Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Down at Austin yesterday an aging man, pale and worn, walked out of the chamber of the house of representatives after impeachment proceedings against him had been brought to a stop by the announcement of his resignation from an important office of the state of Texas.

The man was S. H. Terrell. The office he had held was that of state comptroller. An auditor had reported to a committee that he had found that Terrell had received funds for which he had not made an accounting. The house, as a committee of the whole, was holding a hearing on a resolution for a bill of impeachment.

Mr. Terrell's resignation brought hearing to a sudden close. As the matter stands, there are no charges against Mr. Terrell's record. And if there has been reflection upon him there ought to be reflection also upon the state of Texas which pays an annual salary of $2,500 for the office Mr. Terrell held.

The comptroller of Texas handles millions of dollars annually of the state's money. It is the comptroller who collects the money from the county tax collectors and the other taxes and fees of the state. It is an important office and one which cannot be filled by a man of ordinary or mediocre ability. Yet the salary paid for this office is less than is required for a decent living in Austin and he who holds it must expect to go into his own funds in order to exist.

What is true of the comptroller's office is true of a number of other state offices for which there is niggardly pay from a state which boasts the resources of an empire. How long will Texas continue to require such sacrifices from those who serve it?

If Mr. Terrell has been negligent or remiss in the performances of his duty that is his individual offense for which we would not attempt to defend him and for which there are now no charges. But the matter of niggardly pay is the dereliction of the state of Texas in which all of us participate. Somehow the offense of a state has always seemed more serious to this Talker than the offense of an individual.

There will be some who will think that the house did wrong in abandoning its hearing after the resignation of Mr. Terrell. Most of these are folks who believe that every issue or question in life can be decided as either right or wrong. Maybe this issue might be settled so simply and decisively but there are some issues that are not so simple as that. Most of us go a long way in life believing that everything is either right or wrong and there are some who go through life with that belief. But there are complexities in many problems that cannot be decided so easily and decisively. Talker is not so certain that we can know true humility and charity until we come to some problem where anything we may do may seem to be wrong. And such problems can come, even to the virtuous.

The state highway commission has just awarded a contract for the grading of a portion of the Lee highway in Motley county. This is a reminder that while there have been many miles of highways completed in this section within the past two years work is progressing on many more miles and still other miles of paving have been approved. Pavements are to be repaired or work started in Wilbarger, Foard, Cottle, Motley, Archer, Young and Baylor counties, and the Haskell county highways for which bonds have been voted are yet untouched. The next two years ought to see almost as many miles of highway completed in this section as have been completed in the last two.

The last two years have seen our horizons for business and recreation and pleasure and the contacts of life widened in many directions by some of as fine highways as can be found anywhere. And now we are to have these horizons set out still further. We can hardly realize how much it will mean.

This might be called the paper age. We use paper for shelter in our buildings, for clothing and some folks say that we get paper eats. However that may be, it is used to contain many of the things we eat. The latest is a paper milk bottle. It is said that in a school in New York where paper milk bot-

CHICAGO'S PIT SEES GREATEST DROP IN YEARS

Powerful Buying Factors Bring Values Out of Depths at Close

FINAL READINGS UP

Government Stabilization Efforts Have Failed, Traders Say

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (UP)—Bedlam gripped the nation's greatest grain mart today when the price of wheat swung crazily down to less than a dollar a bushel on the Chicago board of trade.

After haggard traders watched their profits vanishing in piles of crumpled pink slips most of the day, powerful buying influences entered the pit in the board of trade building. In the last 15 minutes of trading, so hectic that it recalled historic sessions during the world war, prices jumped as spectacularly as they had sagged.

Higher at Close

When the final gong boomed over the baffle of frenzied voices, perspiring floormen cheered involuntarily in relief. The last chalk marks on the blackboards surrounding the great room showed most futures closed fractionally above yesterday's prices.

Veteran grain dealers said the drop of March wheat to 98 cents and its quick recovery to $1.04, brought on the greatest avalanche of selling in months. One estimated 300,000,000 bushels of grain changed hands during the day. Another said 150,000,000 bushels would be more accurate. The exact figures will not be known until the board of trade releases them tomorrow.

Tremendous Loss

It was estimated the price tumble of the last few months had lowered the value of world grain $2,400,000,000 and the price of American grain was $180,000,000 less than it was when the high mark of the season was touched last fall.

Many were the explanations for the erratic downward plunge of prices. Some said there was too much wheat stored from last year before. Others claimed that Argentine and Australia had produced unusually good crops. Still others held Europe was not importing its usual quota of grain.

All agreed, however, the federal government's efforts so far to stabilize cash grain prices at around $1.20 a bushel had proven fruitless.

Bill to Sell School Of Mines Introduced

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (AP)—Sale of the abandoned site of the state school of mines and metallurgy, near El Paso, would be authorized in a bill introduced in the house today by Rep. Joseph W. McGill of El Paso.

The board of regents of the University of Texas, under the bill, would be authorized to use the proceeds from this sale for a combination recreation hall and auditorium for the present school at El Paso.

Roy Toombs Loses In Final Court Pleas

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 25. (UP)—The state supreme court today denied two motions filed by attorneys of Roy Toombs, president of the defunct International Life Insurance company of St. Louis, vanishing the last hopes of Toombs to escape a three-year prison sentence.

Toombs was brought to Jefferson City today to start serving the sentence.

Trial of Galveston Bank Suspect Delayed

GALVESTON, Texas, Feb. 25. (UP)—The trial of W. S. Scrivnor, charged with robbery of the Texas City First National bank, today was postponed until the next term of court.

Scrivnor's attorney, L. M. Kenyon, said he must attend the legislative session at Austin.

Moody Casts About for New Comptroller After Terrell Resignation Halts Hearing

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (UP)—Gov. Dan Moody tonight tendered the appointment to the state comptrollership to John Wallace of Teague. Wallace told the United Press he has not decided whether or not he will accept.

Governor Moody was faced with the problem of selecting another state comptroller after Sam H. Terrell resigned today in face of 18 charges initiating impeachment proceedings against him pending in the house of representatives.

The charges against Terrell were dropped.

Others Considered

J. M. Edwards, chief clerk of the department, became acting comptroller. The governor, it is known, was considering Mark L. Wiginton, one of his secretaries and former comptroller, and Rep. Victor Gilbert of Baird.

Wiginton said he did not desire the post and Gilbert said he had not discussed his possible appointment with Moody. S. E. Barnett of Greenville announced he may be a candidate for the office in the next election.

Hard Job to Fill

"I will have to find someone who is capable, honest and willing to work for $2,500 a year, the governor said. "It is a place of great responsibility and little pay. I may have trouble in filling it."

Terrell's resignation today suddenly ended the house's hearing of 18 charges brought against him alleging general incompetency, misuse of his office, derivation of profit from the tax collection bureau and unfitness to hold office.

The resignation came in the form of a mere statement. It was announced that a duplicate resignation had been filed with the governor.

Shortage Covered

It became known last night that $12,000 covering the alleged shortage in Terrell's department had been deposited in Austin banks late yesterday.

The house attorneys had rested their case late yesterday and introduction of defense testimony was started. Terrell was scheduled to have testified in his own behalf today.

The 18 charges came as the aftermath of a state financial report made to the legislature by Moore Lynn, state auditor. W. Gregory Hatcher, implicated at first, was discharged by the house investigating committee.

COTTON CHIEFS HOLD MEETING

Conference at Dallas to Seek Improvement

DALLAS, Feb. 25. (AP)—Members of a committee appointed by Governor Moody, representatives of the federal farm board and the American Cotton Cooperative association met here today to speed up the program designed to improve conditions for Texas cotton farmers.

The meeting was to reorganize the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association as Texas Cotton Cooperative association and to set up the machinery for formation of district marketing groups.

The cooperative association will be a statewide marketing organization working under the American Cotton Cooperative association, the farm board's $30,000,000 marketing corporation.

Present at the meeting were, Harry Williams of Dallas, general manager of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association; T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. & M. college; Dean A. H. Martin of College Station, director of the A. & M. extension division; Carl Williams, cotton member of the federal farm board, and O. C. Moser, general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative association.

Walton said no definite conclusions would be reached before tomorrow or possibly Thursday. He expressed the hope that the districts might be defined, the personnel and policies of state and district organization established and everything made ready for enlistment of members.

W. W. Cole of Chillicothe and M. C. Dobbs of Lamesa, who were instrumental in the organization of some 75 cooperative gins, mostly in the Panhandle, asked the committee what would be necessary for the members of the cooperative gin organizations to take advantage of the board's program. They were told that membership in the district or state associations was essential.

Santa Fe Drops Plan for Laying Rails West From Seagraves, Texas

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, Feb. 25.—Railroad precedence in the Southwest was upset here today by the Santa Fe railroad when R. J. Hitchcock, general manager of the western lines, announced his company would not build a proposed 46-mile line from Seagraves, Texas, to Lovington, N. M. Authority recently was given by the Interstate Commerce commission to build the road.

"Since the Interstate Commerce commission gave us permission to construct only a part of the line asked for, preventing us from reaching the oil fields of Southeastern New Mexico directly, it has been decided not to construct the line to Lovington," the general manager said.

The proposed line would traverse an agricultural territory which has not yet developed sufficiently to justify the construction of a railroad to handle agricultural products only. The company had asked authority to build a line south from Lovington to Henry, Mr. Hitchcock said, but this was refused by the commission. At the same time the commission gave authority to the Texas & Pacific to build from the state line of New Mexico north through the oil fields into Lovington and this caused the Santa Fe to delay decision on its action.

NEW CHURCH INJURED $2,500 IN EXPLOSION

Sunday School Rooms of Building Are Almost Demolished

NEGRO PORTER HURT

Firemen Extinguish Blaze Following Blast in Ceiling

A terrific explosion of undetermined origin wrecked a large portion of the Sunday school rooms in the basement of the new First Methodist church at Tenth and Travis streets about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and inflicted painful burns on the face and body of Lon Dixon, negro porter at the church. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

Flames from the blast ignited shattered woodwork in the Sunday school rooms and a fire alarm was immediately turned in by other persons in the building who heard the blast and rushed to the basement. The porter was removed to safety before firemen arrived. The blaze was extinguished by chemicals before it had time to gain headway.

Pipes Demolished

The negro was carried to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital where treatment for the burns was administered. He was later removed to his home and was reported resting well late Tuesday evening, although the burns were of painful character.

The porter had just opened the door to the Sunday school room and reached for the light switch, it was reported. When he snapped on the lights, the blast followed immediately, and he was thrown down by the impact of the explosion.

The force of the explosion was downward from the ceiling between the top of the basement rooms and the floor of the first story of the church. Firemen stated the only plausible cause was a short in the wiring which touched off an accumulation of gas in the ceiling, but this could not be determined, since the explosion wrecked both wiring and pipes in the ceiling. Water from the broken pipes flooded into

Home Industries Speakers Heard By Crowd of 2,300 at Meeting Here

The membership of the local Home Owned Industries association was swelled beyond the 1,000 mark Tuesday evening in a mass meeting attended by approximately 2,300 men and women of Wichita Falls and its trade territory at the Memorial auditorium. No exact check on the new members or their financial support was possible Tuesday night, but leaders of the movement estimated the signers of pledge cards at around 1,200. Each of the number signed the following agreement:

"I agree to both 'preach and practice' the creed of the association to-wit: to patronize Home Owned Industries in all purchases, whether large or small, to give careful consideration to weights, measures, quality and price before buying; and where weights, measures, quality and price are nearly equal to give the Home Owned Industries the preference, because I believe that in doing this I will be aiding in the upbuilding of my home city."

Parade Planned

Fred Weeks, chairman of the meeting, announced that the entire membership would be asked in the near future to vote for 21 directors of the association and to adopt proposed by-laws governing the organization. The complete organization will be followed by a Home Owned Industries parade in which only those establishments owned by Texas citizens will be allowed to participate, Mr. Weeks said.

C. C. McDonald, local attorney, was the first speaker introduced by Mr. Weeks. McDonald declared that Texas doesn't need any law not already on the statutes to destroy combines and monopolies, attacking both the governor and the attorney general for their failure to act. He described the Standard Oil program for running oil from the Mid-Continent field as a "gigantic steal," adding:

"Our pioneer forefathers stopped cow stealing and you know how!"

Mr. McDonald declared that the people had been fighting among themselves about prohibition and religion while the monopolies were taking hold, while the inciters to the strife had no religion and cherished well-filled cellars of their own.

Kay Is Speaker

John C. Kay, the second speaker, warned his hearers that civilization is about to break down under the strain of the present "pace" of life, asserting that history shows long-distance political and long-distance

Chautemps Ministry Defeated

PARIS, Feb. 25. (AP)—France's new left-wing government went down to defeat today at its first appearance before the chamber of deputies amid a bitter attack from the opposition.

Premier Camille Chautemps, despite his pleas that it was important for France to send a delegation back to the London naval conference quickly, was beaten on the crucial vote of confidence by a margin of 15 votes, 292 to 277.

For the third time in the history of the third republic, the chamber refused to give the incoming ministry a chance, and after cheering former Premier Tardieu on his entrance taunted M. Chautemps, for having caused the downfall of his predecessor in order to "give the Radical-Socialist party a chance to get governmental portfolios."

The general opinion in Paris tonight was that Andre Tardieu or Aristide Briand would be called by President Doumergue to form a new government.

CONFERENCE MAY ADJOURN AGAIN

LONDON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Adjournment of the London naval conference for another week was expected tonight to be the immediate result of the fall of the Chautemps cabinet in France.

The defeat was a blow to the hopes for speedy renewal of negotiations, but conference leaders were fully prepared for it and will proceed along the lines Prime Minister MacDonald and Col. Henry L. Stimson of the United States planned during their week-end conference at Stanmore.

Committee to Oppose Gas Measure at Austin

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, Feb. 25.—Fourteen land owners of the Texas Panhandle left Amarillo tonight for Austin to lay before the house committee considering the Sanders gas bill the opposition of a thousand land owners against the measure. The committee was named Monday at a meeting here. Resolutions on the matter will be carried by the committee. Latest word today from Austin was to the effect that P. C. Sanders, representative who introduced the bill, was willing to abandon it.

House Passes Measure Calling For Tax of Dollar Per Ton on Sulphur

AUSTIN, Feb. 25. (AP)—The house today passed the Sanders bill proposing a tax of $1 per ton upon all sulphur produced in Texas.

It would fall virtually upon two companies operating in Matagorda and Brazoria counties whose mines produce about 90 per cent of the sulphur of the world.

When the house rid itself of the bothersome impeachment charges the track was cleared for the fifth called session to get to work on the subjects of legislation—penitentiary reformation and revenue bills—submitted by the governor when he recalled the legislature.

The house committee on penitentiaries had reported favorably the bill by Representative Harry N. Graves of Georgetown which would provide for rehabilitation of prison properties as they existed and retention of the Huntsville walls as central headquarters. However, the appropriation in the original bill was reduced from $550,000 to $400,000. The Graves bill was set for special order of business for Thursday at 10 a. m.

THOMAS GETS DEFINITE DATE FOR HEARING

Proposed Duty on Crude And Gasoline Wanted By Independents

OUTCOME UNCERTAIN

Advocates of Tariff Claim 40 Senators Ready to Help Cause

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—The senate agreed today to consider on Friday a proposal to levy duties on crude oil and gasoline, now on the free list.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, proposed a definite time for debate on the oil tariff proposals and Chairman Smoot of the finance committee obtained unanimous consent for their consideration on Friday when the free list will have been reached.

The oil and gasoline duties are favored by independent oil producers.

ADVOCATES NOT "OVER-CONFIDENT"

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Advocates of the proposed tariff on crude oil, which is to be called before the senate Friday, are hopeful of favorable action but may not be said to be over-sanguine.

It is the claim of Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Oil Producers association, who headed the delegation of oil men from the Mid-Continent field which came to Washington several weeks ago and has remained to press the campaign, that there are at least 40 senators who will vote for the proposed rate of $1 a barrel on crude and 50 per cent ad valorem on refined petroleum products.

Even Chance

If such a vote as this can be rolled up by the producers there is just about an even chance of the tariff being adopted. However, that would be only the first step and considerable doubt is expressed as to whether it could be held in the bill when it reaches conference.

The prposal for a tariff on crude oil was turned down by the ways and means committee of the house and it was not in the Hawley bill as that measure went to the senate. The house conferees, with the exception of Representative John N. Garner, of Texas, minority leader, might be expected to be against it and would use this as a trading measure.

Many of the Texas and most of the Oklahoma representatives would favor the tariff if an oppor-

Oriental Mystery In Triple Murder

DOWNEY, Calif., Feb. 25. (UP)—All the mystery of Oriental crime surrounded the murder of three Chinese whose bodies were found on a lonely ranch near here today, their heads apparently crushed with a heavy instrument and their throats cut.

The knife that had been used in the triple-slaying was sticking in the floor between two of the bodies.

SENATE SETS OIL HEARING

Tariff Advocates Not Too Confident

tunity were presented to them to vote for it. This also is said to be the attitude of the house members from the other 17 oil producing states. However, if the senate conferees should recede from this item the proposal would not reach the floor of the house and there would be no chance for the representatives to record their wishes regarding it.

Millions Affected

In discussing the matter today, Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, pointed out that unless the proposed tariff is adopted that approximately 45,000,000 people would be affected in the 19 oil producing states due to the depression that would result in the states where the independent oil producers operate. This vast army of people, he pointed out would not include the thousands employed in other states in the steel industry of which the petroleum industry is the greatest customer.

In answer to charges made by senators who held that a tariff would tend to put up the price of gasoline and also work against proper conservation of domestic oil; he pointed out that past history has shown that fluctuations in the price of crude petroleum has not affected the price of gasoline over the past five years; he stated that though crude oil has varied in price around $1 a barrel, the price of gasoline has not varied three-tenths of one per cent.

He said that the conservation curtailment movement as heretofore applied would not prevent the tariff. It would mean the ultimate destruction of that vast army of American citizens engaged in the petroleum industry with its accompaniment of distress to the hundreds of thousands of men employed in the oil fields, refineries and marketing agencies and allied industries.

"Conservation Blind"

"The cry of conservation being raised by enemies of the proposed tariff is only a blind," he said. "The only beneficiary, as already pointed out by Wirt Franklin, would be the four or five companies now engaged in producing and importing foreign oil who naturally would like to have the American market exclusively.

"From the standpoint of true conservation, as outlined by M. L. Requa, chairman of the Colorado Springs conference, there can be no measure adopted of more efficiency than the proposed tariff on oil and the refined products."

OIL MEN SPURRED BY DEVELOPMENT

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 25. (AP)—News that the senate finance committee will take up the free list Friday or Saturday, and causing Senator Thomas, Oklahoma, to call up for consideration the oil tariff bill that he introduced last fall, caused the mid-continent oil tariff organization committee to speed up its plans for supporting the tariff campaign at Washington.

The Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, California, Illinois and Ohio divisions of the Independent Petroleum association of America, have been organized and funds raised for the fight through memberships.

Gov. W. J. Holloway, of Oklahoma left late today for Washington to join Wirt Franklin, president of the I. P. A. A., in the fight before congress. He received messages of regret from Governor Moody of Texas, who said he had a legislature convening, and Governor Reed of Kansas will have a legislature convening Friday, while Governor Long of Louisiana is reported as being afraid to leave his state for fear political enemies might upset his policies.

A message from Wirt Franklin said that the present oil tariff fight which was launched here Jan. 29, had won over to the tariff side at least 38 senators, and 47 must be secured to have a majority in favor of the measure.

When the first oil tariff delegation of 225 reached Washington on Feb. 3, only three senators were openly in favor of a tariff, and before the party had returned home, this number had been swelled to 25, and with Chairman Franklin and a strong force remaining at the national capital, further support for a tariff had been won, including Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

TRAIN TO CARRY GROUP TO AUSTIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 25. (AP)—Reservations for the special train on which members of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas will journey to Austin Wednesday night have already passed the minimum number for a train, L. C. Turman, director of the organization, announced tonight.

Turman believes there will be 200 independent oil men on the train. In addition four airplane loads are already scheduled, while wires received from the local office indicate that automobile caravans from far West, Central and South Texas points will leave at such time to arrive, for the independent meeting scheduled at Austin Thursday morning.

Members of the committee named to interview Governor Moody with the request of submission of the question of pipe line legislation which the association seeks left homes Tuesday night, and will meet the governor Wednesday morning. This committee will be headed by Tom Cranfill, Dallas independent operator, who had a lengthy conference with Governor Moody at Dallas Monday night on the questions involved. Word received at the association headquarters here since the meeting here Saturday tell of meetings held by independent operators in Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Midland, Adessa, Big Spring and other points, while membership committees are reported at work in every oil town in the oil producing sections of Texas.

C-C. ENDORSES OIL TARIFF, OPPOSE GAS TAX

Endorsement of an import duty on crude oil, except that shipped into the United States under bond for refining, and opposition to any additional state production tax on gas and oil were voted unanimously by members of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Tuesday morning.

Resolutions incorporating the attitude of the board on these two matters will be forwarded to legislators from this district at Austin and Washington, officials of the organization stated.

Besides the directors, representatives of oil and gas companies, members of the traffic, publicity and oil and gas committees of the chamber of commerce, Frank Kell and Mayor J. W. Akin participated in Tuesday morning's discussion.

Tax Hits Consumer

Adoption of the measure now pending before the legislature at Austin, proposing to impose an added tax on natural gas, would cost citizens of Wichita Falls about $30,000 monthly, in the opinion of W. H. Penix, local attorney. He said the tax would add about 1¾ cents per thousand cubic feet to the current rate of 67½ cents (domestic rate). Mr. Penix expressed the belief that industrial concerns would have to abandon gas as fuel in favor of coal or oil if the legislature imposed the additional tax. Organizations have been formed in practically all of the large cities in the state to combat the measure, the speaker said.

Directors of the chamber of commerce also voted to offer no opposition to the proposal of the Wichita Falls & Southern railway to discontinue its passenger trains between this city and Breckenridge.

Rayzor Resigns

On the recommendation of the publicity committee, plans were formulated for launching a campaign, subsequent to March 1, for familiarizing residents of Wichita Falls and surrounding territory with the advantages and opportunities offered by this section.

Following the acceptance of Arthur C. Rayzor's resignation from the board as a result of illness and removal from the city, the body adopted a resolution of appreciation for Mr. Raybor's services in the past, and of regret at the necessity of his withdrawal. It was announced that his successor will be chosen next Tuesday.

J. S. Bridwell, president, presided at Tuesday morning's meeting.

'Drama in a Duplex' Shows in Court

Judge Mediates for Two Red-Head Wives

Two youthful housewives who share the same duplex and the same glowing shade of red hair, Tuesday afternoon appealed to O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, to settle a neighborhood row that centered in a radio loud speaker, replaced by an "old and squeaky phonograph" when one of the red heads "pulled" the electric switch and threw both apartments into silence and darkness.

As told to the justice of the peace, the domestic drama unfolded something in this wise:

Act 1—A new electric radio, high powered is installed in apartment No. 1. It plays, not well but too loudly, far, far into the night.

Act 2—The Titan haired beauty in apartment 2 pulls the electric switch which controls the power in both apartments and the radio is still.

Act. 3—An ancient but lusty portable phonograph is pulled from a closet in apartment 1 and the loudest records in the house are rushed in for emergency services to replace the radio.

Act 4—The resourceful lady in apartment 2 turns off the water supply and addresses remarks through thin walls of the duplex.

Act 5—The owners of the silenced radio, in darkness and without water, to say nothing of burning ears, go to court.

Epilogue—Judge O. L. Gibbs holds that lady in apartment 2 did not say anything very naughty and then even if she did, she had reasons.

There was little time for mere husbands while the Tuesday afternoon trial was in progress, but one of them, youthful and mild-mannered was called to the stand.

"Who's the boss in your household," the attorney wanted to know.

The young man blinked and looked toward his wife, erect and red-haired, sitting near the door.

"Well, I claim to be," he muttered, "but . . ." The lawyer, relenting, did not press the point.

RAUB QUARTET MAKES DEBUT

Musicians Club Hears Group at Concert Here

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

Members and friends of the Musicians club to the number of about 150 heard a program at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Tuesday night in which groups and solo artists not heard formerly on programs of this organization assisted in setting a uniformly high standard of performance.

The ensemble which made its formal debut Tuesday night, as a Musicians club unit, was the Raub string quartet, composed of Stanley M. Raub, first violin; Mrs. Flora Greenwood, second violin; Mrs. Edwin A. Bebb, viola; and M. A. Ellis, cello. Playing two groups, which opened and closed the evening's program, the quartet evidenced tonal balance, comprehensive technique and interpretive musicianship of promising possibilities.

A. H. Mahaffey, tenor, was the other artist making his first appearance on Musicians club programs this year and presented two groups of songs. His singing of "Ah, Moon of My Delight," from Liza Lehman's "Persian Garden," featured a performance which was conspicuously pleasing because of the consummate ease with which he sang.

Mr. Raub furnished the most brilliant performance of the evening in his solo numbers with the exquisite "Marcarolle" of McMillen. The delicate fingering demanded by by rapidly moving chromatics, and intricate double-stop combinations, were handled with admirable ease and rhythm without sacrifice of tone. More dynamic in its earlier passages, and sonorously emotional in later moods, Sarasate's "Les Adieux" furnished almost as effective a number for Mr. Raub's interpretation.

One of the best known and most popular of Schubert's innumerable songs, "Du bist die Ruh," was chosen by Miss Harriett Bradley mezzo-soprano, for her one appearance. A tone which appears to be inherently sweet and restrained flowed in excellent legato through the characteristic Schubert melody, marked with good diction in the original tongue.

Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, besides accompanying Mr. Mahaffey, contributed one of the most effective numbers of the program in Chopin's voluminous "Ballade in A Flat."

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Beavers. A short talk on work of the music study clubs in the first Texas district was given by Miss Inez Rudy of Bowie, president of the federation of clubs in this district. Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. and Miss Ruby Murrell played accompaniment for Mr. Raub and Miss Bradley, respectively.

financial control to have been the cause of the break down of all civilizations in the past. He painted a picture of the ideal citizen and said that an eastern corporation failed to meet the requirements.

"Let us put our money into the banks we can borrow from here at home," he urged, making a plea for more cooperation among the home people, and warning that they must either "hang together, or hang separately."

James V. Allred, candidate for attorney general and the third speaker, brought a basketful of exhibits to his address. He accused many chain stores of offering bargain prices for goods that failed to equal in measurements those offered in independent establishments, and exhibited a group of articles which he said he purchased here in proof of his statement.

Conspiracy Charged

The speaker asserted that there has been a "gigantic conspiracy" among the manufacturers in preparing special packages of goods for chain store sale at so-called "bargain" prices, these packages failing to come up in weight and measure to those offered in independent stores.

I. S. Broyles, merchant at Vernon, told the assembly that not only the merchant but everybody is vitally concerned in the present fight, urging them to let the power of public opinion control the situation.

The meeting closed with a brief address from Rev. Patrick Henry, who declared that organizations for community good had never received any support from chain organizations and that the people had no right to sacrifice the good of the community for a little personal gain.

the rooms and covered the floors before the cut-off was found.

The $5,000 carpet covering the floor of the auditorium on the first floor of the church was not damaged by the blast, all damage having been confined to the basement rooms. Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the church, stated the structural stability of the building was in no way affected by the explosion and an investigation Tuesday evening revealed no damage to either the chimes or organ machinery. Both the chimes equipment and the organ are of intricate and costly construction.

Repair work to replace the ceiling, walls and furnishings of the damaged rooms will begin at once, Dr. McKenney said. The work will be arranged and supervised through the building committee of the church without the necessity of a meeting. The committee will also take steps to investigate and prevent a recurrence of the blast, it was said.

Cause Undetermined

Persons in the church at the time of the blast stated they knew of no gas pipes at that portion of the building. The church is not heated by gas, the furnace using only a small amount of gas to ignite the fuel.

The room in which the blast occurred was almost completely wrecked and a portion of the primary room and a small room used for storage were badly damaged. These rooms are in the front part of the building, far removed from the furnace and boiler room in the rear.

tI was reported an accumulation of monoxide gas was noticed in the furnace room last Sunday and an investigation was made to determine the source of the fumes. Firemen stated it was possible some of the gas noticed at that time had accumulated between the ceiling and the floor and had been ignited by a short in the wiring.

CLUB WOMEN OF DISTRICT ENDORSE PRISON REFORM PROGRAM

Leaders Crowd Many Activities Into Busy Day

The most outstanding action taken in the afternoon meeting of the first district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in session at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday was the motion made and passed that the first district endorse the action taken by the state federation at Mineral Wells when the following resolution was passed: "Resolved: that the Texas Federation of Women's clubs in convention assembled at Mineral Wells, Texas, Nov. 11, 1929, commend the Texas prison board on the legislative group composing the survey committee for their sincere and unselfish efforts to solve the problems and make plans for a new prison system for Texas and we endorse and support the majority report and offer them the help of this organization in furthering these plans."

The first district went on record in voting on a resolution moved by Mrs. Guy Rogers, that the "board in session send a message to the speaker of the house and the lieutenant governor expressing the feeling of the board in this matter." The secretary was directed to send these messages during the day.

This move came as a result of the splendid talk made by Mrs. Bob Barker given during the dinner hour.

Mrs. Bob Barker Speaks

Mrs. Barker said in part that the walls of the penitentiary at Huntsville were constructed 80 years ago and that since that time nothing constructive had been done to them. She stated that a prison built to hold 50 prisoners and a maximum of 500, today held 3,000; that no papers were allowed inside the walls and that all magazines were censored; that prisoners had nothing to occuy their time and that cells built believing that two would crowd them, now held four and the four were obliged to enter these cells at night before the corridors could be crowded with the cots making sleeping places for others. "Four sessions have been called for prison legislation," Mrs. Barker stated. "In all the prisons visited by the commission appointed to investigate conditions, the Texas penitentiary is most disgraceful."

District Prizes Offered

Seven prize offers were announced in the afternoon session of the conference. Mrs. M. P. Bewley offers $25 for the club doing the most in art in the first district. Mrs. R. E. Buchanan offers $5 for the best club report given by a delegate to the state federation conference. Mrs. Grover C. Johnson offers a prize of $10 for the best junior reading club organized by a study club in proportion to the size of the town. Mrs. J. D. Meredith offers $10 for the best art exhibit in the school. Mrs. Lee Morris offers $5 for the best year book brought to the convention at Stephenville. Mrs. T. S. Richards offers $10 for the best paper on farm relief and Mrs. St. Andrew Myers offers $5 for the best poster showing the relation of nutrition to health.

Reports were given in the afternoon by all chairmen of departments absent in the morning and adjournment was made to prepare for a tea given at the home of Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, complimenting federated club members and their out-of-town guests.

Luncheon Served to 100

The luncheon served in the auditorium of the Forum clubhouse was a beautifully arranged affair. The speaker's table was a symphony in pastel shades—an enormous basket of spirea and delicately shaded flowers filling the center and candles in the pastel colors in the candelabra at the ends and in the center where ruffles of blue, yellow, pink and orchid emphasized the motif. All other tables carried out the same lovely colors.

Mrs. W. R. Potter, former state president of the T. F. W. C., was introduced by Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, who made a gracious toastmistress and spoke for a few minutes on cooperation in home, club, district and state federation. Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta was introduced and in turn introduced Mrs. Melva Bakkie of St. Louis, Red Cross nutritionist for the western section of the United States who made a talk on health. The goal in her work was, she said, "that every boy and girl may have a heritage of health." Mrs. Bob Barker was introduced to talk on legislation and Mrs. Lillian Kerr gave a short and brilliant toast from Colorado, greeting the clubwomen of Texas in the name of that state and extending to them the heartiest invitation to attend the biennial in Denver in June.

Among out of town guests registering in the morning were Mesdames Joe Benton and Mrs. Hood of Nocona, O. T. Anderson and M. L. Wolverton of Olney, Miss Inez Rudy of Bowie, Miss McKinney of Great Bend, Kan.; Mrs. Melva Bakkie of St. Louis, Mo.; Mesdames J. E. Lutz, Vernon; Harry Karlsburg, Bowie; J. T. Young of Mineral Wells; E. C. Richardson, Jacksboro; Dan Reeder and Bob Barker, Fort Worth; B. H. Trammel, Breckenridge; St. Andrew Myers and R. L. Boddie, Henrietta; M. W. Majors and Dudley Ellis of Burkburnett; R. Darrah, Arlington; Julian Oppenheimer, Fort Worth; Miss Bobbie Castlebury, Vernon; M. W. Burch, Decatur; Mesdames Lee Morris, Chico; John B. Hunt, Bowie G. M. Utt, Vernon; Mesdames Ernest May, Lindsay B. Hawkins, Cad McCall, H. E. Griffin, W. H. Huggins, Geo. L. Welch, J. B. McGraw, E. L. Kuykendall, J. D. Meredith, B. M. Trammel, Louise Buchanan, and C. F. Spencer. Board members in Wichita were Mesdames Grover C. Johnson, Ola G. Hamlin, J. C. A. Guest, G. B. Smedley, T. A. Hicks, Carrie Joline, G. D. Anderson, Guy Rogers, W. M. Cason. Many members of the federated clubs of Wichita Falls and adjoining towns filled the tables where approximately 100 guests had luncheon.

Business of Morning

In the morning meeting, reports were heard from chairmen of the various departments after an introductory welcome from the president, Mrs. Ben G. Oneal. The main purpose of the session was outlined as preparatory to the work to be done at the district conference in Stephenville, April 14, 15 and 16. Mrs. Bob Barker of Fort Worth chairman of the program committee, gave an outline of the tentative program and asked chairmen to see her in regard to their programs.

Devotionals by Mrs. John B. Hunt of Bowie opened the meeting and Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin gave words of greeting. Mrs. Ben Oneal stated she had selected as the best possible choice the group of loyal and efficient women named on the board and stressed the need of cooperation in the district. She particularly requested as objectives of her regime that clubs promptly answer all letters received; that highways might be beautified; that clubhouses might be built and regard for the law be enforced. "We, the women of the first district," she stated, "are molders of public opinion. We must spend our time to make America live as she should." Mrs. Oneal reported 11 clubs visited in the district; 250 letters and 75 postcards sent.

Mrs. G. B. Smedley, secretary, reported the number of clubs in the district who have already paid dues and expressed the desire of the officers to be 100 per cent paid up.

Publicity was requested for the message received from Mrs. James Welder of Victoria, state chairman of "Headquarters Permanent," urging the cooperation of club women in building the state federation clubhouse at Austin. Her message read:

"Believing that there is no incentive for patriotism, loyalty and good citizenship like 'ownership,' I am asking the club women of Texas Federation to unite 100 per cent in this project of 'ownership.' The slogan of 'own your own home' has been used in our home department but never applied to ourselves. For 32 years we have grown and expanded, and our family has multiplied. Now, that we are approaching middle life let us turn our energies to the ownership of a home.

"We have passed our Silver Jubilee, let us prepare for the Golden Anniversary that it may find us domiciled in our own home. May the slogan 'I helped to build it,' apply to every Texas club woman, that headquarters may be a monument of cooperation from the Texas Federation of Women's clubs."

Chairmen Report

Reports were received during the morning session from Miss Robbie Castlebury of Vernon, first vice president; Mrs. Lee Morris, second vice president; Mrs. G. B. Smedley of Wichita Falls, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. John Hunt of Bowie, board member; Mrs. P. H. Boddy of Henrietta, chairman of the American home committee; Mrs. J. C. A. Guest of Wichita Falls, chairman of scholarship and loans; Mrs. J. E. Lutz of Vernon, on law observation; Mrs. J. L. Hard of Fort Worth, chairman of press and publicity; Mrs. W. M. Cason of Wichita Falls, chairman of the division of urban press; Mrs. David Warren, chairman of community drama; Mrs. Julian Oppenheimer of Fort Worth, chairman of fine arts, and Mrs. W. H. Huggins of Vernon, chairman of committee on nature study, flowers and wild life.

Mrs. David Warren of Bowie, stated the objective of the drama department to be the writing of a play with Texas as the background and announced that rules for a contest will be given in the next Federation News.

Mrs. W. R. Potter, past president of the state federation and now national officer and Mrs. M. W. Burch of Decatur, past president of the first district, were introduced and made short addresses of greeting.

GRAND JURY RETURNS TODAY

Members to Investigate Bribery Charges

Investigation into bribery charges brought against Dan Ellis and C. P. (Blackie) Wilson, deputy constables, will be placed in the hands of the 30th district grand jury Wednesday morning when it reassembles at a special call from the office of the district attorney.

More than two dozen witnesses have been subpoenaed for the hearing, officials said, and the inquiry is expected to continue through most of the day. The two officers are charged with accepting a $95 bribe from J. J. Crow last week when they are alleged to have discovered 24 gallons of whisky in his car in a local garage. Both men deny the charges and claim to be the object of a bootlegger's "frameup." Trial of the case is set for Thursday in the 89th district court should the grand jury return indictments.

Air Jumps Take Nerve!

And the way you feel physically makes all the difference in the world!

Member of the "Caterpillar Club" earning his right to membership by 5000 feet Emergency Jump.

AIRPLANE pilots tell us that their courage, their whole attitude toward flying, varies from day to day, with the way they feel. If they feel full of pep and healthy, they can try anything—nothing frightens them. Their nerve is unshaken; their skill keen; their flying is perfect.

It is an entirely different story, however, if they wake up in the morning feeling sick, down in the mouth. Then flying isn't quite so easy.

What is the matter with these brave people when they are not up to par? The natural poisons in their bodies have not been swept away. They are allowing their brains to be clouded and dulled by poisons which should not be permitted to remain in the body.

This is the lesson we can learn from airmen. It is the lesson that points to Nujol—the simple, natural, normal way—without the use of drugs or medicines to keep the body internally clean of the poisons that slow it up. Nujol is pure, tasteless, colorless as clear water.

Millions of people have discovered that it forms no habit; it cannot hurt you, no matter how long you take it. It is not fattening; not absorbed by the body. It simply cleans out, as regularly as clock work, the body poisons which we all have.

It is hard to believe that so simple a treatment can make all the difference between feeling sick and feeling fine!

Instead of driving your body and irritating it with harsh cathartics, laxatives, and drugs, use Nujol and give nature a chance. See how the sunshine floods into your life when you are really well. Get a bottle of Nujol in its sealed package at any drug store. It costs only a few cents, and it makes you feel like a million dollars. Find out for yourself what Nujol will do for you this very night. You can be at top-notch efficiency and happy all the time. Get a bottle today.

Mrs. Oneal Hostess At Tea To Federated Club Guests

The colors of spring made a beautiful setting in the new home of Mrs. Ben G. Oneal in the Country Club Estates Tuesday afternoon, when she entertained members of the federated clubs and out-of-town guests with an informal tea.

The receiving line was composed of presidents of the federated clubs of the city and the line of gracious hostesses in their beautiful evening gowns added to the beauty of the home. Mrs. C. P. Burton met the guests at the door; in succession were Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, Miss Robbie Castlebury, Mesdames G. B. Smedley, E. T. Duff, J. C. Humphrey, T. T. T. Reese, James G. Oakley, Kenneth Bebb, Miss Eva Wallace, Mesdames E. B. Lehrack, J. C. Mytinger, Dwight Ross, Grover C. Johnson, P. M. Cordell and Mrs. Frank Creighton.

The guests were ushered into the dining room where at the table lovely with its handsome lace cloth and great basket of pastel shaded spring flowers, Mesdames G. L. Shapard and Guy Rogers poured tea, while Misses Mary Tancred, Mary Clare Burton and Mary Virginia Barron of the junior forum, served the guests.

Guests made a tour of Mrs. Oneal's new home and were enthusiastic in their comments. Besides the artistic arrangement and the exquisite appointments, spring flowers in bowls, baskets and vases made the entire house bloom.

About 250 guests called during the afternoon.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We read that 52,000,000 packs of playing cards are manufactured every year. And yet there are numerous players "at" bridge who have not succeeded in really learning the game.

Mainly their trouble is they do not understand team work. It takes partnership to make a good game at bridge.

The best lawyer we have ever known—a man with brain and wit to accumulate an enormous fortune—was one of our poorest partners. He would not do teamwork.

He played always like many of the careless young girls who act as if they are curious to see the next fall of a card—as though it were all mere accident. Bridge never exercised their mental muscles.

But ethically, he was perfect. And that is the point in bridge that needs developing.

The New York Whist club lays down a strict set of rules each year for the people who wish to play bridge correctly; it reads "must" and "may" at the proper times and if it were followed exactly, the game would develop accurate thinkers.

There are usually printed in the back of a book of rules, a chapter on the ethics of bridge. And there are many who have never read them.

You can gather that either they are ignorant of ethical values or deliberately upset them when after a partner has bid they say "By" in capital letters. When they are dummy, they finger the dummy cards and encouragingly push forward the one they feel should be played.

They peer into other's hands and make leading remarks about them. They hold post mortems over the game. They lose their tempers. They are not "good sports."

In a game of bridge, one can tell more quickly if the average player is a good sport than in any other game of life. One who will cheat without really violating rules, will cheat in life if he can do so without violating rules.

There's the man who keeps his cards shut up as if they were a poker hand—tight; the woman who never sorts her cards—how does her pantry look? Business methods should be used in the game and the brain may be taught to concentrate and the mind be disciplined.

An honest, conscientious bridge player is a steady person. A brilliant one is often a gambler but the steady, thoughtful, disciplined player may be depended on in life.

Customers Best 'Debunking' Agency For Advertising, Says Store Head

"Customers are the best business bureau in the world for 'debunking' advertising copy," said Ralph De Shong, manager of Saul's stores, in an address before members of the Ad club at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

"Bureaus are maintained in some cities to check up on advertisements, to see that all statements are truthful," said Mr. De Shong, "but the man or women who buys the goods can draw better conclusions."

More useless money is spent on advertising copy which means nothing than is spent on any other useless thing, Mr. De Shong said, with reference to inclusion of argumentative matter.

"One year ago a store advertised: 'Our chain-store buying power enables us to sell for less.' Today that store advertises itself as 'a home-owned institution.' The customer really doesn't take much interest in a fight between competitors, and it is much cheaper to call up each other and get it off their chests."

Planning of advertising for long periods in advance also was recommended by the speaker.

C. A. Spragins and Voyle N. Armstrmong were in charge of the program.

FOOD-BOLTING HABIT CAN BE OVERCOME

Doctor Recommends Milk Drink in Late Afternoon

The wear and tear of an active day sometimes leaves business men and women in a state of nervous fatigue. By the time home is reached and the evening meal served, the fatigued person is too hungry to eat slowly. As a result of food-bolting, or eating too fast, the discomfort of indigestion often follows.

In such cases, a leading Philadelphia doctor recommends drinking a flavored milk beverage in the late afternoon, or eating two or three cookies or a piece of candy. The sugar in this food checks hunger and overcomes nervous fatigue in an appropriate way. Later, the evening meal can be eaten with calm enjoyment.

Such endorsement of sugar should not be overlooked. Too often home diets are lacking in this important food. In this connection the tendency to eliminate desserts from balanced meals is dietetically wrong.

Aside from the quick energy sugar supplies, it can help in promoting a more balanced diet. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in cooking vegetables heightens their flavor and causes them to be eaten with more relish. As a matter of fact, such use of sugar increases the value of the food thus seasoned. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Junior C.-C. Organizes Petroleum Division

They are the producing, refining, marketing and statistical departments. A committee to represent each of those divisions will be appointed within the next few days, it was announced.

Right Idea!

This four-year-old athlete is the son of Mrs. Sam Jones, 1702 W. Laurel St., San Antonio. She says: "Jimmie's wonderful conditon shows my idea is right.

"Whenever he's the least cross or upset, or has a cold, I give him a little California Fig Syrup. It always brightens him up; regulates his stomach and bowels; gives him a hearty appetite. I have used it with all my children and it has never failed to help them promptly."

All children love the rich, fruity flavor of California Fig Syrup. A pure vegetable product, it doesn't gripe or sicken. It always acts gently but thoroughly to cleanse the system of bilious, headachy, constipated children. Doctors say it tones and strengthens weak bowels. Try it with your child. See how bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness disappear!

The name California marks the genuine, famous for 50 years. So look for it when buying.—Adv.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

The Treatment for Apoplexy

Immediately following an apoplectic attack, the patient's head and shoulders should be raised by a high pillow, and all constricting clothing such as collars, garters and belts should be loosened. Cold or ice applications should be placed at the back of the neck, while warm applications may be used on the lower limbs or abdomen.

The patient will usually recover from the first attack, but he should immediately begin using a fasting regime to reduce his blood pressure and facilitate the dissolving of the clot or embolism.

The orange or grapefruit juice fast seems to be especially beneficial in these cases, and it should be continued for from six to ten days and followed by a carefully balanced diet. The one which is outlined every Friday in my newspaper articles is a very good diet to use for this purpose.

No heavy food should be given within several days after the attack or it will retard the cure. If the patient sticks to the fast he can accomplish more good in the first two weeks than can be done for him later on by two or three years of treatment.

Enemas should be used night and morning, using from one to two quarts of plain warm water, and should be disturbed as little as possible during an attack, and one must be careful not to apply too much heat to the limbs or abdomen as the skin is not as sensitive to heat in this condition as in health and may become burned without the patient being able to give warning.

No heavy exercise is advisable, but moderate walking may be recommended at the end of the fruit juice fast. The patient should make a special effort to discourage any habits of worry, fretting, fuming or anger. A tranquil, poised mind and a happy disposition will do much in preventing further attacks.

By following these very easy rules you can know that you are helping the patient to recover from the stroke in the shortest possible time. In these cases where the paralysis is slow in leaving, a mild massage should be used, beginning about ten days after the stroke. As soon as the patient is able, he should practice active movements to overcome the tendency to muscular contraction.

I can assure you that if one of your family has a stroke and you follow this fasting regime and treatment which I have outlined, you are doing the wisest and best thing that can be done.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Third Set of Teeth

Question—T. J. writes: "Once in a while we read a news item that some elderly person finds new teeth emerging the same as in a young child. Would it be possible through a special diet and certain gum massage, etc., for a grown person to grow new teeth to replace those pulled?"

Answer—There are occasional instances where one or more teeth will grow after the second set of teeth have formed. This is really an abnormal condition and cannot be created through anything a person can do. Usually the only way to get a third set of teeth is to buy them from a dentist.

Beet Tops

Question—H. W. S. writes: "I would like to know what you mean by beet tops and turnip tops—do you mean the leaves of these vegetables? If so, will you please tell me how to prepare them?"

Answer—Young beets and turnips have tender tops which make excellent greens if they are properly prepared. They should be cooked in very little water and for only a short time. If the heavy aluminum ware is used and the cover kept on the cooking vessel, it is not necessary to use any water, as they will cook in their own juices. They should not be cooked over 10 minutes.

Dextrinized Cereal

Question—Mrs. H. T. asks: "Is a cereal that is advertised as roasted and toasted, dextrinized? It is made of wholewheat, and I am wondering if this dextrinizing would have a laxative effect."

Answer—There are many breakfast foods on the market in which the starch has been completely dextrinized. Those made of entire wholewheat would be bitter from the burning of the bran if the manufacturer did not add molasses or some other sweet. If the cereal is completely dextrinized it tends to produce constipation and is decidedly non-laxative unless some laxative substance is put in with the cereal. Many of the toasted brans on the market are not completely dextrinized and therefore the bran has a stimulating effect on the intestines.

Rabbit Breeders Hear Fort Worth Speaker

Approximately 40 members of the North Texas Rabbit Breeders' association heard an address by M. A. Withers of Fort Worth on the subject of disease prevention among rabbits at the bi-weekly meeting of the organization at the courthouse Tuesday night.

Uses of various toxins and care of rabbits were discussed by Mr. Withers. He also extended an invitation to local rabbit producers to send entries to the rabbit division of the Fat Stock show to be held March 8 to 16.

Work of the rabbit breeders' association at Electra was discussed briefly by O. M. Waters of that city. Plans of the government for producing a motion picture reflecting scientific methods of raising rabbits were explained by W. L. Smith, corresponding secretary of the club. Mr. Smith also told of modern methods of packing meat for the retail market.

Charles D. Winfrey of Iowa Park, president, was in charge of Tuesday night's meeting.

Father of Wichitan Dies in Hospital Here

T. J. Crawford, 74, of Cisco, Texas, died in a local hospital about 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The body was held at the hospital pending arrangements for an ambulance from Cisco to take the body to that city for interment. Heart trouble was given as the cause of death.

Mr. Crawford was taken to the hospital late Tuesday afternoon in a critical condition. He died a few hours later. He had been in Wichita Falls for some time, visiting his son, E. B. Crawford, who is in a Wichita Falls hospital suffering from a fracture of the spine sustained when he fainted and fell in the hospital corridor, striking his head on the wall several weeks ago.

MODEL FARM GIVEN CHARTER

State Also Approves New Drilling Company

Two new Wichita Falls corporations were granted charters by the state Tuesday, according to Associated Press dispatches to The Record News.

The Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce Demonstration farm was incorporated with a capital stock of $3,000. The incorporators were named as P. R. Freeman, J. L. Randel, R. K. French and Neal Powers. The farm is located on the Kemp and Kempner land, in charge of J. N. Sherrill, near the Johnson Poultry ranch southwest of the city. Its purpose, according to Mr. French, will be mainly that of demonstrating the possibilities of dairying and cultivation of small acreage so as to make the farm in a measure self-sustaining. The seed crops to be demonstrated will be mainly for use on the dairying farms and not for marketing.

The second charter was granted to the Swastika Drilling company, with a capital stock of $3,200. The incorportors are James E. Campbell, Walter K. Campbell and Grayce R. Campbell. The company is newly formed and will carry on its drilling activities in Wichita county, it was said.

DEATHS

MRS. A. JACKSON

The body of Mrs. A. Jackson, 70, who died in a local hospital early Tuesday morning, was forwarded at 2 a. m. Wednesday to Snyder, Texas, by the Hines mortuary. Funeral services and interment will be held in Snyder Wednesday. Mrs. Jackson is survived by her husband, who lives in Snyder.

Mrs. Weldon Heads Forum Drama Department; Consolidation Voted

Election of officers in the drama department took place in a short business meeting at the Woman's Forum Tuesday night preceding a program given to honor out-of-town federation visitors.

Mrs. H. F. Weldon was elected chairman; Mrs. H. E. Barr, vice chairman, and Mrs. Stillman Wyatt, secretary and treasurer. The department voted to consolidate with the art and music departments in one to be called the fine arts department.

A clever two-act play was given by pupils from the Academy of Mary Immaculate entitled "The Rainbow Kimona." Much amateur talent was shown and the splendid training of Mrs. E. L. Fulton, demonstrated.

Ella Merle Mathis Bristol gave an original cutting from "Gentle Julia," by Booth Tarkington, depicting the spirit of the story in talented fashion and Miss Erie Ward gave Cadman's "Legend of the Plains," as a piano number.

Through the courtesy of Dairyland, delicious punch was served by Junior Forum girls throughout the evening in a punchbowl which was also the gift of Dairyland—a block of ice filled with red radiance roses, complimenting the choice of Wichita Falls in the favorite flower chosen in The Record News contest last spring.

ties displaced the glass bottles the consumption of milk has increased 100 per cent. This may be a bit of free publicity for the paper bottle manufacturers but it sounds interesting.

Here are some items from the information bulletin of the department of public relations of the M-K-T railway, which may also be of interest:

Katy freight revenues in 1929 were $44,619,989, a decrease of $642,662 under the preceding year, but $658,230 more than in 1927, and $842,346 greater than in 1925, average per ton mile revenue having declined more than 6 per cent since 1925. Freight revenues for 1929 would have reflected the increased traffic more accurately if the road in 1929 had enjoyed the same average ton mile revenue as in earlier years. The continuing tendency toward lower levels of rates has made it necessary that the railroads show continuing increase in traffic volume in order to maintain their revenues.

Measured in dollars, the Katy's decrease in passenger traffic in 1929 was smaller than in any year since the end of government control of railroads, indicating that the effect of automobile and motor bus competition on railroad revenues may be approaching its peak. M-K-T passenger revenues in 1929 were $6,206,420, or $561,108 less than in 1928. The tremendous effect of decline in passenger revenues on railroad income is more accurately appreciated, however, when comparisons are made with earlier years. Katy passenger revenues in 1923, the year marking the end of the railroad's receivership, were $11,295,456, or $5,089,036 more than in 1929. It is an interesting coincidence that the decline in 1929 passenger revenues as compared to 1923 approximately equals the Katy's annual interest charges.

OF A GERM

Daily Editorial

IN the year 100,000,000 B. C.—maybe an aeon or two earlier or later—a tiny amphibian crawled out of the virginal oozes and began to warm its sluggish blood in the primordial dawn.

No one is quite sure what this vague, rudimentary thing looked like, or can classify, to a certainty, the elemental germ of life from which it developed, in the experimental laboratory down there among the yeasting muds, where nature had just begun to condense and combine the vital forces from which all self-perpetuating species were to descend.

The abysmally stupid creature was utterly deaf, sightless and entirely devoid of acute sensations.

Its brain was barely large enough to house breathing and feeding instincts. It had heart and lungs of sorts and a digestive system scarcely capable of eliminating fuel and nutritive essences.

And that was the founder of your race.

In February, 1930, the carefully cultivated seed of this dim organism is tearing planets apart, splitting atoms into millionths, snipping continents in half and scooting about the heavens on homemade wings.

The brainpan that wasn't roomy enough to hold a pain throb or a recognizable hunger, is now a factory from which hundred-story skyscrapers, submarines, Hudson tunnels, philosophies, arts, trip-hammers and locomotives pour in helter-skelter procession.

One of the corpuscles, that set out on its hundred-million-year journey on the morning we mention, eventually settled in a little Michigan town and evolved into an Edison.

Another, steadily collecting intelligence and accumulating constructive curiosity in Neanderthal caves, jungle wattles, Tartar yurts, Arab tents, shepherd huts, Athenian academies and Roman temples, finally lands in the veins of an electrical engineer, and enables him to identify elements still beyond microscope vision.

A THIRD of those same corpuscles, after traveling in the footsteps of the brontosaur, the eohippus, past Nineveh and along the trails of Nebuchadnezzar, Xerxes, Alaric and Saladin, embarks for America and yields, as the fruit of its venerable investigations, a light ray to estimate the thickness of paper to an electron breadth.

And the fourth, wandering through Heaven knows what ethnological routes, winds up in Schenectady to enter service in the wizard den there, and confide to E. F. Alexanderson how to radio an identifiable image to Melbourne, Australia, one 20 thousand miles away, but now, by grace of successful television, one-eighth of a second distant.

But something seems to have happened, lately, to the particular bit of gray matter delegated to provide solutions for the tangles into which human nature invariably snarls itself when economic and political opinion undertake to find common denominators.

The drys and wets were never more at loggerheads. The president can't convince the tariff makers that national expediency requires prompt and decisive action on uncompleted schedules.

All attempts to bring order out of New York's confusion of criminal laws are frustrated by legislative partisanship.

The house judiciary committee simply won't render conclusive reports on the Wickersham committee recommendations.

Europe is again headed for indefinite messes; the Tardieu cabinet is out and Doumergue is at wit's end where to find materials for an effective successor; the Soviets have declared war on all formal religion, and it will take a sharper sword than Alexander's to cut through the involved knot into which naval disarmament suddenly discovers itself.

Nothing seems impossible except a composition of the selfish differences which have consistently defeated [illegible] ambition to live under the rule of reason, and make the best use of its opportunities [illegible].

When you leave this world you leave your enemies behind—unless you're a doctor.

A campaign to popularize the potato is under way. We offer, free of charge, the slogan, "The Eyes Have It."

"98 Out of Every 100"

LAST autumn's stock market smashup failed to shake the bottom out of prosperity, as some people predicted. Nevertheless, times are far from perfect. Every large city is discovering that it has an unemployment problem. So are many small ones.

In some places radicals have taken advantage of the unrest to provoke riots. In others, soup kitchens and free lodging houses are well patronized. In still others, industrial strife has added to the distress, so that there are relief committees collecting food, money and clothing to keep people from starving to death.

Now none of this has yet reached the proportions of a national problem. Most people are getting along very nicely. Nevertheless, considering one thing and another, it sounds a bit peculiar—in the midst of all of this—to hear an eastern university professor solemnly deliver this dictum:

"Ninety-eight people out of every 100 are financially incompetent."

Some people seem to have the feeling that there must be something very wrong with the man who is unable to lay by a competence for old age. There are great virtues and little virtues, but the greatest is the ability to "handle money," as they say: the ability to keep oneself always solvent, always ready for the rainy day that may be just around the corner.

That feeling generally underlies a remark like this one. The people who have are always ready to shake their heads over the people who have not. Yet at the present time that sort of talk seems a bit out of place.

How on earth is anyone able to say that 98 per cent of the people are financially incompetent? There are, today, some 3,000,000 men out of work in this country. Are they all financially incompetent? Is it, in other words, their own fault that they have no jobs and hence no credit at the grocery and department store?

The average American industrial worker gets $1,500 a year; and sociologists have estimated that the minimum cost of living for a standard family of five in an ordinary American city is $1,920 for a year. The average workingman, then, evidently is part of our professor's scandalous 98 per cent. Such a man, no doubt, really ought to have financial acumen enough to lay aside a couple of thousand dollars to take care of him and his family in case of unemployment. He probably will be very glad if the professor will tell him how.

Quite obviously, it is just a little bit too soon for anyone to say what percentage of the citizens is financially incompetent. So many people are that way because it isn't humanely possible for them to be anything else.

Utilizing Leadership

CONDITIONS prevailing generally in the stock market of the country, and correlatively in the agricultural industry, point the importance of the meeting to be addressed here Thursday night by C. O. Moser of Dallas, and should guarantee the attendance of a capacity crowd.

Mr. Moser, president of the American Cotton cooperative, is coming to Wichita Falls at the request of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce. He is recognized throughout the nation as one of the best informed, most experienced and thoroughly qualified experts in the growth and marketing of cotton.

What the Wichita Falls community may do, or may not do, with reference to cotton production in 1930 and future years will not determine the standing of that commodity in the world's markets. But what this and thousands of other communities like it do collectively will determine more than any other factor whether the South's principal industry will continue to waver on the verge of bankruptcy or regain the stability which the economic importance of its product justifies.

Leaders are urging reduced acreage and improved staple in the raising of cotton. Unless such wisdom as their recommendations may contain be impressed upon land owners, cotton growers and cotton buyers in each community to the point of producing action, it will be of no effect. Those who wish to bring curative measures to the aid of a sick industry will hear Mr. Moser Thursday night with receptive minds.

Dividends or Employes

WILLIAM LEISERSON, professor of economics at Antioch college, has a new idea about industry—an idea that is worth thinking about, even if the chances of its being adopted in the near future are pretty small.

Industry's first responsibility, he declares, should be to its employes rather than to its stockholders. In the present depression, he says, many firms which are sharply cutting down their numbers of employes are continuing to pay dividends; and this, he believes, is all wrong.

In other words, Professor Leiserson believes that in hard times industry should look after its employes first and its stockholders second. This, of course, is a rather radical proposal, and Professor Leiserson won't find many business men to agree with him. Just the same, it's an idea worth thinking about.

Ploughshares and Flivvers

HENRY FORD'S remark that there might be circumstances under which he would be willing to buy the navies of the world and scrap the ships for the metal in them probably drew a smile from most newspaper readers.

The proposition is rather apt, though—and it won't do to smile too hard, because some day Ford might up and do it. He's quite capable of it. And if an enduring world peace ever comes, it will come largely because the great industrialists like Ford want it to come.

The thing we like best about it, though, is its analogy with the old prophecy about the beating of swords into ploughshares. Substitute dreadnaughts for swords and flivvers for ploughshares and you have it brought up to date—with several thousand years of progress tossed in.

Plea

I cannot say the things that lovers say,
The pretty speech—the fervid compliment
Is strange to me, I lack the subtle way
That lads should have—and I am innocent
Of tricks that are a part of cupid's trade.
And yet I pray and hope you understand
That though my love is not upon parade,
You sense it in the pressure of my hand.

You note my eagerness in pleasing you,
Your happiness is my avowed concern,
Please then, forgive the things I cannot do—
At least my kisses are not taciturn.

Read in my eyes and banish all your fear,
The things I've left unsaid—speak there, my dear.
—DON WAHN.

Gag

Then there's the one about the war vet who asked a theatrical manager (his buddy during the big tilt) for a job. The producer placed him in his bookkeeping department. Two days later the lad said: "I should have told you, I guess, but I was shell-shocked during the war and my memory is bad." The producer had him switched to the publicity bureau. The next day the veteran explained: "I guess I'm a bore, but really, I cannot read or write." The producer summoned his stage manager. "Listen, Pete," he instructed, "this bird can't read or write and he hasn't any memory. Make him an actor!"

Wisecrack

The newest dramatic hit in town is christened "The Last Mile," in which there is a prison revolt and the entire cast dies. So Jack Osterman says the night he saw it the ushers took the bows.

Sounds Like Him

Arthur Caesar, of whom it was first said: "He even makes a noise buttoning his coat," has been in Hollywood for a long spell, and some of his severest friends and best critics were wondering when he would return to the Grandest Canyon.

"I saw him two weeks ago," said a Hollywood visitor, "and he told me he intends staying out there and saving his high wages so that when he returns he can afford to make more enemies."

Capsule Criticism

It is one sassy Broadwayite's argument that the supreme "comedy" act would be one consisting of Paul McCullough, Eugene Howard and Zeppo Marx.

Jukk

Samson Raphaelson, who authored "The Jazz Singer," asked his old granny what she thought of his play. "Well," she replied, "I'll tal you. I deedn't like so much depart where de son went away."

"But, grandma," explained Samson, "if the boy didn't go away there wouldn't be any second or third acts."

"So ull right!" was the indifferent response as she shrugged her shoulders, "so den dare wouldn't be no second or toid ects!"

By Way of Report

During a performance at Loew's State the other evening Jack Osterman offered a travesty on Rudy Vallee's style of megaphone warbling, which is very amusing. The men spectators roared with lusty laughter, as did many of the women, but there was hissing by several femmes, too. Osterman later explained: "You should catch me at the matinees when the theater is crowded with men. They howl at it." He added that the hissing at the night performance indicated that he probably would receive some stiff mail, denouncing him from the hissers, who obviously are Vallee fans.

New York has one or two other favorites whom you cannot kid or even jot down a sour criticism about, even if it is an honest one. They have their individual followings and to offend them in any way is to invite "the indignant subscribers" to complain to the editor. In fewer words, Vallee and one or two others are "local Lindberghs" or "gods" and it amounts to so much sacrilege to roast them.

As a Matter of Fact

An otherwise engaging story dealing with Broadway is that one by Ishbel Ross which just started in the Trib. Only when the author asserts that playgoers spend $500,000 nightly to see the shows do we titter, for $500,000 is twice as much as they spend.

Of the 78 legit theaters but 15 of them are housing money-making hits, the others are in the hands of the half-price ticket brokers or are flops. And now and then a "Whoopee" or a "Sons o' Guns" comes along that reaches the $48,000 in a week mark. The Times Square theater house record was only broken last week when it enticed $37,500.

So $250,000 a night would be the local playgoer's top, and that includes the coin earned by the cinema places.

Proof

That dramatic critics are not so important, after all, was exemplified recently. Of course, it was a press agent's blunder; nevertheless, it shows how not so well known the critics are to those with whom they deal. The show in question got but one favorable review and took great space at great cost in the newspapers to play up part of the lone endorser's report.

And for his generosity, the critic's nice comment was credited to his predecessor who quit Park Row last year.

And to make matters more irritating the huge ad with the error ran three days unchanged—in his own sheet!

"LOVEJOY" : By : Beatrice Burton

CHAPTER XLVI

The long ride home was a nightmare and a horror to Lovejoy.

She could neither eat nor sleep. She couldn't settle down to read any of the magazines that Steve had bought for her in the station.

She sat, hour after hour, her eyes fixed on the wheeling landscape. Twice, during the heartbreaking journey, the porter brought telegrams from Aunt Em to her.

"Baby just the same," one of them read.

"No change in baby doctor says," the second one told her.

Well, that was something, at any rate. . . . Tommy was holding his own, at least.

If I can just get there! Lovejoy found herself praying silently as the train bore her along through the wet autumn fields and the little towns.

The trip seemed to last for an eternity. An eternity of agony and terror and hopelessness.

But at last it came to an end as everything does—mercifully.

There was no one at the station to meet her.

That was odd she thought as she followed a red cap to the taxicabs drawn up outside the building.

And yet who was there who could be expected to meet her? Aunt Em surely would not leave the baby. And Tom and Norrie Shane would hardly come down to the train to welcome her with open arms.

But Tom might have come down in his car to drive me home, she thought, her old resentment toward him flaming up in her heart once more. He knew I'd be frantic about the baby.

As the cab went jolting along through the rain-swept streets, her thoughts flew back to Steve Oglebay. . . . How kind and tender Steve had been to her! She remembered the long, dark, dreadful hours of that last night when he had held her in the crook of his arm while they drove along the Malibu beach. She remembered how he had looked at her when he kissed her good-by and made her promise to come back to him.

Steve really cares for me, she said to herself. And there was warm comfort in that knowledge even now in the midst of her anxiety and racking pain.

Then the front of the dingy Bullard street apartment came into view through the mist of rain, and she forgot Steve Oglebay and everything else on earth except the baby.

She was shaking all over with fear when she pressed the door bell in the vestibule of the old building.

Aunt Em herself opened the door to her. Her hair was strained back from her face and she looked as if she had not slept for a week.

But Lovejoy did not take a second look at her.

"How's the baby?" she asked breathlessly, pushing past her.

"Just the same," she heard Aunt Em whisper as she went on swift, noiseless feet through the sitting room and the dining room.

There was a lamp burning on the telephone table in the back hall. Beside it, sound asleep in a chair, was Tom.

The shades were down in the baby's room. One window was open and a piece of white cheese-cloth had been tacked over the screen.

In his little crib, drawn up beside the bed where Lovejoy had slept for so many years of her life, lay the baby.

His eyes were closed and he was breathing quickly and unevenly. She laid her hand lightly on his forehead and found that his skin was dry and hot to her touch.

She looked down at him, realizing how helpless she was. There is so little that can be done for a sick little baby, and Lovejoy knew it.

What a pathetic little thing he was, curled up there under the blanket, with his two hands bunched up under his cheek like two tightly closed buds—

How did I ever go away from him? she found herself wondering as she knelt there beside him in the darkened bedroom. I'm his mother—and I should have had him with me no matter where I went.

The big square diamond on her finger winked up at her in the dim light. . . . All her life she had wanted a diamond like that. And now that she had it she knew that it was of no value at all compared to the small sleeping thing in the crib beside her.

She heard a rustle behind her and turned her head. Aunt Em was standing in the doorway.

"I've made a cup of tea for you," she whispered, and Lovejoy followed her out to the dining room, going on the tips of her toes so as not to waken Tom.

"He's been up all night," Aunt Em told her. "He and Norrie Shane and I. That's an awfully sick little baby, Lovejoy. Dr. Arnott says it's just nip and tuck with him." She shook her head as she poured out two cups of strong steaming tea.

"Well, you can all go to bed now," said Lovejoy, "and Norrie can make up her mind not to show her face in this flat at all from now on. I'll take care of the baby."

Aunt Em stirred sugar into her tea thoughtfully.

"Norrie's wonderful with the baby and she's a nurse besides," she murmured. "She's done everything for him the last few days—"

"Oh, she has, has she?" Lovejoy broke in with sudden fury. "Then why is he lying in there at the point of death—my baby? I took care of him for months and months and I guess I can do it again as well as she can!"

Ten minutes later when Dr. Arnott came he found her with one of Aunt Em's big white aprons, tied around her slender waist, ready to carry out any orders of his.

Like all nervous people she had risen, high-strung, to this emergency. She was calm and cool and collected now. Only the straight line of her mouth showed the strain that she was working under.

"There's not much we can do in a case like this but to keep the baby warm and quiet," good, kind, old-fashioned Dr. Arnott told her. "He mustn't have any food while this fever lasts. But he can have a few drops of cool boiled water if he wakes up. The more he sleeps the better it will be for him."

At 1 o'clock, while Lovejoy and Aunt Em were having another cup of tea, Tom woke up.

"Oh, you're here," he said dully to Lovejoy when he came walking into the dining room.

He turned to Aunt Em.

"How's the baby?"

"Just the same, Tom. But he's got to get better or worse pretty soon now. That fever's wearing him out."

Tom said nothing. He sat down at the table, his fingers working up and down at the edge of the cloth that covered it. He did not touch the toast, the cup of boiled eggs and the cup of tea that Aunt Em set before him presently.

"Don't you want to go to the office, Tom?" she asked him. "Don't you think you'd feel better if you got out into the air for a while?"

He shook his dark head and said nothing.

Late in the afternoon a knock came on the door of the kitchen where Lovejoy sat, waiting for a kettle of water to cool.

She opened the door. There, in her white dress, stood Norrie Shane. The rain and the gray sky made a background for her—a background as gray and dismal as Norrie's life had been.

"I—I've been sitting up with the baby at night—lately," she said hesitatingly.

"You aren't needed now, though," Lovejoy answered her clearly. "I'm taking care of my baby."

And without another word she closed the kitchen door in Norrie's plain good face.

She stood listening to the sound of Norrie's feet that led to her spinster flat.

That night Aunt Em went to bed. Lovejoy and Tom settled themselves down in the dining room with the door open so that they could hear any sound that the baby made.

The lamp on the table showed Tom's face haggard and thin as if he had just come through a long illness. For the first time it struck Lovejoy that he looked as if he had been sick.

"Been sick, Tom?" she asked.

"No. What makes you think so?"

He smiled, his mouth hard with pain.

"You'd hardly expect me to be fat and smiling when my kid's dying by inches in there," he said bluntly.

It came to her, with a sense of shock, that he was suffering just as much as she was. And through her own sorrow she was suddenly sorry for him.

She stretched out her hand to him across the table. He looked down at it, seeing Steve Oglebay's ring for the first time.

"What's that thing?" he asked, although he must have known what it stood for.

At that instant the telephone rang sharply through the quiet house.

"Minden, Nevada, calling Mrs. Lovejoy Nicholson," said the long distance operator in Lovejoy's ear when she went to answer it. "Mrs. Nicholson? Hold the wire, Mrs. Nicholson."

Padlocking the Big Hotels

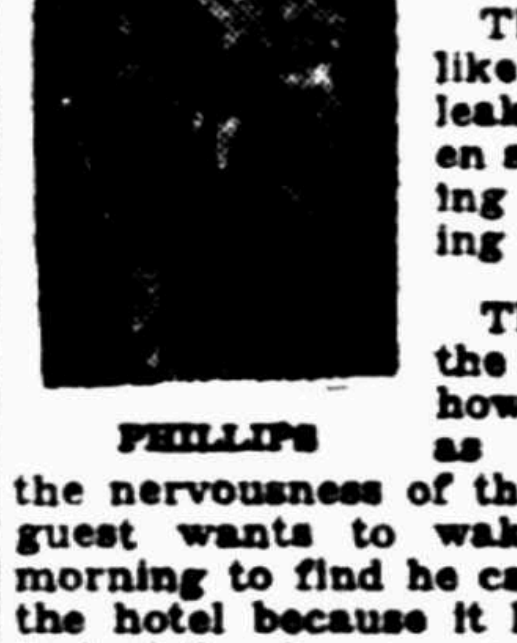
Before choosing a hotel in which to stop in a big city you'd better inquire in advance and see if it's unlocked.

Prohibition enforcement chiefs are now proceeding against the big hotels and in New York the padlocking of several of the largest hostelries is threatened as a means of stopping the liquor traffic through bell-hops and porters.



PHILLIPS

This is a lot like stopping a leak in the kitchen sink by removing all the plumbing in the house.

The concern of the hotel men is, however, nothing as compared to the nervousness of the tourists. No guest wants to wake up in the morning to find he can't get out of the hotel because it has been padlocked for two years.

A 'do not disturb" sign on your door may keep you in a hotel room for the period of a federal court order.

If the padlocking drive is carried through, a guest may phone for breakfast in his room and get an answer from a United States marshal informing him that he can't cook or run an elevator but will take the matter up with Washington and see if he can get him a soft-boiled egg and a cup of coffee by 1932.

You may phone down to the desk to ask what time it is and get a reply from a cop saying, "I don't know; I'm a stranger here myself."

You may even call down for a bell-hop and get a locksmith.

Nervous ladies are already looking under hotel beds to see if there is a coast guardsman, a prohibition agent or a crusading bishop there. It's all highly unnerving.

"How long do you expect to be with us?" asks the hotel clerk on Manhattan island these days.

"I don't know," the well informed guest replies. "Everything depends on the government."

The enforcement chief also threatens to arrest hotel and restaurant and night club proprietors who allow ginger ale or other soft drinks to be served when they are to be used in making highballs. This is like holding a hotel management responsible for nightmare in room 456 because the hotel furnished the pillows and sheets.

The only solution would seem to be a warning on each ginger ale bottle sold: "Not to be opened till Christmas."

Jack Spratt U-boats would scrap.

And so they argue back and forth
For press and magazines.

When Italy's spokesman speaks at the naval limitations conferences it presumably gives the French and Italian delegates that Grandi and glorious feeling.

A proposal to fight the next naval war with painted ships upon a painted ocean may some day go through, but some pacifist will immediately pop up and move to outlaw paint.

France asserts vehemently that submarines are an absolute necessity to her in time of war. They certainly are. If it hadn't been for the German undersea boats in the last one an allied victory would have been almost impossible.

What Chicago is suffering from thinks W. M. Friedbergh, is that parrot disease, "citycostus."

PHIL SCOTT'S MANAGER THREATENS TO CALL OFF MIAMI FIGHT

The Sportlight

Spring in the History Class

She spoke of Alexander as an eminent commander,
And showed 'em how he always used the phalanx in attack;
But freckled Mickey Horner,
Blinking over in the corner,
Dreamed of Mack.

She praised the late J. Caesar as a smart, artistic geezer,
And said that he was just the type that must appeal to youth;
But little Tim O'Grady,
Though his eyes were on the lady,
Thought of Ruth.

She lauded Mr. Hannibal and said he was no cannibal,
But when she asked young Heinie Schmidt who made the Romans groan;
With his young brain in a whir,
Heinie, looking at her,
Said "Malone."

She spoke of Greek and Roman and of horsemen and of bowmen,
Of phalanxes and legions in the medieval game,
Of Goths and Huns and Vandals
And such other early scandals
Known to fame.

But Timothy O'Toole, as he cantered home from school,
Lost but little time forgetting what he termed "a bunch of dubs,"
As he doped the punch and science
Of the Mackmen, Sox and Giants,
And the Cubs.

The Working of the Ballyhoo

When Sharkey and Scott were first matched to see which survivor would remain to face Max Schmeling and decide the heavyweight argument there was no possible reason to give Scott anything but the thinnest sort of an outside chance.

Sharkey figured to win from every angle, harder hitting, more aggressiveness, greater speed, better stamina and tougher fiber.

But there is something about the bounding ballyhoo—that suddenly changes the scenery. Some one writes that Scott is boxing better and that he has at least a fair chance. Some one else suddenly observes that if Scott can slip safely by the first four rounds he ought to jab his way safely through. Some one else digs up Sharkey's record against Heeney, Risko and a few others, which proves that he is at least no world beater. And what looked to be a one-sided match six weeks ago suddenly turns into a highly interesting contest.

Maybe it will be, and maybe it won't be. But the fact remains that Sharkey ought to win going away, for he still has the same advantages he had two months ago.

If Sharkey can't whip Scott decisively he hardly can be carried along to any heavyweight championship. Even the British have never granted Scott any championship claims or class, and the British have been rooting hard for a home boy to pick up where Bob Fitzsimmons left off more than 30 years ago.

I was just as certain that Sharkey would beat Heeney and Risko as I am that he should beat Scott, whether he does or not. But he didn't beat either Heeney or Risko, because they crowded him and he let them take the play away. Scott isn't the crowding type. And this should increase Sharkey's chance to win, possibly in three or four rounds. It means the American heavyweight can have most of his own way about setting the pace and running the show.

If Sharkey ever tore into Scott as he ripped into Jack Dempsey through the first round of their battle the tumult and the turmoil would last about two minutes. But—that was another party.

BRITON DEFIES BOXING RULES

Johnston Wants to Be Above Referee

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Canadian and British sailors were landed in substantial detachments today from the men o' war anchored in Biscayne bay but, as it turned out, it was not necessary to call upon them to settle a renewal of a controversy between Phil Scott's camp and the Miami Boxing commission over the issue of procedure in the ring by Referee Lou Magnolia Thursday night, when the British heavyweight fights Jack Sharkey.

Defies Referee

Playing a lone hand in his attempts to break up the peaceful serenity of fight preparations, Scott's manager, Jimmy Johnston, tossed defiance at all orthodox ring regulations in a demand that he first be consulted by the referee before any possible action is taken to stop the bout because of Scott's condition. Johnston insisted that if anything happened to "My Phil" he wanted it to be the count of 10, not any technicality of ruling or judgment on the part of the referee.

Not satisfied with a flat rebuff this morning from the commission and going so far as to threaten to call off the fight, unless his demands were met, Johnston argued the issue out again this afternoon at another conference with the boxing authorities and Referee Magnolia.

So far as the commission is concerned, the whole matter was disposed of with this flat statement:

"Lou Magnolia is to have entire responsibility in refereeing the Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott boxing contest with no interference by another person whatsoever."

At the same time a novel touch was added by the informal sanction of a "gentlemen's agreement," in the form of a concession to Johnston's position. This agreement is that Magnolia, on his own discretion and depending upon the circumstances, may cast an inquiring look toward Scott's corner if the Briton is in distress. Otherwise, Magnolia will use his own judgment and confine any consultation with the handlers in either corner to the interval between rounds.

The musical comedy touch was completed this afternoon with the landing of British Jackies, formed in the background for the last act of the Magnolia-Johnston boxing commission dispute. The sailors, about 800 of them, crowded into the American Legion arena to see Scott indulge in a light workout. Their presence not only seemed a tonic to the lanky British boxer's morale, but prompted him to deliver a short speech, expressing confidence he would uphold the best of British traditions in the ring and voicing the hope that the next time he met them he would be the world's champion.

Ochiltree County Tax Collections Run High

PERRYTON, Texas, Feb. 25.—Tax collections in Perryton and Ochiltree county reflect the conditions of this particular section of the country, and a record has been hung up here that will be a mark for others to shoot at. According to Sheriff J. S. Talley, only nine tracts of land and 14 town lots carry delinquent taxes due prior to 1929.

Collections for the city of Perryton were exceptional, according to City Clerk J. C. Beever. A total of $26,310.09 was collected with only $2,453.07 going delinquent. Practically all of the delinquent list was on vacant lots owned by non-residents.

In the Perryton Independent school district, $70,924.61 was collected by Mrs. Luther Wade, out of a total roll of $74,771.38. Sheriff Talley collected $97,376.35 for the state and county out of a total of $102,623.76, leaving slightly over $5,000 yet unpaid in this department.

Two Men Groomed To Replace the Great Art

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 25. (UP)—While Art Shires, holdout first baseman of the Chicago White Sox still is demanding a $15,000 contract, two men were being groomed today for his position by Donie Bush, manager.

If Shires fails to come to terms Bud Clancy probably will play at the initial sack with Moe Berg saved for utility. Bush said the White Sox management has offered Shires $11,000 and will not raise that figure.

Giants' Roster At Camp Nearly Complete

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 25. (UP)—With John McGraw, manager, scheduled to arrive tonight and Carl Hubbell, southpaw pitcher, reporting today, the club roster of the New York Giants now is almost complete.

Hubbell was eight days late. He has been on his honeymoon.

Cy Smith Arrives for Training

Cy Smith, pitcher with the Spudders last season, arrived in town Tuesday, the third out-of-town player to report for duty this season. Cy lives in Winston Salem, N. C. Forced out of the game last July by an operation, he has completely recovered now, he said, and is "sure anxious to get back to work." He has been training some, and will start in again immediately, he said. The spring training season opens officially the first week in March.

Despite Reformers, Baseball to Open 1930 Season With All Its Faults

By DIXON STEWART
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Baseball, now in the spring training stage will open the 1930 season retaining all its faults and without having adopted any of the suggestions for improvement made at the close of last year's campaign.

Magnates ignored agitation for various changes and the "lively" ball, the extended schedules and the antiquated "world series" retain an important place in the program.

Club owners are convinced home run hitting is directly responsible for the growth of baseball interest and refused to consider any plan to make the ball less resilient.

The 154 game schedule was retained, the magnates did condense the season into one week's less playing time, closing the regular season Sept. 28.

President Heydler's suggestion that some new method of interleague competition be instituted to make the "world series" a fairer test of league supremacy was shelved—along with his now famous "ten hand team" idea of the previous year.

The baseball men were too conservative to consider seriously suggestions that two popular features of ice hockey competition be applied to baseball. Judge Emil Fuchs of Boston was ridiculed for his advocacy of the hockey penalty system for baseball.

The second hockey feature recommended for baseball was a system of interleague competition and championship contests similar to hockey's Stanley cup playoffs. This plan calls for the three leading teams in each league to compete in the playoffs to decide the world champions.

Advocates of the plan pointed out under baseball's present plan American league stars never play in Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn while fans in Detroit, Washington and Cleveland never see the National league stars in action.

Aspirants Get First Taste of Training Tuesday

Believing that football is taught as much in spring as it is in the fall, Coach Barry Holton issued his first call for aspirants for the local high school team Tuesday afternoon and found the turnout to be unusually large. Only a few suits were issued the first day and these went to the veterans of last year's squad. A light workout of passing the ball around constituted the first day's program.

The final call for tryouts for the team will be given about the first of March. The squad is to be divided into several teams and interquad games will be held each week. The outstanding 24 players in the whole squad will receive an additional two weeks practice and instruction after the teams have been dismissed. Plenty of material is on hand and prospects for one of the best teams in the history of the school is the outlook.

Strength of Dallas Steers Depends On Generosity of Chicago White Sox

(Editor's Note—This is the fifth of a series of articles on the 1930 prospects of Texas league clubs.)

By GEORGE WHITE
Sports Editor, Dallas News
(Written for The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 25.—Officials of the Dallas Steers have adopted a policy of watchful waiting pending the arrival March 1 of Jakie Atz, new manager, to establish spring training two days later, and decision of the Chicago White Sox bosses on what players they can spare from their roster. In short, the Sox have full voice as to whether the Bovines are to be in the 1930 pennant race, just as they had last year when they came through with needed help at critical stages.

Revamped Machine

At the current writing, the Dallas club, almost entirely made over from the machine which won the first half and then the playoff with Wichita Falls for the pennant a year ago, does not look like a serious title contender, but the loop as a whole may be weaker too, in which event the locals must be given a chance.

The catching department is sure to be stronger than last year as long as Claude Robertson, veteran and crafty handler of pitchers, is in harness. When he isn't, it will be weaker, for his only understudy who is conceded a chance at this time is Font Tillman, a rookie from Fort Worth.

The pitching staff still is a big question, and while Manager Atz predicts that he will have the most efficient hurling brigade in the circuit, the fans are not willing to accept his word as final until they see more names on the roster.

Blankenship Back

Homer Blankenship will be back from last year, as will Walter Tauscher, both righthanders. The latter comes under the non-class rule. In 1929 Blankenship was of little value with his sore arm. Only time will tell whether it has regained its strength. Tauscher was an in-and-outer. At best he cannot now be regarded as a regular starter.

New additions include Chester Falk, southpaw from Montreal, and the ancient Dave Danforth, also a port-wheeler, acquired from New Orleans. Neither did anything last year to stamp him as the making of a pennant winning combination in this circuit. There are others, however, including Bert Grimm, loaned last year to Beaumont, Phil Hensick and Elmer Bray who schooled in the Three-Eye league, all right-handers; and Little Gene Moore, kid southpaw who finished the season with Dallas. Of course the usual number of kids will be given trials, but who can count on them now?

Claude Robertson who specializes in making big league pitching stars out of men who throw left-handed, may bring out Falk or Moore and develop him into a winner. But the staff, without more help, certainly isn't outstanding.

Mediocre Infield

The infield, on paper, is rather mediocre, with no real flash at any spot. It looks about as strong at one place as at another. Ray Ratcliff, 1929 rookie, who is fairly fast and an accepable infielder, is the only fortification for first base. He may or may not hit. Karl Swanson from Beaumont, another flashy fielder but only fair batter, is delegated to second, with Wayne Windle from Waco at short and Hugh Willingham, bought from Little Rock, at third and the vet Happ Morse or Nick Borelli from the Three-Eye to do utility duty. It should prove a fast, clever defensive infield.

As the outfield stands now, Earl Johnson, last year rookie, will be in center. He is another Eddie Moore as a ball hawk. Red Harvel, who sold a couple of years ago for $15,000 on the strength of his batting and came to Dallas at the fag end of last season, never to catch up with the pitchers, and Si Rosenthal, complete the outfield, although it is believed sure that George Blackerby, slugging star of Waco, will be turned over to the club by the Sox. Jim Moore may come back and the same goes for Randy, who was sold to the Braves.

Dallas may have another pennant winner. Everything depends upon what the White Sox have to offer in the way of help. Taking club as it now stands, however, the Moore boys have not been replaced. Neither has Irvin Jeffries nor Vic Frasier nor even Whitey Glazner nor Charlie Barnabe. There is strong assurance that George Connally will be back, which is some consolation.

But right now the Steers do not have the pitching class nor the batting punch that will be required to compete on even terms with other clubs that have a better start already and still are in position to get as much or more help from other big league teams as Dallas is expected to get from the Sox.

One thing must be said for the club, however. It should have better generalship with Jake Atz and Claude Robertson on the job and there are signs of much closer harmony between the owners and the "hired" hands.

BI-DISTRICT CLASH TONIGHT

Estelline Meets Cubs on Olney Court

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Feb. 25.—Coach Lowell Parrish and his Estelline cagers arrived in Olney Tuesday afternoon for the first of a three-game series with the Olney Cubs Wednesday night, to determine the bi-district championship of districts number three and four. The second game will be played in Estelline later in the week. The Estelline aggregation has rolled up a string of impressive victories throughout the season and has entered the local Cub den confident of victory. However, the Olney Cubs, victors in the district tournament at Wichita Falls last week, have a record to be proud of. The local team built around three veteran players, easily won the district honors last week, displaying the greatest exhibition of teamwork ever witnessed in this section.

A. S. Acker, Olney mentor, has developed an all around team this year equally good on the offense as well as the defense. Last year these same two teams met in the bi-district contest but the locals were a little weak on the offense as compared to their defense. The Estelline Cubs have a slight edge over the local boys this year as their last year's team has remained intact, but with the fighting spirit of Acker's men a victory over the Estelline aggregation would not be a surprise.

Jim Tully Named In Divorce Suit

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 25. (AP)—James A. (Jim) Tully, red-haired "hobo author," was the defendant in a divorce suit today, charged with extreme cruelty and threatening his wife, Mrs. Margaret Myers Tully, "with great bodily harm."

Mrs. Tully, who recently established her residence here, filed the divorce suit yesterday, alleging that Tully quarrelled with her in the presence of guests and told her he wished she would leave him.

In 1929, Mrs. Tully's complaint said, her husband threatened her "with great bodily harm" and said that if she did not leave him he would go to the South Sea islands.

The Tullys were married Jan. 24, 1925, in Los Angeles. Mrs. Tully instituted two suits for divorce in 1928, charging cruelty, but dropped them after a reconciliation.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (AP)—Cotton goods were very quiet and unfinished cloth divisions and prices somewhat irregular on some of the staple finished goods due to the continued ease in raw cotton. Burlaps markets were easier. Raw silk weaker following reductions in Japan grades. Broadsilks and hosiery are quiet at first hand. Filling in orders are being placed on top coatings, flannels and spring suitings.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—A moderate volume of the former grades of both 64 and finer combing and orginial bag territory wools are being sold. Some of the large worsted manufacturers are in the market and while they are not buying heavily, the sales reported have been closed at firm prices. The 58-60's and 56's grade of strictly combing and French combing wool continue slow and and only occasional sales are reported on the 48-50's grade.

JUDGES TO MEET

Special to The Record News.

PERRYTON, Texas, Feb. 25.—County Judge J. M. Grigsby of Perryton has just announced that county judges and commissioners of the North Plains counties will meet in Perryton for a business conference, March 3. A good attendance is expected for this meeting.

MANY TO USE MULCH PAPER

Farmers and Gardeners Busy With Planting

Truck farmers in this section of the state will use mulch paper extensively in the growth of produce during the coming season, according to information given The Record News Tuesday by local growers and dealers.

Practically every experimentation in this community in 1929 with mulch paper as an aid to forced growth and elimination of weeds resulted in material improvement of yield and reduction of labor, it was said. On the basis of tentative demands as estimated by produce growers, large supplies of the paper, in varying widths and weights, have been stocked by the Maricle Coal and Feed company, it was said.

The only exception noted to the general inclination to extend the use of mulch paper was at the Weeks small farm community. According to James Yeths, superintendent, some difficulty was encountered in preventing disturbance of the paper by the wind last year. The small farm colony is located on an elevation north of Lake Wichita, and is subjected to practically a steady wind of noticeable velocity. Since each of the individual tracts is small, most owners there will follow the old plan of weeding rather than depending upon paper to keep down foreign growth, Mr. Yeths said.

Purchase of garden seed of all kinds has reached an unusually heavy volume during the past week, dealers stated. Aside from the large tracts which will be cultivated commercially again this year for truck production, small home gardens by hundreds are being planted.

For the larger farms throughout the county, field corn and oats represent the heaviest sale of seed thus far, it was reported. Demands for corn indicate, according to dealers, that a record acreage for field corn will be devoted to that crop this year, due partially to the increased effort to raise feed for all dairy herds in this district.

Eggs slipped off 25 cents per case Tuesday, bringing the current quotation to $6 per case. Seventeen cents per dozen was offered for loose fresh eggs.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (AP)—After considerable irregularity the cotton market advanced and closed over $1.25 per bale net higher. Opening prices were from 3 to 13 points up on better cables than due. Further gains were soon recorded only to be dissipated by a 30 point break in sympathy with the decline in grain prices. A rally started in the afternoon and closing were at or near the top for the day. Sales of mules and fertilizer are below last year's figures. Strenuous efforts are being made to reduce cotton acreage.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (AP)—Reactions from early advance were followed by renewed firmness in cotton today on heavy trade buying and covering which appeared to be stimulated by the closing rallies in grain. May contracts after selling up from 15.27 during the early trading broke to 14.95, making a new low record for the season. But more than recovered the loss selling up to 15.32 in the late trading. That delivery closed at 15.28 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 18 to 23 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 to 11 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. It was reported that March notices had been issued against 40,800 bales which was rather less than expected, and after some little backing and filling the market sold about 17 to 20 points net higher with March advancing to 14.97 and October to 15.71. Offerings increased on this bulge, however, with a good deal of March liquidation in evidence, and the market turned easier following a decline in wheat.

For a time the selling was active, and prices for all months made new low records on the break which extended to 14.67 for March and 15.42 for October during the early afternoon, or 9 to 14 points below yesterday's closing quotations. Heavy trade buying was reported on this decline, however, particularly in May and July while there was also an active demand for December. This evidently improved the technical position of the market, and the recovery in wheat contributed to the late advance. March sold up to 14.99 and October to 14.79 making net gains of about 19 to 29 points. The close was a few points off from the best on May and later deliveries.

The trade buying reported here led to talk of a better spot demand, and the sharp recovery in wheat was accompanied by some western buying in the cotton market. Liverpool cables said that liquidation there had been absorbed by covering and trade calling and that the ballot in Lanchishire mills spinning American cotton had not carried the short time proposal.

Port receipts 16,907. U. S. port stocks 2,183,147. Exports 31,678, making 3,574,801 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25. (AP)—Following an early decline of about $1.50 a bale the cotton market rallied sharply later and recovered all of the loss, with final prices showing a net gain of approximately $1 a bale. Covering and trade buying were the incentives behind the recovery which carried May contracts from 14.74 to 15.14. The option closed at 15.10 or 19 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 19 to 22 points.

Liverpool cables were favorable and first trades here showed gains of 4 to 10 points. New York reported notices of 40,000 bales for March delivery and this was increased later to 50,000 bales. The tenders were smaller than expected and as the wheat market opened higher prices here continued upward after the start with March selling to 14.79, May 15.10 and July 15.33, or 17 to 19 points above the previous close.

Later in the morning the market sagged sharply under selling in sympathy with a decline in wheat and before the offerings were absorbed active positions sold off 27 to 36 points from the highs with March at 14.52 and July 14.99.

In the late afternoon the market became firmer under good trade buying and covering influenced by a recovery in wheat and prices rallied to new highs for the day. May advanced to 15.14 and July 15.37, or 38 to 40 points up from the earlier lows. Final prices were 3 to 4 points under the best with active positions showing net gains of 19 to 22 points.

Commodity Price Improvement Has Favorable Effect on Stock Prices

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. (US)—Improvement in commodity prices after a further drastic break found immediate reflection in the stock market today after selling had persisted most of the morning and into the early afternoon. It was very evident from the action of the stock market that it was following very closely the fluctuations in the commodities. Throughout the first four hours of the session, stock prices were subjected to persistent pressure, probably chiefly professional and as the commodity prices continued to suffer, some going to new lows, offerings of stocks likewise increased. New lows were reached by many pivotal stocks. The closing hour on the stock exchange witnessed a fair rally in prices as the commodities enjoyed a brisk recovery to close higher in many instances than the previous day.

Railroad stocks failed to participate in the late rally and closed down almost a point on the average. Atchison, Central and other leading rails were under pressure throughout the day on reports of continued lessened traffic. Lackawanna proved an exception to the weakness in the group and at the close was up several points on buying stimulated by this line's merger possibilities regardless of other factors in the general railroad situation. Utility stock likewise were generally lower in sympathy with profit-taking in Consolidated Gas induced by its report showing $4.75 a share earned last year. Other Utility shares were more or less neglected but Electric Power & Light proved an outstanding strong spot, rising more than four points to the highest point on its recovery. Buying of this stock has been attributed to the strongest Utility interests, attracted by its favorable prospects not only in the electric field but particularly in the natural gas development. Brooklyn Union Gas was another exception to the dullness in the Utilities.

Steel common broke several points during the early selling and reached a new low on the present reaction. Selling was induced by announcement its operations during the past week were maintained at the previous rate, the first time in many years that its plant operations were not enlarged. The industry it was recognized has enjoyed a rapid recovery from the low levels prevailing late in 1929 but the rate of improvement could hardly be maintained further. The stock rallied with the entire list to close off only fractionally on the day. American Can was taken throughout the early weakness and advanced several points above the previous close.

Except for occasional pool activity, particularly evident in Packard and United Aircraft, the commodity situation and the announcement that the bankers pool had liquidated its holdings dominated attention. The bankers' statement failed to develop agreement in speculative quarters, both bulls and bears advancing logical interpretations of its probable influence on the market. The wheat market suffered a further drastic break which reduced the price at one time well below the $1 per bushel level, and corn and cotton and other commodities were likewise under severe pressure. A rapid recovery took place in wheat, however, which carried prices about to Monday's closing levels, and the other commodity markets likewise enjoyed brisk rallies. At the lows wheat had been down 6 cents a bushel on the day. Foreign exchange rates generally were lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 25. (AP)—Sensational setbacks in grain prices but with an astonishing subsequent recovery followed action of the federal farm board allies today in letting non members shift for themselves. The sudden rally went hand in hand with widely circulated reports that the newly organized national wheat stabilization corporation had branched out into mammoth dealings in wheat future delivery trading pit just before the market closed. Heretofore, farm board allies have accepted immediate deliveries of country run offerings from all growers, whether members of cooperative organizations or not, and have refrained from any moves in regard to future delivery transactions.

Before today's new radical departures in trading methods were generally understood, wheat prices in Chicago went below $1.00 a bushel for the first time in years, and all grain values smashed down to new low records. Wheat closed irregular ranging from ⅝c net decline to an equal advance. Corn closed ½c to 1¼c up, oats at ½c loss to ⅝c gain, and provisions 2c to 10c down.

The principal steadying factor apparent was temporary firmness of the Liverpool and Buenos Aires markets, but Liverpool later turned weak, and indications at the moment pointed to North American export business remaining inconsequential, with Argentine underselling competitors. News of the unannounced change in buying plans of the federal farm board's cooperative grain organizations was followed by a rapid downward slide of future delivery values, carrying the market nearly 6c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Then came a series of rallies with trading reaching immense proportions.

It was not until after the market closed for the day though that reports gained credence as to extensive future delivery dealings having been inaugurated by the national wheat stabilization corporation.

Houston Rum Runner To Begin Sentence

HOUSTON, Feb. 25. (AP)—Convicted of rum running activities in Houston, "Johnny Jack" Nounes looked forward today to three more days of liberty before he starts serving a two-year sentence and the equivalent of a $500 fine.

When re-sentenced after denial of his appeal to the circuit court of appeals, Nounes asked that he be allowed to serve out the fine in jail, declaring he had paid a $5,000 fine and would pay the $500 one if he had the money.

His three days of liberty depended upon approval by his bondsmen.

Boswell Tells of Need for Aggressive Town

Belief that Wichita Falls may eventually grow to be a city of 500,000 persons as a result of intensive development of its surrounding trade territory was voiced by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, before members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate board Tuesday noon.

Mr. Boswell declared that Southern Oklahoma offers field for trade equalled in this part of the country only by the black land belts in Central Texas, and that a "dried up river and an imaginary state line" should not be allowed to isolate Wichita Falls from that territory.

"We need, most of all, more aggressive citizenship. For many years Wichita Falls was entirely self-sufficient. There is more need now for development of trade territory," the speaker said.

Continuing the study being made by the Real Estate board of local industries, Roscoe Staton read a brief paper relative to the Ball Brothers' Fruit Jar Manufacturing company's plant here. According to the report given, the concern employs about 100 persons, approximately one-fourth of whom are home owners here, and has a monthly payroll of about $10,000. Freight paid to railroads on incoming shipments of material will amount to about the same figure monthly, it was said.

Daily consumption of raw material includes 80,000 pounds of silica sand from Roff, Okla.; 22,000 pounds of soda ash from Detroit, Mich.; 15,000 pounds of raw material from New Braunfels, Texas; and 24,000 pounds of miscellaneous material from all over this country and South America.

Members of the board voted to have the organization assume its portion of the expense of a campaign now being planned by the chamber of commerce to sell the city to its own citizens, and to surrounding territory.

Rev. H. T. Wood, pastor of the First Christian church, was a guest at Tuesday's meeting.

Mrs. Hayes One of Proudest Women In Amarillo, Texas

"I'm Certainly Grateful for the Happiness Orgatone Has Brought Home."

"I am one of the proudest women in Amarillo today, and I just want to tell the people it's all because of what this Orgatone has done for my husband," said Mrs. G. R. Hayes of 119 N. E. Fifth street, Amarillo, Texas.

"He had suffered so much during the past four years," she continued, "with stomach trouble that he had almost given up hope of ever finding anything to give him relief. His appetite was fairly good but what he did eat would just stay in his stomach and make gas and misery for him. Constipation bothered him continually and his liver was very sluggish.

"He had tried many different kinds of medicines and treatments but everything failed to help him until he began on Orgatone. His sluggish, worn-out feeling soon disappeared. He has already gained in strength and says he never felt more peppy or better. He sleeps good every night and goes to his work feeling fresh and bright. I am certainly grateful for the happiness Orgatone has brought to my home by restoring my husband's health. I believe it will help anybody."

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A Medical Opinion

"The ideal corrective for 'sour stomach' is calcium carbonate—a potential anti-acid, incapable of disturbing the normal action of the bowels and bladder, impossible of overdosage and perfectly safe to use."

—Your own doctor will confirm this quotation from noted medical authority.

A Powerful Anti-acid—yet Safe

Old-fashioned folks, not abreast with medical science, still take burning soda. Occasional doses may do no harm.

But Calcium Carbonate, in proper form, is the modern anti-acid: 2½ times as effective as soda, and is safe in its action and positive in its relief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the ideal form of Calcium Carbonate combined with other valuable healing ingredients. Medical authorities commend Stuart's formula as the only kind for use with children and best for men and women.

THIEVES RAID MAER HOME

Burglars Escape With Clothing Worth $1,000

A large number of evening dresses and wraps, valued at well over $1,000, were stolen from the home of W. Newton Maer, 900 Grant street, Monday night while Mr. and Mrs. Maer were asleep in another room of the home, according to police reports.

Entrance to the house was made through a south window on the lower floor, the thieves having crossed the downstairs portion of the home and gone up the stairs to the clothes closet without waking the sleeping occupants. Police were of the opinion the thief knew the location of the closet and entered the home with the sole purpose of taking the valuable clothing, nothing else in the house having been stolen.

The loot consisted of a blue and gold evening dress, a dark red evening dress, a dark red silk velvet dress, a black velvet dress, a black print dress, a silk orchid dress, a brown wool coat suit and blouse, two fur neck nieces, a black velvet coat with black fox fur collar, an orchid coat with fur collar and hat to match and other pieces.

A slight clue obtained by officers had led to no arrests late Tuesday but investigations were being continued, it was said.

MARIONETTES HERE TONIGHT

Uncle Wiggly to Attract Crowds of Children

Hundreds of school children representing Wichita and surrounding counties will flock to the Memorial auditorium at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to witness the dramatization of "Uncle Wiggly at the Circus" by Jean Gros' French marionettes, according to advance reservations made during the past week.

Based upon the interest shown by adults in the recent performance here by Tony Sarg's marionettes, and upon the sale of adult tickets, indications are that numerous grown-ups will be included in the matinee audience as well as being present for the "Huckleberry Finn" presentation in the evening.

Animal characters made popular with children through the medium of stories have been reproduced in Jean Gros' puppets for the afternoon performance. Aside from the musical numbers furnished by members of the company, which includes nine persons, and by the "Marionette-phone," there will be selections by a modern orchestra composed of puppet rabbits.

For the night performance, Mark Twain's characteristic story of the Mississippi, "Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer," will be dramatized in seven acts. Following the feature entertainment, an illuminated ballet utilizing four of Aesop's fables will be presented.

The French marionettes are appearing in Wichita Falls under the management of Mrs. H. C. Cheshire. Tickets are being sold by practically all of the parent-teacher associations of the city, and at the Renfro Drug store and Memorial auditorium.

FIRE DAMAGES GARAGE

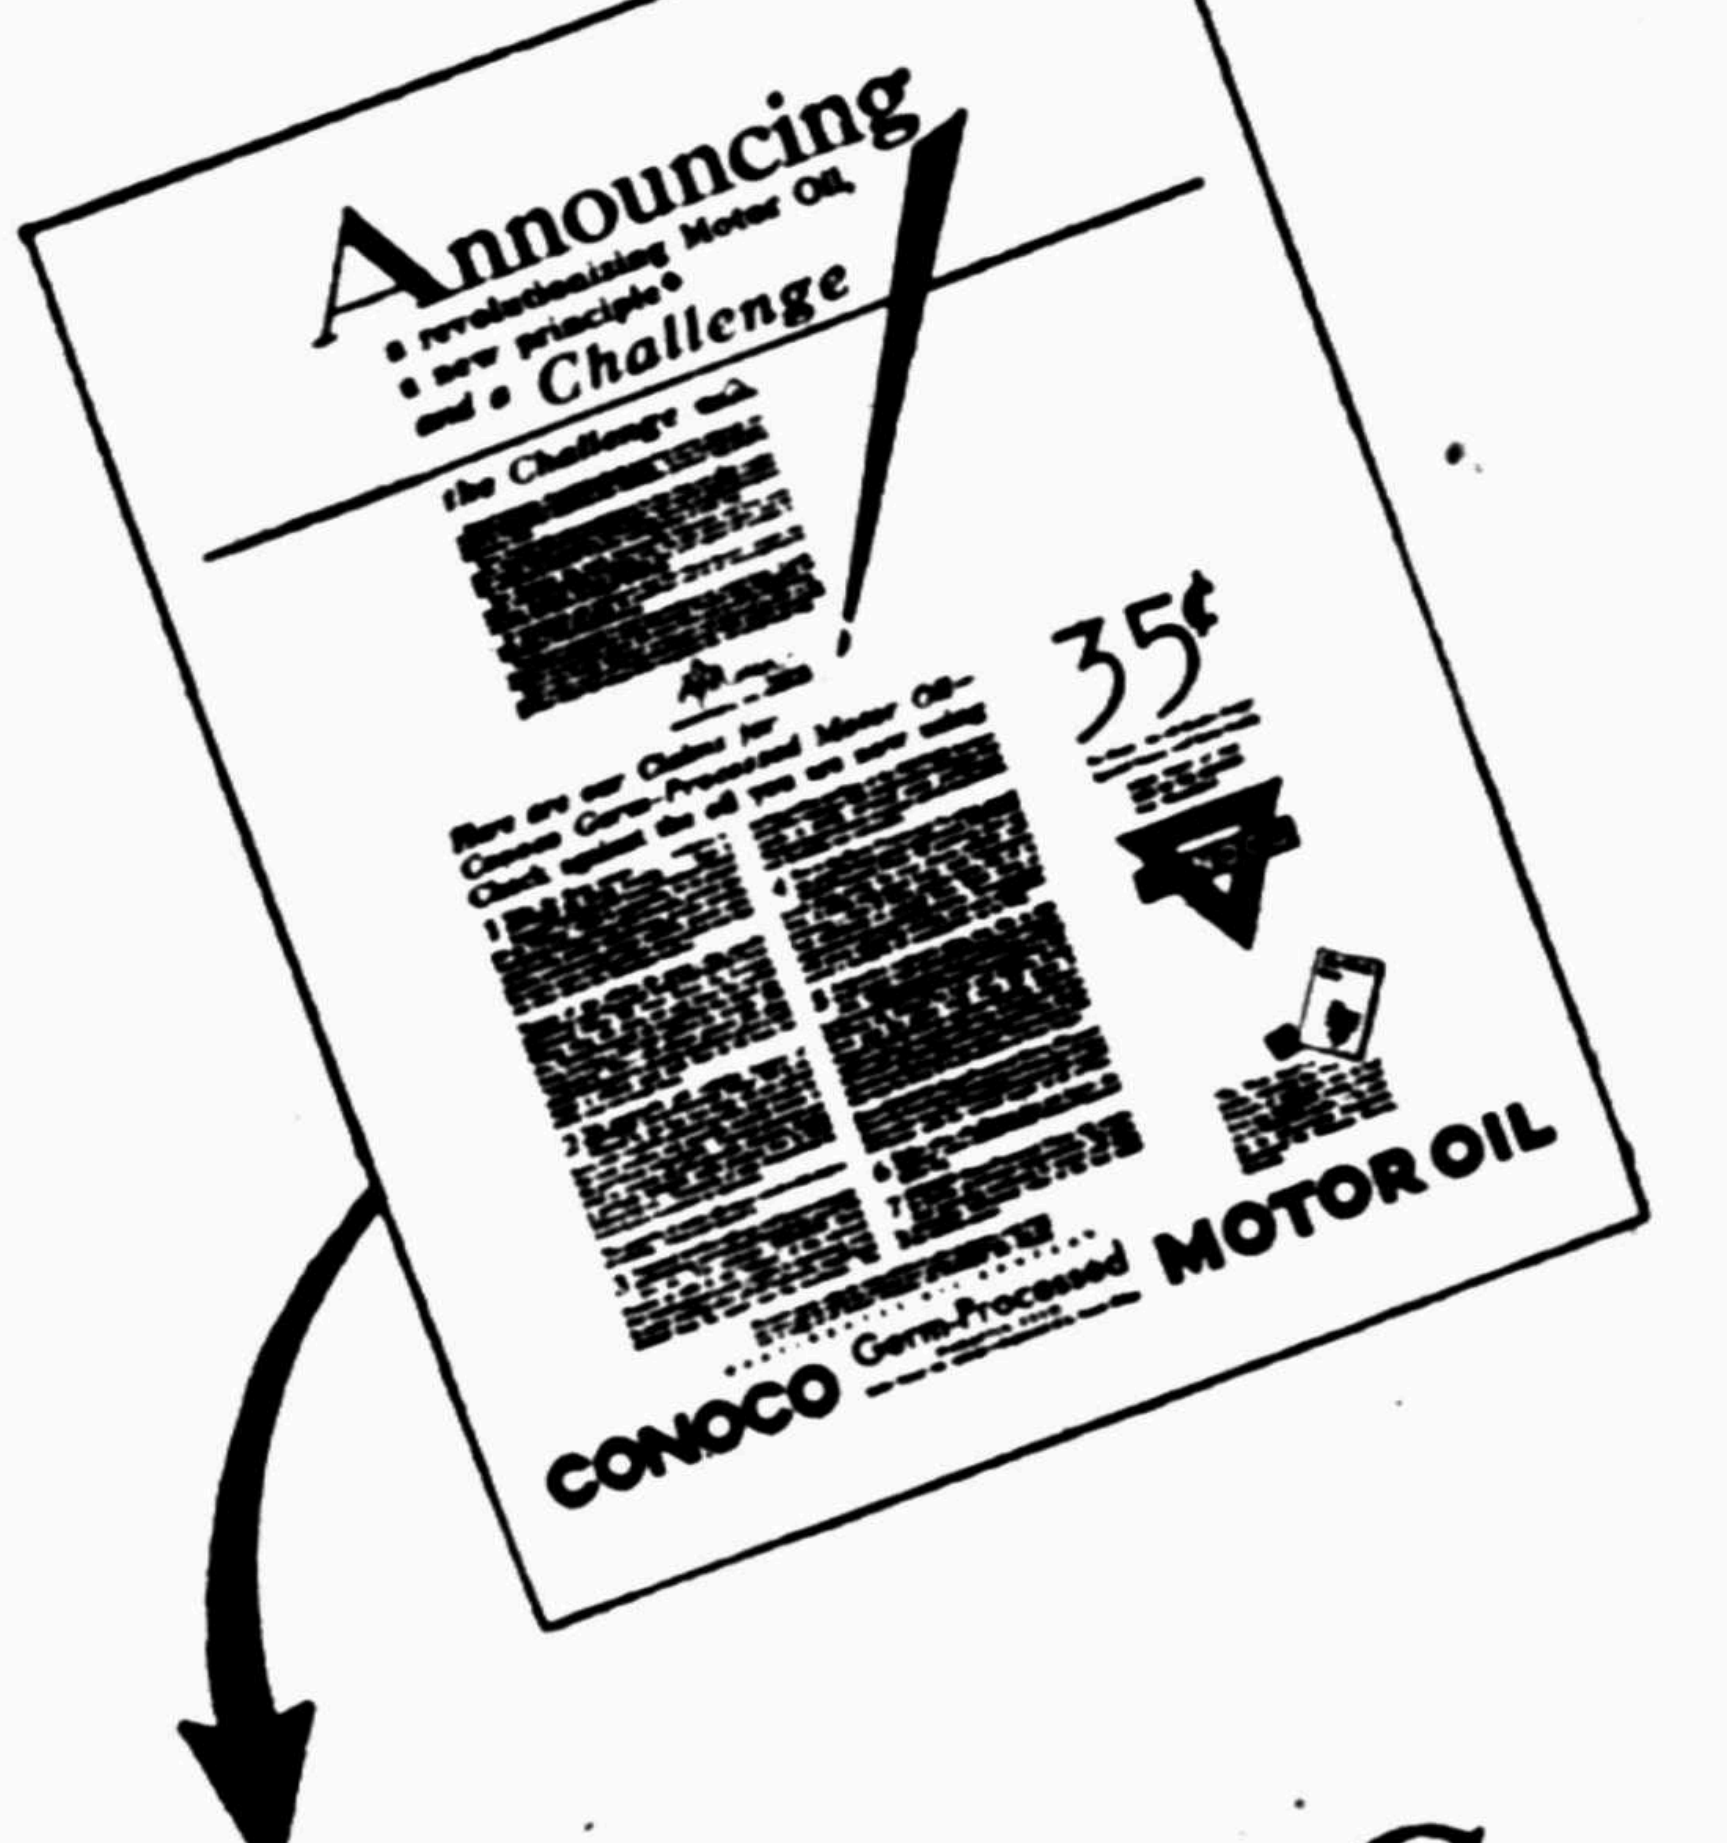
ACHIEVEMENT!



Since You Read this CHALLENGE on November 14th, 1929

An Army of American Motorists has Changed to

CONOCO

Germ-Processed Motor Oil

The Seven Claims in Conoco's Challenge that Brought this Amazing Public Acceptance of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil , , , , , , ,

1 Combines with metal surfaces and never leaves bearings and other working parts, due to its "PENETRATIVE LUBRICITY." That means Constant Lubrication.

2 Refined from carefully selected paraffin base crudes by patented processes. That means stability and low oxidation and evaporation.

3 Positively increases gasoline mileage by reducing friction. That means economy.

4 Will not break down under intense cylinder wall heat. That means decreased oil consumption.

5 Substantially reduces motor wear in starting because this oil penetrates metal surfaces. Other oils require 15 to 20 minutes to reach all moving parts. Conoco Germ-Processed Oil prevents the 40% to 60% of motor wear that engineers agree would otherwise occur.

6 Crankcase dilution does not seriously impair its "oiliness" value. That means greater motor protection.

When you start using this oil you'll realize the truth of our statements that a new age in lubrication began with the Germ Process.

By providing more economical car operation, by guaranteeing a radical reduction in motor wear, and particularly, by penetrating metal surfaces and providing constant lubrication under every conceivable operating condition . . . Conoco Germ-Processed oil sets up a new gauge of motor oil merit.

Only Conoco has the right to make Germ-Processed oil in North America. No other oil on the American market can offer you these advantages.

We firmly believe that you will buy no other oil except Conoco Germ-Processed oil after using it for a fair period of time. Won't you make that trial to-day? Every station bearing the Red Triangle is now prepared to serve you.
