South's Solons Gain Backing

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 4. — Southern senators picked up additional strength today in the current phase of their wordy fight to save the right of unlimited debate.

With the talk-talk-talk in the fifth day, an Associated Press survey showed that 42 senators—23 Democrats and 19 Republicans—are ready to vote "no" on efforts to gag the debate by a possible ruling from the chair.

Eighteen senators—16 Democrats and two Republicans—went on record in an informal poll saying they would vote "yes."

The score last night was 38 to 17. Today it stood: 42 to 18. The southerners need 49 votes—a majority of the membership — to cinch the issue.

The test is expected next week over a ruling by Vice President Barkley, the Senate presiding officer, on the question whether debate on a motion can be halted by a two-thirds vote. That's what the current oratory is about—a motion to take up a resolution to change the Senate's debate rules. The rule, if adopted, would blunt the filibuster as a tactical weapon in debate. It would permit the Senate to cut off debate at any time by a two-thirds vote of senators present on the floor.

Senator Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the Republican conference, told a reporter he will vote against the expected ruling by Barkley. Previously he had been listed as undecided.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) ruled last year that debate on a motion may not be curbed. As presiding officer under GOP control, Vandenberg threw out a cloture (debate limit) petition during a filibuster. Barkley may reverse that ruling—subject to a final decision by the Senate.

Aside from the 60 senators willing to go on record in the AP survey, others of the total membership of 96 were noncommittal.

Meanwhile, strange doings in and behind the filibuster scene evoked cries of "phony" from Republicans and administration Democrats—against each other.

Area Seed Growers Meet At Tech Today

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, this morning at 9 o'clock will give the address of welcome at the annual meeting of certified seed growers of this area, which is to be held today in Aggie auditorium on the Texas Tech campus.

Approximately 150 agriculturists from within a 200-mile radius of Lubbock are expected to attend. Dr. A. W. Young, professor of Agronomy and head of the department of plant industry at the college, is in charge of the meeting.

Morning and afternoon sessions are to be conducted, with various phases of seed production, marketing, and the like, to be discussed by seed experts. At the close of the meeting, the state seed and plant board will be available to receive applications from prospective growers.

Scheduled during the day is a demonstration of the Gustafson Slurry seed treating machine.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed by voice vote the reappointment of Harris Walthall as collector of customs for district 24 with headquarters at El Paso.

Acid, Flying Glass Splatter Classroom

16 Students Injured In Blast At Graham

(By The Associated Press)

GRAHAM, March 4 — Acid and flying glass injured 16 general science students and their teacher in an explosion in a classroom at Graham high school today.

Three students suffered severe eye injuries when sulphuric acid splattered in the explosion of a defective flask. They, with three others, were in Graham hospital.

Ten students and the instructor, C. E. Smith, were given first aid treatment and told to report to their family physicians.

Smith suffered burns on his face and head. The classroom was damaged slightly.

Dr. R. E. L. Gowan, attending physician, said Joyce Creager, 14, had a small hole burned in the central area of each eye cornea; that Virginia Smith, 14, had severe burns on both eyes, and L. J. Russell, 17, had the whole surface of his left cornea denuded. All are from Graham. Virginia Smith is no relation of the instructor.

In the hospital also were Martha White, 15, of Graham; Edgar Ray Holley, 14, of Loving, Tex., and Harvey Fulbright, 15, of Gene, Tex. They are to be discharged tomorrow.

Gowan said all six had second degree acid burns on the face, arms, and hands. He said full extent of eye injuries to the three would not be known for 24 hours.

Smith laid the explosion to a defective flask. Graham high is a consolidated school. Graham is county seat of Young county and is 60 miles south of Wichita Falls.

School officials said only Smith and the 16 students were in the classroom at the time, and all were huddled around the experiment being conducted with sulphuric acid when the blast occurred.

Smith immediately began tearing off the acid-sprayed outer clothing of the students most seriously burned and sent one of the lesser-injured boys to notify the principal and superintendent.

Style Exhibit To Open Here Today

Preparations were announced as complete late Friday for the Pre-Easter style exhibit starting today in the Lubbock hotel under the sponsorship of the Western Wholesale Market association of the chamber of commerce.

The show will continue through Monday.

Prospects never have been brighter for any of the markets, which have been semi-annual events in Lubbock for more than 20 years, except from 1943 to 1948, according to Luther Godwin, association president.

Exhibitors Begin Arriving

If favorable weather continues, he predicted, it will be one of the most largely attended shows ever held in this area. Prospects as to business volume are more uncertain, but the expectation is that it will be large — possibly record-breaking.

Some of the exhibitors in the market arrived Friday. The majority, however, will purposely delay their arrival until this morning because of inability to secure hotel reservations earlier.

Most of the merchandise exhibits, consisting of women's, men's and children's clothing of all kinds, accessories, home furnishings and the like, are expected to be in place by mid-afternoon.

More than 70 manufacturing and distributing firms, representing all style centers in the country, have reserved space.

Invitations have been extended to 2,500 retailers in West Texas, New Mexico and Western Oklahoma to attend. Most of the visitors are expected to be here Sunday.

PLANE STILL MISSING

MANILA, March 5. (Saturday) (INS)—Search was continued today for the B-29 plane missing since Tuesday when it refueled the round-the-world B-50 "Lucky Lady II" over Manila. Nine persons were aboard when the plane last reported.

Murray To Speak At Meet Here Tonight

William J. Murray, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission, is to be the principal speaker at the 23rd annual Texas Tech Engineering Society banquet at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the main ball room of Hotel Lubbock.

He is to be introduced by Vernon Johnson, a senior electrical engineer at Tech.

Murray's talk will highlight the program, which is to be followed by a dance with music by Ted Crager's orchestra.

W. L. Ducker, head of the petroleum engineering department at Texas Tech, will be toastmaster.

A number of brief talks are scheduled on the banquet program.

Honored guests will include the deans of each of the divisions at Tech, the dean of men and women, and Pres. D. M. Wiggins and Vive-President E. N. Jones of the college.

Senate Group Okays Truman Labor Plan

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4 — Ignoring angry Republican cries of "highhanded" action, the Democratic majority Friday rammed the Truman labor bill through the Senate Labor committee without changing a word. The vote was 8 to 5 on party lines.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate would repeal the Taft-Hartley law and replace it with a modified Wagner act.

Committee approval of the measure was a step—but only one—toward carrying out President Truman's campaign promise to get rid of the T-H measure. Republicans said they would take their fight to the Senate floor. There, they predicted, enough Democrats will join them to keep basic provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

House Group Sets Hearings

Senate action on the administration bill may be delayed for some time because of the current filibuster against the proposal to change the Senate rules. A House Labor subcommittee plans to start hearings Monday on the same bill.

Repeal of the Taft-Hartley law would junk such provisions as the 80-day injunction against "national emergency" strikes, the ban on closed shop and the prohibition against union political spending.

Besides restoring the old Wagner act, the administration bill would make these principal changes in that measure:

Changes Proposed

1. Set up a 30-day cooling off procedure to deal with national emergency strikes, such as in the coal industry. The president would call on the disputants to stay at work while an emergency board investigated and then recommended settlement terms. There is no provision for a court order to enforce the terms or stop strikes. The bill itself relies on the force of public opinion, although Attorney General Clark has said the president has "inherent powers" to which he could resort in an emergency.

2. Ban jurisdictional strikes and some secondary boycotts—those

FFA Leadership Contests Slated

Approximately 400 boys from 44 counties in Northwest Texas will participate in the Future Farmers of America leadership contests which are to be held today at Lubbock Senior High school.

The FFA boys participating are winners in the various events in their own chapters and districts. Nine districts will be represented in today's contest events.

Seven contest events will be conducted today, including: Junior chapter conducting, senior chapter conducting, junior farm demonstration contest, senior farm demonstration contest, junior FFA quit contest, senior FFA quiz contest, and public speaking contest, which is a national contest.

Lubbock Youth On Program

General opening of the meeting will be at 9:30 a. m. in Senior High school auditorium. Alton Brazell, member of the Lubbock FFA chapter and a national FFA officer, will make the address of welcome. A response will be given by LeRoy Thornburg of White Deer, state FFA vice president from area 1. A short address will then be made by R. Llano Barron of Austin, state FFA advisor.

A number of vocational agriculture teachers from Area 4, which lies east of here, will be judges in the various contests. They are Walker P. Todd of Quanah, Francis Todd of Chillicothe, Wade Bailey of Harrold, Marvin Meyers of Crowell, R. E. Ponder of Munday, and J. W. Green of Hermleigh.

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—The House Banking committee today approved a compromise bill to continue rent controls another 15 months and give the government power to prevent any mass eviction of tenants.

The vote was 20 to 4.

An effort to insert an anti-discrimination clause into the legislation was defeated 16 to 9.

Although the bill approved by the committee is not all President Truman asked, some Democrats called it "a good compromise."

Debate Set Thursday

Mr. Truman asked for 24 months extension. The committee said make it 15. Unless renewed, rent controls on about 14,000,000 dwelling places will end March 31.

The bill does not renew the authority for rent increases up to 15 per cent in voluntary leases worked out mutually by landlords and tenants. Such authority under the present rent law expired last December 31.

The measure is set for debate in the House next Thursday. A hot fight is expected there on an amendment aimed at assuring landlords a "fair return on fair value" of their property. This may shape into a major test of administration power.

Discrimination Bar Defeated

The committee settled a "civil rights" controversy by defeating an amendment by Rep. O'Hara (D-Ill) proposing to bar any discrimination because of race, color, religion or national origin under the law's provision giving veterans first priority to rent or buy a new dwelling.

Some committeemen said this would have required rental or sale

Lubbock Pastor To Receive Honorary Degree From TCU

FORT WORTH, March 4. (AP)—A $2,200,000 budget for the fiscal year 1949-50, the conferring of three honorary degrees at the spring commencement and approval of an increased faculty salary scale were voted this afternoon by Texas Christian university trustees.

The honorary degrees will be awarded May 29 to Rev. Travis White, pastor, First Christian church, Lubbock; Rev. Robert F. Jones, pastor, First Presbyterian church, Fort Worth, and President L. H. Hubbard, Texas State College for Women, Denton.

Rev. White and Rev. Jones will receive doctor of divinity degrees and Hubbard a doctor of laws.

Four new trustees were elected and six trustees were reelected. The new trustees are W. M. Sherley, Anna and Lazbuddie, rancher and farmer; Carlos Ashley, Llano and Austin rancher, attorney and state senator; A. D. Weatherley, Amarillo rancher and oilman, and Robert G. Carr, San Angelo oilman.

Trustees reelected were Mrs. L. C. Brite, Marfa; George Kuykendall, Lubbock; D. G. McFadin, Dallas; Ralph B. Shank, Dallas; C. A. Wheeler, Fort Worth and Stanley Thompson, Fort Worth.

Solons Fear New Tension From Move

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 4. — Congressional and diplomatic officials in Washington maintained a "wait and see" attitude tonight over the replacement of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov by his former deputy, Andrei Vishinsky.

Although most officials were non-committal, two congressional leaders who control the purse strings for the armed services indicated that the Soviet move may call for an even greater strengthening of the services.

Mahon In Warning

Rep. Mahon (D-Tex), chairman of the House Subcommittee on Appropriations for the armed services, declared:

"The shift is going to have some effect on our national defense policy. We're going to have to watch closely for any threat to the peace of the world."

Mahon, along with many of his Capitol Hill colleagues, expressed the opinion that Vishinsky would tighten even further Molotov's hard policy against the United States.

Sen. Thomas (D-Okla), chairman of the Senate subcommittee on appropriations for the armed services, commented:

"Russia is losing out in the estimation of the world. We can't afford to take a chance. We'll have to watch developments very closely."

Stiffer Policy Seen

Washington official and diplomatic circles generally voiced surprise at the announcement that Molotov had been "released" from the post of foreign minister, but were cautious about trying to interpret the development.

Officially, the State department refused to comment. Officials simply replied to all queries with the statement that they had nothing to say at this time.

Rep. Martin (R-Mass), minority leader in the new House and speaker in the 80th congress, said:

"I'm afraid that this will make it increasingly difficult for the United States to get along with Russia."

JOHNSON STRESSES AIR POWER

New Defense Secretary Bases Hopes For Peace On Strength

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 4 — Louis A. Johnson, newly-named secretary of defense, said today that "strength means peace." His record indicates that he means "air strength" in particular.

Johnson, who as assistant secretary of war from 1937-40 was a fiery advocate of air power, made his first policy statement after conferring with President Truman at the White House.

Shortly after the conference, in which retiring Defense Secretary Forrestal participated, Mr. Truman sent Johnson's nomination to the Senate where speedy confirmation was expected.

Republican Sen. Brewster, (Me.) derided accusations that Johnson's election campaign fund-raising for the President won him the nomination. He said the charge "does serious injury to a very able man."

Brewster revealed that during World War II when there were reports that Secretary of War Stimson would retire, he and then Sen. Truman joined GOP Senate leader McNary in recommending

Vishinsky Gets Post In Russian Shakeup

Stunning Announcement Is Studied For Possible Shift In Moscow's Policy

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Saturday, March 5—Vyacheslav M. Molotov was replaced last night as Soviet foreign minister by his fiery deputy, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, in a stunning shakeup of Russia's high command.

The Moscow radio made the announcement but gave no explanation. It said merely that Molotov had been released "from the duties of minister of foreign affairs." No mention was made of his other job—deputy prime minister of the Soviet Union.

A. I. Mikoyan, regarded as one of Russia's ablest traders, was replaced as minister of foreign trade by M. A. Menshikov.

Molotov May Be Promoted

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, March 4—One United Nations diplomat said tonight that the release of Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister of Russia means a promotion for him and no change in Soviet policy. But not all of his colleagues agreed completely with him.

This one diplomat, who would not be identified, said that Molotov is being prepared for the post of prime minister held by Josef Stalin.

He pointed out Molotov still is deputy prime minister and now apparently has the inside track in the race to succeed the generalissimo.

Speculation Rife

He said further that the move was meant to take some of the burden of Soviet policy off Molotov's shoulders so he could be ready to step into Stalin's shoes.

When the news first broke United Nations delegates and secretariat officials were amazed and puzzled by the announcement from Moscow.

United Nations sources familiar with the Russian set-up speculated at first that the move might forecast an attempt to get together with the western powers.

Diplomats Puzzled

But they saw next that A. I. Mikoyan, regarded here as one of the most pro-western of the 14-member ruling Politbureau, was being released from his post as minister of foreign trade.

This was taken in UN circles to mean that there would be no change in the near future in Russian policy; that the cold war

See UN OFFICIALS Page 6

May Be Promotion

Capitals of the world were puzzled by the news. It was noted immediately that the changes came during a critical period in the East-West cold war—a diplomatic struggle that has appeared recently to be going against the Soviet union.

In the nations beyond the iron curtain there were a variety of theories as to the meaning of the changes. None were supported by any concrete evidence.

A key United Nations diplomat at Lake Success, N. Y., said Molotov's release actually was a promotion and signified no change in Soviet policy. According to this informant, Molotov is being groomed to succeed aging Josef Stalin as prime minister.

Policy Shift Possible

The round-faced Molotov will be 59 next Monday. He is an "old Bolshevik" who began his revolutionary career when he was 15. Western diplomats long have regarded him as a possible successor to Stalin.

Does the shift in Russia's diplomatic high command mean Russia is preparing to make a greater effort in the cold war, stand pat, or look for a way to make a deal with the West?

Nobody outside the Politbureau—the ruling body of the Soviet Union—knew for sure. Diplomats in Washington thought Russian policy might get tougher or might get softer.

Suffer Diplomatic Defeat

Western minds have been intrigued by the possibility that a fundamental split exists within the Politbureau, with a moderate element favoring an understanding with the western world. President Truman recently made an oblique reference to this possibility.

London's reaction was much like that of Washington. It was recalled that only yesterday Denmark and Norway risked Russia's ire by placing their hopes for security in the projected North Atlantic alliance. Norway rejected a

Man Fatally Hurt In Crash Near Andrews

ANDREWS, March 4 (Special)—James A. Russell, about 23, died in an Andrews hospital this morning of injuries received in a car-truck crash six miles south of here. Russell received head and internal injuries.

Funeral home attendants said that Russell's family lives at Portales, N. M., but expressed the belief that Russell "had been living in Andrews recently."

Other occupants of the car, Mrs. Lawson Russell and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Seal and the driver of the truck, Ray Hagler of Odessa, were not seriously injured. Funeral services for Russell are pending. Burial will be at Portales. No other details of the mishap were available tonight.

Norway, Danes Join Atlantic Pact Talks

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 4. (AP)—Despite Russian pressure, Denmark and Norway today placed their hops for security in the projected North Atlantic alliance.

The Norwegian government officially joined the Atlantic pact negotiations in Washington after rejecting a Russian bid for a non-aggression treaty designed to tie Norway to the East.

Denmark is sending Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen to Washington Tuesday. A government communique said he will seek "the best possible basis for Denmark's final attitude" toward the proposed Atlantic accord.

Although the announcement did not so specify, diplomatic informants here said the Danish government's decision means that Denmark finally has chosen the West. Norway followed a similar procedure, sending her foreign minister, Halvard M. Lange, for exploratory talks with State department officials in Washington last month.

Estimated 100 Persons Attend 'World Day Of Prayer' Meeting

Approximately 100 persons attended the Lubbock observance of the World Day of Prayer Friday morning in the Community center, Sixth and Ave. B, said to be the largest attendance since the annual observance was begun here, some 15 years ago.

The service was sponsored by the Lubbock Church Women's federation. Mrs. J. L. Barstow was program chairman.

Rev. Claude E. Canterbury directed the worship service on the general theme, "The Lord is Thy Keeper." Mrs. O. L. Byrd presented a history of the World Day of Prayer. Music was provided by Mrs. Travis White, Mrs. Chester Gleason and Mrs. Asher Thompson. Meditations were directed by Rev. Paul Mason and Mr. Canterbury. Dedication was by Rabbi Julius Kerman, and benediction was offered by Dr. C. A. Bickley.

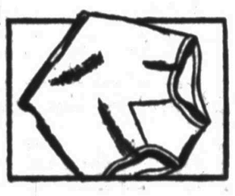

The offering of about $27 went to home and foreign mission work.

Draft Officials End Meet Here

A two-day area meeting of clerks of Selective Service Boards to discuss administrative procedures in regard to records and forms was concluded Friday afternoon in Lubbock Federal building.

Col. Morris Schwartz, deputy director of Selective Service in Texas, gave the introductory speech Thursday morning, and attended a meeting with Selective Service board members Thursday afternoon. He later went to Amarillo to attend a meeting of board members of that territory.

State Official Speaks

R. A. Wahl, state procurement officer, talked on supply and procurement procedure Thursday afternoon. Procedure for medical examinations by local boards was discussed Friday.

Lt. Ross Meredith, state Selective Service legal officer, and Clarence C. Deen, field representative for this area, attended the meeting. The state officials are from Austin and Deen is from Tulia.

Lieutenant Meredith said the Selective Service organization is using the temporary period in which induction and physical examinations are being halted to bring forms and records up to date.

Clerks Attend Meet

Clerks attending were Mrs. Virginia Wyer, Muleshoe; Mrs. Eunice L. Peterson, Hereford; Mrs. Frances C. Starkey, Childress; Mrs. Gladys B. Deen, Lamesa; Mrs. Patsy A. McLane, Odessa; Mrs. Opal V. Chandler, Dalhart; Miss Jo Ann Clements, Plainview; Mrs. Charlynne L. Court, Pampa; Mrs. Lois M. Vaughan, Borger; Mrs. Ada L. Joiner, Jayton; Mrs. Arthur H. Sams, jr., Benjamin; Mrs. Viola L. Younger, Lubbock; Mrs. Ranah B. Wilson, Amarillo; Mrs. Raymond A. Simms, Brownfield, and Mrs. Jean P. Kennedy, Midland.

Local board members attending Thursday afternoon's meeting were T. B. Zellner, George C. Wolffarth, Lubbock; Perry Walker, Tahoka; J. B. Kellet, Jayton; Jess D. Lockhart, Don M. Cook, Plainview; V. R. Beauchamp, Matador; W. M. Luna, Plains; George G. Johnson, Muleshoe; Floyd Coffman, Littlefield; J. Homer Beal, Gail; R. W. Pittman, Seminole; James Rankin, Ralls, and J. M. Willson, Floydada.

Jester Grants Second Stay Of Execution In Stomping Death

AUSTIN, March 4. (AP)—A second stay of execution was granted Friday for Buster Northern, sentenced to death for the stomping to death of a 69-year-old woman.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester said he granted the second 30-day reprieve on the recommendation of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, which is making an investigation of the case.

Northern originally was sentenced to die Feb. 17.

Atwater Kent, Radio Pioneer, Is Claimed

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 4 (BS) — Atwater Kent, wealthy radio and automobile pioneer and benefactor and patron of hundreds of young musicians, died today. He was 75.

The noted philanthropist died at his pretentious Bevery Hills estate, "Cape Di Monte," following a year's illness.

Death was attributed to "complications from a malignant condition."

The multi-millionaire magnate made a fortune in about every field of industry he explored. He first dabbled in automobile parts, creating a revolutionary ignition system used in more than a dozen automobiles.

In 1910 he was the first commercial user of plastic, using it on automobile carburetors. During the first World War his plant was converted to making instruments for the Browning machine gun.

When radio first made its debut, Kent developed the first vacuum tube model which he turned out at the rate of 6,000 per day. He is also credited with introducing the outboard motor for boats.

In later years Kent was known

March 9 Set As Deadline For 'Mother Of Year' Nominations

CLEBURNE, March 4. (AP)—The committee to select the Texas Mother of the Year has set March 9 as the deadline for nominations.

The committee will meet the following Sunday, March 13, in Hotel Texas, Fort Worth, to make the selection.

The committee asked Friday that photographs and letters of recommendation reach state chairman Dollielee Davis Smith, Cleburne, on or before March 9.

The woman chosen as Texas Mother of the Year will be honored in Texas and become state nominee for American Mother of 1949. If she is selected for the national title, an annual Mother's Day celebration, sponsored by the Golden Rule foundation at New York's Waldorf-Astoria, will be held in her honor.

Westerners Crush Highland Park's Scots, 46 To 27

Team Is First Lubbock Quint To Ever Win State Tourney Contest

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

GREGORY GYM, AUSTIN, March 4—Lubbock's Westerners buried Highland Park of Dallas under a 33-point avalanche in the second half here tonight to become the first Lubbock basketball team ever to win a state tournament game, winning 46-27 before 6,000 fans.

The Westerners will meet Brownwood, which defeated Austin 50-46, at 11:30 a. m. Saturday in the semi-final round.

Jim Wilson led the Hub City quintet to victory, searing the hoop with 20 points in the last stanza, after being held to a free throw in the first half. Wilson made his first attempt in the third period, missed the next three and then hit nine consecutive buckets.

Lubbock Rears Back

Lubbock was far off normal form in the first half, hitting only six field goals of 22 attempts for a .27 percentage mark. But the Lubbock cagers roared back in the final two heats to pour 15 shots of 34 attempted through the netting for a .624 percentage mark. Wilson alone had a record of 10 out of 13 for a .76 percentage.

Charles Galey and Jimmy Sexton each chipped in 10 points for Lubbock, while George Hurt had the same number for the Scotties.

After the game, a Highland Park rooter attempted to settle a supposed wrong with one of the referees, but all he got for his efforts was a sharp left jab to the jaw before the pair was separated.

Neither side hit well during the first half and Highland Park controlled the ball most of the time, snagging the rebounds.

Builds Up Advantage

Lubbock went into an early lead when Blair Hankins sank a crip shot and Galey goaled a set shot. The South Plains cage team continued to build up its advantage, with Galey getting two more points, Sexton hitting for four and Wilson snaring a single counter for an 11-7 lead at the quarter.

During the second frame, only Galey was able to mesh the hoop for Lubbock, but Highland Park was held to a single field goal and free throw by the Westerners' tight defense. The Hub City cagers held a 13-10 advantage at the half.

But the Westerners broke loose in the second half with a display of the form that carried them through the District 1-AA season and the bi-district playoffs with Childress. They handled the ball smoothly, controlled the backboard and showed uncanny accuracy from the field.

They began to build up their lead in the third period when Wilson scored six points, Hankins and Sexton two and Galey and Bob Rooker one each. They still couldn't pull far away from the Scots, who trailed them grimly at 35-30.

But Wilson staged a spectacular display in the final canto, bringing roars from the crowd with his 14-point exhibition. His performance touched off Lubbock fireworks that put the game away.

The Scot defense was tight around the basket and Hankins and Galey weren't able to break through often for crip shots. These two players turned in exceptionally fine jobs, as the entire squad showed up well.

STATE FINALS BROADCAST

Finals in Class B, Class A and Class AA at the state basketball tournament in Austin will be broadcast over the Texas Network today. Locally, the games will be heard over KSEL, 950 KC. Class B will be aired at 2 p. m. Class A at 3:30 p. m. and Class AA at 9:15 p. m.

Referee Abb Curtis Socks Highland Park Fan In Disagreement

AUSTIN, March 4 (Special) Highland Park rooters, or two in particular, disagreed with the final outcome of the Lubbock-Highland Park state basketball game here tonight, won by Lubbock 46-27.

When the contest ended, Referee Abb Curtiss came over to the scorer's table and landed a pair of left jabs on a youth who, he declared, had cursed him.

The Associated Press quoted Curtis as saying: "There were two of them and one of them called me a name and the other made a move, so I grabbed them, knocked their heads together and when they swung at me, I hit one of them, the other ran. It is no credit to me to hit school kids, but fans shouldn't start jumping on the officials after a game."

Identity of the two was not revealed, but no one from Lubbock was involved.

Rice Owls Trim Aggies, 53 To 39

COLLEGE STATION, March 4 (AP) — Rice's Owls, played on even terms in the first half, started rolling in the last 20 minutes here tonight to trim Texas A & M, 53-39, and gain a three-way tie with Baylor and Arkansas for the Southwest Conference championship.

Joe McDermott scored from close range 30 seconds before the half to give the Owls a 22-21 margin at the intermission. They maintained a five-to-eight point margin in the last half until the Aggies' rebound man, John Dewitt, fouled out with seven minutes to play.

Then Rice controlled both boards and gradually widened its lead, putting the game on ice at 44-31 with three minutes to go.

The Aggies hit only a small percentage of their shots from the floor while the Owls scored repeatedly by outrunning the Cadets on fast breaks.

Bill Switzer made four fouls in the first seven minutes of the game but stayed the rest of the way without picking up another foul. Bill Tom, the Owls' giant center, fouled the Aggies' Jimmy Kirkland as the final buzzer sounded, ruining his season record of not having fouled out of a Southwest Conference game. Tom tabbed 15 points with 12 of them coming before Dewitt left the court.

The score was tied six times in the wild first half with the Aggies holding margins of 5-3, 17-15, 18-17 and 20-19. McDermott got eight of his 15 points in the first half, while Dewitt, Wally Moon and Bill Turnbow were doing most of the Aggies' scoring.

Tom and McDermott tied for point honors with 15. Dewitt with 11 and Turnbow with ten led the Aggies.

Cincinnati Reds To Hold Tryout Camp Monday At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, March 4. (AP) A Cincinnati Reds sponsored baseball school and try-out camp will open here Monday.

Harry Faulkner, business manager of the Tyler baseball club, said instructors would include Jack Knott, Cincinnati scout; Frank Martin, former major league player; Otto Utt, Duncan, Okla., manager, and Hack Miller, former manager of Tyler.

Pete Cooper, Johnny Palmer Pace St. Petersburg Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 4. (AP)—Pete Cooper, a home grown Floridian, and Johnny Palmer, a North Carolina lad, shot into the lead of the St. Petersburg golf open Friday at the halfway point.

They had 135 for the 36 holes, three strokes better than their nearest competitors.

Palmer blazed his way around the 6,260-yard Pasadena course in 66. Cooper took 67.

San Juan Race Scheduled Today

ARCADIA, Calif., March 4. (AP) The one-two-three finishers in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap get a chance for a re-run of the battle Saturday when the Arcadia oval winds up its season with the $50,000 San Juan Capistrano handicap.

Eleven candidates were named for the grand finale, and just as was the case a week ago in the famed hundred grander, uncertain weather and track conditions throw the race into the wide-open category.

Vulcan's Forge copped the big 'Cap, and apologists for the favored runner-up Dinner Gong, and the highly regarded routing mare, Miss Grillo, who ran third, may get a chance to applaud their color bearers, or moan again.

The San Juan is stretched out to a mile and one half, as compared to the Santa Anita handicap's mile and one quarter.

This prompted some of the marathon horses to step out of their class and challenge the more elite Vulcan's Forge, Miss Grillo, the Gong and other expensive animals, who are noted more for speed than distance running.

The entries, and there may be a scratch or two if it rains and the track is off, read in post position order as follows:

1. Rialto. 2. Rose Beam. 3. Stepfather. 4. Cordiner. 5. Natural. 6. Chagin. 7. Vulcan's Forge. 8. Drumbeat. 9. Miss Grillo. 10. Fast and Fair. 11. Dinner Gong.

North Side's Sam Hunter Will Report To Buffaloes

FORT WORTH, March 4. (U.P.)—Sam Hunter, jr., 19-year-old former pitching star with North Side high school here, Friday was ordered to report to the Houston Buffaloes of the Texas league for spring training March 8 at Seguin, Texas.

Young Hunter, signed last year by the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched the 1948 season for the Duluth Dukes of the Northern league.

Bowie Upset By Port Arthur, 32-26

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

AUSTIN, March 4—Brownwood climaxed a hectic night in the Texas school boy basketball tournament by edging Austin 49-38 to complete the semi-final bracket in the Class AA division.

Previously Lubbock had beaten Highland Park (Dallas), Texas City had trimmed Waco and Port Arthur had downed Bowie (El Paso), 32-26.

Tomorrow morning Brownwood will play Lubbock and Port Arthur will clash with Texas City to determine finalists of the division, champions in Classes A and B also will be crowned.

Crowds totalling 15,000 turned out today and tonight for a thrilling array of games.

Lubbock's victory came after Texas City had ushered Waco out of the tournament, beating the Tigers 38-31 to advance to the semi-finals.

The Port Arthur - Bowie game was a close battle all the way and only in the final two minutes was Port Arthur able to draw to a safe margin.

The teams were tied at the half, 12-12 but Port Arthur held a 21-18 lead going into the fourth period.

Jimmy Bonsall was the Port Arthur ace who did most to wreck Bowie. Bonsall was the game's high scorer with 10 points.

It was the fifth straight close game of the day.

Four of the closest tilts ever played in a row in the tournament sent Big Sandy and Martin's Mill into the Class B finals and Memphis and French (Beaumont) into the Class A title clash before the Class AA field swung into action.

It will be Big Sandy of Livingston vs. Martin Mill at 2:05 p. m. tomorrow while Memphis and French decide the Class A championship at 3:35.

The widest margin by which any team won in today's semi-final round of Class B and Class A was the five-point decision French registered in upsetting favorite Lampasas 28-23 in Class A. In the first Class B game, Big Sandy edged Slidell 39-36 in a double-overtime affair and in the second Martins Mill skimmed past Waelder 40-38.

Memphis eked out over Gaston 29-27 in the opening Cass A semi-final, and the French - Lampasas tilt was closer than the score indicated. Only in the last two and one-half minutes did French boast more than a three-point lead.

Twins Lead Big Sandy

The Dickens twins—Floyd and Lloyd—led Big Sandy to its spine-tingling victory over fighting Slidell, the tournament's giant-killer. Slidell yesterday took out a championship favorite in beating Shallowater 22-26. Floyd Dickens' field goal tied up the game with 10 seconds to play and Lloyd Dickens rammed in a field goal in the first overtime that ended with the score still tied. With 58 seconds gone in the second overtime Floyd Dickens shot one through for victory. Big Sandy was leading 37-36 at the time but two points were necessary to decide the issue under the rules.

Martin's Mill had to come from behind to nick Waelder and it was Leon Black who got the job done. His field goal and free throw tied the score at 35-35 with five minutes left and his field goal with the count tied with 40 seconds to go brought victory after the lead had changed hands twice.

Equally as thrilling was the way the Memphis Cyclones knocked Gaston of Joinerville out of the Class A running. Charley Morrison dropped in a field goal with 30 seconds to play to get the Panhandle quintet into the finals.

NAIB Title Game Slated At Dallas

DALLAS, March 4. (Special)—Texas Tech and East Texas State Teachers college basketball teams will meet in Fair Park Fieldhouse here Saturday night at 8 in the championship game of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball tournament.

Winner of this game will gain the right to represent Texas at the national tournament in Kansas City, Mo., where play opens on Monday.

The Red Raiders qualified for the finals by trouncing an outclassed Abilene Christian college quintet 71-51 Thursday night in Lubbock, while the Lions gained the final rung by edging East Texas Baptist 55-47 in Gladewater.

Tech Represents Loop

Tech, which finished second in the Border Conference, represents that circuit. East Texas State Teachers college represents the Lone Star Conference, East Texas Baptist represented the independent colleges and ACC represented the Texas Conference.

Coach Polk Robison and an 11-man Raider squad, left Lubbock this afternoon for Wichita Falls, where they will have a brief workout Friday night. They will spend the night in Wichita Falls and motor into Dallas Saturday morning.

The Lions probably will not come here before late Saturday afternoon.

For Tech, the game is an especial challenge. They are upholding the reputation of the Border Conference and they also are attempting to prove that they are better than their record in that conference. Not that the Raiders had a bad year. They didn't, but observers feel that the five conference defeats do not measure the strength of the team.

The Raiders have piled up 17 victories in 25 starts this year, not including the defeat of ACC Thursday night. Included among their victims were Southern Methodist twice, Rice, Marshall college, North Texas State Teachers college, McMurry, and 11 Border loop foes.

Probable Starters

Coach Robison's 11-man squad includes his probable starters, Whistle Banks and Wayne Bowles, forwards; Don Grove, center; and Ardis Barton and Wimpy Hill, guards. In reserve will be Gene Gibson, Charley Pinnell, Derwood Patterson, Jiggs Jackson, Bill Eddins and George Belchef.

Dallas was named as the site for the final game after a telephone conference between officials of Tech and ETSTC. Steve Matthews, Lubbock city manager and ETSTC graduate, called accurately a flip of the coin that gave choice of the game site to ETSTC. Bob Barry, athletic director, named Dallas.

Officials for the game will be chosen by the Lions, who will work in conjunction with the Dallas Recreation commission.

Promoter Must Be Gambler Too

Joe Louis Will Need Luck In New Career

By PAT ROBINSON
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 4 — Joe Louis may discover in his career as a fight promoter that a punch in the purse can be much more painful than a sock on the jaw.

He also is sure to discover that to be a successful operator on the big apple a man must be a gambler—and a lucky one at that.

And by gambler we don't mean a bookie—who never risks anything—but a man who is willing to back his judgment with his own money.

Joe is a gambler at heart. He thinks nothing of betting a $1000 a hole in golf match. That's pretty stiff gambling to most of us. But it is mere chicken feed to the risks sometimes involved in promoting a title heavyweight fight.

Mike Jacobs could tell Joe something about that. Mike also could warn him about many a strangle angle he's likely to run into where he's expecting a curve.

Mike himself has been one of the biggest — and luckiest — gamblers the sports world ever knew.

Several times he has had more than $100,000 of his own money out before a title fight. He actually was $125,000 in the red before winning the legal battle that gave Joe Louis his crack at Jim Braddock's title.

Had Mike lost that court battle he would have been out not only the $125,000, but woud have been subject to a damage suit by Madison Square Garden.

Louis himself was "in" to Mike, as they say in the fight racket, for $100,000 before the first fight with Billy Conn and Conn was "in" to Mike for about $40,000 at the same time. Louis actually owes Mike money right now, according to Mike's lawyer, Sol Strauss. Sol wouldn't say how much, but it is generally believed to be around $20,000.

Louis also is going to find out that he, too, will have to lay out advance money to fighters and managers to keep them in line or keep them away from a rival promoter.

Jacobs always has done this. We know of two prominent fight managers who died owing Mike respectively $11,000 and $10,000.

We have said Lady Luck has to smile on a promoter if he is to succeed. Jacobs has been particularly lucky all his life in this respect. Even the weather man almost always has been in his corner for outdoor fights.

These are just a few of the things awaiting Louis.

PEP MAY FIGHT FOR TITLE

HAVANA, March 4. (AP)—Lou Viscusi, manager of featherweight champion Willie Pep, said Friday night he was negotiating with Joe Louis to stage a featherweight title fight in New York this summer. The bout would be held in the Polo Grounds, Viscusi said.

ETSTC, Tech Have Similar Records

(Special To The Avalanche)

COMMERCE, March 4 — Coach Darrell Tully's East Texas State Teachers college Lions have a season's record of 14 victories in 22 games, almost the same percentage compiled by Texas Tech, their opponents tomorrow night in Dallas.

Like the Techsans, the Lions didn't win the title in the Lone Star Conference, but they can finish no worse than second. Stephen F. Austin beat SWTSTC last night to clinch first place, after the Lions had led most of the season.

The 1949 Lion squad is composed largely of veterans from the 1948 team which won 19 games while losing only four. Last year, as this, the Lions represented the Lone Satr Loop in the NAIB playoff, losing to Texas Wesleyan in the semi-finals.

Averages 56.6 Points

This year's quintet holds an average of 56.6 points per game, while the opponents have averaged 53.3 per contest. In 12 conference tilts, the Lions ran up 671 points to opponents' 579.

Ben Hogan Said To Be Improved

EL PASO, March 4 (AP)—Steady improvement was reported late today in the condition of Ben Hogan.

That was the word from the El Paso hospital (Hotel Dieu) where the golf champion last night underwent a two-hour abdominal operation. The surgery was described as necessary to halt a blood seepage causing formation of clots which threatened his life.

"Ben is doing fine," said Royal Hogan, a brother. "He is still a little hazy as a result of the operation, but his pain has cleared up. We are very well pleased with his condition."

Blood clots troubling the links star were the after-effect of a Feb. 2 highway collision near Van Horn, Tex., in which Hogan's pelvis, ankle and collarbone were broken. He has been hospitalized here since.

Dr. Alton Ochsner, professor of surgery at Tulane university, flew to El Paso from New Orleans yesterday to consult with Hogan's other physicians. His decision to operate came almost at once.

The delicate operation will prevent formation of more clots which might go to the heart, the surgeon said.

Hogan should recover from the operation in a week, Dr. Ochsner said, but it will be at least several months before he is up and about.

HORNE SINKS HOLE-IN-ONE

High Baseball Brass Not Worried

Reserve Clause Goes To Supreme Court

NEW YORK, March 4 (INS) — Baseball isn't one bit worried about what the Supreme court may do in the Danny Gardella case, and proved it today by calling "secret practice" behind locked ventilators and plugged keyholes.

The reported scene of this high-panel assemblage is Commissioner Chandler's winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., the time, early next week, though such details weren't available through official channels.

The brass hattery, in fact, seemed loath to admit that a meeting was to be held for this specific purpose. Or that fear was being felt for the future of baseball's controversial reserve-clause.

But that isn't the way one of the ball field's hierarchy talked on the telephone today, person-to-person. Said he, confidentially:

"Am I worried about what the supreme court may decide on the reserve-clause? Speaking officially, the answer is—No!

"Speaking otherwise, I'm worried plenty."

Just why, he wouldn't say; but a discreet inquiry among other sources revealed this much:

1. The legality of the reserve-clause is menaced by the introduction of two modern factors—radio and television.

2. Gardella's case against baseball and, specifically, the New York Giants, has some undisclosed features that might assume a certain significance in the minds of those nine solemn men in judicial black.

The broadcasting feature didn't exist when back in 1922, the supreme court ruled that the reserve-clause — by which a player remains the property of his employer, between contracts — was valid for one reason: That baseball wasn't engaged in interstate commerce.

That's why the court of appeals threw out that decision a couple of weeks ago and sent the Gardella case back for a new verdict.

Baseball, the appeals court held, had since come within the meaning of interstate commerce—via the radio. What the final court will hold, of course, is something that only legal whim and circumstances may devise.

There is, for example, the incalculable damage that an adverse decision would inflict upon baseball.

Utah Accepts Invite To National Tourney

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—Utah, winner of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament in 1947, Friday accepted a bid to play in the tourney this year.

The Utes, with a record of 23 wins and six losses, become the fifth quintet to be named for the event, which is scheduled for Madison Square Garden on March 12, 14, 17, and 19.

The other four which have already entered, are Kentucky, St. Louis, last year's winner, Western Kentucky and Bradley.

Utah has played in two other tourneys, the one which it won in '47 and in 1944, when it was eliminated by Kentucky. Utah won the NCAA title that year. Ironically, the Utes whipped Adolph Rupp's Kentucky five in the '47 finals of the NIT.

Along with the announcement that Utah had been invited, Asa Bushnell, tournament manager, said that the committee had been instructed to name two New York schools by the metropolitan Intercollegiate Basketball Association which sponsors the tourney.

He leads the conference in scoring with 191 points and has caged 358 points over the season. He also has dumped in 80 free throws in 160 attempts.

Whitten Scoring Ace

Charley "Shorty" Whitten of Blossom is another scoring ace for the Lions. Whitten was a member of the Blossom quintet that went to the state finals in 1944 and followed that play with three letters at Paris Junior college.

Whitten is six feet tall, scored 302 points in 22 games this year and had 160 counters in 12 conference games.

Jimmy Fountain of East Mountain is a freshman star with the Lions. Fountain played for East Mountain High school last year and was an all-state selection.

was an upset. The concensus after yesterday's first round was that the Badgers were the best team in the tournament, but French battled from behind to take a 23-18 lead at the end of the third period and held the lead the rest of the way although it was mighty close until the final three minutes. It was a very rough game with French being charged with 16 fouls.

Muleshoe Trackmen Take Second

Whiteface Captures Track, Field Meet

WHITEFACE, March 4 (Special) The track and field season got underway this afternoon with Whiteface High school racking up 69 points to top squads from Muleshoe and Morton in a three-school meet here.

Muleshoe took second place with 67½ points and Morton ended up with 15½ points.

Davis and Gilbert of Whiteface tied for first in the 120-yard high hurdles at 19.4 seconds. McCarty of Muleshoe copped the 100-yard event in 11.1 seconds.

In the 440-yard dash, Harvey of Muleshoe won in 60 seconds. The 200-yard low hurdles were taken by Cummings of Muleshoe in 27 flat. Muleshoe's team won the 440 relay event in 51.5 seconds and Galvan of Whiteface ran the 880-yard dash in 2 minutes, 32 seconds.

McCarty of Muleshoe took the 220-yard dash in 25 seconds flat, and Gaede of Muleshoe ran the mile in 5 minutes, 25 seconds. Mile relay honors went to Muleshoe in 4 minutes, 8 seconds.

Davis, Howard and Plunkett gained a three-way pole vault tie, making 8 feet, 6 inches. All were from Whiteface.

The high jump also ended in a three-way tie. Padgett, Pritchard and Dickerson all made it at 5 feet, 2 inches.

Goss of Muleshoe threw the shot-put 36 feet to gain top honors. In the discus throw, Dickerson of Whiteface won with a heave of 104 feet, 2 inches.

Broad jump honors went to Spivey of Muleshoe at 17 feet, 10 inches.

The high point men were Dickerson, Whiteface, with 13½ points, McCarty, Muleshoe, with 12½ points and Davis, Whiteface, with 11 5/6 points.

Committee Continued Search For Documents In Communist Probe

Hiss of years before, the fruitlessness of those inquiries, and Alger's pro-Russian sentiments expressed in State department meetings.

On August 28, 1948, lacking documentary evidence that secret government information had been stolen, and having heard from or testimony concerning 40 persons, the committee issued an interim report. I quote portions of it:

"It should be noted that the stark fact that Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers, a self-confessed paid Communist functionary and espionage agent, were acquainted with each other, and did have numerous transactions and associations together, is of far greater significance than whether Chambers was known to Hiss by the name of 'Carl' or of 'George Crosley.' This fact has been established without challenge, although through the years it had been established by no other investigation.

"THE refusal of Nathan Witt, John Abt, Henry Collins, Lee Pressman and Victor Perlo to answer any questions concerning their activities as members of this group on the ground of self-incrimination, and to answer as to whether or not they were members of the Communist party during that period, is in itself strong corroborative evidence for Chambers' story.

"The confrontation of the two men (Hiss and Chambers) and the attendant testimony from both witnesses has definitely shifted the burden of proof from Chambers to Hiss, in the opinion of this committee. Up to now, the verifiable portions of Chambers' testimony have stood up strong; the verifiable portions of Hiss' testimony have been badly shaken and are primarily refuted by the testimony of Hiss versus Hiss, as the complete text of the printed hearings will reveal."

The committee report called Hiss' testimony, in part, "vague and evasive." It called on Attorney General Tom Clark to forward to Congress at the earliest possible date recommendations for strengthening the espionage laws "so that they will be adequate to deal with the Communist conspiracy."

Asked Recall Of Jury

We asked Mr. Clark to call the New York Special Grand Jury back into session to consider the testimony we had developed. "The public has the clear right to have this proceeding concluded by indictments where indicated, by a no true bill where warranted, and by a full report by the attorney general on his disposition of the case," the report read. We asked that other steps be taken to control Communism, and we promised further exploration of the case.

But momentous events were in the making.

Shortly after Chambers' last appearance on our witness stand he, in response to Hiss' challenge, appeared on a radio program and accused Hiss of most of the things he had said under congressional hearing immunity.

In view of the indignation in Hiss' voice, at the time he challenged Chambers to repeat his charges in public, I expected Hiss to file a libel or slander suit the following day. It took him a month.

In the meanwhile, the committee was dealt a series of blows. Chairman J. Parnell Thomas was indicted on a "kickback" charge after a hearing that came to a boil in record time—compared to the leisurely indifference the Justice department has shown in prosecuting many of those subversives whose names and records we have delivered. Reps. McDowell and Vail were defeated in the November elections. Rep. Mundt ran for and was elected to the Senate. The sweeping Democratic victory presaged an end to the committee as I knew it.

Then a Hiss attorney, during a pre-trial examination of Mrs. Chambers in Baltimore, in which district Hiss had lodged his slander suits against Chambers, made a historic blunder.

WHAT he said to Mrs. Chambers may never be known. Whatever was said outraged Chambers, a man normally slow to anger. As he said later to Rep. Nixon, a fellow Quaker:

"You will understand this. When I testified before the committee last August I wanted to expose the Communist conspiracy, but I did not want to destroy the humans involved. I sat for a whole day in meditation, as to what I should do. Finally I came to the conclusion that I could go just so far, and achieve exposure without destroying the families of the people involved.

"But after my testimony they spread stories that I was insane and that I was a pervert.

"Then they called in my wife and were very rough with her. It made me angry. I know as a Quaker I must never act in anger. So I sat for another day, and I came to the conclusion that the only thing to do was to tell everything I knew, to spare no one. This thing must be stopped. Look what they're doing in China and Eastern Europe. We've got to know what we're confronted with in this country."

Documents Finally Offered

But no one knew of the man's tremendous decision until November 17, 1948, when he was next called by Hiss' attorneys for a pre-trial examination.

There had never been any suggestion that documentary evidence existed in the Hiss-Chambers case. But it is routine for lawyers to ask, and they did ask Chambers, if he had any documentary material to support his allegations.

He reached in his pocket and drew out a sheaf of typewritten documents.

"Alger Hiss gave me these when we worked together in the Communist conspiracy," he said. They were copies, he said, of secret State department records. There were 65 of them.

It was a bombshell whose sound almost immediately reached the ears of Alexander Campbell, head of the Criminal division of the Department of Justice. He rushed to Baltimore and took personal possession of the papers. He imposed secrecy on all concerned.

BUT the committee, which appeared to be going down the drain, knew nothing of this at the time. Two weeks later, however, a Chambers attorney named Nicholas Vazzana came into my office to ask permission to examine Hiss' file and to secure a copy of the testimony of the previous summer. He had visited us before, but now there was something different about him.

He seemed unusually pleased with himself, and I asked him why.

"Can't talk," he said, "or I might be held in contempt of court."

Something prompted me to keep him around the premises. I suggested that we go up and say hello to Rep. Nixon. "You'll like him," I said. I took him to see the young Californian and we chatted amiably for a time before I brought up the hint he had dropped.

"I can't discuss it with either of you," Vazzana said. "But I suppose I can tell you it has something to do with the Hiss-Chambers libel suit, and it concerns documents."

I doubt if Nixon and I were able to maintain our poker faces when he mentioned "documents." But he would go no further.

On December 11, 1948, an item in a Washington column made reference to "new and sensational" information in the Hiss-Chambers case.

BUT on that very afternoon, a reporter who has a close tie-in with the Justice department, and whose stories usually reflected unspoken Justice department policy, wrote that the department was ready to drop the whole Hiss-Chambers case. The committee's demands for a perjury action did not hold water, the Justice department "source" stated. He added that the department saw no need of presenting the case to the New York Grand Jury.

This, I must repeat, was after the department had come into possession of the 65 documents. To double-check, we had newspaper friends of the committee call the Justice department to inquire whether there was a new development in the case which had concerned us for so long. They were told, uniformly, that the case was "dead."

All I had to go on was Vazzana's hint and the item about "new and sensational" evidence in the Washington column. But I had an overpowering feeling that I must see Chambers again. Congressman Nixon had made all arrangements to take his wife to Panama on their first vacation in three years. They were packed.

I found myself developing a slight frenzy to question Chambers further, and that frenzy proved contagious. Though he had precious little time before his ship sailed from New York, Nixon hopped in the car with me and we drove—faster than the law allowed—to Chambers' Maryland farm.

of properties to white and colored veterans in the same apartment buildings and in the same communities.

Some of the major provisions of the new bill:

1. The rent administrator would be authorized to establish rules and regulations on evictions. Some landlords, including the Rev. Wallace Murphy of Tulsa, have threatened to go out of the renting business in protest against continued rent controls.

Penalties Turned Down

2. The government would be given power to sue a landlord for damages amounting to three times any charge against a tenant above rent ceilings. Tenants, not the government, have authority to sue now.

3. The rent administrator would be authorized to recontrol any rental area decontrolled since June 30, 1947, except where decontrol resulted from a decision by the emergency court of appeals.

The committee turned down an administration proposal to impose fines up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to one year for landlords convicted of wilfully violating rent ceilings.

On the other hand it turned down 12 to 11 an amendment by Rep. Brown (D-Ga) that would have required the rent administrator to set rent ceilings so as to provide "reasonable return on fair value" of rental property.

Truman Asks Solons To Approve Changes In State Department

WASHINGTON, March 4 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to approve some organizational changes in the State department and the foreign service.

In a special message he requested legislation to:

1—Create additional assistant secretaries of state to permit the department to "organize its principal activities on a geographic basis." The department now has five assistant secretaries and wants to add two more.

2—Give certain powers vested by the Foreign Service Act of 1946 in subordinate officials to the secretary, subject to his delegation.

"This action," the President said, "is needed to provide the secretary with authority commensurate with his responsibilities."

He said it is also needed to apply the principal strongly recommended by the Hoover government reorganization commission, of clarifying the lines of responsibility and authority.

MARKET IS SLOWED

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—The stock market remained stuck fast today in the grip of traders' caution.

Price changes were mostly fractional and gains and losses almost evenly divided.

Turnover amounted to only 720,000 shares, a step above yesterday's 600,000 (the second lowest figure of the year) but still nothing for business-starved brokers to get excited about.

Prices were marked down a bit over a wide front during the first hour and stayed there until late in the session. Buying interest—never aggressive—expanded a trifle and many early losses changed into gains.

Several issues responded to news specifically affecting them. Amerada Petroleum, for instance, jumped 4½ to 95¾ after a report that the company made what might be an important oil discovery in New Mexico.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 62.6. The utility and rail components were unchanged and the industrial group a shade lower.

Of the 914 issues which traded, 335 advanced and 307 declined.

Ending on top were U. S. Steel, Gulf Oil, Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ), Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, Magnavox, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Southern California Edison, Kennecott Copper, General Electric, and Radio Corp.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 4. (AP)—Cotton futures moved lower today in slow dealings on scattered liquidation and hedging. Offerings met scale down mill buying and short covering. The cotton textile market was dull and traders found nothing new in the export situation.

Private Atlanta advices said that there was some improvement in mill buying of sport cotton during the past week, with a good demand for clean spotted grades and tinges at much higher prices than prevailed a few weeks ago.

Late afternoon prices were unchanged to 30 cents a bale lower than the previous close. March 32.31, May 32.17 and July 31.06.

Cotton futures turned steady in late dealings on short covering and mill buying which disclosed a scarcity of offerings.

Futures closed unchanged to 15 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

New Tension Feared

minority leader, said:

"If all the reports we hear are true it indicates Vishinsky will maintain a stiffer policy against the United States than Molotov ever did."

Most congressional leaders declined to comment until further information had been obtained as to the significance of the moves.

This was the attitude taken by Sen. Connally (D-Tex) chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich), ranking minority member of the committee and former chairman, replied to the news with a terse "no comment."

TOP AMERICAN DIPLOMATS SILENT ON SOVIET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 4. (INS)—Top American diplomats refused to speculate or comment tonight on the Moscow announcement that V. M. Molotov was relieved of his post as Soviet foreign minister and succeeded by Andrei Vishinsky.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, John Foster Dulles, Bernard Baruch and other top American leaders were gathered in New York to attend the tenth anniversary dinner of the Overseas Press club honoring former Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

Both Gen. Marshall and Secretary of State Acheson declined comment on the Moscow announcement.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (R-Mass), in a speech later, said the United States "would react effectively if war broke out in Europe."

Germany's famed Hannover Trade Fair will be so big in 1949 (April) that it will be held in two sections and only German firms will get exhibit space.

Last Rites For J. A. Jackson Scheduled In Anton Sunday

Funeral services for J. A. Jackson, 71, retired farmer of Anton, who died unexpectedly at his home about 8:15 a.m. Friday, will be conducted Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist church of Anton, Rev. W. M. Draper, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Anton cemetery under direction of Rix Funeral home of Lubbock.

Jackson, who had been in ill health for the past few years, had been a resident of Anton since 1925. A son, A. F. Jackson, preceded him in death two years ago.

Survivors include his wife; four daughters, Mrs. A. W. Strimple of Von Army; Mrs. L. F. Wolsch of Austin, Mrs. J. T. Turner of Wharton, and Mrs. P. L. Farmer, Nacogdoches; two sons, J. H. Jackson of Ropesville and C. A. Jackson, Anton; one brother, Will J. Jackson, Fort Worth; three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Holcomb and Mrs. Laura Evans, both of Oklahoma City, and Mrs. J. T. Howell, Lubbock; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mother Faces Murder Charge In Death Of New Mexico Child

ARTESIA, N. M., March 4. (INS)—Mrs. Marion Della Varner of Artesia was charged with murder today in the death of her 20-month-old daughter, Ramona, who died following a whipping yesterday.

A coroner's jury found that death was caused by cerebral and abdominal hemorrhages resulting from external injuries.

Police Chief O. T. Lindsey said the 22-year-old mother admitted whipping the baby with her hand. She took the child to a hospital where it died a few hours later.

Molotov 'Out,' Vishinsky 'In'

Russian offer for a non-aggression treaty. It was a diplomatic defeat for the Soviet Union.

Vishinsky's reputation as a firebrand orator would not appear to indicate that Russia was backing down in the cold war. As deputy foreign minister, Vishinsky has attended virtually all the important inter-allied and United Nations conferences since 1945.

Knows Way Around

In international councils the slang term "Vishinskyism" has come to mean a vitriolic type of oratory.

Vishinsky knows how to maneuver his way in the intricate and sometimes dangerous channels of Soviet politics. One evidence of this is the fact that originally he was a member of the Menshevik faction which ultimately lost out to the Bolsheviks.

It was during the Moscow trials of 1936 and 1937 that Vishinsky first gained world attention. He was the prosecutor. So well did he do his work that more than a dozen of the early revolutionists who had fought at Lenin's side were condemned.

Vishinsky recently returned to Moscow after being treated in Czechoslovakia for what was described as a serious illness. He is 66.

Actually all that the world knew about the change was contained in this Russian broadcast:

"The presidium of the Supreme Soviet has released the deputy chairman of the council of ministers of the USSR, Comrade V. M. Molotov from the duties of minister of foreign affairs of the USSR and has appointed A. Y. Vishinsky foreign minister of the USSR.

"The presidium of the Supreme Soviet has released the deputy chairman of the council of the ministers of the USSR, A. I. Mikoyan, from the post of minister of foreign trade and has appointed M. A. Menshikov in his place."

Stalin In Ill Health

If the theory that Molotov is being groomed for a promotion actually is correct, a second question naturally follows. Is Stalin, who was 69 last December, preparing to step aside as the leader of Russia's millions? He has been reported in poor health since the war.

It has never been clear in western minds how a change of power would take place in Russia in the event of Stalin's sudden death. There has been speculation that the top leaders might then grapple among themselves for the top spot. It is generally assumed the one who would gain complete control over the police and military apparatus first would win. Now, diplomats asked, is this true?

Mikoyan, the retiring minister of foreign trade, has been regarded as one of the most pro-western members of the Politbureau. He is a witty, polite Armenian. Many international businessmen regard him as a sharp bargainer.

Reds Shift Line

Mikoyan also has been considered as high on the list of possible successors to Stalin. His chances, however, were not regarded as anywhere near as good as those of Molotov.

Menshikov is not so well known abroad. He has been vice minister of foreign trade.

The Russian shakeup came at a time when Communists outside Russia have shifted their line. Early in the year they were declaring there was no reason why Communist and capitalist countries could not exist peacefully side-by-side.

Within the past week Communist spokesmen of France, Italy, Britain, Germany, the United States, Austria, Finland and Denmark have said that western Communists would back the Soviet Union in the event of war between the East and West.

Now the non-Communist world will wait to see whether the appointment of Vishinsky as Soviet foreign minister will bring another shift in the Communist line.

A watch also will be kept for pictures of Soviet leaders. Heretofore Molotov usually has been photographed standing close to Stalin.

In the nine districts which comprise Area 1, there are 74 FFA chapters. Total FFA membership in the area is approximately 3,000.

Air Force Removes Bodies Of Nine Killed In Mexican Crash

SAN ANTONIO, March 4 (AP)—Air Force personnel today engaged in the sad, laborious task of removing the bodies of nine C-47 transport crash victims from a 1,800-foot mountain peak in northern Mexico.

The site of the wreck was approximately 100 miles southwest of Del Rio, Texas.

The plane struck the peak and burned last Monday. It was on a flight from Hamilton Air Force base, Calif., its home field, to Kelly field, San Antonio. The craft was believed to have got off its course in trying to avoid a thunderstorm over West Texas.

The wreckage was discovered yesterday by a ranch woman. Later, Capt. Russell D. Webb of Kelly field flew over the scene. He said had the craft flown only 300 feet to the right it would have missed the summit.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Perry W. Erikson of 1909 Ave. E on birth of a son weighing 7 pounds 13½ ounces at 5:49 p. m. Friday in West Texas hospital. The father is a rate clerk with the Inter-city Motor Express.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Baxter of Levelland on birth of a son weighing 9 pounds 12 ounces at 5:44 p. m. Friday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. The father is employed by Livermore Oil company.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dycus of Bakersfield on birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds, 1½ ounces, at 11 a. m. Friday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. The father is a farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herrick, 2625 Ruby, on birth of a daughter weighing 6 pounds, 7 ounces, at 11:18 a. m. Friday at St. Mary's hospital. The father is a printer with Wood Printing company.

Minor Offenses

check law violation complaint.

A 35mm camera valued at $70 was reported stolen from Leona Sanderson of 820 Ave. J.

In an action styled Ex parte Roscoe Taylor and Margaret Atkins, in the 72nd district court, Judge Dan Blair entered a judgment in which he recited that the petitioners had made application for a writ of habeas corpus directed to Chief of Police Lewis Kittrell and Dr. L. B. Woods, city health officer.

The court further said that the writ had been issued directing that the petitioners be taken before the court but that, at the time set for the hearing, laboratory tests of the petitioners had been run. That, the court said, resulted in the writ's becoming a moot question, so it was ordered that the cause be dismissed and that Taylor and Miss Atkins be remanded to the chief of police "to await any action pending against them."

Costs of court were adjudged against petitioners.

Miss Atkins, 20, who had pleaded innocent of a charge of vagrancy by prostitution, was released later in the day on posting of $100 bond. Taylor, 56, a porter at the hotel where both were arrested, was not charged.

Casimiro Jaramillo, 30, a Mexican, was arrested here Friday afternoon and held in custody after a capias after mandate had been received by the sheriff's department from Sheriff W. L. Stout of Dallas county.

The arrest was by Deps. Sheriff Tom Cannon and Raymond Land, at rear of an address in 100-block Ave. R.

The capias recited that Jaramillo had been convicted of assault with intent to murder without malice and that judgment was handed down May 14, 1948, in the district court of Dallam county. The defendant was sentenced June 22, after a new trial motion was denied. He appealed, but the judgment and sentence were affirmed by the court of criminal appeals, as shown by a mandate received Jan. 31.

Johnny Nell Day of New Commercial hotel informed police that about $30 worth of clothing had been stolen from her room there last night. A more thorough check of missing property was being made, she said.

Lee Ivey, 50, of Myrtle Drive, charged in connection with the Sunday knife slaying of Leonard Earl Bailey, about 50, also of Myrtle drive, posted bond of $7,500 last night, the sheriff's department said.

UN Officials Amazed

would go on and that Molotov's successor, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, would have a free hand for more bitter attacks on western policies.

Other United Nations diplomats said they were not certain that the move meant an eventual promotion for Molotov—but they said frankly they were puzzled and they would have to await developments.

Vishinsky carried out his instructions at the Paris assembly of the United Nations last fall obviously to the satisfaction of his superiors in Moscow. He made many speeches attacking the United States, Britain and France and closed the assembly on the sour note that nothing had been accomplished at that session.

Vishinsky had been expected to head the Russian delegation to the United Nations Assembly in New York City beginning April 5. This merely is an extension of the Paris session, which failed to complete its work last December.

The Vishinsky promotion raised the question whether he would come, or leave the chief delegate's job here to his resident ambassador, Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik.

Malik was at Lake Success today for the Security Council meeting at which Israel's application for membership was approved. But he had left the headquarters before the startling information from Moscow was received.

(Malik received the Moscow radio announcement as he stepped into his car to go home, The International News Service reported. He made it clear there can be no comment. But his obvious surprise indicated that he had no prior knowledge of the change.)

A member of his staff said the delegation had no comment on the developments.

There is a possibility, some UN persons said, that Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister who was a delegate here until last summer, would return as one of the delegation.

Gromyko went to Russia last year for his first vacation at home since the war. After a long rest in the Crimea, he went back to Moscow and was reported at work there in the foreign ministry.

M. Lewis, pastor, officiating. Services originally were to be conducted Friday, but were postponed when a son's plane trip here was delayed. Dr. Jackson, prominent Lubbock dentist, will be buried in Tech Memorial Park under direction of Rix Funeral home.

Two earthquakes were recorded on the seismograph instruments at Texas Technological college within less than 12 hours time, according to Dr. Leroy T. Patton, of the Texas Tech department of geology. The first, recorded on the seismograph machine at 7:36 p.m. Thursday, was thought to have occurred about 1,300 miles from Lubbock. The second, recorded at 4:33 a.m. Friday, was estimated to be about 1,700 miles distant. Data on the two tremors was not sufficiently clear to permit exact location of the two earthquake centers.

Keith Miller and E. O. Sharp, both of the Crystal Ice Co., of Lubbock, have been awarded certificates of achievement by the National Ice Marketing institute of Washington, D. C., it was announced there. The certificates, it was explained, signify completion by the Lubbock men of a two-weeks course in merchandising sponsored by the personnel training and marketing department of the National Association of Ice Industries.

The E. Y. Lee chapter, Order of DeMolay, will initiate a class of candidates at 3 p.m. Sunday in Masonic hall. A special invitation to attend has been extended to all Master Masons.

C. F. Ellison, 81, who lives on East Broadway, and who was injured in a fall Thursday afternoon at the construction site of the new grain elevator being built on the Slaton highway, last night was "resting just fine" in West Texas hospital, where he was taken for treatment. His injuries included a compound fracture of the right arm near the wrist, a severe laceration of the scalp, and a compound fracture of both bones of the right leg below the knee.

Tech Student Treated For Minor Injuries After Car Overturns

Jerry LeMond, 21, of Amarillo, senior Arts and Sciences student at Texas Tech, was treated for bruises and lacerations by a physician at West Texas hospital early Friday morning, after his car had turned over about two and one-half times on the Idalou highway about five miles from Lubbock.

A highway patrolman, who investigated the mishap, gave the following account:

A Ben E. Keith company truck, driven by Ralph Olive of East Broadway, was going east on the highway when wheel lugs became loosened and the truck was forced to stop. After placing flares, the driver left to summon help. The 1947 Ford convertible driven by LeMond ran up on the truck in a heavy fog, swerved to the right to avoid a collision and overturned in the bar ditch.

A 1949 Ford, driven by Homer S. Sanders of Muleshoe, which was also going east behind LeMond, came unexpectedly upon the accident and swerved, the left rear of his car colliding with the right rear of the truck. Sanders was treated at a Ralls hospital for a gash in his head which required two or three sutures to close, the investigating patrolman said.

BOB WILLS ILL

FORT WORTH, March 4. (AP)—Bob Wills, 44, hillbilly band leader and composer, was reported in improved condition Friday at Harris hospital, where he was taken early this week suffering from a kidney ailment. Wills was under an oxygen tent Thursday.

Judging Set Today In Show At Cooper

Judging of livestock today will highlight the second day of events of Cooper High school's annual Future Farmers of America fat stock show.

Jason O. Gordon of Lubbock, manager of the Rowand and Gordon Company, will judge the livestock entries.

The naming of champions is scheduled for this afternoon.

Friday, all beef calves, dairy heifers, lambs, ewes, poultry, crops and educational exhibits were entered. Most of the day was used for preparing for the exhibits and fitting animals for showing.

T. L. Leach of the agricultural education department of Texas Tech began judging poultry, crops and miscellaneous exhibits Friday afternoon. Results of this judging were not shown last night, however. The show is entirely managed and financed by members of the Cooper FFA chapter. John B. Allen is general superintendent. Awards to winners will consist of ribbons for class placings and rosettes for champions.

Labor Bill Advances

which are not carried on in support of wage or other economic demands. (In a jurisdictional strike one union tries to beat out another union. In a secondary boycott, a union having a dispute with one company tries to keep other firms from doing business with that company.

Session Is Stormy

3. Make it "public policy" for labor contracts to contain clauses providing for arbitration of disputes over interpretation of contracts.

4. Return the Federal Conciliation service to the Labor department. The Taft-Hartley law made it an independent agency.

5. Void state laws which ban the closed shop or any other form of compulsory union membership.

Friday's behind-closed doors committee session and the news conference which followed were every bit as stormy and as explosive as the public hearings on the bill which closed nine days ago.

Senator Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah), the committee chairman, opened the dramatic meeting with reporters. All 13 members of the committee were present, the Democrats on one side, the Republicans on the other.

Taft Angered

Thomas announced that the administration bill, which he introduced, had been approved without change, with the eight Democrats voting for it and the five Republicans solidly opposed.

Then Senator Taft (R-Ohio), the senior minority member and co-author of the Taft-Hartley law, spoke up quietly but angrily. He said:

"In my opinion, this was the most high-handed procedure in any committee since I have been a member of the Senate."

Taft said he and Senator Morse (R-Ore.) had attempted to bring up two amendments, but were ruled out of order by Thomas "on a technicality." Thomas ruled that the motion before the committee dealt with approval of the administration bill without change.

After Taft spoke, the other Republicans one by one assailed the action of the committee majority. Thomas and Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) defended it.

New Defense Chief

Johnson for the post.

Brewster praised Johnson for developing an industrial mobilization plan for World War II and said he will have the "firmness of purpose to deal with the unfortunate differences that seem to persist in the armed services."

Advocates Strength

Johnson, talking to newsmen after the White House session, disclosed he had known of his forthcoming appointment since the third week in January. This was just two weeks after Forrestal reversed an earlier statement and declared he intended to remain in the cabinet.

Johnson said he is taking over as second defense secretary in history with this philosophy:

"Strength means peace. Without strength there can be no peace for America. When George Washington started the War Department he called it the 'peace establishment.' That is still the idea."

Boosts Air Power

As assistant war secretary, Johnson backed plans for the B-17 bomber from which the famed B-29 superfort evolved. From the B-29 came plans for the new B-50, one of which Wednesday completed the first non-stop round-the-world flight.

This epochal flight has been accepted universally as demonstrating U. S. ability to atom-bomb any target on earth.

In a confidential letter to President Roosevelt at the time France fell in 1940, Johnson wrote:

"This government and this country must accept the fact that air power is not simply an auxiliary to land and sea forces. It has become a paramount factor in national defense.

Air Force Leaders Agree

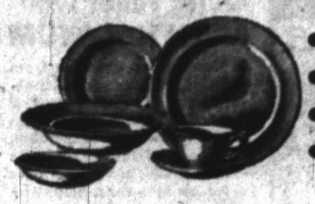

"It is my conviction that this question of air power must be faced boldly, fearlessly and comprehensively on the basis of having to use it in a war in a big way on short notice."

KFYO Granted Modification Of FM Station Construction Permit

The Plains Radio Broadcasting company of Lubbock, owner of radio station KFYO, has been granted a modification of its construction permit authorizing a new FM broadcast station by the Federal Communications commission, it was announced Friday from Washington, D. C.

The new order provides extension of completion date for the original permit. The same type of order, extending completion for its projected FM station, has been issued by the FCC for the Plains Radio Broadcasting company of Amarillo.

Spokesmen for the Lubbock company said Friday afternoon that the FCC extension authorization would allow the company additional time to complete its projected construction of FM facilities for KFYO. Until the project is completed, the radio station is temporarily operating its FM broadcasts from the main studios, with FM equipment located temporarily in Lubbock National Bank building. The proposed permanent FM station is to be in another location which has not yet been determined, it was said.

U.S. Unemployment Climbs To 3,200,000

WASHINGTON, March 4. (AP)—Unemployment hit 3,200,000 in February, the highest since the war. Nevertheless, the number of people at work was greater than in any previous February in history.

The Census bureau reported a net increase of 550,000 in the jobless, compared with January. But it said the 57,168,000 persons at work topped the previous February employment record, set last year, by almost 30,000.

The chief reason for this seeming paradox is that the "labor force" has grown. The labor force includes both persons at work and those seeking work.

The buresu said that part of the rise in unemployment was due to bad weather, part to "non-seasonal" layoffs in industry.

Unpaid Accounts, 'Cold Checks' Cost Lubbock Merchants $8,000

Approximately 200 delinquent accounts and cold checks representing approximately $8,000 were reported by Lubbock business firms at a luncheon meeting of the Lubbock Credit Granters club Friday at the Hilton hotel.

The cold checks reported had been received since Jan. 1.

Twenty-seven persons attended the luncheon meeting. Q. B. Taylor, president, presided. Others attending were W. J. Whitson, H. B. McAfee, jr., Mrs. Helen McElwee, C. C. Bloodworth, B. A. Jackson, R. W. Peavy, Mrs. Maurine Holladay, Preston Alford, T. A. Banks, B. W. Lamesa Boys' Stock Show Opens Today

LAMESA, March 4 (Special)—Lamesa's first annual 4-H and FFA Boys' Livestock show, at which show officials expect more than 300 animals to be entered in the four divisions, will be held Saturday.

Prizes will be awarded for fat steers, swine, sheep, and dairy cattle. Prizes in each division will be awarded by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, which, together with Dawson county agricultural interests, is sponsoring the show.

Lee Roy Colgan is general superintendent of the show and Earl Sears and J. W. Reed are assistant superintendents. Billy Mitchell is superintendent of the calf scramble; Lynn Alford, weight; and Leroy Olsak, arena. Stanley E. Anderson, member of the animal husbandry department faculty at Texas Tech college, will judge the show.

Levelland Seniors Working To Help Pay For Annual Trip

LEVELLAND, March 4. (Special)—Levelland High school's senior boys and girls believe in getting the most out of any annual graduation trips they may plan by putting the most into it.

Members of the class have worked at a service station, plowing a garden and collecting scrap iron as well as other jobs with the money collected going toward paying for the trip. No announcement of detailed plans for the trip were available Friday night.

Among a group attracting attention Friday were four senior girls at the Sikes and Lankford service station on Houston street. The four included Angie Flanagan, Mary Burks, Joy Hamill and Wanda McDermett. They washed windshields, filled gas tanks and checked tires.

Others will take up the enthusiasm, if the energy holds out, Saturday and next week.

LA GRANGE MAN DIES

LA GRANGE, March 4. (AP)—Dr. Frank J. Guenther, 63, founder of the La Grange hospital, died here Friday. Guenther, physician and surgeon, had practiced medicine since 1909 and had been a La Grange resident since 1920 when he established the hospital here.

Tech Ex To Be Commencement Speaker

Bates Thornton To Address Class

Bates Thornton, 35-year-old former Texas Technological college student with a brilliant career in the fields of government service and private enterprise, will be the principal speaker at the college's commencement exercises on May 30.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, announced Friday that Thornton had accepted an invitation to speak at the exercises, scheduled for 8 p. m. on Monday, May 30, in Jones stadium. The acceptance was made early Friday in a Texas-to-California telephone conversation between Dr. Wiggins and Thornton.

Has Impressive Career

Thornton, whose military career during World War II was particularly outstanding, now is an executive with the Howard Hughes Aircraft corporation in California.

Born in Knox county and reared in Haskell, he attended Tech during the 1931-33 academic years.

Later, he attended George Washington university in Washington, D.C., and received his bachelor's degree there.

During his more recent service as a top supply officer in the U.S. Army and as a high-ranking official with Ford Motor company and the Hughes corporation, he has spoken on numerous occasions before university student groups, including appearances at Harvard, Notre Dame, and California Institute of Technology.

Live In Westwood

At present, Thornton and his family live in Westwood, Calif., in the Los Angeles area, where he is chairman and vice-president of the executive committee of the Howard Hughes Aircraft corporation. He is also general superintendent of the firm.

He joined the Hughes organization last June, after serving in an executive capacity in Ford Motor company's expansion program.

Thornton's career was one of the most spectacular in the armed forces during World War II.

He was employed in a civilian branch of government service in Washington, D. C., when war broke out. The nation's most critical need pertained to all phases of supply—including enormously increased production within a seemingly impossible short period of time.

To try to solve this problem, a small and highly specialized group was created within the armed forces. Thornton was among those called into uniform for this service.

He was a second lieutenant in the reserve when he entered active service. Four months later he was a full colonel. His advancement was said to have been the most

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Saturday, March 5, 1949

Water Project Meeting Slated

Invitations to attend "perhaps the most important meeting ever held on the Panhandle - South Plains" in Plainview Monday noon have been mailed to officials of nearly 50 towns and counties from Homer D. Grant, president of the Lubbock Board of City Development.

The session, starting at a luncheon in the Plainview Hilton hotel, has been called for a discussion of the proposed development of the water resources of the Canadian river north of Amarillo.

Grant's letter contains the first detailed listing of information desired at the Plainview conference from representatives of localities interested in the Canadian as a possible source of water supply.

Questions Are Asked

The questions to which answers are desired include:

"Would your city be willing to purchase water at your city limits for a comparable figure to the cost of present production?

"How many gallons per day—peak summer load—would you use (we realize this would only be an estimate) in 1949, 1950, 1955, 1966, 1970 and 1980? (These figures are of most vital importance to determine the size of the dam and pipeline facilities that must be built)."

"Please remember at this time," Grant's letter continues, "there is absolutely no obligation on your city to take the water; we are trying to assemble data for the Bureau of Reclamation to be used in its report, which must be in Washington by June 1, 1949."

Officials To Attend

Sponsors of the meeting were unanimously of the opinion that congressional approval of the Canadian project depends largely upon evidence that there would be market for the impounded water if a dam and reservoir should be built.

Joining in sponsorship of the Plainview meeting are Lubbock and Amarillo city officials, the Panhandle Water Conservation authority, the Lubbock Board of City Development and the Lubbock and Amarillo Chambers of Commerce.

The Plainview chamber is arranging details of the luncheon, which will be "dutch treat," and the business session which will follow. U. S. reclamation officials will attend.

Controversial Issues Are On Program

Solons Facing Busy Schedule Next Week

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 4—The House ignored an action-packed calendar today and adjourned for the weekend after a brief and nonproductive 18-minute session.

The Senate had adjourned yesterday until Monday.

Today's House work consisted of approving seven routine resolutions—two on deaths of prominent men, two nominating House mascots, and three giving permission to sue the state. After the seventh vote was taken Rep. George Nokes of Corsicana suggested that everybody go home. Everybody agreed.

The legislators moved out and a crew of workmen moved in to continue its month-long task of installing a new copper roof on the capitol building.

When the senators and representatives return Monday they will find plenty of work facing them.

The House calendar includes such controversial issues as a bill to make state officials resign before they become candidates for a different office. Another is a proposal to license and tax pool halls.

The Senate work list schedules debate on the third Gilmer-Aikin education bill. The proposal would set up a special fund to help needy school districts finance a minimum education program.

The press of business in the committee rooms will be just as great on Monday.

House committees will consider a proposed natural gas tax, and a measure to make the office of State School superintendent elective.

The Senate Finance committee will hear testimony on a flood control bill for the upper Red river.

Damages Action For $101,400 Filed Here

A $101,400 damages action was filed Friday afternoon in the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair.

Styled Patsy Evelyn Goen and others against Owosso Manufacturing company, the suit is an outgrowth of a collision the night of Feb. 3, five miles west of Lubbock on highway 84. Kenneth Lee Goen, 24, husband of Patsy Evelyn Goen, and relative of other plaintiffs, was fatally injured.

The suit alleged that a car owned by George D. Ponder and driven by Goen was in collision with the rear of a truck owned by the manufacturing company and driven by Russell William Love. It alleged that Love was a representative of the manufacturing company, a Delaware corporation, and acting at the time within scope of his employment.

The widow; a son born two days before the accident; Goen's father and mother, John and Hiva Goen, and Ponder are the parties plaintiff. All live in Hockley county.

The petition was filed by the Lubbock law firms of Brummett and Brummett and Carr and Carr.

High School Students To Attend Convention

A group of 21 Lubbock Senior High school students, all members of the staffs of the "Westerner" yearbook and of the "Western World" newspaper, will take part today in the annual convention of the Panhandle High School Press association on the campus of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon.

Students who will make the trip to Canyon include Don Hancock, Joy Pharr, Milton West, Pat Bolinger, Shirley Johnson, Joy Randolph, Dolores Kethersid, Billy Fisher, Martha Gillispie, Bassel Wolfe, Hubert Waddill, Alene Mitchell, Louise Davis, Bruce Hamilton, Mary Frances Forkner, Elaine Pollard, Betty Power, Tommy Sowell, Anne Alexander, George Sewell, and Donna Woolman.

Mrs. Dick Cozby, journalism instructor, will accompany the group.

Plainview Quarter Horse Stallion Wins Honors At Amarillo Show

Seagraves Show Winners Named

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

SEAGRAVES, March 4 — Seagraves FFA boys captured most of the honors in the livestock show of the Seagraves City Fair, which opened today, with both grand champions going to Seagraves High school students.

Bill Elliston, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elliston, who live a mile northwest of Seagraves, walked off with the grand champion fat calf and Dean Kenney, 17, a ward of Dr. R. B. Dunivan, captured the grand championship in the fat barrows.

Young Elliston's calf, a lightweight, nosed out Jim Singleton, first place winner in the heavy class to take the top title. Singleton's calf was awarded the reserve championship.

Judges Are Named

A total of 26 calves and 18 pigs were entered in the show. L. M. Hargrave, Texas Tech agricultural faculty member, judged the show. Dick Cade, Seagraves vocational agricultural teacher; J. Logan Green, Loop vocational agricultural teacher; and L. M. McElroy, Gaines county agent, were in charge of arrangements for the show. Seagraves and Loop FFA members competed.

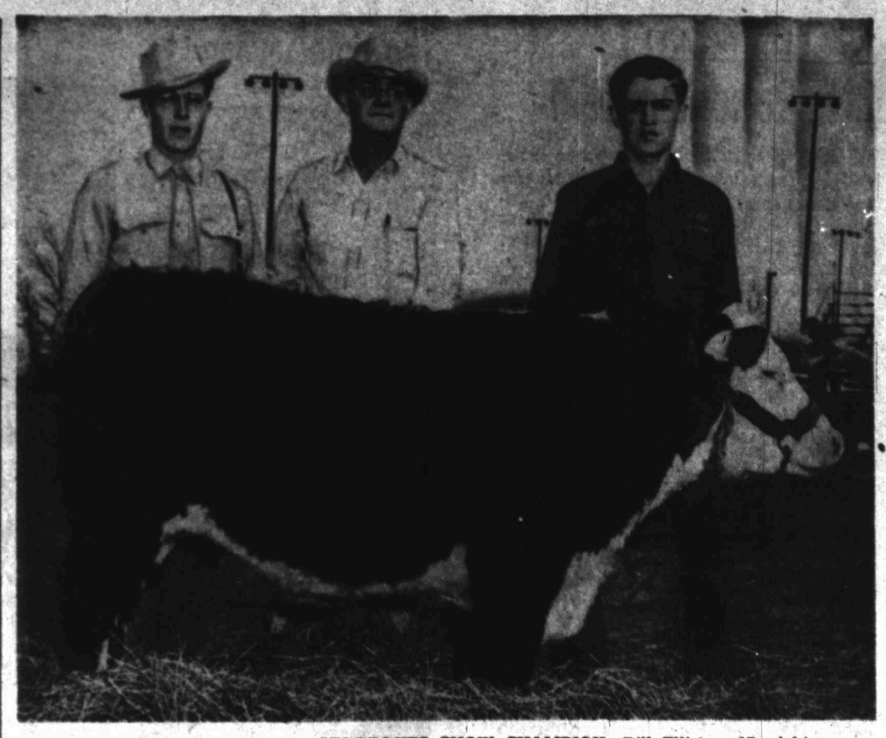

The livestock show was today's feature of the three-day fair, which opened in the new Seagraves community building Thursday night and will continue through Saturday with the naming of Seagraves' ugliest man as the closing event.

Three candidates, Lawrence Barber, attorney and Rotary candidate; Johnny Sarton, former sheriff and Lions' candidate; and Charley Lawrence, Seagraves coach who is the school's candidate, were said to be running a "close race" for the title. Barber and Lawrence were reported leading.

Proceeds of the fair will be used for completion of the city's new swimming pool, just east of the building.

A total of $275 in cash prizes

LEADING IN "UGLIEST MAN CONTEST — Lawrence Barber, top, Seagraves attorney, and Charley Lawrence, bottom, Seagraves High school coach, were reported Friday to be leading in the "ugliest man" contest being conducted in connection with the City Fair in progress at Seagraves. Barber is candidate of the Seagraves Rotary club and Lawrence is the school candidate. Johnny Sartin, former sheriff and Lions candidate, was said to be trailing in the contest.

ABC HEARS STIRRING TALK

Appeal Made By Negro Leader Here For Better Understanding

"No color is farther removed than black is from white, so don't let anyone confuse brotherhood with this so-called social equality; . . . the negro only wants to be your brother, not your brother-in-law," Dr. J. A. Chatman, negro physician and civic leader of Lubbock declared in a talk at the luncheon of the American Business club at the Hilton hotel Friday.

Speaking on "America's Tenth Boy," Dr. Chatman made a stirring appeal for a better understanding and for better educational facilities for his race. His talk was loudly applauded by the club members.

"The ratio of white America to black America is ten to one," Dr. Chatman said, "so if you put them all in a hopper and dropped them out nine white and one black boy would drop out.

"I come to you today to speak for the tenth boy . . .

"We represent the second largest minority group in America today," Dr. Chatman said. "Numerically we are the strongest, but the weakest financially, educationally and economically.

"In the first place, white people nearly always generalize about my people. We are all put in the same class. To you we have but one class and that one is the 'bad class.' You seldom if ever meet the better class of my people but you are always confronted with the loud mouth, the untaught and uncouth negro who constantly parades himself and his ignorance before you daily."

Then the physician cited numerous killers and bad men who were members of the white race.

"You admit there are 'bad' boys among you," he continued, "then why be surprised when a negro does wrong when you with all your education and religious training

THE BEST MEAT!

No Rationing Here

PERSONS with lockers or other facilities for storing fresh meat should have a special interest in the 16th annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show at the Fairgrounds here March 21, 22 and 23. It will give them opportunity to buy the very finest of prime beef, pork and lamb at prices substantially less than they would pay at the meat market.

Last year The Avalanche-Journal first stressed this opportunity. Livestock sales to individuals broke all records. Indications are a new record will be set this year.

For the information of newcomers, the calves, pigs and lambs exhibited in the show are sold at auction on the final afternoon. Business men of Lubbock make up a pot which guarantees that a premium above market prices—usually 2 or 3 cents a pound—will be paid for the livestock sold.

This is a big incentive to the boys who exhibit. It means they receive several dollars more for their animals than if they were sold at prevailing market prices. Most of the animals go on the market after the sale. Lubbock business men absorb the difference between the price paid at the auction and the amount received on the market.

Most people who serve this quality of meat on their table would gladly pay a premium for it. There is no finer meat. Every animal sold will have been hand-raised by the boy exhibiting it. And, even with the premium, the price per pound of dressed meat bought at the show will be less than if purchased in smaller quantities at retail. Furthermore, such purchases at the auction help the show.

Calves, incidentally, will be dressed without charge at any of several local locker or meat packing establishments which will retain the hides and by-products as their compensation. Small charges will be made, varying with individual places, for dressing pigs and lambs.

But, for complete details, those interested in buying show meat for storage should get in touch with George Bond, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, telephone 4666.

A prompt call is advisable. Competition for bargains like this became pretty stiff last year.

Reason Enough

IT WOULD be pointless, and perhaps hurtful, to try to gloss over the fact that a good many people here are wondering why Lubbock should be assigned a larger Red Cross quota than last year when the amount sought in the nation has been reduced substantially.

Various plausible reasons have been given in justification of the local increase. But the one fact which would be sufficient, by itself, to obtain the support of The Avalanche-Journal is this:

The general solicitations campaign starting tomorrow will be conducted by Lubbock men and women who have interests of their home city at heart. They have approved and recommend the quota. They are supporting it with their own time and money.

That's good enough for us.

We believe most Lubbock people feel the same way about it, and will respond as generously as their means will allow when Red Cross solicitors call upon them within the next few days.

One-Minute Sermon

(From files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche of March 5, 1928.)

At Lorenzo, Mesdames R. R. Abell, Austin Fullingim and Joe Schuler entertained the Tuesday Bridge club with a delightful breakfast in the Abell home honoring Mrs. E. S. Smith, club president. Several games of bridge followed the breakfast. Members attending included Mesdames W. M. Blakemore, R. L. Bowman, Joe Catching, R. Jones Goode, R. G. O'Rear, Dewey Sullivan, John Hughes, Fred Wiese, J. R. Garmon, O. W. Fagala, J. L. Suits, E. S. and Ewell Smith, and H. F. Pearson. Guests were Mrs. W. E. Thurman of Quanah, and Miss Sadie Smith of Mescalero, N. M.

The Little Savage

Pop Goes The Queen

By BOB WADE and BILL MILLER

(THE STORY: Sin Conover's trick memory, which retains facts till they're said aloud, wins a vacation for herself and her husband, John Henry, at the swank Las Dunas resort in Aspen, Calif. After assigning the Conovers a cottage, Gaynor, the hotel clerk, immediately puts a call to a Mr. Barselou.)

II

CRICKETS chirruped like traitors every place but where he stepped. Anglin stopped for a minute to listen, hoping the bugs would shut up. They didn't, but silence hung behind him like a curtain across the grass and palm trees in the rear of the Las Dunas.

His boots were making too much noise on the flagstone path. Better take to the grass, though he was pretty sure he'd shaken them off for a little while, anyway. The wound in his shoulder had opened again. It burned with a steady flame and the blood trickled down over his hand. Odell had been smarter and faster than he looked.

It was dark here in the canyon back of the hotel—a graveyard of shadows because no breeze stirred. He was the only shadow that moved. It was a good thing the cottages were white stucco under their red tile roofs. They strung out in a straight row for him to count. He couldn't read the numbers because the moon hadn't shown up yet and he was afraid to use his flashlight.

The seventh cottage, Anglin got dizzy suddenly. He'd probably lost too much blood and then he was tired to start with. Tired and nervous. But his shadow continued to march along the wet velvet grass.

"Nothing better go haywire," he growled. He wanted to get rid of the whole thing and clear out. The tenth cottage. It was dark, too. He veered over to the opposite side of the walk. Just four more to go and he could deliver the goods and vanish. Be good to rest for a long time.

The 13th cottage and the next one ought to—He froze as a bat fanned skittishly by his broad-brimmed hat. Cripes, he was jumpy. But why shouldn't he be? It wasn't any piker stunt to play two hands in this game. Both Barselou and—but he knew where the Queen was holed up. That was all that had kept him alive today.

AH, here it was. He stepped confidently up the flagstone walk to the blue wooden door. From inside came the murmur of voices and a little light seeped through the Venetian window blinds onto his dirty leather jacket. Anglin was a squat man with skin as weather-beaten as his clothes. He braced himself momentarily against the white stucco of the porch and shook his foggy head. His calloused hand left a smear of blood when he withdrew it.

The ornate door handle felt cold to his grip. He squeezed it and stepped into the small living room.

Darkness here. Some light fell in a lopsided rectangle from the open door to the bedroom. Beyond that somewhere, a man was singing in an untrained voice, "Beautiful dreamer, wake unto me . . ."

An invisible woman spoke from the bedroom. Her voice was startled into a squeak. "Who's that?"

His clumsy fingers found the night latch and twisted it home. The noise made the woman say again, frightened, "Who's that? Is somebody in there?"

She was as jumpy as he was. But whoever she was this trip she ought to be better trained than to yell like that. He told her in a low voice, "Shut up, for the luvva Mike."

She let out a gasp as he moved into the patch of light on the carpet. Anglin could see her now, standing still as a rock before the imitation ivory dressing table. Her face that watched him with wide green eyes in the mirror didn't have any more color than the table top. The brush she'd been punishing her red hair with dropped from her hand to bounce softly on the thick shag rug. The haze of dressing gown over lingerie didn't conceal her long tan legs much and the sight of them made him forget the pain in his shoulder briefly, very briefly.

WELL, he hadn't expected to know her. The big boy used different girls for different operations. This one was a looker like the rest. But why didn't she catch on? The big boy had funny ideas about the value of women in work like this.

"Get out," she whispered. "Get out or I'll scream."

"Quit it," he said, leaning wearily, against the door jamb. "It's okay. Where is he? I got it for him."

"If you don't get out—right now—I'll call the police."

What was she talking about, anyway? "You're from 'Dago, ain't you?"

She nodded.

"Then it's okay. Now for the luvva Mike get him."

Her glance went for the white French phone beside the bed. Anglin put his hand in the pocket of his leather jacket, so when she looked back at him, he held the little black automatic carelessly in his horny palm.

"I don't know what you got in mind, sister. But I ain't got much time. I want to finish the job and get out.

Behind the closed bathroom door, the man began to sing again. "Beautiful dreamer, queen of my song . . ." Anglin looked at the woman and gestured with the gun.

"That him?"

"That's—my husband," she said dry-throated, her greenish eyes hypnotized by the weapon.

"Get him."

"What are you going to do?"

He felt dizzy again as the room swam around under his wide hatbrim. This should have been the easy part and instead—"Get out of my way," he husked thickly. He smelled her perfume as he brushed the woman aside and rapped the gun muzzle against the door panel.

"Okay, okay," said the singer inside and switched to, "I'se comin', though mah head is bending low. Ah hear those gentle voices callin'—"

Anglin couldn't wait that out, so he threw the bathroom door open and stood staring. The man inside gulped on a drawn out "old" and didn't sing any more. He was a young fellow, not too big but stocky, and his body was still damp from the shower and faintly pink from a vigorous toweling. He wore blue rayon shorts with an elastic waistband.

"What the heck" finally said the man in shorts.

"Oh, Johnny, be careful," the girl quavered. "He might shoot us!"

SOMETHING was screwy here. The advance arrangements had been specific about the cottage number. The only unknown had been the when and he'd wired that this morning. He squinted his wind-burned face and did his best to think. It was generally a different girl, but the man should have been . . . Was this more of Barselou's bunch? He gave up trying to think.

"I'm sorry," he mumbled and began to back toward the living room door. "Reckon I made a mistake."

The stocky young man moved forward as far as his wife's restraining arm. "What's this all about? What's the answer?"

"Never mind, son, I—"

"Wait a minute—that looks like blood—"

Anglin ran out of patience. "Whaddya expect me to bleed—milk?" he snarled.

The young fellow looked grim. "I don't like the looks—"

"Nobody does, son. My mistake. I'm sorry I scared you and your missus. If you got any bright ideas, let them stop here and now."

He groped in the dimness behind him and found the night latch, unbolted the door and opened it. The two were staring at him from the lighted bedroom. Anglin started to say something else but couldn't decide what there was to say, so he closed the door and stumbled off the porch onto the soundless grass.

The shadows were still as tombs and he was one of them again. The crickets ceased their ominous music at his coming. He didn't have any particular direction to go any more. What could he do now?"

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

DOES it pay to be sincere?

According to what we have been taught, sincerity is one of the human characteristics greatly to be admired.

But like so many things we have been taught, theory and practice don't always jibe.

There is hardly a week that someone does not send me a literary composition of some kind and ask me for my "honest" opinion about it.

I used to give it. I don't any more.

I have found out that literary aspirants who send me samples of their genius don't want my "honest" opinion at all.

They want praise. They want to be told that at last another Shakespeare, another Longfellow, another Kipling has come into this world and that he or she is IT.

Right now I have another of those masterworks before me.

It is poetry. It is all about George Washington. It is awful.

Ordinarily I would deposit it in my wastebasket and just forget about it.

But this particular piece was accompanied by a beautiful letter telling me what a genius I am, how the writer is worshiping at my feet and what a wonderful wife I must have.

Naturally I am deeply touched by the flattery and feel duty-bound to answer the letter, particularly since the sender enclosed a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What shall I say? Shall I be sincere and lose a friend?

What would you do?

Let us say you are a woman.

Let us say a friend of yours asked your advice about her new hat.

It is a terrible hat. It might look all right on Carmen Miranda, but it looks awful on your friend.

"How do you like my new hat?" she asks you. "I paid $75 for it at Madamoiselle Chez Flynn."

Mind you, you have been taught that sincerity is a virtue, that you should never, never lie, and that hypocrisy is an unforgivable sin.

• • •

WHAT would you do, my dear?

Let us say you are a man.

Another man asks you "Have you heard the latest joke?"

Without waiting for your answer he continues, here it is: "Your husband looks like a brilliant man. I suppose he knows everything." "No, he doesn't even suspect anything."

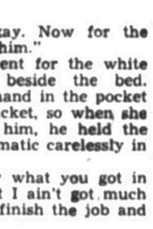

You have probably heard that awful joke several times.

But your friend thinks he is a brilliant raconteur, a man of the world.

Are you going to disillusion him?

Or are you going to keep a friend?

Sincerity, you know, may be first cousin to cruelty.

ALASKAN SETUP STUDIED

West Wants Defense

By ROGER WARREN
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Western Congressmen, with the support of many from other sections of the country, are becoming more insistent in their demands that the Pacific defenses of the continent be strengthened.

While the Senate Armed Services Committee has withdrawn its invitation to General MacArthur to return to the United States and advise them on defense problems in relation to a Communist China, Korea and Alaska, it is probable that this proposal will be heard again.

West coast Senators and Congressmen in particular are uneasy about Alaska.

"It was not so long ago," recalls Senator William F. Knowland of California, "that my state was the only state in America to be shelled by a Japanese submarine. We saw Japanese armed forces establishing bases for a time in Alaskan territory. We want no repetition of that kind of enemy action."

"VISIT": Legislators from the Pacific remember vividly that friendly American lend-lease planes easily reached Russian Siberia by way of our northern possession.

The Northwest Staging route witnessed flights of both combat and transport planes from Great Falls, Montana, across Canada to Alaska, and thence via the Bering Sea to Russia.

They are alert to the possibility of a "return visit" along the same course by hostile aircraft.

Public addresses backing up the point of view of the Westerners have been made recently by Senators Ives of New York and Brewster of Maine. The confusing reports on conditions in the Pacific, resulting from the recent tour by Secretary of the Army Royall, have strengthened the requests for more light on this vital strategic area.

UNIFICATION: Secretary Royall declares, "I was much impressed by the efficient manner in which unification is operating in Alaska, the best example of Army-Navy-Air teamwork in the Pacific." There is no distinction between services. All are coordinated for either the long haul or a sudden emergency, he asserts.

This smoothness is in operation. There have been rumors that the morale of the men has been severely tried by the bleak winter and the loneliness of the outpost. The Secretary, himself, admits that not sufficient attention has been paid to recreational facilities. He has ordered more of these and a housing expansion to provide for soldiers' families.

At one period in the war the United States had more than 200,000 soldiers, sailors and fliers stationed in Alaska. Although the defense system has been bolstered since the war, the Army quite recently had only 7,000 troops on guard in cooperation with a small Air Force. Yet this unit is expected to defend a peninsula one-fifth the size of the United States.

COLONIZING: The late General Billy Mitchell, who, despite his near-sighted detractors, was right about so many things, declared, "He who holds Alaska in the age of air power holds the world."

Simulated Arctic training, such as Operation Snowdrop, and actual war games in the Arctic have as one of their chief objectives the defense of Alaska But, as of the moment, only a relatively small garrison mans this important frontier.

The Russians recognize the strategic value of their territories that face Alaska in the North Pacific. Even before the cold war the Kremlin was encouraging agricultural experiments on the Chukotski Peninsula across the Bering Sea from Nome. Soviet scientists have developed new strains of wheat and other crops suitable for cold climate and have devised new methods of cultivation for the unpromising region.

Dr. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, has told government officials that Russia is colonizing the polar stretches rapidly. He has learned that there are half a dozen cities of more than 10,000 population north of the Arctic Circle. A whole new industrial empire of factories and mines, dotted with air fields and military bases, is springing up in the more livable Siberian areas.

TROOPS: Baltic exiled officials in Washington maintain that these colonies are populated by slave labor deported from Poland, Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia. Now and then a message from one of the miserable castaways reaches Washington, revealing the hardships and the brutalities which the victims endure.

Demobilized Russian troops, especially those who have been "tainted" by contact with western civilization, also are settled in this section, forming work battalions for peace and reserve forces in the event of war.

The American public is in the dark about a great many things affecting Alaska, Siberia, China and Japan, where, a late report from Tokyo discloses, General MacArthur last summer nipped in the bud a plot by Japanese Communists to stage a nationwide strike which was to be turned into a revolt against the Japanese government.

VIEW: In discussing the desirability of recalling MacArthur for questioning and advice, Senator Ives said, "I presume that the Administration and the armed services are obtaining information. But the Congress is not getting it nor are the people."

Support for the invitation also comes from certain liberal groups on and around Capitol Hill which have always been somewhat critical of the General's attitude toward labor matters and social welfare. Some of them even whisper that he has a fascist outlook and has held absolute power so long that he has lost the democratic point of view.

Other members of Congress and Washington leaders, who bank on "Mac," believe he would be strengthened in spirit if after these long years of absence he could once more rub elbows with fellow Americans and experience at first hand our postwar industrial progress.

Secretary Royall says that MacArthur told him he seeks top flight businessmen to advise him in Tokyo on future fiscal and economic matters, as will the newly appointed assistant, Joseph Dodge of Detroit, Michigan.

Nevertheless, the opinion of many here is that, good as these sporadic advisers are, MacArthur would be more greatly helped if he came home and saw modern America himself.

FILIBUSTER ROLLS ALONG

Pleas For Changes Are Ignored

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — On Monday, in his prayer opening the daily session of the Senate, the chaplain, Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, said among other things:

"The circumstances of our times are dismaying and the resources of our souls inadequate unless Thou replenish them. Give us intelligent perspective, the courage to follow the gleam of human brotherhood, a vision of Thy kingdom on earth and faith to push out its frontiers of good will."

Later that afternoon southern senators began their filibuster against the proposed changes in rules that would permit two-thirds of the Senate to break filibusters. The reason for the southern filibuster as everybody knows is to block again, as before, civil rights measures. President Truman and lots of other people think there is a "gleam of brotherhood" to be followed here in respect to civil rights, so that our nation may push out, even into the South, "its frontiers of good will."

STOKES

Federal Powers Hit

Leading off in the filibuster was the distinguished senator from Georgia, Walter F. George, who said in the course of his speech:

"Mr. President, I think I know the drift that has been going on in this country for many years. It is a definite, a certain, a decided and almost irresistible drift toward a larger and larger concentration of power in the Federal government. Now the desire is to give the federal Congress the right to regulate the surrage of the states."

If we take a look at the senator's own state we may find some explanation for this "drift," and some reason for giving Congress the right to do something about a free ballot in Georgia. Under the spur of Governor Herman Talmadge's ruthless machine, the state legislature has just enacted a series of laws to disfranchise hundreds of thousands of citizens of Georgia by requirement for complete registration; institution of a spurious "literacy test" which will be used merely as a trick device to prevent negroes from qualifying to vote. Georgia boldly threw off such restrictions a few years ago under the leadership of former Governor Ellis Arnall. Herman Talmadge is undoing all that good work which was so creditable to the state.

Georgia's people are citizens of the United States. But just because they happen to live there, within certain boundaries drawn on a map, they cannot enjoy the rights guaranteed to citizens of the United States by the Constitution. It is so, too, in other southern states.

On Tuesday, the Rev. Harris said in his prayer:

"Today we come for light enough to walk by. Save us from the futile repitition of old errors and the restitution of old evils. Let not ignorance nor mean partisanship nor selfish greed nor the temptations of privilege block the way to a new order in the world with hope of lasting peace, enlarging brotherhood and increasing opportunities for all thy children."

The filibuster continued thereafter aimed at measures to enlarge brotherhood and increase opportunities for "all Thy children."

Probe Is Recalled

Senator John Stennis (D-Miss), argued in the course of his speech that permitting two-thirds of the Senate to shut off debate might at some time interfere with the rights of labor. This brought back to this reporter recollections of a firsthand investigation he made in Mississippi in the middle thirties, which revealed wages of five and six dollars a week paid by cheap run-way industries from the North that had been attracted to the state by the lenient laws and inducements of all sorts voted by the state legislature.

The state offered no protection to these workers, rather the contrary. It was only when Congress passed the Wagner Act permitting them to organize to protect themselves that such workers were able to get something approaching a living wage.

At work in Mississippi then there seemed to be what the chaplain called "selfish greed" and "the temptations of privilege."

It probably will be difficult to get millions of farmers and workers in the South excited by eloquent addresses about "state rights," or to stir up in them any fear about a strong central government, until and unless the states, themselves, show some concern about protecting the simple rights of the ballot, decent wages, and decent living conditions. Or until they get, as the chaplain put it, "light enough to walk by."

A HOME OF DISTINCTION
DISTINCTIVE, SPACIOUS AND WELL LOCATED on 30th Street, are just three of the many outstanding features of this two-story two-bath brick home. The wood-burning fire place, automatic floor furnace, beautiful living room and separate dining room, three large bedrooms are complemented by a cozy breakfast room and modern kitchen. The 125 feet of lot is tastefully landscaped and there is a two-car garage. The price is right and we have the key.

CHARMING HOME FOR HAPPY LIVING
YOUR CHILDREN WILL BE PROUD OF THIS NICE HOME. The pastel decorations blend perfectly with the expensive carpets in every room. Both bedrooms are on the east and are comfortably large. The kitchen is beautiful and convenient. Front and back yards have been landscaped. The street is paved, the neighborhood is excellent, schools are near. You'll want to see this.

STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF LUBBOCK
NOTICE OF RE-SALE OF LAND STRUCK OFF TO STATE FOR TAXES

WHEREAS, on April 14, 1937, in Cause No. 3026 styled "The State of Texas vs. J. W. Reeves," the District Court for the 72nd Judicial District of Texas rendered judgment against the defendant for delinquent taxes on the following described property to wit:

Lots Fifteen (15) and Nineteen (19) in Block Sixty-Three (63) of the Original Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas; and for foreclosure of the State's tax lien against said property; and

WHEREAS, pursuant to an Order of Sale issued out of said Court on May 3, 1937, the Sheriff of Lubbock County did on May 25, 1937 levy on said property and did on June 7, 1937, advertise that a sale of said property would be made on June 7, 1937; and

WHEREAS, the sale was held as advertised, and there being no other bidder, the property was on June 7, 1937, struck off to the State of Texas for the sum of $60.14, being the amount of the judgment, interest and costs in the above mentioned Cause; and

WHEREAS, by deed dated June 8, 1937, duly recorded in Vol. 117, Page 71, of the Lubbock County Deed Records, the Sheriff of Lubbock County did convey to the State of Texas the above described property; and

WHEREAS, the said property was never redeemed in accordance with the laws of the State, but the State has provided therefor and has never been sold by the State in the proper manner as outlined by Article 7336, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, and by the Supreme Court of Texas, in the case of Little vs. Daniels, 107 SW 2nd 16;

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS hereby given in accordance with Article 7345b, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, and Rule 147, Texas Rules of Civil Procedure, that the above described property will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash on the fifth day of March, 1949 (the same being the first Tuesday of the month), between the hours of 10 a'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m., at the West Door of the Court House of Lubbock County, Texas, situated in the City of Lubbock.

Dated at Lubbock, Texas, this 10th day of February, 1949.

Drilling Is Slated On Wildcat, Three Outposts In Scurry County

Locations for one wildcat and for three outposts to recently discovered oil fields in Scurry county, were reported Thursday. Drilling is to start on each of those new ventures at once.

The wildcat will be Ryan, Hays & Burke of San Antonio, No. 1 R. B. Brown. It is five miles north of Snyder, and two and one half miles south and slightly west of the nearest completed producers in the North Snyder field.

The location is 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 8, section 20, J. P. Smith survey. It is scheduled to go to at least 6,900 feet to explore into the Canyon lime, the pay zone in the North Snyder field.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Walker Huddleton, is to be a west offset to the same company's No. 1 Bishop, new Canyon discovery in southwest Scurry county, 13 miles southwest of Snyder.

No. 1 Huddleton is located 660 feet from south and 573 feet from east lines of section 163, block 97, H&TC survey. Drilling to at least 6,700 feet will start in a few days.

and all your freedom often do wrong.

"May I make this suggestion," the negro continued, "that you classify every individual according to his deeds and not according to the thickness of his lips.

Asks Better Distribution

"Secondly the tenth American boy told me to ask you for a more accurate and equal distribution of funds for educational facilities. As smart as you think we are, we can't learn as much on a dime as you do on a dollar.

"As expensive as you may think it is to educate any negro, it is far more expensive to leave him ignorant. The state school per capita is $55 a year, but each convict costs the state 50 cents a day or $185 a year.

Dr. Chatman was introduced by Ernest Stewart, program chairman, Burton Hackney, Brownfield; Bert Nelson, Waco; and George Gabriel, Spur, were out-of-town visitors at the luncheon. Mack Godwin and Bert Morrow were introduced as new members.

Prior to Dr. Chatman's talk, Wayne Henly, president of the Lions club, presented President Geo. Dale with a $1,415.56 from the Lions club for the Boys' Club building fund.

VA Official Attends Meet In Washington

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Robert W. Sisson, director of regional office of the Veterans administration in Lubbock, is here attending the national rehabilitation conference of the American Legion, where hospital problems are being discussed.

Sisson, conferring with Rep. George Mahon, said the work of servicing veterans of the area through his office had improved and controversies in the region which occurred sometime ago when persons wanted faster service and more facilities at substations had quieted down. Sisson said that he, perhaps, had been partly to blame but that he is now seeing that everything possible is being done for veterans.

Sisson conferred Friday with National Legion Commander Perry Brown of Beaumont. Sisson was executive director of the special Legion committee which drafted the GI Bill of Rights and presented it to Congress for passage. Members of that committee will have a reunion here Saturday, Past operation of the bill and possible revisions will be discussed.

rapid of any individual in the armed forces during the war. At the time of receiving his commission, he was the youngest colonel in the Army. He was on a list recommended for promotion to brigadier general on V-E day. He received several decorations.

The special section to which Thornton was attached devised many new and revolutionary techniques which were applied to increasing the production and movement of critical supplies. His duties required travel to most parts of the world. They involved intimate associations with the very highest of the high command—Gen. George C. Marshall and Gen. H. H. Arnold, of the air force, among many others.

As the end of his military service approached, Thornton received many offers from private industry. He accepted one from the Ford Motor Co., which gave him a key responsibility in designing a $500,000,000 improvement and expansion program.

A few months later, however, General Marshall became secretary of state and appointed Robert A. Lovett, of New York, as undersecretary. Thornton had been closely associated with Lovett during the war.

Lovett appealed directly to Henry Ford, III, to grant Thornton a leave for special duties in the State department. The request was granted immediately and Thornton returned to Washington. The specific nature of his duties was not revealed except that they pertained to top-level departmental reorganization.

This assignment completed after a few months, Thornton returned to the Ford plant in Detroit, later joining the Hughes corporation.

His wife is the former Miss Flora Laney, also an ex-Tech student. The couple has two sons.

Thornton's mother, Mrs. A. J. Lewis, now resides at 2008 Ave. V in Lubbock.

A BOUQUET OF SPRING COLOR IN OUR Carpet FASHION SHOW!
We are having a carpet fashion show in cooperation with the leading carpet manufacturers as adversited in your favorite magazines so drop by and see the new boquet of colors in the new 1949 carpet creations.

Introducing a new development!
FOAM RUBBER Rug Underlay

A scientific new development —right out of the U. S. Rubber Laboratories. Made of sponge rubber reinforced with fabric. Adds to rug life, gives deeper, more luxurious cushion, verminproof (no moths), durable, hygienic and modern—carpet padding.
See the many different types of carpets such as—Carved Wiltons, Velvet, Looped, Sculptured, Twist-weaves, Floral and Tone on Tone in many different shades and colors of green, rose, tan, beige and gray. Made by Gullistan, Mohawk, Highstown, Artloom and Firth.
Never before have we had so many beautiful patterns of carpets.
