U.S. Ships Menaced, Says Sec. McNamara

In Report On Tonkin Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that two U.S. destroyers on routine patrol in the Gulf of Tonkin "were menaced by four unidentified vessels" Friday, and fired warning shots. The approaching craft then disappeared.

McNamara appeared before newsmen nearly 22 hours after he first received flash reports of the incident, and read a 147-word statement giving the first official details of what happened.

He did not stay for questions.

McNamara said that Friday he received reports from the commander in chief of the Pacific fleet that a night-time incident was occurring in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Adm. U.S. Grant Sharpe, Pacific commander, reported that two destroyers on patrol 42 miles from land were threatened by four unidentified vessels "which, because of their dispositions, courses and speed, indicated hostile intent," the defense secretary said.

After changing course to minimize danger to themselves and after the unidentified vessles continued to close, in McNamara said, the destroyers fired warning rounds.

"The destroyers then properly opened fire and the approaching craft disappeared without closing sufficiently to fire on the destroyers," McNamara said.

The North Vietnamese foreign ministry claimed two destroyers were in action Friday near a place called Nghe An, that "heavy explosions were heard and flashes of light and aircraft circling over the spot were seen from the shore."

A New China News Agency report from Hanoi placed the scene 60 miles off Nghe An and spoke of two U.S. warships being "active" Friday evening and at daybreak Saturday.

In a statement broadcast by Red China's official news agency, the North Vietnamese mentioned nothing about any of their units being involved. The Communists denied they provoked the incident and accused the United States of trying to create an excuse for attacking North Viet Nam.

Prior to the North Vietnamese statement, U.S. sources had said two destroyers steaming in the darkened and overcast Gulf of Tonkin had opened fire on what they thought were Communist torpedo boats closing to attack.

The destroyers did not report seeing any craft, according to informants, but said they observed what appeared to be hostile craft on radar several miles away.

The sources said that in reports to the Pentagon — reports described as garbled — the U.S. warships did not say they were fired on, as were other U.S. destroyers in clashes Aug. 2 and 4. Those earlier clashes brought down swift U.S. retaliation on Red PT boat bases and oil dumps.

The U.S. carrier-launched air strikes were said to have destroyed about half of Red Viet Nam's 50 torpedo boats.

Despite strong pressure from newsmen, the government refused Friday to go beyond a 55-word statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Mr. Chandler Dies; Rites Sunday

Funeral services have been set for 3 p.m. Sunday for Mr. Walter C. Chandler, 67, of 812 Sixteenth Street.

Mr. Chandler, a retired farmer, had been in poor health for about three years. He died Friday at 7 p.m. at Cogdell Hospital.

Born Dec. 26, 1896 in Poolville he was married to the former Miss Lydia Leatherwood in Poolville in 1915. They moved to Scurry County in 1926. Mrs. Chandler survives.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Barney Prince of Snyder, Mrs. Wilson Kidd of Loraine, and Mrs. W. H. Barker of Minnesota; five sons, Hollis, Doyle, Morris and Leonard, all of Snyder, and Floyd of Oxnard, Calif.; two brothers, Perry Chandler of Lipan and Jack Chandler of Dallas; 31 grandchildren and 23 great - grandchildren.

The funeral services will be held at the Beyl-Seale Funeral Home Chapel. The Rev. W. L. Cass, former pastor of the Bethel Baptist Church of which Mr. Chandler was a member, and the Rev. Virgil Mott will officiate. Burial wil be in Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Grandsons will serve as pallbearers.

Texas U Enrollment Reaches New High

AUSTIN (AP)—Enrollment at the University of Texas has reached a record high of 22,780, nearly 600 above the 1963-64 enrollment.

Although registration ended Friday, officials expect another 800 students to enroll for the fall term.

Bargainers Seek To Avert Rail Strike

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The goverment tries this weekend to head off a nationwide railroad strike set for Tuesday morning.

Chairman Howard Gamser of the National Mediation Board pledged intensive efforts to win settlement of the dispute between six shop craft unions and negotiators for most of the nation's railroads.

But as of late Friday night no face-to-face meeting between the two sides was in prospect. Federal Mediator Francis A. O'Neill was shuttling between union and carrier representatives searching for a common ground to make such a session possible.

"We would welcome an agreement," said union spokesman Michael Fox, who announced the strike call Friday. "We don't relish the idea of a strike but we have no alternative."

Chief Railroad Negotiator J. E. Wolfe also expressed hope for a settlement, saying a strike would be "devastating."

The only issue in the dispute is job security. This includes wage protection for railroad shop men who lose their jobs or suffer pay cuts because of technological improvements and other changes in rail operations.

There was no immediate sign that, as a last resort, President Johnson will step in as he did last April when five train operating unions threatened to shut down the nation's rail system.

Johnson reportedly has no desire to try for another White House settlement, but he is being kept informed of developments.

All procedures under the Railway Labor Act to delay a strike have expired, including establishment of a presidential emergency board. A board made job protection recommendations last month and both sides claimed they accepted them. They blamed each other for the deadlock.

Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, said the strike call is in defiance of the public interest.

Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employes' Department, said: "Our duty to the employes as their collective bargaining representative leaves us no choice except to fix a strike date pursuant to the authorization to strike previously voted by them. We stand prepared to make a fair and equitable settlement, but as of now the strike date can no longer be postponed."

He set the strike deadline for 6 a.m. Tuesday, local time. Fox spoke for the six unions representing boiler makers, machinists, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, carmen and firemen and oilers.

Fox exempted from the strike call the Pennsylvania Railroad, with which he said an agreement had been reached, and the Souhern Railway system and the Long Island Rail Road, where he said agreements are being worked out.

DEMOCRATS HERE TO ORGANIZE

Local Democrats plan to organize for the current political campaign Tuesday night.

L. A. McClanahan, 1960 Democratic Party Campaign Chairman here, said a meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the district courtroom of the county courthouse to set up campaign machinery.

Local delegates to the Sept. 15 state convention in Dallas made the initial plans for the organizational meeting, McClanahan said.

"All persons interested in good government are invited to attend the Tuesday night meeting," McClanahan said.

Group To Discuss Site For Coliseum

A group of local citizens who favor the proposed coliseum being located in the No. 1 site as recommended by the site selection committee and other consultants plans to meet with the county commissioners court Monday morning, a spokesman reported.

All citizens interested in the project have been invited to join the group at 10:30 a.m. Monday at the courthouse.

Humphrey Seeks Farmers' Ballots

BUFFALO, N.D. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey carried the LBJ campaign — and its farm message — to a vast audience of farmers at the National Plowing Contest today and advised them: "You had better make sure you have a friend in the White House."

Their friend, said the vice presidential nominee, is President Johnson.

But Sen. Barry Goldwater, he added, would pronounce a "death sentence to agriculture."

Humphrey steered the Johnson-Humphrey campaign from the southern port of Houston to this northern farm area — almost crossing paths with Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, in both states.

Goldwater, also a Texas campaigner Friday, was scheduled to speak at the plowing match a few hours after Humphrey.

Humphrey let no one wonder about Johnson's background.

"You know where President Johnson stands," said Humphrey. "He is a rancher and a cattleman. He is your friend."

But, he added, "You had better know where Sen. Goldwater stands. He has said he doesn't know anything about farming and I believe him.

"He also has said he wants to get rid of our price control programs — and a good many of you. I believe he means that, too."

The Minnesotan cautioned that programs for wheat, feed grains, cotton and wool all expire next year and any new legislation must go to the White House for approval or veto.

"You had better make sure," said Humphrey, "that Lyndon Johnson remains as President of the United States."

The President's running mate said Goldwater had this to say about farm programs in his book, "Conscience of a Conservative": "There can be no equivocation here — prompt and final termination of the farm subsidy program."

"This," thundered Humphrey, "is the death sentence to agriculture. It would impoverish farm people — wipe out billions in rural land values — ruin business on rural America's main streets — and solve absolutely nothing."

SNYDER AREA OIL

New wildcat operations have been scheduled in Mitchell, Nolan and Kent Counties and a Scurry County wildcat has found possibilities of discovery production in the Strawn section ot the Pennsylvanian.

Norman Oil Corp. of Abilene has staked location for No. 1 R. F. Fee, a 7,400-foot wildcat operation in Mitchell County, 6½ miles southwest of Loraine.

It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 80, block 25, T&P survey. There is no nearby production from any formation.

Fox & Ransdell of Abilene will drill No. 1 Earnest T. Pitzer as a 4,000-foot explorer in Nolan County, four miles northeast of Nolan and 2½ miles southeast of the Beckham multipay field.

It is 1,577 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 76, block 5, T&P survey.

Texaco Inc. No. 1 D. P. Strayhorn is an 8,000-foot Ellenburger try 17 miles southwest of Clairemont in Kent County.

It is three miles southeast of the depleted Polar (Ellenburger) region, 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 22, block 5, H&GN survey.

Texas Pacific Oil Co. No. 1 W. A. Reeder, a scheduled 8,700-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Scurry County, is drilling below 7,826 feet after finding oil and gas in the Strawn.

A one-hour drillstem test at 7,720-56 feet recovered 4,156 feet of gas in the drillpipe, 10 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud, 195 feet of heavily oil-cut drilling mud and 90 feet of mud-cut oil.

The project is 16 miles northwest of Snyder, three miles northwest of the recently opened Drilexco (upper Strawn) pool. It is two miles southeast of the Fluvanna (Ellenburger) region. Site is 2,169 feet from north and 2,207 feet from west lines of section 485, block 97, H&TC survey.

The fourth producer is in prospect for the Elam (Strawn) pool of Kent County at Jack Elam of Midland No. 2-A-64 Wallace.

This operation, nine miles south of Clairemont, is a northeast stepout to the proven area and 1,980 feet from south and west lines of section 64, block 4, H&GN survey.

A two - hour and 22 - minute drillstem test was taken at 6,721-34 feet. Gas surfaced in 15 minutes and oil flowed at the surface in two hours and 12 minutes. There were no gauges or estimates on the petroleum yield.

Recovery was 180 feet of very heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud from below the circulating sub. Thirty - minute initial shut-in bottomhole pressure was 2,854 pounds, flowing pressure at bottomhole was from 138 to 1,132 pounds and the final shut-in pressure, after one hour, was 1,757 pounds.

Operator now has set 4½-inch casing at total depth of 6,737 feet and will try for a completion through perforations.

* * *

Jake L. Hamon of Midland has completed No. 1 J. B. Pumphrey as a ⅝-mile southeast extension and the fifth producer in the Pumphrey, North (Bend conglomerate) pool of Stonewall County.

The project is six miles east of Aspermont, 467 feet from north and east lines of tract 18, J. L. Haskins subdivision of block B, AB&M survey.

Potential on perforations at 6,036-44 feet, was a daily flow of 146 barrels of 40-gravity oil through an 18-64 - inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 400-1 and no treatment was reported.

Jack F. Grimm of Abilene will drill No. 1-B Frank Antilley as a northeast offset to the opener of the Jackie Grimm Grimm (Fry sand) pool of Nolan County.

It is 2½ miles east of Hylton, 1006 feet from north and 2,335 feet from west lines of section 175, block 64, H&TC survey and projected to 4,999 feet.

Edwin L. Magruder Jr. of Midland will drill No. 1 Bilby Wallace one location southeast of the Clairemont, East (Strawn) pool of Kent County.

The operation is projected to 6,500 feet and spots 1,980 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 59, block 98, H&TC survey, six miles northeast of Clairemont.

J. FRANK DOBIE

Famed Cowboy Folklorist Dies

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — J. Frank Dobie, who quit ranching to achieve fame as a folklorist and ofttimes center of controversy, died Friday.

The 75-year-old writer, educator and cowboy philosopher apparently suffered a heart attack while napping at his home.

Funeral service will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Hogg Auditorium on the University of Texas campus.

Survivors include the widow, Bertha Dobie; two sisters, Martha Dobie of Kerrville and Mrs. T. R. Stanford of Lyford, and a brother, Elrich Dobie of Lamesa.

The rugged, independent Dobie delighted or infuriated Texans with free-wheeling and frequently devastating comments on things about him.

He leaves a collection of prized Texana and tales of the Southwest, the ingredients of the more than 30 books and the newspaper columns he had written since 1939.

Dobie had been disappointed because he was unable to go to Washington last Monday to accept the presidential "Medal of Freedom" awarded to 30 prominent Americans, including Carl Sandburg.

The craggy-faced, white-haired Dobie was confined to a hospital because of a heart condition in July when notified of the award and told a newsmen he hoped to attend the ceremony.

The list of medal winners, he said, was good because "there is not anybody on there distinguished for being against something, but for being for something, something worth being for."

His wife accepted it for him.

Of President Johnson, Dobie said in July: "I'm very strong for him, for what he stands for and for his ability in accomplishing what he stands for.

"I don't suppose there was ever a vice president who took over the presidency so well informed."

Miller Believes Riots Condoned

By CHARLES DUMAS

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller said today, President Johnson's administration apparently "condones violence in the streets" by not speaking out against predictions that there would be violence if Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater were elected.

Miller said predictions to that effect had been made by Dr. Martin Luther King, the Negro civil rights leader, and by Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and that Johnson did not speak out in response.

The Republican vice presidential candidate said the president should have issued "a very strong statement to the effect that we don't tolerate for one minute a threat of violence."

Miller made these comments to reporters after a formal news conference at the Wilmington Airport. He came this morning from Pittsburgh, where he concluded his first campaign foray into Pennsylvania on a note of party harmony with Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton who had battled Goldwater for the GOP nomination.

When a reporter asked Miller whether he thought the Democratic administration condoned racial violence, he replied: Yes, I do."

He said King had made a statement in Germany predicting there would be an outbreak of violence if Goldwater were elected and that Fulbright had made similar remarks in a speech on the Senate floor.

Miller said Fulbright was "a leading spokesman" for the Johnson dministration.

Miller noted that Johnson has spoken out against such violence, but the New York congressman said the President had done so "abstractedly in speeches" and had not commented on specific statements such as those attributed to King and Fulbright.

Miller plans to address a luncheon of local Republican leaders before heading for New York's Long Island to wind up his second cam aign swing — a five-day tour through 11 states of the Southwest, Midwest and East.

Scranton and Miller put on a display of party unity Friday in Pittsburgh.

Tests Set For XB70

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The XB70 is scheduled to make its first flight Monday morning, according to the Air Force and the plane's builder, North American Aviation.

The plane and a sister ship, as yet uncompleted, have already cost more than $1 billion. Monday's flight is 20 months behind schedule. Technical problems and fund cutbacks caused the delays.

In the snake-like nose at the front of the 185-foot-long ship will be Al White, 45, North American's chief test pilot here, and Air Force Lt. Col. Joe Cotton, 42.

Although the six-jet plane is designed to fly at 2,000 miles an hour at 80,000 feet, it will be held down to about 800 m.p.h. and 35,000 feet on the intial flight, officials said.

Barry Denounces Farming Program

By WALTER R. MEARS

BUFFALO, N.D. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater denounced the Democrats' agricultural programs today and promised farmers "I will stop this bureaucratic meddling in your private affairs."

As for world affairs, the Republican presidential nominee declared: "We have to undo all the horrible bungling of the last four years that has brought this country to war.

"Our country has lost the peace — the peace left to it by the Eisenhower administration."

Goldwater said "We are at war because of a policy of weakness, a policy of indecision, a policy of indirection. I say and you say let's put an end to this tragic mess."

Goldwater has said repeatedly that the struggle against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam is, in fact, a war.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the National Plowing Contest, Goldwater said, "The nation would be a lot better off if our interim President would quit trying to run your farms and instead clean out his own stables.

"At least then his confused running mate, Hubert Horatio Humphrey, wouldn't have to sidestep so many issues."

Humphrey also has a speaking date today at the plowing contest.

"We pledge a farm program good for the farmer, good for the rancher, good for the nation," Goldwater said. "We support the Republican farm platform plank by plank."

The GOP platform promises "development of truly voluntary commodity programs for commercial agriculture" along with "price supports free of political manipulation in order to stimulate and attain fair market prices. . . ."

Goldwater said farm income should be improved — but not with "arbitrary handouts subject to the whim and caprice" of secretary of agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Aside from his endorsement of the GOP farm plank, Goldwater did not spell out his solution to agricultural problems. In Raleigh, N.C., last Wednesday he talked about curtailment of farm price supports and control over a period of five to 10 years.

But most of Goldwater's farm country speech was aimed at foreign policy and what he called "peace through preparedness, not war through weakness."

MOVING — Keith Pitner, associated with the West Texas State Bank for the past five years and the bank's Cashier, for the past two years, is moving Monday to Lamesa where he will be Vice President and Cashier of the Lamesa National Bank. Pitner, a native of Snyder, is married and is the father of one son.

LBJ Campaigns For REA Ballots

BY OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grass roots campaign is under way to line up for President Johnson the 15 million or more rural voters supplied by Rural Electrification Administration power and telephone systems.

For the first time since the creation of the REA in 1935, its non-governmental backers are throwing their whole weight in a drive to help defeat a presidential candidate — GOP nominee Barry Goldwater.

The job of doing this is being directed by Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association — NRECA. Ellis, a native of Arkansas, has been a militant battler for the rural power and telephone systems.

Ellis contends that the future of these systems is at stake in the November election. He says Goldwater would do away with them. He cites the GOP candidate's voting record in the Senate on measures relating to REA and the Arizona senator's statements and speeches.

The REA itself is not engaged in the campaign. It is a unit of the Agriculture Department. It makes loans to local farmer cooperatives, public power districts and to local telephone concerns to help finance local power and telephone projects. It exercises a degree of supervision over the borrowers to help protect the government's investments.

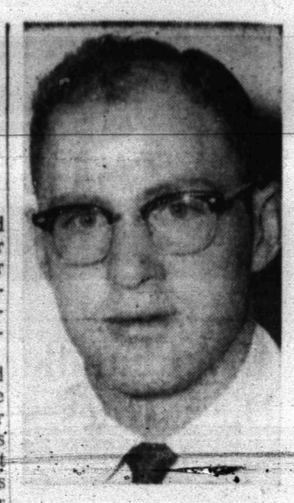
Ellis' organization is a private group maintained to help promote the REA program before Congress and the public. Its members are the borrowers of the REA.

The REA administrator, who is a presidential appointee, is not forbidden by law, as are those under him, from making political speeches or engaging in political activity.

In all previous presidential campaigns since the REA was created, it had the support and endorsement of both major political parties and of their candidates. However, the program's strongest backers tended to lean more favorably toward the Democrats.

Ellis and his organization had some differences with the Eisenhower administration over the latter's unsuccessful efforts to get Congress to raise interest rates on the government loans from the 2 per cent a year which has prevailed since the program was started to a rate sufficient to cover the government's cost of money.

The REA power and telephone systems have a powerful voting potential. There are 1,000 such power and 816 telephone systems financed by the government loans. They operate in every state and cover a big bulk of the rural counties.



PROMOTED — Dale Stuard, employed at West Texas State Bank since November, 1962 as Assistant to the Cashier, has been elevated to the post of Cashier at the bank. A native of Scurry County, he attended school at Hermleigh and served two years in the army. Mr. and Mrs. Stuard are the parents of two daughters.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My mother died when I was eight months old and I live with my father and my grandmother. They are good to me and I love them very much but, Abby, I am almost 13 years old, am in the eighth grade and I have to go to school with my hair above my ears. I am not allowed to wear the latest styles in clothes, either. I feel so funny in my old-fashioned clothes and this little girl haircut when all the other girls my age have new-style clothes and long hair. I am naturally on the quiet side and I don't make friends very easily, and looking like a freak makes matters worse. I am an honor student and I am not boy crazy. Will you please say something in your column about how important it is for a 13-year-old girl to look and dress like other girls her age? My grandmother and father never miss your column. Maybe they will listen to you.

HERE'S HOPING

DEAR HOPING: If only adults would realize how humiliating it is for an adolescent to be "different." The wounds are deep and the emotional scars are sometimes lasting. I would not give the green light to wild conduct or immodest dress just because "all the other kids" are doing it. But when it comes to clothes, hair-dos and yes, even make-up, even though adults might not like the new fads, teen-agers should have more freedom to express themselves without fear of ridicule. If more parents applied their energies to their children's moral development, instead of raising the roof over a hair-do, or a style of dress that happens to be "in" at the moment, they could spare themselves and their youngsters much agony.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I would like your advice on a very important question which I cannot ask my mother about. One night I went out with this boy and we went a little too far. Ever since then he has been calling me up and asking me out for the same reason. I would like to know how I can prove to this boy that I'm not the kind of girl he thinks I am.

NOT THAT KIND

DEAR NOT: It won't be easy to "prove" to a boy that you aren't the kind of girl who goes "a little too far" after you've already been there. Your only hope is to tell him emphatically that you both misbehaved before and you do not intend to repeat it. So if that's the reason he is pursuing you, he can forget it.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced two years ago. Six months ago my father remarried. I am 14 and I live with my mother, but my father and his new wife invite me to visit them on their farm every weekend. I love my mother and I love my father, too, and I also think a lot of my father's new wife because she has been very nice to me. But I feel like a traitor every time I go to visit them because my mother says it tears her apart every time I go there. My mother asked me if I would go to spend the weekend with my father and his wife if they lived in a little apartment like she does. I guess I wouldn't. Do you think I am wrong to go to the farm on week-ends? How can I get over feeling like a traitor?

TRAITOR

DEAR TRAITOR: I wouldn't label you a "traitor" for visiting your father. Your mother may have her reasons for feeling bitter, but these reasons have nothing to do with you, so don't take sides. Visit your father and enjoy those visits.

Sean O'Casey Succumbs Friday

TORQUAY, England (AP) — Sean O'Casey, the stormy Irish playwright who died Friday night of a heart attack at the age of 84, distilled some of Ireland's loftiest drama from the depths of suffering and squalor.

One of the great rebels of his age, O'Casey was embroiled in controversy most of his life. The turbulent writer had remained in self-imposed exile from his native sod for nearly 40 years after the furor roused by such plays as "Juno and The Paycock."

Earlier this year O'Casey was seized with a bronchial complaint. Treated at a nursing home for a while, he brushed aside medical advice and insisted on returning to his home in this sedate, seaside resort on the southwestern English Coast.

When the heart attack came Friday night he was rushed back to the nursing home and died there.

O'Casey was born in a Dublin slum. The reference books said he acquired his education "on the streets of Dublin."

He learned to read at the age of 14. For 30 years after that he drifted from job to job as a laborer, soaking up the classics and eventually writing plays for himself.

His first success came in 1925 with "The Shadow of a Guman" at Dublin's famed Abbey Theater. Quickly he followed this with what became his most famous play, "Juno and The Paycock."

In "Juno," the ragged denizens of Dublin tenements assumed the proportions of figures in a classical Greek tragedy. It scored a big hit in Dublin, London and in the United States and earned O'Casey the Hawthornden prize.

But many of O'Casey's countrymen failed to appreciate the characters in "Juno." Some felt they were being ridiculed. When the play was made into a film, demonstrators publicly burned two reels of it in Limerick.

More trouble attended his next play, "The Plough and The Stars" which told of Ireland's Easter 1916 rebellion against British rule. When the play opened in 1926 a crowd rushed the stage and police had to stop the show.

Incisive dialogue and biting humor was O'Casey's style. He disliked drawing room-type drama. When success came he declined to discard the rough accents of his laboring youth and refused to wear evening dress for his first night appearances.

In 1927, O'Casey married Irish actress Eileen Katherine Carey. They had two sons and a daughter.

Two Snyder Teachers Get High Offices

Two Snyder school personnel were elected to high regional offices of the Texas Music Educators Association in its meeting at McMurry College last week.

Tom Adams, who heads the Snyder High School choir and is director of choral music for the system, was elected vocal chairman of Region II of the TMEA. Mrs. Dorothy Kayser, music teacher at West Elementary was elected secretary of Region II.

Region two is one of the larger regions in the state and includes Abilene, Brownwood, Brady, Cisco, Ranger, San Angelo, Stamford, Anson, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Snyder and other towns in the area.

As vocal chairman, Adams will be responsible for getting judges for all vocal contests for University Interscholastic League. He will also be in charge of all-region choir tryouts and the certification of all-state choir members from region II.

Mrs. Kayser will be responsible for the keeping of the minutes at each regional meeting.

Mrs. Kayser, who has been in the Snyder School system for five years, received her Bachelor of Science degree from McMurry and her Master of Education degree from Texas Tech. Her husband, J. M. Kayser, is vice-principal of Snyder High School.

Adams is in his second year with the Snyder schools. He was with the Odessa schools for six years before coming to Snyder. He received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Education degrees from Hardin-Simmons University.

Red Youths Hear Talk By Krush

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told delegates to a pro-Communist world youth forum today the Soviet Union is willing to arm "all people fighting colonialism."

At a Kremlin reception Khrushchev said, "We are ready to discuss in a brotherly fashion and give our help" to those seeking weapons.

He spoke to a gathering that claims to represent the youth organizations of 120 countries, including some that are not independent. The forum is for youth solidarity "in the fight for national independence and liberation."

Khrushchev appealed to everyone in his audience, whether ideologically aligned with the Communists or not, to join under a wide front.

He said they should "unite against their enemies," whom he called colonialists and imperialists.

In a vigorous, 45-minute extemporaneous speech, right arm waving and fist sometimes clenched, Khrushchev gave his third clarification of his remarks Tuesday about a Soviet weapon.

He was quoted then as saying the Soviet Union had a "terrible weapon."

But today he said he had only said it is terrible what tactical weapons such as artillery, tanks and rockets can do.

Family Donates Zapata Belongings

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The bridle, saddle, spurs, lariat and machete used by agrarian reform leader Emiliano Zapata were donated by his family Friday to the Agrarian Affairs Ministry.

They will be given to President Adolfo Lopez Mateos and eventually will be turned over to a museum.

Flights Resumed To Guadalajara

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Air service has been resumed between here and Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city, but the Pilots Association says the airport there must be improved.

A spokesman said this is necessary not only for safety's sake, but to handle the large Olympics Game crowds expected in 1968.

The Pilots Association suspended service last week because it said the airstrip at Guadaljara was dangerous. Guadalajara has promised major repairs.

Highway Employee Killed In Crash

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP)— Ezra Dunn, 62, of Port Arthur, a Texas Highway Department employe, was killed Friday in a collision of a highway earth roller and a truck five miles north of Corrigan. The driver of the truck, Clifford Casey of Smithfield, was seriously injured and taken to a Lufkin hospital.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith, 2311 Thirtieth Street, are the parents of a 7 lb. 6 oz. baby girl born at 9:50 p.m. Sept. 18 at Cogdell Hospital.

Hermleigh Young Farmers To Meet

The recently organized Young Farmers Chapter of Hermleigh will hold their first meeting Tuesday evening.

The speaker at the meeting will be Jerry Robertson of Midwest Electirc Co-op in Roby. Robertson will speak of electrical wiring on farms.

Any farmers in the Hermleigh area who are interested in this meeting or in joining the Chapter are invited to attend. The meeting will be held in the Ag Building of the Hermleigh School at 7:30 p.m.

Mishap Reported

The Snyder police department reported a two-car mishap at 4:45 p.m. Friday at Thirtieth Street and Avenue U.

Involved were a 1962 Chevrolet driven by Linda Jane Thompson, 2908 Thirty-third Street, and a 1954 Plymouth driven by Mark Charles Clark, 1806 Thirty-seventh Street.

Damage to the Thompson car was estimated at $150 and to the Clark car at $50. No injuries were reported.

Coast To Feel Fury Of Gladys

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys, a little smaller but stronger than her destructive sister Dora, was expected to start battering the southeastern U.S. coastline with heavy surf by tonight as she moved toward the mainland.

The storm, still about 675 miles out to sea, packed top winds of 125 miles an hour near the center.

At 5 a.m. (EST), hurricane reconnaissance aircraft placed the center of the storm at latitude 27.0 north, longitude 69.0 west, or about 675 miles east of Palm Beach, Fla., and the same distance southeast of the North Carolina coast. The hurricane was moving toward the west northwest at 7 miles an hour.

The weather bureau said heavy swells running far in advance of the hurricane area may be felt at exposed places on the southeastern coast by tonight.

Mexico Bus Mishap Injures Passengers

TEHUACAN, Mexico (AP) — A bus with faulty brakes overturned on a curve near here Friday, injuring 22 passengers. Seven were said to be in serious condition.

TWO DOWN—

UAW Eyes GMC Pact

DETROIT (AP) — With two fresh, look-alike contracts in their portfolios, United Auto Workers union negotiators are set to bargain Monday for a new pact with giant General Motors Corp.

Their probable main target: A pension-centered contract for the firm's 354,000 UAW-represented workers.

Union president Walter P. Reuther is expected to demand that General Motors match or top the agreements ironed out at Chrysler Corp. and Ford Motor Co.

The Ford agreement-in-principle, achieved less than an hour before a strike deadline Friday is similar to one reached with Chrysler in another deadline photo-finish Sept. 9.

The Chrysler agreement, which set the pattern for fatter pensions, covered its hourly-rated workers. It took last-minute accord Friday to avert a threatened walkout by 7,000 salaried Chrysler employes — office and engineering personnel — who also belong to the UAW.

A national GM package, however, appears to be but one aspect of the upcoming bargaining. A General Motors spokesman estimated Friday night that 20,000 local grievances still are unresolved at various company plants across the nation.

Reuther estimated on Aug. 2 that GM's original economic offer — similar to Ford's and Chrysler's — would total 35 cents an hour over a three-year period. He said it would have to be bettered.

It was — by Chrysler and Ford Company and union officials have estimated that the Chrysler contract would be worth 54 cents an hour.

Ford's 130,000 production workers also won a Christmas bonus which Reuther said could range from $25 to $100 per employe. Calling it "frosting on the cake," Reuther said the first bonus may come next year.

It is tied to a company-financed supplemental unemployment benefit fund which provides extra compensation for laid-off workers. Henceforth, when the fund is full, Ford will funnel excess payents into the bonus kitty.

Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president and chief negotiator, said the new agreement will mean substantially improved retirement benefits and earlier retirement incentives.

Denise said Ford's hourly employes also would get two additional paid holidays, one more week of vacation, more relief time, an increase in the annual improvement factor, and improved health, disability and other insurance benefits. The latter benefits also would go to retirees.

Although there will be no general pay boost this year, workers will realize about 10.5 cents an hour in take-home-pay in October. That's when Ford will begin footing the entire bill for group life and disability insurance. Workers have been paying part of that cost.

FAMILY GATHERING—Sister Concepcion, a teacher at the Katherine Ryan School, visits with her brother, Padre Ernesto Nabas, and her father, Sr. D. Ernesto Nabas on their first visit to the United States. The visitors said they were well-prepared for the look of West Texas from American movies they've seen.

Spanish Visitors Approve Of Our 'Organized' Lives

By DICK ROBERTS

How often in recent years have we Americans been told that our lives are too regulated — too organized? Doctors and psychologists are constantly telling us that we should relax more — have more leisure — and worry less about the clock.

But now from Spain, the land of siestas and manana, comes another opinion.

Sr. D Ernesto Nabas and Padre Ernesto Nabas from Val de Uxo, Castellon, Spain, are visiting in Snyder. They are the father and brother of Sister Concepcion, a teacher at Katherine Ryan School here.

Both voiced the opinion (through Sister Concepcion) that the regulation and organization of the lives of Americans they had seen since their arrival here last week, was one of the things they liked most about America.

Sr. and Padre Nabas came directly to Snyder from Spain via New York, Houston, and San Angelo. The only reason for their visit to this country was to visit Sister Concepcion and incidentally to see a little of America.

The Padre was ordained on Aug. 15, and had some free time before assuming his parish appointment at Villa Franca del Cid, a village also in the Spanish state of Castellon. He and his father used this free time to make the visit to America.

During their week-long visit here they are staying with the Carlos Mijares family.

The visitors here also voiced an opinion which is different from one which is often told to Americans.

They had, of course, seen American Western movies — the movies that we're told are considered by those in other lands as being taken at face value as being the way Texans live today. Padre Nobas said that he had always figured the movies to be pure fiction, and that now that he had seen the countryside of West Texas, he began to believe that the Western movies really might have some foundation in truth.

So, after seeing this locale in which the true West really existed, what are they taking home to grandchildren, neices and nephews? Six-guns and holsters, and big belt buckles of course.

Sr. Nabas commented strongly on the "warmness" of the people he had met here. And apparently the shopping trips at which these souvenirs and gifts were purchased had a lot to do with this feeling. Our visitors seemed to feel that the clerks and others in the store really wanted to help, and in spite of the fact that the Nabas couldn't speak English.

Actually, however, regarding language they disagreed with another common conception that Texans have — the idea that our Texas - type Spanish is so different from Spain - type Spanish that a Spainard would have difficulty in understanding. Not so, said the Nabas. Even though sprinkled with English words, different accents and different pronounciations, they had very little difficulty with the Spanish spoken here.

Padre Nabas expressed surprise that newspaper reporters here could speak only one language. "To work for a newspaper in Spain," he said, "one must speak at least two languages, either English and Spanish or French and Spanish."

However, this Texas - type reporter did fine in talking with Senor and Padre Nabas with the help of Sister Concepcion who has been in the United States for six years, the last two years of which have been here in Snyder.

Joint Panel Reaches No Conclusion On Water Needs

BIG SPRING — A committee charged with seeking to coordinate the views of the Colorado River Municipal Water District and the Upper Colorado River on how to meet water needs from a proposed lake at Robert Lee failed to come up with specific solutions here Friday.

After swapping ideas and engineering data for two hours, they did agree to explore the matter further.

"Representatives from the two groups agreed on certain principles," said Charles M. Perry, Odessa, CRMWD president, "and will submit these to their engineers for further study with the hope of achieving solutions which will be acceptable by the two boards.

"Both groups are concerned with looking out after the entire areas they serve and will try to develop some proposal for submission to the boards prior to the hearing by the Texas Water Commission on Dec. 1 on the CRMWD amended application."

Perry added that he hoped the committee could come up with something prior to Dec. 1.

Representing the Upper Colorado River Authority, which includes Tom Green and Coke Counties, and which had representation also from Runnels and Sterling Counties, were Dale Leddy, San Angelo, Everett Grandstaff, Ballinger, and Jack Douthit, Sterling City. With them were Gerald Allen, Robert Lee, UCRA president, and George M. Parker Jr., Dallas, of Forest & Cotton, engineers for UCRA.

The CRMWD representatives attending were J. L. Rhoades, Odessa, Dr. Lee Rogers, Big Spring, and Lyle Deffebach, Snyder. Also in on the session were Perry, E. V. Spence, CRMWD general manager and his assistant, O. H. Ivie, and S. W. Freese, Fort Worth, the CRMWD consulting engineer.

At a meeting of the CRMWD board earlier in the day, directors approved a $2,145,669 budget calling for $847,022 in operating expenses and $1,298,647 in debt service. The rate committee will meet later to establish rates sufficient to generate this amount of revenue, as well as requirements for the Improvement and Extension Fund, and the Retirement Fund.

Anticipating the need to move rapidly if and when the Texas Water Commission grants permit for a second lake, the board appropriated $100,000 for initial work toward launching the project.

The district's experiment with recharging depleted zones in the Martin County well field with lake water during the winter for withdrawal durng summer peaking periods appeared successful, Ivie reported. He said, however, that this was only one year's experience, but if subsequent tests supported the project, he hoped that it could be broadened substantially. He also said that the extension of a pipeline from the Sun Oil terminal in Coke County to serve the Perkins - Prothro waterflood project was virtually complete. The river crossing is finished and only cleanup work remains on the ½-mile line. Perkins-Prothro will take treated water from Sun, which obtains its water from CRMWD, but CRMWD owns the line delivering the water to Perkins - Prothro.

Burmese Show Pro-West Signs

BY PETER BOOG

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's military govrnent is taking steps to whittle down Communnist influence in this Southeast Asian country nestled against Red China. It looks as if leader Gen. Ne Win intends to keep Communist presence under firm control.

In the past it was mostly Western influence that suffered.

Two big American philanthropic organizations, the Ford and Asia foundations, were forced to close shop. U.S. Information Service activities were suspended. An $84 million American-financed highway project was scrapped. Travel by state-sponsored scholars to Western countries slowed to a trickle. Western correspondents virtually were barred.

Now the pendulum has apparently swung the other way.

—The government has launched intensive military operations against Red guerrillas in a determined bid to end a bloody, 15-year old war against underground Communists;

—A lengthy manifesto has been issued, emphatically denying that Ne Win's Socialist-oriented regime is Communist-patterned;

—The editor of the widely circulated leftist daily, the Mirror, was arrested and his newspaper taken over by the government.

On the military front, Communists have been forced on the run by repeated government thrusts that have carried the fight to the Red high command's threshold in the hills of central Burma.

The government is known to be accepting U.S. military aid to strengthen its hand, although details of this assistance have not been disclosed.

Chinese Communist in Burma can no longer depend on loans from Chinese banks, which have been nationalized along with Western financial houses. Most of the Chinese loans had been channeled into expanding influence over the country's economy.

Communist-run schools no longer are permitted to hold indoctrination courses but must follow a rigid curriculum laid down by the education authorities.

It has become apparent Ne Win has embarked on a delicate balancing act between East and West, aimed at keeping Burma uninvolved in Southeast Asia's power struggle.

Deteriorating conditions at home seem to have stiffened the government's resolve to isolate Burma from international affairs while its leaders focus on domestic reforms.

Once compelling factor behind the government's recent effort to dissociate itself from communism was increasing Buddhist concern over what was considered only a narrow distinction between Marxist Leninism and Ne Win's brand of socialism.

Young monks in this predominantly Buddhist country made their feelings plain when they burned a newspaper plant in Mandalay last month.

Key Games On Tap In Pro Football

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some interesting early-season questions could find some equally interesting answers Sunday in Cleveland and Minnesota as the pro football season heads into its second week.

In Cleveland, the winner of the Browns-St. Louis Cardinal National Football League match is likely to gain the role of heir apparent to New York's Eastern Conference defending champs.

And in Minnesota, the ambitious young Vikings could find out just how good they really are and what chance they have of succeeding defending League champion Chicago in a key match with the big, bad Bears.

Two giants highlight the big weekend, with Detroit at Los Angeles in the NFL and Oakland at Houston in the American Football League.

The rest of the NFL is in action Sunday with Baltimore at Green Bay, San Francisco at Philadelphia, New York at Pittsburgh and Washington at Dallas in addition to the Cards-Browns and Vikings-Bears games.

The AFL offers Denver at Buffalo and an interesting Boston at San Diego contest. The New York Jets and Kansas City Chiefs are idle.

Detroit and the Rams are unbeaten going into Los Angeles' home opener tonight, the Bears beating San Francisco 26-17 and the Rams taking Pittsburgh 26-17 last week. It should feature Detroit's rugged defense and an improved Ram pass defense. Rookie Bill Munson will continue to fill in for injured Ram quarterback Roman Gabriel.

In the AFL, both Oakland and Houston took lickings in their openers last week, but their game won't be lacking for interest. Billy Cannon, Houstons first big star and an original Oiler, will make his first appearance in Houston after being traded to the Raiders.

Both Cleveland and St. Louis came from behind in their openers last week, the Browns taking Washington 27-13 and the Cards beating Dallas 16-6. The Cards, featuring the passing of Charley Johnson, and the Browns, sporting the running of Jim Brown, are two of the most often mentioned contenders. Should the Giants slip the winner of their game would be in a favorable position in the East.

The Chicago-Minnesota game should be one of the more interesting in the West. The Bears will be attempting to bounce back from a 23-12 loss to Green Bay, while the Vikings, who won five straight in the exhibition season and stunned Baltimore 34-24 last week, will be trying to keep the string going. The Vikings ran up 463 yards in total offense last week.

Green Bay looked like the Packers who won two straight titles in the triumph over Chicago and again appear to be the team to beat. They've won four straight over the Colts, this week's opponent.

New York's Giants, humiliated 38-7 by Philadelphia, will be healthier against Pittsburgh, which also lost its opener. The Giants have received Del Shofner back while the Steelers, already hurting with the loss of linebacker Myron Pottios, is further injured by the loss of tackle Dan LaRose.

The Redskins-Cowboys games traditionally have been wild, and this should be no exception, though the status of Dallas quarterback Don Meredith is still questionable.

Philadelphia's Eagles got off to a rolicking start under new coach Joe Kuharich and new quarterback Norm Snead in the rout of New York and could match the 1963 victory total with a decision over San Francisco.

Central Catholic Takes Ira 54-30

IRA — The Ira Bulldogs fell to Central Catholic of Abilene 54-30 here Friday night in an offensive battle. It was the second loss of the season for the Bulldogs.

The Chargers of Central Catholic took a 14-6 first - quarter lead over the Bulldogs and were not headed after that time:

Leading the scoring column for the Chargers was halfback Val Gonzales with 21 points on 3 touchdowns and 3 conversions. Larry Holladay tallied twice to pace Ira. John Paul Rogers and Jack Payne scored on touchdown each and Dennis Grizzle added 6 points on conversions.

Payne tallied his TD in the first period on a 12 yard run, and Rogers took it in during the second quarter on a 4 yard run. Holladay crossed the goal line twice during the final period on runs of 23 yards from scrimmage and 70 yards on a kickoff return.

Mistakes were costly for the Bulldogs and led to both of the 3rd quarter touchdowns made by Central Catholic. The Chargers got the ball on an outside kick and an intercepted pass and went on to score both times.

Ira will be open next week in preparation for an important non-district clash with powerful O'Brien Oct. 3. The game will be played in O'Brien.

Schoolboy Teams Extend Streaks

By The Associated Press.

Three big winning streaks were extended Friday night in Texas schoolboy football as Corsicana and Rockwall ran their skeins to 16 and Garland made it 14.

At the same time McKinney's Lions whipped Athens 21-0 and branded themselves top championshi, contenders in Class AAA.

It was Athens that beat Palestine 27-8 just when the latter was all set to rule as the No. 1 team.

Otherwise the favorites rolled on.

Garland looked more awesome than ever as it slashed Dallas Samuell 44-7. The defending Class AAAA champions don't appear likely to lose one soon.

Rockwall, the Class AA champion, eased by Kaufman 7-0 to cling to one of the longest winning streaks and probably advance in the ratings.

But Phillips had a strong hold on the No. 1 spot as the result of a 48-0 rout of Tulia.

Corsicana, defending Class AAA champion now in Class AAAA, kept its winning streak alive with a 17-7 victory over Fort Worth Carter-Riverside.

However, there wasn't much comparison with Garland, which now looks like it will dominate the field as it goes after a second straight AAAA championship.

A big noise was heard in Class A as Hull - Daisetta slammed Hampshire-Fannett 66-0 for another smashing triumph. It furthe outstanding title favorite. This team is unscored on and has rolled up 167 points in three games.

Petersburg, the defending champion of Class A, beat Class AA Lockney 44-20 but Albany, a perennial favorite, took a licking. The Lions were felled by Anson 43-12.

Of their first 14 shutouts this year, the Mets suffered 11 on them on the road.

Most Fishermen Go Empty Handed

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

If you returned empty-handed from fishing, don't be discouraged. Most likely, you've had lots of company.

The Parks and Wildlife Department, in a detailed study over several years of a Houston lake, says 10 per cent of the fishermen caught 90 per cent of the fish.

For the first few years after a new reservoir is impounded, almost anyone can catch fish there, says Marion Toole, coordinator of inland fisheries, but "after several years fish become harder and harder to catch."

It gets to the point where "only the anglers that know the lake well are able to make consistent catches of fish," he said. Why is this?

"Our reservoir investigations that have been conducted over the last 20 years show that the decline in the ability to catch fish is not due to the removal of small fish as many suspect, but instead is due to the buildup of unfavorable fish populations in a reservoir," says Toole.

The annual Texoma Fish Bowl, matching Texas and Oklahoma anglers, is set for Sept. 25-26. Captains of the two teams are Carl Mays of Dallas and Drew Owen of Oklahoma City.

Eleven anglers from each state fish four half-day quarters, going only for black bass.

A small fish known as the "tidewater silversides" — previously reported along the Atlantic Coast, Gulf Coast states and the Mississippi River—has appeared in Texas lakes. The Parks and Wildlife Department says the fish, which does not exceed five inches and has silvery lateral stripes, is a good food fish.

It's almost time, says the Parks and Wildlife Department, for the annual fall run of coastal "bull redfish in the Galveston Island surf.

To catch these, says information officer Al Flury of LaPorte, you need a "a strong pole and line, a heavy sinker, cut mullet or large shrimp for bait and a strong southeast breeze accompanied by high tides and a pounding surf."

Third base Coach Eddie Yost of the Washington Senators finished his playing career in 1962 with the Los Angeles Angels. He broke in with the Old Senators in 1944, direct from New York University.

Two Killed In Calif. Bus Mishap

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — A Greyhound bus hurtled 90 feet into a steep canyon early today killing two persons and injuring 34 others, at least five critically.

The bus landed on its right side, pinning most of the passengers inside. Highway patrolmen and crews from eight ambulances pulled passengers from the wreckage.

The highway patrol said the bus plunged into the canyon off Highway 99, about 16 miles north of Redding, after a collision with a pickup truck.

An unidentified woman passenger in the bus was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital. Twenty-seven other persons were admitted to the hospital, including five listed as critical and five as serious.

The other fatality, also a woman, died at the same hospital.

Seven other persons were admitted to Mercy Hospital in Redding.

Officers said the bus apparently struck the rear of a pickup truck. It careened across the highway and ripped out 80 feet of guard rails before plunging into the canyon.

San Antonio Wins Playoff In 4 Games

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—San Antonio wrapped up the baseball season with an accomplishment not performed in the Texas League the past six years.

The Bullets beat Tulsa 10-5 Friday night to win the league playoff championship three games to one and add it to the regular season pennant. It was the first time this has been done since Fort Worth turned the trick in 1958.

San Antonio had to come from behind to make it, but Joe Morgan's bat was timely and the Bullets won going away. Morgan hit two doubles that figured in vital runs and Charlie Harrison slugged a two-run homer to help nail it down.

Attendance Is Up In Texas League

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Texas League attendance was up more than 15,000 this season compared to last year.

The six clubs drew 605,530. In 1963 the total was 589,952.

Tulsa led the league with 200,430. Fort Worth drew 93,574, El Paso 90,24, San Antonio 85,808, Albuquerque 85,597 and Austin 49,877.

Hermleigh Wins Over Wylie 22-16

WYLIE — The Hermleigh Cardinals won their second consecutive game in as many outings here Friday night as they edged the Wylie Bulldogs 22-16.

The Cardinals took the lead in the second quarter, as they cashed in on a Bulldog fumble. Jim Kubala raced around end for 12 yards for the first score of the game. Terry Smith carried it over for the two - point conversion and an 8-0 lead.

The lead was short-lived however as Wylie back Donnie Gary gathered in the ensuing kickoff and went 80 yards for the TD. Phil Roughton went around left end for the two points and the score was tied 8-8 at halftime.

Hermleigh took the lead again in the third period as Kubala passed to Lloyd Thomason for 20 yards and a score. This time the try-for-point failed.

The two teams traded touchdowns in the final stanza. Terry Smith scored from four yards out for the Cardinals and Roughton tallied the second Wylie TD on a six-yard sweep around end. Smith added the two points after his touchdown and Gary converted for two points after the Wylie score.

Hermleigh is undefeated for the season after going winless last year. The Cardinals will try to keep the streak going next week as they play host to Newton.

Tiger Foes Win 5 Tilts

Snyder's football opponents won five, lost four and tied one in Friday nights action.

One of them, of course, defeated the Tigers themselves, as the Stamford Bulldogs took an 8-6 decision in Tiger Stadium.

At Andrews there was a win and a loss on the opponent list as Andrews' Floyd Lindsey took command and directed the Mustangs to a 26-0 victory over Lamesa. The Ponies nipped Snyder, 10-8, a week earlier, and Lamesa will be the sixth opponent for the Tigers.

Big Spring, next week's foe of the Tigers, edged out Ysleta Bel Air, 14-6. The Steers now have won t o in a row.

Kermit defeated Carlsbad, N. M., 14-0, and Levelland walloped Canyon, 41-0, to round out the victories for Snyder opponents.

On the losing side, Sweetwater dropped a 21-8 decision to Abilene High. Brownfield lost its second game in a row, this time 14-7 to Hobbs, N. M., and Littlefield took it on the chin, 21-6, at the hands of Plainview.

The Lake View Chiefs wound up in a 14-14 tie with Mason.

Rudolph, Venturi Tied For Golf Lead

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Mason Rudolph can be thankful he learned to be a patient man. Otherwise, he might never have seen the 10 birdies Friday which put him in a tie with Ken Venturi for the 36-hole leadership for the $40,000 Portland Open Golf Tournament.

As today's third round got under way, both men stood at 138, six-under par on the 6,404-yard Portland Golf Club course which lists a par of 35-37—72.

They were one stroke ahead of veteran Al Geiberger and unheralded Jack McGowan, and two strokes ahead of first round leaders Jack Nicklaus and Frank Beard.

Both Nicklaus and Beard played par rounds Friday. Nicklaus missed numerous short putts and Beard found birdies tough to get.

Tigers In Narrow Loss To Stamford

The Snyder Tigers won the battle but lost the war here Friday night as they bested Stamford in the statistics but were edged by the Bulldogs on the scoreboard 8-6. It was the second consecutive two - point loss for the Tigers in as many outings. Andrews had the trick last week 19-8.

Snyder outgained the Bulldogs on the ground, in the air and in first downs, getting deep into Stamford territory four times, but only got across the double stripe once. The Tigers were stopped after they drove to the Stamford 14, 2, and 22 yardlines.

The Tigers had a total of 12 first downs to 7 for the Bulldogs. They held Stamford to only one first down in the second half. Snyder ran and passed for a total of 185 yards while limiting the Bulldogs to 123.

All of the scoring was confined to the second quarter as the Bulldogs tallied first and made a two-point conversion stand up for the margin of victory.

The Tigers received the opening kickoff and were forced into a punting situation the first series when they had netted only 3 yards in 3 downs. That was when the Tigers got their first break. Leslie Brown, back to punt, juggled a low pass from center, was unable to get the punt off, and broke to his left. When he was finally stopped he had gained 25 yards and Snyder had a new lease on life on their 48 yardline.

The tide turned moments later, however, when Brown's pass was intercepted by Marc Lovvorn who returned it to his 36.

The Tigers got another break when, on 4th down, Ronnie Jenkins fumbled the snap and lost 19 yards back to his 23. Snyder took over at that point, but could not capitalize on the break. They were held on downs and Stamford took over on the 14.

After another exchange of punts the Bulldogs began their scoring march from their own 49. Halfback Harrison Cole did most of the toting as they worked their way toward the goal line. Quarterback Rusty Kelley took it over from one yard out for the score. Max Jones ran over for the two points and Stamford led 8-0 with 6 minutes and 13 seconds of playing time left in the first half.

The Tigers had another good break when, with about 2 minutes left in the half, Tom Kincaid recovered a Stamford fumble on the Bulldog 14. With just 22 seconds remaining Brown scored from the 4. Jay Williamson attempted a run for the points, but was stopped just short of pay dirt. The Tigers trailed 8-6 at halftime.

The Tigers came out the second half as though they were going to break the game wide open. They kicked off to Stamford and then held the Bulldogs to 3 yards their first series, and forced them to punt.

Snyder started from their 43 and marched to the 2 yardline, where the Tigers had second and goal to go at that point. Two plays lost two yards, and a 4th down pass by Brown fell incomplete to stop the drive.

The Tigers started another drive in the final period from their 43. This one carried to the Stamford 22 where the Tigers lost the ball after failing to make a first down by about a foot.

Snyder had a couple of opportunities in the waning moments, but could not get anything going. The Bulldogs took over with less than a minute left and held on until the final buzzer sounded.

Leslie Brown was the leading ball carrier for the Tigers, gaining 77 yards on 18 carries. For Stamford, most of the yardage was picked up by Cole and Kelley.

The Tigers will be going out of town next Friday as they journey to Big Spring to take on the powerful Steers. This battle is steeped with tradition and always promises a terrific 48 minutes of excitement.

SCORING

STAMFORD — Rusty Kelley from the one-yardline with 6:13 left in first half. Max Jones ran for two points.

SNYDER — Leslie Brown on 4-yard run with 22 seconds remaining in first half.

Jockey Killed While Training Horse

TOMBALL, Tex. (AP)—William Richard Murphy, a 24-year-old professional jockey, was killed Friday while training a horse at the Bar J Ranch.

The Tomball man was riding around the track when his mount broke from the track proper. Harris County Deputy Sheriff Louis Shipley said the jockey struck a tree when he apparently jumped off the horse.

Richardson Gets Upset

FORT WORTH (AP)—It was Rafael Osuna of Mexico vs. Pierre Darmon of France and Manuel Santana of Spain vs. upsetter Ham Richardson of Dallas in today's semifinals of the Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Richardson, unseeded, scored the first big upset of the meet Friday when he took out fourth-ranked Mike Sangster of England, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Osuna, the No. 1 seed, rolled over Luis Arilla of Spain, 6-3, 10-8.

Darmon advanced with a 6-2, 1-6, 6-4 triumph over Cliff Richey of Dallas and Santana, seeded second, beat Butch Newman of San Antonio, 6-0, 6-3.

Darmon and Juan Noel Grinda, 8-6, 6-4 winners over Newman and Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis faced Osuna and Antonio Palafox in today's doubles semifinals. Osuna and Palafox beat Tom Howorth and Mike Liddle of Fort Worth, 7-5, 6-2.

Santana and Arilla beat Fellisimo Ampon and Raymond Deyro of the Philippines, 6-3, but were awaiting the outcome of another match to learn whom they would meet next.

Richardson and Richey won the first set 11-9 over Sangster and Ronnie Fisher of Houston but darkness halted further play Friday.

"One thing that no amount of coaching will give a boy is speed," says Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty. "He's either got it or he hasn't."

Hobbs Loses To O'Brien Bulldogs

HOBBS — The Hobbs Panthers suffered their second consecutive defeat in as many weeks here Friday night as they fell to a highly rated O'Brien crew 58-32, in six-man football.

The Panthers scored first and last in the contest, but the Bulldogs from O'Brien paced by Carlton Rhodes and James Duncan, were not to be denied.

Hobbs took the lead in the first quarter when Tommy Lay ran 30 yards for a tally. He then passed to Freddie Martinez for one point.

Rhodes took over at that point and scored 3 touchdowns, all in the initial period. He crossed the goal line on runs of 45, 7 and 40 yards. Duncan kicked for two points each after two of the scores and O'Brien held a 22-7 lead as the second quarter opened.

Rhodes took up in the second period where he left off in the first, going 31 yards for a touchdown. The kick for points was blocked, but the Bulldogs led 28-7.

Hobbs got back into the act when Lay ran 16 yards for a TD. He then caught a pass from Donald Hull for the extra point. A few minutes later Lay tallied again, this time from one yard out.

Roy Henry of O'Brien then ran 27 yards to cross pay dirt and Duncan's kick was again successful. The half ended with the score 36-20 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Duncan was the big man in the 3rd quarter as he managed for 3 TD's on runs of 15, 20 and 85 yards. He kicked successfully after the first two of these scores.

In the final stanza Hull passed to Freddie Martinez for 32 yards, and then Lay passed to Kenney Martinez for 31 yards, both for touchdowns.

The Panthers will try to get into the win column next week as they go to Mertzon for another non-district clash.

Fate May Decide Amateur Title

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Exactly 88 holes ago, along about lunch time Wednesday, destiny took a hand in the National Amateur Golf Championship.

If the little fellow hasn't taken the weekend off, it means that Bill Campbell, the West Virginia gentleman and wartime infantry captain, will finally win the amateur on his 21st try.

Campbell probably can use some help from fate, because he is paired against an old sparring partner, Ed Tutwiler, in today's 36-hole final.

That is a match-up that will not bring them running out of the West Virginia hills. It's old stuff there where Tutwiler has won the state amateur 11 times and Campbell seven.

Seven times they met in the final, and Tutwiler won six of them.

"They used to say around there that I owned Bill Campbell," drawled Tutwiler, who is a sort of Sam Snead with hair and a steady line of hillbilly patter. But this time Campbell may be destined to win.

He seemed to have destiny on his side way back on the 19th hole of his first round match at Canterbury Golf Club on Wednesday.

That was where his second shot, headed for somebody's backyard barbeque pit, banged off a tree and skipped deep into the right rough.

Campbell's opponent had a sure four, and it appeared that Campbell would need at least two hand mashies and a long putt for a five.

But the West Virginian ran his ball up to within four feet, got his four, won the match on the next hole and went on from there.

Campbell, 41, an insurance executive, former state legislator and one-time captain of the Princeton swimming team, won a 3-1, 36-hole semifinal victory over Mark Hopkins of Houston University.

Yankees Confident That They Will Win Pennant

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees don't think any other team has a ghost of a chance for the American League pennant. But the Baltimore Orioles have different ideas since Casper shook them out of a nightmare.

The Yankees, whipping Kansas City 6-0, increased their lead over Baltimore to three percentage points Friday night. The Orioles trimmed Los Angeles 10-8 while Chicago dropped to third place, losing to Washington 5-4.

Baltimore, handing the Angels five unearned runs for an 8-5 lead, battled back and finally won on a two-run homer by Jerry Adair, sometimes known as Casper the Friendly Ghost.

Adair's blow in the seventh inning was all the more vital since a defeat would have tumbled the Orioles three games behind the Yankees in the loss column. New York has 16 games remaining, Baltimore 12.

The Yankees, however, apparently weren't concerned about the other games. They already have their World Series plans made. Just ask Whitey Ford, whose seven-hit pitching highlighted the latest victory.

"The plans don't call for me to work the opener," southpaw Ford said after he posted his eighth shutout. "The way we figure it, well start right-handers in Philadelphia. That means I'll pitch the first game at Yankee Stadium."

The Orioles, on the other hand believe the Yankees are a bunch of dreamers.

In other AL games Friday night, Boston edged Minnesota 7-6 and Cleveland defeated Detroit 3-1.

In the National League, Los Angeles nipped Philadelphia 4-3, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 4-3 and Houston trimmed New York 3-2. Rain washed out St. Louis at Cincinnati and Chicago at Milwaukee.

Ford recorded his 15th triumph against six defeats, pitching his fir complete game since July 15. Tony Kubek tripled across the Yankees' first three runs in a four-run second inning. Three walks by Kansas City starter Bob Meyer preceded Kubek's blow.

One error by Brooks Robinson and two by John Orsino helped the Angels to six runs in the fifth inning, five unearned.

But Orsino made the score 8-6 with a homer in the Baltimore fifth, Boog Powell tied it with a two-run clout in the sixth and Adair won it in the seventh following reliever Ed Sukla's walk to Norm Siebern. Luis Aparicio had homered in the fourth for the Orioles' first four-run blow.

A ninth-inning sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Dick Phillips brought in the winning run for the Senators. John Kennedy started the rally with a single and went to third as Mike Brumley's grounder went through Don Buford's legs at second base. The runners advanced on catcher J. C. Martin's passed ball, and Phillips followed with his fly ball.

Gene Corum is in his fifth season as West Virginia football coach.

Intersectional Clashes Dominate College Football

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach John McKay looked over his Southern California football team after a recent practice session, rated them average to strong in most departments, loaded his statement with ifs then allowed "we should field a good college football team."

And he had some particularly nice things to say about halfback Mike Garrett.

So the Trojans obliged by making him look like a prophet. They beat Colorado 21-0 Friday night, appeared to be average to strong in most departments and showed a good college football team. Good, but not spectacular.

Garrett, however, began to take on a spectacular standing. The 185-pound junior, the most highly-sought Los Angeles schoolboy since Jon Arnett, scored all three touchdowns and added a two-point conversion in the night game at Los Angeles that kicked off the first full weekend of the college season.

The game opened a weekend that had an unusual number of major teams playing important opponents as many of the nation's top teams abandoned the old system of opening against a relatively weak opponent.

For example, Oklahoma is at Maryland, Air Force at Washington, Missouri at California, Oregon State at Northwestern and Syracuse at Boston College today.

Possibly the top one of them all, however, could be the match of Navy, No. 2 in the nation last season and once again guided by spectacular quarterback Roger Staubach, and Penn State.

The game is one of four set for regional television coverage. The others are SMU-Florida, Kansas State-Wisconsin and Stanford-Washington State.

Texas, defending national champion, was a top-heavy favorite against Louisiana State, but mighty Mississippi could have its hands full against Memphis State, one of the South's emerging independent powers. Ole Miss was ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press pre-season poll, but well-remembers the scoreless tie with Memphis State last year.

In addition to Southern Cal's triumph, other Friday night scores included: Rhode Island 20 Northeastern 11; Northeast Oklahoma 20 Arkansas Tech 10; Southwestern, Kan. 6, Kansas Wesleyan 0; College of Emporia 34 McPherson 14.

Ex-Pastor Has Captive Audience

By AMBROSE B. DUDLEY

LINCOLNTON, N.C. (AP) — If you are arrested in Lincoln County, you may get a sermon on the way to jail.

That is, if the officer is the Rev. Frank Grigg.

The Rev. Mr. Grigg, a Baptist, retired from the pulpit in 1951 because of a throat ailment. He put on the badge of a Lincoln County deputy sheriff in 1962 at the suggest of a church deacon, Sheriff J. Earlie Norwood.

"When I arrest someone I can always preach him a sermon on the way to jail and there isn't much he can do about it," said Grigg, who lives on a five-acre farm with his wife.

The 70-year-old preaching deputy said he doesn't take all the offenders to call, especially teen-agers.

"You can talk to these young bullies who have just gotten out of school and do some good," Grigg said.

"I caught three boys about 17 years old the other day with three cans of beer and some white liquor. I poured it out. They said they were going to mix it and drink it.

"I gave them a lecture about the evils of liquor," the Rev. Mr. Grigg said. "They didn't know anything about liquor. You know the next day one of the boys called me up and thanked me."

The Rev. Mr. Grigg said the people he arrests sometimes ask him to pray for them.

"When I arrest someone," he said, "I tell him there is a time a coming that he is going to be ashamed of what he did. When you can look back and say you have lived a life you are not ashamed of it is wonderful.

"I tell them there is only one man who can cure you. You can use all the man-made cures you want, but only the Lord can cure the lust."

The Rev. Mr. Grigg still officiates for sick ministers, at funerals, and at weddings. He was a radio pulpit minister on a Concord radio station for six years.

He said he gets the same low pay and works the same irregular hours as a deputy that he did as a full-time minister.

"But I don't mind," he said. "When I go out of this old world I want to leave it in better shape than I found it. A man has a certain mission and I think this is part of mine."

Action Is Postponed On Bank

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Banking Board has postponed until Nov. 5 action on an application to start a new state bank at Fritch, in the Panhandle.

Max Page, who would be chairman of the board of the Fritch State Bank, said at a hearing Friday the town is growing and needs a bank. He said its banking business now goes to Borger, about 15 miles away.

"There is no demonstration this bank could exist economically—and I want to tell you I'm for this type of community having a bank," said Robert Strauss, a Dallas member of the state board.

Banking commissioner J. M. Falkner said some bankers had looked at the proposal and found a bank could not operate successfully in Fritch.

Board members agreed to let the applicants submit additional information in support of their charter reuest.

Applications of the Clear Creek National Bank at Seabrook and the Deer Park National Bank at Deer Park to convert to state banks were approved.

LBJ's Timing Excellent In Revealing New Weapons

By The Associated Press

With the timing of a master prestidigitator, Lyndon Baines Johnson pulled a couple of top military secrets out of his campaign hat last week.

Traveling to California, LBJ told 40,000 listeners the United States is able to spot missiles and bombers beyond the curve of the earth and also destroy bomb-carrying satellites in space.

And then the Pentagon chief, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, a day later on Friday, added to the boss announcement with the disclosure that two of the U.S. antisatellite systems have scored several successful interceptions of U.S. satellites at points "hundreds of miles" above the earth.

The disclosures appeared to be Johnson's replies to frequent charges by Barry Goldwater that his administration had failed to create any new, strategic weapons systems, making the United States vulnerable to enemy attack.

In troubled Southeast Asia, the Gulf of Tonkin cropped up in the news again. On Friday, McNamara told the nation that "preliminary and fragmentary reports" had been received of a nighttime incident in the gulf involving American naval vessels.

"There has been no damage reported by American vessels and no loss of American personnel," he said.

Later it was reported by authoritative sources in Washington that two U.S. destroyers opened fire on what they thought were attacking Communist Vietnamese torpedo boats.

The same sources said the destroyers did not say they were fired upon themselves.

It was in the same gulf a few weeks ago that Red North Vietnamese PT boats had attacked American destroyers, precipitating an American retaliation that hit at installations in Ho Chi Minh's territory.

Weapons systems and weapons were in the air — no pun intended — even before Johnson unveiled his military secrets.

Nikita Khrushchev, halfway across the world in the Kremlin, met with 15 Japanese legislators and the word that came out of that visit was that the Soviet premier had said the Soviets had a super-weapon that could destroy all mankind.

Two days later, Khrushchev said no, no, there was no superweapon. The whole thing was a mistake, caused by a mistranslation from Russian to Japanese to English.

If Khrushchev was engaging in his old sabre-rattling game, this time he was going it with a difference. This time it wasn't the Western "imperialists" he may have been trying to intimidate but his erstwhile Communist partner, Red China, which coincidentally, had made some claims recently on Soviet territory.

Military strength, too, was uppermost in the mind of Goldwater, the GOP presidential candidate.

In his first major nationwide television appeal, he accused the Johnson administration of wanting to cut back on the nation's military muscle. And then, apparently harking back to Democratic charges that he was "reckless" and "impulsive," the Arizona senator said:

"These are the reckless men. These are the imprudent and impulsive men. These are the irresponsible men. And there are the men, these leaders of the Johnson administration, who are risking war — war through weakness."

Earlier Goldwater had gone to Texas and invaded the South seeking votes. His biggest prize — a new ally, Sen. Strom Thurmond, (D-S.C.) who decided to leave the Democratic party and join forces with Goldwater.

Politics wasn't just a U.S. preoccupation last week. Three thousand miles away, the British girded for national elections too — the first time in four decades the two countries had balloted together on a national scale. Tory Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home set Oct. 15 for the voting. The Tories were still the underdog against the Laborites but recent polls showed they were closing the gap.

Both home and abroad, civil rights questions was in the news. In New York, white parents kept their kids out of schools to protest plans to "bus" Negro children into predominately white schools. In Birmingham, Ala. a panel of three federal judges ruled in favor of a local restaurant and said the public accommodations section of the new civil rights law was unconstitutional. But the final word was still to be spoken by the U.S. Supreme Court reconvening on Oct. 5. And in Rome, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Negro rights leader, met with Pope Paul VI in a rare private audience that extended 15 minutes beyond the normal 10.

Said King afterward:

"He said he was a friend of the Negro people and that he was following our struggle in the United States. However, he said he could not accept violence. And I made it clear that we did not support violence either."

Elsewhere on the national scene: There was a quiet birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer of Aberdeen, S.D., whose quintuplets four girls and a boy, reached the age of 1. Mrs. Fischer wanted no to-do. She's expecting. Moving day arrived for a new tenant on New York's Fifth Ave. Three large vans appeared at the curbside and Mrs. John F. Kennedy was on hand for a few moments to supervise things. In Detroit, the Ford Motor Co. reached agreement with the United Auto Workers on a new contract, and Cassius Clay signed his own contract — to defend his heavyweight boxing championship against Sonny Liston, from whom he took the crown, on Nov. 16. And in Washington, there was threat of a strike that could tie up the nation's railroad lines Tueday.

If there were events of sobering consequence elsewhere, it was all light and romance and gaiety in Athens. There, in a storybook drama, 24-year-old King Constantine of the Hellenes and 18-year-old Anne-Marie, princess of Denmark, were wed to the salute of 101 guns and all the city's bells aringing.

Quotes of the week:

"If you live among wolves you should howl like a wolf." Premier Khrushchev.

"The American people can rest assured we have taken every step man can devise to insure that neither a madman nor a malfunction could trigger nuclear war." President Johnson.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Everybody drifting into town these days seems to be terribly interested in Mexico's hallucinatory mushrooms and they all ask, "Where can we get some, huh?"

And visitors ask about mushroom history and do they really work if you eat some and is it against the law to get caught with any. So in the interests of higher science, we will now examine some of the more outstanding points of these vegetables (aren't they?).

Apparently some fellows are under the impression that special buses make regular runs to Mushroomville so people can relax with a quiet hallucination. Stay at the Mushroom Motel — 175 Rooms, 175 Baths, 175 Personal Witchdoctors, rates $2.75 a day with meals.

According to what I have been able to gather, the mushrooms have always been around. They grow in southern Mexico's backwoods mountain regions.

The Indians use them in religious rites and outsiders are not invited although a few scientific observers have managed to get friendly with villagers and witness some of the ceremonies.

So we imagine it all started something like this: an Indian named Ferguson came floating into his village one day and a friend called to him and said, "Hey Fergy, what you doin' up there anyhow?"

Ferguson looked down and said, "Well, if it ain't my friend the Plumed Serpent. I just ate a batch of those mushrooms growing on the mountainside and gee, the thing a person sees in technicolor."

Of course the friend went over to sample a few and pretty soon the whole village was getting into the icebox and writing novels about their experiences.

Undoubtedly the village elders realized it would be bad if people were too happy so they began passing laws until mushrooms became a religious proposition.

And later on you would have Ferguson going around from hut to hut shouting, "All right fellows, the medicine man is ready so let's all run over to the mushroom patch and hold services."

Now and then some of our U. S. bohemians come down and make scientific studies of the situation.

The Mexican government begins getting complaints of people cutting up each other with machetes, sometimes) in a remote region and they start checking around.

When the law arrives, there are all the scientists lying on the ceiling saying things like, "Watch out for that dragon lying in the doorway," and "Come on up here where the weather's fine."

And like everything you eat, drink or smoke, mushrooms are said by some doctors to be (1) dangerous, habit-forming drugs and by others (2) positively harmless.

There was this fellow who wanted to try some so he bought a basket full from a horrible old Indian lady with no teeth. After the fourth or fifth mushroom he looked at her and said, "Gee, Doris Day. You never looked so gorgeous so how about let's get married?"

They did and lived happily ever after, account of she kept him well supplied with mushrooms and sweet dreams. Might be a good market there for some men who come down on a vacation and have to go home again.

Yvonne Becomes Vampire On TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does an actress play a television vampire in Donna Reed style? Yvonne de Carlo is finding out.

Yvonne is one of television's two ghoulfriends for the coming season. The other is Carolyn Jones, the monster's matriarch of "The Addams Family."

The role of Lily in "The Munsters" has befallen Yvonne — the character so named because she sleeps with arms folded coffin-style, a lily on her chest.

I had misgivings when I was told about the role," said Yvonne, who's noted for her glamor roles. After all, I didn't want to destroy whatever image I had established. So I asked the makeup man what the makeup was supposed to be.

He told me the character would have a green face, hollow cheeks, etc. Then I became more worried. But I decided to try the test, figuring I would also be testing the role to see if I wanted to do it.

But when I appeared for the test, I found out I was one of nine girls testing, and we had to sign options that we would accept the role. Now I really was worried. I decided all I could do was put my trust in my agent, and he wanted me to do it."

She was perplexed about how to play a vampire — she had escaped the horror epics during her decade at Universal.

"They told me to play her just like Donna Reed," said Yvonne. That sounded strange to me until I tried it. Now it works. She acts just like any housewife. The difference is in her approach to things, as when she tells her little child to go to bed. And don't forget to close your lid." The makeup turned out to her satisfaction. She wears floor-length black hair — gray-streaked with a widow's peak, of course. Her complexion is a faint green, but it shows up as dead white on the screen. She was pleased when some young visitors to the set commented how glamorous she looked.

I don't think the series will type me with the older audience," she said. "There are enough of them who remember me from my pictures or who see them on the late late show."

TRAVEL TALK

By Hulin Fowler

EDITOR'S NOTE: Third in a series of articles describing Mr. Fowler's experiences in the Bible Lands. Write Mr. Fowler in care of this newspaper for answers to your travel questions.

It took the children of Israel 40 years to cross over from Egypt to the Land of Canaan.

We made it, in an African airliner, in an hour.

Lebanon has been pointed to as the "land flowing with milk and honey" of Biblical times. If compared to the barren waste of Egypt we had just crossed, the description still applies.

Yet, as we waited for Lebanese customs to check our bags, it was difficult to realize that the Beirut airport stood on land that was once ancient Phoenicia, that we were in the ancient land traveled by the 12 tribes of Israel.

A tiny nation about the size of four Texas counties stretched lengthwise, Lebanon is beautifully dominated by snow - capped peaks towering over fertile valleys, lush farmlands, vineyards and orchards.

Beirut, the capital, is a small metropolis of palm - edged drives, bustling Arab business activity, modern office building and beautiful residences overlooking the blue Mediterranean. About one - third of Lebanon's two million inhabitants live in this Arabic Riviera, the international resort mecca of the Arab world.

Lebanon, strongly influenced by Americans, is one of our closest allies among the Arabic nations. The American University in Beirut, the only American seat of higher learning on foreign soil, has also had its influence.

In fact, the city's most luxurious hotel has an "American" soda fountain — luxuriously appointed in red carpeting and velvet fixtures! — and an underground bar built around a glass - walled swimming pool.

Paradoxically, the "land of milk and honey" is most famous for its Baalbek, once a center of Roman paganism and today the site of the most magnificent and best preserved architectural ruins of the ancient world.

The road to Baalbek was mountaineous and winding, often shadowed by towering peaks. As we passed by two of the famed Cedars of Lebanon we were told that only 400 of these cedars were left, some as old as 6,000 years. The aromatic wood was much in demand in Bible times and Solomon once traded 20 cities of Galilee for enough cedar to construct the house of the Lord (1 Kings 5).

Coming out of the mountains we came abruptly on Baalbek in the plains below. Originally a center devoted to the worship of the Semetic sun - god Baal, the city became a Roman colony under Augustus in about A.D. 14. It was once a great city of 400,000 idol worshippers. Today Baalbek is a quiet farm community of about 15,000 people who go about their daily toil apparently unconcerned that history reposes in the ruins about them.

The only word for Baalbek is magnificent. Marble columns seven and one-half feet in diameter rise more than 72 feet into the air to give exclamation points to the peaceful country scene. Broken columns lie strewn about as if knocked from their pillars by an angry giant hand. Weeds and bushes rise amidst the ruins to cast an even more ancient spell over this historic place.

Portions of many of the temples and monuments are in an excellent state of preservation. Still standing is part of the first temple, probably erected to Baal. The chief ruin is the once magnificent Temple of Jupiter, constructed around the 2nd Century A.D. Six of the 54 columns surrounding the temple still remain and their size — six stories tall by seven and one-half feet in diameter — testify to the magnificence of the structure.

The Lebanses government is currently making an attempt to restore these treasured ruins. And someday Baalbek may be restored to its ancient splendor of some 2,000 years ago.

Former Resident Dies In Kansas City

Word was received here Saturday of the death of a former resident, Earl Henry.

Mr. Henry, 69, died Friday morning in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Kansas City. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, the former Willie Jo Sims, formerly of Snyder, a son, Billy Mac Henry of Kansas City, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services were set for Sunday at Marceline, Mo., where Mr. Henry and his wife lived.

Beatles Net Big Money On Tour

By ROBERT HOLTON

NEW YORK (AP) — A battery of accountants and attorneys has begun a financial mopping-up operation in the wake of a 30-day Beatle tour of the United States and Canada.

One thing appeared certain from early reports:

The particular brand of entertainment presented by the mop-topt d British imports drained as much from the pocketbooks as it did from the emotions of their millions of teen-aged fans.

The quartet of newly minted millionaires from the waterfront slums of Liverpool rounded out their 24-city tour at Dallas, Tex., Friday night and will be in New York Sunday, for a benefit performance.

In the absence of official figures, a survey of some 15 of the cities visited indicated they picked up well over $1 million.

A Kansas City promoter paid them $150,000 for a single appearance in that city.

For their entertainment of 12,500 screeching teen-aged fans in Indianapolis, the Beatles picked up a tidy $85,231.93.

In most cases the seats sold for about $5. In New York's Forest Hills tennis stadium, some 32,000 persons paid $6.60 each, and more.

In most cases, shows were sold out within hours after box offices opened.

Sunday the Beatles will give a benefit program in the Paramount Theater and then leave for London.

Beatles spokesmen said the entertainers received 60 percent of the gross of each performance.

They couldn't give the total attendance or gross receipts of the tour.

Royalty's Merrymakers Head Home

By EDDY GILMORE

ATHENS (AP) — Europe's royalty headed home today, exhausted from seven hectic days of partying which led up to the wedding Friday of King Constantine of Greece and Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark.

The crush of parties, combined with torrid autumn weather, left some of the royalty looking somewhat less than regal.

King Frederik of Denmark, father of Greece's new queen, looked particularly weary.

Frederik and his family arrived Sept. 12, and from that time onwards, Athens rocked with one royal party after another.

The most trying ordeal for many was the wedding itself.

Temperatures in parts of the cathedral, which has no air conditioning, reached 100 degrees during the 45-minute ceremony. Outside, the temperature was in the 90s.

Even the bridegroom seemed to suffer during the wedding. At the end of the ceremony, perspiration dotted Constantine's forehead. From time to time he gulped, and his hands trembled. It appeared to be more than just bridegroom jitters.

Athens itself is littered with paper.

Police said more than a million persons lined the streets for the theatrical wedding procession after the ceremony.

A million people can leave quite a mess.

Whimsey, Fantasy Bungled On Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Whimsy and fantasy are as delicate as bubbles, easily shattered by rough handling. And somebody with a sledgehammer got to fooling around with "Bewitched," ABC's new comedy series.

The result, on display for the first time Thursday night, was disappointing, for the original idea was enchanting. It was proposed to take a pretty young witch named Samantha, descendant of a long line of househaunting, broomstick-riding, cauldron-stirring witches, and have her fall in love with a typical, red-blooded American boy.

At that point, apparently, the Hollywood sausage-makers started meddling with the brew. First they transformed the typical red-blooded American boy into an advertising agency man. Then they endowed Samantha with a bunch of those familiar magic tricks that "My Favorite Martian" has been performing for about a year now.

Finally — and this was the lowest blow of all — they added a laugh track that could only have been recorded by an audience watching the Three Stooges throw pies.

Elizabeth Montgomery plays Samantha in a broad style better suited to Carol Burnett. Dick York plays her pop-eyed husband. The meat of the first episode involved a dinner given by the husband's jealous ex-girl friend, who tried to embarrass the bride. Miss Montgomery evoked her best tricks by wiggling her nose like a rabbit, made dishes move, windows fly open and trays spill.

Walter Cronkite has been brought back to the news fronts from a short exile by his CBS bosses who found that two did no better than one heading up the network's convention coverage.

The respected veteran newsman will be reporting the running story of the national elections on the night of Nov. 3 in CBS key commentary spot.

CBS, still trying to improve its ratings for political coverage, plans a radical change of format for covering the returns.

Saturday — "Flipper," premiere, NBC, 7:30-8 p.m., series about a boy and a pet dolphin; "The Famous Adventures of Mr. Magoo, premiere, NBC, 8-8:30, cartoon series; "Kentucky Jones," premiere, NBC, 8:30-9, Dennis Weaver stars in a comedy series about a horse trainer and his adopted Chinese son.

Sunday — "Broadside," premiere, ABC, 8:30-9 p.m., comedy series about a group of Waves in the wartime South Pacific.

Third Party Not Needed, Says Senator

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who this week switched his allegiance from the Democrats to the Republicans, says there is no need for a third party in this country as long as the GOP remains the conservative party.

The senator accompanied the Republican presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, to Longview Friday and flew to Dallas for a quick visit with Texas GOP leaders before going to Atlanta.

"We need a realignment of the parties," Thurmond told newsmen at Dallas.

He had been voting along with the Republican presidential candidate in the Senate "because we believe in the same thing," he said.

The South Carolina senator said he knew of several other Democratic senators who were unhappy and he expected them to become Republicans within the next few years.

"There is no need for a third party this year because the Goldwater Republican party stands for what the people of the South and the people of this nation believe in," he said, adding that he believes the Republican party will remain conservative.

Thurmond said Goldwater is strong and will gain strength because he understands the Constitution of the United States and is aware of the dangers confronting this country.

He said control of the Democratic party has been seized by the liberals, union leaders, the NAACP and power politics."

Thurmond was accompanied to Dallas in a private plane by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex. They were met at the airport by State Republican Chairman Peter O'Donnell.

Interesting Eccentric Heads Fabulous Empire In Africa

By STAN SWINTON

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — "People merely consider me an interesting eccentric."

But this "interesting eccentric," Harry Frederick Oppenheimer, heads an empire of some 150 companies which produce diamonds, gold, copper and a sizeable portion of Africa's mineral and industrial output.

Oppenheimer, one of the most interesting white men in Africa, is as many-faceted as the diamonds he mines.

He is a tycoon controlling an economic organization worth at least $3 billion. The annual report of his Anglo- American Corp. of South Africa Ltd., takes 79 pages to list its holdings and accomplishments.

His headmaster at school said in farewell: "I expect you will do better in the world than you have here." He did. Today, Oppenheimer can discuss art, music, poetry or literature in four or five languages — and do the same about horses or rugby. Behind him is a record of honors at Oxford and distinction in service with the British 8th Army in North Africa.

Most of all, Oppenheimer is a voice of moderation in South Africa, where the aspirations of white and black men seem headed on a collision course.

The political outcome in that crucial nation will weigh heavily in the future of the continent.

With six per cent of Africa's population, South Africa produces about 30 per cent of the continent's industrial goods. Her gold (over 20 per cent of free world production), diamonds (over half of world production with marketing control of at least 85 per cent of world production), copper and heavy industry can speed African development by decades — or, if isolated from the remainder of the continent, can commensurately slow it.

The crucial South African issue, internally and internationally, is apartheid, the South African government's basic policy of separating the nation's 3,250,300 whites from the 11,645,000 blacks, called Bantus here; 1,648,000 mixed bloods or colored and 522,000 Asians.

Behind a gleaming hardwood table at Anglo-American headquarters, Harry Oppenheimer discussed the problem and offered his solution in an interview.

"The Africans in a material way are better off in South Africa than elsewhere on the continent. But if people are in prison, it doesn't matter how agreeable the prison is."

What would Oppenheimer do to bridge this gap between white and non-white in Africa?

"I'd remove the things which themselves have become symbols creating bitterness.

"First, remove the land apartheid act (which seeks to create separate areas for whites, coloreds, Asians and blacks).

"Second, take more black Africans into the civil service.

"Third, have Africans in Parliament.

"Fourth, couple this with a crash educational program."

Oppenheimer feels that education must precede the one vote for one man concept. The black South African is fortunate if he has had a few years of grade school, often taught by a teacher who completed little more. But education can provide a long-range South African solution, Oppenheimer is convinced.

He also believes that the black African must be given more economic opportunities, a field in which he practices what he preaches. Oppenheimer persuaded South African unions to open many job categories to blacks. He feels that more must be done.

Further increases in South African production and a more efficient labor force "will be limited unless we can train the labor force, particularly non-Europeans, far better, and organize industry to make full use of the skills they acquire. In South Africa, 60 per cent of the workers in industry are classed as unskilled as compared with 15 per cent in the United States of America."

Some Areas Get Needed Rainfall

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Rains spread across much of Texas this week. They brought some relief.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the moisture will hasten small grain planting in the more favored areas and aid ranges. Harvesting was delayed.

Much more rain is needed, he said, to build up subsoil moisture for lasting effects.

Moisture helped wheat planting prospects in the Panhandle in areas receiving heavier amounts. The area is short on subsoil moisture and before the rains, most farmers were waiting to seed wheat. Range conditions were poor and feeding started in some counties.

Showers fell in parts of the South Plains but generally moisture is short to very short. Feeding and marketing are increasing. Cotton harvesting was gathering momentum before the showers. The grain sorghum harvest was fast but yields were below normal. Some wheat and oats were up and much planting was being done.

Rolling Plains work before the showers was largely the harvesting of cotton and planting of grain. Boll weevil and bollworm activity increased in some counties and web worm damaged some alfalfa.

Most of North Central Texas reported moisture short before some good rains at midweek. Most farmers had been waiting for rain to plant grain. Peanuts are still in fair condition.

Rains helped Northeast Texas but were too late for crops. Yields of corn, cotton, sorghum, hay and vegetables were a third to a half normal. The sweet potato harvest is at its peak; army worms are causing damage; temporary pastures were being planted with some up to good stands.

Light to heavy rains improved the moisture situation in far West Texas and will promote some late grass growth but ranges are still very short. Livestock numbers are still being reduced and calves and lambs are going to market. The cotton harvest is on. Alfalfa is being baled and prices were excellent.

Showers and cooler weather brightened grass prospects in some parts of West Central Texas but pastures generally are poor. The cotton harvest is picking up but yields are poor. Pecan crop prospects are only fair. Livestock were in fair shape with culling heavy and some breeding stock being sold.

The cotton harvest is 70 per cent complete in Central Texas. Major activites were completing the harvest, preparing land and seeding grains. Grass is short and scarce but livestock are in fair to good condition.

In East Texas, the cotton and corn harvests were pressed. Hay is being baled but army worms are reported in Sabine, Montgomery, Madison, Nacogdoches and Trinity counties. The pecan crop will be short. Pastures are below average.

Except for late and second crop rice, harvesting in the upper Gulf Coast and Southeast Texas is about complete. In general, crop yields were good. Farmers are destroying stalks, plowing and baling hay.

South Central Texas ranges are mostly poor but livestock are in fair to good condition. Considerable feeding is necessary. Hay is in good supply; the harvest is about over; and yields have exceeded expectations.

The cotton harvest is down to the scrapping stage in the Valley and Coastal Bend. The sorghum harvest is complete. Planting of vegetables was slow and ranges were below average.

NROTC Test Is Scheduled For Dec. 12

Applications are now available for the Navy's 19th annual NROTC qualification test, according to Jack Longbotham, counselor at Snyder High School. The nationwide examination will be given Dec. 12 and all eligible male high school seniors and graduates may apply.

On the basis of this test, personal interviews, physical examinations and other factors, Longbotham explained, over 2,000 young men will be given college educations as midshipmen in NROTC units in 52 well-known colleges and universities throughout the country.

Registrations for the test will close Nov. 20. Informational bulletins and applications are available from Longbotham or the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

A successful applicant receives financial aid for four years of college. This includes tuition, books, uniforms, miscellaneous expenses and a $50 per month retainer fee. After successfully completing college degree requirements and naval science training, NROTC midshipmen become commissioned officers in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

During their training, regular NROTC midshipmen enjoy three summer cruises with various naval units, including visits to foreign ports. These cruises help them learn more about the variety of interesting, challenging opportunities available to them as naval officers.

Male citizens of the United States who will be over 17 but not yet 21 on June 30, 1965, and who are now high school seniors or graduates, are eligible to apply for the Dec. 12 qualifying test.

Scholarship Is Awarded

Dwain Butler has been selected by the committee on scholarships and awards to receive a Texas Tech scholarship for freshmen for the 1964-65 term.

He also has been awarded a band scholarship for the Red Raider Band.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Butler, Sunray Camp. A graduate of Snyder High School, he will be a physics major at Tech. While in high school, he was a member of the National Honor Society and the Black and Gold Band.

BAPTIST CONFERENCE SPEAKER — Dr. James Basden of Dallas, secretary of the Human Welfare Commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will be one of the featured speakers here Monday at the annual conference of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Association. The conference will be held at First Baptist Church in Snyder, beginning at 10 a.m. Monday. Dr. Basden's message at 8:10 p.m. will be the closing feature of the conference. Representatives of Southern Baptist Churches from throughout Mitchell and Scurry Counties are expected to attend the conference.

Better Let Him Have The Road

CHICAGO (AP) — Policeman Lucius White did a doubletake when a driver pulled alongside him, aimed a revolver at him and bellowed: "Pull over."

White, off-duty and not in uniform said he was driving on the Dan Ryan Expressway Friday when he heard the order and looked out the window into a revolver's month.

"That man was really in a hurry," White said later. "I pulled over and let him pass."

White then chased the car, but lost it in heavy morning rush hour traffic.

27 Students Are In DE Program

A total of 27 students have registered for participation in the Distributive Education program at Snyder High School.

Distributive Education is a program designed to prepare high school students for useful employment in occupations of their choice, enabling them to either better prepare themselves for college work or to prepare for entry in those fields after high school graduation.

Work done by the students must be of a distributive type, such as wholesale, retail, or service selling type of business. The students obtain individual and group instruction in the many phases of business education as well as regular school work during the morning hours. In the afternoons they receive actual on-the-job training by working half-time in the various businesses.

Local businesses cooperating in the program this year include: Glover's Clothing Store, Furr's Supermarket, Safeway Food Store, Erwin's Furniture Store, Josephson Real Estate, Central Tire Service, West Texas State Bank, Arrow Construction Co., Whitfield's Variety Store, Sears Roebuck & Co., C. R. Anthony Co., Burgess Pharmacy, Bennett Office Supply, Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Erwin's Jewelry, White's Auto Store, J. C. Penney Co., Reddin's Drug Store, Snyder Drug Co., The Fair Store, Bud's Office Supply, Perry's Variety Store, Snyder Athletic Supply, and Snyder Daily News.

New Club Formed By Teachers

The Industrial Arts and Vocational Education Departments of the Snyder School System met Monday in the homemaking lab at Snyder High School. This was the first of a series of meetings that will be held for the next four Monday afternoons from 5 to 6 p.m.

Even though each of the various departments represented, which includes Industrial Arts, Homemaking, Industrial Cooperative Training, Distributive Education, and Vocational Agriculture, have different philosophy and objectives, they do have the common objective of training our youth for a well rounded and productive adult life. In order that these various departments may work more closely together, it was felt that each department should present a short informal program, in order that the departments might better understand each other.

This first program was presented by the junior and senior high homemaking departments, with Miss Vera Periman as chairman. Miss Periman introduced the various teachers in this department and by use of students, an overhead projector, over lays and a piano, presented a skit showing the use of hands in molding our culture.

This was followed by a student rendition of the "Lord's Prayer".

Mrs. Viola Gracey, next on the program, explained how students of junior high studied correct diets and its effects. She had on display several examples of sewing done by students in junior high school.

Miss Hysaw of Lincoln School showed how correct table setting and service was done.

Mrs. Helen Martin took the group on a tour of her area of homemaking explaining about home laundry, good grooming, household goods purchasing, home design, and dress making.

Miss Periman took the group on a tour of the cooking area explaining the various china displays, kitchen planning and the living area.

Mrs. Ula Williams, school nurse, explained how she assisted this department by giving instructions in the care of bed patients.

The meeting was attended by members of the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education Departments, school administrators, and other interested persons.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

BABY'S TEETH —
By Harold K. Addelston, D.D.S.
Professor of Pedodontics
N.Y. Uni. College of Dentistry

It is commonly assumed that baby is born without teeth. This isn't so at all. Deep within baby's jaw are twenty primary teeth that began forming early in baby's prenatal life. At birth, the crowns of these pirmary teeth are almost completely formed.

Shortly after birth, the enamel of baby's first permanent teeth start to form in his jaw. These particular teeth are sometimes called "six-year molars" because they appear at about the age of six. They do not replace any primary teeth but come in just behind them.

The earliest teeth to appear in baby's mouth are the four primary central incisors. These are located in the front of the mouth, two upper and two lower. They appear approximately between six and eight months of age. The lower teeth usually will appear first.

Between seven and 11 months of age, four more teeth, upper and lower, will appear. These are the lateral incisors at either side of the central teeth. Between 12 and 16 months of age, the back teeth or first primary molars will appear. Then the cuspids will appear to fill in the space between. At about the age of 24 month the second primary molars will appear.

Dental care is needed when baby's first teeth begin to appear. Mother can start cleaning baby's mouth with a soft piece of guaze or a Q-tip right after each feeding as soon as baby is on semi-solid chewing food. "Toothbrushing - training" may begin as soon as the child will accept the brush. A young child who has the opportunity to see other members of the family use a tooth brush will "ask" for one. The child should be encouraged to "use" the brush after each meal, but mother should continue to supervise the brushing, and continue to clean food debris from all surfaces of all teeth until the child is able to brush correctly, as a dentist teaches the child.

Correct eating habits and keeping the teeth clean are effective home - care weapons against tooth decay. Preventive dentistry should be started when a child is still young. If a child's teeth are properly cared for, a strong foundation is laid for minimizing dental troubles in later years. Children's teeth are meant to last a lifetime. With the right care, they can.

Although it's safe to store tomatoes in the refrigerator in an opened can, it's not a good idea to do so because the tomatoes may take on a metallic taste.

Altrurian Daughters First Meet

The Altrurian Daughters Club held their first meeting of the 1964-65 season Wednesday with their traditional breakfast, served buffet style.

Mrs. M. L. Broman, president, gave the welcome and Federation report, a resume of summer's club activities, and announced duties of committees for this year's work.

Mrs. P. W. Cloud, year book chairman, presented and discussed the new year books and course of study, "Diversified Interests of Women".

Central P-TA Has Open House

"Consecrate us to the service of all children everywhere," prayed Mr. Moses Padilla as 250 parents and teachers of Central Elementary began their new year of work Monday night.

Parents and teachers had become acquainted earlier in their homerooms. Workbooks were on display and proud parents were shown the quality and quantity of work that had been completed the past weeks.

For the first time since Mr. Herman Trigg became principal, there were no new teachers on the staff at Central. The not "old" but "used" teachers were introduced and a short biography given of each. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. McPherson won the cup for most parents present.

Mrs. Donald Bradley presented the new officers with their vitamins for the coming year. To Mrs. Elois Davis, she gave vitamin L, for leadership; Mrs. Jo Cotton received vitamin A for aide to the president; Mrs. Forrest Beaver and Mrs. Ethel Sowell received appropriate vitamins as secretary and treasurer.

"Bless Thou our fellowship as we work for the children of our land", so goes the Parent - Teacher prayer, as happy children, parents and teachers had refreshments in the cafeteria.

French Toasted Ham Sandwiches

1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
½ cup mayonnaise
Prepared mustard to taste
8 slices bread
3 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk
Dash of salt
¼ cup butter or margarine

Mix together the ham, mayonnaise and mustard; make 4 sandwiches with the mixture and the bread; cut each into 2 triangles. Beat eggs with milk and salt enough to blend; dip sandwiches into mixture. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a large skillet; add sandwiches and brown slowly; turn, adding remaining butter and brown other side. Makes 4 servings.

Health Note

One way to protect against infections in the bathroom is to use surfacing materials that are as impervious as possible, such as ceramic tile. Real tile not only is sanitary, easily cleaned and durable, but also comes in a wide range of fade-proof colors to brighten the modern bath.

Everybody Talks About The Leather

The smartest, most forward-looking designers have turned to leather for the liveliest young fashions in town (and country)! Working with luscious, pliant skins from Brazil, Morocco, Turkey, and India, they have created an endless variety of subtle shapes and silhouettes that perfectly reflect the active young lives of those who will wear them. Gone forever is that stiff look that leather clothes once wore. The finest, smooth grained, hand-cut and hand-matched leathers from imported skins are worked just like fabrics, and shape up into zesty, high-styled fashions to be worn twelve months a year.

This fall, leather goes to blazers. There's a stunning double-breasted version buttoned in brass and worn over a permanently pleated skirt. . .both leather! Come winter, Angola leather-cold-resisting - snuggles up to furs, with smashing results. Leather coats, suits, and capes are trimmed and lined with every fur that ever grew (or was invented: fox, mink, chinchilla, opposum.) And important, too, are the leather clothes lined with fur real and fur fake. See rugged sheepdog - shaggy acrylic pile-lined storm coats: bound in leather and flung over slim leather skirts, tied at the waist.

See trench coats, goal coats, car coats, in every conceivable style, all of marvelous easy-to-care for grain leather.

Far from being the exclusive property of the outdoor crowd, leather gets dressed up with real feminine finesse. There's a two-piece cocktail dress consisting of a curvaceous tunic shaped over its own slim skirt, a knit collar curling around the neck. For evening, smooth leather takes to jewelling — and extraordinary juxtaposition of two elements that make a magnificent marriage! For a real show stopper, there's a narrow knit evening dress beneath a floor length evening coat, carved under the bust for an opulent Empire look. For those who admire turncoats, there's a black leather ¾ affair, lined in a big, bold tweed with its own leather-lined skirt . . both reversible.

Everybody's playing hid 'n' chic from the teenager in her racy leather blazer to the sleekest sophisticate in that leather evening ensemble. Europe has been in love with the look for some time, and now it's the Status Coat in Japan . . . just wait 'til the fabulous fashions in stain resistant, smooth-grained leather hits the American market . . that lure of leather is absolutely irresistible.

Add cooked beets to a salad at the last moment so they won't color the other vegetables or other food additions.

A suspicion of sugar and nutmeg added to creamed spinach or celery gives these vegetables a lift.

Pears Glamorize Rice Pudding

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE, Associated Press Food Editor

WHEN IS rice pudding good enough for company?

When it is made with fresh Bartlett pears and toasted slivered almonds. The pears are juicy and full of flavor. The almonds came in handy cans—to our mind one of the best of modern packaging feats.

As to the rice mixture: it is pleasantly soft and creamy because the rice is given a brief water-bath before it is cooked in milk.

A shallow scalloped white pottery baking dish, the sort the French sometimes use for Quiche Lorraine, is fine for baking this pudding. So is an ordinary American glass pie plate - the deep kind that most of our kitchens hold.

SPICY PEAR RICE PUDDING

½ cup long grain rice
1 cup cold water
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 firm-ripe Bartlett pears
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cloves
2 tablespoons honey
¼ cup toasted slivered almonds

In a saucepan, bring the rice and cold water to a boil; let stand 5 minutes; drain thoroughly.

In the clean saucepan, stir together the drained rice, milk, salt and 2 tablespoons of the sugar. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until rice is tender - about 25 minutes. Remove from heat.

In a small bowl, beat eggs enough to blend yolks and whites. Stir a little of the hot rice mixture into the eggs return mixture to saucepan; stir in butter.

Pare, core, halve and slice pears lengthwise. Mix together the remaining 2 tablespoons sugar, lemon rind, cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves.

Turn half of the rice mixture into a glass pie plate (9½ inches across inside and 1½ inches deep). Arrange half the pear slices in a concentric design over the rice; sprinkle with half the sugar mixture. Repeat layers. Drizzle honey over top; sprinkle with almonds.

Place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 25 minutes. Serve warm - with cream, if you like. Makes 6 servings.

BARTLETT PEARS lend their delightful flavor to an elegant rice pudding that is topped with spices, honey and almonds.

There's No News Like Knit News

Tend to your knitting if you're making socks or mufflers, but if fashion is your passion, let the experts knit you the freshest wardrobe this side of Paris. The most newsworthy knit fabrics range from the smoothest stretch nylons to the fluffiest mohair and orlon blends.

INTO THE STRETCH: Pants are in town and on the town this fall. News is made by new Thal - lined knits for pants, tricot - backed for shape retention. Smooth or ribbed nylon stretch pants are paired with their own vivid tops in stretch knit, sometimes a-bloom with bamboo shoots, sometimes bubble-printed and sometimes topped with tailored blazer jackets. These aren't relegated to homebodies or to country settings but are meant to liven the street scene right here in town.

STRAIGHT TO THE HIP: Some of the prettiest new dresses are two-part costumes with easy out overblouses that fall straight to the hip. These are particularly successful in a lustrous stretch nylon knit with the simplest of detailing to spark them; or in Mirathal, a new acetate knit with a luxury look; seaming or piping, little bows or big bows, new neckline treatments. . .and newest of all — one touch of leather.

RUNNING THE GAMUT: Suits that come in two and three parts run the gamut from sleek matte finishes to waffled knits to puffy mohair mixes and include a tweed and ribbed look in the fashion picture.

SILHOUETTES ARE FULL of motion, and pleats give skirts a frisky, on-the-go look. Watch the box pleats, knife pleats, inverted pleats, and kick pleats. . . each contributing to the razzle dazzle look of this fall's knits.

A GLIMPSE AT THE FUTURE: the jump suit in sleek stretch nylon double knit clings to the body from turtle - neckline to the ankle bone; a tube of stretch nylon ribbed knit for a turtle-neck dress that pops back into shape like a good knit should.

Celery Frances

3 cups celery crescents, ⅛ to ¼ inch thick
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
1 large onion, finely chopped (1 scant cup)
1 can (6 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
Freshly ground pepper to taste

In a medium covered saucepan, boil the celery with the boiling water and salt until just tender — 5 to 8 minutes; drain. In the saucepan cook the onion and mushrooms in the butter until the onion is golden. Add celery and reheat; stir in pepper. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Double Ring Vows Unite Miss Westfall, Mr. Huckle

The Colonial Hill Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Dana Lynn Westfall of Snyder, and Mr. Wilbur Allen Huckle of San Antonio on Saturday, September 12th, at 6:30 p.m.

Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremonies before an arch of greenery and white and pink roses flanked with baskets of gladiola on either side. An isle cloth was used.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Westfall, Route 1, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Huckle, San Antonio.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown designed and fashioned by herself and her mother. The fitted bodice and slim bell skirt were of peau de soie and silk crepe georgette. Beautiful cut flowers of re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced the neckline and skirt, and framed the removable panel train of silk - faced peau de soie. Her veil of bridal illusion and enhanced by seed pearls fell from a cabbage rose of self material. She wore the traditional blue garter, an old gold locket of her mother's and pennies minted the year of the couple's birth.

She carried a white Bible covered with satin and lace and a white handkerchief, topped with a cascading bouquet of gardenias surrounded with Frenched mums and flowing satin streamers.

June Westfall attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Anita Goodrick of Pecos, cousin of the bride, and Georgia Spence of Snyder. Lesa Westfall, sister of the bride was flower girl. They wore street-length dresses fashioned like the bride's, in pink whipped cream. Their headdresses were cabbage roses of self material with short veils. They wore pearls, a gift of the bride, white shoes and gloves, and carried long stemmed pink roses.

Mr. Ralph Wesson was organist, and accompanied Darlene Scott of Seminole, cousin of the bride as she sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg, "Love Never Faileth" by Root, and "Oh Perfect Love" as prayer hymn by Barnby.

Woody Owens of Roscoe was best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Jeff Brown of Big Spring, Roger Reid of Alpine and Don Spiller of Bronte.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother chose a blue dress with matching accessories.

A reception followed in fellowship hall. The white lace covered table was centered with long stemmed roses. Sandra Autry presided at the three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Patsy Mebane served punch. Iris Huckle, sister of the groom, registered guests.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a pink crepe dress fashioned with a slim skirt and embroidered bodice, with matching hat, burgundy shoes and bag. She wore pearls, a gift of the groom.

The couple will make their home in Alpine.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Snyder High School and was a member of the Gay 20 Club for four years. She attended Sul Ross one year.

The groom is a graduate of San Antonio High School and attended Sul Ross three and one-half years, played baseball in college until signing with the New York Mets.

Out-of-town guests were from San Antonio, Pecos, Monahans, Big Spring, Plainview, Lamesa, Sweetwater, Bronte, Roby, Rotan, Hobbs, Seminole, and Roscoe.

GARDEN PARTY—The American Business Women's Association was host to a Hawaiian garden party honoring prospective members Thursday evening in the beautiful yard and patio of Mrs. Flora Hughes. A salad supper was served in the traditional manner and customs of the Hawaiians. Vera Periman brought an interesting program showing slides she had taken on a recent visit to the islands. Members and guests were presented leis as they entered the candlelight path leading to the colorful setting. Benefits of ABWA were explained by Mrs. Lois Leech, president. Above are some of the members and guests who attended.

Braised Steak

3 pounds bone-in chuck steak (1½ inches thick)
¼ cup flour mixed with 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
2 large onions, chopped
1 large rib celery, chopped
1 large clove garlic, crushed

Trim most of fat from around meat; pound flour mixture over little of the cut-off fat in a large heavy skillet with a heat-proof handle (or handles) and brown the meat rapidly on both sides; drain off fat. Add remaining ingredients; cover tightly and cook in a slow (300 degrees) oven for 2 to 2½ hours or until meat is very tender. Spoon off surface fat. Cut away bones; cut meat into serving - size portions. Makes 6 servings.

When you use canned mushrooms in a sauce, you may want to use the mushroom liquid as part of the liquid called for in the recipe.

Wardrobes Carefully Selected

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Four feminine wardrobes, carefully selected to try and influence history, are being packed and repacked as the presidential campaign tours get into full swing.

Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey sewed her own back home in Minnesota this summer. Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson shopped for hers in New York one day while the President was kept waiting.

Mrs. Barry Goldwater made her selections in Phoenix after consulting the fashion buyer of the family departent store.

Her campaign mate, Mrs. William E. Miller, shopped the little specialty stores, and a few of the department stores in Washington, for comfortable, non-wrinkling garments.

A style expert who assists many Washington wives says a campaigner should dress "expensively enough to show appreciation of quality, but not so noticeably that she appears to be a spendthrift; well enough to elicit admiration, but not so splendidly she generates jealousy among the ladies."

Mrs. Johnson took the first of her new clothing purchases on her Midwest barnstorming tour that began Thursday.

Although the President's wife usually will not disclose the sources of her purchases, or describe them, it is well known that she prefers yellows, bright reds, oranges and whites. Sheaths and A-line costumes predominate in her wardrobe.

With short, slim Muriel Humphrey, whose husband is the President's running mate, creating costumes is a costuming hobby. In each finished garment she stitches her own label, "By Muriel Humphrey."

A black brocade dinner dress is a favorite Muriel-made, but shades of blue which compliment her blue eyes and graying hair are her usual color choices. Mrs. Humphrey prefers jacket costumes that adapt to changing weather and varying social situations.

Of the four women, Peggy Goldwater, a former designer and fashion buyer, probably has the greatest interest in fashion.

Fashion buyer Dorothy Gays at Goldwater's Department Store in Phoenix said Mrs. Goldwater's costumes always have a natural waist, sleeves and soft easy skirts.

MRS. RONALD GENE FLEMING

Virginia Kay Jackson Becomes Bride Of Ronald Gene Fleming In Cleburne Rites

CLEBURNE — In a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening, September 5, at the Central Church of Christ, Miss Virginia Kay Jackson decended the aisle to become the bride of Mr. Ronald Gene Fleming. Leonard C. Waggoner, minister of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Allen Jackson, 1311 N. Anglin, and the late Mr. Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Virgel Fleming, Route 3, Snyder, are the bridegroom's parents.

Traditional wedding selections were presented by an a cappella chorus of Abilene Christian College students. Selections included "No Other Love", "Because", "O Perfect Love", and "Father, Hear This Prayer We Offer", Miss Malissa Starnes of Waco, soloist sang "Whither Thou Goest" following the scripture reading of the story of Ruth. The chorus was under the direction of Roger Helgesen of Belton.

Centering the rostrum was an arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums flanked on each side by three seven-tiered candelabras holding tapers. Greenery was used very thickly at the base of the candelabras. The family peaus were marked with white satin ribbon bows.

Given in marriage by her older brother, Grady Jackson of Fort Worth, the bride was formally gowned in diamond white silk-faced peau de soie. Her dress was designed with a molded bodice, beateau neckline, and long fitted sleeves that tapered to points. The bodice featured one large lace rose appliqué hand traced with seed pearls and crystals and two smaller appliques at the points of each sleeve. The skirt featured seven triple-box pleated panels which roses traced with pearls and crystals. The skirt fell to a very full sweeping court train. The dress was made by the bride's mother and several close friends. A pearl studded lace crown held the six layer pouf veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of gardinias and stephonatis. The bride carried out the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, and a lucky six pence in her shoe.

Mrs. James Franklin Easdon of Snyder, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Lou Harrell and Mrs. Ronald Wallace both of Cleburne; Miss Linda Shaw of Hobbs, New Mexico; and Mrs. Curtis Todd Miller of Waco. The attendants wore street length dresses of teal blue peau de soie fashioned with full bell skirts that overlapped in the center front and fitted bodice with bateau necklines. They wore hand rolled roses of the same material with matching tulle veils. Each carried a styrofam ball covered with poufs of teal blue tulle and white pompon chrysanthemums with a white satin ribbon handle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jackson wore a mauve silk dress styled with a straight skirt and the bodice front draped to the shoulder where she wore her corsage of gardinias. Her hat was a circle of mauve satin leaves. Mrs. Fleming chose a beige silk suit with tan lizard accessories. Her hat was a blend of soft green feathers. Her corsage was gardinias also.

The bridegroom's attendants were Jerry Fleming of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom as best man; Fred Mosley and Charles Harlow both of McCamey; Jim Turley of Grandfalls, and Jerry Guthrie of Lubbock.

Mrs. Jackson entertained with a reception at the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cutwork cloth. The wedding cake featured four layers with columns holding the top layer which was topped with three white satin bells with lilies of the valley centering each one. Centering the table was a three tiered silver candelabra holding tapers. Punch was served from a silver bowl which was surrounded at the base with greenery and white pompons. Guests were registered by Mrs. Grady Jackson at a small lace covered table featuring a large sniffer holding a floating white mum. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Charles Given, Mrs. Raymon Glenn, Mrs C. M. Phillips, Mrs. Charles Head, and Misses Judy Johnson, and Beverly Williams, all of Cleburne, Misses Paula Bray of Fort Worth, Deanie Allen of Bronte, Oleta Chisum of Dalhart, and Malissa Starnes of Waco.

When the newlyweds left for a short trip, the bride was wearing an Italian silk blue suit with lizard accessories and a gardinia corsage. The couple was taken by private plane from the Cleburne air port to start their trip.

The former Miss Jackson is a graduate of Cleburne High School and attended Abilene Christian College for three years where she was a member of Ko Jo Kai social club. She is now employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Lubbock.

Mr. Fleming is a graduate of Snyder High School and is now a senior student in accounting at Texas Tech in Lubbock and is employed with C. E. Dean and Company. He will continue his studies this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, parents of the bridegroom entertained the wedding party Saturday morning with a breakfast at the Redwood Restaurant prior to the rehearsal. About twenty - five attended.

At noon Saturday, a bridesmaid's luncheon was given at the Way Side Inn for the bride and her attendants and out-of-town girl friends. About 20 attended.

Once Near Worthless Land Now Worth Small Ransom

By HAROLD R. WILLIAMS

HOUSTON (AP)—One of the favorite stories around the Manned Spacecraft Center is about a friend or relative who once owned land near the space agency.

"Old Zeke owned a lot of that land. Had it for years but couldn't get rid of it. Finally sold it for $100 an acre a year before NASA moved in. He thought he had made a killing. Reckon the same land is worth $100 a foot now."

In 1956, property near the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's center sold for $1,400 an acre. It now has an $80,000-plus tag on it.

The center is about 25 miles south of downtown Houston near Center Lake. Three years ago the marshy land had a few battered farm buildings and some scrawny cattle.

The announcement 2½ years ago that Houston had been selected over some 20 other cities for the civilian space agency site caused great excitement.

Rice University and Humble Oil Co. donated the land to the government. Properties nearby rocketed in value.

Big corporations gobbled up the land and disclosed plans to build entire cities within the center's shadow.

One of the first to start was the Nassau Bay Development Co., with a $100 million residential, industrial and office complex across the street from the space center.

Eleven astronauts live there now. When the residential phase is completed, 1,200 homes will be on wooded lots, all close to a lake, says Jack Ball, executive vice president.

Nassau Bay also has four 2-story office buildings finsihed, with plans for 12 more, plus high-rise buildings if the need arises.

The Wilbur Clark Hotel Corp. is finished a luxury hotel. The Sheraton Hotel Corp. plans a fancy motor hotel.

Del Webb, a nationally known builder, was one of the first to build. A luxurious motel was finished while workmen were still putting up space agency buildings.

The Del Webb Construction Co. formed a partnership with Humble Oil, which owned much of the surrounding property, and announced the construction of clear lake city.

Fred Starkey Jr., administrative assistant, some some $20 million has been spent so far. Much of this has been for a residential area.

Clear Lake City has 15,434 acres to grow in. Starkey said there was no estimate of how much would be spent in developing the city.

Jack Campbell, president of the Clear Lake Chamber of Commerce which embraces several small communities around the $153 million space center, said an estimated 5,000 persons have moved into the area.

"This is only the beginning," he said. "When the big missile companies start coming in, we will have many more."

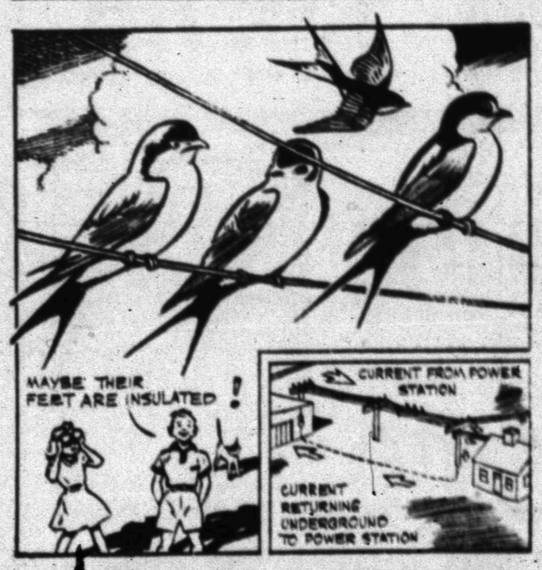
Bedroom communities spawned by the influx of government and contractor workers include Timberlake, which offered astronauts $30,000 homes free but was turned down, and El Lago.

Humble Oil started building industrial Bayport.

The Houston ship channel will be extended to Bayport, Galveston Bay about seven miles from the space center.

It has been estimated that the world population will double and consumption of water will triple by the end of the century.

—Junior Editors Quiz on— BIRDS



QUESTION: When birds sit on electric wires, why don't they get electrocuted?

* * *

ANSWER: The electric current which comes from power stations into our houses and which we use for lighting and running our electric appliances is a very powerful force. To protect it from escaping from the wire or injuring people, electric power wires are heavily insulated. They are covered with some substance which does not conduct electricity, such as cotton fiber, paper treated with oil, rubber, or synthetic resin enamel. This insulation prevents electricity from entering the birds' bodies. Yet even if they were sitting on uninsulated wires they would be safe. Study the diagram. Electricity is passing from a power station through wires connected with the main line into a house, where the current goes through the house wires, working bulbs and appliances when these are turned on. The current then goes down a wire into the ground where it returns underground to the power station, completing the 'circuit' which is necessary for electricity to flow. Bulbs light up because they have wires inside which are part of the circuit. But the birds have no wires inside; they are not connected with the ground, and so there is no circuit through which the electricity can flow. That's why the birds can sit safely on the wires.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Standing on the ground, see if you can spot where the power wires lead into your house. Notice the smooth insulation with which they are covered.

Time Tested Rules For Viet Rebels

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — If any man wants to try another coup in Saigon he would be well advised to follow some time-tested ground rules.

Events of the last five years in this troubled capital show a rebel leader hoping for success should:

— Seize and hold Saigon Airport early in the game.

— Be sure in advance that the Americans will help him — or at least not work against him.

— Know that he can count on all the officers he has line up, without fear that they may defect when the going gets rough.

The rebels who tried to seize control of South Viet Nam last Sunday failed on all these points and their coup collapsed.

But the fiasco held some object lessons for incumbents, too.

The biggest was this: If you want to weed out undesirable elements from your armed forces, do it gradually and discreetly — not in batches.

The airport lesson should have been learned in 1960, when President Ngo Dinh Diem came within a hair of being overthrown. Four battalions of paratroopers stormed into the city from the airport and, with supporting armor, surrounded his palace Nov. 11, 1960. They had the situation all sewed up except for the reluctance of rebel commanders to smash their way in immediately.

Time passed and units loyal to Diem arrived in Saigon to smash the paratroopers. Even so, most of their leaders were able to make it back to the airport and fly into exile in Cambodia.

Significantly, some of these 1960 coup leaders, now officers in the armed forces once again, were back at the airport Sunday, this time on the loyalist side. Among them was Brig. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, who in 1960 commanded the rebel paratroopers. Now commander of the army's 1st Division, he is a man worth watching.

The point is that if you hold Saigon Airport and have troops loyal to you anywhere in the country, you can fly them in to your support.

The Vietnamese premier, General Nguyen Khanh, is aware of this and has been spending much of his time outside Saigon. When Sunday's coup began, he quickly flew to his command post in Dalat, 140 miles northeast of this city.

The man on whom destiny turned was, significantly, the commander of the air force — Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, 34, a handsome, American-trained officer.

A hotshot pilot speaking jaunty, American English, Ky changed into orange flying coveralls, strapped on a pistol, and moved fast when the rebels entered Saigon. His planes were in the air within minutes.

Ky's warm relations with U.S. Air Force officers probably saved Saigon from being devastated by bombing.

These officers sat with Ky for hours, persuading him to hold his fire against rebel armor outside his gates. They also talked him into not bombing the Saigon radio, at the time occupied by rebels.

Library Notes

Local people, as well as other Americans, have a new lease on leisure time. Today, almost everyone has more leisure — shorter work hours, longer weekends and vacations. Most people retire earlier and live longer than in previous generations. Everyone has a right to enjoy leisure hours and the Scurry County Library is making an effort to furnish its patrons with information covering almost all fields of special interests.

What a person does with spare time should be a personal decision. It should be something that the individual finds personally gratifying. It helps, however, to know what activities others have tried — how they became interested, what difficulties they experienced, what satisfactions, what drawbacks or limitations were encountered. A new book giving this information in detail has been added to the library's non-fiction section. It is titled "101 Ways to Enjoy Your Leisure", and is compiled by the Retirement Council. It gives actual experiences of people who have learned to enjoy their leisure.

This book serves as a guide to the rich range of low-cost free time activities and gives many opportunities for service, fun, education and exercise. It can be useful to the person who has been so busy on a job that he hasn't had time to develop lasting free time activities. This book is addressed to both men and women — those in the middle as well as later years.

Oftentimes, as retirees develop capacities for a new creative effort, they discover talents that have been buried since youth.

Leisure should be filled with something that is done for the sheer joy of doing it, rather than for the utilitarian value. This does not mean that a new hobby cannot be developed into value.

To gain the fullest use of leisure, a balanced program of activities is needed to enrich the mind, provide work for the hands, exercise the body, and give the spirit a lift. The Retirement Council's book points up many ways to make leisure hours pleasurable and satisying.

Reading is one of the best ways to gain freedom from boredom. Many people may not enjoy reading because they are slow readers. A number of speed-reading courses are available through adult education courses. Reading comprehension and speed go hand-in-hand. Reasons for reading are many. Books are passports to excitement, adventure, knowledge, know-how, and to learning of new people and places. Reading can make life richer and the individual a more interesting human being. Books can be a springboard to independent thought.

Scurry County's citizens are invited to browse through the library. More and more local people are reading history, and about art, music, political affairs, science and technology.

Many people have a secret desire to write a book. Some, in their later years, have made this dream come true. The person who is serious about writing is willing to study the craft of writing. Here again the local library can be helpful.

Those who are collectors are not likely to suffer from boredom. Collections may vary from butterflies to paperweights, from stamp collecting to rock collecting. While building a collection, one may come in contact with many interesting people who share the same interest.

Handcrafts provide a great opportunity for many older people. Faced with a need to find a productive outlet for their energies, they may take up ceramics, woodworking, metal work, hand press printing, weaving, block printing, silk screen printing, enameling, making of jewelry, pottery, needlework, and countless other crafts. Papercraft is becoming peopular with those who have discovered papier-mache, collage, mobiles, cutouts, and the art of origami. Do-it-yourself projects top the list. The library has books covering all of these crafts.

Gardening offers great satisfaction to many. Gardening can be enjoyed year - round with only a small investent. Those who cannot afford a greenhouse can build a coldframe or hotbed. Many people garden as a matter of course, raising the same plants each year. Much more is to be gained by being experimental in this hobby. A sun pit is another device for growing plants through the winter.

Many women feel the challenge has gone out of cooking when they no longer have to prepare three generous meals a day. After the children leave home there is significant change in the family daily fare. Experimenting with new dishes can brighten up any menu and make cooking for two an adventure instead of a chore. Many a husband has turned chef in his later years, enjoying making barbecue, charcoal steaks, and sometimes becoming an enthusiastic kitchen putterer.

Art can be a most rewarding leisure - time activity. Some sketch, some paint and some sculpt. This activity can adjust to the individual, to his pocketbook, his timetable and his talent. Painting can be a great medicine. It can relieve tension from overwork and helps slow one down. Art courses are offered by correspondence, under private tutorship, or one can teach himself. There are scored of good books on learning to paint.

There are many ways to keep fit after forty. It is well to have a physical checkup before going out for sports. It is best to know tolerance limits. Fun should be the main goal of the sports enthusiast. Physical fitness is also important. Walking is an ideal exercise. Most people put their bicycles away early in life, but bicycling can be a refreshing sport for the older person. Outdoor recreation is a major leisure - time activity. Older people find the sports of swimming, fishing and boating relaxing. Camping provides the opportunity to live outdoors at minimum expense. Most men who play golf can expect to keep on playing. Compact - golf courses are gaining in popularity and allow the senior citizen to test his wits and skill, but not his endurance. Many older people may choose to play fewer holes on a regular course. In later years, hunting is for the more rugged types.

Last but not least of leisure hour fillers, is helping others. Many civic organizations are looking for volunteers, and the person with leisure time need not look further than his home town. Older citizens may become senior boosters through the Senior Chamber of Commerce. There is Red Cross work to be done. Hospitals, schools and churches seek experienced people to help and need persons willing to serve.

It is estimated that the average retired person has 4,400 hours of free time per year. The senior citizen will still be able to collect Social Secutiry even if his leisure hobby brings in added income. Leisure, according to the Ancient Greeks, is the best of all possessions.

Green Beans Brighten Casserole

Tasty pork sausage, bright green beans, flavorful tomatoes and a smooth rich sauce are all blended in this delightful Green Bean and Sausage Casserole.

It is a one-dish meal. The casserole is enhanced with protein rich cheese and milk to supply needed nutrients on these active days.

Serve buttered brown and serve rolls, iced tea, and fresh berries to complete your one-dish casserole meal.

GREEN BEAN AND SAUSAGE CASSEROLE
Serves 6)

1 pound pork sausage links
1 can (1 lb.) green beans, drained
2 medium fresh tomatoes, sliced
¼ cup butter
1 small onion, chopped
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
2 cups milk
1 cup grated cheddar cheese

Place links in cold fry pan. Cook uncovered over low heat, turning links frequently, until brown on all sides. In a buttered 1½-quart casserole, alternate layers of green beans, tomato slices and sausage links. Cook onion in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Gradually stir in milk. Add cheese. Cook until thickened. Pour over vegetables and sausage lunks. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

Baked Chops Will 'Wait' On Family

Having a recipe for meat cookery that can be used when dinner time is uncertain is an asset to any cook's file. Here is a recipe for Baked Pork Chops.

These spicy pork chops will "wait" until the family is together because they will stay moist in their sauce of low calorie skim milk. These chops can also be prepared earlier in the day and stored in the refrigerator and baked just before serving time. The zesty skim milk sauce is delicious spooned over buttered noodles.

Baked Pork Chops
(Serves 6)

6 pork chops, 1 inch thick
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
½ teaspoon paprika
6 slices onion, ¼ inch thick
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
2½ cups skim milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon soy sauce
1 bay leaf

Combine salt, pepper, thyme and paprika. Sprinkle mixture on both sides of chops. Brown chops on both sides in butter. Arrange chops in a 12 x 7½ x 2 inch baking pan. Place an onion slice on each. Stir flour into drippings. Gradually stir in skim milk. Add salt, garlic, soy sauce and bay leaf. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Remove bay leaf. Pour sauce over chops. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour or until chops are thoroughly done.

Mayonnaise is usually the base of Tartar Sauce. But some of today's cooks like to use half mayonnaise and half commercial sour cream as the base to which to add minced parsley, pickle, olives and pimiento.

Want to stretch that fresh fruit compote you are serving for unexpected guests? Freezer-chill canned pineapple chunks or tidbits and add — pineapple syrup and all.

To make zesty croutons to add to green salads, brown and crisp them in garlic-flavored olive oil.
