brady and on into Austin is greening up a little bit as the result of limited winter moisture in that area. In traveling through that sector, one sees occasional green spots and scattered ponds of water. A very pleasing sight indeed.

From Brady on north, however, the situation is unchanged—continued dry, brown, grassless country. Still the ranchers and farmers have not given up as they scan the skies for clouds which yet may bring plenty of moisture in February. Many farmers in the area south of San Angelo have their lands in shape to glean full benefits from the rains when they do come.

The 16th Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association to be organized in Texas held its first meeting recently in Abilene. The group will be known as the West Central Texas Angus Association.

Milton Miller, fieldman for the Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' Association, presided at the meeting. The breeders elected Ray H. Boethe of Sweetwater as their first president, and Marvin B. Simpson, Robert Lee, was named vice president. James L. Hays, Abilene, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Texas named to the board of directors for one-year terms were Dick Chick and Leo Fry of Abilene, and L. R. Whit, Hamlin, Rush Callan, Roten, Dr. J. B. Reneau, Monday, and Joe McFarlane, Brownwood, will serve two years, and Joe Lemley, San Angelo, James Cave, Roby, and Albert Thane, Haskell, for three-year terms.

San Antonians are polishing up their boots for their annual livestock exposition and rodeo February 20 to March 1, which in its ten days at the Bexar County Coliseum will bring exhibitors of premium livestock from more than 10 states of the nation.

Some 4,000 head of livestock will compete for more than $54,000 in premiums at the fourth annual show. Exposition officials report there are 811 entries of breeding cattle including 60 head of exhibit stock.

Texas 4-H and FFA Club members have entered a total of 1,845 head of livestock, including 32 dairy calves, 395 pigs, 308 steers, 910 lambs and 200 negro boys' pigs.

More than 400,000 Texans are expected to crowd the western-decorated Alamogordo City. At the show, they will see a million-dollar display of farm and ranch machinery—perhaps the largest of its kind at any major stock show in the Southwest. A mammoth display from the Army, Navy and Air Force will tell the story behind the military services.

Of interest to farmers, ranchers and housewives will be the commercial exhibits featuring new products and services. A wild life exhibit and a rabbit show will attract other spectators.

The nation's top cowboys will

Officials in Mexico Ponder New Scheme For Bracero Pacts

MEXICO CITY.—(AP)—Mexican officials expect to get to work early next week on plans for a new and more favorable migratory labor agreement with the U. S.

It was announced Friday that Interior Secretary Angel Carbajal and Foreign Relations Secretary Luis Padilla Nervo would get together to lay the framework of the new contract.

There was no indication what they might ask, other than that any new contract to replace the one expiring December 31 would give workers firmer guarantees.

Carbajal estimated Saturday more than half a million Mexican braceros are now working in the U. S. Approximately 300,000 are in the U. S. illegally.

Carbajal said the setback problem is being solved slowly, and said about 60,000 who had entered the U. S. illegally to work on farms there had been contracted and are now legal farm workers.

compete in the Everett Colborn World's Championship Rodeo for more than $35,000 in rodeo prize money. Rodeo events at the fourth annual show will include calf roping, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, and a wild horse race, a new event this year.

Tidelands Quiz May Erase Navy Role In Oil Business

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—A potentially explosive question—whether the Navy should get completely out of the oil business—may come up soon before the House Armed Services Committee.

The subject was broached by Representative Gavin (R-Pa.).

With some congressional tempers still simmering from Harry Truman's parting presidential act putting offshore oil lands into a naval petroleum reserve, the question immediately set off a discussion.

The Navy seems in no hurry to take over the controversial offshore lands.

"We have taken no action at all on the oil lands except to study the matter created by the order," said

Capt. Robert H. Meade, director of the naval petroleum reserve.

Meade said Saturday he had conferred with the Navy's judge advocate general about the submerged oil lands. He said the only conclusion reached was: "The whole question must be determined as a national policy by President Eisenhower and the Congress."

Meade said that, while waiting for a final decision, about all the Navy could do was to "let the lawyers determine the Navy's authority, responsibilities and duty."

The subject likely will be reviewed within the next three or four weeks, along with questions about the Navy's naval reserve in California, and the Point Barrow reserve in Alaska.

The naval reserves were established 40 years ago when the petroleum resources of the nation were still virtually unknown. In the interim the nation has gone through two major wars relying entirely on private industry for fuel, not on the naval reserves.

Chairman Short (R-Mo.) of the committee said in an interview that it will go into the problems of the naval reserves as soon as possible.

The Elk Hills reserve is to hold oil for future emergency use, yet failure to expand the present limited production is reducing the quantity that ultimately can be recovered.

Tests have shown that a shifting of pressures and an encroachment of salt water is curtailing potential production.

At present, production in the shallow zone of the Elk Hills reserve is 6,100 barrels a day. It has been estimated that new wells, drilled to raise production to 31,000 barrels daily, would permit maximum recovery. However, once that rate was achieved, production could

FORT WORTH.—(AP)—Movement of meat animals was heavy at all major market points during the last week. Prices here dropped to the lowest point since February, 1929.

Slaughter steers and yearlings lost $1-$3 per hundred, cows were off $1, and slaughter calves were off $1 to $2. Stocker cattle and calves slipped $1 to $3. Fat lambs lost $1 to $2 and feeder lambs were off $3 to $5. Older sheep were weak to $1 or more lower. Hog trading was suspended by an embargo resulting from a suspected case of vesicular exanthema.

Comparative prices: Slaughter steers and yearlings $10-$24; slaughter cows $9-$15; slaughter calves $9-$21; stocker calves $22 down; stocker yearlings $21 down; slaughter lambs $14-$20; feeder lambs $16 down; yearlings $17 down; old sheep $13 down; ewes $5-$8.

New Appliance Firm Here Features Crosley Kitchens

Complete Crosley kitchens will be highlighted Friday and Saturday at the formal opening of the D. and W. Appliance Company, 430 Andrews Highway, with a host of free prizes available for new customers.

The Crosley dealership is owned and operated by Dorothy and Willard Opp. She is the former Dorothy B. Blackman, long-time Midland resident. Two salesmen will aid them in operation of the new enterprise.

D. and W. is located in a modern building, with an open glass front. Fluorescent lighting aids in displaying the complete line of Crosley home appliances. Central heating and air conditioning are provided.

Included in the merchandise available to Midlanders are refrigerators, electric stoves, television sets, home freezers, air conditioners, radios, automatic dishwashers, garbage disposals and a number of small appliances.

The motto of the organization is any size appliance for any size home. The staff provides information without charge on the installation of the Crosley kitchens or television sets.

Arrangements have been made with the Phillips Radio Lab for the installation work of television sets. Store hours will be from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. six days each week, with D. and W. closed on Sundays.

Opp said the list of prizes will include a large electric roaster, a radio, waffle cooker and a pop-up toaster.

Crosley appliances have a five-year warranty guarantee, while the Crosley T-V sets are covered by a one-year guarantee.

FLORE BURIALS

The Colorado tribe of South American Indians bury their dead under the floor of the house, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The danger of cold weather, snow or ice, is no deterrent to early seeding. On the contrary, alternate freezing and thawing, melting snow or rain help bury the seed.

Masaryk Reduced From 'Hero' Rank

VIENNA—(P)—Thomas Masaryk, who founded the Czechoslovak republic in 1918 and was the nation's greatest hero for 30 years, has been removed from all public buildings and, on January 1, a railway station in Prague named in his honor, was renamed. A few days later, Rude Pravo charged that Masaryk and his successor as president, Edward Benes, were "cosmopolitans" who "falsified" the history of the founding of the republic.

Thermostat Location Is Important To Comfort

By MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service
Have you a thermostat-thumper in your home? Many households do. He is the chap who is unfortunate enough to live in a home that just can't be heated comfortably. So he fuses with the heat-control (thermostat), thumping it up and down the scale.

The blame for his discomfort rests, more often than not, with the person or persons who installed the thermostat in an improper location. According to the Small Homes Council, there are several places that should be avoided.

Cold air from windows or outside doors, warm air from registers, radiators, or fireplaces should not be allowed to flow over the thermostat. It shouldn't be placed on an outside wall, or on a wall heated by hot-water pipes, warm-air ducts or chimney. Nor should the sun's rays reach it.

The reason for these rules are obvious. The thermostat must be placed at a spot where it can measure temperature that is representative of air throughout the house. Near hot or cold spots, it cannot do this.

Away From Drafts
The thermostat should be away from heat sources and drafts. Even the heat from a lamp, television set

Insulation Of Home Is Matter Of Added Comfort, Economy

Insulation of homes is a matter many homemakers dismiss as something for their husbands to be concerned about, yet comfort and economy are of great interest to them.

Such an attitude is incongruous, for the insulation in a home has direct bearing on the comfort that home affords—and it makes a substantial difference when it comes to the part of the family budget marked "fuel bills."

Probably the reason so many homemakers regard insulation as a matter for the male side of the family is a preconceived idea that there's something highly technical about the subject. Actually, the principles of insulation as applied in building today are very simple.

Houses are built to retain heat in cold weather and to keep heat out in hot weather. Man has been doing this for centuries. Even the most primitive huts on tropical islands make use of dried grass and leaves to help keep the sun's rays out. In cold climates the skins of animals have been helping man keep warm since the earliest of times.

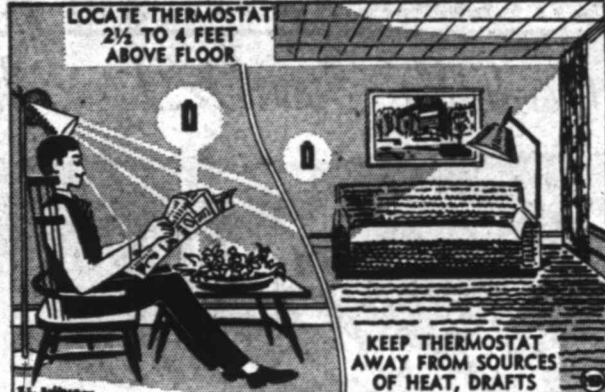

Heat always moves from higher to lower temperatures, so in the Wintertime when we heat the inside of houses the heat moves from the warm interior towards the colder area outside. In the summertime, when the outside heat is greater, the heat travels towards the cooler interior.

Retard Heat Flow
We insulate houses to retard this flow of heat. Most of the building materials used for walls, ceilings, floors and roofs have some insulating value, but modern science has developed special materials with very high insulating qualities.

One of the newest types is reflective insulation. The shiny surfaces of these reflect the heat rays, throwing them back in much the same way as a mirror reflects light. Besides helping to keep heat where we want it, insulation helps to keep all parts of a house more evenly heated. Since the amount of cool air moving down the inside walls is decreased, floor drafts are reduced.

Insulation also is a money saver. Because it reduces heat loss, it also reduces the amount of fuel required to keep the home heated. Heating plants last longer, too, if not called upon for super service during severe winter months.

WEEKEND HERE
Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Burns of Colorado City are weekend visitors in Midland.

LOCATE THERMOSTAT 2 1/2 TO 4 FEET ABOVE FLOOR

KEEP THERMOSTAT AWAY FROM SOURCES OF HEAT, DRAFTS

In order to maintain uniform temperatures, thermostats must measure air that is representative of air throughout the home.

If it is desirable to raise the temperature, such as after an overnight setback, set the dial at the desired temperature and not at the top of the scale. A higher setting will not make the temperature reach the desired point any faster. Similarly, setting the dial at the bottom of the scale won't cool the house any faster than if the indicator were lowered only a few degrees.

Some conditions justify a change in temperature setting. In a poorly insulated house having low wall surface temperatures, the thermostat may have to be reset as outdoor temperatures change.

The thermostat setting may be reduced five to 10 degrees during the night and this can result in fuel savings of five to eight per cent. Fortunately, the control arrangement that provides maximum comfort usually results in lower heating costs.

New Satin-Finish Enamel Announced By Midland Dealer

The manufacture of a new, one-coat, easy-to-apply satin finish enamel that requires no primer, that washes as easily as a baked enamel finish and that may be used on practically any surface, interior or exterior, was announced here Saturday by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, 301 South Main Street.

Developed as a companion line to Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Wallhide Rubberized Satin Finish the new product, to be known as "Satinhide Enamel," will be offered in 16 colors and white. The colors, corresponding to the Wallhide Rubberized line, will range from soft pastel shades and tints to deep stimulating hues, according to C. C. Smith, manager of the firm. In conjunction with the new enamel line, Pittsburgh Plate also has announced a simplified Master Color Guide System it has developed which offers thousands of color combinations with the use of Wallhide Rubberized and Satinhide Enamel.

"Satinhide Enamel is easy to brush and possesses exceptional sealing properties," Smith revealed.

The sheen is a low luster semi-gloss making it suitable for use on walls as well as trim work. There is practically no limitation as to the type of surface where it may be applied. Washability is outstanding. Stubborn stains, grease, lipstick, ink spots, mercurchrome, crayon, and finger smears wipe right off. Because of the pleasing sheen and excellent washing qualities it is especially suitable for use on kitchen and bathroom walls, shelving, indoor and outdoor furniture.

No 'Painting' Odor
"It has no unpleasant 'painty' odor and easily may be applied by brush, spray or roller coater. Satinhide spreads easily and dries to a hard, uniform satin finish in just four hours. It leaves a tough film, resistant to marring and scuffing, and will not chip, peel, crack or wrinkle," Smith stated.

The Master Color Guide developed by Pittsburgh is a handy manual composed of 151 colors, available in Wallhide Rubberized Satin Finish and similar colors in Satinhide Enamel for woodwork and trim. These chips provide the basis for many thousands of possible color

Secrets Listed For Proper Care Of Wood Floors

Most new home owners are proud of their hardwood floors than anything else in the house. However, after a few weeks of tracking in the usual new subdivision dirt and the extra traffic of getting settled, the floors sometimes are a sorry sight.

But the housewife with know-how can keep that beautiful brand-new look for her prized hardwood. Occasional waxing and daily dusting are her secrets.

The wax should leave a hard, dry surface that is easy to keep clean; the film of wax protects the finish and keeps the wax on the surface where it can be wiped off easily. If floors are cleaned regularly and well waxed, dirt and dust can be removed by going over them with an untreated dust mop or soft cloth. This takes just a few minutes and prevents dirt from being ground into the wax.

Avoid Scrubbing
When floors need cleaning it is important to avoid soap and water scrubbing. Water will injure both the finish and the wood and sometimes even cause the floors to buckle. If water is spilled on the floor, when allowed to remain on a finished floor, it leaves an unsightly white spot which almost is impossible to remove without refinishing.

Building In January Passes $2,500,000

Midland neared the end of its first month of 1953 Friday with more than $2,500,000 worth of building permits.

The heavy rush during January gave the city a big boost toward another big year, which may top last year's record-breaking $22,000,000 worth of building.

During the week and Friday afternoon, records in the office of R. S. Higgins showed that $161,300 worth of permits were issued, bringing the 1953 total to $2,517,453.

Building permits issued during the week included: Grammer-Murphy, interior alterations to business, 101-105 North Main Street, $15,000. C. L. THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1953-15

Due to comments made by both teens and adults, Culture Corner will not be discontinued.

Many MHS students are taking part in the Gondoliers, an operetta which is being presented by the Midland Community Theater. They are Ruth Ann Rhodes, David Brieth, Sally Breeze, Elaine Johnson, Roger Coll and Wanda Moore. If you missed last week's run, you still have a chance to see it either Thursday, Friday, or Saturday of this week.

Some persons might doubt the facts sometimes presented in this column and if one of these people were to write my epitaph it would probably read something like this, "Here lies the writer of Culture Corner, as usual."

The decorations for the Varsity Football Banquet held last Monday night were made by the MHS Art Department under the supervision of Miss Storey. The centerpiece on the speaker's table consisted of 200 small orchids.

Students interested in art should be interested in the fact that a famous mural painter, Buckley McGurrian, is being brought to Midland. This is being arranged by the Palette Club. All students interested in art are urged to enroll in Mr. McGurrian's classes. We suggest that you call the Palette Club for information concerning the cost of the course.

For those of you who know nothing about art we suggest that you read a big book with bigger pictures entitled "Famous Paintings" by A. E. Chase. It is in the school library.

Four Students See Inaugural

Jan. 23, 1953

We're writing this letter as we are returning home from an exciting trip to Washington, D. C. for the inauguration of General Eisenhower.

Leaving Midland the 17th of January, we flew to Dallas and from there non-stop to Washington, D. C. We arrived in the Capital City about 7 p.m. We stayed with Margie Hensley, a former Midlander who attends Mt. Vernon Girls School there.

The next morning we went to New York City and had a wonderful time. We saw two shows, the Statue of Liberty, Radio City, State Building and did lots of shopping. After spending 24 hours in New York City, we were pretty tired when we arrived back at the Hensley's. Tuesday, we viewed the inauguration parade from atop a building belonging to a friend of the Hensley's. The parade lasted about six hours and every state in the Union had a band representing them. Texas had the Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band and the Kilgore Rangerettes.

You probably remember Alan Harris. Well, he is a member of the Cowboy Band and we accidentally ran into him and got to talk to him. It sure was good to see someone from Midland.

The main highlights besides the inauguration were sights such as the White House, The Smithsonian Institute, Arlington Cemetery, Lee's home and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

That just about covers everything. Our plane is five hours late but we'll be home sometime the 23rd.

Your friends,
Sharon Herrell
Barbara Tom
Virginia Lou Wilkinson
Helen Zant

P.S. We really had a swell time.

Idiocy Of Speeding Shown In 'Teenicide' Movie For Assembly

Another movie in a series of safety films was shown Thursday in assembly.

The film, "The Last Date," starred Joan Taylor, and demonstrated the dangers of reckless driving.

Showing the art of teenage suicide, or "teenicide," in graphic detail, the plot pictured how a crash due to fast driving resulted in the killing of a young man and the maiming of a lovely teenage girl.

Mr. Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, spoke to students in assembly Wednesday on "The School in the Scheme of Things."

The talk, which began with several humorous stories ended in this earnest exhortation: "Get the most out of school while you can; it's a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

The FFA Sweethearts, Sylvia Smith and Ann Matlock, were surprised Thursday during assembly when FFA President, Harold Merritt called them to the stage and presented them with their sweetheart jackets.

As an additional honor they will be taken to the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show when the Midland Chapter makes its annual Fort Worth journey.

Pat Morgan?
Pat Morgan is a junior who has gone to New Mexico Military Institute the last two years. He likes going to school in Midland and says his most exciting experience was winning the state Golden Gloves Tournament.

Connie Crews?
Connie moved to Midland from Lubbock, and her favorite sport is swimming. She is 16 years old, five feet two inches tall and has brown hair and green eyes.

Truman Gordon?
Truman moved here from Strawn where he lettered in football three years and in basketball two years. He is a five-foot-11-inch senior and likes dancing.

The Bulldogs racked up their third victory of the season Tuesday and showed promise of better things to come. For the first time in several games the Midlanders didn't collapse in the fourth quarter after leading all the way. It was also the first game in quite a while in which the Bulldogs had the height advantage.

The Tornadoes were surprised completely and outplayed by the hustling Canines. Harold Paden and Roy Kimsey led in scoring with nine points apiece. Robert Keisling was next with eight. Reserve Tom Dyer came off the bench in the third quarter to sink two field goals and one free shot for five points. The other scorers were: Hatfield-six, Mims-two, and Rutledge-two. The rest of the reserves saw only limited action in the final quarter.

In the first game of the night the Lamessa B squad plastered the Bulldogs "Bees" 42-28. The Junior Bulldogs were led by Joe Nicholson with eight points and Buddy Mayes with six.

Last week "Bernie's Bruisers" won a game from Odessa and never even received recognition for it. We think this should not go unnoticed, especially since the score was 52-15. In a previous game with the Odessans, the Bulldogs fell by one point, 42-41. Buddy Mayes was high for Midland with 14 points. The Midland scoring went as follows: McKnight one, Shaw two, Nicholson twelve, Mayes fourteen, Cole five, Hubbard six, long one, Pease six, and Harris one.

The Bulldogs journeyed to Pampa Friday and Borer Saturday to engage the two top teams in the loop. Pampa, with the district's leading scorer, Jimmy Bond, still was undefeated going into Friday's contest. The Bulldogs were exactly the opposite, winning none and being in the cellar.

The Midland High tennis team won a match last Saturday with Abilene, 10-6. In a previous match at Abilene Saturday they were beaten by Clyde. Ellen DeChiclis was the outstanding Midland player, winning two singles matches and teaming up to win two doubles matches.

It's about time we put in a good word for the MHS nature lovers who can be seen rain or shine, hot or cold running up and down the field every day at sixth period. Naturally we mean our little thimble clads, the Bulldog track team. The team is coached by Edwin (Jack-rabbit) Nixon and consists of about 13 members. In the next month or so the team will be increased considerably as quite a few of the basketball boys are also trackmen. The track season begins in the first of March.

Apologies to Coach Ford for the little bit about him last week. Things aren't really so bad in PE ("Ouch, quit twistin' my arm, Coach!")

Bulldog Editorial

"When larger and faster cars are built, there will be bigger fools to wreck them." Not quite like the advertisement, but true, nevertheless. Whom are we referring to? The drivers of Midland High School, of course.

Compared with its predecessors, the 1953 automobile is more beautiful, more expensive, more powerful, and no less dangerous! Certainly the cars are no less dangerous—but how about the drivers? Judging by the way some students drive on Illinois Street and other streets around the school, one might think they are suffering from the delusion that they are on the Indianapolis Speedway.

The car was not intended to take both drivers and pedestrians off their feet. If reckless driving continues at our school at the present rate, we will be able to say, "The drivers in our school don't need introductions, they scrape up their own acquaintances."

In the old days pioneers died with their boots on. Nowadays, their grandsons still die with their boots on—on the accelerator. Remember—if you don't want to end up in boothill, reckless driving will have to stop. It's up to you.—Don Dwight.

'Orchids To Team' Banquet Salutes MHS Football Squad

With a theme of "Orchids to the Team" being carried out by a miniature orchid tree on the speaker's table, the annual football banquet honoring the MHS Bulldogs was held on Monday evening, in the High School cafeteria.

The menu consisted of combination salad, cranberry sauce, baked potatoes, giblet gravy, turkey, dressing, green beans, hot rolls, chocolate cake and milk. Dinner music was provided by the MHS stage band.

The table decorations, in addition to the orchid tree, were contributed by the art department under the direction of Miss Florence Storey. They were tall gold candles in a dish of purple plastic foam surrounded by more miniature orchids atop a field of purple and gold ribbons.

The program was announced by the master of ceremonies, Delbert Downing.

The Reminiscent Reporter

By DON DWIGHT

Before we begin, we would like to call your attention to a new addition to this column, i. e., a timely saying at the beginning of each column. The one for this week is, "The good old days were when the only reds in this country were Indians." Now let us resume.

Jan. 21, 1950—Some students complained of a lack of food for thought. There will always be a bumper crop—what we need is someone to harvest it.

Jan. 22, 1950—Many MHS students were getting married. We've discovered that no girl is so tone deaf that she can't hum the wedding march.

Jan. 23, 1950—Cosmetics proved the average MHS girl has the skin she loves to retouch.

Jan. 24, 1950—A few students were worried because they had nothing to say. Having nothing to say is all right, just try not to say it out loud.

Jan. 25, 1950—The MHS classrooms were as sound as ever, thanks to the teachers and a few of their noisy students.

Jan. 22, 1951—A "Truth or Consequences" program was given and one student had to pay the consequences when he failed to answer the question, "Why is a Model T like a classroom?"

Jan. 23, 1951—Everyone was still trying to figure out the Model T riddle.

Jan. 24, 1951—One bright student finally figured it out. It seems a Model T is like a classroom because it is full of loose nuts with an old crank in front.

Jan. 25, 1951—White stuff was falling everywhere. Many students had to be informed that it wasn't dandruff, but snow!

Jan. 26, 1951—As usual, the government was taxing most everything—including a lot of people's patience.

Jan. 23, 1952—We talked to an ex-MHS student who had graduated from college. He wasn't much different from us—just a matter of degree.

Jan. 24, 1952—Many seniors graduated at mid-term, and everyone bid them a fond farewell. We hope they go far—and stay there.

Jan. 25, 1952—Mink raisers were trying to cover up the mink scandal in the Capital. In other words, outside of Washington, a mink is not a stink.

Cheerleader Sadie Nugent Named Queen Of Basketball

Sadie Nugent, who was chosen as Basketball Sweetheart, is well known throughout Midland High School since she was cheerleader last year and this year is head cheerleader.

Sadie was born in Port Arthur and lived there several years. She then moved to Hobbs, N. M., where she lived a year before moving to Midland where she's been ever since.

Sadie is a senior this year and plans to go to Texas University when she graduates.

She is a member of the Altrusa Club and Future Teachers Club and has a busy schedule of English, drill, office, shorthand, typing and bookkeeping.

Her favorite occupation is dancing and the top teachers on her list are Miss Boyd, Mrs. Blair and Mrs. Wilson. Sadie is five feet three inches tall with brown hair and blue eyes and is a well-known, well-liked person in Midland High School.

what are YOU going to be when you grow up?

A doctor or a nurse . . . an engineer or a teacher . . . maybe even President? No goal is too high for their dreams to reach. And of course you want to help make those dreams come true . . .

You can start right now—with the way you answer your child's questions, with the encouragement you give his curiosity. Your home can stimulate his desire to learn . . . teach him to dig out the facts for himself . . . put him leagues ahead of his schoolmates—but you need the proper tools. Thousands of parents are turning to THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE for help in this important task.

MAKES LEARNING A DELIGHT

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE was designed by parents, each an authority in his particular field, who understand your child's thinking, who know what will arouse and hold his interest. These experts know that while he reads for pleasure, he unconsciously absorbs a thousand facts he will remember far into the future.

Every volume of THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE leads your child on . . . makes him want to see what fascinations the next page and the next book hold. He may pick up a volume simply to see what makes the stars twinkle. But before he puts it down he will be able to tell you how elevators run . . . what a stalactite is . . . how flowers get their color . . . why a fire pail is filled with sand . . . the workings of the human heart. In a few enchanting hours he learns dozens of useful facts his young friends have never heard of!

AS MODERN AS TOMORROW!

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE captures your child's interest with the oldest of all attention-getters . . . the picture. Its 15,000 wonderful pictures (over 3,800 in beautiful color) draw him irresistibly into a text so informative it's a generation ahead! In its 7,600 pages your child will find information on every dramatic development of the new atomic age: rockets, jet propulsion, radar, atomic energy, television; on the machines and techniques of modern industry and modern living. And not only will he understand the age in which he lives, he will explore past ages through their history, their fine arts, their literature, geography and customs. His beloved BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE will become his constant companion in school*, at play, on rainy days at home.

A FREE GIFT FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Here's a gift for your children that will kindle their imaginations . . . a new, exciting full-color booklet the whole family will enjoy. Its 24 thrill-packed pages reproduce in full beautiful color actual pages from THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE. Its quizzes, games and nursery rhymes, and its fascinating questions and answers will give your child hours of enjoyment . . . and teach him dozens of useful facts. To get your child's copy, simply mail the coupon today. There is no obligation, of course.

Service Leagues Aid Midland Youth

CHILDREN'S CLINIC BOARD—Administration of the Children's Diagnostic Clinic is a joint project of the Midland Service League and the Children's Service League. Members of the board which directed the Clinic's activities last year are, left to right, Mrs. C. H. Atchison and Mrs. Alan Leeper, Children's Service League; Mrs. John Ed Cooper and Mrs. Harvey Herd, Midland Service League, and Mrs. Edward Culbertson, chairman and member-at-large.

NEW MEMBERS—Board members who will serve through 1953 are, left to right, Mrs. Herd and Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., Midland Service League; Mrs. Leeper, Children's Service League, and Mrs. F. H. McGuigan, member-at-large. Mrs. Fred Cassidy of the Children's League also is a member.

EXAMINATION—Mrs. R. C. Bowden, Clinic nurse, assisted by Mrs. Herd, examines La Verne Presley, one of the Clinic's patients. The Clinic is conducted for the benefit of Midland's underprivileged children. In addition to Mrs. Bowden, the staff is composed of Midland doctors working on a rotation plan and volunteer workers from the two service leagues. Open each Tuesday, the Clinic is located in the Midland Memorial Hospital.

CASE HISTORY—An interview with the patient's parents is an important preliminary to the actual physical examination. Here, Mrs. C. B. Buys, holding her young son, Jimmy, talks things over with Mrs. Philip Grant of the Children's Service League. Currently the Midland Service League is making plans for a charity ball to be held the latter part of February. Proceeds will be divided between the Clinic and the Midland Day Nursery.

Maxine Beall Becomes Bride Of Joe Nance

Maxine Beall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack D. Beall of Midland, and Joe Nance, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Nance of Sonora, were married in a double ring ceremony Sunday, January 25, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Britt in Odessa.

Officializing for the ceremony was the Rev. J. H. Goin, pastor of the Belview Baptist Church of Midland. Attendants were Mrs. E. E. Moss of McCamey, and Cleveland Nance of Sonora, sister and brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was wearing a gray suit with navy accessories and her flowers were white carnations around a gardenia. For some-thing old, she wore her great-grandmother's diamond ring and her something borrowed was a lavalier. She also wore the traditional "some-thing blue."

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Sonora. The bride, who was a senior student in Midland High School, will continue her schooling in Sonora. The bridegroom was graduated from Sonora High School and served four years in the Armed Forces.

Baptists Launch Building Plans As Pastor Starts Second Year

Rev. Leon P. Woods

Concurrently with the announcement of plans for a new church auditorium, the Rev. Leon P. Woods Sunday will start his second year as pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church.

To accommodate a growing membership, the church will add a new auditorium to its present plant at 1001 South Main Street and convert its present auditorium into additional educational space.

A building fund now is underway and construction is expected to begin in July on the new auditorium, which will cost approximately $70,000 and seat 800 persons.

There have been 373 members added to the church in the past year and church members will receive Sunday the first copy of their printed church bulletin, to be issued weekly.

Mr. Woods came to Midland in February, 1952, after a tour of duty as an Army chaplain.

Midlander's Parents Compare Africa With West Texas

It's a long way from Midland to Transvaal, South Africa, but according to Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Seymore, parents of Mrs. Sam R. Hershey of Midland, the land looks much the same.

Their town, Vanderbijl Park, and Midland have something else in common, too. Namely, their over-night growth.

Vanderbijl Park, Mrs. Seymore writes, is only five years old but already has a population of 35,000. Climate is good, she added, with temperatures never dipping below 40 degrees or rising above 90 degrees.

The Seymores have lived in their adopted home only seven months, but they like it and expect to remain between two and five years. Seymore is employed by the M. W. Kellogg Construction Company of New Jersey.

Like everyone else, Mrs. Seymore reports, the Africans have a very definite opinion of American womanhood.

One of her African friends, upon returning from a trip to the United States, summed it up this way: "The American women are small, slim, alert, eager, vivacious, chic, glamorous and well-dressed," she declared.

She also found they "made up exquisitely, cooked very well and ran their homes with plenty of efficiency, very little fuss and no servants."

"American women laugh at themselves and criticize themselves mercilessly," she concluded, "but they serve as an inspiration and a challenge to us all."

The Seymores' daughter, Mrs. Hershey, lives at 1608 West Kentucky Street.

Midland Boy Hunts Woman-Grabbed Pet

Terry Lee Maxton, six, was very unhappy Saturday. He couldn't find his honey-colored Cocker Spaniel puppy.

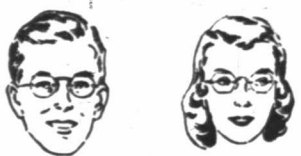

Neighbors informed a woman stopped her black sedan Friday on Golf Course Road and carried away the pet.

Maxton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Maxton, 1909 North Jackson Street.

Time to have that Portrait made!

Let's be perfectly honest! Most people put off having portraits made. They would "rather go to a dentist." We promise you will really enjoy having your portrait taken by Harry Fitch, and the happiness of today will be preserved for reflection forever.

Incidentally, we want you to meet Mrs. Frances Dennis, newest member of our Midland staff. Mrs. Dennis has just moved here from Houston. She is a talented artist, has had many years of photographic experience, and will be pleased to help you with any problems.

Mrs. Bill Tyson Midkiff

Double Ring Vows Unite Midland Couple

In a double ring ceremony Friday in the First Methodist Church, Lela Mae Craddock of Midland became the bride of Bill Tyson Midkiff, also of Midland.

The Rev. Clarence Collins, pastor of St. Luke's Methodist Church, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Craddock of Fort Sumner, N. M. Midkiff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tyson Midkiff of Kerrville.

Church decorations featured sunburst arrangements of white stock and Maroon daisies and seven-branched candelabra. A balanced arrangement of the same flowers was placed on the organ and similar arrangements were used on the communion table and in side niches.

Mrs. Frank Miller, organist, played "Arioso," Bach; "Aria," Handel; "Idyl," Purvis; "Communion," Purvis; "A Lovely Rose Is Blooming," and the traditional wedding marches. Duke Jimerson sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride chose a white length gown of white broadcloth tulle with short sleeves and a basque waist. She carried a styled cascade hand bouquet of gardenias and tufts of illusion accented with a narrow satin ribbon shower. Her headpiece was of white flowers and she wore white gloves and a strand of pearls.

Sue Craddock of Midland, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a white length pink dress styled with a low neckline and a full skirt. A wide cummerbund completed her ensemble. She wore a pink floral headpiece and matching pink shoes and gloves. Her colonial bouquet of Virginia pink carnations and pink illusion was tied with a pink satin ribbon shower.

Brother Is Best Man
Joe Midkiff of Midland, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Candelighters were Jack Cox and Royce Higgs of Midland, and Cox, Higgs, and John Midkiff of Midland, cousin of the bridegroom served as ushers.

The reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. T. O. Midkiff, at 1002 South Marfield Street. The parents of the bride and bridegroom assisted them in receiving their guests.

Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Bates Witt, Mary Lou Lennon, Mary Jane Craddock, Margaret Ann Craddock, Mrs. Bill Long, Mrs. Richard Cherry, Mrs. Charles Romer, Mrs. Berry Boone, Alice Midkiff, Carol Midkiff, Loyce Cole and Julie Edith Drake.

The bride's table held a centerpiece of white stock and maroon daisies. Arrangements of the same flowers were used throughout the entertaining rooms.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride chose a navy suit with navy and white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

The bride is a member of Delta Theta Chi. In Midland she is employed by J. P. Bum Gibson, Inc. Midkiff is a rancher.

Out-of-city wedding guests were from Lubbock, Kerrville, Andrews and Rankin.

Library Has New Quarterly Magazine

The Midland County Library has just received the January, 1953, issue of Subscription Books Bulletin, a quarterly magazine which reviews and evaluates books and encyclopedias which are sold by door-to-door salesmen.

The announcement was made by Lucille Carroll, librarian. This issue, she said, reviews Britannica Junior, Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia, New Century Dictionary of the English Language and the World Book Encyclopedia.

BROWNIES SLATE FLY-UP

Palette Club Reception Will Introduce Artist

Preceding the Monday opening of the art course to be taught by Buckley Mac-Gurrin in the Palette Club Art Center, the club will introduce the artist to Midlanders at a reception Sunday.

The reception is to be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the club's art center at 804 North Colorado Street. The public is invited to attend, officials said.

Mac-Gurrin, who now lives in El Monte, Calif., received most of his early training in Paris and has had exhibits both in Europe and in most of the American art centers.

He served as an art instructor at the San Antonio Art Institute in 1948, 1949 and 1950. While in the state, he lectured on art to a number of Texas cultural organizations and served on juries of selection and award for many art exhibitions in the San Antonio area. He also did portraits of a number of prominent Texans while in the state.

In Midland, he will offer a four-week course, including 20 three-hour sessions and four half-hour lectures.

MCT Schedules Tryouts For Play

Sandwiched between the two-weekend schedule of performances for "The Gondoliers" in the City-County Auditorium will be tryouts for the next production of the Midland Community Theater.

The production, scheduled for presentation after March 1, is to be "Bell, Book and Candle," a comedy in three acts by John Van Druten. The play opened on Broadway in 1950 with Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer in the principal roles.

There will be parts in the production for three men and two women. Candidates for the parts are urged to attend at least two of the tryouts which are to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday and 8 p.m. Monday and Wednesday in the City-County Auditorium.

JayCee-ettes Plan Activities

Plans to elect a "JayCee-ette of the Year" in April were discussed when the JayCee-ette Board of Directors met Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. Felix Weimaker, 1502 North Lamesa Road.

Members also voted to donate $50 to the March of Dimes. Mrs. O. F. Hedrick was elected to complete an unexpired term on the board, and Mrs. William J. Nutto to complete an unexpired term on the publicity committee.

Present were Mrs. Ewing Hill, Mrs. Howard Ford, Mrs. E. N. Burton, Mrs. Burvin Hines, Mrs. William M. Johnson, Mrs. J. P. Marcholi, Mrs. Delmar Adair, Mrs. Irbly Dyer and Mrs. Weimaker.

Young Matrons Circle Meets

Mrs. J. B. Coulter was elected co-chairman of the Young Matrons Circle of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church in a meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Ray Hurst, 2808 Cuthbert Street.

The program from Fulton Oursler's "The Greatest Book Ever Written" was given by Mrs. Howard King and Mrs. R. D. Penn. Mrs. Clyde McHam gave the devotion.

Attending as visitors were Mrs. Bonnie Winter of Allendale, Ill., and Mrs. Bert Shackelford of Friona.

Other members present were Mrs. O. T. Adams, Mrs. G. W. Farris, Mrs. O. B. Jackson, Mrs. Wayne Moore, Mrs. Joe Bill Pierce, Mrs. E. D. Riddle, Mrs. E. B. VanSaun, Mrs. Bob Ballinger, Mrs. J. B. Harwell, Mrs. R. S. Slaughter, Mrs. C. W. Homer and Mrs. Jerry Sides.

Coreen Spellman, Texas Artist, To Speak At AAUW Luncheon

Coreen Mary Spellman, professor of art in Texas State College for Women, Denton, and one of the Southwest's leading artists, will be the speaker for a luncheon meeting of the Midland Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The public is invited to attend the luncheon, scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the Ranchland Hill Country Club. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Ross Moore, telephone 3-3924.

Miss Spellman will speak on "Prints and Print Making," and will bring samples of her work. Her teaching now centers on print making, although she also has taught life drawing, water colors, oils, jewelry making and metal work.

Teaches Art
In addition to her teaching at TSCW, she has taught art during the Summers in San Houston State College in Huntsville, Sul Ross State College in Alpine and New Mexico Highlands University in Las Vegas.

Cited by Carl Zigrosser, author of "Six Centuries of Prints and Prints Old and New," as one of the most promising women of Texas, Miss Spellman has had her work exhibited widely throughout the state and in the eastern states. She also has done illustrations for several books.

Has Solo Shows

In addition to numerous awards and prizes for her work, Miss Spellman has been given solo shows by the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Witte Museum in San Antonio, Houston Museum of Art, Lawrence Galleries of Dallas, Hockaday School for Girls, Collin's Gallery in Fort Worth, Harding College in Searcy, Ark., Port Arthur Woman's Club, Genesee State Teacher's College in Genesee, N. Y.

The Pennybacker Club in Forney, Waco Art League, Sul Ross State College, Museum of New Mexico in Santa Fe, Highlands University, Elisabet Ney Museum in Austin, Port Arthur Woman's Club, Breckenridge Woman's Club, TSCW, La Galeria de los Artesanos in Las Vegas, N. M., and in Graham.

She holds a Bachelor of Science degree from TSCW, Master of Arts from Teachers College, Columbia University, and Master of Fine Arts from the University of Iowa.

She also studied at Harvard University and has done work in the Art Students League, Bellas Artes of Mexico, and the University of Colorado, in addition to her studies under several leading artists.

Sponsored By Art Group

Her program for the AAUW luncheon in Midland is being presented by the AAUW Arts Study Group. Mrs. Bush Elkin is chairman of the group, which also includes Mrs. W. J. Sprecher, Mrs. Helen Thomas, Mrs. Richard Sullivan, Nancy Armstrong, Mrs. Larry Fields, Mrs. J. F. Warren, Mrs. P. H. Walker, Mrs. E. J. Harris, Mrs. R. W. Rahl, Caroline Rawlings, Dolores Walden, Mrs. Gerald Daniel and Betty McWhorter.

Flower Show School Holds Final Session

Flower Show Judging School No. 3, sponsored by the Council of Midland Garden Clubs, held its final session Friday in the educational building of the Church of Christ, North A and Tennessee Streets.

The two-day school was taught by Mrs. John R. Salois, who spoke Thursday on horticulture, and Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, who talked Friday on flower arrangement.

An average of 50 persons attended each session. Mrs. Salois in her talk on flower show practice emphasized the duties of judges in the flower shows. She stated they must be honest, unbiased, courageous and must have a "thorough" knowledge of horticultural standards and of arrangements.

She also gave in detail the duties of the staging chairman in the flower show and explained the need for cooperation between the staging committee, the schedule committee and the entry and classification committees. The duties of the clerks also were pointed out.

Gives Judging Pointers

In her afternoon session Mrs. Salois explained there were approximately 1,500 known varieties of cactus and told the class how to judge this plant. She also covered the field of African violets, other succulents, delphinium, amaryllis, orchids and the judging of house plants, fruits and vegetables. The class practiced judging cactus and violets.

On Friday morning Mrs. Hamilton lectured on design, its principles, the elements of design and the scale element of design. Her morning lecture also covered a study of color, its definition, kinds of color, the major principles of color and its contribution to a design. She discussed in detail the analogous color harmony in design, which is the use of at least three hues which are adjacent on the color wheel.

The Friday afternoon session presented a study of the art of miniature flower arrangement, stressing scale. Also, flower arrangements stressing the analogous color scheme were judged by the class.

This was the third in a series of five flower show schools which are required for those studying to become national flower show judges. In Midland the following have passed all these courses and are qualified judges: Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. A. P. Shirey, Mrs. J. A. Koegler and Mrs. M. S. Dickerson.

Approximately 16 of those attending School No. 3 have indicated they will take the examination at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the home of Mrs. A. P. Shirey.

The Council of Midland Garden Clubs already has sponsored the first two schools and plans to sponsor schools 4 and 5 in the future.

Baptist Class Has Social Meet

The Devoted Hearts BTU Class of the Calvary Baptist Church was entertained with a social Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Stewart, 1201 South Moran Street.

Games furnished entertainment and refreshments were served.

Attending were the Rev. and Mrs. L. P. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Don McPeak, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Grimes, Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Littrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Huggins, Mrs. J. D. Robbins, the host and hostess.

Coronation Influences Valentine Designers To Rival Gorgeous Antique Victorian Cards

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEA Staff Writer

Though we may never develop a national craze for them, as did the Victorians, this year we can expect to see a resurgence of the popularity of gorgeous sentimental valentines. The ready-made valentine industry in America has been inspired by 1953's most dramatic event to make valentines similar to the confections of that other English queen's time.

Put between one and three dollars across your greeting card dealer's counter and he will hand you something as elaborate as you could wish for—complete with little gifts attached, such as lapel pins, cameo necklaces and artificial corsages.

Cupid's arrows were shot from homemade valentines four centuries before Victoria's day but never did they whirl through the air so thick and fast as in that sentimental era, which saw the rise of the kind of ready-made valentine to which we are accustomed.

Shopkeepers of Queen Victoria's time charged as high as 10 pounds for creations made from real silks, satins and laces. Little pockets were often mounted in the center for sending messages or rings. The art processes of lithograph, color engraving and aquatint were at their experimental beginnings then and this helps explain the Victorian fad. It seems that every swain sent valentines then, anonymously of course. It must have caused weeks of exciting guesswork among "the modest maidens who received them. Wrote the Victorian era's own Charles Lamb, "This is the day on which those charming little missives, yelet valentines, cross and intercross each other at every street and turning."

This year's Valentines hark back to the Victorian era. Girl above holds satin-framed shadow box replete with lace, hearts and flowers. Gift medallion is fastened in center.

Mechanical valentines got their start and were very popular in the 1840's and 1850's—saw England exporting these sugary items throughout the world, including America, which ate them up.

But during and after the Civil War a peculiar kind of valentine emerged here which turned the Victorian one inside out. America stopped importing valentines and sent their own ready-made "vinegar valentines" instead. Here is an example of a verse which went with a valentine picturing a Union soldier:

"A valiant warrior you are;
You talked exceeding fine;
But shirked when bullets flew about—
You're not my valentine!"
Anonymous insults continued to pour through the mails on St. Valentine's Day until the era of the first world war, although they never displaced the mash-note type of valentine. Our own craftsmanship had long since equaled England's by then in producing "hearts and flowers."

The mechanical valentine is, of course, still very much with us, as is the humorous one. The modern "salam valentine," however, has nothing of the barbed cruelty in it that you find in antique Civil War ones. Ours poke fun, in a gentle puckish fashion, at both giver and receiver and a typical verse reads like this:

"If you won't be my valentine,
Know what I'm gonna do?
I'm gonna just tell everyone—
I never asked you to!"

In a more sedate period, men were usually the only ones to send out valentines. Today, however, publishers report that 60 per cent of the buyers are women. Likewise, most of the artists and versifiers who create our ready-made valentines are women. And they are not for the love-lorn only. There are valentines especially made to send to friends, mothers, dads and children.

THE POWER OF POSITIVE THINKING

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Stop Fuming And Fretting

Chapter 6

Many people make life unnecessarily difficult for themselves by dissipating power and energy through fuming and fretting.

Do you ever "fume" and "fret"? Here is a picture of yourself if you do. The word "fume" means to boil up, to blow off, to emit vapor, to be agitated, to be distraught, to seethe. The word "fret" is equally descriptive. It is reminiscent of a sick child in the night, a petulant half-cry, half-whine. It ceases, only to begin again. It has an irritating, annoying, penetrating quality. To fret is a childish term, but it describes the emotional reaction of many adults.

The Bible advises us to "Fret not thyself." (Psalm 37:1). This is sound advice for the people of our time. We need to stop fuming and fretting and get peaceful if we are to have power to live effectively. And how do we go about doing so?

I was in a meeting where a discussion was going on which finally became rather bitter. Tempers were becoming frayed and some of the participants were decidedly on edge. Sharp remarks were passed. Suddenly one man arose, deliberately took off his coat, opened his collar, and lay down upon a couch. All were astonished, and someone asked if he felt ill.

"No," he said, "I feel fine, but I am beginning to get mad, and I have learned that it is difficult to get mad lying down."

We all laughed, and the tension was broken. Then our whimsical friend went on to explain that he had "tried a little trick" with himself. He had a quick temper, and when he felt himself getting mad, he found that he was clenching his fist and raising his voice, so he deliberately extended his fingers, not allowing them to form into a fist. In proportion to the rising of his tension or anger, he depressed his voice and talked in exaggerated low tones. "You cannot carry on an argument in a whisper," he said with a grin.

This principle can be effective in controlling emotional excitement, fretting, and tension, as many have discovered by experimentation. A beginning step, therefore, in achieving calmness is to discipline your physical reactions. You will be surprised at how quickly this can reduce the heat of your emotions, and when emotional heat is driven off, fuming and fretting subside. You will be amazed at the energy and power you will save. You will be much less tired.

It is, moreover, a good procedure to practice being phlegmatic or apathetic, even indifferent. To a certain extent, even practice being sluggish. People thus constituted are less susceptible to emotional outbreaks and highly organized individuals may do well to cultivate these reactions. Naturally one does not want to lose the keen, sensitive responsiveness characteristic of the highly organized individual. But the practice of being phlegmatic tends to bring such a keyed-up personality to a balanced emotional position.

Following is a technique which I personally have found of great help in reducing the tendency to fume and fret. I have suggested its use to countless people who practice it and find it of great value:

1. Sit relaxed in a chair. Completely yield yourself to the chair. Starting with your toes and proceeding to the top of your head, conceive of every portion of the body as relaxing. Affirm relaxation by saying, "My toes are relaxed—my fingers—my facial muscles."
2. Think of your mind as the surface of a lake in a storm, tossed by waves and in tumult. But now the waves subside, and the surface of the lake is placid and unruffled.
3. Spend two or three minutes thinking of the most beautiful and peaceful scenes you have ever beheld, as, for example, a mountain at sunset, or a deep valley filled with the hush of early morning, or a woods at noonday, or moonlight upon rippling waters. In memory relive these scenes.
4. Repeat slowly, quietly, bringing out the melody in each, a series of words which express quietness and peace, as, for example, tranquility, serenity, quietness. Think of other such words and repeat them.
5. Make a mental list of times in your life when you have been conscious of God's watchful care and recall how, when you were worried and anxious He brought things out right and took care of you. Then recite aloud this line from an old hymn, "So long Thy power hath kept me, sure, it STILL will lead me on."

6. Repeat the following, which has an amazing power to relax and quiet the mind: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee" (Isaiah 26:3). Repeat this several times during the day, whenever you have a fraction of a moment, so that by the end of the day you will have said it many times. Conceive of these words as active, vital substances permeating your mind, sending into every area of your thinking a healing balm.

As you work with these techniques, the tendency to fume and fret gradually will be modified. In direct proportion to your progress the power heretofore drawn off by this unhappy habit will be felt in your increased ability to meet life's responsibilities.

Milk Price Reduced By Borden Company

The Borden Company Saturday announced the reduction of one cent a quart in the price of milk. Increased production of milk by dairy farmers was cited as the principal reason for the price cut. Crop failures have forced many farmers back into the dairy business.

Clinic Board Has Election

The Midland Children's Clinic executive board elected new members recently at its January meeting in the home of Mrs. E. A. Culbertson.

Those named were Mrs. F. H. McGuigan, member-at-large; Mrs. Fred Cassidy, Children's Service League, and Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., Midland Service League.

The purpose of the Clinic is to provide proper and adequate medical diagnosis, care and treatment for needy children in Midland County. During the last year the Clinic treated 50 children and gave 28 x-rays, 103 laboratory reports, one basal metabolism and one blood transfusion.

Hours are from noon to 3 p.m. each Tuesday in the Midland Memorial Hospital. Physicians contribute their services for a month at a time. In addition, Mrs. R. C. Bowden, Clinic nurse, is assisted by two volunteer workers, one from the Midland Service League and one from the Children's Service League.

Appointments may be made by telephoning Mrs. Bowden at 2-1273. Doctors and welfare agencies are requested to refer patients to the Clinic.

New board officers are Mrs. Alan Leeper, chairman; Mrs. McGuigan, vice chairman; Mrs. Cassidy, treasurer; Mrs. Harvey Herd, secretary, and Mrs. Scharbauer, historian.

Committees Named At HD Club Meet

Several committee appointments were made when the Garden Edition Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Sherman Chapman, 914 North Weatherford Street.

Mrs. Carl Neithercutt was named chairman of program and recreation; Mrs. Chapman, chairman of exhibit, education and expansion; Mrs. C. H. Pearson, chairman of council consumer education, and Mrs. Adrain Scoggin, finance chairman.

Mrs. Scoggin gave the program on choosing colors and fabrics for slip covers and the method in slip-covering a chair. All members present also gave helpful hints on slip-covering.

Mrs. K. G. Miller, a guest of Mrs. C. O. Pace, became a new member. Others attending were Mrs. G. H. House and Mrs. E. O. Messersmith.

Dog Lovers Become Camera Enthusiasts; Formal Portraits Of Pets Take Patience

Your pets, too, can make pictures that stop one short. Infinite patience and a certain amount of camera technique are required. These shown here have the appeal of candid shots because the animals were allowed to be themselves and go their own way while the camera enthusiast kept alert. It is plain, however, that portrait lighting and props were first arranged, with good plain background, to be ready when the pets were

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEW YORK (NEA)—Let your dog have his rightful place in the family snapshot album. All his tricks, even the naughty ones, and his characteristic expressions will give you great pleasure for years when you glance back through your album.

You may want a few formal portraits of your dog, as well as the candid. To get these you will need the same patience and techniques as are used in making children's formal portraits.

When the dog gets into position, as he may do without any prompting, or when he is lured there by someone assisting you, get his expression at its most characteristic phase.

If it's worth the price of film to you to get a good portrait of your dog, it is certainly worth it to take an entire morning or afternoon and hold off shooting until you reach the right moment. Unless you are very lucky, it will take this much time before you can feel you have your portrait.

Don't let your dog know you're going to take his picture. He may shy away from the whole idea or attack the camera as a toy. It's better to go on behaving as if nothing special were going to happen even though you are set up and have your camera ready.

Have a table or bench set up for your pet so you can "shoot" from the dog's eye level or from below. If the pet is a puppy, you may want to have some object in the picture—perhaps a shoe he has chewed—to make his size clear.

Outdoors the sky makes the best background. Indoors you may have to hang up a sheet or blanket to shut off obtrusive objects. The color should be a foil for his coat—light-colored dogs against dark backgrounds and dark dogs against pale backgrounds.

For outdoor work you will need bright sunshine—though not at high noon—plus a reflector, which can be a white wall or a sheet hung up on the shadow side of your object. Indoors your reflector can be a light-colored room wall.

If your dog likes to sit on the window sill, you might catch him as his head is turned one side to the light while someone holds up a sheet to give illumination to the darker side of the surface.

If his favorite spot is beside an open fire, let the fire act as one of your lights and use a flood lamp on the other side. It will probably make him sit up and take notice.

A white sidewalk makes a good reflector, as does snow.

As for camera setting, this is of course determined by the light available. A speed of about 1/50 second—about that of most box-type cameras—will work. A 1/100 setting or faster is preferable.

It doesn't matter if the dog isn't centered well. This is easily remedied in the process of cropping and enlarging.

Sharpness of detail depends on good focusing and proper choice of lens opening. Some cameras have depth scales built right in, or you can consult tables to find the proper distance to stand from your dog.

For good candid pictures, try following your dog around some bright sunny day and catch him unawares with your camera as he gets into naturally appealing situations with other animals and members of the family. If you have your camera handy often, you will soon have a continuity sequence for a doggy snapshot album.

Brennand Named Club President

Directors of the Petroleum Club, including four new members, Friday selected a new slate of officers for 1953.

R. S. Brennand, Jr., independent oil operator, was elected president, succeeding Tom Sealy, Midland attorney Watson LaForce, another independent oil man, was named vice president, replacing Allen Watts.

Roy Miner retained the post of secretary-treasurer through reelection.

Humphrey Endorses Savings Bond Plan

John P. Butler, chairman of the Midland County U. S. Savings Bond Committee, has been advised by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey that the new Administration is giving enthusiastic support to the continued sale of Savings Bonds.

"President Eisenhower and I recognize fully the value of the Savings Bond program and are prepared to give it our enthusiastic support," the secretary of the Treasury said in his letter.

"The sale of U. S. Savings Bonds promotes thrift, gives the holder a buffer against misfortunes and makes him a partner of the government," he wrote.

"The sale of government bonds to millions of the citizens of this country is a vital part of a sound debt management policy."

"Tapioca flour comes from the root of the cassava plant, a native of Java, Brazil and most fertile countries of the tropics."

San Antonio Symphony Slates Midland Concert February 25

The San Antonio Symphony Orchestra, which will give a concert at 8:30 p.m. on February 25 in the Midland High School Auditorium, has gained a reputation as a prodigy among major United States orchestras for so many accomplishments in so short a time.

The 14-year-old orchestra, founded by the late Max Reiter, is under the musical directorship of Victor Alessandro, one of the country's foremost conductors. Alessandro returned to the podium for his second season for the 1952-53 series after a Summer of outstanding guest conductorships.

Alessandro opened the orchestra's San Antonio season November 1, with the first of 15 subscription concerts. These events attract audiences averaging some 5,500 Southwest music-lovers to the city's huge auditorium. Other events for the season include more than a score of youth, "pop" and special concerts, and five concerts for the airmen at Lackland Air Force Base, near San Antonio.

The Midland appearance will be one of the concerts scheduled by the orchestra for the season in a series of Texas cities, including, among others, Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, San Marcos, Victoria, Lockhart, Bryan, Austin, Orange, Fredericksburg and Big Spring.

The symphony also has extended its fame through the Southeastern states with four concerts in the principal cities of Georgia, Alabama, Louisiana and Florida.

Again in February, the Symphony Society will produce its celebrated Grand Opera Festival, an event commended by the New York Times as "a Southwest institution." In the 1953 festival, leading stars of the Metropolitan and other opera companies will sing "Don Giovanni," "Il Trovatore," "La Boheme" and "Rigoletto."

Singing the title role in "Rigoletto" will be Leonard Warren, who is scheduled to do a concert for the Midland Civic Music Association on April 4.

The Midland concert by the San Antonio symphony orchestra is being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Midland Memorial Hospital. Tickets will be on sale beginning Monday at Wemple's Music Store and from members of the Hospital Auxiliary. Persons desiring tickets also may telephone 2-1651 (Bel-Air Courts) and the tickets will be delivered. All tickets will be $2.40.

FAST FIRING

While an automobile is being operated at a normal driving speed, the fuel burned by the engine is being fired at the rate of 9,000 times a minute.

Salt was as valuable as gold in ancient China, and salt cakes stamped with a ruler's head or crest were used as money.

Strawbridge Children's Play, 'Prince Swineherd,' Scheduled

The Edwin Strawbridge production for children of "Prince Swineherd" is slated for a performance February 21 in the Midland High School Auditorium, sponsored by the St. Ann's Mothers Club.

A fairy tale play, "Prince Swineherd" has been written and adapted from the Hans Christian Andersen story by Edwin Strawbridge, who has developed a formula for holding the rap: attention of children.

The awareness of the need, for better entertainment for children led Strawbridge to develop a new form of children's theater which he calls "dance-drama." The musical productions use dance, music and magic in telling their stories and are among the unique forms.

Natural Eyebrows Fashionable; Pluck Only Unruly Stragglers

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Eyebrow lines have come through many fashion phases—the no-brow look which is hardening and takes away from expression, the high Dietrich type of curve, and the soft arch. Fashion's favorite today is the high arch, almost pointed, the brows are kept naturally thick or made to appear thick, with pencil.

If you have the suggestion of an arch to your brows and want to give yourself a more provocative look, take a sharp pencil in black or brown—whichever matches your eyebrow color—and cheat just a little on the height of the arch. Too much height added will look artificial, but with experience you can learn to add just the right amount.

Fill in any blank spots with short pencil strokes. Carry out the eyebrow line if it seems too short when you look at it in profile. Give a tiny lift to the end of the eyebrow, for all lifted lines lend a youthful look.

The straight, thick eyebrow is also fashionable. A girl lucky enough to have it is smart not to try to give herself an arch. To do so, she must pluck a great deal and reshape her brow line. Although this has been done by some Hollywood studio make-up departments, it is highly impractical for general use. With the natural look so fashionable, we may hope to see less and less of the practice of girls giving themselves work and pain to change their eyebrow lines.

Most eyebrows do need some plucking, however, to remove stragglers underneath the line and hairs that grow between the eyebrows. If this is necessary in your case, rather your eyebrows well with a small shaying or complexion brush before beginning. The soap will prevent irritation and infection and make the hairs lie flat.

Pluck out the superfluous hairs at an angle, in the direction of growth. Before pulling, make sure that the tweezers are firmly gripping a hair follicle, or your skin will be bruised. Wipe off the lather and smooth the eye-brow line for a final inspection.

Bald Bandit Bees Can Learn Lessons

DAVIS, CALIF.—(AP)—Bandit bees usually are characterized by baldness, says entomologists at the University of California college of agriculture.

APARTMENT NAMED 'KE'
RIO DE JANEIRO —(AP)—A Brazilian construction firm has given the name "Ke" to a new eight-story apartment building it has just completed in the Copacabana section.

When the bandit bee attempts to steal honey from the hives of other bees she is attacked by guard bees who usually pick the hair off the thief's body before she can escape. Frequently a robber bee learns that stealing doesn't pay and returns to the righteous path of gathering her own money, the entomologists report.

Fashion Watches Now Budget-Priced

By GAIL DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—The primary purpose in buying a watch is to be able to tell the time. But women know that a watch can be a great deal more than just a timepiece.

It can be a conversation piece, a darning piece of jewelry, a fashion accessory. It should be all of these things and a dependable time keeper, too, in order to earn its place in a woman's wardrobe.

One young New York designer is doing just such watches at budget prices. Many of them can be worn interchangeably as bracelets, lapel pins or even stood on a curio shelf. Some of them are designed for the tailored woman, others are definitely ornamental. But all of them are practical since they keep accurate time.

The coronation influence is seen in a jeweled coach with antique gold-plated case. This is a pin-on watch and highly ornamental. In the same feeling of elegance is a bracelet with watch concealed in a pearl-studded acorn.

For a teen-ager, there's a tiny alarm clock watch that comes in bracelet or lapel form. Since it has three tiny ball feet, it can be used on a night table.

These functional and beautiful watches, the designs of David Taylor, are conversation pieces at budget prices. Coach (left) shows coronation influence, has antique gold-plated case. Scot heraldic lapel watch (upper left center) is dressed with coat-of-arms, is reversible. Cone (upper right) for suit wear is worn dial up for easy readability. Bee (center) has movable wings to reveal time. It's worn pin-on style. Mesh tassel bracelet (lower left center) snaps together and has guard chain as shock-resistant movements, all are dependable timekeepers.

let with real hour-glass appended. A watch is set into one end of this glass. A third watch with youthful appeal is a bracelet with a tiny globe of the world attached. The globe snaps open to reveal a watch. And there's a tiny book with watch inside that comes in both lapel and bracelet form.

a bonnet box, fluted and beribboned, with a watch under its lid; a bracelet with watch tucked into one end of a miniature carousel.

that actually turns; a miniature violin that snaps open to reveal its watch; a gilded apple with leaf, its watch hidden inside; a jeweled lantern that snaps open to reveal its watch. All of these are shock-protected.

An electric counter can accurately measure 37 billion atomic disintegrations a second.

A rope of spider's silk: one inch thick would hold up 74 tons. It would be three times as strong as a one-inch rope made of iron.

Midland Nurses Due At Kermit Meeting

Western Clinic-Hospital will be represented by five nurses at the District 21 Nurses Association meeting in Kermit Tuesday.

Mrs. Ruth Hunt, Mrs. Irene Bruce, Mrs. Lois Frieberg, Mrs. Ruth McKinley, and Mrs. Kate Manning plan to attend the conference, at which professional problems and organizational matters will be discussed.

Burton N. Sears, administrator at Midland Memorial Hospital, said that no nurses would be sent from his unit to the Kermit session, due to the increased pressure of work at the hospital.

Jersey-Orlon Is In The News

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—Jersey, it's clear by now, has an assured place in fashion for winter.

But the jersey story takes on new aspects when orlon is added, thus producing a fabric that cannot sag or stretch. It is a fabric, further, that needs very little ironing and is washable with ordinary care. Where there are pleats, they stay in. Hemlines will not become uneven; cuffs and necklines keep their smooth fit.

Such fashions are of special interest to the college girl and to her career-girl counterpart. Neither have unlimited funds for clothes nor for the upkeep of their wardrobes. Anything that fabric and fashion people can do to give them clothes that are fashion-right and practical, too, is in the nature of real service.

The popular midly (left) is in a soft jersey that's orlon-and-wool. Sleeves are three-quarter length. There's a high, round neck to be used as a jersey foil. The neckline is finished with a snug cuff, just above the permanently pleated skirt. The same fabric is used (right).

for a dress with wide-ribbed band at the waist. Cuffs are ribbed, too, and skirt has permanent pleats.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

"We have frequent debates about the best way to play Samba," writes a Cincinnati correspondent. "As you know, this is the game in which you play with three decks and are allowed to meld sequences that are worth 1,500 points."

"It seems obvious to some of us that the sequence canasta, or samba, is the really distinctive feature of the game. If you want to go after seven of a kind, which is also possible, you might just as well stick to the ordinary Canasta instead of playing Samba."

"Some of the members of our club differ with this opinion. They like to play to meld out quickly. They make very little attempt to meld a samba, but concentrate on pure and mixed canastas of the ordinary kind. Sometimes they win, and sometimes they lose, but it gets the rest of us annoyed in either case."

"We feel that a player should play the game that he is supposed to be playing. If the name of the game happens to be Samba, he should go out for sequence melds, instead of just trying the hit-and-run tactics of making ordinary canastas."

"Please give us your advice on this matter."

"I'm afraid that I cannot agree completely with either side in this dispute. Most of the big thrills in Samba come from making the sequence melds that count such big scores. It is also thrilling, however, to meld out quickly just before your opponents are able to complete a samba."

Perhaps I can explain by comparing it to the game of baseball. It is very exciting to see a player hit a home run with the bases loaded. It is also exciting to see a good pitcher strike out a dangerous batter when the bases are loaded. In short, there is such a thing as brilliant defensive play. We cannot afford to sniff at either one.

A Samba player who always tries to meld sequences will do well on many hands but will lose a large number of points on other hands. Similarly, a player who always tries the defensive maneuver of melding out quickly will lose many high-scoring opportunities.

The expert does not try to force the cards into a prearranged pattern. He tries to meld out quickly when he has a hand suited to that purpose, and he goes after sequences when his hand provides opportunity for high scoring.

Big Spring Ranchman Heads District Cancer Fund Drive

AUSTIN—Dick Simpson, cattle rancher of Big Spring and Borden County, has been named lay director for District 2 of the Texas Division, American Cancer Society.

His selection was announced by Travis T. Wallas of Dallas, President of the Texas Division of the Society.

Simpson will assume the leadership of the April Cancer Crusade in the 21 counties surrounding Big are available. 8,405 Texas citizens died of cancer. In the counties of our own District 2, 183 persons died of the disease. We must do more than we have in the past to reduce these appalling totals," he added.

Simpson urged persons wishing to volunteer their services to contact the American Cancer Society committee in their county. Where vacancies exist, appointment of additional committee members will be made shortly he said.

District 2 includes the counties of Andrews, Borden, Dawson, Dickens, Ector, Fisher, Gaines, Garza, Glasscock, Howard, Kent, King, Lynn, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry and Yoakum.

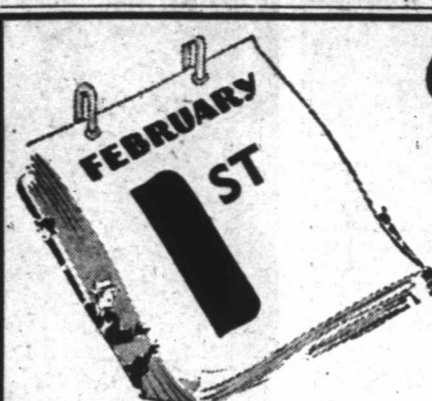

Dick Simpson, Spring, comprising District 2. His appointment is also for year-round direction of ACS activity in this area, working with Mrs. Paxton Howard of Midland, district lay woman director and Dr. Roscoe B. G. Cowper of Big Spring, district medical director.

Commenting on the organizational work to be done before the Cancer Crusade begins, April 1, Simpson said the greatest single need is more people who are willing to give time and effort to ACS activities.

"Organization is the 1953 challenge of our society," he said. "We must enlist more people to solicit funds and carry on the educational and service work."

● The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: General Collins tackles problem of South Korean Army; CIA approves monopoly action against oil companies; Hot chili leaves Truman cold re Tidelands.

WASHINGTON—Real story behind Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins' rush trip to Korea is that it was to straighten out bickering over the South Korean Army. Conflicting reports have been sent to the Pentagon to show how big a role the South Korean army can play. Gen. James Van Fleet, outgoing Eighth Army commander, has been optimistic about turning the fighting over to the South Koreans. However, his boss in the Far East, Gen. Mark Clark, has been pessimistic.

To make matters worse, the American Training Mission has demanded seasoned South Korean officers to help speed the training of green troops. This would take South Koreans away from the front, and the battle commanders warn that the South Korean army is short of good officers, that they can't be spared from the front.

The whole problem was dumped in President Eisenhower's lap by General Collins just one day after the President took office. After listening carefully to Collins, however, Eisenhower ordered him to take off for Korea immediately and come up with a detailed plan on exactly how large the South Korean army can be built and how long it will take.

Oil Predicament
The National Security Council is so red-faced it won't breathe a word about it, but Central Intelligence has submitted a report indicating that the prosecution of the five U.S. oil companies in the Near East should not be dropped. Its report is exactly the opposite of the plea made by ex-Secretary of Defense Lovett for dropping prosecution.

Lovett had stirred up President Truman and other Cabinet members by arguing that the Justice Department's criminal case against the oil companies would play into Russia's hands, would cause American companies to lose their Near Eastern concessions. He based this partly on a Central Intelligence report of last Spring.

Recently, however, Central Intelligence submitted a new report. It stated that its survey of last Spring was in error. Reaction to the government's prosecution of the oil companies, CIA stated, had not been bad.

The report made two other significant points:

1. If the case against the oil companies is prosecuted, there will be

"I've already done it," replied Truman. Then he gave a brief dissertation on what these oil reserves meant to other parts of the nation, pointing out, for instance, that North Dakota would be able to get $6,000,000 for its schools if Tidelands oil is kept for all the 48 states.

Rayburn and Johnson groaned. Chinese Torpedo Boats—The Navy is keeping a watchful eye on 10 Chinese torpedo boats which have been maneuvering off the China coast across from Korea. The Navy fears they may dart out from the protective 10-mile limit and make hit-and-run attacks on American shipping. In fact, they opened fire with anti-aircraft guns on a Navy patrol plane, snooping close to the China coast for a better look.

Small-Business Champion
New Hampshire's perennial Senator Charles Tobey, who although 72 years old is one of the most vigorous members of the Senate, has gotten Ike advisers a bit worried about small business and the Federal Trade Commission.

Tobey, a stalwart champion of little business, also is the champion of Federal Trade Commissioner John Carson, a Truman hold-over. Carson was reappointed to the Trade Commission shortly before Truman left the White House, and Republicans expected to knock him out of the job almost immediately. However, it has developed that Carson not only is a protégé of Tobey's but also has other friends on the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

An Independent Republican, Commissioner Carson is the former secretary of Republican Senator Jim Couzens of Michigan.

Tidelands Dinner
It was hushed up at the time, but Texas' ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson, also of Texas, staged a private dinner for President Truman just before he left office in an effort to persuade him to keep hands off the Tidelands oil.

The dinner was held in Sam Rayburn's private apartment at the Anchorage and featured chili con carne—Texas style. Truman is fond of chili and after he enjoyed several large helpings Johnson and Rayburn were about to open up the ticklish question of Tidelands oil. They wanted to persuade the President to leave these oil reserves under the Interior Department rather than transfer them to the Navy, which they feared would make it embarrassing for Eisenhower to transfer them back.

However, Truman, perhaps sensing that Rayburn and Johnson had a lobbying move up their sleeves, suddenly got up, announced that he would have to leave.

Quickly and with no chance for finesse, Rayburn asked point-blank whether Truman intended to go ahead and transfer the Tidelands to the Navy.

Satin Pique Floats A Chiffon Stole

Seersucker, once the lowliest of cottons, has acquired real chic. It has come out of the ranks of utility clothes and has moved up into the foremost ranks of fashion.

Here we see a star-spangled seersucker (right) turned sleek and beautifully simple in the hands of designer Pauline Trigere. This is a cotton that looks nearly tailored at first glance, but that is actually a marvel of fashion understatement. Far from being confined to Sum-

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Association of Women With Large Feet, formed in Britain in 1949, recently changed its name to The Association of Tall Women, reports the British Information Service here.

The organization was successful in its original aim of convincing manufacturers to make shoes and stockings in a wider and more attractive range of large-size styles. It has now shifted its campaign to clothing firms.

Elasticized Suits Mold Figures

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor
NEW YORK—The current resort fashions favor black and white for beach wear.

Women have long been aware that black is lovely against a golden tan and that white is equally dazzling. This year, they may have one or both. Only those with excellent figures, however, will pick white, which makes exacting demands upon their figures when it's cut into a swim suit.

While the long, smooth lines of the one-piece suit are best liked this year, there are women who adhere to the two-piece fashion. So the two-piece suit stays with us, ready to lend its flattery to the trim and youthful figure.

(left) is elasticized laton taffeta. Suit has a shirred motif for a soft look that manages to maintain trim lines. It may be worn with or without straps and is fully lined.

The two-piece suit (right) is elasticized laton taffeta, too, but in a dazzling white. The bra may be worn with or without straps. Shorts are smooth in back, shirred in front for maximum figure flattery.

Midland Draft Unit Schedules 15 Men For March Exams

The Midland draft board will send 15 men for physicals March 9 as part of 6,000 Texans who will receive examinations during the month.

A total of 2,900 men will be inducted in March, announced Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service Director. It will be the biggest Texas draft call in two years.

Local boards will be authorized to induct men in March as young as 19 years and nine months. Examinations may be given to men down to the age of 19 years and four months.

General Wakefield predicted that few men below the age of 20 will be inducted in March. Local draft boards are being advised to fill March calls insofar as possible with men 20 or older.

The state Director said that present inductees for the armed forces are replacements for drafted men who are being discharged after two years of service.

TRADITIONAL BOOKS

The meeting room of the British cabinet at No. 10 Downing Street is furnished with a huge conference table and bookcases, which almost fill the walls. To these cases, each new member of the cabinet traditionally presents a new book.

Dry Skins Need Cleansing Cream

Complexions differ and need individualized care. Girl above happens to have dry skin and is using a method well suited to her needs. She removes make-up and dirt (left) with rich cleansing cream that she massages in with gentle rotary movements upward and outward. She continues this until the cream has liquefied. She blocks cream off with tissues and uses a second application to rinse. A mildly stimulating astringent removes traces of grease (center). She can use lots of the skin fresher or substitute soap and water for this grease-removing step. She pats her face dry and then smooths on a lanolin-rich night cream (right) to assure waking up with a moist and pliable complexion, ready for make-up. Oily skins need only soap and water care.

Your skin needs care appropriate to its type, whether oily, dry, disturbed or normal.

A dry skin is characterized by a tight, drawn feeling after washing, by dry flakes that catch powder when no base is used, and by a tendency to itch. Even a dry skin, however, may have oily areas—as at the wings of the nose, the forehead, and the crevice between lower lip and chin.

Expression lines are visible where particularly dry areas occur. This type of skin is usually far more troublesome in Winter than in Summer, for the cold contracts and chaps the skin. In Summer it's much more moist and pliable.

If you have dry skin, protect it from losing any more oil and moisture than is necessary, and add oil and moisture to the surface to help make up for a natural lack. You can't make a dry skin over into a perfectly normal one or an oily one by anything you do to the surface, since dry skin is a characteristic of your general bodily condition and the type of skin nature intends you to have.

You can help make it oilier—unless you are on a reducing diet or have an "adolescent skin" condition—by eating oily foods. Vitamin A, the skin vitamin, in yellow vegetables and dairy products, will help you, too.

Before going out in Winter weather, use a make-up base containing lanolin or a protective lotion. It's just as important indoors, however, on account of drying steam heat.

Every trace of make-up and grime must be removed from the dry skin, as from every type of skin, at the end of each day, but use a method that preserves as much as possible of the natural oil. Girls today have many choices besides drying soap and water.

Old-fashioned types of cold cream containing lots of wax are effective but must be washed off thoroughly with soap and water afterwards, to prevent the wax from clogging the pores. Any astringent or "fresher" that is strong enough to remove all the grease left on after rinsing is much too strong for a dry skin and far less effective than soap.

There are cleansing creams and lotions that don't leave a greasy residue on the skin. The complexion should be moistened with warm water splashing before applying them. A second application of cream should be used to rinse. No astringent is necessary unless you like the gentle stimulation of a very mild one.

There are lotion-type cleansers available that require no massage but sink in almost as fast as they are applied. They are especially good for make-up removal.

Massage cream in with very gentle upwards-and-outwards—rotary movements of your finger tips. Pat wrinkle areas instead of rubbing. Feather-strokes around eye areas. Start from the inner corner and describe an ellipse across your lid, under the eye and back to the inner corner. Hair-line, ears and throat must have their share of cream.

It's best to leave the first application of cream on 10 or 15 minutes before gently removing with cleansing tissues. Use blotting rather than rubbing movements. Harsh tissue pulled over your skin can irritate it. After removing the second application, soak a water-moistened piece of cotton in very mild astringent and go over your whole face with it. You'll need several changes of cotton to do this job well.

Soap-and-water fans will omit this step and use the lather of a very mild complexion soap to remove traces of grease. It's very important to rinse off all the soap lather.

Your skin is always fresher when you use soap and water on it once a day, provided your skin can stand soap. Certain skins can't stand the touch of even the mildest, purest soap. If you are fortunate enough to have found one you can use, have the water tepid only, never hot, and avoid ice-water afterwards. Cool water can finish off your soap-and-water routine.

After patting your skin dry, use a rich night cream that contains plenty of lanolin. Some preparations made for night use leave a soft film on the skin but no heavy residue to soil pillows. The excessively dry skin seems to benefit most from a lanolin-rich type of cream. If you don't want to sleep in it, leave it on for 20 minutes and blot off any excess that could soil your bed linen.

Southwestern Bell Forwards $30,609 In Midland Taxes

A check for $30,609.78 in payment of 1952 Midland city and school taxes was delivered today to City Tax Collector W. I. Pratt by Bill Yeatts, district manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The 1952 check is the largest the telephone company has ever paid in taxes here, the manager said. Last year's tax payment was $21,923.

The company, one of the city's largest taxpayers, has another tax payment due in March to the city and has already paid county taxes, both of which will make the total local tax bill here more than $50,000 for 1952.

Gross receipts taxes on the company's 1952 receipts will be due in March, Yeatts pointed out. Last year these taxes amounted to $10,616 and the bill this year is expected to top that figure.

Already paid to Midland County last October were $8,941 in county assessments, the district manager stated.

Scholarship Awarded New Assistant Pastor

The Rev. T. Henry Stafford, who will assume his new duties as assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here February 15, has been awarded a fellowship for advanced study on the basis of scholarship, Christian character, personality and ability.

Mr. Stafford, whose home is in Dallas, received his degree from the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary in ceremonies held Friday in Austin.

Two other seminary students also were awarded scholarships. They are William M. Gould, Jr., of Beaumont, and Joseph A. Slicker of Cisco.

Ministers' Week Scheduled At SMU

DALLAS—More than 1,000 ministers of all faiths will be on the Southern Methodist University campus February 2-5 for the university's eighteenth annual Ministers' Week, an event that has become the largest of its kind in Protestantism.

Lectures will be given daily in McFarlin Memorial Auditorium, with many affiliated committees meeting in other campus buildings during the week.

Bishop Arthur J. Moore, of the Atlanta area, will discuss "The World Task of the Church." Bishop Moore is one of the leading mission workers for the Methodist Church, and since 1946 he has been sent by the Council of Bishops to emergency situations in Korea, Germany, Japan, Malaya, and Europe. In 1952 he received the National Medal of Honor from South Korea's President Rhee, the highest honor Korea confers upon a civilian.
