Meat Prices Soar As Walkout Continues

More Than 340,000 Coal Miners Quit

Mine Shutdown May Hit Steel Plants

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, March 17 — The steel industry readied production cutback schedules today as the three-day-old walkout of the United Mine Workers brought soft coal digging to a virtual halt.

Only a few scattered bituminous mines were still operating. The Pocahontas Operators association reported but one pit out of 60 in the rich southern field of West Virginia worked today.

Plants To Slow Down

The list of idle miners, who are seeking $100-a-month pensions at the age of 60, approached the 400,000 mark. Surveys by the union and operators showed over 340,000 miners off the job.

The first announcement of steel curtailment plans came from the Sharon Steel Corp. One blast furnace and five open hearths will be banked shortly at its Farrell, Pa., plant.

The Bethlehem Steel company announced it will curtail operations in a few days if the coal shutdown continues. With all their coal mines completely closed in the Pittsburgh area since yesterday, other big steel firms watched the situation closely.

Solons To Study Dispute

At Washington, Congress intervened in the dispute. John L. Lewis, president of the UMW, and Ezra Van Horn, coal operators' representative, were asked to submit facts in the case to the Senate-House committee on labor relations. Senator Ball, committee chairman, said that once replies are received the committee will consider further steps.

Lewis wants pension payments to start out of a $30,000,000 health and welfare fund which is financed by a royalty of 10 cents on each ton of coal mined.

A thumbnail description of the walkout to date, with state by state tabulations, shows 342,777 miners now idle:

West Virginia 100,000; Pennsylvania 81,000; Kentucky 50,000; Illinois 23,000; Alabama 20,000; Ohio 13,000, Virginia 9,000; Tennessee 10,000; Wyoming 7,000; Indiana 8,000; Colorado 6,000; Montana 6,000; Utah 4.327; Arkansas-Oklahoma 4,000; New Mexico 1,025; Washington 350; Kansas-Missouri 75.

At Washington Cyrus S. Ching, federal conciliation director, today invited John L. Lewis and coal operator Ezra Van Horn to meet with him tomorrow.

They were asked to separate conferences as Ching stepped into the coal shutdown situation.

Ching will meet Van Horn at 8 a. m. (CST) in the conciliation office. He will lunch with Lewis at the Carlton hotel at 11:30 a. m. (CST).

Senate Debate On Tax Bill Set

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17 — The Senate will begin debate tomorrow on the $4,800,000,000 tax reduction bill despite President Truman's somber plea for a mightier military America.

Republican sponsors of the bill said they saw no reason for not going ahead as planned. Some Democrats, however, believed the President's message to Congress today called for "another look" at the bill.

To Start Today

Senator Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the tax-writing Senate finance committee, announced after Mr. Truman's speech that the Senate definitely would take up the legislation tomorrow.

He said Mr. Truman's message "presented no reason for not going ahead."

Senator Edward Martin (R-Pa) another member of the finance committee, agreed. "We've got a surplus sufficient to make a reduction in taxes," he said.

But Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) said: "This changes tax reduction considerations. We are going to need more revenue—not less."

And Rep. Doughton of North Carolina, senior Democrat on the Board Seeking End To Strike

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 17—A fact-finding board created under the Taft-Hartley act tackled the meat strike today. Meanwhile meat prices soared in the wholesale markets for the third day in a row.

Retail meat prices already have started up in Chicago—the hub of the packing industry—and increases were in prospect soon for other areas.

As the nationwide strike of 100,000 CIO meat handlers went into its second day, these were the major developments:

1—The government fact-finding board held a closed session here and boned up on the background of the dispute. Tomorrow, the board will meet with members of both sides in the dispute. The board will submit its report by April 1.

Prices In Sharp Climb

2—The Department of Agriculture reported that wholesale meat prices so far this week have jumped from three to five cents a pound on beef, four to six cents on veal and lamb and eight to 12 cents on pork cuts.

3—The nation's meat supply began shrinking sharply as farmers cut their shipment of animals to market to about one third of a week ago.

4—A spokesman for Armour, one of the big four packers, said limited production had been resumed in 11 of the company's plants after "some" strikers returned to their jobs. He declined to say how many strikers had returned or where the plants were situated. "We are expecting to reopen our plants as rapidly as our men want to come back," he said.

The union said it did not have any information that any of its members had returned to work.

Professor Named

Nathan Feinsinger, law professor at the University of Wisconsin, was named chairman of the fact-finding board.

"At this stage we don't know if we will ask the union to go back to work," he said in response to a question.

The jump in wholesale prices is the sharpest since the steep climb in commodity prices last fall. Retail prices normally follow a pronounced trend in wholesale prices in four or five days.

In New York, wholesale meat prices jumped $3 to $4 a hundred-

One Dead, Many Hurt In Mishap

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—One woman was reported killed tonight and 100 other persons injured, police estimated when a section of a third floor dance hall caved in during a St. Patrick's date fete.

Chief Ray Crane of the uniformed police made the estimate of the casualties. He said most were given first aid treatment at the scene and released.

Body Not Removed

About 30 or 40 feet of the floor collapsed, Crane said, onto the second floor bowling alley at 3239 North Clark street.

Estimates of the number attending the dance sponsored by the Connaughtmen Irish club ranged up to 1,200. Crane added however, that he doubted if there were more than 300 in the dance hall and bowling alley at the time.

Crane said there was one unidentified woman dead in the debris but that firemen had been unable to remove the body as yet.

The dance hall was in a building occupied by the Lakeview bowling alley. An attendant at the Illinois Masonic hospital, where the victims were taken, said there were "too many" injured being

AN EDITORIAL

Mr. Truman's Speech

WHEN President Truman personally appeared before the Congress yesterday to urge unprecedented legislation aimed at halting Russian aggression, he put the American people on official notice that Russia's policies threaten the peace and security of this nation, as well as those of the rest of the world.

Whether the Congress will give Mr. Truman the three-ply force he asked for, in order to safeguard peace and freedom around the globe, it is much too early to say. It is not too early to say, however, that Mr. Truman is certain to get some, if not all, the legislation he seeks, because a now aroused and informed public will insist upon its representatives in Congress giving the nation, and the world, some sort of "insurance policy on peace and security."

The Morning Avalanche does not brook with those who at this moment are claiming that the President was merely "scaring up an emergency" for political reasons when he asked the Congress to pass laws implementing universal military training; re-instating the military draft and setting into motion the European Recovery program. Instead, we believe Mr. Truman is sincere in his belief that if we do not do these things—and do them now—we are playing into the hands of those who first would enslave the rest of the world and then move in to enslave the American people.

FOR our part, we agree fully with Mr. Truman's ideas regarding universal military training and activating the European recovery program. As for re-instatement of the draft, we think no one outside of a very few fully informed people can say, immediately, whether the President is right or wrong. At this writing, we are inclined to the belief that any re-instatement of the draft should be not only temporary, as the President set out, but also should be drawn so it interferes the least with our national freedom and economy. However, time and study soon will permit the nation to be authoritatively informed concerning the draft proposal.

This much must be said for President Truman's action:

By taking the step, he measured up to the responsibilities of his high office and, thereby, gained stature. He exhibited courage, by sponsoring, on the very eve of elections, highly controversial legislation which would affect the day-by-day living of a majority of our people, by either interfering with their freedom of movement, or with the normal operation of their business.

Also, Mr. Truman was explicit. He set up no "straw men" at which to thrust. Instead, he "named names." He made authoritative, and fully official, what here-to-fore has been unofficial and, therefore, subject to question: that Communism has taken up where Nazism left off, on a program of ruthless aggression aimed at subjugating all mankind.

If there is anything at all in the philosophy that "fore-warned is fore-armed," Mr. Truman must be credited with the sincere desire to protect the best interests of his countrymen, as well as all men, everywhere.

Opposition To Part Of Proposals Seen

Solons Cautious On Military Program

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17—The European Recovery plan?

Certainly.

Revival of the draft, and Universal Military training?

Maybe . . . Let the military leaders make a case for them.

That, boiled down, was the general reaction of lawmakers today to President Truman's three major recommendations in his St. Patrick's day address to a joint session of Congress.

Some senators, including Taft of Ohio and Democrats Ellender of Louisiana, McClellan of Arkansas and Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, said they were disappointed that Mr. Truman didn't recommend immediate steps to build up the Air Force.

Taft Gives Stand

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) of the House foreign affairs committee and Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY), author of the wartime draft law, quickly endorsed the draft and UMT proposals.

But Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill) of the House rules committee said the message "didn't change a thing." Allen's committee has refused since last summer to send UMT legislation to the House floor.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich), of the Senate foreign relations committee who piloted the ERP bill through the Senate, said that "if we do not have the minimum of national armed security, we must provide them by the most available means."

"This is no moment for hysteria," he said." But it is a moment for straight thinking and prudent action."

Ohio's Senator Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said "the President has stated well our determination to do everything possible and practicable to stop the spread of Communism. The means which he proposes will be given careful consideration."

Wallace Says "Shameful"

At the same time Taft said he "regrets" the President did not say anything about "real unification of the armed forces" and establishment of an Air force superior to any other in the world.

(In New York Henry A. Wallace, third party presidential candidate, called the Truman speech "a shameful call for world remobilization, a complete admission of the failure of the Truman doctrine and a call for an Amer-

Light Rain Forecast Over Plains Today

Lubbock and the South Plains could look forward to the prospect of light precipitation for the next two days, officials at the Weather bureau station north of the city said at midnight. However, little change was seen in the warm temperatures of the past four days.

Scattered showers today and Friday were forecast with even warmer weather today in the Panhandle and South Plains, slightly cooler Friday.

The Weatherman indicated that the moisture conditions would extend over most of West Texas also.

Maximum temperature today was expected to be about 60 degrees with a minimum early today of about 40 degrees. Moderate southeasterly winds were predicted today.

The state had ideal conditions for St. Patrick's day celebrations Wednesday with mild readings over most of Texas The Associated Press reported. Cloudy conditions with some rain was forecast for the rest of the state today.

Five Nations Enter Mutual Defense Pact

By MEL MOST
Associated Press Staff Writer

BRUSSELS, March 17—Five European nations today entered into a 50-year partnership to defend their democratic way of life against any aggressor, with arms if necessary. President Truman swiftly endorsed it.

Against a background of rapid Communist expansion in the East, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg bound themselves in a military, political and economic treaty which laid the cornerstone for an even wider European union.

Mr. Truman told the American Congress he was confident the United States would, by appropriate means, extend them the support the situation requires.

Council Is Created

The pact created a "consultative council" to consider any situation which may constitute a threat to the peace anywhere in the world. Four of the signers—Britain, France, The Netherlands and Belgium—are the world's greatest colonial powers.

The treaty, is without precedent in European history. Its signers were the countries which in the past have borne the brunt of attacks from the East.

Its defense provisions were not limited to another attack by Germany, although that possibility was specifically mentioned. The signers bound themselves against "any policy of aggression."

Far reaching economic coordination was envisaged which one signer said would bind the countries together to make their power equal to any others besides that of the United States and Russia.

Its purpose did not stop there. Both Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and George Bidault of France hailed it as the foundation of future developments and the cornerstone of European rebirth.

The pact was signed at 5:04 p. m. (10:40 a. m. CST) in the solemn sessions hall of the Palace of Academes. Beside Bevin and Bidault the other foreign ministers who signed were Joseph Bech of Luxembourg, Baron C. C. W. Van Boetzelaer of The Netherlands and Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium.

LAKE SUCCESS, March 17 — The Security Council beat down bitter Soviet objections today and began probing into the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia.

The vote to take up the case was 9 to 2. Seven affirmative votes were needed.

Only Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, and his Soviet Ukrainian colleague, Vassily A. Tarasenko, voted no.

Full Study Planned

The United Nations thus began a full airing of Chilean charges against Russia a few hours after President Truman told Congress in Washington that Russia is trying to dominate all of Europe.

Just before the council convened Gromyko told reporters he considered President Truman's speech to be "propaganda mainly for internal consumption."

Mr. Truman's address plainly overshadowed the tense developments here. The largest crowd to attend a council meeting in months applauded three separate times as delegates answered Gromyko and Tarasenko.

The complaint against Russia was brought before the council by Herman Santa Cruz, Chilean delegate and vice president of the U.

YOUTHS APPROVE PROGRAM

Many Lubbock Residents Okay President's Emergency Plan

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

PRESIDENT Truman's speech before Congress yesterday, in which he asked for immediate passage of the Universal Military Training law and a renewal of the Selective Service act, caused wide and varied comment among residents of Lubbock, according to an opinion poll taken last night by The Morning Avalanche.

Youths between the ages of 18 and 22 years, the group most likely to be affected by either the UMT law or the draft, were almost unanimous in endorsing the President's stand on the foreign situation.

Veterans of the last war also believe that some system of increasing the military strength of the United States should be put into effect, but showed a preference for Universal Military training over the draft.

Parents with boys who would be affected were divided in their opinions, some endorsing Truman's program wholeheartedly and others strongly opposing any form of compulsory military training.

Quick Action Urged On Marshall Plan

President Asks Universal Military Training, Draft To Bolster Forces

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17—President Truman proclaimed this country "the principal protector of the free world" today and called for full military strength, backed by a new draft law, to give force to his declaration.

Mr. Truman said "the very existence of Democracy" is threatened by Communist expansion. The time has come, he said, to "join our strength with the strength of other free men the world over" to stop it.

With scorn and indignation in his voice, the President accused "one nation"—Russia—of trying to sabotage the peace and of seeking to spread totalitarian rule over the still-free democracies of Western Europe.

Situation In Europe Grave

These countries, the President said, we must support with our full strength—"military, economic and moral."

He said the situation in Europe is "critical." And he warned that the U. S., in the coming year, may have to take risks "greater than any this country has been called upon to assume."

But he declared:

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

The President's grim, far-reaching extension of his "Truman doctrine" came in two installments. He addressed a hushed joint session of Congress at 11:30 a. m., (CST) and then flew to New York to speak at a St. Patrick's Day dinner.

Drastic Action Asked

He recommended to Congress three "most urgent steps toward securing the peace and preventing war."

1. Quick adoption of the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program. Congress stepped up action on that right away.

The House Foreign Affairs committee accepted the $5,300,000,000 figure already approved by the Senate. The program, commonly known as the Marshall plan, may become law by Easter.

2. Universal military training—for all young men. Congress was divided on that, although there was some strong support for it in the Senate especially.

3—Selective service—To give the armed forces the men they need, presumably non-veterans up to the age of 26 or so, until UMT gets rolling. Many members of Congress had their doubts. They asked for further proof that it is necessary.

World Facing Threat

In his New York speech, prepared for the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, Mr. Truman declared that the issue confronting the world today "is as old as recorded history."

"It is tyranny versus freedom," he said.

And by tyranny, the President said, he meant Communism—which he assailed as a denial of God and of man's right to govern himself.

It was there that he declared: "With few exceptions, our people now understand that the United States has become the principal protector of the free world."

Marshall Backs Warning

To Congress, Mr. Truman said gravely:

"The time has come when the free men and women of the world

must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously . . .

"We must be prepared to pay the price of peace or assuredly we shall pay the price of war."

Secretary of State Marshall backed the President's words by telling the Senate armed services committee later in the day:

"Diplomatic action without the backing of military strength in the present world can only lead to appeasement."

The President spoke in the House of Representatives chamber packed to overflowing. Spontaneous applause, carried to the world by radio, crackled when he announced the signing of a mutual

HST Rejects Backing From Wallace Group

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—President Truman said tonight he would refuse any support from Henry A. Wallace.

Departing from his prepared address, he told the annual dinner of the friendly sons of St. Patrick:

"I do not want and I will not accept the political support of Henry Wallace and his Communists."

Mr. Truman added:

"If joining them or permitting them to join me is the price of victory, I recommend defeat. These are days of high prices for everything. But any price for Wallace and his Communists is too much for me to pay."

At his South Salem, N. Y., home, a member of Wallace's household said Wallace had "no comment" on Mr. Truman's assertion. Wallace already had been scheduled to speak over the ABC network at 9:45 p. m. (CST) Thursday night on the subject: "Wallace Answers Truman."

House Group Okays Aid Bill

By JOHN B. OWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17—Responding to President Truman's plea for speed, the House Foreign Affairs committee gave sudden approval today to a $5,300,000,000 European aid program.

It was the same amount approved by the Senate for 12 months of aid to non-Communist nations. It gave an immediate lift to hopes of leaders that the House can clear the bill by April 1—in two weeks.

Take Quick Action

Action came within five hours after the President had gone before Congress with an appeal for "prompt passage of the program." It also came amid new warnings of Communist danger in Italy where crucial elections will be held April 18.

After a closed door committee session, Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) told reporters that decisions were held up on other foreign aid proposals. The administration has asked $275,000,000 in military aid for Greece and Turkey, and $570,000,000 economic aid for China.

These are part of the same bill. Thus the committee had yet to approve the measure as a whole.

Solon Sounds Warning

But the administration's appeal was for speed on the Marshall plan to buck up 16 western European nations to ward off Communism.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) of the House said that if Communists grab power there they will "dominate all of Europe."

Armed Services Estimate Needs At 322,000; Program Studied

(By The Associated Press)

The armed services estimated Wednesday that 322,000 men are needed to bring the Army, Navy and Air Force to full authorized strength of 1,622,000.

The three branches of the service, which include the Marine corps, have an estimated 1,300,000 in uniform now. This does not take in 226,000 in the national guard.

The figures were given shortly after President Truman asked Congress to pass temporary draft and universal military training laws.

Could Speed Program

At Salem, Ore., Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, said the nation could begin drafting men into the armed forces within 45 to 60 days after Congress passes a new selective service law.

He said he presumed the President meant drafting of enough men in the 18-20-year-old age bracket to make up the deficiency in voluntary enlistments.

"If we had an emergency," General Hershey told reporters, "we could begin drafting men quicker than 45 to 60 days. But that estimate is based on the job being done in an orderly way."

The general, on a nationwide inspection tour, said that only 1,200,000 men—or only those who became 18 years old since last April 1—would have to be registered. The 50,000,000 other men's records already are on hand, so they wouldn't have to register, he said.

Earlier his Washington office had estimated the old selective service records would be of doubtful value, having been kept mainly for historical purposes.

18 To 25 Probably Limit

Military officials estimated a pool of about 3,000,000 between 18 and 25 years of age would be available for selective service.

If Congress passes a new draft law, 800,000, to 1,000,000 men may be called to the colors, but veterans of World War II probably will be exempt, Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House Armed Services committee predicted.

He emphasized that he was not speaking for his committee, which has not yet received any draft legislation from the armed forces.

But he made plain he himself was in accord with President Truman's plea for a draft and universal military training.

New Legislation Needed

If Congress should decide to permit the drafting of 800,000 to 1,000,000 men it would have to pass legislation raising the authorized strength of the armed forces.

Under the draft, youths could be taken directly into the armed services.

Under military training, youths 18 to 20 would be drafted for maybe a six-month training period in camps or on ships, but legally they would not be in the armed forces or have to fight except in an emergency.

Aides of Defense Secretary Forrestal estimated that even if the UMT program becomes law immediately, actual start of the program would not be possible before next Jan. 1. They said another full year might elapse before the results of the training would be reflected in the army.

The draft law, Secretary of State Marshall said, would boost man-power in two ways: "it would encourage volunteering, as it did during the war, and it would bring in men through its regular operation.

During the last war, a man was trained in 17 weeks, but in peacetime it probably would take 22 weeks or longer, Marshall told the senate armed services committee.

Marshall said a temporary draft should continue until the universal military training program could overtake it in providing the needed manpower. That's why the President asked only for a temporary draft.

Defense Motion Is Granted By Court

A defense motion that a special venire be set aside was granted yesterday by Judge G. V. Pardue in the murder trial of Brewster E. Dillard.

The motion, filed by the law firms of Vickers and Vickers and Burks and McNeil, also asked that the defendant 'be given the right to a trial before a jury selected from a special venire legally selected and free from any disqualifying influences by reason of previous service in this court this week, in another murder case, in which the law and evidence in each case is similar to the case at bar.'

Charged With Murder

Dillard is charged with murder in connection with the slaying Nov. 1 of Garlon Douglas Weaver. The trial was passed until April 19.

The defense motion pointed out that the sheriff's return on the special venire had not been made in strict compliance of law, and charged that since only 60 men of the venire are offered to Dillard for his trial, 33 of them having been examined by the state in connection with another murder trial this week in 99th district court, that Dillard would not be afforded a fair trail.

The letter said the actors will ask for compensation if pictures are to be used for television.

Recently completing the first two phases of pilot training at Randolph field was Aviation Cadet Aubrey C. Edinburg, son of Mr and Mrs. Charles R. Edinburg of McAdoo. The basic techniques he studied included those of formation, acrobatics, navigation and cross-country flight. He will now go on to advanced pilot training in tactical aircraft such as the P-51 and P-80. The advanced stage incorporates techniques of combat and turns out airmen capable of mastering the air force's largest and speediest warplanes, information from Randolph field explained.

Cattle Disease Hopes Said Dim

EL PASO, March 17 (U.P.)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester, speaking to members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, reported today that hopes of completely eradicating "the foot and mouth disease in Mexico in the near future is a dim one."

Jester quoted extensively from a special report prepared for him by the division of inspection and quarantine of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry.

Texas cattlemen, he said, faced the prospect of a "prolonged campaign and one that must be constantly watched and furthered."

Money for carrying on the campaign, he reported, is running low.

The United States government appropriated $38,000,000 for the campaign. All but $3,000,000, government officials told Jester, has been spent.

He quoted a government report to the effect that there has been no outbreak of the disease "north of the quarantine line."

The closest infected area, government officials said, is a small herd of 20 cattle near Tamchule [illegible] state of San Luis Potosi. This is 279 miles from the closest point on the Texas border.

The report, the governor told the cattlemen, said that although the Mexican army is still patrolling the quarantine lines, its work has "not been as effective as it was in the early months of the campaign."

Fire Causes $75,000 Damage In Oklahoma College Gym

DURANT, Okla., March 17 (AP)—Damage estimated in excess of $75,000 was caused by a fire at Southeastern State college gymnasium today.

All football equipment was lost.

President T. T. Montgomery, who estimated the damage, said the fire started in the athletic equipment room.

LOST 47 POUNDS WITHOUT DIETING

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger.

Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here Is Proof

"When I started taking Barcentrate, I weighed 212 pounds and wore size 46 dresses. Now I wear size 18 and weigh 165 pounds. I started taking Barcentrate in March and by June I had lost 47 pounds. I would have lost more weight had I left off fattening foods, but I was anemic at that time and afraid to diet. People who knew me before I started taking Barcentrate are amazed at the weight I have lost. My flesh is firm; I have never become flabby or wrinkled and I am 40 years old.

"Before taking Barcentrate I couldn't do my house work without becoming exhausted; had dizzy spells and my head and back hurt me constantly. I was so short winded, I was miserable. But now all those things have gone and it is really a pleasure to do the chores I once dreaded.

"Three years ago I nearly died with Typhus fever and it left me anemic and I could never get my blood count up again or get back my energy. After taking Barcentrate my blood count started up and is now normal. So you see why I praise Barcentrate so highly and recommend it. Any praise I can give Barcentrate is small compared to the relief and happiness it has brought me."—Mrs. Eula Whitehead, 500 Harmon, Corpus Christi, Texas.

At All Druggists

The above is one of hundreds of amazing endorsements we have received.

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe, easy way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Highway Safety Measures Urged By Committee On Engineering

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP) — The committee on engineering today made 26 recommendations, most of them relating to traffic control, to the governor's Highway safety conference.

Recommendations by committee, headed by Gib Gilchrist, president of Texas A. and M. college, included the following:

1. Endorsement of proposed legislative action granting the Highway commission authority to fix the legal speed limit on state and federal highways through unincorporated villages and towns.

Speed Restrictions Asked

2. Establishment of traffic engineering units comparable in authority and influence to other major divisions of the Department of Public Works in cities of more than 100,000. At least one full-time traffic engineer in cities under 100,000.

3. More extensive use of speed restrictions by the State Highway department and city officials.

4. A systematic program by the Highway department and cities to eliminate sight restrictions at intersections.

5. Restoration of the "If you drink, don't drive; if you drive don't drink" signs on the state highway systems.

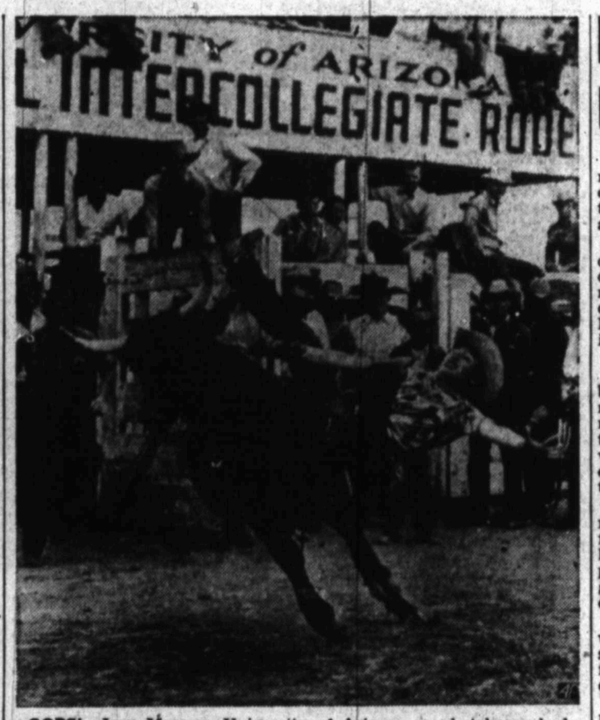

Street Lighting Urged

6. Taking of effective steps to hold to a minimum the construction of railroad industrial tracks across highways at grades.

7. Immediate attention to major traffic arteries and the more hazardous sections of suburban and rural highways with regard to street lighting projects.

8. Introduction of highway engineering or automotive courses in college.

Death Sentences Upheld By Court

AUSTIN, March 17 (U.P.)—Four men facing death sentences received adverse decisions today from the Court of Criminal appeals but a fifth was granted a rehearing.

The court reversed its previous decision and the earlier holding of the trial court in granting Edmundo Garcia, convicted in Webb county for the shooting of Eugenio Luna on April 26, 1947, a rehearing of his case in the trial court.

Robbery Shooting Charged

Garcia's contention that he had been denied his constitutional right to be confronted by the witness against him was upheld by the Court of Criminal appeals, which on Jan. 21, 1948, had affirmed the death sentence assessed by the Webb county trial court.

Garcia, who according to the record was an escaped convict from the Texas penitentiary and had been at large for three years, participated in the robbery of a grocery store at Laredo with three companions.

While he waited outside on watch, two of his companions inside were surprised by police officers and Luna died as a result of the shooting.

The Webb county court gave him the death penalty on July 2, 1947. The case now is remanded to the Webb county district court.

Other Rehearings Denied

Three other men given death were refused in their efforts to gain rehearings, however. They were:

Miguel Flores, convicted by a Goliad county district court on March 12, 1947, for the shotgun murder of Paul Gibson on Feb. 4, 1947. The decision was upheld by the Court of Criminal appeals Feb. 4, 1948.

George Raymond Gardner, assessed the death penalty by a Harris county district court on March 13, 1947, for the slaying of Arval Johnson on Jan. 20, 1947.

Joseph Lee Saulter, given death by a Galveston county court on July 15, 1947, for the knife murder of Thelma Leslie on Feb. 24, 1947, and affirmed by the Court of Criminal appeals Feb. 4, 1948.

The Court of Criminal appeals affirmed a death verdict against Wilson Moore, negro, criminal assault on a Houston girl Feb. 22, 1947.

Railroad Commission Given Authority To Halt Flaring

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—The Railroad commission was free today to halt flaring of gas in Texas fields by issuing shut-down orders.

Refusal of the 126th district court yesterday to grant a permanent injunction against the commission in a case from the big Seeligson field paved the way for similar shutdown orders by the commission.

The commission had ordered the Seeligson field shut down until efforts were made there to conserve flare gas. Shell Oil and 10 other companies sought an injunction against the order.

NINE GRANDPARENTS

IT'S quite likely that little Tommy Lynn Matthews, jr., born in February to Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Matthews, sr., of Houston will say "Grandma" and "Grandpa" as his first words. His family tree consists of nine grandparents.

Mrs. C. M. Whipp of 812 Ave. K is his great-grandmother.

But then, that living family tree runs in the family because the handsome young father, a student at the University of Houston, was born with twelve grandparents.

EASTER GIFT

FINALLY freed on the restrictions which limited his talents in wartime, the Easter bunny has come bounding back this year and new toys and new clothes—traditional gifts—are back in abundance.

But one other traditional gift again available in quantity is the Holy Bible. Its appearance hasn't changed much in the postwar era and of course its content hasn't changed in many hundreds of years.

According to a recent survey made by the Oxford University Press, New York, 62.2 per cent of all the Bibles owned in the United States were received as gifts. Christmas and Easter of course are the two seasons when the giving of a Bible is most appropriate. The practice of "personalizing" a Bible by having the name of its owner stamped in gold on the cover adds to the warmth of the gift. It also may increase the pride of the young owner in his new possession.

Today Bibles are available in a variety of bindings, some even in color. Not only the Easter rabbit but mothers and aunts and godmothers (not to mention fathers and uncles and godfathers) could find no better occasion than Easter 1948 for placing in the hands of a child his own personal copy of the Greatest Book.

VISUAL TROUBLES

BETTER Vision Institute sets out 17 signals that disclose visual troubles in children. These are:

Constant rubbing of the eyes, fatigue or listlessness shown after continued eye-work, frowning or scowling, "hangdog" look, watering eyes, copying, drooping head, reddish eyelids, squinting, restlessness, inattentiveness, dislike for reading, leaning over desk, crossed eyes, aversion to bright lights, holding material wrong distance from eyes and tilting head to one side.

LOST EARBOB

WHEN Mrs. S. B. Campbell of Lorenzo was in town the other day she lost an earbob, one of a set that includes a pin. She is anxious to get it back, since one earbob doesn't do one any good and moreover it was a gift. The jewelry is set in yellow gold fashioned in a scroll design, centered with a sapphire and surrounded with six smaller blue stones. She would appreciate word, if it has been found.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Margaret Turner: We visited the dog pound the other day and were shocked to see how poorly those dogs are cared for, with hardly any shelter at all and just hard concrete to sleep on.

Those animals must have suffered through this terrible weather we have been having and some of them looked as if they had not been fed and there was no water in the pen.

We noticed one sick dog. He looked at us as if to say that at one time he had been loved by a little boy or girl but now he is forgotten.

With such a nice prosperous town as Lubbock, we surely should see that our homeless pets are properly sheltered and some one looks after them to see they do not starve.

Friendship Night Is Celebrated By OES Chapters

The twelfth annual friendship night for Order of the Eastern Star chapters of District 2, Section 4, was held by Lubbock chapter, No. 76, Tuesday night at Masonic hall. Mrs. Rafe Nabors, a former worthy matron, is founder of the occasion.

Chapters represented by the 325 persons attending were the guest organization, Freedom chapter of Lubbock, and Plainview, Abernathy, Southland, O'Donnell, Meadow, Littlefield, Idalou, Crosbyton, Seagraves, Tahoka, Ralls, Levelland, Brownfield, Lorenzo, Post, Slaton, Morton and Sundown.

During a friendship program, Mrs. J. P. Watt, jr., sang "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" and gave a musical reading. "Friend of Mine," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Carlos Reynolds. Rural Aid School Teachers May Have To Assume Debt Obligation

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—Rural aid school teachers may have to assume legal obligation for pay warrants which their school districts have no money to pay off this year.

This was indicated today in a copy of a letter sent by W. A. Kirkland of Houston, president of the Texas Bankers association, to all member banks concerning the part they are expected to play in making sure rural teachers are paid in full this school year.

The rural aid schools are approximately $3,000,000 short, and the banks have been asked to handle their school districts' warrants until funds are made available to pay them.

Low Interest Urged

"These warrants will not qualify as legal obligations of either school district or state, so I suggest that they be accepted as security for individual loans made to each teacher," Kirkland wrote.

He urged that "the rate of interest be charged on a 'from date' basis and be set as low as possible."

Asked for an interpretation of Kirkland's statement, State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner said it mean the individual school teacher would have to act as a third party on the note, or pay warrant, if a banker were unwilling to pay merely on the good faith of the school district and state.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester has called on the Texas Bankers association to insure payment of school teachers salaries.

Jester has given assurance that he will ask the 1949 legislature to appropriate sufficient funds to cover this year's deficit.

The State Banking commissioner said he has received numerous letters from banks over the state regarding the plan on which Jester, Kirkland, Falkner, State Superintendent L. A. Woods, Miss Emma Mae Brotze, president of the Texas State Teachers association, and others reached mutual agreement last week.

Some of the bankers have doubts about the 51st legislature's passing an appropriation to cover the shortage, Falkner reported.

He said he had no personal doubt about passage of such a bill, but he like Kirkland has suggested that bankers who are hesitant to rely on the school districts and state should work out the problem with individual teachers.

Falkner said he believed the amount of interest on such warrants would be so low the teachers would have no objection to paying it. He indicated school districts very likely would assume payment of the interest.

The copy of Kirkland's letter was released from the office of the governor.

PARIS, Tex., March 17 (AP)—Mr. White wore green today—the same emerald-hued bow tie he has donned each St. Patrick's day for 51 years.

Walter White, now 75 years old, was given the tie in 1897 while serving on the Paris police force. All other members of the force also received ties that year from a Paris merchant.

White, now an invalid, is the only living member of the Paris police force of that year.

Crippled Children Given New Service

DALLAS, March 17 (Special)—A mobile audiometer to test the hearing of children throughout the state of Texas, is the latest service to be added by the Texas Society for Crippled Children to its program of meeting the needs in crippled children's fields.

The valuable machine was made possible through the generosity of Retha Martin of Lubbock, director of the society. It will be known as the Retha Martin Mobile Hearing unit. Mr. Martin is president of the Dunlap company, operators of department stores in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and California.

"Statistics show that every four children in 100 have serious hearing defects," Roscoe L. Thomas, president of the society said. "Day by day children so handicapped are failing in school grades, parents are deeply concerned, and yet not very much is being done to help these children. Texas is one state which does not offer a program of speech and hearing services. Only a few cities, Dallas among them, offer hearing tests through the schools."

The Retha Martin Audiometer will be available on request to any town in Texas. It is urged that it be used for pre-school clinics since early treatment can minimize and in many cases remove the impairments. Application for use of the audiometer can be made at the Texas Society for Crippled Children's headquarters, 3703 Worth St., Dallas.

The hearing aid program is one of many services to handicapped financed through the annual Easter Seal sale, now in progress.

Explosion At Flowing Oil Well Causes Fire, Widespread Alarm

FRIENDSWOOD, Tex., March 17 (U.P.)—An oil well explosion near here last night caused widespread alarm in Galveston and Brazoria counties, but the fire which followed the blast soon burned itself out.

The flowing oil well on the property of Cecil Brown two miles west of Friendsboro exploded when natural gas apparently accumulated in the well bore.

No one was reported injured and the portable rig had already been moved. The gas fire burned itself out a short time after the explosion.

Apprentice Carpenters School Being Organized In Lubbock

A joint committee representing Lubbock General Contractors association and the carpenters union held its initial meeting Tuesday night, outlining plans and approving standards for the establishment here of an apprentice school for carpenters.

Details concerning start of the trade school and location of classes had not been completed. The project is to have the cooperation of the federal government's apprenticeship program, and will permit 144 hours of classroom instruction along with work on the job, the announcement said.

The joint committee, known as the Carpenters Joint Apprenticeship committee, is responsible for operation of the school, and said details probably would be completed soon. Meetings are to be held the third Tuesday night of each month.

Members of the committee are: from the contractors, Tom McAbee, W. B. Abbott, and George Glover; from the carpenters local, J. L. Swain, Ernest Wasson, and O. C. Monk. Monk was named chairman of the joint committee.

Lubbock High Entries In Fort Worth Meet Named

A squad of 12 Lubbock High school track hopefuls, accompanied by Coach Marlin (Shorty) Hayhurst, will leave by chartered bus this afternoon for Fort Worth where they will compete in the twenty-fifth annual Southwestern Exposition track and field meet Friday and Saturday at Farrington field.

The group, which will include most of the top performers of the entire Westerner squad, will battle for points against approximately 70 Texas and Oklahoma schoolboy teams, meet officials reported last night. The Lubbock delegation will arrive in Fort Worth early tonight and is slated to enter preliminary eliminations at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning. Finals in all events will be held Saturday afternoon.

Lack Reserve Strength

The Lubbock squad lacks the reserve strength needed to bid for the team championship, but several of the Westerner entries are expected to cop some points while gaining valuable experience. The Lubbock mile relay quartet may make a strong bid for a first place title unless the team is weakened by the loss of regulars for other events, and Jim Johnson is ranked as one of the top 440-dash men of the state despite an ankle injury.

Austin High's strong cinder squad, champions of the Border Olympics last week end, will rule as the meet favorite, with Brackenridge of San Antonio and Odessa's Broncos slated to battle for the runner-up position.

Workouts Scheduled

Following extensive workouts at Chapman field Tuesday and Wednesday Hayhurst announced that the following squadmen will be entered in the Fort Worth meet events:

440-yard relay—Edward Strickland, Charley Williams, Donald Decker and Earl Hutcherson.

440-yard dash—Jim Johnson.

880-yard run—Clayton Ross.

Mile relay—Hutcherson, Williams, Jim Wilson and Jim Johnson.

Mile run—Richard Johnson.

Shot put—Charles Curry.

Pole vault—Alfred Adair.

High hurdles—Bob Schmidt.

Decker and Williams will be entered in at least one and possibly two of the dash events, Hayhurst said, and George Carpenter will be used on the 440-yard dash or a relay event.

Plainview-Lubbock Dual Meet Friday

A dual track meet featuring Plainview High school's cinder squad and Lubbock High speedsters who will not compete in the Southwestern Exposition meet at Fort Worth will be conducted at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at Chapman field, Mentor Marlin Hayhurst announced last night.

The Plainview squad was late in starting drills as a result of unfavorable weather, but the Bulldogs boast some top performers in hurdler Bill Howton and dash specialist Donnie Meyers.

Although the best Westerner squadmen will be in Fort Worth, some excellent dash and distance condidates will be available for the dual meet here, including Malcolm Young in the dashes and 440, Porter Foster in the mile run, Sam Davis in the pole vault and Dewey Davis in the quarter-mile. James Vernon is expected to battle the Plainview sprinters for 100-yard dash honors.

No admission charge will be made at the meet, officials said.

Boys Club Nine Has Its First Workout

Twenty-six boys attended the first baseball workout of the year for the Lubbock Boys club Senior team Wednesday afternoon, officials reported, with five veterans of club play available for the '48 nine.

First game of the season for the Seniors is scheduled here March 26 when a Crosbyton team invades the Boys club diamond.

Boys reporting Wednesday included: Billy Everheart, J. T. Jones, Bobby Nabors, M. D. Stevens, Jimmy Hamilton, Gerald Pierce, Warren Hershenroeder, Roger Van Cleave, David Hooker, J. B. Elliott, Ronald Bennett and Billy Bohner.

Morris Moyers, Jimmy Tipps, Carl Ince, Ross Craig, Carlos Holton, Neil Sikes, Arlen Harris, Jack McLarty, Truman Jones, Tommy Yelvington, Benny Ray Short, J. R. Bradford, Bob Newell and Ray McLarty.

Thomas George will coach the Senior squad.

CRUSADERS DEFEND TITLE

Kentucky Favorite In NCAA Eastern Division Playoff

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP) — Holy Cross opens defense of its NCAA basketball title here tomorrow night, hoping to parlay an 18-game winning streak into its second straight championship.

The Crusaders face a tough job. Only one team—Oklahoma A. & M.—has ever won two NCAA titles. And, although they have the same squad that won last year, the champions find themselves ranked only second best to mighty Kentucky in the eastern playoffs.

First round eastern pairings match the Massachusetts entry against Michigan, the Big Nine champion, and Kentucky against Columbia, ruler of the Ivy league. The Columbia-Kentucky game is first starting at 7 p. m. (CST).

The experts figure Holy Cross should get by Michigan. They also predict that Kentucky will have absolutely no respect for Columbia's brilliant record of 21 victories and only one loss.

Four more teams will tangle in Kansas City starting Friday night to settle the western title. Kansas State (21-4) will meet Wyoming (18-7) in the first game, and Washington (21-10) will take on Baylor (21-5) in the second contest.

Finals Tuesday

The eastern and western winners will be matched in Madison Square Garden next Tuesday for the title. Both clubs also qualify for the Olympic tryout tournament in New York starting March 27.

Only Holy Cross and Wyoming are past champions. Wyoming won in 1943.

This is the first time in NCAA competition for Columbia, Kansas State and Michigan. Kentucky got to the second round in 1942 and lost its first game in 1945. Washington lost in the first round in 1943 and Baylor did likewise in 1946.

YMCA Teams Play

Another tournament which qualifies its winner for the Olympic trials opens tomorrow in Brooklyn. This one is the national YMCA championship.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Coach Gordon Wood of Seminole will take a small track squad to Fort Worth today for the Southwestern Exposition meet at Farrington field Friday and Saturday. Three of the squad members will be Richard Stanfield, Bobby Hunter and Val Joe Walker, but an additional three or four hopefuls may be taken for the valuable experience they will get in major competition. The Seminole squad has been impressive in early season performances and may be the "team to beat" in the Class A regional meet in Lubbock April 24.

A few track candidates from Amarillo and Pampa are expected to enter the Fort Worth meet, although coaches frankly admit they have little chance of taking a top place in any event since they have had little opportunity to conduct workouts. Pampa, with all except one member of its 1947 squad returning, is rated as the top challenger to the Lubbock Westerners' bid for another regional title. One of the Pampa Harvesters' best contenders in the Fort Worth meet will be dash specialist Carl (Red) Mayes, who will be remembered by South Plains grid fans as a rough and tough fullback.

Applications for the head and line coaching posts on the Brownfield Cub grid staff are still being received by school officials, Supt. S. P. Cowan reported last night, but no decision on applicants has been reached. At least one Texas Tech gridder has applied for a post as an assistant mentor, Cowan said, and officials are impressed by his record. "We're still in no hurry," Cowan emphasized, "we want to be sure to get the right men."

Reports and rumors from Amarillo indicate that the high school coaching situation there is still far from settled. Head coach Howard (Bull) Lynch has said that he will hold his post until his present contract terminates in December of this year, although the board of trustees refused to give him a "vote of confidence" which he had requested. The board even went so far as to say that if Lynch resigned, they would accept the resignation. But Lynch apparently is willing to continue as the head coach of the Golden Sandie grid squad this fall in the hope that, if he turns out a good team, all will be forgiven by the Amarillo fans.

Reliable information from the Panhandle city indicates that, regardless of the Sandies' showing this fall, Lynch will not be given a new contract. The majority of the Amarilloans believe that the Sandie mentors have not turned out the best teams possible with material available in recent years, and there is strong resentment because of the humiliating defeats by Odessa and the bi-district losses to Wichita Falls. It is just a hard fact—hard from the coaches' standpoint — that the Amarillo fans are not satisfied unless the Sandies win the state championship or at least get to the semifinals.

Aims Of Legion Baseball Plan Are Explained

The American Legion Junior League Baseball program primarily is intended to develop American citizens, not professional ball players, Legion Commander H. J. McCabe told a group of Legionnaires, businessmen and civic club representatives last night.

Commander McCabe, chairman of the Legion's baseball program here, called a dinner meeting last night in the Hilton hotel to discuss problems confronting the Junior League program.

C. I. "Stoney" Wall, called on to discuss part of the problem, paid credit to the Legion for producing greater interest in high school baseball, as well as producing better men. He said that the program was confronted with 1, a lighted playing field; 2, additional playing space; and 3, more spectator interest than in the past.

John Wilson, executive director of the Lubbock Boys club, took up the cry by pointing out that, with the development of the club addition, one of the diamonds available had been withdrawn.

Discussion of potential playing sites resulted in a committee of three men being appointed to look into the possibility of renting land at the three sites mentioned.

Joe Holmes, a member of Commander McCabe's committee, which also includes Elmer Tarbox and Joe Kelly, stated that they had planned another baseball school for Lubbock and area boys. Last year 586 boys attended the school, which featured the presence of Jack Knott and coaching assistance from Hubber players.

The approaching baseball game between the New York Giants and Cleveland Indians also was discussed, with Commander McCabe pointing out that Bob Feller, Clint Hartung, John Mize and other members of the two squads had received their start in Legion ball. An appropriate ceremony will be planned.

Commander McCabe reported that a state district tournament again would be held in Lubbock this summer, as last year. The state has been divided into 32 districts in four areas with eight divisions to each.

Help for the Legion program again was promised by the civic clubs, the Lubbock Boys club and interested business firms. As in the past, the program will be divided into four leagues, a Pee Wee league, a National league, an American league and the American Legion team.

Support also was promised by the Lubbock high school, with the idea that the Legion and school would work together in formulating baseball for boys here.

Hubbers Show Improvement In Daily Drills At Dallas Park

DALLAS, March 17 (Special)—Good weather in big doses has been welcomed by Manager Jackie Sullivan of the Lubbock Hubbers as a dog welcomes the loss of fleas.

The astute Hubber manager has been taking advantage of the balmy breezes to drive his players through steady morning drills. Most of the work still is in the conditioning and training stage, but the players are being given every opportunity to show their ability.

Rookies In Game

Yesterday the rookies and recruits were sent through a light intra-squad game, giving them a chance to demonstrate their wares. After the tilt, general praise was given to Frank Boothe, the hardhitting outfielder from the Kitty League.

Boothe again slammed the ball all over the park and Sullivan said that he was an exceptionally good looking prospect. The Lubbock manager feels that Boothe will fit into the champion's scheme like a hand into a glove and he is counting heavily on him.

Frank McAlexander, third baseman last year, arrived in camp this week and immediately began to sparkle at the hot corner. Sullivan is delighted with his play so far and calls him a greatly improved player. McAlexander has been playing winter ball in California and reported in top physical condition, ready to go the limit.

Hurlers Show Promise

Frank Cobo, the southpaw hurler, is looking good on the mound and Sullivan believes that he is just what the Hubbers need, even though it is a little early to tell for sure. He, along with 18-year-old Cotton Russell, a right-hander, should strengthen the mound staff considerably.

Newt Secrest, a catcher from the Kitty League, threatens to join Boothe in being a one-two hitting combination. The husky receiver also is bashing the ball hard and his work is pleasing Sullivan.

The Hubbers, still working with Odessa and Austin, are scheduled for another intra-squad game Thursday morning.

LIKE A JITTERY OCTOPUS

Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati Fireballer, Worries Batters

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., March 17 (AP)—It was hot behind the Cincinnati Reds' batting cage, but it was hotter in it. Ewell Blackwell was pitching, and he was throwing rivets that shot off sparks.

Howard Fox, another pitcher, was hitting. Or rather, he was waving timidly at the ball, as if he would like to make its acquaintance but was afraid he might be slapped down. Finally he darted, in obvious relief, out of the cage and headed for the bench.

"If I was a right-handed batter and had to hit against that every day I'd quit baseball and go to work," he commented, and that just about sizes up Blackwell and his effect on opposing teams. He's positively wicked out there on the mound.

The average fan, from his grandstand seat, sees only an amazing tangle of arms and legs writhing around out there like a jittery octopus, with the ball emerging from somewhere in the tangle and heading for the plate with blurring speed.

To stand directly behind the plate, or behind Blackwell, is a revelation. You wonder how a batter ever nicks the ball, let alone gets a hit.

It never comes toward the plate from the same direction twice in a row.

If anything, a rear view is even more amazing. As he goes through his contortions his right hand comes around behind him and the wrist snaps back. That's the secret weapon right there. It's just like he was winding a steel spring which uncoils with tremendous force as he whips his arm around.

The Reds had been in camp only a couple of weeks, yet Blackwell was showing his teammates better pitching than they'll probably see all season. Watching him you could understand how he won 16 straight last year, although he himself admits there was a lot of luck involved.

"You have to be lucky to win that many in a row," he says amiably.

Finis Vauahn Quits Sherman Coach Post

SHERMAN, March 17 (AP)—Finis Vaughn resigned today as head coach of Sherman High school. Vaughn said he was considering "another coaching job or two."

The resignation is effective at the end of the present school year.

Vaughn is a graduate of West Texas State Teachers college where he was a letterman. He has been a coach for several years, following his graduation in the mid-thirties.

Lubbock friends said last night that Vaughn had been here several times during the past year and had been talking of turning to farming as his occupation. He dug an irrigation ditch last spring and has shown interest in settling in this area.

Hardin-Simmons Nine To Meet Mustangs In Two-Game Series

ABILENE, March 17 (Special)—Coach Murray Evans' Hardin-Simmons baseballers will go after their second Southwest Conference foe in less than a week Friday when they open a two-game series with the Southern Methodist Mustangs on the latter's home diamond. A second game of the series is scheduled Saturday in Dallas.

McChesney, veteran southpaw, will probably get the starting mound assignment in Friday's opener with either Tiger or Waller "Moe" Hedrick, Houston right hander, slated for Saturday's series finale. Hedrick wasn't used against the Frogs Monday.

Dupre Dogies Hold 36th Street Nine To Three Hits, Win 40-3

The Dupre Dogies trounced the 36th Street School yesterday afternoon in a baseball game featuring "Play Day," the Dupre school nine romping to a 40-3 victory.

Jerry Gilland scattered three hits garnered by the 36th Street team and the Dogies never were challenged in the five-inning contest. Bill Polk was the receiver for Gilland's slants.

The game, first of the season on schoolboy schedules, was a challenge match.

Talbert, McGrath In Net Meet Semifinals

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Top-Seeded Billy Talbert of New York and Ed McGrath of Brooklyn disposed of two foreign threats today to enter the semifinal round of the National Indoor Tennis tournament.

Talbert brushed past Armando Vierira of Brazil, third in the foreign seeded list, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

McGrath, recent winner of the eastern indoor title, had rougher going with Marcel Bernard, the French champion, but prevailed, 6-3, 1-6, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4.

SWC Swim Meet Slated

COLLEGE STATION, March 17 (AP)—A nip-and-tuck battle between Texas and Texas A. and M. for the Southwest conference swimming championship is forecast here this week-end.

A three-way scrap for supremacy in the 220 and 440-yard free style events is a major reason why there is no outstanding favorite for the title.

SMU, Baylor Weak

Southern Methodist's Larry Goodman, Texas' Jim McCann and A. and M.'s Bernie Syfan are the individuals involved. They have been out-doing each other this season.

Syfan beat Goodman in the 220 at Dallas. They didn't meet in the 440. Goodman then clipped McCann in both the 220 and 440 at Dallas. McCann turned the tables at Austin with a double victory over Goodman. Syfan and McCann haven't met yet, but McCann has the edge in times.

Gray Takes Grapple Match With Freeman

Karl Gray of Milwaukee, Wisc., recovered from a fall out of the ring, in Sled Allen's wrestling arena last night, after Ace Freeman of New York City and this fact gave him the third and deciding fall.

Gray had taken the first fall in 17 minutes on a reverse stepover toehold, only to have Freeman storm back in the second flop to win in four minutes flat. Freeman used a series of body blocks to knock Gray down, then fall on him for a body smother.

In the third fall, both men were in the process of mixing it up when they simultaneously went through the ropes. Referee Jimmy McEuin began to count and Freeman began to recover. The groggy Freeman got to his feet and started to crawl through the ropes, when Gray also recovered. Just as Freeman went ahead first into the ring, Gray grabbed him, pulled him out and went in ahead of him.

Referee McEuin awarded the fall to Gray in four minutes on the grounds that he had reached the ring first.

Gil Knutson won the first of three falls from Ebner Gideon in 16 minutes using a full Jap crab, but Gideon returned to win the next two. The newcomer used an abdominal stretch to pin Knutson in five minutes and then used a reverse crab to take the next fall in six minutes.

Gorilla Poggi and Johnny "Baldy" Carlin grappled 20-minutes to a draw in the preliminary fall.

HOME RUN KING—The New York Giants' first baseman and No. 1 circuit clouter Johnny Mize seems a willing subject for Chief White Mountain Lion's scalping technique between innings of exhibition game in Phoenix. Hank Greenberg, left, former Detroit Tiger and Pittsburgh Pirate, now an Indian, enjoys the lesson.

LOS ANGELES, March 17 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau has put himself second in the Cleveland Indians' batting order in an attempt to increase Tribe run production.

State Champions Of Girls' Cage Scramble To Meet Iowa Titlist

MESQUITE, March 17 (AP)—This Dallas county town is all abuzz over its high school girls basketball team.

The Skeeters won the State Championship at Hillsboro last week and now they're going to Des Moines, where they'll play the champions of the Iowa High School Girls Athletic union.

Coach H. S. Shipley said he had been receiving some awesome reports from Iowa. It seems Kamar High school, the champion of that state, has not only won 32 games without a loss for the season, but has averaged 58 points per contest and has players who hit the basket for as many as 35 points in a single tilt.

"It sounds fantastic," he said today. "We have been averaging only 35 per game. It looks like we're in for quite a game.

The Skeeters, 12 strong, will leave next Wednesday night for Iowa, arriving by train on Thursday, being guests at a banquet Friday night and playing Kamar Saturday night. Iowa officials said they expected 6,000 to 7,000 to turn out for the game The Mesquite squad will have all expenses paid.

The team will play no games between now and the tilt at Des Moines. "We played four in four nights in winning the championship at Hillsboro," Shipley said. "I think the girls should take it easy until we play in Iowa."

The Skeeters have won 37 out of 39 contests this year, and they avenged their two losses. Yantis, which beat them early in the season, was downed 32-25 in the Hillsboro tournament. East Chambers, which defeated Mesquite easily, also in early season, was whipped 23-20 in the semi-finals. Mesquite won the title by beating Maydelle 37-35 in the finals.

Black Hubbers Ready For Spring Training

The Lubbock Black Hubbers will begin spring baseball training at Dunbar High school field Monday afternoon, starting at 5:30 o'clock, Manager James E. Lewis announced last night.

Lewis has called a meeting of team members and candidates for 8 o'clock tonight at the Blue Grill.

It was learned Wednesday that the Black Hubbers probably will play a number of outstanding colored teams this year, including the Chicago Brown Bombers, Detroit Senators, Kerrville All-Stars, and Wichita Falls. Efforts are being made to accomodate some of these teams for games here.

One of the purposes of tonight's meeting will be to arrange a spring training schedule, and to further efforts toward securing suitable opposition for the 1948 season, Lewis stated.

Teams who wish to engage the Black Hubbers in a game are invited to contact Lewis by letter at 1823 Ave. B, or telephone him at 4049 or 2-9083.

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., was signed today to meet Italian Heavyweight Gino Buonvino in a ten-round fight at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Savold was substituted for Joe Baksi of Kulpmont, Pa., who withdrew because of an ankle injury received in training.

$10,000 Golf Tourney Set

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 17 (AP)—Golfdom's big show pitches tent here Friday for a three-day Greensboro open stand with no outstanding favorite to mark as the man to beat.

Time was when the Nelson-Hogan-Snead trio had a stranglehold on top honors among the money men of the links. But Nelson is in semi-retirement; Snead is talking of playing only a few tournaments each year and Hogan is no longer the all-conquering player of yore.

Favorites Are Scarce

The $10,000, 72-hole Greensboro tournament, 10th such event since the first of the year, finds no two-time 1948 winner as the favorite.

The nine previous 72-hole, $10,000 tournaments this year have seen as many different winners.

The Los Angeles Open Jan. 2-5 was won by Hogan.

In the ensuing weeks E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark.; Bobby Locke, the South African invader; North Carolina's Skip Alexander; Snead; Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago; Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind.; Lawson Little, Cleveland, and Chick Harbert, Detroit, all have brought home a slice of the bacon.

Augusta Meet Next

Perhaps the most consistent performer, although he has not won a tournament, is Jimmy Demaret, the Ojai, Calif., crooner He has finished second four times, losing once in a playoff with Mangrum.

The tournament here over the 6,720-yard, par 72 Sedgefield Country club course is the first of two North Carolina tests before the Augusta Masters' early next month. From Greensboro the tour swings to Charlotte for four days beginning March 25.

Seminole Quintet Favored In Cage Meet Starting Friday In Lamesa

LAMESA, March 17 (Special)—A 3-day basketball tournament opens here Thursday night at the high school gym with ten independent fives competing for first, second and third place honors.

The tourney is sponsored and was arranged by the Green Hut Basketeers, I. B. Palmer, Lamesa Lobo third baseman and a member of the Green Hut team, said today in announcing the pairings for the event.

Three Tilts Friday

Loop and Union clash in the tournament opener Thursday evening at 6:45. Dawson meets Ackerly and Seminole plays the Green Hut cagers in other games on the first night.

Teams representing Draw and Harmony, both of which drew byes in the opening round, go into action Friday night. Draw will meet the winner of the Loop-Union tussle, and Harmony will face the victor in the Dawson-Ackerly contest.

The third Friday battle will feature Furr Food of Brownfield and the Morris Gulf Station cagers of Lamesa.

Semi-final and final games will be unreeled Saturday night when four contests will be played with a battle for third place coming before the championship finale.

Jackets will be awarded the tournament champions. Admission will be 25 and 15 cents, Palmer stated.

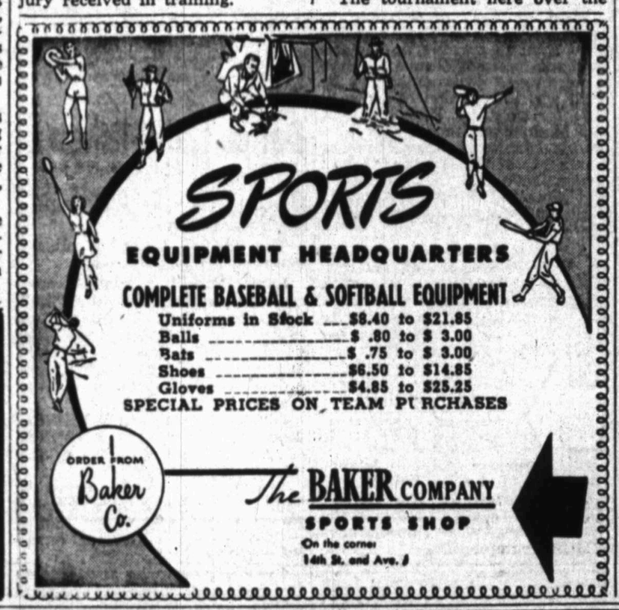

The Seminole five, holder of four triumphs over the Green Hut cagers this season, is the pre-tourney favorite. Other powerful entries are Furr Food of Brownfield and Harmony.

Texas Longhorn Nine Defeats San Antonio Missions, 4 To 2

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—Reserve Outfielder Don Russell blasted a 360-foot home run in the eighth inning with a mate aboard to give the Texas Longhorns a 4-2 victory over the San Antonio Missions here today.

It was the second consecutive win over pro baseball competition for the Longhorns. They split two games with the Milwaukee Brewers here over the week end.

Truman Asks Drastic Program To Meet Threat Of Red Aggression

defense pact by five of these nations in Brussels.

Firmly, the President said:

"I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires.

"I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

Asks Fast Action

Besides UMT and selective service—the draft is needed only until UMT is put on a "solid foundation," he said—Mr. Truman appealed for sitll faster action on the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery program.

"Time is now of critical importance," he warned.

Soviet pressure, Mr. Truman declared, is being brought on Finland "to the hazard of the entire Scandinavian peninsula."

Greece, he said, is under "direct military attack" by rebel forces "supported by her Communist-dominated neighbors."

And in Italy, where crucial elections are coming April 18, "a determined and aggressive effort is being made by a Communist minority to take control," the President said.

Solons Given Warning

Congress listened intently to Mr. Truman's 20-minute address and was obviously impressed by his warning that the situation is "critical."

But many senators and representatives showed unwillingness to go along with his proposal to bring back the draft—particularly in an election year—without thorough study. Some said they would need much more evidence than Mr. Truman offered that the draft was necessary.

The Senate armed services committee called Secretary Marshall to testify, shortly after Mr. Truman's address, on Universal Military training. There was no parallel action in the House rules committee where a UMT bill has been bottled up for months.

On speeding the European Recovery program there was general agreement. The House foreign affairs committee called its third night session in a row in the hope of completing its foreign aid bill this week and getting action by the full house before Easter. The Senate already has passed the ERP measure.

Cabinet On Hand

Mr. Truman wore a light grey suit with a green necktie and matching breast pocket handkerchief. Like most of the senators and representatives, he wore a green St. Patrick's Day carnation in his lapel.

He smiled and nodded acknowledgement to the applause that greeted him when he ascended the marble dias, but his expression grew sober and even grim when he began speaking.

Members of his cabinet and a number of foreign diplomats were seated in the well of the house.

The Chief Executive twice changed the word "could" in his prepared address to the stronger "can" when he said:

"Our ability to mobilize large numbers of trained men in time of emergency can forestall future conflict and, together with other measures of national policy, can restore stability to the world."

He said there must be selective service because our armed forces now are far below their authorized minimum strength.

But the draft can be abandoned in favor of voluntary enlistments, Mr. Truman said, as soon as the Universal Training program, for young men turning 18, gets fully organized.

He was applauded again when he said adoption of UMT would show all the world "our determination to back the will to peace with the strength for peace."

Applaud United Front

And a third round of applause broke out just before the end, after the President said Americans must present "wholeheartedly and without reservation" or party differences a united front.

Mr. Truman paused, then finished with a single, quietly delivered sentence:

"With God's help we shall succeed."

Then the ovation broke out anew, with some whistling and cries of "Bravo!" The loudest applause came from the Democratic side of the house. Some southern Democratic rebels against the President's civil rights program, however, stood with their hands at their sides.

All the president's references to Russia, and there were a number of them, were received in stony silence. There was a slight stir when he said this country is "ready and anxious to join with all nations—I repeat, with all nations—in every possible effort" to keep the peace."

The door has never been closed, said Mr. Truman, nor will ever be closed "to the Soviet union or any other nation."

But "one nation," he said, "has not only refused to cooperate in the establishment of a just and honorable peace but—even worse—has actively sought to prevent it."

Agreements Not Kept

He said the various Allied agreements reached during and after the war "could have furnished the basis for a just peace—if they had been kept."

"But they were not kept," he said. "They have been persistently ignored and violated by one nation.

"One nation has persistently obstructed the work of the United Nations by constant abuse of the veto . . .

"Since the close of hostilities the Soviet Union and its agents have destroyed the independence and democratic character of a whole series of nations in eastern and central Europe.

"It is this ruthless course of action, and the clear design to extend it to the remaining free nations of Europe that have brought about the critical situation in Europe today . . .

"Until the free nations of Europe have regained their strength, and so long as Communism threatens the very existence of Democracy, the United States must remain strong enough to support those countries of Europe which are threatened with Communist control and police-state rule."

Solons Cautious

ican police state . . . ")

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Senate armed services committee pointed out that even in advance of the address he had called a session today on UMT, with Secretary of State Marshall the first witness.

Senate Democratic leader Barkley (Ky) predicted that Congress and the American people will regard the message as "a sincere effort to keep the peace," and House Democratic Leader Rayburn said it should cause every citizen to think seriously about the world situation.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the powerful Senate appropriations committee, said however "I had hoped we'd stop shaking our fist at Russia with one hand and patting her on the back with the other."

Connally Approves

Senator Connally of Texas, No. 1 Democrat on the foreign relations committee, expressed sympathy with the President's policies, but Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) complained that Mr. Truman ought to let Congress and the people know "exactly what our foreign policy is."

Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House appropriations committee said he believes the House might approve Universal Military training "if we can get rid of the proposed civilian commission that's supposed to decide what the training should be." As for a draft—"I don't know. That would depend on the world situation."

Rep. Marcantonio, American-Labor party member from New York, called the speech "a cheap piece of soap opera and an attempt to cause hysteria."

Other Comment

Other comment included:

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho), Wallace's announced running mate: "I see where Russia is demobilizing. It seems like a poor time for us to be mobilizing."

Senator Overton (D-La): "I will go along with him (on UMT and temporary conscription)."

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla): "The President's speech either marks the end of World War II or the beginning of World War III."

Other comment from Texans included:

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex): "The President has finally officially admitted that our bi-partisan New Deal foreign bungling and appeasement of Stalin has brought us to the brink of war."

selves to preserving fundamental human rights, Democracy, personal freedom and their western constitutional traditions.

2. They will come to each other's defense if any of them is attacked in Europe, join no alliance against one of them, and settle their own disagreements peacefully, if need be through the world court at Hague.

3. They will eliminate conflict in their economic policies, coordinate their production and develop their mutual trade; they will similarly make agreements developing their social legislation and improving living standards.

4. They will encourage tighter cultural ties, bringing their populations as well as their national activities closer together in spirit.

5. To accomplish all this the five countries will set up a permanent super-council which will meet continuously. Other countries may join the pact if all members agree.

6. The treaty goes into effect as soon as ratified by each country. No country may withdraw before at least 50 years have passed.

Bevin, who fathered the pact, said "this treaty is not as we see it, the end. It is the beginning. It is a foundation, a kind of foundation that has not been attempted before."

Bidault painted a picture of postwar ruin in Europe and declared "this drama has lasted long enough. We are here to put an end to it by all means at our disposal."

The pact was drafted to remain within the scope of the United Nations charter, which permits regional security arrangements.

(In Paris the French Foreign ministry denied reports in local newspapers that a secret military protocol setting up a joint general staff had been agreed upon in Brussels).

Three Men Suffer Injuries In Car Accident Near Smyer

Three men were injured last night, none seriously, when the pickup in which they were riding turned over in a ditch four miles south of Smyer, about 6:30 p. m. The steering gear of the vehicle 'went out of control,' it was reported by R. L. Edwards, of 3117 Thirtieth street, owner of the pickup.

C. C. Caperton, route 7 Lubbock, suffered a fractured collar bone, and Edwards and Freeman Rowe, of Levelland, each suffered scratches and bruises. Caperton and Rowe were given emergency treatment at West Texas hospital and dismissed. The latter two men are employed by Edwards.

ROYALTY, BUT HE'S UNIMPRESSED—Queen Elizabeth blossomed out in a new and unusual hat at London's Ideal Home Exhibit, but the puppy at one of the stands doesn't seem too impressed with either the ribbon-bedecked chapeau or the royal attention. iors in high school, said: "Russia is obviously taking the attitude of aggression because she believes we're too weak militarily to do anything about it. I don't like to think of another war for personal reasons, but I am heartily in favor of both Universal Military training and the draft if necessary." His wife agreed with his opinion, he said.

Mrs. J. Mule Davis of 2213 Fifteenth, who has four sons between the ages of 16 and 22, stated: "I am not in favor of either UMT or the draft. I feel that the world situation could be settled otherwise than by military force." Her son, Sam, a senior in high school, said that he was willing and ready for training if it would help the situation any.

Would Back Program

Dave White, 17, of 2906 Ave. P, said that "we're all for Truman's plan, even to backing up the democratic forces of Europe by force if necessary." This statement, he said, was the opinion of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Watkins, and his brother Robert White, 21, who is a junior at Texas Tech and a member of the National Guard. Young Dave said that the family had come to the agreement while discussing the situation at dinner last night.

A former Naval Air corps flyer, T. I. Brown, jr., of Veterans Village, said: "At least a portion of Truman's talk was politics. If he meant that we are going to fight Russia, why didn't he say so. It would be better to fight now while we still have trained fighting men available from the recent war. I'm all in favor of UMT, but the draft only if necessary." Brown was a fighter pilot in the Asiatic-Pacific theater and saw action from the Marshall Islands campaign to the Philippines.

Jake Browles of 505 College Avenue, a combat infantryman who participated in the Okinawa campaign in the Pacific, stated: "I'm in favor of both UMT and the draft, anything to keep from being caught short as we were at the beginning of the last war."

One man, who preferred to remain unnamed in the poll, said that he was in favor of the UMT course, and had previously considered sending his 16-year-old son to military school. "If we're going to have trouble, it's better to be prepared." His wife, however, disagreed with his opinion on UMT. She disliked the idea of any form of compulsory military training.

Other persons contacted gave similar opinions. Men and boys, in general, were mostly in favor of the military program outlined by President Truman, while women were about equally divided in agreeing with and opposing the program.

brought there to estimate their number. She said she believed there was one dead.

The hospital issued a call for extra nurses and doctors.

Louis Bianchi, a tavern-keeper near the scene, said the "roof came down first. It just sort of caved inward. There were 1,200 people in the dance hall—men, women and children. Their weight on the floor just sort of pulled the roof in on top of them."

Gilbert Brecheisen and his wife, Elizabeth, were in the bowling alley on the second floor of the three-story building.

Brecheisen said he heard a "dull thud with a tinny sound." He then looked and saw that a section of the third-floor dance floor had caved in.

Brecheisen said he saw several "injured and bleeding" persons and believed there were others still trapped in the debris.

House Committee

said the foreign affairs committee directed that $1,000,000,000 of the $5,300,000,000 European aid be in lending authority for the Export-Import bank.

Thus Congress would need to appropriate directly only $4,300,000,000.

The committee was called back into session tonight to continue work on the measure as a whole.

As described to reporters, the broad terms of the European aid plan approved by the House committee appeared to be substantially the same as those in the Senate bill.

Under both bills, $1,000,000,000 in aid could be started immediately from funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. In anticipation of actual appropriations by Congress. The House committee added the $1,000,000,000 lending authority by the Export-Import bank which apparently would reduce the immediate appropriation.

Work on another "stop-Communism" bill advanced in the Senate. The Foreign Relations committee will begin Friday writing legislation to add $275,000,000 to military aid for Greece and Turkey until mid-1949.

Negro Fined In Driving Spree

Willie Perryman, 35-year-old Lubbock negro, who was hurled from his car as it began a six-loop roll at the end of a police chase Tuesday, was fined $500 and court costs yesterday and sentenced to 60 days in jail. He was charged in county court with drunk driving.

During the chase, which ended in the 2200 block of Thirty-fourth street, the negro's companion, Ruby Lee Fulcher, 19, also baled out involuntarily. She said she fell out of the car when Perryman swerved to miss a post and its brace wire.

Burglaries Are Probed

Top speed in the negro's harried flight from two Lubbock officers was reported at 85 miles per hour.

Officers continued investigation of two burglaries and numerous thefts.

Bray's Campus Toggery, at 2422 Broadway, reported that someone pulled back an air-conditioner on a windor and took the following articles from the store: 24 pairs of socks valued at $1.75 each, seven pairs of slacks, nine jackets, several sports and dress shirts, two sports coats and several pairs of shoes.

Property valued at $550 was reported stolen from the car of Ward S. Merrick, of Ardmore, Okla.

Car Is Located

Taken from Merrick's car, parked on a lot near a downtown hotel were two coats, a suit, a suitcase and two cameras, police said they were advised. A vent window had been pried open.

Burglary of the Shallowater residence of Tom Fisher, a negro charged with assault with intent to murder, in connection with the Sunday shooting of another negro there, was reported to the sheriff's department.

He said $63 in money, a watch, a pistol and a jacket were taken.

Fisher, 43, was released from county jail after posing bail in connection with the assault charge and one accusing him of operating a gambling establishment. Jewel Mays, victim of the assault, was in a negro hospital here. He was expected to recover.

Thefts Are Reported

Several theft reports were lodged with law enforcement authorities.

Sheriff Ocie Murry of Brownfield telephoned that a 10-horsepower, three-phase, six-cycle electric motor had been stolen there.

Fred Hall said a James motorcycle, license YJ 1606, had been stolen from him.

Two International truck engines were reported stolen from a loading platform at Doud switch, west of Lubbock. Two suspects were named to officials.

Willie C. Johnson told police that someone broke into his trunk here and took a pistol.

An automobile owned by Bill Couch of Abilene was broken into at a dine and dance place Tuesday night and two bags containing sample boots for the left foot were reported taken.

DENVER, March 17 (AP)—Moving nearer their sixth consecutive title the Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers (Phillips 66) today breezed into the quarter finals of the National A.A.U. Basketball tournament by trouncing Denver Eaton Metal 60-29.

The defending champs have cake-walked through the early tourney rounds without once being extended, but they face a tartar in tomorrow's fracas, against the Salt Lake City (Eckers) entry.

The Salt Lake quint stepped into the round of eight today by thumping a well-regarded Chicago (Owl Athletic club) contender 70-49.

The third club to reach the quarter-finals was the hustling Kokomo, Ind., all-stars, who staged an old-fashioned Donneybrook with Golden, Colo., (Coors) and came out with a hard-earned 41-39 victory.

Hollywood (20th Century-Fox) become the day's fourth entrant into the quarter-finals but only after having a scare thrown into them by a smooth-passing Warrensburg, Mo., (Riggles) quintet. The moviemen won 63-46.

The small but smoothworking U. S. Navy Blues from Annapolis, Md., stepped into the quarter-finals by ousting the tourney's Cinderella club, Portland, Ore., (Semler Yanks) 74-46.

Tax Cut Passed

The House already has passed a bill to trim taxes $6,500,000,000. The Senate finance committee whittled this figure down to $4,800,000,000.

The committee trimmed the House figure in an effort to win enough Democratic votes to override an expected presidential veto.

The Senate tomorrow will begin a debate on whether to approve this figure, or a lower one, around $4,000,000,000, asked by Democrats.

The Senate measure as it now stands provides cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent for the lowest income taxpayers to 5 per cent in the highest brackets.

A U. S. Agriculture department market analyst there said wholesale meat buyers were "a little bit panicky."

Only 61,000 head of cattle have been shipped to the country's 12 principal markets so far this week compared with 158,559 for the same period a week ago and 190,587 a year ago. Hog receipts of 70,000 this week compare with 209,993 for the period a week ago and 124,421 for the same three days a year ago. Some 46,000 sheep were shipped this week, compared with 121,314 for the last week period and 115,101 a year ago.

The fact-finding board will not make a recommendation in the wage dispute. However, after its April 1 report the President can ask the Attorney General to seek an injunction to end the strike. Any injunction would end the strike for 80 days.

Steps To Follow

Other steps in the Taft-Hartley act provide for the fact-finders to make a second study, for the National Labor Relations board to poll strikers secretly on the latest offer of the meat packing companies. If the dispute still remained unsettled, the President could refer it to Congress.

The CIO United Packing House Workers of America called the strike in support of demands for a 29 cents hourly wage boost. The packing companies involved settled with their AFL and independent union employes for nine cents an hour.

N. economic and social council, on the personal and direct orders of the President of Chile.

Move Hit By Gromyko

Gromyko lost no time telling the council that the complaint was "pure slander." Gromyko charged that "influential external circles" were acting through "puppets" and "lackeys" to bring the Czechoslovak case here.

Santa Cruz, Warren R. Austin of the United States, Dr. Alfonso Lopez of Colombia and Dr. T. E. Tsiang, of China, teamed up in a sharp rebuke to Gromyko for using what they called aggressive language.

The council adjourned the Czechoslavak debate until 1:30 p. m. (C.S.T.) Monday after hearing Santa Cruz declare Chile does not want the U.N. to suffer the same fate as the League of Nations.

Santa Cruz said his country believed it had a moral obligation to sponsor the charges against Russia originally made a week ago today by Dr. Jan Papanek. Papanek was Czechoslovakia's delegate then but the Prague government fired him last Saturday. He has declined to accept dismissal.

Chile charged—as did Papanek—that recent changes in the Czechoslovak government were brought about by the intervention of Soviet Russia. Chile asked the council to investigate the situation.

Western Europe Praises Speech

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—Western Europe welcomed both President Truman's call for rearming America and the Brussels five-power pact tonight as twin bulwarks against Communist expansion.

"Communism has lost its bet on the ineptitude and un-readiness of Democracy," said the London Daily Telegraph.

The president's message, the paper added, "may well rank among the greatest pronouncements in history."

In this nation—filled more and more with forebodings since the Czechoslovak crisis recalled the pre-war year of Munich—Mr. Truman's pronouncement strengthened hope that war may be avoided.

French Approve

A foreign office spokesman refused to go on record concerning President Truman's address. He said it was "too important for off-hand comment" and that an official statement might be issued tomorrow.

High French officials in Paris said Congressional approval of the President's request for the temporary draft and Universal Military training would leave no room for misunderstanding, either in the east or west, that the United States means business about stopping Communism.

One French official, approving the President's support of the Brussels alliance signed today by Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg, said, "We know that we cannot stand up against a major-scale aggression unless assisted by the United States."

Called Good News

In Rome, a spokesman for Premier Alcide de Gasperi said President Truman's speech was very interesting to Italy and contained good news for the Democratic countries of Europe.

The rightist afternoon newspaper Giornale Della Sera said "aggressive Soviet policy has called for the Truman doctrine. It was inevitable."

A Netherlands foreign office spokesman at The Hague said the President's speech "was the best blessing of the Western pact."

Full Text Of President Truman's Message

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—The text of President Truman's message today to a joint session of Congress follows:

I am here today to report to you on the critical nature of the situation in Europe, and to recommend action for your consideration.

Rapid changes are taking place in Europe, which affect our foreign policy and our national security. There is an increasing threat to nations which are striving to maintain a form of government which grants freedom to its citizens. The United States is deeply concerned with the survival of freedom in those nations. It is of vital importance that we act in order to preserve the conditions under which we can achieve lasting peace based on freedom and justice.

Goal Of This Nation

The achievement of such a peace has been the great goal of this nation.

Almost three years have elapsed since the end of the greatest of all wars, but peace and stability have not returned to the world. We were well aware that the end of the fighting would not automatically settle the problems arising out of the war. The reestablishment of peace after the fighting is over has always been a difficult task. And even if all the Allies of World war II were united in their desire to establish a just and honorable peace, there would still be great difficulties of achieving that goal.

But the situation in the world today is nt primarily the result of the natural difficulties which follow a great war.

Sought To Prevent It

It is chiefly due to the fact that one nation has not only refused to cooperate in the establishment of a just and honorable peace but—even worse—has actively sought to prevent it.

The Congress is familiar with the course of events.

You know of the sincere and patient attempts of the Democratic nations to find a secure basis for peace through negotiation and agreement. Conference after conference has been held in different parts of the world. We have tried to settle the question arising out of the war on a basis which would permit the establishment of a just peace.

Obstacles Encountered

You know the obstacles we have encountered. But the record stands as a monument to the good faith and integrity of the Democratic nations of the world. The agreements we did obtain, imperfect though they were, could have furnished the basis for a just peace—if they had been kept.

But they were not kept.

They have been persistently ignored and violated by one nation.

The Congress is also familiar with the developments concerning the United Nations. Most of the countries of the world have joined together in the United Nations in an attempt to build a world order based on law and not on force. Most of the members support the United Nations earnestly and honestly, and seek to make it stronger and more effective.

Veto Has Been Abused

One nation, however, has persistently obstructed the work of the United Nations by constant abuse of the veto. That nation has vetoed 21 proposals for action in a little over two years.

But that is not all. Since the close of hostilities, the Soviet Union and its agents have destroyed the independence and Democratic character of a whole series of nations in eastern and central Europe.

It is this ruthless course of action, and the clear design to extend it to the remaining free nations of Europe, that have brought about the critical situation in Europe today.

World Is Shocked

The tragic death of the republic of Czechoslovakia has sent a shock throughout the civilized world. Now pressure is being brought to bear on Finland, to the hazard of the entire Scandinavian peninsula. Greece is under direct military attack from rebels actively supported by her Communist dominated neighbors. In Italy, a determined and aggressive effort is being made by a Communist minority to take control of that country. The methods vary, but the pattern is all too clear.

Faced with this growing menace, there have been encouraging signs that the free nations of Europe are drawing closer together for their economic well-being and for the common defense of their liberties.

In the economic field, the movement for mutual self-help to restore conditions essential to the preservation of free institutions is well under way. In Paris, the sixteen nations which are cooperating in the European recovery program are meeting again to establish a joint organization to work for the economic restoration of western Europe.

Given Strong Support

The United States has strongly supported the efforts of these nations to repair the devastation of war and restore a sound world economy. In presenting this program to the Congress last December, I emphasized the necessity for speedy action. Every event in Europe since that day has underlined the great urgency for the prompt adoption of this measure.

The Soviet Union and its satellites were invited to cooperate in the European recovery program. They rejected the invitation. More than that, they have declared their violent hostility to the program and are aggressively attempting to wreck it.

They see in it a major obstacle to their designs to subjugate the free community of Europe. They do not want the United States to help Europe. They do not even want the sixteen cooperating countries to help themselves.

Must Have Protection

While economic recovery in Europe is essential, measures for economic rehabilitation alone are not enough. The free nations of Europe realize that economic recovery, if it is to succeed, must be afforded some measure of protection against internal and external aggression. The movement toward economic cooperation has been followed by a movement toward common self-protection in the face of the growing menace to their freedom.

At the very moment I am addressing you, five nations of the European community, in Brussels, are signing a 50-year agreement for economic cooperation and common defense against aggression.

This action has great significance, for this agreement was not imposed by the decree of a more powerful neighbor. It was the free choice of independent governments representing the will of their people, and acting within the terms of the charter of the United Nations.

Notable Step In Unity

Its significance goes far beyond the actual terms of the agreement itself. It is a notable step in the direction of unity in Europe for the protection and preservation of its civilization. This development deserves our full support. I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires. I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them to do so.

The recent developments in Europe present this nation with fundamental issues of vital importance.

I believe that we have reached a point at which the position of the United States should be made unmistakably clear.

One Nation Defiant

The principles and purpose expressed in the charter of the United Nations continue to represent our hope for the eventual establishment of the rule of law in international affairs. The charter constitutes the basic expression of the code of international ethics to which this country is dedicated. We cannot, however, close our eyes to the harsh fact that through obstruction and even defiance on the part of one nation, this great dream has not yet become a full reality.

It is necessary, therefore, that we take additional measures to supplement the work of the United Nations and to support its aims. There are times in world history when it is far wiser to act than to hesitate. There is some risk involved in action—there always is. But there is far more risk in failure to act.

For if we act wisely now, we shall strengthen the powerful forces for freedom, justice and peace which are represented by the United Nations and the free nations of the world.

Action Is Recommended

I regard it as my duty, therefore, to recommend to the Congress measures which, in my judgment, are best calculated to give support to the free and Democratic nations of Europe and to improve the solid foundation of our own national strength.

First, I recommend that the Congress speedily compete its action on the European recovery program. That program is the foundation of our policy of assistance to the free nations of Europe. Prompt passage of that program is the most telling contribution we can now make toward peace.

The decisive action which the Senate has taken without regard to partisan political considerations is a striking example of the effective working of Democracy.

Time Is Important

Time is now of critical importance. I am encouraged by the information which has come to me concerning the plans for expeditious action by the House of Representatives. I hope that no single day will be needlessly lost.

Second, I recommend prompt enactment of universal training legislation.

Until the free nations of Europe have regained their strength, and so long as Communism threatens the very existence of Democracy, the United States must remain strong enough to support those countries of Europe which are threatened with Communist control and police-state rule.

Have Learned Lesson

I believe that we have learned the importance of maintaining military strength as a means of preventing war. We have found that a sound military system is necessary in time of peace if we are to remain at peace. Aggressors in the past, relying on our apparent lack of military force, have unwisely precipiated war. Although they have been led to destruction by their misconception of our strength, we have paid a terrible price for our unpreparedness.

Universal training is the only feasible means by which the civilian components of our armed forces can be built up to the strength required if we are to be prepared for emergencies. Our ability to mobilize large numbers of trained men in time of emergency could forestall future conflict and, together with other measures of national policy, could restore stability to the world.

Would Give Courage

The adoption of universal training by the United States at this time would be unmistakable evidence to all the world of our determination to back the will to peace with the strength for peace. I am convinced that the decision of the American people, expressed through the Congress, to adopt universal training would be of first importance in giving courage to every free government in the world.

Third, I recommend the temporary reenactment of selective service legislation in order to maintain our armed forces at their authorized strength.

Our armed forces lack the necessary men to maintain their authorized strength. They have been unable to maintain their authorized strength through voluntary enlistments, even though such strength has been reduced to the very minimum necessary to meet our obligations abroad and is far below the minimum which should always be available in the continental United States.

Must Maintain Forces

We cannot meet our international responsibilities unless we maintain our armed forces. It is of vital importance, for example, that we keep our occupation forces in Germany until the peace is secure in Europe.

There is no conflict between the requirements of selective service for the regular forces and universal training for the reserve components. Selective service is necessary until the solid foundation of universal training can be established. Selective service can then be terminated and the regular forces may then be maintained on a voluntary basis.

The recommendations I have made represent the most urgent steps toward securing the peace and preventing war.

We must be ready to take every wise and necessary step to carry out this great purpose. This will require assistance to other nations. It will require an adequate and balanced military strength. We must be prepared to pay the price of peace, or assuredly we shall pay the price of war.

We in the United States remain determined to seek, by every possible means, a just and honorable basis for the settlement of international issues. We shall continue to give our strong allegiance to the United Nations as the principal means for international security based on law, not on force. We shall remain ready and anxious to join with all nations — I repeat, with all nations—in every possible effort to reach international understanding and agreement.

Door Never Closed

The door has never been closed, nor will it ever be closed, to the Soviet Union or any other nation which will genuinely cooperate in preserving the peace.

At the same time, we must not be confused about the central issue which confronts the world today.

The time has come when the free men and women of the world must face the threat to their liberty squarely and courageously.

The United States has a tremendous responsibility to act according to the measure of our power for good in the world. We have learned that we must earn the peace we seek just as we earned victory in the war, not by wishful thinking but by realistic effort.

At no time in our history has unity among our people been so vital as it is at the present time.

Unity Is Essential

Unity of purpose, unity of effort and unity of spirit are essential to accomplish the task before us.

Each of us here in this chamber today has a special responsibility. The world situation is too critical, and the responsibilities of this country are too vast, to permit party struggles to weaken our influence for maintaining peace.

The American people have the right to assume that political considerations will not affect our working together. They have the right to assume that we will join hands, wholeheartedly and without the reservation, in our efforts to preserve peace in the world.

With God's help we shall succeed.

POWERFUL AIR FORCE ASKED

Eaker Urges U. S. To Maintain Strong Defense Against Reds

GALVESTON, March 17 (U.P.)—A strong United States is the best counter-attack against Russian aggression, Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, retired commander of the Eighth Air Force, said here today as he declared that Russia plans to attack this country.

General Eaker, now a vice-president of the Hughes Tool Co. in Houston, told a Rotary luncheon audience that "this land of ours never stood in greater peril than it stands today."

"I believe Russia plans to attack our country when her dictator thinks he can win," Eaker declared.

Bombardment Is Feared

The famed Air Force commander who helped break Germany's industrial and military back in World War II said that Russia might attack the United States by a bombardment of guided missiles and atom bombs, followed by an airborne invasion.

"I believe we have the greatest fifth column in this country any nation ever had," Eaker said. "And I know a fifth column is one of the most powerful weapons in time of war."

He said the United States would have to destroy this dangerous fifth column in its forthcoming preparedness program. He advocated a sound plan of defense, an adequate supply of the best weapons and constant scientific research and development.

"The Russians will attack us when they think they can earn a cheap victory, and when they think they can win," he said. "They will never attack us if we stay powerful and indicate we have a swift counter-attach ready."

Air Power Is Needed

Eaker pointed to the tragedy of France as an example of weakness and inadequate defense planning.

"When the Germans started their March westward, France realized her peril," Eaker said. "Her leaders decided to build the Maginot line at a cost of half a billion dollars. The project proved worthless."

Eaker said France fell to 300,000 Germans while she had 3,000,000 men under arms. He said France could have turned the tide with only several hundred modern fighter bombers, built at a fraction of the cost of the Maginot line.

"We must realize our danger," he warned, "and marshal all our resources to meet that danger.

"We must have ... atom bombs and the bombers to carry them to the industrial centers of the enemy the moment he shows his hand," he said.

"We must fight the new war, if it is forced upon us, our way—not their way," he said. "Russia has the largest and most powerful land army in the world, and no nation can invade Russia on the ground."

He said "we are safe from attack as long as we maintain the ability to destroy Russian industrial capacity."

State Supreme Court Upholds Two Rulings

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—The state Supreme Court today ruled on cases involving shrimp, oil and motor buses.

In the shrimp suit, it in effect reaffirmed last week's ruling that the out-of-state commercial fishing license law is valid.

The action was refusal to review an appeal from lower court findings upholding constitutionality of the law. The case, from Brazoria county, was originally styled B. T. Miller versus Brownsville Shrimp Co.

The court set for hearing April 28 a case involving an exception to the railroad commission's well-spacing rule in the East Texas oil field.

The commission had granted John Wrather a permit to drill a fourth well on four-tenths of an acre near Kilgore, and the action was contested by the Humble Oil and Refining company. The trial court had upheld the railroad commission, the Court of Civil appeals sustained Humble's position.

A permit to operate as a motor carrier between Dallas and El Paso, sought by American Bus Lines, Inc., was also upheld in effect.

The railroad commission had approved the permit which was opposed by Southwestern Greyhound lines. Both trial and appeals courts sustained the commission, and the Supreme Court left these judgments standing by refusing to review the case.

Uncle Sam's Little Reminders For People To Come Across With Taxes Seem Boundless

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 17—The very old dickens was cutting loose that dark day on Iwo Jima during the war.

A certain naval officer from Texas was commanding a rocket-firing LCI, which was lending a broadside or so to the battle off shore. Suddenly there was a lull.

Away off there, a battleship started blinking lights. Signals. It was a message from our hero, who hailed from the Longhorn state, where men are men and women are happy about it.

"Mail for you," the Morse code said.

Letter From Uncle

The boy from Texas had had no mail for four years. He took a chance, being the boss. Between cannonfires, he ordered a small boat to risk it alongside the battlewagon and pick up his mail. The little boat made it and returned with a regulation mail sack.

Nervously, our Texas man jiggered open the top of the bag and shook and shook. At length, out came one small envelope. A letter from his uncle. Name of Sam.

"You owe $9.20 in taxes," it said.

For a man who hadn't heard from home in so long, even that was news. And it created quite a tizzy among the boys on his boat.

That, of course, is old hat now. But last week, a GI, also a Navy man, mentioned in complaining to the revenue man here about his taxes that he couldn't afford to pay rent—much less find a place to rent. A kind old lady in the line behind him suggested that it was silly to pay rent and why didn't he buy a place? "With what?" He inquired "With this," answered the old lady, and promptly made out a check for $12,500.

Pulse Almost Normal

The bureau of internal revenue hasn't heard from either since. The folks there never got the sailor's name. Nor the old lady's. Both disappeared. Was it a good check? Was it a joke between the two? Did the old gal want to take it off her income tax? Was the kid her son?

Anyhow, there was excitement at deadline in the BIR around 12 midnight, March 15. The last man in line made it by 20 seconds and belly-ached about trying to find a place to park on 10th street.

The pulse was returned to normal, though. The corridors of the gray-stone, seven story building are practically empty. Only clerks running hither and yon, stuffing things into the olive-green filing cabinets.

Maybe you wonder what happens to your return once you file it. And if anybody's gonna catch you if you cheat a little.

Tax Collector Sharp

Well, if you're not honest you may get it in the wrong end. There are 55-million of us tax payers this year—setting a new indoor record. The local revenue bureaus check over these returns showing incomes under $7,000. And with a careful eye, those over that are sent to Washington where they are double-checked and sent back to revenue agents in your district.

It's a bigger job now than it was a few years ago. For instance, last year there were only 52,800,000 tax payers. There were something like 6,000,000 before the war.

But the internal revenue bureau has a lot more people checking on you. And if you cheat today, lordy, lordy, look out. Your uncle is a pretty sharp guy.

Examinations Are Announced By Civil Service Commission

Two divisions of examinations, one for maintenance superintendent with the Public Housing administration, and the other for physicists, have been announced by the Civil Service commission.

The physicist posts, paying $3,397 to $5,905 a year, are in Washington, D. C. and nearby Virginia and Maryland. Most of the posts are in the National Bureau of Standards, the announcement said. Certain educational and experience requirements are set up. Dec 31 is deadline for applications.

Application forms and details are available at the office of Elmer Potts, secretary of the local board, Room 217, postoffice building, here, from regional civil service offices, for the physicist posts from most first and second-class postoffices.

Truman Attends New York Event

Thousands March In St. Patrick's Day Parade; Dewey Also On Stand

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 17—Thousands of sons and daughters of Erin streamed up sunlit Fifth avenue before a beaming President Truman today—the first time a chief executive ever watched a St. Patrick's day parade here.

More than 1,500,000 persons lined the avenue.

The President, sporting a green carnation in his lapel and a green tie with white dots, won an ovation from the throng as he reached the reviewing stand midway through the 118th renewal of the traditional Irish celebration.

Dewey Is Present

Among those who greeted him in the stand was Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, titular head of the Republican party and a leading possibility for the G.O.P. Presidential nomination this year.

Mr. Truman, who made a one hour, two-minute flight to New York after delivering an address to Congress calling for a temporary revival of the draft and immediate enactment of Universal Military training, was greeted by Dewey with these words:

"You've had a trying day, Mr. President."

The two shook hands and Mr. Truman's reply was lost in the noise of the crowd.

Dewey, who also wore a green tie and had a Shamrock in his lapel, had joined in the heavy applause as Mr. Truman approached. At that time the President grinned broadly and waved to the crowd.

The President left for his hotel after watching the parade for a little more than an hour.

Asked by a reporter upon his arrival at the airport if he was "happy about your speech to Congress," Mr. Truman replied soberly:

"I'm not happy over it but it was necessary. It had to be said."

Some 80,000 persons marched in the parade, which veteran police officers described as the biggest in their memory for such an occasion. Chief Police Inspector Martin W. Brown estimated the watchers at more than 1,500,000.

The parade ended at dusk about five hours and 35 minutes after it began.

Church Group To Meet At Slaton

A Vacation Church School Planing conference of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference will be conducted today and Friday at Slaton First Methodist church with district directors of children's work and different age group workers attending from the nine districts in the conference.

The meeting will open at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Methodist children's workers of Slaton will join the conference group for a dinner at 6 o'clock tonight. The final session will be conducted Friday morning, ending about noon.

To Conduct Sessions

Mrs. Uel D. Crosby of Lubbock, conference director of children's work, who has charge of plans for the meeting, said approximately 50 are expected to attend.

Those attending later will conduct similar planning sessions, preparatory to vacation church schools, in local churches in their districts.

In keeping with the Crusade for Christ emphasis, guidance will be given in courses pertaining to the church, said Mrs. Crosby.

Classes for workers with the different age groups will be taught from different textbooks by several teachers, as follows: Kindergarten—"Happy Times in Our Church" (Shields), to be taught by Mrs. J. Howard Harris, Lubbock; primary, "Our Daily Bread" (Baird), by Mrs. Crosoy; junior, "The Story and Work of the Methodist Church" (Feige), by Mrs. L. L. Miller, Lubbock; intermediate, "Our Living Church" (Des Jardins), by Miss Lucille Rucker, conference youth director, Lubbock.

Dynamite Blast Near Cleburne Causes Alarm Over Wide Area

CLEBURNE, March 17 (AP) — A charge of dynamite set off to blast way for a pipeline aroused a wide section of Johnson county this morning.

It rattled dishes in several towns and caused alarmed residents of Alvarado and burleson to run into the streets.

The Highway patrol, after a four-hour search, found the cause north of Venus, in the northeast part of the county. The H. C. Price Construction company had set off the dynamite to dig a route for a pipeline.

TO SEEK GOVERNORSHIP—Lloyd P. Bloodworth of Ruidoso, N. M., publisher of The Ruidoso News, president of the Ruidoso chamber of commerce and veteran chamber of commerce executive, announced Wednesday that he will be a candidate for the nomination for governor of New Mexico in the Democratic primary on March 22. Born at Plainview, Texas, Bloodworth was educated in the public schools of Texas and at Polytechnic college, Fort Worth. He is a veteran of both world wars, a past post commander in the American Legion, and former manager of the Southwestern Chamber of Commerce, an organization composed of 75 towns in West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Tech Band Receives Approval On Tour

The Texas Tech band is making a big hit with East Texas audiences, according to word received at the college from Paris where the band gave several concerts early this week.

Traveling in its own bus, recently acquired by the college, the band is currently making its tenth annual concert tour of several East Texas towns.

Encores and curtain calls by individual members seem to be the order of the day as the band draws capacity crowds to each performance, according to one observer in communication with the college.

After hearing the concert at Paris High school Monday morning, A. G. (Pat) Mayes, publisher of the Paris News and member of the Texas Tech board of directors, said "I am certainly impressed by the appearance of the band, and I am particularly glad that representatives of Tech could come to East Texas. This is its first visit here and I know of no better way to make favorable impressions than with a fine organization like the Texas Tech band."

Following one of the concerts, T. C. Root, assistant to the president at Texas Tech, who is traveling with the band, commented that the audience was the most favorable that he had ever seen.

The band will return to Lubbock today after holding several clinics and concerts in several towns in the Fourth district.

Officials Set Oil Production For April

Allowable Cut In East Texas

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 17—An oil order designed to produce 2,450,858 barrels of Texas crude oil per day in April was issued by the Railroad commission today.

The oil allowable was fixed at 2,601,706 barrels daily, up 15,708 barrels per day to arrive at the expected actual flow of 2,450,858 barrels.

This is only 858 barrels above the April market demand for Texas crude forecast by the United States Bureau of Mines.

East Texas Cut

The East Texas field, which is now on 22 producing days, was cut to 21 days in the 30-day month of April. The average weighted bottomhole pressure in the field dropped 2.96 pounds per square inch in February, when it was on 20 days.

The East Texas field allowable will take a 4,236 barrel daily cut for April, the figure being 318,818 barrels.

Increased allowables were granted in Van field, Van Zandt county, up 4,962 barrels above the current level to 35,000; Slaughter field, up 2,700 barrels, and Fullerton field, up 12,282 barrels. The Slaughter and Fullerton are in West Texas.

Output To Rise

Production of 221,399 barrels of natural gasoline and distillate is scheduled to raise total Texas petroleum output to 2,672,257 barrels daily. This is 222,257 barrels above the Bureau of Mines figure.

The next statewide oil proration hearing was set for April 21.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said at today's hearing the commission will hear discussion of proposed 60-day proration orders for May and June. Similarly 60-day orders for June-July and August-September may be considered at later dates.

Battleship Texas Gets Underway On Final Sea Voyage To State

NORFOLK, Va., March 17. (U.P.)—The proud but obsolete battleship, USS Texas, put to sea today on her last voyage.

The veteran of two world wars which once was the pride of the fleet left her dock at the Norfolk Navy yard early today under tow by the USS Mosopelea, 205-foot sea-going tug, and was expected to clear the Virginia capes about 2 p. m.

The Texas will be towed southward, through the Gulf of Mexico and into Galveston bay.

The voyage, originally set to begin Monday, was postponed twice, as storms battered the Eastern seaboard.

It was scheduled to end at the berthing place before April 21, the 112th anniversary of the Texas victory over Mexican forces at San Jacinto.

Testimony Given In Damages Suit

Four witnesses had testified when Judge Dan Blair adjourned 72nd district court at 5 p. m. Wednesday in two consolidated damages actions that ask total judgment of $104,500.

The cases are those of Mrs. Sadie A. Stidham and others, four minor children, against Homer Johnson, all of Levelland, and J. W. Starr of Midland against Johnson.

Mrs. Stidham and others ask $100,000 as outgrowth of the death of their husband and father, Carleton Stidham, in a collision of two trucks June 12,1947 on the Levelland highway approximately five miles west of Lubbock.

To Continue Case

Also killed in the collision and in a fire that enveloped both trucks—gasoline and butane—was Leslie Dewey Pigg, driver of the other truck.

Starr asks $4,500 in damages for his truck, which like that of Johnson's, was destroyed in the collision and fire.

Witnesses called by the plaintiff after the jury had been selected at the morning session were Capt. E. L. Posey and Jim Riddle, both of the state highway patrol; Starr, and Johnson.

The jury is composed of R. H. Lowrey, W. S. Henry, S. M. Wadley, Robert Collier, Monroe Garner, O. M. Hudnall, Homer R. Sullivan, A. F. McCarty, H. D. Stanley, R. N. Pennington, E. W. Harrison, and T. A. Stephenson.

Counsel for plaintiffs is Henry Strasburger of Dallas, Durwood H. Bradley of Lubbock, and James A. Ellis of Levelland. Counsel for the defense is the Lubbock firm of Vickers and Vickers and Carl Ratliff of Levelland.

Testimony will be continued this morning.

Texas Butane Dealers To Hold Convention At Austin In June

AUSTIN, March 17 (U.P.)—The Texas Butane Dealers association announced today it will hold its third annual convention and trade show at Austin June 27-30.

Some 600 butane dealers and others connected with the liquefied petroleum gas industry attended the 1947 convention at Galveston, the association reported.

The group decided on Austin after earlier tentatively scheduling the convention site at San Antonio.

Services Set Today For Lamesa Youth

LAMESA, March 17 (Special)—Funeral services for Henry Powell Russell, 15, of the Welch community, who died of a bullet wound at 3 o'clock this morning in Lamesa General hospital, will be conducted at 4 p. m. Thursday in Lamesa Church of Christ, with Ernest West of Levelland officiating.

Young Russell and a twin-brother, Kelton, were hunting rabbits near the Welch community in the company of another youth Tuesday night about 10 o'clock. They were hunting by the light of their car headlamps.

A witness told officials that both twins lined up on a target and that Kelton fired. Henry Powell was struck.

At an inquest, held about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon before Justice of the Peace D. M. Campbell, a verdict of accidental death was returned.

The victim's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Russell, who live in an oil company camp near Welch community where the father is employed. Other survivors include two other brothers, Kenneth and Robert Louie, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell of Corsicana and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carver of Dawson.

Negro Loses In Latest Appeal

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—Heman Marion Sweatt, Houston negro mail carrier, suffered his fourth court loss today in his effort to force University of Texas officials to enroll him as a law school student.

Th Third Court of Civil Appeals overruled his motion for rehearing of the appeal which he recently brought from 126th District court. His next legal step is to appeal to the State Supreme court.

Sweatt asked for the rehearing on the theory the appellate court had erroneously based its opinion and judgment on the state's comparative evaluation of the university law school and the law school set up for negroes last year by the state.

The state had argued the facilities and training offered by the law school for negroes is substantially equivalent to that offered at the University of Texas.

Chief Justice James W. McClendon held that the court made its own independent evaluation of the record "as to the comparative values of the two law schools."

Security Loan Drive To Be Started Soon

WASHINGTON, March 17. (AP)—The government prepared today to launch a new attack on inflation with a nationwide security loan drive.

Plans for the offensive—to be staged April 15 through June 30—will be mapped at a three-day conference starting here tomorrow.

The Treasury said today the main emphasis will be directed toward enlisting a vast army of volunteer bond salesmen like those who put over the wartime bond campaigns.

President Truman suggested a stepped-up campaign of bond sales last August as a two-point anti-inflation action that would:

1. Promote saving by the people as an investment and check the spending that tends to boost prices.

2. Bring funds into the government that could be used to retire debt securities owned by the banks.

No goal figures have been set. The Treasury said sales quotas will be set locally in each area.

Nail polish is used consistently by 79 per cent of American women, one estimate shows.

Livestock Losses Heaviest In Panhandle During Cold Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Cattle and sheep deaths during last week's severe blizzard were not widespread, a survey Wednesday indicated.

Heaviest losses were at the tip of the Panhandle.

Government agricultural officials in Hutchinson county, which is near the top of the Panhandle, estimated 500 animals were lost during the two recent blizzards. Most of the losses were in the northern part of the county, where the storms were most violent.

Losses Said Negligible

A check in Ochiltree county, also at the top of the Panhandle, revealed that many calves, first thought lost, had merely drifted with the storm.

Potter county (Amarillo) farm agent Art Bradley said that losses in that county were confined to a calf here and there, born during the storm. He said the loss was negligible.

Near Fredericksburg, in the heart of the mohair sheep country, many freshly shorn goats and young kids and sheep and lambs died in the bitter cold.

However, most ranchmen in that area had sheds and barns available and there were no reports of flocks totally wiped out.

South Texas Crops Damaged By Freeze

AUSTIN, March 17 (U.P.)—Commercial vegetables were hard hit by last week's cold wave and damage in South Texas was especially heavy to early snap beans, cantaloupes, cucumbers and melons, a United States Department of Agriculture report said today.

In a weekly crop and weather bulletin, the USDA said that much of the commercial vegetable acreage was lost and will necessitate replanting.

However, the East Texas tomato crop was reported as suffering the most overall damage. All plants in cold frames were a total loss and a high percentage of hot-bed plants were killed.

The Rio Grande valley potato and tomato crops had "another setback" but most of these crops were expected to come through without a heavy loss.

The Yoakum tomato crop was reported as "seriously damaged" and wide field damage to the tomatoes was reported at Falfurrias.

South Texas onions, the report said, were not damaged but "warm weather was needed in all areas and the Raymondville crop was reported to be showing blight and thrips.

North Texas onions were damaged, but the acreage set was very small compared with usual for this period. Most winter growing crops, the department said, were not hurt.

Appropriation For Texas Forest Station Awaits House Approval

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—The House appropriation committee's recommendation of $51,500 for operation of the Nacogdoches, Tex., forest experiment station for the coming year awaits House approval.

Rep. Pickett (D-Tex) said the sum is $20,000 more than that last year. He said the money would be used to strengthen research and management investigation at the station.

Pickett, who urged the increase, said the work at Nacogdoches is divided into three principal classifications: restoration of overcut pine forest; management of available pine stands, and management and use of hardwood timbers throughout that section of Texas.

Ban On Mexican Labor Studied

DALLAS, March 17 (U.P.)—United States Employment service regional directors, in their third and final day of conference here, today expressed hope that the way would soon be clear for Mexican laborers to work on Texas farms.

Acting under "preliminary instructions" from their government, Mexican consular officials stated that Mexican laborer contracts would not be renewed in the states of Texas, Kansas, Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas. They added that no new contracts would be made in "any locality in which there is, or has recently been discrimination against Mexican workers."

The recently formed agreement between the United States and Mexico includes the clause "Mexican workers in the United States under this agreement shall not suffer discriminatory acts of any kind."

States Have Problem

St. A. Cano, Mexican consul in Dallas, said, however, "the Mexican consulate is aware unfortunately of the existence of scattered instances of discrimination not only against Mexican nationals, but also against American citizens of Mexican descent."

Cano said until he receives further instructions from his government he cannot make additional comment on the situation.

USES regional director James H. Bond, presiding at the meeting, which did not include Mexican representatives, said the matter of discrimination was beyond the jurisdiction of the USES. The solution, he said, would be up to the individual states concerned.

The Texas employment commission and Gov. Jester's good neighbor committee will have to consider the situation, Bond said.

Patrick J. Hurley To Postpone Reunion With 'Missing' Brother

SANTA FE, N. M., March 17 (U.P.)—Patrick J. Hurley, former war secretary and ambassador to China, said today he will have to postpone temporarily a reunion with his long-lost brother.

The brother, William Patrick Hurley, 65-year-old Marysville, Cal., ranch hand, disclosed his identity last week. The Hurley family had believed he was killed in a Mexican revolution 40 years ago.

Patrick Hurley said he could not come to California until next week or possibly not until the middle of April. He said he planned to leave for Washington April 2.

HST's Speech Seen As Warning For Soviet Leaders To Heed

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

President Truman and the Western European union have served strong notice on Soviet Russia that the tactics for piecemeal conquest which worked for Adolf Hitler in 1938-39 will not work in the world of 1948-49.

The President's unprecedented call for a draft at a time when there is no major war accentuates his year-old policy of stopping Russian expansionism.

Mutual Assistance Pledged

The Western Alliance in Europe, the terms of which were announced simultaneously with the President's speech before Congress, contains mutual guarantees not only against open military aggression, but also against the operations of fifth columns within any of the five signatories.

Russia has been little hindered by western policy as she consolidated the new sphere of influence in eastern Europe and Manchuria which fell to her as a result of wartime military and political developments.

In the last 30 years Communist strategy has gone through many stages. Immediately after the Bolshevists took over Russia they thought they could conquer the world by the same taetics. But postwar rehabilitation progressed more rapidly than they had expected. World revolution dwindled to a campaign of agitation.

Soviets Continued Grab

When World War II broke out the Communists were very pleased to say "let's you and him fight." They tossed the whole thing off as a struggle between two imperialist systems, until Hitler revealed his whole bloody face. Then the Communists were glad to cry for unity. But even while this cry was going up the Kremlin was welding together into one weapon the aims of Communism and the ancient imperialist aims of Russia. The Soviets wangled one expansionist agreement after another out of Allied diplomats. They then proceeded to interpret them without the slightest regard for the spirit of their words.

At the same time, they planned their postwar program—a new phase of the old Communist idea of world conquest—of staging national revolutions in individual countries to bring them under the hammer and sickle. They have hoped to pursue it, without producing a general war. They are not prepared for war. The fear of the West is that they will not fully understand how close they are to war.

The western European alliance and the Truman plan for American re-arming stand as clear warnings on that score. The hope is that Russia will take heed.

President Truman made it clear that he was calling upon America to act while there is yet time.

FIRST TASTE OF RANCH LIFE—The three sons of the Fred Payne family, who came to LaMarque, Tex., from London, England, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Weber to make their home on the Weber's ranch, go for a ride on the ranch's horses. They wear cowboy outfits presented to them on their arrival at the Weber's. Left to right the boys are Leonard, Skipper and Freddy Payne. (AP Wirephoto).

Mrs. Cobb Is Speaker At Rotary Luncheon

Mrs. Charles Cobb, native Irish girl and now a resident of Lubbock, spoke before the Rotary club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon at Hilton hotel on the life and work of St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland whose anniversary inspires celebrations throughout the world.

Among factual conclusions she reached was that St. Patrick was a person, not just a legendary figure, that he was a christian missionary in Ireland, and that "whatever he may have been, there is no doubt about his accomplishments."

She was pleased to find that Americans in many areas celebrate St. Patrick's day almost on a par with Ireland. Mrs. Cobb was introduced by Ely Fonville, program chairman.

An announcement by Dave Sherrill, county agent and general superintendent of the Junior Fat Stock show here, stressed the importance of cooperation by business men in the sbow. He said that among entries already planned for the show are 341 pigs and 216 calves, all entered by 4-H club and Future Farmers of America members.

Announcement of appearence of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra at the high school auditorium Thursday night was made by Roy Bass.

Visiting Rotarians included Walter Craig of Amarillo, C. M. Davis of Fort Worth, Robert H. Gipson of Post, Al Cooper, Bob Beard and O. C. Thomas of Ralls, L. M. Hawkins and J. B. Speer of Alpine, and Stilwell Russell of Littlefield.

Rex Webster, club president, was in the chair, with invocation by Dr. Chas. J. Wagner.

Finance Report Is Urged On Stock Show Premium Pool

Homer Hunt, chairman, made an urgent request Wednesday that members of the finance committee of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show make their final reports at once in the drive for the show's premium pool.

Nearly half the participants in the campaign have made no report at all Hunt said. Others have made only partial reports. The delays are hampering the completion of preparations for the show, which will be held at the fairgrounds Monday through Wednesday of next week.

Reports thus far made, the chairman said, account for about half of the $3,000 sought as a pool with which to guarantee premiums above market prices on calves, pigs and lambs exhibited and auctioned during the show.

Grange Opposes Bill On Tidelands Issue

WASHINGTON, March 17 (U.P.)—A spokesman for the National grange said today no legislation on tidelands ownership "is needed or is advisable at this time."

J. T. Sanders testified on disputed tidelands legislation before a Senate-House judiciary subcommittee. He opposed a bill which would establish state ownership of the oil-rich coastal submerged lands. But he also opposed an administration bill which gave the federal government "paramount power" over California's submerged coastal lands—"definitely settling" the ownership question.

"We do not believe that any legislation in connection with ownership and control of the lands of our continental shelf is needed or is advisable at this time," Sanders said.

"We think it is regrettable that major oil companies with selfish interests have instituted a vigorous campaign to tie this issue of inland water sovereignty, which we agree clearly belongs to the states, in with the claims of states to ocean bed sovereignty, which is just as clearly not a state but a national sovereignty."

IT'S OUR CHOICE

Italy Is Forewarned

THE announcement American aid will be withheld from Italy if the Communists win the election there next month undoubtedly accords with overwhelming opinion in this country. No other policy is conceivable. We might as well help Russia directly as one of her satellites.

The policy does not try to dictate how Italians must vote. It merely puts them on notice that Uncle Sam intends to decide the recipients of his charity. If Italians prefer Communism, they cannot pretend they did not know that loss of American aid would be one of the penalties.

There's Room Left

FORECAST by the census bureau, which usually is conservatively accurate, that the U. S. population will approximate 166,000,000 in 1975 does not portend an early lack of "elbow room" in this country.

Nor should it cause uneasiness as to ability to produce for such a population. One recent scientific survey came up with the opinion that the present area, on the basis of present knowledge, can and eventually will provide abundances for 450,000,000 people. With improved production methods which are a logical expectation, the number may be much larger.

Naturally, if that happens, the wide open spaces will become a thing of the past. Most people of today, particularly in areas like our own, doubtless are just as well satisfied that a kindly fate has chosen to spare them any such crowding as that.

Regulation Needed

WHEN the deadline passed at midnight Monday for final 1947 income tax reports, indications pointed strongly to the possibility that regulations may be set up within the next year for those who make a business of the preparation of such returns.

At present, it appears, practically anyone can hang out his shingle as an expert income tax adviser. The Internal Revenue bureau says some such people have caused a great deal of trouble. Abuses have been numerous. Illustrative was the "expert" who signed reports for clients with disappearing ink. He was too ignorant to realize that a simple chemical process would bring out such signatures, even had plain water been used.

Some controls certainly would not be amiss to establish the qualifications of those who pose professionally as income tax advisers. But an even surer protection will be for the individual employing help to make doubly sure the adviser he patronizes is qualified both from the standpoint of experience and ethics. The taxpayer who fails to take this precaution is inviting serious and expensive trouble.

Life magazine says big business doesn't pay taxes—it collects them. How true! When Uncle Sam soaks the rich, they turn right around and sock the poor.

"The world weighs 36,000,000 sextillion tons," declares a geologist. Judging from the way it feels when we're carrying it around on our shoulders, he must mean long tons.

A Fordham seismologist says the entire country has been wobbling and quivering for the past month. It's probably beginning labor to bring forth a big landslide in November.

"Wealth is a disease," asserts a writer. If so, most of us seem to be entirely immune to its contagion.

The Franklin Institute unnecessarily went to the trouble and expense of making a survey in which it was learned that men are much better drivers than women are. Any man could have told the F. I. that.

The intuition of the pioneer was at an extremely low ebb when he established this nation to avoid taxation.

We are stymied. Everything we believe would make us happier involves work to acquire, and working makes us unhappy.

Today's couplet: From the highest peak to the lowest tide is there a man today who is satisfied?

I'm Thinking About Moving In!

As Long As I Live

by Ione Sandberg Shriber
Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

I

SHE sat motionless in the chair, looking at the shoe she held in her hand. It was a pretty shoe, a new one. It was toeless, in the current style, with shining big buckles and high sling heels.

She glanced down at its mate on the floor. She'd dropped it there a few minutes ago when the fear began touching surface. It lay on its side, the sole turned away from her. It was just a shoe.

She shivered and her eyes moved to the door. The key was turned. For the time being, at least, she was safe. So long as she remained here, in her room, with the door locked, no one could—no one could what?

The fear hovered above her, caught at her, plucked at her nerves. Her teeth began to chatter. She closed her mouth firmly, gritted her teeth together. Her mouth felt stiff and dry. She was shaking all over. She couldn't seem to stop. You'd think she was ill, you'd think she had a fever. But that was silly. She wasn't sick. There wasn't anything at all the matter with her—except for the fear. She hadn't known before that fear was physical—tangible almost. . . .

She jumped suddenly. Her hand flew to her mouth in an involuntary jerking movement. Someone was in the upstairs hall, trying her door and finding it locked, knocking then and calling her name.

"Ann, Ann, are you in there?"

It was Laurie. Her sister. Surely there was no reason in the world why she should be afraid of Laurie, her kid sister, only nineteen, ten years younger than Ann. Yet she couldn't answer. The fear constricted her throat, tightened the muscles, so that she wasn't able to reply. And then she heard someone else, joining forces with Laurie in the hall.

"I tried the door," Laurie said. "It's locked. And she doesn't answer."

"Try again," someone said. "Maybe she didn't hear you."

The low voice belonged to Rinda Dorinda Bruce, who had been Ann's roommate in college eight years ago; Rinda, whom Ann had not seen since graduation until that day two weeks ago when Rinda arrived at Tophill for a long delayed visit.

"Ann! Ann!" Laurie called again and pounded with her fist upon the door. "Darn it, Rinda, we're late already. I thought I heard her in the hall. I thought . . . She knows we're due at the club. Tommy hates to be kept waiting."

In one quick rush Ann crossed the room, scooped up the brown shoes, replaced them in their box in the closet, stuck her feet into a pair of flat-heeled strollers. Hurrying, so they wouldn't be suspicious. She went to the door, unlocked it.

"Well . . ." said Laurie impatiently. "What on earth. . . ?"

"I had to change my shoes," Ann said and her voice was steady even though the memory squeezed at her heart with tight-pinching fingers, made her queerly sick inside.

THE eyes of the two girls went to her feet, to the flat strollers. Laurie frowned, eyed Ann's smartly tailored suit, the hat with the pink flowers and dotted veil, with which the brown moccasins were certainly not at all appropriate.

"I have a corn," Ann said. "I put on my new brown pumps and they nearly killed me." She managed a rueful smile while her heart pounded crazily at her foolish choice of words. "I won't be able to wear them until after I have the corn removed."

"Well, come on," Laurie said, still impatient. "We're late."

The funny thing was she did have a corn. On the outside of her little toe. She hadn't noticed it until she put on the new brown shoes. She wore loafers ordinarily and they were loose and old and comfortable, and probably that was why she'd never noticed the corn.

She and Rinda and Laurie were to meet Rush, Ann's husband, and Tommy Bishop, Laurie's fiance, at the country club for lunch. At one o'clock. Ann had been busy during the morning and by the time she'd had her tub and dressed she was a little late. She started down the hall, hurrying, running almost, toward the steep narrow staircase. That was when the little corn screamed in outrage. She knew from experience that it would ache and throb all afternoon and so she went back to her room to change her shoes.

She had taken the shoes off and was holding them in her hand when she saw the wax. She scowled, turned the soles upward, ran an inquiring fingernail along them, looked at the wavering line her nail left on the sole. After a minute she raised the shoe to her nose and sniffed. It smelled exactly like a new shoe.

She traced another line with her fingernail. She couldn't have stepped in anything; she hadn't worn them before. Probably it was something they did at the store to protect the leather although you would think new shoes were slippery enough without the addition—of well, it might be wax. It looked like wax.

She was puzzled. Not frightened yet nor scared but puzzled and just a little uneasy. It seemed so odd.

Then she shrugged and went to her closet for another pair of shoes. It was as she stooped to get her moccasins that she saw the can of wax. On the floor of her closet. Where it certainly did not

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

"THE last British troops have pulled out of India," says an editorial in my morning paper.

Then it goes on:

"Something goes with them—some tradition of law and order, of stability and discipline. Something remains—thousands of lonely graves of simple men who fought and died loyally for what they believed was right. Now their faded battle flags are furled and the long sacrifice is over."

BRANDEIS

Substitute "United States" for "British," and "Europe" for "India"—and you have exactly what is happening across the Atlantic today.

There are many cemeteries in Europe where there are "thousands of lonely graves of simple men who fought and died loyally for what they believed was right."

What if those boys could come out of their graves and see the awful mess we, the living, have made of a cause which they, the dead, thought was a holy cause?

* * *

Do you remember those days when your sons went over there?

Do you remember what they were told?

Never again would there be another war!

This was to be a holy war—for universal freedom, for brotherhood, for good will, for peace on earth.

We were proud of our boys.

We were proud of our country.

We were welcomed with open arms as the saviors, the all-powerful, the noble, the friends.

* * *

THERE was to be no more hatred, no more greed, no more injustice, no more intolerance.

The lion was to lie alongside the lamb.

At last all the things for which Christ died on the cross were to come true.

And now?

Open your paper. Turn on your radio. Go to any meeting. Talk to anyone in your home or in the street.

What do you hear? What do you read?

War. Murder. Destruction.

What is it? Who is to blame?

Will human beings never learn? Will they never profit by their mistakes?

Will petty politics, the lust for power, hatred, malice, distrust, vanity and cruelty forever be the masters of our race?

Spring is on the way. Once again Nature will unfold all her boundless beauties for mankind to have and to enjoy.

Will we, once again, drench the flowers with blood and, instead of seeding the earth, dig it up to make room for a million graves?

Let us come to our senses—or it may never be Spring again.

IN IMPORTANT SUIT

Flynn Under Attack

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Bronx Boss Ed Flynn refused to accept union labor support in his recent political scrap with the Henry Wallace faction in a special Congressional election. But he has been only too glad to accept a retainer from labor in a law suit which may cost private firms and the government at least $300,000,000, with a possible ten per cent for his law firm.

The litigation involves the attempt of a CIO stevedores' union to persuade the Supreme Court to fix a higher rate for the hourly work on which overtime is based. Although an extremely complicated question, it amounts to a portal-to-portal suit covering payments for the last five years. It would bankrupt almost every firm on each coast, if the high tribunal rules in favor of the clients of Goldwater & Flynn.

TUCKER

The American Federation of Labor has refused to go along with the more radical group in seeking to set aside contractual arrangements which have prevailed for the last thirty years. In fact, as a friend of the court, it has joined with the government in contesting the claims.

SPLIT: The Flynn forces have already won the first round in the form of a decision handed down by Wage and Hours Administrator William McComb, who was appointed to the post by President Truman less than a year ago.

Two lower courts have split in passing on the unions' plea, which led to the appeal to the Supreme Court. Mr. McComb held with the court which ruled that the stevedores are entitled to the $300,000,000 back pay.

It is estimated that accountants' bills alone would break many of the waterfront firms. One company has received an estimate that it would cost at least $270,000 for an examination of their books to determine its liability over the five-year period.

Uncle Sam would eventually have to foot the bill, for most of the work involved was performed for the government. But it would be years before he could recompense the private companies.

BLAST: John L. Lewis is readying a solemn and tragic blast against President Truman and the Republican Congress for its failure to take any action on several bills empowering the federal government to enforce a drastic safety code in the nation's coal mines. He will probably explode it on March 25, the first anniversary of the Centralia disaster in which 111 men lost their lives.

Investigation of that catastrophe revealed that state inspectors and union members had begged Illinois authorities for years to force the elimination of hazards. Their requests, including a union committee's pathetic plea to Governor Dwight D. Green to "save our lives," were pigeon-holed. Three of the four miners who penned that fateful letter were killed in the explosion.

Revelations that many state inspectors were then collecting political funds from the operators for the Republican machine in Chicago and the state caused a scandal. It ruined whatever chance the handsome Governor had for a presidential or vice-presidential nomination next June, although he had only a slight hope.

NEGLECTED: When President Truman seized the mines, federal inspectors took a look at the Centralia mine and joined with State Inspector Scanlan in condemning it. But these recommendations were also neglected and the federal governmnt has no power to enforce proposed reform.

As a consequence, numerous bills giving the Washington authorities jurisdiction over mine safety were introduced in both House and Senate. But they have not been moved out of committee, and nobody has taken any special interest in them. Mr. Lewis himself has not tried to bring pressure, although his forthcoming denunciation may produce pre-election scrambling on Capitol Hill.

Meanwhile, the first mine explosion of 1948 occurred in Arkansas five weeks ago, taking eight lives. The property had been described as "gassy" by state mine inspectors. A federal examination resulted in the listing of eleven major and many minor violations of the safety code. In 1947 there were 64,000 miners killed or injured in mine catastrophes, with the death roll placed at about 1,400.

REVOLTS: The Governors of three great eastern states with enormous political power—Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and James H. Duff of Pennsylvania—have stirred mild revolts among their Congressional delegations by their ostentatious opposition to the federal crowd's stand on foreign policy. In some respects they also disagree on G.O.P. presidential candidates.

The three state executives are strong backers of the Marshall Plan, whereas their Congressmen support it only because there seems to be no other alternative. Only a few days after Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania denounced E.R.P. Governor Duff gave it his wholehearted endorsement. Subsequently, he condemned the House leadership in a manner that shocked Speaker Martin, Minority Leader Halleck and the Pennsylvanians.

Governor Driscoll's one-man war on Senator Albert W. Hawkes has forced the latter to announce that he would not seek renomination, thus precipitating a primary row for the vacancy. Mr. Driscoll, an avowed internationalist, condemned Mr. Hawkes on the ground that the latter was not sufficiently abreast of present-day problems.

GRUMBLING: Governor Dewey has belatedly embraced the aid-to-Europe program. His delegation is not condemning him aloud because they would like their prestige enhanced through his presence in the White House. But they are grumbling over his enthusiastic attachment to the Administration program, for it is unpopular in many of their districts.

These three states have more than 200 convention delegates and a total of ninety-eight electoral votes. Although they seem headed for the Republican column at the moment, the "federals" are concerned that intra-party differences and the Wallace candidacy, which may also draw many voters from the G.O.P., may give President Truman an outside chance to cop them.

Middle age is that period when every one suffers from a shortness of breath except the orators.

This mind over matter business doesn't work when you are trying to fool an empty stomach.

PRESSURE GROUPS PUSH BILL

House's Rent Measure Scored

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is a continual and intriguing paradox here how the House of Representatives, which is supposedly "closest to the people," acts so often less for the general public welfare and more for special interests than the other branch of Congress.

STOKES

This becomes so clear to those promoting legislation for the general welfare that you frequently hear it said, with a sign of relief — and of hope:

"Thank God for the Senate."

And that comes, too, from such members of the House, itself, who find themselves so frequently in a helpless minority.

GOP Is Assailed

This has been especially true in this 80th Congress under Republican management, as manifest by origination in the House of so many measures to break down laws on the books to protect the public interest at the behest of privileged interests, such as utilities, railroads, real estate interests and other powerful industrial and financial elements, a story that has been spelled out here from time to time.

Now, currently, we have another glaring illustration.

This is in the scheme put over by the House Republican leadership which, if finally sustained, would gut the federal rent control law. It would impose full authority on rent increases in the local rent advisory boards, so-called, without protection for the public interest in the veto power hitherto lodged in the federal housing expediter here. Thus it would make a mockery of the law under the guise of "extending" it.

Unless the Senate insists on its bill in which final authority is maintained in the housing expediter here and wins out eventually in the necessary conference on the legislation with the House, then the public will wake up to a wave of rent increases all over the country—and with Congress out of session and nothing to be done about it.

The real estate lobby put this one over. And it is very much to its interest. For in many cases, as can be demonstrated in records here, the local advisory boards are packed for the real estate interests and landlords, and to the point in some cases where it is almost an open scandal. There the tenant hasn't got a prayer.

Going back to where we started, why does the House react this way continually?

Pressure Groups Active

Stated in the simplest way, the answer would seem to be found back in the Congressman's home district and in temptation to pay particular heed to well-organized pressure groups of various kinds which, though a minority, are effective because they hold a balance of power. The temptation is especially strong when these are well-entrenched vested interests, strong in the constituency. Because of their contacts, tie-ups, and resources they can be very effective in elections, especially close elections. They are frequently generous with campaign contributions.

Real estate interests, like others, are highly organized and well-financed. Their influence politically is shown by their domination of many local rent advisory boards, which are appointed nominally by state governors. When they speak, the politicians jump, and that includes politicians in the higher echelons here in Congress.

This is, in actuality, minority government contrary to the general public interest—government as it is, not as we'd like it to be and quite disillusioning. It comes about in this case because tenants are not as well organized as real estate interests.

How little influence they have with local rent advisory boards, as contrasted with the landlords with their high-priced lawyers and statisticians, was explained to the House by Rep. Monroney (D., Okla.) who made a gallant but futile fight to protect the public interest. The House voted down his proposed amendment to maintain the present authority of the housing expediter. He forecast that the public would find out what a sham this bill is, just as it did, to its regret and cost, in the case of the final OPA bill.

THEY DANCE FOR JERRY

Low-priced cuts of meat such as the skin, neck, and breast make excellent soup. Onion, celery, carrot and parsley should be added for flavor.

STOCKS IN NEW RALLY

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Aircraft shares led the stock market higher today as President Truman called for moves to expand the armed services.

The executive's address to Congress provided few surprises in financial quarters. Although absence of specific recommendations for plane orders brought some reaction from the 1948 highs attained earlier by many of the aircraft issues, closing prices generally in this group were near the day's best.

Steels, rails and other industries that might benefit from a rearmament program participated in the market's advance. Gains ranged from fractions to nearly two points.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite climbed .4 of a point to 80.9. Of 906 issues appearing, there were 477 gainers and 229 losers. Transfers of 930,000 shares nearly equaled Tuesday's 940,000.

Touching new highs for the year were Grumman, which closed at 40, Lockheed 19¼, Sperry 26½, North American Aviation 12⅝, Curtiss-Wright 5⅞, Republic Aviation 9¾, Consolidated Vultee 15, Boeing 27, Douglas Aircraft 59¼ and Glenn Martin 19½.

Ahead a point or more were U. S. Steel at 68½, Chrysler 54⅞, United Aircraft 27⅛, Santa Fe 93½ and Southern Pacific 47½. Finishing lower were Johns-Manville, Owens Illinois, U. S. Rubber and Oliver Corp.

Forward in the curb were Northrop Aircraft, Solar Aircraft, Pentepec, Cities Service and Electric Bond and Share. Consolidated Mining slipped. Turnover of 290,000 shares here compared with 240,000 Tuesday.

As Long As I Live

belong.

She knelt there, on her knees, for long minutes, looking at the can. Then she removed the flat lid.

The wax had been barely used. There was only a little dent in the smooth surface. But it wouldn't take much to wax the soles of a pair of silly shoes that had no toes and idiotically high heels.

Idiotically high heels.

The phrase tugged at her memory. It had a familiar ring.

Of course.

Rush.

Every once in a while Rush said, "Cripes, darling, those are idiotically high heels. One of these days you're going to break your pretty neck."

Apprehension crowded down upon her, quickened her breath.

Don't be silly, she said to herself. Don't be silly.

One of these days you're going to break your pretty neck!

A prophecy? A dark prophecy, uttered innocently enough perhaps but planting a seed? Giving birth to an idea?

SHE put the can of wax back where it had been on the closet floor. She went back to the chair. She felt as though someone had hit her in the stomach.

Now wait a minute, she said to herself, wait a minute. Rush said those words, sure he said them, but he never dreamed they might come true. If he thought for a minute they might come true he'd make her wear strollers all the time. Or ballet slippers. Or tennis shoes. Rush didn't want her to break her neck. Certainly not. He was her husband. He loved her.

I'm letting my imagination run away with me, she thought. I'm Ann Bancroft. Mrs. Rush Bancroft. I live in a town in Ohio. It's a little town. A pretty little town. It's full of nice ordinary friendly people. There isn't a soul in the whole town who would want me to break my neck. Of course not! Why would they?

She looked again at the shoes beside her stockinged feet—two shoes with colorless wax deftly applied to their already slippery surface. Someone—her mind shied desperately away from the thought but with an implacable determination of which she hadn't known she was capable, she forced it back—someone had applied that wax to her new shoes deliberately in the hope that Rush's prophecy would come true and she would indeed break her neck!

Because of the staircase.

She closed her eyes and visualized the perilously steep parquet staircase that led from the first to the second floor at Tophill. The house itself was almost a hundred years old. And the parquet staircase, slippery as smoothly polished ice, had been considered a noble work of art some ninety years ago.

Laurie had always been afraid of those stairs. Laurie wanted them torn out, replaced with something more modern, more sensible.

But Rush would laugh and tease her out of it. The stairs reminded him of past grandeur, he said.

Why did Rush like those wicked stairs? That's exactly what they were. Wicked. Did Rush think that one day Ann might slip on those steps, those dangerously steep steps, and pitch forward and break her neck? Ann, who always hurried. She could hear Rush say indulgently, as he had said so many times in the past, "Ann never walks. She hasn't time."

Deep instinctive fear rose to a peak. She was scarcely able to control it.

And that was when Laurie came to the bedroom door and called impatiently, "Ann! Ann, are you in there?"

AIRPORTS ALSO FARMS

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (U.P.)—The University of Florida agricultural experiment station is working on an airport turf, research project, aimed at developing the best grasses and suitable crops for farming on airports. Airports can derive considerable revenue from crops grown on fields where they do not interfere with use of the landing area.

Canned sweet potatoes are widely available now and they supply excellent nutrient value. They may be mashed, baked, broiled or fried.

Fish should be cooked for just the length of time required to make it flavorsome and tender; if overcooked it tends to become tasteless and dry.

HOW TO OUTWIT THE BUSY SIGNAL

The thing to do whenever you hear the "buzz-buzz-buzz" of the busy signal is hang up, wait awhile, and try your call again.

Sometimes you may hear the busy signal before you finish dialing. When that happens it means there are more calls trying to get through than the dial equipment in the telephone office can handle. It seldom means the telephone is out of order. If you'll hang up and call again in a little while, your call will probably go right through.

Telephone lines and telephone equipment are busier than ever these days, and exceptionally busy during midmorning and early evening. If you can make most of your calls before 10 o'clock in the morning or before 5 o'clock in the afternoon, chances are you won't be troubled much with the busy signal's "buzz-buzz-buzz"!
