Meal delivery a timely stop for hurt pair

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

An elderly Hereford couple spent a night and part of a day on the floor of their home before they were discovered by Meals on Wheels personnel shortly before noon Thursday.

A. W. McRight, 90, apparently fell about 6 p.m. Wednesday, accidentally bumping against his wife, Norma, 85, and causing her to fall, also. Although the front door to their home at 102 Fir was locked, the garage door was standing open.

A Meals on Wheels van, driven by Rosemary Smithers, arrived at the house about 11:30 a.m. Thursday. Jim Bozeman, taking in the meals for the day, entered the home through the garage and found the couple lying on the floor.

"Jim came out and told me what he found and said Norma told him, 'Don't call 911, call Lupe,' but when I went inside, I called 911 and Margie Daniels at Senior Citizens," Smithers reported.

Smithers said Mrs. McRight told her that the pair had been on the floor since 6 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. McRight asked Bozeman to call Lupe Hernandez who helps the couple regularly.

"I'm just glad the garage door was open," said Smithers, "because otherwise we wouldn't have stopped." She said the meals typically were taken into the home through the garage.

"We would have thought they weren't home and driven on if that door had been closed," she added.

The McRights were transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital by EMS ambulance. After examination, they were transferred by ambulance to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

A DSGH spokesperson described them in "stable condition" when they left Hereford. Early examination indicated McRight had a fractured hip and his wife, a shoulder injury, possibly a fracture.

Margie Daniels, Hereford Senior Citizens director, said surgery was scheduled Friday afternoon for McRight. When she left the Amarillo hospital late Thursday, Daniels said, doctors expected to treat Mrs. McRight by immobilizing her shoulder, instead of surgery.

Mrs. McRight tried to reach a telephone in the home to call for help after she and her husband fell, Daniels said. "She just couldn't reach it," said Daniels.

When Meals on Wheels personnel can't get into a home to deliver food, the standard procedure is to call back to the house.

"If we don't get any answer, we check further, even call the police if we have to," said Daniels.

In the case of the McRights, though, the arrival of the meals van brought the help they needed.

High school parts

Don Cumpston, HISD assistant superintendent for support services, stands with the long-awaited air handlers which will be installed in the high school's new heating and air conditioning system beginning Saturday. The handlers will take water-cooled or heated air and push it into classrooms. Each classroom under the system will be able to regulate its own temperature. In the background is one of the two massive water chillers installed at the school to cool water for the air conditioning system.

Ousted parliament targeted by Yeltsin

By BARRY RENFREW
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) - President Boris Yeltsin ordered his forces today to disarm opponents occupying the parliament building, and police hunted for gunmen who launched a fatal attack on a military headquarters.

A presidential decree ordered army and police to "take measures to take away weapons from the people" holding parliament and to take control of security at the building.

Army infantry, paratroopers and at least 3,000 riot police were ordered into Moscow and police patrols were being increased at government buildings, officials said. Security forces were ordered to shoot to kill if threatened.

"There is a real danger of firearms being used in Moscow," Moscow Mayor Yuri Luzhkov said at a news conference.

U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering, speaking today on NBC's Today Show, said there were no signs that opponents inside the building would give up. But, he said, "Moving against the building and shooting to kill are reports we haven't heard yet and we're following this closely."

The president's order came after the Thursday night assault on the commonwealth military command headquarters by gunmen in camouflage uniforms. A police officer who tried to stop the attackers' vehicle was killed and a woman living nearby was killed by a stray bullet, police said.

Police today arrested Stanislav Terekhov, leader of the influential Union of Russian Officers, an anti-Yeltsin group. Terekhov was identified as one of the attackers by witnesses, police said.

Police detained nine other people, who claimed they were opponents of Yeltsin and had been ordered to help attack the command post. The nine apparently arrived too late and did not take part in the attack.

The military has widely supported Yeltsin's move to disband the Parliament, which is dominated by hard-liners. He also has received broad support for the international community; Russians in general have been either supportive or uninterested.

All appeared normal today in Moscow and other major cities, with people streaming to work and shopping.

Yeltsin disbanded Russia's Soviet-era parliament Tuesday, frustrated by 18 months of acrimonious struggles with holdover Communist lawmakers over how to reform the economy and whether the president or parliament should rule Russia.

Runaway barge, warning sensors, metal plates eyed in fatal accident

By ELLIOT MINOR
Associated Press Writer

SARALAND, Ala. (AP) - A runaway barge that hit a train trestle minutes before Amtrak's Sunset Limited hurtled into a bayou may have knocked the bridge's steel plates out of alignment, investigators say.

The train had received an all-clear signal as it approached the single-lane span at 70 mph in the middle of the night Wednesday. John Hammerschmidt of the National Transportation Safety Board said Thursday night.

Authorities have determined that the barge that got away from a tugboat operator in the fog and dark had struck the 500-foot-long, wood-and-steel bridge minutes before.

At least 44 people died in the accident, Amtrak's deadliest wreck.

On Thursday, investigators found that steel plates between the tracks and the bridge supports had been knocked nearly 3-1/2 feet out of alignment, Hammerschmidt said. But NTSB officials said they do not know whether the plates were out of place before the train crash.

The New York Times reported today that the track - operated by CSX Transportation Inc. of Jacksonville, Fla. - has a sophisticated system of sensors designed to keep trains off dangerous tracks. But the newspaper quoted Amtrak spokesman Clifford Black as saying that only a break in the rail would trigger a warning, and investigators have not yet determined whether a rail was broken.

"I'm sure that will be investigated also," U.S. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena said during an appearance this morning on Fox-TV.

NTSB investigators said 163 people survived the crash and three others - all crew members - were missing and presumed dead. Their bodies were believed to be inside the lead locomotive, which was buried in 15 feet of mud under 25 feet of water.

Late Thursday afternoon, the engine was lifted partially from the mud, but searchers did not immediately find the bodies. Giant cranes also began hauling the Sunset Limited coaches from the water.

The Coast Guard reported that the tugboat operator, assistant pilot Andrew Stabler, radioed 12 minutes before the crash to say he had lost his tow of six barges.

The Coast Guard released part of a transcript of the distress call: "Mayday. Mayday. I've lost my tow. There's too much fog. Don't know exact location."

"Unfortunately, he did not indicate it had hit the support," U.S. Transportation Secretary Federico Pena told "CBS Morning News" said.

NTSB investigators had hoped to interview the operator of the tugboat and three crewmen today, Hammerschmidt said. The NTSB requested interviews with Warrior & Gulf Navigation Co., the owner of the tugboat, but was referred to the crewmen, Hammerschmidt said. The crewmen referred investigators to their lawyers.

The NTSB has the authority to subpoena the crewmen, but Hammerschmidt said he preferred to gather voluntary statements.

Stabler has been questioned by the FBI and the vessel has been impounded.

The barges - 193 feet long and 35 feet wide - were lashed together and filled with coal, coke and wood chips. Some apparently broke loose upon impact, and Stabler was trying to corral them in the fog, investigators said.

Stabler, who lives 60 miles north of Mobile in Martinville, refused to answer questions without consulting his lawyer. "I'd like to tell my side. People get things and turn them around," Stabler told The Associated Press.

Mobile Police Chief Harold Johnson met with the district attorney to pursue possible criminal charges.

The bridge, accessible only by rail or boat and built in 1909, has a clearance of 7 feet between its bed and the water.

"Barges are not allowed in that creek. Out of the six barges, I don't know any of them was short enough to go under that bridge," FBI agent Charles W. Archer said.

Commerce Secretary Ron Brown in Texas to stump for health reform

By MICHAEL GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - Commerce Secretary Ron Brown says what's good for America's health care is also good for American businesses.

Brown came to Texas Thursday to tout President Clinton's health care overhaul proposals with a visit to Houston's Hermann Hospital.

"I've listened how their companies are being bludgeoned by health care costs," he said. "I know this plan is good for American business, good for American consumers, good for deliverers of health care services and good for the recipients of health care services."

Brown was among numerous administration officials who spread out across the country to begin selling the plan the day after President Clinton delivered it in a speech to Congress.

"Every single thing we do economically in the next few years will be for naught if we don't get a handle on health care," Brown told about 150 people who gathered in a hospital atrium.

"Without this kind of fair but fundamental change, we will find ourselves in a deeper and deeper hole."

Before his brief address, Brown met with Houston business leaders, then made a quick tour of two neonatal care units and stopped at the hospital records office to speak with staffers surrounded by tens of thousands of patient files.

Aides kept reporters away from Brown for the most part and a scheduled news conference was scrapped so he could attend a private lunch, spokeswoman Julie Rice said. Brown was about 30 minutes late for a scheduled photo opportunity to begin his tour of the more than 900-bed hospital, which is part of the renowned Texas Medical Center, the world's largest medical complex.

Brown reiterated the goals of Clinton health care plan, saying it would guarantee security for every American, would simplify the system and hold the line on costs.

"It is both bold and credible," he said. "President Clinton is proposing a solution to the most complex, the most daunting, the most difficult economic challenge facing our country today, making health care available to every man, every woman, every child in America."

In a neonatal intensive care unit, Brown wandered among the high-tech equipment that kept tiny infants alive. Surgery at one end of the unit was suspended while Brown and an entourage visited.

Grand jury winding up probe of state treasury

AUSTIN (AP) - Officials in the Travis County district attorney's office say any possible action by a grand jury investigating the state Treasury under U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison would likely come next week.

Grand jurors have spent the past four months looking into accusations Treasury employees and equipment were used for personal and political purposes under Mrs. Hutchison, and if documents were destroyed in a coverup. "There probably will be no action taken until next week," assistant district attorney Darla Espinoza said Thursday.

The panel is set to disband after Tuesday. If the grand jurors can't complete their inquiry by then, a new panel would be sworn in to take up the probe.

Earle has said he expects the grand jury to finish its work before the deadline.

Coming in Sunday's Brand

On Tuesday, Sept. 28, the Hereford Independent School District board of trustees will consider the purchase of the office building known locally as the Smith Building, located at the intersection of 15th Street and U.S. 385. On Sunday, HISD Superintendent Charles W. Greenawalt shares preliminary architectural plans for the building, should trustees opt to buy it. In addition, he details estimated costs that would be incurred in remodeling the building to suit the district's needs.

History lives

Hereford assistant librarian Joe Weaver, apple in hand, recreates the life of famed apple planter John Chapman, immortalized as Johnny Appleseed, for presentation to local schools. Chapman wandered Ohio and Indiana from 1797 until his death in 1845, planting apple orchards and giving seeds and seedlings to westward traveling settlers.

Prison aides resign, citing interference

AUSTIN (AP) - Four top directors of the state's billion-dollar prison building program have resigned, citing interference by a state criminal justice board member.

Larry Fickel, an assistant prison director, and three aides in the construction division turned in resignations on Wednesday.

Fickel said that Lufkin board member Rufus H. Duncan Sr. had been interfering with the prison construction projects. Duncan is a private construction contractor.

"Mr. Duncan is in our business," Fickel said.

Fickel's assistants, Michael Teare, Joe Street and Richard McCord have also decided to quit.

Fickel and Teare said that Duncan had met privately with contractors involved in building state prisons, had tried to change bid specifications and ordered changes in construction management.

He said the actions could cost millions on contracts and cause delays in the September 1995 deadline for opening new prisons.

But Gov. Ann Richards said she appointed Duncan to the criminal justice board because of his construction experience.

"I told Rufus, only in general, that the specific reason that I wanted him to serve on that board was that I wanted him to make sure that the construction of those prisons would be done and done safely and done according to Hoyle," Richards said.

Davidian investigation report may tell future for ATF officials

DALLAS (AP) - Senior ATF officials connected to the Branch Davidian raid will learn their future when results of a five-month Treasury Department investigation are announced Thursday, according to a published report.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms officials could be placed on administrative leave or receive other disciplinary action pending further review, according to unidentified federal sources quoted by The Dallas Morning News in today's editions.

Raid commanders Phil Chojnacki and Chuck Sarabin, along with senior ATF official Dan Hartnett, Deputy Assistant Director for Law Enforcement Dan Conroy and Intelligence Division Chief David Troy are likely to be removed from their posts after the review's release, sources told the newspaper.

Assistant Treasury Secretary Jack DeVore, chief spokesman for Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen, said Thursday that the review isn't finished. He also said Bentsen had made no final decisions on the fate of officials whose conduct may be discussed in the review.

The review is expected to criticize ATF officials' planning and execution of the Feb. 28 raid near Waco, which ended in a firefight, a 51-day standoff and the deaths of more than 80 Branch Davidians.

Review investigators have questioned the decision by Chojnacki and Sarabin to proceed with the raid after learning from an undercover agent that its secrecy had been compromised.

One official said any personnel action will not be related to the execution of the raid.

Instead, the official said, personnel action prompted by the review will be made "because the secretary or assistant secretary don't have confidence in the people because they have engaged in a pattern of deception and lies."

Richards claims commerce spent money wrongly

By SCOTT ROTHSCHILD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards says that one of the reasons she ordered the 1991 reorganization of the Texas Department of Commerce was because it was not spending all its federal job training money on job training.

But two years later, after having installed her own management team at Commerce, the agency is using interest on federal job training funds to defend itself in a lawsuit.

Richards testified Thursday that one of the complaints against the Commerce Department before she took office was of alleged inappropriate spending of federal job training funds.

Her testimony before a federal jury came in a lawsuit filed by three former Commerce employees who allege they were fired because they are Republican. Richards is a Democrat.

"If you have job training money, it ought to be used for that," she said.

Later, Richards told reporters that her statement did not conflict with the Commerce Department's current use of job training funds for its legal defense.

"What are you going to do? The Department of Commerce has no choice about being here," she said.

Both the agency and Richards have been represented by Roy Minton, a leading defense attorney in Austin, rather than the attorney general's office, which usually represents state officials in lawsuits.

"We really have been very ably assisted by a member of the attorney general's office," Richards said. "This is a very sensitive, this is a very difficult case. I talked to (Attorney General Dan Morales), and I said, 'As far as anyone who's really experienced to deal with something like this, I've got to have the best.'"

The trial before U.S. District Judge

James Nowlin is expected to last at least two more days.

In finishing her testimony Thursday, Richards said accusations of political patronage in the agency reorganization were "offensive."

Richards said she ordered a reorganization of the Commerce Department shortly after taking office because "the agency was a mess."

She said federal and state funds were in danger of being cut off because Commerce Department officials had been accused of mismanagement and improper expenses.

Later, Derek Howard, the attorney representing the three former workers, said the problems at the Commerce Department had nothing to do with his clients.

"The reorganization was designed to get rid of Republicans," he said.

Jim Mikus, one of those suing Richards, said "What we had here was basically a dictatorship. Somebody went in and just chopped a bunch of people's heads off. And now someone is daring to question that form of government."

During the trial Thursday, another former worker in the lawsuit, Ray Barnes, was taken from the courthouse by ambulance after starting to cry in the courtroom. Richards and others had earlier testified that Barnes' former job as the agency's librarian was now a part-time duty.

Barnes was treated and released from St. David's Hospital, said Jan McCrory, a spokeswoman for the hospital. She said he apparently had a fainting spell.

The ex-employees want more than $2 million in back pay, future lost earnings, attorneys' fees and mental anguish damages, Howard said. Other defendants in the lawsuit are Richard Moya, a top aide to Richards; Cathy Bonner, executive director of the Commerce Department; and Alan Kahn of Dallas, former chairman of the agency's board.

Epilepsy group announces area poster child contest

As part of observance of National Epilepsy Month, High Plains Epilepsy Association is sponsoring an area poster child contest.

Any children between the ages of 10 and 14 who has epilepsy and lives in the Texas Panhandle is eligible to enter.

A winner will be selected at a banquet Oct. 16, to be held in the Plaza Restaurant in Amarillo. The winner will be selected by a panel of judges who will base their decision on the child's participation in school and extra-curricular activities and the ability to meet people and discuss epilepsy.

The purpose of the contest is to demonstrate that most children with epilepsy, with property treatment and counseling, can live normal lives.

The winner will represent High Plains Epilepsy Association at various functions throughout the year.

For an application, call High Plains Epilepsy Association at 372-3891.

All applications must be completed by Oct. 11.

High Plains Epilepsy Association receives funding from the United Way of Deaf Smith County and provides epilepsy services in Deaf Smith County.

LBJ call transcripts show concerns

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - From comforting the widow of a slain policeman to advising a newspaper publisher on his White House correspondent, many of Lyndon B. Johnson's first presidential phone calls rang with Texas accents.

The calls are among 275 made public in transcripts released this week by Johnson's presidential library. They began quickly after Johnson was sworn in following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963.

At 4:30 p.m. that day, Johnson phoned from Air Force One to console Nellie Connally, wife of wounded Gov. John Connally.

"Give him a hug and a kiss for me," Johnson told her. He would call her and Connally many times in the coming weeks.

The following afternoon, Johnson phoned from the White House to the Dallas home of Mrs. J.D. Tippitt, whose police officer husband was killed trying to question Lee Harvey Oswald.

"I know that words are not very useful at times when your grief is so great, but Mrs. Johnson and I wanted you to know, you and your children ... are not only in our thoughts, but in our prayers," the president told her.

Talk turned to politics in a Nov. 23 conversation with Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who told his fellow Texan, "I think we ought to close ranks and give you a solid base of operation. Especially with the governor's being injured, everyone wants to help."

On Nov. 24, Rep. Jack Brooks told him, "You're doing beautifully."

Johnson sounded rather overwhelmed. "Well ... I ain't doing. I've got lots to do. I haven't got much of it behind me."

A week after becoming president, Johnson spoke with former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, who had voiced his support.

On his first Christmas as president, Johnson found time to call many old Texas friends.

On the phone with Waco newspaperman Harry Provencher, Johnson heard some encouraging words.

"I hear everything good about you. You've really converted a lot of folks," Provencher said.

"Well, much obliged," Johnson replied.

"People that haven't voted Democrat in 30 years are going to vote for you," Provencher said.

"Well, they'll be off the reservation next month, I imagine," Johnson said.

To Houston newspaper editor Bill Steven, Johnson recounted a deer hunt. "I saw a bunch of them through my sight. I had to see if they had horns on them ... We saw some, but they were small buck - and didn't shoot at them."

Holiday or not, Johnson couldn't keep his conversation with Amon Carter Jr., then publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, off business.

After telling Carter he hoped to get some Western art to redecorate, Johnson also advised the publisher to "get the best damn fellow" to cover the White House. "Cause I guarantee you, I'll play ball with him."

SAN JOSE CATHOLIC CHURCH

This Sunday, there will be training sessions for current and new lectors in the afternoon: at 2 p.m. there will be a session for English speaking lectors and at 4 p.m. there will be a session for Spanish speaking lectors. Anyone who is currently involved in the ministry of lector is required to attend this session in order to continue their ministry. Any person over the age of 16 who would like to come forward to discern if they have a gift for proclaiming the word of God in the Sunday liturgy is also invited to attend.

The quinceanera formation originally scheduled for Sept. 20 has been postponed until Monday evening, Oct. 18, to give the girls and their families more time to prepare.

T.Y.M. classes will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 29, in the mission. If you haven't registered, there is still time.

Saturday has been designated as K-6th religious education day. Many of you still need to register your children. Come by to see Maria Garcia at the parish office during the afternoons Monday through Friday or come to the Mission School with your children by 9:30 a.m. next Saturday. The registration fee is $5 per child. Even though your child has received the sacraments, there is still much to learn about our Christian life.

We are having our parish picnic Sunday, Oct. 3, from 3-6 p.m., at Veterans Park. This is an invitation to all parishioners to gather and celebrate God's blessings and the gift of our community of faith. Please consider signing up for a covered dish on the list in the back of the church.

ST. THOMAS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

"On Empty or Full" is the title of the sermon by the Rev. Charles A. Wilson on the 17th Sunday after Pentecost and is based on Philippians 2:1-13. The Holy Eucharist is celebrated at 11 a.m. and there is a coffee hour in the parish hall after the service.

Christian education for all ages is at 9:30 a.m. Children and youth continue with acolyte training and instruction under the guidance of Senior Warden and Acolyte Master George "Bear" Denton. The adult class continues with inquirers' instruction on the faith and practice of the Episcopal church. The topic this Sunday is a continuation of a discussion on "The Sacraments." All interested persons are invited to attend.

The regular Wednesday Public Service of Healing is at 7 p.m. with the Litany of Healing, the Laying-on-of-Hands with Holy Unction and Holy Communion. The Feast of St. Michael and all Angels, a major prayer book holy day, will be observed.

ST. ANTHONY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

If anyone in your family or among your circle of close friends is ill or planning to have surgery, please call the parish office at 364-6150.

Congratulations to the permanent Deacon Jonny Cloud who gives us a good sense/example of what the Permanent Diaconate is all about and what it means to live the service-ministry of Catholic deacon. Appreciation is also extended to his wife, Judy, and his children.

The parish center breakfast last Sunday netted $405. The committee thanks all who came to support this church project.

The parish mission is scheduled during January and February of 1994. Host families will be needed to sponsor groups in their homes for the five evenings of the mission.

All persons involved in the ministries which take place in liturgy, are asked to attend a liturgical ministers' catechesis at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 30, in the church.

In case of a funeral, regularly scheduled liturgy will not be celebrated. The parish family is invited to participate in the deceased member's liturgy of resurrection.

A rosary with the mysteries attached on the center medal was found at Rest Lawn Cemetery. To claim it, call the parish office at 364-6150 and give a description.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

"See You At the Pole 1993" was a success in Hereford as over 75 youth gathered around their respective school flags recently. "Banana Fest" will be held Sept. 29.

The youth choir did a great job last Sunday evening as they sang during the worship service. Anyone interested in joining the group is encouraged to come to rehearsals at 4:30 p.m. each Sunday afternoon.

"Melodears", the senior adult choir from Oklahoma City, will be presented during the Sunday evening worship service. All senior adults are invited to the fellowship following the service. Please bring sandwiches and desserts to share with guests.

We are in need of preschool and children's workers in discipleship training. If you would be interested in working in this area, please contact John Curtis, director. The fall program will begin Sunday evening, Oct. 3.

First Baptist Church is making available training opportunities for all age groups, preschool, children, youth and adults for persons who want to share with others through the Sunday school.

Sunday school training will be held for all current teachers, prospective teachers and anyone who wants to know more about Sunday school teaching.

There will be a church fellowship from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 2, in the fellowship hall. For further information, call 364-0696 or 364-6070.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What is happening to our beloved country? Every time I pick up a newspaper, I read yet another horrible story about a child killed by gunfire.

In Chicago, 7-year-old Dantrell Davis was shot in the head and killed as he was entering his school. The following week, three teen-agers were wounded outside their high school in the Bronx. A few days later, three more teen-agers were shot near their high school in Brooklyn.

I have three children under 12. Since they were tots, I have instructed them to be careful when crossing the street, but it seems they are in greater danger of being hit by a bullet than by a car.

What is going on that puts ordinary, everyday people at risk of being shot? Please explain this because I am utterly—Baffled in Brooklyn

DEAR BROOKLYN: I'm glad

Pointers for parents

It's practically never too soon to talk to your children about an important subject: underage drinking. Family therapist Dr. Lonnie Carton, host of the national CBS radio program, "The Learning Center" offers these guidelines for parents in a new video program called, "Family Talk About Drinking."

- Set a positive example for children.
- Be factual about alcohol beverages.
- Clearly state your positions and rules about drinking.
- Practice the fundamentals of good parenting, such as building self-esteem and encouraging two-way communication.

- Teach effective ways to deal with peer pressure.

- Seek professional help if you suspect a child has a drinking problem.

"Parents are critical. In fact, of all the influences we know, research tells us clearly that the two most basic influences on children's drinking or not drinking are peer pressure and parental example," said Dr. Carton.

Free Video

The video is available free to parents who call 1-800-359-TALK. The program was underwritten by Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc.

Novelist and critic Virginia Woolf died in Lewes, England, in 1941.

you asked because you've provided me with an excellent opportunity to present some alarming statistics.

The United States is the most heavily armed nation on earth. Its 225 million people possess more than 200 million guns—73 million rifles, 66 million handguns and 62 million shotguns.

In 1990, 2,874 boys and girls 19 years of age and younger were murdered with guns. Also, 1,474 committed suicide with guns. According to Lou Harris pollsters, four out of 10 teen-agers said they knew someone who had been shot.

People who have guns in their homes are at a much greater risk of suicide than those who do not keep guns in their homes.

About half of all handgun owners keep their guns loaded at all times. Whenever you read about a 5-year-old or 6-year-old who shot a playmate or himself, you become painfully aware that the child somehow managed to get hold of a loaded weapon.

In spite of all the terrible things guns are doing to our lives, Congress still hasn't passed the Brady bill. This bill asks only for a waiting period of five working days so a background check can be made on gun purchasers.

American women have been taught to fear violent crime by strangers. The gun industry is using this fear to sell guns to women under the guise that guns will protect them. That is false. According to the New England Journal of Medicine, a handgun in the home is 43 times more likely to be used to kill the owner, a family member or a friend than to kill an intruder.

More than 24,000 Americans die from handgun violence every year. Every two years, handguns kill nearly as many Americans as were killed in the Vietnam War.

The National Rifle Association is the most powerful special interest group in the country. The extremists who control the NRA spend more than $100 million a year to defeat every gun law proposed. The NRA has lobbied shamelessly against banning machine guns, plastic pistols and cop-killer bullets designed to pierce bulletproof vests.

America is the most violent nation in the world. To give you some notion of just how violent it is, here are some comparisons: In 1990, handguns murdered 10 people in Australia, 22 in Great Britain, 68 in Canada and 10,567 in the United States. The easy availability of handguns is at the root of this problem. The NRA says, "Guns don't kill people, people kill people." Of course they do. But they use guns to do it.

Did your congressperson vote for the Brady bill? If not, WHY not? Ask.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In May of 1970, you printed a response to a woman who said she had become tired of hearing her mother's voice. I was 13 at the time, and my mother and I were having the usual mother-daughter conflicts. She cut out that column and gave it to me.

Last May, my mother passed away. A few days later, I found the column of yours that she had given me.

My mother was my heart and soul. Life without her is almost unbearable. I was so lucky to have had her for 35 years, and I know it, but the loss is still so hard to face.

I hope you will reprint this column that I saved all these years. It may help some of your readers appreciate what they have before it's too late.—Denver

DEAR DENVER: Here it is. Thank you for sending it on.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is for "Bunions Ear," the woman who is sick and tired of her mother's voice.

I stopped hearing my mother's voice when I was 18. She was only 44 years old when she died. I recall, with a fair amount of guilt, that I was tired of HER voice, too — especially when she told me to do things I didn't want to do or when she reprimanded me for behaving in an unkind or inconsiderate manner.

I've thought hundreds of times these past 30 years that I would give anything under the sun if I could hear my mother's voice again. Please print my letter, Ann, for the sons and daughters who are still lucky enough to hear a mother's voice. Tell them to listen and be thankful.—Midland, Mich.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thank you, thank you for your reply to the woman who claimed female students threw themselves at her college professor husband and that he was blameless. You are absolutely right when you say the person with the power is responsible for whatever happens.

My handsome, gregarious, real-estate broker father had a good solution for the problem of aggressive women. If he had to visit one of those females in her home, he simply took my mother with him. It didn't take long for word to get around our small town that Dad was not vulnerable, available or even remotely interested in playing around with clients.

Both men and women who want to protect themselves against being seduced can figure out a way if they are serious.—Jacksonville, Miss.

DEAR JACK: Your father was a very wise man. He figured out how to prevent the problem before it became one.

You don't say whether or not you have any married brothers. If you do, I'll bet they don't fool around. This sort of thing usually runs in families.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I purchased a gift certificate for a friend who has very finicky taste, but so far, she has not used it.

I feel hurt because I now think she considered my gift "beneath her." Her parents are pretty well off, so she has never wanted for anything.

I don't plan on saying anything to her about this, but how should I handle gifts to her in the future? She always remembers me, and I must reciprocate.—Muncie, Ind.

DEAR MUNCIE: Send fresh flowers or a blooming plant. It's sure to be the right color and the right size, and she won't have another one exactly like it.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' booklet, "Gems," is idea for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collage of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Musical planned in Amarillo

The presentation of the musical "Annie" will be staged at Amarillo Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Sept. 30-Oct. 2 and Oct. 7-9. It will also be presented at 2 p.m. Oct. 3 and Oct. 10.

"Annie" is set in New York City in 1933 and features the favorite orphan, Annie, who had been deserted in a "hard knock" orphanage run by the less than kindly Mrs. Hannigan. After many failed attempts, Annie is finally able to escape to an easier life in the arms of a loveable billionaire capitalist and his intuitive secretary. Add to this pot, a host of witty and zany characters, a hauntingly "hummmable" score, one loyal canine companion and you have the ingredients for a whirlwind adventure that will leave one and all breathlessly looking forward to "Tomorrow."

Meme Bass, 10, debuts as the gutsy and charismatic Annie and assuming the role of the fatherly Daddy Warbucks is Dale Pitts. Elizabeth Pelton portrays the nurturing assistant, Grace, and Patricia Latham takes the role of the villainous Mrs. Hannigan with her own "den of thieves." Rooster and Lily, played by Shawn Walsh and Donna Hill, respectively.

Playwright Tennessee Williams was born in 1911 in Columbus, Miss.

Herd spikers open district in Dumas

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

All signs point to Hereford's and Dumas' battle for volleyball supremacy in District 1-4A being as intense as ever, with Borger making a strong bid to take a piece of the playoff pie.

District 1-4A play starts Saturday for all teams, and Hereford starts off in Dumas. The junior varsity match starts at 2 p.m. in the Dumas High School Gym, and the varsity war will start about 20 minutes after the JV's finish.

This year's Dumas team beat Hereford in the Lubbock Invitational finals and appears to be just a continuation of the program that produced three state titles three years ago.

This year's Hereford team won tournaments in Amarillo and San Angelo and has a better record entering district play (15-4) than last year's team which went on to the state tournament (10-7).

Finally, this year's Borger team appears good enough to challenge the hold Hereford and Dumas have had on playoff berths since 1988. Last year Borger went 6-4 in district, losing only to Hereford and Dumas. This year, the Bulldogs own a win over Dumas in the finals of the Borger Tournament, and they earned a split with Hereford in pool play in Lubbock.

Hereford coach Brenda Reeh knows her team doesn't have a bye to the playoffs this season.

"I've seen Borger play terribly--they played terribly at San Angelo--but they played outstanding volleyball against Dumas in the finals of the Borger tournament," she said.

"Borger is comprised mostly of seniors who have been on varsity since they were sophomores. They've got a great deal of experience, they have good height in the middle, and they have a very consistent setter. The times I've seen them, they've showed a lot of poise against good teams. This year's Borger team is the best they've had in the last several years."

By winning its own tournament, Borger won't be able to sneak up on anyone. Reeh talks like she considers Borger an equal of Hereford and Dumas.

"Borger, Dumas and Hereford--we three each have a good chance to make the playoffs," she said. "And Randall has an outside chance. They consistently put good athletes on the floor, and this year's no exception."

Dumas has a couple of powerful hitters who'll cause problems for Hereford Saturday.

"Jenny Robinson, their 6-foot-3 hitter, has really been putting it away, as has Laura Tatum--those are their two key hitters," Reeh said. "With Jenny, it almost has to be our tall middle blockers to get a hand on (her hits), otherwise it's our backcourt defense's ball. Tatum, she likes to hit the power angles most of the time, but not being as big as Jenny, we should be able to block her a little better."

Reeh said that blocking will be the key to victory.

"I know both of us have the ability to play real scrappy defense," she said. "If both teams execute defensively, it almost always comes down to which team has the better blocking ability."

Herd JV soaks Frenship

Hereford's junior varsity football team scored a soggy 14-7 victory over Frenship Tuesday as Armando Zambrano ran for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Zambrano scored on a six-yard run in the first quarter, and Hereford led until the third quarter, when a fumble at the Hereford 20-yard line set up a score for Frenship.

Fumbles were plentiful as rain soaked the Whiteface Stadium field and made the ball slippery. Colby Christie and Moses Ruiz both made important fumble recoveries for the Herd.

Fumbles helped keep both teams from moving the ball much, but Hereford's fourth quarter domination of the punting game meant Hereford wouldn't have to move it far. Raymond Alaniz' punt pinned Frenship at its own two-yard line, then Martin Martinez partially blocked a Frenship punt, setting up Hereford inside the Frenship 30.

Zambrano made strong runs on third down twice, then ran the final yard for the winning touchdown. He ran for the two-point conversion, but Hereford's defense made sure it didn't matter.

"The defense played great the whole game," coach Craig Yenzen said. "They kept them out of the end zone. Our offense sputtered a little bit early, but we made the plays when we had to. I'm real proud of the kids. They overcame a lot of adversity--rain, bad field conditions."

Two other games were played Thursday in Hereford and one, the freshman B game, was called because of lightning.

Amarillo High Sophomores 8, Herd Sophomores 0

Hereford played stingy defense except for one play--a 40-yard catch and run for a touchdown--but the Hereford offense couldn't answer.

Coaches praised the defensive play of Tracy Montano, Hector Cavazos and Raymond Estrada, who caused one fumble and recovered another. Tascosa freshmen 14, Hereford 6

In the A game, Stephen Cloud put Hereford in the lead with a seven-yard TD run, but Tascosa came back to win.

Judson-Temple headlines prep battles

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - It took three years, but reigning Class 5A champions finally will be squaring off during their title defense seasons.

The first-of-its-kind battle - made possible by the University Interscholastic League's 1990 decision to add a 5A winner - will be tonight when Division I winner Converse Judson faces Division II champ Temple.

The great scheduling had nothing to do with last December's titles, instead being the second of two meetings planned before last season.

Last year's game was tension-filled, with Temple coming back from a two-touchdown deficit to pull out a 37-21 victory and end Judson's nine-year regular-season home winning streak.

"They better not be mad about last year," joked Temple coach Bob McQueen. "We just want to be friends."

Another great game could be in store for this Friday night's meeting between the No. 3 Rockets and No. 9 Wildcats.

But both coaches caution that this isn't to settle the debate of who the best team was last year. They'd rather view it as a chance before district play begins to improve toward their goals of being the best in 1993.

"This is a great opportunity for growth and learning," McQueen said. "We're certainly going to take advantage of the chance."

Judson (2-0-1) is the team to watch now that all-state running back Jerod Douglas is healthy. He had a dazzling return last weekend, rushing for 246 yards and three touchdowns on 15 carries in a 34-6 victory over Round Rock.

"They look a little bit different with Jerod playing," Temple coach Bob McQueen said. "They have a good team if he's playing or not, but, boy, with that guy in there, they light up the scoreboard."

Much of the rest of the state begins facing district rivals this week, including 5A No. 1 Odessa Permian and 3A's top-ranked Southlake Carroll.

Sydney named to host 2000 Olympics

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) - While China insisted it was ready for the Olympics, the custodians of the Games weren't quite ready to take the gamble.

Rather than making history by choosing the Communist-led giant to play host to the 2000 Summer Games, the International Olympic Committee opted by a narrow margin for the simpler, safer choice of Sydney.

Jubilation in Australia coincided with dejection in Beijing when the 45-43 vote was announced in a live telecast to viewers who stayed up until the wee hours of Friday morning.

"It was a thrilling vote," said Primo Nebiolo, an Italian member of the IOC. "I believe it was a sporting choice, not a political choice."

But other delegates to the IOC session thought otherwise, citing a "stop-Beijing" effort that enabled Sydney to overcome a first-round deficit in the four-round voting Thursday.

"It was unfortunate. The Chinese had tried not to make a political bid, but it was made to come across as one," said Henry Fok, a Hong Kong businessman closely involved in Beijing's bid. "The Chinese tried to stretch out a hand of friendship, but they were portrayed differently. I felt a sense of siege coming here."

Sydney prevailed primarily because it won over the supporters of the two European contenders - Berlin and Manchester - eliminated after the second and third round of voting.

"It was a European effort," said John Coates, president of the Australian Olympic Committee.

In the first round, Beijing got 32 votes, Sydney 30, Manchester 11 and Berlin 9, while Istanbul was eliminated with 7. In the second round, it was Beijing 37, Sydney 30, Manchester 13 and Berlin dropping out with 9. In the third, it was Beijing 40, Sydney 37, Manchester 11. One voter did not cast a ballot in the final two rounds.

Wu Jianmin, senior spokesman for the Beijing delegation, suggested China might try again for the 2004 Games.

"We're going to think about it," Wu said. "In life you cannot succeed the first time in everything. This is Beijing's first bid. Many cities bid several times."

"We are not discouraged, because we Chinese have a tradition: if you succeed, don't be cocky; if you fail, don't be disheartened. We will keep on participating in the development of the Olympics."

Some IOC members felt 2000 was too soon for China to get the Games.

"I think Sydney didn't just win it because of the merit of the bid," said Kevan Gosper, an IOC vice president from Australia. "They won it because there might have been people who wanted to go to Beijing, but it was a question of time."

"You can't disregard the potential of going into China," Gosper said. "The question wasn't: do you go to China? The question was: do you go now? It was a matter of timing that favored us."

Wei Jizhong, secretary general of Chinese Olympic Committee, said China gained stature, even in defeat.

"Our most significant accomplishment here was that we made outside people understand Chinese people and culture," he said. "China used to be a mystery. Through the bidding process, we succeeded in enhancing people's understanding."

But he indicated the Chinese wouldn't quickly forgive the efforts of U.S. congressmen to block Beijing's bid because of human rights issues.

"Certainly, very many Chinese felt very angry about that," Wei said.

"This is a good day for those who are struggling for freedom in China and a proud day for the Olympic movement," said U.S. Senator Bill Bradley, a Democrat from New Jersey who led a campaign urging the rejection of Beijing.

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) - Baseball is called a game of inches, but it can also be a numbers game.

It was in a game here between Lewis University and Shippensburg of Pennsylvania.

A 40-mile-an-hour wind was blowing out toward the fences. Shippensburg won the game, 37-17, in seven innings. The 54 runs and 91 total bases tied records. There were 30 hits, including seven doubles and eight home runs.

Sox win going into showdown with Rangers

By KEN PETERS
AP Sports Writer
ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - The Chicago White Sox would prefer to win the AL West without any help. Sitting on a six-game lead, they will clinch their first title in a decade if they sweep the second-place Texas Rangers in a three-game series beginning tonight in Chicago.

"It's going to be tough because they've got their three tough pitchers going against us," Jack McDowell said Thursday after pitching the White Sox to a 7-1 victory over the California Angels.

Ron Karkovics, who drove in four runs against the Angels with his 20th homer and a double, said, "It feels good to be going home six games in front. What we didn't want was for it to be three or less."

"Now the pressure is on the Rangers."

Robin Ventura, who scored one run and singled home another as the White Sox lowered their magic number to five, said, "It would be great if we could do it this weekend; it's better than counting on someone else to do it."

In the AL East, Toronto moved closer to its third straight division title with a 5-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. The Blue Jays are 5 games in front of New York and six over Baltimore, and their magic number also dropped to five.

In the only other AL game Thursday, Oakland beat Kansas City 2-1.

McDowell said it would take a major breakdown for the White Sox not to win the title eventually.

"We'd pretty much have to not show up for things to happen," said McDowell (22-10), who leads the majors in wins.

Chicago manager Gene Lamont was considerably more cautious.

"I'm really happy with the way we played on the road trip, went 7-3," Lamont said. "Hopefully we can keep it going. We've still got some business to take care of. I don't think we're really thinking about a sweep."

McDowell snapped a personal three-game losing skid with his 10th complete game. He allowed the one California run on four hits, with five strikeouts and two walks.

After the Angels got a run in the second inning, Karkovics put the White Sox ahead with a two-run homer off Mark Langston (15-10) in the fifth. Karkovics added a two-run double and Bo Jackson had an RBI single in a four-run sixth.

Ventura made it 7-1 with an RBI single in the seventh.

Langston lost his fourth consecutive start by allowing six runs and eight hits in six innings. Langston pitched well until the fifth, when Karkovics made solid contact with a curve out over the plate.

Blue Jays 5, Red Sox 1

Roberto Alomar drove in three runs and Dave Stewart allowed three hits in seven innings as Toronto won for the 10th time in 11 games, beating visiting Boston.

Stewart (11-8) won his third straight game, allowing one run. Alomar homered in the first and added a two-run triple in the third for a 4-0 lead against Nate Minchey (1-1), who was making his third major league start.

Toronto's John Olerud homered for the first time in a month, hitting his 24th of the season.

Braves capture series with Expos

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Braves are taking their successful road show to Philadelphia for a likely NL playoff preview.

The two-time National League champions made it two out of three in Montreal on Thursday night with a 6-1 victory over the Expos, the team with the league's best record at home.

The Braves maintained their 2 1/2-game lead over San Francisco, which beat Houston 7-0, but Atlanta's magic number to clinch the NL West dropped to eight.

"Any time you win two out of three here is pretty good," Braves manager Bobby Cox said. "Montreal is awful pesky."

The road win was Atlanta's 51st - the most in the majors - and breaks the franchise record set in 1957. The Braves are 27-5 on the road since July 23 and have won 16 of 20 games overall to tie a franchise record with 98 victories.

The latest came against a pitcher they almost had, as Greg Maddux beat Dennis Martinez. The loss dropped the Expos six games behind idle Philadelphia in the NL East and cut the Phillies' magic number to five.

Maddux (19-9) won his seventh straight decision and leads the majors with a 2.42 ERA. He allowed six hits and two runs in eight innings.

Martinez (14-9) lost for the first time in four decisions since turning down a proposed trade to Atlanta on Aug. 25. Martinez had to give his permission for the deal and did not because the Braves could not guarantee him a spot in their rotation, and because they did not offer him any money for accepting the move.

Martinez allowed five runs on seven hits in seven innings.

In the only other NL game Thursday, Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 11-2 at Riverfront Stadium.

Dave Justice doubled home three runs in a five-run fifth, tying him with teammate Ron Gant for the league lead in RBIs with 113.

Reds 11, Dodgers 2

Cincinnati ended a 12-game losing streak as Tim Lincecum (9-15) allowed five hits in seven innings for his first win in a month. Pugh tied the game 2-2 with an RBI single in the second, and the Reds broke it open with three in the fourth, their biggest rally in 73 innings.

Athletics 2, Royals 1

At Oakland, Brent Gates and Jerry Browne had run-scoring singles in the sixth and seventh innings as Bobby Witt (13-12) outdueled Kevin Appier (17-7), who had won six in a row. Appier's five scoreless innings extended his streak to 33, setting a club record. The Royals' run came in the top of the sixth on George Brett's 17th homer.

Scout mourns passing of Ryan's storied career

By ARNIE STAPLETON
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) - Red Murff, who discovered Nolan Ryan throwing wild fastballs at Alvin High School in 1964, says Ryan's sudden departure from baseball has left a void.

"I am in awe of Nolan Ryan and I never thought I'd say that about anybody. I'm not in awe of President Bush or President Clinton," Murff said in a telephone interview from his home Thursday in Brenham, Texas.

"I just think that Nolan Ryan saved the game of baseball. Here's a guy who won't charge you $20 for his signature. He taught a lot of guys how to be a major league baseball player. A class, class act."

"We'll never see another like him. The game has lost one of its greatest players. I'm sure I would have been in awe of Babe Ruth in his time, and I put those two together, both giants of the game."

Ryan's record-setting 27-year career ended Wednesday night in Seattle when he tore a ligament in his right elbow, finishing his farewell season two starts short of retirement.

Murff, who recently retired as a pro scout, was at the Astrodome on Wednesday night watching the San Francisco Giants and Houston Astros when he heard the news.

"Right away, I was very sad. I had a little moment there, not of sympathy, but I could feel the personal pain that he was having," Murff said. "Not with the injury, mind you, but with him not being able to perform for all those people that showed up en masse at the ballpark to see him. He doesn't need that sympathy, but I feel it for him."

About 50,000 fans packed the Kingdom for Ryan's last scheduled road start. It quickly became his final career appearance when he suffered his fourth injury of the season. Many fans hadn't even reached their seats when Ryan walked off the mound forever after just 28 pitches.

"I'm glad it's over for him," Murff said. "He's been fighting. Nolan Ryan is as great as anyone we've ever had in this wonderful game. He's almost as great as baseball."

Murff discovered Ryan at Alvin High School, 24 miles south of Houston, and knew he'd found something special.

"I wanted to shout it out to the world, what I had found," Murff once said. "But I had to keep this kid top secret."

The New York Mets signed Ryan after graduation a year later and, at the time, the admiration was the other way around.

"I had played in the big leagues and that impressed him," said Murff, a right-handed pitcher with the Milwaukee Braves in 1956 and '57.

"He looked up to me. 'Yes, sir.' 'No, sir.' 'Mr. Murff.' He didn't call me Red for two years. Now, it's turned 180 degrees. He didn't change; I did."

"Now I'm in awe of Nolan Ryan and what he's done. If you got these baseball players, these athletes of today and got to the base of their souls, Nolan Ryan comes to the front," Murff said. "I am prejudiced, yes, but it's a cold, hard fact."

Murff said fans should take heart because baseball will always have Nolan Ryan, "but now what he's done is relegated to our memories and the record of time."

"I could talk about Nolan for a week. He changed my life, I'll tell you," Murff said. "I guess he did that a whole lot, though."

PREP

The Panthers (3-0) face longtime foe Odessa (3-1), which will be trying to beat Permian for the first time since 1964. The teams tied at 14-14 in 1980.

Permian won 14-0 last year, but it was a close game. Another tight battle is expected this year.

"When you play crosstown rivals, it's a very emotional game," Permian coach Tam Hollingshead said. "It generates a lot of excitement in the community."

Also in District 4-5A, sixth-ranked Midland Lee takes on Midland.

In 3A, the Dragons (3-0) are expected to add to their state-record 64-game regular-season winning streak against Springtown (1-2).

It's been seven years, but the Porcupines were the last team to prick Carroll. It was the ninth week of the 1986 season and Springtown won 14-13.

Gauging by the way both teams fared this season against Azle, it should be another Dragon slaying. Carroll beat Azle 52-6 last week and Azle beat Springtown 22-20 in the season opener.

Bowie will be Boyd's first test as the No. 1 team in 2A on a very special night for the Yellowjackets. Their 1983 state championship team will be honored as part of the night's homecoming festivities.

All but three members of the school's only 2A winner are expected to return. The Atlanta Falcons are even supposed to give backup quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver the night off to relive his past glory.

An exciting game will be the District 8-2A opener between No. 5 Goldthwaite and Ranger, which was winless last year but has opened this season 3-0.

Class 4A's top-ranked Waxahachie Indians should have a real easy time in its final non-district home game against Wilmer-Hutchins.

The Eagles are 0-3 and have scored only 32 points this year, while allowing 84.

The exact opposite has been true of their district foe Mesquite Potect, which is 3-0 and has outscored opponents 78-7. The Tigers will get tested at home this weekend by No. 2 Highland Park.

Class 1A's top-ranked Tenaha (3-0) moves up a class to play Elysian Fields, but should have little problem with the Yellowjackets.

An interesting 1A game could be between No. 10 Bremond (2-0-1) and defending 1A champion Bartlett, which began the year No. 1 but has yet to win. The Bulldogs were whacked 36-0 by 2A Thorndale last week.

Coaches don't expect shutout in Tech-Baylor game

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

Baylor coach Chuck Reedy doesn't like to count the ways Texas Tech's offense can move the football. But he has no choice.

"We've had the chance to play some great offenses this season but I don't think we've played any as balanced overall as Tech," Reedy said. "We've had a hard time defending them."

Tech ranks ninth nationally in total offense.

And quarterback Robert Hall has had a "career" against Baylor, Reedy said.

"Last year we couldn't stop (Bam) Morris and we haven't stopped (Lloyd) Hill in three years. And, we aren't very good on defense right now."

The Bears also have some offensive weapons that will make Saturday's SWC opener against the Raiders interesting, and probably high scoring since the defenses for both teams have struggled.

Southern Methodist, which has come close but is still seeking its first victory, plays at Texas Christian in the other SWC opener while Houston is at Michigan; Rice hosts Iowa State and Texas plays at Louisville.

Baylor quarterback J.J. Joe needs 186 yards to break the school record of 5,835 total yards set by Cody Carlson in 1986.

"We may have to score a million points," Tech coach Spike Dykes said. "Our defense hasn't played that bad but this has been a traditionally high scoring game. I don't think anyone will pitch a shutout."

The Texas Longhorns play their third straight nationally ranked opponent when they meet No. 24 Louisville. Syracuse dropped from No. 6 to No. 12 following a 21-21 tie with the Longhorns.

Texas coach John Mackovic praised the Cardinals' secondary, an area that was listed as a preseason weakness.

"They've intercepted 10 passes and I think they're great," Mackovic said. "I read where they have trouble in their secondary but it's been one of their strong spots."

"This is another Top 25 opponent for us and they will be as difficult to beat as Colorado or Syracuse."

Texas Christian begins its second SWC campaign under coach Pat Sullivan, who's anxious to get quarterback Max Knake more playing time. Knake is second in SWC total yardage, averaging 240 yards per game.

Knake has been aided by solid offensive line play.

"We only have a seven-man line rotation and by getting all the reps, they know what to do," Sullivan said. "I know this is the kiss of death but we haven't had a sack in the last two games."

SMU is itching to get back on the field after an open date.

"It's hard to live two weeks with a loss," coach Tom Rossley said. "Our players are kind of sour right now. We have to contain Knake. I don't know that you can stop him."

Rice coach Fred Goldsmith hasn't dwelled on Iowa State's 28-27 comeback victory over the Owls two years ago.

"We don't look ahead to games and we don't look back," Goldsmith said. "The psychology of what happened two years ago has nothing to do with this game."

The Owls are trying to get their offensive production to higher efficiency following last week's 14-13 victory over Division I-AA Sam Houston State.

"We had four or five passes dropped that would have helped our passing efficiency," Goldsmith said. "He (Bert Emanuel) didn't have a pass intercepted again."

The Texas Aggies have an open date to reload after a tumultuous three weeks in which they lost to Oklahoma 44-14, beat Missouri 73-0 and got decisions from the NCAA punishment for five suspended players.

Asked how he felt this week, coach R.C. Slocum said "I feel great. We don't have to beat anyone this week."

Colorado hopes to gain redemption against Miami

By The Associated Press

It's not often that a date with the Miami Hurricanes could be considered lucky scheduling. For 13th-ranked Colorado, however, Saturday's visit from No. 3 Miami couldn't come at a better time.

After losing a 10-point lead in the fourth quarter and a 41-37 decision to No. 17 Stanford last week, Colorado dropped seven places in The Associated Press poll and stopped being mentioned in national championship conversation.

How quickly a victory over Miami would change that.

"All we've done is hurt ourselves in the national picture," Colorado coach Bill McCartney said. "We haven't put ourselves out of reach of anything. We were in an ideal position, and now we're in a remote position. We're still in the hunt, but not as high up on the ladder."

Miami coach Dennis Erickson also knows that Colorado still is a contender. And the Buffaloes may even be more dangerous coming off the rebound.

"They have to be one of the top five or six teams in the country," Erickson said. "Now their back is to the wall because they've lost a game."

Elsewhere on Saturday, it's Louisiana Tech at No. 2 Alabama; No. 4 Notre Dame at Purdue; Colorado State at No. 6 Nebraska; Houston at No. 8 Michigan; No. 9 Penn State at Rutgers; and Tulsa at No. 10 Oklahoma.

In other games involving ranked teams, it's LSU at No. 11 Tennessee; Cincinnati at No. 12 Syracuse; No. 15 Arizona at Oregon State; East Carolina at No. 16 Washington; UCLA at No. 17 Stanford; No. 18 North Carolina at No. 19 North Carolina State; San Jose State at No. 20 California; Air Force at No. 21

Brigham Young; Duke at No. 22 Virginia; No. 23 Wisconsin at Indiana; Texas at No. 24 Louisville; and Southern Mississippi at No. 25 Auburn.

"When you play Miami," McCartney said, "they're so good you'd like all the momentum you can get."

Rather than momentum, the Buffs have self-doubts. Their defense was unable to make any big plays in the closing minutes, and their offense couldn't convert third downs against a young and supposedly vulnerable Stanford defense.

The Buffaloes still are ranked No. 2 offensively, averaging 260.3 yards rushing and 278.3 passing. But their defense is a dismal 90th, yielding 449.3 yards per game.

Miami, on the other hand, has a legitimately stout defense, which is ranked 10th in total defense (258.0 yards) and second in scoring defense (4.5 points).

"We've been able the last two weeks to pretty much snuff people out defensively," Erickson said. "Last week we made up for our incompetency on offense."

At West Lafayette, Ind., Purdue has not beaten Notre Dame since Lou Holtz took over. The Boilermakers have lost by at least 24 points in each of the last seven games. No. 4 Notre Dame has a nine-game unbeaten streak against the Big Ten, including victories over Northwestern, Michigan and Michigan State this season.

At Lincoln, Neb., the No. 6 Cornhuskers have played three games and produced three 100-yard rushers. In the opener against North Texas, Calvin Jones gained 124 yards before spraining his knee. His replacement, Damon Benning, ran for 127 yards the next week against Texas Tech in his first career start. Then Lawrence Phillips ran for 137 yards against UCLA the next week.

At Ann Arbor, Mich., Jimmy Klingler probably won't play, which isn't good news for Houston, which lost 61-7 to Michigan last year. The Cougars have a new coach in Kim Helton, but may have to rely on redshirt freshman QB Chuck Clements.

At Raleigh, N.C., the No. 19 Wolfpack has won the last five between the rivals separated by 30 miles, but No. 18 North Carolina leads the series 52-24-6. This is the first matchup between Tar Heels coach Mack Brown and new Wolfpack coach Mike O'Cain.

Brown was 0-5 against former coach Dick Sheridan.

At Auburn, Ala., Bowdens abound in a family feud - Jeff Bowden is the assistant receivers coach for Southern Mississippi, Terry Bowden is No. 25 Auburn's head coach and Tommy Bowden is Auburn's assistant receivers coach. They are all sons of FSU coach Bobby Bowden.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

Good anglers are always looking for new lures and new fishing techniques, but the real test of an angler is his unique explanation for not catching big fish. The following excuses are a few of my favorites.

Top Ten reasons for not catching trophy bass

10. The sun/wind/dirt/snow got in my eyes.
9. Reflections off the nudist colony sign broke my concentration.
8. His mouth was so big, I was afraid to put my hand in it.
7. Didn't want to catch a bass bigger than the one my father claims he caught in 1956 at Buffalo Lake.
6. Didn't want to listen to some biologist tell me about the really big one he electro-shocked last week.
5. ...had these cute puppy dog eyes...
4. His big brother started ramming the side of my boat.
3. Light line gets more bites but it does lose an occasional fish.
2. His mama swam up and jerked the anchor rope, causing the boat to sink dangerously near the water line.
1. I didn't want to spend all my money developing those extra large JUMBO PRINTS.

Congratulations to Jerry Jameson of Fritch for winning the September Fun Tournament at Lake Meredith. Brian Stewart, also from Fritch, finished second while Borger's Rodney Sweet claimed third place.

Special fishing deal—Some lucky angler will win a guided striper/bass fishing trip for two on Lake Texoma with professional guide Curcus Lowe. To win this trip, either bring someone who has not fished a 1993 Fun Tournament or enter your first tournament of 1993 at any of the following three bass tournaments:

- Oct. 2, Saturday Big Bass at Lake Baylor
- Oct. 9, Saturday Fun Tournament at Greenbelt
- Oct. 16, Saturday Fun Tournament at Meredith

These bass tournaments are open to all interested anglers. Both the Greenbelt and Meredith tournaments will be called championship events. Entry fees are only $25, and the winner will take home the prize money, a handsome trophy and a blue satin "champion" jacket courtesy of Budweiser. For additional information, call 353-3654.

The Mighty Smith

PONTE VEDRA, Fla. (AP) — Neale Smith, a newcomer to the PGA Tour, is a man of considerable all-around ability.

On one occasion Smith shot a 68 in a tournament at his club on a Friday. On Saturday he posted another 68 to win the event. Later that same day he scored 100 runs in an A-Grade cricket test. That night he scored 51 points in a basketball game.

The following day, in a track meet, Smith cleared the bar at 7 feet in the high jump.

US, Europe tied early in Ryder

SUTTON COLDFIELD, England (AP) — After waiting out a lengthy fog delay, Tom Kite and Davis Love III scored a Ryder Cup upset and led the United States to a 2-2 split against Europe today in the opening matches.

Kite and Love beat the Spanish pair of Seve Ballesteros and Jose Maria Olazabal 2 and 1 in foursome play, in which each member of a two-man team plays alternate shots on the same ball.

It marked the first time in seven foursome matches spread over four of the biennial matches that Ballesteros and Olazabal had been beaten in this format.

And the two Spaniards, both wild card picks by European captain Bernard Gallacher to the 12-man team, are 5-1 in fourball play, in which scoring is based on the better ball of each two-man team.

They will get a chance to improve that record against the same pair of Americans in the darkness-threatened afternoon fourball matches.

Lanny Wadkins and Corey Pavin scored a 4 and 3 victory over veterans Sam Torrance of Scotland and Mark James of England for the other early American point as the United States opened defense of the cup.

Ian Woosnam of Wales and Masters champion Bernhard Langer of Germany romped to a 7 and 5 rout over PGA champion Paul Azinger and Payne Stewart, and Nick Faldo of England and Colin Montgomerie of Scotland defeated Ray Floyd and Fred Couples 4 and 3 in the other morning foursome.

Aside from the Kite-Love and Ballesteros-Olazabal match, both Gallacher and American captain Tom Watson switched their teams for afternoon play.

Senior PGA player, J.C. Snead, is a nephew of the great Sam Snead.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE PLOTTING OF SANBALLAT!

SANBALLAT, THE HORONITE, WAS A GOVERNOR IN SAMARIA WHEN NEHEMIAH CAME TO JERUSALEM TO REBUILD THE CITY'S WALLS, RENEW THE STRUCTURAL WEAKNESSES, AND STRENGTHEN THE CONVICTION OF THE PEOPLE IN THEIR OLD TRADITIONS! BOTH APPREHENSIVE AND FURIOUS, HE IMMEDIATELY STARTED PLOTTING AGAINST NEHEMIAH AND HIS PLANS. BUT NONE OF HIS MACHINATIONS SEEMED SUCCESSFUL. SO HE BROUGHT OTHERS INTO HIS PLOTS TO EITHER PREVENT THE REBUILDING OF JERUSALEM'S WALLS OR TO ASSASSINATE NEHEMIAH (NEH. 6:1-4). UNFORTUNATELY, FOR SANBALLAT, EVERY NEW DEVICE THOUGHT OF BY HIM AND HIS CO-CONSPIRATORS FAILED! THE TREMENDOUS WORK PROSPERED IN EVERY DEGREE, CULMINATING IN THE COMPLETE RESTORATION OF THE CITY OF JERUSALEM AND THE REBUILDING OF THE TEMPLE ITSELF! SANBALLAT, FOR ALL HIS DEVIOS SCHEMINGS, EXPERIENCED IGNOMINIOUS DEFEAT!

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines—those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Dig in this fall for a spring garden next year

Fall is nature's reminder to get ready for winter. Trees, plants, birds and animals are all busy storing food in preparation for the long, cold days ahead.

The seasoned gardener helps the process along, knowing that what is planted today will bring a bountiful reward next spring.

According to the Garden Council, fall is as busy a time as spring. The garden must be cleaned, repaired and prepared to minimize the effects of winter and maximize the enjoyment of spring. While it might seem like a long time to wait until your efforts start to bloom, the fall gardener has learned it's easier to work the soil during Indian Summer than to face the icy blasts of a fickle spring.

Let insects and garden pests freeze this winter. Clean up vegetable gardens and annual beds and cut back the foliage on perennials when frost has bent their heads. This will leave bugs without a leaf to hide under. Speaking of leaves, be sure to rake thoroughly. Besides harboring insects, a mat of leaves will smother your lawn if left for spring cleaning.

Do a thorough weeding. Weeds are loaded with seeds in fall and anxious to return next season. Also inspect for weak or diseased plants. It's better to eliminate them than to have them infect or take energy from other plants.

Trees and shrubs should also be inspected for dead wood, infected limbs and crossing branches. Prune them back for a healthier plant. Pruning will improve shape and let the sun shine in. Overcrowding restricts sunlight and air circulation, which can then slow the plant's growth.

Get ready for easy spring planting with fall fertilization. Your vegetable and garden beds will be more productive if they are fed in the fall. Work fertilizer and composted organic matter into the soil before the ground freezes. You can do a pH test to see if you need to add lime. As the soil freezes and thaws and absorbs melting snow and spring rains, the nutrients will be dispersed in time to feed your first plantings.

Fall planting is one of the secrets of a thriving landscape, advises the Garden Council. Lawns, trees and shrubs planted in early fall develop deep root systems that prepare them for the rigors of summer. And fall-planted bulbs and perennials rest up during their winter hibernation to thrill the gardener with the first signs of spring. The blue bells of grape hyacinths and the champagne-fluted crocus poking through the melting snow bring hope to the gardener on a dreary March day.

Mulch, used in spring and summer to control weed growth, becomes the great protector for plants wintering in your garden.

Make sure the ground has frozen solid, which could be up to two months after the first frost, before you put down mulch. If the mulch is put down too early, rodents can make their homes there. Consult your local lawn and garden retailer for suggestions on mulching.

Start removing the mulch when your plants are starting to get shoots—don't let them start growing in the dark. Mulch should be gently raked away or removed by hand so the plants are not harmed. Do this in two steps—remove half first, and then about a week later remove the rest so the plants are not shocked by the sudden change in climate. The mulch is then added to the compost pile or if it has already decomposed, it gets worked into the garden.

Create your own mulch from shredded tree branches, leaves and grass clippings that have not been treated with a weed killer. The texture should be open enough to let water and air get to the soil but dense enough to block the sun. The twigs in the mulch will keep the leaves from matting on the ground and allow water and air to get to the soil underneath. A wide selection of commercial mulches is also available at the garden center.

Once the cleaning, feeding and digging is done, all that's left is to start dreaming and planning.

Simple designs call for fine jewelry accents

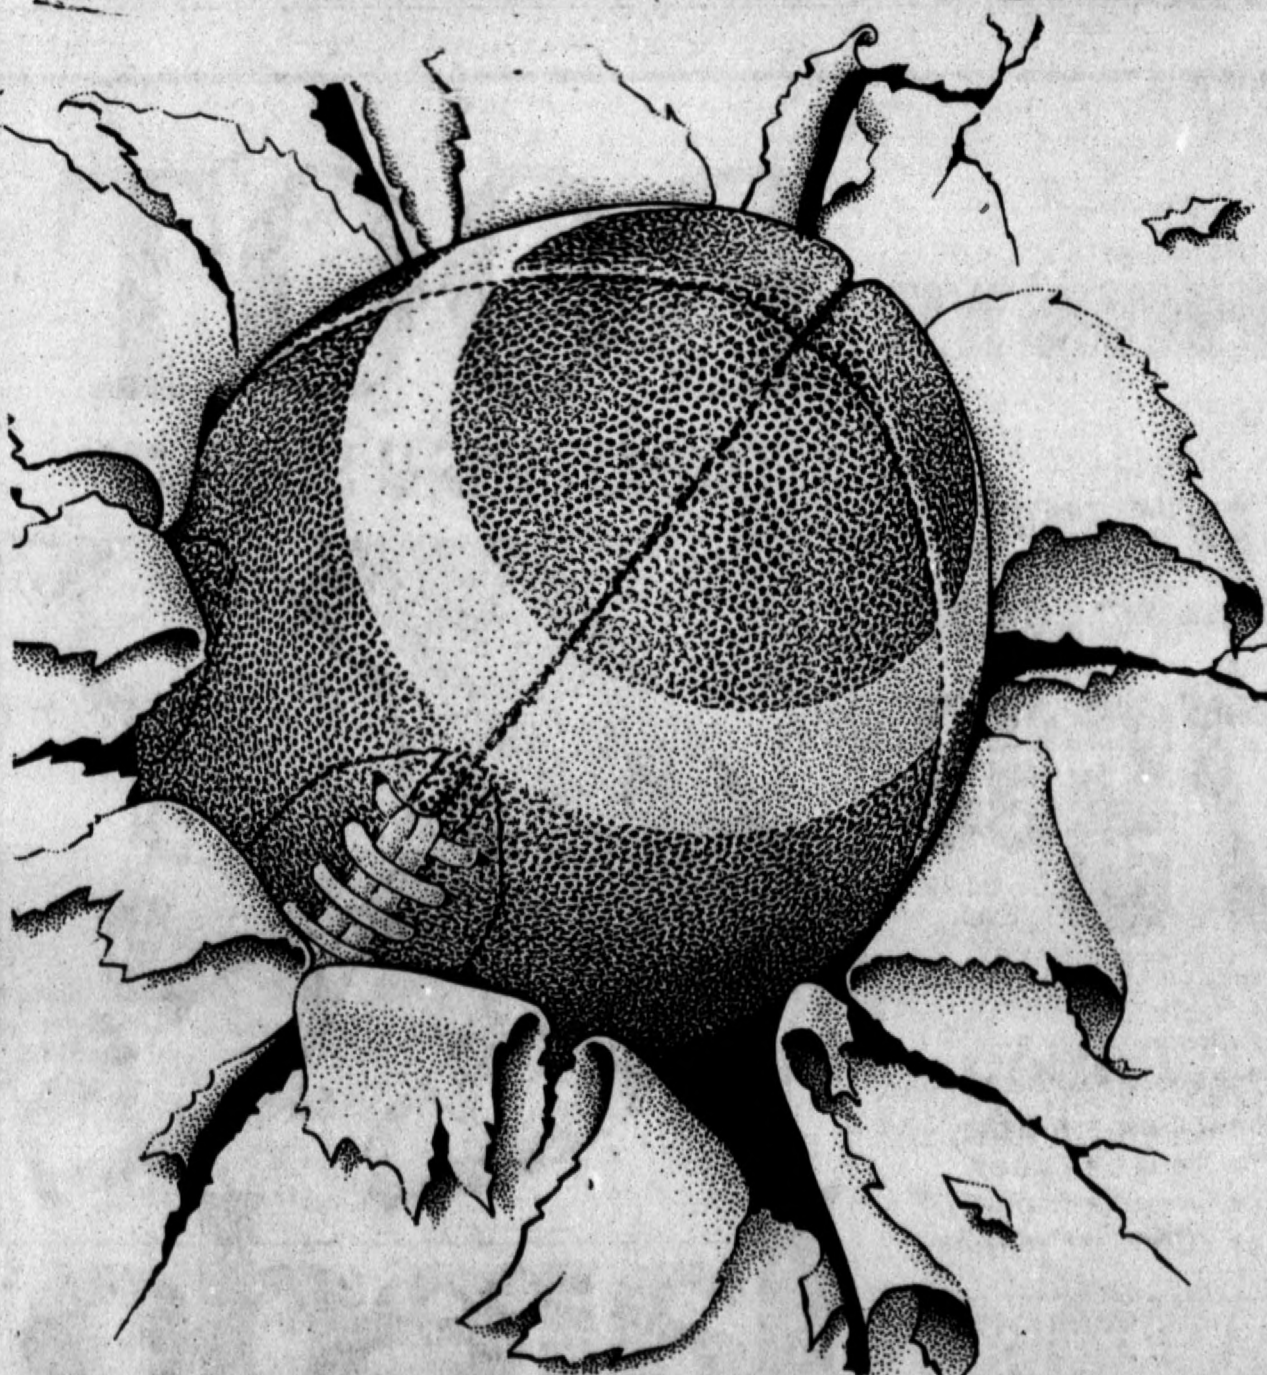

The minimal look can be achieved with long shirts worn untucked under vests, tunics and sweaters. And neutral colors for these fashions are all the rage on runways.

Jewelry styles are adapting to these fashion dictates. Bold and oversized jewelry—but simple in design—complement this fashion best and stand out on any ensemble. Suitable jewelry pieces, according to the Jewelers of America (JA), the national trade association that provides consumer information about fine jewelry, are brooches, long pendants and bold, yet understated, earrings.

A romantic look is also popular for fall. The running favorites are antique prints and long, sheer and lacy fabrics. Long, fluid dresses in soft, pale colors and pantsuits in flowing fabrics are popular items. Jewelry designs exude this same soft, almost whimsical, feel. Pearls, antique beads, cameos, floral and nature motifs, and enamel accents all complement this look.

Exotic prints are also popping up for fall. Pantsuits, dresses and lounge wear with intricately detailed patterns and prints in bright colors make a strong statement. The best jewelry to go with these bold designs have an African, Oriental and Eastern European flare. It's the dramatic, colorful and textured jewelry that suits these styles. Appropriate looks include earrings and bracelets with dangling charms, matte finished metals, coins and medallions, and carved gems.

NEW YORK (AP) - Richard Nixon will be holding forth on matters international yet again when his 10th book comes out next spring.

Among other topics in "Beyond Peace," the former president will address what he calls the "pathetic inadequacy" of the United Nations in dealing with the war in Bosnia.

Nixon will also "suggest a new agenda for America in the post-Cold War era and at the same time to refute the defeatism of the new isolationists of right and left," said Random House president Harold Evans, who edited the book.

Obtain greener grass through lawn care

While the novice gardener may think fall signals the end of the growing season, the seasoned gardener knows better—especially in the area of lawn care.

In most regions, lawns slow down in summer and then revive in fall. The gardener who wants the grass to be greener on his or her side of the fence will be found tending the lawn this fall.

Fall's moderate temperatures encourage the grass to grow, making this a good time to plant a new lawn or reseed problem areas. The new growth then has fall and next spring to get a good start before summer's heat. Also, fall offers less competition from weeds.

For a new lawn, the gardener has a choice of sod or seed. Sod is best when instant grass is wanted or needed, or on slopes where seeds could wash away. Seed is generally selected for large areas and for spot lawn repairs, and is less expensive.

Think of grass from two angles, top and bottom—blades and roots. Blades are the manufacturing center, producing food and energy through photosynthesis. The roots are the plant's anchor, absorbing nutrients and storing food. The height of the blade is proportionate to the depth of the root system. The general rule for healthy lawns and easy maintenance is to keep the blades long and the roots deep.

A general rule for mowing at any time of year is to cut no more than one-third of the blade. Mowers set at three inches for summer cutting in northern climates should gradually be lowered to no less than one and a half inches for the last fall cutting. This will discourage lawn diseases from taking hold, and allow enough light and oxygen to keep the lawn healthy. Clippings, if short, can be left on the grass to recycle nutrients—an effective natural fertilizer.

Water is critical for grass to absorb nutrients. If nature doesn't deliver drenching rains, make sure your hoses do to promote a deep root system and a healthy lawn.

The first nuclear powered undersea voyage was undertaken by the U.S. Navy submarine Nautilus in 1955.

Fertilizing can help improve soil structure and add nutrients. A healthy lawn may not need much fertilizer but soils vary by geography and maintenance level. Your local lawn and garden retailer can advise you on soil conditions, pH levels of your soil and fertilizers appropriate for your area.

Early and late fertilizing is recommended to encourage root growth, which is necessary for a good lawn, and food production before dormancy. The late fall fertilizing is most important and you can then do away with an early spring fertilizing. The results of this advance planning will be a beautiful lawn in the spring. However, one application with a slow release nitrogen would also be acceptable. Again, check with your local garden retailer or lawn maintenance contractor for more specific information in your area.

For lawns with thatch build-up, a fall aerating is the start to recovery. Punch holes one-half inch deep into soil about four to six inches apart. The holes should be about one-fourth to one-half inch in circumference. Fertilize and water immediately after aerating. Aerators can be rented from garden centers or rental supply companies. A power rake may also work on a light thatch, and for heavier thatch, a thatching machine can be rented. Fall is the perfect time to do this, as the machine doesn't work well in the wet spring ground.

The most common fall yard chore is raking as fall's color extravaganza takes a final bow. A heavy layer of leaves will smother your lawn and promote disease, so be sure to remove all leaves and put them in your compost pile.

For many gardeners, fall is the most beautiful time of the year. It's a time to look back on the beauty of the garden and start on plans for next year's show. A beautiful lawn sets a perfect stage.

HRSEA officers introduced

New officers of the Hereford Retired School Employees Association have been named. They include, from left, Bill McDowell, program vice president; Margaret Bell, president; Audrey Powell, membership vice president; Marie Stringer, secretary; and Billie McDowell, treasurer.

NEW YORK (AP) - Greg Louganis says acting isn't nearly as tough as jumping off a 10-meter platform.

"In diving, you're alone on a 10-meter platform, you don't have a whole lot on, and you have seven people judging you on a scale of 0 to 10," said the Olympic diving champion, who has landed a part in the off-Broadway production "Jeffrey."

"Here, you have the support of other cast members - it's support and competition, but competition in a good way."

Louganis plays a chorus boy who develops AIDS.
