Sue's Views

By Sue Cannon

All members of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture who did not get up early Tuesday morning and attend the breakfast missed a real treat!

Everyone was well fed and entertained also. We heard reports from different men about the business of the chamber and we have really been gaining momentum under the leadership of Larry Garvin!

He reported that there are now 116 members in the CCA. The existing signs of welcome to Olton are being re-painted to give our visitors a better impression of our town.

Other reports were given by Leon Noack, who told of the upcoming Dollar Days for Olton, the fishing contest and other activities being planned.

And, you may not believe this, (if you know Elmer Moore) but Mr. Moore actually got up and gave a two minute talk in about a minute! I didn't know he could talk that fast! He told us about a unique golf tournament that is being planned. You'll be hearing more about it, I imagine.

And then, we had a guest speaker from Plainview. Raymond Akin told those present that if we wanted to make Olton the leading town of its size that it was going to take effort.....team effort.. and that the "easy" jobs had already been done.

He said one of the best things we as merchants could do is not stand and complain about how things are. And also, he reminded us that it does not cost a thing to belong to the CCA....it's an investment.

All Sports Banquet Set

The All-Sports Banquet for Olton has been scheduled for Tuesday, April 29, according to Athletic Director Eddie Miller.

The date was changed because of conflicting activities for the night of April 22.

Tickets will be on sale at $4 per plate beginning next week. They may be obtained from any member of the Olton Booster Club or any high school athlete.

Surprises Greet Visitor

"My first impression of America was that God has just been too good to her" was the sobering thought expressed this week by Liu Jan, graduate student at Howard Payne University who is spending spring vacation in the home of his roommate, Vic Allcorn and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Allcorn, Kyle and Troy Don.

"The land is so big, and so good, I am almost envious of the big space I see here. We are so crowded in Taiwan. And," he continued, "There is so much wealth. Every family has so many cars. This was a surprise to me. One car is very expensive in Taiwan, and they are not plentiful. Here...they are just like a toy for Americans."

Known to his friends as "Jon" the young math major at H-PU is 25 years of age. Having completed secondary school in his homeland, he went on to earn a degree in electrical engineering before coming to Texas for graduate study.

A friend had told Jon that as a foreign student he would be happier and "receive more kindness" in a small school, at least in his first year. He plans to transfer next year to a larger school, either Texas Tech University or the University of Houston, to earn a master degree in his chosen field, electrical engineering.

In addition to his schooling, young Jon has worked one year for Zerox as a technical representative. The Company has given him a standing offer of employment again when he has finished his studies in this country.

The young student has also given two years of military service to his country. As an army lieutenant, he was assigned to a small mountainous island just off the coast of China. There he lived in caves, relatively safe from mainland shelling but under primitive conditions. Without electricity, they used candles. Water, in meager supply, had to be purchased so any kind of bathing was a weekly luxury at best.

Jon's people were forced to flee the Communists of Mainland China when the Chinese Nationalist Government and remnants of its armed forces took refuge on Formosa at the end of 1949.

His mother was separated from one brother and one sister, and his father left eight brothers and sisters on the Mainland. They have seen none of them since that time, and occasional letters are severely censored. They do know that all family members were widely separated by government officials.

Known as the Republic of China, Taiwan is still under the leadership of Chiang Kai-Shek. Because of his advanced age, Jon thinks he may soon resign his difficult position. His wife, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, Jon states, is the spiritual leader of his homeland.

The small island, about the size of Maryland, has the highest density population in the world, he says. Some 20,000,000 people live there. But he hastens to assure that living standards are high. "They are second only to Japan which rates first among Asian countries."

Small scale farming produces enough rice to export. Much tea is produced as well as vegetables and pork. "It's the comparison of our farms to yours that makes American farms look so big," he explains.

Jon's father received his naval training in the Royal Navy of England during World War II. He was in London during some of the bombing there. He also received submarine training in America. He eventually rose to be one of the "top commanders of the Chinese Navy." Now retired from naval service, he is captain of a Commercial Shipping vessel, and sails with its cargoes all over the world.

MODERN DAY COWBOYS - Vic Allcorn and roommate, Liu Jan of Taiwan, prepare to "work cattle." Jon was surprised to find Texans didn't ride horses but depended on "horsepower" in the form of pickups.

Sirens To Sound

Local warning sirens are scheduled to be tested at noon Monday, Apr. 7, weather permitting, according to Tom Smith, Civil Preparedness co-ordinator.

The first sound, a warbling tone, is the sound that will be used for "tornado alert."

The second sound, the high and low pitch, is the signal that will be used as postive tornado warning and it will mean "time to take cover."

Each of the warming signal tests Monday will run as much as three minutes, Smith stated.

Civil Preparedness units, formerly referred to as Civil Defense, are actively engaged in planning and in practice.

Complete drill for torando diaster was held at Tuesday night's fire meeting. Two city councilmen were present, Smith said.

Gotta

By Rex Boyles

Last week in this article we went to a track meet and watched the 100 yard dash. This week if you've got the time let's watch the Mile Run.

The mile is four "Mean" laps around the track, and it will take anywhere from four to six minutes to run. Though there are several folks lined up to run, we will notice only two or three. We'll notice the first and the second place finishers, because nobody else is around them, and they'll finish with an exciting burst of speed.

The other runner that will "'catch our eye" will be the fellow in last place. He is about two laps behind the winner. We'll notice him because nobody else is around him either, and because he will finish, getting slower with every stride.

I always wanted to see that last fellow "put a move" on those other runners. Just think what it would be like if about the time he gets so far behind, that no one can see him, he cuts across the field and dashes in front of the leaders and beats them to the finish line. The fellow, who always heard the "feel sorry for you" applause, now receives the "you're terrific" cheers.

Even if he did put on such a move, it wouldn't do him any good. he might enjoy those first place "hoorays", but he wouldn't get to take the first place ribbon home. Why not? He didn't win it fair and square. He didn't obey the rules, and breaking those rules disqualified him. You GOTTA obey the rules if you want that ribbon.

Paul understood that principle. Listen to him in 2 Timothy 2:5, "And if also a man contend in the games he is not crowned, except he have contended lawfully."

In other words, if you want to take the trophy home, you GOTTA obey the rules. Now what Paul said is true concerning the Mile Run, but, even more so, it applies to the Life Run (and that's why Jesus had him write it.)

Now what all this means is that if we want the eternal crown, we GOTTA obey Jesus. Do you want to "enter into the kingdom of heaven"? You GOTTA obey Jesus (Matthew 7:21). Do you want "eternal salvation"? You GOTTA obey Jesus (Hebrews 5:8 - 10). Do you want a "purified soul"? You GOTTA obey Jesus (1 Peter 1:22). Do you want to be "made free from sin"? You GOTTA obey Jesus (Romans 6:17-18).

If we want those "trophies", we will obey the rules; and there is really no question, for if we love Jesus, we will keep those commandments (John 14: 15).

There is also a reward for breaking the rules. Do you want to "not see life" and have the "wrath of God" abiding on you (John 3:36)? Do you want to have Jesus render vengeance on you when He comes with his angels in flaming fire?

Do you want to endure eternal destruction from the face of the Lord (2 Thessalonians 1:8)? If we want those "trophies" at the finish line of this life, all we have to do is disobey.

By breaking the rules we may enjoy a few moments of "cheers", but we can't take "the crown" home.....

From the mailroom of OHS's Learn and Live experts comes this week's version of "Write in the Groove." In case you didn't know, the Learn and Live experts are John Rodriguez, Holly Daughtrey, and Jenny Lynn Gunter who defeated the dudes from Estacado last Sunday on T.V. As Barbara would say, "We're coming up in this world! This week they go against Crosbyton.

We hope everyone enjoyed their holiday. (We didn't). Did the Easter Bunny visit you? Did the Easter Putter visit you? the Easter Putter works in strange ways. He can sneak in and out of places without your even knowing it.

Oh, and by the way, did everyone see "The Wizard of Oz" last Sunday? What a classic!! It was just like we all remembered it to be.

A lot of events are coming up these next three weeks. Student Council elections are this coming week; the golf team will be gone three days to tournaments; Wednesday is the district girls track meet; Friday and Saturday are the Amarillo Relays for golf, track and tennis. Then the next week, the golfers have two more tournaments; the boys district track meet is Friday and the Regional meet for the girls is that weekend. And so on and so forth - That's about all that's happening. Next week we will have the results on this week's Literary Meet.

Eye Screening Tests To Begin Here Soon

Think an eye test can be fun?

Not for older folks, perhaps. But for preschool tots who learn the "E" game, complete with "magic shoes" and a topsy-turvy "table," an eye test can be a happy adventure in growing up healthy.

Such fun will begin soon for children in H.P. Webb Elementary School. Volunteers from Olton PTA, trained by the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness, will check youngsters for signs of visual problems.

Students in the first grade, since this is the group most vulnerable to the "too late" age, will be tested first. Next to be tested will be the boys and girls of first semester kindergarten with spring semester kindergartners tested in the third group.

The "E" game, an integral part of the screening procedure, is used to discover indications of visual faults in children who have not yet learned to read. The topsy-turvy table is actually the letter "E" that tops the usual eye chart. The "E" appears on the wall chart in diminishing sizes and rotated positions, with the "table legs" pointing in a different direction each time.

The child being screened indicates which direction the "legs" are pointing, thus permitting him to be checked even though the cannot read.

For the actual screening test, the child performs alone; however, to enable the youngsters to learn the game and overcome any possible shyness, the preschoolers play it in a group first. The children sit in a semi-circle before a volunteer who displays the "E" symbol, and they move their arms up, down, right or left to correspond with the rotation of the "E" by the volunteer screener.

When the time for the individual test arrives, the "magic shoes" help to sustain the child's interest as well as aiding the accuracy of the test. To obtain a precise check of the youngster's visual acuity, the chart must be read from a distance of 20 feet. At the 20 foot measurement, the child finds two small shoe prints sketched. Standing within the "magic shoes" while he reads the chart is part of the game for the tot.

Here are some agricultural terms you may have wondered about:

INDIGENOUS — a classification of plants which indicates they are native to the geographic area in which they are found.

EXOTIC — opposite of indigenous, plants being grown in areas where they were not previously found. Most crops in the United States are exotic.

FORAGE — fresh or preserved plant material used as feed for animals.

SILAGE — forage preserved by partial fermentation. Usually in a container such as a silo.

HAYLAGE — dry silage.

SOILAGE — sometimes called "green chop", it is a crop grown and then fed to animals immediately after harvesting.

Visitor From Taiwan

Jon's mother, who makes her home in Taipei, joins the Captain on alternate years for a voyage. She came to the west coast of America last year, but has not been inland. "She thinks Hawaii is the world's nicest place," her son comments.

For the most part, the mother remains alone at home, "doing her housewifely chores, attending church often and praying for her scattered family." The Captain has a three-month holiday to spend at home each second year.

Jon has only one brother, who at 22, is now studying medicine in Taiwan.

When asked what the high point of his life had been since coming to the Howard Payne campus, Sept. 1, Jon immediately said "it was becoming a Christian." He had gone to a Catholic school during junior high school years "But," he said, "I had never had a personal religious experience before coming to the college."

Presently, under the auspices of Baptist Student Union, Jon is a member of the International Student's Club. Composed of students from all around the world, members meet each Tuesday night for Bible Study.

The young engineer has studied English, as a requirement, since he was 13 years of age. More recently he has been studying the Driver's Handbook. Having passed all written tests, he is now trying for driving skills that will allow him to possess a Texas Driver's license.

A student of an American Government course last semester Jon has the sad feeling that America "is not like it used to be." He read a great deal in connection with the Government course, and feels that he knows more about American Government than he knows about his own, but he says "America has always stood for justice, and has wanted to help people" and he fears that there is now deterioration in both political and economic fields in this nation.

Allcorn thinks his friend's schools have been academically superior to our own. For, he says, he has never met a student who applies himself more diligently than Jon.

Like many other visitors from foreign lands, Jon pictured all Texans "as cowboys". He was surprised to find them mounted in pickups rather than on horses.

He had felt sure that blue jeans would be standard dress for the campus, and he did not bring many of his dress clothes to the school.

Allcorn and Jon were on the same floor last semester when their friendship began. They are now roommates. Vic says of his friend "If all Chinese people are as considerate and kind as Jon, it would be a joy to know them. As a roommate, he has these very special qualities."

Easter week was Jon's third visit to Olton. Each time he has been here..there has been snow, (a new experience for him.) He now says, "I have learned something - every time I come to Olton - I bring my coat."

Parker placed third in pole vault and Saldivar tied for second in the high jump. Allcorn also finished third in broad jump.

K.Y. Givens Named District BR Director

K.Y. Givens, longtime supporter of youth baseball in Olton, has been named District 2 Director of Babe Ruth 13-15 Baseball, according to Joe Stevens, State Director of West Texas Babe Ruth 13-15 Baseball League.

Givens, candidate for Mayor of Olton, has served two terms as president of Olton Baseball Association and was Tournament Director of the West Texas State 16-18 Baseball Tournament held here in 1973. He has worked with the local program in many capacities.

Appointment of Givens to the directorship is the third such honor for an Oltonite. D.M. "Bub" Holt recently resigned the post he had held two years. He was named to succeed Gene Trotter who resigned to accept the position of State Director, West Texas 16-18 Babe Ruth Baseball.
