Verdict Is Affirmed In School Tax Case

Action Taken By Eleventh District Court

Collings' Ruling On Exemption Is Upheld By Long

Verdict of the trial court in reversing results of a school tax election here last September has been affirmed by the Eleventh District Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

The appellate court's decision, handed down by Justice Milburn S. Long Friday, sustained the ruling of Judge Cecil Collings that 45 persons over 60 years of age who voted without current exemption certificates were not qualified voters.

On the strength of this, the court had upheld a contest lodged by Ted O. Groebl and others, ruling that instead of having lost by one vote (399-398), the proposal to increase the tax rate limit from $1 to $1.50 per $100 valuation had carried by a 19-vote margin.

The decision was appealed by County Attorney George T. Thomas, who had defended the legality of the election. Thomas said Saturday that a motion for rehearing would be filed before the court as a matter of formality, and if denied, a writ of error would be sought from the state supreme court. The Big Spring case is the first time one on the particular point has gone to an appellate court.

Justice Long's opinion held that "the trial court was correct in holding that the 45 persons who voted in the election and who had not obtained exemption certificates for the current year were not qualified voters. The judgment of the trial court is in all things affirmed."

Appellants questioned the trial court decision on the grounds that House Bill 344 (which requires persons over 60 years of age and who reside in cities of 10,000 or more population to secure exemptions annually) was unconstitutional because of faulty caption that both this act and Article 2968, which it amended, were unconstitutional because they were in excess of the legislature's power to limit the right of suffrage; and lastly that HB 344 did not make illegal votes of persons holding permanent exemption certificates but not current ones.

The appellate court ruled that the caption was not broader than the bill (344) and hence did not affect its constitutionality. On other points, it ruled that the power to regulate registration in cities of 10,000 or more population stemmed clearly from article 6, section 4 of the state constitution, and quoted an Austin court of civil appeals case to the effect that "if registration of voters may be required, but failure to register be no disqualification, the efficacy of registration to preserve the purity of the ballot box would be destroyed and the constitutional provision authorizing it would mean nothing."

Shortly after the election contest had been heard here in 70th court, the board of trustees voted to levy the $1.50 rate, and all collections to date on the 1947 roll have been on that basis.

Upon the assumption that the $1.50 rate was invalid, the board had readjusted teacher salary schedules so that they met the state minimum standard of $2.007 for beginning degree teachers and thus gained approval of the school's budget by the state department, clearing questions about accreditations of the high school.

Intermittent Snowfall Is Recorded Here

More Flakes Are Expected In Area Today

Snow was sifting down intermittently from gray skies Saturday night, and the weatherman said continued light snowfall was in prospect for the Big Spring vicinity today.

Snowfall was fairly general over the northern half of Texas, the Associated Press reported, with slightly higher temperatures modifying the bitterest cold spell of the season. More snow was forecast for all the state.

Shortly before midnight, flurries in Big Spring had laid a light white mantle on the roofs of cars and in isolated spots on the ground. Temperatures ranged from 25 to 45 degrees here Saturday, with a high of 40 predicted for today, and a low of 28 tonight.

Weather man said the falling flakes extended from Dallas and Fort Worth north to the Red river, over most of West Texas, and throughout the South Plains and Panhandle.

Out of state reports told of heavy snow over most of Oklahoma and Kansas.

Visibility was lowered to a quarter of a mile at Fort Worth during a five-hour "moderate" snowfall. It continued snowing during the night.

A hard driving snowfall was reported at Love field on the north edge of Dallas. Intermittent flurries at Sherman brought two inches of snow.

Four inches of snow was reported at Wichita Falls last night after an all day fall. All highways were open but travel was hazardous because of the blazed over snow. Snow was forecast until midmorning today for Wichita Falls and the surrounding areas.

Bloc Plans May Produce World Force

Alignment Would Rest On A Firm Alliance Between Britain, France

LONDON, Jan. 24. (AP)— Britain's plans for organizing a western European bloc may produce a "third world force" strong enough to make its voice heard along with the United States and Russia.

Designed as a means to combat the spread of Russian communism, the alignment would rest primarily upon a firm economic and military alliance between Britain and France. The hard core of the organization also would include Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg under the proposal advanced this week by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

On the international plane, the opposition would be directed toward the extreme left as represented by Russia and her satellites. The "third world force" would be temporarily dependent on the United States, which with its free enterprise system stands to the right of the moderate socialist governments now in control in much of western Europe.

If the western European organization materializes it would provide the nucleus for a broader coalition of nations. Attempts probably would be made to include Italy in the early stages, Portugal, the Scandinavian countries, Greece and eventually all the countries participating in the Marshall Plan.

In Rome the Italian constituent assembly's committee on treaties voted today to recommend that Italy support efforts to bring about international collaboration "To prepare the advent of the United States of Europe."

Bevin's proposal was supported vigorously by Winston Churchill and more temperately by Britain's prime minister, Clement Attlee.

Bevin and Churchill pulled no punches in calling for quick formation of the anti - communist group.

There appeared to be no major barrier within the framework of the United Nations.

U. S. - Europe Pact Not Seen Immediately

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Military alliance between the United States and western Europe is now regarded by some top ranking diplomatic officials as a long range, but not an immediate, probability.

Proposals for a system of mutual defense treaties were first advanced in connection with the European recovery program. Interest in the subject now has been revived here by American endorsement of Britain's plan to organize a western European union.

The alliance idea has been studied at the state department, it was understood today, in connection with Secretary of State Marshall's grand strategy for trying to set western Europe back on its feet and check Russian expansion.

The department evidentally considers that a formal alliance is not necessary now because the United States is already committed for the immediate future, by the facts of political life in Europe, to give at least as much protection for the western countries as would be provided by treaty.

Pauley Says Stassen Is Telling Lies

Both Appear At Hearing On Trading

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. (AP)— Edwin W. Pauley today accused Harold E. Stassen of telling "falsehoods" about him, and Stassen shot back that Pauley by his own words had "confessed his guilt" of using inside government information to make a $932,703 profit on the commodity markets.

Pauley said: "I charge he (Stassen) has combined ignorance and falsehood to indict me solely in pursuit of his own selfish ambitions."

Stassen retorted: "In his protestations of innocence, he has actually confessed his guilt."

Both appeared before a Senate appropriations subcommittee which is looking into Stassen's charge that 11 government "insiders" made $5,000,000 in the commodity markets since the war. Stassen has charged that Pauley is one of those 11.

Pauley, former Democratic national treasurer who now is a special assistant to the secretary of the army, denied he was in a position to obtain any inside information from his government connection.

"I neither had the desire nor the information," he assured Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), subcommittee chairman.

He added that the information which enabled him to make $932,703 in the markets during the past three years was available to anybody who reads the newspapers.

The senators gave Pauley the go-ahead to tell his side of the story today. Stassen, former Minnesota governor who is running for the Republican presidential nomination, held the witness stand all day yesterday and part of the night.

Graduate Courses For Negroes Are Planned In Austin

AUSTIN, Jan. 24 (AP)—Graduate instruction for Negroes will be provided in Austin under a contract signed by the University of Texas board of regents today until graduate courses can be set up at the Texas State University for Negroes at Houston.

The contract, sought here earlier in the week by a committee of the Negro university's board of directors, calls for the graduate instruction provided in Austin for Negroes.

The temporary law school for Negroes is taught by University of Texas faculty members in a building off the university campus. The same classrooms would be used for the graduate instruction.

The contract between the two schools follows application of W. Estor Kirk of Marshall, associate professor of political science at Tillotson College for Negroes here, for admission to the University of Texas. The graduate course he sought was not offered at the Houston institution.

Famous Folk Song Collector Is Ill

GREENVILLE, Miss. Jan. 24. (AP) —John A. Lomax, 80, famed collector of American folk songs, is dangerously ill in a hospital here.

He suffered a heart attack yesterday afternoon shortly after he had come for a joint appearance tonight with Alan Lomax, his son and collaborator. Mrs. Lomax arrived at her husband's bedside after an all night plane and auto trip from their Dallas home.

Physicians attending said they were pessimistic of Lomax's chances because of his advanced age.

Lomax, a native of Goodman, Miss., had come to Greenville for the annual banquet of the Travelers Club because of a sentimental wish to return to his state of birth for a public appearance with his son.

Alan Lomax has gained national recognition as a singing interpreter of songs which the two have gathered.

John Lomax's family moved to Texas when he was an infant. Interest in cowboy songs of Texas and the southwest started his career as a ballad hunter. He is the son of a confederate veteran.

BLOW TO MARSHALL

Plan Submitted For Aid Agency

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall's hopes of controlling the multi-billion dollar European recovery program from the state department received two setbacks today.

Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee unveiled a broad new plan, submitted by the Brookings Institute, for handling it through an independent new agency "under a single administrator of cabinet status to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate."

Under it, both the secretary and the state department would be limited largely to asking questions and offering protests with the President settling any disputes involving the proposed new ERP administrator.

The plan was prepared at Vandenberg's request by the Institute, a private research organization, and the Republican senate leader made it public as a "highly important service."

"Speaking generally, the decisions of the administrator would be final in economic matters," Vandenberg explained.

Even before Vandenberg's move, a veteran Democratic senator, George of Georgia, told a reporter:

"I have come to the very definite conclusion that final authority should be in an independent agency. Our contributions and expenditures must rest on the solid judgment of an experienced administrator or board."

George said testimony to date has convinced him there "is no limit at all" upon the bilions that must be supplied to the 16 western Eurpoean nations unless there is "independent and sensible control over spending the taxpayers' money."

In presenting the broad four-year European program he fathered, Secretary Marshall told Congress he did not want the state department to actually administer it but said it must control all foreign policy decisions.

France Will Devalue Franc

PARIS, Jan. 24. (AP) — Finance Minister Rene Mayer announced tonight that France would devalue the franc tomorrow night regardless of any veto by the international monetary fund in Washington.

He said at a news conference that final details of the devaluation would be disclosed in a communique at (2 p. m., CST) tomorrow, and would be submitted to the French parliament for approval Monday.

He said France regretted opposition to the move had arisen in great Britain and the monetary fund's board of directors, but that she was forced to go ahead.

"We were perfectly willing to discuss and negotiate but we finally had to set a time limit," he declared.

He denied France would be automatically excluded from the organization if she overrode a veto, saying, "the statutes of the fund are very supple on that point."

Sir Stafford Cripps, British chancellor of the exchequer, returned to London tonight after 24 hours of fruitless efforts to dissuade the French from establishing a free money market.

CASE DISMISSAL ASKED

Anti-Red Affidavit Defended In Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations board, today defended the non-communist affidavits required of union leaders under the Taft-Hartley law as a proper exercise of congressional power to prevent Reds from misusing unions to "provoke strikes."

In a brief filed with a three-judge Federal court, Denham asked for dismissal of a case attacking constitutionality of the pledge requirement.

The action was brought by the CIO National Maritime union, whose president, Joseph Curran, contended that while not a communist himself he was opposed to signing the pledge.

The NMU suit mainly contended that it is an infringement on personal rights to be required to state political views.

The non-communist pledges are required of a union's officers as a condition of the union using facilities of the National Labor Relations board. One thing the board can do for a union is to compel, by court enforcement, an employer to bargain with it.

Denham argued that privileges and benefits of the labor law are extended by Congress to preserve rights of employers and employes and to promote peace in labor relations.

"Congress is under no obligation to extend these privileges and benefits to all organizations blindly, without regard to whether such extension will effectuate the policies which congress seeks to promote," Denham's brief said.

"Congress," it added at another point, "addressed itself to the evil which it believed to exist, the danger that if access to the benefits fo the act were accorded to communists and their supporters, the policies of the act would not be effectuated."

The court has set February 2 for argument in the case.

Livestock Show Sale Sets Record

Complete information on all sales at the Livestock Show may be found on Page Six.

The largest group of bidders ever assembled here for such an event paid a record total of $20,878 for 4-H club and FFA steers, lambs and capons Friday night to close out the 11th annual Howard County 4-H club and FFA Livestock Show.

Prices were topped by high bids on champion entries in the show's three divisions.

The champion dry-lot fed steer which was exhibited by Bobby Powell brought $1.25 a pound to top the steer sale. The animal was purchased on a joint bid by the Settles Hotel, Big Spring Motor Co. and the R&R Theatres.

The grand champion lamb, exhibited by Travis Fryar, went to the Lone Star Chevrolet Co. on a bid of $2 a pound, while Repps Guitar paid $60 for Bob Simpson's champion capon.

Show officials termed the auction sale the most successful in the history of the annual event.

The 44 steers averaged slightly above 50-cents a pound. Their average weight was 781.7 pounds, providing an average price of $393.25 a head. The steer division accounted for $17,303 of the total receipts.

Lambs, which brought a total of $2,706.51, averaged 47-cents a pound, while the average weight was 100.7 pounds.

The 47 capons average $18.49 each, accounting for a total of $868.50.

The reserve champion steer, entered by Jerry Rogers, was purchased by Cosden Petroleum Corp. for $1.05 a pound.

Jessie Overton's reserve champion lamb was bid in for 95-cents a pound by L. J. Davidson, while E. W. Lomax bought Travis Fryar's reserve champion capon for $27.50.

The animals and birds were auctioned off by Col. Walter Britton of College Station. Approximately 500 persons, largest crowd in history, attended the sale.

Mayfield, Jr., Tyler attorney, and Robert Lee Bobbitt of San Antonio and Laredo, former Texas state official, were in town and among those at the reception.

Tall tales about Texas were spread recently over a full page of the Washington Post in a department store advertisement dedicated to the Lone Star State.

One in a series of weekly advertisements of the Hecht company, each devoted to recounting the history and achievements of a state the tribute to Texas featured a large "Texans's map of U. S. A. which covered all the space between the Rio Grande and the Canadian border and at least half the land between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Standing astride the Great Lakes was a sheep bearing a sign reading: "Texas has more sheep than there are Pennsylvanians." Atop Maine was a goat with a sign saying: "Texas has more goats than Missouri has people." All over the map are such comments as "World's best cattle," "World's black eyed peas," "World's best and largest wheat field," "World's prettiest girls," "Remember the Alamo."

In an accompanying statement, Ralph Pittman, president of the Texas State Society of Washington says "we Texans aren't a bit modest when we speak of our great state."

Pittman is a Baylor university graduate who formerly lived in De Leon and Wichita Falls. He now practices law in Washington.

Wolcott Seeks Tax Position

John F. Wolcott authorized the Herald Saturday to announce his candidacy for re-election as assessor and collector of taxes for Howard county. He announced subject to action of the democratic primaries.

He said he believed that the record of his office would speak for his faithfulness as a public servant, for it has been commended on several occasions by state officials. In addition, it has averaged well over 90 per cent collections during his tenure, and in this decade has had occasions when it had almost complete collections of the roll.

Walcott pledged to maintain the type of staff which would be courteous and conscientious about giving service to the citizenship and to the county alike.

The help of friends in the past had made it possible not only to be elected to the office, but to give good service, he said, and expressed the hope that this same generous spirit would be continued in the democratic primaries this year.

Freeman Seeks Assessor's Post

B. E. (Bernie) Freeman, accountant and former deputy in the office he now seeks, announced Saturday that he would be a candidate for the democratic nomination as assessor and collector of taxes in Howard county.

In announcing for the office, Freeman pointed out that he fully appreciated "the responsibilities and requirements of the office," adding that "I believe that I am qualified to carry out efficinetly the duties of the office."

He based this conviction upon an educational background in business administration, plus several years training and experience, including more than five years experience as chief deputy in the office of assessor-collector. For several years he has been engaged in the private practice of accounting, a profession which would qualify him logically for the office.

"Consideration of the prople of Howard county will be deeply appreciated," said Freeman, "and I promise to strive at all times to make a servant worthy of your trust should I be honored with the office."

TEXAS POLL

Public Dislikes Closed Sessions

AUSTIN, Jan. 24—State agencies that occasionally transact public business behind closed doors would have a hard time convincing the Texas public that they are justified in holding secret sessions.

The great majority of the public believes there is little or no reason for secret sessions to handle state business. Capitol newspapermen recently complained to the governor that such sessions were on the increase. Shortly afterward several boards and commissions announced that henceforth all their meetings would be open.

The Texas Poll asked 1,000 men and women, representing a cross-section of eligible voters, this question:

"Can you think of any reason why a state board or commission should transact public business behind closed doors?"

Yes	12%
No	88
	100%

The 12 per cent who answered "yes" were asked to give their reason. Only half of these, or 6 per cent, could or would give a definite reason. The other half merely reiterated that on some occasions secret meetings were necessary.

Definite reasons were given as follows: (1) secret sessions make for speed and efficiency; (2) they are necessary to avoid bad publicity and public pressure; (3) they are necessary to guard against foreign spies; (4) they are necessary only in early stages of planning state business.

NO TROUBLE REALLY

Conflict In Rodeo Dates Will Force Performers To Commute

HOUSTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Because of conflicts of dates of the Houston and Fort Worth fat stock shows which open next week rodeo performers will have to commute between the two cities, Earl Lindsey, manager of the Rodeo Cowboy Association, said today.

The Fort Worth rodeo and exposition opens next Friday, a day earlier than in Houston, and continues through Feb. 8. The Houston rodeo and livestock exposition is to continue through Feb. 18.

Lindsey said approximately 300 members of the association will begin moving into the two Texas cities late tonight following the close of the National Western stock show at Denver and that the group "will be split about 50-50 between Houston and Fort Worth," for the last day of January and the first eight days of February.

"Which cowboys will go where will be decided by the boys themselves and those who decide to play both shows simply will have to commute," Lindsey said.

"It will be the first time rodeo performers have had to commute between two southwestern points, he said.

"The practice is quite common, however, particularly in the Pacific Northwest where our cowboys often use airplanes to commute," he added.

He said commuting will mean no hardship on the performers because few individual performers participate every day at the same show.

"A performer appearing at Fort Worth on a Monday may have to wait until Wednesday or Thursday before he gets another chance," he explained, "and while he is waiting around he can be in Houston taking part in the program there."

"All they will have to do is keep their mathematics and schedules straight," he added.

Last year, a Houston delegation met with a Fort Worth group to study means of avoiding the conflict in dates of the two expositions but it was decided the schedules would have to be carried out as announced for 1948. It was agreed, however, to make every effort to co-ordinate the schedules in the future.

Poll Taxes Mailed In Must Be In Notarized Form To Be Legal

Use of un-notarized forms for mail payment of poll taxes may cost individuals the right to vote in 1948, the tax collector's office warned Saturday.

This was the implication of an opinion from County Attorney George Thomas in response to a question raised by John F. Wolcott, assessor-collector. Thomas' opinion did not mention the forms specifically, but this was the point upon which the question was raised by Wolcott.

Crux of Thomas' opinion was this: All applications by mail for poll taxes must be signed by the applicant and the signature notarized. Wolcott's office had received many applications for poll taxes but the signatures were not made under oath. These, it was held, were invalid and no poll taxes could be issued on them.

The junior chamber of commerce as part of a vote registration campaign in Big Spring had provided forms containing blanks for the required information and signature, but no place for a notary public to sign.

The county attorney also cleared up the matter of payment of poll taxes by an agent. Inside the limits of a city of 10,000 population, there can be no payment by agent except in the case of a husband and wife securing the poll tax for the other. Outside cities of 10,000 or more population, an agent may secure the poll tax upon presentation of a written statement giving him the authority to be agent in such matter. This statement need not be sworn. Agents, however, may not secure exemption certificates.

Exemption certificates may be secured by mail if the applicant resides within the city limits, but there is no such provision for those outside the city limits.

Broadly speaking, those who plan to make payment of poll taxes, or secure exemption certificates by mail, must list their name, race, whether natural born or naturalized citizen, age, in which state they were born, length of residence within the state, county, occupation, voting precinct (box), and postoffice address. This must be signed by the applicant (who also may make application for husband or wife) and MUST BE SWORN TO BEFORE A NOTARY PUBLIC.

Persons entitled to exemptions are those who have become 21 years of age since Jan. 1, 1947 or who will become 21 before the date of an election in which they plan to participate during 1948. Persons who came into the state after Jan. 1, 1947 also are entitled to exemptions.

Thomas cautioned those who are not yet 21, but will be before date of election, that they must get their exemptions not later than Jan. 31, else they cannot vote. For example, if a young man or woman will not be 21 until Aug. 19, he or she must secure an exemption certificate (both inside and outside the city limits) not later than Jan. 31 if they wish to take part in the second democratic primary (Aug. 24) and any subsequent elections in 1948.

Persons who became 60 years of age before Jan. 1, 1947 are entitled to exemptions, but should secure them before Jan. 31 if they reside within the city limits.

Junior chamber of commerce officials said Saturday the county attorney's oppnion had reference to forms they had placed in several stores. The forms contain space for needed information, said Bill Cox, past president, but under the ruling must now be notarized before they are mailed.

THIS RANCHER BUYS 'EM YOUNG

DENVER, Jan. 24. (AP)—A three-day-old Hereford bull weighing slightly more than 82 pounds was sold today at the Denver union stockyards for the uncommon price of $12 a pound.

Becker's Denver Domino was sold by James Becker at Vinita, Okla., to Don L. Harbert, owner of the Sun Valley Hereford ranch at Evergreen, Colo., for $1,000.

Harbert, taking no chances on the future happiness of his expensive purchase, also paid an additional $1,000 for the bull calf's mother.

WEEK'S BUSINESS

Building May Top $100,000 For January

City building figures were in position to put January over the $100,000 mark by the end of the week, and repair work and remodeling projects continued development and a few new residential contracts were recorded. Twenty-one permits were issued during the week, accounting for a total of $22,150. The month's total had reached $79,430 by Saturday.

• • •

Only five warranty deeds were filed in the county clerk's office during the week, representing a substantial decrease from the previous week's figures. The $13,106 recorded moved the month's total up to $144,044, however.

• • •

Local livestock markets boomed as new top prices were tacked up. One stocker yearling brought a record 36-cents a pound at a local auction last week, and several consignments topped the 30-cent mark.

• • •

New motor vehicle registrations were off from previous averages. The county tax assessor-collector's office issued licenses for three passenger cars and three trucks.

TAXES
An Accounting Problem

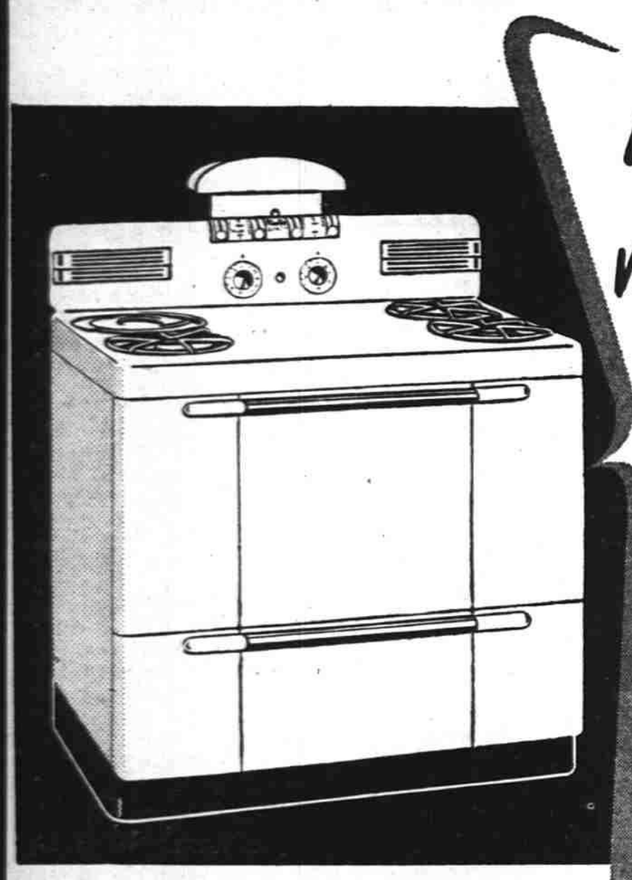

Income is determined by accounting. So, accounting is at the root of income taxation.

Naturally, business has always turned to Certified Public Accountants for aid in preparing its income tax reports, and for assistance in settling disputed tax items with the government.

The government, too, welcomes the aid of CPAs in explaining to taxpayers the accounting requirements involved as evidence by the fact that the Treasury Department authorizes CPAs to represent clients in tax proceedings.

By assisting in the prompt payment of the right amount of taxes — corporate or individual — Certified Public Accountants help to reduce the cost of paying — and collecting — the Nation's Taxes.

Bryan Seeking Sheriff's Post

A. D. Bryan, for 22½ years of his life a peace officer, has announced he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as sheriff of Howard county in the July primary.

Bryan, a married man, has lived in Big Spring for the past 15 years. At the present time, he is engaged in the grocery store business.

Bryan started his career as a peace officer in Jones county, where he served as a deputy sheriff for four years. He later was with the Cisco city police department for five years.

Following that tenure, he came to Big Spring where he served with the Big Spring city police force for 11 years, approximately four years of which he functioned as night chief of police.

More recently, Bryan has been on the Howard county payroll as a deputy sheriff. He acted in that capacity for 2½ years.

In announcing his candidacy, Bryan promised fair and impartial law enforcement. He said he believed the sheriff, as any other elective officer, should be a public servant and the people were entitled to 24 hours' service.

Registration At HCJC Will Start Monday

Registration for the second semester of the Howard County Junior College gets underway Monday at the college, and President E. C. Dodd said Saturday he did not anticipate much fluctuation in enrollment totals.

In addition to regular day school registration, the evening school sign-up starts Monday at 8 p. m., and again the rule is sufficient interest to warrant organization of specific courses. Dodd said that considerable interest had been manifest in the interpretative speech class, and one in beginning German and beginning French.

One class in which adults as well as junior college students have expressed interest in Bible (Life and Letters of Paul), which will be taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Johansen at the high school building on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Because of the demand for engineering drawing, the first half of the course will again be offered as well as second semester work in regular day school, said Dodd. Similarly, the first semester course in shop work (woodwork) will be offered again.

Business administration, general academic, science and other courses will be offered as per the catalogue.

Financilly, the college has been aided during the past week with approximately $6,000 from the state board of vocational education in payment to the Howard county vocational school (a part of the college) for accounts in arrears.

State Banks' Assets Rise

AUSTIN, Jan. 24 (AP)—Total assets of all state banks as of Dec. 31, 1947, amounted to $1,149,887,311 which was $130,518,578 or slightly in excess of 11 percent more than the total assests at the end of 1946, State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner reported today.

The increase in loans, investment in government and municipal bonds and cash and due from banks represent the major portion of the over-all increase, Falkner noted in comparing statements of all state banks for the two years.

The increase in loans accounted for 39 percent of the total increase in assets.

Total deposits at the end of 1947 amounted to $1,087,347,111, which was $122,409,597 or approximately 11 percent more than the total deposits at the end of 1946. Individual deposits increased $95,438,643, accounting for 78 percent of the overall total in deposit increases.

Twenty-one new banks began operating in 1947, and this accounted for the major portion of the $1,838,207 increase in investments, in fixed assets (banking quarters and leasehold improvements, furniture and fixtures.)

Man Fatally Burned In Fort Worth Fire

The 30-minute blaze was confined mainly to Graves' first floor room. Firemen said Graves evidently had dropped a cigaret which ignited a mattress.

The communists, who have been attacking Sinlitun for weeks, finally broke into the town after both sides had suffered heavy casualties in a battle outside, the dispatches said.

NOW THE HARD OF HEARING CAN HELP THEMSELVES TO HEARING

The many hard-of-hearing in this city will have an exceptional opportunity to find out how they may once again experience relaxed, noise-free hearing. A FREE HEARING CLINIC will be held on Monday and Tuesday at the Settles Hotel by Mr. J. C. Hammer, at which time he will test the hard-of-hearing for individual hearing deficiencies. LAWTON, Okla., Jan. 24 (AP)—A midnight joy ride through this town of 20,000 in a 1-ton self propelled 155 MM howitzer stirred an official army investigation today after a Fort Sill soldier was captured in a movie-comedy 12-mile chase.

A near-panic was started in Lawton after the one-man blitz wrecked three cars and sent citizens calling for police aid.

Democrats May Try To Cut Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Signs appeared today that Democrats may use a combination of parts of President Truman's tax plan and the Republican bill in an effort to reduce sharply the GOP $6,300,000,000 tax-slashing measure.

A report was heard on Capitol Hill that some Democrats are considering a call at the White House to discuss such a maneuver with the president prior to the House show down tax vote on Feb. 2.

A&M Favors Eradication Of Disease

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 24 (AP)—Texas A. and M. College favors a program of eradication by zones in fighting the foot and mouth disease in Mexico.

A committee representing the college made this announcement in endorsing the program recommended by the committee on agriculture of the national house of representatives.

The college committee also advocates strengthening of the border patrol and taking other precautions to prevent the spread of the disease within the U. S.

It held that an aggressive attack designed to completely eradicate the disease through destruction and burial of infected animals was the only practical solution.

Vaccines have not proved effective, the committee said.

A statement on behalf of the college was issued by Dr. J. C. Miller, head of the animal husbandry department, Dr. R. C. Dunn, dean of veterinary medicine, and Dr. H. Schmidt, chief of the division of veterinary research.

Precedent Set In Case About Missing Dead

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Dodson Holm, 27, Houston, yesterday accepted $3,500 in settlement of her claim against the estate of Mrs. Erma R. Wood of Richland, N. J., in a precedent-setting case.

The settlement was announced as a hearing of an appeal on a decision by Orphans Court Judge Robert L. Warke was about to begin.

Warke ruled Mrs. Holm had no claim on the $70,000 estate because her former husband was legally dead on the day he was reported missing in action and not a year later when he was declared dead by the war department.

Under terms of Mrs. Wood's will ten nieces and nephews were to share equally provided they were alive the day she died, June 14, 1944. One of the nephews, Lt. James M. Dodson, was reported missing in an air raid over Germany July 26, 1943, and declared dead a year later.

John Lloyd, counsel for Mrs. Holm, claimed the Federal Missing persons act allowed the presumption that Dodson lived a year after the date on which he was reported missing and, therefore, was alive when his aunt died.

Emory J. Keiss, attorney for the nine other heirs, argued the act was for administrative purposes only.

Warke's decision set a precedent in New Jersey when he held the facts submitted indicated death occurred on the day of the raid.

He ruled the missing persons act was not intended to establish a legal death date, but to facilitate government bookkeeping.

New Motorcycle Has First Showing

Newest member of the Harley-Davidson family was unveiled here Saturday afternoon at the Cecil Thixton Motorcycle shop, 908 W. 3rd. with showing of the H-D No. 125. Police chief Pete Green did the unveiling before about 75 people.

A compact, streamlined unit operating on a two-cycle, single cylinder motor with 125 centimeter piston displacement, the No. 125 is designed for the motorbike field. It is, however, more of a motorcycle type than of the conventional motorbike, being light and operating with such economy that it obtains up to 100 miles per gallon. The motor is oiled through the fuel.

Thixton's first model arrived Friday. It is in addition to five other heaver models made by H-D for cyclists.

Thornton Seeking Constable Post

J. T. Thornton, who can look back on 28 years of work as a peace officer, has announced he will again be a candidate for county constable subject to action in the democratic primaries.

Thornton started his police work in Bosque county.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton are home owners here. Their son, Jeff Thornton, is a local grocer.

Proud owner of a new 17-foot Higgins speed boat, a craft valued at around $2,500, is Woody Baker, Big Spring high school grad now at Texas Christian and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Baker.

In August, Woody, with Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Merrick and Bill Merrick, went to Idaho for a vacation, entered the Fishing Derby. The matter was all but forgotten, until Woody received the exciting news Friday night. He took second prize in the Idaho event.

Sterling Nears 21B Cage Flag

Courtney's Eagles host the Sterling City War Birds in Tuesday night's feature 21B basketball game and has the unenviable task of trying to stop the aggregation that has rolled to eight consecutive circuit victories.

Sterling is now two games ahead of the pack and appears capable of going on to the district tournament with an unsullied won-and-lost record.

The double round-robin schedule extends through February 10, after which Sterling will be host to the district tournament Feb. 13 and 14. All seven teams in the conference will compete in the district show.

Other games Tuesday send Knott to Forsan and Garden City to Stanton while Coahoma draws a bye.

Knott ran roughshod over Garden City last week, 48-12, with Delbert Harland's 14 points showing the way.

There is an undercurrent impending of "boom" hereabouts these days. This stems from general peak activity, plus the hospital project and the apparent oil strike in northern Howard county. The latter is looming as a pool opener because of its consistent flowing record. Subsequent tests will show more clearly the potentialities. Meanwhile, the northern Sterling county exploration is looking up.

Merchants agreed on six business holidays at a meeting Friday. These were Jan. 1, May 31, July 4, Sept. 6, Nov. 25, Dec. 25. On the eve of St. Smithers day, some will wonder if there is to be a closing. The Retail Merchants bureau had one call wanting to know if there would be closing Christmas.

We had no idea so many people were uninformed about the identity of a capon, a class entered in the show for the first time this year. A capon is a rooster which has had his hope of posterity sacrificed for prospect of a few more pounds.

Understand RIVALRY and you understand AMERICA

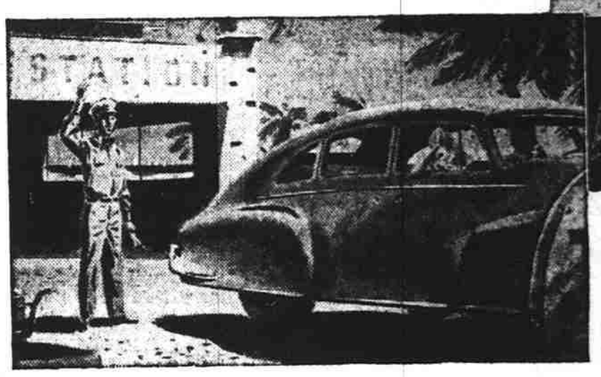

• How far can a man jump? Nobody knows, because as soon as one athlete sets a record, it's not long before another comes along and breaks it. It's irresistible to Americans—that desire to outdo. And you find it not only at track meets, but in laboratories, classrooms, industry and business, too.

Understand rivalry and you understand America. Understand rivalry in the oil industry with its more than 34,000 individual firms . . . 1,250,000 people . . . and you'll understand why you enjoy the finest petroleum products at the lowest prices in the world.

Yes, we've got a whale of a lot of competition to overcome to get and hold your business—and the only way we can do it is to please you in every way—please you more than rivals.

You can be sure you'll get the best from us, because we're determined no one will get the best of us. It's this spirit of rivalry that guarantees a plus for you in Petroleum's Progress . . . guarantees a plus for us every time we demonstrate a plus for you.

The challenge of competition makes the athlete jump further—constantly creates new records.

The challenge of competition makes us jump—to provide better service for you.

LOCAL OIL

Howard Wildcat Has Steady Flow

Consistent performance on a series of tests strengthened belief last week that the Seabord Oil Co. of Delaware No. 1-B Caldwell, extreme northern Howard deep wildcat, would be completed for a commercial producer.

The project flowed 24 hours through 12-64ths-inch tubing choke, from pay above the plugged back total depth of 7,966 feet. A total of 234 barrels of fluid was produced. It was 80 per cent oil and 20 per cent salt water. Tubing pressure was 850 pounds and casing pressure was 1,225 pounds. Production was at the rate of approximately 185 barrels of oil per day — plus the water.

Location of the test, which is regarded as a discovery and possible opener of a pool producing from the Pennsylvanian, is about 15 miles north of Big Spring and 890 feet from the north and 2,310 feet from the east lines of section 32-32-3n, T&P. Flowing tests are continuing.

Sun Oil No. 1 Hale, northeast Martin county prospector scheduled for 8,000 feet, was bottomed at 7,155 feet in sandy lime section, which has shown some shale streaks. On a one-hour drillstem test from 7,072-94 feet, the test returned 30 feet of drilling mud plus 1,000 feet water blanket. Location is 19 miles north of Stanton and 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 36-35-3n, T&P. Cores have not shown signs of possible production, and the test is reaming. There were unconfirmed reports that the Stanolind (formerly Ray Albaugh) No. 1-A J. Y. Graves, northeast of Ackerly, had progressed to 7,300 feet and was coring.

In south-central Borden county, Tide Water Associated Oil Co. No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, deep wildcat, prepared to drill ahead after recovering 4,410 feet of salt water in one hour drillstem test from 8,365-8,505 feet. Location is in section 47-31-4n, T&P, nine and a half miles south of Gail.

Plymouth Oil Co. No. 1 Willie Mae Foster, possible Ellenburger producer in north-central Sterling county, about 11 1-2 miles south and slightly west of Sterling City, was cleaning out at 8,365 feet following a 40-quart nitroglycerin shot in the Ellenburger section at 8,366-82 feet. This lime section had been topped at 8,316 feet. In the section below 8,366 feet it had developed some free oil on two drillstem tests and no water had been encountered. Location is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 56-2, H&TC, about a quarter of a mile southwest of the Plymouth No. 1 Frost, a 20-barrel producer.

Cities Service Oil company No. 1 Claude Collins, north-central Sterling county wildcat, four miles north and two miles west of Iolanthe and 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 71-17, H&TC, ran a 50 minute drillstem test in a limey sand section at 6,766-90 feet. There was a blow of air for five minutes, which then died. Recovery was 32 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil gas or water. The prospector is scheduled to go on to about 8,400 feet to try to find and test the Ellenburger. It now is drilling ahead.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company has filed a supplemental application with the railroad commission of Texas, requesting a permit to continue drilling on its No. 1 J. E. Mabee, northwest Martin county wildcat, to a possible bottom of 13,200 feet.

This exploration is 35 miles northwest of Stanton, and 660 feet from the south and west lines of tract 87, league 258, Briscoe County School lands. It is now active and has reached 11,096 feet in an unidentified lime and shale, and is drilling ahead. Up to now this project has not reported having logged any signs of oil or gas. Slated objective of 13,200 feet might take the venture into the Ellenburger.

Dave Duncan No. 1 Longshore, a 2,500-foot Howard-Glasscock combination cable tool and rotary venture, skidded Friday six feet to start new hole after a bit stuck in gravel formation after spudding. Original location was 990 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the east lines of section 15-332, T&P.

W. H. Cooper No. 3 Percy Jones, 330 feet from the south and west lines of the north half of section 13-30-1s, T&P, East Howard venture, was below 1,545 feet. Cooper No. 1 Chalk, 660 feet from the south and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 84-29, a step-out in the Chalk pool, was below 500 feet. Cecil Gutherie No. 2-B W. R. Read, section 48-30-1n, T&P, was below 1,600 feet and the No. 3-B test below 750 feet.

One completion was noted in the Coleman Ranch pool of northwest Mitchell with Cooper No. 1 Lucy Mildred Coleman rating 132 barrels pumping in 24 hours. It is in the west half of the southwest quarter of section 70-97, H&TC. Cooper No. 2 Coleman, 330 feet from the south and east lines of the same tract, spudded to 20 feet, while Cooper No. 3 Coleman, a companion test, was below 1,545 feet.

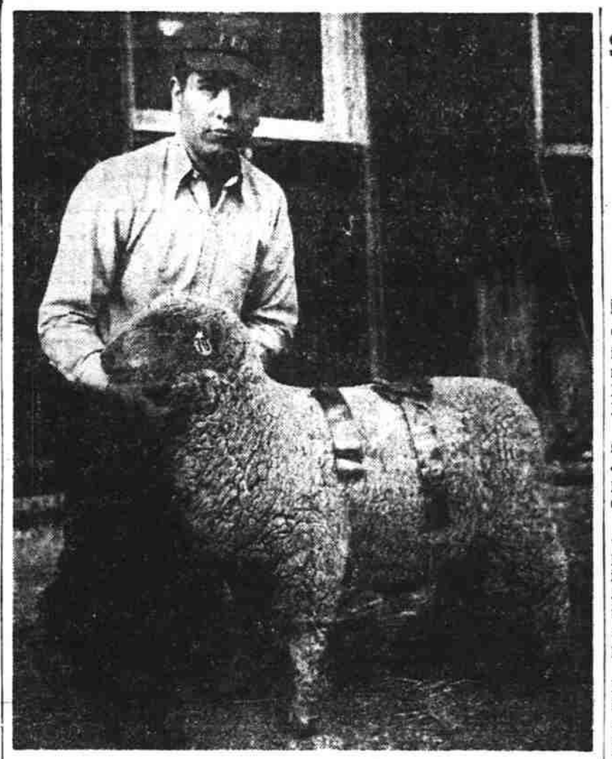

Morrison Asks For New Term

Announcement that he will ask return to the office of county judge of Howard county, subject to action of the Democratic primaries, was made Saturday by Walton Morrison. Morrison served a part of a term before resigning to enter military service, returned home to be elected in 1946 for his current term.

In a statement submitted to The Herald, he said:

"In announcing for re-election, I am reminded of the wonderful support the people of Howard County have given me in the past, both at the polls and in handling the many duties of the office, and am grateful for that help. Howard County has many serious problems, and I would like to use my experience and best efforts in helping to solve them. There is much work in conducting court, enforcing the law and helping administer the business and financial affairs of our county. If the citizens of this county see fit to support me, I pledge my best efforts towards fair, just and businesslike administration; however, your support at the polls is only the beginning. Without the continuous efforts of all of us the job can not be done. I will appreciate your assistance."

Davidson's Wins Weight Gain Prize

Delbert Davidson's 1,110-pound steer won the $20 cash prize for establishing the best rate of gain in weight among entries at the annual Howard County 4-H club and FFA Livestock Show which closed Friday.

The prize was offered for the steer adding the most pounds since June 11, when weights on the club projects were recorded at a field day demonstration.

Young Davidson's entry increased its stature at a rate of 2.7 pounds a day during the check period. On June 11 the animal weighed 501 pounds, while at show time it tipped the beam at 1,110 pounds, representing a total gain of 609 pounds for the 223-day period.

The steer, which was bred by Fred Lege of Fort Worth, placed sixth in the heavyweight milk-fed class at the show. It was purchased for 46-cents a pound by the Big Spring Livestock Auction company at the club sale Friday night.

City Records Improvement In Fire Losses During Past Year

Aided by one month which produced a perfect score and several others which produced exceptionally light deficits, Big Spring managed to record a healthy improvement on its fire losses during 1947.

Figures released by F. W. Bettle, city fire marshal, show losses for the past year amounting to $20,080.27, as compared to $69,620.17 for 1946.

The 1947 record was attained chiefly as a result of extremely low fire damage figures for the spring and early summer months. The perfect score came in June when no losses of any type that could be charged to fires were recorded.

August was the heaviest month of the year, with $12,431.

The fire department answered 209 alarms during the year, 11 of which occurred in June, but all were extinguished before property damage.

Complete figures by months, with number of fires in parentheses, follow: January (17), $1,046.45; February (24), $1,482.51; March (20), $309.71; April (17), $215.26; May (17), $80.70; June (11), none; July (13), $250; August (16), $12,431; September (18), $77.95; October (17), $1,695.65; November (18), $563.54; December (21), $1,927.70.

Fear Devaluation

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 24 (AP)—Trade sources said today Argentine officials had halted the issuing of permits for shipment of meat to England. They expressed belief the step was due to Argentine fears over the future value of the pound sterling in the light of French devaluation of the franc.

The people of the United States with nearly three-fifths of the world's telephones, made more than 42 billion telephone calls in 1946.

WATER VALLEY, Jan. 24—Sterling City won the Water Valley invitational basketball tournament as expected here Saturday night, swamping Courtney in the finals, 44-15.

Norton captured consolations by tripping Eden 28-27.

Sterling had advanced into the last round by licking Water Valley, 27-12, while Courtney was edging Forsan, 29-28.

Jackie Tweedie and Bobby King of the Sterling team rated all-tournament berths along with Glaspie Courtney; Rankin, Eden; and Shaw, Water Valley.

Eppler Defeats Billy Carlisle

Jimmy Eppler nudged Billy Carlisle in the feature of five boxing bouts unreeled at the Howard County Junoir college gymnasium Friday night.

Eppler, an experienced middleweight who won the 147-pound Golden Gloves title here last year, gained the nod on a split decision.

Referee Burt Gannon and one judge gave the decision to Eppler while the other voted for Carlisle.

Eppler carried the fight but Carlisle scored repeatedly with both hands.

In other matches, Vernon Fowler decisioned Cliff Prather in a battle of lightheavyweights; Howell Hensley TKOed Manuel Correllias in the first round and then returned to fight a draw with Bill Coleman while Jimmy Byers and Tony Pieteras went to a draw in the other match.

American athletes have never won an Olympic event in either skiing or hockey.

Whip Monahans In Title Match

ODESSA, Jan. 24—Off to a false start in their opening round game with the Andrews Mustangs, the Big Spring Steers showed impressive recuperative powers in winning consolation honors in the Odessa invitational basketball tournament here Saturday night.

The Longhorns cashed in on most of their scoring opportunities to subdue Monahans, 45-31, in the consolation finals after they had hurdled Pecos in an earlier game, 56-26.

Johnny Malaise's Big Springers had been upset in a preliminary game Friday by Andrews, 22-20. Andrews lost its next start to McCamey, 22-19, a team that was to play Odessa in the finals later tonight.

The Steers couldn't get rolling against Andrews, a team they had beaten only two nights previously, but hit their stride against Pecos. Eddie Houser and B. B. Lees were the standouts in that one, sinking 16 and 11 points, respectively.

Freeman Returning To Wrestling Club Monday Nite To Meet Lopez

Ace Freeman is returning to the Big Spring Athletic club Monday night.

The New York Jewish boy, a great favorite here in the '30's, stops off in Big Spring to engage in a catch-as-atch-nan wrestling match with Georgie Lopez of Tampico, Mexico.

The Freeman-Lopez bout is billed as a preliminary to the main event, which pits Jack Kiser of Oswega, Oregon, against Leon Kirilenko of Moscow, Russia.

For customer appeal, it may top the spot-lighted event, however. Freeman stopped off here a couple of months ago but never had a chance to warm to his assignment.

LEON KIRILENKO

He's the quiet type but is quick as all get-out and should give the south-of-the-border stylist a pack of trouble.

Kirilenko has won three bouts in a row in the local ring. He looks more and more like a runaway freight train that can't be derailed.

Kiser isn't as big nor is he as rough as the Muscovite but he's faster and more scientific. If Kirilenko drops his guard for a moment, Kiser is liable to "do him in."

Curtin goes up along about 8:15 p. m.

Jayhawks Lose To ACC Bees

Abilene Christian college's reserves stormed through the Howard County Junior college defenses to register a 58-40 basketball victory in an exhibition played here Saturday night.

The Jayhawk machine was listless the first half, collecting only 12 points, but outscored the visitors in the finaal two periods, 28-27.

Ray Clark, HCJC captain, enjoyed his hottest evening of the season by looping 16 points, high for both teams. Regis was outstanding for ACC with 12.

The two teams play again Thursday night in Abilene.

Bratton TKOed

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Johnny "Honeyboy" Bratton had his jaw taped up today with a possible fracture after losing on a technical knockout to Beau Jack, former World's lightweight champion, last night.

Beau Jack won on a TKO in the eighth round of a savagely fought battle for 10 rounds in Chicago Stadium after the 20-year-old Chicago boxer appealed to Referee Johnny Behr to stop the bout because of a terrific blow to his jaw.

Bulldogs Nose Out Courtney

COAHOMA, Jan. 24—Coahoma's Bulldogs nosed out the Courtney Eagles, 25-24, in a District 21B basketball game played here Friday night.

The Courtney girls defeated Coahoma's fems, 16-10, in an added attraction. Courtney's Church and Coahoma's Shive each had six points.

Johnny Lujack, George Connor Attach Names To Chicago Bear Grid Contracts

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. (AP)— Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame's famed quarterback twice consecutively named for All America honors, today signed a four year contract to play professional football with the Chicago Bears of the National football league.

Johnny Lujack

The Bears also signed George Connor, Notre Dame tackle, All America in 1946, to a three year contract.

The 22 year old Lujack reportedly will receive $18,000 to $20,000 a year, plus a $5,000 bonus, for affixing his signature. However, George Halas, owner coach of the Bears, seven times champions of the National league, declined to reveal the exact terms, but said the reported figures "were close."

Lujack, a native of Connellsville, Pa., is a son of a locomotive boiler maker. He has been a star athlete since his high school days in which he played three sports — football, basketball, and track, winning letters in each. He was named the "Athlete of the Year" in the Associated Press poll for 1947.

The Notre Dame star, possessing one of the most magic names in football since the days of Harold "Red" Grange a quarter of a century ago, signed with Halas at a party in the fashionable penthouse of the Hotel Sherman in a typical Hollywood setting.

Fans Invited To Attend Open Baseball Conclave Tuesday

Park Project To Be Settled

Baseball fans have been invited by Claude McAden and Pat Stasey to attend an open meeting at the Settles hotel Tuesday night, at which time plans for the 1948 season will be discussed.

One of the items up for discussion will be construction of a new wing on the State street stadium, where the professional Broncs play all their Longhorn league home games.

The new project will cost $6,000, just $1,000 more than the original estimation. One hundred business men to town have signed a pledge to underwrite the cost of the extra bleacher and the baseball club owners want their okeh before they give the 'go-ahead' signal to the contractor.

The addition would create an extra 500 grandstand seats at the plant.

Other plans, including spring training and team personnel, will be discussed at the session.

• • •

Something like 1,000 yards of dirt have recently been hauled into Steer stadium, half of it for the infield. McAden stated Saturday that the infield would be sown with grass before the season gets underway.

Much of the dirt has been used to level down the field between the grandstand and the gate in left field and behind and to the right of the grandstand.

• • •

McAden and Stasey plan to go to Sherman within a few days to confer with Joe Cambria, chief scout of the Washington Senators and parent club of the Big Spring team.

Other executives of the Washington minor league chain will also be in attendance at the session.

Something like 75 rookies will attend the Sherman-Denison baseball school later this year. McAden and Stasey will be afforded the chance to sign several of the frosh.

Wesleyan Loses

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Texas Wesleyan dropped the second game of its 10-game Eastern trip here today to Georgetown university, 48 to 37.

A heavy snow kept attendance down to less than 500 and the frigid temperature of the National Guard Armory discouraged good basketball.

Barnhill Inks New Contract At Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 24. (AP)—John Barnhill, whose first two University of Arkansas football teams produced enough money from bowl games alone to pay his salary for nearly ten years, today signed a new contract biding him to guide the Razorbacks through 1955.

Salary terms of the new pact were not disclosed, but it was believed the head football coach and athletic director was given a raise over the $10,000-a-year he received under a five-year contract he signed in 1946. Under a 1945 legislative act the U. of A.'s head football coach may be paid up to $12,500 a year.

Arkansas' net receipts from successive Cotton and Dixie Bowl appearances totaled $95,000, which would come only $5,000 short of paying Barnhill for ten years at the salary for which his original contract called.

While Barnhill's original contract with Arkansas had three years to run, Dr. Lewis W. Jones, university president said extension of the tall, quiet Tenn. "at this time is desirable" because:

(1) "Building an effective football program is a long-time project and maximum values from such a program cannot be realized within the relatively short period of four or five years" and

(2) "Barnhill has demonstrated his abilities as one of the leading football tacticians of the country."

In the last ten years, teams coached by Barnhill have appeared in seven Bowl games. While he was line coach and acting head coach at the University of Tennessee the Vols played in the Rose Bowl twice, the Sugar Bowl twice and the Orange Bowl once.

He brought his hard-hitting single wingback system to Arkansas in 1946 and began a "long range" rebuilding program to lift the Razorbacks out of the Southwest Conference cellar. The team responded by winning the Conference co-championship that year and tying Louisiana state in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day, 1947.

Basketball result:
Baylor 61 Rice 41.

West Texas Softball Leaders Meet Here

Proposed Loop May Take Shape

Lions club officials are making plans to handle the largest crowd ever to attend a football banquet here Monday night at the Settles hotel.

Tickets for the annual event, which begins at 7:30 p. m., can still be had but indications are 300 people, absolute capacity, will crowd into the ballroom to honor the 1947 edition of the Big Spring high school Steers and hear Matty Bell, famed coach of the Southern Methodist Mustangs, champions of the Southwest conference last fall, give a talk as principal speaker.

Ducats can be obtained through Dan Conley, member of the banquet committee and will be on sale on the Settles mezzanine immediately before the event. They are priced at $1.50 each and any one who cares to is eligible to attend.

Bell is bringing with him movies of two of the most exciting games his Mustangs played in thier march to the championship, the 14-13 contest with Texas university, and their 19-19 exciting battle with TCU, which many think is the greatest game ever played in the conference.

All boys who played football under Pat Murphy at the high school will be in attendance at the function.

Morgan In Front Of Ringer Field

Jake Morgan, who has hacked 11 strokes off his original score, is leading in the country club's ringer golf tournament now in its fourth week.

The tournament draws to a close Jan. 31. Pro Shirley Robbins said he would stage another meet within the near future. Bad weather hurt the entry field in the current show.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Matty Bell, SMU's football coach who bounces into the village Monday night to serve as principal speaker at the Lions club grid banquet for the school boys, is perhaps the Southwest Conference's most widely known coach, now that Dana Bible has stepped down at Texas . . . He has long been recognized as one of the greatest defensive coaches in collegiate football but more than that Matty has been acclaimed for getting more out of his material than any coach in the country, save possibly Dutch Meyer, his friend and rival at TCU . . . Bell and a capable staff took what was acknowledged to be the fourth best material in the conference last fall and won the league flag with it . . . He has served as a coach in the annual North-South game at Montgomery and only last year was named the head coach of the West stars in the Shrine game at San Francisco—an honor he had to decline because of a Cotton Bowl commitment . . . He's a former president of the National Coaches association and was recently named to that body's rules committee . . . Bell came out of Centre college (where he was a team mate of the famed Bo McMillan on some of the Praying Colonels' greatest teams) to assume the TCU coaching job in 1923 . . . In six years at the Fort Worth school, Bell never won a championship but his Frogs took on considerable prestige . . . During his tenure there, the Purple won 32 games, lost 17 and tied six . . . From TCU, he moved to Texas A&M where he spent an unhappy four seasons . . . He received little alumni help during his stay in Aggieland and consequently his Cadets were always fighting to stay out of the cellar . . . He migrated to SMU as line coach in 1934 and it was perhaps the best move he ever made . . . Astute Ray Morrison stepped down as head man as SMU the following year and Bell took charge of a team he eventually led to the Southwest Conference championship and the Rose Bowl game . . . SMU has won five Southwest titles, tied for another since 1923 . . . Bell-coached elevens have won two of those titles and his 1940 club shared the title with Texas A&M . . . In the ten seasons Matty has been associated with the Mustangs, his teams have won 36 league games, lost 22 and tied two . . . Perhaps Matty's secret of success is his ability to get along with boys . . . If he ever resorts to disciplinary action, the after-effects never reach the newspapers . . . He's coached several All-Americans at SMU — Bobby Wilson, Truman Spain, J. C. Wetzel and Doak Walker . . . One of the players he thought rated All-America but who didn't get the honor was Tom Dean, a big tackle who played with Walker in 1945 . . . Always cautious about resorting to superlatives, Bell refuses yet to say whether he thinks Wilson or Walker, considered to be SMU's greatest performers, was the better back.

Steers Resume 3AA Loop Play Tuesday Nite

With five victories in as many league starts behind them, the Big Spring high school basketball Steers resume 3AA activity Tuesday night in San Angelo.

The Longhorns need a victory over Angelo to complete the "cycle" but more than that a near-cinch on a place in the Shaughnessy playoff, which will be unreeled Feb. 20-21.

Johnny Malaise's troops are now 3½ games in front of fifth place Midland and another win would all but sew up a spot among the top four teams in the final standings.

Angelo has turned hot and cold all year and currently is the fourth place club with a record of three wins in five games. The Bobcats must win a few games to keep ahead of the Midland club, which copped its last game from Sweetwater by a three-point margin.

Friday night the Bovines tangle with the Sweetwater Mustangs, winners of only one game in six starts to date, in a game here. The locals should win that one handily.

Abilene ,half a game in arrears of the Steers, tore Lamesa apart Friday night, 39-28.

Standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.	Pts.
BIG SPRING	5	0	1.000	176
Abilene	5	1	.833	222
Odessa	4	2	.667	188
San Angelo	3	2	.600	179
Midland	2	4	.333	188
Sweetwater	1	5	.167	178
Lamesa	0	6	.000	167

Results Last Week:
Sweetwater 31 Midland 34.
Odessa 42 Lamesa 33.
Abilene 39 Lamesa 28.

Red-Heads Play ABC March 8

The All-American Red-Heads, most famous basketball team of its kind in the world, will play an ABC all-star club at the high school gymnasium the night of Monday, March 8.

The flaming haired fems, who defeated the ABC clan here two years ago, are famed for their court trickery. They will stop off here enroute to their homes at Cassville, Mo., following a tour to the West Coast.

Tickets to the exhibition will be sold at $1 adult and 50 cents child. An advance sale will be conducted.

Fems' Bowling Meet Planned

The West Texas Bowling center will be host to the first annual Big Spring Women's Invitational kegling tournament here Feb. 21-22 and 28-29, in which any woman affiliated with the International Bowling association will be eligible to compete.

The tournament is being sponsored by Wear-Ever Aluminum Cooking Utensils, which will provide three trophies and cash prizes.

Entry fee will be $2.50 an event, of which there will be three. Participants may enter singles, doubles and team play. The team play will be run on a handicap basis while entries in the other events will be placed either in A, B or C categories.

Keglers are expected here from over a wide area.

Seven Regional Golden Gloves Tourneys Wind Up This Week

State Meeting Begins Feb. 11

FORT WORTH, Jan. 24 (AP)—The smack of flying amateur fists will resound increasingly over Texas as the 1948 Golden Gloves program enters its second week of regional competition.

Regional tournaments in Amarillo, Brownwood, Corpus Christi, Odessa, Paris, Austin and Fort Worth will be wound up by next week's end. Fort Worth's tourney, which began last week, has its finals Monday night.

Corpus Christi's tournament opens Monday night. Amarillo and Odessa tournaments start Tuesday and others begin Wednesday in Paris and Austin and Thursday in Brownwood.

Meanwhile, competition will open in Dallas, Lufkin, Temple and Abilene, but finals in these tournaments will be delayed until the first week in February. Tourneys in these four cities begin Friday night.

Tournaments in Lubbock, Beaumont, Waco, Harlingen, Tyler and Houston will not open until the first week of February.

Wichita Falls, San Antonio and El Paso completed their tournaments the past week.

Winners in each of eight weight divisions at the State's 20 regional tournaments will come to Fort Worth Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14 and 16 in the twelfth annual Texas Golden Gloves tournament. State tournament winners will represent Texas in national competition.

As in past years, the 1948 state tournament will be unreeled in huge Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum, where up to 10,000 fans have on single nights witnessed the Golden Gloves spectacle.

* * *

Several local battlers are making plans to compete in the Regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament at Odessa this week, among them Vernon Fowler, Cliff Prather and Jimmy Eppler.

Eppler is apparently the city's best bet for a Regional winner. He is a veteran of the last two district tournaments.

One of the largest fields ever to compete in a boxing tournament in West Texas is due to converge upon Odessa. Scrappers from throughout the Permian Basin are making plans to compete in the show.

Sterling Tourney Slated Thursday

STERLING CITY, Jan. 24—Basketball fans can get their fill of their favorite fare for three nights starting Thursday here this week.

The high school invitational tournament, open to boys' and girls' teams, gets underway Thursday night, goes into recess Friday night and will be completed Saturday.

Friday night four independent teams, including the Sterling City Independents, will be featured in a March of Dimes double header.

Boys teams entered in the tournament include Robert Lee, Rankin, Sterling City, Garden City, Forsan and Water Valley.

First round games will be announced by Tournament Director George Tillerson early this week.

Lions To Honor Steer Gridders Monday Night

Softball enthusiasts converge on Big Spring from a wide area this afternoon for a preliminary discussion of a proposed West Texas Softball league. The parley gets underway at the Settles hotel around 3 p. m.

Representatives from Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland, Sweetwater, Odessa and other West Texas cities have been summoned to meet here. Officials of the Lubbock and Angelo leagues apparently inspired the session, since those two cities are the hotbeds of West Texas mushball.

Teams of the proposed circuit would play something like two games weekly, according to the plan introduced by one party. Such a schedule would give the participating athletes plenty of time in which to take part in their own city league play.

It is an ambitious undertaking, this proposed setup. Never has such a circuit functioned before. However, the league is afforded an excellent chance of being a financial success since the overhead would be light and could probably be easily sold to the public.

A West Texas league would probably have to go without a Big Spring entry, however, since there is no closed-in park in existence here. In the past, the city park diamond has been the scene of most local activity.

Most other West Texas cities have modern parks which are equipped to handle paid admissions.

Linksmen Play Here Tuesday

Size of the entry field in the West Texas pro-amateur golf meet, which will be held at the country club starting at noon Tuesday, depends upon the weather.

If the temperatures are up and the day fair, Pro Shirley Robbins said he was expecting something like one hundred professionals and simon-pures. The linksmen are due here from Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Odessa, Lamesa and Midland.

Foursomes, composed of a pro and three amateurs, go after cash and merchandise in such a show.

Big Spring was host to the pro-amateur in June of 1946 at which time Benny Adams, then of Wink and now of Paris, was the low scoring professional.

Charles Klein of Amarillo won the last pro-amateur event in Lamesa last month.

Boxing Matches Held At Citadel

Charley Murphy, Jerry White, Don Masters and Earl Stein scored victories in boxing exhibitions staged at the Salvation Army headquarters Friday night.

Charley Murphy registered a win at the expense of Billy Murphy but later lost to Stein. White bested Preston Thomas. Masters outboxed Bud Bridges.

In other matches, Earl Holt and J. W. Holt went to a draw, as did Johnny Bryant and Gary Porter. Charles Franklin and Snuffy Rogers, Aubrey Armstead and Belton Brunson, Harold Hurst and Ronney Brunson.

Gene Gross, John Masters, Morris Rogers and Charles Franklin were crowned wrestling champions of the Salvation Army last week.

Jerry Zimmerman, Thelma Timmons, G. W. Daniels, Alvine Adins, Della Kirkland, Elna Heffington and Mary Ann Simonek captured honors in a ping-pong tournament.

Midway Beaten

CENTER POINT, Jan. 24 —Center Point school's basketball team thumped Midway at Midway Friday afternoon, 26-18.

Raymond McKee and Calvert Shortes were the scoring aces for the Center Point team, each bagging ten points. L. T. Nelson collected six.

The two teams play again in Center Point Thursday.

CONSUMPTION UP

Oil Shortage May Become Worse

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — If you think the oil and gas situation is tough now, look at what some of the men in the oil industry expect in the year ahead:

1. Demand for oil in the United States this year will top last, when shortages and threats of shortages were too common for comfort.

2. A gasoline shortage next summer may grow out of the industry's plan to boost production of fuel oil this winter.

Industry spokesmen think they may be called upon to find 146,750,000 more barrels of oil this year than last, when they strained transportation and refinery facilities to provide 2,137,300,000 barrels.

Petroleum economists cite the growth of per capita consumption in the United States from 367 gallons in 1941 to 608 in 1947. Total consumption last year was 10 per cent above even the wartime peak. Barring a depression, the demand is expected to rise this year.

The gasoline shortage threat comes from this: to met the present emergency and provide more heating oil, the industry is being asked to turn a greater percentage of its crude oil into heating fuel and, therefore, less into gasoline.

Some say this may reduce gasoline stocks so much that when warm weather lures you onto the open road again, the gas shortage may be as troublesome as the present heating fuel one.

How does the oil industry think it can meet the problem?

Petroleum economists of major oil companies look at the production picture this way:

U. S. crude oil production last year averaged 5,082,000 barrels a day. This month the daily average reached the record high of 5,326,137 barrels. The industry's estimates of what it can achieve this year range upward to 5,400,000 barrels a day. To do that it counts on getting more steel for pipelines, tankers and new wells.

Daily demand in 1948, including exports under government quotas, is estimated by some as high as 6,250,000 barrels. If the synthetic and natural gasoline plants produce 340,000 barrels a day, there will be a deficit still of around 500,000 barrels a day.

This will have to be met by imports, or some consumers won't get the oil and gas they want.

Last year we imported 433,000 barrels a day; 265,000 of crude oil, 146,000 of residual oil used in steam plants, 12,000 of distillate for heating and diesels, and 10,000 of assorted petroleum products.

Petroleum economists estimate we will be able to import from 475,000 to 500,000 barrels a day this year, chiefly from the Caribbean area. They count on an increase in available tankers and on Europe's ability to meet more of her needs through rehabilitated refineries and faster delivery of oil from the middle east.

Courageous Young Folk Who're Fighting Polio

These are Big Spring youngsters — children close to you — whose gay running and romping was halted by poliomyelitis; but who, fortunately, are overcoming its after-effects through science and skill made available in great degree by funds contributed in the March of Dimes.

At the extreme left are Linda and Nancy Thompson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson who were stricken within seven days of each other, Nancy on August 2, 1946, Linda on August 9. They were hospitalized originally in San Angelo, both being discharged there August 26, 1946. Linda, 7, (at the left) suffered paralysis of the lower extremities, was taken to Baylor hospital, Dallas, for three weeks for physio-therapy. She also received treatment at the Plainview Clinic. She now wears braces, still has a muscular weakness in the right leg, but is making gratifying improvement.

Nancy, 4, suffered extensive paralysis of the right upper arm, neck, throat and face, and wore a neck brace for three months following orthopedic care at Baylor hospital and at Plainview. She has a slight weakness of the right arm and facial muscles, but is not completely impaired. She, like her sister, is returning to orthopedic clinics at intervals as directed by doctors.

In the next picture is Gary Porter, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Porter, who became ill and was hospitalized last July 19, and who was discharged ten days later. His left arm muscles were involved, but Gary completely recovered and no muscular weakness is noted, and no post-paralytic treament has been necessary.

A little Latin-American girl, Delia Rubio, is shown in the third picture. She became ill May 23, last year, entered the hospital for 12 days on June 12. Muscles of both legs were involved, but she made vast improvement, and at present there is only a muscular weakness in the left leg.

Assistance was given during 1947, too, to a four-year-old colored lad, James Edward Matthis, grandson of Mary Lynn. James Edward became ill last May 27, entered the hospital three days later and was discharged June 12. His right arm was affected, and at present there is a slight muscular weakness, although the arm is not completely impaired. Application has been made for further orthpedic care.

These little patients all received hospital treatment, medications as thought necessary by physicians and follow-up visits by members of the health department after discharge from the hospital. In cases of muscular weakness, further orthopedic care will be given as suggested by the doctor.

It is the skillful treatment given children such as these that is provided by funds raised in behalf of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, whose annual March of Dimes is now in progress. Half the $4,000 being sought in Big Spring will go to the Foundation, the other half will be retained here to help provide treatment for other cases that might occur.

Silver Smithing Is New Career For One Interesting Young Woman

By ADELAIDE KERR
(AP Newsfeatures Writer

Margaret Carver's story indicates that new and unusual careers lie open to women who are willing to do some exploring outside beaten paths.

Miss Craver, the attractive brown-haired daughter of a Kansas cabinet maker, is building her career out of silver in New York. And she thinks it offers a lot of other people shining possibilities for hobbies if they will put their minds—and hands—to it.

Miss Craver fell in love with silver when, as a Kansas University freshman, she enrolled in a metal work class. Later, when she went to work in the Wichita (Kansas) Art Association Galleries, she taught some classes in silver. Her infatuation with the metal continued to grow and she began to dream of fine hand-wrought silver smithing and jewelry making in America and of craftsmen who would have as much artistic standing as painters.

"When the war came, I volunteered to work for a summer in the Red Cross Arts and Skills Department at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station," she said recently. "They put me to work in the plastics department. There I heard talk of certain arm and hand motions which they wished wounded men to make for healing purposes. I realized that silversmithing and jewelry making would give them an opportunity to make these motions.

"So I wrote to a firm of refiners and dealers in precious metals in New York. I had always bought my silver from them. In time I came to see the firm's president and told him what I had seen and heard."

After that interview Miss Craver went to work for the refiners, Handy and Harman, who offered her services to the War Department. In the last years of the war she set up metal works shops in Army and Navy hospitals and worked closely with occupational therapists to develop silversmithing and jewelry projects which would enable patients to make the required muscular arm flexions for healing. In developing projects for bed patients, she had to consider such restrictions as no noise, no flame, little strain and few tools.

Before that program ended in February, 1947, Miss Craver began to receive letters from teachers in university art departments, asking where they could get instruction in silversmithing. So Miss Craver — now director of the craft service department of her firm—helped launch plans for a month's working conference for silversmiths at the Rhode Island School of Design in Providence, R. I. Ten teachers attended the August, 1947, conference conducted by William Bennett, master craftsman from Sheffield, England, and designer of the Ascot Gold Cup.

"Next," Miss Craver says, "soldiers and sailors, who had taken some silversmithing and jewelry making in hospitals began to write me and ask where they could obtain materials, tools and instructions to carry on a hobby they had come to love.

So she prepared a primer on making handwrought silver jewlry and the tools required. Her next project is a short motion picture showing how to make a silver bowl.

Lack of vitamin A is believed to cause night blindness.

Dinkum The Platypus One-World Ambassador

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP NEWSFEATURES WRITER

DINKUM the platypus nestled against Kate's shoulder and a warm thrill of happiness coursed through the child to her toes. Happiness had been rare as a rainbow to Kate, since the black truck struck her a careless blow as she played in the New York street and threw her to the sidewalk like a sack of salt. She missed her mother who worked all day in a laundry and had little time to visit her in a Bellevue Hospital ward.

Sometimes at night the ache in Kate's heart and the ache in her back fused until the child could not be sure where the pain did come from. The platypus with his silly lambskin coat and his yellow felt bill, filled a big void in her life.

He had come to the ward on Christmas Eve—unique amid an army of teddy bears and dolls—and quickly became a public character and community project in the wards where recreation department workers labor to keep the children happy.

"Eat all your oatmeal and then I'll tell you the story of the platypus," the recreation worker would say. Then the spoons would fly till they clattered to rest in the bowls and the story began:

"The platypus lives in Australia. It is a strange brown-furred mammal. It lays eggs like a hen, growls like a puppy, swims like a fish and burrows like a mole. The mama platypus nurses her young through pores in the skin. . ."

As the story unfolded big eyes began to flow in pinched faces and in the minds of the children the walls of the ward melted away and the lame, the paralytic and the cardiac cases walked in a new land they had never seen, led by Dinkum, the platypus.

Dinkum is the brain child of Jean Lackey, a young woman who began life in a little Wisconsin town, earned her way around the world and alighted in New York, fired with idealism. There she founded World Ideas, a little business with big aims.

"On my trip I was impressed with the fact that the world is not so very big and that people of many countries are much alike in many ways," she says. "I wanted to make children see that. If we could, we would have a better chance of their fighting for peace when it is their turn to run things. We are trying to show the children how small the world is through the adventures of Dinkum and his pals on the other four continents."

Included in World Idea's productions are a platypus book and cap which their producer expects to follow with platypus lollypops, soap, mugs, etc. The other animals have not yet been produced.

Jean Lackey's "one world" interest stems from days when she had barely a nodding acquaintance with geography. One day her teacher held up a small orange and said "The earth is no bigger in comparison with the universe than this orange is to you. Jean was promptly fired with ambition to encircle it. Years later, in 1936, she set sail, earning her way by writing advertising copy, radio scripts and commercial movie scenarios and by an entertainment trick of blowing smoke bubbles. (To this day, in remembrance, she uses glass bubble balls for house and costume decor.)

In Australia she met the platypus and her world idea plan was born.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

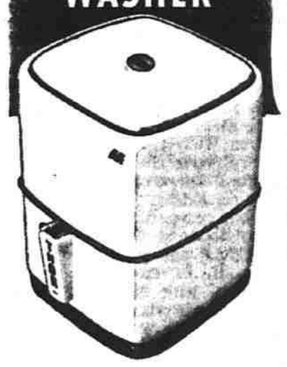

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

50 POUNDS LOST WITH BARCENTRATE

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Here is what Mrs. C. M. Earsh, 303 N. 12th St., McAllen, Texas, says about Barcentrate; "I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcentrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from 217 pounds."

To lose weight the grapefruit juice way, get Barcentrate from your favorite druggist today.

School For Baby Sitters Is Held In New York

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

THE teen-age baby sitter alerted.

"What is that noise?" she asked nervously.

"It's our baby," chorused the two small youngsters she was undressing for bed. "He's locked in Mama's room. You can't get him. Mama doesn't want anybody to touch him. He'll stop crying soon."

But the baby did not stop crying. For two hours, the sitter listened to that wracking wail. Ten o'clock, when the mother was due, came and passed. When the sitter had not reached home at eleven o'clock her own mother came for her. At midnight she telephoned police headquarters which dispatched a matron post haste. She unlocked the door, found the baby running a temperature, and sent for a doctor. The baby sitter's mother took her daughter home in tears.

At four a. m. the children's mother rolled in, full of good cheer which snuffed out like a light, when she learned what had happened. She was not an indifferent mother. But she had been chained to the children for months in the absence of their father (a ship's officer) and when she finally had a little fun it went to her head.

The next day, a block down the street, a young mother left her four-year-old, Henry, in the care of a sitter (who had brought her friends with her) and hurried out to do some marketing. Ten minutes ahead of schedule she came home in the rain to find the sitter gone and the living room a mess of mud and pop bottle stains. Henry who had been locked outside was finally found, splashing around in the rain with the key in his pocket. That night he had croup.

Stories like that, steadily mounting in number, spurred the Quaker Emergency Service recently to present something new — a n eight weeks' New York training course for baby sitters, which indirectly included some training for parents. It was sponsored by the Kips Bay-Yorkville District Health Committee (a citizen's group) and directed by Mrs. Gladys Witt Romanoff, New York child psychologist. So far as Mrs. Romanoff knows the course is the first of its kind.

Students taking the first course were taught how to feed, bathe and diaper babies, soothe the fretful, amuse the lonely, quiet the noisy and make friends with their charges. They were also taught what information to get from parents. A second course will begin soon.

"The sitter is here to stay," says Mrs. Romanoff, "and it's time we gave her some training for the serious responsibility she takes and established some legal standards for her. I'd like to see a national law stipulating that baby sitters must be at least 16 years old and have a certificate showing that they have had definite training for the job. They should also be required to have a lung examination, for it is possible for them to have tuberculosis without knowing it and give it to the children.

"There should also be some standards for parents. The situation which produced the sitter developed in a haphazard fashion and so has the job.

"The funniest sitter story I know concerns some friends of mine. They left their four-year-old son, Pete, in the care of a 16-year-old boy one night. When they came home at eleven the sitter was sound asleep and the youngster's bed was empty. His bathrobe and slippers were missing too. The antic father called the police hile he was talking to the sergeant the door opened and Pete walked in—clutching a quarter in his hand.

"Where had he been?

"Well, it seems the doorbell rang and the sitter—being asleep—didn't answer it, so Pete did. A next door neighbor wanted to know if the sitter would keep an eye on her baby while she went to the movies. Pete said, sure, he would look after it. So, while his own sitter slept, Pete earned a quarter watching the baby next door."

Men, Regain Youthful Vigor

Here Is a Vital Message to Men of 40, 60 or Older Men Who Feel That The Years Have Let Them Down

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Why not try to regain the pleasures of living you once enjoyed; why be discouraged? Regain the verve and zest of a much younger man. Just ask your druggist for Caltron stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. There is nothing harmful in Caltron tablets. Take as long as you feel you need them. Added years may no longer deprive you of desired enjoyments. Why be the victim of the "older" years?

Don't Be Discouraged

Goethe finished Faust at 82; Connie Mack is still managing the Athletics at 85; Titian painted masterpieces between 88 and 99; Clara Barton was an active president of the Red Cross at 83; Verdi was composing, Victor Hugo was writing, Corot was painting long after 80.

So don't let the added years get you down. Why not try Caltron tablets today? Available at all druggists.

WEST TEXAS OIL

Andrews Reports Deep Extension

BY JOHN B. BREWER

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 24—Extension of Ellenburger production 1¾ miles farther south-southwest in the Fullerton multiple pay field in Andrews county topped West Texas developments this week.

Coke, Runnels, Crockett and Ector counties registered a completed discovery producer each and Ector and Pecos counties each listed two wildcat locations and Reagan county one.

Phillips Petroleum Co. No. 5-M University in the most southwesterly Devonian producing sector of the Fullerton field in Andrews county flowed 77 barrels of oil in one hour on a drillstem test from 10,379-425 feet, with gas-oil ratio 469-1. It drilled ahead and may explore to 10,800 feet.

The Ellenburger was entered at 10,355 feet, 6,726 feet below sea level, 218 feet higher than in Mid-Continent No. 3-11 University, nearest completed Ellenburger well, 1¾ miles north-northeast. No. 5-M University is in the C SW NE 31-13-U, about six miles south of the most northerly Fullerton Ellenburger producer.

Sun Oil Co. No. 1 J. W. Arledge, Marble Falls lime strike in northern Coke county, C NE SW 261-1A-H&TC, was finaled at 6,620 feet for a 24-hour flow of 176 barrels of 47.8 gravity oil and gas-oil ratio of 1,395-1. The gauge was through a quarter inch choke from open hole pay that had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Pan American Production Co. No. 1 Hugh Campbell, Morris sand discovery in Runnels county four miles north of Ballinger, pumped naturally eight barrels of 35.6 gravity oil plus five per cent water for completion through casing perforations at 3,536-47 feet. It had plugged back from the Ellenburger in which it had some shows. Location is 467 feet out of the northeast corner of Jos. Bays survey 530 6-8. Pan American is drilling No. 1 J. F. Nunn a short distance northeast of No. 1 Campbell.

Gulf's second core hole discovery in western Crockett county, No. 1-C Howard B. Cox, pumped 184 barrels of 26.2 gravity oil in 24 hours for completion after shooting from 894-915 feet with 140 quarts of nitroglycerin. It is 150 from the northwest, 3,750 feet from the southwest line of the south 642 acres of section 6, S. Sloan survey, abstract 3,389.

San Andres lime strike in southeastern Ector county, J. W. McMillen and John Francis No. 1 J. W. Emmons rigistered a daily pumping potential of 242 barrels of pipeline oil. It had been shot from 4,440-4,525 feet with 325 quarts of nitroglycerin. Location is the C NW NW 8-42-3s-T&P, 1½ miles south of the South Cowden (Grayburg) field.

Fred W. Shield of San Angelo and Don M. Oliver and Fred Kityza of Midland staked No. 1 Walter Cowden 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 16-42-3s-T&P, 1½ miles southeast of the McMillen-Francis discovery. The Midland men retained an interest in turning a drilling obligation to Shield.

Amerada will drill No. 1 Hattie E. Connell in southern Ector to 9,000 feet if necessary to explore the Ellenburger. Its wildcat will be 656 from the south, 714 feet from the east line of the northwest quarter of section 13-B16-psl, in the Penwell (San Andres) field, 1½ miles north and a quarter mile west of Gulf No. 20-E-B Connell, northwest extension to the Jordan Ellenburger pool and three miles south of the nearest Penwell Ellenburger producer.

Bond Oil Corp. and L. C. Harrison spotted No. 1 B. F. Smith, slated 3,000-foot, cable tool wildcat in Pecos county, 2,246 from the north, 1,884 feet from the east line of section 12-145-T&StL, 22 miles southwest of McCamey. Charles H. Houston and others of San Antonio staked No. 1 Cordova-Union, projected 2,000-foot, cable tool wildcat 330 feet out of the southwest corner of section 8-141-T&StL, 17½ miles northeast of Fort Stockton.

Superior Oil Co. of California prepared to start No. 1-8-C University proposed 10,500-foot wildcat in southwestern Reagan county, C NE SE 25-8-U, less than one mile southeast of the shallow Grayson pool.

With a natural daily flowing potential of 1,191.24 barrels of oil, Humble No. 11 J. E. Parker marked a short northeast extension to the Martin Ellenburger field in southwestern Andrews county. The well, C SE NE 23-A41-psl, flowed through casing perforations at 8,805-8,905 feet.

Continental No. 1-A-13 University, Ellenburger failure in northeastern Crockett county, showed possibilities of production from the Silurian in swabbing 52 barrels of new oil and nine barrels of drilling mud and acid water in eight hours. It had been acidized with 15,000 gallons through perforations at 9,110-9,305 feet. Location is the C NE NE 13-47-U. Shallow shows developed by No. 1-A-13 University resulted in the opening by Continental of the Block 47 (Grayburg) pool.

Mrs. Gordon Grimes and baby daughter, Mary Anne, returned to Santa Anna, Calif. after a two weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robinson and friends.

Be Poll Tax Missionaries This Week

Harping on the subject of poll tax payments in an editorial column is much like the preacher scolding a congregation about non-attendance. In both instances, the preaching is being misplaced for want of a better avenue of projection.

Because the deadline for poll tax payment or securing exemption certificates is only a week away, we beg indulgence of editorial readers on the grounds that time is precious and they are needed in much the same role as a congregation — to be missionaries in the matter.

This is a crucial year in many respects. We know for certain that we will be called upon to vote in the usual city commission and school board elections.

We know for certain that there will be two democratic primaries which usually are tantamount to the real election in this county.

We know for certain that this is a presidential election year and for that reason the general election assumes great significance. We also are electing a U. S. senator from Texas for six years, and that is something of great importance. Our state senate race comes up this time, too.

But beyond these, there may be other special elections. Bond issues might be proposed; there might be referendums of various types such as the so-called civil service amendment put to city voters last year; there might be special issues subject to call by petition.

Certainly, every good citizen ought to be fortified with a right to vote at all times, but particularly so in a primary and presidential year. It is almost imperative that we have as large a number of people as possible who are eligible to vote to get poll taxes not later than Saturday.

It is a step toward good government, locally, on a state-wide basis and nationally.

Here is where you can help, you who are interested enough in local affairs and national affairs to follow comments on such subjects day by day in an editorial column. You can urge your friends and neighbors to pay their poll taxes if they have not already done so.

How about leaving off weather as a source of conversation this week? Instead, why not ask; "Have you got your poll tax?"

If enough people would ask that question frequently enough this week, our registration would soar. Be a missionary for poll taxes in the six days ahead.

Who May Be Called An American?

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

The three Hawaiian islands of Molokai, Lanai and Maui make up "one of the strangest constituted counties in these United States," on the word of The Maui News, published at Wailuku, Maui, T. H., U. S. A.

We wouldn't dispute it for the world; and after looking over the 72-page "Year-end Cavalcade" edition of the Maui News, we don't feel inclined to dispute anything that might be said of Hawaii, one way or another.

The News, a semi-weekly, is now in its 47th year. Its yearend special might have been issued from almost any newspaper office in Indiana, Colorado, South Carolina or Texas, with a change in surnames, faces and idiomatic terms. In spite of the oddity of surnames, peculiar vernacular twists, and pictured scenery, the Maui News is as American as the Bingville Bugle or the Jefferson Jimplecute.

If the U. S. of A. is the melting pot of the world, Hawaii must be the hottest corner of that great racial cauldron; for the Maui News is filled with surnames from a score of nations and a dozen races. Mainland newspapers often refer to somebody as being Latin-American, Irish American, German-American or Swedish-American, but the Maui News goes them one better. It refers to islanders of white mainland stock as being "Caucasian-Americans." Among the racial designations mentioned in the yearend edition were Japanese-Americans, Chinese-Americans, Portuguese-Americans, Filipino-Americans, ,and, of course, many Caucasian-Americans.

Hawaii is likely to be our 49th state, and we might as well get used to the idea that there are many varieties of Americans under the flag besides the old familar, European-stock variety.

We have been assured by students of Hawaiian life that the variegated nationalities that make up the population of Hawaii are just as American as the mainland people — in their habits of thought, in their independence of spirit, and in their loyalty to the flag.

The most decorated outfit to come out of the war in Europe was made up of Japanese-Americans hailing from Hawaii. If there is a better way of proving one's Americanism than by spilling one's blood, we haven't heard of it. Furthermore, we are assured that not one authentic incident of sabotage by a Japanese-American was uncovered in the islands during the war. Given the choice between a Japanese-American or a Portuguese-American or a Filipino-American who spilled his blood in defense of Old Glory, and a simon-pure, blue-blooded Anglo-Saxon-American who ruthlessly profiteered his way to wealth while the boys were dying on the battlefield, and we'll take the former type of patriot every time.

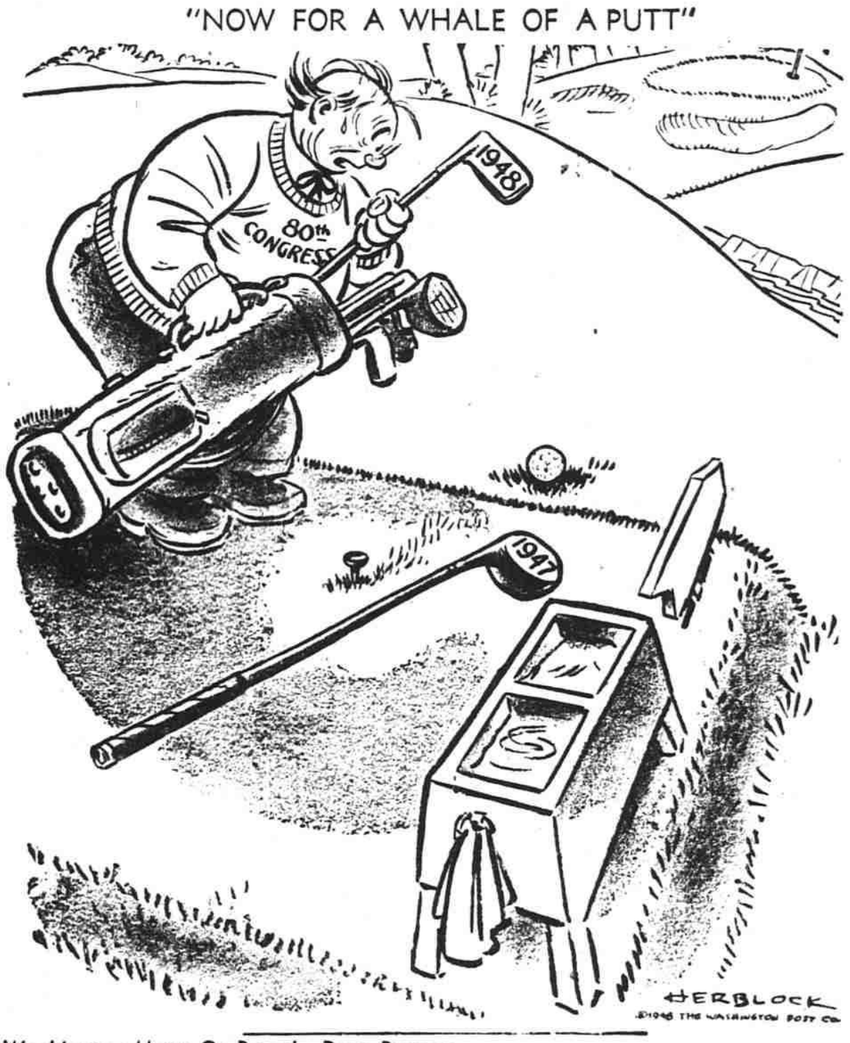

Patriots saved the country. Patriots always will save the country, if it is saved — men of whatever breed or creed who love Old Glory and what she stands for, and are willing to offer up their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor in her behalf.

From reading the Maui News we get the impression that our island citizens play the same games, speak pretty much the same brand of slang, wear the same costumes, and consider themselves as much Americans as anybody on the mainland.

Group pictures of Hawaiians at play or luncheon-clubbing or church-going reveal many racial types, including some long considered immiscible. When Hawaii gains statehood and these types start showing up in Congress, many an oldline American is due for a bit of a wrench when he visits House or Senate. It will take quite a lot of getting used to, to be sure; but our forefathers got used to a lot of diverse types in the early days of the last century, and maybe this generation and the next can achieve the same degree of accommodation and gorge-swallowing.

We're not saying it will be easy. We're only saying it looks like it'll have to be done.

Going To The Dogs

NEW YORK, (AP)—Once upon a time a country dog named Prince hiked into the city to visit his cousin, whom he found anchored by a leash to a fat lady sitting in a park.

"Oh, hello there, Prince," barked the city dog with all the enthusiasm anybody has in greeting a relative who needs a haircut.

"Howdy," said Prince, and then asked, "What's that around you?"

"That's my new mink coat," said the city dog proudly. "Only ten dogs in all New York have one. Mine's to keep me warm."

"Well, if you ask me," said Prince with rural bluntness, "it looks like you'd been swallowed by a cat."

The city dog didn't like that and observed:

"You look terribly shaggy, old boy. What are those things sticking all over you?"

"Cockleburrs," said Prince. "I got them in the south pasture rounding up the cattle for the boss."

"Dear me, you mean you work for a living?" cried the city dog, truly horrified.

Just then the fat lady picked a morsel out of a box in her lap, held it out and said:

"Here, chubbykins—beg!"

The city dog ambled over, stood on his hind legs, held up his front paws—and the morsel plumped into his mouth. He sidled back shame-facedly to his cousin.

"She called you Chubbykins," said Prince. "Back home we always knew you as Stubby."

"Sh-h-h," said the city dog. "Don't bring up my past."

The sight of his cousin's jaws working reminded the country dog he was hungry, too.

"Break away from that female mountain," he said, "and let's go catch a rabbit."

"What in the world would we do with a rabbit?

"Eat it," said Prince.

"Raw?" asked Chubbykins uneasily.

"Are you kidding? Say, what's this soft life done to you, anyway, kid? You lost your muscle; why our family's been bringing the bacon home for the human race for 10,000 years. Out where I live I'm still a partner to my boss. Here you're nothing but a clown. You'd better come on back home with me."

"And sleep on an old blanket full of fleas?" sneered Chubbykins.

Moral: Everybody has a born right to own a mink coat but a mink.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

UMT Publicity Move Called Unfair

WASHINGTON.—Bluff, genial Secretary of the Army Royall has a unique way of combining charm with an ability to put cabinet colleagues on the hot spot.

His retention of Ed Pauley as special assistant to the Army has caused Harry Truman more trouble than any other recent political bombshell. Perhaps more fundamental, though little noticed, has been the hole into which Royall placed his friend, the attorney general.

He has given Attorney General Tom Clark the alternative of either prosecuting Royall or violating his own oath of office by failure to prosecute.

The law in question is section 201, title 18 of the U. S. code which declares it to be a criminal offense to use Federal funds to influence legislation before Congress. The law is clear and categoric. It provides no exceptions or alibis.

Yet Royall has brazenly flouted the law in using more than $50,000 of Federal funds to propagandize for military conscription. On top of this, when called before Congress he not only admitted he had violated the law, but said he had "no apologies to make."

First congressional report on Royall's activities was made July 23 by the House expenditures subcommittee, Rep. Forrest Harness of Indiana, chairman.

ARMY LOBBIED

This showed that the army had spent $36,293 to produce a military-training propaganda film, plus $14,244 of the taxpayers' money to distribute the film. Also, the war department had paid two civilians—Alan Coutts of New York City and Mrs. Arthur Woods, a former lieutenant colonel with a fine record in the WAC—$25 a day, plus expenses, to tour the country, drumming up public support for peacetime conscription.

The report also quoted former assistant Secretary of War Howard C. Petersen as admitting that Mrs. Woods and Mr. Coutts were employed "to sell the (UMT) program to the public with the hope that the public would sell it to the Congress."

"Mrs. Woods admitted that she laid particular emphasis upon spiritual values of universal military training in her discussions with girl Scout groups," the Harness report stated, adding that she had endeavored to interest the national board of the Girl Scouts of America in showing "A Plan For Peace" at their meetings.

Harness also quoted the following paragraph from an army-prepared "outline for veterans' radio panels": "The opposition to universal military training is generally not based on fact, but rather on such generalities as democracy, morals, aggression, education, and pacifism. The chief opponents are parents, church groups, educators, subversive groups, and a large section of the public which does not think."

In other words, the army was trying to tell veterans what they should say in radio broadcasts supposed to be voluntary efforts of the veterans themselves.

The Harness report further charged that numerous people "of all walks of life" had been flown in military planes at the taxpayers' expense to the army's UMT experimental camp at Fort Knox, Ky., where they were "conducted on tours of the unit by selected guides, who were able to sell the virtues of the plan under consideration."

WILL CLARK PROSECUTE?

This congressional report was approved by the entire committee—both Democrats and Republicans—even including Jim Wadsworth of New York, father-in-law of Stuart Symington, at that time assistant secretary of war for air. It was then sent to the Justice department.

There it has been gathering dust ever since. Inquiries at the Justice department last week brought the reply from alleged Information Officer Leo Cadison that "the FBI is still investigating." That, however, is not true. From other sources, it was ascertained that the FBI finished its report long ago and that it is highly unfavorable to Secretary Royall. It found him guilty of violating the law.

On top of all this, Royall was called before the House Expenditures subcommittee just a few days ago. This was when he brazenly refused to promise that he would not violate the law in the future.

Strong Methods Used Against Reds

That was a shocking picture which British Foreign Secretary Bevin drew in the House of Commons Thursday when he charged that Russia is bent on a ruthless drive to dominate the whole European continent and that one-power domination "will inevitably lead to another world war."

It's dangerous for us not to know the truth about this "cold war," that certainly is one thing which impelled Mr. Bevin to speak so bluntly.

However, it would be hard to believe that it was by pure coincidence that Bevin's fiery address came only a few hours after Washington published details of the pre-war dealings between Stalin and Hitler. These have to do with the Russo-German partnership which, among other things, projected the division of eastern Europe between the two countries.

We are entitled to assume that Washington's release and Secretary Bevin's speech represent concerted action by the two major western powers. One object is to inform the world concerning the true state of affairs. The other would seem to be to impress Moscow that the western allies mean business. Writing of these methods from Washington, John Hightower, AP diplomatic reporter, says:

"There are some here in high places who feel that such tactics can do no good and may do considerable harm. But most officials seem convinced that the time has come for unvarnished language. They reason that if there is any merit in the theory that only American power can block Russian domination of Europe, then that power should be openly applied in understandable words as well as action."

Bevin also announced plans for a union of the nations of western Europe to face the Russian drive for control of the whole continent.

So it would seem that the mills of the western democracies are beginning to grind full speed.

Chances Slim For Work Week Hike

WASHINGTON, (AP)— There's been talk of making the American work week longer: from the present 40 hours to 44 or 45.

That's not likely to happen. There's a Federal law now, called the Fair Labor Standards act. It's the 40-hour week law.

Under this act workers in most businesses must get paid overtime at the rate of time-and-a-half for every hour worked over 40 hours a week.

Employers and unions can agree, any time they wish, to work 45 or 50 hours a week—provided the boss pays that overtime rate. If Congress tried to wipe out the 40-hour week and say men must work 44 or 45 hours before getting overtime, labor might react strongly.

Last spring Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to presidents, suggested this country go on a 44 hour week.

And Charles E. Wilson, head of General Motors, the giant automaking corporation, has suggested the same thing.

But why a 44-hour week?

The reason given is that, through longer hours worked, more goods might get produced. And, with more goods for sale, prices might come down.

And yesterday William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said:

If Congress would pass laws to control inflation and keep living costs down, then labor might do this:

Agre not to ask for higher wages but, instead, agree to work 45 hours a week. But he didn't mean 45 hours at straight time pay.

In the steel industry the workers belong to the CIO and not to the AFL. CIO people say:

The steel industry is working at almost full capacity. At least, it's working 24 hours a day. The workers there work eight-hour shifts, 40 hours a week.

So how would the steel industry be able to turn out any more steel by letting the men work nine hours a day?

Or take the automobile industry. In this industry, too, the CIO, not the AFL, has the big unions. CIO men say:

The manufacture of autos is slowed down by a lack of steel for auto bodies, not by a lack of manpower or man-hours worked.

Would putting them on nine hours a day turn out more cars if the steel for making them is still lacking? Or would that just add to the cost of a new car and so help boost prices?

Penny-Wise Ben Ficklen Is Foiled

Ben Ficklin eyed the drove of mules speculatively. No doubt about it, those critters needed shoeing badly. And it should be done before they were distributed among the stations for mail service.

This was in 1867 and just the year previously the United States postoffice department had awarded B. J. Ficklin, his borther, Slaughter Ficklin, and Frederick P. Sawyer a new mail contract for the Overland Daily Mail. There were to be three mails per week in the Southwest Texas run, with Fort Stockton as the meeting place between the East and West bound stages between San Antonio and El Paso.

This was the first of their several lines throughout West Texas. Later, Ficklin built the Concho Mail Station about three miles from the newly established Fort Concho to serve as his headquarters. All horses, mules and supplies were kept here and it was here that houses were built for the employes. The stage lines from Fort Worth and San Antonio then united here at Concho and ran west to El Paso.

Now Ben Ficklin was economical to parsimony and never allowed even a piece of broken leather to be wasted. And so on this day as his eyes appraised his horses need for shoes, his mind was nimbly calculating the cost. And the total seemed staggering to him.

And then his face brightened. He was near the government post of Fort Concho. Now, if he could just get the post farrier or blacksmith to do the work.

Ficklin, usually called Major Ben Ficklin by his associates, contacted the garrison's commander and made his request. The Commander gave his permission, providing the smithy had the time and wished to do the work. It took the farrier four days to shoe all the horses.

Ficklin was elated with the job and his own business sagacity.

"Here, let me make you a little gift after all that work!" he expansively told the farrier as he handed him a dollar.

"Gift, is it!" retorted the smithy, "you can't 'gift' me. That wrok is to be paid for!"

"But no soldier gets extra pay for doing the work he is ordered to do," Ficklin argued.

But in vain. The commander reminded Ficklin that he had said the smithy could do the work if he wished to. And Major Ben felt actually sick as he slowly counted out the required twenty-five silver dollars for the other man's outstretched palm.

Gay College Life Of '20s Recalled In Color Musical

The gone-but-not-forgotten days of the '20s when students wore raccoon coats instead of worried expressions and carried ukuleles instead of the burdens of a family are recalled in the new Ritz theatre Technicolor attraction beginning today, "Good News."

This new and fast-paced film version of one of Broadway's biggest musical-comedy hits offers a field day of singing, dancing and romantic excitement for a host of Hollywood and Broadway headliners, among them June Allyson, Peter Lawford, Patricia Marshall, Joan McCracken, Ray McDonald and Mel Torme.

Set on a typical pre-war, colorful college campus, with its action backgrounded by football excitement, gay proms, and the feminine intimacies of sorority houses, the tongue-in-cheek plot revolves about the battle of two co-eds, June Allyson and Patricia Marshall, for the love of the campus hero and Adonis, Peter Lawford, with a number of subsidiary predicaments involving the other principals. It all provides an amusing and diverting framework for the picture's delightful flock of songs and some of the most original and arresting dance routines yet seen in a film musical.

The appealing and talented June Allyson is given every opportunity for a bright show of her virtuosity as the modest little campus librarian who finally wins her man by helping him pass his exams, and she is given some of the score's most attractive numbers, including the amusing "French Lesson," with Lawford, the plaintive "Just Imagine," and the rousing "Varsity Drag," the picture's big production number.

Peter Lawford, who first demonstrated his song-and-dance prowess in "It Happened in Brooklyn," is given even meatier material in his current assignment as the college Ladies' Man, and scores in a number of duets with Miss Allyson, in the appropriate number, "Ladies' Man," and in "The Best Things in Life Are Free," also sung by Mel Torme. That inimitable Broadway dancing comedienne, Joan McCracken, sings the rousing "Tait College," and almost stops the show with the comic ballad, "Pass That Peace Pipe."

SOME AUDIENCE — Peter Lawson and June Allyson (above) have quite an audience listening in on their conversation in this scene from the curret technicolor musical at the Ritz theatre, "Good News."

TOGETHER AGAIN — Bing Crosby adn Barry Fitzgerald (above) are coming your way again in "Welcome Stranger," starting today at the State theatre.

Evans Calls For Moral Homelife

Joe Evans of El Paso, author and national president of the Gideon Association, in an address before the American Business club Friday at noon, urged that "we need to get back to a moral Christian homelife. We must set a fine example for our youngsters to follow."

Evans, retired from active ranching for a number of years, receives no compensation for his work with the Gideons. Having worked as a "cow-puncher" in his youth, Evans' chief delight is the work the Association has accomplished among the cowboys in West Texas, especially the Cowboy Camp meetings in progress in the Davis mountains region since 1890.

Evans sketched briefly the life of a cowboy in the early days when West Texas was a frontier, and told such antidotes as are included in his two humorous books of the West, "Cowboy's Hitching Post" and "The Cow."

Naming Evans as simply "a Christian business man," G. G. Morehead introduced the guest speaker.

In the business portion of the meeting, Lee Harris, president, announced a raise in the secretarial salary. Ted Phillips, J. D. Jones and Walker Bailey were named to a committee on arrangements for a film of the Cotton Bowl game to be shown here under direction of Rep. Peppy Blount. Roy Reeder discussed the Odessa American Business club charter night banquet, Jan. 19.

Other guests at the Friday meeting were L. A. Thompson, state Gideon field worker, and Bob Sanders, Amarillo, state president.

Returns From Meet

Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, returned Thursday evening from Beaumont where he was the principal speaker at an inter-racial Bible conference. He delivered a series of sermons on the program planned by the whites for Negro preachers and laymen, and was held over an extra day to speak on preparation and delivery of sermons. Approximately 800 were registered for the affair, an annual event.

WEEKLY OIL

Crude Hike Draws A 'No Comment'

HOUSTON, Jan. 24. (AP)—Crude oil purchasers held a strict "no comment" reaction this weekend to Overton refining company's announcement of a 10-cent per barrel "bonus" increase in its East Texas purchases, effective Feb. 1.

J. D. Wrather, Jr., Dallas, Overton president, termed the hike as a "bonus" and said his company will be paying $2.75 per barrel when the increase becomes effective.

It was not clear at first whether the price change also was to be considered an increase in posted price, but a check with Wrather's office brought the comment that "the posted price still is $2.65 and the 10 cent increase is a bonus."

Many oilmen have predicted 1948 will see several hikes in posted prices in view of close competition for crude oil and increasing production costs.

With reference to the latter, the January issue of the Petroleum Engineer says a total of 10,866 exploratory wells drilled last year cost an average of $89,050 as compared with a pre-war average of $37,700.

* * *

The Texas railroad commission has issued a February oil proration order designed to produce 2,397,888 barrels of crude oil per day, approximately 30,000 barrels over the January figure.

February's net allowable was placed at 2,612,502 daily, as compared with 2,593,912 as of Jan. 17. Next month's estimated underproduction was placed at 8.25 percent of or 215,614 barrels.

The commission, finding no objections from either producers or purchasers, left the East Texas field on a 20-day producing schedule for the 29-day month. It was estimated the field's production will exceed January by 19,000 barrels daily.

A hands-off attitude was maintained by the commission on reports of a serious Texas shortage of butane gas. The group rejected a suggestion that butane gas distributors should be forced to build storage space to meet customers' needs at all times.

"The commission is under no illusion it can go into the field of regulating the distribution of butane gas," commissioner William J. Murray said at the monthly statewide proration hearing.

Murray suggested a conference, bringing together propane producers, distributors and representatives of the consuming public, might be advisable. No action was taken.

The butane problem came to the front two weeks ago when Commissioner Olin Culberson charged many installations in Texas were without fuel and that the commission has no authority over what he called "an apparent monopoly in butane-propane supply."

State Senator Fred Harris, Dallas, has called for a Senate investigation to determine whether new legislation should be enacted to bring by-product fuels of the natural gas industry under the commission's control.

* * *

Secretary of Interior Krug Thursday told the House Foreign Affairs committe in Washington "it looks quite likely we'll have to ration fuel oil next winter."

Krug, testifying in favor of European recovery program, said the oil industry is hopeful that its efforts for greater production will be successful before next winter but that ". . .I'm not at all sure."

"Rather than let people suffer from cold, we certainly may have to restore rationing," he continued.

He estimated the United States today is using more petroleum "by at least 10 percent than the maximum wartime use."

'Welcome Stranger' Finds Fitzgerald, Crosby Teamed

The twosome that captured the public's fancy in the very successful "Going My Way" are booked for a repeat performance together in Paramount's "Welcome Stranger" starting today at the State theatre.

Beautiful Joan Caulfield co-starring with Bing and Barry, lends romance to the light-hearted, tenderly human comedy. "Welcome Stranger." Elliott Nugent's direction has the film flowing from one enchanting sequence to the next.

"Welcome Stranger" tells a story as earthy as the smell of new mown hay. It is a tale of a typically American town and typical Americans. Into this particular community, a young, carefree doctor, snappily dressed and with a ready song on his lips, comes to fill in for the old doc while the latter takes a long-delayed vacation. The two physicians are, of course, Bing and Barry, and the latter takes an intense and immediate dislike toward his unorthodox substitute.

Barry's hostile attitude toward Bing is shared by the villagers, but not for long. As skillful with tonics as he is with tunes—Bing sings four new Burke-Van Heusen hits—Crosby soon has many friends and patients, and has won Miss Caulfield's heart. Bing is not one to tarry too long in one spot, but Barry must be helped in his fight to head the new hospital, and the lovely Miss Caulfield is not the kind of girl one leaves behind.

An excellent supporting cast, headed by Wanda Hendrix, Frank Faylen and Percy Kilbride, adds much to making "Welcome Stranger" the season's most welcome screen entertainment.

Nicaragua is about the same size as Michigan.

Teachers Say Cost Of Living Has Absorbed Boost In Pay

AUSTIN, Jan. 24. (AP) — Texas school teachers and public school administrators will be on hand in force before the next session of the legislature with multiple pleas for increased financial support for salaries and other educational services.

Resolutions passed at the recent mid-winter conference of school executives and teacher trainers here forecast for the 51st legislature, meeting in January one year hence, virtually the same issues on education that faced the 50th.

Members of the 50th legislature who voted the state's first minimum pay law for teachers and increased the per capita allocation to a record-breaking $55, plus $36,000,000 for equalization aid, realized they had NOT said the last word on the subject.

The highly-organized teachers attained only their immediate objectives before that session, temporarily abandoning their demand for additional taxes to insure continued increased financial support.

A resolution passed by the educators' conference pointedly said: "x x x since the rising cost of living has already consumed the teacher pay increase made possible by the increased per capita voted by the 50th legislature x x x and since improved rural roads are absolutely necessary if buses are kept in operation the year around, and since the natural resources of Texas are being depleted year by year with resulting profit to those who take them from the soil and sell them, be it resolved x x x that we call upon the 51st legislature to levy severance taxes on the depletable natural resources x x x with the proceeds of these taxes to be used to provide additional and badly needed support for the public schools of Texas and to set up a rural road-building program that will put hard-surfaced roads within the reach of rural Texans within our times.

The question of increased public school support and the closely-allied problem of how to pay for it was the most important issue before the last legislature. Administration forces, figuring on continued business prosperity during the current two-year fiscal period, successfully wore down efforts to increase taxes. It took a beating when the legislature followed the per capita plan of increased support rather than the increased equalization formula suggested by Gov. Beauford H. Jester and Sen. Jim Taylor.

The legislature went along with the administration, however, on the plan to name an interim committee to study the whole educational set-up and suggest a long-range method of financing. This committee is now at work. It is known as the Gilmer-Aikin committee.

Thusfar, all indications are that increased revenues from existing taxes will more than pay the bill for the per capita increase. There is also enough money in the general fund to pay for the increased equalization appropriation, but the appropriation itself will NOT be enough to enable the rural aid schools to meet the minimum salary law.

The resolutions passed by the school men declared flatly that what the teachers now are aiming for is compensation "comparable to remuneration for services rendered by those in the fields of medicine, law, dentistry, engineering, and other like professions." That would be an average figure considerable in excess of the $2,000 minimum voted by the 50th legislature.

A few days after the school administrators passed these and other resolutions stating their objectives, the powerful Texas state teachers association announced appointment of a strong legislative committee to go to bat before the 51st legislature.

Named as chairman was energetic Joe Humphrey, former member of the legislature and high school principal of Abilene. He carried the ball for the teachers while he was a member of the House, and he was one of the leading factors in the campaign that gave the teachers a major victory before the 50th legislature.

'Big Spring' Improvement Being Planned

A program for improving the site of the original "big spring" just off Highway 87 south of the city, has been advanced with completion of preliminary plans to erect a footbridge providing access to the spring.

The city commission Thursday agreed to stand one-third the cost of erection of such a bridge—up to $150—and previously the county commissioners court and directors of the chamber of commerce had voted to share similarly. It is estimated the bridge can be built for $450.

Signs have been erected pointing to the historic spring, and when the footbridge is installed, the public will have a path leading directly to the site. Other improvements, to develop the place as a park and picnic site, will be carried on, the C. of C. has announced. Opening of the area has been accomplished through cooperation of the Texas & Pacific Railway company, owner of the land.
