

Hired Hand Here's How To Fight Communism

By Glenn Shelton

A number of readers have asked that I reprint a column I once did entitled "Here's How to Fight Communism." Since the article was written, much extreme right-wing thought has developed. Therefore, it may be appropriate that I re-state my ideas of how best to combat the communist menace to our country.

I received a letter the other day from young Michael Thurman, representing the freshman class of the Academy of Mary Immaculate. "We, the students of Mary Immaculate, members of the Catholic Youth Organization, would like your support in our fight against communism in our own town of Wichita Falls," he wrote.

This is my answer to his letter: Dear Mike: My earnest congratulations to you and your fellow Catholics for recognizing that communism is a menace, and for wanting to do something about it. However, let me tell you that Communists and communism are not a dragon we can confront and defeat with the stroke of a sword. Communism is intangible, a siren call that appeals to those who covet the fruits of labor, but who would rather that someone else should do the labor. The Communists themselves, like all who espouse an unworthy cause, operate anonymously incognito, so you won't know them when you see them. This makes fighting difficult for him who stands proudly and four-square for his views, and who is accustomed to laying his cards on the table for all to see. Communists cannot sell communism in the open market. They are phantoms of lies and deceit.

I don't know how you plan to fight communism, Mike. But, obviously, you can't fight an enemy you cannot find. If you try to, you are apt to injure a friend simply because he happens to have some of the trappings that, to you, seem communistic. Remember that the Communists will always pretend to be your friend, and sometimes it's hard to know the difference.

That being the case, let me tell you how, in my opinion, you can contribute handsomely to our country's fight against our common enemy: First, you can go to church regularly, become a good Christian. A "good Christian" is the antithesis of communism with the ideals that are the very foundation of American democracy and the American way of life. You can't be a "good Christian" and a Communist at the same time.

Then, be a good American. Study hard in school, acquaint yourself with the institutions that made America the great Shangri-la it is. Learn the Constitution, the Bill of Rights. Study history that you may know of the sacrifices others made that you might enjoy these priceless privileges. Make of yourself a well-informed and a grateful citizen. Be proud that you are American.

If you do these things, communism will never appeal to you, and Communists will never crawl from under the rocks to menace your American way of life. But don't fight windmills. A Communist is not easily distinguished from a friend. It takes an expert to judge, and we have those experts in the FBI. Leave the fighting to them while you concentrate on becoming a good, Christian American. That's the way for you to fight.

Wallander Wins Mayor Race

Area Cities Pick Mayors, Councils

A water fluoridation plan was approved at Iowa Park, the mayor of Electra was defeated in a bid for re-election, the slate of incumbents was swept back into office in Graham, and the mayor of Vernon was re-elected in Tuesday's municipal elections throughout the North Texas area.

Most cities in Texas chose mayors for two-year terms, and two or three aldermen for the same term. In many cases, interest was generated by local issues or personalities, while in other cities, there were only un-

Wallace Happy With Vote Total

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, his challenge of administration civil rights policies buoyed by thousands of Republicans in Wisconsin's open presidential primary, hailed the prospect of 200,000 votes Tuesday night as "victory enough."

Wisconsin's Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, the favorite son who with President Johnson's blessing headed a slate pledged to the President, said that Wallace's mounting totals showed that Republicans staged a "tremendous crossover—that is an old Wisconsin custom."

Voters are not required to state party affiliation and may vote in either primary.

"Gov. Wallace is demonstrating that we have a lot of people in Wisconsin who are prejudiced," Reynolds said. "But that's not new."

As the counting of the state's 3,552 precincts passed the one-half mark, he was sweeping up a steady 20 per cent of the total vote.

With 2,049 of 3,552 precincts reporting, the vote was:

Reynolds 234,013
Wallace 112,243
Byrnes 156,039

Warming Trend Due Wednesday

An afternoon warming trend is expected to develop Wednesday to offset the cold front which moved through the city early Tuesday morning.

The general forecast calls for partly cloudy skies, turning fair and warmer in the afternoon. The high forecast for Wednesday is in the mid 60s. Tuesday's high reading was 60 degrees.

Iowa Park —

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special)—Voters here approved fluoridation of the city water system by 302-63 votes, and elected C. L. Metz mayor Tuesday.

A write-in candidate, R. E. Van Horn, drew 118 votes against Metz's 277. Four aldermen, running unopposed, were Taylor George, Sam Hunter, Clark Holloway and Miss Doria Smith—all re-elected.

A total of 417 votes were cast in the municipal election.

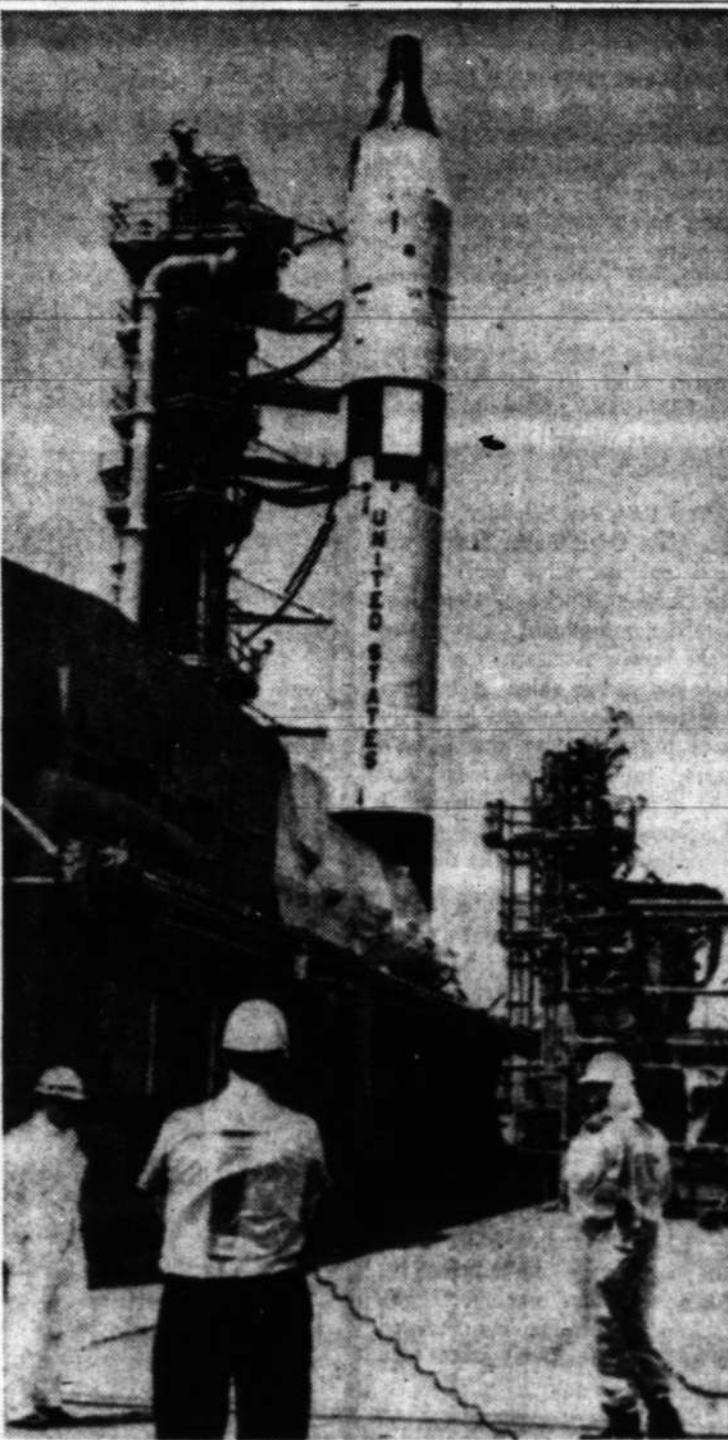

Electra —

ELECTRA, Tex. (Special) — A record vote in the Electra city election for mayor and two commission seats took a surprising course Tuesday with two incumbents defeated and an unopposed candidate gaining 708 of the 715 votes cast.

R. V. (Bob) Webb recorded 419 votes in the race for mayor to 295 for incumbent Grover C. Harrison. Webb is a former Electra commissioner.

For city commissioner, place three, A. W. Seale, incumbent, was defeated by Alton Hogle, 399 votes to 315.

Examiner Nixes Regional Air Terminal Plan

By ROBERT HILBURN
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Hopes the Dallas - Fort Worth area might have had of dominating international air traffic in the Southwest appear to have gone down the drain.

They may be revived but to do so will require the reversal by the Civil Aeronautics Board of a long-awaited examiner's decision, which was returned Tuesday.

The finding, by examiner Ross I. Newmann, rejected the concept of designating a regional airport to serve the twin-city North Central Texas metropolitan area.

Dallas Victory

The recommendation was a victory, at least temporarily, for Dallas, which had sought to maintain the status quo of its Love Field, which presently monopolizes air transportation for the two cities. Conversely, it was a bitter blow for Fort Worth, which had entertained urgent hopes that its Greater Southwest International Airport would be designated a regional facility.

Newmann, in what amounted to a "pox on both your houses" decision, said a regional facility to serve the two would be out of the question until both cities were willing to co-operate.

Fort Worth, he said, is not large enough to finance a regional terminal and it would be too costly for the airlines, which have concentrated their facilities at Dallas, to move to Greater Southwest.

Lack Of Space

Additionally, he noted, Love Field will be adequate for jet age traffic only through about 1970 and lacks space in which to expand.

The answer, Newmann suggested, might be an airport authority to be set up by the two cities to handle the problem.

Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, a Democrat, drummed up some of the strongest language heard hereabouts in many a day to express feelings of unmitigated outrage.

'Slate' Loses In Two Races

By JACK COATS

In unofficial returns from balloting in Tuesday's municipal election 10,521 Wichitans named Winston Wallander mayor and Kenneth Hill, Leroy Daniel, Pete Claytor and Cletus Schenk councilmen in tight races in which returns from any large box could have turned the tide for any candidate.

In the race for mayor, Wallander, who had resigned his position on the city council to run for the city's top elective position, edged out former councilman and mayor K. C. Spell, 5,548 to 4,973 votes.

Politically unknown, Hill, an insurance man with 5,253 votes, defeated oil company executive Harry Campsey, who received 4,831 votes, in the race for Place 1 on the council.

Daniel was unopposed in his bid for Place 4 on the council.

Defeated by Claytor in the race for Place 5 was Mrs. Joyce McDowell, who received 4,319 votes. Claytor polled 5,992 votes. Schenk, with 2,934 votes in his

New Yorkers Say Farewell To MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP)—The people of New York City said farewell Tuesday to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur amid a scene of martial splendor and the echoes of America's wars.

By the thousands, they filed slowly past his bier in the 7th Regiment Armory on Park Avenue.

New York was MacArthur's last home. He had lived here since 1951 when he came home from the Far East, a hero, and at the same time the central figure in a raging controversy over the Korean War.

The city's residents, the dignitaries and the humble, paid his memory an impressive tribute Tuesday.

Officially, it began when Lt. Gen. Garrison H. Davidson, commander of the U.S. 1st Army, placed a wreath from President Johnson at the foot of the casket. That was at 9:30 a.m.

But for many persons, the day started almost two hours earlier. Before 8 o'clock, they began lining up behind police barriers a block away from the armory. Soon, several hundred were massed there — although the general's body was to be on view here for 12 hours or more.

MacArthur's widow, Jean Marie MacArthur, and his son, Arthur, 26, arrived at 9:15 a.m. The honor guard of five, representing each of the armed services, stood at attention around the casket.

The funeral is scheduled Saturday in Norfolk, Va.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, United Nations Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Senator Jacob K. Javits, New York's Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former Postmaster General James A. Farley, former Secretary of the Army Kenneth W. Royall, Jack Howard and William Randolph Hearst Jr., newspaper executives and editors, were among the first arrivals.

candidate for Place 6, edged out Edwin Baggett, automobile dealership manager and residential development company officer, who received 2,701 votes; A. J. Otte, petroleum engineer and sales representative for oilfield supplies with 2,544 votes; and James A. Williams, landscape contractor, who received 2,158 votes.

Williams was the second Negro in the history of Wichita Falls to be a serious candidate for the council.

'Proud And Humble'

Two members of a five-man businessmen's "team" were defeated in the election—Campsey and Otte.

Disaster Aid Fund Growing

Wichitans' and out-of-towners' contributions to the Red Cross disaster fund to aid families stricken by Friday's tornado had passed the $1,300 mark Tuesday evening, according to Tom Wagner, director of American Red Cross disaster operations here.

Wagner said contributions had arrived at disaster headquarters, Seventh and Scott, from persons in Canyon, Brownwood, Olney, Denton, Seymour and other Texas towns, and a large stack of contributions from out-of-towners remained to be checked.

The Wichita County Red Cross Chapter issued an appeal for funds to aid some 585 families who suffered loss in the storm.

Chairman Hal Dyer said contributions would be used to supplement local and national Red Cross funds. Money spent is proportionate to the damage.

Young Vickie Lord of Denton, concerned about the plight of the tornado victims, mailed her contribution to Wichita Falls, hoping it would help to "rebuild some home or get someone some food."

The Salvation Army also is in need of funds to help pay for its considerable disaster relief work. Contributions may be made directly to either or both of these organizations.

Wagner estimated Monday

viding food, clothing, shelter and medical care for the tornado victims.

The town is still mushrooming. According to Buddy Byars, Chamber of Commerce manager, Burk Burnett's population has almost doubled and property valuations have quadrupled during the last ten years.

The city's population was 7,821, according to the census of 1960, and is now believed to be almost 10,000. School enrollment has tripled during the last 10 years but rapid expansion of the school system has kept pace with the growth in enrollment. There are six elementary schools, a junior high and high school. Construction on additions to the high school is still under way.

The visitors Wednesday will tour the modern facilities of the First National Bank, which has total deposits of more than $6 million. Another bank for the city has been chartered, and the Savings and Loan Assn. of Burk Burnett has total deposits of almost $2 million.

He added that disaster headquarters would remain open until all the victims had been given the opportunity to apply for help.

Plane Misses Runway; Casualties 'Minimum'

NEW YORK (AP) — A Pan American World Airways plane coming in from Puerto Rico overshot a runway at Kennedy airport Tuesday night and landed in a ditch. Police said there were some casualties but they were expected to be "at a minimum."

The plane carried 149 persons. Fire officials said all were removed from the plane quickly and foam was spread over the area to prevent fire. The passengers were being taken by bus to other airport areas.

A Pan American spokesman said he had received a report that there were no fatalities. He said he got the report from radio conversations between emergency vehicles at the scene and the control tower.

The plane, carrying 140 passengers and a crew of 9 was inbound from San Juan, Puerto Rico, and landed in a light fog. The control tower said the plane apparently had gone off the end of a runway and come to a halt in the ditch.

The plane was diverted to Dulles Airport, Washington, D.C. before continuing to Kennedy.

A call for police reinforcements was signaled from the airport. About 90 patrolmen were ordered to the field from various parts of the city.

Two alarms of fire were sounded automatically for the mishap, and fire apparatus went to the scene. But fire headquarters said there was no immediate report of any fire.

College System Changes Eyed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Reorganization of Texas' system of public higher education, with tight restrictions on enrollment in senior colleges and universities, was proposed Tuesday to the Governor's Higher Education Study Committee.

The proposal was one of several by a subcommittee headed by Gifford Johnson, Dallas, president of Ling-Temco-Vought.

RIGHTS DEMONSTRATOR

White Minister Crushed To Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A white Presbyterian minister was crushed to death under the treads of a tractor Tuesday during a demonstration protesting construction of a new school opposed by integrationist groups. The Rev. Bruce W. Klunder, 26, a white man with what his friends described as strong feelings for Negro civil rights, had flung himself face down in the dirt. The tread of a front-end loader tractor crushed his chest and neck.

"He was dead when we picked him up," said Leo Sutton, a demonstrator who helped lift the body from the dirt.

His death stunned a crowd of about 500, mostly Negroes, who had gathered at the site of a new public elementary school at Lakeview Road on the city's East Side. They were there to protest construction of the school in the Negro neighborhood on grounds it would perpetuate segregation instead of furthering classroom integration.

During the demonstration, more than 50 persons were hauled off by police, and demonstrators threw bricks, bottles and stones.

The Rev. Mr. Klunder, a Yale graduate from Baker, Ore., was assistant executive secretary of the Student Christian Union, an interdenominational organization serving college campuses. He joined the union in September 1961 a few months before he was ordained into the Presbyterian ministry. He lived with his wife and two children in Cleveland Heights, a suburb near the place where he died.

John White, 33, Mentor, Ohio, driver of the tractor and a white man, told police he was harassed by demonstrators and did not see Klunder throw himself in a ditch behind the tractor.

Several witnesses said the tractor had stopped because three men had prostrated themselves on the ground in front of it. Klunder and another man jumped into the ditch behind it. When the big machine began backing, the other man moved to safety, but Klunder was run over.

For more than two hours after the tragedy, the stunned crowd refused to disperse, although sign-carrying pickets stopped marching and the big earth-moving machinery was stopped.

An assistant city law director announced on a police bulletin that the project was being closed because "we can't protect the workmen and bystanders."

Ruth Turner, a leader in the civil rights school demonstrations which began here last fall and flared into violence in January and February, appealed to the demonstrators to go home. She is executive secretary of the Cleveland chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality. That organization, along with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the United Freedom Movement sponsored the picketing.

Eight Steel Firms Indicted On Federal Antitrust Charge

By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEW YORK (AP)—Eight of the nation's giant steel companies were indicted on federal antitrust charges Tuesday — an outgrowth of the dramatic showdown over pricing two years ago this week between President John F. Kennedy and the industry.

The defendants, including the industry's No. 1 firm, U.S. Steel, were accused of conspiring in secret hotel room meetings to fix prices in the $3.6 billion carbon sheet steel business. Two steel executives also were named in the federal grand jury indictment.

The government claimed the price fixing in sheet steel increased the cost to consumers of such items as auto bodies, washing machines, kitchen cabinets, refrigerators, office furniture and other products widely in demand. About one-third of all finished steel mill products are made of sheet steel.

Latest In Series

The antitrust indictment was the latest in a long series of price fixing prosecutions brought by the government against U.S. Steel and other producers.

The grand jury of 16 men and seven women began their investigation last October as a follow-up to an earlier panel's inquiry into the April 10, 1962, attempt by the steel industry to raise prices $6 a ton.

Kennedy led a fight against the 1962 price rise, and three days later the steel companies retreated and withdrew the increase.

A sharp stock market break ensued, and some financial circles blamed this on Kennedy's intervention in the area of steel industry pricing.

Opposed Price Hike
Only two of the major steel producers at that time opposed price markups—Inland and Kaiser Steel Corp. The two firms were not named in Tuesday's indictment, although the grand jury had subpoenaed their records.

The eight defendant firms are liable to fines up to $50,000 each if convicted. The two indicted executives could get similar fines, plus prison sentences of one year each.

Secret Meetings
It was these extra charges, the government claimed, that were rigged by the producers in secret meetings in New York's Biltmore and Sheraton-East hotels from 1955 to 1961.

The government said no minutes were kept of the clandestine gatherings.

As the result of the alleged price fixing, the government charged that purchasers of sheet steel were "deprived of this benefit of free and open competition."

The firms and individuals indicted, with their standing as to size in the industry indicated in parenthesis:

U.S. Steel (1) and its assistant general manager for administration, James P. Barton.

Bethlehem Steel Co. (2) and its former assistant vice president of sales, W. J. Stephens, who now is president of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp.

Republic Steel Corp. (3), Jones and Laughlin (4), National Steel Corp. (5), Armco Steel Corp. (6), Wheeling Steel Corp. (11), and Great Lakes Steel Corp.

Named as co-conspirators, but not defendants, and expected to testify against the others were Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. (7), Pittsburgh Steel Co. (14) and Granite City Steel Co.

Officials of the indicted firms were not immediately available for comment.

Irene Joining In Battle For Spain's Throne

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — Princess Irene, who gave up her right of accession to the Dutch throne for love of Prince Carlos de Bourbon Parma, disclosed Tuesday she is joining in the political campaign he wages as a pretender to the throne of Spain.

The decision complicated further the position of the pretty, 24-year-old princess as a member of the Netherlands royal family and as a consequence she —Canceled a scheduled flight with her parents, Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard, and her sister, Crown Princess Beatrix, for a 10-day state visit to Mexico.

—Made known through her secretary that she and her 33-year-old fiancé will be married outside the Netherlands, through neither the place nor the date were specified.

There was speculation that the couple might marry in Paris, where Carlos' parents have a home.

The blonde girl said she will join her future husband "immediately in his work, with all the ensuing consequences," and wanted to avoid any political difficulties for her mother.

She is a convert to Roman Catholicism, the faith of her fiancé, from the Dutch Reformed faith traditional in the reigning house of the Netherlands for four centuries.

That, and her engagement to a man from Spain, against which the Dutch once fought an 80-year war for religious liberty, created a constitutional stir last winter.

Carlos is a leader of the Carlist movement which is trying to build him up for the Spanish throne. His rights are disputed by Juan Carlos, son of the pretender on the other side of the royal family, who is given far more chance of winning if the monarchy is restored in the land Generalissimo Francisco Franco has ruled for 25 years.

Connally Urges Less Reliance On Federal Aid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Americans are not only inviting federal intervention, but are encouraging it when they fail to make state and local governments effective, Gov. John Connally said Tuesday.

"In my view," Connally told a group of several hundred oil men, "the vitality of local government is the very essence of our progress and freedom."

"We are often tempted to criticize the federal government for being too big, too powerful, too free with our tax dollars," he added. "All of its actions are certainly not above criticism, but we should be willing to accept part of the blame for the trend toward centralization."

It has become too easy to run to Washington for help, he said. "Let us look for ways to solve domestic problems where they occur—in our communities and in our states," he said. "Why not try to do the job there before we look elsewhere for aid and comfort?"

The governor spoke at a luncheon meeting of the annual convention of the National Petroleum Refiners Association. The three-day convention ends Wednesday.

P. N. Gammellgard of Palatine, Ill., was elected president of the association Tuesday. He succeeds L. E. Kincannon of Indianapolis, Ind., and McAllen, Tex.

Vice presidents elected were R. C. Adam, New York, N.Y.; F. O. Kootz, Oil City, Pa.; and Paul N. Howell, San Antonio, Tex.

Elected to the executive committee were S. D. Breitweiser, Tulsa, Okla.; Harry Brown, Tulsa; F. C. Moriarty, Findlay, Ohio; L. W. Robbi, Texas City, Tex.; and H. F. Wagner, St. Paul, Minn.

Cancer Crusade Red Cross Hears Plans Are Told Disaster Director

ARCHER CITY, Tex. (Special) — Charles McDaniel, chairman for the local unit of the American Cancer Society, announces plans for the annual Cancer Crusade.

The crusade will be in Archer City Tuesday, April 21. Mrs. Charlie Lee Martin is city chairman.

Other community chairmen in Archer County include Mrs. Sylvester Wolf, Windthorst; Mrs. Lawrence Schlabs, Scotland; Mrs. Henry Goforth, Lakeside; Mrs. Clarence Mahler, Bowman; Mrs. Les A. Evans, North Star; Mrs. Ed Maag, Huff; Mrs. Rayford Sadberry, Holliday; Mrs. Cecil Holmes, Dundee; Mrs. D. R. Ross, Mankins; Mrs. John Dormier, Megargel; Mrs. David Williams, Blackflat; Mrs. Newton O'Keefe, Geraldine; Mrs. Gordon K. Rucker, Lake Kickapoo; Mrs. Don Coleman, Wilson Switch; and Mrs. Joe Arroyo, West Fork.

Tom Wagner of Martin, disaster director for the American Red Cross, reported to members of the county Red Cross board Tuesday the most important phase of post-tornado work would be rehabilitation.

Stating that most of the damaged homes had been insured, he said, "If there is a difference between the amount of insurance paid and the money needed, people can rest assured that Red Cross will meet that need."

Wagner emphasized: "The Red Cross does not lend disaster aid money, it gives it!"

He said he will request that chapter chairman Hal Dyer and manager George Clevenger appoint a disaster advisory committee. "When cases have been thoroughly investigated by our workers we will call the committee into session to hear the cases and decide whether people should receive assistance, and if they should, what the amount of assistance should be."

"When I leave Wichita Falls, I do not want anyone to say we were miserly with American Red Cross money or that we threw money away heedlessly."

Special tributes were paid to the work of the trio responsible for organizing food for the tornado victims, Millard Underwood, Phil Listen and Leroy Daniel and to members of the National Defense Transportation Association.

Examiner Nixes Regional Air Terminal Plan

ommendation as "weak - kneed, mealy - mouthed and willy-washy" and likened Newmann himself to Pontius Pilate.

Appeal Decision
Newmann, exploded Wright,
"acknowledges that the situation is wrong but seeks to wash his hands of any responsibility for setting it right." Fort Worth, declared Wright, should appeal the decision to the full CAB, whose members, he urged, should have spine enough to stick to their enunciated policy of backing the regional airport idea and its opportunity of saving federal funds through consolidation.

By contrast, Dallas' Republican Congressman, Rep. Bruce Alger, displayed utter calm. He described himself as "pleased."
Fort Worth is sure to appeal to the full board for a review of Newmann's report and its reversal.

Until that battle is finished, the struggle for the lucrative air business of the high - flying Southwest apparently still is anybody's.

Father's Ingenious Idea Gives Son Desired Chance

By POLLY CRAMER

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — Physical fitness is so much in the news today that my son wanted a set of barbells and dumbbells which he could not possibly afford. My husband came up with a wonderful substitute so everybody is happy. One-half gallon plastic bleach bottles were filled with water to make "instant" dumbbells. Then he filled gallon plastic bottles just one-half full to start with and secured them to a five foot piece of plumbing pipe. Each end weighs the same. As our son progresses, we add more water to the bottles and then more bottles. This was quite inexpensive and now even Mother lifts them.—MRS. P.

DEAR POLLY — Expectant mothers can save money and space in the nursery by purchasing a chest of drawers that is the right height and length for changing and dressing baby. A bright pad could be made to fit the chest top. Painting an unfinished chest will give the expectant father a worth-while task so he feels creative, too.

Wrap-around skirts are now quite fashionable and are wonderful for the expectant mother to wear both before she dons maternity clothes and then those first weeks after baby comes when nothing seems to fit. These skirts can be bought or made at home very inexpensively and are easy to iron. They need not be discarded when waistlines are back to normal.

Old washcloths are wonderful for quick touch-ups in the bathroom. I use a wet one and then another dry one for buffing the sink, tank top and tub edges to a high gloss.

My children pin the toes of their socks together before throwing them in the clothes hamper. I do not remove the pins until the socks are washed, dried and ready to put away. This eliminates the tedious job of sorting and I never have a sock without a mate.—J. C.

GIRLS — Do be sure your pins are rustproof before adopting the last idea.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — An unusual and practical gift to give a newborn baby is his very own bank account. The first deposit could represent his weight at birth—eight pounds eight ounces would be $8.08.—MRS. W. J. M.

GIRLS — This reminded me of the gift a friend gives to high school and college graduates—a share or two of some inexpensive growth stock.—POLLY

♠ A 2 ♣ K 3 ♦ 7 6 5 4 ♠ A Q 1 2
What do you do?
A—Pass. Your partner could not bid over one no-trump so you do not expect that there will be any real play for a game.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding two spades your partner bids two no-trump. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

By OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Sometimes an apparently sensational play is merely routine expert practice.

Take a look at the East and North hands only. West opens the queen of spades after North has raised South from one to three no-trump. You, East, would like to return your partner's suit, but you have a mighty good reason not to. You just can't lead a suit when you don't have any of it.

So you must shift and it takes only a little study to see that a diamond or club lead is hopeless.

Care To Check Own Capabilities

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Women today have so many opportunities for leadership in industry and civic affairs, opportunities for which they are well qualified by many talents and abilities. Is one of these opportunities just around the corner waiting for you, a new executive job at the office, the committee? And are you ready chairmanship of an important for it, with qualifications of personality as well as of general capability? Ask yourself these questions, which inquire most of all into what kind of person you are:

1. Do you welcome responsibility and know how to make decisions?
2. Does your manner of giving instructions and advice inspire cooperation instead of resentment?
3. Can you delegate duties serenely and avoid hovering and fussing while they're performed?
4. Can you approve the less than perfect efforts of others when the most important thing is to get the job done — rather than hold up progress while you do everything over?
5. Are you as quick to praise as to criticize?
6. Are you interested in other workers as individuals without being too curious about them personally? Do you keep your personal life to yourself?
7. Do you help the advancement of others as well as your own?
8. Do you express yourself well?
9. Are you confident of your appearance?
10. Do you have a solid understanding of what your organization is doing if it's a big one, and of what the larger goals are rather than merely those of your department?
11. Are you enthusiastic, and can you spark enthusiasm in others?
12. Can you keep your composure under stress?

Would You Hire Yourself? Think of yourself as a prospective employer might see you and gain new insight into your "hire-ability." The booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career," can show you the proper career-building methods to further yourself in the business world.

Simplest Service Is Popular Here

By AMY VANDERBILT

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: As a waitress, from which side do I serve food to a patron and which side do I remove dishes? When we serve clubs and groups, where are the salad, pat of butter and juice placed? The tables are set up in advance and this is all informal. — A.S., Houston, Tex."

The simplest form of service is the popular American method—serve to the left and take away from the left, except for those things (such as water glass, unused silver) which should be put down or removed from the right. Sometimes in the serving of many people by too few waitresses, a filled dish may be placed left for one diner, right for the other, but unless everybody is highly attentive this can make for trouble and I don't recommend it.

The salad plate is to the left of the place setting, the pat of butter is to the left of the diner on the butter plate above the salad plate. Juice is usually placed in front of the diner from the left (but see the information about quick service for many people). Often in restaurants, especially for breakfast, there may not be a choice of fruit and the juice may be in its place.

THIS CHARMING COMMODORE, in the curved intimate style of Louis XV, is part of a new collection of furniture, custom folio two. Made from cherry, the commode is painted in off-white with its carved, decorative motifs highlighted by hand in a soft, blue-green. Plaque-like panels of the lower drawers subtly repeat the commode's scalloped edge; asymmetrical pulls are in the rococo manner of the Louis Quinze period. The tall, graceful mirror is decorated with a charming floral motif carved into the frame; its undulating edge again emphasizes the flowing lines of the commode.

ANN LANDERS SAYS

See A Guidance Counselor: Learn About Your Problem

Dear Ann Landers: My mother never tires of telling me how beautiful and popular she was in her youth. She keeps a large photograph of herself (in a low-cut gown) right on the tv set. Everyone who comes into the house is hit in the face with that picture. She and dad have been married 16 years and this was her engagement picture so you can guess how old it is.

When I told my mother I thought she should remove the picture she accused me of being jealous. Maybe I am, but I still think she is wrong. What do you think? — UGLY DUCKLING

Dear Friend: I think the problem between you and your mother goes much deeper than that picture on the tv set. Even if she removes the picture (which she should have done years ago) the real problem remains.

I hope your school has a guidance counselor with whom you can discuss your real feelings. When you understand why your mother attaches so much importance to a 17-year-old photograph you will not be so resentful.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been saving a few dollars every week from the grocery and household money. This has been going on for over three years.

I kept the money in a sugar bowl on the top shelf of the cupboard. Last week I took the money down to count it. I put the roll of bills on the stove for just a minute, not realizing the coffee pot was on the back burner. I turned my back for two seconds and the bills caught on fire.

I poured a glass of water over the bills and saved part of them. Please tell me what to do now. — WATER AND ASHES

Dear W and A: I can't tell from your letter how badly burned the bills are. If more than half of a bill is intact, any bank will give you full value.

So, Lady, take the money to the nearest bank, which is what you should have done with it in Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Know why newborns yawn more often and more adorably than anybody? It's Mother Nature's way of providing the extra oxygen new lungs need in the early weeks. (It takes a bit of time before a beginner's lungs work at top efficiency.) So when your cherub looks just about his very cutest, remember that yawn means he's getting the benefits of a deep and satisfying breath of air.

Solid facts with nutritional overtones. Specially prepared cereals play an important role in your baby's diet because they supply important nutrients' baby needs. Gerber Baby Cereals, for example, are enriched with a special form of iron to help build good red blood. B-vitamins are also added to increase the nutritive benefits.

Gerber Cereals are famous for their mild, pleasant flavors and smooth, nice-to-the-tongue texture. Five varieties... in 8-oz. packages or Gerber Cereal Sixes, a variety-package containing small-size boxes for small-size appetites.

Feeding footnote. It's easy enough to fall into the belief that the more food you urge on your baby the better off he'll be. Tain't so. As an old friend once put it: "Forcing never made a baby a bigger or better eater... it just takes the enjoyment out of eating. Little ones are surprisingly smart when it comes to knowing their food needs and will eat enough if left alone to satisfy their hunger needs."

Eating enjoyment comes naturally with Gerber Strained Foods. Because they have naturally good flavors and come in a variety of colors. Once on a full food schedule, your baby can enjoy over 50 wholesome, toothsome varieties. Two brand new delectables: Strained Creamed Corn and Strained Chicken Soup... sunny tempters made extra-nourishing by the addition of whole milk solids. Gerber® Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

The books are to be delivered to Mrs. Veatrice Brock, librarian, from April 12-18, which is National Library Week. Clubs and individuals not in the federation are also invited to participate.

Children's books are especially needed to enlarge the section available to pre-school children.

Library committee members were announced and constitutional amendments adopted at the spring meeting of the FCFWC.

Mrs. Robert Kincaid was named chairman of the Foard County Library Committee. Federation officers serving on the library committee will be Meses. Jack W. Brown, president; Clarence Garrett, vice president; Glyndon Johnson, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Johnson will hold the same office for the library group.

Judge Leslie Thomas is a member of the committee which includes representatives from other clubs. They are Meses. L. A. Andrews, Garden Club; Glenn Halsell Jr., Adelphi Club; Virgil Johnson, Foard City Home Demonstration Club and Newell Hoffman, unaffiliated members.

The Margaret Home Demonstration Club was hostess and the Gambleville HD Club directed the program. Meses. Jack Thomas, Johnson and Albert Dunagan won door prizes. Thirty-two attended.

OKLAHOMA DRILLING ACTIVITY PICKS UP

New drilling operations in Oklahoma reached a three-year high in the first quarter this year when 1,292 intentions to drill were filed with the Corporation Commission. This compared with 899 in the 1963 period and 1,082 in the 1962 quarter. Greatest increases were in the older producing counties where shallow production is found.

March was the peak month of the quarter, with a total of 510 locations in 51 counties. Included were 61 wildcats in 30 counties.

In the week just ended there were 124 intentions to drill in 42 counties. This compares with 91 the previous week. Nine wildcats were listed.

Production in Oklahoma last week averaged 554,282 barrels daily, about 500 barrels less than in the previous week, but compares with state allowable of 545,000 barrels daily.

TILLMAN COUNTY — Cities Service Oil No. 1 Hutcherson, in C SE NW of 18-3S-16W, two miles northeast of the North Victory Field, was drilling below 2500 feet at last report on contract for 5800 feet to the Arbuckle formation.

Oil Production Is Mostly Down

TULSA, Okla. — United States oil production was down in most states last week, The Oil and Gas Journal says.

During the week ended April 4, production of crude and lease condensate averaged 7,527,000 barrels per day, down 45,590 barrels per day from the previous week.

Oklahoma produced 551,800 barrels daily, down 7,050; Illinois 174,000, down 6,750; Kansas 294,910, down 5,700; Wyoming 336,800, down 3,400; Utah 81,600, down 1,900; Louisiana 1,505,580, down 950; Mississippi 160,650, down 850; and New Mexico 304,680, down 520.

Texas, at 2,648,400 barrels daily, was up 5,000 from the previous week. California, at 807,100 barrels daily, was about the same as the previous week.

Farm-Ranch Tax Meet Planned

"New rules and regulations concerning the Internal Revenue Department" will be the featured subject presented by Flynn Stewart Thursday night during the monthly meeting of the Wichita Farm and Ranch Club. The organization's president Paul Berend announced that the meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. in the dining room at Underwood's Cafeteria in Southmoor Center.

"Stewart is a local rancher and a Certified Public Accountant," pointed out Berend. He continued, "With his background and experience with problems in the Wichita Falls area, Stewart's talk will be of interest to local residents."

Following the featured talk, Stewart will conduct a question and answer session. Berend urged all members to make a note of any questions that they would like to have answered and bring them to the meeting with them.

Seven Oil Groups Protest Price Cuts

OKLAHOMA CITY — Representatives of seven oil trade organizations met with producers from Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas this week to protest recent crude price reductions and to deplore the distressed condition of the domestic industry.

After a long session, agreement was reached on two resolutions which were referred to special committees for "polishing."

Drilling Activity Equals Last Year

TULSA, Okla. — For the first time this year, exploratory drilling has caught up with last year's level of activity.

The Oil and Gas Journal's latest survey shows that through April 4, U.S. oil and gas companies completed 2,148 wildcats, the same number as last year at this time.

What's more, the success ratio is up slightly. This year, the 344 crude and gas producers resulted in a 16 per cent success ratio, compared with a 15.7 per cent ratio last year at this time.

Total well completions remain well below last year's level because of a decrease in field and service wells. Total number of all completions to date is 10,689, down about 8 per cent from last year, the Journal says.

For the one week ended April 4, U.S. operators reported 775 completions of all types, up 74 from the previous week.

One called for the industry in each of the three states to send a committee to the governor and regulatory agency to explore the feasibility of an investigation in the causes why crude prices have continued to decline for the past several years, and the adverse affect on the states.

Original draft of this resolution called for the group to discuss shutting down of wells to deter further reduction in prices, but when Tom Medders Jr., Wichita Falls, president of the North Texas Oil & Gas Association, balked at committing his association to such a plan the resolution was redrafted. Other Texas delegates also opposed the shutdown idea.

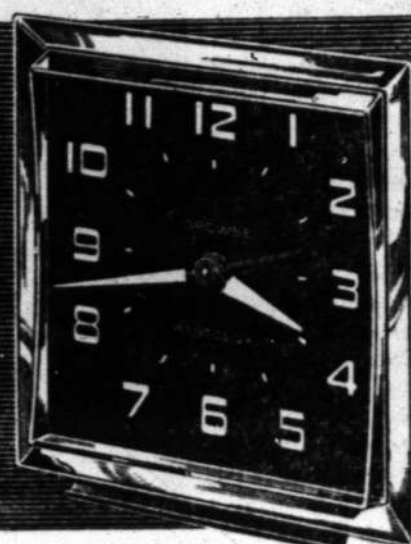

The Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Association likewise was opposed to a shutdown plan, but Kansas producers were strong in their support for a temporary shutdown of from one to two weeks until the price cuts are restored.

Second resolution was many-pronged. It calls upon the secretary of interior for a re-evaluation of the nation's oil policy, especially as to the mandatory imports program and its effect on the domestic industry; it asks the secretary for a survey and analysis by the National Petroleum Council or other agencies of the depressed condition of the domestic industry; it requests the secretary of interior to review its policy as to offshore leasing and development, and to ask the Federal Trade Commission to permit the oil industry to participate in the coming conference on trade practices.

The industry in the three states will be asked to select delegates to the meeting of the IPAA liaison committee, which meets at

New Orleans on May 2. J. A. Mull, president of the Kansas Independent Oil & Gas Association, indicated the committee will be asked also to study pipeline practices in the three states.

Gemini Test Flight Set Today At Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Project Gemini, which promises a string of manned space spectaculars in the next three years, is scheduled for its maiden test flight Wednesday—an attempt to orbit an unmanned spacecraft.

All of the nation's 29 astronauts and many key space officials are here to witness the planned 11 a.m. blastoff of the Titan 2 rocket, a powerful military weapon making its debut as a space booster.

Two of the astronauts, expected to be selected within a few weeks, are to ride a Gemini capsule on a three-orbit mission late this year if the test and a second unmanned launching scheduled for the summer are successful.

On later flights, two-man Gemini teams will stay in orbit for two weeks, link up with other satellites, maneuver over wide areas of space and conduct experiments with scientific and military application.

As early as the second manned trip, one of the pilots may open a hatch and step outside into the vacuum of space.

The program, which currently lists 12 manned launchings, will practice techniques for project Apollo man-on-the-moon landings planned for late in the 1960s.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials conducted prelaunch reviews and pronounced everything in a "go" condition for the test.

The weather, promised to cooperate, with only a high layer of thin cirrus clouds and 75-degree temperature predicted for the intended liftoff time.

The Titan 2, generating total thrust of 530,000 pounds in its two stages, is to propel the 7,000-pound spacecraft into an orbit ranging from 99 to 183 miles high.

The craft will not separate from the spent second stage casing and total orbital weight will be 11,400 pounds.

No recovery is planned. The payload is expected to burn up in the atmosphere anywhere from several hours to several weeks after launching.

Two C-C Groups Meet Wednesday

Two chamber of commerce groups will meet Wednesday in the chamber offices for regular monthly sessions, the wholesale trade development and conventions activities action groups.

Striking Doctors Threaten To End Emergency Services

By TOM OCHILTREE
 BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—With hospitals jammed to overflowing, Belgium's 12,000 striking doctors and dentists threatened Tuesday night to call off skeleton emergency services they have operated since their strike began seven days ago.

The medical men, protesting the left-leaning coalition government's socialized medical program, demanded once more that the plan be dropped. Premier Theo Lefevre's government showed no signs of complying.

Hospitals were swarming with patients and weary nurses struggled to keep up with the influx. Beds were set up in corridors. The doctors refuse to make home calls to treat the ill.

In a 1,000-word statement, the doctors said they would quit these emergency services if the physicians were molested or victimized.

In the statement issued to newsmen, the doctors said the new medical law would prevent the efficient performance of their professional duties and make physicians prey to a government-backed snooping system.

A spokesman for the doctors said normal medical and dental care will only be restored in this nation of nine million people when the government takes steps in Parliament to dismantle the controversial legislation.

Lines of disagreement deepened in the strike with trade unionists from both the Socialist and Christian Social camps demanding that the government stand firm.

At midday in the industrial Charleroi area, demonstrators held aloft banners accusing the doctors of putting money ahead of humanity and of failing in their duty to the people.

Realtors Hear VA Employees

Members of Wichita Falls Board of Realtors heard two representatives of the Veterans Administration from Dallas and inducted two new board members at the luncheon Tuesday at Wyatt's in Parker Square.

Speaker were J. C. Long and Joe L. Meade of the VA office, both of whom were here to assist in the disaster relief program and to encourage brokers to assist in the sale of VA houses, of which there are about 35 available. Long is assistant to the loan guaranty officer while Meade is a realty specialist in charge of sales for the Dallas VA office.

Procedures in handling the sale of the properties were outlined by Long and Meade.

New board members are Mesdames Joe Smith and Lois Bean. Their credentials were presented following a brief talk by Mrs. Maggie Russell, program chairman.

Luncheon guests included Bob Puckett and Mary Gillum.

HEALTH ADVICE

Over-Eating Any Food Bad For Overweight Person

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Has it been established whether eggs should not be eaten by a person on a low-cholesterol diet?—MRS. S.T.

This cholesterol business is important, but it has to be considered in reasonable fashion.

Let me put it this way. In driving a car, we know that in many cases "speed kills." Just going slow doesn't necessarily mean safety. Many accidents are caused by the "safe" driver who self-righteously dawdles along at 25 miles an hour on an expressway designed for 60 miles an hour. Poking along is dangerous, too.

Well, that's how it is with cholesterol. Everybody has cholesterol in the blood. It is a useful, necessary material. (It is a fatty one.)

If you didn't have enough you'd be in sad shape.

But if you have too much, that may be bad, too.

That's one part of the story.

Now here's another. You don't get all your cholesterol from cholesterol in your food. Your body manufactures cholesterol from other foods you eat. Rabbits, for example, eat vegetables, which are low in cholesterol. Yet their bodies take the grass, lettuce, carrots and so on, and create cholesterol.

So now, how about eggs? They are high in cholesterol. Or, at any rate, the yolks are. Yet only a small proportion of this cholesterol is absorbed by the body.

A person need not fret about eating any reasonable quantity of eggs.

What you SHOULD worry about is your complete diet. If you are gaining weight, or if you are overweight and not losing, you ought to be concerned about it—especially if you have a high blood cholesterol.

Spaghetti, or candy, or soft drinks, or peanut butter sandwiches or many other things may not contain much cholesterol, but if you eat more of any kind of food than you need, the result will be high fat content in your system. Your body will convert some of this to cholesterol.

In short, I think it would be a good idea if people forgot all about cholesterol—if, that is, everybody would pay honest attention to total weight.

You can't eat enough of ANYTHING to get fat without having too much cholesterol as a result, if you are one of the people who has to control the cholesterol level.

A "low-cholesterol diet" is essentially a diet low in animal fat, and low in total calories. Trying to find "low cholesterol foods" doesn't do you a bit of good if you eat too much of them.

Eat eggs, drink milk, eat butter, and don't worry about the cholesterol, provided you aren't overweight.

But if you ARE over eight, don't blame it on eggs or any other kind of food. Blame it on eating too much.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it safe to eat the skin of an apple? Or to cook apples with the peeling on? Most of them probably were sprayed.—H.D.

Now-Kelvinator has the answer for growing families

The new Trimwall refrigerator gives them twice the storage space in the same floor space as their present refrigerator—and the Trimwall keeps their food truly safe at the lowest "No-Frost" operating cost.

As your family grows, your food needs grow. But your kitchen doesn't. That's why Kelvinator designed the Trimwall to give you 17 cubic feet of storage in the same floor space your 8-cubic-foot refrigerator filled before. Both refrigerator and freezer sections are "No-Frost," too!

Kelvinator's exclusive new Trimwall construction keeps operating costs far below similar-sized frostless refrigerators. Here's how: The inside wall, the miracle foam insulation and the outside wall are bonded into one solid unit. That super-solid wall holds both refrigerator and freezer at safe, more uniform temperatures, no matter how hot the kitchen gets. And, because Kelvinator's wall is built to last a lifetime, it doesn't leak cool air out or let room heat in.

You can own this new Kelvinator Trimwall for only 3.80 a week. Based on distributor suggested retail price for this area after trade-in.

Judge Refuses Post New Trial In Fight With Wally Butts

ATLANTA (AP) — A federal judge refused Tuesday to grant a new trial in Wally Butts' libel suit against Curtis Publishing Co. in still another legal round in the lengthy dispute arising from football fix charges.

Integration In SEC Rests With Youngster

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Racial integration of Southeastern Conference athletics next year apparently rests on the decision of 18-year-old Westley Unseld, and he hasn't made up his mind yet.

Sources at the University of Kentucky, the only SEC school that has announced plans to integrate athletics, said the only Negro athlete being considered now is Unseld, a basketball star from Louisville.

Some feel the 6-foot-8 Unseld will follow his high school coach Bob Mulcahy, to Kansas University. Mulcahy has been hired as an assistant coach at Kansas.

Unseld wasn't available for comment Tuesday, but his mother said "he hasn't made any commitments whatsoever and probably won't make up his mind until next month sometime."

Kentucky basketball Coach Adolph Rupp has let it be known that he wants Unseld, but Athletic Director Bernie Shively said he knew of no other Negro even under consideration this year.

The feeling at Kentucky is that the first Negro football or basketball player to be signed must be of top caliber in athletics and in the classroom. Unseld is both.

There have been some reports that Kentucky has given up trying to get Unseld, but Shively said Rubb still hopes to sign him.

Steve Matthews, a Negro transfer student from Detroit, went out for football this spring but his showing in the first 10 days of practice was not of varsity caliber. He also failed to make the varsity at Detroit.

But Not Without Struggle

Dodgers Favored For Repeat

NEW YORK (AP) — Because pitching has become a more dominant factor than ever before since the advent of the lively ball, the Los Angeles Dodgers are picked to become the first National League to repeat as pennant winners, since the Milwaukee Braves won in 1957-58.

"It should be a struggle all the way. The Dodgers could find it more difficult than last year when they finished six games ahead of the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals.

The league is tougher. The race could develop into a drag-out, rowdy, down-to-the-wire battle with six clubs in the donnybrook. The other five are St. Louis, San Francisco, Philadelphia, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. The only clubs which don't figure in the pennant picture are Pittsburgh, Chicago, Houston and New York.

U.S. District Judge Lewis R. Morgan ruled that new evidence described by Curtis in its retrial motion "would not have changed the verdict in this case."

Butts, former athletic director at the University of Georgia, won a jury verdict of $3.06 million last August as a result of an article in the Curtis-owned Saturday Evening Post a year ago. The article charged that Butts fed pre-game football data on his team to Alabama's coach, Paul Bryant. Butts later settled for $460,000.

In seeking a new trial, Curtis attorney Welborn B. Cody charged that Bryant and Dr. Frank A. Rose, University of Alabama president, were "a couple of premeditated liars."

Cody's motion set forth alleged discrepancies in Rose's testimony at the Butts suit trial and in a sworn statement taken for trial of the Bryant suit. He said this was newly discovered evidence.

Morgan ruled that Curtis could have obtained all of the evidence prior to the trial and had showed no facts "from which this court may infer reasonable diligence on its part."

Even if this were not true, Morgan said, "the evidence now presented tends merely to affect the weight and credibility of the evidence of Dr. Rose and does not constitute a proper basis for a new trial."

Morgan, who was the trial judge, also ruled that a U.S. Supreme Court decision on an Alabama case did not apply. He referred to a March decision overturning a $500,000 libel verdict for Police Commissioner L.B. Sullivan of Montgomery against the New York Times.

In that opinion, the high court said a public official cannot recover libel damages for criticism of his official conduct unless he proves "actual malice."

Curtis contended in its motion that Butts, as athletic director, was a public official. Morgan said Butts was merely an employee of the state and even if the Supreme Court decision applied, there was "ample evidence from which the jury could have concluded reckless disregard (by Curtis) of whether the article was false or not."

Rule To Get Veteran Coach For Next Fall

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Bobby G. Williamson, of Seagoville, has been named head football coach at Haskell High School replacing Jerry Estep, who has resigned. Williamson will assume duties as both coach and teacher this fall, Connor Horton, superintendent of schools, announced Monday.

Williamson is a graduate of Breckenridge High School, and obtained his bachelor of science and master of science degrees from North Texas State University.

Maloney's Pitching, Batting Give Reds Fourth Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cincinnati right-hander Jim Maloney, a 23-game winner in 1963, pitched eight innings and hit three singles Tuesday as the Reds defeated Philadelphia 6-4 for their fourth straight exhibition baseball victory.

Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 on Bob Allison's bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth inning. St. Louis, trailing Pittsburgh 2-0 after eight innings, rallied to tie the score in the ninth and pushed over an unearned run in the 10th for a 3-2 victory.

The Chicago White Sox defeated Baltimore 3-1 in a game enlivened by a running squabble between Chicago Manager Al Lopez and Umpire Ed Hurley. Harry Bright's two-run double in the seventh inning provided the winning margin as the New York Yankees nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3.

The New York Mets, blanked for eight innings by Kansas City pitcher Diego Segui, erupted for five runs in the ninth against reliever Tom Sturdivant but still lost 8-5.

Glenn Hobbie pitched seven innings while the Chicago Cubs scored four unearned runs in the third and topped Boston 4-2. The Los Angeles Angels snapped a tie in the eighth inning and shaded Cleveland 3-2. Maloney gave up seven hits, including back-to-back home runs by Wes Covington and John Herrnstein in the seventh inning.

Palmer's Masters Wish 'Just Jack And Me'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "I'd like to come up to the last round Sunday with Nicklaus and me 20 shots in front of the field," a relaxed and confident Arnold Palmer said Tuesday. "Just Jack and me."

Instead of being bugged by Nicklaus' massive, ever expanding shadow, golf's greatest money winner insisted that he found a challenge in the personal duel with the powerful young giant from Columbus, Ohio.

"It pumps me up," Palmer said. These two modern giants of the fairways come to grips again Thursday in the 28th Masters Golf Tournament, co-sponsored in a strong international field of 90. Nicklaus, 24, is the defending champion. Palmer, 35, is seeking his fourth Masters title in six years.

They squared off in a friendly practice preview Tuesday on the par 3-course prior to a tune-up over the 6,900-yard, Augusta National course, where the year's first major competition will be contested Thursday through Sunday.

The course was reopened shortly before noon after being closed 24 hours because of torrential rains. There was a stampede for the tee.

Prospects for favorable weather for the big spring golf spectacle were dim. The Weather Bureau forecast thundershowers throughout the day and night, continuing into Wednesday, with clearing and cooler weather for Thursday's opening.

It seemed impossible that the broad, rolling layout, saturated by monsoon-like rains, could be dried out properly for the weekend. This means an added advantage for the big hitters, such as Nicklaus and Palmer.

"Under normal, fast conditions, there are 20 or 30 men who might win here," said 62-year-old Gene Sarazen, who has played in all but two of the 28 past Masters. "With this rain, this list can be cut to four or five."

One of those chosen six would have to be Gary Player of South Africa, 1961 winner, but the little man from Johannesburg turned up with an inflamed throat that may ruin his hopes, if not knock him out of the tournament.

Feverish, hoarse and pumped full of penicillin, Player went out on a practice round and insisted he would play. He said he planned to undergo an operation here Monday to have his tonsils removed.

Other favorites include National Open champion Julius Boros, fresh from a spectacular triumph at the Greensboro Open; Champagne Tony Lema, runner-up to Nicklaus last year; Sammy Snead, a threat at 51, and Bill Casper, perhaps the most formidable putter in the game.

Improved putting has buoyed the spirits of both Nicklaus and Palmer, who are rated 6-1 co-favorites and the chief interest of the early galleries.

Nicklaus changed the rhythm of his putting stroke and said, "I am putting for the first time this year. Frankly, I feel wonderful. I don't know where I have gone into a tournament in a better frame of mind."

Instead of standing over his ball on the green like a frozen polar bear, Nicklaus, a traditionally slow player, now walks up, gets his line, takes his stance and strokes the ball with a 1-2-3 cadence and little delay.

Palmer, an amateur mechanic, went into the pro's shop and hammered the lead mallet head of his putter into a different shape.

"Putting has been my whole trouble—that and getting my nerves adjusted from quitting smoking," the Latrobe, Pa., professional said. "I haven't been finessing the ball around the greens and I haven't been scoring. I can now see the face of my putter and I'm putting much better—at least I think I am."

"And thinking I am is the big thing, after all."

The Wichita Falls Coyotes found numerous opportunities to bobbly away another baseball contest Tuesday afternoon and made the most of them in a 5-2 loss to Duncan.

The feat was accomplished despite a masterful five-hit, 14-strikeout performance by Louis McKown. The Coyote walked two, gave up only two earned runs but was a victim of the error, synonymous with Wichita Falls teams of the present and past.

Sophomore Jimmy Boyd led a Coyote hitting attack that would have been enough under most conditions. Boyd slammed a double and triple down the right field line, drove in a run and made things uncomfortable for the Demons until fielding lapses caught up with the Pack. John Runge joined the assault with a pair of singles and the losers managed to collect another safety before bowing.

Duncan took the lead in the top of first when Gary Smith scored from second after two were out on a two-base error by Runge. Smith walked to open the inning, went to second on a wild pitch, but appeared to be stranded there as McKown fanned the next two Demons. Cleanup batter Terry Due slapped an easy grounder toward first and Runge, on his knees, let the ball get away from him. Due went to second but a strikeout moments later stopped any further Duncan threat.

The Coyotes tied the count in their half of the frame. Jerry Phillips led off with a single. Boyd doubled him around, taking third on an error by the right fielder. A fly ball in the infield, a grounder to short and another fly in the infield killed the Pack's first rally after one run.

In the last of the third, Boyd tripled with one out and scored on a sacrifice fly by Mickey Pemberton, giving the Coyotes a 2-1 lead. At this stage, McKown had struck out eight of 12 batters and Duncan hadn't gotten the ball out of the infield.

The Demons broke up the lefty's no-hitter in the fourth when Darrell Sadler lined one sharply past the out-of-control glove of third baseman Mike McBride, but it wasn't until the fifth that the Demons were able to score again. McKown struck out the first two in the stanza, then walked Gary Smith. Dee King, in the lineup replacing Lamar Howell, ripped the first pitch to center for a double, with Smith scoring.

Although there was no error on the play, second baseman Al Syverson held the relay throw too long and was apparently unaware that a run was scoring. A quick decision to throw on his part would probably have presented the tally. The next batter grounded out to end the inning.

Due opened the top of the sixth with a Texas League single. Joe Holladay bunted behind him and got credit for a single when Syverson failed to cover first base in time to take the throw from first sacker Runge. Then somebody failed to hold the runner close at second and Due stole third to move into scoring position. Sadler struck out but Jim Pennington singled and Duncan took a 3-2 lead.

McKown got James Howell on strikes, but, with two away, Gene Smith's easy grounder was bobbled by Syverson at second and two more runs scored. That was it.

The Pack managed a hit in the sixth that was nullified by a quick double play. Both sides went out in order in the seventh to wrap it up.

Duncan is now 6-4 for the season. The Coyotes, who have one game remaining with Rider next Tuesday before opening district, are working on a six-game losing streak. They are winless.

NICKLAUS TOPS MONEY WINNERS

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Going into the Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga., Jack Nicklaus leads the Professional Golfers Association money-winning list with $20,050 earned this year.

Winds To Help Race's 'Face'

MIAMI (AP)—A weather forecast of southeast winds gusting at 20 knots and waves three to five feet tall gave promise that the 158 mile powerboat race from Miami to Nassau Wednesday will regain its reputation as the world's roughest.

In conditions like this, the 34 high-powered speedsters will be as hard to hang on to as bucking broncos, and the winner will leave no unanswered questions about his own fortitude and the durability of his craft.

The race will start at 6 a.m. CST unless the Weather Bureau says it's too dangerous to go. The forecast indicated the wind volume would be just below the mark that sends up small-craft warning flags.

It will be American vs. British drivers and gas engines against diesel—with no favorites—in the race across the plunging Gulf Stream and the Bahama Bank and then down the deep North-west Providence Channel to Nassau Harbor.

Last year, Odell Lewis, a 29-year-old boatyard worker from Sarasota, Fla., drove his 25-foot Bertram, Mona Lou, over an embarrassingly smooth course in the record time of 39 hours, 20 minutes, 21 seconds. A year earlier, Johnny Bakes of St. Cloud, Fla., made it across calm waters in 3:42.

This time, the boatmen hope for a return of the challenging weather of the race's earlier years. In 1960, the winner required eight hours for the crossing and it took 22 hours for the third-place skipper to struggle home.

Although there was no error on the play, second baseman Al Syverson held the relay throw too long and was apparently unaware that a run was scoring. A quick decision to throw on his part would probably have presented the tally. The next batter grounded out to end the inning.

Due opened the top of the sixth with a Texas League single. Joe Holladay bunted behind him and got credit for a single when Syverson failed to cover first base in time to take the throw from first sacker Runge. Then somebody failed to hold the runner close at second and Due stole third to move into scoring position. Sadler struck out but Jim Pennington singled and Duncan took a 3-2 lead.

McKown got James Howell on strikes, but, with two away, Gene Smith's easy grounder was bobbled by Syverson at second and two more runs scored. That was it.

The Pack managed a hit in the sixth that was nullified by a quick double play. Both sides went out in order in the seventh to wrap it up.

Duncan is now 6-4 for the season. The Coyotes, who have one game remaining with Rider next Tuesday before opening district, are working on a six-game losing streak. They are winless.

DALLAS (AP) — Rod Ellis of Southern Methodist had a 2-under-par 69 as medalist and beat Mike Higgins 6 and 5 in match play as SMU and Texas A&M split a Southwest Conference golf match 3-3 Tuesday.

Trio's Tuneup Produces 69s

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Aging Sam Snead, Mason Rudolph and Australia's Bruce Devlin shot three-under-par 69s Tuesday in tune-ups for the 28th Masters Golf Tournament opening Thursday.

Rudolph, the near-sighted Tennesseean, had the most unusual round. He had eight birdies.

Chi Chi Rodriguez, the 120-pound Puerto Rican, putted for birdies on 16 holes for a 70.

Most of the world's leading golfers practiced on the 6,980-yard par 72 Augusta National course in cloudy, humid weather. The course was slow, even sloshy in spots, from recent heavy rains.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, complaining "I played terribly," shot a 71 and Arnold Palmer, three-time winner, a 72.

"I was happy with the way I played," Palmer said. "I hit the ball farther than I ever have, and I made some good shots."

Gary Player, troubled by inflamed tonsils, quit after nine holes but said he definitely intended to play.

Bill Casper Jr., one of the favorites, had a 71, with six birdies. Ben Hogan, saying the course was too soft, had a 74.

Emerson, Richey Stroll In Masters

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Roy Emerson led seeded players Tuesday in a walk-through the first round of the Masters Invitational Tennis Tournament, final competition on the winter circuit.

Emerson set the pace with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Ed Jones of West Palm Beach.

Second-seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico, U.S. national champion, defeated Jerry Thompson of West Palm Beach 6-0, 6-3.

In second-round action in the women's section, top-seeded Nancy Richey of Dallas defeated Verna Mechem of St. Petersburg 6-2, 6-1.

Royals Break Slump; Top Celtics, 102-93

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals, with their backs to the wall, broke a shooting slump Tuesday night and topped the Boston Celtics 102-93, extending their National Basketball Association Eastern Division playoff final into at least a fifth game.

Boston, aiming for its eighth straight division championship, won the first three games of the best-of-seven series and could have wrapped it up Tuesday night. The fifth game will be in Boston Thursday.

Clay Interviews Scaled At $300

CINCINNATI (AP)—Interviews with heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay apparently have become expensive items.

Clay was in police court here Tuesday with Archie Robinson, 27, of Miami, identified as Clay's personal secretary, who was charged with assault and battery.

When newsmen sought to talk with Clay he told them each interview would cost $300.

The charge against Robinson was filed Monday night by Frank Jones, a television station photographer. He claimed Robinson shoved his camera into his face when he sought to take a picture of Clay at a jazz concert here.

Cards Add Schlunkman As Backfield Coach

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Walt Schlunkman has rejoined the coaching staff of the St. Louis Cardinals, the National Football League club announced Tuesday.

Schlunkman, who will work with the defensive backfield, left the Cards in 1960 to go with Houston in the American Football League. He resigned from the Oilers two weeks ago.

Schlunkman, 41, was a fullback at Texas Tech and later played in the NFL before going into collegiate and pro coaching.

Packers Sign Vets

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—The signing of offensive tackle Forrest Gregg and fullback Earl Gros was announced Tuesday by the Green Bay Packers.

Gregg announced his retirement in January to accept a college coaching job, but changed his mind a month later.

Oscar Robertson, the league's most valuable player, was amazing in pacing the Royals' attack. He ended with 33 points and was all over the floor in making assists and stealing the ball from the Celtics.

The Royals' victory was a team effort. Jerry Lucas, Wayne Embry and Jack Twyman were outstanding.

The Celtics were ahead 49-46 at halftime but Robertson and Twyman pushed the Royals into a tie with 8:36 left in the third quarter. That was at 53-44.

Later, Robertson hit a foul shot and Tom Hawkins dumped in a lay-up and the Royals went in front 62-59 with 5:09 to go in the third period. The Royals never trailed from then on.

Cincinnati was ahead by eight points at one time in the third quarter but Boston narrowed it to 75-72 at the intermission.

The fourth quarter was nearly all Robertson and the Royals. Cincinnati led by 10 points with about six minutes left and from then on was ahead from six to eight points.

The Royals took a quick 2-0 lead at the start on a fielder by Lucas and until about two minutes were left in the opening quarter held a comfortable margin. Sam Jones sparked a Celtic drive, and scored 10 points in a little more than two minutes.

Sam Jones wound up with 15 points in the first quarter and ended the half with a total of 24.

Jones' spree brought the Celtics to a 25-25 first quarter tie. The lead saw-sawed back and forth several times in the second period and was tied several times.

Both teams shot poorly. The Royals hit 37 per cent from the field, while Boston had only a 30 per cent mark.

Robertson and Sam Jones took scoring honors with 33 points each. Twyman had 31 and Lucas 16 for the Royals. John Havlicek had 21 for Boston.

The Royals held Boston's Bill Russell to nine points and Lucas out-rebounded the tall pivot man 25-24.

Avera's Record: Is There An End?

Ted Leach

Chuck Avera has been building an enviable record at Wichita Falls since joining the Coyote coaching staff in 1953, and it seems there is no end to his success.

A change in the coaching setup this year has lessened Avera's burden slightly, leaving him in charge of the Coyote and Rider boys tennis program, along with the boys setup at Zundy Jr. High.

For the past ten years he has been head coach at Coyote high—both girls and boys mentor—and during that span of time has tutored five state champions, as many state finalists and has guided 13 other performers to the Austin meet.

Just where will it all end? Avera considers himself fortunate but when pressed by the questions of this reporter Tuesday night he was forced to admit that perhaps there was no end in sight this spring. It looks like the Coyotes and Rider have two powerhouses, capable of sweeping district meets and maybe qualifying players by the carload for the state finals in the big Austin carnival.

STARTED WITH BANG

It didn't take Avera long to set up a winning combination. He arrived in Wichita Falls at mid-semester in 1953. His first state entry was that spring with Billy Edd Gowan carrying the banners in the boys singles. Beaten in the first round, Gowan made another bid the next year and was second to Paul Wilkins of Baytown Lee. There was also a state qualifying doubles team, composed of George Payne and Jimmy Harvey in that first year.

Avera figured that perhaps his best squad—or at least the best balanced—was in 1955. That season the Coyotes took a clean sweep at the regional level, qualifying Carol Cummings in girls singles, Mickey Toon and Carole Patrick in girls doubles, Tommy Haney in boys singles and Roger Swanner and Regg Brashear in boys doubles.

Now there is a chance the Coyotes may qualify a boys doubles team in state. Acton and Murphy Yates are Nos. 1-2 on the squad and are joined together in what Avera hopes will prove a powerful tandem.

They have won tournaments at Garland and Lawton and their only loss was to Ronnie Fulwiler and Chip Meyers of Abilene Cooper. The Cooper duo is defending state sectional champion in the 18-year and under division.

In the singles, the chances are not quite as bright, but the Pack chances are rated 50-50 in district.

Chances are also excellent that the fem half of the Coyote squad will make it a sweep in 4-AAAA. Linda Tell in singles and Alana Brock and Cindy Burkett in doubles give the Pack a strong club. At regional the going gets extra tough, however, with some keen competition capable of stopping a surge to state, according to coach Lynn Davis.

Rider's chances of winning the boys doubles in district and regional are excellent. Gary Childs and Pat Maloy won the Abilene Invitational last week. Childs went to state with Joe Best last season. The boys singles will be an underdog to Brownwood in 4-AAAA.

Daisy Sligar, Rider fem mentor, doesn't like to count chickens before they hatch. She expects trouble from Brownwood but when pressed admitted that the chances were 50-50 in both divisions.

Kathy Blanton will probably carry the singles banner. Angela Lee, Pat Turnbow, Kathy Wells or Charlene Jiraneck will form the doubles squad. The Raiders still haven't completed playoffs for positions on the district entry.

RANKS HIGH ON LIST

If the Coyote boys fail to qualify for state under Avera, it won't be the first time. It will, however, be an exceptional year for the personable mentor.

Besides, the state entries, Avera's double teams have on three occasions—1959, 1960 and 1961—have ranked in the top six in a national rating. Among other achievements, Chuck once coached his sister to four state championships in Oklahoma; a first that has not since been equalled. The younger member of the tennis family won her first title as a ninth grader.

Wichita Falls' school system is noted for surrounding itself with winners in the field of athletics. Avera has to rank high among the list, which grows longer as it grows older.

Trio Meet In Possible SW Preview

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Texas, Texas A&M, Southern Methodist and Baylor took up in what might be a near preview of the Southwest Conference track and field meet.

It is a quadrangular meet with the standard 16 events of the conference meet and it will be held here Saturday afternoon.

Southern Methodist may still be without the services of ace sprinter Billy Foster but will be favored in the 440-yard relay nevertheless.

John Roderick, SMU's other top sprinter, is slated to enter the 100-220 and possibly the high hurdles in addition to spearheading the 440-yard relay team.

But Texas, with depth in the hurdles, middle distance, mile and three mile runs will be favored to win the meet.

The shot put duel among Danny Roberts of Texas A&M and Frank Mazza and Jim Lancaster of Baylor will continue. Mazza has edged past 60 feet this season while Roberts and Lancaster are only inches away. Roberts won at the Border Olympics and West Texas Relays, Mazza at San Angelo and Lancaster at the Texas Relays.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—A Texas squad led by middle distance standings who pushed Missouri to two records at the Texas Relays last week headed the entries Tuesday for the Kansas Relays April 17-18.

Texas entered a 14-man team. Other team entries were Minnesota with 12 men and Ottawa, Kan. in the college class with 13.

Two veteran distance men filed in the open class. They were Hyke Van der Wal of Western Ontario in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and Bob Schul of Miami of Ohio in the 10,000-meter run.

Miller Richard Romo and half miler Loy Gunter lead Texas. The Longhorns also have Jim Cooper and Steve Sansom, both 14.3 high hurdlers.

Leafs, Detroit Even Playoffs

TORONTO (AP)—Johnny Bower, Toronto's ageless goalie, slammed the gates on Montreal Tuesday night and the Maple Leafs trimmed the Canadiens 3-0 to square their Stanley Cup semifinal series at three victories each.

Bower, listed as 39 but believed to be closer to 45, smothered 25 Montreal shots and Don McKenney, Bobby Raun and Andy Bathgate provided the scoring punch as the Leafs extended the best-of-seven set to the limit.

The decisive game will be played at Montreal Thursday night.

McKenney, obtained with Bathgate from New York in February, gave Bower all the offensive support needed when he scored his third goal of the series early in the second period. The ex-Ranger cashed in on his own rebound after Canadiens goalie Charlie Hodge had stopped a long drive by defenseman Allan Stanley.

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, fired up by a $500 fine levied on Coach Sid Abel just before game time, overpowered the Chicago Black Hawks 7-2 Tuesday night to square their Stanley Cup semifinal series at three games each.

The seventh and deciding game will be played at Chicago Thursday night.

National Hockey League President Clarence Campbell levied the fine because of Abel's comments following a disputed goal in the 3-2 game which Detroit lost at Chicago Sunday night. The action was announced just before the teams took the ice.

Abel's criticism of referee Frank Udvari for allowing the disputed goal cost him the $500, but the Wings dominated play throughout as they hit the Black Hawks time and time again, outscoring and outroughing them.

Fast skating Norm Ullman turned in his second hat trick of the series as he poured in three goals in Detroit's lopsided victory. It was the most goals the Black Hawks had allowed in playoffs since they lost to Detroit 7-4 in the sixth and deciding game of the semifinals last year.

Rider Frosh Even Score With Pups

Rider's freshmen squared the score with the Wichita Falls yearling tennis team, 8-4, and ran their record to 2-1 in the city round robin elimination. Wichita Falls had won an earlier match. Here are Tuesday's results:

Pack Netters Sweep Dual From Lawton

LAWTON, Okla. — Wichita Falls High School's tennis team won its first dual match of the season here Tuesday by ripping Lawton's Wolverines, 14-4, in girls and boys play.

The matches, held at the Fort Sill Officers Club, had the Coyote netters winning all but two boys matches and all but two girls matches.

Both losses in the nine boys matches came in singles. The Pack's doubles entrants swept their three matches. The same was true for the girls as they won four singles and lost two, then led things by winning all three doubles.

It was the first dual match of the season for the Coyotes. They have seen plenty of action, however, winning four of six tournaments so far this season.

Civil Rights Debate Unifies Churches

By DREW PEARSON

ERIE, Pa. — The Civil Rights issue may cause boycotts, and arrests, it may defeat certain congressmen, it may induce Polish-Americans to turn against their fellow minority because it is black, as in Milwaukee yesterday, and it may cause rightwing Republicans to vote in Democratic primaries in order to embarrass Democratic liberals as also happened in Wisconsin. Regardless of all this, Civil Rights has done more to unite the churches of America than any single issue in American history.

When the late Pope John called for the coming together of Catholic and Protestant churches he could not have foreseen that Catholic, Protestant and Jewish churches in the United States would march arm-in-arm far in advance of churches in Europe or any other continent in battling for the rights of the black man. They have done this not because any votes are involved, or any financial reward. Quite the contrary. The churches will lose money; for the time being, lose parishioners. But they will gain respect.

Because the great majority of churches and church leaders now believe that Civil Rights is a matter of human rights, of rectifying a deep injustice long suffered by the black American.

The Lord is Inside Now
Some years ago when Ben West, then Mayor of Nashville, was having trouble integrating that city's schools, he told the story of an old negro who tried to worship at a local church and was turned away. He was told to come back next Sunday when the deacons might reconsider, but did not. The preacher, meeting him later asked why he had not returned.

"I asked the Lord about it," the old negro replied, "and de Lord tell me to stay away. 'Don't worry, Tom.' De Lord say, 'I've been trying to get into that church ever since it was built.'"

LBJ And Abe Lincoln

In the last few months I have travelled and spoken in widely varying sections of the United States, ranging from Auburn University in Alabama to Gannon College, a Catholic institution in Northern Pennsylvania. The church leaders are unanimous. They are militant in working for human dignity which Christ taught and which was the basic philosophy of the prophets of Israel even before Christ, must be restored to the black man.

It is my opinion also that President Johnson is motivated by a deep moral conviction in putting his political future on the line in the Civil Rights fight. The battle will cost him more votes than he will win. But long before the battle came to a head, he, as Vice President and chairman of the Equal Opportunity Committee, had done more to get jobs for Negroes than any other man since Abraham Lincoln.

It is true that not all of the church leaders are following the church leaders' advice. In Milwaukee, the Catholic Bishop urged Catholics not to give encouragement to the foes of anti-civil rights by voting for Gov. George Wallace of Alabama in the Democratic primary. A great many Polish-Americans did not follow that advice.

What they did not know was that in voting for the states rights of the Gov. Wallace brand, they were voting, in effect, for the right of a White boy to shoot a Negro boy in the head and then get only two years suspended sentence. They were voting, in effect, for a system whereby a Negro church can be bombed in Birmingham with four little girls killed without the bombers being punished.

In the House of Representatives, a Polish-American, Rep. John Lesinski, Detroit Democrat, was the only non-southern Democrat to vote against Civil Rights. Ninety-five Southerners and Lesinski voted against the advice of church leaders.

Lesinski is the son of a former congressman who is now lieutenant governor of Michigan. He is in no danger of being defeated. He is also a member of a minority group which migrated to this country 150 years after the Negro and was given all the rights and privileges of citizenship still denied to Negroes in many states. However, he voted against the advice of his church.

One Republican who stood up to be counted on the other side is Rep. William McCullough of Piqua, Ohio, a conservative small town lawyer without whom the Democratic leaders probably could not have passed the Civil Rights Bill. He had nothing to gain politically, perhaps something to lose. He voted his religious and personal convictions.

Personal Threats
Some church leaders have undergone fire and brimstone, even threats against their lives in battling for Civil Rights. Rev. Powers McLeod of Auburn, Ala., a Methodist, his brother, Fletcher, and Rev. John Jeffers, a Baptist, are among them. Despite the initial opposition, however, they are preaching to the largest congregations today.

The patriarch of Louisiana, Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel, has long fought for equal rights, despite the derisive epithets and abuse from some of his own parishioners.

But perhaps the most inspiring and effective church leadership has been in Washington where general Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle, Bishop John Wesley Lord, the Methodist; Bishop William F. Creighton, Episcopal; Rabbi Lewis Weintraub; Pentecostal Church; Rev. Franklin Jackson, Methodist, have met almost weekly to discuss the problems of human rights and better understanding between their fellow men.

The late Pope John would be proud and pleased at this ecumenical conference in Washington. And though Negroes are the source of many problems, they have given one important thing to the churches which hitherto they lacked — greater Christian unity.

African Sanctions Work

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The State Department is spending more time and energy discouraging U.S. and foreign shippers from exporting goods to South Africa than to Cuba.

Authorities led by Secretary of State Rusk and Undersecretary Averell Harriman are privately passing the word to airlines and shipping firms to abide by the economic sanctions being imposed by African countries against the Johannesburg government.

In sharp contrast, Rusk and Harriman are supporting a policy whereby the U.S. provides navigational help and vital weather information to Soviet jet transports flying strategic cargo and arms to Cuba non-stop from Russia.

The unannounced State Department boycott against South Africa is in addition to the announced policy of the Johnson administration barring arms shipments to the all-white regime.

Authority for this boycott is spelled out in a highly classified National Security Council policy paper on South Africa, which is being circulated at the highest government level on a "need to know" basis.

Drafted by the State Department's Policy Planning Council, the new NSC paper is the first major policy on Africa approved by President Johnson since he took over last November following President Kennedy's assassination.

White House insiders report that the policy paper was rushed through the Security Council at "lightning speed" at the urging of Secretaries Rusk and Harriman on the ground that U.S. diplomats needed guide-lines to deal with possible new explosive events in Africa.

Harriman, a presidential trouble-shooter, is now touring

Africa briefing U.S. diplomats and foreign governments on the new policy, despite the fact that it has never been publicized in the U.S.

One key State Department official, after reading the top-secret document, reported the policy as so anti-South Africa that it puts the U.S. on the side of the African nations, Russia and Communist China in their efforts to topple that government.

Keeping Hands Off
The NSC paper also advocates a "hands off" policy on Zanzibar, the first nation to fall into the Soviet orbit since President Johnson took office.

It bars the use of U.S. military force to recover the valuable space tracking equipment on the island or to keep Soviet military technicians from making the island a military base similar to Cuba.

Defense Intelligence Agency warnings reveal that the Kremlin is planning to install SA-2 anti-aircraft missiles similar to those given Castro.

While the new "African policy paper" stresses that the recent Soviet arms agreement with Somalia has dangerously altered the strategic balance in East Africa, it offers no concrete U.S. counter-measures to stem this tide.

The NSC paper, in effect, backs the Angolan and Mozambique liberation movements by advocating a policy of self-determination in those strife-torn Portuguese territories. It provides no U.S. support for Portugal, a member of NATO, in its life-and-death struggle against these liberation movements, which are heavily infested with Communists.

One State Department expert, vigorously opposed to the new policy, warns that it will pave the way for the eventual takeover of all Africa by Russia and the Chinese Communists. Already, the policy has blocked U.S. efforts to keep the new regime in Zanzibar from ousting all the moderates in that government. To accomplish this, the pro-Reds exiled their opponents, while U.S. officials sat on the sidelines because of the new policy.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower has made a final break with former Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

In a series of letters to members of Congress, Eisenhower has thanked them for denouncing former associates of his, including Benson, who are members of the John Birch Society.

"I am grateful for your letter," Eisenhower wrote Representative Ralph Harding, D-Idaho, "and for the speech that you made in Congress concerning the support and encouragement that the former secretary of agriculture, Ezra Benson, has been giving to a Mr. Welch, said to be the founder and leader of the John Birch Society."

Eisenhower warmly praised Harding for his political courage in making the speech, stating:

"Your honest and unselfish efforts to set the record straight warm my heart."

"Frankly, because I rarely read such trash as I understand 'The Politician' (to be), I had never before read the specific accusations made against me by Robert Welch. But it is good that when they were brought to your attention you disregarded all partisan influences to express your honest convictions about the matter."

"It is indeed difficult to understand how a man who professes himself to be an anti-Communist can so brazenly accuse another — whose entire life's record has been one of refutation of Communist theory, practice and purpose — of Communist tendencies or leanings."

Lodge Is Running

By ROWLAND EVANS

And ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Any last doubt about Henry Cabot Lodge's desire to run for President was wiped away by his half-hearted effort to remove his name from the Oregon primary ballot.

Generally overlooked in the speculation about Lodge's win in New Hampshire is the fact that he actually sent a cablegram to Oregon authorities declaring himself a non-candidate. But the circumstances surrounding his cable didn't really want out of the Oregon contest.

On Feb. 27, Oregon Secretary of State Howell Appling sent a cablegram to Lodge in Saigon, where he is stationed as Ambassador to Viet Nam. Appling informed Lodge that he could remove his name from the ballot by swearing that "I am not and do not intend becoming a candidate at the November election." Appling also air-mailed to Lodge an unsigned affidavit making this disavowal. The deadline for Lodge's disavowal was March 9.

No reply came until March 11. Lodge's cable read: "Have just now seen your letter. In reply wish to state, I am not a candidate and I am precluded by Foreign Service regulations from engaging in any political activity."

Appling couldn't believe that his cable to Lodge had been misplaced in the Embassy at Saigon. He also noted that Lodge did not use the prescribed language for getting off the ballot. His conclusion: Lodge wanted in.

That widely-held conclusion is reinforced by the activity of John Lodge, former Governor of Connecticut. He has been privately promoting his brother for President in political huddles around the country.

Republican Senators wish that Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger of Mississippi would stop lobbying against the civil rights bill.

They recently received an inflammatory letter from Yerger urging Republican opposition to the bill. What's worse, Yerger used the letterhead of the Southern Association of Republican State Chairmen (which he currently heads). That makes it seem as though his views have the party's sanction.

"Bobby Kennedy and his late brother sat down with leaders of the NAACP and the Congress of Racial Equality, and suddenly riots and so-called peaceful demonstrations erupted," Yerger wrote.

That led to Yerger's plea: "The future of America, the future of freedom itself, and certainly the future of the Republican party may well be at stake in this civil rights battle. Will you, in the name of civil rights, permit our individual freedoms to be destroyed by an all-powerful Federal government?"

Many Republican Senators quickly consigned this to the waste basket. But Sen. Jacob Javits of New York replied: "In my view it would be tragic for the nation and for the Republican party if our party's long commitment to the moral goal of equality of opportunity... were scrapped in an attempt to out-segregate the Southern Democrats."

The Senate's preoccupation with the price of coffee is leading this nation to the brink of a diplomatic crisis in Latin America.

At stake is a world agreement to fix coffee prices by regulating imports. Without it, economic stability is impossible for coffee-producing nations such as Brazil and Colombia. And without U.S. participation, the coffee agreement is a joke.

But the bill authorizing U.S. participation is in serious trouble in the Senate. Many Senators blame the recent boost in coffee prices (actually caused by last year's small frost-damaged Brazilian crop) on the new world agreement.

That's why the Administration didn't attempt to bring up the coffee bill before the Senate launched its marathon civil rights debate. The coffee bill would have been a goner. In fact, it would be beaten badly today.

U.S. Ambassadors throughout the hemisphere are dispatching frantic cables to Washington telling of growing anger in Latin American governments, which would view Senate rejection of the coffee bill as betrayal of a pledge.

One last hope: the U.S. next month will ask for higher authorized coffee imports. This would drop prices here, and could soften the Senate's attitude.

The Country Parson

"It's funny that men will try so hard to look good—and so little to be good."

Future Of Automation

By now just about everybody has had a good laugh over the recommendation of the "Ad Hoc Committee on the Triple Revolution" that every American should qualify for an adequate, guaranteed, lifetime income simply by virtue of being born, whether he works or not.

This was only one of several suggestions recently put forward by this group of economists, educators, writers and intellectuals by way of solving the social problems of our time.

The idea may be revolutionary but it is far from novel. Radicals of the last century dreamed about it. British philosopher Bertrand Russell discussed the possibility about the time of World War I.

Automation, however, has removed the idea from the realm of fuzzy fantasy and threatens to place it squarely in front of us as a fact in the much-too-near future.

According to the committee, the cybernetic (automation) revolution has broken the traditional incomes-through-jobs link. If society is to fully realize the potential good of automation, they say, a guaranteed income is the only way that "the quarter of the nation now dispossessed and soon to be dispossessed by lack of employment can be brought within the abundant society."

In other words, if people — through no fault of their own — have no incomes with which to qualify as consumers, then they must be provided with those incomes as a matter of necessity, if not of right. Else, automation could turn into a curse, dooming large segments of the population to poverty.

Already we view it as simple humanity for those unable to work to be supported, at least on the existence level, out of the public treasury.

Already we consider it only just for oldersters to receive minimum retirement incomes, even if they may not have contributed to a pension fund during their working years.

But we feel it is somehow un-American — certainly counter to all human history, if not the very laws of nature — to talk about giving money to able-bodied people who haven't done anything to "earn" it.

Yet already many thousands are having their earning careers cut short by automation while still in their prime. What of them? Re-education is a partial answer, but what if the jobs they are being retrained for today are automated tomorrow?

More importantly, what of the millions of young people of tomorrow who will never even begin to earn because there will just be no need for them in an economy run by machines and a small elite of humans?

If the seers are correct, growing numbers of nonworking human beings will somehow have to be supported from birth to death — on a level far above that of the public dole — whether they — or we — like it or not.

How this can be done is really a minor problem compared to the social implications of the cybernetic revolution. What the world may be like with whole generations enabled to live lives of complete leisure is something we can scarcely imagine.

It could work the greatest transformation of human society since the discovery of agriculture. But right now, Utopia looks pretty frightening. Maybe that's why we laugh.

Firearm Control Need

By ANDREW TULLY

WASHINGTON — In the controversy over proposals to control the purchase and possession of firearms, I am intrigued by the case of the arms dealer who was alleged to be astonished to receive 24 sub-machine guns from the Singapore police department.

Haywood H. Hunter of Los Angeles told his story to a Senate subcommittee a few days after his arrest in Los Angeles on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government. The government charged he falsified invoices and understated the value of a 1963 shipment of firearms from Singapore.

According to Hunter's story, told with a straight face, he bought about 500 assorted firearms from the Singapore police, including some Beretta carbines. Therefore, he says, he was "shocked" when customs inspectors discovered the carbines had turned into 24 sub-machine guns enroute to these shores.

"Why the Singapore police department would sell me sub-machine guns, I don't know," said Hunter.

Well sir, I don't either, unless Haywood misspelled Beretta carbines in his order so as to suggest he lust for sub-machine guns. But his case is an example of the dangerously ridiculous ease with which anyone in this country may acquire an arsenal of lethal weapons in case he wants to shoot some sparrows, the guy on the next block — or a President of the United States.

There is, as Sen. Thomas J. Dodd D-Conn. noted, a "mother-lode of firearms cached in foreign countries... that fast-back artists are exploiting to arm the delinquent teenagers, hoodlums and psychopaths who walk the streets of America." President Kennedy was assassinated with one of these weapons, an Italian carbine, sold to Lee Oswald by mail by a Chicago sporting goods house. Oswald paid $12.78 for the rifle and $7.17 for a telescopic sight.

Tragic though it may be, however, the assassination of a President is not the ultimate danger posed to this country by its failure to regulate the flow of firearms. Any subversive group, including the Communist Party, can and undoubtedly does arm itself against the day when a small shooting war, is deemed beneficial to its cause. Extremists on both sides of the civil rights battle can build up their arsenals for use in terrorist tactics. This is probably the only country in the world which invites lunatic groups to indulge in armed insurrection.

The charge against Haywood H. Hunter is not that he bought 24 sub-machine guns. That is permitted under present law. He is charged only with failing to declare them and thus alleged to cheat Uncle Sam of duty. Meanwhile, a 10-year-old child may continue to order by mail a rifle, a revolver, a shotgun, a sub-machine gun, a grenade or even a bazooka. Presumably, a child needs a bazooka these days to protect himself against those enemy tanks that infest his neighborhood.

No proposed law even suggests that hunters or other sportsmen who use guns responsibly should be penalized or even inconvenienced. The aim is to curb the gunslingers, to require them, as Rep. John V. Lindsay (R-N.Y.) says, "to present their credentials." Murder may be illegal in the U.S., but it is still too easy to commit.

In sharp contrast, Rusk and Harriman are supporting a policy whereby the U.S. provides navigational help and vital weather information to Soviet jet transports flying strategic cargo and arms to Cuba non-stop from Russia.

The unannounced State Department boycott against South Africa is in addition to the announced policy of the Johnson administration barring arms shipments to the all-white regime.

Steels Lead Active Trade In Downturn

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels led a stock market downturn Tuesday, the first in five sessions. Trading was active. Volume was 5.9 million shares. Rails advanced on average and several leading coppers continued to recover. Utilities and rubbers were higher. Retailers and building materials were mixed. Motors, drugs, aerospace issues, farm implements, electronics were off.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 2 to 30.9, with industrials off 1.0, rails up .7 to a record high and utilities up 2.

Of 1,375 issues traded, 492 rose and 658 fell. New highs for the year totaled 119 and new lows 32.

A feature of the day was the long-awaited announcement of IBM's new line of computers. IBM stock had risen to a recovery high of 60 1/4 before noon when the news came. It gave way in later trading, however, and closed at 58 3/4 for a net loss of 8 1/4.

Analysts said the mere fact that the news had been anticipated for so long was reason enough for traders to sell and take profits, now that there was nothing more to look forward to. At the same time, certain aspects of the new computers were said to have brought selling in IBM and buying in such stocks as Texas Instruments, up 4 1/4, and Control Data, up 1 1/4.

U.S. Steel fell 1 1/4. Republic Steel lost 2 1/4. Jones & Laughlin 2 1/4. Armco 1 and Lukens 1 1/4. All Big Three moved lost fractions.

As airlines yielded further ground, Pan American lost 1/4, American 1/4, United 1/4, Braniff 1/4 and Western 1/4. Delta and Eastern Airlines gained fractions.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 1.99 at 822.77.

Prices were generally lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.69 million shares.

Corporate bonds were mostly lower. U.S. Government bonds advanced.

Incinerator Smoke Causes Fire Call

Trucks from Fire Stations four and six and all of the trucks from the Central Fire Station answered a call shortly after 3 p.m. Tuesday when strong winds caused smoke from the First Wichita National Bank's incinerator 40 back up, flooding a stairwell in the rear of the bank with smoke and pungent fumes.

The smoke spilled out into the adjacent drive-in banking area, bringing crowds from the surrounding business area.

A bank spokesman said similar problems had occurred in the past but never with the severity of the Tuesday afternoon distraction.

NCO Graduate

FORT POLK, La. — Army Pvt. Robert V. Haney, son of Mrs. Alma J. Haney, 1613 Giddings, Wichita Falls, completed a two-week leadership preparation course at the Non-Commissioned Officer Academy at Fort Polk, La., April 3.

Haney received instruction in map reading, leadership, dismounted drill and problems of command.

The 22-year-old soldier entered the Army in December 1963 and completed basic training at Fort Polk.

Haney, a 1959 graduate of Wichita Falls High School, attended the A&M College of Texas, College Station, and Midwestern University, Wichita Falls.

He was employed by the Jackson Oil Company, Wichita Falls, before entering the Army.

SHE HAD A BLIND DATE WITH MACARTHUR — Philadelphia — Miss Bess Follansbee, 83, retired Philadelphia insurance woman who never married, holds an invitation to the 1963 graduation ceremony at West Point. She received the invitation from Douglas MacArthur after having a blind date with him just before his graduation from the Academy.

Unable to attend his graduation because of an ill mother, their acquaintance was too short for a romance to develop. She says "I've carried the torch for Doug all these years." According to her diary, he was tall, slim, dark, with a very bright, pleasant manner. (AP Wirephoto)

Income Taxes Disaster Tax Relief Offered

Victims of last week's tornado in Wichita Falls may qualify for special benefits on their 1963 income tax returns, Omas Roberts, administrative officer of the Wichita Falls Internal Revenue Service Office, said Tuesday.

The occasion was a garden party given by Mrs. Connolly for women who had sponsored coffee, teas and other functions for her during the governor's 1962 campaign.

Floral bouquets of sweet peas, snapdragons, ranunculus and Dutch iris, grown in the mansion yard, were arranged throughout the house. On the porch and in the back garden were additional baskets of Texas wildflowers—bluebonnets, Indian paintbrushes and several yellow varieties. These were cut from the Connolly Ranch near Floresville, and Mrs. Connolly indicated sore back and leg muscles to prove who cut them.

Guests were served cookies, punch or coffee in the garden and were conducted on a tour of the mansion. A brisk northern kept visitors from lingering long in the garden area, and for the first time, the governor's living quarters on the second floor were opened for inspection. The Executive Suite consists of three bedrooms, a sitting room, denette, and small kitchen. Governor and Mrs. Connolly share an office.

About 3:30 p.m., the governor came over from the Capitol to greet the ladies.

Mrs. Connolly wore a tailored white linen dress with hand-printed orange and yellow flowers, a single strand of pearls and a white, sheer, brimmed picture hat.

Among those attending from Wichita Falls were Mrs. Edward G. Kadane, Mrs. James Barnett and Mrs. Rhea Howard.

Regional Park Plans Discussed

Preliminary plans for the proposed regional park off the Red River Expressway were outlined by Jim Thornton, director of parks and recreation, Tuesday to members of the park development group of the chamber of commerce.

Thornton said the city plans to make an application to the State Highway Department for additional land adjoining the original 90 acres to be utilized as a natural park area.

Plans include botanical gardens, a miniature train, use of foot bridges, a proposed museum, nature trails, an amphitheatre, a canoe area, picnic grounds and other facilities.

The next meeting of the group will be held May 5 at 2 p.m. in the chamber offices.

The tax law provides special benefits on 1963 tax returns for disaster area taxpayers as long as the disaster loss occurs before the filing deadline.

Roberts said the first $100 of casualty losses, such as those from the tornado, are excluded, even though the taxpayer can claim the losses on his 1963 return. He further pointed out that on personal or non-business property, the amount of the loss is the lesser of the cost (adjusted), or the decrease in the fair market value of the asset. From this amount you must subtract the insurance or other compensation which you receive or expect to receive. The remainder is deductible.

The Internal Revenue office will provide the necessary printed material and will work with the tornado victims in (a) requesting an extension of time until they can actually determine the amount of loss, (b) filing amended returns if they have already filed a 1963 return, (c) securing copies of 1962 returns if records have been lost and such returns are required to complete the 1963 returns, (d) actually filing their 1963 return and claiming the loss.

Roberts said Tuesday he feels the income tax benefits are important since the casualty loss may substantially reduce the amount of tax owed, or may cause a refund of all the taxpayer's income taxes withheld during 1963.

GORDON McLENDON WORKERS—Mrs. Francis Harvey was named women's campaign chairman in Wichita County for Gordon McLendon, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in the May 2 primary, and plans were announced for a coffee to be held April 22 for Mrs. Gordon McLendon.

McLendon Woman's Campaign Chairman For County Named

Mrs. Francis Harvey has been appointed women's campaign chairman in Wichita County for Gordon McLendon, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in the May 2 primary.

Reuben Knight, Wichita County chairman for Gordon McLendon, made the announcement of Mrs. Harvey's appointment Tuesday morning in the McLendon campaign headquarters in the Bamboo Room of the Kemp Hotel.

"I ask all Democrats to get behind Gordon McLendon because I know that he represents the majority of the voters in the Democratic Party in the State of Texas," Knight stated.

"While I am not opposed to minority groups, and certainly not opposed to the minority group that supports the opposition, I do not think it is fair to the people of Texas nor the people of the United States to have a United States Senator from the State of Texas who is controlled by this minority group," Knight said.

Knight went on to say that Gordon McLendon is a supporter of President Lyndon B. Johnson and his programs, Gov. John Connally of Texas, the state legislature and its representatives, and is for the majority of the Democratic Party in Texas.

Mrs. Harvey said she, Mrs. Reuben Knight, and Mrs. Bill Reichmuth will give a coffee for the candidate's wife, Gay McLendon, on the mezzanine floor of the Kemp Hotel from 10 a.m. to noon April 22.

"We are inviting all members of the Wichita County Democratic Women's Organization and Democratic women throughout the area, but we do want to emphasize that this coffee is open to the public and we urge all women interested in the candidacy of Gordon McLendon for United States Senator to attend and meet with Mrs. McLendon," Mrs. Harvey said.

McLendon, a graduate of Yale University with an AB degree, was a naval intelligence officer in the combat areas of the South Pacific during World War II.

After leaving the service in 1945, McLendon and his father formed a father-son business partnership principally in the broadcast field. Together they own and operate radio stations in Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, Buffalo, Chicago and San Francisco. In addition, they share interests in motion picture theatres, film production, oil and real estate.

MU Director Of Libraries Is Appointed CONDUCTOR ACCEPTS BLUE JEANS POSITION

Paul Vagt, head librarian at Odessa College, has been named director of libraries at Midwestern University, Dr. N. W. Quick, dean of instruction, said Tuesday.

Vagt succeeds Dr. W. C. Blankenship who resigned to accept a position as associate professor in library science at Wisconsin State College, Whitewater, Wis.

Vagt has been librarian at Odessa College since 1961. From 1953 to '61 he served as head librarian of Howard County Junior College and prior to this as a reference assistant at the University of Texas. He holds a B.A. degree from North Texas State University and his Master of Library Science degree from the University of Texas.

Vagt has held chairmanships of several committees of the Texas Library Association. He is currently chairman of District II and a nominee for vice president of the Texas Library Association.

He holds membership in the American Library Association, Phi Delta Kappa and Gedeons International.

Dr. Quick said, "We feel most fortunate to attract a man with Vagt's experience and training. We know that our library program will continue to go forward under his leadership."

Vagt, his wife and two daughters will move to Wichita Falls in June.

Dr. Walter Charles, Wichita Falls Symphony conductor who has resigned effective following the season's final concert, will become musical director and conductor of the Blue Jeans Philharmonic Orchestra at Estes Park, Colo.

In announcing his association with Blue Jeans, Dr. Charles said the program at Estes Park will be expanded on a year-round basis.

Dr. Charles has been the prime mover of the Blue Jeans Symphony program since it started as a summer program for young musicians in 1960, the year he came to Wichita Falls.

"This has been a dream of mine for four years," Dr. Charles said. "The program has wonderful potential and is a marvelous opportunity for me."

Dr. Charles said when he started the Blue Jeans Orchestra the program had operating funds of only $1,000 but had grown through the years where it now has an annual budget of $40,000 and plans are being made to seek connections with four national foundations for financial help.

Connections have already been made with the Phipps Foundation and the Boettcher Foundation, both of Denver, and talks are being held with representatives of both the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations, Dr. Charles said.

Dr. Charles said the Blue Jeans Orchestra will operate on a full time basis much as it has in the past.

Sister Wins Fellowship

Sister Mary Loyola, chairman of the mathematics department at the Academy of Mary Immaculate, has been granted a National Science Foundation Fellowship in the program of Summer Fellowships for Secondary School Teachers for a tenure of three summers' study at the Catholic University of America.

Specifically, this program emphasizes the ability to pursue graduate level studies, together with potential and demonstrated competence in teaching at the secondary school level. National Science Foundation Fellows are selected on the basis of ability.

In previous summers Sister Mary Loyola has received three National Science Institute Stipends for study at the Catholic University. Especially designed to meet new classroom curricular developments, the institute program differs from the fellowship requirements which necessitate the ability to do original research work at the graduate academic level.

Surveyors Hear Kenneth Mobley

Members of the North Texas Chapter, Texas Surveyors Assn., in their first quarterly meeting of 1964 here this week, heard a report from Kenneth Mobley, Graham, chapter representative, on actions taken at the state board of directors meeting in Austin.

The state officials discussed the possibility of holding a meeting in Dallas and the proposed book to be published by the association entitled "A League To Each Wind," a history of early day surveyors.

Dr. J. L. Watkins, chairman of the geology department at Midwestern University, gave a talk on some of the problems of the scientific divisions of the institution.

George Remmers, chapter president, moderated a question and answer period.
