UME 54 — FLOYDADA, FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 12, 1947 — NUMBER 19

il, Gas Leases Belt loydada Townsite

Owners of odd tracts of land around and in Floydada have been getting the kick of their lives out of leasing their "land" to the oil and gas people this week. This includes the City of Floydada, the Rodeo association and others with small tracts around in the suburbs.

Lessees claiming to represent "a major oil company" last week began taking leases in an area about a mile deep in all directions from the perimenter of the town, including some 240 to 320 parcels not already tied up, and paying $7.50 to $10 an acre. Then they began taking small tracts, and announced that it suited them to take on even vacant lots, if enough can be bunched to make it come out of $7.50 to $10 an acre.

The city is said to be all set to lease the dump ground and the acreage around the disposal plant, and any number of five-and-ten-acre owners have sold, the "company" requiring a clause permitting the land to be developed with other adjacent tracts in units that meet the requirements of the State Railway commission's rulings on drilling. Usual amount of land required for a drilling site is said to be 40 acres.

Seismographs Have Been Busy

The area in the immediate vicinity of Floydada has been seismographed more or less intensively by two different crews within the past 90 days. The offers to take leases on the small tracts as well as the larger in the limited area are presumed to be made as a consequence.

The leases being made run 10 years with $1 per acre annual rental.

Yesterday afternoon it was said that practically all of the land and lots lying on the section immediately east of Floydada including many small tracts, had been leased, as had the south half section north of that together with the first half section lying immediately north of Floydada and the first section northwest of town, the east part of which is owned by Mrs. N. W. McCleskey and the west part by Calvin Steen.

On the south side of town the area has been leased to about one mile depth, the L. G. Withers 80-acre tract being one of these, along with several smaller tracts. Cities Service Oil company already has leases on the tracts of Mrs. Maud Hollums and Mrs. Bill Finley lying east of the Withers land. The same company has a lease on the N. A. Armstrong tract, formerly the S. A. McMannis land lying to the north of town along Highway 207 and the S. N. McPeak tract.

Only tract within the city limits known to have been leased is the Davis Gin site two blocks north of the business section, which R. R. Herrell, of Midland, said he had taken. Herrell also has been the lessee on most of the other small tracts around town. He has indicated the leases are being taken for a major operator.

No Activity At Cedar

Todate there has been no further activity at Cedar, where the Humble Oil company staked a location more than a month ago. Work there is said to be awaiting an oil rig.

Montgomery Test

Test for oil on the TMBar ranch was still drilling around 9,500 feet the latter part of the week. On a strictly unofficial basis it is reported the drill is already below the horizon indicated by the seismographer for the pay off or the granite, and the work now is strictly exploratory looking for formation, in particular a granite ridge.

Commissioners To Finish Tax Review Today

Commissioners court of Floyd county, which sat yesterday as a board of equalization, but did not finish with their job of handling more than 818 parcels of land, expected to complete their work noon or shortly thereafter today. They had some 300 tracts yet to check, according to their list, with some 500 disposed of during the three days prior.

Practically all of the renditions on which notices were sent out were on town property and of that, principally on homesteads and on lots where new houses had been constructed or moved in. A few business establishments also were scheduled for raises. Few parcels of farm or ranch land were included in the list.

Net change in taxable values on the parcels included in the commissioners list scheduled for raises, will make the county's tax rolls run to or possibly exceed the $10 million mark it appeared yesterday. No actual figures were made on this.

Taxpayers Jump The Gun

A story which The Hesperian carried last week saying the equalization work would start Monday, had several taxpayers in to see the court that day and on Tuesday as well. The official notices said the board would meet on Wednesday. Practically all of the raises were adjusted amicably to the taxpayers, members of the court said late yesterday. The work that will be carried on today is that of further checking the proposed raises for the property owners who did not appear to see if these raised are justified. County Judge W. E. Grimes said.

E. C. Austin Funeral Rites Held Tuesday at Baptist Church

E. C. Austin, 85, plains resident for more than 30 years, died at his apartment home 203 North Second street, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock after an illness of several weeks duration, and the remains were interred in Floydada cemetery late Tuesday afternoon following funeral rites at the First Baptist church, Rev. First Harvesters Move Into Wheat Fields

First Move in Water Works Job Will Be Start on Storage Tanks Barker Is Advised by Engineers

Forecast that the first move in the $85,000 waterworks and sewer extension and improvement program of the city will come soon is given in advice from the City's engineers this week that Sherman Machine & Iron Works, of Oklahoma City, will start on the construction of storage tanks, principal one of which will be at the water well site, southwest of the city a half mile.

Blocking the beginning of work has been lack of cast iron pipe for lead lines and mains, and although tank building could have been under way for some time, since c... has been plentiful, there was no point in sending out a crew that couldn't keep in operation until the job was finished. This is taken to indicate that the contractors have a supply of pipe in sight. However, no official word to this effect has been received at the city's office, said B. K. Barker, secretary yesterday.

Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, engineers, are new on the job, so far as Floydada is concerned, but the Oklahoma City contractors had every waterworks or sewer contract the city has let since the incorporation of the town.

Although it is another four days before any considerable extent of wheat land will be ready for the combine in this area, at least three combines were running late yesterday afternoon and delivering grain to the elevator that would meet the test for moisture content.

Reports from all around indicate that wheat men are keeping an eye on their fields, while trucks and machines have begun to gather, indicating that the custom men also sense the early readiness of the wheat fields for the harvester. Several tests were being run on moisture content of grain samples at elevators about town yesterday. Another two or three days will see several of these fields with combines in them, and next mid-week some extent of volume will be evident.

Elevators Can Be Swamped

Fear that the 27 elevators serving Floyd county wheat area not only can but will be swamped with offerings as soon as the harvest gets under way unless the dealers get "the utmost cooperation" from their customers is indicated in a statement issued this week signed by most of these dealers. In particular, the dealers say in substance in the statement, the customers can block their elevators if they are unable to make up their minds what they want done with their wheat when it gets to town -- whether they want to store or sell.

With ample box cars in sight for all immediate needs the elevators were feeling most optimistic yesterday, if wheat growers will not try to market wet grain and if they will tell the elevator people what they want done with their wheat.

The biggest crop in the history of the county is going to make a hectic marketing period for elevator workers. It is apparent, the dealers indicate, that modern machinery and manpower can pile the crop in on them faster than the elevators can clear it out to central points.

First Loads of Wheat

Of several trial runs on wheat fields, made Tuesday two turned up with wheat dry enough to deliver to the elevator. One of these was on the Al Edwards farm north of Dougherty. Edwards delivered to Edwards elevator at Dougherty some 350 bushels of 62-pound wheat with 12.6 moisture content. He had a field of about 50 acres like that. The remainder of his crop is due to wait another several days before it dries sufficiently.

Dot Hammonds also was delivering some wheat Tuesday. He had at least one load that went to the Troy Leonard elevator late Tuesday. It tested 61 pounds and was below 14 per cent in moisture content. Hammonds had a good big field in the same condition and ready for the harvest.

Several Trial Runs Due

Tuesday's scorching dry put many farmers into the notion of making trial runs, without success so far as learned. One load brought t...

Legion Visits Advertise the Celebration

McDermett post has been carrying the news about the forthcoming celebration in Floydada on July 3 and 4 to neighboring cities and towns in the past several days. Two of their recent visits were to Spur and Post. Their trip to Spur was during the rodeo there last week-end and to Post on Wednesday.

At Spur the Legion had an entrant among the girl sponsors in the person of Juanell Ward of Dougherty. Substantial donations were received there for the building fund said Lynn Colville.

Legion's plans to serve barbecue during the celebration here is out due to conditions over which the post has no control. Prohibitive prices have been clamped on the meat in recent days and a combination of this situation and bad weather could cost a barrel of money. Hot dog stands will take the place of the barbecue pits Colville said.

City Expansion Program Okeyed For Light Plant

Floydada city council's plans for doubling the capacity of the light and power plant and making considerable extensions and additions to develop its distributing system, got approval, nearly 8 to 1 from the taxpayers Saturday.

With little or no controversy in the matter, and almost all of the taxpayers agreed that some kind of measures would have to be taken and that the council probably knew best -- with no heat raised about one out of eight eligibles voted. The count unofficially reported was 89 for, 12 against.

According to their agreement the city council will start the procedure to finish their trade with the representatives of the bondholders - Crummer & company. Of the total issue of $175,000 authorized their publicly outlined plans are:

Plans Advanced By Council

To refund at a slightly lower rate of interest an outstanding revenue bearing debt of $58,000.

Expend an approximately $108,000 for additional power and connections and lines;

And have approximately $9,000 for a margin against contingencies.

The refunding step indicated above will free approximately $38,000 now in a reserve fund, a portion of which the council has indicated will be set up as a new reserve for a year or two years maturities on the $175,000 issue and the street maintenance equipment when the equipment is available.

Growth of the community in the past five years has been so fast that speedy additions to present facilities for light and power service are seen as a necessity by the council.

A similar situation developed in the water and sewer department and already financing has been completed and contract let for more than $100,000 worth of improvements and extensions, including an additional well for water supply and for extensions of water and sewer mains.

DOLLARS FOR THE FUTURE

A hog today will bring four times as much a hundredweight as its great-uncle brought in 1940. The dollar today is cheap in terms of the porker it will buy for the packer and the pork it will buy for the public.

The dollar is likewise cheap in terms of almost everything the farmer can or must buy with the money he gets from his hogs or other products. There are only two exceptions that we can cite offhand.

Your 1947 dollar will pay off exactly as much debt as the dollar would in 1940. So when money is cheap and easy is the best time to pay debts. The farmer has to produce only one-quarter as much hog today to buy back a dollar's worth of mortgage or promissory note as he would have had to raise in 1940.

Your 1947 dollar will buy exactly as much in Series F or G bonds as it would in May, 1941, when these U. S. Savings Bonds were first issued. It will buy you exactly as much in Series E bonds as it would in this or similar series at any time since March, 1935, when the first such bond was issued as Series A.

Whether they raise hogs or cattle, cotton or corn, truck or what you will, farmers, know that the prices they get for their products are not going to stay up forever, and probably not for long. They know, too, that a general adjustment downward of prices of the goods and services must come sooner or later. Then their dollars will be worth more—and also harder to come by.

Therefore when dollars are cheap is the most profitable time to invest in Savings Bonds. A farmer can buy a $100 E bond for $75, which is about what he'd get for a whopping 300-pound hog at $24-plus a hundredweight. In 1940, when hogs brought him $6 a hundred, it would have taken the proceeds from four 300-pound hogs to buy the same bond. So in terms of hogs, Savings Bond prices today are just one-quarter what they were in 1940. In terms of dollars, the price of these bonds has never gone up.

Ten years from now, when the farmer's E bonds bought with cheap 1947 dollars mature, he will get back $4 for each $3 he invested. Each dollar will have grown by 33-1-3 cents. And who can predict how much more each dollar may buy then? The purchasing power of dollars saved during and right after the first World War practically doubled in ten years.

You may translate this hog homily into terms of any farm or ranch product and arrive at the same conclusion: while money is cheap it is not only common sense but uncommon good business to salt down every possible dollar in a riskless investment wherein it will grow 33 1-3 per cent in ten years, be readily available in an emergency, provide a financial reserve against the risks that farming entails, and eventually buy more per dollar of what you'll need and want in the future.

Doubtless the Safety division of the State Highway department will take cognizance of the increased hazards of the next few weeks in this area. All of us feel that the department will have their men out in the area to be helpful not punitive. Stakes are rather high, the roads are crowded. Between Floydada and Crowell this week there must be one to two thousand outfits on the road or in adjacent fields ready to pull out into the roads. They have their eyes on the sky as well as on the road and the harvest field. They are going to make some money to take back home, they anticipate. Weather of the harvest period will mean the difference between breaking even, losing money and/or going home with a pot full of money.

To us this means be patient with the harvest crews when you get on the road. Help them get along, get the job done and get out of the way. Meanwhile, don't be too insistent that the highway department be too insistent. Give the harvesters all the leeway you can.

—O—

All Can't Get The Most.—If you're striving to get the most oil rental of anybody for your patch around Floydada it might be well to bear in mind that for those who hold on to get the most there must have been somebody that took a little less so the business could get started. Also the plains is a pretty big area and all that has to happen to prick the bubble is for a couple of fellows to drive out of town and forget to come back the next day. It's a long way vertically and a long way horizontally to where there is any oil from Floydada.

—O—

Explanatory Note. — If the dollar does less for its owner today, it is just what would logically follow the fact that the fellow who's working today, as a rule, does much less for the dollar.—Ina S. Stovall in Wall Street Journal.

Floyd County 4 Years Ago

Floydada's first car load of 1933 wheat was billed out at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 10, and left Monday morning via the Q. A. & P. for Fort Worth markets. The car was shipped from the Farmers Grain Company and contained 1,850 bushels, the new grain averaging a test of 59 pounds to the bushel.

Wide-spread showers over Floyd County Monday afternoon were big aid to growing crops, although the entire county did not get sufficient to prove of value. Considerably more than half of the county, though, had a quarter to two and a half inches.

Fire destroyed a 20-foot bridge on the Harmony road about two miles south of Barwise Thursday of last week.

Odus Stephens, who has served as a member of the faculty of Floydada high school for the past four years announced his resignation last week. He indicated that he had accepted a position in the schools at Llano.

B. F. McIntosh was elected Worshipful Master for the Blue Lodge of Floydada Lodge No. 712, A. F. & A. M. at the meeting held Saturday.

William Baker and Julia Lawson, both of this city, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon in the Methodist parsonage with Rev. I. A. Smith officiating.

Everett S. Price and Johnny Switzer are at home in Floydada following their marriage last Saturday morning in Clovis, New Mexico.

The Silver Wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Rauschenback of Lone Star observed Thursday evening, June 8, at their home was an occasion of much gayety and feasting which lasted far into the night.

A. H. Manning returned home Tuesday of last week from Fort Worth and Glenrose where he has been taking treatments.

Raymond Allen, brother of Oliver Allen, was seriously injured Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile while crossing a street in Lubbock.

Talk of developing a Quitaque river site as a state park or as a self liquidating project on a large scale, begun in Floydada days ago has created much interest at Quitaque and in the Quitaque Valley.

TRUCK CONTEST ENTRIES

The search for the oldest Chevrolet truck still in active service is attracting entries from all parts of the country at the rate of several hundred a day, J. W. Burke, manager of the commercial and truck department, Chevrolet Motor Division, said today.

Entries in the search represent a cross-section of the motor truck field, come from every state in the union, and cover every conceivable use to which trucks are put.

ends of the Army Air forces the cause of national defense a victory in the House of Rep- atives last week which will warning to the world that the d States is not planning to nder her position as the world's dest air power.

e controversy over U. S. air r arose when the Appropriations mittee, the committee upon h I serve, slashed $40,000,000 funds recomended for the pur- e of new airplanes. The request the funds had been made of ress by the Chief of the Army forces, the Secretary of War and President. The committee then ded the House to approve the Committee I had offered an dment to restore the airplanes had been denied but I was whelmingly defeated. When the bill came up in the House of Representatives I took up the fight again, re-offering the amendment to restore the funds for the airplanes.

The Republican leadership fought the amendment and the question was heatedly debated for a part of three days.

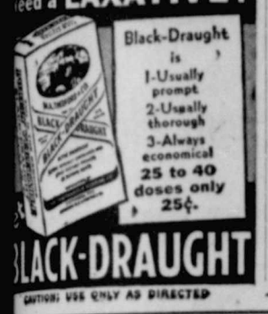

Finally, in the last half hour of the debate, Congressman Andrews of New York, the Republican chairman of the House committee on Armed forces, took the floor in support of my amendment and in support of my contention that the appropriations committee had misrepresented the facts and the figures in regard to army air power. This broke the back of the opposition and shortly thereafter the amendment was accepted and passed the House. A number of members of Congress from Texas were very aggressive in the successful effort to restore the funds.

I argued that it would be inexcusable for us today, or at any future time, to start down the road to a second rate air force and an inadequate national defense program. It was stated that the defeat of the airplane request would be a straw in the wind which would lead to dangerous international consequences. I pointed out that the army appropriations bill contained savings in funds to the extent of $475,000,000 and that the expenditure of the additional $40,000,000 provided in my amendment for army airplanes would not seriously interfere with the economy program

Without my amendment there were already sufficient funds in the bill to provide 516 airplanes. With the amendment the bill provides for 749 aircraft of the latest type, the planes to come off the assembly line within two years.

Funds were not reduced for the National guard, the ROTC units in high schools and colleges, and Reserve officers training otherwise. No cut was made in funds requested for the important work of research and development. The bill reduced War department civilian personnel by 74,600 employees and officer personnel by 18,000, it being felt that the Army was somewhat top heavy with officers. The bill provides for an army of 1,070,000 men during the period June 30, 1947 to July 1, 1948. The total funds in the bill exceed $5,000,000,000.

As A Farm Woman Thinks

(By Nellie Witt Spikes)

There was a big air raid over Crosby county last Friday afternoon. The day had been fair and hot, very warm indeed. A few innocent-appearing clouds softly sailed about, then all of a sudden whole fleets of clouds came nearer and nearer, bright and glittering swords and drowning out the earth noises with angry roars. The clouds grew more angry and began picking out targets, then hurled hard balls of ice upon the defenseless inhabitants, aiming as accurately and damaging the waving fields of unharvested grain, as did the Germans in London during the war.

Small pellets of ice, hen eggs of ice, base balls of ice - crushed everything where they fell to lie shining like diamonds as the sun was uncovered by the passing of the cloud - ships.

We missed most of it. A good many small cubes fell fast but only for a few seconds, then we watched and listened with horror as it fell on our neighbors. We knew the anguish the terrible feeling of the hail and our hearts grew as cold as the ice. A year's crop, good wheat that was almost made. New refrigerators, better farming tools, college education, shoes and dresses and hats, all blotted out with a few short minutes that seems like hours as the storm hits, does its deadly work and passes on to other fields.

A new flower is growing in our pasture, new to us but not to the Plains - a silky-white larkspur with tiny dark dots on ends of petals. Very dainty is this flower. I will try to remember to get some seed to plant in the corner of my garden this fall. I have just been out and plowed out the garden.

Beans are ready to bloom, the pepper and tomatoes are beginning to take root from their transplanting. Looks as if the potatoes will make very good. Hope so at least.

We spent the week end in Lubbock with mother. Had a pleasant visit. Found that Lawrence Ivy who married my niece, Doris Tubbs, is with the Adair Music company there. He plays over the new station but we cannot get it.

The little Methodist parsonage at Cone looks so empty and forlorn. We miss our good friends, the Hartleys so much. We trust the little home will soon have someone in it and that we shall have the opportunity of hearing a new pastor soon.

The summer issue of the Southwest Revue is especially interesting. . .it is getting too warm to Crochet and I will take more time to read the Post copies my brother in-law, Jack Wadsworth saved for me. . . and there are a number of new books from the book clubs. . . I want to make up some more pretty feed sacks into dresses. . . .if one can keep busy a hot day, the heat will not be felt so much. . .watching the thermometer is not much help towards being cool. . . .wish we were down in the Davis Mountains with Aunt Mirt. . . .She writes they are building another room to their two room cottage, putting in windows where there were only boards to be pushed open and held with sticks. . . It will all be ready when the Baptist Encampment meeting begins. . . .

Copied From The Furrow:

"Apple" may soon take its place beside vanilla, lemon, etc., among flavoring extracts as results of a process developed by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. It is made by condensing the vapors which rise from heated apple juice, is colorless and holds its flavor indefinitely without weakening or changing. The same process has been found practical for other fruits, such as raspberries and grapes.

"Gleaning" (remember the Bible story of Ruth) is legal in England, according to a Justice of Peace who released two boys accused of combing a farmer's grain field for chicken-feed after harvest is over. If a farmer wants to rake his field after harvest, he must leave two sheaves of grain standing to show that intention, said the official.

"After conducting experiments to determine how fast snakes travel a California scientist reported that a rattlesnake, for instance, 'prowls' at a little better than three-tenths of a mile an hour, but can exceed two miles an hour when hurrying. A racer snake prowled more slowly than the rattler, but had maximum speed of 3.6 miles an hour."

Solitude

You need not travel very far
To find life fragrant with perfume;
A store of lovely, golden things
Can be unearthed in your own room.

And in the hush of moonlight come
Deep peace across the window-sill.

GI's Re-Instate Life Insurance in large Numbers

During the past thirty days West Texas veterans have reinstated more than one and a half million dollars of their G. I. Insurance Houston H. Boyd, Veterans Administration contact representative announces.

"It is evident that veterans in this area of the nation who have dropped their G. I. Insurance are taking advantage of the present liberalized plan of reinstating it by paying only two monthly premiums and submitting a comparative health statement," Mr. Boyd commented.

The Veterans administration pointed out that many veterans do not yet understand that Government assumption of substantial expenses and costs makes National Service Insurance one of the "best breaks" service men and women ever had that it affords them a bargain at low premium rates.

Mr. Boyd said that veterans of this locality may consult the Veterans Administration Contact office at 703 Lubbock National Building Lubbock, Texas for further information on reinstatement and converting term policies to one of the several permanent plans offered by the VA.

Mr. Boyd also stated that he would be available in the office of Darnell G. Ayres, Floyd county veterans service officer, Room 15, First National Bank building, Floydada from 9 a. m. to 12 noon every first and third Wednesday each month for the purpose of interviewing any veteran or dependent relative to any matter concerning veterans' rights and benefits. A cordial invitation is extended all veterans.

DDT VS. FLIES

COLLEGE STATION—A nation-wide drive is underway to kill out millions of pests that have been hampering health since Adam and Eve. Fries are the pests, and DDT is the weapon.

Launched by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the drive is being taken up in the Lone Star State by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Extension entomologists state that the people of Texas, both rural and urban have never had the chance they have this spring to make war on flies. DDT has proved itself as a fly-killer.

Most recent research has shown that the worst of the disease-carrying flies can be killed by spraying DDT around the places where the flies rest. The entomologists are not only asking farmers to use the DDT around sheds, barns, pig pens and cow lots, but are also urging city officials to spray garbage cans curbs and gutters, stock yards and other places where flies swarm. In the home 2½ to 5 per cent DDT is very effective against houseflies.

The more people that get in the fight against flies early in the season, the less bother we'll have with flies this summer," the entomologist say.

NEW MIX-UP

COLLEGE STATION — Something new in mixing bowls is coming up for the housewife.

Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service says that mixing bowls with finger grips and spouts for pouring dough are being manufactured and are due to appear on the retail market soon.

The home management specialist says the newly-designed bowl promises to reduce the difficulty of holding a regular mixing bowl when stirring a mixture, and the small spout makes pouring convenient.

Mrs. William J. Slivka left today for her home in Mt. Vernon, Illinois, after spending several days here, guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buren Cates.

Cannot Replace Chicken, Apple Pie With Pills

LUBBOCK—Fried chicken and apple pie are here to stay.

Vitamin pills, mineral extracts and other forms of concentrated food capsules will probably never replace the present more conventional human diet, according to Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Arts and Sciences dean and chemistry department head at Texas Technological College. And he gave numerous reasons to substantiate his theory.

In the first place, science has not yet learned to manufacture all a man's complex food needs synthetically, and probably never will. Even if this were possible, the synthetics would probably be too expensive to be practical. Also, man's stomach could not function efficiently on a diet of thimble-size pills—it needs to be literally full before digestive juices will flow.

Now if successive generations of man should choose to live exclusively on these concentrated capsules—if they were available—and finish filling their stomachs with hay to start the digestive process, the possibility exists that in a thousand years a man might evolve with a very small stomach capable of handling the food pellets alone.

But meanwhile, little girls had best go right on learning to cook. It isn't very likely that men will pass up beefsteaks and French fries in favor of fodder.

So, professor, please pass the strawberries.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weast visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Martin of Seymour Friday and Saturday and attended the wedding of their daughter, Joyce Martin.

Conservation District News

According to R. G. Dunlap, Chairman of the Board of supervisors of the Floyd County Soil Conservation district, word has been received from the Hickman Bros. Seed company at Rising Star, Texas that the the hairy vetch seed crop there will not be as heavy as was anticipated because of the recent hot dry weather and some aphid damage. Mr. Dunlap stated that an effort will be made to locate a seed source between now and planting for all District cooperators who are unable to secure seed through local dealers. Some local dealers now have a small supply of seed and can furnish those who want to buy early to be sure of having seed at planting time.

W. M. Day, a District cooperator who farms in the McCoy conservation group has up to a stand 40 acres of Hubam clover which he over sowed in wheat in the early spring. The crop was planted to serve as a cover crop and soil builder after the wheat is harvested.

Last fall H. B. Machen who lives in the Belt conservation group 4 miles north of Lockney planted thirty acre north of Lockney planted thirty acres ture of grasses and legumes. The land had blown in years past and Mr. Machen knew something must be done to keep it in place and at the same time yield an income. At the suggestion of Soil Conservation service technicians assigned to the local district, Mr. Machen made the grass legume planting in early September. Not only has the pastur stopped all washing and blowing but in addition is carrying more than one cow to the acre and the grasses are seeding out because that number can not keep them down.

L. F. Bruns who lives in the Wylie conservation group became a cooperator of the district this week. The conservation plan which he made with the help of Soil Conservation service technicians includes a fall planting of hairy vetch or cotton land for winter and spring cover crop. Mr. Bruns plans eventually to have pastures and legumes which will furnish a permanent cover for the entire farm.

Pressure Cooker Steam Guage Test

Running a test on the steam gauge of the pressure cooker now will save many a housewife trouble during the canning season.

Correct operation of the pressure gauge is all-important in home canning, says Miss Leila Petty, home demonstration agent of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Proper processing of low acid vegetables and meats depends on whether the gauge registers correctly. If the gauge is "off" warns Miss Petty food may be underprocessed and lost by spoilage, or it may be overcooked, which results in loss of food value and flavor.

Three training meetings on testing steam gauges have been held by Miss Petty. These were given to Home Food Supply Leaders in the home demonstration clubs so they could test the gauges belonging to club members or any other person in their communities.

One training meeting was held at Lockney and two at Floydada the last week in May. Those attending were Mrs. Kate Collier and Mrs. McDonald at Lockney, and the following at Floydada: Mmes. W. Hollums, Lakeview; M. J. McNeill and C. Ashton, Center; Roy Hollums Sand Hill; Will Ferguson, and A. L. Robertson of Starkey; Joe Dunn and Raymond Williams of Homebuilders W. H. Bethel and E. L. Judy of Friendship; Rene Yeary of Cedar Hill; A. G. Cardinal and Herschel Green of Baker; and Zant Scott of Harmony.

Reports have been received from club leaders in demonstration clubs who have tested cookers. These are Center, Baker, Lockney and Sand Hill. A total of 43 cookers have been tested at all the meetings.

Cancer Research Leads to Study of Bacterial Gene

AUSTIN—Research in bacterial genetics, important line of investigation because it points to possible uses in cancer, will begin at the University of Texas this summer.

A two-year $12,000 grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, matched by similar funds from the University will enable Dr. Orville Wyss, bacteriologist, and Dr. Wilson S. Stone zoologist, to expand their investigation in bacterial genetics.

Drs. Wyss and Stone have discovered that ultraviolet rays can indirectly cause hereditary mutations in bacteria. Now, with additional funds for enlargement of laboratory and personnel, they will try to determine the chemistry of the gene (Genes are minute particles which carry the hereditary substance).

They will feed foods to bacteria that have been exposed to ultraviolet rays, studying rates of reaction and conditions under which they occur, in order to learn more about gene mutations which cause differences between individuals, nations, and races of the human family in all plants and animals.

The grant and appropriation will be used to employ graduate students and technicians to assist with development of the studies.

The $12,000 grant from the Rockefeller Foundation supplements previous gifts for continuation of genetics research, bringing the total since 1928 to $146,500. Other grants have been made to Dr. J. T. Patterson, professor of zoology, whose research has been with fruit flies.

MAN EATING TIGERS

Many animals have been given bad names in fiction, while the actual facts do not bear out the evilness with which they have been labeled. Tigers are a notable example of this tendency to make an animal worse than it actually is.

The tiger is no house kitten. Neither is he the blood-thirsty, cruel killer that fiction has pictured him. He is big and he is tough, but he kills only for food and, normally, does not eat the flesh of human beings. Like most other animals he avoids man whenever possible. Man is not his natural prey and his instinct tells him to leave man alone.

The man-eating tiger has become a criminal through necessity. He is as much an exception in the animal world as the murderer is in our world. A tiger becomes a man-eater for one of two reasons: he has become too old to catch and kill his natural prey, or he has been wounded either by man or another animal in such a manner that he is physically unable to capture the food he prefers. Man is the easiest food for a flesh eating animal to find and catch— so the old or crippled tiger rather than starve, catches and eats him.

Story of War Cameraman

It was May 3, 1863. Two rickety springwagons, covered by dusty tarpaulins, lumbered through the village of Falmouth and followed the trains of Gen. John Sedgwick's Union troops on pontoon bridges over the Rappahannock river into the battered city of Fredericksburg. The battle of Chancellorsville had opened.

One of the wagons was driven by Mathew B. Brady, pioneer American photographer, who had followed the Army with his mobile studio since early in 1861. He had made hundreds of photographs of soldiers in bivouac and on the march and recorded scenes of corpse-strewn battlefields, but today he was destined to get the first photograph of the United States Army in actual combat.

Battery D, 5th U. S. Artillery wheeled into position near a grove of nine trees and trained its guns on the enemy. T. H. O'Sullivan, Brady's assistant, rushed forward with his clumsy camera in front focus and made the necessarily long exposure on the slow "wet plate". Battery Commander waved the photographer to get out of range and opened the bombardment.

Today Brady's primitive picture at Fredericksburg is one of more than 2,000 of his negatives acquired by the U. S. Signal Corps and on file in the National Archives. The advances in the art of photography since the War Between the States are not less amazing than the progress made by the Army Pictorial Service in the Signal Corps.

In World War II teams of motion and still picture photographers aggregating 1,400 cameramen were a part of the Army personnel They worked in all theatres of operations. They were among the first ashore in beachhead attacks. They advanced with the infantry, their jeeps followed blazing tanks and they crawled along with isolated patrols. Combat photographers suffered their share of casualties. Thirty-two were killed. A monument to their skill, courage and devotion to duty is shown in the War Department's file of 500,000 selected negatives picturing all phases of the war.

C. L. Berry, jr., who has finished his freshman year at West Texas State college, plans to spend the summer at home, employed with his father in the poultry and feed business.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Day, of Post, where Mr. Day is a teacher, are here to spend an indefinite part of the summer on their Floyd county farm.

reasury Urges ond-a-Month as lan for Savings

"Where you work. . .where you ank . . buy U. S. Savings Bonds" ill be the theme of the U. S. Treasry's June-July promotion of the le of U. S. Savings Bonds.

The promotion will introduce nationally the Bond-a-Month Plan for bank depositors with banks throughout Texas participating in the plan. Under the plan, which is intended to reach farmers, ranchers, professional men and women, self-employed persons, small business men and others, the depositor authorizes the bank to purchase bonds to him monthly. The purchase price is charged against the depositor's checking account and the bonds are delivered by the bank each month.

"Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the value of U. S. Savings Bonds as an investment," according to an announcement on the June-July promotion by Nathan Adams, Dallas, State Chairman of the Texas Advisory Committee on Savings Bonds. "These securities are backed by the full credit of our nation, the return is stipulated and guaranteed without risk of market fluctuations. The widespread ownership of Savings Bonds creates financial reserves at a time when our national income is the highest in our history, thus building a backlog of purchasing power when the buyers market has returned in full.

"City dwellers and farmers alike need financial security. The Bond-a-Month Plan offers an ideal way for the farmer, the rancher, professional people and small business men to invest regularly and build a reserve for emergencies for future use for retirement."

The Bond-a-Month Plan is a service offered by the nation's banks. Texans invested a grand total of $240,000,000 in U. S. Savings Bonds in 1946, with 2,450,000 Series E Bonds issued representing $171,000,000 of the total.

During the first four months of 1947, the Texas total of U. S. Savings Bonds purchased amounts to $92,855,900 with a total of $54,735,000 in Series E Bonds. The national total for the same period is $2,852,000,000.

Texas has a state goal of $30,000,000 in all Savings Bonds during the June-July promotion, which is pointed at spreading the national debt among the greatest possible number of citizens in the Treasury's debt management program.

As time comes for the league to lay off past a very busy harvest, Coach L. F. Gresham, general games manager, said the spirit of the managers, players and fans has been fine. "The men on the teams have been mighty good to take what the umpires dished out without a grumble, the umpires have done a good job and all have had a good time," said Mr. Gresham. "All we have to do to get out of the red this season is to have some more good games with good attendance when the time comes for the second half races."

Housewife Is Agent For Grain Loader

This is supposed to be a man' world, but Mrs. Bill Nittler of Hale Center isn't paying much attention to that old superstition!

She has just accepted an agency to sell Auger Grain Loaders to farmers in this area. It's the only agency of its kind in this territory and she believes the new grain auger will make a big hit with farmers this year when they start loading and unloading their wheat harvest.

Mrs. Nittler was born and reared in Crosby county, and her parents were pioneers of Crosby county.

Wheat Harvest

Floydada ran more than 13 per cent moisture and was turned down by dealers. Today, Friday and Saturday will see several trial runs in fields that appear to be in marketable condition.

Plenty of sunshine, minus sudden high temperatures is good for wheat. Floyd county wheat has had a somewhat mixed week in this respect. Monday was a scorcher with considerable wind blowing its hot breath through the waving grain.

First Tests Encouraging

Tests as to weight on the first wheat that is being delivered are encouraging. The grain has been drying out fast since the rains ceased, and first loads went 61 to 62, forecasting even heavier grain as the moisture content goes down.

Markets on Wednesday

Markets yesterday in the new wheat areas around Spur and Paducah were below $2 and it appeared that market here would open erratically and below the $2 mark per bushel.

Prevention of Poliomyelitis

AUSTIN, — Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following statements and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is now occurring in certain sections of the state.

At one time it was generally believed that this infection was transmitted primarily by discharge from the respiratory tract. It is now believed that poliomyelitis may be another of the several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must include clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate house-flies, mosquitoes and rodents to destroy their breeding places. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems, and secure safe water supplies. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems are not in operation, it is necessary to install and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All swimming pools should maintain those standards approved by the Texas State Department of Health. This includes maintenance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed to the public.

All raw foods and vegetables should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from filth and insects. All food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State law concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation, should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitation standards.

Approved milk supplies, rodent control measures, high sanitation standards, and strict personal hygiene are all important. Polio cases should be quarantined for 14 days and excreta from cases and contacts should be handled and disinfected with the same scrupulous care as in typhoid fever or bacillary dysentery.

Over - exertion of children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. It is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts, especially in children during an outbreak of this disease. It is not advocated that schools, churches, and theatres be closed.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting, drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

Making Addition to Work Rooms, and Green House

Park Florist has begun an expansion program at their plant, 312 West Georgia street, the first unit of which is a 25 by 32 - foot enlargement of their present lobby and show room. When completed this enlarged space will be re-arranged to give additional lobby space as well as larger work room for designing and for cabinets.

W. Elton Goen, manager, also has in the enlargement program due to be completed before the year is over, an addition to one of the green houses. Some of the materials have been difficult to obtain and will cause delay in final completion date, it is indicated. The addition to the green house will be 25 by 90 feet. Cypress, concrete, glass and steel will be used.

Following Goen's return from service with the navy the business has expanded enormously and the additional working space as well as green house growing room will aid in caring for the demand with less lost motion. Goen, with Mrs. Goen in active charge, established the business more than a decade ago and Mrs. Goen carried on during her son's absence.

BIG WHEAT CROP

Since Floyd County will probably produce the largest grain crop in its history the Grain Dealers of Floyd County think it best to call some matters to the attention of grain producers before the harvest begins:

1. Most combines have been mounted on rubber and a great number of them follow the harvest throughout the summer. With so many machines available the harvest rush becomes faster each season. This condition makes it impossible for the small grain handler to protect himself in handling high moisture grain. He does not have the time nor the facilities for making blends that will get the grain out in proper condition.

With plenty of wheat—and more—terminal elevators and mills are not going to accept any high moisture without exacting severe penalties. Therefore, we cannot afford to accept wheat with more than 14% moisture.

2. To give producers the best service this time it will be necessary to load every available box car as quickly as possible. That may help us to get your wheat out of your hands before we become blocked and save the necessity of wheat going on the ground. If we hurry it on out of the country we must know at once whether you expect to sell or store. If we delay in deciding that, much wheat will be unloaded at terminals before it is sold. That will entail a lot of extra charges which the grain dealers do not believe they should be called upon to absorb. Hence, it is necessary to charge storage from the date that you unload your grain—no free storage will be allowed; nor will unloading charges at the terminals be paid for by us in case you delay selling until after your grain has reached destination.

3. While box cars appear to be plentiful judging by the number parked on the sidings in this neighborhood, still we are fearful that there may not be enough to go around so it is suggested that you make up your mind what disposition you want to make of your wheat and let us know at once when it begins to move.

4. We expect to give you everything we can in the way of service and as conditions are unusual we crave your co-operation in the efforts made to take care of this crop.

5. We wish to discourage the idea of instructing your trucker to go anywhere he can get unloaded, especially with no other instructions, realizing that this practice can only bring on confusion. We suggest that instead you make every effort to patronize the dealer of your choice.
