HST Submits Top Budget For Peacetime

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Truman told Congress today it will take at least $41,858,000,000 to run the government right next year—half of it to hold back the Communist tide.

Republicans immediately demanded deep slashes and party lines quickly formed for the big tests ahead.

Mr. Truman's budget covering the 1950 fiscal year beginning next July 1 is peacetime's biggest—$1,678,000,000 larger than this year. For the cold war with Russia he asked the most powerful military forces the country has ever had outside a war—and funds to bolster allied nations against the Red surge.

To Ask More Later

Moreover, Mr. Truman served notice he will ask more funds later to supply arms to non-Communist nations, a step which will push the budget even higher.

All told Mr. Truman asked for a tax increase of nearly $6,000,000,000. First he reiterated his recent request for a $4,000,000,000 increase, mostly on corporations. Then he asked nearly $2,000,000,000 in social security taxes, to finance new and old programs.

He did not give an inch in his demands for the vast social and economic program he demanded in his state of the union message, such as housing, better schools, more social security benefits.

Figures Called Dangerous

On the defense front, Mr. Truman stressed the importance of air power, but frowned on the idea of a 70-group Air Force, which has been heavily backed in Congress and by the air generals. Mr. Truman said that number and size of planes, rather than number of groups is a better gauge of air force strength.

Mr. Truman said the prospects for the 1951 fiscal year are for even greater governmental costs. He mentioned national defense and world responsibilities.

Republicans called the Truman figures dangerous, reckless and overestimated. But administration forces showed no signs of discontent.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) called the Texas Solons Set To Open New Session

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—A slow start and a delayed finish were predicted tonight on the eve of the opening of the 51st general session of the Texas Legislature.

The hot fight between Reps. Durwood Manford of Smiley and Joe Kilgore of McAllen for speakership will hold up making of committee assignments and hiring of essential employes in the house.

On the Senate side, Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers predicted the session would drag on through June or longer. The constitution suggests 120-day sessions.

House To Elect Speaker

The 51st will get under way tomorrow at noon. The Senate's first session is expected to be short and cut and dried. Not so the House, where the Manford-Kilgore issue will be fought out on the floor. The House can't begin to move until it elects a speaker.

This may bring about a delay in delivery of Gov. Beauford H. Jester's first message, tentatively set for Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Proposals for legislation mounted as opening of the session neared.

There also were warnings against reckless spending, and suggestions that new taxes on natural resources be enacted to help pay the bill for extension of state services.

New Taxes Sought

The 51st will have more money to spend than any other session in Texas history. This prompted Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas to warn that reckless spending of it may lead to imposition of a sales tax. Hanna said requests for emergency appropriations have mounted to $42 million "and that's only a beginning."

The Texas Social Legislative conference will urge the legislature to slap additional taxes on sulphur and natural gas, netting the state $55 million a year. This is a group of farm and labor organizations with liberal leanings. It will also plug for repeal of restrictive labor legislation passed in recent years.

Here are some other bills proposed by members of the house or

Wires Shrink, Farms Pulled Closer, Hale Center Man Claims

(By The Associated Press)

HALE CENTER, Jan. 10.—Gather around the red hot stove, boys and girls, for here is another tale from Vic Lamb, newspaper correspondent extraordinary.

"The cold wave now enveloping the South Plains produced an unusual phenomenon at Hale Center. The extreme low temperatures contracted all telephone and REA lines in the area surrounding the town and pulled all the farms closer together. 'We farmers don't have so far to travel to go to town now,' W. E. Fewlem, farmer living west of here, comments."

Dangerous Ice Hits Midwest Storm Area

(By The Associated Press)

THE MIDWEST, already covered with snow, ice and sleet, braced for a dangerous freezing rain late Monday.

Frigid weather gripped the citrus country of Southern California for the second time in a week. Icy winds whipped snow into its winter playgrounds.

In western Nebraska, a new snowstorm was piling an expected four to six-inch fall on highways still clogged by the remains of last week's blizzard.

At Kansas City the weather bureau forecast 48 hours of freezing rain followed by "the most serious ice glaze condition in many years" for Oklahoma, Missouri, and Kansas. Highways were still open but travel was hazardous.

Missouri Power Crippled

In the Pacific northwest, the vast electric power system hovered on the brink of collapse. Consumers were urged to cut use of electricity throughout the day. A Washington power company official said the crisis would continue so long as the flow of water dwindles in frozen streams.

Electric power in the Carthage, Mo., residential district was cut off by the breaking of ice-laden wires. Parsons and surrounding towns in southeastern Kansas were cut off from electric power by heavy sleet. Pittsburg, Kans., had a power failure caused by sleet and the Pittsburg Sun could not publish its morning issue.

In southern California, where a low of 18 degrees was predicted for tonight, citrus, vegetable and flower growers ignited smoke pots in an effort to warm the chill air.

Early last week a freeze caused crop damage in that area estimated at from 25 to 60 millions.

The weather bureau reported the first snowfall on record in San Diego. Palm Springs, popular winter resort, had three inches.

San Bernardino, in California's orange belt, had its first snowstorm since 1936. Las Vegas, Nev., got a three-inch fall, the first time since 1939.

In the San Bernardino mountains, another 24 inches of snow pushed the snowstand to 44 inches at Big Bear lake.

Moisture Measures 1.46 Inches For Lubbock; Warning Issued On Travel

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

SLEET, snow and freezing rain threatened to halt all but emergency traffic late last night and brought an increasing threat to communication and power lines as winter tightened its icy grip on the Panhandle and South Plains.

The Weather bureau warned that even more hazardous conditions may be in prospect for today as sleet and freezing rain continued to fall early this morning.

Some schools planned to close today, and many others cancelled school bus schedules because of ice glazed highways. Southwestern Bell Telephone company had repair crews on the "ready" as sleet and freezing rain increased weight on already sagging communication lines.

Utility companies were apprehensive lest more sleet and icing rain, coupled with a rising wind, drag down their power lines. Most bus schedules were running, but all were travelling late as drivers practiced "slow but sure" driving.

Officials Issue Travel Warning

Area motorists were warned to stay off highways and streets unless it was absolutely necessary to travel. The Texas Highway patrol district office here reported highways "very dangerous," and said anyone would be "crazy" to attempt to drive on them unless it was a case of emergency.

Highways and streets over most of the area were coated with a sheet of ice, and from an inch to two inches of loose sleet. The frozen surface offered little traction for tires. The sleet and rain froze as it struck windshields and glass windows of automobiles, and quickly reduced visibility to zero.

Should the intermittent sleet and freezing rain continue to fall through the rest of the night and today, and indications are that it would, highway officials agreed that travel over the South Plains would be virtually paralyzed by nightfall. Most cars were moving at snail's pace Monday night. No immediate relief was foreseen from the latest cold blast before Thursday at the earliest.

School Bus Schedules Halted

All school bus schedules of the Lubbock Independent School district have been cancelled because of the slick roads, school officials announced last night. Similar precautions were being taken by other school districts over the South Plains.

The weather bureau offered little hope that the present cold wave would break before Thursday. The station north of Lubbock forecast continuing sleet, snow and freezing rain today, with temperatures ranging from a low of 10 degrees this morning to a high of 28 degrees this afternoon.

The forecaster said the precipitation probably would cease Tuesday night but temperatures would continue low, probably ranging from a 10-degrees minimum Wednesday morning to 32 degrees tomorrow afternoon. Skies will continue mostly cloudy.

Light winds are expected today and tomorrow, the weatherman said, probably not exceeding 10 miles an hour.

Trees, Shrubbery Coated

The temperature at the weather station was 24 degrees at 12:30 a. m. today, 25 having been hit earlier. The low was 17 degrees. Sleet and snow was falling over most of the area at that time.

Precipitation Sunday and Monday had reached 1.46 inches at 12:30 a. m. with most of the measurement recorded from Sunday's slow rain. A total of .51 was measured since 12:30 p. m. Monday, .35 of that since 6:30 p. m. Monday night. The weatherman said the South Plains should receive "about as much" sleet and freezing rain today as fell Monday.

Sales of anti-freeze, windshield scrapers and tire chains boomed as motorists sought to combat the sudden turn in the weather.

Trees and shrubbery were becoming loaded with coatings of ice and branches were beginning to bend and creak under the mounting

City Firemen Appeal Ruling

CHARACTERIZING the Civil Service commission's recent affirming of their suspension from the fire department as "arbitrary, capricious and beyond and without authority of law," Woodrow Quinn and J. W. Pruitt have appealed to 72nd District Judge Dan Blair.

They asked in a petition filed by their attorney, Gordon Treadaway, "under article 1269M, section 18, that the defendants, City of Lubbock and the Civil Service commission, be cited to appear and that, on final hearing de novo, orders of the Civil Service commission be set aside and held for naught."

Firemen Take Exception

Service was on Mayor W. H. Rodgers and on Harry Morris, chairman of the Civil Service commission.

The petition recited that on Dec. 22 W. E. Twitty, fire chief, suspended the two firemen without pay for "violation of special orders," in that prior to their suspension the plaintiffs attended a Houston meeting of fire-fighters after Sept. 8 request for permission to go had been denied.

The chief's disposition of their cases was announced in a memo to the Civil Service commission. Both firemen appealed to the Civil Service commission in a Dec. 28 letter, wherein the two firemen took exception to "legal sufficiency" of the charges and asked a hearing.

Objections Cited

The hearing was Dec. 28, and on Dec. 31 the Civil Service commission announced it had affirmed the action of Chief Twitty.

"Plaintiffs are dissatisfied" with the Civil Service commission's "findings and orders," the appeal petition said.

The petition charged the findings of the Civil Service commission were "without authority of law, in that among other reasons, the commission did not specify whether the suspension was "permanent or temporary." It also leveled the objection that the city commission, which passed a resolution that the two firemen should not go to Houston "on the city's time," never passed an order saying they could not go "on their

Nationalists Intensify Peace Efforts

Reds Boast 130,000 Chinese Wiped Out

By PETER LIU
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, Jan. 10. — Chinese Communists claimed tonight to have annihilated 130,000 crack government troops as the Nationalists intensified efforts to begin peace parleys before the collapse of their armies in the field.

The Red radio boasted that a long-trapped government force originally numbering a quarter of a million men had been "wiped out" northwest of Nanking.

If true, this first Red victory of the new year would release thousands of battle-wise troops for the new Communist assault now raging along Nanking's last defense line north of the protecting Yangtze river.

Force In Red Trap

The 130,000 men said to have been killed or captured by the Reds comprised the remnants of the once strong garrison that abandoned Suchow weeks ago. The force was caught in a Communist trap and got nowhere.

Other government forces reeled under the mounting tide of Red attacks against the Hwai river defense line 100 miles north of Nanking.

And in north China, the Reds were reported to have driven to within two miles of the heart of Tientsin.

With his government falling away from beneath him President Chiang Kai-Shek was reported to have agreed to proposals by one of his most powerful field command-

Robert Mitchum Is Judged Guilty On Marijuana Charge

By GARBER DAVIDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—Robert Mitchum of the movies was convicted by a superior court judge in 45 minutes today on conspiracy to possess marijuana, but legal maneuvering by famed lawyer Jerry Giesler may yet save him from jail or prison.

The wily Giesler, who won freedom in recent years for such clients as Errol Flynn and Charlie Chaplin on morals charges, agreed to trial without a jury, on a single count, solely on testimony before the grand jury which indicted Mitchum.

He wouldn't discuss his motives, but other lawyers said he apparently hoped to win probation for his client. Mitchum also was charged with possession of narcotics. This under the law is an offense on which, in the event of conviction, probation cannot be granted.

Penalties on both possession and conspiracy are the same—90 days to one year in the county jail, or up to six years in prison.

Mitchum, 31-year-old ex-truck driver who became the movie idol of bobby-soxers and whose boxoffice popularity increased after his indictment, dead-panned the proceedings. He didn't even lift an eyebow when testimony of an arresting officer quoting Mitchum was read:

"This . . . will ruin me. This is why my wife left me. I'm through."

Red Minister May Be 'Fired' For Failures

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (INS)—The French licensed Berlin Kurier reported tonight that information leaking from the Kremlin indicates Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov may be dismissed because of Communist failure in Western Europe.

The unconfirmed reports say that both Premier Stalin and the powerful politburo are dissatisfied with Molotov's faulty predictions of European trends and blame the foreign affairs minister for the failure of the Communists to win power in France, Italy and Germany.

Sale Of School Bonds Approved

A negotiated sale of $1,250,000 in bonds voted last Dec. 4 was approved by trustees of Lubbock independent school district at a luncheon Monday in the Hilton hotel, according to A. C. Jackson, district business manager.

Veteran school officials said it was the first time "in at least 25 years" when bonds were sold without a call for competitive bids. Trustees said the negotiations plan was adopted in this instance to take advantage of unusually favorable market conditions which, in the opinion of experts, are likely to be temporary.

Sold To Syndicate

The bonds, which are to yield an average interest rate of 2.88 per cent over 25 years, were sold to a syndicate composed of C. E. Davis & Co., Lubbock; Moss, Morris & Co., Dallas; First of Texas Corp., San Antonio, and Central Investment Co., of Dallas.

The bidders agreed to pay the district a premium of $2,000 on bonds of the following maturing periods and interest rates: Those maturing during the first 10 years, 2.5 per cent; during the next five years, 2.75 per cent and during the final 10 years, 3 per cent.

The money is to be used for the erection of three new elementary buildings in Northwest Lubbock, on East Broadway and Carver Heights, and for improvements to, or enlargements of, several existing buildings.

Trustees attending the luncheon Monday were Clyde Tatum, C. H. Hamilton, W. H. Evans and E. J. Parsons.

Board members absent were Dr. M. M. Ewing, G. C. Dowell and Glenn W. Woods. All had participated in earlier negotiations leading to the sale, and had approved the transaction, officials said.

JEWS PLAN PROTEST TO UN

British To Continue Massing Military Forces Near Israel

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 10. — Britain will continue massing military forces within easy reach of Israel but will make no protest to the United Nations concerning the shooting down of five RAF planes by the Israelis, British diplomats said tonight.

A Jewish informant in Tel Aviv said Israel plans to accuse Britain before the UN of violating the Palestine truce. Israel authorities also will charge that Britain has made large-scale arms shipments to Egyptians, the source said.

There were signs that both the United States and United Nations officials were working to cool off the British-Israeli dispute before it complicated further the general Palestine problem.

In Washington the State Department urged both sides to treat the shooting down of the planes as a "regrettable incident only." The department's statement expressed the hope that the air clash will not interfere with Israeli-Egyptian armistice negotiations expected to open Wednesday on the island of Rhodes.

Two Persons Killed In Auto Accidents

TWO SOUTH PLAINS residents were killed and several others injured Sunday and Monday as sub-freezing weather brought rain, snow and sleet to West Texas and eastern New Mexico, making streets and highways hazardous to travel.

Dead were Fred T. Stricklin, 30, of 1212-B Fifteenth, Lubbock, and Mrs. Jack Thompson, 29, of Sudan.

The Lubbock man was killed about 2 a.m. Monday when the car he was driving overturned after skidding on icy pavement about two miles south of Woodrow on the Lubbock-Tahoka highway.

Pinned Beneath Car

Stricklin was crushed when he was pinned beneath the 1946 Oldsmobile sedan, and was pronounced dead upon arrival at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where he was taken by Rix ambulance.

He had been employed by the Texas Sheet Metal works for about a year.

Levi Noble, owner of the State drug store here who was riding with Stricklin, suffered a slight back injury in the accident, but was not hospitalized. Mrs. Stricklin, another passenger, escaped injury.

Mrs. Stricklin said the group was returning from Big Spring when the car overturned.

Stricklin's body was sent by train last night to Paris, Tex., for funeral and burial services there, Rix Funeral home reported.

Survivors include the widow; four daughters, Janice, Jackie, Katie and Elizabeth; all of Paris;

Southern Pacific officials said a brake beam from a freight car dropped onto the track causing the derailment. They reported there were no personal injuries.

Solon Introduces Bill To Clinch Federal Claims To Tidelands Oil

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—An administration bill has been introduced in Congress to clinch federal claims to tidelands oil.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Celler (D-NY), also relinquishes all federal title to lands beneath inland navigable waters within state boundries.

The bill would enact into law the ruling of the Supreme court in 1947 that the federal government has paramount interest over submerged lands off California's coast and offshore tidelands.

Texas Title Disputed

The administration contends that decision extends also to under-water oil lands off the Louisiana and Texas coasts, but those states dispute that view.

The Celler bill would give congressional backing to the administration's contention.

Celler said he introduced the measure at the request of the Justice department.

He said the bill is intended to allay state concern over whether the federal government may claim oil and mineral rights in submerged lands in ports and harbors. The federal government has no intention to make such claims as to inland waters, Celler added.

The bill defines inland waters as the waters of bays, rivers, ports and harbors "landward of the open sea," as well as areas covered by tides. Lands beneath these waters are defined to include filled or reclaimed lands on which improvements may be constructed.

Offshore tidelands and the continental shelf, as well as their natural resources, are declared subject to federal jurisdiction.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas druggist for four ounces of Barcentrate. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcentrate is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate. Adv

Truman Figures High Farm Program Cost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—President Truman estimated today the government will spend $1,404,000,000 on farm price support programs during the two year period ending June 30, 1950.

Most of this will be spent on products the government takes over under support operations. Whether it loses any money will depend on prices it is able to get for the products when it finally disposes of them.

Mr. Truman estimated price support outlays of $866,000,000 for the current fiscal year ending June 30, and $538,000,000 for the following fiscal year. These forecasts assume that 1949 crops will not be as large as 1948's record volume. Smaller crops this year would mean smaller price support expenditures than for 1948 crops.

Mr. Truman said, however, that should 1949 crops equal last year's, the support needed in the new fiscal year would be considerably larger than his $538,000,000 estimate.

Pedestrians, Auto Owners Keep Going Through Ingenuity

Old Man Winter clamped down on Lubbock Monday with all his might, but the wheels of progress — and automobiles — kept turning.

Motorist and pedestrian alike exercised ingenuity to avoid hazardous pitfalls.

Service stations reported heavy sales of tire chains, windshield scrapers and anti-freeze. Alcohol for radiators was going fast, since permanent type anti-freeze was still in short supply.

Although business conditions generally were lighter than usual, John Deckelman, a downtown locksmith, reported business was good.

"We've had an unusual number of calls, Deckelman explained. "Many persons locked their cars, and when they returned to unlock them, the keys broke off in the frozen locks."

Deckelman's remedy: He took a small blowtorch, warmed up the lock, extracted the broken key, made a duplicate.

R. L. Lloyd, manager of Lubbock Auto Co., No. 3 at Nineteenth and College, said the icy roads hadn't stopped through traffic before nightfall Monday. Many travelers stopped for chains and defrosting equipment, then signified their intentions to go right on through.

One motorist, driving a 1931 model car, proceeded through the downtown traffic with clear vision. He had placed two candles just inside his windshield to keep the sleet off the windshield.

Pedestrians were exercising caution. Falls were common on downtown sidewalks, but no serious injuries had been reported.

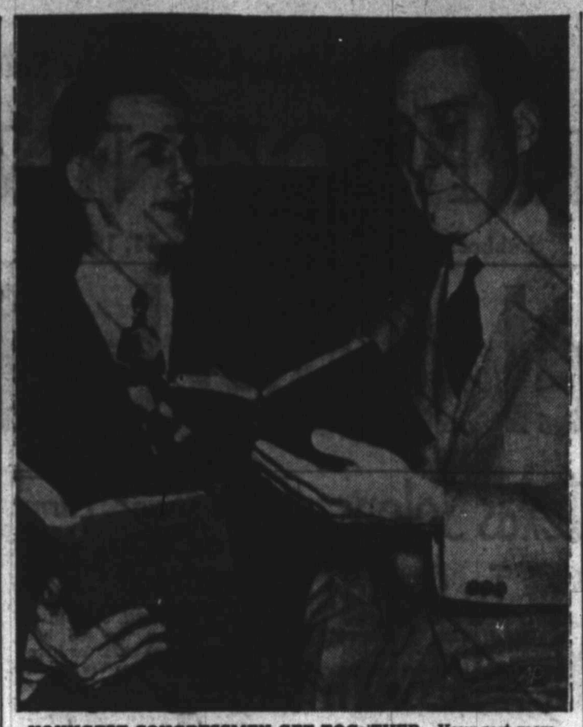

Butane gas users apparently had no cause for worry. William V. Stone, manager of Western Butane Company, Inc., said "it's running out of our ears. Do you want to buy some?" In more serious vein, he went on to explain that routemen keep tanks as nearly full as they can, and rail connections insure a steady flow into Lubbock regardless of highway conditions.

DOLLARS GO BEGGING

MANILA (AP)—Most countries of the world spend every dollar the United States will give them, but not the Philippines. Chairman Frank A. Waring of the U. S. That is the amount advanced by Congress to repair war-wrecked public property in the Philippines which has yet to be acted upon by the Filipone government. The appropriation expires next year.

Texas Family Hurt In Oklahoma Wreck

WAURIKA, Okla., Jan. 10.—(AP) Eight persons—seven members of one family—were injured today in an automobile-bus collision four miles north of Terrell, Okla.

A Rock Island passenger train stopped at the scene of the accident and took the injured to Waurika, Okla., where they were hospitalized.

Bill To Approve Oil Plan Seen

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. — A bill authorizing voluntary oil and gas utilization agreements will be among the first legislation offered the 51st legislature tomorrow.

Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe today said he will drop the voluntary pooling proposal into the Senate hopper immediately after the Senate opens for business.

A similar bill which drew much filibustering was killed outright on the final day of the 50th legislature.

Moffett, claiming a majority of the Senators are in favor of the bill, admitted there may be rough days ahead.

House Bill Seen

He said he does not know what the situation will be in the House, except that a companion bill will be presented.

Specifically, Moffett's bill calls for authorization of agreements for co-operative development and operation of all or any part of an oil or gas field.

It would not permit co-oprative marketing or refining of crude petroleum nor the refining of gas or gas by-products except for the extraction of liquid hydrocarbons and the separation of liquid hydrocarbons.

"The bill in no way would change our anti-trust laws, which I think are the best in the country," Moffett said. It simply is aimed at removing this atmosphere of uncertainty."

"I wouldn't vote for a bill that would change our anti-trust laws and I wouldn't vote for one which would permit agreements for co-operative marketing."

Moffett admits his bill is designed primarily for the benefit of independent operators.

The unitization plan of two years ago drew its strongest support from major oil companies.

The senator already holds a letter of endorsement for the bill from George W. Dimock, Wichita Falls, president of the North Texas Oil and Gas association.

Dimock points particularly to the value of agreements which would facilitate secondary recovery operations.

He said his north Texas area has more gas repressuring and water-flooding projects than in the remainder of the state.

Senator Expect Opposition

Moffett believes most opposition to the bill will come from east Texas, but Dimock, in his letter to the senator, indicates he sees no need for fear from that area.

He said secondary recovery operations are not necessary in east Texas in that the area has a natural water drive.

Moffett's proposal would authorize the State Railroad commission to approve agreements found to be in the public interest following commission hearings.

The agreements would provide:

1. Establishment of pooled units necessary to effect secondary recovery operations, including cycling, recycling, repressuring, water-flooding, and pressure maintenance.

2. Establishment and operating co-operative systems for the secondary recovery operations or for conservation and utilization of gas, including return of dry gas to a formation.

3. Equitable division, on an agreed basis, of oil and gas produced from the unit.

4. Extension of leases covering any part of lands committed to the unit so long as operations for drilling or reworking are conducted on the unit or so long as production of oil or gas in paying quantities is had from any part of the lands or leases involved.

Steel Industry Expects Week's Output To Exceed All-Time High

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The steel industry expects this week to exceed by 26,300 tons its heaviest productive week on record.

Reports to the American Iron and Steel institute today showed operations scheduled at 99.3 per cent of rated capacity. This would turn out 1,830,000 net tons of steel ingots and castings.

The previous record for any week was 1,804,300 tons in the period beginning Nov. 29, 1948.

Oil Operators Challenge Case

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Oil operators involved in the Heyser field shutdown case today challenged authority of the Texas Supreme court to accept jurisdiction in the state's direct appeal from district court.

The state is appealing from Judge Charles O. Betts' 98th district court injunction against a Railroad Commission order which would shut down the Heyser field, Calhoun and Victoria counties, until flare gas is beneficially used.

Sterling Oil and Refining company and others filed their written answer to the state's brief.

Would Bar Case

They said the Supreme court had jurisdiction over direct appeals in cases involving constitutional validity of certain laws and orders.

"This case involves question of validity of the challenged order on other than constitutional grounds, and the appeal should be dismissed for want of jurisdiction," the oil operators contended.

The Supreme court is to hear arguments of the case Wednesday.

Today's brief filed by the operators also contended the trial court granted the injunction because the Railroad commision is without lawful authority to enforce its shutdown order.

A third point asserted Judge Betts' injunction was properly granted because "even if the commission had lawful authority to issue such an order, the order in suit is unreasonable and invalid when applied to the facts in this case."

Last year the Supreme court, in considering a commission order on the big South Texas Seeligson field, held the commission has authority to shutdown a field but added that the order must be reasonable.

In arguing the Heyser case in the trial court, Attorney General Price Daniel said the Supreme

Three Inmates Of Joliet Pen Filed Suit Against Warden

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (INS)—Three inmates of Joliet penitentiary filed a $100,000 damage suit against Warden Joseph E. Ragen today, charging him with mismanagement.

The suit filed in federal court at Chicago asks an accounting of all money of the plaintiffs in the warden's charge, as well as the "amusement fund" and the "general accumulation fund."

The warden denied the charges and said the suit was designed to discredit him.

The suit was brought by Harry Siegel, serving a one to 14-year term for robbery; Robert Harp, serving a year to life for robbery, and Maurice Meyer, serving a 90-year sentence for the "sack slaying" of a 22-year-old girl.

court's Seeligson case decision applied to the Heyser field situation perfectly.

RUSSIANS TAME ELK, DEER

MOSCOW (AP)—Professor P. A. Manteifel, of the Moscow Fur Institute, is reported to be domesticating elk and deer. "Evening Moscow" said the professor was the first person in the USSR to begin taming elk, but now others are following his methods. This autumn experiments are going forward on harnessing elk as well as deer. The elk have become so tame that two of them were recently seen standing near an open field at night watching a tractor crew at work.

Pat Wiman Honored By Jaycees Here

Pat Wiman, chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce sports committee, was named "Man-of-the-Month" for December at the club's weekly luncheon Monday in the Hilton hotel.

Wiman was honored for his work in connection with all Jaycee sports events, and particularly for his part in preparations for a series of fight cards the club will stage here, beginning with a Lubbock-Amarillo match Thursday night.

The award was made by Joe Kelly, sports editor of The Avalanche-Journal, who had been introduced by Allen Todd, winner of the honor for November.

Gordon Sanders disclosed that the charter night for the new Jaycee organization at Tahoka will be Friday night, and urged as many Lubbock Jaycees as possible to attend the event.

Orville Stewart discussed arrangements for the regional meeting here next Saturday and Sunday, indicating that plans are almost complete. Approximately 150 out-of-town guests are expected to attend.

Bob Wylie, who is in charge of ticket sales for Thursday night's fight program at Sled Allen's arena, said ducats will be on sale Wednesday and Thursday at Wylie's drug store, and at the arena the night of the fights. Prices are $1.50 for ringside seats, $1.25 reserved, and 80 cents general admission.

Guests present at the luncheon were H.T. Wilkins, Sidney Gallian, Jack Crossen, Willard Reese, and Joe Kelly. New members introduced were Lester Davis and Frank McLaughlin. President Horace Gearhart presided.

Eire's growing Irish Radio Transmitters' Society recently held a convention in Dublin.

Senator Says Snow, Not Love Stalled Washington Arrival

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (INS)—Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), absolutely refused today to discuss his romance, if any, with the beauteous and wealthy actress June Millarde.

The 43-year-old senator said he is thinking of nothing but legislation, and has no plans of any kind to marry.

Magnuson earlier tried to "set the record straight" by declaring that a snowstorm had delayed his arrival in Washington, that he had not married Miss Millarde and had no intention of doing so.

Told that the actress had said in Hollywood they had an "understanding," and had made an oblique reference to being in love with him, Magnuson replied:

"I don't know anything about that. You can say what you like, but I just don't know about it."

The most he would concede was that he knew Miss Millarde and had escorted her socially.

GERMANS TAKE FISHY VIEW

BERLIN (AP) — Nearly four years after the war the occupying powers are still "demilitarizing" and "denazifying" German street names. Sometimes the Germans express a dim view of this process. In the town of Hannoversch-Muende, British occupation zone, for instance, a wry crack followed the renaming of a street from Bismarck strasse to Beethoven strasse. Next day a fish monger hung another sign under the new street sign. It said "Fresh Beethoven herring for sale."

Federal Court Opens 'Carry Over' Session

Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley heard motions by counsel in approximately a half dozen cases Monday in the first day's session of a "carry-over" session of the November term of the U. S. district court here.

In the future, three regular terms of the court will be conducted here starting the first Mondays in January, May and September, Judge Dooley has decided.

Today's session will consist of hearings on government rent cases and Wednesday other government cases will be heard. Non-jury civil cases are scheduled for the remainder of the week.

A jury will report for trial of jury civil cases next Monday.

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

TO GET THE CHILDREN TO COLLEGE— The Hintons Tackle Anything!

Building houses to save money for college, making a trailer for fun . . . there's nothing this family won't turn their hand to! The "construction crew": amateur architect-builder Don Hinton and his sons Jack, 15; Jerry, 11.

The self-starting Hintons of East Peoria, Ill., don't "do without" if they can do it themselves! Although Don was married with only a few dollars in his pocket, he and Pauline set their hearts on seeing the kids through college . . . on making sure they had the things they'd missed when they were young! When the children were old enough, they were asked: "How's if we all team up?" Could the whole family have fun working things out together? Would they let lack of ready money stop them . . . ?

Don's pay as night shift foreman in a machinery plant covers their ordinary needs. But even wisely managed, it just isn't enough for the "important extras." That's where family teamwork comes in!

Everybody shares in building houses—Pauline paints; Jean, 13, helps. They've sold one house; live in another; are starting No. 3.

Jack's part-time grocery job and early-morning paper route add $18 a week to college fund. His share from house sale: $200.

But life isn't all work! Bargain second-hand boat and outboard take them fishing, camping. "We fix things up, make 'em do," says Don. "That way, a little money provides a lot of fun!"

Homemade music is fun, too! Jack plays trumpet, drums, piano. He's organizing a band for school dances—another money-making idea. Music will be his college major.

At family conferences, all the Hintons have a voice in money matters . . . learn how they're doing. Life insurance is part of their money-managing. The Hintons started buying it early, already have $20,919 of life insurance protection. They budget $49.95 a month for it. From Don's regular pay of less than $400 a month, $30 also goes for the house, $100 for food, $20 for the car. Pauline says, "We certainly haven't had much to spend. We've all worked to make ends meet. But the children really feel they have a great deal."

Young Jerry hopes to be an automotive engineer. His parents will help him make it, if they can!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Hintons show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

ANTAL DORATI

MINNEAPOLIS Symphony orchestra's gain in the board's choice of Antal Dorati as conductor means a great loss to the musical life of the southwest. The handsome, 42-year-old musician, won favor here last spring with his directing of the Dallas Symphony before an audience cut short by a freakish black sandstorm that covered the city just at twilight.

Dorati, an even-tempered musician, who is a pianist and cellist, is recognized as one of the most important conductors in the country and we suppose it was too much to hope that Dallas could offer him the same post, financially speaking, that Minneapolis did.

The conductor guest conducted in Minneapolis in 1944, an experience that was never forgotten by the critics. One of them described him well in calling him handsome, "but in no sense a pretty boy. He is a fine person, capable, amiable, and with a lot of force."

BIRTH RATE

MORE than 3,650,000 babies were born in the United States during 1948, according to statistics from an insurance company. This number is the second highest in the country's history.

The high birth rate, in combination with the lowest death rate the country ever has known and a sizable immigration, has produced an increase in population of about 2,500,000.

Here is the national average on newborn babies: Boys have an average weight of seven pounds and ten ounces, while girl babies weigh on the average of seven pounds and two and a half ounces.

Today's Town Talk

TO anyone who can look at the local icy out-of-doors from a purely aesthetic point of view, there are lots of suggestions for wintertime centerpieces for the teas and bridge luncheons coming up on the social calendar.

Bare tree limbs clothed in a fairy thin coating of ice can be easily simulated by dipping twigs and small branches in melted paraffin. Arranged in a crystal frog over a shining reflector, the decoration is especially pretty at night, but may be brightened for daytime use by adding a half dozen hothouse carnations.

For luncheon decoration evergreen branches placed in a forked trail the length of the table make an attractive base for a battery of snow balls made from cotton and scattered along the greenery. At one end of the table, a cotton snowman complete with a bright muffler might be used to complete the decorative theme.

In this way part of the beauties of a snowy out-of-doors can be enjoyed without the discomforts of the cold.

Because of inclement weather, the Parent-Teacher association study course group which usually meets from 9 until 11 on Tuesday morning in Annex G of the Tech Home Economics building on Tech campus, will postpone the class according to Martha Graves, director of home and family life education at the college.

Hale Center Club Members Celebrate 38th Anniversary

HALE CENTER, Jan. 10—(Special)—Hale Center Needle club, the first and only club of its kind here from 1910-12, is celebrating its 38th anniversary this year.

Mrs. Hattie Quisenberry, now of El Paso, was president of the club during its first six years of existence, according to Mrs. S. M. Goodlett who joined the club in its second year. The club served at lease two purposes, stated Mrs. Goodlett—it circulated the community's latest news and provided just enough entertainment in the pioneer settlement "to save many a woman's reason." Mrs. Quisenberry taught the women to do beautiful embroidery including the rare Mt. Mellick work and encouraged the group to read good literature.

Other early officers of the club who live in Hale Center at present are Mrs. Silas Maggard and Miss Anna Akeson, both club secretaries.

Mrs. Goodlett recalls that since most of the members did not have comfortable furniture it was quite the thing to sit on the floor during a club meeting. Teacups were another rarity, especially those with handles, so members usually had to bring their own to parties. Children were also brought to the meetings. Most of the children were well disciplined, according to Mrs. Goodlett, but one little girl behaved so badly that her mother finally had to resign from the club.

The Needle club met the year around and always had a long waiting list of membership applications. Today the club has 20 regular members and three honorary members, many of whom still use fine linens and other work embroidered during the early years of the club. This year's president is Mill Allie

GOP QUESTIONS APPOINTMENT

Senate Group Calls Session To Consider Acheson Nomination

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — A meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee was called for tomorrow to consider the nomination of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State and for a general review of the international situation.

Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), committee chairman, arranged for the meeting shortly after the Acheson nomination and that of James E. Webb as under secretary of state reached the Senate from the White House.

In view of questions raised by some Republicans regarding the appointment of Acheson, Connally is prepared to have public hearings on the nomination if sufficient demands for such procedure are voiced in the committee.

Views Are Sought

Three Republican members, Vandenberg, Mich.; Smith, N. J., and Wiley, Wis., are anxious to have a comprehensive statement from Acheson covering his current views on foreign problems, particularly with respect to U. S.-Russian relations.

They recall that Acheson was allied in 1945-46 with those groups in the State department which leaned in the direction of a softer American policy toward the Soviet Union. They want assurances that Acheson, as secretary of state, will support a firm attitude in opposition to Communist expansion.

The committee plans to give some attention to suggestions of Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), that ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers should be called to tell what he knows of inside State department activities during part of the time Acheson was serving as assistant secretary of state.

Lovett To Be Called

For the meeting tomorrow, first held by the committee in the 81st Congress, Sen. Connally arranged to have acting Secretary of State Lovett present for a discussion of pending problems in the foreign field and for a preview of new State department legislative projects.

Lovett already has given Chairman Connally a tentative list of State department proposals for action by the new Congress.

At the top of the list is the North American security pact now in negotiation between the United States and European governments, followed by requests for a $6 billion authorization to continue the European recovery program until June 30, 1950.

After the new collective self-defense treaty has been ratified by the Senate, the Department of Defense will present Congress with definite schedules for American assistance, in the form of military goods, for the western European participants.

In view of the heavy legislative schedules confronting the Foreign Relations committee, Chairman Connally is hopeful of a quick decision on the Acheson nomination, and is confident that confirmation by a substantial Senate majority will be forthcoming before Jan. 20 when Acheson is scheduled to take over from Secretary Marshall.

Contract For Grain Elevator To Be Let

AMARILLO, Jan. 10. — (Special)—Contract for construction of Lubbock's proposed 2,000,000-bushel grain elevator may be let this week, said J. Frank Triplitt, manager of Producers Grain corporation which will erect the gigantic structure.

"I know of no other elevator southwest of Chicago with as much capacity," Triplitt said. The huge reinforced concrete structure may cost in excess of a million dollars.

Located in the southeast section of trackage of both Santa Fe and Fort Worth and Denver railways, the elevator will have a car dumper with unloading capacity of eight to ten cars per hour, and a truck dumper that will unload the largest truck - trailer in a minute and 50 seconds.

The structure was designed by Horner and Wyatt, Kansas City, Mo., consulting engineers.

Bids were to have been opened today but travel conditions made it impossible for all members of the board of directors to be present.

A further announcement will be made shortly, Triplitt said.

Judge To Set Trial Date On Injunction At Feb. 7 Meeting

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 10.—(Special)—District Judge C. D. Russell of the 64th district and counsel will meet here Feb. 7 to set trial date for the injunction suit brought by Drs. C. E. Payne and I. T. Shotwell, jr., against Dr. O. W. Still.

A compromise temporary injunction, with reservations, was granted by the court in a hearing Saturday Dr. Still was restrained from further practice of medicine or survey in Lamb county, except with his present patients.

The plaintiffs allege violation of an agreement entered into by the doctors on Dec. 22, whereby if Dr. Still left employment of the plaintiffs he would not practice within an area 50 miles radius of Littlefield.

Dr. Still has been associated with the Littlefield Medical clinic since Dec. 20, 1948.

France's U. S. Bound 'Thank You' Train Is Loaded For Shipment

LE HARVE, Jan. 10. (U.P.) — France's "thank you" train entered the second stage of its journey to the United States today with ceremonial loading of one of its 49 World War One vintage box cars aboard the steamer Magellan for the voyage to New York.

The train, bearing gifts from all parts of France to be sent to the U. S. as a token of gratitude for American "frendship" food trains, arrived at this port Thursday night.

Embarkation of the box cars, which are of the famous "forty and eight" type, began yesterday, and 26 were in the steamer's hold by this morning.

Crowd Cheers

But for ceremonial purposes, the 27th to be loaded was treated as a symbolic "first car," and it was hoisted aboard to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" and the "Marseillaise," while 1,000 Frenchmen cheered.

The official ceremony began at 3 p. m. (8 a.m. CST) with a reception aboard the Magellan at which French shipowners, local officials, and representatives of French war veterans organizations toasted the "thank you" train in champagne.

James H. Parks, United States counsel at Le Harve, also was a guest of honor.

Commandant Georges Icart, master of the Magellan, made a brief speech expressing pleasure that his ship had been chosen to carry the train.

The Magellan is scheduled to sail from Le Harve Wednesday and to reach New York January 25.

TEXARKANA, Jan. 10.—(U.P.)—The body of Travis Neal Caldwell, 22, who suffocated in an early morning fire that destroyed his home yesterday, will be returned to Atlanta, Texas, for funeral services and burial.

Justice of the Peace R. L. Burns returned an inquest verdict of accidental death by suffocation.

Caldwell was alone in the five-room house at the time of the fire, which was discovered by neighbors at 3:30 a. m.

His wife, 16-month-old daughter, parents and a brother, who also lived in the house, were out of town at the time of the fire.

POLAND TO CHANGE BANKS

WARSAW, Poland —(AP)— The National Bank of Poland is reorganizing its financial system to make national economics conform to "socialistic economics." Edward Drozniak, a vice-minister of finance and president of the bank, said a new decree on the banking system would be issued by the government shortly. The decree provides, among other things, for broader nationalization of all banking activities. It also sets up a system of investment, farm, communal, savings, and trade and commerce banks. A special bank for foreign commerce is being created. Drozniak pointed out there had been no reforms in the Polish banking operations since 1945.

Six Held On Alien Smuggling Attempt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. (AP) — The Justice department announced today the arrest in Florida of six persons in connection with an alleged attempt to smuggle aliens into the United States.

The department said that three of those taken into custody were from Soviet-dominated eastern Europe.

It said these three admitted they were being smuggled into Florida from Havana, Cuba and had hoped to reach New York City.

The six persons were arrested in the Florida keys and a 45-foot launch, the Semper Fidelis, was seized.

The department said the launch was manned by a Arthur J. Benson, master, and Albert Padags and Joseph Sowinski.

Charged with conspiracy to smuggle aliens, they were taken to Miami where their bonds were fixed at $10,000 each.

Attorney General Clark said there was "some indication that others in the United States are involved and a full investigation is in progress."

In the boat with the master and crew were the three aliens.

Held on charges of attempted illegal entry, they were described as a Pole, Arthur Woloski, and two Romanians, Ianqu Hersen and his wife, Milika.

MILLIONS ASKED FOR ATOM WORK

Budget Indicates U. S. To Make More A-Bombs Or Cost Is Higher

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—If President Truman's budget is an index, the United States either is going to make more atomic bombs next year or the cost has gone up.

The executive's budget sent to Congress today contained an item of $210,208,876 for atomic "weapons." This was an increase over the present year of $18,915,037, of $63,393,075 for the previous fiscal year, which will end June 30.

The recommended outlay for production of atomic weapons during the year beginning next July 1 was out of a total of $740,000,000 appropriation for the Atomic Energy commission. The figure for the current year was about $511,850,000.

Main Goal Cited

The tests of three atomic weapons at Eniwetoka atoll in the Pacific last spring "demonstrated important advances in military application of atomic energy," Mr. Truman told Congress.

Then, looking toward another phase of military use of power from nuclear fission, the President wrote:

"The development of electrical and propulsive power from atomic energy is a major objective. Before the technical feasibility of power applications can be demonstrated, more research and development will be required in the field of nuclear reactors.

"Problems of nuclear propulsion of ships and aircraft are a part of this research. The commission is intensifying its work in this important field."

Ship More Practical

The commission announced on December 29 the awarding of a contract to the Westinghouse Electric corporation for construction of an experimental atom power plant for propulsion of a Navy ship.

From the very outset of atomic energy development, scientists have assumed that the first feasible nuclear-powered vehicle would be a ship. The reason for this assumption are several:

1. A ship, because of its size, would be better than a train, automobile or airplane for the mounting of the extremely heavy atomic pile reactor which produces heat to run an engine.

2. Safe disposal of the highly dangerous radioactive "ash" from a nuclear reactor would be less of a problem on a ship than on land.

3. The use of atom power would impart to a warship almost unlimited cruising range, without the necessity of putting into port for refueling—a feature of particular military value in a submarine.

Weight Would Be Less

While the weight of the atomic power plant, including the enormously heavy protective shields to stop dangerous radiation, runs into tens of thousands of tons, Naval designers contend there still would be a net saving in shipboard installation. The total weight would be less than that of conventional engines, together with tons of fuel oil needed to operate them. And a substantial saving in space could be achieved, and thus made available for additional armament or other equipment.

Because the number of bombs now made or scheduled for production is as top secret as the design of the bomb itself, neither the President nor the Atomic commission gave any clue as to the cost of individual bombs.

Cost May Be Cut

The cost of the first atomic bomb exploded in a wartime test in New Mexico, is a matter of record—a mere $2,000,000,000. This, however, was the so-called "development cost." That covered all the millions spent in the whole atomic project. Since then there has been speculation about the cost of A-bombs as turned out with a regular operating system. The speculation has been mere unofficial guessing, including, among other figures, someone's idea that perhaps the production cost had been lowered to about $1,000,000 per bomb.

Mr. Truman noted that "the first great contribution of atomic energy to peacetime welfare" has been made with distribution of isotopes for research in medicine, biology and the physical sciences.

New York Residents Pass Up Plush-Covered 'Booby Traps' To Listen In On Neighbors

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—This is a great city for homebodies.

The night clubs, the theaters, the be-bop dens—these are kept going by visitors who want a peek at Manhattan's famed glamor barns. Take away the patronage of the visiting firemen and noisy "swing street" would soon become as quiet as a cowpath.

The average New Yorker is pretty much a homebody. He can't afford many sorties a year into the plush-covered booby traps that lure the eager out-of-town butter-and-egg man.

Listening Is Good

And, anyway, he often can enjoy a better show by staying at home. It is the show put on by his neighbors. And neighbors do it for free.

It is true that in this crowded island many families may dwell in the same building for years without ever getting on speaking terms. But nowhere in the world are adjoining families on better listening terms. This is unavoidable, as the walls that separate apartments are sliced as thin as restaurant ham.

Here live the most wonderful screwball neighbors outside of bedlam. And the most wonderful neighbors of all are those you'll find in Greenwich village.

Had Scratching Time

It doesn't have the hectic air it had in prohibition days, but it is still the most charming, colorful, easygoing section of the city. And the neighbors—you can't beat them for entertainment.

Often I get homesick for the Village, where I dwelt for ten happy years. Before I was married they were scratching years, too.

Some of the scratching was to earn a living. And some of it was caused by bedbugs. The bedbugs came from the apartment below, inhabited by a dear old lady. Everytime I called in an exterminator to clean out my apartment, I also sent him down call on the dear old lady. But she always refused to let him in. She had a kindly belief that it was wrong of man to destroy life of any kind. In time I moved—and left her, victorious with her tiny crawling friends.

And the horse-playing janitor who took out a $1,000 life insurance policy on the Village's leading unemployed drunk. Is the drunk still waxing fatter and the janitor's purse leaner? That's the way it was when I left.

Quiet On East River

Whatever became of the hungry young poet who played the zither in his room and trapped mice in the halls? It really must have been only gossip that he ate the mice. That longshoreman in the back apartment who played handball by bouncing his wife off the walls—has his ship come in? And the impressionable young Wall Street stenographer who ran screaming down the stairs that night Orson Welles broadcast a landing by men from Mars: What panics her now?

It's much more sedate in our 14-story brick tenement by the East river. I miss the noisy days in the Village. But neighbors are usually interesting anywhere here. A Chinese family from the United Nations lives below us, and I live in hope that sometime they will shatter their utter quiet with the music of a temple gong.

Overhead the prospect is more promising. Up there is a family with a pretty, energetic, black-haired girl of seven. She's a good friend of mine, and doesn't mind if I sometimes call her "little baby thunderfoot," as well as "queen of all the butterflies."

Last year she studied ballet dancing. Guess what little "little baby thunderfoot" is taking up now? Tap dancing!

It's never dull long in New York, neighbor.

'March Of Dimes' Poster Girl On Way To White House Party

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—National March of Dimes poster girl for 1949 Linda Brown of San Antonio, is enroute to Washington today, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Leonard Brown, jr. She will be the guest of President Truman on Thursday, her fourth birthday.

Her party with the chief executive is part of two tours in connection with the annual March of Dimes. Next Friday she will be in New York for the opening rally of the drive. Linda, a polio victim of 1946, will return to Washington Jan. 18 to remain during the presidential inauguration. Returning to San Antonio she will be given a parade in her own honor. Two days later she will be off again to Dallas, Cleveland and back to New York where she will remain from Jan. 28 to Feb. 2.

City Makes Well Tests In Effort To Ease Ranger Water Shortage

RANGER, Jan. 10—(AP)—Ranger city officials today directed a water well test in an effort to alleviate the water shortage which the town faces.

The test was on the property of Mrs. S. E. Sanderford.

The well was placed on pump and during a 17-hour period pumped a 250-gallon a minute average, which would mean around 360,000 gallons in 24 hours. The normal Ranger consumption is 350,000 gallons.

The well was drilled during the oil boom days and supplied the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Co. for many years. Samples of the water have been sent to the state health department laboratories in Austin for testing.

U. S. Reports 27,658 Polio Cases In 1948

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A total of 27,658 cases of infantile paralysis were reported in the United States in 1948, making it the second worst polio year in the U. S. history of the disease.

A total of 27,363 cases were reported in the epidemic year of 1916, but the national foundation for infantile paralysis lists it as the worst year, with an estimated total of 50,000 cases. Reporting was not complete at that time.

The foundation, which announced the 1948 figures yesterday, said the greatest concentrations of cases were in California, North Carolina and Texas. Thirty-five per cent of the total was in these states.

Texas, on the basis of 1948 population estimates, had an incidence rate of 24.6 per 100,000 persons afflicted.

The highest state total was California's 5,560 cases, which was about 55.4 cases per 100,000 persons.

The foundation estimated that during the year $17,000,000 contributed through the "March of Dimes," was spent in fighting the disease.

Daughter Inherits $27,000 From Apparently Penniless Recluse

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Louise Rousseau, 23, of Watsonville, Calif., today was declared the heir to a $27,000 fortune her father, who apparently died penniless here last Nov. 19, left her.

Her father, Adam Reichardt, 65, was a recluse who lived alone in a shabby room. His room was littered with junk and no one thought he had a cent.

A search disclosed $27,000 in cash and bonds hidden about the room.

The bureau of missing persons located Mrs. Rousseau, wife of a municipal worker in Watsonville. Bexar County Judge Charles W. Anderson said her identity as Reichardt's daughter had been established beyond doubt and that he was turning the money and bonds over to her.

Mrs. Rousseau was here today for the probate hearing. She said she had never seen her father.

Mother Of Southern Methodist University President Dies

DALLAS, June 10.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Esther Lee, 86, mother of Dr. Humphrey Lee, Southern Methodist university president.

Mrs. Lee died Sunday in a Dallas hospital after a long period of illness.

She was born in Buell, Ky., on Dec. 30, 1862, and was married to the Rev. Josephus Lee in 1890. In 1909 they moved to Texas, and lived in several Texas towns before moving to Fentress, Caldwell county, where her husband was pastor of a Methodist church until he died in 1926. She had lived with her son here since that time.

Houston Residents Alarmed By Shriek Of Escaping Gas

HOUSTON, Jan. 10. (AP)—Residents of Southeast Houston still weren't certain today that what they heard early Sunday morning was escaping gas, and they kept telephones busy.

But officials of the Houston Industrial Gas Co. claimed they lost 3,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas between 2 a. m. and 4 a. m. Sunday when the mechanism of a separator in southeast Houston developed a bug.

The gas, whistling like "an oil gusher blowing in," as one sleeper put it, woke other sleepers for miles around, delayed a freight train and stopped early morning traffic. Otherwise, there was no damage.

R. O. King, superintendent of the gas company, said the gas was under pressure of 325 pounds per square inch, and that during the two hours when the noise seemed loudest, some 1,000,000 cubic feet escaped.

A Santa Fe freight train came to a halt for an hour, taking precaution against sparks igniting the gas. Police stopped cars, warning motorists not to smoke.

Telephone calls, which overflowed lines of the sheriff's and police departments, were still trickling in today.

Miners Invade Tech Gym For Crucial Loop Tilt Tonight

Visitors To Seek Second Victory

The Texas College of Mines basketball team, only Border Conference member to hand the Red Raiders of Texas Tech a defeat this season, invade Tech gym for a crucial loop tilt at 8 p. m.

The game, like most home tilts on the Raider schedule, will be closed to the public.

The Raiders returned Sunday from a successful road trip to Texas Mines, New Mexico A & M and New Mexico university. Coach Polk Robison's cagers won two of their games, licking both the New Mexico Aggies and the New Mexico Lobos, while dropping the opening road game to the Orediggers.

Two Road Victories

Tech boosted its stock in the conference race with the two victories on the road, usual barren soil for the visiting teams. While the Aggies have not been rated high among teams favored to win, New Mexico definitely was considered a potential circuit winner.

The Orediggers will bring a squad here that is fast, rough and capable of beating any team any given night. Two of their outstanding players are Nelson Ohlemacher, the six foot three inch center who tied up Don Grove, and Santos "Kayo" Perez, shortest man in the conference.

Ohlemacher, from Muncie, Ind., showed plenty of class in scoring 12 points against Tech, although Grove went around him for 13. The rangy Orediggers center has been one of the more potent men on the Miner attack and last year lettered in his freshman year.

Perez Smooth Player

Perez lived up to his nickname of Kayo by knocking out both West Texas State Teachers College and Texas Tech on successive nights. He did it, not so much with his scoring activity, which netted him 17 points against Tech, but with his dribbling. The diminutive star stalled both the Buffalo and Raider attacks in the closing minutes of the game to protect a slender Mines lead.

Other top players Coach Dale Waters will show here include Ventura Irrabali, Bert Williams and Jim Paternoster, forwards; Earl Richards, center; and Yvan Rechy and Abe Franco, guards.

Tech probably will start its usual five of Gene Gibson and Whistle Banks, forwards; Grove, center; and either Wimpy Hill, Ardis Barton or Jiggs Jackson at guards.

New South Wales, Australia, is training 30 mounted police as an escort to the royal party during its visit next year.

Legion Baseball Meet To Bryan

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP) — Finals of the American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament will be held in Bryan next August, the Legion state committee decided here yesterday.

Chairman Ted Dawson of Temple said a record entry list of more than 160 teams is expected for the four day double elimination tournament between Aug. 1 and 6. June 10 is the deadline for initial certification of players.

The annual tournament was held in Paris last year with the Austin Buddies the winners.

McCABE SAYS NOT ENOUGH SUPPORT FOR MEET HERE

Lubbock Legion officials did not make an effort to bring the state tournament here, H. J. McCabe, director of the local Legion athletic program, revealed Monday night.

"There just wasn't enough support of the Legion junior baseball program here last summer to make a bid for the state tournament worthwhile," McCabe said.

Last year local officials had discussed the possibility of bringing the state meet to Lubbock. The Lubbock entry in the 1948 program took fourth place in the state race and competed in the final tourney at Paris.

NCAA Discusses Curb On Platoon System

PALM SPRINGS, Cal., Jan. 10. (AP)— Recommendations to curb the "two-platoon" football system threatened to turn into a stormy session today the scheduled meeting of the NCAA rules committee under its new chairman, Herbert (Fritz) Crisler of Michigan.

There was an argument, first whether it would be right to curtail mass substitution and, secondly, whether rules changes proposed by the Football Coaches' Association would actually do that.

The Coaches Association held its annual meetings here last week while the NCAA held its annual pow-wow in San Francisco. Now the NCAA rules committee, which has final say on the coaches' rules requests, is to meet here to take final action. The major witness before the NCAA probably will be Lou Little of Columbia, Chairman of the Coaches' rules committee.

Little claims and new proposals, which allow platoon system substitutions only when possession of the ball changes and during time-outs and eliminates all substitutions while the clock is running, and a curb on the old rules.

However, Harvey Harman of Rutgers, the retiring president of the AFCA, believes the new rule will make substitutions more prevalent than ever.

For the ninth year, Paul Green's "Lost Colony," a symphonic drama, will be presented at Waterside Theater, Roanoke Island, N. C. Over 55,000 persons saw the play last year.

Arizona Cagers Lead Conference

The Wildcats of Arizona university found themselves in a familiar spot over the week end, leading the Border Conference basketball race. But they could afford to be uneasy.

Pressing them closely were the Red Raiders of Texas Tech, who would be in first place with room to spare, if they had not lost to Texas Mines last week.

Arizona has played only one game so far, licking Hardin-Simmons, while Tech has played five loop tilts, losing only one. A loss for the Wildcats would put the Raiders well into the lead. As it is, the pressure is all on the Arizona quintet as they face making up the difference between one game and five.

Mines Threatening

Texas Mines, the giant-killing outfit that knocked off both West Texas State Teachers College and Texas Tech last week, also is in a threatening position. The Orediggers have lost only one game, to New Mexico university, and have three victories. It is a record good enough to place them third in the standings, half a game behind Tech.

And a half game behind the Mines is New Mexico, which boasts victories over WTSTC and Mines, while losing to Texas Tech in Albuquerque.

Hardin-Simmons, under a new coach this year, is a surprise occupant of fifth place, tied for that position by a WTSTC quintet that was picked to run off with the race.

Road Trips Slated

These are the only real contenders at the present time. Arizona State of Flagstaff, Arizona State of Temple and New Mexico A & M all trail behind the leaders in that order. The latter two teams have failed to win a game.

Hardin-Simmons scared the daylight out of Arizona last week on a successful road trip, which saw the Cowboys win two of their three games. This was the same record that Tech established and, in the Border loop, this is no mean accomplishment.

This week New Mexico, New Mexico A & M and Texas Mines embark on road trips, the first two into Arizona country and the last into West Texas.

Mangrum Captures Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(AP)— Lloyd Mangrum won the $15,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament today, shooting a one-under par 70 for a 72-hole score of 284.

It was the first victory in this event for the United States Open king of 1946.

Mangrum had rounds of 72-66-76-70.

Play was at the Rivera Country club course. Par is 35-36—71, and 284 for 72 holes

Mangrum shared a four-way tie for the leadership going into today's final round.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrisan, Little Rock, Ark., was second. He carded a 71 for 287.

Mangrum, registered from Chicago, a resident here and born in Texas, collected $2,600 top money.

Eric Monti, Leland Gibson, Jimmy Demaret and Bill Nary, the latter carding a 67 for the day's lowest score, were tied behind Harrison at 288.

Lloyd Wadkins, Midland, Texas, carded a 77-73-77-72—299.

West Texas State Five Swamps College Of Mines, 60 To 41

CANYON, Jan. 10. (AP)—West Texas State Teachers College swamped the Texas College of Mines 60-41, here tonight in a Border Conference basketball game.

The Miners made only one field goal in the first half and trailed, 35-7, at halftime.

Glynn Braden, WTSTC center, was high point man with 13, followed by Hubert Kitchens, WTSTC guard, with nine.

High point men for the losers were Nelson Ohlemacher, forward, and Ventura Irrabali, guard, both with nine.

JC Fight Ducats On Sale Today

Amarillo Boxers Will Fight Here

Tickets for the Junior Chamber of Commerce fight card, which will be held Thursday night in Sled Allen's arena, go on sale tomorrow at Wylie's Drug store.

Ringside ducats will cost only $1.50 including tax, with reserved seats going for $1.25 apiece. General admission seats will cost 85 cents. All prices include tax and all seats will be good.

The card that the Jaycees are sponsoring has been prepared by O. C. Foster, Lubbock gymnasium operator and fight promoter. It will bring together top fighters from Amarillo and Lubbock, boys who will be seen in action on the regional Golden Gloves program Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and 2.

Williams Outstanding

The Amarillo fighters will present a tough hurdle for the Lubbock team to get past, especially since many of the local fighters will be making their first appearance in a ring this year. And several of the Hub City contestants have had little or no previous experience.

Outstanding for the Lubbock team should be Don Williams of Phillips, one of Texas Tech's leading tackles. Williams will be making his debut in the heavyweight division, and while he probably will fight a local boy, since Amarillo does not have a heavyweight, he should be a crowd-pleaser.

Williams is being touted as a potential winner in the regional Gloves tournament. He is a well built boy weighing around 195 pounds, packs a heavy wallop in either hand and is learning the whys and wherefores of boxing rapidly.

A featherweight fight that should be better than average is the scrap between Pat McCarty of Lubbock and Buster Holman of Amarillo. Holman was one of the standouts on the Amarillo Golden Gloves team last year and he isn't any less effective this year. McCarty will be making his debut before local fans and if advance information is safe, he should make this one of the best fights of the night.

Probable Top Bout

The match between Jack Wilborn of Lubbock and James Wortham of Amarillo ought to come as close to stopping the show as any. Wortham was one of the better boxers in the state last year, a boy who showed a world of promise and ability. Reports are that he has improved tremendously and early fights this year bear out this testimony.

Wilborn was decisioned in the welterweight ranks last year, but since then has improved and this year is fighting as a middleweight. He carries a kayo punch in either hand and is a more clever boxer than he was last year.

The entire card shapes up as one of the best arranged here in a long time, with plenty of action promised.

Panhandle Sportsmen Attend Meet

Game Organization Assures More Ducks

AMARILLO, Jan. 10 (Special)— "Purpose of Ducks Unlimited is to assure ducks in unlimited numbers for future generations of Americans" Arthur M. Bartley, New York executive director of the organization, told Panhandle sportsmen here tonight.

Bartley spoke to 500 Panhandle sportsmen who braved snow and near-zero temperatures to attend the Panhandle Outdoor Sportsmen's club "Ducks Unlimited Round-Up" and barbecue. The down payment on the Texas Panhandle duck factory, a $10,000 project providing breeding grounds in Canada for thousands of ducks, was made at the meeting. A check to $1,100, raised by the club in showing the McMillan African big game hunt pictures several months ago, was presented to Bartley.

"I can't guarantee that the ducks from the factory will fly here nonstop," Bartley said. "But the project will be located in the area used by ducks migrating along the flyways through the Panhandle," he said.

Bartley predicted the 1949 breeding season would be an "average" season, not up to the level of the 1948 season. He described the 1948 season as the best since Ducks Unlimited was organized. It was the best since 1931, he said.

Two motion pictures presented by Bartley featured the program of Ducks Unlimited and wild ducks in the Grand Prairie region in Arkansas. Some of the most outstanding wildlife photography was featured in close-up slow motion pictures of wild ducks in flight, showing their wing action in take offs, flight and landing.

Howard Conrey of Stutgart, Ark., champion duck caller, demonstrated duck calling as a feature of the program. Duck calling was also demonstrated by Gene Howe, member of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission and publisher of the Amarillo News-Globe.

Guests included Dr. Roy A. Webb of Pampa and Conrad Fath of Austin, president and vice-president of the Texas Wild-life federation and R. A. King of Wichita Falls, Texas chairman for Ducks Unlimited.

Boxer Charged With Homicide

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10. (AP)— Gus Dorazio was free in $1,500 bail today after the former heavyweight boxer was arraigned on a charge of homicide in the fatal beating of a brewery worker.

Dorazio, 31, was accused of homicide by fist after Albert Blomeyer died of injuries suffered in a fight Friday.

Detective Martin Curran, testifying at a hearing before Magistrate George Levin, yesterday said the fatal beating of the 33-year-old Blomeyer may have grown out of a union dispute.

Blomeyer and Dorazio—who once lost a title fight to Joe Louis—were employed at the C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., brewery. Curran said Blomeyer was a shop steward for the CIO brewery union.

The detective testified that Blomeyer had received instructions to circulate a petition seeking a union shop at the plant which has been torn by union strife for several years.

Dorazio was quoted at the hearing as saying in a statement—which he refused to sign—that Blomeyer and two others started "ganging up" on him and that the fight resulted.

The former boxer, who once served a prison term as a draft dodger, also was quoted as saying that he resented recent taunts saying he was "punch drunk."

Levelland Quintets Gain Forfeit Wins

LEVELLAND, Jan. 10 (Special) -- Third annual Junior Chamber of Commerce Independent basketball tournament got off to a slow start here tonight, with three quints gaining forfeit wins over teams which failed to arrive at game time—probably as a result of unfavorable weather and highway conditions.

The Anton American Legion five was awarded a forfeit victory over Littrell Service of Lubbock, Derrick of Idalou took a forfeit win over Furr Food of Lubbock and United Geophysical of Brownfield won over Crawford Electric of Lubbock.

The regular three-game slate will be unreeled Tuesday night, with Levelland's Refiners meeting Brown-Layco of Lubbock at 7 o'clock. Thomas Tinkers of Lubbock tangle with Denver City at 8, then Sundown battles Spade at 9 o'clock.

The tourney will continue through Saturday night.

Carroll Thompson, O. L. Slaton To Open Junior High Cage Race

Carroll Thompson's Cowboys and the O. L. Slaton Redskins will open the cage race in the South Plains Junior High basketball league here tonight with a tilt at 8 o'clock at the Senior High gymnasium.

The feature clash will be preceded by a Calfroper-Warrior game at 7 o'clock, officials announced.

Admission will be 25 cents per person, including tax.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Two days have gone by since the Lubbock Westerner-Lamesa Tornado non-conference cage clash was played at the new gymnasium at Chapman field, but the 1,500 Lubbock fans who watched the "game" (we use the word loosely) are still discussing the type of play used by the Lamesans. "If they didn't want to play a ball game," one puzzled fan said, "why did they come up here?"

For the information of fans who did not see the game Saturday night, here's what happened. Both teams got off to a ragged start—with the Westerners having their worst night of the year in the shooting department—but Lubbock finally gained a narrow 12-10 margin at the half. Late in the third quarter Lamesa went ahead by two points, then started stalling. The Lamesa cagers passed the ball around the court for minutes at a time, but the Westerners would not budge out of their tight zone defense. Then, just before the end of the period, the Westerners tied up the count at 18-18. Yet the Tornadoes continued their ball-freezing tactics. Early in the fourth quarter the Lubbock quint went out in front, 20-18, and still the Lamesans continued to hold the ball out near the middle of the court. A late Lamesa field goal sent the game into overtime—where (you guessed it) the Tornadoes still held the ball. Seconds before the end of the game a Lamesan connected with a long set shot and that was the game.

The phase of the game that made Lubbock fans unhappy was the stalling part of the setto. The Lamesans weren't playing "ball control" basketball—they weren't even trying to get a shot until the last few seconds of the fourth and overtime periods. And most of the time they were stalling they were not even ahead in the score! It was very apparent to the fans—who paid their money to see a basketball game—that the Lamesans were just satisfied to hold the score down and gamble on a last-second goal to put them back in the ball game. They were so afraid of another Westerner victory, Lubbock won, 39-21, in their first game of the season at Lamesa), that they turned what could have been an exciting ball game into a farce.

We hated to see Lubbock lose, yes indeed. But, most important, we hated to see the largest school-boy basketball crowd of the year here sent home disgusted after seeing such a disappointing exhibition. Lubbock High officials had worked hard to get the new gymnasium ready for the game—and had hoped that the fans would get to see an interesting game. As far as losing the tilt, Lubbock fans are used to going home with the short end of the score. The Westerners have not won a football or basketball district championship in the last three years—so losing is nothing new. But they are used to seeing a pretty good game. They are not used to seeing a team that is satisfied to settle for a low score or one that won't compete! This fall Lubbock's Westerner gridders were defeated by Amarillo, 14-6. But in the last minutes of the fourth quarter the Westerners were still throwing long passes, running tricky reverses and risking a costly mistake that might have given the Sandies another touchdown. But they were still trying.

Lynch Will Remain As Sandies Mentor For Two More Years

AMARILLO, Jan. 10. (AP)— Coach Howard W. Lynch will remain as mentor of the Golden Sandies, state high school football finalists last year, for two years at a salary of $6,000 annually.

Members of the school board concluded negotiations with Lynch this afternoon. Lynch previously had been reported high on the list for an opening at Beaumont. Lynch has completed 19 years as coach of the Sandies, 12 years as head coach.

Lubbock Preps For Cage Tilts

Lubbock High's Westerner cagers, scheduled to tangle in District 1-AA battles with Amarillo and Pampa this weekend, were sent through a tough practice session Monday afternoon at the new gymnasium at Chapman field.

Westerner Coach Roy Morris, far from pleased with the poor shooting exhibited by the Lubbock cagers in their non-conference setto with Lamesa Saturday night, pushed the Hub City boys through a lengthy workout on play patterns and then concentrated on some drills designed to sharpen the marksmanship of the squad members. A cold wave blanketed Lubbock Monday—but it was very warm inside the Lubbock gym.

Hankins Returns

Lubbock hopes for making a good showing against the strong Amarillo and Pampa quints were boosted Monday afternoon by the return of regular guard Blair Hankins to the squad. Hankins has been hampered by a foot injury for several days, but he received medical attention yesterday and is expected to be in good condition for the two weekend clashes.

The Lubbock schoolboys face the toughest schedule of the season this week, with district tilts with Amarillo Friday night at Amarillo and a Saturday night encounter at Pampa. The Amarilloans are the defending loop champions and Pampa is rated as the top challenger Lubbock has already met Pampa once this season, losing a 30-29 setto with the Harvesters in the finals of the Brownwood tournament. The Westerners defeated an Amarillo "gym class" team in the Borger tournament, but the squad was not exactly the same Sandie team that the Lubbock five will meet this weekend. Both Amarillo and Pampa will have the home court advantage in the tussles.

Squad Leaves Friday

Coach Morris has not announced his travel plans for the jaunt, but the Westerner cage squad of 10 or 11 players is expected to leave here early Friday morning by chartered bus for Amarillo. The group will probably return home following the Saturday night setto at Pampa.

E. J. Lowrey, athletic department business manager, said Monday night that he had not made arrangements for a special block of tickets for the games, but he is certain Lubbock fans who make the trip can obtain ducats at the game sites.

VETERAN EDITOR CLAIMED

GIDDINGS, Jan. 10. (AP)—William Bloh, veteran editor and manager of The Giddings News, died at his home here this afternoon, he had been in poor health for several months. Funeral arrangements are pending.

New Gloves Hopefuls Sign Up

Bruington Is A Top Contender

Sorting the phony entries from the real ones for the 1949 regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament here in Texas Tech gym Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2 consumed valuable time yesterday.

As a result, few new names were added to the already long list of genuine entries for the tournament. But among names that bore the genuine stamp were several boys who have appeared here before and gave good accounts of themselves.

Billy Collins of Lorenzo, a 148-pounder, sent in his entry for the novice division. Collins, who made a good showing last year, should show improvement over last year and be a threat in the welterweight ranks.

Skinner Will Fight

Dwain Keith of 1916 Avenue P, a 21-year old welterweight, and Dalton Davis of Lubbock Route 6, a 22-year old welterweight, both entered the regional tournament yesterday. The two boxers are entering under the colors of the Naval Reserve unit at Texas Tech and several other boxers, probably another 10, are expected to come in from the Navy. Both will be in the open class.

Joe Skinner, Jr., of 46th street, a 24-year old middleweight, submitted his entry in the open division., Skinner is no novice to the ring, although he has not had too much experience. He appeared on the Jaycee card last April and lost a close decision to Willis Hawkins of WTSTC. In that fight, he showed ability to take punishment and to give it.

Two other entries in the novice division should make for a better balanced card. Victor Armenta, a 17-year old Latin-American of 120 Avenue R, and Ramon De La Cruz of 106 Avenue North N, a 16-year old Latin-American, both welterweights, help swell that division.

Several entries received yesterday still are being checked for authenticity. Most of them appear legitimate, but since they came from boys entered in Texas Tech, they will be withheld until proof can be obtained.

As stated Sunday, Texas Tech students wishing to enter the regional Golden Gloves must submit entries in person to O. C. Foster at Foster's Gym, 2417 Main street. Any entries received from Tech students will be thrown out, unless they first have been given to Foster.

Gym Open Every Night

For the benefit of amateur boxers wishing to get ready for the Gloves, Foster's Gym will be open each night of the week from 6 until 9. All boxers wishing to train may workout during these hours, with Bill Henderson and Babe Ritchie, former state Golden Gloves champions and professional fighters, on hand to help.

Dub Bruington of Plainview, a 19-year old light heavyweight, is another one of the top boxers from Plainview entering the regional tourney. Bruington is a former Petersburg High school fighter with a good deal of experience. He has won and lost about 20 fights and Friday night decisioned Don Evans of Amarillo Junior college.

Bruington is expected to be a leading contender for light heavy honors, along with Doug Beedy, from Plainview. He is a good puncher and a fighter who never will disappoint the crowd.

FIGHT DATE CHANGED

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (INS)—Date of the ten-round bout between welterweights Bernard Docusen of Los Angeles and Freddy Dawson of Chicago was set back today from Jan. 21 to Feb. 4, to allow Docusen time to recover from a cold.

Charged With Bribery, Conspiracy

Four Gamblers Are Indicted For 'Fix'

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (INS)—Four "sure-thing gamblers" who allegedly tried to "fix" a college basketball game were indicted by a New York grand jury today as a result of the resourcefulness and courage of one of the players.

The four, who were indicted on charges of bribery and conspiracy, are Joe Aronowitz, Phil Klein and William Rivlin, all of New York, and Jack Levy of Miami, Fla.

They are accused of trying to bribe David Shapiro, George Washington university player, to throw last week's game with Manhattan college at Madison Square Garden. Shapiro had informed police of the alleged attempted "fix."

A trial date will be set tomorrow when the men are arrainged in general sessions court for pleading.

Indicted In Washington

Today also, three of the men were indicted in Washington, D. C., on charges that they tried to fix the results of two other games involving the George Washington quintet. These games were with North Carolina and Virginia. Rivlin was not mentioned in these two cases.

The four men, who are held in $20,000 bail each in New York, were charged with violation of section 382 of the penal law. This section relates to bribery of a participant in amateur or professional sports. This constitutes a felong punishable by a fine up to $100,000 or imprisonment from one to five years, or both.

The second count, of conspiracy, is a misdemeanor punishable by up to three years in prison.

If convicted in Washington, after trial in New York, the prisoners each would face a maximum penalty of 15 years imprisonment and fines of $30,000.

The men were trapped in New York after Shapiro, working hand in hand with the New York police and District Attorney Frank S. Hogan, allegedly was offered $10,000 for the season to throw games to his school's opponents.

Shapiro said he first was approached four months ago in connection with the alleged plot. He promptly reported it to the authorities. They advised him to play along with the men.

Shapiro stalled the group until last Tuesday, when the gamblers allegedly asked him to "make sure" that George Washington lost to Manhattan by 18 points or more.

Detectives closed in on the quartet and placed them under arrest. And the alleged fix boomeranged when George Washington won the game easily.

Wilkinson Stays With Oklahoma

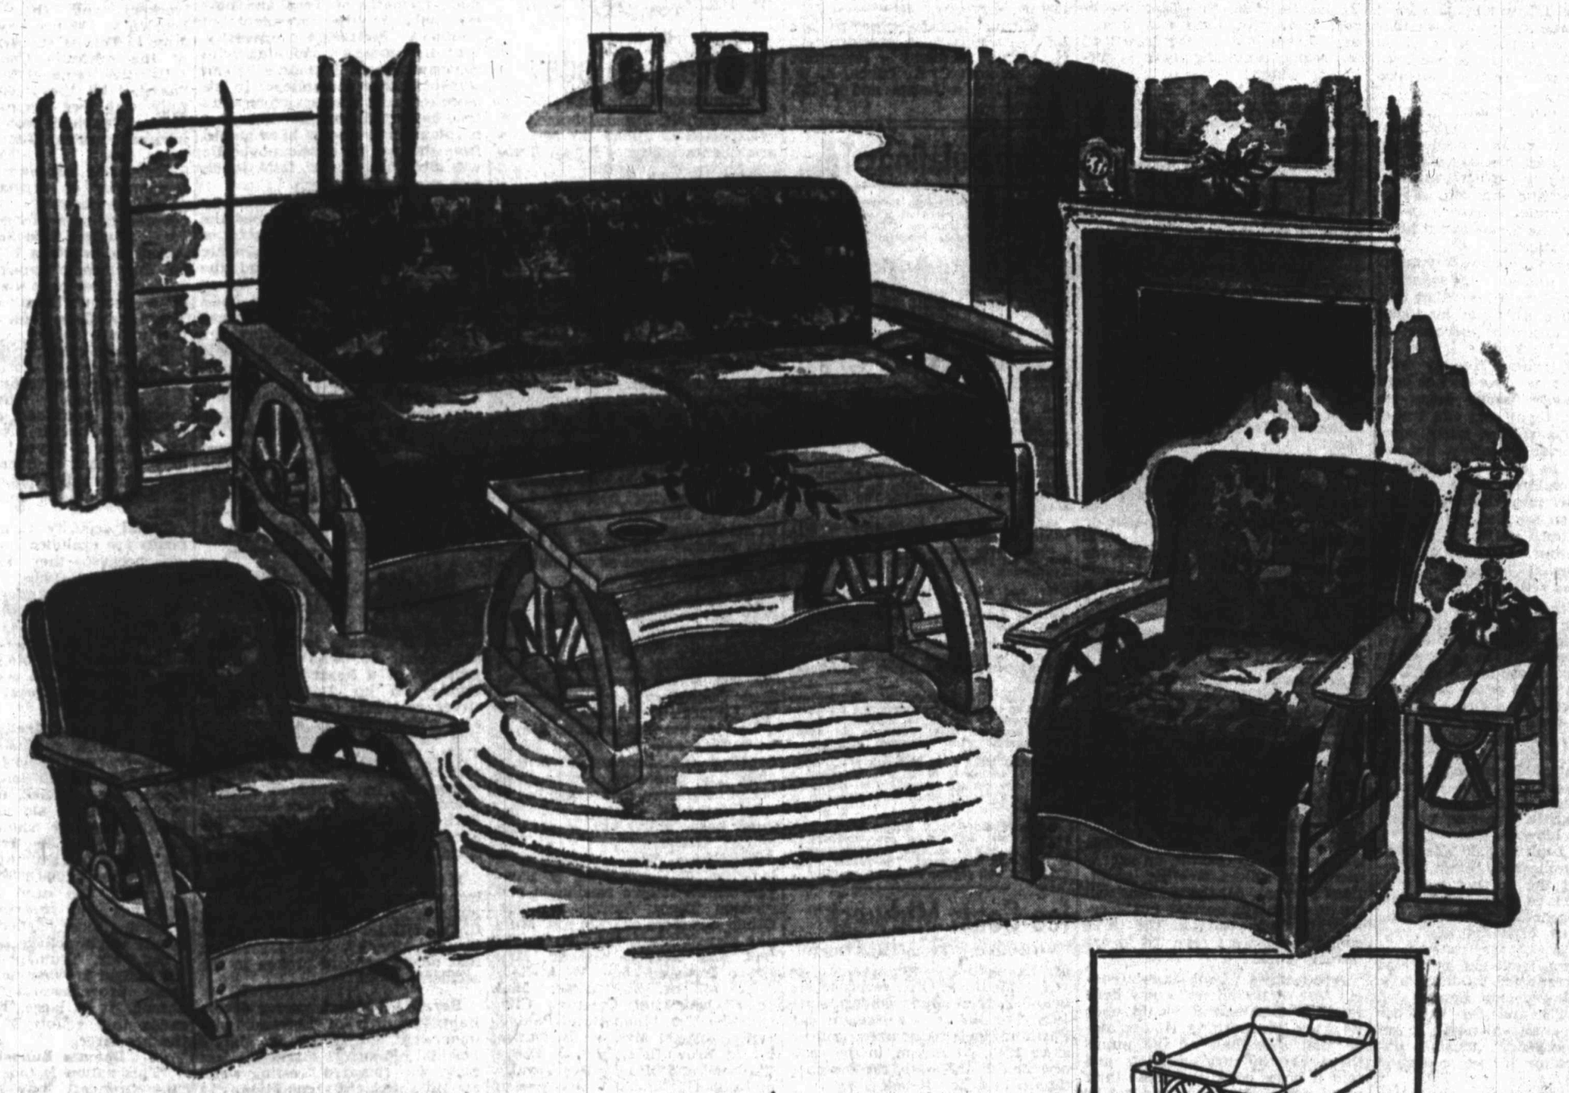

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 10 (AP)—Bud Wilkinson, University of Oklahoma football coach, gave a cold shoulder to Wisconsin today by stating flatly he is not interested in leaving his present job.

"I'd like to make it plain that I've always been satisfied here at Oklahoma," he said, "and I'm not asking for anything now."

Wisconsin has been making sheep eyes at the young former Minnesota star whose Sooners romped off with the Big Seven championship this year and topped off the season with a 14-6 victory over North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl.

Wilkinson said he had an informal talk with Harry Stuhldreher, the Badgers' athletic director who has stepped out as football coach. But he insisted no offer was made. And he added that he doesn't especially yearn to go to any Big Ten school.

Travel In Plains Area Snarled As Ice Coat Covers Highways

weight.

A bright spot appeared to be, so far as the South Plains was concerned, that there appeared to be an ample gas supply. No complaints of gas shortages had been made to West Texas Gas company late last night. The main office was being manned, but only to "check" on new connections and see "how well the new supply system was able to meet Lubbock's and the surrounding area's needs." Pressure was reported holding up over all the area served by the company.

No Quick Relief Seen

Highway patrol and other law enforcement agencies were pleased, but continued to keep their fingers crossed, as only one fatal accident, in this immediate area, and a small number, considering the driving conditions, of minor accidents were reported up to late Monday night. A highway patrolman said:

"It seems everyone is driving carefully. I hope they keep up this careful driving for the highways are very dangerous, and if forecasts prove true there is little likelihood that driving conditions will improve very much for several days. Motorists shouldn't attempt to go anywhere unless it is absolutely necessary."

For farmers and ranchers the precipitation brought hope that an end to the drouth that has plagued the area might be in sight. While the moisture was relatively light, it was the first precipitation of any consequence in over three months and was welcome after several weeks of "dusters."

The sleet and snow caused some hardship upon cattle, but the failure of the mercury to hit expected lows prevented any severe damage to livestock.

Covers Wide Area

The ice belt extended from the Texas Panhandle eastward through North Texas, Fort Worth, and Dallas, Waco, San Angelo, and Wink, the weather station reported.

All air traffic was suspended at Municipal airport, and the field closed because of the icing conditions and the sleet covered runways. Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma Motor coaches had halted all schedules to and from Vernon late last night, and reported that while all other runs were being made most of the schedules were operating far behind schedule as drivers kept their vehicles moving slowly over treacherous highways.

Southwestern Bell Telephone company reported considerable line trouble between Lubbock and Sweetwater. A number of line breaks interrupted service in that section, and several lines were reported down last night. Further breaks were expected by this morning.

Continued fall of sleet and icing rain, as forecast by the weather bureau, was expected to cause more trouble, not only in the Lubbock-Sweetwater section, but also in other parts of the system.

Southwestern Public Service company and the city light plant reported only minor trouble from icy power lines Monday, but indicated that any further collection of ice on the lines was almost sure to cause trouble. A rise in wind velocity was the major threat however, they indicated.

A. C. Jackson, business manager for the Lubbock Independent School district, said last night that all school bus schedules for today had been cancelled because of slick roads. He said:

"We had trouble Monday with the icy roads, and we do not care to put heavily loaded buses on them today. Light cars can travel the highways with a fairly comfortable margin of safety, but we don't care to take any chances with the children. One or two buses went into ditches today, (Monday), so we decided to halt operations until the roads become less dangerous. Schools will be open as usual however. Only school buses will not run."

Despite the fact that business houses and residents kept fires burning high only one blaze of consequence had been reported in the area up to late last night. At Lorenzo a cafe was destroyed Sunday night by a fire of undetermined origin. Loss was estimated at $4,000. An understaffed volunteer fire department was unable to control the blaze in below freezing weather. The shortage of firefighters was blamed upon the fire whistle "freezing up and would not blow."

The cold front by 6:30 was south of San Antonio and Bryan. Forecasters said the norther was due to lose much of its punch by the time it reaches the Rio Grande valley citrus orchards and vegetable fields.

At Abilene, travelers marooned by the current ice on highways, had overflowed all hotels and tourist courts and the chamber of commerce was planning to set up an emergency housing bureau Thursday if the condition continues.

The norther, which rolled into the state early Sunday and slowly marched southwest, already had taken two lives.

The 10:30 p. m. Weather bureau report said that freezing rain was falling at that time at Waco, Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Junction, San Angelo, Abilene, Big Spring, Midland, Wink, Guadalupe Pass, Wichita Falls, Childress, Clarendon and Amarillo.

Freezing rain was predicted for north and west central east Texas and rain elsewhere Monday night and Tuesday. Minimums in north and west central are expected to be 15-28 Tuesday morning, except in the Red river valley, where the mercury will dip to 10-14. In the east central portion, 25-33 readings are expected.

Robert Boyce froze to death in Borger Sunday. Fred T. Stricklin, 30 of Lubbock was killed early Monday when his car skidded and overturned on icy pavement near Lubbock.

At the top of the state, the mercury tumbled to seven degrees and Highway Patrolman R. B. Finley at Amarillo told residents to "stay home unless there is an emergency."

South Plains Also Affected

A telephone survey conducted last night among South Plains towns by The Morning Avalanche showed that moisture from rain, sleet, and light snows which fell Sunday and Monday left moisture estimated at from one-eighth to one and one-half inches.

Heaviest estimated deposits of moisture were reported at Lockney, Crosbyton, Littlefield, Ralls, Lorenzo, Floydada, Tahoka, Sudan, Hale Center and Plainview, each with an estimated one and one-quarter inches of moisture or over.

Reporting a probable one inch or less were Spur, Dickens, Seminole, Post, Lamesa, Abernathy, Muleshoe, Brownfield, and Matador.

Monday's intermittent falls of light snow and sleet left deposits on the ground over the South Plains estimated variously at between one to two and one-half or more inches.

Little wind was reported over the area. Traffic was light almost to the point of being at a standstill. No traffic accidents or wrecks were reported anywhere in the area except at Levelland, where several minor wrecks had occurred, but with no injuries.

Schools in towns over the area were divided in declaring a holiday today because of weather conditions.

Spur and Dickens will have no school today. The Spur system was able to run only a part of its buses Monday. Dickens schools were in operation Monday morning, but dismissed that afternoon.

Seminole, Post and Lamesa schools plan to operate on schedule today unless weather conditions prevent. All the systems will try to maintain normal bus service, although roads in the three communities were reported as extremely slick.

Abernathy's school superintendent last night did not know definitely if that school would open its doors this morning. He explained that over half of the pupils there live in rural districts and that if buses could not make their usual rounds classes would not be held.

No school is scheduled today at Hale Center or Cotton Center, and in Plainview, school will be held for town students, but buses will not make their rounds.

It was not known last night if schools in Littlefield will open today, nor if buses will run in the event that classes are carried on. A spokesman there indicated that weather conditions this morning will determine whether school activities are to be scheduled for the day. At Muleshoe, schools will operate on schedule unless early morning weather today prohibits. Anton will have no school.

At Sudan, it was said last night that it was "very doubtful" that classes will meet today. Busses did not run there Monday and will not be in operation today.

Classes and school buses will operate on schedule today in the Morton schools.

Tahoka schools will conduct classes today, but school buses will not make their accustomed rounds, the superintendent there said. Schools will conduct classes today at Crosbyton, Ralls, and Lorenzo. School conveyances at Crosbyton and Lorenzo will not pick up students, however, and Ralls buses will make their rounds only if weather gets no worse.

Buses of the Lockney schools did not run Monday and probably will not be in operation today. School, however, is scheduled today unless weather is prohibitive.

Matador has suspended classes for today, although both classes and buses run according to schedule Monday.

Floydada schools will maintain normal schedules today, and buses are to make their regular rounds, a spokesman there said last night.

Dam Survey Report Sent To Governor

AMARILLO, Jan. 10. (Special)—A survey report on the proposed Canadian river dam project was mailed to Gov. Beauford Jester today.

The report was prepared by Burl C. Blanton. The survey was approved this morning at a meeting of members of the executive committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce and the natural resources committee. The report has for its purpose supplanting of data that will justify indefinite delay of the U. S. Army corps of Engineer's unfavorable report to Congress on building of a Canadian river dam.

Mayor L. W. Hagy of Amarillo sent a covering letter to Gov. Jester. The mayor described the corps' unfavorable report as not adequately representing the municipal, industrial and irrigation water values of the proposed dam to the Panhandle area. The Blanton report uses population and industrial curves to chart the growth of the region providing there is sufficient water.

Resolutions from both Lubbock and Amarillo, signed by their respective mayors, accompanied the report.

LUBBOCK OFFICIALS UNABLE TO ATTEND AMARILLO MEET

Mayor W. H. Rodgers and City Manager Marlin R. Smith, Jr., had planned to attend the conference in Amarillo Monday but were unable to do so because of inclement weather.

Additional study is expected to be given the report by Lubbock city officials before a definite stand or commitment is made, officials indicated last night.

WORLD PREMIERE CROWD—The lobby of Senior High school auditorium was well filled with Texas Tech students and Lubbock residents Monday night for the world premiere of "Futures Unlimited," moving picture depicting campus life and broad curriculum at Texas Tech. A half hour before show time the auditorium was more than half filled, a line had formed before the ticket window and before the entrances to the auditorium. Later a capacity crowd filled the auditorium. (Staff Photo).

of its coldest temperatures in years. Medford, Ore., recorded six below zero Monday, coldest since 1937. For the second straight day Portland had 16 degrees, coldest since 1943. At Austin, in the eastern part of the state, the mercury dipped to an icy 34 below zero.

A state of emergency was declared in tiny, snow-bound Gordon, Nebraska. No trains have reached the town of 2,000 for eight days and drifts block all roads. Dangerous shortages of baby food, canned milk and fuel oil were reported.

Ski-equipped planes were readied to contact stricken farm and ranch homes in the area.

In Utah, rescue parties fought drift-blocked roads to reach 20 hunters stranded at Hansel valley, 45 miles west of Tremonton.

Cold Blanket Settles

The cold wave in the upper plains and northern Rockies abated only slightly after West Yellowstone, Mont., had successive nights of 42 and 37 below zero. However, blizzard conditions were over in eastern Montana.

The bitter weather and heavy, drifted snow cover in the range area endangered thousands of cattle weakened by lack of forage and cold. There was no estimate as yet of the cattle loss in last week's blizzard.

of Brownfield Funeral home.

Expected to attend the services are dignitaries from Khiva Temple Shrine in Amarillo.

Had Minor Operation

May's death was tentatively attributed to a heart ailment by physcians. He had undergone minor surgery in the hospital Saturday and his condition had not been considered serious. The hospital reported that he was asleep when a nurse checked his room at midnight, and when she returned at 3 o'clock on another routine check he was dead.

A pioneer Terry county resident, May had been wholesale agent for an oil company here since about 1917, when he moved to this city from Lubbock. Born in Hope county, Arkansas Feb. 26, 1890, he moved to Lubbock in 1907, moving here 10 years later. He also had been engaged in stock raising and farming. He had recently completed 30 years of service as agent of the oil company here.

A thirty-third degree Mason, May was immediate past potentate of Khiva Temple of the Shrine at Amarillo. He was past master of Brownfield A.F.&A.M. lodge No. 903, was a member of the El Paso Consistory, and member of the Lubbock Commandery.

Serving his first term as Mayor here, May also was a past president of the Brownfield Rotary club, past president of the chamber of commerce, was a member of the Methodist church, and had long been active in civic and church affairs.

Mrs. May, who survives, is a daughter of the late M. B. Sawyer, widely known ranchman and pioneer Terry county resident. Other survivors are one son, Murphy May of Seagraves; five daughters, Mrs. Rebecca Ballard, Mrs. Bruce Zorns and Mrs. W. A. Redford, all of Brownfield; Mrs. Dyer Oakley of Colorado City, and Mrs. Ben Monnette of Pampa.

Five sisters, Mrs. W. B. Downing of Brownfield, Mrs. J. Boyce Cardwell and Mrs. Walter Royalty of Lubbock, Mrs. I. C. Burgess of Russellville, Ark., and Mrs. Elbert Wright of Dimmitt; two brothers, Robert May of Maysville, Okla., and Arthur May of Carlsbad; and five grandchildren.

However, his official spokesman denied persistent reports from reliable sources that Chiang would go to Formosa whence he is believed to have ordered most of his government ministries.

Mediation Claimed Sought

Many high Nationalists believe that if Chiang carries out his plans to leave Nanking, it will clear the way for peace parleys.

They think the Reds—who have previously ridiculed Nationalist peace overtures—will be ready to come to terms if Chiang leaves the government in the hands of someone else, such as Vice President Li Tsung-Jen.

Tech Film Premiered

find at Texas Tech, both in social activities and in each of the college's five divisions.

The educational information given to the audience by the film was cleverly interspersed with lighter scenes of sports, dances and social club presentations, all of which, combined, held the crowd's attention to the screen throughout the showing. Exceptionally deserving of favorable comment are Oleta Stewart of Lubbock, writer of the manuscript; Betty Denison of Lubbock and Clint Formby of McAdoo, narrators; and W. O. (Dub) Boswell of Sweetwater, student director, whose untiring efforts are largely responsible for the entire project.

Band Opens Program

The principal speaker, Trent C. Root, formerly of Tech and now assistant to the president at Southern Methodist university, kept the audience laughing with cleverly-phrased remarks about student life at the college. In his more serious moments, which were few, he emphasized the value that participating students have gained from the making of the movie. He was introduced by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of Tech.

The Matador band, directed by Professor D. O. Wiley, opened the premiere program with a series of numbers, including the lively "New Colonial March" and the "Orange Bowl March."

Recordings by this same band furnished the impressive background music heard during the film. "The Four Techsons," who gave applause-provoking renditions of "Green River," "I Won't Kiss Kate," and "The Animals," were well above criticism. In the quartet were Charles Nolan of Pampa, first tenor; Gene Alford of Tulia, second tenor; Jim Holmes of Amarillo, bass; and Robert Weisz of Amarillo, baritone.

News Briefs

Funeral services for L. B. Watson, about 70, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack early Sunday in his 2117 Thirteenth street residence, were conducted at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in First Baptist church, with Dr. J. R. The Lubbock Memorial hospital alumni association has announced postponement of a buffet dinner which was planned for tonight. The banquet will be conducted Tuesday, Jan. 18, instead, it was said. Inclement weather was given as cause for the postponement.

New Budget Hits Peacetime High

budget "the most practical that could be presented at this time." Cannon will head the House Appropriations committee where spending bills originate.

The committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Taber of New York observed "they've evidently given everything they asked for." He said it would be cut down.

The President outlined the government's financial prospects to a Congress which had gasped at advance reports the budget would hit a new peacetime peak.

It is $1,678,000,000 over the previous spending record set this year. It is $873,000,000 bigger than the government's prospective income of $40,985,000,000 in the year ahead. It figures out to $282.82 apiece for every American.

To Show Increase

Yet it doesn't even take into account plans for providing military supplies for western Europe and "certain other" unnamed countries. Mr. Truman said he would ask for money for that "later."

He said, too that:

"It must be recognized that expenditures in the fiscal year 1951 are likely to be larger than those for 1950. Expenditures for national defense can be expected to rise substantially above the level estimated for 1950.

"We cannot expect any material decline in our international responsibilities.

". . . even higher expenditures will probably be required in future years."

More Taxes Asked

So for the third time in a week he hammered hard for $4,000,000,000 more a year in taxes. He said last Wednesday most of it should come from corporations and people in the middle and higher income brackets.

He suggested an additional $2,000,000,000 in payroll taxes, on business and individuals, to finance his program of new or bigger social security benefits.

For one thing, he said, he wants the present 1 per cent rate on workers and their employers boosted to 1½ per cent each next July 1. This is six months ahead of the schedule Congress set.

By the same date he wants "nearly" all the 25,000,000 gainfully employed persons not now covered" brought into the old age insurance system. They would pay taxes, too.

He wants insurance for people temporarily or permanently disabled, apparently with those covered chipping in on the cost.

Budget Said Sound

And he wants a higher ceiling on the income taxed for social security. Now only the first $3,000 of a person's income is taxed. There has been talk of hoisting the limit to $4,500.

All these changes, Mr. Truman estimated, would bring $1,700,000,000 into the federal till.

In addition, he is counting on raising an additional $260,000,000 for a new health insurance program with a payroll tax of 1/4 of 1 per cent each on companies and workers. But only $15,000,000 of that would be spent the first year.

Social security taxes and payments are excluded from the budget because they are handled through trust funds. The government acts as banker, collecting the money and paying it out in benefits.

All in all, Mr. Truman said, the budget reflects a policy of "financial prudence." He considers it a tight budget to meet "minimum requirements."

Housing Included

He said it contains "essential economic and social programs which should no longer be delayed." He included, for instance, $290,000,000 for aid to education, $160,000,000 for slum clearance and farm and low-rent housing, $13,500,000 to fight inflation.

There is $1,000,000 to pay for surveying the need for schoolbuildings and studying ways of providing more chances for young people to get college educations.

But, Mr. Truman emphasized, the budget is "dominated" by defense programs at home and abroad. It is large, he said, because this country's reponsibilities are large.

Defense Budget Up

"This nation is today," he said, "the strongest bulwark of freedom in the world. The decision we make concerning our national finances must be based on a sober understanding of this fact."

So it is that the budget for national defense goes up to $14,300,000,000, an increase of $2,500,000,000 over this year.

For international affairs and finance, the budget includes $6,700,000,000 against $7,200,000,000 this year. Most of the money $4,500,000,000 — will be used for "economic support" of western European nations.

The domestic defense program for 1950, Mr. Truman said, gives priority to air power and to strengthening civilian reserves. He said it emphasizes research and development and industrial mobilization.

UMT Is Pushed

There is $600,000,000 for universal military training — something Congress has refused to go for in the past.

There is $525,000,000, an increase of $175,000,000 for stockpiling scarce and strategic materials. By the end of the year, supplies worth $1,600,000,000 are expected to be on hand.

He urged legislation for conservation and planned use of "the oil reserves under the sea which are vested in the federal government."

Boosts Atomic Energy

He asked for a $150,000,000 "contingency" fund for himself. Out of it he plans to spend $1,000,000 for a study to determine whether the government should build more steel plants.

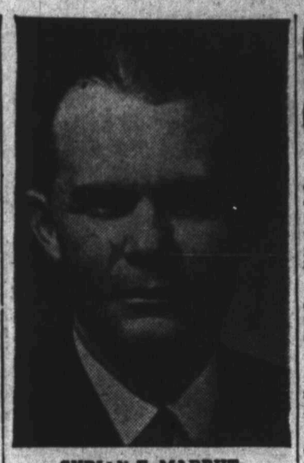

Mr. Truman put in $725,000,000 for atomic energy, a $93,000,000 hike.

Mr. Truman evidently thinks he is a cinch to get some of the things he is asking from Congress—like a $250,000,000 boost in postal rates. Most of this would come from second class mail, largely newspapers and magazines.

Construction Cut

He lists some cuts, as in the veterans' hospital construction program. He said 24 such projects are being cancelled, and the expansion of 14 hospitals called off, to prevent a "serious overbuilding."

But there was good news for veterans—they are supposed to get their first dividend of around $2,000,000,000 on their national service life insurance.

the mother, Mrs. E. F. Stricklin of Paris; two sisters, Mrs. G. S. Henderson of Lubbock and Mrs. J. H. Reddell of Paris; and three brothers, Lewis, Jack and Donald, all of Paris.

Car Is Overturned

Mrs. Thompson was killed about 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning when the car in which she was riding left Highway 60 and overturned about three miles west of Melrose, N. M. She was returning from Fort Sumner at the time of the accident, it was reported.

With her at the time of the mishap were her husband, who was driving the car, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morton, also of Sudan. Thompson and Mrs. Morton were released from a Clovis hospital after treatment of minor injuries, but Mr. Morton remained in the hospital Monday night with a broken neck. Hospital attendants reported his condition as "fair."

Funeral services for Mrs. Thompson will be conducted at 2 p. m. Wednesday in First Methodist church of Sudan, with burial in Sudan cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral home there.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Lloyd, Steven and Dale, all of the home; two daughters, Jackie and Linda Thompson, both of the home; two sisters, a Mrs. Kidwell of Dumas, and Mrs. Pete Thompson, Sudan; and her mother and brother in Arkansas.

Charles Jacobson, about 24, of 1808 Sixth, was admitted Monday morning to Lubbock Memorial hospital for injuries suffered in an auto accident at about 8:45 p.m. Sunday two miles north of Slaton.

Jacobson's injuries were reported as a fractured right knee, lacer[illegible] of the lower lip, contus[illegible] of both jaws and numer[illegible] bruises.

Jacobson, who told an investigating highway patrolman that he had been staying at a Slaton route 2 address, was driving southeast toward Slaton when his 1941 Chrysler smashed into the rear of a Dodge belonging to George Roberts, 46, a negro, whose address was not known last night.

Willie Mae Roberts, whose relation to Roberts was not ascertained, was treated at a Slaton hospital for minor injuries and released.

The Roberts car was believed to have been stopped on the highway due to trouble of some sort, Jacobson told the highway patrolman. The negro had not been questioned.

Before highway patrolmen were notified of the accident, another car had been damaged at the spot about 10:15 p.m. R. W. Bowman, jr., was coming toward Lubbock when he ran suddenly upon the scene of the accident. In attempting to avoid the already damaged cars, his 1941 Chevrolet club coupe left the highway and overturned. Although the top of the vehicle was caved in, Bowman received no serious injuries.

Mary Jeanne Naugle, 19, identified by police patrolmen as a Texas Tech student from Dallas, suffered a cut chin and shock when a car in which she was a passenger struck a parked car [illegible] early Sunday.

[illegible] was with Thomas Dwight [illegible], a Tech student from [illegible] when Perkins' car hit [illegible] owned by Ralph Cocanougher, 28, of Lubbock, police said. Perkins was charged with negligent collision.

Mrs. Mae Cowdrey of 2509 Ruby said she was standing on the running board of her car about 8:08 a.m., at Eighth and College, when another motorist rammed the rear of her machine. She said she was hurled to the snowy pavement. Her lip was cut, her glasses broken.

Name Given Police

She gave police the name of a man who, she said, refused to wait for investigators to arrive and get information.

Mrs. Katie Ellen McMullen, 36, of Forty-eighth and Ave. H, suffered what police said was a "possible fractured nose" when her car and one driven by Jimmy Scott of 1101 Sixteenth were in collision Monday morning at Twenty-fifth and Ave. V. She declined to go to a hospital, police said. She was charged with negligent collision and defective brakes. Scott with having no operator's license on his person, police reports said.

Between midnight Sunday night and 11 p.m. Monday, police records showed that 19 accidents which occasioned no personal injuries had been reported to them and investigated by the department. At one time, 16 calls "in a row" which came to the station were to report collisions, they pointed out.

Two persons suffered minor injuries early this morning when the 1940 light model car in which they were riding struck a parked truck in the 2300 block of Ave. H. Investigating patrolmen said the car was traveling north of Ave. H at the time of the accident.

Joy Johnson, 18, 1212 Ave. O suffered a severe cut on the face and Joe Kelly, 26, of Hugo, Okla., suffered lacerations on the forehead. Jack Hill, about 29, of Lubbock, driver of the car, escaped unhurt.

Crime Drops As Cold Grips City

Disturbances and other breaches of the law were at a minimum over the weekend and Monday, law enforcement officers said, with rain, snow and sleet keeping the majority of citizens home by the fire.

They spent more of their weekend investigating older offenses than they did those reported Saturday and Sunday.

Nothing was taken in a breaking and entering of Brown's Drug store, in the Queen City residential addition.

But a .38 caliber pistol was taken from Ira Smith, by a burglar who forced his way into apartment 24 of Davis apartments, investigators of the Brown Drug store case found.

Several theft cases were reported.

A $15 new battery was stolen from the car of Rodney Eggleston of 2410 Fourteenth. The machine was at North College and North First at the time.

Three Littlefield men, 29, 27, and 26, were fined for theft under $5 after they arrested on informal complaints that they had driven away from a drive-in restaurant without returning a tray and dishes that had contained food they'd ordered. The assessments were in corporation court.

A Lubbock youth who outran the police after being detected when allegedly attempting to remove a horse ornament from the hood of a heavy automobile was "arrested" by his mother and taken to the police station. He was released to her pending further investigation. All legs were broken, but the ornament resisted efforts of removal, a police report said.

An 18-year-old negro was held for investigation of theft of a shirt, which later was found by its unidentified owner at a tailor shop, police said. He subsequently was released, police said, after the owner of the shirt declined to prosecute.

Cars Recovered

Two automobiles were marked recovered. That of Jack Ramsey, a Texas Tech student, was found abandoned on the campus. It had been missing three days. One owned by George Burnett was recovered by the owner at Post, four days after it had been reported stolen.

The sheriff's department said it had been informed by Abernathy city officials that a man had been taken off a Lubbock-bound bus early Sunday and charged with drunkenness. It had been planned to charge him with a more serious offense, the city marshal there said, but a Roff, Okla., man who allegedly had been assaulted with a knife said he did not wish to appear as a witness against the defendant. There were several witnesses to the disturbance, T. T. Perry, bus driver, told officials. The two principals were believed traveling together. The offense happened in Hale county, officials said.

County Attorney Waggoner Carr said County Judge Walter Davies had signed two judgments, each assessing a fine of $75 and court costs in drunk driving complaints naming C. R. Cox, 32, of Anderson, S. C., and C. W. Pickens, 41, of Lubbock. Each man pleaded guilty, Carr said.

In addition, Judge Davies suspended the driver's license of each man for six months, as is required by law.

Robert D. Stokes entered a plea of guilty to check law violation and was fined $1 and court costs, Carr's office announced.

Ernest Emitt Taylor, 43, of Waco, was arrested by members of the sheriff's department last night and jailed on a charge of threat to kill. The complaint, sworn to by his wife on Jan. 5, was filed in the court of Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn.

U. S. REDS FACE POSSIBLE TERMS

12 Communists To Stand Trial After Losing 'Prejudice' Plea

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Supreme court ruled today that 12 top Communist party officials must stand trial for conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. government by violence.

The court rejected the plea of party chairman William Z. Foster and other Communists that the New York federal grand jury which indicted them was discriminatory. The trial is to begin next Monday.

In two other rulings, the court held that under the Taft-Hartley act employers need not bargain with foremen's unions and refused to restore California's "hot cargo and secondary boycott" law.

Decision Upheld

The California law, banning certain types of sympathy strikes and boycotts, was held unconstitutional by the state's courts. The Supreme court said there were sufficient "non-federal grounds" to uphold the decision.

The Communists, facing up to ten years in prison and $10,000 fine each under the Smith act, contended that the poor, and racial and political minorities, are in effect excluded from federal grand juries.

They asked, in a petition filed only last Friday, that the Supreme tribunal void the indictments, "quash" the federal grand jury panel for the southern district of New York, and issue an order against further proceedings against them.

The court speedily refused to hear the plea. It also rejected the Communist contention that the trial judge who is to hear the case, U. S. District Judge Harold R. Medina of New York, is personally prejudiced.

Comment Is Cited

The petition cited a remark in which Judge Medina, told that the Communists did not advocate overthrowing the government by force, replied:

"No, they want to wait until they get everything set and then the act (of violence) will come."

Judge Medina, in refusing to disqualify himself, countered that this was a "purely legal argument."

All of today's rulings were procedural decisions rather than formal opinions.

In effect, however, the court upheld constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley clause stating that employers are not required to bargain with "supervisory employes."

The high court refused to review a lower court ruling that the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company of Philadelphia need not bargain with the Independent Foremen's association of America.

The foremen's association contended that the provision deprives it of constitutional rights "without due process of law."

Franco Holds Out Olive Branch To Jewish Group Exiled In 1492

MADRID, Jan. 10. (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today held out the olive branch to descendants of Spanish Jews exiled in 1492.

A decree permitting Sephardic Jews in Greece and Egypt to return to Spain has been published in the official government journal.

Sephardic Jews, numbering about 100,000 were expelled by King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella when they refused to recant their faith. They settled mostly in Egypt and Greece and were under Spanish protection through an agreement in 1837 with the old Ottoman empire. Subsequent agreements with Greece and Egypt expired this year.

The government has authorized a Jewish synagogue to function in Spain for the first time since the civil war. It is on the same footing as Protestant churches in predominatly Roman Catholic Spain. It cannot have anything on the building marking it as a place of worship and public ceremonies in the open air are forbidden.

The congregation consists of 1,000 foreign Jews in Madrid. The Jewish population of Spain is estimated at 6,000.

G. Bird, of Bunway, England, has started a be-kind-to-birds campaign.

Conflicting Reports Confuse Details In Czech Arrest Of GIs

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 10. (AP)—Two American soldiers have been prisoners of Czechoslovak police for more than a month, the U. S. Army disclosed tonight.

Efforts are being made to have them released, it was learned unofficially.

U. S. Army officials identified the GIs as:

Recruit Clarence R. Hill, 31, whose wife, Mrs. Mabel Hill, lives at Pampa; and Recruit George R. Jones, 22, whose mother, Mrs. Susan Jones, lives at Owensboro, Ky.

An official Army statement said the two GIs were "absent without leave" from their posts on Dec. 1, 1948.

Twelve days later, the Army said, German border police at Furth Im Wald, on the border of Czechoslovakia and the U. S. zone, were called by a Czech border police sergeant.

The Czech, the Army statement said, announced that "Czech police were detaining the two enlisted men at the city jail at Domazlice, Czechoslovakia, as they assertedly crossed the border by walking along railroad tracks on Dec. 10 or 11."

Conflicting with this story, however, was another report which Army agents received from German border police on Dec. 14.

On that date, the Army said, Police Chief Goertfz at Furth Im Wald reported he had been informed by Czech police at Kubitz that the two Americans "were being detained in the office of the director of public safety in Pilsen."

Czech authorities on this date were said to have alleged that the GIs had been arrested while visiting hotels in Czechoslovakia "accompanied by German girls," on Dec. 8 and 9.

The Army said it knew no more about the soldiers' disappearance.

DELL CITY, Texas, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Agricultural land totaling 350 acres has been given by landowners on this year-old irrigation project for the start of a non-denominational farm to be patterned on Boys Town.

Wayne Chandler of San Angelo, C. W. Voyles of Austin and R. L. Merrill of El Paso made the gift to Father John Kehoe of El Paso, secretary to Bishop S. M. Metzger of El Paso.

Land for the farm will be selected Thursday by Father Kehoe in conjunction with soil conservation authorities and the El Paso firm of E. L. Stone and Spencer Treharne, who are active in development of the irrigation farms, located 90 miles east of El Paso and 50 miles from the nearest farm land.

Pink Bollworm Seen As Major Menace

FORT WORTH, Jan. 10. (AP) — The pink bollworm was described to 200 cotton ginners here today as the worst, potential enemy of Texas' cotton crop.

L. F. Curl, in charge of pink bollworm control in Texas, told members of the Texas Cooperative Ginners association that pink bollworms can wipe out complete fields of cotton if allowed in the crop.

He told the ginners that pink bollworms can be controlled and said that when an area is quarantined that there is a chance that quarantines will be lifted if control is achieved.

Ginners in 1949 will again be forced with additional work in treatment of cotton in pink bollworm infested areas, Curl said.

Curl said there would be little change in regulations affecting cotton grown in infested areas in the coming year.

Otis T. Weaver of the Farm Credit administration in Washington, also spoke at the afternoon session. He said Texas cooperative gin organizations have served as a pattern for similar organizations in Arkansas.

Walter Hammond of Tye, who spoke Monday morning, said that considerable legislation is needed in 1949 to help Texas agriculture.

No legislative action should be taken which might lower farm prices, Hammond said, if the nations is to remain prosperous.

Clifton Kirkpatrick of Memphis, Tenn., representing the National Cotton council, told the ginners how the cotton industry is attacking its problem by organization in the council.

Colombia's principal steamship company operating on the Magdalena River is to be dissolved by its stockholders, with Dr. Eduardo Arbelaez as liquidator, but service will be maintained for the present at least.

Good Telephone Service Depends on Good Earnings

As we start a new year, we look forward to the job ahead. We want to give continued good telephone service. We'd like to be able to supply all the service everyone needs—the kind of service everyone wants, when he wants it.

But as we start 1949 that's still an uphill battle.

During 1948 the demand for telephones in the Southwest required us to install service at much higher costs, for 550,000 persons.

The demand has continued, and some 185,000 persons in both rural and urban areas are still without the service they ordered. Most of them, however, ordered it during 1948.

The company has the obligation to get service to those who want it, and as soon as it can. Telephone service is worth more to everyone if everyone has service.

After we catch up with the demand for service, there is another big job to do—furnishing the higher grades of service that people want. That will take additional large amounts of new plant.

Long Distance

To get Long Distance service back nearer its prewar speed, we were able last year to add 200,000 miles of circuits. This provided more than 1,000 new voice channels between towns. It is good progress, though much remains to be done.

And after all these things are done, we must add enough additional facilities so that anyone, any time, anywhere can get the service he wants, and calls can go through surely and promptly.

Today earnings on each dollar invested in the business are less than in the worst years of the depression. Of course new telephones bring new revenue; but the revenue per telephone is lower while expenses per telephone are sharply up. And the investment per telephone is also up sharply.

$350 per Telephone

Now every telephone added takes new plant which costs $350. Back in 1940 the investment per telephone was $237.

Construction costs alone for new plant last year were 165 million dollars. We need to spend almost that much—151 million—this year to provide the service that people want and need. The total for construction in the four postwar years will be over 500 million dollars: 500 million dollars for extending and improving telephone service.

It takes a lot of money to build the plant to provide continuing good telephone service. This money does not come from what you pay for telephone service. It is the savings of many thousands of persons. Some of their savings buy telephone stock. Some of their savings go to insurance companies and savings banks, which in turn put the money in the telephone business.

To go forward, telephone service needs a steady supply of such money. Will people be willing to furnish it? Yes—if they see that the business they are about to invest in has the prospect of reasonable earnings.

No matter how you look at it, continued good telephone service depends on good telephone earnings.

Five Persons Dead In West Coast Crash

JULIAN, Calif., Jan. 10. (INS)—Deputies under the direction of San Diego County Sheriff Bert Strand were expected to arrive late today at the scene of a plane crash which yesterday took the lives of five persons.

The attempt to recover the bodies was hampered by eight-foot snowdrifts and a report from the party said that it was still snowing on Vulcan mountain, the site of the fatal crash.

The twin-engined Cessna plowed into the mountain's slope two and a half miles northeast of Julian when it was caught in a snow storm while en route from Palm Springs to San Diego.

Those killed were Charles Miller, operator of a dial and nameplate company in Los Angeles, and his wife, Lorraine; Merald B. Baer of Inglewood, sales manager for Miller's company, and Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Laberge of San Diego.

Madeline, Baer's wife, survived the crash but was reported in critical condition in community hospital in Escondido, where she was taken. Relatives who arrived at the hospital today identified her.

Indian Prince Orders Divorce Application

GSTAAD, Switzerland, Jan. 10. (AP)—Indian Prince Aly Khan has ordered his Paris lawyers to draw up a divorce application to free him from his English wife, Princess Joan, and presumably pave the way for his marriage to movie star Rita Hayworth, a source close to the prince said today.

The source said the application has been awaiting the playboy's signature for two months in a Paris law office.

The globe-girdling romance of the curvaceous dancing star and the son of the fabulous Aga Khan has taken them to this Swiss ski resort, where Miss Hayworth emphatically denied a London newspaper report that she preferred a movie career in Europe to continuance of her film work in the United States.

BRITISH PAPER TO PLACE BAN ON MOVES OF COUPLE

LONDON, Jan. 10. (AP)—An influential British newspaper pledged today not to report further the global romance of film star Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly Khan on grounds that "this affair is an insult to all decent women."

The pledge was made by the newspaper The People, circulation 5,000,000, which joined the Sunday Pictorial, circulation 4,000,000, in a sweeping denunciation of the romance.

CANNED BREAD USED

LONDON —(AP)— The British navy, hunting an alternative to the traditional "hard tack," is canning bread for use aboard ships. "Exhaustive research" is being conducted in navy stations to find "the safe life of bread in a sealed can," the Admiralty announced. If the tests are satisfactory, the canned bread will be stored aboard smaller ships which have no baker.

Report Dallas Orchestra in Dire Straits Heatedly Denied

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Dallas symphony orchestra officials today heatedly denied a report carried by a wire service (not The Associated Press) that the orchestra is in financial difficulties, may shorten its season and reorganize next year as a smaller unit.

"This report is so untrue, so distorted, so unrelated to facts that it almost smacks of malice," John Rosenfield of The Dallas Morning News quoted Antal Dorati, conductor.

Stanley Marcus, president of the Dallas symphony society, said "this report is misleading, unfair and damaging and I don't know on what basis it is printed except on a breach of confidence of some proposals made in executive session of the executive committee and the board. No orchestra with more than $110,000 maintenance fund to continue the season could be called in 'dire straits.' In fact, I will match the financial condition of the Dallas symphony orchestra with that of any other symphony orchestra in the United States.

"It is no secret that the Dallas symphony orchestra is in the midst of a money raising campaign. This has been widely publicized. It cannot be called an emergency campaign.

"It is true that we want and need money—so does every other orchestra in the United States."

Marcus said that it has been "the sense of all recent meetings to maintain the 1949-1950 orchestra on a level comparable with the present.

Power Bureau Would Get Aid

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Truman recommended expenditures for several major Texas construction projects in his budget message to Congress today.

One of the most controversial projects which he requested was extension of power lines for the Southwestern Power bureau. This project has been fought bitterly in recent years.

Truman recommended a $9,800,000 program for the bureau, which operates in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana and parts of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Texas Projects Listed

Under the President's recommendations for the coming fiscal year, $525,000 would be for operation and maintenance and $3,475,000 for construction for the agency. In addition, he asked that the agency be given $5,800,000 in contractual authorization for work in future years.

Reclamation, rivers, harbors, waterways, flood control and navigation requests included, for Texas:

Belton reservoir $2,000,000; Benbrook reservoir $4,000,000; Brady reservoir $1,320,000; Garza-Little Elm reservoir $3,000,000; Grapevine reservoir $4,000,000; Lavon reservoir $3,500,000; San Angelo reservoir and floodway $4,800,000; Texarkana reservoir $6,000,000; Whitney reservoir $14,000,000; Red river levees and bank stabilization below Denison dam $700,000.

Also, Galveston harbor $200,000, Houston ship channel $1,000,000, Gulf Intracoastal waterway between Apalachee Bay, Fla., and the Mexican border (Galveston district) $700,000, Sabine-Neches waterway $1,000,000, Trinity river channel to Liberty $1,000,000.

Other projects in the southwest included the following reclamation projects: Tucumcari, N. M., $685,000, Rio Grande (New Mexico and Texas) $20,000, and W. C. Austin project, Oklahoma, $300,000.

The President also recommended $81,713 in expenditures for the Big Bend park in West Texas.

Mr. Truman also recommended that $10,000,000 be expended on the synthetic liquid fuels program next fiscal year, and asked for $69,000 for oil and gas investigations.

Planning Commission To Meet Tonight

Naming Of Streets To Be Studied Here

A meeting for purpose of working out a standard system of naming streets in sub-divisions as they are brought into the city limits of Lubbock will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the commissioners' room at the City hall.

The meeting will be open to anyone who has ideas along the line of "a good standard method of naming streets," said K. N. Clapp, chairman of the City Planning commission.

Those expected to attend the meeting include Mayor W. H. Rodgers; Robert E. Miller, engineer who has been asked by county commissioners to prepare an estimate on cost of naming streets and numbering houses in areas outside city limits in which postal delivery is contemplated in the near future; R. L. Oldham, city engineer and an ex-officio members of the City Planning commission; W. H. Evans; E. F. St. Clair, jr.; G. C. (Mule) Dowell; W. G. McMillan, Homer Maxey; possibly Marlin R. Smith, jr., city manager, and Chas. A. Guy and Clapp of the City Planning commission.

Clapp said that suggestions will be needed on a standard set-up. "We want to get some ideas on how to go about it," he said.

Approval has been given by the first assistant postmaster general in Washington, D. C., for mounted postal service in several outlying areas and residents of those areas will need addresses by street names and house numbers when the service goes into effect, expected to be about Feb. 1. Approval is being awaited from the fourth assistant postmaster general for light trucks for use in deliveries, said Postmaster Amos H. Howard.

Areas for which such deliveries have been approved are Clayton Carter addition, Carter-Coffee development, Flake subdivision. Edwards and Moore tracts, Simpson tracts, Whitehead subdivision, Morrow subdivision, Putty tracts, Stratton subdivision, Butler Estates and Suburban Homes development. Approximately 923 families have been estimated by Postmaster Howard to live in those areas.

Should a standard plan be adopted by the City Planning commission, it likely would be put into immediate use in naming of streets and numbering of houses in those areas. Miller has expressed desire for suggestions from the planning commission before preparing the estimate he has been asked to submit to county commissioners.

RED PAPER BRAGS

First Plane Was 'Flown By Russian'

MOSCOW, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A Communist youth newspaper claims it was a Russian, and not the American Wright brothers, who flew the world's first power-driven heavier - than - air machine.

Komsomol Pravda said that in July, 1882, a monoplane powered by three steam engines was designed by A. F. Mozhaisky and was successfully flown by a pilot named Golubev. The account said the Russians beat Orville and Wilbur Wright by 21 years. The plane was described as an amphibian.

(The Russians previously have claimed credit for inventing the radio, the incandescent electric light and numerous other items usually attributed to western scientists.

Knights Of Pythias To Hold Installation

Lubbock Lodge No. 486 of Knights of Pythias will conduct its annual installation of officers tonight at 7:30 at the lodge hall, it was announced by Thomas O. Moore, retiring Chancellor Commander.

Bob Porter will be installed as Chancellor Commander, Frank French as Vice-chancellor Commander, Ernest O. Stewart as prelate, Dewie Flannigan as Master of Arms, Wade Gilliam as Inner Guard, and Less Crews as Outer Guard.

Refreshments during the evening are planned, and all members are invited to be present.

$61,500 Damage Suit Filed Here

A $61,500 damages action growing out of an alleged gasoline explosion and serious burning of a Hockley county boy May 3 in Levelland was filed Monday afternoon in the 72nd district court of Lubbock county.

It, styled O. J. Rhodes, as next friend for Marvin Merrell Maples, a minor, and Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Rhodes, in their individual right, plaintiff, against J. R. Fanning, defendant, was removed from the 72nd district court of Hockley county Jan. 4, after a plea of privilege hearing brought by defendant Fanning.

Judge Signs Order

The removal order was signed by Judge Dan Blair, who presides over the 72nd district courts of both Hockley and Lubbock counties. The plaintiffs, all of Hockley county, are the step-father of the minor, the minor and the boy's mother. Fanning, a contractor, lives in Lubbock.

The petition said that the minor, 7, was injured when he picked up a match from the ground and struck it near a barrel of gasoline which had been left on West Houston street in connection with Fanning's repair of the street under contract with the City of Levelland. Leaving the barrel there constituted an "attractive nuisance," the petition, filed by the Dallas law firm of Caldwell, Baker and Jordan, said.

Fanning is represented by the Lubbock law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree, Milam and Crenshaw, which filed the plea of privilege motion.

The suit asks actual damages of $25,000 for the minor, $36,500 for Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes.

Financial Firms To Name Officers Today

Stockholders of Lubbock's financial institutions, the four banks and the First Federal Savings and Loan association, will hold their annual meeting today.

Election of officers and directors will feature the meetings. One or two changes and additions to banks' officers and directors are to be made, it has been learned unofficially.

FIREMEN DODGE EVICTION

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina—(AP)—The ban on evictions came just in time to save the fire department. Congress recently extended all rent contracts for 18 months and halted all eviction proceedings. The firemen were under court notice to get out of their rented firehouse within 60 days—taking the fire engine with them.

Pre-Registration Of Tech Students Begins

Next semester's pre-registration for students now in school at Texas Technological college started Monday morning and will contiue until Saturday at noon, and that for new students will begin Jan. 31 and continue through Feb. 1, 2 and 3, the three days of registration and scheduling of classes, Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, has announced.

Students are now filling out "permit to register" cards, and other forms necessary to registration will be mailed to them within 10 days. Those students now in school who not pre-register before Saturday noon will be required to wait and fill out the permit cards with new students on Jan. 31, Miss Clewell said, adding that this would delay the hour that they will be assigned for registration.

Dormitories will be open to registrants on Jan. 31, and classes for the second semester begin at 8 a. m. Feb. 4. Miss Clewell said that fewer students were expected in the spring semester, estimating that 5,600 or 5,700 will register. The total figure for the fall semester was 6,145.

Terry, Scurry County Oil Tests Hold Interest On South Plains

News of oil developments in a number of area counties, including Terry and Scurry counties, held interest over the South Plains Monday.

Perforations were shot into the pipe opposite the Strawn lime formation of the Pennsylvanian of north-central Scurry county at Placid Oil Co., No. 1 Davis, wildcat six miles north and a little east of Snyder.

Production possibilities in the Ellenburger at this prospector were drowned out by water, and operator has plugged back into the Strawn. Total depth was at 7,905 feet.

Tubing Is In

The project has now perforated at 7,385-7,405 feet and has run tubing. Packer is at 7,335 feet. On last report, preparations were being made to acidize through those perforations.

This development is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 387, block 97, H&TC survey.

Seaboard Oil Co., of Delaware No. 1 Hinson, prospective discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime, in northeast Terry county, 10 miles northeast of Brownfield and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey, was preparing to again try to eliminate bottom water from the pay horizon.

This project had flowed 135 barrels of fluid in 12 hours through a three-quarter inch tubing choke, from the open hole at 9,400-58 feet. The flow started after the well had been shut in for 12 hours while fishing out a lost swab.

After that instrument had been recovered the swab was pulled one time and the flow started. It was necessary to pull the swab two times during the 12 hours of flowing.

The fluid which was recovered was cut from seven per cent to 40 per cent basic sediment and water. There was a vacuum on the casing and the tubing pressure ranged from zero to 50 pounds.

Flowing will be discontinued while efforts are being made to plug off the water, so the project can have a chance to show what it will do in the way of producing straight oil.

Drilling Continues

Drilling was continuing at Sun Oil Co., and the Ohio Oil Co., No. 1 Helms, northeast Scurry county wildcat 20 miles northeast of Snyder and 660 feet from south and

EX-NAZI LEADS REICH MOVE

German Nationalist Underground Organizes Strength For Revival

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Jan. 10—Gen. Lucius D. Clay warned today that German nationalist groups driven underground after the defeat of the Nazis are re-emerging in western Germany.

The warning was given in the American military governor's monthly report on occupation affairs which also emphasized Communist setbacks in Berlin and western Germany.

Gen. Clay pointed out that the nationalist groups still are small, but that German democratic leaders are concerned lest they expand rapidly in the future as did the Nazi party after 1929.

Ex-Nazi Organizes

One of the movements worrying Democratic leaders is the revived "black front" which is being operated under the name of the "League For German Revival" by former Nazi leader Otto Strasser.

Strasser, expelled from the Nazi party in 1930, later went into exile and formed a rightist radical movement of his own.

Now living in Canada, Strasser is reported planning to return to Germany soon. His brother Gregor, once the number two Nazi in Germany, was executed in Hitler's purge of 1934.

Another similar movement is directed by the anti-labor "national democratic party," which is demanding restoration of Germany's pre-war boundaries.

General Confirms Report

Gen. Clay, in reporting on the Communist failure to win strength in western Germany, confirmed the exclusive statement given to International News Service yesterday by Dr. E. H. Litchfield, head of the civil administration branch of the military government.

The military governor said "it appears that the spearhead used by the Soviets to extend Communist influence has been blunted."

He said the recent Berlin elections showed that the Communists "lost almost half their votes, a clear indication of the unpopularity of Soviet policy as applied in eastern Germany and Berlin."

He said the elections in western Berlin "assumed the nature of a plebiscite against totalitarianism based on a police state, in favor of western democracy."

Gen. Clay also reported that efforts of Soviet-sponsored trade unions to exploit unrest in Berlin and western Germany proved unsuccessful.

Hong Kong, China, has shipped 2,776,00 pounds of feathers to America in eight months of this year.

Rescuers Find Three Dead In Plane Crash

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A ground party reached the still smoldering wreckage of an Air Force C-47 in the Cascade mountains today and reported that the three crewmen apparently were killed outright.

The plane, en route from Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., to McChord, crashed last Thursday night near the top of a heavily-forested ridge 30 miles west of Mount Ranier.

The 11-man rescue group reached the shattered transport after a six-hour trek in below zero weather from Mineral, Wash., five miles away. Sheer rock faces and seven feet of snow hampered their progress.

Leaders of the party radioed here that removal of three bodies was started at once.

There will be no official identification of the bodies until they are brought to this base.

Maxwell field reported earlier, however, that those aboard the twin-engined craft were Lt. Col. William McWhorter, Decatur, Ga.; Lt. Neil McCarty, Aransas Pass, Texas; and M/Sgt. W. L. Page, Toney, Ala.

Wreckage of the C-47, which vanished near the end of the flight's last leg from Ogden, Utah, was sighted from a helicopter yesterday.

GOP, Demos Join To 'Outlaw' Filibusters

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The administration moved today to tighten up rules by which the Senate filibuster can be shut off, presumably as a prelude to seeking passage of civil rights legislation.

Republican leaders promptly promised their support.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, serving as Democratic floor leader until he is sworn in as vice-president Jan. 20, announced he has urged the rules committee to approve as soon os possible an anti-filibuster proposal.

Any such measure coming to the floor would touch off a bitter and prolonged fight.

Southerners in the past have always used their privilege of nonstop debate to defeat civil rights bills.

Barkley told his colleagues he is opposed to the filibuster as a tactic and wants a prompt change in the Senate rules.

He said he has talked with Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.), of the rules committee "on bringing out a bill on changing the rules as soon as possible."

west linse of section 636, block 97, H&TC survey.

The prospector was below 7,291 feet, penetrating dolomite, shale, and chert in the Ellenburger.

Production tests were made slightly higher in this strata, and possibilities of a discovery were developed. However, these shown were slight and operator was drilling ahead to search for oil in commercial quantities. It may test the full thickness of the Ellenburger.

Sulphur water developed on a drillstem test at Humble No. 1-B Moore, northwest Scurry county wildcat projected to 7,100 feet for a Pennsylvanian test.

The tool was open one hour at 4,844-4,893 feet. A strong blow of air held the surface most of the period.

Recovery Analyzed

Recovery was 180 feet of mud, followed by 270 feet of muddy, salty surphur water and 1,890 feet of surphur water.

This venture, located 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey, was drilling ahead below 5,013 feet in lime.

It is about 10 miles northeast of Snyder.

Humble Oil and Refining Co., was plugging to abandon its No. 7 Yarbrough and Allen, wildcat in northeast Ward county, seven miles northeast of the town of Monahans.

The prospector drilled to 11,230 feet in the Ellenburger and developed water. It then plugged back and made tests of various formations between that bottom and 4,928 feet.

No petroleum was encountered in sufficient quantities for commercial production.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 17, block B-13, psl survey.

"BOWL" FOOTBALL

Our Good Judgment

IT IS SOMETHING of a tribute to the soundness of community judgment that Lubbock never has been smitten by football "bowl fever."

The idea of sponsoring a big New Year's football game here has been a subject of casual gossip now and then. But the possibilities never have aroused enough interest to obtain consideration in any responsible quarter. Lubbock simply has not regarded such a venture as practical. So little time has been wasted talking about it.

Numerous other splendid cities have been less fortunate. Groups of enthusiasts possessing more civic loyalty than practical realism have heard of huge gate receipts at major bowl games. Some seemed to have gathered the impression that any sort of bowl contest was like money in the bank as a huge profit producer. So, to their sorrow, they have gone overboard on such ventures—never so many as last January 1. Most of them lost their shirts. Only the biggest bowls made any real money. A few of those of medium size did a little better than break even.

The time might come when Lubbock will be interested in a venture of this kind. With the enlargement of Tech's stadium into a bowl, our usually fine Winter weather, our prosperous territory and splendid citizenship, and perhaps the realized dream of a City Coliseum and Auditorium, a bowl game might be entirely feasible as one part of a great New Year celebration—such as El Paso's annual Sun Carnival.

But such possibilities lie in the uncertain and indefinite future. About the only thing that can be said with confidence now is that Lubbock won't do anything foolish. If the time comes when the community leadership regards such an undertaking as practical and worthwhile, Lubbock probably will be justified in acting on their judgment on an all-out basis.

"The Camel Kneels"

IN Brownfield, this afternoon, sorrowing neighbors, friends and admirers from over a far-flung area will say farewell to all that is mortal of Tom May.

Tom May well deserved the many honors he received during the 59 years of his full life, including election as mayor of the city which meant so much to him, and elevation to the 33rd degree of the Masonic Order, which he served so long, so diligently and so well. But the greatest honor of all shall come to the memory of Tom May in future years, when men recall his good works and those same good works still will be readily discernible.

Hundreds of Tom May's fellow Shriners in this area remember, today, the philosophy of the Black Camel which, eventually, kneels at the tent of every Noble. They are:

"But once I pass this way . . . And then no more. But ONCE, and then the Silent Door swings on its hinges—and no more."

Noble in fact as in title, Tom May was a great contributor to better living all over this area and even though the Black Camel has visited his tent, his influence will project into the future.

To his memory today we say: "Es Selamu Aleikum!"

Beware Of Romance

I

THE Sweet Shoppe, chosen hangout for the arrogantly self-assured teen-age crowd of Marshallville, was in full swing at four in the afternoon. Bobby-soxers, in camel's hair coats, "sloppy Joe" sweaters, the inevitable saddle shoes, with bright shining manes of hair hanging loose about their shoulders; and boys of their own age and generation of weirdly pattterned, brilliantly colored shirts and slacks and socks that dangled about their shoes in a manner to distress helpless fathers and mothers, swarmed over the place as though they owned it.

Behind the long, gleaming fount three young girls and the harassed "soda-jerker" worked like mad to provides cokes, malteds and weird concoctions of several varieties of ice cream, nuts and fruits such as are beloved of the very young. And as they faced the daily mad scramble they yearned for 5 o'clock when, like a covey of bright-winged, clamorous birds, the teen-age gang would sweep out and blessed, cherished quiet would descend upon the Sweet Shoppe. It would last until after the first show at the neighborhood movie, when it would start all over again.

As if by some divine right, Merry Carson's own particular gang occupied the two favorite booths. Built to accommodate four, each booth was jam-packed with six to eight young people, practically standing on each other's shoulders. And Merry, acknowledged leader of this particular gang, partly because she had been voted "cutest" of her class, partly because the awe-inspiring Tip Kennedy, captain of the football team, admittedly the best Fulton High had ever had, was her "steady date," looked contentedly from one bright, flushed, excited face to the other.

WARM and contented and happy, she loved them all. Life was wonderful; the gang was wonderful; her new formal for the prom was "frantic" (a year ago everything had been "super" but the gang had dropped "super" in favor of "frantic"). School was wonderful; she was going to make a good scholastic record this semester. Tip was wonderful. He was in rigid training and he had to keep up his studies in order to be allowed sufficient time for training and working out with the squad, and therefore he had permitted her to help him. So they did homework together on school nights and she was humbly grateful to him for letting her help.

She was going to be 17 in the summer, she reminded herself happily. Sixteen and a half was an exciting age. The big games were coming up. The Thanksgiving game had been a pushover because Fulton High's team was scads ahead of their opponents; but the last game of the season, a week away, was going to be tough, Tip said, and so they were going to have to work their heads off.

Tip finished the small coke that was all his training schedule allowed him, looked longingly at a villainous combination of three kinds of ice cream, preserved fruits, whipped cream and nuts that Tubby Evers was starting on, and turned to Merry.

"Come on, woman — time's awastin'. If you want me to tote you home in the Struggle-Buggy, you gotta step on it," he ordered her sternly.

Obediently Merry scooped up a heavy armload of books, and Penny Staples, who had made a determined try to snag Tip at the beginning of the semester and who had been given one of Tip's inimitable but unmistakable brush-offs, sneered openly, "Her master's voice! One yip out of him and she comes to heel like a well trained puppy."

"MIAOUW!" came sibilantly from the other side of the booth, and everybody laughed except Penny, whose vivid young face turned scarlet.

"It's only that it seems silly to walk eight blocks home when Tip's got a gallon of gas and all four tires on the Struggle-Buggy. Me, I'm a smart gal," said Merry lightly.

Outside, in the mild autumn night that had not a nip in it, in that secluded Southern climate, Tip growled, "Some day I'm going to wring Penny's neck. She's a spoiled brat."

"She's just jealous, poor thing," said Merry smugly, and let Tip take her books and put them on the back seat while she climbed nonchalantly over the front door that was wired in place with baling wire. It was painted all over with insolent, gay slogans, that laughed at the little car's ancient dilapidated ugliness, and Merry loved it better than any car in the world. Tip had found it on a junk heap, bought it for $25 and had labored over it a whole summer, until now he, and he alone, could coax it to run. Clattering and clamoring furiously, protesting every mile, but running, and the pride of Tip's heart.

Tip growled as he swung his colt-like legs over the other door, tucked them beneath the wheel and did deft things to the car that made it finally start.

"Jealous my left-hand eyebrow," he answered, once he had subdued the car's roar to only a relatively mild protest. "What's she got to be jealous about?" If she'd pull in her claws, and be a nice gal with other girls she could

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

"DARLING—" I had said to her—

But, excuse me, I am getting ahead of myself.

It was evening, last evening, to be exact.

The air was clear and crisp. A full moon was shining. A million stars were making Heaven look like the ceiling of the Barberry Room, one of New York's most beautiful and most expensive restaurants.

And I was feeling fine.

I was feeling almost as fine as that evening more than twenty-seven years ago when my sweetheart and I had taken a walk in Central Park and sat down on a bench near the lake.

BRANDEIS

The air was crisp and cool then. A full moon was shining. A million stars were making Heaven look—

—not like the Barberry Room. We didn't know anything about expensive restaurants in those days. We still thought then that food was only for eating and not for making some restaurateur rich. And we were young and poor.

But the moon didn't care. And the stars didn't care.

They shone for rich and poor alike—but primarily for the young.

Now, back to the beginning

"Darling—" I said to her last evening, and her eyes were shining in anticipation of what I was going to say.

I hadn't said anything nice for so long now—nothing like the things on that bench in Central Park, when we were young and poor.

On those nights I used to tell her about her lovely eyes and her copper-colored hair. I used to stroke her tender cheek and say all those wonderful nothings that lovers on moonlit nights have told their sweethearts for, oh, these thousands of years.

SO, do you blame her for her shinging eyes and that beatific, anticipatory smile on her lips?

I went on.

"Darling," I said, "that gravy tonight was simply delicious. It was the best you ever made.

"And the pot roast was perfect. Together with the gravy, those dumplings, the red cabbage and the boiled potatoes, it was a meal out of this world.

I thought it was a wonderful little speech.

The little woman deserved a compliment every now and then, I said to myself.

We husbands don't appreciate our wives enough, I said to myself. We take them too much for granted, I said to myself.

Just then she returned to the living room, which she had softly left at the end of my appreciative oration.

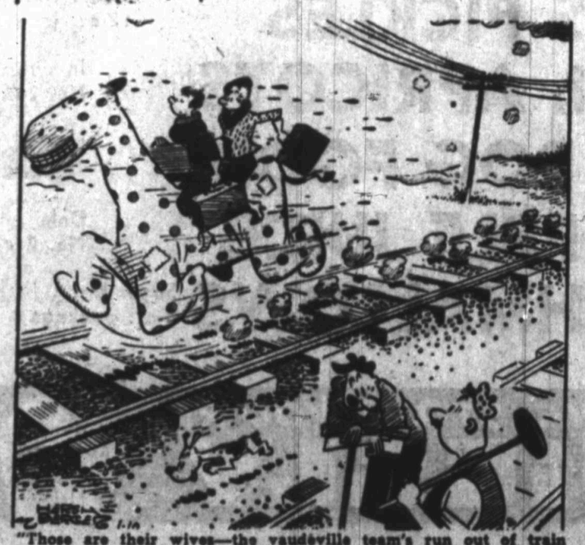

She was still smiling, but it seemed to be a little different from the smile of a few minutes ago.

It was more like the smile of a mother when her little boy, the boy who was but a baby yesterday, comes into the room with his first long pair of pants.

On the little table alongside my easy chair my wife placed a bottle and a spoon. The bottle was marked "Bicarb. Soda."

"Thanks for the compliment, dear," she said and went back to her basket of socks.

"Those are their wives—the vaudeville team's run out of train fare again!"

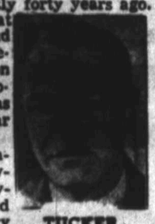

IN CAPITAL PROGRAM

Reforms Are Pushed

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTOI —Representative and popular government will really be installed on Capitol Hill if the House of Representatives broadens any of the plans now under consideration for legislative reforms following the recent action which broke the almost tyrannical power of eight men on the Rules Committee to thwart the will of a majority of the membership.

The reform marks another chapter or possibly the climax in a battle against political czarism which began exactly forty years ago. It was in March of 1909 that an alliance of Democrats and Republican Progressives dethroned "Uncle Joe" Cannon in the most turbulent revolution this historic body has witnessed since Civil War days.

TUCKER

An all-powerful and domineering Speaker, the cadaverous, shrewd, poker-playing "Czar" Cannon named every single member of every committee in the lower chamber. Anybody who questioned his authority or legislative wishes got only a tail-end assignment on the committee for the disposition of Useless Public Papers.

Obviously, no measure which he opposed could even reach the floor for a vote. And the House then was childlike in its obedience to the railroads, the pyramiding oil trusts, the corporations and, above all, to Wall Street. It was the legislators' unresponsiveness to the demand for more popular control of their government which provoked the Theodore Roosevelt Progressives revolt only three years later, and elected Woodrow Wilson.

RULES: When a combination of Democrats and Progressives won control of the House in 1910 and 1912, they concentrated on changing the rules for selection of committee members, including Rules.

The Ways and Means committee, sitting as a board of directors, now names committee members for the Democrats. Meeting in caucus, all the Republicans select their representation. It is a far more democratic method than that under which one man—Cannon—named the member. who really do the major work of the House.

It was this change which enabled the Wilson Administration to enact a vast batch of new legislation, designed to break the so-called "interests" control over national legislation. Among the measures which became law, largely because of this liberalization were:

The income tax, woman suffrage, direct election of Senators, anti-trust, the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Reserve System and many others then reviled but now an integral part of our political, social and econmoic structure.

Among the distinguished participants in the fight on 'annonism were Senator Norris of Nebraska, Ex-Secretary Hull, Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, Champ Clark of Missouri and William Jennings Bryan, although the Great Commoner was only an outside adviser. All are dead save Mr. Hull.

FUNCTIONS: Although those earlier rebels improved on the system of selecting members of the Rules committee, this unit of fourteen men had gradually usurped authority it was never meant to enjoy. Since so many people not intimately conversant with legislative operations may not appreciate the importance of this group, here is how it functions:

When a regular committee — Ways and Means, Agriculture, Labor, Veterans — approves a bill by majority vote, it has moved only a toddling step to enactment. It must first go to Rules, which acts as a legislative traffic cop or housekeeper. It is up to Rules, by the usual majority ballot, to say when the measure shall be voted on. Rules also fixes the provisions for voting, frequently adding a "gag rule" that prevents any change during floor debate.

In recent years, Rules has become as complete a "czar" as Cannon was. If a conservative or liberal majority did not like a proposal, it simply pigeonholed it in the committee. It refused to let the House pass on it, even though a majority of the membership favored affirmative action. In short, eight men could—and frequently did—thumb their noses at the Congress of the United States.

The present furore arose from the fact that an alliance of six Republicans and two conservative Southern members—Eugene Cox of Georgia and Howard W. Smith of Virginia—have blocked even a vote on several major Truman proposals. Although that was behind the recent demand for reform the problem goes deeper than any particular kind of legislation, so think proponents of a new liberalization.

PACK?: "Isn't the victorious Democrats' change in the House rules and loading up of committees with 'Truman men' reminiscent of F.D.R.'s attempt to pack the Supreme Court?" asks A.F. of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Answer: No, I don't think so. The need for a rules amendment preventing a few men—eight, to be exact—from thwarting the will of a majority has long been felt on Capitol Hill.

Insofar as those few stubborn or prejudiced individuals can—or could—bar even discussion of a measure, they were able to disenfrancnise millions of voters. It was government by the few rather than by the majority.

SYMPATHETIC: Both parties have always placed trustworthy men on the major committees. Sometimes they have enlarged them or changed the balance as between majority and minority representation in order to obtain their legislative ends.

President Truman, Speaker Rayburn and Majority Leader McCormack have done just what a new board of directors of a corporation do all the time. They have reorganized legislative procedure and personnel so that their policies shall be executed by a sympathetic management. No private executive retains a staff which does not agree with his production, styling and sales program.

"If you find yourself suddenly and dangerously close to poisonous snake, you can charm it into inaction by singing to it," says a herpetologist. No, we couldn't. We can't sing while we're holding our breath.

"A person is 10 to 1 more likely to commit suicide on a beautiful day than when the weather is disagreeable," asserts a psychiatrist. Having something to grumble about is a great incentive to living.

"Emily Post says potato chips may be eaten with the fingers." Eating them with hamburgers, however, is more satisfactory and less painful.

"How can a man who has been married for years deceive his wife?" asks a minister. We don't know. It's a tough problem, parson; a tough problem.

A congressman says cows resent the competition afforded by oleo. We wonder about the mind of a congressman who can read the mind of a cow.

Believe It Or Not - - By Robert Ripley

TRUMAN'S PROGRAM IS LEAD

New Trend In Government Seen

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Social Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The key to the Truman "fair deal" which is about to begin here to open up a new era is to be found not so much in the program the President submitted to Congress, but in his acceptance of the principle, finally and flatly, that it is the government's responsibility to intervene on a broad front continually and not only for emergencies to safeguard the welfare of the people as their right.

STOKES

Here it is:

"I hope for cooperation from farmers, from labor and from business. Every segment of our population and every individual has a right to expect from his government a fair deal."

Which means, in effect, that the government owes every citizen a "fair deal."

Would Expand Intervention

There was nothing new or surprising in his message except his threat that the government, itself, would build plants to produce steel and other critical basic materials now in shortage unless private industry expands facilities. That, however, was highly significant, for it is a new sort of intervention beyond those generally endorsed by him and President Roosevelt before him.

Government building of public-power projects, which enters competition with that form of private industry, has become accepted and orthodox, though still the subject of controversy and vigorous opposition by a minority. But electric power had a public aspect and function which long ago was recognized by government regulation.

Steel hitherto has not been generally endowed with that character. Steel, however, is basic. It is the very fiber of the expanding economy to which the nation has become committed. It is, likewise, a great private empire with monopolistic tendencies. It has been powerful in politics as in business.

Though President Truman only made a threat, it undoubtedly will make steel stop and think. The public became very much aware of steel's short-sightedness at the beginning of the war when the industry had to be nudged into expanding. That short-sightedness still exists.

What President Truman threatened for steel was what Franklin D. Roosevelt established for electric power. The late President called it the "yardstick theory." The government entered that field, with the consent of Congress, to produce competition to keep down rates and make the utilities expand their services. How far that theory has taken us was indicated by President Truman when he again asked Congress to extend the TVA principle to other rivers of the country.

It is significant that the President has gone even so far with steel as to suggest the possibility of application of the "yardstick theory" to that great industry. This was the new and radical departure, if such it may be called in his first message to inaugurate his second administration in which he will be President in his own right.

Move Toward Socialization

But throughout his message, in repeating his demand for various socia' reforms that he long has espoused, as did Mr. Roosevelt before him, President Truman emphasized the responsibilities of the government to the people as he never has done before.

He gave lip service to free enterprise and capitalism, but his program is one of socialization in several fields. The important fact here is that, where his previous service to such socialization was itself lip service because of a hostile Congress, he now has a Congress which is much more friendly. This was demonstrated openly in the frequent applause that interrupted his speech, certainly in sharp contrast, to those who were present on both occasions, to the sitting-on-hands performance of Congress a year ago when a large part of his audience was not only hostile, but most of it thought he would soon be a political has-been.

It is, in a way, ironic that a man who comes from a small town in Missouri, who failed in business as a haberdasher, who was a political accident as President, should be the man who should give the second great push in our generation to socialization. Yet, somehow it is in keeping with our historical tradition. None of our revolutionary spirits has fitted the role. George Washington was a gentleman planter. Thomas Jefferson was a Virginia gentleman. Andrew Jackson was a border adventurer, famed for daring military exploits rather than the dimly lighted cloister of the political philosopher. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a country squire of the Hudson river valley.

And Clement Attlee, who is the director of Socialism in Great Britain, was a mild-mannered lawyer from a middle-class family who had his eyes opened when he became a social worker at night in London's East End.

MARKET LOSES GROUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The stock market lost ground today for the first time in a week.

Only mild selling pressure was enough to reverse an upward trend.

Final prices showed losses of fractions to more than a point. Demand perked up a trifle late in the session and most quotations at the finish were a shade above the day's lows.

Volume of 770,000 shares was just about half the 1,400,000 shares traded on Friday.

Brokers quarters pointed out that the market has had to digest three important presidential messages in less than a week and that evidently numerous traders were taking time out to study the policy lines laid down by Mr. Truman.

A rising market was given a strong shove ahead last week by the State of The Union message but since then buying interest has steadily contracted.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 65.8, with the rail group showing the largest group loss.

Trading was confined to only 355 issues, of which 326 moved lower and 224 advanced.

Brewing Corp. of America ran up 8 points early in he day but wound up, after a series of odd-lot deals, only 1½ ahead of 41.

U. S. Steel stayed on the plus side throughout the day, ending ⅝ up at 71¾, and Pepsi-Cola, one of the most active shares, gained ⅝ at 10.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Cotton futures were steady today on buying by leading spot firms of nearby March and May deliveries which was attributed to covering against sales to Korea. There was some buying for mill account. Traders awaited further developments in the cotton textile and export markets where the situation is dull.

Uncertainties over Washington legislation that may affect cotton also had a restraining influence.

Futures closed 15 to 80 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—Grains mostly moved ahead on the board of trade today. May wheat and corn deliveries, up more than a cent at times, paced the advance. Oats were inclined to lag, largely because heavy farm stocks were expected to be shown in an agriculture department estimates.

Action of cereals was not of much help to soybeans and lard, the targets for last week's selling. At times soybeans had small gains, but late in the session more liquidation in these contracts developed.

All lard deliveries sank to new seasonal lows.

Wheat closed ¾-1 ⅛ higher, May $2.34½-⅝, corn was ¾-1 ⅛ higher, May $1.47 ½-⅝, oats were ⅛ lower to 1 ⅛ higher, May 76 ⅝-¾, rye was 1 cent higher, May $1.98 ¼, soybeans were 1 ½-3 ½ lower, March $3.47 ¼-½, and lard was 17 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower, January $15.30.

Britain May Be Ready To Resist 'Pushing Around' In Middle East

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Great Britain apparently has decided that her interests in the Middle East are too great to take any further pushing around.

British relations with Egypt and the other Arab states already have taken a nosedive because of her acquiescence, however unwilling, in the U. S.-backed program for a Jewish state in Palestine. Several times in the last three years relations between the two great English-speaking countries have been severely strained over this question.

U. S. Can Take "Loss"

Not that their real material interests in the area are opposed. But Britain's are far more vital to her in comparison. The U. S. has accepted a full share of responsibility for the position of the western world in the neareast. But with us it is merely one face of a multi-faced situation, taking its relative place alongside numerous problems. We can afford to take a less materialistic view, perhaps, or, like a big company, we may find it pays to take a loss in one operation in order to turn a profit in another. We have many vast oil sources, although the mideast is highly important. The British has almost none other.

Britain cannot afford to take a loss anywhere these days. Her economic and strategic positions are too precariously balanced. Not only the oil, but her whole economic relationship with the Arabs is important. And the political color of the Arab belt is vital to her military strength in Africa, where she is struggling to carve out a new productive empire to replace what she has lost farther east.

Fight Is Not Foreseen

And in this connection it must be forgotten that British commercial interests in the Far East have not been and are not likely to be cut as were the reins of political rule over India and Burma. To Britain the Red sea and Suez canal still are waterways of importance second only to the English channel.

The Palestine Negev for which the Israelis are contending might control this waterway. The area also contains rich undeveloped resources.

Britain has no real claim on it, and wouldn't fight for it.

This situation, arising while the United States is supporting Israel politically if not militarily, and while Russian-controlled arms are going to Israel from Czechoslovakia, has aroused great nervousness over Anglo-American relations.

The answer, so far as I can see, is, nothing. It's a fairly good bet that the Jews are not going to extend their military action beyond the area which is actually somewhat of a no-man's land. But if they did Britain and America would work out something between them. The day is long gone when their individual interests anywhere can compare with their unity of interest everywhere.

$975 In Cash, Checks Missing In Three Uvalde Burglaries

UVALDE, Jan. 10. (AP)—Three burglaries, two in auto agencies and the third in a grocery store, netted intruders $975 in cash and checks last night.

All the loot came from the grocery store, police authorities said. In the automobile agencies, only cash boxes were disturbed, but there was no cash in any of them.

Two youths were being held in jail without charges, meanwhile, as suspects in the Saturday night narcotics burglary of a drug store. They were picked up Sunday.

Flier Killed When Plane Hits School

BIG SPRING, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The pilot of a twin-engine Beechcraft airplane was killed yesterday morning when the craft plunged into a tiny schoolhouse six miles east of here.

The Midway school was destroyed by fire which followed the crash in which commercial pilot Edward C. McGuire, 31, died.

No one was in the school at the time. The plane narrowly missed a house.

McGuire had flown Ralph Rush, president of the Trinity Drilling company, to Midland Friday and was returning to Dallas. He was regularly employed by the Means Drilling company of Dallas and Pampa.

Beware Of Romance

have all the fellows she wants. She's pretty as new paint, a darned cute dish; but the minute another girl shows up, she trots out the claws and starts biting in the clinches."

MERRY, who knew just as well as anyone with a mirror could know such a thing that she was not nearly as pretty as Penny, felt her heart drop. She shook back the gleaming mop of sunshiny brown hair that framed her vivid gamin face and asked soberly, "Could she even have you, Tip, if she'd pull in her claws?"

Tip shot her a swift glance.

"Cripes sake, Merry, be your age. You know derned well that no other girl in the hemisphere could have me while you're around," he growled at her. And to Merry, Charles Boyer, Gregory Peck and Cary Grant all rolled into one couldn't have sounded more romantic. "Fact is, I've been wanting to talk to you, Merry."

Merry's heart gave a big thump, as though the Struggle-Buggy had suddenly run over a rock; and then it climbed into her throat and started doing nip-ups. She looked at Tip with shining eyes and wished she could push her heart down where it belonged so she could talk to him. But she could only look at him, and wait, and hold her breath.
