Prattle's Prophecy: In my game predictions involving Haskell Indians and teams in the Southwest Conference for the week ending October 14, I missed the score on the TCU over A&M; I missed the score on the TCU over Arkansas; SMU over Texas Tech over Oklahoma State.

The game of the week was the performance out of the "Big Red" of the TCU Horned Frogs. The lead changed all through the game, but Texas Tech downed the Horned Frogs 24-24.

Alph Merchant was telling the other day about the barber who shaved why he shaved himself, the barber shaved himself.

County Clerk Bill Reeves said this to be true. Two secretaries were talking about Johnson's gall bladder operation over at the Doctor Shop the other morning, one of them quipped: "So he has been in the newspaper, on radio and T-V, lately we are glad the President has a hernia operation."

Thanks to Hugh Ratliff, who did the introduction, Prattler the privilege of meeting the "Horatio Alger," the Thornton, last Friday at the Lions Club Chili Supper. Multi-millionaire Bates Thornton, board chairman and chief executive officer of Litton Industries, Inc., now makes his home in Los Angeles, Calif., was sitting in a bowl of chili and mingling with us "peons."

This one comes by the way our preacher friend, whose I will not divulge. It is something like this: Sam and Cain were coming their humble cottage. They had a very fine garden, carefully designed.

"Oh, father, look at that beautiful garden. I wish we could live there," said Cain. "We did live there once, un-our mother ate us out of the and home," retorted Cain.

I was depositing some old at the bank and the teller said: "Aren't you afraid of snakes on those old bills?" I replied, "no microbe old live on my salary."

A Boy Scout was trying desperately to do his good deed of the day when a woman sitting about 240 pounds said, "You could see me across a street?" "Lady, I could see four miles away," replied the Scout.

The 25th anniversary of National Bible Week will be observed this year from October 18 through 24. The theme of the week will be, "The Bible Brought Me Home."

The meaning of the word "Bible" as applied to the Bible should be felt by everyone. And it is the purpose of the week to make this meaning come alive for all of us. The Bible means everlasting, a time without beginning or end. The Bible, made of writings accepted by Christians as inspired by God, sets forth the history and the happenings, the relationships and the concepts, that are the basis of Christianity.

The Bible has been and must be a timeless force in our lives. To keep it so, we must read the Bible and consider its meanings that are there for each of us. It is the one book on whose pages have been inscribed life's fundamental values... values that are meant to be eternal. Why not make every week a Bible week... why not keep the Bible?

Town-Hall Meeting Set Saturday Night

Another in a series of "Town Hall" meetings will be held on Saturday night, October 16, at 8:00, in the District Courtroom, Haskell, Luther Walker, Chamber of Commerce manager, announced.

Invitation has gone out through the press, personal contact, and by telephone, in an effort to stimulate interest in the meeting. Landlords, merchants, employees, professional men, and in fact anyone interested in the economic growth of Haskell and Haskell County, should make a special effort to attend, Mr. Walker said.

In the last Town Hall meeting held September 2nd, 61 persons, representing 22 Haskell business firms were in attendance, and at that meeting $16,600 was pledged to the Industrial Foundation.

Since that meeting the Industrial Foundation Charter has been drawn-up and pledge cards are ready.

Al Myers, of the Olney Federal Savings and Loan Association, who is secretary of the Industrial Foundation in Olney, and another representative of the Olney Foundation, will attend the Town-Hall meeting here Saturday night to speak to the interested group.

The Town Hall meeting was set for Saturday night, due to the fact that so many other meetings are scheduled during the week.

"Quick-To-Tax, Slow-To-Pay"

The railroads have had three moderately successful revenue years which promise recovery from the severe 1958-'61 industry slump. Yet, ironically, they are now faced with a proposal which would substantially boost the taxes paid by themselves... and their employees... for retirement purposes.

The legislation in question is now before Congress. It would boost by $84 million the annual retirement taxes. Half of this would be paid by the railroads and half by the workers. And it would come on top of the separate $33 million tax increase they must share to bring employees the already-enacted medicare benefits.

The industry would pay $42 million of the increased requirement tax levy—and that is no small matter to an industry whose earnings, though recently improved, are extremely modest and well below anything resembling a fair and reasonable return on their huge investment. This, as spokesmen point out, would have an obvious... and unfortunate... effect on the industry's abilities to solve its problems and provide the kind of transportation services the public has a right to expect.

From the employee standpoint, this would amount to "quick-to-tax", slow-to-pay" plan. The retirement taxes paid by a worker earning $500 a month would jump $100 a year. But he could look forward only to slowly-increasing benefits at retirement: $2 a month more in 1966, $3 more in 1967, $6 in 1968, $7 in 1969, and $8 in 1970. Already-approved new tax bites are in the offing. This is no time to impose additional ones.

Warning - Detergent Gas

Recently a peculiar type of accident struck two housewives undertaking a household chore in separate locations but under similar circumstances. Both were using an ordinary toilet-bowl cleaner. Dissatisfied with the way stains were being removed, each decided to add a household bleach and stirred the mixture with a brush. As a result, one died quickly—the other spent a long, long time in a hospital.

Another example—according to a government medical newsletter, 20 people were overcome a short time ago by toxic gases released from a do-it-yourself cleaner, a witches' brew of a cleanser, chlorine bleach and ammonia.

What occurred in each of these cases was the generation of a poisonous gas when the users decided to combine two or more cleaning agents commonly found in almost every household. The addition of the old familiar chlorine bleach (a sodium hypochlorite solution) to an acid or acid-producing substance, such as a toilet bowl cleanser or just plain vinegar, will suddenly release a quantity of toxic chlorine gas. Similarly, when it is mixed with other alkaline matter—ammonia or lye—the chemical action liberates a highly irritating gas. If inhaled, these fumes can cause serious injury and possibly death.

Don't make the mistake of thinking because certain household products are good and useful, a combination will do the job better. On the contrary, this may be not only a waste of time and effort by producing poorer results through neutralizing or diluting one another, but may prove disastrous. Stick to the safe rule: read the label carefully and follow the manufacturer's directions exactly. Keep in mind that modern scouring powders often contain chlorine bleach.

Economically, it is unsound to use hypochlorite (chlorine) bleach in toilet bowls, sinks and bathtubs or on electrical appliances. This will, in time, dull and roughen the fine smooth porcelain surface which is attractive as well as utilitarian.

DON'T MIX bleaching agents and toilet bowl cleansers, and ammonia, and lye, and rust remover, and vinegar, and oven cleaner. IN SHORT—NEVER MIX BLEACHING AGENTS WITH ANY OTHER CLEANING COMPONENTS.

Nation Needs Taxpayers Now

News reports tell us that next year the rural electric cooperatives will ask Congress to approve new means to finance larger power plants and other facilities. According to the Wall Street Journal, directors of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association are recommending longer-term and less-restrictive government loans along with use of private capital. By 1980, say an association spokesman, the co-ops will need $700 million in new capital a year, as compared with the $350 million in new federal lending authority that the Administration has recommended for the fiscal year that started July 1, 1965.

These projected expenditures are requested at a time when rural electrification in this country is almost totally complete. And it is an undeniable fact that co-ops, enjoying tax exemptions in more and more instances, have moved or sought to move into service area which are non-rural and which are adequately and economically served by taxpayer-owned utilities. This is an attempt to expand in a manner that never was thought of when the REA movement began back in depression times.

Numbers of members of Congress have shown signs of restiveness at the co-ops now being given government loans at below-cost interest rates and also, with their freedom from various taxes... the federal income tax included. At the very least now that the co-ops have become big business, it is time that Congress turned a critical eye on requests for more funds that eliminate taxpayer enterprise... and, also, that it force the co-ops to operate on the same financial basis as the investor-owned companies with which they compete.

The Private "War On Poverty"

The government's anti-poverty program is coming in for much criticism. Charges of "Boondoggle" are common. So far, it is said, most of the benefits seem to have gone to a well-paid administrative bureaucracy... relatively few to the poor.

Meanwhile, U. S. News & World Report observes "...the private 'war on poverty' has been particularly helpful to those Negroes, teen-agers and others who were without education, experience or skills."

Whatever the government program may ultimately achieve, the most effective weapon against poverty is dynamic, expanding, socially-conscious private enterprise.

Poor Defoliation of Cotton Results In Losses of Large Sums of Money

By F. W. MARTIN
County Agent

Poor defoliation of cotton results in losses of large sums of money each year to Texas producers, points out Fred Elliott, Extension Cotton Specialist with Texas A&M University. Mr. Elliott says that many growers can improve their cotton grades by following a few simple procedures when defoliating plants.

The selection of the correct chemical is the first step in a cotton defoliation program. Cotton harvest-aid chemicals are divided into two classes—defoliants and desiccants. Defoliants cause mature leaves to shed in about 7 to 9 days and should be used on cotton that is to be picked mechanically. If cotton is to be stripped, a desiccant (which causes the leaves to dry and become crumbly) should be used.

Defoliation should not be started until the cotton reaches the proper stage of maturity. Defoliants can be applied safely when 60 per cent or more of the cotton bolls are open. Desiccants should not be applied unless 75 per cent of the bolls are open under dryland conditions and 80 per cent are open on irrigated cotton. Plants are considered to be suitably mature if the youngest bolls cannot be dented by pressure between the thumb and forefinger or cut through easily with a sharp knife.

Thorough coverage of all of the leaves is necessary for a good cotton defoliation program. Consequently, spray tanks, pumps, lines and nozzles should be cleaned in order to remove sticky residues left by liquid insecticides. Extreme caution should be taken to make sure that each nozzle on the boom or plane is releasing the proper amount of spray.

The specialist says that only enough acreage should be defoliated at one time to stay ahead of the harvesting operation. If a second application is required for unusually rank cotton, a chemical with a different active ingredient should be used in order to stay within a safe residue tolerance.

Cotton growers should avoid using any defoliant that is not labeled as to exact chemical content. Weather information—such as dew and humidity forecasts, temperature, wind velocity and rainfall—should be considered carefully when defoliating cotton.

Single copies of the release L-145, which contains a guide for use of defoliants and desiccants, may be obtained, without charge, from the county agents.

Haskell County History

80 YEARS AGO
(October 10, 1955)

Eustace M. Hutchens Relates Some Events Of By-Gone Days In Haskell

Salado, Texas
Oct. 1, 1965

Dear Fred,

As I may find it unhandy to attend the Haskell homecoming, I am writing to say that I deeply appreciate your invitation to breakfast at Sam's restaurant. My brother, Homer, at Grandview has asked me to make the trip with him; but right now I am so tramped in tasks, I hardly see how I may accept his offer. Surely, I hope, I shall by the next homecoming, be able to detach myself.

It's a pity (or as Mr. Wisely now and then said while teaching a German class, Es ist schade) that we cannot live forever and so have unlimited time in which to ruminate on the pleasant memories inherited from Haskell High School, a school the most picturesque I ever attended (and I have attended four or five) and in which you were easily the most picturesque character. What ex-student of the semesters when Rives, Woodley and Thomas ruled the academic precincts, can ever forget the hectic and sometimes perilous debates indulged in by you, Claudius Walden, Hale Neathery, Lewis Sherrill, Elbert Wilson, and others? What a deal of color was split! As I now recompact one notable scene, the forensic duels (forbidden by some sort of ex cathedra ukase from holding their contest in the school-room) erected against a cow-shed on the n. e. corner of the interminable campus a bema made of a prune box; and standing on this, let go their eloquence on the unhoused breeze, orating to the cumuli and cirri, overshooting at least the heads of many of us younger listeners.

Homer says you have got a long well in the world, and I was happy to learn of it. I expected that much of you, but was a bit surprised to learn that your success has been in business. I had imagined that your success would be in politics, there or in some related field where dramatic speech was a main requirement. Really, it doesn't matter much—or, maybe it does. For my part, I am sure I had rather be a businessman in Athens than a senator in Washington.

Well, I suppose that the Great God of the Universe knows best, and will before many years, lay to rest in his reliquary all our golden recollections of our school days; but we shall not murmur or complain; brief as the epoch was, to have lived in it and to have been a student in the Haskell High School was (and is) a kind of immortality, an embalmed moment in the everlasting, not to be condemned by those who with a longer longevity granted to them wear aureoles.

Here I throw on my brakes. I've said enough, perhaps too much, for one that spent, only four years in Haskell County, and those four years more a half century ago. I would like to hear from you and learn what you're up to for a while in Miss Well's—what has become of him? Very truly your friend, Eustace M. Hutchens. Mr. Fred E. Waukan, Sr. Athens, Tennessee.

Later, Oct. 7, I intended send this letter to Athens as it has been delayed. I dress it to you at Haskell.

Staple lengths for the week ran 40% 15/16, 31/32, 11% one inch and 31/32 and longer. Micronaire readings were good with nearly all in the 4.8 range.

B&PW Club Members Hear Youth In Action Program Tuesday Evening

The Business and Professional Women's Club met Tuesday night, with the finance committee as hostess. Theme of the "Youth In Action" program was, "Invention Is The Talent of Youth, and Judgement of Age."

The program was under the direction of the Civic Participation Committee. Delegates to the Attorney General's Youth Conference on Crime, Arch and Evelyn Mayfield, of Weimer, spoke at the meeting. Also a report on the National Spelling Contest was given by Bette Edwards, of Weimer.

Evelyn Mayfield said that the highlight of the third annual youth conference was the "Operation Teenager" assembly. Four convicts (all in their 20s from Huntsville), told of how they gradually became delinquents and rebelled against authority. Environments were poverty stricken to wealthy homes. The convicts summed-up their speeches by saying that what they missed most wasn't the thrill out of the wild life they had lived, like getting drunk, or pulling a robbery, but the things they had laughed at and scorned, like the church, God and faith. Now these young men were dedicated to help youth of today, by their testimonies and stay out of what they called "a hell on earth."

Arch Mayfield, brother of Evelyn, explained the aims of the Attorney General's Youth Conference was to help youth of Texas become a part of the solution of the problems, and not just part of the problem itself. The three seminar sessions were the heart of the Youth Conference. In each seminar session, there were about 20 delegates and three or four Seminar Panelists. We learned a number of things we as youth can do in our own communities toward solving problems of youth today," Mayfield said.

Soft-spoken Bette Edwards, who became the district spelling bee champion in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma back in April at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas, and represented this district at the National Spelling Bee finals in Washington in June, said she especially enjoyed the special tour of the capitol building arranged by Don James, escort from the Times Publishing Co. Her guide was Norman Duncan, Graham Purcell's assistant. Here, she said, she met the Speaker of the House, John McCormack.

"An unexpected surprise was when Carl Albert, of Oklahoma, introduced Princess Christine of Sweden," Bette said.

"On a bus tour, we visited Lincoln Memorial and the Jefferson Memorial, Arlington Cemetery and saw the Kennedy gravesite. We saw the House and Senate in action, and at Mount Vernon saw the tombs of George and Martha Washington. We also saw a major league baseball game and visited the Smithsonian Institute," Bette continued.

At the National Spelling Bee, Bette ranked third out of nine in Texas and 16th out of 70. "In all, it was a week that I will always remember. Perhaps the most exciting of my life," Bette concluded.

SCS Plant To Hold Open House Friday

An open house will be held at the Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center on Friday afternoon, Oct. 15, from 1:00 until 5:00. Everybody is invited to come out and see this new installation. Drive north out of Knox City approximately two miles and turn west when you get to the Pan American office. The Plant Materials Center is approximately 2 1/2 miles to the west on the north side of the road.

Groups will be conducted through the Center about every hour. In the meantime, everybody is welcome to walk around the fields and look at the seed cleaning equipment.

This is the first year for the Plant Materials Center. Approximately 17 of the 60 acres have been planted to grass. Over 100 different species were planted in 20-foot rows for observation purposes. This area covers about two acres. The other 43 acres is planted to 23 different collections of grass in fields ranging in size from one acre to 1 1/10 acre. In addition, a complete seed cleaning plant is available for processing the seed harvested at the Center.

Purpose of the Plant Materials Center is to assemble, evaluate and produce grasses and legumes for the range, pasture and other soil conservation programs in Texas. Promising grasses are assembled from many sources and studied at the Center. Those that might have promise are produced in limited quantities and planted in field trials on the farms and ranches of Soil Conservation District cooperators. If they prove out in the trial plantings, seed will be made available to growers for commercial production.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this 1966 Riviera Gran Sport.

You know how well your car's engine runs after a tuneup? Buick tuning has the same effect on the whole car. Not just the engine. The whole Buick. Everything blends with everything else. Styling. Performance. Ride. Handling. All tuned to work together in harmony. That's what the tuned car is. A Buick. Only Buick is the tuned car. (And every Buick is the tuned car.) What the tuned car is is a masterful blending of all the things that make a great car greater. The Riviera for 1966 is the tuned car. It features six-passenger seating, disappearing headlights, a silently efficient new ventilating system and the kind of roadworthiness you'd expect in a car that costs twice as much. (You can get a Riviera for your desk as well as your garage. Send $1 in check or money order to Riviera, P.O. Box 68, Troy, Mich., for an accurate 1/25 scale model '66 Riviera.) But Riviera's not the only tuned car. LeSabre is, too. And Wildcat. Electra 225. Special. Skylark. Sportwagon. See them all at your Buick dealer's. The tuned car may not mean much to you now. But then you haven't had a chance to drive one yet.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

Milla Perry Crowned Queen Of Paint Creek School Homecoming

MILLA PERRY

By Mrs. Gene Overton

Wasn't Homecoming fun? The weather was perfect and everyone seemed in a "homecoming" mood. It was so good to see all the former students and their families, and Paint Creekers we hadn't seen in years. The Howard community had the most ex-students of the schools that formed Paint Creek, with Post running a close second. Mrs. Polly (Tip-ton) Wilson was the former student who traveled the most miles to get here. She lives in Huntsville, Ala. She works for IBM and her husband is in the space program. He said we will have a man on the moon in 1970.

Geraldine (Petrich) Hise was the ex-student with the largest family. She and Lonnie have five boys named Donnie, Ronny, Vonnie, Johnny and Montie. Now isn't that a tribe? They hoped for a Connie, but "she" was always another boy.

Mrs. John Nanny was the oldest ex-student present. She was a Howard before her marriage and attended Howard School Mrs. Lilla Hefflin was the teacher who had taught the longest at Paint Creek, and I was the oldest former teacher (52) having taught at Post from 1931 to 1935 Mrs. Alex McLennan may be as old as I, and she taught at Rockdale.

The Class of 1951 had the most present.

Speaker for Homecoming was former student, Dr. Kermit Brown, who is a professor of Petroleum Engineering at the University of Texas. His topic was "Things that Concern Us All in America Today." He listed these things as our government, Communism, crime, and the population explosion. He said that we must remember that God, the Power that brought us here, sustains us now. He gave such a sweet tribute to his father, Wes Brown, for all he had meant to him, and to his step-mother, "for loving Dad and us," and to his wife, Ruby Katherine (Bunkley). We are all very proud of Kermit. His class, the Class of 1941, was the honor class.

Music for the program was by Mrs. James Ross Mickler and Mrs. Twain Mickler. They sang "Sentimental Journey" "Dear Hearts and Gentle People" and were accompanied by Phyllis Middlebrook.

New officers elected are: President, Irvin Overton; Vice-President, Tick Elmore; Secretary, Amelia Perry; Food, Walter Buerger; Entertainment, Shirley Mickler; and Publicity, Millie Lee Medford. There is talk of having Homecoming every two years instead of every four.

To make the day perfect, the boys won their game with Putnam 24-6, and the girls' drill team put on a nice half-time show. They ended their drill by forming a heart and the Homecoming Queen, Milla Perry, escorted by Ronnie Medford, was crowned by Homecoming president, Dale Middlebrook. She was presented a bouquet of roses by the reigning queen, Paulette Fischer. Her attendants were Joan Sparkman, escorted by Glen

Methodist Women Will Respond To Call To Prayer And Self Denial

Methodist women will respond to a Call to Prayer and Self-Denial in October, which is an annual observance. The Call: To all Methodist women to join in prayer, study and sacrificial giving for medical missions around the world and a new library at Scarritt College for Christian Workers. May our faith and devotion speak through our prayers and self-denial gifts that the Christians of tomorrow may find the witness of our prayers and gifts today a worthy contribution toward the fulfillment of God's plan in history. Scarritt College was founded in 1892 in Kansas City, Missouri by Dr. Nathan Scarritt for lay-women called to foreign service. In 1924, it was moved to Nashville, Tenn., where it became co-educational, continued to grow, adding other departments and training Christian workers. Today more than 3,500 Scarritt alumni are serving the church around the world: 2,760 in the United States, and 750 overseas in 69 countries.

Scarritt College at present shares in the Joint University Library system with Vanderbilt and Peabody; they are in need of specialized library material related to particular fields of study such as Christian Education, Church and Community, Missions, Religious Drama. The college must prepare for new trends that beckon us on to new methods, new programs, new service.

A part of this year's Call to Prayer and Self-Denial offering is to be used for strengthening the healing witness of Christ through medical missions around the world. Methodist women also help to support three Christian medical colleges: Vellore and Ludhiana in India, and Yonsei University College of Medicine in Korea as well as 21 schools of nursing in 12 countries. Nursing education has always been one of the major interests of the Woman's Division.

It is hoped every Methodist woman in Haskell will pledge her prayers and an offering to these worthy Christian needs.

Call To Prayer

Methodist women will observe a call to prayer and self-denial with several meetings being planned. The program will be presented at the Women's Society of Christian Service Circle meetings October 20th; this is in addition to the regular program.

On Wednesday, October 27th, at 9:30 a. m., the WSCS will meet for a Spiritual Revival of Faith and Devotion. The Wesleyan Service Guild will meet October 25th for their regular meeting and observation of this special event.

NOW! A WHOLE NEW SERIES OF ULTRA-LUXURIOUS CHEVROLETS

'66 CAPRICE

BY CHEVROLET

Caprice Custom Coupe—with exclusive formal roof line that comes on no other Chevrolet.

Caprice Custom Sedan—with superb new Body by Fisher elegance inside and out.

Caprice Custom Wagon—with fine new look of hardwood paneling on sides and tailgate.

Everything it takes to create a distinguished luxury car has gone into these new Caprices.

Beneath the formal styling elegance that sets the Custom Coupe apart, for instance, you'll find thick wall-to-wall carpeting, comfort-contoured seats and the look of hand-rubbed walnut on the instrument panel, glove compartment and inside door panels. You can order a finely instrumented console, together with new Strato-bucket front seats.

In the Custom Sedan, a new Strato-back front seat is available with bucket-type contours separated by a fold-down armrest. And in the equally opulent Custom Wagons, offered in 2- or 3-seat models, you can even order carpeting for the cargo area.

Each model rides super Jet-smooth. And for incomparably smooth power, you can specify Chevrolet's advanced Turbo-Jet V8 in either a 396- or 427-cubic-inch version.

The price of it all? Somewhat more than you're used to paying for a Chevrolet. But less, as your dealer will happily confirm—than the select class of fine cars these new Caprices invite comparison with in every detail.

ARE YOU A VETERAN?

Here Are Ten Reasons Why You Should

JOIN

The American Legion

1. PEACETIME SERVICE. The button of The American Legion testifies your honorable service during World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict.
2. REHABILITATION. Every member helps toward providing adequate care and protection for the disabled of World War I and II and the Korean Conflict and their dependents.
3. CHILD WELFARE. Every member helps to carry out the child welfare program through which the organization stands in place of the father to thousands of needy orphans.
4. AMERICANISM. By being a member, the veteran gives full support to the principles of Americanism through which un-American influences are counteracted. He supports patriotic education and helps make all communities better places in which to live.
5. JUNIOR EDUCATION. Through membership the veteran supports the teaching of sportsmanship and high ideals to the youth through activities such as Junior Baseball, Boys State and Boys Nation, Oratorical Contests, Boy Scouts and the School Medal Award.
6. NATIONAL SECURITY. Every member will help the organization in attaining its goal for an adequate national defense to insure the nation against attack.
7. LEGISLATION. While practically every piece of legislation beneficial to veterans of World Wars I and II and the Korean conflict has had the full support of the American Legion, a greater membership will insure the success of future legislative programs.
8. NON PARTISANSHIP. By joining, veterans become members of the most democratic organization in the world. There is no rank in the Legion, no race, no creed.
9. COMRADESHIP. Veterans enrolling in the Legion join a real outfit of he-men who served together in time of war. Friendships made in war service endure. Friendships made in the American Legion like wise endure.
10. VOICE HEARD. The voice of the single veteran is not heard, but the voice of millions of veterans in The American Legion are heard and heeded.

Plentiful Foods Highlight Market Counters In Oct.

Nine plentiful foods will highlight market counters during October, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Featured on the U. S. Department Agriculture's plentiful foods list are apples. Other plentiful foods, as determined by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, are shelled pecans, dried prunes and frozen concentrated orange juice; broiler fryers, turkeys and cheese; rice and onions.

Cooler weather will promote interest in baked apples, as well as eating out of hand. And what could be better than fresh apple pie!

Shelled pecans also present lots of cooking variety. Use them in homemade cookies, pies and other desserts.

Plumprunes are mighty tasty on the breakfast menu, as well as for many other uses.

And you'll want to put juice at every place breakfast table. What a morning wake-up! Rice makes a delicious breakfast cereal. Or use for lunch, in a salad or as a main dish. Onions add lively flavor to almost any of your October cooking.

From informal lunches to fanciest of dinners, turkeys will be expected for the main dish. Breads readily lend themselves to pies calling for chopped chicken. You'll find the ever popular roast turkey a popular item, as well as the ever popular roast turkey.

You may want to change into a rarebit and it's always a mainstay in the ever popular roast turkey.

For economy and variety, build your menu around these plentiful foods.
