Solons Plan To Recess For Conventions

Davis Clings To Slim Lead In North Dakota

By REILMAN MORIN

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—Gov. John E. Davis, Republican, clung to a slim lead over Democratic Rep. Quentin Burdick today in the North Dakota special Senate election.

Late returns, trickling in long after the polls closed Tuesday, showed Davis ahead by less than 4,000 votes.

With 1,647 of the 2,310 precincts counted, unofficial tabulations showed:

Davis 86,716, Burdick 83,238.

That gave the GOP governor about 51 per cent of the total recorded so far.

About one-third of the 2,310 precincts had not reported between 2 and 3 a. m. in outlying districts, election officials locked the boxes and did not resume tabulating until later in the morning.

The margin between Davis and Burdick remained substantially the same thereafter.

Returns from the farm areas, reporting hours after the cities, cut deeply into the governor's early lead. At one time, he was more than 8,000 votes ahead of Burdick and coasting along with a comfortable 56 per cent of the total ballot.

But as the figures from the outlying rural areas came in, Democrats predicted a Burdick victory by as much as 5,000 votes.

"We've got it in the bag," said Scott Anderson, Democratic campaign director. "It's only a matter of time."

Davis, however, said he was still confident of victory.

"We were worried for a while," he said, "but now we're standing up straight. It looks like it will go down to the wire."

This is the nation's first head-on collision between the two major parties in a farm state.

As such, it may indicate dissatisfaction throughout the farm belt with the agriculture program as administered by Secretary Ezra Taft Benson. Analysts in both parties are watching the North Dakota election with an eye on the November battle for the presidency.

Davis, as expected, rolled up a commanding lead in the cities.

He did not, however, do as well in this election as he did in 1958 when he defeated John Lord, a Democratic attorney, for the governorship.

Two years ago, Davis carried Fargo, the largest city, by 64 per cent; today his margin is 58 per cent. He carried Minot by 56 per cent in 1958, and 51 per cent today. In Bismarck, the capital, his 1958 edge was 64 per cent as against 62 per cent today.

In short, the governor did not come out of the cities with as long a lead as he was expected to need to offset the farm vote.

Rocky Continues Running Battle

By JACK BELL

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller carried his running argument with the Eisenhower administration into the field of medical aid for the elderly today.

Already involved in a Republican ruckus over his criticisms of defense policies, the New York governor invited another fracas by denouncing as "fiscally unsound" an administration measure to subsidize the health insurance of needy persons over 65 years old.

Rockefeller called, in a discussion paper for a final-day governors' conference panel on problems of the aging, for congressional passage of a bill to finance health insurance payments for the elderly through social security payroll taxes.

Rockefeller opposed the "means test" in the administration bill as likely to require "cumbersome and costly administrative mechanisms in all 50 states."

He proposed setting up a "health benefit trust fund" financed by a one-half per cent increase each for employes and employers in payroll taxes. Each social security beneficiary would have the option of receiving health services or a check to meet part of the cost of outside health insurance he carried.

Ready to close up their conference shop for the year, the governors were reported leaning toward Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado, a Democrat, as their new chairman to succeed GOP Gov. J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware.

In their usual discussion of highway matters, the governors got a proposal from publisher William Randolph Hearst Jr. of the Hearst newspapers for pooling of funds by the states to finance research on prevention of traffic accidents.

Speaking as chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee on Traffic Safety, Hearst said in a prepared address that a penny a year per vehicle would produce $700,000 for this purpose.

There was on tap a whole sheaf of proposed resolutions. Among these was one by Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan calling on Congress to enact a bill for medical insurance benefits for the elderly within the framework of the social security system.

This put Democrat Williams and Republican Rockefeller in the same anti-administration boat. They saluted each other's position there Tuesday on the issue that this country lacks adequate defenses to offset Soviet military might.

Urging a three-billion-dollar increase in Eisenhower's defense budget, Rockefeller said in a conference report that this country now is "more exposed to fatal danger than ever before in our history."

Sweetwater Man Is Killed In Accident

SWEETWATER (AP) — Paul McAfee, 50, of Sweetwater was killed Tuesday night in an accident at the Lone Star Cement Co. at Maryneal, 18 miles southwest of here.

Three men were unloading gypsum rock from a freight car which became unbalaneed and fell to its side. All three were pitched to the railroad tracks and McAfee's skull was fractured.

James Logsden, 31, of Sweetwater, sustained a slight back injury. Tom Odem, 38, of Blackwell sprained an ankle.

Love Calls Keep Fish Separated

AUSTIN (AP)— Differing love calls help fish keep their species straight, a University of Texas researcher reports.

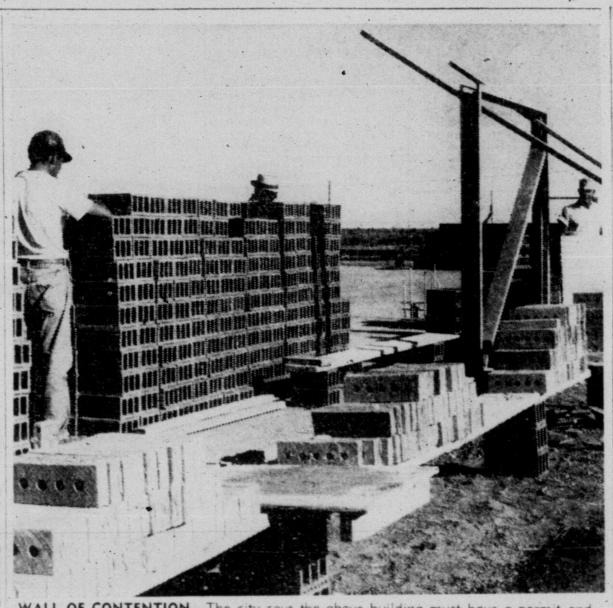

Noises made by females enable males to choose between their own and different species during the mating season, says E. A. Delco Jr., graduate student in ichthyology.

Delco, of Houston, won a national prize for a recent research paper on the subject of fishy love making and mating.

Fish also have regional accents, he found. Those studied in the Colorado River near Austin don't sound like those in the Brazos, 100 miles east.

MAYBE IT WAS JUST THE BRIGHT SUN that caused eyes to water at the bus station this morning when Stig-Olof Kerrstrom, exchange student from Finland, right, said his final farewells and boarded the bus. Frantic good-byes, good wishes and expressions of dismay at the things he had not done or seen filled the air as classmates, teachers and friends dashed up and surrounded him. Some had kept an all night vigil with him and some had taken off from work for a last handshake. Hands waved, the bus rolled out of sight, and fingers wiped moisture out of overflowing eyes. It could have been the sun.

WALL OF CONTENTION—The city says the above building must have a permit and has filed in district court for an injunction to stop its construction until the owner, D. M. Cogdell, Sr., obtains one. Cogdell says the city absorbed his property without notice to him and refuses to get one. Hearing on the matter is set for July 8.

CITY ASKS INJUNCTION

Cogdell Plans To File Damage Suit

The City of Snyder Tuesday afternoon filed in 132nd District Court for an injunction against D. M. Cogdell, Sr. to enjoin him from constructing a building in the city limits without a building permit. Cogdell countered that he would fight it all the way to the Supreme Court if he had to, and is planning to sue the city for half a million dollars. Hearing on the injunction is set for July 8.

About his suit Cogdell, who has spent close to a million dollars in the area around Cogdell Memorial Hospital including the building of the Trinity Methodist Church and the Martha Ann Womans Club, and contributions of money and land to the hospital, expressed regrets and said that he was forced into the action by the city officials. He added:

"I want the people of Snyder to know that I am sorry I have been forced into this, but I am going to sue the City of Snyder for half a million dollars. They took my property in without asking me and are not willing to give me anything for the money I put in it.

"The sewage water has run into the creek that runs on my property and ruined three miles of my creek. Three members of my family have had polio and a number of my horses have had polio. I never complained in the past. Now they are forcing me into it.

"Half the sewer is mine and it's in the agreement with the county that I can go into the sewer any time I want to. The streets all belong to me and I could close them up and not let anyone on them. I paid for them and they have not paid me for them.

"I told Gene (Dulaney) to hire a certain firm of lawyers, they are the best in the country. I'm sorry for the people of Snyder, but they (the city administration) have forced me into it".

The action by the city resulted after they had given Cogdell notice to obtain a building permit for the structure within 10 days. The 10 days were up this week. The 150-foot by 150-foot building has been under construction in the hospital area for over six weeks before the city took action. According to city law a permit must be obtained before construction is begun.

City officials have stated that what is law for one individual is law for another and they can make no distinction among personalities.

The building in question is being constructed on land brought into the city limits last Dec. 28.

Man To Take Rocket Ride

WASHINGTON (AP)—T. Keith Glennan, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said today the United States will send a man on a 200-mile rocket flight "before many months."

Glennan outlined these plans to an audience at the opening of a "Threshold of Space" display here.

Messages were transmitted from NASA's space flight station at Wallops Island, Va., directly into a computer here, without human intervention.

Glennan said the first launching of a man carrying one-ton Mercury capsule by a Redstone rocket will take the astronaut to an altitude of 125 miles and send him 200 miles down the Atlantic missile range in 16 minutes.

Compromise Defense Measure Fills Most Regime Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise defense bill of just under 40 billion dollars today offered the Eisenhower administration most of its major military requests, plus some 650 million it opposed.

A Senate-House conference committee, compromising differences between the two bodies, gave the bill its final form late Tuesday. The House will take up the revised measure Friday. Senate action also is required.

House spokesmen agreed to 293 million to build a new attack aircraft carrier for the Navy; 244 million to produce Bomarc antiaircraft missiles; and 190 million to speed development of the Air Force's B70 jet aircraft weapons system. The House had voted these down.

In exchange Senate negotiators accepted a slash of more than 400 million in military procurement funds—a reduction the Senate had rejected. The House said this 3 per cent across-the-board cut was needed to improve military contracting and carve out waste.

Clerks worked late computing these reductions in scores of separate items for missiles, aircraft, tanks, ships, submarines and the vast new "Pentagon shopping" lists. They expected to have details ready for filing in the House sometime today.

President Eisenhower had asked a military outlay of about 39 1-3 billion for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The House kept near this total but cut out more than a billion of Pentagon requests and then added an equal sum for its own ideas.

The Senate restored many of the House cuts and approved its own additions to push the amount 1½ billion above the House. The compromise cuts this back about one-half.

The 293 million for the carrier was rejected by the House as was the 244 million for the Bomarc antiaircraft missile, which has had a spotty record in early tests.

The compromise provides full money for the carrier but eliminates 50 million of the Bomarc funds and another 75 million the Senate had added to equip two bases in the pacific northwest.

It also includes 162¼ million to speed up modernization of tanks, guns and other equipment for the Army, about 100 million less than the Senate had approved.

The Senate had voted 285 million extra to hasten development of the 2,000 mile-an-hour B70. The compromise holds this to 190 million on top of 85 million asked by the administration and voted by the House.

The bill also carries authority to transfer or spend extra millions if there is a scientific breakthrough on satellites or missiles, or the President decides to put a full airborne alert into operation.

Castro Threatens U. S. Investments

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro threatened in a towering rage today to seize American investments in Cuba "penny by penny until nothing is left" if the United States cuts its purchases of Cuban sugar.

Castro made this threat to a cheering, post-midnight rally of the giant Sugar Workers Federation held in Artemisa, 60 miles southwest of Havana. It was his 10th major speech in 24 days and the bitterest anti-American diatribe he has yet delivered.

Stung by the bill now before the U.S. Congress to authorize the President to cut the U.S. quota of Cuban sugar at will, Castro shouted that for every pound of sugar removed from the quota, his regime would take over an American-owned sugar mill.

U.S. interests own 36 sugar mills in Cuba, but Castro made clear his threats extended to all other American interests in Cuba, valued at more than a half billion dollars.

"We'll take and take until not even the nails of their soles are left," he told his cheering audience.

The bearded Prime Minister denounced the new U.S. sugar bill—which was unanimously approved by the House Agriculture Committee Monday—as "stupid and criminal" and called the U.S. government decadent. He repeatedly referred to Americans as "gringos."

Castro indicated his government might turn sugar land to other uses if it cannot sell sugar to the United States at the premium price it now gets under the sugar quota act.

"If sugar cane is left over," he said, "we will devote that land to other purposes, to grains, vegetables and other products."

Finish Drive Is Scrapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders gave up the idea today that Congress could wind up its work for the year before the national political conventions. They said it couldn't be done, and Congress would have to return to session after the conventions.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who hopes to win his party's presidential nomination, told the Senate he would propose a recess beginning Friday or Saturday and a return to session on Aug. 8.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) had already announced on his side of the Capitol a leadership decision that the work load required a postconventions session.

A recess this weekend will give the Senate's Democratic presidential hopefuls — Johnson and Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri — freedom to intensify their hunt for support among the delegates to the party conclave opening July 11 in Los Angeles.

The Republican convention meets July 25 in Chicago.

Here is the current situation on some major legislative matters:

1. The House Rules Committee, bowing to pressure from Democratic leaders, Tuesday turned loose a bill to raise the minimum hourly wage from $1 to $1.25 over three years and extend coverage to 3½ million more workers. With it went a substitute bill with a $1.15 minimum wage, and a more limited extension of coverage, to 1,400,000 workers. The House may vote Thursday.

TEMPORARY HALT OF TRAFFIC DUE

Thirty-seventh Street will be closed to traffic between Avenue M and Avenue S (Big Spring Highway) from about 4 p.m. today until sometime Thursday morning.

City Engineer Bill Kinzey said temporary closing of the street was necessary for the city to complete relocation of water lines in preparation for work to be done by the Texas Highway Department.

2. The same Rules Committee by a 6-6 vote refused to clear a $1,365,000,000 housing bill pushed by Democratic leaders. That just about killed chances for its passage before the conventions. Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), chairman of the Housing subcommittee, said, "There will be a housing bill. There has to be. August will be time enough."

3. A Senate-House conference committee Tuesday night agreed on a compromise defense money bill providing just under 40 billion dollars and including most of the administration's requests. It probably will come up in the House for expected approval Friday.

4. As expected, the Senate passed and sent to the President the annual tax extension bill. It temporarily increases the federal debt limit and extends four billion dollars in federal taxes for another year.

5. The Senate shelved—by sending it back to committee—a bill to rewrite the player-draft rules of organized baseball and to provide limited exemption from anti-trust laws for baseball and three other professional team sports.

Several key bills which Democratic leaders consider politically necessary this session remain tied up in the House Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.). It is dominated by a Republican - Southern Democratic conservative bloc.

In addition to the housing bill, the Rules Committee is sitting on federal school aid legislation and may be in a position to tie up federal health care for the aged.

Both the Senate and the House have passed education aid bills, but a conference committee must adjust differences before the legislation can be passed finally. The Rules Committee won't let it go to the conference.

The Senate Finance Committee is holding hearings today and Thursday on a bill to provide medical care for aged persons, considered a top election year issue.

A limited medical bill has been passed by the House but will almost certainly be broadened by Senate amendments. That means it would go back to the House Rules Committee, which could stymie it.

The Senate still must act on three major annual money bills. They provide funds for the State and Justice departments, foreign aid and public works.

Senate leaders, still hoping for adjournment, passed the word to the Appropriations Committee to try to clear them for Senate action today and Thursday.

Sun Invades Flood Areas

By The Associated Press

A bright sun shone Wednesday on flooded areas on the Texas Coast. But high water still caused trouble.

A new trouble spot developed in north Harris County near Houston. This was in the Lakeside Country Club area. A county crew was dispatched to shore up a sagging levee on Buffalo Bayou in that section.

Floyd Engineer Floyd Jensen said he expects the waters to abate within 48 hours.

High water is expected to cover up to 20,000 lowland acres Thursday around Victoria from the Guadalupe River.

But authorities said the river poses no threat to Victoria.

Brownsboro Makes Plans To Elect A New School Board

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) —Feuding and fighting Brownsboro today began laying plans to elect a full slate of school trustees in hopes that the special election won't rip open the town and cause blood to flow once more.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, state education commissioner, announced early Tuesday night that the board had agreed to resign en masse along with Homer Bass, ousted by the board as school superintendent.

He said a conference will be called later to agree on procedures, and a date for the election. Billy Stokes, who had been vice president of the board, said he did not believe any trustees would run for reelection and that the campaign for seats would not cause more trouble in the strife-torn area about 16 miles from Tyler.

Edgar said he made the resignation suggestion "to promote harmony and in the best interests" of the district. The district already is under fire from the education agency on several shortcomings in its school program which might cost Brownsboro accreditation.

Texas Rangers strolled the streets of Brownsboro 10 days ago after a violent school board meeting left one man dead and six injured. The outbreak climaxed a school feud simmering for more than a decade between the pro-Bass forces and the anti-Bass forces. Bass had been superintendent 23 years before the anti-Bass segment of the district took control of the board in April.

Bass along with more than half of the Negro school teachers were fired. This action was cited earlier by Edgar as another reason the school might lose its accreditation which comes up for review next month. Several white teachers resigned in protest.

Bass had brought his appeal to Edgar and in actuality he lost his appeal but brought down the board which had fired him.

Stokes said there were some stipulations agreed upon between Bass and the school board in a closed-door huddle with Edgar which were not included in Edgar's short statement. He would not go into details.

"We got the head man we were after," Stokes said.

Stokes was called as a witness Tuesday and Edgar asked him if he knew of any occasion in which Bass refused to carry out an order the board had asked him. The witness replied he hadn't.

At another time late in the two days of testimony, Edgar remarked, "I have never seen anything yet introduced where the board instructed Mr. Bass to do something and he didn't." One charge against Bass was in subordination.

Testimony was offered by two witnesses which clashed with earlier statements by Bass. Mrs. Faye Foster, home making teacher, said she once was handed a piece of paper by Bass with the names of the school trustees she and her family were to vote for. She claimed "he said there was no place on the faculty for someone who wouldn't uphold the school."

She did not produce the paper and could not recall the approximate time of the election. Bass had said he had never instructed the teachers how to vote.

The school custodian, Marvin Sessions, said he had suggested to Bass that the boys' restrooms at the high school be replastered and painted.

"Mr. Bass told me it wouldn't make any difference or they (the state inspection team on accreditation) wouldn't pay any attention to it anyway," he said. Bass previously had denied ever discussing the matter with Sessions.

Abilene Man Buys Ranching Interests

SAN ANGELO (AP) — John Matthews of Abilene has bought the Kickapoo Springs Ranch southeast of here in Tom Green and Concho counties for $50 per acre.

The seller was J. E. Henderson, Concho County ranchman and administrator for the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson of San Angelo.

The ranch of 19,288 acres has a showplace house which cost more than $200,000. Matthews gets possession of the ranch next fall. No livestock was in the deal.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson died in August in an auto accident between Eagle Pass and Brackettville.

Bus Strike Goes Into Second Day

NEW YORK (AP)—A king-size wildcat bus strike dragged into a second day today but caused little trouble for New Yorkers long hardened to inconveniences as a part of everyday life.

The hundreds of thousands who normally use the struck bus lines shifted to subways and other transit facilities. Some even hoofed it to work.

The striking bus drivers, who defied union leaders both in launching and continuing their walkout, showed no signs of giving up. In fact, they strengthened the tieup by putting picket lines around garages of their employer—the city's largest private bus company.

This halted a number of drivers, who previously had ignored the strike, from taking out buses.

The demonstration knocking out service for an estimated half-million riders was first expected to be a one-day protest.

But efforts to end the walkout against the 21 lines of the Fifth Avenue Coach Co. ran into deep deadlock Tuesday night. Drivers and mechanics planned renewed demonstrations at company garages and City Hall.

Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, predicted the drivers might not go back to work at least until after the long Fourth of July weekend.

"After they lose a little money and find they're fed by crackpots and bird-brains," he snapped.

To a striker's ultimatum that they would return only if two of their suspended leaders were reinstated Quill snorted: "Then they can stay out until after the 1964 World's Fair."

A prolonged stoppage would make things uncomfortable mostly in Manhattan but it wouldn't cripple the city by any means.

Some riders took the strike in stride and strode to their jobs. Others latched on to cabs, went underground for subways or switched to city-owned buses.

On a normal work day, more than 3,200,000 passengers are carried by the 30-odd lines in the city operated by private companies.

Behind the walkout idling the company's 1,400 drivers and mechanics is opposition to the conversion next month of Lexington and Third Avenues into one-way routes, as part of a city program to make most of Manhattan's north and south avenues one-way.

The drivers contend the latest change would mean schedule cuts, with 77 drivers laid off or moved to lower-paying jobs.

Quill called the walkout "completely unauthorized and unnecessary" and suspended two of the leaders, Peter Blumenthal and Harold Newcomp, from their local union posts.

About 300 strikers rode in city-owned buses to demonstrate at City Hall. Mayor Robert F. Wagner said he had no intention of intervening in the dispute.

Damage Suit Is Settled

A personal damage suit, Comer Collins, et ux, of Dallas vs Cage Brothers of San Antonio, was settled out of court during the noon recess of 132nd District Court Tuesday, with the plaintiffs agreeing to a settlement of $25,000 for injuries suffered in an automobile accident in Snyder in December of 1958. They had asked $100,000.

The jury which had been hearing the case was composed of D.D. Smith, L. C. Bryson, O. L. Richardson, I. A. Berry, M. A. Davis, O. C. Hess, O. W. Holliday, R. C. Popnoe, Noel Banks, Houston Cotten, J. G. Galyean and Pat Johnston.

Joe Spurlock of the firm of Spurlock, Schattman, Jacobs, and Cave of Fort Worth represented the Collinses while Marvin Sprain of McMahon, Smart, Sprain, Wilson and Camp of Abilene represented the San Antonio firm.

Speakership Fight Endures

AUSTIN (AP)—The battle for the speakership of the House in the 57th Legislature roared on today.

Rep. C. W. Pearcy of Temple said he is supporting Rep. James Turman of Gober for the post and denied that the contest is a conservative-liberal battle.

Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah, announcing support Sunday for Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, said Spilman is the conservative candidate and that the battle is an "out and out struggle between liberals and conservatives" for House control in the Legislature meeting in January.

"It is no more correct to say that a speaker's race is a conservative-liberal battle than it is to say that the race is an integration-segregation battle, or a pro-sales tax anti-sales tax battle, or a North and East Texas versus South and West Texas battle," Pearcy asserted.

Barbecue Grill Can Provide Summer Fun

There's no doubt about it. Outdoor living is easy living.

Nothing is so relaxing as lolling around in the back-yard in casual clothes, perhaps working a bit in the garden or grilling steaks or hamburgers for the family on an outdoor barbecue brazier.

And, according to home economists at a major producer of outdoor grills, living and eating outdoors is a popular pastime too. Four out of five families regularly will eat at least some of their meals outdoors this summer, they have learned. These families will use their outdoor grills not only in the backyard but also on picnics, at the beach, and on vacations. The aroma of steaks, chops, hamburgers and frankfurters being cooked over open fires soon should be evident from coast to coast.

The thing most homemakers like about cooking on an outdoor grill is the simplicity of menus. Elaborate or exotic meals aren't necessary to spur sagging appetites in hot weather. One look at tasty food being prepared on a "Charky" grill starts mouths watering.

Also, cooking over a charcoal grill is an excellent means of relaxation for the tired homemaker. Instead of facing the depressing prospect of having to cook indoors over a hot stove, she can move her kitchen into the shady yard and take advantage of every cool breeze. Cleaning up after a meal is a lot simpler, too, when it's done outdoors.

So use your "patio" more often this summer. You'll find it makes the season a lot more enjoyable.

Take Heater On Vacation In Cool Area

If you're planning a vacation in the mountains or the north country here's a bit of advice. Take along a portable electric heater. It may mean the difference between fun and discomfiture.

Vacation areas in these locales are noted for their crisp, cold nights this time of the year. While many may advertise that heated accommodations are available, the heating systems referred to aren't always the most efficient.

That's when a portable electric heater comes in handy. Just plug it into a wall outlet, and within minutes, the temperature in your cabin or cottage will have climbed into the comfort zone.

Experts at a major producer of such heaters recommend units equipped with fans. A fan-equipped heater will distribute warm air throughout a room much faster than one that operates only by radiation. Also, the warm air flow can be directed through doorways, enabling the vacationer to warm two or more rooms at the same time.

So, for ultimate pleasure on your early northern or mountain vacation keep chills away by taking along an electric heater.

New Surface Ends Ironing Pad Slipping

Easing the homemaker's ironing work load long has been one of the principle goals of housewares manufacturers. Especially during the past decade, they have made excellent progress in accomplishing this. Each year seems to bring a new achievement.

The latest is one of the most simple, yet most needed developments. It's a "Lock-Top" finish on tables. This finish assures that the pad and cover will be held tightly to the table instead of slipping around while the homemaker irons.

The material that is used on these tables leaves a textured surface, giving the pad something to "grab" rather than a slick surface found on most ironing tables. Value of this feature is found in a recent survey in which homemakers said one of their chief complaints against ironing was the slipping of the pad, especially when larger items were being ironed.

Mrs. Chorn Hostess To B&PW Club

The Business and Professional Woman's Club met Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Donnie Chorn on Roby Highway.

Thirteen members and four guests, Elsie Whitacre, of Canton, Ohio, Midlred Sparks, Rubi Lee Brown, and Mary Jane Parker.

Programs were assigned by months, international relations September; public affairs, January; legislation, October; Carrier advancement, February; National Security, April; health and safety, March; membership, November; program coordination and yearbook, also finance and bulletin, December, and public relations, May.

The next meeting will be held in July with Miss Ethel Roberts of Sweetwater as hostess.

Excerpts from the throught of the meeting were:

Man must work. This is as certain as the sun. But, he may work grudgingly or he may work gratefully; he may work as a man or he may work as a machine. There is no work so crude that he may not exalt it; no work so impassive that he may not breathe a soul into it; no work so dull that he may not enliven it.

Good will is one asset competition can never steal from you. The greatest wealth in contentment with little. Finding a way to live the simple life today is a most complicated task. In property our friends know us; in adversity, we know our friends. Whether life grinds you down or polishes you up depend on the stuff you are made of. Don't be a carbon copy of someone else. He who is not ready today will be less so tomorrow. Happiness is to be found along the way, not at the end of the road, for then the journey is over.

Women who seek improvement are the women who advance.

Clock-Radio Can Be Used In Any Room

A clock-radio can be one of the handiest "appliances" in the home.

For years they have been used mainly in bedrooms, either as gentle alarm clocks that awaken a person to music or lull him to sleep, playing softly for a time and then turning off automatically.

New designs, however, have brought clock-radios into every room of the home. Handsomely styled and available in almost any color, they now fit into all decorative schemes.

Homemaking experts at one of the major producers of clock-radios, suggest that the homemaker have one in her kitchen where it will turn on a favorite radio program automatically, even if she's so busy she doesn't notice the time.

In a nursery, such a radio helps lull a child to sleep, then turns off so as not to disturb or awaken him prematurely.

Because of their exceptional styling, several of the newer sets also are ideally suited for mantel pieces, taking the place of the old pendulum clocks that traditionally pung in every living room.

Stuffing

Combine 1½ cups cooked rice with ¼ cup minced scallion, 1½ teaspoons salt, ¼ cup cooked pork sausage and ¼ cup chopped stuffed olives. Spoon the stuffing into a 3-pound chicken, truss the bird well and insert the spit. Home economists suggest using your oven for perfect roasting. Heat the temperature control to 375 degrees and roast 45 to 60 minutes, basting occasionally with barbecue sauce.

THE CASE OF HUMANITY VS. INHUMANITY

Modern Fashion Season Not Realistic To Country Girl

By INEZ ROBB

You can take the girl out of the country, etc., etc., etc.

Though I have lived more than half my life in New York City, I simply cannot remember or reconcile myself to the fashion fiat that by July 1 I shall have ordered all my winter wardrobe for the snows so far, far off, so unthinkable in the heat and humidity of early Summer, that I cannot even imagine them.

Nor can I, huddled in my winter woolies, goad myself to order my spring and summer wardrobe by January 15, a date when it seems highly unlikely that warm weather has ever been or will ever be again.

Right now, right this minute, as I turn the air-conditioner up a notch, is the moment when I am inspired to go out and shop for that extra cotton dress. And right now is the time when the saleslady, irritated by my disregard of the fashion calendar, looks down her nose at me says:

"Really, Modom. It is so late in the season I doubt that we have anything left."

My quest, the last few days, has been for a good cotton evening dress something that would look crisp and fresh under the kliegs at Democratic and Republican conventions and make my confreres believe there's life in the old girl yet.

The buying habits of my childhood and of Caldwell, Idaho, cling to me. I still feel that the time to acquire a pretty new summer dress and a pair of white pumps, particularly the pumps, is just before the Fourth of July.

The white pumps of yesteryear always did until the Fourth. But a new pair was mandatory for that Great Day. New white pumps went with the parade, the oratory, the picnic-in-the-park, the potato salad, the deviled eggs, the fried chicken, the chocolate cake and the homemade ice cream.

They went with the municipal fireworks, too. Caldwell is more than twice as large now as it was on the liveliest Fourth in its history, when one of the city councilmen accidently dropped his lighted cigar in the fireworks, stacked behind the bandstand.

Fireworks went off in every direction. Mama, in her new white pumps, grabbed up a little boy she thought was her only son, Stephen, and set a new track record for the quarter-mile. When she stopped, she discovered she had saved a child she had never seen before. Fortunately, pap saved Stephen. Cathryn and I were old enough to shift for ourselves, new white shoes and all.

I don't say we wouldn't have made better time in the old pumps but a municipality accustomed to new white shoes for the Fourth still was agile enough to get out of harm's way without a single injury or fatality.

When I was a child, the Fourth of July was a marvelous holiday, every bit on a par with Thanksgiving and only slightly less dazzling than Christmas. Christmas was a private holiday. The Fourth was a public one. That was one of the chief differences. And on the Fourth there was always An Orator.

The one I remember best was Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce. Bless me if I can recall a word he said! But for his appearance, Caldwell imported an electronic marvel, the first public address system I ever heard or saw. I can still see those squawk boxes hanging in the trees.

My, what a long way round to say that I am about to brace myself and start shopping for a pair of new white pumps for the Fourth. I am prepared to have the salesman say, with annoyance, "Modom this late in the season, there isn't a pair left in your size."

But I can dream.

Time-Killing Is Problem Of Employes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the greatest problems in the modern business office today is how to kill time successfully.

The average employe, after he learns his job well, probably spends two hours a day working—and six hours pretending he is working. Some observers insist that first figure may be a bit high.

It may seem easy to loaf six hours a day at a desk, but it isn't. The ability to do so is a talent that separates the artist from the amateur.

Here are a few standard types you are almost sure to find in any office:

The bold deceiver—He lays his head down on the desk, covers it with papers and promptly falls asleep. Anyone passing by thinks he is merely looking for something. His biggest danger: He may start snoring.

The rumormonger — He goes from desk to desk, pretending to hold conferences, while he whispers the latest gossip: "Did you hear they carried the boss blotto out of the country club again?"

The administrative vacuum — Pressure from below has forced this human zero higher and higher in the organization, as each department finds him incapable of handling any job. Now he's a time study man who wastes his own time trying to find out how everybody else is wasting time.

The homing pigeon—At least 37 times a day he phones his wife to find out what she's going to have for dinner, how the crab grass is doing, and the baby's latest cute remark. If his home phone is busy, he calls a neighbor and asks if she'll run over and be sure his house hasn't caught fire.

The savvy statistician — From outward appearances he is studiously bent over figures in a company ledger. But inside the ledger are three racing forms.

Rockefeller Still Applying Needle

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, once a likely prospect for the Republican presidential nomination, may wind up as his party's political untouchable of 1960.

At a time when Republicans ache for election year unity he has been sticking harpoons in the Eisenhower administration and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

This has delighted the Democrats and angered the Republicans who denounced him and rallied behind President Eisenhower and Nixon. But a Republican cold-shoulder hasn't chilled him. He is used to it.

Rockefeller keeps on criticizing. Why? A couple of possible reasons come to mind:

1. He is saying what he thinks because he thinks it needs to be said.

2. He is trying to force Nixon and his party to accept some of his ideas or face loss of his support in the upcoming campaign.

Last Dec. 26 Rockefeller dropped out of the race against Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination. His reason: the Republican leaders around the country had cold-shouldered him.

Later, he said he would accept a draft. But the more he criticizes his own party's leadership, the further away a draft becomes. Nixon as of now is a cinch for the nomination.

Rockefeller says he wouldn't accept the vice presidential spot on the ticket. Yet, if Nixon hopes to win against his Democratic opponent next November, carrying New York seems vital for him.

If Rockefeller's ideas are ignored and he sits on his hands during the campaign, it will be grief for Nixon.

Earlier this month Rockefeller needled Nixon with the charge that he wasn't taking a stand on the issues and that it was about time he did.

He got his come-uppance in a hurry for this one. A Republican congressman, Alvin M. Bentley of Michigan, accused Rockefeller of "political trickery."

Tuesday at the governors' conference in Montana Rockefeller tore into the Eisenhower defense program—and not for the first time—with the complaint it has produced a "paradox of peril."

David Smith In One-Hit Farm Chore

Sparking the Farm League play of last night was a masterful one-hit pitching chore by the Braves' David Smith, somewhat of a rarity in the bat-conscious Farm ranks.

Smith walked only two and struck out 15 of his Cardinal opponents in posting the easy 9-1 victory, a second frame triple by Card catcher George Norris being the only hit as registered by that team.

Keith Krop laced out a double for the only extra base blow as racked up by the winning Braves, while teammates Mark Bray, John Schiebel, and Smith each singled twice to pace the seven-hit assault on a trio of Card chunkers.

Larrel Pitts absorbed the loss for the Cards.

The Giants retained their pad at the top of the league standings by out-distancing the Cubs, 13-10 in other action of the night.

Jeff Brown was the winner in that one, as he gave up a total of 15 hits in going the distance. Mike Kenner was dubbed the loser. Randy Barrett and Troy Pinkerton each blasted triples for the winners, while Billy Weaver and Randy Owen contributed doubles to the cause. Brown also aided his mound effort by slapping out four singles in as many trips.

Bobby Joe Birdwell led the Cub batting attack with a pair of doubles. Bob Ray and Greg Nance also pounded out couple-baggers for the Cubs.

Yanks Upend Sox; Dodgers Victors

The race tightened up in the Teenage Continental League the evening past as the Yankees pulled into a tie for the top spot by downing the previous leaders, the Red Sox, by 11-4.

Bennie Greenfield, the Yank southpaw mound ace, once again came through to carve out the victory, as he held the Sox to three hits for the night, two of which were singles by Bubba Fleming. In addition, he struck out one and walked only one over the span of the contest.

In the meantime, the Yanks nibbled on the offerings of Mike Moffett and Fleming for six singles, with second baseman Eddie Phy making the most stick noise with his two-for-three effort.

The Yanks held only a paper-thin 5-4 edge going into what proved to be the final inning of play, but brought six runners home safely at that time to put the game on ice.

Texas League action of the same night saw the Dodgers continuing to remain hot on the trail of the league leading Buffs by easing past the Braves, 7-3, behind the six-hit chunking of Gerald Bullard.

Bullard shifted two and walked seven in going the distance, while his mates got to Jimmy Wilson and Blake Roberts for only a single base blow—a two-run triple by Dalton Walton in the first inning at the expense of Wilson. He issued 14 bases on balls over the course of the contest, however, which spelled the difference.

Jay Williamson led the Brave batsmen with two singles in as many trips.

The line scores:

Red Sox	112 00— 4
Yankees	100 46—11
Braves	000 011 1—3
Dodgers	211 201 x—7

SPORTS

Nats Catching Fire

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Senators, winning when they should be dead, suddenly are sixth-place spoilers in the American League penant race with their longest success streak of the season.

Their two aces, Camilio Pascual and Pedro Ramos, are nursing injuries, putting the pressure on second liners and relievers, and slugger Harmon Killebrew still is hobbled. But they've won five straight.

After knocking Baltimore out of first place with a 5-2, 10-inning decision Monday night, the Senators stayed at it with a 2-1, 14-inning victory over Chicago's fourth-place White Sox Tuesday night. Ray Moore and Chuck Stobbs, who won it, gave Washington's relief corps a string of 7 2-3 shutout innings in the streak.

The New York Yankees padded their lead to a half game with a 5-3 victory over the Kansas City A's while Cleveland handed Baltimore a second straight loss, 7-2 in 11 innings on Johnny Temple's home run. Detroit belted Boston 10-1.

In the National League, first-place Pittsburgh and San Francisco battled to a 7-7 tie in a rain-interrupted game that was ended after nine innings by curfew. Second-place Milwaukee trimmed the Pirates' lead to 2½ games by beating the Chicago Cubs 5-3. Cincinnati regained fourth place from St. Louis, walloping the Cardinals 10-4. Philadelphia beat Los Angeles 2-0 as Dallas Green won his first in the majors with a three-hitter.

The Senators, who have won 11 of 26 one-run decisions in their 64 games, got this one without a hit in the 14th inning. They beat reliever Turk Lown (1-1) on Julio Becquer's sacrifice fly after three walks loaded the bases.

A three-run eighth, cracking a 2-2 tie, gave the Yankees their 16th victory in the last 20 decisions as Bob Turley (5-1) won his fifth straight. Bob Cerv, batting for Turley, broke the tie with a checked-swing double off southpaw Bud Daley (10-4), who now has lost two straight after nine consecutive victories. Mickey Mantle hit his 17th home run for the Yanks and Norm Siebern his ninth for the A's.

Temple's second home run of the season hung the loss on reliever Gordon Jones (1-1) as the Orioles dropped their fourth straight at home. Johnny Klippstein (2-3) won it in relief, checking the Birds without a hit for three innings after Al Pilarcik's two-run homer off starter Gary Bell tied it with none out in the ninth.

The Tigers, after losing three straight, swung for 15 hits at Boston against loser Ike Delock (1-3) and five relievers. Norm Cash homered in a four-run second that put it away.

WIMBLEDON WOES

US Net Stock Plummets

By JOHN GALE

WIMBLEDON (AP)—It was almost as if a cry for help had gone up from Wimbledon's ivy-covered center court.

Chubby Darlene Hard had crashed in the singles and U.S. tennis prestige had slumped to an all-time low.

The 25,000-strong crowd left the ground asking where are the great Americans of yesterday? Where indeed?

Well, one was on the sidelines.

Hustling Miss Hard through a forest of sympathetic well wishers, Althea Gibson turned aside to drop a hint that Uncle Sam will be back with murder in his heart next year.

"If the Wimbledon championship is thrown open to professionals," said the two-times holder of the women's title, "I shall certainly consider competing myself."

How did the 32-year-old Miss Gibson figure she'd have done this year?

"I think I'd have won," said tactiturn New Yorker.

As a good newspaperwoman, Miss Gibson was doubtless reserving her view on the American showing for her London newspaper column.

On this year's form, it seems she would have little trouble in wresting back her title. The impeccable Maria Bueno and the unpredictable Christine Truman could be the only conceivable threats.

But there is speculation here that America's anguish on the center of the court will be heard by other ghosts of the past. Both Little M. Connolly and the great Doris Hart have indicated a hankering to come back.

Many consider it will take such a resurrection to put battered Uncle Sam out in front again. This is the first time in contemporary memory that no American has been involved in one or other of the singles semi-finals.

Miss Hard from Montebello, Calif., cracked into consecutive double faults in the final set and was well beaten, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1 by South Africa's graceful Sandra Reynolds Tuesday.

Snub-nosed Karen Hantze, another Californian, was overpowered by Miss Truman, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 and is still some way short of the experience to upset a world class player.

There is hardly more hope for American prospects in the men's division although Earl Buchholz, the 19-year-old thin man from St. Louis, Mo., was surely cut out of these championships by bad luck alone.

DEATH KNELL OR WAR DRUMS?

CL Dealt Severe Blow By Senate

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Has the death knell sounded for the Continental League?

Or is an all-out baseball war in the making?

President Branch Rickey and Bill Shea, founding father of the Continental League, were mapping their plans today in the face of the most discouraging blow to hit the new league yet.

The Senate Tuesday night killed a bill to open major league rosters to an unrestricted draft. This was the key to the success of the Continental League, which had hoped to start operations next year.

"It was a bad blow," admitted Shea. "But we still haven't given up. We've go to consider our plans a little longer before we decide what course to follow."

The bill would have made players owned by the major leagues subject to unrestricted draft once a year except for 40 on each club's roster. It would apply to players with four years' service in the minors.

Rickey and Shea were confident the bill would be passed. It was debated more than a month and considerable acrimony developed between he Continental bigwigs and major league brass during the long hours of testimony.

Six weeks ago, Shea admitted that the Continental League had only two choices if the bill failed to go through—declare war or quit.

At that time he said: "The bill is the only hope the Continental League has of getting players and going into business. The majors have been fighting us with the strongest weapon they have—delay. Time is the thing that is hitting us in every direction."

Even if the Continental League—which still doesn't have a player under contract—managed to jam the bill through in Washington another big stumbling block appeared no closer to settlement than when negotiations first started.

That was the issue of indemnity for the cities that were taken over. In the International League, it was to be Buffalo and Toronto. The IL demanded $750,000 each and the Continental League offered $60,000.

The top brass in the majors was pleased with the death of the bill.

"It was a bad piece of legislation," said Commissioner Ford Frick. "It would have hurt the Continental League as well as the National and American leagues."

Said National League President Warren Giles: "Naturally, I am pleased that the bill in the form it was presented was not passed."

Observed American League President Joe Cronin: "We certainly are gratified at the support of the senators who voted to kill the bill."

Cards Dealt First Loss By Cubs, 5-3

The shroud of invincibility which had cloaked the Little League Cardinals was shattered here last night. The cellar-dwelling Cubs turned the trick, 5-3, with first sacker Roy Rogers tabbing himself as the hero of the evening.

Trailing by 0-2 going into the bottom of the third, Cub Lynn Cooper managed to work Card hurler Roy Hunter for a base on balls, after which Robert Jones advanced him and got on himself by grace of a bobble afield. Rogers followed up by blasting a home run to successfully clean the bases and bring on the first blemish on the Cardinal record to date, as that team had previously won all 12 of their contests up until then.

A fifth frame single by Jones, a walk to David Cadena, and another costly Card miscue allowed the final two runs to scamper across with the eventual clinching markers.

The Cardinal sticks were far from dormant, as they collected six base knocks of their own, including bases-empty back-to-back homers in the second by David Bentley and Roy Kizer. Also, Jerry Wooldridge doubled in the sixth to platter John Salmon with the final Card run of the game. But all to no avail, as the Cubs were not to be denied.

Delbert Foree went the first four innings for the winners and received credit for the victory. Cadena relieved him and finished out the game, however.

Roy Hunter, Ray Kizer, and Kenneth Dieke shared mound duties for the Cardinals, allowing only three hits between them, with Hunter being tagged with the loss.

Sox Slap Redskins

In another headliner, the White Sox took the measure of the Indians by 10-5 to put themselves into a tie for the league lead with the heretofore leading Indians.

Buddy Powell went the route, spacing nine base knocks, and was credited with the victory. Powers Boothe represented his chief nemesis, as he pounded out a two-run four-bagger in the first inning. Barry Weaver collected the only other extra base blow off Powell, a fourth inning double.

Britt Paty led the seven hit barrage for the Sox as he drove in three runs with a home run and a double. Marvin Mayfield also manufactured considerable stick static with his two doubles in three appearances.

Raymon Valadez took the loss for the Indians.

The line scores:

Cardinals	000 001— 3
Cubs	003 02x— 5
Indians	500 000—5
White Sox	103 06x—10

Thunderstorms Lash Wide Midwest Area

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms, striking with hurricane-like ferocity, pounded the Midwest Tuesday night and today and carved a wide path of destruction across parts of five states.

Southeastern Iowa alone counted its damage in millions of dollars.

The storms broke out first in Minnesota, ranged into Iowa, Illinois and Missouri and roared over the Ohio River into Kentucky before dawn.

They left one person dead and numerous others nursing injuries.

Winds clocked up to 125 miles an hour buffeted Ottumwa, Iowa, and uprooted trees, smashed buildings and caused minor injuries. Hail and heavy rain lashed the city of 35,000—1.32 inches fell in half an hour.

Also hard hit were the southeastern Iowa communities of Oskaloosa, Fairfield and Keokuk.

The storm picked up trees and heaved them against homes, buildings and cars. Hail up to three inches in diameter pulverized field crops. It shattered skylights, greenhouses and neon signs at Boone, Iowa.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour ripped into Quincy, Ill., on the Mississippi River. Falling trees knocked out power and telephone service and left most of the city of 42,000 without electricity.

Heavy rains flooded streets and slowed cleanup work in the west central Illinois community. The rains produced a landslide on Highway 96 between Nauvoo and Hamilton near the Mississippi.

Edna Gnuse, was killed when a portion of the apartment building where she lived in Quincy was caved in by the winds.

The city of Macomb, also in west central Illinois, was hit by winds in excess of 90 miles an hour. Considerable tree and utility damage was reported.

The northeastern Missouri communities of Louisiana, Clarksville, Kahoka, Canton and Lewiston were raked by winds and rain. Considerable damage to trees and interruptions in power service were reported.

Strong winds drove the storm into Kentucky after midnight and delivered a damaging blow at Henderson. Some buildings were unroofed and numerous trees were toppled.

The early morning thunderstorms ranged throughout the middle Mississippi Valley, the lower Great Lakes and the eastern Ohio Valley.

Temperatures were on the muggy side from the central plains into the Southeast. Readings in the 70s and 80s were common. The 50s and 60s were reported along the northern border.

Ike, Thai King Exchange Toasts

By SPENCER DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—What do heads of state talk about when they meet on ceremonial occasions?

Sometimes it's such simple things as noodles and ice cream, grandchildren and painting. President Eisenhower said Tuesday night in proposing a toast to visiting King Bhumibol of Thailand.

Eisenhower and King Bhumibol exchanged toasts during a formal White House dinner honoring him and Queen Sirikit. Speaking whimsically, Eisenhower remarked that he had seen speculation in newspapers as to what heads of state can possibly talk about when they meet.

People worry about this, he said. But so far as he and the King are concerned, "the main purpose is to find out what each is like."

Finding that the King and Queen have the same family concerns "as each of us brings us closer," Eisenhower said.

Eisenhower then recalled that the King had said on his arrival that "he likes noodle soup. He said so publicly and so I think we have the right to ask him for the recipe."

The President explained that he had four grandchildren "who demand that the old gentleman occasionally get out and take charge of a cookout."

When he can surprise them with a new dish "it's a great triumph," the President confided "and if I can do it without noodle soup, sir, I am going to be very grateful to you."

Bhumibol promised to provide the recipe for the noodle soup for the President's grandchildren and asked the President to make ice cream or provide a recipe for his own children. His children remained in Los Angeles while he tours the country.

Machinists Reject Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Striking Lockheed machinists rejected a company settlement proposal today by a 93 per cent negative vote.

Jack Burns, an international representative of the International Ass'n. of Machinists, AFL-CIO, said the overwhelming rejection came from 8,500 machinists at Lockheed operations in Sunnyvale, Santa Cruz, Van Nuys and Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Burns said the union and the company would resume negotiations Thursday morning.

"We're still miles apart on nine or ten issues," Burns said.

The machinists, with an average wage of $2.65 an hour, have been asking a 7 per cent increase this year. The latest company offer reported was for 4 per cent this year, 3 per cent next year and a cost of living increase clause.

Today was the 16th day of the strike but Lockheed says essential work has continued on all programs including the Polaris missile and Arrow airplane.

Risk Firm Faces Suit

DALLAS (AP) — The National Bankers Life Insurance Company was sued yesterday by two brothers who said they paid high insurance premiums in return for a share of the firm's dividends.

Court observers said the suit could eventually affect thousands of persons who hold similar policies with Texas companies.

The suit was filed by Atty. G. H. Kelsoe in Judge Paine Bush's 68th District Court for Frank B. Hinckley and Joe C. Hinckley, both of Dallas.

The brothers alleged they bought policies in 1952, with the provision they would receive an annual dividend "not less than the cash dividend" paid stockholders on 25 shares of stock.

They said they duly paid premiums of $1,190.20 annually.

In late 1959 or early 1960 NBLIC directors declared a dividend of $11 per share. Under a stock-split arrangement, the Hinckleys computed they are entitled to $11 per share on 500 shares, or a total of $5,500. They also ask $660 interest and $2,000 attorney's fees.

The insurance company "arbitrarily refused to carry out its obligation," the suit alleges.

Youth Gets Death Penalty

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dennis Whitney, 17, was convicted Tuesday by a jury of 11 men and a woman of first-degree murder. The death sentence is mandatory.

Whitney, a California drifter, admitted seven slayings. He was convicted of shooting to death Arthur Keeler, one of three killings he confessed committing in Florida. He had said earlier he killed four persons in a transcontinental hitchhiking trip.

A Palm Beach County jury earlier had convicted Whitney of first-degree murder in the shooting of Virginia Selby, but made a mercy recommendation of a life sentence instead of sending him to the electric chair.

Blame Slaying On Jealousy

CHICAGO (AP) — Shame and jealousy burst into violence Tuesday night, police said, and resulted in the fatal stabbing of a woman, her male companion and the woman's three young children.

A dishwasher, Raimundo Perez Hernandez, 35, was arrested hours later walking a near North Side street. Police reported he readily admitted the slayings, saying he was ashamed because his former common-law wife left him for another man.

The woman, Maria Gomez Hernandez, 25, was found dead in her apartment of multiple stab wounds. The body of Julio Luyando, 26, lay in a pool of blood in a nearby hallway.

The woman's three children — Rosita Hernandez, 2; Carmen Hernandez, 4; and Emma Gomez, 6—were found dead on a bed in Hernandez' nearby apartment. All were fully clothed and had been stabbed repeatedly.

The death weapon, an 11-inch butcher knife, was found tucked in Hernandez' belt when he was arrested, officers said.

Police said Hernandez came from Puerto Rico six years ago and speaks no English.

No Smoking In The Air

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new law makes it illegal to smoke, eat or drink while in the air.

The law—effective in 30 days—won't affect people in planes or helicopters. It's aimed at a low-flying segment of the airborne population: those who go up via rebound mats.

Rebound centers are a current rage here, and some showoffs have been hurt while trying to eat or drink on the bounce. And cigarettes have been flipped into the darndest places.

The rule was one adopted by the Board of Supervisors in passing an ordinance regulating the commercial rebound centers.

San Antonio Turns Down Bond Issue

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A nine million dollar bond issue to buy right of way for three expressways and an underpass was rejected by San Antonio voters Tuesday 18,758 to 18,427.

The expressways would have carried U.S. Highway 90 along a new route through the West Side connected Kelly Air Force Base with the U.S. 90 expressway and provided a new route from the downtown area to U.S. Highway 281 north of the city.

Teachers Urged To Raise Standards

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The teaching profession must raise its own standards so high that incompetence can never get into a classroom, a prominent educator said today.

Dr. T. M. Stinnett said, "Our goals must be more than just higher salaries and more of this and more of that.

"The profession must do those things which will guarantee that a person who goes into a classroom is a competent teacher, and guarantee that an incompetent person will not be allowed to teach."

Sinnett, executive secretary of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, was interviewed at the annual convention of the National Education Assn.

"It's our job to weed out the incompetents just as the medical profession polices its own field," he said. "And, just as in medicine, higher standards mean fewer incompetents.

"We don't have now the same kind we need. Most states require three years of probationary teaching, but after that it is virtually impossible to get rid of the bad teachers."

Stinnett cited what he called tremendous strides the teaching profession has made since World War II.

"In 1946," he said, "one in every six teachers was sub-standard, or lacked a full certificate. Today it's only one in 13, despite the vastly increased teacher shortage.

"In 1946, only 15 states required that an elementary school teacher have a college degree. Today the number is 46.

"We have come a long way since the war years. We estimate that between 1940 and 1946, more than 600,000 persons drifted in and out of teaching. Today, we have a much more stable profession."

Stinnett predicted that within three or four years accredited colleges and universities will be turning out more than 90 per cent of the new teachers. The accredited schools are those recognized by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Soviets Gain In Automation Field

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) —Western experts say they are flabbergasted by Soviet achievements in automation.

"They will really get way ahead unless we buckle down to work," said one top British authority attending the first International Congress on Automations.

The British visitors said the Soviets had used a "leap frog technique" — skipping intermediate the West had to make — in their development of automatic devices for computation and control systems in industry.

"They sat down to think for five or six years and now the result of this thought is beginning to pay off," said one visitor.

The consensus of Westerners after a tour of the Soviet Institute of Automation and Telemachanics was that it was far ahead of anything in the West, with only the Massachusetts Institute of Technology remotely approaching the standards of the Soviet institute.

"We've been a bit shattered," said one Western delegate. "We never dreamed this level had been reached."

Another told reporters: "If you want a general opinion, just say we are all lost in admiration."

What called forth the panygerics were self-optimizing systems and pneumatic computing instruments, neither of which, the experts said, had been achieved in the West.

The first of these is basicly a self-correcting control system. The Soviets are using it to control temperatures in steel mills and also to keep power in radio transmitters at the most efficient level.

The pneumatic computers have no moving parts and thus are more reliable than the electronic devices used in the West. They also can be safely used in such places as chemical plants where electronic controls would be hazardous.

Rivals Team Up In Belgian Congo

By ALFRED CHEVAL

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Two old rivals for political leadership in the Belgian Congo are teaming up in the top jobs when that big African territory gains independence Thursday.

The premiership goes to Patrice Lumumba, 34, and the presidency to Joseph Kasavubu, 42. They are both firm nationalists but dissimilar in physical appearance and outlook.

Lumumba, shrewd, fiery chief of the National Congolese Movement, won the premiership, the executive post, as chief of a coalition claiming 84 votes in the new 137-seat House of Representatives.

Kasavubu, whose Abako party holds 12 seats, accepted the figurehead presidency after it was proved he couldn't become premier.

Here are profiles of the two men:

Lumumba is a slim, goateed member of the Batetela tribes, widely spread throughout the Congo, which were described by an early Belgian explorer as "renowned for their bravery, tall and handsome." He wears glasses with thick lenses.

His European-style wardrobe is reputedly the best among those of African leaders. He favors charcoal gray suits and likes bow ties. He is married and has three children. He lives at an old two-story colonial home of brick and stone in Leopoldville, the capital.

Like many African leaders, Lumumba found jails were way stations on his way to prominence.

A $100-a-month clerk for 11 years at the post office of Stanleyville, on the Congo River just below Stanley Falls, he was sentenced in 1956 to two years imprisonment for embezzlement. Emerging, he worked briefly for a brewery, then quit to devote himself fully to politics.

Late last year he was jailed briefly by a Stanleyville court for causing riots during an NCM congress.

Lumumba is often unpredictable.

A few years ago, he appeared with a gang of demonstrators brandishing signs reading: "Down with the minister of colonies, down with the general governor. The Congo, of the Bula Matari (the white chief) is dead."

Now he asks Africans to respect white persons and properties and promises friendship to Belgium and the Belgians.

Kasavubu is short, bulky and so quiet he has a reputation as a mystery man.

He is married and has seven children.

Born in 1917 in the lower Congo area of Mayumbe, not far from the Congo River's mouth on the Atlantic, Kasavubu is a descendant of Chinese coolies imported to build the Matadi-Leopoldville Railway in the late 1880s.

He studied for the Roman Catholic priesthood near Luluabourg in Kasai Province, but soon decided the white cotton robes of the African clergy were not for him.

He got a job in 1942 as a clerk in the Leopoldville government offices, then created he Abako Cultural Movement of lower Congo Africans which became the first important Congolese political party.

Kasavubu was the first African

Family Gets Kelly Estate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The late John B. Kelly, Philadelphia millionaire and father of Princess Grace of Monaco, told his family in his will he would give them character instead of money if he had the choice.

"The reason I say that is, with character, you will get worldly goods, because character is loyalty, honesty, ability, sportsmanship, and, I hope, a sense of humor," Kelly said.

The will, written by Kelly himself, leaves most of his estate to his wife, three daughters, and his son.

The estate was estimated at upward of $500,000 for probate purposes. This does not include his ownership of the nation's largest brick contracting firm which bears his name, the Atlantic City Race Track or other corporate holdings.

Kelly, Olympic rowing champion of the 1920s, who died last week of cancer at 70, dictated the will April 14. It was made public Tuesday.

Soviets Get Bid By IATA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seijiro Yanagita, president of the International Air Transport Assn., said today he would be pleased to have the Soviet Union join the world airline organization.

Yanagita, a Tokyo banker who also is president of Japan Air Lines, said IATA has invited Aeroflot, the airline of the U.S.S.R., to join, but the invitation has never been accepted.

"Personally, I would be pleased to sit at the conference table with the directors of Aeroflot," Yanagita said in a talk prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Aviation Writers Assn.

"I think a Russian voice would add much color to our discussions."

The Japanese air leader noted that IATA, which has headquarters in Montreal, does not have a veto procedure, but does require unanimous consent on all actions involving the airline industry.

The first printing press with an iron frame was built by the Earl of Stanhope in 1798.

MOTOR VEHICLE TRAFFIC

1959 DEATH CALENDAR 1959

THE DEADLY TRUTH—About traffic safety in Texas in 1959 was that only one day in the whole year was free of traffic deaths. In 1958, there were five "Deathless Days" in Texas, four in 1957, five in 1956, three in 1955. If more Texans will drive in such a way that their cars are never involved in a crash which takes a human life, then Texas can record more "Deathless Days." Will YOU drive so that the Fourth of July holiday will add a "Deathless Day" to the Texas traffic calendar? Reds Slay 15 Nepalese

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—The Nepal government announced today that Chinese Communist forces killed about 15 Nepalese and arrested 12 Nepalese patrolmen and took them into Communist-occupied Tibet.

The government said the Chinese fired without provocation.

A message received today said the incident occurred on the border last week at Mustang, in a valley of northwest Nepal which projects into Tibet.

Home Minister U. P. Upadhyaya told the lower house of Parliament the government had filed a strong protest with the Peiping government.

It was the first border clash with the Chinese to be announced by the Nepal government. Prime Minister B. P. Koirala has been playing down previous reports of border trouble in an effort to keep Nepal out of the dispute between China and India that developed last summer after the Chinese killed 12 Indian border patrolmen in two clashes.

One report several months ago said Chinese troops had penetrated the Mustang area and had tried to collect taxes from peasants.

Mustang was once a semi-independent feudal holding with only a loose tie to Nepal.

The Nepal government announced Tuesday night it had received a note from Peiping admitting the first time the renewal of rebellion in Tibet. The note said it had been necessary to send troops into the 12½-mile zone along the Tibetan-Nepalese border which a temporary border agreement on March 21 had demilitarized.

Peiping assured Katmandu the Chinese troops would not violate Nepal's territory and would be withdrawn when the rebellion was crushed.

In New Delhi, the Times of India today reported that an estimated 200,000 Tibetan nomads—about half of them armed—are fighting their way through Chinese forces from eastern to western Tibet.

The report, for which there was no official confirmation, said the nomad force from northeast Tibet included an estimated 100,000 fighting men, mainly cavalry and armed with American, Japanese and Chinese rifles.

Appointees Are Urged To Serve Longer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today was urged to ask future political appointees "to serve so long as the President desires" before it confirms them.

The recommendation came from the Government Operations Committee as a result of a continuing investigation into government policy making by a subgroup headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash).

Jackson's report said his group had heard testimony that many businessmen, industrialists and other appointees to Cabinet and agency posts often quit before they have time to learn their difficult assignments.

He said this had been true during the Republican administration of President Eisenhower as well as that of the two Democratic presidents who preceded him.

Many of these officials held major decision-making posts involving the national security.

"We cannot expect to succeed in the long drawn-out contest with the Sino-Soviet bloc," Jackson told the Senate, unless top level government executives agree to serve in key posts until they are experienced.

Jackson cited a curvey of 456 businessmen who served in government between 1940 and 1956. Of the group, 48 per cent, nearly one half, served one year or less and the median length of service was 1¼ years.

He said there had been seven different secretaries of defense the top Pentagon civilian post was created in 1947, an average term of less than two years.

Soviets Announce Plans To Test Multistage Rockets

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets plan to lob a new series of powerful multistage test rockets into the central Pacific next month about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

An announcement Tuesday night said the new rocket shoot will be held July 5-31 over a 50,000-square mile target area about 150 miles farther to the southeast than the landing area of the first Soviet Pacific rocket tests last January.

In their first test the Soviets said they fired a rocket some 7,000 miles and came within a mile of the target. The United States subsequently fired a super-Atlas rocket 9,000 miles from Cape Canaveral past the southern tip of South Africa.

The Soviet Union warned other nations to keep their ships and planes out of the test area, which lies about 200 miles west of American-held Palmyra Island and within 600 miles of Christmas Island, where the British touched off their first hydrogen bomb.

Tass news agency, which issued the announcement, said the rocket used in the July tests will not be equipped with the final stage. This apparently meant they will not carry warheads.

The announcement came a few hours after Premier Nikita Khrushchev called on a group of Soviet military school cadets to "master the conditions of a rocket and nuclear war which is what the imperialist aggressors are preparing."

Speaking at a Kremlin reception for graduates of army and navy academies, Khrushchev boasted of Soviet rocket might in all spheres from battlefield range to intercontinental missiles.

The premier declared the Soviet armed forces should increase their vigilance in case the "imperialists" unleash a new war.

Khrushchev told the audience in the white and Gold Kremlin hall his hearty welcome to the new blood in the armed forces might seem strange while his government was calling for disarmament.

"We do this," he said, "so our glorious armed forces will be a shield for our country and all Socialist countries.

"It is not contradictory because our army is not an aggressive army. Our army is a peoples army defending peace."

Orchestra Sued By Violinist

BALTIMORE (AP) — A violinist with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, claiming she was knocked down by a kettledrum, is suing the Philadelphia Orchestra.

Dolly Ann Otey asked Superior Court Tuesday to award her $15,000 for injuries she claims she received when she visited backstage at the Lyric Theater after a concert in February 1958.

She named as defendants the Philadelphia Orchestra Assn., the Academy of Music of Philadelphia and the Lyric.

Productivity Is Key To Economy

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—How much a man produces in one hour of work plays a big part in the economic growth of the nation.

It also bears on such things as how many jobs are around, how big or small profits will be, whether prices will rise, fall or stay steady, and the supply of goods for consumers to buy.

Productivity, as man-hour output is called, took a spurt last year of four per cent over the year before, seems to be slowing this year, and has had an average growth of around three per cent a year since 1947.

Those who want faster growth see it as a means toward more jobs, more goods and services for Americans to enjoy, more income for taxes the U. S. Treasury could use in promoting still more growth, and more goods to export to markets the Soviets might covet.

Those who counsel what they call normal growth—that is, gains made by private industry with none or a minimum of government pump priming—say it will be healthier in the long run, will minimize the ups and downs of the business cycle, will shore up our financial position without the risks of too speedy or erratic growth, and thus make us stronger in any contest with the Reds. Not to mention less strain on the taxpayer.

Barring governmental pump priming, national output will rise as demand arises. This demand is pushed upward by population growth, by higher incomes and, now and then, by a drop in prices.

Productivity rises as workers acquire more skill or use more efficient production methods, or as management installs mechanization or automation to reduce the number of workers—and thus man hours—needed to turn out a piece of work.

As skills rise, so do wages usually; and the greater productivity means greater profits or lower prices, or both.

The higher income of workers helps increase demand for goods and services. Greater profits can both increase the income of stockholders and furnish management with the funds for expansion of output. And lower prices could increase demand also.

Thus productivity plays its role in economic growth by increasing demand and providing the wherewithal for building more plants—hiring more workers, and for ordering more equipment—making more work for the manufacturers of machinery and tools.

The increase in productivity last year has spurred some labor leaders to ask that labor get a bigger share through higher wages.

What they fear is a slowdown this year in productivity growth is causing some companies to list it as one cause for an expected slowdown in the rate of increase in earnings.

And as a slower productivity gain clips profit margins it helps to dim any hopes consumer may nourish for a cut in prices.

Amarillo Woman Dies In Accident

CISCO (AP)—An Amarillo woman, Mrs. James Doss, 25, was killed Tuesday and her sister, Miss Donna Hartman, 15, of Wichita Falls was injured when their car dited down an embankment four miles west of here on U.S. 80.

The women were returning from a relative's funeral in Ranger.

Mrs. Doss is survived by her husband, three small children, her mother, Mrs. Ted Eckert, a sister, Dorothy, and a brother, Ellis Eckert, all of Wichita Falls.

Two Rivals Bidding For B&O Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — Stockholders of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad today found themselves courted by directors of both the New York Central and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroads.

Both the Central and the C&O directors want the stock owned by the B&O shareholders.

The Central directors Tuesday offered 1½ shares of Central stock, plus $9 in cash, for each B&O common share. That was equal to about $43 a share at current market levels. B&O common closed at $36.25 Tuesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

Previously, the C&O had offered one share of C&O common for each 1¾ shares of B&O common. That was equal to about $35 a share.

However, the C&O has a much better record of dividend payments on its common stock than has the Central.

The Central said it would limit its B&O common purchases to 1,550,000 shares. There are 2,546,951 shares outstanding.

The Central wants a three-way merger with the B&O and the C&O. Its president, Alfred Perlman, said the road would be receptive "to any appropriate agreement to accomplish this greatly desired result."

The C&O is thinking in terms of eventual merger with the B&O, but does not want to bring the Central into the picture. The C&O wants a two-way merger.

In its petition to the Interstate approval of its offer, the C&O said, "the inclusion of any additional Eastern railroad in this two-way affiliation would destroy this constructive movement at this time."

The Central wants to get in any B&O and C&O merger because of Perlman's stated belief that the Pennsylvania Railroad, long the Central's chief rival, is assembling a big Eastern system with itself as the center.

Big Tanker Takes Plunge

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A struggle to beach the crippled tanker George MacDonald was lost today when the 501-foot vessel plunged stern-first into the Atlantic 50 miles east of Charleston, S.C.

Coast Guard search and rescue headquarters at Miami said a cutter on the scene reported the MacDonald was vertical in the water. The ship snapped a towline shortly before 2 a.m. and a few minutes later only 30 feet of her bow was protruding from the sea.

None of the Sinclair Oil carrier's crew was aboard when the plunge came. Another tanker, the J.C. Dyer, had been towing the MacDonald toward Charleston in hopes of bringing her within reach of shore pumps and repair crews.

Capt. Eldridge Burnthorn of Houston and two crewmen were aboard the MacDonald when it was taken in tow, but were transferred to the towing vessel prior to the line breaking.

None of the 43 aboard the stricken ship was injured. Details of the Monday night accident—described as the collapse of a seawater casing in a condenser—were instructed by Sinclair Refining Co. lawyer not to talk to newsmen.

Man Returns After Spill

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — A Dade City man reported drowned after falling from his boat into the choppy Atlantic Ocean planned another fishing trip today—but this time he'll operate the boat.

Donald Hormuth, 25, and his wife, Bobbie Lou, were fishing east of Marathon Tuesday. Mrs. Hormuth decided to move to a new location. She started the boat with a lurch and her husband toppled off the stern.

Several minutes went by before she learned her husband was no longer aboard. After a fruitless search, Mrs. Hormuth notified other boats and the Coast Guard.

The Coast Guard reported Hormuth apparently had drowned. Three hours later another boat reported taking him aboard, wet and tired but safe and happy.

Lana Center Of Argument

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lana Turner's escort early today almost came to blows with a columnist who had criticized Lana's upbringing of her daughter, Cheryl Crane.

Mike Connolly, columnist for the Hollywood Reporter, came over to Lana at a party after Lana's latest picture, "Portrait in Black."

Sportsman Fred May, longtime friend of Lana's, grabbed Connolly as he bade Lana goodby.

Almost tearing Connolly's tuxedo off May said: "I love this girl very much. Why do you print such editorials as you did the other day, attacking Lana and her upbringing of Cheryl?"

May started to swing at Connolly but was stopped by Lana and columnist Army Archerd.

The party was held at Romanoff's. Many stars attended but only a few remained when the incident occurred.

The actress' daughter, Cheryl Crane, 16, is in a county home for troubled girls.

Democratic Candidate Leads In North Dakota

FARGO, N. D. (AP) — Democratic Rep. Quentin Burdick nursed a 600-vote lead today in his battle with Republican Gov. John E. Davis for U.S. senator from North Dakota.

Only 17 precincts remained uncounted in the see-saw special election.

With 2,297 of 2,314 precincts counted, the unofficial total showed Burdick with 104,007 and Davis 103,397.

It wasn't until late Wednesday, almost 24 hours after the polls closed, that Burdick forged into a slim lead—a margin that narrowed slightly as the vote-counting ended for the night. Davis had led in the early counting by as much as 8,000 votes.

Burdick, 52, a freshman congressman who became North Dakota's first Democratic representative in 1958, flew back to Washington Wednesday night. He said he would vote today to override the President's veto of the pay increase bill for postal workers.

"I'm not very sure of this one," Burdick said of the state election. "I want to see all the figures."

The State Canvassing Board must meet within 20 days of the election to compile final figures audited by county canvassing boards. Until then, neither man can ask for a recount.

Burdick said he hasn't even thought about a recount. Davis said "It will depend upon any irregularities we might hear about in the counties. So far we haven't heard of any, but some might turn up."

Most of the absentee ballots have been counted, although late ones will be delivered to county canvassing boards to include when they meet on or before next Tuesday.

Davis said he wished local election officials had reported the missing precincts to make the unofficial count complete.

"You'd think they'd want to be in on something this big," he said.

Today, Davis said, "I'll just go back to being governor." He is 47.

Burdick said he felt he ran very well in the traditionally Republican city precincts, where GOP leaders felt Davis would have to show his greatest strength.

The run for the Senate was the high point in the political careers of both men. Davis was a small-town banker and state senator when he was tapped for the GOP gubernatorial nomination in 1956 and won a resounding victory.

Burdick's congressional victory in 1958 was the result of a sometimes shaky alliance between Democrats and the Nonpartisan League. The League, commonly referred to as the NPL, deserted the Republican column in 1956 after 40 years.

Burdick, son of former Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R-ND), again carried the Democratic-NPL banner in this election and had the backing of the Farmers Union, an organization for which he served as counsel for many years. Both men campaigned against farm policies of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

The special Senate election coincided with the state primary. In the Republican balloting, voters apparently nominated endorsed candidates for two at-large Congress seats and governor. Democrats had no primary contests.

MAKING ENDS MEET—City Engineer Bill Kimzey, at right, looks over the work being done to connect the new sewer lines on the south right of way of Thirty-seventh Street with feeders from the north side. When all connections are complete the new lines will be ready for use and the state will take over the street under their farm to market program, widen and pave it. The new lines were necessary since the lines running under the street were against state regulations and the situation had to be altered before the state would accept the road.

Grace, Rainier In Tiff

NEW YORK (AP) — Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco flew to Europe on separate planes Wednesday night, and both refused to comment on reports that they have been having domestic difficulties.

The prince was asked to comment on a newspaper columnist's report that the princess was angry at him because he allegedly forced her to return home while her father, the late John B. Kelly of Philadelphia, was seriously ill.

The prince replied to the newsmen's question: "Well, you read the columns. I don't."

The princess was asked about the domestic difficulty report as she arrived at Idlewild Airport alone.

"I really don't have time," she replied.

The prince and his princess, former actress Grace Kelly, had been in Philadelphia for her father's funeral. The princess had been at her millionaire father's bedside during part of his final illness, but was in Monaco when he died.

Lois Webes, of the Arthur P. Jacobs public relations firm which represents the Principality of Monaco, told newsmen the prince was flying to Paris for business reasons and the princess had chosen to go home direct.

Krush Gets Few Cheers In Austria

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrived in neutral Austria for a nine-day state visit today and got a cool reception. Except for a small contingent of Communists, the response was apathetic.

About 6,000 persons were at the Soviet War Memorial as Khrushchev's motorcade swept into the center of the city from the airport. Most of the crowd just stood and stared. A knot of about 200 Austrian Communists sent up a thin cheer but Khrushchev may not have heard or seen them. They were lined up on the far side of the street as he sped by in a closed car.

Some customers at sidewalk tables of nearby coffee houses didn't bother to look up from their newspapers as the motorcade pulled up in front of the Imperial Hotel, where Khrushchev is staying. In general the average citizen appeared bored.

Khrushchev's Austrian visit is expected to be all smiles and talk of peaceful coexistence.

The Soviet Premier and his party of more than 80 persons were met at Vienna's Schwechat Airfield by President Adolf Schaerf, Chancellor Julius Raab and other top Austrians.

The Russians in Moscow were saying that Khrushchev's visit would show the world that Communist and capitalist states can live in peaceful coexistence.

The Austrians were intent on making sure that Khrushchev would irritate nobody in the West or make anti-Western propaganda. They planned the full tourist treatment for him—visits to the opera and Hapsburg palace, trips through the Alps and to Salzburg, the music festival city.

House GOP Poised To Oppose Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans voted unanimously today to oppose the Democratic plan for Congress to recess this weekend and return to work in August after the national political conventions.

Rep. Charles B. Hoeven (R-Iowa) announced the GOP stand after a party caucus.

He called the recess proposed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas "just a politically inspired move."

"There is still plenty of time to complete the public's business," declared Hoeven, spokesman for the caucus.

Johnson, in comment on the House GOP action, said "these folks are day dreaming" if they think Congress could finish its work before the conventions.

"It sounds like they don't want a legislative program," he added. "They know their own members won't let you pass one."

Johnson said it also sounded "rather partisan" since some Democrats in Congress serve on their party's national convention platform committee which is to start work in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Republican senators also talked over the recess plan at a caucus but took no stand as a group.

However, two GOP senators told newsmen that a show of hands produced about a 2-1 margin against the recess idea.

Hoeven said he expects to pick up some Democratic support in a fight against the recess.

He said there had been no attempt to sound out Republican sentiment in the Senate on the issue. The Senate Republican leader, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, supported Johnson's recess stand Wednesday.

Since all members of the House must run for re-election, if they are to remain in Congress, there is "greater collective sentiment there than in the Senate for getting back home to political fence-mending duties."

Only one-third of the senators need face the voters at the ballot boxes this year.

Before it became known Wednesday that Johnson wanted a recess, several Democratic senators and several Republicans said they are against the idea of a postconventions session.

The general tenor of their remarks was that Congress would produce more political oratory than anything else by meeting in the midst of the presidential campaign.

Hoeven said House Republicans are willing to work around the clock and on weekends and holidays to finish up and adjourn before the conventions. The Democratic convention, first of the party conclaves, opens July 11 in Los Angeles. The Republicans will meet two weeks later in Chicago.

Woman Slays New Husband

DALLAS (AP)— A thin, blonde woman shot her new husband to death during a pre-dawn argument in their apartment today.

"I didn't want to hurt him," she sobbed.

Dead was William Audrey Tilley, 50, owner of Tilley's lounge. His wife of two months, Mary Lou, 31, was booked for investigation.

The woman claimed Tilley struck her.

"He knocked me down. I grabbed the gun and there was an explosion," she told police Sgt. Jerry Hill. "Blood started coming from his side. I don't know how often I pulled the trigger."

The woman told the policemen she had worked at the lounge for her husband and that they had had a lot of trouble, principally because of his drinking.

Federal Pay Raise Bill Vetoed By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed a bill to raise the pay of 1½ million federal employes by 7½ per cent. He called the measure "indefensible by any light."

However, Eisenhower left the door open for a smaller hike—what he termed "a modest increase reasonably commensurate with the percentage rise" in the cost of living since the last general pay increase.

Democratic leaders in Congress are planning, however, an attempt to override the President's veto of the 7½ per cent measure.

The House is expected to vote on an overriding attempt Friday.

In his veto message, Eisenhower said:

"This hastily-drawn bill violates every concept of fairness, every rule of reason and logic. Were this measure to become law, the already conspicuous inequities and discrimination in our antiquated federal pay system would be greatly intensified.

"Instead of making progress — by improving the federal pay structure—we would actually be taking a long step backward."

It takes a two-thirds margin of members voting in both the House and Senate to override a veto.

The measure passed in both the House and Senate by more than that margin.

Eisenhower's statement that he would be willing to approve a smaller pay hike in new legislation, appeared to be a move to rally votes to sustain his veto.

Besides granting approximate 7½ per cent raises to civil service employes, postal workers and Congressional employes the vetoed bill would have made permanent a 2½ per cent temporary salary hike granted to postal field service employes two years ago. That increase now is scheduled to expire in January.

Eisenhower urged the Democratic controlled Congress to enact new legislation to make that increase permanent.

Snake Problem Is Left By Floods

Fair weather covered Texas Thursday but snakes in Houston and a flooded park in Victoria were reminders of the tremendous rains that started to fall on the state just one week ago.

The days and days of heavy showers in coastal sections caused millions of dollars of property damage and claimed many lives.

Water from the guadalupe River, six inches above flood stage, flooded a section of the city park in Victoria Wednesday. Early Thursday 600 yards of the road through the park was under water and closed to traffic. Flood stage on the river is 28 feet and Police Dispatcher Alton Oliver said Thursday the river was at 28½ feet and expected to crest at 29 feet during the day.

He said no persons had been evacuated from their homes. But civil defense officials at Victoria said that if the river reaches 29 feet additional flooding will take place in low lying areas along the river where an estimated 50 to 60 persons live.

Houston and north Harris County residents were warned to be alert for snakes as floodwaters in that city receded.

"The snakes have been stirred up by the floods and certainly we can assume there are a number of copperheads and water moccasins loose," said Conrad Hinshaw, assistant director of county flood control engineers.

The Harris County sheriff's office reported all county highways had been reopened.

Vegeterian Walker Is Now In Virginia

ROMNEY, W.Va. (AP) — Dr. Barbara Moore planned to hike through the heart of Virginia's apple-growing country today and bed down tonight at Winchester, Va.

That would be 43 miles along U.S. Highway 50 from her starting point in this West Virginia town.

The 56-year-old British vegetarian is en route to New York via Washington and has been on the road nearly three months since she left San Francisco.

Castro Moves To Seize Firm

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime early today replaced its communications minister in a move apparently signaling further harassment and possibly seizure of the Cuban Electric Co., the largest remaining American investment in Cuba.

With a marathon cabinet session still in progress after 13 hours, President Osvaldo Dorticos announced the resignation of Communications Minister Enrique Oltuski and his replacement by Raul Curbelo Morales, a virtual unknown.

Oltuski at a news conference days, weeks ago accused the electric company, which comes under his ministry's jurisdiction—of sabotaging the revolution because it refused to carry out an expansion program after the Castro government cut its rates a third. But informed sources said the regime felt Oltuski had not been aggressive enough in his application of revolutionary policies.

Valued at 300 million dollars, the electric company is half owned by the American and Foreign Power Co.

Oltuski's replacement also could be a preliminary to formal confiscation of the 125-million-dollar Cuban Telephone Co., in which the U.S. International Telephone and Telegraph Co. owns 65 per cent of the stock. But Castro represent-atives have been in complete control of the telephone company since March 4, 1959, and the last U.S. executive was ousted last February.

Retaliating for the pending U.S. congressional bill to trim Cuba's quota of sugar sales to the United States, the Castro regime stepped up its campaign against American investments by taking over all operations Wednesday of the American-owned Texaco Oil Company, including its 26-million-dollar refinery at Santiago. The oil company indicated its claims for the properties seized may total 50 million dollars.

Texaco, along with Esso Standard of New Jersey, the other American refinery in Cuba, and the British-Dutch Shell Co., had refused to process Soviet crude oil bought from the Soviet Union with Cuban sugar.

The U.S. State Department denounced the action against Texaco as "a naked seizure of property in contravention of norms of conduct by responsible governments." The U.S. Congress was expected to rush passage of the new sugar act which empowers the President cut the quota of U.S. purchases of Cuban sugar for which the United States now pays a premium above the world price of about 190 million dollars a year.

New Type Phone Going On Display

A new telephone - small, light and oval-shaped-will be introduced here tomorrow.

Called the Princess, this oval-shaped telephone is about one-third smaller and two pounds lighter than present desk model telephones, according to Managor Truman Black of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The manager said Bell Telephone Laboratory scientists worked five years developing the compact size and style of the Princess.

It is two inches lower and five inches smaller from front to back than current desk model phones.

"Because of its small base, Bell Laboratories engineers had to reduce the size of the complex dial and switch equipment and the wiring in the Princess," Black said.

"The Princess was tested with thousands of customers before it went into production," Black said. "Many of their suggestions were incorporated into its final design."

He said the new phone is made in five colors— white, pink, blue, beige and turquoise. The Princess also has an illuminated dial so calls can be made in the dark. This light can be made in the dark glow softly as a night light when the phone is not in use.

Black said the new Princess phones will be displayed at the telephone business office here, beginning Friday.

Liens Filed Against Evangelist's Estate

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Liens totaling nearly six million dollars have been filed by the Internal Revenue Service against the estate of the late Negro evangelist, Charles M. Grace.

Filing the liens in Superior Court Wednesday, the IRS stated "Sweet Daddy" Grace was in tax arrears for 12 years beginning in 1945. The amounts ranged from $73,482 in 1945 to $1,531,003 in 1953 and totaled $5,990,648, said the IRS.

Grace died in Los Angeles Jan. 12.

Panel Okays Texas Items

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six projects and three surveys in Texas are included in water projects approved by a Senate-House conference committee.

The conference bill, approved Wednesday, would authorize future construction on water projects involving a federal cost of 1½ billion dollars. However, the bill does not appropriate funds to build the projects. The money must be voted by Congress in later legislation.

Texas water projects included in the bill are: Big Fossil Creek $1,861,000; Blieders Creek $1,060,- Brazos River $21,000,000; Fort Worth Floodway $2,241,000; Texas City Channel $1,605,000; Brazos Island Harbor $4,381,000.

The bill also authorized underground water surveys for the Nueces, San Antonio and Guadalupe rivers.

Firemen Called Twice

The Snyder Fire Department was called out twice Wednesday night, once to extinguish a grass fire just north of Dermott on the Lubbock Highway and once to extinguish a fire in the carburetor of a car belonging to Alice Treble at the corner of Twenty-sixth Street and Avenue G.

Sam Cumbie Rites Held

Funeral services were held in Fort Worth for Sam E. Cumbie, 72, father of two Snyder residents, who died in a hospital there Sunday.

Mr. Cumbie, a resident of Fort Worth, had suffered a heart attack.

A native or Erath County, he had lived in Olney for 20 years before moving to Fort Worth.

Rev. Morgan of the North Side Baptist Church in Fort Worth, where Mr. Cumbie was a member, officiated at the service. The body was taken to Olney for burial, with Rev. Anderson of Seymour officiating at graveside rites.

Mr. Cumbie is survived by his wife, three sons, the Rev. J. E. Cumbie of Seymour, W. R. Cumbie of Hurst and Eld. Horace Cumbie of Anchorage, Alaska; four daughters, Mrs. Pat Pierce of Midkiff, Mrs. O. H. Goforth of Lamesa, Mrs. Leon Tuggle and Mrs. T. E. Shoemake, both of Snyder; 17 grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Starnes Is Foreman Of Bell Plant

William E. (Bill) Starnes, construction foreman for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. here since 1953, has been appointed plant foreman for the company. The announcement was made by Hilton Bateman, district plant superintendent for the company at Abilene, who said the job is a newly created one brought about by the steady growth of telephone service in Snyder.

Starnes started with the telephone company in 1945 as a lineman. He served as construction foreman in 1947, and was appointed installation foreman and then repair foreman in 1949. He served as a construction foreman for the company in Abilene and Colorado City before his transfer to Snyder.

Starnes is married and has three children. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Five Blasts Hit Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Five underground explosions beneath Public Square shook downtown Cleveland Wednesday night. The blasts cut off electric power to nearby buildings, flipped manhole covers into the air and smashed several plate glass windows.

The only injury was to a man who suffered minor cuts from flying glass.

The explosions were triggered when gas and air — heated by smoldering insulation covering high-power underground cables — came in direct contact with cool air from the street.

Thick black smoke poured from a dozen manholes and flames spouted 15 feet high from one of them.

Vehicles and pedestrians, endangered by the flying manhole covers, were cleared from the square. Buses were rerouted for nearly three hours. Sixty extra policemen were assigned to the busy hub of downtown Cleveland.

Police officials said it was fortunate the blasts came an hour after the height of the going-home rush.

More People On State's Labor Force

AUSTIN (AP) — There were more people without jobs and more people working last month in Texas than in May 1959.

The Texas Employment Commission said Wednesday employment in May was 38,100 over the same month a year ago and 20,300 over April 1960. The unemployed increased 9,600 over May 1959 but was down 4,100 from April.

Some 3,447,100 were employed in Texas as of May 15 while the jobless total was 163,900.

The labor force rose by 48,300 during the past year.

The commission attributed the April-May decline in nonfarm employment largely to the release by mid-May of some 4,500 of the 7,600 census takers added in April.

Farm employment rose 24,200 from the April figure, accounting for the rise in total employment and offsetting the net loss of 3,900 in the non-farm industries.

Employment rose last month in the Beaumont-Orange-Port Arthur area, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Houston-Baytown, the Longview area, San Angelo and Wichita Falls. It held steady in Amarillo, El Paso, Lubbock and Texarkana.

There were more unemployed in Abilene, Austin, Dallas, the Galveston-Texas City area, San Antonio and Waco.

Transportation equipment manufacturing, oil and gas, oil refining, interstate railroads, construction and retail trade had more unemployment in May than a year ago.

Photograph Leads To Man's Arrest

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The FBI arrested an unemployed cook with a plaid cap Wednesday night and said he was one of the men photographed in the act of robbing the Yorke Savings and Loan Assn.

John Andrew Mendlock, 37, was charged with robbery in the theft last Thursday of $2,704. A teller activated a hidden camera during the holdup and got a picture of the two bandits, one wearing a plaid cap. The FBI said the second man was still at large.

130-Day Limit For Space Trips

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Space travelers in the immediate future will have to limit their trips to 130 days, a meeting of scientists was told Wednesday.

David Reitz, advanced design engineer for the Martin Co., told the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences that 130 days is long enough for a visit to the moon—but too short for exploration of Mars and Venus.

Reason for the limit, he said, is radiation. He said that for trips of more than 130 days a space cabin measuring four by five feet in volume would require 40,000 pounds of shielding—more than rocket boosters can presently carry into space.

Youth Injured After Fine

READING, Pa. (AP) — Hayes G. Thompson, 23, Orange, N.J., was unable to pay a $15 speeding fine levied Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Emil Rudloss.

So Thompson put in a quick call to his father who persuaded the magistrate to let his son go with a promise to pay later.

Thompson got in his car and started for home. Four miles outside of Reading, his auto crossed the medial strip of the highway and crashed into a truck carrying dynamite, police said.

The dynamite did not explode and the truck driver escaped injury. But Thompson suffered a brain concussion and other injuries. He was admitted to Community General Hospital in fair condition.

No charges were filed by police.

Live Shell From Civil War Found

NEW IBERIA, La. (AP) — A housewife, turning over some soil in her back yard, found a live artillery shell from the Civil War.

The date stamped on it was Oct. 16, 1861.

Mrs. Freddie Estillette discovered it in silt which was dredged from Bayou Teche last December and used as fill around the house.

Demolition crews at the New Iberia Naval Auxiliary Air Station deactivated the shell Wednesday.

A DELICIOUS Beef Noodle Saute made with a handy package of beef flavor noodle soup mix makes a wonderfully simple supper for Saturday night. It's easy on the chef, too, when served with a quickly prepared avocado and cucumber salad and glasses of iced tea.

Beef Flavor Noodle Soup Mix Used In Quick One-Dish Meal

If you are in the market for a simple supper for Saturday night's menu, here is a tempting one-dish mainstay that can be prepared and cooked in a matter of minutes.

A package of beef flavor noodle soup mix does the trick for this Beef Noodle Saute. It heightens the beefy flavor and adds the plus factor of a wide variety of vegetables found in the soup mix.

In this very simple recipe, ground chuck is sauteed in butter or margarine and then all the other ingredients— pickle relish, tomatoes, mushrooms and cooked noodles—are all added right in.

The pickle relish, incidentally, gives it a particularly piquant flavor. Serve with an avocado and cucumber tossed salad with an Italian-style salad dressing. Tall glasses of iced tea round out the menu nicely.

BEEF NOODLE SAUTE

½ box (4-ounce) medium size noodles
1 pound ground chuck
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 package beef flavor noodle soup mix
½ cup pickle relish
2½ cups canned tomatoes
1 can (3-ounce) mushrooms
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon peper

Cook noodles in boiling salted water; drain. In skillet saute meat in butter or margarine until browned. Stir in remaining ingredients and cooked noodles. Simmer, covered, 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

BROILER POLENTA

INGREDIENTS: 3 cups water, ¾ cup enriched white corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup grated cheddar-type cheese, ¼ cup butter soft, ¼ cup grated Parmesan Cheese. METHOD: In a medium-sized saucepan heat to boiling 2 cups water. Mix corn meal and salt with remaining 1 cup cold water; stirring constantly, pour into the boiling water. Cook until thickened, stirring often. Cover; continue cooking over low heat about 10 minutes. Add chaddar cheese; stir until melted. Pour into baking dish about 10 by 6 by 1 inch that has been rinsed in cold water; chill. Spread chilled corn meal with soft butter; cut in squares; sprinkle with Parmesan. Place slightly apart, on broiling pan; broil slowly until heated through and top is a light golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh Spinach

Wash 2 pounds of spinach thoroughly, drain well and place in a large aluminum saucepan with a tight fitting cover. Put 2 mashed cloves of garlic on top, cover and turn the flame to medium. Cook 15 minutes, remove cover and turn the flame to high to cook off extra juice in bottom of pan. Remove garlic and add ½ cup sour cream, 1 can button mushrooms, drained, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve with corned beef or tongue.

Don't you balk— beef corned beef or chicken— if you want to produce a real proper undercut. Cook meat in a strong pan and have plenty of patience.

Water Heaters

What is an "automatic" water heater? It is a water heater that turns itself on and off. When the water in the tank cools below a set temperature or when hot water is drawn from the tank and replaced with cold water the thermostat automatically turns on the fuel. When the temperature of the water in the tank reaches the point set on the dial, the thermostat automatically shuts off.

LOOKIT MY DOG, MISTER—Becky Agnew squints prettily from atop an inflated life raft Sunday on an extremely tranquil Lake Thomas, daintily holding her Dachshund dog "Dutch". She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Agnew of 2405 Morrison Drive, Big Spring. Following their impromptu "sitting" for the roving—wading—photographer, she didn't go to the bother of carrying Dutch back to shore. Nope, just dropped him into the water and let him swim on in. He proved to be an exceptionally good swimmer, but had mastered only one stroke—the dog paddle. (Jacksonian Photo)

WHEELING, DEALING, ROD AND REELING

Outlook For Fishermen Still Bright At Thomas

Personnel of the Texas Game and Fish Commission's staff of aquatic biologists have recently sampled the fish populations of Lake J. B. Thomas in order to determine the extent of infestation of rough or undesirable fish in the lake and also to determine the condition of the game fish.

A survey of the fish populations in Lake Thomas is made every year by the biologists so that current data can be maintained from which management and stocking recommendations can be made.

The representative sample of fish taken in the nets set by the biological staff indicates that rough fish (carp, suckers and shad) are very abundant in Lake Thomas but have not increased in number so much this year as they did last year and year before last. Although the Game and Fish Commission is experimenting with ways and means of controlling these undesirable fish no practical method has as yet been found to eliminate all types of rough fish without also effecting the game fish.

However, since the rough fish have not multiplied as steadily this year as they have in years past the game fish have not been further crowded out of the lake and the outlook for fishermen is not bad.

Channel Cats Abound

A great many young channel catfish were found and white bass were also very abundant in the biologist's nets. Flathead or "yellow" catfish were plentiful. A lot of crappie were taken in the sample also, but most of these fish were very small.

The sampling indicated that there are still quite a few largemouth bass in the lake but the larger bass are hard for the fishermen to catch because there is so much natural food (shad and other forage fishes) in the lake that the bass had rather have than the fisherman's bait. Largemouth bass are stocked in Lake Thomas every year by the state fish hatcheries.

Last fall 4,500 small blue catfish were stocked in Lake Thomas by the Game and Fish Commission in order to provide another species of fish for the angler to catch and also in an effort to help control the rough fish population by acting as a predator on the undesirable species.

The Ones That Got Away

None of these fish were recaptured by the biologists so it is not known how much they have grown or if they are going to reproduce in the lake. Not capturing any of these fish does not mean they are not still there, however, because obtaining any of 4,500-fish in a lake with as many fish in it as Lake Thomas can be difficult to do.

Any fisherman who catches a fish which he thinks might be a blue catfish is urged to show it to one of the lake patrolmen so that data on it can be recorded. The only reliable method of determining if the fish is a blue catfish is by counting the number of rays or soft spines in the anal fin (the fin on the under side of the tail). If there are 30 or more of these spines in this fin the fish is a blue catfish. If there are less than 30 rays, it is a channel cat.

Basilio Embittered As Brawl Stopped

By JERRY O'BRIEN

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The National Boxing Assn., world middleweight crown was still in Gene Fullmer's hands today after he stopped challenger Carmen Basilio in 2:54 of the 12th round in a bruising battle Wednesday night.

Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, today dismissed Basilio as "a contender and said he has a $100,000 offer for his battler to meet Joey Giambra next.

Jenson said matchmaker Benny Ford made the big-money bid for a Fullmer-Giambra match in San Francisco and that fights with Paul Pender or Ray Robinson were possible.

Basilio, enraged when the fight was stopped, pushed the referee, threatened to punch him and claimed he was the victim of a home town decision.

Fullmer, the 29-year-old West Jordan, Utah, mink rancher, was in charge from the beginning and was ahead on every card when the end came. Judge Del Markham and Referee Pete Giacoma had Fullmer ahead 108-102. Judge Bob Yocum saw it 109-101 and The Associated Press 105-101.

In winning the nationally-televised bout, Fullmer extended his record to 32 victories. He has lost three and had one draw. Basilio is 54-15-7.

Basilio weighed 156½, the heaviest of his career. Fullmer 159½. Basilio, both eyes cut, his face swollen and wicked-looking welts on his body, delivered himself of some angry blasts at everyone connected with the fight when it was over. He excepted Fullmer.

"Gene and I are good friends, but this Utah Athletic Commission belongs to Jenson," he charged.

"And that referee. He never should have stopped it. He could see the handwriting on the wall."

Did he mean he would have won had the fight continued?

"Sure," he snapped.

Basilio might have been hard pressed to find many in the crowd of 10,500 who would agree.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

It's nice to be first, but it can oftentimes prove to be dangerous.

This fact was demonstrated Tuesday night in the Little League game involving the war-horsing Cardinals and a crew of very scrappy cellar dwelling Cubs. Going into what proved to be the unlucky thirteenth game of the season for them, the Cards stood 12-0, having run roughshod over the remainder of the league, while the Cubs wallowed in the throes of an unimpressive 2-10 year.

The setting was ripe for an upset, however, and the Cubs obliged by ringing up a 5-3 victory. Oddly enough, the Cards helped to bring on their own downfall by an abnormally leaky defense, which has been one of their strong points over the season. They had allowed their opponents an average of only one and a half runs per game up until Tuesday. Thus, five errors contributed heavily to the final outcome and allowed the Cubs to apply the whammy. So be it.

Headin' Fer Home Ma

OF LATE the leagues have for the most part been narrowing down into their respective stretch drives, the exception being the Teenage League which has reached only its halfway point. First half action in that loop has seen the Buffs and Dodgers butting heads for the top spot in the Texas League, while a healthy rivalry has blossomed forth in the Continental.

Going into tonight's action three teams are tied for the lead in the latter league, to wit: the Red Sox, Yankees, and Phillies. The Sox dominated the standings earlier in the season, but have been unceremoniously bounced in their last two outings to slither and slide into a deadlock with the Yanks and Phils, all of whom now sport 4-2 marks.

The Tigers, the remaining team in the league, have taken the lion's share of the guff as dealt out by their contemporaries, and are a downtrodden 0-6 at the moment.

The Cardinals, of course, look to be a shoo-in for the National (Little League) title barring a major miracle, which isn't likely. It's nip, tuck, and you-name-it in the American, however, where the White Sox and Indians are tied for the top spot with 8-5, while the Athletics and Yanks still have an outside shot at the bunting with their 5-8.

The White Sox may now boast of a comfortable lead in the American (Farm) League with an impressive 11-1 as against the second place Yankees 6-6, while the Giants are coming along at 10-2 in the National compared to the runnerup Cubs' 7-5.

Which Reminds Me...

UM YAS. Word has filtered in from Lubbock that an ex-Snyderite by the name of Mike Shied is doing himself proud in his first year of Pee Wee League play in that city.

Shied, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shied, who were residents of Snyder up until the December past, led his Rams to a 6-5 victory over the Giants in a Southern Pee Wee League game recently with a triple and three singles.

Court Upholds Robinson In 'Sordid Fight'

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Halfback Johnny Robinson of Louisiana State has his freedom today from the Detroit Lions after a court battle that a judge called "another round in the sordid fight" for football talent.

Federal Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ruled Wednesday an agreement the ace LSU rimmer and pass catcher signed with the Lions Dec. 2 was not a binding contract.

This left Robinson free to play with Dallas of the new American Football League, a team he signed a contract with after playing in the Sugar Bowl last New Year's Day. Detroit sought a court order to stop Robinson from playing for anyone else.

The ruling dealt the National Football League another severe setback, its third in as many weeks.

A federal judge in Los Angeles released All-America halfback Billy Cannon, Robinson's running mate for three years at LSU from a Los Angeles Rams' contract.

Tourists Fiddle As Romans Burn

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP) — Many Romans are beginning to wonder if the Olympics are worth all the trouble.

For three days recently most of them were without water.

For months traffic has been snarled, and the chances are it will get worse before it gets better.

And now many store owners are beginning to wonder if the Olympics will really make their cash registers ring.

It's not that Italians aren't proud and happy to be hosts to the summer games, starting in Rome Aug. 25. The great majority are right proud of it.

Their desire to put on a good show—and avoid any embarrassing predicaments—is at the root of the second thoughts.

For example Rome faced a possible water shortage at the height of the games — in torrid August —because of the demands for water at the Olympic Village and the Olympic swimming pools.

So the water company rushed completion of its new plant. Several days ago all water was turned off for two days while the company switched from the old system to the new one.

Then water was off an extra day because of breakdowns in the new system.

Automobile traffic is another headache. For months streets have been torn up as city authorities re-paved and widened them, and built underpasses. Officials said Rome's traffic was bad enough, and that the expected Olympic traffic made the repairs a necessary nuisance.

Last week the experts grappling with the traffic problem launched a new system of one-way streets around Piazza Venezia in central Rome. Traffic was more jammed than ever. Now they plan to modify the one-way streets and experiment some more.

Even the store owners are beginning to wonder. August is normally a big tourist month. But some store owners fear the heavy spending tourists will be driven away from Rome by the Olympic crowds, leaving behind a lower spending tourist bent on devoting all his energy and funds to Olympic events rather than shopping.

Someone Finally Takes Poke At 'Planned Obsolescence'

By INEZ ROBB

"Planned obsolescence," in one woman's opinion, has always been a mighty high falutin' business term for "wicked waste". For a long time there has been a mystic Madison Avenue credo that big business got that way through planned obsolescence.

So it is with a good bit of pleasure that I see that at least one of America's big-business men has taken out after planned obsolescence with a shillalah. My hero is George Romney, president of American Motors Corp. He has struck a blow for common sense and the financial sanity of the American consumer by coming out against annual and gimmicky model changes on a great variety of so-called durable goods.

Mr. Romney is against changes that don't add anything to the product but cost. He is only for model changes that basically improve or better the product. He is the enemy of new "packaging" details every 12 months that only de-statusfy the year-old appliance.

Hear! Hear!

Nothing is more discouraging than to make a down payment on a clothes dryer only to read a year later, in full-color ads, that this year's model is bigger, better, plays "How Dry I Am" when the load is finished, and is impervious to small children.

Since American Motors turns out a line of durable electric household goods in addition to cars, Mr. Romney's sensible declaration that he is for continuity of appearance in both unless change is basic as well as beneficial to the purchaser is worth a cheer.

Surely, not one American housewife out of 100,000 can annually renew her kitchen and her laundry, save in her dreams. The rest of us have to put up with last year's food freezer even though it doesn't have the lovely new tailfins in contrasting color, of this year's model.

The stove and the refrigerator may need doctoring from time to time, but who can afford—planned obsolescence or no — to pitch 'em out until the attending surgeon says they are in an advanced stage of senility and neither transfusion nor oxygen will avail?

And then how often these durable goods are honorably retired to the Salvation Army or some other philanthropic organization that runs a rehabilitation shop. There such old-timers are repaired and passed on to some householder who cannot afford brand-new goods.

In landing a one-two punch on the glass jaw of planned obsolescence, Mr. Romney made three good points.

(1) That the "inevitable waste" in such a plan contradicts common sense.

(2) That "the attempt annually to create products that are merely camouflaged to seem better is a colossal misdirection of effort away from useful innovation."

(3) And that "European competition, the coming Russian challenge and the dire economic needs of developing countries all emphasize the importance of concentrating our technical skill on fundamental advances."

Little by little we come to realize in this country that much of the conspicuous planned obsolescence around us is in the worst possible taste. Who now doesn't shudder at those three-storied Easter-egg cars turned out by Detroit six or seven years ago?

And who isn't beginning to shudder just a little bit at all the big tailfins with built in lights large enough to floodlight a night baseball game?

The Rolls-Royce and the Volkswagen, representing class and mass, look pretty much the same year after year, and yet still manage to sell and stay in business. I have a hunch we consumers are ready to settle for a little less chrome and a little more quality; less change, more range.

Sober Man At Cocktail Party Lucky

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The only exercise some men get after 40 is climbing on—and falling off—the water wagon.

During these periods of temporary abstinence that avoid their former bottle buddies and usual haunts. They often don't know what to do with themselves. They feel lonely and forgotten as if life were passing them by.

There is a simple, easy cure for such a feeling. They should go to more cocktail parties.

But if you suggest this to them, they exclaim: "What! Go to a cocktail party when I'm on the wagon? Why, I'd be bored to death!"

Actually, they couldn't be wronger. For pure downright malicious pleasure you can't beat the enjoyment possible to a man who goes to a cocktail party as a teetotaler.

When you drink at a cocktail party you are like an animal in a zoo. He doesn't get the whole picture because he's part of the system.

But when you go to a cocktail party stone sober—and stay that way—you are a spectator at the zoo, amusedly looking through the bars as your fellow creatures perform. And, being human, you get a secret satisfaction in seeing other human beings making asses of themselves by acting like monkeys.

You stand apart, like a god on Olympus, quietly munching antacid tablets instead of peanuts or canapes, as the orgy unfolds. It is like seeing a play whose plot you know but played by actors who aren't aware of the ending.

At most cocktail parties there is usually a lion of the hour who is being feted. You note how the guests rush up to shake his hand, then grab a drink and run away—so they won't have to listen to him. Five martinis later the lion of the hour has his lonely paw around the shoulder of an imprisoned waiter and is telling him the story of his life.

The guests look like nice normal people when they arrive. Two hours later they look as if they had weathered a hurricane, which is about what they have done.

Truman Captures Spotlight Again

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Truman has fulfilled the dream of every prima donna who ever lived: To grab the spotlight even before the curtain goes up.

He's done it twice in a row in 1956 and now again in 1960. But in both those years at least one famous Democrat, Eleanor Roosevelt, was looking over his shoulder suspiciously.

In 1956, as Democrats gathered for their Chicago convention, Adlai E. Stevenson was the front-runner for their presidential nomination. Until then Truman had kept silent on his choice.

Then, two days before the convention opened, he temporarily stole the show by announcing for New York's Gov. W. Averell Harriman. On the opening day he bombshelled the party again.

That time he said he didn't think Stevenson could win if he got the nomination. That was hardly a sunny beginning for Stevenson who did get the nomination and didn't win.

If all this proved anything it was that Truman's influence in the party had declined a long way since 1952 when he was the retiring president.

Incidentally: In 1952 he was a Stevenson fan himself.

But this year it seemed Truman would be fresh out of bombshells by the time the Democratic convention opened in Los Angeles July 11, and for this reason:

Weeks ago he announced his choice for this year's nomination was Sen. Stuart Symington, Truman's fellow Missourian. After that there didn't seem much left that Truman could do to get attention.

He was going to be one of the Missouri delegates but, with his waning influence in the party, there was a good chance he'd get lost in the shuffle.

But he found a way.

Wednesday, just 12 days before the Democratic convention starts, Truman shocked his party by suddenly announcing he would not attend even though he had accepted the post of delegate.

And, to build up interest in himself, instead of saying Wednesday why he wouldn't go, he said he would wait until a Saturday news conference to reveal his reason. He said health was not his reason.

Both times—in 1956 and again in 1960 — Mrs. Roosevelt wouldn't buy what he was trying to sell.

In 1956, the day after Truman came out for Harriman, Mrs. Roosevelt expressed belief his real objective was to bring about a Harriman-Stevenson stalemate in order to get the nomination for Symington.

Symington at that time said he wasn't a candidate but would accept the nomination.

Krush May Spark Resumption Of Nuclear Weapons Testing

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials are beginning to talk about a possible resumption of nuclear weapons tests if Nikita Khrushchev wrecks the nuclear test ban negotiations at Geneva.

The Soviet Premier's action in pulling Communist bloc delegates out of the disarmament conference, also at Geneva, has led to speculation that he may also upset the test ban talks.

Such action by Khrushchev would at least force President Eisenhower to take a serious look at the U.S. moratorium on weapons testing which has been in force since October 1958.

The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are negotiating at Geneva for a treaty which would impose a ban on tests under a system of international inspection. Under the U.S.-British proposal, the ban would apply to all experimental explosions of nuclear weapons except small underground blasts. Eisenhower has stated his readiness to maintain a moratorium even on those, pending development of a detection system which would justify covering them also in the treaty.

Washington officials said today the Soviet walkout from the disarmament conference could be duplicated in the nuclear test talks, but they were by no means certain that it would.

Unless Khrushchev has discarded all caution, they said, he must consider the price he would have to pay in an indignant world opinion.

The price relates particularly to the possible resumption of actual testing of new nuclear weapons. By ending the negotiations at Geneva, Khrushchev would destroy the basis upon which all three nuclear powers have refrained from testing explosions and would therefore put himself in the position of forcing Eisenhower to consider starting a new test series.

In fact, the President may have to deal with the issue anyway by this fall. High officials in the Defense Department and Atomic Energy Commission have long been worried about the effect of an unpoliced test moratorium on this country's over-all military position in relation to the Soviet Union.

They say testing is needed for nuclear weapons development and contend this country should not be denied the advantages of testing for a very long period without the protection of an inspection system to make sure that the Soviets are not secretly engaged in underground tests.

These pressures on the President are well known and have been widely reported in the past. The State Department authorities have appeared confident, however, that the President would very likely continue the moratorium to the end of his term provided the negotiations at Geneva continued to make some slow progress toward agreement on a treaty.

If Khrushchev put an end to all prospects for progress he would undercut the basis for the moratorium. Then those in the government who favor continuing the test suspension would have little argument left except perhaps that in resuming tests the U.S. also would risk offending large elements of world public opinion.

In neutralist countries and even in Allied nations where the fear of nuclear war is strong the opposition to any more tests, even underground, is powerful.

U. S. officials believe Soviet strategy probably does not call for the development of new nuclear bombs and warheads beyond those they already possess. But the Soviets, it is believed here, want to prevent the United States from perfecting new weapons for its own arsenal.

Junior Editors Quiz on THISTLES

QUESTION: How does a thistle help make men's suits look good?

* * *

ANSWER: Many cloths have a fuzzy look caused by tiny fibers that stand up above the material. These fibers are called nap. When the material is used, in a man's suit, for example, the fuzz gradually wears down and the material begins to shine. Tailors who wish to make the material look nice again must raise the nap. They do this with the teasel, a thistle-like plant that grows in southern Europe and in parts of America. The teasel has long, stemless leaves and prickly stems. To brush up nap, only the dry flower heads are used. These are cut in half and fastened to a revolving cylinder which brushes them against the cloth. No mechanical device has been found that does as efficient a job of raising nap as the teasel.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Visit a tailor and see if he has a teasel he can show you.

Striking Bus Drivers Step Up Picketing

NEW YORK (AP) — Insurgent drivers ordered mass picketing today in an attempt to widen their wildcat strike into a total shutdown of the city's biggest private bus company.

Attempts to do it by picketing bus garages failed Wednesday. The 1,500 strikers rallied their forces Wednesday night for stronger maneuvers today.

The strike has caused an almost complete shutdown of the 21 lines of the omnibus division of the Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc.

The division's 733 buses carry a half million passengers on a normal day.

Passengers turned to other means of transportation—private bus lines, city-owned buses, city subways, taxicabs or walking. There was no transportation crisis.

The Transit Workers Union, to which the drivers belong, has declared the strike unauthorized and unnecessary and has ordered the men back to work. The strike started in spotty fashion Monday night. It quickly spread and by late Tuesday had crippled the omnibus division.

The strike stemmed from the city's plans to convert two more north-south avenues — Lexington and Third — to one-way traffic starting July 17. The change would cause the transfer of 77 drivers to the surface transit division. The strikers say these men would make less money and lose seniority. The union and the employers retort that surface transit drivers make more money because they get more overtime work.

Navy Wife Has Triplets

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An enlisted man's wife jolted the Navy by giving birth to triplets instead of the expected quadruplets.

Mrs. Thomas A. Box, wife of a chief aviation technician, Wednesday night went into labor prematurely. The first of the triplets—two boys and a girl—was born about midnight.

The Memphis Naval Hospital's jackpot expectations were chilled earlier by an X-ray taken when the early labor started.

"A film was made to determine the exact position of the babies," said Capt. Fitz J. Weddell. "This film revealed only three fetal skulls."

Weddell said the previous X-ray had shown what was interpreted to be four infants—which would have been a one in a million case.

Weddell said additional X-rays were not made earlier "so as to avoid unnecessary exposure of unborn babies to excess radiation."

Mrs. Box, 38, and her husband, who is 40, already were the parents of four children, ranging in age from 20 years to 20 months.

The Navy said Mrs. Box and the three additions to the family were apparently doing well.

LEGAL NOTICE

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO R. R. Marchbanks and any unknown heirs who assert an interest in this suit, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court, 132nd Judicial District of Scurry County at the Courthouse thereof, in Snyder, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 8th day of August, A.D. 1960, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court on the 21st day of June, A.D. 1960, in this cause, numbered 7949 on the docket of said court seeking a declaratory judgment as to the death of R. R. Marchbanks.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

That R. R. Marchbanks absented himself in September of 1947 and that no information of any nature has been discovered with regard to his location or present condition. That his absence of approximately thirteen years necessitates a ruling of the court that under Article 5541, V.A.C.S., he is now considered to be deceased, and that his life estate interest in Section 164, Block 97, H&TC RR Survey, Scurry County, Texas has now ceased to exist by virtue of his death, and that said interest in land has now vested in fee simple in Charles Lindsey Marchbanks as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Snyder, Texas, this the 21st day of June, A.D. 1960.

Attest: (s) Eunice Weathersbee
Clerk
District Court, 132nd Judicial District of Scurry County, Texas.

AA To Celebrate 25th Anniversary

By BERNARD GAVZER
AP Staff Writer

An old proverb has it that imitation is the sincerest form flattery.

Today there's a Gamblers Anonymous for the compulsive plunger, Narcotics Anonymous for the addict, Youth Anonymous for delinquents, even Fatties Anonymous and Divorces Anonymous.

All take their cue from the success of Alcoholics Anonymous—the pioneer fellowship that started with the idea that people who are in the same serious fix are best equipped to help one another.

The two men who founded AA were hopeless alcoholics: One a New York stock broker, the other an Akron, Ohio, surgeon. They found they could stay sober by helping each other. From this odd partnership grew the society which now claims 300,000 members.

Perhaps 10,000 or more of these members—joined by wives, husbands and children—will gather at Long Beach, Calif., beginning July 1 in a three-day commemoration of the society's 25th anniversary.

That AA should have survived 25 years and grown so spectacularly is a remarkable achievement considering how it operates. Unlike other organizations, it does not recruit members, it has no elaborate promotional setup, it uses no public figures to attract members, it conducts no fund-raising campaigns, it does not permit publication of names or photographs of any of its members, it does not affiliate with other organizations, it keeps clear of controversy.

AA is not prohibitionist. It does not oppose social drinking.

The society is a loosely knit organization with fairly casual and informal connections between groups. The average community group meets twice a week. One meeting is open to anyone who cares to come. The second is limited to members who generally talk about their problems.

Almost any AA group looks like a cross-section of society. Membership is open to all races, creeds, colors. There are members in 80 nations. There are AAs in convalescent hospitals, in remote, lonely places, in prisons.

Reviewing the quarter century since he last had a drink, co-founder Bill W., says "in the early days most of the members ranged from 40 to 55 when they came in. Now, they're between 35 and 40, and half of them are not last gasp cases—people who are at the point of losing family, friends and job. I believe this is because the public as a whole is better informed and can recognize the signs of a problem drinker."

The AA keeps clear of debates on the nature of alcoholism. There are various viewpoints on the subject, some considering it a medical or psychiatric problem much like any other illness, others regarding alcohol itself as the primary evil. The AA says the "alcoholic is one drink away from a drunk," and lets it go at that.

What Alcoholics Anonymous does know is that its members comprise only a small portion of American problem drinkers. The estimate varies, but a commonly used figure is about five million. It is a major national health problem.

Byrnes Says Court More Conservative

HOUSTON (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court this year has leaned more to the conservative side but the close 5-4 decisions "give a lot of power to one man," James F. Byrnes said Wednesday.

The 78-year-old Byrnes, a former Supreme Court justice, secretary of state and South Carolina governor, will be the principal speaker Thursday at the 78th annual convention of the State Bar of Texas.

Byrnes told a press conference "There used to be a lot written about the 5-4 decisions being on the liberal side. Now they are more on the conservative side. This gives a lot of power to one man, don't you think?"

Other speakers at today's session of the convention include A. J. Foley, state bar president from Amarillo; W. St. John Gardwood of Austin, former associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court; and Chief Justice John E. Hickman of the Texas Supreme Court.

An internationally famous civil rights attorney said Wednesday a new fight to save Howard B. Stickney from death in the electric chair will be made.

O. John Rogge of New York City made the announcement while speaking before the Criminal Law Institute of the convention.

Among the attorneys in his audience was Dist. Judge Miron Love, who presided over the trial in which Stickney was convicted for the 1958 murder of Shirley Elaine Barnes.

Two days ago Love formally sentenced Stickney, now 21, to die August 12 at the State Prison at Huntsville. The Supreme Court turned down an appeal two weeks ago.

Rogge said a habeas corpus proceeding would be filed before Love today.

Finch Trial Moves Slowly

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The retrial of Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff on murder charges is still in the jury-choosing stage but the defendants already have suffered two setbacks.

In Washington, D.C., the Supreme Court denied Miss Tregoff a request that trial Judge [illegible] be disqualified.

Integration Is Ordered

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Dade County School Board, by unanimous vote, has ordered token integration of two schools in North Miami Beach.

The board Wednesday voted 4-0 to admit a Negro girl to Fulford Elementary School and her sister to North Miami Beach Junior High. The girls are Barbara and Rosetta Pearson, who live in the area.

Fulford will become the third elementary school in Florida to be integrated, all in Dade County. North Miami Beach Junior High will be the first white secondary school in Florida to admit a Negro.

The board denied requests of 12 other Negro pupils seeking admission to white schools. No reasons were given.

Bird And Bogey On Same Hole

EUREKA, Ill. (AP) — Golfer Gordon Linn got a bird and a bogey on the same hole at Kufman Park golf course.

Linn's 5th hole drive Tuesday hit a sparrow flying across the course. That stopped the ball about 150 yards out and he had to take a stroke over par to finish the hole. The sparrow was killed.

Republic Of Congo Ends 80 Years Of Belgian Rule

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LEOPOLDVILLE, Republic of Congo (AP) — King Baudouin handed over the rich Belgian Congo to 13 million Africans today with a warning to the new nation to beware of greedy foreign powers.

An artillery battery boomed slowly as the young King proclaimed the independent Republic of Congo, ending 80 years of Belgian rule.

"Your task is immense and you are the first to realize it," Baudouin told the new leaders of the nation one-third the size of the United States.

"The principal dangers which threaten you are: The inexperience in self-government of the populations, the tribal rivalries which have done so much evil in the past and which must not, at any cost, resume, and the attraction which foreign powers ready to take advantage of the least weakness may exercise on certain regions."

President Joseph Kasavubu, speaking after the King, praised Belgium for "not opposing the current of history."

Eighteen months ago, the rotund little political leader was in jail for his part in riots which caused scores of deaths in Leopoldville.

Both the West and the Communists cheered the new nation. But despite the rejoicing, the path ahead was filled with grave uncertainties.

Fabulously rich in minerals, the vast territory lying astride the equator is pitifully poor in native administrators and educated persons. Only a dozen held posts in the old cononial setup. Millions view independence as something magic that overnight is going to give them everything their Belgian rulers enjoyed.

Representatives of about 60 nations were on hand for the independence celebrations, including U.S. and Soviet delegations.

Robert D. Murphy, former assistant secretary of state, headed a five-man American party as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sent congratulations and said independence for the Congo "dealt another telling blow at the moribund colonial system."

There was one brief incident Wednesday as Baudouin arrived, but it caused little disturbance. A Congolese described by police sword from the back seat of the open car as Baudouin and President Kasavubu rode by. The man unsheathed the handsome, gold-handled blade and brandished it about. Police seized him and reclaimed the weapon. Witnesses said there was no attempt to harm the King, who appeared unperturbed.

First Bale Price Off

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP)—The first bale of 1960 cotton sold for $1.10 a pound at auction Wednesday. It was the lowest price in the history of the annual auction sponsored by the Harlingen Chamber of Commerrce.

The 457-pound bale brought $502.70. However, Ray Barnick of Mission, the grower, will receive $1,000, the auction price guaranteed by the chamber plus $1,500 in cash prizes.

Fred Paschall, Harlingen clothing store owner, was the buyer.
