Decision Not Reached In Trial

By Casey Bailey
After three days of testimony, and one and a half days of deliberation, the four woman and eight man jury could not reach a majority verdict in the case of Connie Frugia.

Mrs. Frugia indicted on one count of murder relating to the death of her 19-month-old stepson, Francois Sostan Rene Frugia in September of last year. Mrs. Frugia was alleged to have stomped her stepson to death after beating him.

The Honorable Leon Pesek heard Defense Attorney Jim

Tax Rate Gets Approval

The Red River County Commissioners' Court gave final approval Monday to a tax rate of 44 cents per $100 valuation at 100 percent of market value, County Judge Connie Sullivan said.

Red River County's previous tax rate was $1.10 per $100 valuation based on a 25 percent of market value assessment ratio.

Sullivan said as two public hearings on the tax rate increase had been held the Court was ready to make the tentative rate final.

The final vote was three to one with Precinct 3 Commissioner Joe Runyan voting against the increase.

Commissioners also approved a resolution making Red River County a member of the Red River Valley Water Authority, a group concerned with promoting navigation and bank stabilization along the Red River.

D. Lovett and Prosecuting Attorney Pat Beadle state their cases to the jury.

Testimony was heard from Dr. James A. Hunter from Rusk State Hospital. Hunter stated that within the week she (Mrs. Frugia) was admitted at Rusk, he found

Blossom Man's Death Said To Be In Self Defense

Formal charges in the Saturday morning shooting death of a Blossom man in downtown Clarksville will have to come from the Red River County grand jury, Justice of the Peace J.B. Holley said Monday.

"At this time, it appears the shooting was a case of self-defense," Holley said. Roger Dale Bradford, 30, was killed in an exchange of gunfire at a parking lot in the 600 block of Main Street in Clarksville at 1 a.m.

Released on a personal recognizance bond of $500 to appear at the office of Red River County Attorney Pat F. Beadle Monday in connection with the shooting was Jimmy Don Smith, 29, Holley said. "It has been the constant testimony of all the witnesses involved that the shooting was self defense," Holley stated.

Holley said that Bradford was killed after allegedly firing a shotgun into a van driven by Smith. Bradford was killed in the ensuing gunfire.

Two other bystanders were also wounded during the exchange of gunfire, but not seriously.

Services for Bradford were held at 10 a.m. Monday in Paris with burial at the Knights of Honor Cemetery in Blossom.

Country Newspaperin'

Four Corners Publishing Co., which covers Mount Vernon, Talco, Bogata, Deport and Blossom areas, has been toying with the idea of performing a rain dance. The company's resident "Old Indian" publisher Robert W. Wright, who claims Indian blood, was going to perform a dance in an attempt to relieve the severe drought throughout the area.

However, he had second thoughts on the idea when his friend, Harlan Bridwell, publisher of the Bridgeport Index (a town near Fort Worth) told him of his experience as a rain maker.

Bridwell had the same idea back in 1972, when the Bridgeport area was stricken by lack of moisture.

He had an actress friend of his come to town, coned her into donning an Indian headdress, and had her do a rain dance in the middle of town. The newspaper promoted the idea gleefully until about two days later, when they received a "frog strangler" of a rain, (between six to eight inches), three funnel clouds touched down, and then golf ball size hail fell. That wasn't the worst part for Bridwell though. For him the worst was the two hundred phone calls which told him never to do such a thing again.

Since the drought is so severe, it might be that a rain dance could spark such a turmoil off here.

However, Wright thinks maybe he could work out something along the lines of a half-speed dance which might work.

His Indian instincts and training haven't prepared him for geared down rain dances though, and he says he and Bridwell may have to work out details before they dare attempt it.

Mary Lassiter-A Courageous Lady

By Michael Mankins And Mary Fortner

"Greatest town in the whole state of Texas!" This is the way that Mary Lassiter describes Bogata, her birthplace and lifelong residence.

Born in 1907 to L.W. and Willie Coffield Lassiter, Mary has devoted her life to her community, helping others, and teaching children.

At the age of 10, Mary was stricken with polio, but her great ambition and love of life lead her to graduate from Bogata High School, Paris Junior College, attend Texas Women's University in Denton, and receive a Bachelor's degree from East Texas State University.

When asked how she felt about being handicapped, Mary replied, "It never has bothered me that much. There was always a way to cope with any problem that was encountered." Mary adds that the one thing she missed was dancing.

Being spiritually and emotionally strengthened by her handicap, Mary has always been a devoted member and vital asset to the Methodist church. She started playing the church piano when she was 15, but her musical talent was discovered long before.

Iva Hooker, Mary's older sister, played the piano, and by the time she could climb on the stool, Mary was playing everything Iva did by ear.

By having a major in music, education, and English, Mary was privileged to attend many concerts and hear fine artists play. While attending school in Denton, something was always going on. She saw a lot of summer operas, and heard the "Boston Pops" with Arther Fiedler in Greenville.

Mary has seen a great many places and participated in everything in her power. Even so, she said that if she could change one thing in her life, it would be to, "Work a little harder and not waste so much time." It seems that if more people had this concept, our community and world would be a much better place in which to live!

Mrs. Huddleston received several gifts, and says she is looking forward to her retirement.

She plans to be active in arranging travel tours for the senior citizens in the area, and the planned on just "taking it easy and doing some visiting".

Nanalee Nichols Named Managing Editor

The interest held by James T. and Tish Bass of the Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald has been purchased by their partners in Four Corners Publishing Co., Robert W. and Pat (Bass) Wright. This move has resulted in Nanalee Nichols being named managing editor of the Deport Times, Bogata News, Blossom Times, and Talco Times.

Mrs. Nichols has lived in Deport for all of her life except two years spent in Tulsa, Oklahoma, as a child. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jeffus, Sr., of Deport and a graduate of Deport High School. After a semester of college she went to work for the Texas Department of Public Welfare.

In 1971 she went to work for the First National Bank of Deport, where she was employed until January of 1978.

In February of 1978 she was employed at the Deport Times to work part-time, and has continued her employment there.

She is married to Thomas Nichols, who has lived in the area all his life, and is a farmer.

She won second place in feature writing in Northeast Texas Press Association Competition several years ago.

Mrs. Nichols has assumed the managing editorship of the four papers from Robert W. and Pat Wright so that they may operate the Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald. James T. Bass suffered a heart attack in February of this year, and is semi-retired. The Wright's plan to move to Mt. Vernon soon.

Mrs. Nichols has a keen interest in historical matters relating to the area, and local people of interest, and urges anyone with "a story to tell" to contact her at the Deport Times.

Council Discusses Dog Problems

The Bogata City Council had a lengthy discussion about the problem of the many loose dogs in the city. The discussion took place at the regular July meeting of the council.

The problem as stated was that dogs of all breeds and sizes are allowed to run loose within the city limits. The problems of torn up trash bags, damaged property, dug up flower beds, and even a health danger to humans due to bites from unvaccinated dogs result from this lack of control.

The council has gone on record requesting all citizens who own dogs to please keep them on their own property by a chain or keeping them within a fence or pen.

It was pointed out that a dog worth keeping, whether for cattle work, protection or simply a pet should be kept up since people are becoming irritated enough to shoot or poison animals.

Spider Mites Can Be Controlled

Spider mites, or red spiders, are probably the most difficult pests to control in vegetable gardens. With hot dry weather approaching, gardeners should be on the lookout for this pest by checking the underside of plant leaves, advises Bob Moody, county agent.

Although spider mites will attack almost any plant, among their preferred hosts are beans, tomatoes, peas, eggplants and corn.

Actually, spider mites are not insects but are eight-legged relatives of ticks and spiders. Their small size, about 1-60th of an inch, makes them difficult to see without a magnifying lens. They range in color from red, green and yellow to white and brown. Spider mites deposit their eggs on the underside of leaves. These hatch in about five days. There may be 10 to 15 generations per year, notes Moody.

Mites can cause considerable plant damage by sticking their needle-like mouthparts into leaf tissue and sucking out the juice while injecting a toxic substance into the leaf. Heavy infestation will cause leaves to appear blotched or spotted, turn pale or yellowish in color, curl up, turn brown and eventually drop off. A thin webbing may cover leaves and stems.

Begin control as soon as spider mites are detected and before plant damage is obvious, Moody emphasizes.

"My word," laughed the elderly dentist, "I haven't seen anyone with a toothache wearing a getup like that for 40 years." "What toothache," was the garbled reply, "this is a stickup."

Weekly Ag Update

Weather is on everyone's mind during these hot dry days. Very few crops are growing and many are beginning to mature early. This could possibly mean a severe decrease in production. Forage crops throughout East Texas are turning brown and regrowth is not possible in most situations.

Handling of livestock should be curtailed as much as possible. If the animals must be handled, do it during the coolest part of the day and work the livestock slowly and calmly.

Dr. James Robinson, area entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that he has received several reports of armyworms in coastal bermudagrass and home lawns. Treatment should begin when the armyworm infestation becomes economically damaging. Sevin and Dylox are two insecticides which have given good control of armyworms. All label directions should be followed.

The demand for vegetables is good in East Texas. The hot, dry weather has reduced production of many vegetables and thus the supply is short in some areas. Interest in home canning and freezing continues to be high. Many producers have a pick-your-own operation.

WHY GAS IS PLENTIFUL, EFFICIENT AND RIGHT FOR THE TIMES.

It's time to kiss rumors goodbye and settle down with reassuring facts, one of which is that gas is plentiful for the residential and commercial customers of Lone Star Gas Company.

Rumors are usually more exciting than fact, but the fact is that approximately 2,500 drilling rigs were at work in the United States in December 1979. This was the highest active rig count since 1956.

Despite persistent rumors that America is running out of natural gas, industry statistics reveal an increase in the ratio of successes to failures in gas-well completions in 1979.

As a result, the United States has about 14,700* new gas wells it didn't have a year ago. And exploration is expected to increase — not decrease — as higher gas prices offset the increasing cost of drilling.

Another reassuring fact is this: 50% of this nation's estimated remaining onshore gas reserves are in nine major basins in Texas and Oklahoma. Lone Star's pipelines connect with eight of these basins, so we'll have plenty of opportunities to buy new gas.

The new gas appliances can help you hold down your utility bills.

Gas is the naturally efficient energy that works in its original form, free of energy conversion costs. Direct use of it in your appliances actually conserves energy and saves you money.

Now, with the new energy-efficient appliances that use up to 30% less gas to do the same jobs your old appliances do so reliably, economical natural gas becomes even more economical.

The new gas appliances can help you hold down your utility bills without cutting back on the comforts and conveniences energy can provide. It's why natural gas and the new gas appliances are so right for the times!

East Texas Eating

By Margie Rice

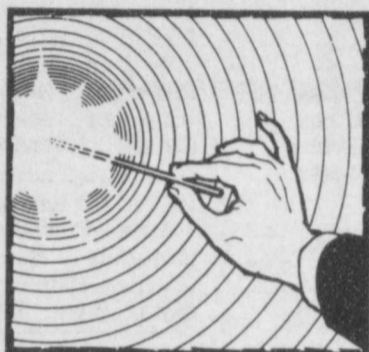

Those big, white lima beans (we call them Butter Beans around our house), simmered gently with generous chunks of ham-hock or the last bit of the week's picnic ham and served with wedges of cornbread, a platter of sliced tomatoes, and a bowl of fresh peaches or peach cobbler makes a meal that is fit for family, company, or hay hands—or all three together around the table, as we are inclined to do in East Texas.

Some fortunate souls may be beginning to enjoy garden-fresh lima or butter beans. Others of us can capture most of the bean goodness through dried ones from the grocer.

Even novice dried bean cooks can easily achieve thick, juicy butter beans with ham by washing, then soaking the beans overnight or at least several hours in three times the amount of water to the amount of beans. Or, if you forget to put the beans on the night before, wash and combine with water as directed above, cover and bring to a boil and simmer for two minutes. Remove them from the heat and let stand, tightly covered, for one hour. Either way, at this point, chunk the ham, "the more the merrier," my husband Sam says, into the beans still in the soaking water. Simmer both until the beans are tender. Check for seasoning. If the ham was salty at all, additional salt will probably not be required. Butter beans cook more quickly than Pinto beans. Thirty to forty-five minutes will probably bring them to the dinner table.

I like to serve the Butter Beans with Ham in their thick, tasty juice in big earthenware Chili bowls. If any is left over, refrigerate; this favorite reheats wonderfully.

Beat summer heat and manage energy wisely

Keep cooling thermostat at 78°. Fighting summer heat with air conditioning can amount to as much as 75% of your utility bill. And the lower the setting, the harder the central unit works, and the more it costs you. These hot summer days put an extra burden on your central unit. And with the recent rate increase, your bill will probably be higher this summer. Keeping your thermostat at 78° can help keep your bills under control. Encouraging family members to keep the 78° setting constant will give you a head start on rising energy costs.

Six 4-H'ers Attend District 5 Lab

Six 4-H'ers from Red River County attended the District 4-H leadership lab, June 30-July 2.

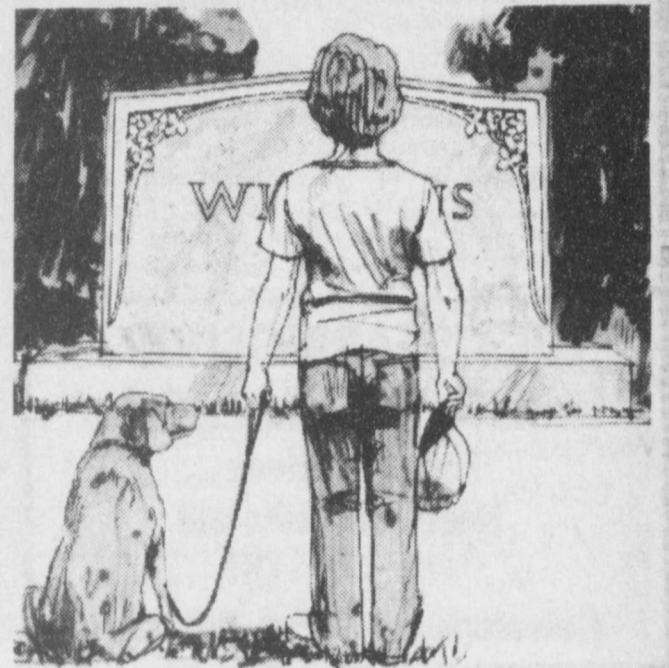

The theme of this year's lab was "Happiness is ...", and the 66 4-H'ers and 13 extension agents that attended would agree that the theme would fit the occasion. The program provided various activities including workshops on Career Interviewing, Wildlife, CPR (Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation), and First Aid. Games People Play and Aerobic Exercising were other activities.

Those attending the lab at Wilkes Lodge near Avinger, Texas were Charla Sharp, Lisa Pollock, Micheal Phillips, Mark Miller, and Roy and Jimmy Ervin.

recreation time, one of the favorite of the 4-H'ers, was highlighted by a game of volleyball between a team of 4-H'ers and one of extension agents. This turned out to be a disappointment for the 4-H'ers, though, because the extension agents won the game. However, the 4-H'ers learned that winning isn't everything. What they did learn was that cooperation and responsibility are important aspects of achieving goals. For fun, thrills and an evening for the entire family to enjoy the young farmers urge everyone to come out and see the stock, modified and super stock tractors put on a display of sheer raw power unequalled anywhere.

"Were You Counted" Census Check Going On

Were you counted in the 1980 Census of Population and Housing?

If you think you or your family might have been missed fill out the WERE YOU COUNTED? form being printed in newspapers as a public service. Cut it out and mail it to the address shown on the form. It will be checked against the master address list for your area so there is no chance of an individual or household being counted twice.

Jerry Tune, manager of the Tyler District Census office, calls the "WERE YOU COUNTED?" campaign "an extremely important phase of the 1980 census. It is conducted in an effort to insure that no one is overlooked. If a family is missed in all the address check and doesn't send in a "WERE YOU COUNTED?"

form, they'll be missing persons for 10 years until the next census."

"A check is now underway to make sure that we have completed questionnaires for every household," Mr. Tune said. "Soon we will be able to turn over to local officials the population counts for their communities."

Purpose of the Local Review Program of the census is to give local government officials an opportunity to spot errors while census workers are still in the field. "Local Review and the 'WERE YOU COUNTED?' campaign, says Tune, "should contribute significantly to the accuracy and success of the census. If you didn't get a questionnaire in the mail or a visit from a census taker, be sure to send the form from the newspaper."

Food Stamp Program To Be Cut
An estimated 200,000 people, including 150,000 college students, will be dropped from the food stamp program, and food stamp costs will be cut by $80 million a year under rules published recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Formen said the new rules, required by 1980 amendments to the Food Stamp Act, will cause most of the 200,000 adult students, over 18 and under 60 years of age, who now receive food stamps to lose their eligibility on September 1. The only exceptions will be low-income students with disabilities, or those who work more than 20 hours a week, head households with dependents, participate in federal work-study program or are enrolled in a work incentive program.
In addition to eliminating most college students from the program, the new rules will cause 50,000 more food stamp recipients to lose their eligibility when a new assets limit takes effect on Oct. 1. Under the present food stamp law, most food stamp households must have assets worth less than $1,750. The new law and regulations lower this limit to $1,500. Households of two or more people, in which at least one person is elderly, will not be affected by the change. The assets limit for these elderly households will remain at $3,000.
"The rules issued carry out 1980 amendments to the food stamp law aimed at cutting program costs and tightening management," Foreman says. "Earlier this month, semi-annual cost of food increase was cancelled, and new procedures lowering food stamp income limits took effect."
"Together these changes are expected to save $448 million in the upcoming fiscal year," Foreman said. "With the publication of the new rules, we have implemented all of the savings provisions of the new law that will affect eligibility for food stamps and benefit levels."
The interim final rules published in today's Federal Register also exclude the counting of federal, state and local energy assistance payments as income or resources in determining a household's eligibility for food stamps. Vehicles used by handicapped people also will not be counted as a household resource. These latter two provisions become effective October 1, 1980.

It was announced that Founders Fair will be held at the Eastern Star Home in Arlington on August 1 and 2. Everyone is urged to attend. Plans were made to have an old-time ice cream supper at 7:00 p.m. July 22 in the home of Lottie Via in observance of Rob Morris' birthday. Some members will bring ice cream and others will bring cakes.

Worthy Patron announced that the Highway Dept. and Sheriff's Dept. would be glad to present a program for the Chapter at anytime and it is being set for one night soon.

A program on the United States Flag was presented with the Marshall presenting the Flag in the East when the Worthy Matron read a "My Flag and Me," followed by the singing of "America." Ivy Smith closed the program with prayer for the Nation.

Chapter closed in regular form with a beautiful march and refreshments were served in the dining room by Dianne Orrill and Jone Clemmons.

WILTING soybeans are a common sight in the Lamar-Red River County area. The abnormally high temperatures and extremely dry weather may prevent soybeans from holding their blooms or beans. Hope for rain is slight. (Staff Photo)

Prayer For Rain

Twelve states in the United States are hard hit by drought. This prayer, borrowed from FARM SHOW magazine, was written in the 1930's (during the dust bowl days) by William Allen White, well-known editor from Emporia, Kansas. Though White was speaking of his beloved state, anyone in this area will know exactly how he felt.

O Lord, in thy mercy grant us rain and by that we don't mean a shower. We want to go out and watch the lightning rip across the southwestern sky in hot blue forks as the fat clouds roll in on us. We want to hurry home to close the house with the first fat drops the size of marbles, on a suddenly rising wind, chasing us and plunking on the car hood. We want to scramble all over the house, just as the first sheets descend, frantically slamming down the windows.

O Lord of Hosts, we want to look out of the windows and watch the regiment of close-packed raindrops march diagonally down. We want to hear the gurgle of the gutters under the eaves, and then the spatter of the downpour.

God of Israel, Isaac and Jacob, let it come down so hard, let the drops dance so high, let the streets and sidewalks seem covered with a 6-inch fog of spatterdrops. Then let it just keep up for a while, and then begin to taper off, and then turn right around and get a lot worse, splashing, pounding, splattering, pouring, drenching, the thunder coming Crackity-BAM! and the lightning flashing so fast and furious you can't tell which flash goes with which the women will get scared and climb on top of the beds and scream at you not to get too close to that window.

And then, O Jealous God, repeat the whole act about three times and in the middle of the second time we will climb the attic stairs and put a wash pan under the tiny leak in the roof which usually you can't even notice in an ordinary rain. And after a couple of hours, kind of taper it down O Lord to a good steady rain-not a drizzle, but a businesslike one that keeps on until just about dawn and then spits a few drops occasionally during the morning from a gray sky.

Kansas is indeed the Promised Land, O Lord, and if it gets a break, it will flow with milk and honey. But we can't live much longer on promises.

So in Thine own way and in Thine own time, make up Thy mind, O Lord, and we will bow before Thy judgment and praise Thine everlasting name. Amen.
