KNOX PLAN TO END WAR WOULD BRING DISHONOR

Senator McCumber Declares Adoption Resolution Would Mean Desertion Allies

SAYS PRESIDENT WILSON MAKING COLOSSAL BLUNDER

Thousand Imminent Dangers Surrounded and Atmosphere Poisoned With Socialism

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Opening the fight against the republican plan to end the state of war by joint resolution of congress, Senator McCumber of North Dakota, a republican member of the senate foreign relations committee, declared in the senate today that such a step would bring dishonor upon the nationas it bring dishonor upon the nation as it associates in the war.

The senator said he could support neither the house peace resolution nor the substitute of Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania. He advocated instead his resolution proposing restoration of commercial relations with Germany, but said he realized that it would be useless to press this measure, "where the lines of division between the two factions in this body have been cemented by partisanship and set and hardened by time."

"This administration has made many mistakes, but all will become insignificant compared with the colossal blunder of making the president's individual and autocratic stand on the League of nations a political issue. And partisan as I am, I confess even now a deep sense of sympathy for the humiliation that awaits the great party, which, with all its weakness, has subserved a great purpose in our national history.

"If this were the only issue, the president would stand alone in his determination to subvert to the will of the nation to his individual conviction on this important national question, and his support would be confined to these few states where reverence for democratic doctrines declared by the head of that party becomes a religious tenet.

League Not Real Issue.

"But you cannot make the League of Nations the real issue in this campaign. If it were the real and only issue I would be greatly concerned for the success of my own party.

"The thought of the people of this country is engrossed with the complexities that surround us. We are this moment surrounded by a thousand imminent dangers demanding our immediate attention and solution. We stand almost helpless while debts, national, state, municipal and industrial, are piling mountain high. We behold the hours of idleness of our people ever increasing, production langerously decreasing, currency becoming more and more inflated, the yoke of taxation evergrowing more and more galling, the prices of all necessities of life ever advancing. We are living in the midst of strikes and threats of strikes.

"The very atmosphere is poisoned with socialism's infectious breath, while anarchy, fevered by hate and envy awaits only the opportunity to work a reign of hell which today is consuming agonized Russia.

The Price We Pay.

"The war is not the cause of this threatening situation. The American people, like the people of the greater part of Europe, today are the victims of the new system of purchasing political support by enacting purely class legislation.

"The American people are not blind as to the source of our troubles. They are looking forward for relief. They want to get back as nearly as possible to normal conditions and they will attempt it by an overwhelming vote in the next elections for a change in administration and they will do this treaty or no treaty, peace resolution or no peace resolution, League of Nations or no League of Nations."

Senator McCumber challenged many of the contentions of Senator Knox, made in the former secretary of state's opening address last week in support of the resolution. While agreeing that congress has the power to repeal resolutions declaring a state of war, he denied vigorously that peace actually existed.

Solemn Farce.

Only by a treaty, he said, can questions arising from the war be settled. "If we are at peace with Germany," he asked, "then why on earth is this solemn farce being enacted in the senate of the United States?"

Many great questions arising from the war, including German property and American claims, would be left unsettled by a declaration of peace, Senator McCumber declared, insisting that America should be by the allies in enforcing the armistice and the treaty.

Referring to alleged violations of the treaty by Germany in maintaining an army of 450,000 men and failing to deliver war material, Senator McCumber said: "We are saying (by this resolution) to France and England: 'In make Germany comply with her agreement.' That we have deserted our allies is bad enough. That we have deserted our cause and thereby condemned it is far worse. The position we are placing our country in is a shameful one and I can never support it by my vote.

"No argument, no matter how cunningly devised or eloquently presented, can hide the deformity involved in this course."

LODGE TO BE "KEYNOTER" REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

By United Press.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts will be the temporary chairman and "keynoter" of the republican convention here in June.

The republican committee in session here decided upon Lodge late yesterday after an all day session. The choice was unanimous. President Wilson's letter to Oregon regarding the treaty brought to a head Lodge sentiment, according to committeemen.

POLES OBTAIN SEAPORT ON THE BLACK SEA

This Understood Provided for in Convention With Ukrainians

By Associated Press.

WARSAW, May 11.—The military, economic and political convention signed by Poland and Ukrainia just before the opening of the drive toward Kiev is understood to have provided for a Polish outlet to the Black sea. Such a southern outlet has been a Polish ambition dating far back in the national history, just as was a seaport on the Baltic.

BOLSHEVIKI STAND ON BANK OF DNIEPER

WARSAW, May 11. — Bolsheviki forces are making a stand on the east bank of the Dnieper in the region of Kiev and an artillery battle is raging north and south of the city. Polish and Ukrainian troops found when they reached Kiev that two of the three bridges across the Dnieper river had been dynamited.

AMERICAN AVIATORS IN ATTACK UPON KIEV

By Associated Press.

WARSAW, May 11. — Members of the Kosciuszko aerial squadron under command of Maj. P. Cedric Fauntleroy of Chicago, Ill., took a prominent part in the air fighting which resulted in the bolsheviki being driven out of Kiev. The Americans made repeated raids against soviet forces, dropping bombs along railroads and flying low, turned their machine guns upon the bolshevik infantry.

Twice during the drive toward Kiev, the Americans moved their headquarters near the front.

LEON TROTSKY AT FRONT DIRECTING RED FORCES

LONDON, May 11.—Leon Trotsky, Russian soviet war minister, has gone to the Polish front and is personally directing the stand of red troops against the combined Polish-Ukrainian offensive, a Moscow wireless dispatch today said.

JAPAN MAKING TERMS WITH SIBERIAN BOLSHEVIKI

By A. L. BRADFORD.

WASHINGTON, May 11. — Japan has begun to make peace with the bolsheviki of Siberia, it was learned today.

An agreement which probably will lead to withdrawal of about 20,000 Japanese troops from the region of Vladivostok and pave the way for evacuation of all the Japanese forces in Siberia, has been concluded between Japanese and soviet authorities at Vladivostok, confidential advices to the Japanese embassy here today stated.

The agreement is aimed expressly at preventing conflicts between the Japanese and the Russians and is intended to allow evacuation of Japanese forces from the city and region of Vladivostok, it was stated at the embassy.

By the agreement a neutral zone is created between the forces, 30 kilometers on each side of the Ussuri railroad from Vladivostok to Khabarovsk.

The Russian soviet police under the agreement will be responsible for maintenance of order. The agreement was reached between the commander of the Russian forces at Vladivostok and General Oi, in command of the Japanese troops in Siberia.

If this agreement works satisfactorily, the large force of Japanese troops undoubtedly will be withdrawn, it was declared at the embassy.

TRINITY REACHES HIGHEST POINT SINCE 1908 FLOOD

DALLAS, TEX., May 11.—The Trinity river reached its highest point since the big flood of 1908 today when the register showed a stage of 38.7 feet. The river was stationary at 7 o'clock and Dr. J. L. Cline, local weather forecaster, declared that indications are that the stream would continue to rise today. The exact stage would depend, he said, on the rainfall last night in the upper reaches of the river.

Service on the Dallas-Fort Worth interurban was partially resumed today. Cars are running erregularly and running time is from two to three hours for the 30 miles, it is announced.

The two men who were marooned in trees at Grand Prairie Monday, were rescued late in the day.

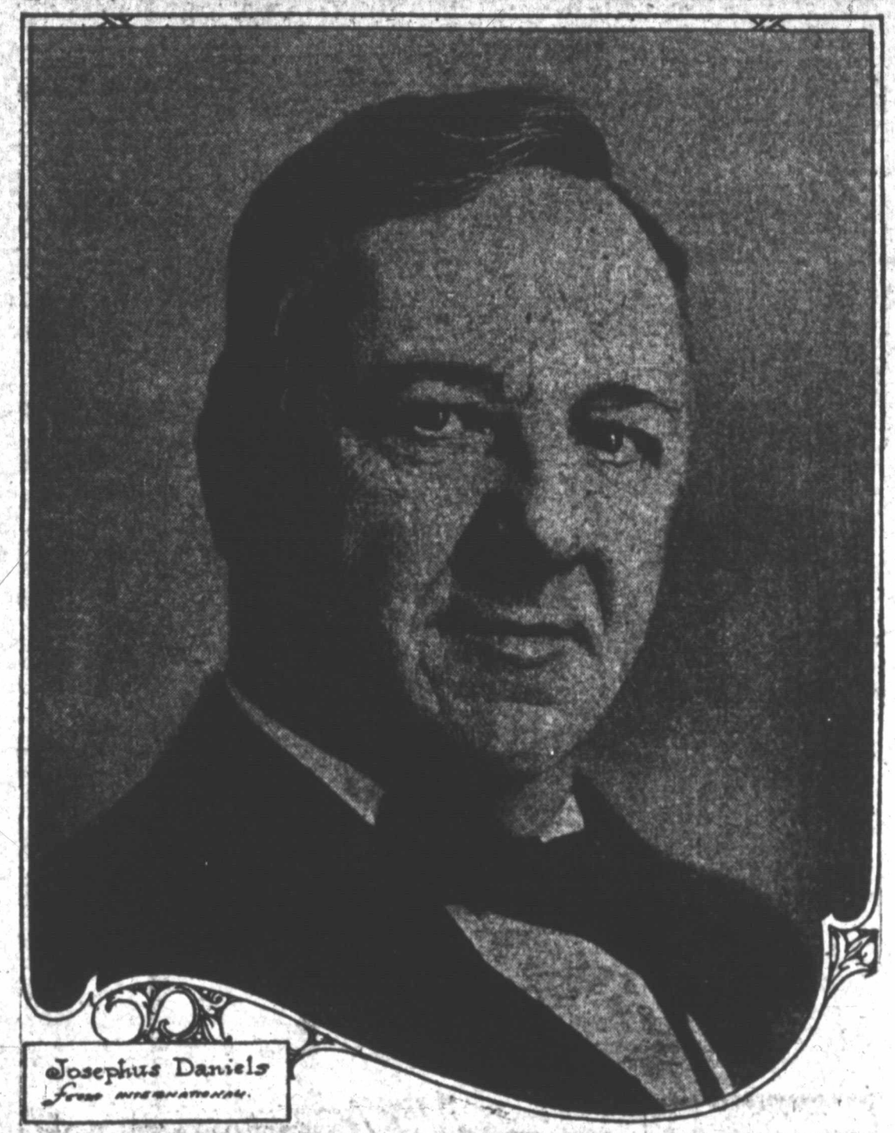

Hundreds of acres of cultivated land lie under water in Dallas county. Many families living in the lower sections have moved to higher ground. Water has gone over the West Dallas pike and direct road connection with that part of the town is cut off.

LEVEES AND DAM ARE HOLDING AT FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, TEX., May 11.—Rain began to fall here at dawn today and continued heavily for four hours. The Trinity river, which went down over night, is rising again. At no place, however, has the fresh flood gone over the levees about the city. The dam at Lake Worth is holding, though the flood waters are pouring over the spillways four feet high.

The Fort Worth & Denver reports a washout at the Canadian River and trains are being detoured over the Rock Island tracks between Dalhart and Amarillo. The Rock Island's tracks between Fort Worth and Dallas are passable today and traffic has been resumed.

DEFENDS RECORD OF NAVY BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Josephus Daniels
From International.

WILSON'S INSTRUCTIONS TO THE ATLANTIC FLEET MADE PUBLIC BY SECRETARY DANIELS IN TESTIFYING

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Wilson's hitherto unpublished war instructions to the officers of the Atlantic fleet given in person on the quarterdeck of the flagship Pennsylvania, on August 11, 1917, and bidding them "throw tradition to the winds," strike the word prudent from their vocabularies, and "do the thing that is audacious to the utmost point of risk and daring," were made public here today by Secretary Daniels.

The president spoke as commander-in-chief of the navy and at a time when the German submarine menace was uncurbed. In laying the text of his remarks before the senate naval investigating committee, Secretary Daniels said they showed the "bold and vigorous policy the president has outlined for the navy."

Audacity Will Win.

"Do not stop to think what is prudent for a moment," the president said. "You will win by the audacity of method when you can not win by circumspection and prudence.

"I think that there are willing ears to hear this in the American navy and the American army because that is the kind of folks we are.

"There will have to come a tradition into a service which does not do new and audacious and successful things."

The president also expressed his dissatisfaction with progress then being made toward curbing the submarine campaign.

"We are hunting hornets all over the farm and letting the nest alone," he said. "I am willing for my part and I know that you are willing, because I know the stuff you are made of—I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have to crush that nest because if we crush it, the war is won."

The British admiralty had met American suggestions with what amounted to statements that "it never had been done," the president said, adding: "And I felt like saying, 'Well, nothing was ever done so systematically as nothing is being done now.'"

In opening his address to the officers Mr. Wilson said:

"Admiral Mayo and Gentlemen:

"I have not come here with malice prepense to make a speech but I have come here to have a look at you and to say some things that perhaps may be intimately said and, even though the company is large, said in confidence.

"This is an unpremeditated war and therefore it is a war in one sense for amateurs. Nobody ever conducted a war like this and therefore nobody can pretend to be a professional in a war like this. Here are two great navies, not to speak of the other's associated with me—our own and the British, outnumbering by very great margin the navy to which we are opposed and yet casting about for a way in which to use our superiority and our strength.

"Now, somebody has got to think this war out. Somebody has got to think out the way not only to fight the submarine but to do something different from what we are doing.

Hunting Hornets.

"We are hunting hornets all over the farm and letting the nest alone. None of us know how to go to the nest and crush it and yet I despair of hunting hornets all over the sea when I know where the nest is and know that the nest is breeding hornets as fast as I can find them. I am willing for my part and I know you are willing because I know the stuff you are made of—I am willing to sacrifice half the navy Great Britain and we together have to crush that nest, because if we crush it the war is won.

"I have come here to say that I do not care where it comes from, I do not care whether it comes from the youngest officer or the oldest, but I want the officers of this navy to have the distinction of saying how this war is going to be won.

"I am willing to make any sacrifice for that. I mean any sacrifice of time or anything else. I am ready to put myself at the disposal of any officer in the navy who thinks he knows how to run this war. I will not undertake to tell you whether he does or not, because I know that I do not know, but I will undertake to put him in communication with those who can find out whether his idea will work or not. I have the authority to do that and I will do it with the greatest pleasure.

"I wish that I could think and had the brains to think in the terms of marine warfare, because I would feel then that I was figuring out the future history of the plain freedom of mankind. I do not see how any man can look at the flag of the United States and fail having his mind crowded with reminiscences of the number of unselfish men, seeking no object of their own, the advantage of no dynasty, the advantage of no group of privileged people, but the advantage of his fellow men, who have died under the folds of that beautiful emblem. I wonder if men who do die under it realize the distinction they have.

Suggestions Invited.

"There is distinction in the privilege and for my part I am sorry to play so peaceful a part in the business as I myself am obliged to play, and I conceive it a privilege to come and look at you men who have the other thing to do and ask you to come and tell me or tell anybody you want to tell how this thing can be better done; and we will thank God that we have got men of originative brains among us.

"We have got to throw tradition to the winds.

"As I have said, gentlemen, I take it for granted that nothing that I say here will be repeated, and therefore I am going to say this: Every time we have suggested anything to the British admiralty the reply has come back that virtually amounted to this, that it had never been done that way, and I felt like saying, 'well, nothing was ever done so systematically as nothing is being done now.' Therefore I should like to see something unusual happen, something that was never done before; and inasmuch as the things that are being done to you were never done before, don't you think it is worth while to try something that was never done before against those who are doing them to you?

"There is no other way to win, and the whole principle of this war is the kind of thing that ought to hearten and stimulate America. America is the prize amateur nation of the world. Germany is the prize professional nation of the world. Now, when it comes to doing new things and doing them well, I will back the amateur against the professional every time. He knows so little about it that he is fool enough to try the right thing. The men that do not know the danger are the rashest men.

"Please leave out of your vocabulary above all others the word 'prudent.' Do not stop to think about what is prudent for a moment. Do the thing

DANIELS DECLARES SIM'S ATTITUDE DELAYED BARRAGE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A counter-charge that establishment of the North sea mine barrage was delayed six months because of the opposition of Rear Admiral Sims and the British admiralty was made before the senate naval investigating committee today by Secretary Daniels in presenting the second part of his reply to the officer's charges that the navy department had unnecessarily prolonged the war through failure to co-operate fully at first with allied naval forces. The barrage, Mr. Daniels added, was the most effective measure that had been taken to check the submarines and was wholly an American idea.

The secretary also charged that Sims had attempted in his testimony to rob the navy of credit for this project and to give it to the British.

The plan was conceived, he said, in the bureau of ordnance at the navy department and urged on the British admiralty for six months before it was accepted. During this time, Admiral Sims constantly discouraged and opposed the idea, he added, and when Admiral Mayo was sent abroad and finally convinced the admiralty of the worth of the scheme and the necessity for adopting it, Admiral Sims attempted to convey the impression that the project had been delayed while the British attempted to get the American navy department's approval.

The Sims' charges of unpreparedness before the war were not justified, Mr. Daniels asserted, declaring that in July, 1915, he ordered the general board to study and recommend plans for a "consistent and progressive development." As a result of this study the policy was evolved, he said, that the United States must by 1925 have a navy equal to any other in the world. He approved this policy and the direct result was the five-year building program of 1916, the secretary said, an "epoch making measure." President Wilson fully approved the policy, the witness asserted.

"This is conclusive evidence that the navy department long before war was declared, was alive to the importance of preparedness and was taking every step toward that end," he declared.

The vision of the president, Mr. Daniels asserted, established the fact that he was "in advance of some officers, vocal now but silent then."

ENOUGH SMITHS TO FILL FIFTEEN REGIMENTS ENLISTED IN WAR

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Smiths made up fifteen regiments in the American war army, Johnsons made up eleven more, Browns eight, and Williams, Jones and Millers made up more than seven each.

Records at the bureau of war risk insurance, where the names of 4,622,422 former service men are indexed, also show that the Anderson and Davis families were represented in sufficient number to compose more than five regiments each and the Wilsons, Moore and Taylors four each.

REVOLUTIONARY GOVERNMENT TO ASK IMMEDIATE RECOGNITION FROM THE UNITED STATES

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The revolutionary government in Mexico will ask for immediate recognition by the American government.

EL PASO, May 11.—The forces of General Alvaro Obregon are pursuing President Carranza and his adherents between San Marcos, Puebla and Apizaco, Tlaxcala, according to Ezquiel Salcedo, formerly a member of Obregon's staff, who arrived in El Paso today from Agua Prieta.

(By the Associated Press)

While advices from Mexico on the revolutionary situation are fragmentary and conflicting, they cast considerable doubt on the reports that President Carranza has been made a prisoner.

A Vera Cruz dispatch from the newspaper El Dictamen, a member of the Associated Press bearing Monday's date, declared the fugitive president, who was making an effort to reach Vera Cruz, had broken through the revolutionary lines and was standing at bay with four thousand men at San Marcos, 27 miles north of Puebla.

On the other hand the revolutionary leaders along the border are still claiming that Carranza has been taken, naming the place of his capture as a point near Apizaco, Hidalgo. These reports, however, gave few details of the capture except to declare that the entire convoy had been taken with the president, that three generals who were with him, Generals Murguia, Orquizo and Barragan, had been executed and another general wounded.

It was admitted that President Carranza had been ordered returned to Mexico City with all consideration and that none of his party was to be killed or mistreated.

It would appear, however, even presupposing the accuracy of the reports that Carranza is at liberty, that his situation, according to the Vera Cruz advices, is precarious. It is announced that government troops in Vera Cruz have deserted their commander, General Candido Aguilar, the governor of the state, making that state apparently no longer a safe refuge for the fugitive president.

In addition, revolutionary forces under Generals Hill and Trevino were reported closing in on Carranza near San Marcos. Other reports declared that General Aguilar, Carranza's son-in-law, had been killed in the fighting in Vera Cruz state.

The Mexico City dispatches report the situation there as quiet with the troops of General Obregon in full possession. All Meyico, in fact with the exception of a few localities, notably the states of Yucatan, Campeche and Chiapas, is declared to be in the hands of revolutionists.

The overturn has been effected with little bloodshed, all advices indicate. It is declared in Mexico City that the object of the revolutionists all along has been to avoid fighting and bring about a peaceful change of government, with free elections to be held later. Incidentally, it is asserted the revolutionary leaders desired to bring about a change in Mexico's foreign policy looking to the advancement of friendly relations with other powers.

INTEREST CENTERS IN POLITICAL DEVELOPMENTS

WASHINGTON, May 11—With practically all of Mexico dominated by revolutionists and Carranza reported a prisoner, interest here shifted today from the military phases of the situation to the expected political developments. Agents of the de factor rulers professed to believe steps would be taken immediately towards the establishment of a provisional government, to be succeeded as soon as possible by a constitutional regime. Reports received through official channels as well as those sent to the revolutionary agents continued to indicate absence of serious disorders although the despatch of a battleship and additional destroyers to southern waters suggested the determination of this government to afford foreigners protection in event of serious trouble at any of the port towns.

While officials here considered the revolutionary movement as too untried for judgment, the impression was man-

CARRANZA AT HEAD 4,000 MEN REPORTED NEAR VERA CRUZ

VERA CRUZ, May 10.—President Carranza, whose train was stopped at Apizaco by revolutionary forces on Saturday, has succeeded in breaking through the rebel lines and has come 20 miles nearer this city, according to dispatches. Latest reports received here indicate he is standing at bay with 4,000 men at San Marcos, a railroad junction point 27 miles northeast of Puebla. Rebel troops commanded by Generals Hill and Trevino are closing in on him there.

Soldiers mobilized at Oaxaca and Puebla have been sent to San Marcos and three trailroads of other troops have been sent from here to participate in the operation.

Troops commanded by General Candido Aguilar, governor of the state of Vera Cruz and son-in-law of President Carranza, have deserted him and have gone over to the revolutionists, according to the correspondent of El Dictamen, who accompanied the Aguilar forces in western Vera Cruz.

Dispatches indicate President Carranza when he fled from Mexico City did not know of the revolutionary movement in this state and planned to make a stand here at the head of faithful troops sent here in anticipation of trouble.

OCCUPATION OF CONSTANTINOPLE AND DARDANELLE

Treaty Provides for Inter-Allied and Inter-Allied Troops to Control

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Permanent occupation of Constantinople, which is left under the sovereignty of the sultan, by a small international force, is provided in the treaty which was handed today to the Turkish representatives at Paris. An official summary of the treaty has been received in Washington. A similar international guard is provided for the garrisoning of the straits as a guarantee of free passage through the Dardanelles and the sea of Marmora to ships of all nations.

An inter-allied commission of control at Constantinople, consisting of the representatives of the principal allied powers will supervise execution of the treaty and with the aid of the inter-allied troops enforce its terms.

Although President Wilson suggested that part of northeastern Thrace be given Bulgaria, Trace in its entirety is awarded to Greece.

Smyrna and the hinterland, extending approximately to a depth of 100 kilometers and a breadth of 200 kilometers is given to Greece under limited sovereignty. Greece must formulate, in consultation with the League of Nations, a plan for control of the territory and at the end of two years the population shall vote whether this arrangement shall be continued or whether the territory shall be annexed by Greece.

Both France and Italy relinquish claims to manatory powers over Cilicia and Adalia, reserving only special economic privileges.

Boundaries of Mesopotamia and Palestine, the mandate over which are awarded to Great Britain, and Syria, ceded similarly to France, are to be determined by special commissions.

The Armenian settlement is left open for future negotiations.

No mention is made of Russia in the summary received here nor is the precise status of the inter-allied commission of control in its relation to the League of Nations clearly defined.

RECORD VOTE EXPECTED IN ALABAMA PRIMARY

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., May 11.—A hotly contested campaign and clear weather predictions gave promise early today of a record vote in the democratic state primary. Chief interest centers in the nomination of two United States senators.

In addition to two senatorial candidates, 10 were to be nominated for the house of representatives, 24 delegates to the San Francisco convention were to be chosen.

Senator Underwood is a candidate to succeed himself. He is opposed by L. B. Musgrove, who has received the endorsement of union labor, and Judge Samuel Weakley. Musgrove and Weakley have both been endorsed by the Anti-Saloon league.

In the race for the other senatorship made vacant by the death of Senator Bankhead, are Representative J. Thomas Heflin, former Gov. Emmet Oneal, Ray Rushton and Capt. Frank S. White. John W. Abercrombie of Montgomery withdrew from this contest soon after it started, but his name appears on the ballot. Mr. Oneal has made his campaign upon the beer and light wine issue and his opponents have all been endorsed by the prohibition element.

MANY OF PRESIDENT WILSON'S APPOINTMENTS MAY NOT BE CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Many appointments recently made by President Wilson probably will be blocked by the senate until his term expires. Republican leaders, it was learned today, are in no hurry to put Wilson appointees on the pay roll.

A number of important nominations are pending in the senate.

In cases whereby the political complexion of a board is fixed, nominations may be confirmed. Among nominations now awaiting action are:

Henry Morgenthau, to be ambassador to Mexico.

Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts, to the tariff board.

Mark W. Potter, New York, James Duncan, Massachusetts, to be new members of the interstate commerce commission to fill the additional places created by the railroad act, and Henry J. Ford, New York, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Commissioner Harlan.

Frederick G. Cottrell, California, auditor of the bureau of mines.

A. Burleson, Admiral Benson and Walter E. Rogers to be members of the international communications conference provided for under the treaty.

Martin J. Gillin, Wisconsin, to the shipping board.

John Skelton Williams, comptroller of currency.

George W. P. Hunt, Arizona, minister to Siam.

Peter A. Jay, Rhode Island, minister to Salvador.

In addition to these are scores of minor officials, assistants in various bureaus, and postmasters.

ROAD CONTRACT IS NOT LIKELY TO BE ABROGATED

That an amicable settlement of the county highway building contract recently entered into between Potts & Prentice and the Wichita county commission, will be reached shortly was indicated Monday afternoon when a citizens' committee headed by Judge R. E. Huff as chairman called upon the county commission in the county court room. Confidence was expressed by the citizens' committee in the county commission and all officials involved in the county highway dispute. Members of the citizens' committee seemed more worried about the shortage of building material and labor and wages than about the contract. Various questions were asked County Judge J. P. Jones regarding the advisibility of constructing roads at this time and were assured by him that all angles of the road problem had been thoroughly gone into by the county commission.

Judge Jones told the citizens' committee that one million and a half worth of county road bonds remained unsold, this amount being the last bonds voted. In answer to questions, Judge Jones said that the bond market was at a low ebb at the present, declaring that all road bonds were being listed below par value. He informed the committee, however, that Potts & Prentice understood the situation and that an agreement had been entered into between the commission and contractors whereby the bonds would not have to be thrown upon the market immediately in order to raise funds to carry on the road building system.

Flowing by heads since Monday afternoon the Bill Rowe Oil Company's No. 1 Munger, close in on the west to the Art-Boger-Ard-Haynes and the Keen Wolf wells in block 25, is estimated at a 500 barrel producer by officials of the company. The depth is given at 1745 complete. The No. 1 of the same company on the Mhnger "A" lease, a 30 acre tract further to the west and just south of the Sinclair Munger lease is setting casing on a 1740 sand, and is scheduled to be bailed and tested within the week.

W. W. HEPBURN HERE ON INSPECTION TOUR WOODBURN PROPERTY

W. W. Hepburn of Philadelphia, president of the Woodburn Oil corporation, is in Wichita Falls on a tour of inspection of the corporation's properties in this district. Mr. Hepburn is much pleased with present conditions and very optimistic as to future developments.

The Woodburn corporation at present has 14 producing wells in the Burkburnett northwest, and has begun an active drilling program both here, and in the Kemp-Munger-Allen district. At present contracts have been let for three additional wells on the Roberts lease, a 20-acre tract near the General well in Red river, and another well, on the Morgan 20 acres, the No. 8, is now nearing completion.

The corporation expects to develop its extensive holdings in the Kemp-Munger-Allen district immediately. It is fortunate in having several blocks of well chosen acreage, close to the various points of interest in this newly developed field.

WANT STRICTLAND OR BISHOP TO BUILD LINE

Either J. F. Strickland of Dallas, or George T. Bishop of Cleveland, Ohio, the builder of the Fort Worth-Dallas interurban, or both, are the men wanted by the General Electric Company, which is to put up $1,500,000, or dollar for dollar with the people along the line, to build the Wichita Falls-Dallas interurban, according to Owen D. Young of New York, vice president, General Electric Company, in a statement issued at Dallas Monday afternoon.

"If these men can not build and make a go of this line, none can," said Mr. Young. Mr. Young was in Dallas for the purpose of conferring with Wichita Falls and Dallas men interested in the building plans. Among the Wichita Falls business men attending the conference were Mayor Walter D. Cline and J. A. Kemp.

GULF PIPE LINE TAKING OIL FROM K. M. A. DISTRICT

Oil is now being run by the Gulf Pipeline Company's four-inch line in the Kemp-Munger-Allen district, the third line running from the new pool to get into operation. The Gulf has had a line to Beaver Creek for several years and the new line is an extension of this lateral.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS IN LOUISIANA FIELDS

SHREVEPORT, LA., May 11.—An important extension of the proven territory, a regular old-time string of completions, and the development of the thickest pay streak yet found in the entire field were the features of the past week in the Homer field. Bull Bayou had a good week with 10 completions, including a 25,000,000-foot gasser. In the old Caddo field there were three new producers.

The week also saw a slight increase in wildcat activities, which were already spread over every parish in the entire northern part of the state. In Panola county (East Texas), the Texas company has succeeded in extinguishing the fire on its 40,000,000-foot gasser and developments since then have given rise to reports that the well is blowing itself in as a producer.

The extension of the Homer field was scored by the Gilliland Oil company, which got a 500-barrel pumper in Section 36-21-8 on its Shaw lease, three-eighths of a mile southwest of any previous production. The extension is locally regarded as of unusual importance because it lies in a direction away from what had been conceded as the trend of the production.

In Section 20-21-7, northeast of most of the production, the Gladys-Bell Oil company developed a pay sand 172 feet thick when they deepened their Featherstone No. 4. This well had come in for 185 barrels which had been considered good for that territory. The deepened well yielded 4,000 barrels and is maintaining its flow in good shape. The company later had similar results with its Featherstone No. 1, which after deepening flowed 2,500 barrels. Both wells are in the shallow sand.

The largest of the new completions for the week was that of the White Oil corporation, which got 4,000 barrels from its Wheaton No. 2 at 1,385 feet in Section 23-21-8. The White people got two other good wells, a total of three for the week. The same number was reported by the Standard of Louisiana and the Gulf Refining, which latter is now running 20,000 barrels a day from the field.

The Frost Oil company, the Rowe Oil corporation and the Arkansas Natural Gas company had one producer each.

In Bull Bayou there were nine completions producing oil in quantities ranging from 55 to 500 barrels a day. In addition, the Arkansas Gas reported a 25-million foot gasser.

The three completions in Caddo, while relatively small (the largest being for 75 barrels) are nevertheless indicative of the renewed activities in that territory, which had for many months been disregarded by small operators. The independents report a number of new locations and an important increase of drilling operations is taking place there.

Pipeline runs for the week were: Homer, 102,000 barrels a day; Bull Bayou, 40,500.

Amusements

At the Empress.

"Sex" is startling, even bold, in spots, but very, very nice.

The picture at the Empress today has undeniable virtues and just as undeniable vices, but they belong to the characters in the piece, for "Sex" has a "soul."

We have heard a great deal during the past year about "pictures with a soul," but we never quite "got" the significance of the "soul-picture" until we saw "Sex," with Louise Glaum as the star.

A problem, beautifully presented and cleverly analyzed that leaves us with a sense of the infinite at the end—which is distinctly unusual—and which is entirely free from the sticky-sweet sentimentality of too many photoplays, is the theme of "Sex," produced by J. Parker Read Jr. and directed by Fred Niblo.

At the Majestic.

Douglas Fairbanks starring in his new play, "When the Clouds Roll By," pleased a large audience at the Majestic yesterday. An entirely different subject from any Fairbanks has ever dwelt upon is taken up, that of believing in signs and the power of one mind over another and out of this very timely subject he has created a number of extremely funny situations.

The big scene of the picture is the breaking of a dam to a lake and the consequent flood which floats the lovers to wedded bliss.

This is a marvelously realistic spectacle likely to linger long in the minds of all beholders, and even the humor-out climax does not altogether efface the awe-inspiring sight of the rushing torrent of waters threatening destruction to all in its path. The camera work is faultless and more puzzling trick photography has probably never been utilized than in the dream episodes, where the hero walks on the ceiling and gyrates giddily through the atmosphere. Many people will consider this the most ambitious picture in which Fairbanks has appeared.

The athletic star is very ably supported by little Kathleen Clifford, Frank Campeau, Ralph Lewis and Albert MacQuarrie. "When the Clouds Roll By" will be shown today for the last time.

MADE IN WICHITA RECORD BOOKS USED BY COUNTY

For the first time in the history of Wichita Falls, record books printed and bound by home printers are being used at the court house. Printing plants recently placed in operation here are so thoroughly modernized that the heavy record dockets formerly bought in distant cities are being made at home.

County Auditor Murphy announced on Tuesday that the first county record books made by home printers were purchased recently and placed in the court on Monday. While a full line of record books are not bound here, the smaller dockets may be had on the local market. It is the hope of the county auditor to purchase all court filing books from local concerns within a short time.

PURPOSE MEXICAN REVOLUTION TO CONSOLIDATE ALL ELEMENTS FOR PEACE AND PROGRESS—PESQUIERA

EL PASO, May 11—"Carranza's dictatorial and immoral policies" culminating in his attempt to "prevent Obregon having a fair campaign" for the presidency caused Carranza's overthrow, according to Roberto V. Pesquiera, financial agent of the revolutionary liberal-constitutionalist government of Mexico, who gave the United Press an exclusive statement here today.

"The revolution proposes to consolidate all the elements of the country for united peace and progress and to respect foreigners and their interests, with which we aim to maintain the most cordial relations," stated Pesquiera.

His statement follows:

By DOBERTO V. PESPIERA
(Financial Agent Liberal-Constitutionalist Government of Mexico).

The revolutionary movement which has swept the Carranza party from power in the republic of Mexico in less than a month means in the clearest sense that the Mexican people are no longer disposed to tolerate imposition of dictatorial power by their rulers. The people will not permit any person or group of persons to make the elections instead of the people themselves. This movement means the solution of the problems that originated the revolution in 1910 which Carranza's government either could not or did not solve.

General Obregon in accepting the nomination for president by the liberal-constitutionalist party declared he would not tolerate the co-existence of elements that have taken advantage of power for purposes of corruption, but that the government would be based upon absolute morality and honesty should he come to head it. Bonillas accepted the candidacy thrust upon him by Carranza and the governmental ring, forgetting the constitution and his word of honor pledged to Obregon in many letters.

Notwithstanding his choice of Bonillas, Carranza continued trying to jersuade Obregon to follow the corrupt policies he had adopted but all these advances Obregon rejected flatly. Thus Carranza became finally convinced he could not handle Obregon and suddenly there appeared the government's attitude to corrupt hostility to the Sonora leader.

Obregon realizes that the man who would be a true president cannot tolerate insiders, giving them privileges which swelled their fortunes at the expense of the people.

The revolution means for Mexico an honest policy in harmony with the whole world.

The revolution proposes to consolidate all the elements of the country for united peace and progress and to respect foreigners and their interests with which we intend to maintain the most cordial relations.

Summarized, the causes of this swift overturning of Carranza's despotism are:

2—It violated the law to commit all kinds of criminal acts. Not only in Sonora was this true, but in Yucatan, Tabasco, San Luis Potosi, Nuevo Leon, Nayarit and other states, and in the brutal and brazen imposition of the immortal municipal government of the city of Mexico. This is why Sonora's call was answered by the states of the republic, likewise wounded in their dignity and honor.

3—Culmination of Carranza's dictatorial methods to prevent Obregon having a fair campaign were false accusation of rebellion in the Cejudo case.

4—Sending of federal troops against Sonora to oppose the will of the people in Obregon's native state, and

5—The Carranza scheme of nominating Bonillas, a foreign citizen.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT SEEKS DISSOLUTION FEDERATION LABOR

PARIS, May 11.—The French cabinet at a meeting today instructed Minister of Justice L'Hopiteau to open proceedings against the general federation of labor with a view to the dissolution of the organization, which has been supporting the strike of the French railwaymen by calling other strikes.

The decision of the government to seek the dissolution of the federation came after an hour's discussion by the council of minister at the palace of the Elsyee, presided over by President Deschanel.

LODGE'S SELECTION AS CHAIRMAN REGARDED AS VERY CLEVER MOVE

By HAROLD D. JACOBS.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, May 11.—The feeling prevailed in republican circles today that the national committee had executed a clever move in steering the temporary chairmanship of the Chicago convention safely past the rocks of partisanship.

Selection of Senator Lodge for that position, which also entails preparation and delivery of the "keynote" speech, was generally regarded as a masterly piece of political balancing that would get the convention through its first stages without danger of factional disruption.

Lodge, so far as is known, has advocated the candidacy of none of the republican presidential aspirants. The principal idea however, was to choose some one to be temporary chairman who would be acceptable to the four candidates who are practically certain to lead on the first ballot—Wood, Johnson, Lowden and Harding.

The reservations to the league of nations pact proposed by Lodge have had the endorsement of practically all the leading republican candidates, and have formed the basis of the declarations made by various republican state conventions of the attitude to be adopted by the national convention toward that phase of international relations.

The national committee—or rather that body's cub committee on arrangements, further avoiding creating friction in its deliberations at Chicago by recommending that a permanent chairman be named to succeed Lodge after the convention gets under way. The understanding, however, was that Albert J. Beveridge, former senator from Indiana, would receive the committee's "moral support," in regard to permanent chairmanship.

Lowden's victory in the Illinois state convention yesterday brought him close to Johnson as regards instructed delegates. The present standing is:

Wood, 118; Johnson, 107; Lowden, 95; Harding, 39; Senator Poindexter, 14.

Filing of notice of contests in several instances has seriously cut down Wood's status, as the number of doubtful uninstructed delegates which are for him will not be known until the committee makes known its decisions.

Magical Home Baking

New York —If over eight thousand women called at your door and each one left an original home baking recipe, think how wonderful that would be!

The pick of over eight thousand recipes is available to you, however, almost for the asking. Several years ago this number of recipes was submitted in a prize contest. One of the conditions was that recipes should be practical, original and not found in cook books.

Some of the best-known cooking authorities of the country selected two hundred and fifty of these as being the most practical, economical and attractive recipes for home use.

This prize list was published as the Ryzon Baking Book. Its effect upon the women of America was astonishing! Today over two million homes are using this national manual of baking. Two million housewives are not only learning the secret of creating original tastes for their tables, but also, through the use of Ryzon, the Perfect Baking Powder, according to the modern, scientific level measure recipes in the Ryzon Baking Book, they have mastered the magic of making their baking turn out just right every time. For Ryzon, used according to directions, takes the "guess" out of baking.

The new Ryzon Baking Book (original price $1.00), containing 250 practical recipes, will be mailed, postpaid, upon receipt of 30 cents in stamps or coin. Or if you will purchase two or more pounds of Ryzon at once from your grocer, sending us his name and address promptly, we will mail you a Ryzon Baking Book free. A neighborhood over in Denton county set a public-spirited example not long ago by levying a voluntary and legally uncollectable tax of 15c an acre against every acre of land within a half-mile of the roads to be improved for defraying the cost of road grading and other road improvements. Come now the people of Sutton county with a still more inclusive example of public-spiritedness. They have agreed to pay a voluntary tax of 15c on every $100 valuation in the whole county to raise a fund of $150,000 toward saving the Orient railroad from abandonment. Citizens in a dozen or more Texas towns have voluntarily subscribed liberal sums for aiding the schools where higher taxes were at the time impossible. Contributions totalling many thousands of dollars for bettering the road from here to the oil fields were given in Wichita Falls last winter. All of which goes to show that the average good citizen is pretty much the same in all progressive communities and that, where the law falls short, he is willing to do the right thing of his own volition and on his own initiative. Where that kind of citizens predominate, cities are built. Wichita Falls furnishes occular proof of the statement.

The Kansas Industrial Relations Court law seems to have appealed to the authorities of other states and eleven of them, we learn from a Washington dispatch, are considering enactment of similar laws when their legislatures meet. The Kansas Industrial Relations Court law is application of the principle of compulsory arbitration and therefore objectionable to organized labor leaders generally; but it is also application of the principle that there are three parties at interest in every strike, and recognition that the public, which includes both, has rights to be considered as well as employer and employe. The Kansas law already has eliminated some abuses of which labor had rightfully complained, and it will eliminate more, if the fair enforcement of its provisions continues. Both sides, with some notable exceptions, seem to be inclined to the belief that fair administration of the law is intended. Further success of the Kansas law will mean a much more general emulation; and it is but fair to admit that this is not the first good idea that has emanated from Kansas.

Time was when newspaper publishers were fiercely aggressive in seeking circulation and more circulation. Many of them went outside of the territory in which they could expect to build a permanent subscription list and by means of contests and prizes and such artificial means built up, at a tremendous percentage of expense, a circulation that died as soon as the artificial stimulation stopped. Nowadays the paper which is pursuing an aggressive circulation policy is unusual. We had the spectacle the other day of the Chicago Tribune advising people in its territory to borrow a neighbor's copy rather than subscribe, when the newspaper borrower has been the butt of newspapers jokers from time immemorial. The reason? Print paper is scarce and hard to get and very high. It makes the published with a knowledge of costs shiver every time he sees a paper wasted in press or mail-room or over the counter because he doesn't know where his next supply is coming from.

Governor Coolridge of Massachusetts demonstrated his level-headed ability and his real Americanism last year when he broke up the Boston policemen's strike. He showed again the other day that he is not to be forced into a hypocritical attitude because a majority of his fellow-citizens think differently from him. He vetoed the Massachusetts 2.75 per cent beer bill on the ground that to do otherwise would be rank hypocricy, that its approval would bring the people no beer, and that any attempt to act on it would be treated as a crime. His veto message concluded with the statement that he was opposed to legislative deception.

Speaking of profits: Why should the Department of Justice overlook the Federal Reserve Banks in his search for excessive profit-taking? True it is of course that the residue of the profits accrue to the government; but 110 per cent profit on the capital invested is exorbitant, and it leads to extravagant expenditures in the way of bank buildings and salaries and bonuses and overhead generally that really are not for the best.

With Other Editors

A JOVIAL DRY.

(New York Times)

Mr. William E. Johnson, affectionately known as "Pussyfoot," is back in his native land after his adventures and triumphs abroad. With undiminished good nature he jokes at the glass eye which is a memorial of the unintended barbarity of the London Ben Allens and Tom Sawyers, and foresees a dry world. "Probably in another ten years England will be dry." France is growing drier. Esthonia is "on the wagon." Even India, amnog whose woes we scarcely remember to have seen alcohol included before, will be rescued by government prohibition before long. In short, everything is for the best for the best of causes. It is mighty well, and the radiant optimism and immitigable cheerfulness of Mr. Johnson are beyond praise. One likes him and his joyous temperament so well that it is almost rude to remind him that, in his regretted absence, a strong reaction against his favorite doctrine has manifested itself in the United States.

To combat that reaction a good fellow like him may be more successful than the stern and rock-bound advocates of a prohibitionist that the most devoted opponents of prohibition have a fondness for. He has an ample sense of humor. He is as gay as the gayest old-fashioned bacchanalian song. He can take and give a joke. No heckling ruffles him. If anybody can persuade and win the wicked, it is a man of his type. For years the late Sir Wilfred Lawson, the famous foe of drink, was the wittiest man in the British House of Commons. Why should the devil have all the good tunes? He doesn't so long as there is a "Pussyfoot" Johnson to temper the rigor of those prohibitionists who are a bit too good for human nature's daily food.

Some Aspects of the Recent Campaign

There are to be no "I-told-you-sos" in the retrospect of the campaign that closed Saturday night.

Frankly stated, Senator Bailey's partisans were confident of an overwhelming victory.

His opponents were afraid there was a tangible basis for their confidence.

All of which goes to show that it is never safe to forecast political events by the crowds that flock to hear a great orator's speeches.

Senator Bailey had the greatest audiences ever assembled to hear a candidate in Texas. Not in any previous campaign in Texas history has a candidate attracted such throngs of farmers—they exceeded the multitude of Jim Hogg's day, but with the difference that Hogg won his audiences, while the former senator seems to have utterly lots his.

But there were other new and notable features disclosed by the result. In the old days, a candidate—winner or loser—developed definite areas of strength or weakness, or definite classes of support or opposition.

Senator Bailey's weakness was in all sections and among all classes. His strength, if you call it that, developed only in a small group of counties where the German-American and anti-prohibition vote was predominant, and even some of these counties he lost.

He said it was the preachers and women who defeated him, but it is evident enough that it was the ordinary men, as well.

Whatever force it was, it operated in every locality, among every class, in both sexes and with irresistible power—even in the former senator's home precinct, city and county.

And it should be added that never before in the history of presidential precinct conventions in Texas were there such large outpourings of the people. Usually, largely attended precinct conventions indicate keen rivalry between strong factions. In this instance, it manifested itself in a one-sidedness that approximated unanimity.

Now what are the conclusions to be drawn?

The endorsement or nonendorsement of the president was a matter of but incidental importance. The democracy of Texas, however, simply refuses to hamper the party in the coming battle by besmirching the victor of the last battle.

Constructively, it refuses to permit Senator Bailey and his faction to represent it at San Francisco either in the matter of writing platforms or selecting candidates. That implies either a lack of faith in the soundness of the political philosophy of the Bailey faction, or lack of confidence in their motives.

Senator Bailey has repeatedly said that he has no desire for public office; that his candidacy was merely to give impulse to his principles. Assuming that to be true, then the logic of Saturday's result would take him from the race of governor. Admitting that some one who endorsed Wilson likewise favor Bailey for governor, it is merely a personal following that would not loom large at the polls.

Whatever it was that impelled the people to repudiate the Bailey movement Saturday would express itself with still greater power in July, for certainly the former senator can never bring such severe indictments against the state administration as he brought against the federal administration.

And he could not reasonably expect the party to repudiate his national democracy and accept anything he has to offer for the benefit of the state.

The vast throngs his eloquence drove from him in March and April will not be won back in May, June and July.

If they could not believe in him on May 4, after his remarkable canvass of the state, they certainly will not believe in him on July 24.

The same causes which gave to their opposition the force and sweep of reproof in the springtime would certainly invest it with fury in midsummer.

The best service Senator Bailey could render to the democracy for whose welfare he professes such solicitude, and to the devoted friends who have followed him to disaster, would be to remove himself as an issue in Texas politics. Only in this way can a still more crushing humiliation and disappointment for him and them be averted.

The sullen roar of the Niagaran torrent which has carried him under merely points the way to the irresistible fury of the stormy sea ahead.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Calling the Doctor.

I marvel at the courage of the folks in days gone by,
They used to see their loved ones ill and never thought they'd die;
They'd hear them coughing through the night and bear them moan in pain,
And sweetly tell them with a smile they'd soon be well again;
It had to be a desperate case with little chance to win
Before they'd think that it was time to call the doctor in.

Whene'er the wise physician got a call to someone's bed,
He'd count it lucky not to find his patient almost dead;
He knew it was an urgent call—he faced a case for sure,
Which home-brewed herbs and poultices possessed no power to cure;
For when folks called the doctor in, in that glad long ago,
'Twas safe to bet the patient's tide of life was ebbing low.

It may be that I fret too much and over-worry, too,
But I can't wait for doctors as the old folks used to do.
Just let a fever show itself, and let a youngster sigh,
And I don't rest until I have the doctor standing by;
It may be just a stomach ache, but I don't care for that—
I want the best physician I can get right off the bat.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Tuesday, May 1, 1920.

Mars dominates this day's planetary rule and is in benefic aspect. The Sun is strongly adverse in influence.

Enterprise in whatever may be mechanical is subject to the best leading at this time.

Engineers, builders and workers in iron and steel should benefit from the sway which foreshadows great activity in many lines of construction.

Physicians should prosper while this configuration prevails, but they will alter many of their ideas within the next few years, for they will make discoveries regarding the effect of the forces of thought and the psychic reactions caused by the human mind.

At this time it is likely that a famous general will come much before the public, but he will not receive the highest award in the gift of the people.

This is not an auspicious day to bespeak support or aid in any enterprise. There is a direction of the stars causing arrogance and lack of understanding among those who wield authority and dispense favors.

Pride that precedes a fall will manifest itself during the coming weeks and women especially may be susceptible to the inflation of personal value.

Festivities and celebrations of many sorts are foretold for the end of this month. These will have significance since they will affect political issues.

The stars supposed to incite Bacchanalian feasts again are potent, but while they arouse desire to indulge in drink that intoxicates they will not result in changing laws already enforced.

Disorders in the Transvaal, which continue to be foreshadowed, may become serious before the end of the month.

During the war the seers prophesied that great books and plays would be written in the new era, and they declare that this prediction will be fulfilled tardily.

Danger of strikes and serious troubles in the railway service is forecast. One of these may embarrass the nation in an unusual way.

Persons whose birthdate it is may expect an active year that may not be altogether profitable.

Children born on this day may be clever and original in thought, but not fond of business or the practical application of theories.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

By WALT MASON.

Bad Luck.

It is seldom ills are single; in a regiment they rise, and our scalding teardrops mingle with the tears of other guys. When a blaze calls out the firemen, there'll be seven in a row, while the bards and kindred lyremen chant the litany of woe. Now a tire sustains a puncture, in a long cross-country run, and the driver, at this juncture, knows his grief is but begun. Not a parasang he'll travel, but a tire is running flat; tacks and nails and chunks of gravel all contributing to that. To the morals undermining are such grievous things as these, and his language, hot and shining, wilts the leaves on near-by trees. Things go wrong at early morning, wrong when from your couch you start, and you take it as a warning that the day will break your heart. For our evils come cavorting, not, alas, as single spies; but in legions they come snorting, as we sadly swat the flies. But they'll soon have run their courses, and the luck will change awhile; from our woe we'll have divorces, and we'll spring the old time smile.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

WHY?—

IS THE SHAMROCK THE EMBLEM OF IRELAND?

(Copyright, 1920, by Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Tradition has it that, when St. Patrick wished to explain the mystery of the Trinity to the ancient inhabitants of Ireland, he plucked a Shamrock from the ground and, by means of the three petals which made up the single leaf, illustrated his argument.

While this story has gained wide credence, it is not to be found in any of the lives of St. Patrick written by his contemporaries nor does it occur in any of the other records of the time. The connection between St. Patrick and shamrock—which means, of course, between Ireland and the shamrock—very probably dates back to the fact that the "trefoil" (three-leaved) was known to the Arabians by the name of "shamrack" and was half sacred in Iran as emblematic of the Persian triads. Pliny, in his "Natural History," also states that the shamrack was regarded by the inhabitants of the east as a cure for hte sting of scorpions—a belief which almost certainly persisted after the emigration to Ireland and other parts of Europe.

The connection between the shamrack" (or shamrock) and St. Patrick, who is credited with having driven all the snakes from Ireland, is therefore obvious.

A NEW USE FOR SHOES.

Anent my little article on the golden age of shoe lovers, a letter friend suggests a new use for shoes—telling character by them."

"Don't you think," she writes, "that shoes are next to hats in expressing personality?

"At a college Hallowe'en party several years ago I read palms for fun (to oblige a young cousin) and a good part of that palm reading I did by shoe reading. As each girl approached I glanced at her feet, and in a moment I knew the ones who were working their way and the ones who stood for prestige and cash. Then, of course, besides that I could tell traits of character by the condition of the shoes.

When Shoes Show Extravagance and Vanity.

"A sleazy silk stocking and a cheap boot show right away that the owner is making a futile effort to imitate riches, and I put her down as extravagant and vain.

"If a white shoe shows signs of old dirt on it I make a mental comment of carelessness.

"Rundown heels, missing buttons, et cetera, are the result of a loose stitch in one's make-up.

"We Americans sit cross-legged so much that a tap shows up on a shoe pretty plainly, and if a mended shoe is worn with an elegant costume it denotes a bread-and-butter struggle.

How Shoes Show Occupation.

When a person habitually wears his shoes to one side I know his occupation keeps him standing up a good deal, and the tired body will force the shoe over.

"A dainty walker, and dancer almost always interfere or wears one ankle off against the other.

"A forcible character walks heels and toes and wears them both down.

"A small or slender foot probably was a heritage from aristocratic ancestors who rode a good deal. Vice versa, a large flat foot might indicate peasantry or soldier forbears."

Shoes and Ancestry.

Evidently that explains the idea that a slim foot is aristocratic, but I really must take issue with the universal truth of that. I have a suspicion that the size of the person has something to do with the size of the foot, as well as the habits of his ancestors. Isn't it natural that a slim person should have a slim foot to match, no matter what his ancestors did? In my own case, I wear a double A, but as far back as my ancestors are known unto me, I feel sure they walked more than they rode.

So ends the study of character by feet. You may find it interesting to look over your friends' (and perhaps your own) feet in the light of these revelations. Perhaps you will find some further suggestions to make.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

Yestiddy in skool Miss Kitty told us about Sir Walter Rawley being so polite he spred his cloak in the mud so the queen could wawk on it insted of getting her shoes derty, and I wawked home from skool with Loretter Mincer and told her about Sir Walter Rawley, and Loretter Mincer sed, O how wonderfill, wy arent men that polite nowadays.

They dont ware cloaks eny more, I sed, if I wore a cloak I bet I would be that polite, I bet.

Well look, heers a puddle, if you had a cloak would you spred it over that puddle so I could wawk on it? sed Loretter Mincer, and I sed, Serteny I would, and she sed, Well then take off your coat and spred it.

O a coats diffrent, I sed, and she sed, Wy it is? and I sed, Because by the time I took it off you could of had time to wawk erround the puddle.

O youre jest trying to get out of it, if Sir Walter wats his name wasent any politer than you I pity him, sed Loretter Mincer, and I sed O is that so, well jest go back to the puddle agin and Ill show you.

Wich we went back to the puddle, not being mutch of a puddle to think of wawking erround but being a fearse puddle to think of spredding your coat over, and I took my coat off as if it was nuthing but a cloak and laid it on top of the puddle and Loretter Mincer wawked across it and back agen, being even more than the queen did, saying, O Benny, you silly boy, I bet youll get scolded all rite wen you get home, jest look at your coat, Proving the more you ixpect to be appreciated the more you awffen aint, and wen ma came home I told her about the puddle without mentioning Sir Walter Rawley or Loretter Mincer and ma thawt I fell in the puddle axsidently, me not telling her I dident on account of I couldent help it if she wunted to think so.

The Einstein Theory.

The Einstein theory has attracted wide attention among savants and scientific men, and the publicity it has received has even caused laymen to wonder if the statement than only 12 persons in the world were able to thoroughly comprehend the theory was really true. "The weak point in the Einstein theory," declares Sir Joseph Thompson of the Royal Astronomical society, "is the great difficulty in expressing it. It would seem that no one can understand the new law of gravitation without a thorough knowledge of the theory of invariants and of the coleulus of variations." In other words, only astronomers and a few others whose vocations or curiosity or love of the study draws them into the realms of the higher branches of pure mathematics can have any real comprehension of the Einstein theory of gravitation, while practically anybody can understand the simply-stated gravitational law that Sir Isaac Newton evolved from the fall of the apple. The Einstein theory may be more nearly correct than the Newtonian, but it will be a long time in achieving popularity if a thorough understanding of calculus is a prerequisite. — Wichita Times.

Whether the Einstein theory ever "achieves popularity" is, of course, not the question. The Einstein theory is not running for office. The important thing is, will the Einstein theory yield any practical results such as will make it of aid to society? The general mass of people knows nothing about atoms of electrons, or spiral nebulae. Nor could the average intelligent individual tell you what is meant by such words as Mendelism, argon and radioactivity. This does not imply, however, that these words mean nothing, nor does it imply that the ideas or theories or existence for which they stand are of no use to the world. The point is that many scientists do understand all about these things, and are able to deduce from them facts and practical doctrines that are of use to us in every day life. A scientific theory does not have to be popular to be valuable; few scientific theories are popular for the simple reason that they are unintelligible to all save the specialist. But if the specialist understands his subject sufficiently to make it bear concrete results in the work-a-day world of experience, that is all we need ask. Not what a theory is, but what it does, is of interest to the average man. No one knows what electricty is, but any one can turn on the switch and produce light.—Dallas News.

WEST TEXAS TOWNS SEEK TO SAVE ORIENT RAILROAD

SAN ANGELO, TEX., May 11.—West Texas towns, from Red River to the Rio Grande, have launched a concerted movement to save the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad, the operation of which will cease Sept. 1, under the Esch-Cummins bill, unless conclusive proof is shown the Interstate Commerce Commission that the maintenance of the line is an absolute public necessity.

At the instance of a directors' committee from the Texas division, Fort Stockton, Pecos county, has already passed resolutions urging the continued operation of the system and other Texas towns, including Alpine, Mertzon, San Angelo, Bronte, Sweetwater, Hamlin and Chillicothe are expected to take similar action.

The Orient has 465 miles of track in Texas, between O'Dell and Alpine, and traverses a rich farming region north of here as well as the heart of the livestock raising section of the state.

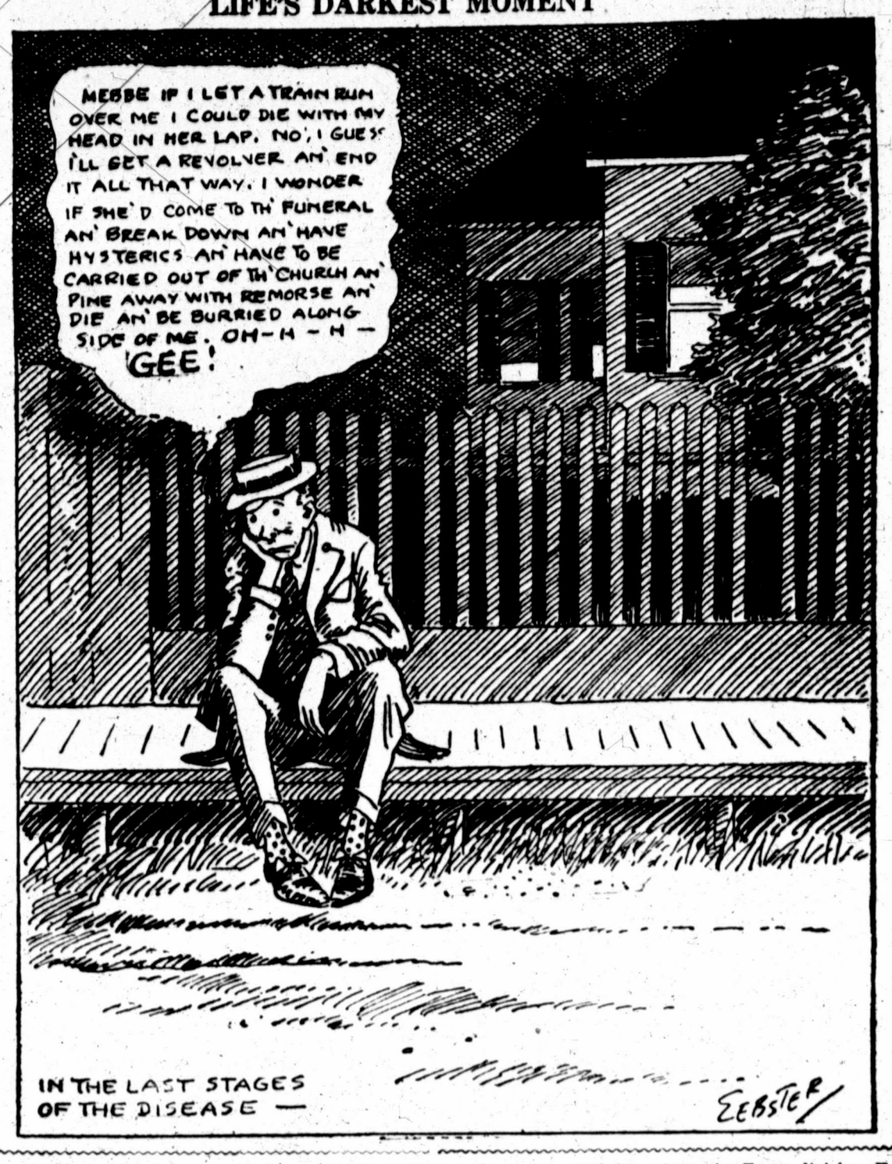

Pecos, Crockett, Upton, Reagan, Irion and Coke counties would be without railroad connections should the line be discontinued.

The Orient of Texas system has asked the state railroad commission for permission to issue $4,483,000 in bonds with which to complete gaps in its system between San Angelo and Del Rio, a distance of about 50 miles, both of which will give through rail connections with Mexico, and to purchase new equipment.

MUST STOP DANCE OF INDUSTRIAL DEATH OR PAY THE PIPER

NEW YORK, May 11.—An appeal to the American people to "desist from "a rampage of extravagance," was issued tonight by the National Association of Credit Men in a letter sent to its members. The letter read:

"The dance of industrial death, in which the people of America are now participating should cease before they have to pay the piper.

"The extravagance of our people since Armistice day is one of those psychological phenomena to which man is subject. During the war period we sacrificed gladly, but with the cessation of hostilities, the restrained feeling broke loose and we went on a rampage of extravagance such as never before has been exhibited in this land.

"This nation is sound fundamentally and this soundness will continue if people will give up their folly, will become more diligent, will work as human beings should work during a time of stress and strain, and thus help to bring about a gradual deflation in currency so that the prices may readily recede and that we may eventually be brought to a condition of industrial and financial health.

"Thrift, in our opinion, is the expression of real patriotism in these days just as it was in the period of war. The people who spent recklessly are losing sight of the nation's traditions; indeed, they endanger that overthrow of our institutions which some low spirits we are harboring among us are secretly plotting to destroy.

"Just as we have expected, the big middle class of our people with fixed income, that least organized portion of our citizens, is feeling seriously the grinding process of the upper and the nether millstones. Prices have reached a peak where this class is finding it difficult to leave with even moderate degree of comfort, yet its resentment and complaints cannot be expressed in strikes, although it is suffering under present economic stress more than any other class.

"Denim and calico, together with the lunch box, make the most vivid way in which these people who largely make up the most substantial elements in our national life can express their feelings toward the grinding process. Those directly engaged in production, where on the labor or capital side, must heed this complaint and do their level best to lower commodity prices. Prices can be lowered by economies all along the line if labor as well as capital will do its part."

PROFITEERING ON WHISKEY CHARGED AGAINST DRUGGISTS

AUSTIN, Profiteering on whiskey by Texas druggists is charged in a statement by R. V. Nichols, special agent for the attorney general's department who has been investigating the situation in Texas.

Many druggists, he said, charge five dollars for a short pint of liquor which his investigations indicate cost them only six dollars a gallon. The druggists give 12 ounces instead of 16 to a pint, and thus get $50 a gallon for the liquor, he added.

State officials, he continued, are considering the questions of filing complaints against some of these druggists or revoking their state permit to sell intoxicants.

Some physicians, Mr. Nichols added, are charging $2 for writing a prescription calling for intoxicants and are writing as many as 25 of these prescriptions per day. Thus, according to these figures, 12 ounces of whiskey costs the consumer $7.

Try The Bitro-Phosphate Health System—$300 Guarantee.

NEW YORK.—If you are feeling rundown, weak, nervous, tired-in-the-morning, and generally ailing, these are the symptoms that should warn you to take care of your health.

Four persons in every ten are needing more phosphorous in their bodies. When you see thin and fretful people; or those who are anaemic, pale, frail, oft despondent or lacking in energy, you may look for the need of certain elements that make for a strong constipation.

Some people, after relying upon preparations composed chiefly of salts, quinine, drastic drugs, iron, calomel, cod-liver oil, etc., wonder why they find no benefit. That is easily explained by the fact that such persons need the phosphoric element, which is a most potent essential to health, and contained in BITRO-PHOSPHATE, the famous health preparation. Now obtainable everywhere.

The right thing for you to do is make a trial of BITRO-PHOSPHATE beginning at once. It is not a patent medicine; the formula is prescribed by many physicians for the ailments and weaknesses mentioned above.

With every box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE are a few simple health rules and a $300 guarantee. Buy a box of BITRO-PHOSPHATE. It is sold and recommended by Miller Drug Co., and all good druggists everywhere.

LIVING ORGANISMS IMPRISONED IN AMBER OLD AS HUMAN RACE

PARIS, April 23.—Living organisms, imprisoned in amber and believed to be incomparably older than the microbes found in Egyptian papyri, have been discovered by Dr. Galippe, of the French Academy of Science, and it is thought by some biologists that these organisms may probably be among the very early elements possessing life, to inhabit the earth.

Amber is said to have been formed in the very early stages of the earth's history but Dr. Galippe is convinced the micro-organisms could only have been imprisoned in the amber while it was in course of formation.

As soon as these organisms were set free from their prison they are said to have manifested very evident signs of life and, when carefully cultivated, developed great activity. The organisms are of course very elementary but this fact detracts little from the marvel that they are living survivals from a period far earlier than that of prehistoric man.

Be Young In Body, Mind and Looks Despite Your Years

How often you have wished that you could indulge in the strenuous exercise of out door sports with the vigor and enthusiasm of youth! But the end of the week finds you all in—you are tired, listless and lack the energy to go out for a vigorous walk or a round of the links—or any other exercise that requires much physical exertion. Many a man, even in his middle forties, has a vague feeling that he is "getting old"—and right at a time when he should be at his very best physically.

And he is growing old, not in the sense that the years are pressing heavily upon him—but in the sense that his vital forces are wasting away faster than Nature replaces the worn out tissues.

Thousands—yes millions—of people find themselves in this condition early in life. And there is no excuse for it. You can check that tendency to grow old. You can carry your youth with its joys and enthusiasm into your 70's and 80's. But you must give Nature all the help you can. The best assistance you can find—assistance of a sound, constructive character is in the use of

LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE TO ACT ON SUFFRAGE

BATON ROUGE, LA., May 11.—The general assembly of Louisiana which opens tomorrow will have the opportunity to write history. Three questions of paramount interest will be placed before it:

First—Will Louisiana become the 36th necessary state to ratify the national woman suffrage amendment?

Second—Will horse racing be continued in Louisiana and if so, how?

Third—Will the $3,000,000 needed by the state treasury be secured through a severance tax on national resources or by direct taxation of the citizens of the state.

The suffrage fight promises to be keen. Both sides are well organized and both claim victory. The governor, John M. Parker, is for ratification and the following he has secured during the last two years is admittedly large. But, in Louisiana, states rights are not easily forgotten and the principle will rally many staunch supporters.

Led by the Young Men's Business League of New Orleans dozens of organizations throughout the state have adopted resolutions demanding either that there be a state racing commission, a short season and pari mutuel betting machines or that racing be abolished by state legislation. The objections seem to be raised principally against operation of hand-books in the cities and the so-called "oralities" at the tracks at Jefferson and the Fairgrounds, New Orleans.

The severance tax legislation is not expected to cause much opposition. It puts a two per cent tax on every industry drawing from the natural resources of the state, oil, gas, lumber, moss, salt, sulphur, gravel, rosin, turpentine and a few other commodities. Altogether it is estimated the taxes would total close to the much needed $3,000,000.

REMEMBER, THE TIME IS LIMITED AND THIS OFFER WILL NEVER BE MADE AGAIN!

New Permanent Home Consumers Belt Factory

The entire property shown above was purchased by Consumers Belt Factory April 24th, 1920, for its permanent machinery belt factory and belting by-product plant.

This magnificent brick structure, built some two years ago, is 65 by 100 feet in dimensions, will accommodate our Factory of TWELVE UNITS, storage rooms, sales rooms, and offices; adjoins the right-of-way of the M. K. & T. Railway Company of Texas, and has trackage and docks complete. Being located on Elizabeth street, in the heart of the manufacturing district of Fort Worth, and known as some of the choicest property in the city.

The investment means a saving of more than $50,000.00 to the Factory Shareholders, and will put our plant in full operation at least six months earlier than heretofore contemplated. This Factory completed will have a business capacity of about TWELVE TIMES AS GREAT as our PRESENT Factory Unit, which has a capacity of $2,000.00 worth of products per day, $50,000.00 a month, or $600,000.00 a year, at an average profit of about 100 per cent.

Belting products are continually in use to operate Cotton Oil Mills, Cotton Gins, Lumber Mills, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Grist Mills, Compresses, Factories of all kinds, Refineries, Automobiles, Trucks, Grain Threshers, Power Plants and all other machinery. For this reason the demand is greater than we can supply and we have standing orders for our products.

The men in charge of our Manufacturing Division have an experience of 15 to 25 years, and the officers of the Factory are composed of eight of the leading business men of Fort Worth. Any bank or business man in Fort Worth will be glad to tell you about them. The Factory also bonds its officers for the faithful expenditure of moneys.

The entire organization is covered by our small capital of $250,000.00, divided into shares of $1.00 each, par value. The profits to the Shareholders are therefore enormous, and the institution now ranks as one of the HIGHEST-GRADE BUSINESS INVESTMENTS IN THE SOUTH!

ALL SHARES IN THE FACTORY ARE PREFERRED to the extent of a 100 per cent dividend out of the net profits as against expansion of the Factory beyond the original plan of TWELVE UNITS, and each Share bears a PERMANENT INTEREST in the entire assets, moneys, profits, and every Unit of the Factory.

STELLAR FIELDING SAVES BURCH WHILE SPUDDERS POUND OUT 3 TO 1 WIN OVER GALVESTON

Grubb's big bat and stellar fielding played a prominent part in the Spudders 3 to 1 victory over Galveston yesterday. Burch pitched well, but got into several tight holes, only to have his team mates pull him out.

The Spudders chased Cerniglia to the club house in the fourth with a fusilade of hits and Wilson who relieved him was removed later in the game to make way for a pinch hitter. Grubb's triple in the fatal fourth drove in two runs and he scored a minute later on Storey's single. He also picked up many hot ones around the third corner and saved Burch's hide on more than one occasion.

Honeck played his first full game at second for the Spudders and covered himself with glory. If he continues to play as he did yesterday, he will have little difficulty in landing a regular berth.

The game in detail:

First Inning.—Josefson flied out to Clark and Honeck was thrown out by Pape. Snedecor lifted one to McDonald in the left.

After Carey was thrown out by Burch and Pepe had flied out to Storey, Burch wabbled temporarily. Callahan was hit by a pitched ball. Schlieber drove one down the third base line for a single and Callahan advanced a peg. Monz drove out a long fly that Storey gobbled.

Second Inning.—Mokan opened with a single past third. Tanner dumped a sacrifice that advanced Mokan. He got no farther, however, as Grubb and Storey flied to the outfield.

Clark, Hauser and McDonald could not get the ball out of the infield and all were thrown out at first.

Third Inning.—Kitchens waited patiently and walked. Burch struck out and Kitchens stole second. He went to third on Josefson's infield out and stayed there, while Honeck fanned.

Once again Galveston could not hit the ball out of the infield and Cerniglia, Carey and Pepe were thrown out at first.

Fourth Inning.—All the scoring was done in this frame. Snedecor started the fireworks by scratching a hit through Carey. Mokan got his second safety and sent Snedecor to second. Both runners went up a peg when Tanner was thrown out by Carey. Grubb came through in the pinch and drove both men across the pan with a long triple to right. Storey kept up the good work and sent Grubb in with a hit to center. Wilson then relieved Cerniglia and immediately caught Storey napping off first. Kitchen's eye was still keen and he waited out his second pass. Burch fanned, ending the inning.

After Callahan was thrown out by Honeck, Schlieber tripled to left and scored on a sacrifice fly by Monz. Clark poppel to Snedecor.

Fifth Inning.—Josefson opened the inning with a scratch hit and reached third on a sacrifice and a fly to right. Wilson was afraid of Mokan and the latter drew a pass. He stole second. Tanner flied out to Callahan.

With two men gone, Burch again got into trouble. He passed Wilson and Carey poled one down the third base line for a hit. Pepe slammed one at Grubb, who saved the day by touching Wilson before he could get back to the bag.

Sixth Inning. — Grubb was thrown out by Carey and Storey was hit by Wilson. He stole second and third, but got no further as Kitchens fanned and Burch was thrown out by Wilson.

Galveston almost broke up the game in this inning. Callahan opened with a bingle to right. Schlieber forced him at second. While Grubb was throwing out Monz, Schlieber went to second. Grubb threw high on Clark's bounder ,but Schlieber was thrown out trying to score.

Seventh Inning. — Honeck singled and stole second in this frame after Josefson was thrown out at first. Snedecor and Mokan popped to the infield leaving Honeck on second.

Burch pulled out of his tightest hole in this roupd. He got a bad start when Hauser singled and he hit McDonald. O'Brien batted for Wilson and third on an attempted sacrifice. McDonald was forced at third on Carrey's grounder to Burch. Honeck gobbled up Pepe's fly for the third out.

Eighth Inning.—Gudger went in for Wilson and retired the Spudders in order.

Galveston went out the same way.

Ninth Inning.—The Spudders again went out one, two three.

Honeck did not duplicate Brownlow's recent feat in the ninth, but threw out Clark and Hauser, while Burch tossed McDonold out at first. Score:

JOE BECKETT PUTS WELLS TO SLEEP IN THIRD FRAME FOR ENGLISH CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON, May 11.—Bombardier Wells is through. His reign among the heavyweights of Europe is over.

Thus British sport writers expressed themselves over the fight last night in which Joe Beckett knocked out Wells in the third round for the English championship.

Wells has lost his punch, the critics agreed. When Wells abandoned boxing and started toe-to-toe slugging he made a fatal mistake, was the opinion.

FOURTEEN ROOKIES HAVE MADE GOOD IN MAJOR LEAGUES

American League Has Eight Promising Youngsters and National Six

By HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Fourteen spring debutantes are mixing in the swirl of diamond society like veteran dowagers. Eight promising youngsters have stepped out in the American League and six have made their initial bow in the Natinonal League.

The Phils seem to have been the most fortunate in securing two capable youngsters—Le Borveau, a slugging outfielder, and Ralph Miller, a third baseman. Le Borveau is hitting .413, second in the league, and has crowded Meusle out of a job in the field.

The Red Sox also picked up a star batter in Henryx, an outfielder, who is batting .366 in the clean-up position.

Neis, a young outfielder from Canada, set a hot pace with Brooklyn at the start of the race. He is still a brilliant fielder but his batting is falling off. Bob Meusle, the so-called Ruth of the Pacific coast, played a few games with the Yanks. He seems to have everything but the spirit.

Grimm, a youngster, has ably filled a hole for George Gibson on the first corner of the Pirate Infield and the Cards are also using a youngster at first base in Jack Fournier, Carroll, some new blood, is also performing in the Braves outfield.

Jimmy O'Neill, a young shortstop with the Washington Nationals, is one of the best of the season's new crop. He is a brother of Steve O'Neill, the star Cleveland backstop.

Connie Mack has almost a kindergarten. Only three players on the Athletics are over 25. The old wizard introduced three promising kids this season in Griffin, a first baseman; Galloway at short, and Dykes on third, a smooth working combination that pulled a triple play yesterday.

GASSERS DEFEAT HOUSTON THROUGH SILCOTT'S ERROR

HOUSTON, TEX., May 10.—Silcott's error in the sixth inning and his misjudgment of Hungling's two base hit in the tenth handed Shreveport the game here Monday after the Houston club has scored two runs in the first inning. Weird base running on the part of the Shreveport team did them out of at least one run. Houston outhit the Gassers, but failed dismally in the pinches. Score:

GOODMAN RECEIVES TERRIFIC BEATING FROM DICK GRIFFIN IN FAST BOUT AT CAMEL A. C.

There was not a dull moment at the Camel A. C. last night from the time the gong sounded for the battle royal until the final gong announcing Goodman's defeat at the hands of Dick Griffin, the local favorite from Fort Worth. Every bout was full of "pep" and had the spectators on edge.

Frank Goodman took a terrific beating from Griffin. With the exception of three rounds, Goodman was pounded from pillar to post and on several occasions it looked as if he would go down for the count. His ability to absorb punishment was all that saved him. Dick had him groggy and hanging on several times in the last few rounds, but did not get the sleeper over.

Dick's left played havoc with Goodman's face and the latter could not seem to solve it. However, both scrappers were on their pins when the final gong sounded, though Goodman was a badly used up man. His exhibition was the gamest ever seen at the local club.

Goodman opened up speedily, but could not touch Griffin, and the Fort Worth boy landed two blows to his one. It was Griffin' round. Dick kept his left in Goodman's face in the second and once again the Toledo aspirant could not hurt him.

Griffin rocked Goodman several times in the third with kidney blows. Goodman tried to land a few haymakers, but was missing like a Ford. The fourth was all Griffin's as he landed repeatedly with his left. Goodman got in one good punch, but that was all.

The fifth saw some furious fighting and honors were even. Dick opened up with a rush and had Goodman gasping or breath for a short period. Goodman came back like a flash, however, and opened up Dick's left eye with a terrific clout. Dick got his dander up after that blow and went after Goodman, hammer and tongs. He floored him once and pummeled him at the ropes, but Goodman was swapping blows all the time.

Goodman gave as good as he received in the sixth and had a slight edge on Griffin in this round. The seventh was all Goodman's. He staged a wonderful comeback in this frame and battered away at Griffin's kidneys. Goodman was taking advantage of the clinches, and he looked good in this round.

Dick came back strong in the Eighth and whaled Goodman all over the ring. He had Goodman ducking for dear life. Dick got him up against the ropes and beat a terrific tattoo on his face and opened a bad gash under his left eye.

Goodman's eye was closing fast in the ninth and he started to rough it a bit. He butted Griffin in the clinches, but did not get away with it long. When the round ended Goodman looked as if another blow would finish it.

Griffin started the next round right where he left off. Goodman's eye closed completely in this round and he hung on to Griffin to avoid a knock out. Griffin missed several wild swings that would have done the trick had they landed.

The bell saved Goodman in the eleventh. He clung so closely to Griffin that the latter could not push him away for the K. O. He did the same in the final round, and though Griffin landed at will the Toledo boy kept his feet and finished a very game exhibition.

In the semi-final, Kid Murphy proved his claim to the colored lightweight championship of the United States by winning handily from Emerson Williams of Fort Worth. The scrap was fast from start to finish, but Murphy (wherever he dug up that name) was far superior. He had Williams down for the count of nine in the sixth but could not knock him out. Williams complained of a bad arm shortly after the fight started, but, nevertheless, he had a good wallop in it. The writer would have hated to step into it. Both men were fighting hard at the end of the bout, but Murphy was having things his own way.

The other preliminaries staged by the youngsters were fast and all were evenly matched.

Wenzel Gains Eight Pounds Taking Orgatone

"I doctored and took medicine for five years trying to get rid of my troubles, but nothing seemed to do me good until I took Orgatone. After taking five bottles of this treatment I am now a well man and I have gained eight pounds and am still gaining."

The above statement was made a few days ago by J. F. Wenzel, one of the most popular barbers in Fort Worth and who resides at 3429 Ave. I, Polytechnic, Fort Worth, Texas. In relating his experience with Orgatone, Mr. Wenzel said:

"I think stomach trouble, which began five years ago, was the beginning of my bad health. All that time my digestion was so poor that it just seemed like I couldn't get enough to eat. However, after every meal I suffered with acute pains that put me in misery for hours. I fell off in weight and got weaker and weaker and finally got so I felt tired and worn out from the time I got out of bed in the morning until I retired at night and the worst of it was that I was so nervous I could hardly sleep after I had gone to bed. You can just imagine what a fix like this would do for a man in the barber business, but in spite of all I could do, no medicine or treatment seemed to help me. It just looked like there was nothing for me but to go ahead and bear it.

"Well, I admit I had read a lot about this Orgatone in the papers, but I never thought very much about it until one day I was talking to a friend of mine and he said to me, 'Look here, Wenzel, you go right to Renfro's and get a bottle of Orgatone, I'm sure it will do you a lot of good, for I took it myself and it helped me wonderfully.'

"I ordered a bottle of Orgatone and began taking it. I have used five bottles in all and I don't feel like the same man. I have improved in every respect; I am much stronger and more energetic; I am no longer nervous. I sleep like a top, my digestion is as sound as a dollar and I have gained eight pounds. I wouldn't be back like I was for anything in the world. I can eat heartily of anything I want now and it seems to agree with me perfectly. I certainly do recommend Orgatone heartily and sincerely after the great good five bottles of it have done for me."

Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment absolutely free from alcohol in any form and is sold in Wichita Falls by the Young and the Miller Drug Stores exclusively, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

Sport Comment
By Paul W. Larkin

The Spudders looked like a real ball club yesterday.

Johnny Mokan continues to paste the pellet. He got two yesterday.

Grubb's all around playing was the feature of the game. He batted and fielded like a big leaguer and Burch can thank him for his victory.

Kitchens may not be the fastest man in the world, but a man with his ability to look them over does not need to be a 10-second man. He drew two passes yesterday and incidentally stole a base.

In fact, they stole everything but Hauser's glove and mask. When Kitchen's can get away with a stolen base—"'nuf sed." Storey pilfered two sacks, one while Wilson was standing with the ball in his hand.

Where have the real American ball players disappeared to? A glance at the lineup of yesterday's teams would lead one to believe that the reds were staging a contest.

Honeck's debut must have been highly satisfactory to Manager Salm. He took care of everything that came his way, and poled out one safety. More power to him!

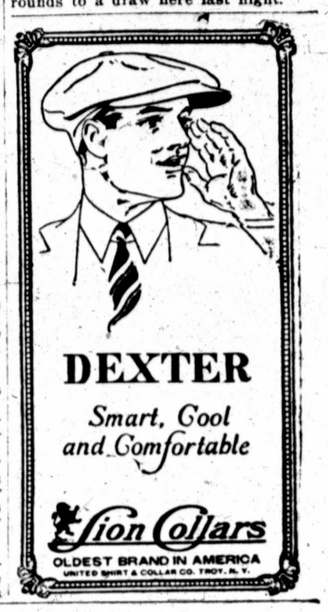

What a wonderful chance there is to slip one over on the crowd that attends the games daily at the Plaza airdome scoreboard. If the board operator lapses for a second, a howl goes up and his attention is immediately called to the fact. The crowd is on its toes every second. Still, they don't howl very often, as the board is working like a clock now and every play is accurately recorded.

The reception accorded Dick Griffin last night must have made the Fort Worth boy feel good. He has always been a great favorite in Wichita Falls, and justly so. A cleaner fighter never stepped into the ring. He is in there fighting every second and always carries the fight to his opponent. After his showing last night, he deserves a crack at Pete Herman if anyone does.

While discussing Griffin's methods, Joe Sheridan, the referee, stated that Griffin broke instantly every time he was told to do so. That's the kind of fighting to make any boy popular. Here's hoping Dick gets his chance at the title.

COACHING FROM BENCH IS ORDERED STOPPED

BOSTON, May 11.—Coaching from the players bench is prohibited in the American League. President Ban Johnson in a formal order sent to all clubs and received by the Red Sox today, announces that a player removed from the bench by an umpire hereafter is automatically suspended for three days.

Coaching from the bench, Johnson declares, "has been carried to an extreme by two clubs in the organization this spring and has become a positive nuisance. The 'riding' and abuse of visiting players is unsportsmanlike and does not belong to baseball."

Removal Notice.

Nicholson & Felder have moved their law offices to 721-725 Commerce Bldg. 341-7tc

WOMAN'S ENGLISH GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

By Wood Cowan

For the first time in the history of sport, women are going to play a major role in international competition.

Miss Marion Hollins, Metropolitan champion, Miss Mildred Caverly, runner-up in the national tournament four years ago, Mrs. Charles Vanderbeck, former national champion, and Miss Roseamond Sherwood, of Long Island, comprise America's entry.

Of course, Miss Hollins, judging from her former play, has the best chance. Her excellent physique, outdoor life, and ability to excel in most every sport she has undertaken will stand her in good stead—especially since 180 holes are to be played in five days. She can drive a ball further than any other woman in the country, with the possible exception of Miss Alexa Stirling. Her game has been steadily improving the last year and she is now just coming into her own.

Miss Hollins is an excellent tennis player, sails a yacht, and there are few amateur whips in the country, that are her equal.

But—!

Her leading opponent, Miss Cecil Leitch, holds a commanding position among English woman golfers, and ranks with the greatest players of history. Her play is almost machine-like in precision. She has the strength and endurance of a man, and is blessed with a disposition that is never flustered when things are going against her.

MIGHTY TALENT WILL JOIN UNDER ROTARIANS FOR BASEBALL HONORS

A mighty combination of baseball brains and talent has been assembled by Captain Brown Robbins to do battle for the honor of the Rotary Club in the annual skirmish with the Wichita Club aggregation, according to an announcement issued from the Rotary camp Tuesday, both speed and great offensive power being represented on the well rounded nine selected from the membership. Especial strength is also promised by the pitchers staff which has been signed for the occasion, and which includes such redoubtable heavers as Johnny Thomas, Rhea Hanks and Slim Richardson. Behind the plate the bulk of duty for the Rotarians will fall on Ira Brown, the genial secretary of the club, who is a tower of strength both on the defense and with the willow. At the initial station the veteran Charley Pogenpohl will be the guardian, while "Kirk" Kirkpatrick and Stacey, formerly of Texas U, will be the guardians of the keystone pillow. In the hot corner of the diamond Captain Robbins himself has been nominated, while outer garden will be adorned by such stars as Bowman, C. H. Reid and Tipton, who are expected to prove equally a problem for the opposition on both offense and defense.

"Our nine has all the confidence in the world—being certain in their own minds of their ability to take the full measure of the near-ball club organized by the Wichitans to do them battle," remarked one of the prominent members in the Rotary camp in discussing the approaching engagement, the receipts of which go to the benefit of the Kemp Public Library board. "In fact the only disappointment felt by the members of the nine are that they are going to have only one chance at the Wichitans—they would far rather have a chance to take them down say every day for a week. But inasmuch as only one game is scheduled, they are planning to take full satisfaction in the nine short innings for last season's affair, where the opposition organized their club quietly and then challenged the unsuspecting Rotarians to a match where they had them at an advantage."

Only one part of the program remains to be worked out—the selection of an umpire. Negotiations have been opened for several individuals, and it is expected that as soon as definite assurances of proper police protection can be obtained for this official, that a suitable party may be signed for the part.

COUNTY TO EXPEND $1500 ON LAW LIBRARY

A law library to cost approximately $1,500 is to be located on the second floor of the court house, it was announced Tuesday by W. T. Harris, county clerk. Judge Edgar Scurry of the 78th district court has been requested by the county commissioners to investigate more thoroughly the proposed law library and report to them at their next regular meeting. County Clerk Harris announced, however, that the commission has gone on record as favoring the law library and that the library will be established within a few weeks. One of the side-rooms opening into the 30th district court room will house the library, under present plans. A full collection of reporters and digests will be purchased and the library will be open to all members of the bar association, and county officials.

REVOLUTIONISTS ASK U. S. RECOGNITION

ifest that for a time at least it would not have to face the usual counter revolution.

If the revolutionists carry out their program announced in the "plan of Agua Prieta," no time will be lost in setting up a provisional government. The promise made in the announcement was that upon the occupation of Mexico City and the adherence to the revolution plan of half the state governments, a convention of delegates representing the different state governors, would be called to select a provisional president who would without delay call a special session of congress which, in accordance with the constitution would proceed to the election of a president.

Of the existing organization, Adolfo de la Huerta, governor of Sonora, is the chief executive, chosen recently at a meeting on the Sonora frontier as the "pre-provisional" president. His selection was intended, it was explained, as being merely for the purpose of giving the revolutionary a temporary organization. Agents of the revolution here expected he would proceed to Mexico City but in the meantime Obregon appeared to be functioning as a dictator.

Representatives of the revolutionists declared the leaders of the movement would not concern themselves at this time with the question of recognition, other than a recognition of the de facto character. Leaders of the revolution, they asserted, recognize the greater importance of restoring constitutional government. Commercial agents have been named for posts in different foreign cities and will act as consuls as far as possible, it was stated.

SAN LUIS POTOSI TAKEN REVOLUTIONISTS IS REPORT

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., May 11.—According to reports received by the local Obregon headquarters, San Luis Potosi, capital of San Luis Potosi state, has been captured by Mexican rebels after a short struggle. Queterro has also fallen into the hands of revolutionists. Sobronio Martinez, governor of San Luis Potosi, fled in an automobile toward Vera Cruz.

General Pruneda, heading a large force of rebels, is reported nearing Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass. Reports indicate that the Carranza garrison there will surrender without a battle.

Gen. Ontonio Villareal, ex-governor of Nuevo Leon state, is in Torreon on his way to Monterrey. He has been named chief of military operations in the state of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamalipas.

MEXICO'S NEW REVOLUTION BELIEVED IN FINAL STAGE

EL PASO, TEX., May 11.—Mexico's newest revolution is in its final stages. The old regime has been overthrown. With the exception of Yucatan, Campecho, Chiapas and northern Lower California, all of the country is declared by revolutionist leaders to be under control of the new regime.

A bulletin issued last night by the local consulate of the liberal constitutional party said President Carranza and his staff had been captured, Generals Murguia, Urquizo and Barragan executed and the revolutionists were in control of the national capital after an almost bloodless revolution of few weeks duration.

The Mexican president and his party were captured near Apizaco, having left the capital Friday when the city fell, Carranza has been granted safety by General Alvaro Obregon, presidential candidate and revolutionist whose death warrant was said to have been signed by Carranza prior to the former's escape from Mexico City.

COMMUNICATION RESTORED WITH MEXICO CITY

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Communication between Mexico City and Vera Cruz by land telegraph was restored yesterday. A private message received here today from Mexico City via this line and cable said all was quiet in the Mexican capital and that perfect order was being maintained by the revolutionists.

Another dispatch from the American embassy at Mexico City was received today by the state department, the first since Sunday, it was dated Sunday night and said General Obregon had entered Mexico City that day and that all was quiet.

Captain Long, commander of the destroyer division in Mexican waters, reported from the destroyer Putnam at Tampico that all was quiet there. He said "no American or foreigner was threatened or in danger and immediate prospects in the Tampico area are peaceful."

REVOLUTIONISTS INVITE FOREIGNERS TO MEXICO

NOGALES, ARIZ., May 11.—Cordial invitation to foreign business men, especially Americans to come to Mexico and engage in trade, was extended in a statement issued by Emiliano Tamez, commercial agent for the liberal constitutionalist party of Nogales. Senor Tamez said he was speaking for the revolutionary government.

"Foreign business men can come to Mexico with full confidence that in all sections controlled by the new government they will enjoy all assurances, protection and facilities they may require for the full success of their undertakings," Senor Tamez said.

Senor Tamez added that an invitation was likewise extended to Mexican expatriates to return freely to their native land.

WILSONS INSTRUCTION TO THE ATLANTIC FLEET

that is audacious to the utmost point of risk and daring, because that is exactly the thing that the other side does not understand, and you win by the audacity of method when you cannot win by circumspection and prudence.

"I think that there are willing ears to hear this in the American navy and the American army, because that is the kind of folks we are. We get tired of the old ways and covet the new ones.

"I am not discouraged for a moment, particularly because we have not even begun and, without saying anything in disparagement of those with whom we are associated, in the war, I do expect things to begin when we begin. If they do not, American history will have changed its course; the American army and navy will have changed their character. There will have to come a new tradition into a service which does not do new and audacious and successful things."

ATTACK EXPECTED UPON MATAMOROS AFTER NIGHTFALL

BROWNSVILLE, TEX., May 11.—An advance guard of revolutionists approached the southern side of Matamoros, the Mexican town opposite Brownsville, shortly before noon today and exchanged a few shots with a Carranza outpost. The rebel move is believed to be preliminary to an attack in force.

Shortly after 2:00 o'clock 400 federal armed forces, including customs and immigration guards, had taken positions behind embankments and in trenches south and west of Matamoros and the stage was believed to have been set for the most serious resistance the rebels have met in the northeast. At 3:00 o'clock it was reported the revolutionists had captured all river and railroad towns between Mier, opposite Roma, Texas, and Matamoros.

Three hundred revolutionary troops are advancing on Matamoros from Reynosa and at noon were reported opposite Santa Maria, Texas, about 25 miles west of Brownsville. It was not believed a general attack would be made before nightfall.

American military authorities ordered a detachment of soldiers to the American end of the international bridge, where two machine guns were put in position, pointing toward Matamoros. The bridge had been closed for repairs but United States officers ordered it thrown open in event civilians in Matamoros should seek safety in Brownsville.

All schools were closed in Matamoros today and hundreds of guns were turned over to federal authorities upon orders of General Rafael Colunga, the garrison commander. The guns with large quantities of ammunition were pailed in the public square by civilian owners. Colunga's order was regarded as a step toward preventing possible sniping in event of a battle.

Mexican citizens of Matamoros are making desperate efforts to induce General Colunga to surrender the city without a fight, but the commander is reported to have steadfastly refused to consider such a proposal. He has approximately 300 men and is understood to be well equipped with machine guns. He also is reported to be depending on reinforcements from some quarter.

There is strong sentiment in Texas in favor of Mr. McAdoo as the party's presidential candidate.

INJUNCTION WILL STOP OPERATIONS IN BED OF RIVER

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11.—A temporary injunction halting all operations in a strip of land in the Red River disputed area extending north on the north line over which the federal receiver has control to the north bank of the Red River was granted the government this afternoon by Judge John C. Pollock in the federal district court here.

The suit in which this injunction was granted is a complementary suit filed by the government in behalf of claims to the river bed to the suit under which Frederick A. Delano was appointed receiver for the disputed oil land in Wichita county. The property over which Delano is exercising jurisdiction is claimed by the government as lying between the middle of the river and the south bank. The land involved in the Oklahoma suit is from the middle of the river to the north bank. With the granting of this petition operations are stopped in the entire territory claimed by the government as the bed of river, and the southern part is under a federal receivership. It is expected that a receiver will be appointed for the north half by the court which granted the injunction.

Whitey Davis was killed and William Sawyer seriously injured as a result of a shooting affair on the streets of Waggoner City shortly after midnight Tuesday. Advices from Burkburnett state, however, that a man believed to be responsible for the shooting had fled into Oklahoma.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

New York Stocks, Grain and Provisions, Cotton and Livestock.

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, May 11—The cotton market opened steady today at a decline of 2 to 18 points under realizing promoted by favorable overnight weather advices and Liverpool cables. There was some continental selling of the late months but domestic trade interests were moderate buyers of old crop positions and prices rallied after the call on prospects for renewed showers over the greater part of the belt. July sold up to 38.25 and October to 36.15, or about 10 to 22 points net higher, but there was considerable scattering realizing and these early bulges were not fully maintained. It was reported that a steamer had arrived here from Sgvannah with 10,000 bales which might be delivered on local contracts, but May was relatively quiet during the early trading.

The market showed increasing weakness during the early afternoon owing to the heaviness of the stock market, the favorable detailed weather reports, continued southern selling and local liquidation. July broke to 37.80 and October to 35.33, or 35 to 60 points below last night's closing.

Liverpool was active sellers of early new crop months on the early bulge with private cables reporting a stagnant market for cotton goods at Manchester. There was also considerable selling while the forecast for showers in the eastern belt failed to create much buying power and active months broke 15 to 30 points from last night's closing figures before the end of the morning. This carried July off to 38.00 and October to 35.63, but the market steadied at this level on covering and showed rallies of some 10 to 15 points around midday.

The market closed barely steady.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—There were advances of 12 to 25 points around the opening of the cotton market today, buying being done on fear of too much rain in the best, but after the posting of the weather map which showed rains only in Texas and Oklahoma and dry weather elsewhere, prices fell off sharply and at the end of the first hour of business were 12 to 28 points under yesterday's close. July traded up to 38.35 and dropped back to 38.00.

Unfavorable trade reports from Manchester stimulated considerable selling which more than offset telegrams from Texas and Oklahoma telling of extremely heavy rains with rivers out of their banks in many places. Late in the morning prices were 12 to 20 points under the close of yesterday and July trading at 38.02. Toward the middle of the day the market became very active.

Selling came from all parts of the ring and much liquidation of long contracts was forced. Prices fell off to levels 23 to 49 points under the close of yesterday, July declining to 37.70 and October to 35.31. Toward the close early sellers brought back some of their cotton and the tone was steadier, the market standing at net losses of 29 to 35 points.

The cotton market closed steady at net declines of 26 to 41 points.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 11.—Stocks were quiet and irregular at the opening of today's session, denoting further confusion of speculative sentiment. Mexican Petroleum at a gain of ⅝, and United States Rubber at a decline of one point were the only issues to record more than fractional changes. Shippings, rails and sugars were disposed to improve, but coppers and textiles eased with popular steels. The general list became reactionary with the first half hour, however, when pressure against steels and motors became more insistent.

Another reaction at midday forces popular issues under lowest quotations of the morning. Steels, equipments, motors and oils were 2 to 4 points under yesterday's final prices. Call loans remained easy and foreign exchange continued to move against this center.

Shorts covered extensively later, especially in oils and equipments. The general list also rallied, although call money rose to 10 per cent. The closing was irregular.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 11.—Corn prices rose today to a new high level for the crop. Wet weather was chiefly responsible for the upturn. Later, however, the market weakened owing to a notice issued by the St. Paul railroad that in distribution of cars during the next te ndays the preference would be given to loading of grain. Initial prices, which ranged from ¼c decline to 1¼c advance, with July $1.75¼ to 1.75⅝ and September $1.63⅛ to $1.64, were followed by a setback all around to well below yesterday's finish.

Oats like corn, developed weakness notwithstanding a firm start after opening unchanged to ¼c higher, with July 94 to 94⅛c.

The market sagged to below yesterday's latest figures.

Provisions were easier with grain and hogs.

The close was unsettled, ⅝c net lower to ⅝c advance, with July $1.75¼ to $1.75⅝ and September $1.62⅝ to $1.62⅝.

PRESIDENT ASKED TO SEND MARINES TO BATUM

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A resolution requesting President Wilson to send an American warship and marines to Batum, on the Black sea, to protect American lives and property at that port and along the railroad to Baku, was reported unanimously today by the senate foreign relations committee.

CONFLICTING REPORTS CANNOT BE CLEARED UP

EL PASO, May 11.—Conflicting reports concerning the whereabouts of President Carranza, variously reported captured, in hiding and at bay with an army of 4,000 soldiers, could not be cleared up by revolutionists here, the said today.

El Paso leaders of the liberal constitutionalists said their only information was that Carranza had been captured at Apizaco.

Execution of Candido Aguilar, son-in-law of the president, and Gen. Francisco Murguia was thoroughly confirmed, they said.

KNOX RESOLUTION TO END WAR NOW BEFORE SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The republican resolution to declare the war with Germany and Austria at an end was called up in the senate today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, who announced that he would keep the measure continuously before the senate until a vote.

Senator Lodge said he expected a vote within a few days and added that to expedite consideration of the resolution he might ask the senate to hold longer sessions than usual.

The republican leader said he did not expect much debate by the republicans and Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, said that while the democrats expected to "resist the resolution on the final vote," he did not know of any disposition on their part to delay its consideration.

Senator McCumber, republican of North Dakota, then delivered a prepared answer in opposition to the resolution.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT OF CARRANZA'S FLIGHT

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., May 11.—Confirmation of the flight of the Carranza convoy out of Mexico City was received here today by reports reaching this city from the border. According to these reports General Juan Merigo, who was in charge of some of the Carranza troop trains fleeing out of Mexico City, revolted against Carranza and fought against forces of Carranza at Cordoba Vera Cruz. In the fighting Cadido Augilar was killed. Merigo executed Manuel Amaya and Eluterio Avila who carried the funds of the national treasury on a train which Merigo took over. Merigo also is holding captives Natividad Macias and two young sons of Carranza by a common law wife. Merigo has formed a junction with Guadalupe Sanchez, the Obregonista military commander of the state of Vera Cruz. Most of the Carranza convoy was captured. Federico Montez, with a few Carranza troops is being pursued by Obregonista troops in Vera Cruz state.

CONCERN OVER TAMPICO SITUATION

EL PASO, May 11.—Activities of Carranza forces in the region about Tampico, which itself is in rebel hands, are causing the United States government considerable concern, according to a dispatch from Washington which revolutionary leaders here received today. No details were given.

Marines at the Brooklyn navy yard were drilled in campaign outfits today.

SUFFRAGE OPPONENTS IN LOUISIANA OPEN FIGHT

BATON ROUGE, LA., May 11.—Opponents in the Louisiana legislature to the proposal to ratify the federal woman suffrage amendment opened their fight today with the introduction in the house of an amendment to the state constitution striking out the word "male" in defining voters, thus giving women as well as men the right to vote in Louisiana by state enactment.

Governor Pleasant is expected to send a message to the legislature tomorrow endorsing state suffrage action.

PALMER DECLARED WINNER OF PRIMARY

ATLANTA, GA., May 11.—Contests of Senator Hoke Smith and Thomas E. Watson, arising from the Georgia presidential primary, April 20, were withdrawn today from consideration of the sub-committee of the democratic state executive committee after that body had decided the injunction secured by Mr. Watson yesterday would not prevent their action. Notice was given that the contests would be taken before the state convention which meets here May 18. Before adjournment the sub-committee declared Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer winner of the primary.

TRUSTEES NAMED FOR NOCONA OIL AND GAS CO.

NOCONA, TEX., May 11.—At a meeting of the Nocona Oil Company, successor to the Nocona Oil and Gas Company, the following trustees were elected: Judge W. T. Russell, Montague, president; C. McCall, president of the F. & M. National bank, vice president; Judge C. F. Spencer, Wichita Falls, vice president; James Whaley, Gainesville, vice president; R. W. Leach, secretary-treasurer; T. B. Wilkes, assistant secretary, both of Nocona. N. M. Field, T. H. Flint and C. W. Crites of Nocona are also trustees. Each of these men has a reputation for doing things in their line of work, and it is believed the Nocona Oil Company is starting business with men who will put the company over the top for two or more wells. The Nocona Oil Company is capitalized at $200,000.

Though the books have not been formally opened for subscriptions, stock is already being taken which shows a lively interest in the new enterprise and an indication that all the stock made available for present developments will soon be taken or over-subscribed. It is the purpose of this company to take advantage of present developments and what geological knowledge that may be obtainable in making locations which will add further assurance that the investors will get a good run for their money. Nocona people are beginning to realize that having some of the best geological formations considered favorable for the production of oil and gas in Montague county will not get anywhere with the production of oil and gas unless some holes are drilled into these domes in spots that will let out the pentup energy that makes the auto wheels go round, and it is with a view to accomplishing this that the Nocona Oil Co. is being launched.

Healdton put on a big show about 30 miles to the northeast, and Hewitt in the same general locality is doing a fine stunt in high grade oil, while it has a good rival in the new Duncan field to the northwest of Nocona. Empire City has sprung up from not over a wide place in the road to a town of 500 or more people. It is located in section 33-1s-8w. It is believed that this county has hot spots that will vie with those already named and even Burkburnett when the lid is taken off, or rather, blown off, as it will be a bit later. And those acquainted with geological reports which have been made on this general locality will say that too much has not been said here.

CAFE PROPRIETORS CHARGED WITH VIOLATING SANITARY CODE

The management of the Saratoga cafe is charged with violation of the city sanitary code in a complaint filed in corporation court Monday. Information leading to the complaint was furnished by Tom B. Taylor, special sanitary officer. The specific charge alleges that the management allowed containers filled with waste from the eating establishment to be placed in the rear of the cafe. The case against the Saratoga cafe was called Tuesday morning but the defendants were not present. Judge Ogle continued the case until Wednesday.

Special Officer Tom Taylor announced that charges against several local restaurant proprietors would be filed shortly in case the sanitary ordinance was not obeyed.

CONTRACT LET FOR TEST NORTHEAST OF DEVOL

DEVOL, OKLA., May 10.—It is announced today that a drilling contract has been let with the Blue Drilling Company of Burkburnett, Texas, to drill a 3,000 foot test on the northeast one-fourth of the northeast one-fourth of the southwest one-fourth section 16, township 4 S, range 13 W. The exact location is about one mile northeast of the Devol townsite and has stimulated leasing in that vicinity. The company is known as the Devol Oil and Gas Company, and have been granted a charter. The company is capitalized at $35,000 and has had acreage donated for the test to the amount of a fraction over 200 acres. This location has been defined by Geologist Munn as being very favorable for oil and gas.

It's the condition of the eyes not the age of the person which determines whether glasses are needed or not. Thousands of children wear glasses, because they need them. Thousands of other people don't wear them because they don't need them. Weak eyes should be assisted—made strong. Glasses will do it if they are the right kind.

May Is a Busy Month for MOTHS

The moths will play havoc with your woolen garments and furs unless you use proper preventatives now.

Place Moth Balls, Napthalene Flakes, or other effective preventatives among stored-away garments—or better still, pack such garments in a Moth Proof Bag.
We have just received a lot of Moth Proof Bags of various sizes.
