Rodeo Motorcades Begin Tomorrow

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

Folks, here's your big rodeo edition of the paper. We hope you like it. The paper is made possible through the cooperation of the merchants and business people of Ranger and we hope that you read their ads in this edition.

When we get over this hump every year, the going is a little easier. If there are mistakes and omissions we ask your forgiveness. A thirty page paper on top of two daily publications is something of a load and all we can do is the best that we can.

Anyway, we hope you like it.

Those Jaycees have been eating again and this time through the thoughtfulness and generosity of Mrs. C. E. May, Sr., and Mrs. Ross Hodges. While the boys were out working hard last night, up drive the two women and unload two freezers full of home made ice cream—peach and apricot—yum, yum—we think we'll have to join the Jaycees. But then there's the matter of an age limit.

A card today from Electra Pearson who's vacationing in Mexico City, tells us of the wonderful time she's having. Monday she went to the Hidden Convent in Pueblo and found it very interesting.

Lucky girl to get such a nice trip.

Jodie Ann Faircloth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Faircloth, Route 1, Ranger, has been beating the bushes with memberships to the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, the deal being that the girl that gets the most memberships is queen of the sheep and goat show that year. Haven't heard how she came out, as the show just opened at Goldthwaite today, but we hope she made it.

The flying saucers are in the limelight again. We've been wondering why one didn't fly over Ranger and feeling a little left out of the picture.

Well, Saturday, Mrs. Frona Ames and daughter, Betty Sue, and another woman at the Ames home, saw an object flying south-westward that they thought was probably a disc. It was silvery white and a little longer than round and flying at a terrific speed. Not a sound could they detect from the object. Yes, the rest of the family that didn't see it, laughed at 'em.

Heard a week or so ago of a man about town that saw one and a few days later let it be known. He was hesitant about telling his experience because he'd laughed at others who thought they saw the discs.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Roquemore of Ponca City, here for a visit with Mrs. Roquemore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mace, tell us how much they enjoy the Ranger Daily Times. The husband even complained a little saying that when the paper arrived each day, his wife drops everything to catch up on the hometown news.

Thank you Mr. and Mrs. R.

Though Mrs. Ollie Ewing an English war bride who has just arrived in Ranger, was delayed in getting her passport to come to this country, she certainly lost no time in getting here after the papers came through.

She left England Saturday and arrived in Ranger Monday. Yes, of course, she flew. She flew from England to New York, from there to Fort Worth by plane and then by bus out here. But for a slip up in a telegram, she would have been met in Fort Worth by her husband. When she arrived here, postoffice personnel helped her locate her husband and his family, the W. F. Ewings.

The couple married in a quiet wedding at the home of her parents in Norwich, England, in 1945. She is the former Miss Fern Mann. They met while Mr. Ewing was stationed in England.

She told a Times reporter this morning that she was surprised to find green trees around Ranger. (Continued on Page Six)

MINGUS DEFEATS TRANSFER

Ranger Transfer was downed Tuesday evening by Mingus 9-16 in a softball game played at the Ranger field.

Taking an early lead, Transfer held Mingus to one run until the fifth inning when they tallied four scores. However Transfer still led 9-5, but in the sixth inning Mingus broke loose and brought in nine runs, then added two in the seventh, making the final score 9-16.

Umpires for the game were: Wheat, Landroop, and Jacoby.

The next league game will be Thursday night when the Baptists will play Goodrich.

INVESTIGATION HAS GLAMOUR GIRLS ON RUN

HOLLYWOOD—Movie glamour girls scurried for cover today fearful that the next man on their doorsteps would be a process server wanting them to tell about Hollywood parties with Howard Hughes.

A congressional investigating committee wants to know if the parties treated Air Corps procurement officers to equal doses of movie stars and high-pressure war contracting.

The committee allegedly is trying to link Hughes, his friend Elliott Roosevelt, his former partner Henry J. Kaiser and the money the handsome playboy got for his photo-reconnaissance plane and big plywood flying boat.

Two movietown beauties already were under subpoena to testify Aug. 4 on Hughes war contracts. Neither knew why.

Most of the other girls seen around Hollywood with Hughes, the towns most eligible bachelor, weren't answering their doorbells or telephones.

ODD BURGLARY
CORSIANA, Tex. (UP)—There's just no explaining some burglars.

One recently tore several screens and a door off a house belonging to J. W. Dyal in the Phillips Chapel community east of here.

Every drawer in the house was rifled but the only thing missing was a bottle of perfume, investigating officers said.

JCC VICE-PRESIDENT

Howard Oliver, vice-president of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce, is given credit by the rest of the club, for being one of the most valuable members. This comes from his untiring efforts toward building and promoting the rodeo. He is by profession an engineer and his engineering services to the club have been unlimited, and his advice of inestimable value.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE OF SALE OF PARAMOUNT

Official announcement was made today of the sale of the Paramount Hotel and Coffee Shop to Mrs. Julia M. Smith of Oklahoma.

The transaction has been pending for sometime and was closed this week. Mrs. Smith has taken over the property which will be managed by J. L. (Jimmie) Latimer of Ranger.

Mrs. Smith is an experienced hotel operator and owns hotels in Ada and Wewoka, Oklahoma. The property was purchased from C. L. Lindsey, Mrs. Fern Winston of Denver, Colorado and Mr. Ricks of Lubbock.

Mr. Latimer stated today that he has also been designated as agent for the Greyhound, a n d Chisholm Trail bus lines which make their stops at the Paramount.

Mr. Latimer also stated that just as soon as he can secure sufficient help, he will keep the coffee shop open all night, as was originally done.

UNIFICATION DEADLOCK MAY BE BROKEN

WASHINGTON—Senate House conferees hoped to break their deadlock over the Army navy unification bill today and clear the way for final action before Congress adjourns Saturday.

Sen. Chan Gurney, R., S. D., Chairman of the conference, told reporters last night that the major stumbling block was a House demand that the bill spell out in detail the functions of the Marine Corps and the departments of Army, Navy and Air Force. Under the bill, these departments would have co-equal status in the proposed new single military establishment.

House members asked for specific language to assure that the Marine Corps would retain its amphibious unit and not be reduced to "parade duty" status. They also insisted on language to protect the Navy's air arm and anti-submarine patrol duties.

Senators objected. He maintained that any "spelling out" of functions should be left to the armed forces themselves. He said the House move would make "the national military establishment less flexible."

PROCLAMATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
CITY OF RANGER

WHEREAS, the annual Ranger Round-Up is scheduled this year for the 30th and 31st days of July and the 1st and 2nd days of August; and,

WHEREAS, on the 15th day of July the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce petitioned to have the week commencing on July 26th proclaimed as Rodeo Week and appropriate observance made thereof; and,

WHEREAS, said Round-Up is rapidly becoming one of the outstanding entertainment events and agricultural and trade stimulators of the Southwest;

NOW, therefore, I, Lee Dockery, Mayor of the City of Ranger, Texas, do hereby issue this my proclamation, declaring that July 26th through August 2nd is to be Rodeo Week and that all of the citizens of Ranger should rally behind the Ranger Round-Up and wear Western costumes and regalia during said period of time in a fitting display of loyalty and enthusiasm for this leading civic project of our city.

Witness the hand of the Mayor of Ranger, Eastland County, Texas, this the twenty-third day of July, A.D. 1947.

Lee Dockery
Mayor, Ranger, Texas

JAYCEE PRESIDENT

James P. Morris, serving currently as president of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been one of the club's most consistent workers for the Jaycee Rodeo, "Jim" as he's known to his friends, has devoted much time to promotion as well as actual work at the arena. He is a charter member of the club. He owns and operates the Morris Funeral Home and has considerable real estate interests.

COWGIRLS' CONTEST BIG EVENT

One of the most colorful features of the coming rodeo will be the part taken by the cowgirls in the sponsor contest.

James King who is handling the contests stated today that a number of entries from surrounding towns have been filed and many more are expected to enter.

Over $700 worth of prizes will be given away with a diamond studded watch from Pulley's Jewelry store heading the list. A $175 saddle will be second, a 72-piece silver service third and a pair of hand made boots fourth.

All girls entering the contest will be required to ride in the parade and take part in the barrel and flag races at each performance of the rodeo. The races will be alternated with one type one night and the other the next.

Entrants will be judged in this manner, 35 per cent for personal appearance, 35 per cent for riding ability and 30 per cent for the horse and rigging.

Three prizes will also be given away each night to the girls judged the winners for those nights.

All entries must be registered with the Jaycees by 12 o'clock noon of the opening day of the rodeo, July 30.

Ranger Group In Goldthwaite To Attend Show, Sale

A group of business men from Ranger were in Goldthwaite today to attend the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association show and to put a bid for the show and sale to be held in Ranger for the next two years.

Both the senior Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce were represented in the group.

The Association was organized in Ranger in the summer of 1943 and Dr. Bob Hodges of Ranger is its president, having served in that capacity since the organization of the association.

TWO TAGGED FISH CAUGHT THIS WEEK-END

POSSUM KINGDOM LAKE, July 22—Two prize fish, worth a total of $225, were snagged over the past week-end in the $50,000 Possum Kingdom Fish Rodeo.

L. B. Lambert of Route 4, Abilene, caught a bass bearing tag No. 873 that was worth $115. Elder Roberts of Brownwood landed a carp, tag No. 867, that netted him $110 in awards. Both fish were caught in the Scout Island Area of State Park on the West Side of the lake. These two fish brought the total to 30 "goldfish" that have been caught since the opening of the rodeo in April.

A new prize for the ladies has been added to fish No. 295. This one a stringer will be good for a $100 Administer Rug, 9x12. This prize was donated by the Baum & Carlock Funeral Home in Mineral Wells.

Litt Massie, president of the Possum Kingdom Game and Fish Association, has announced that much interest is being shown in the free barbecue that will be given at Jack's Place, State Park on Aug. 31. This barbecue is for members of the association and the membership now stands at almost 6,000.

Would Permit Russian To Be U. S. Citizen

WASHINGTON—A House judiciary subcommittee today approved legislation which would permit Victor A. Kravchenko, former Russian official, to become an American citizen within two years.

The subcommittee acted after Kravchenko, once a member of the Soviet purchasing commission here, testified that his only hope for safety was in American citizenship.

He said he "could not sleep nights" because of his worries.

FOURTEEN 4-H BOYS WILL ATTEND CAMP

Fourteen Eastland County 4-H Club boys accompanied by J. M. Cooper, the County Farm Agent, will leave Thursday for the three day District 4-H Club camp at Lake Brownwood.

Club boys from eighteen different counties are to participate in the encampment at the state park on the Brownwood Lake it was said.

The camp is held annually and outstanding 4-H Club boys are invited to attend.

The group will leave from the courthouse at 12:30 o'clock Thursday and return late Saturday afternoon. Transportation to the camp is being furnished through the courtesy of Johnnie Aaron of the West Texas Transportation Company.

The boys selected to go are Gerald Williamson, Morton Valley; Ronald Jackson, Gorman; Edley Aaron, Eastland; Donald Ray Walker, Morton Valley; Clarence Carter, Morton Valley; Rex Friday, Desdemona; Jesse Harris, Rising Star; Henry Jackson, Carbon; Charles McDaniel, Donnie Weaver, Webb Jordan, Junior Rice and Cyrus Justice all of Carbon.

Mrs. Ray Laney Died Suddenly This Morning

Mrs. Maxine Laney, wife of Eastland City policeman Ray Laney, died this morning at 9:15 at the Eastland hospital where she had been confined for two or three weeks. She had sufficiently recovered from her illness that she was being released to go to her home and was preparing to leave when stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage.

Survivors include her husband, a little son, Jimmy, and her parents who reside at Pasadena, California.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

CROWD LEAVES CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AT 8 A.M.

The big motorcades to advertise the coming Junior Chamber of Commerce World Championship Rodeo will start tomorrow morning. The trippers are asked to be at the Chamber of Commerce before 8 o'clock as the take off will be exactly at 8 o'clock.

Those in charge of the motorcades have asked that all wear western dress. This is not compulsory but it is requested.

The first motorcade will take the east and south routes and the second one on Saturday will take the west and north routes. Copies of the rodeo edition of the Times will be distributed by members of the motorcades.

The big rodeo which is being sponsored by the Junior

UN SHELVES ATOMIC VETO DISAGREEMENT

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission shelved the east-west dispute over "the atomic veto" indefinitely today after the United States served notice it never would accept Russia's stand on the issue.

The postponement was requested by American Delegate Frederick H. Osborn, who said the United States "will not be a party" to any attempt to give the big powers the right to veto punishment of global atomic control offenders.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko retorted that Russia still found the American position "unacceptable."

The issue was postponed until a later stage of atomic negotiations—perhaps for several months—shortly after Gromyko reopened his attempt to amend a majority report endorsing the United States stand on the veto question.

Gromyko did not object, however, when Chairman Fernand Van Langenhov of Belgium granted Osborn's postponement request, and it was agreed to unanimously without a formal vote.

Prizes totaling over $3,000 will be given to rodeo winners in the listed contests, bulldozing, barrel race and saddle horse riding, calf roping and bull riding. Over $700 worth of prizes will be awarded in the cowgirl sponsor contest.

This is the second annual rodeo to be staged by the Ranger Jaycees and indications are that it will be faster and more entertaining than the one last year.

John Leslie Hagaman Hurt In Fall At Home

John Leslie Hagaman, young son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hagaman was painfully injured in a fall at his home Tuesday morning.

Playing in the living room John Leslie fell against the grill of the air conditioner and received a very severe cut on his arm. He was rushed to the West Texas Hospital where it was necessary to take twelve stitches to close the wound.

Measure Would Restrict Oil, Gasoline Exports

WASHINGTON—The House passed and sent to the Senate a modified bill to restrict the export of gasoline and petroleum products.

The measure would bar such shipments unless the commerce department certifies to the President that they will not interfere with the national defense or "impair" domestic civilian use of these commodities.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

(This is the first of two dispatches on the important Reed-Bulwinkle railroad bill, scheduled for early, final action by Congress.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(NEA)—American railroads are about to get one of the fastest, biggest inroads of power in their history. It will be made legal if Congress passes the so-called Reed-Bulwinkle bill which would give the railroads almost absolute authority to enter into combinations to fix their own rates, determine what part of the rate each carrier shall receive, what time the trains run, over what routes they operate, what claims they pay, what equipment shall be built and how it shall be used—practically free from any government regulation in the public interest.

Instead of having to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval of the billion-dollar-a-year rate increase the railroads are now seeking, they would simply have to file notice of what their proposed new rates are. If the I. C. C. did not find within 60 days that the proposed schedules were not in conformity with transportation policy as set forth in the Interstate Commerce Act, the rates would go into effect automatically.

All this would be done under an innocent-looking amendment to the Interstate Commerce Act. It was sponsored originally two years ago by Democratic Congressman Alfred L. Bulwinkle of North Carolina. This year Republican Senator Clyde Reed of Kansas took it up. It has passed the Senate, 60 to 27. It passed the Democratic House last year—277 to 45, and will probably go B-lining through this year's Republican House by an even bigger majority.

The only possibility of flagging this legislative express lies with Father Time himself. Congress is now highballing down the track, trying to make adjournment on schedule July 26. The House Interstate Commerce Commission is just concluding hearings on the Reed-Bulwinkle bill. The House can't vote on the measure until testimony of these hearings is printed. That may take a week. There may be a delay of a few days while other bills on the crowded calendar are handled.

The railroads have put this bill over on Congress with one of the most high-pressure lobbying campaigns ever seen in Washington. This lobbying was not done by railroad employees directly. It was done by bringing to Washington important people from congressmen's home towns. These people had been thoroughly sold on the railroads' desire for passage of the Reed-Bulwinkle bill.

In addition the railroads had nearly 1000 local Chambers of Commerce, business organizations, farm organizations, shippers' organizations and even state and local government officials file petitions with Congress, favoring the Reed-Bulwinkle bill.

Yet if the Reed-Bulwinkle bill becomes law, the power of the attorney-general to take action against the railroads would be limited to appearing before the I. C. C. and protesting against any of the agreements he did not like.

Even if the I. C. C. should not approve any of the articles of association or agreements on rates and services filed by the railroads, there would be no penalty provisions and no damages. For the most unconscionable conspiracy conceivable against the public interest, the carriers would get off scot-free. The only requirement would be that they amend the articles of agreement.

Railway executives have claimed that, in being required to submit their basic inter-carrier agreements to the I. C. C., they are submitting to government regulation. The fallacy of that argument is that the last thing the railroads want is government regulation. If the railroads were willing to submit to government regulation, they would accept it under the anti-trust laws now in force. This they do not accept.

SPORTS

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Joe Baksi is unexpectedly dropping a decision to one Ole Tandberg in Stockholm was right down Joe Louis' alley.

Not that Old Black Joe required an out, but the champion may now go on playing golf and doing exhibitions without any questions from even Uncle Mike Jacobs. Why? Tom Mauello belted Louis across the Stadium ring with the opening bell last September, the Bronx barkeep put a very bright idea in Smoky Joe's head. It was to retire unbeaten and to capitalize on his matchless record, something to which the Alabama-born Negro is so richly entitled.

Louis' every action since has made it plainer that he does not care to fight again. He has gone out of his way to build up cases against prospective opponents.

Because previous experience had convinced him that he could not please the patrons in exhibitions, Louis had booked himself in a motion picture house packet show when he accompanied the writer to Honolulu for an appearance last Nov. 11. It was in the Islands that Louis found people were content simply to see him in action and under no pressure. Toward the end of a protracted shipping and sugar strike—with only relief ships docking—Louis drew $32,000.

While in Hawaii, Louis received a check offer from Mexico City, was offered $100,000 for two appearances in Australia. The five-a-day packet show was out. The Latin America tour followed. More recently he has appeared in exhibition bouts in the far west. Countless American and Canadian centers want him.

The cockeyed world will for some years be eager to see the Louis, who is—or was—considered invincible.

Whacked on the chin for keeps or outcrossed by some egg, Louis would be just another champion.

When people speak of Louis fighting, they overlook the fact that he has to train.

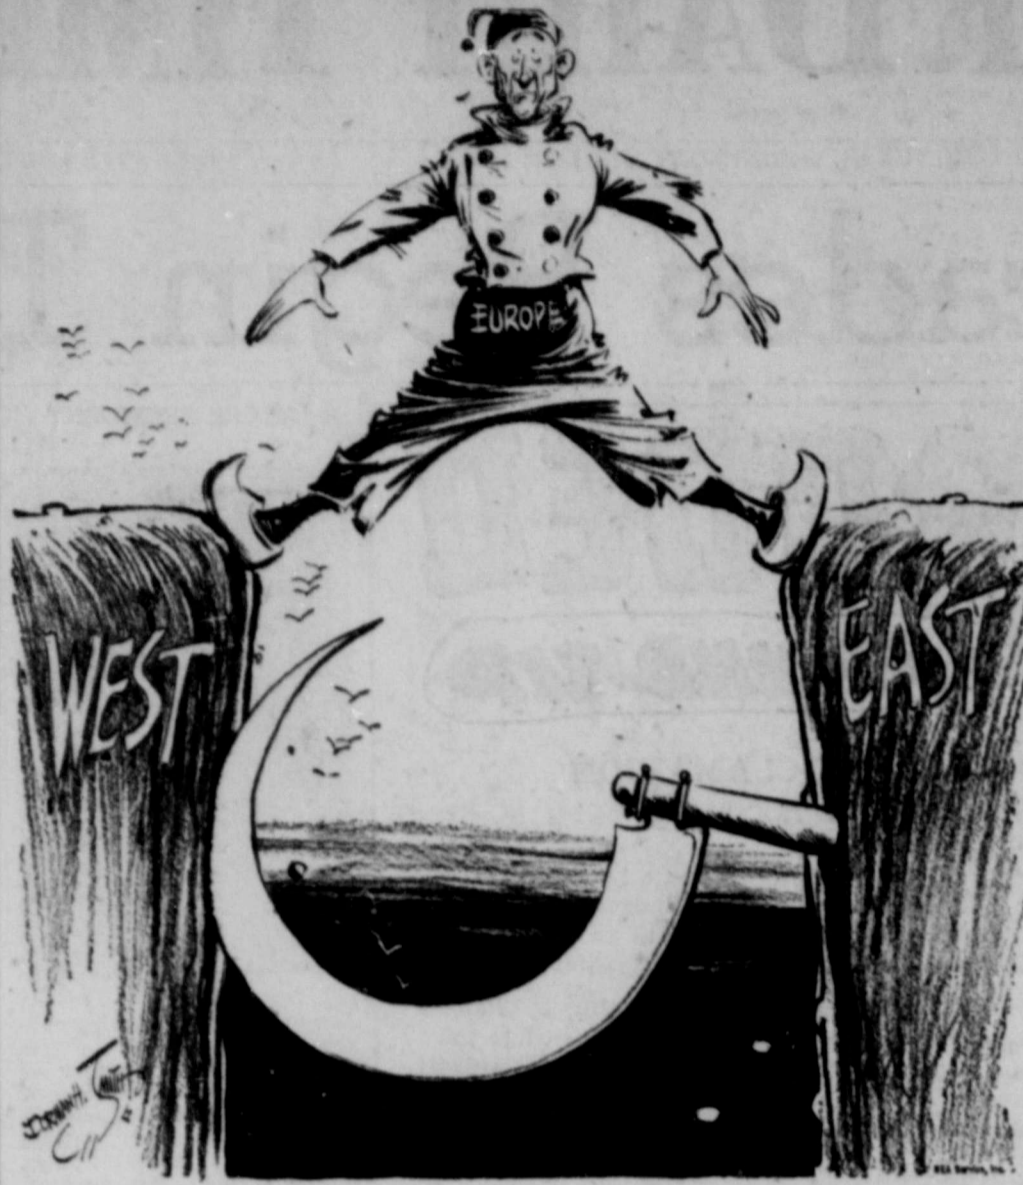

That is what the Bomber dislikes most. It was extremely difficult for him to get in shape for Conn last summer after four years in the Army. He spent 10 months in training.

There is no one in sight for Louis now and there isn't likely to be next year, when he will be larger around the hips and 34.

By the time some young fellow like Bernie Reynolds qualifies, Louis really will be Old Black Joe. It is extremely doubtful that a finely-conditioned Joe Louis will again be unleashed to fire for keeps.

I hope it turns out that way. So few of them know when they have had enough.

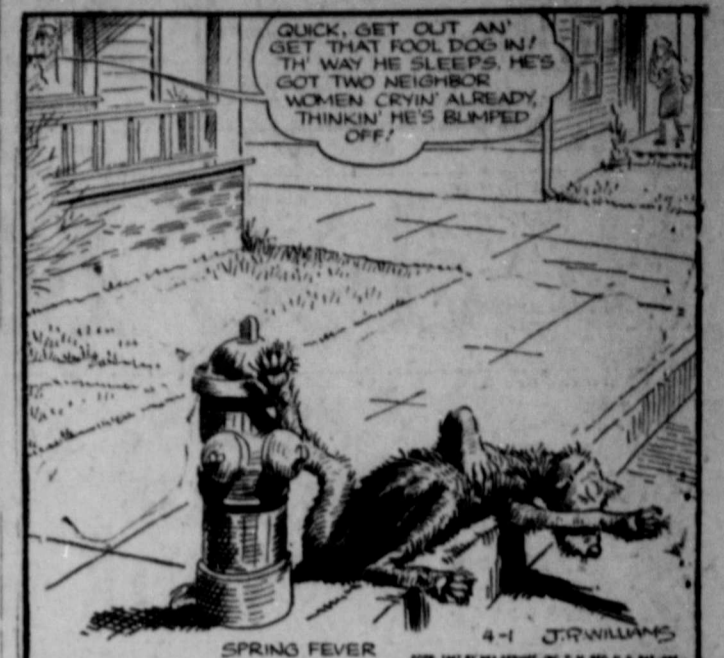

THE GREAT DIVIDE

Rep. Charles A. Eaton, New Jersey Republican, is expected to head a powerful new special House committee on foreign relief needs. Eaton is now chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

DEATH OF A DOLL

By Hilda Lawrence

THIS STORY: Ruth Miller, a matron at Blackman's department store, has been looking forward to moving into an attractive residence club for girls. But the evening she arrives she sees something in the lobby that terrifies her. She wants to leave but gets entangled in a web of circumstances that prevent. Two days later, desperate for escape, she attends a costume party where all the girls dress as dolls, hoping to get away while in disguise. There is a minor accident and she is sent upstairs for iodine and bandages. Another rag-doll follows her.

dial, four, five, six, seven, eight, it stopped at eight.
DAYS went by, and Dr. Kloppel came too many times to Hop House. Too many nights he went down the halls preceded by Mrs. Fister's warning voice, "Man coming, man coming." There was an epidemic of hysteria that took a long time dying. In the rooms facing the courtyard three girls often crowded into one bed and talked all night, staring at the window. Thanksgiving came and went. Mrs. Marshall-Gill discontinued the Sunday seat. Lillian Harris asked for day work at her office, and got it. She also asked to room with April Hooper. There was no change in the evening routine for Miss Brady and Miss Small, except that they met more often in Miss Brady's suite. They had more privacy there, and that was an advantage. Girls with stomach aches, broken hearts, and doubts about the value of maintaining virtue didn't come to Miss Brady when they could sleep. "I don't see how you stand it, Angel," Miss Brady said. "It's my work," Miss Small reminded her. "Monny? Some of the girls came to my room after dinner. They said they were a delegation. They've been collecting for a marker for Ruth Miller's grave. I don't know what to do about it, I don't want to seem heartless. But we do frown on collections of any sort, don't we?" "Send them to me," Miss Brady said gruffly. "We can't have it. They're simply dragging the thing out, and that's no good. Time it was forgotten." She rooted about in the untidy drawer of an almost priceless desk and brought out two envelopes. "Here's something to take your mind off it. Come today and I got them before anybody saw me. Passports." "Monny!" "French line, I think, maybe the first of the year. I'll see to it. We won't say a word until we hand it out. You mind can't have it. Can you see Marshall-Gill's face?" That was on a Sunday night in December. (To Be Continued)

FUNNY BUSINESS

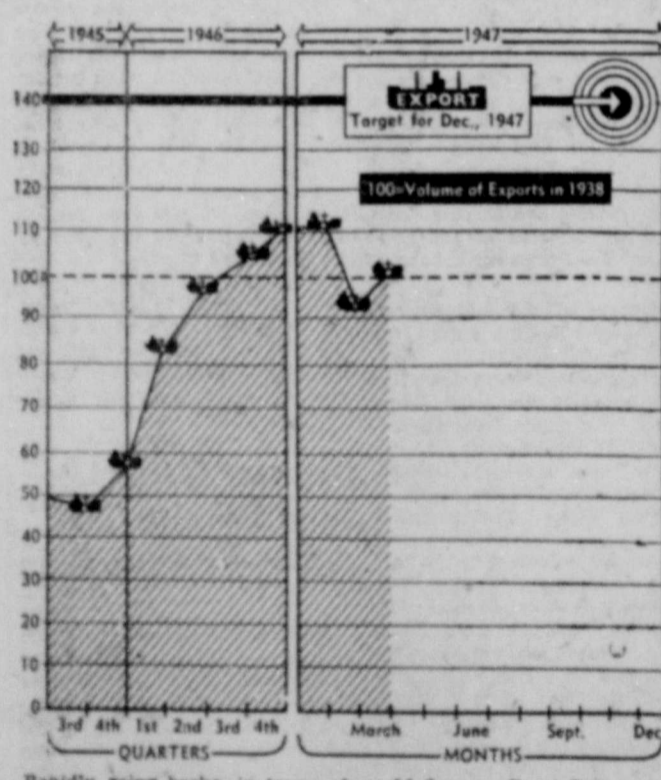

"These lines show long life—and the callus shows that you grip your golf club wrong!"

Star Turns Priest

Joe Mojica, one of the most glamorous Mexican opera and movie stars, whose passionate love scenes thrilled thousands of Latin American women, was ordained Father Jose Francisco de Guadalupe in Lima, Peru. Overflowing crowds, including many hysterical women, surrounded the Cathedral of St. Francis of Assisi during the ceremony.

Rapidly going broke, in terms of world finance, Great Britain is fighting a mighty battle to boost her export trade to bring in money—especially American dollars. Chart above shows export record since the war ended. Goal for 1947 is 140 per cent of 1938's volume. Due to the sharp drop caused by the February transportation crisis, exports in first quarter of this year amounted to only 101 per cent of 1938. For this period Britain had an adverse trade balance of over $384,000,000.

Worker Says Communists Dominate Union

WASHINGTON—A former union official charged today that there is "substantial Communist domination" of the Winston-Salem, N. C. local of the United Food Tobacco and Agricultural Workers Union, CIO.

The committee called Miss Mathews as it reopened investigations of Communism in labor unions. She was the first of six witnesses scheduled to testify today about alleged Communist activities in the food and tobacco workers union.

The charge was made before the House Un-American Activities Committee by Ann Mathews for her local union office secretary and admittedly a former official of the North Carolina District of the Communist party.

Johnson Expands Radio Repair Into Big Shop

Starting out with radio repair jobs as a sideline while employed with Interstate Theatres, J. D. Johnson has expanded that work into one of the largest radio supply and repair shops in Ranger.

Aside from the very complete repair shop Johnson carries a stock of Philco radios and refrigerators and Blackstone washing machines. His shop is located at 305 Main Street.

Varner Appliance Beats Heat With Utility Koolers

Beating the heat is the business of the Varner Appliance Company, located at 715 Cypress. The company is operated by E. N. Varner who is also associated with the Texas and Pacific Railroad as signal maintenance man.

Mr. Varner handles Utility Air Koolers and fans and offers custom installation to customers. He also does general appliance repair work.

chewed gum fast and furiously. He even drooled a little. I suddenly lost control of my temper and snapped out:

"Mr. Smith, I can't possibly understand you when you chew gum like that!"

His face flushed a slow, terrible red. He clasped his hands together and his jaws worked furiously at the gum. I saw him swallow convulsively.

"Forgive me, lady. Got a throat cancer. Have to chew gum. Choke if I didn't."

There was absolutely no sound in my office. I heard a fly buzz on the screen.

When I could, I lifted my shamed eyes to the forgiving, dying eyes across the desk from me.

I hoped that God would forgive me, too.

Ground Cleared For Hospital In Eastland

The grounds have been cleared and plans are going forward for the construction in Eastland of a hospital for colored people. The enterprise, which, when built and furnished, will call for an expenditure of approximately $85,000.00 according to those closely in touch with the proposition.

The A. M. E. church is sponsoring the hospital project and we are informed will furnish the money from a fund accumulated by the church for such purposes. The idea of building the hospital at Eastland, according to an Eastland man, came about this way. This man's daughter had a badly fractured leg which surgeons in a Fort Worth hospital were about to amputate when the father got in touch with Dr. Bradford of Chicago and induced her to come to Fort Worth and attempt to save his daughter's limb. She came and saved the girl's leg and today the girl is walking on it.

Dr. Bradford, who is a graduate of the Chicago Hospital School of Nursing; the Rusk Medical School of Chicago and of the College of Scientific Massage of Chicago, told the Eastland man that their church was going to sponsor the building in Fort Worth of a hospital for colored people.

"We have plenty of hospitals in Fort Worth," he told her, "Why not build this one in my home town of Eastland where the colored people of all West Texas can have access to it." She promised to consider the matter from that angle and the result is that the project appears to be well under way.

The City of Eastland gave two acres of land north of Eastland on Highway No. 6 and adjacent to the Eastland Airport as a site for the proposed hospital. This will not be sufficient acreage, but there is more available.

The Presiding Elder of the A. M. E. Church, stationed at Wichita Falls, was in Eastland Saturday looking over the site and going over the blueprints for the hospital, and the Bishop, who also resides at Wichita Falls, is due in Eastland this week, to look over the site and plans.

Those who have been in Eastland in connection with the proposed hospital say that the A. M. E. Church has the money with which to build the hospital and are asking no donations other than a few minor items such as the site.

The colored Masonic Lodge, it has been stated, was also interested financially in the project, but this is not true according to Eastland colored people. The lodge was willing to help finance the hospital, but since the funds were available from another source and for them to have gone into the matter would have called for the unwinding of a lot of red tape, they are taking no part in it.

Eastland Woman Celebrates 80th Anniversary

Mrs. Eunice (Cornelius) Taylor, 310 East Main Street, celebrated her 80th birthday, Sunday, July 20, with a family reunion and dinner held in the office of her son, Victor Cornelius. Of her seven children—Mrs. Maude Blanchard, Mrs. Florence Miller, C. C. Cornelius, A. B. Cornelius, and Victor Cornelius of Eastland; M. T. Cornelius of Abilene; and S. G. Cornelius of Temple—six were present.

Attend The Jaycee Rodeo

The table for the fifty guests were decorated with ivy and arrangements of gladiolas. Mrs. William Helm, granddaughter of the honoree, served as mistress of ceremonies and presented the gifts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Cornelius, M. T. Cornelius, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cornelius, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Puckett all of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. William Helm and Gretchen of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blanchard, Charlie and Margaret of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cornelius and Anita of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and Sandra Kay of Coleman; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Jaks and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lovelace of Ranger; Mrs. Maude Blanchard and Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cornelius, Mrs. Florence Miller, Wanda, Glen, Robert, Larry, Sammy and Victor, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cornelius and Catherine; Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Bennett, Mrs. Hannah Lindsey, Jack Germany, Mrs. C. W. Pettitt, Jr., and Mrs. Geraldine Pettitt—all of Eastland.

Cohen Resigns

Benjamin V. Cohen, right, last of the original "brain trust" of the early Roosevelt administration, has bowed out of the State Department with President Truman's acceptance of his resignation as counselor. To succeed him the President nominated Charles E. Bohlen, left, veteran foreign service officer and the State Department's Russian expert. (NEA Telephoto).

Cash Readjustment Allowance Checks Before August 1

Unashed readjustment allowance checks, outstanding six months or more, will be cancelled August 1, Hollis Bennett, manager of the Texas Employment Commission today warned veterans' checks for both unemployment and self-employment will be affected by this new order.

The Employment Commission is acting on new orders from the Veterans Administration in Washington. As Texas agent of the VA, the Commission administers Title V of the GI Bill of Rights. Title V provides financial aid to unemployed and self-employed veterans.

Bennett has just received notice from the State Office of the Commission in Austin that checks six months old or older will no longer be valid after the first of August. He suggested that all veterans having such checks in their possession immediately cash them.

He said there were no existing records showing how many checks were outstanding in particular localities but that throughout the State more than 2,000 warrants, unless cashed his month, would be affected by the Veterans Administration order.

Bennett said the Commission was trying to give the Veterans a break by giving them advance notice of the August 1 action. It is imperative, he explained, that veterans holding six months old checks cash them immediately.

Livestock Sales Makes Thursdays Big Ranger Days

Thursdays are big days in Ranger the day when the livestock sales are held at the Ranger Livestock Commission Company's sales barn on Highway 80 East.

The commission company is owned and operated by George Campbell and P. T. Smith and the sales at the barn draw hundreds of people from all this area, from points all over Texas and even outside of Texas.

Total sales at the barn have ranged all the way from $20,000 to better than $60,000 in a single day. Operation of the sales has stimulated sales and trades in this area, aside from the big turn over in money and livestock at the Thursday sales.

Dr. Kuykendall Operates Modern Hospital Here

One of the best known hospitals in this section of Texas is the West Texas Hospital, owner and medical director of which is Dr. P. M. Kuykendall.

The best in medical supplies and technical equipment, as well as trained personnel are available to patients of the hospital. Mrs. P. M. Kuykendall acts as purchasing agent and oversees the preparation of food.

The staff includes Miss Peggy J. Bundick, technician, O. L. Phillips, business manager, Melba Richey, bookkeeper Mrs. Margaret Osterhout, superintendent of nurses, and on the nursing staff are Mabel J. Barnes, Mrs. W. L. Crawford, Edna P. Clanton, Oleta Hale, Mrs. Anna A. Howard, Ora A. Locke, Ulala C. Squires, Lydia F. Vien. The maintenance department includes Archie H. Gordon, laundry, Charles B. Burnett, porter, and Ida Burnett, kitchen.

Pullman Store Sends Greetings To Jaycees

Henry Pullman, owner and operator of the Pullman Store in Eastland through the columns of his newspaper has sent best wishes to the Jaycees for a successful rodeo this year.

The Pullman store is one of the newer ones in Eastland and carries everything in the household needs line. If it's to be had Pullman's has it.

Reddy Kilowatt Serves Ranger's Electric Needs

Ranger's electric needs are aptly cared for by Reddy Kilowatt's Texas Electric Service Company, managed by A. N. Larson.

The modern office building of the company is located at 121 N. Austin Street and is one of the most attractive buildings in town.

The Ranger staff of the company includes S. A. Hightower, E. H. Clifton, J. C. Wilkerson, Bill Brown, Jr., Hudson Hightower, and Misses Barbara Getts and Doris Groves.

Curley's Gro. & Mkt. Located On Highway 80

Curley's Grocery and Market, owned and operated by N. M. "Curley" McCallum, is a friendly neighborhood grocery located about a mile east of town on Highway 80.

Curley, for several years before going into the grocery business, operated a cafe in downtown Ranger. The store was at first across the highway from its present

And So to Bed?--For the Camera

A Cleveland, Ohio, hotel recently assigned a special seven-and-a-half-foot bed to movie glamazon Dorothy Ford, who stands six feet, three inches tall (in her three-and-a-half-inch heels). She obligingly posed to show its wonderful comfort (top) compared with the cramped space of an ordinary sized bed, as seen below. The catch is that Dorothy, who's really a tiny five-foot-eleven-and-a-half-inches high, sleeps in a normal-sized bed at home.

Lewis Godwin Operates Town's Newest Motel

Ranger rodeo visitors are invited to rest in comfort between performances in Ranger's newest Motel, by the owner and operator, Lewis Godwin.

Some of the conveniences and comfort he offers are air conditioned, fire-proof rooms, inner-spring mattresses on every bed, and a private garage for every room.

The Motel is located one and one-half miles east on Highway 80.

A. L. Stiles In Service Station Business 25 Years

A. L. Stiles, a veteran of 25 years in the service station business, now operates the Sinclair Service Station on Highway 80 west, where he has been located the last three years.

The station boasts the finest in washing, lubrication, tire repair, and general service. It also carries auto accessories.

Mr. Stiles, Ranger's water commissioner, is assisted at the station by D. L. Mathis, Oscar Lee, and his son, Virgil Stiles.

Ranger Jewelry Company Oldest One In Ranger

The Ranger Jewelry Company now owned and operated by Mrs. J. R. Ervin, is the oldest jewelry store in Ranger though its ownership has changed several times during those years.

The store carries excellent lines in all kinds of jewelry, novelties, hand painted china, pottery and silver. Until recently Mrs. Ervin's daughter, Nona Ervin Heyes, was associated with her in operating the store.

The store is owned and operated by E. D. Hess, who took over the business in March, 1946. It handles a complete line of feeds, seeds, and other livestock and poultry needs.

E. D. Hess Owns, Operates Feed Store On Austin

The Hess Feed Store, located at 265 N. Austin, across the street from the Post Office, supplies a large part of the feed needs of the farmers and ranchers of this area.

The store is owned and operated by E. D. Hess, who took over the business in March, 1946. It handles a complete line of feeds, location, but because of expanding business the new and larger building was built.

The store carries all kinds of staple and fancy groceries, meats, and several household items.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing plan to make their home in Sweetwater.

The boys in the composing room of the Ranger Daily Times called our hand this afternoon on the fact that their names are not in this section of the paper.

In view of the fact that the boys, in fact all of he staff, have worked like mad to get out this edition we guess it's only fair that they get a mention.

In the composing room, there's Mike Wade, foreman and operator; Dwaine Dennis, operator; Peter Cogburn, make-up man; Robert Lawson, operator and make-up man; Jack Cogburn, floor man; Vivan Hise, pressman; Odie Shers, stero typer; Norris Smith and Red Collins from the job department, who've helped out; Charles Blackwell, mailer.

Those in the editorial department and business office who've worked for a good rodeo edition are Joe Dennis, business manager; Ruth Ducker, editor; Bob Hickey, bookkeeper; Billie Faye Pounds, society editor; George Beighley, national advertising; Mrs. Joe Dennis, circulation manager and Carolyn Ducker, proof reader.

Carriers are Bill Brazda, Johnnie Cayer, Johnnie Gay, Scott Forney, Max Dooley, Bill Nichols, Charles Masseege, James Crabb, Billie Bullock, William Bratton and Joe Dorsey. And they all hope you like the results of their efforts.

A. B. Whitten, Fort Worth, landed on the airport yesterday in a Stinson 150. Mr. Whitten is a salesman for Air Accessories, Inc. Fort Worth, Texas.

The Airport operator at Eastland is bringing his airplanes to C. C. McKeever for repair now. He flies side-by-side Taylor Crafts mostly.

In Fort Worth Monday, there was a meeting of operators from all over the Lone Star State. The objective of the meeting was to improve instruction given to veterans under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

James L. Higginbotham flew his night cross country last night. He ran into a strong headwind between Wichita Falls and Ft. Worth and his time was increased. It took 1 hour and 40 minutes between the two points.

Believe it or not a cold front moved into Ranger last night at 7:30 p.m. Usually frontal weather brings rain, but not this time. The front was too weak; consequently it did nothing but lower the temperature. That was appreciated.

Grade Points System To Be Made Easier

WACO, Tex., (UP) — Figuring out grade points at Baylor University is going to be simpler next Fall. All you have to do is divide by two, says Dean James P. Corneille.

Under a new grading system which goes into effect then, pluses will be abolished and an "A" will count three honor points, a "B" as two and a "C" as one. A "C" average is required for graduation, or 150 honor points.

Thus a student who now has 100 hours and 200 honor points will divide the honor points by two. He will then have 100 hours and 100 honor points, with 80 honor points more required for graduation.

Gallant Youngster Shows Up Yankees

HOUSTON, Tex., (UP) — The lady climbed aboard the crowded bus with an armload of books.

And the men sitting up front kept their heads buried in their papers or scanned the beauties of nature outside.

Finally a youngster bounced out of his seat in the back, calling, "Here you are, Lady. You can have my seat."

Then he added in an undertone which vindicated all Houstonians and all Texans:

"All these other fellows are r Yankee."

Interest Keen In Father Jim Night At Teen Canteen

The Rev. James W. McClain was in Ranger today in the interest of "Father Jim's Night" at the Teen Canteen in Ranger each Monday night, reported that interest in the other towns that will participate is very keen.

Committees of young people in Cisco, Eastland and Ranger are working on the plans and sponsors from among the business people of the two towns have accepted responsibility for prizes that will be awarded in various contests. Father McClain's program for the young people each Monday night is varied and will include the showing of a film, games, folk dancing, modern dancing, and a quiz program.

All young people of teen age from Ranger, Cisco and Eastland are invited to attend.

HOW TO USE THE TELEPHONE SKILLFULLY

Even the simplest things—and telephoning is one of them—are easier and more satisfactory for the person who knows the best way to do them and then DOES them that way.

If you know the right answers to these four questions about using the telephone, you'll have a key to better telephone service.

Question: What is the best way to answer the telephone?

Answer: It's usually best to identify yourself at once. "Mr. Hopkins speaking" helps start things off right—especially if the caller may not recognize your voice. It's much better than "Hello."

Question: Can the person I'm calling hear me better if I talk loudly?

Answer: It's better to speak in a normal voice—clearly and distinctly—with your lips about a half inch from the transmitter.

Question: Can I get the operator's attention faster by "jiggling" the receiver hook up and down rapidly?

Answer: No! When you move the hook too fast, it often brings in no signal at all. Move it slowly for better results.

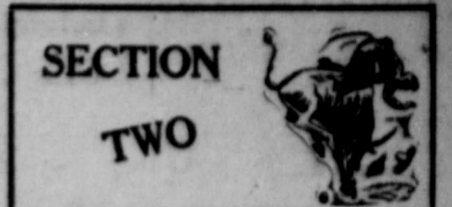

Question: When I'm talking on a party line, how do I know if another party wants to call?

Answer: You may hear him lift the receiver. If so, the neighborly thing to do is finish your conversation as soon as convenient so he can make his call.

SUPPLY OF RANGE FEEDS IN TEXAS REPORTED GOOD

Range feed supplies had improved sharply in all Texas areas at the outset of this month, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. Adequate to excessive rains replenished moisture supplies in all formerly drouthy areas and added to reserves in other areas. Seldom have summer range feed prospects been more uniformly favorable. May rainfall in the Plains counties was about double the average. Range grass in that area is unusually good. Mid-May rains broke the drouth in the extreme southern counties, with grass making a marked recovery since the rains. Rains of one to three inches covered the board expanses of the Trans-Pecos country which is usually drouthy at this season. Good supplies of new green feed were provided earlier than usual in that area. In some southeastern and upper coastal counties, excessive moisture was causing a very good rank, snappy grass growth. All range feed was reported at 90 per cent of normal condition at the outset of this month. This was a seven point improvement from the 83 per cent reported a month earlier. A year ago range feed was reported at 84 per cent of normal condition and the 10-year average for June 1 is 85 per cent.

Cattle in Texas were slick and rapidly gaining flesh on the improved supply of new green feed. Milk flow was heavy and calves were making very good early growth. Calf losses have been very light. Reported condition of cattle and calves on June 1 was 88 per cent of normal. This reported condition is comparable with 83 per cent a month ago, 85 per cent a year ago and 85 per cent the 10-year average.

Range feed in the Western states has the highest early June condition since 1942. East of the Rockies abundant rain and snow resulted in overcoming the late start of new feed and an unusual improvement in the growth of new feed. West of the Main Range, except in Utah, the lower ranges are dry, with below average range feed conditions. High ranges have favorable prospects for summer feed.

Range feed conditions are generally good in the Dakotas, Western Nebraska and Wyoming, with ample soil moisture. Montana has fairly good range feed, except for dry spots in the central and north-central districts. Eastern Colorado and Kansas have the best range and pasture feed conditions soil moisture. Oklahoma has very in several years, with excellent good range and pasture feed, with abundant soil moisture. Texas has very favorable summer range feed prospects. Rain gave favorable feed conditions in northern and eastern New Mexico, with dry conditions and short range feed in the southwest and local central areas. May rains resulted in marked improvement in range feed conditions in western Colorado and Utah.

Arizona ranges received scattered rains, but range feed conditions are poor to fair. California has poor to fair summer pasture prospects, due to soil moisture shortage.

Cattle and calves are generally in good condition, except in the dry areas of southwestern New Mexico, Arizona and a few local areas. Cattle made good gains in the northern Great Plains, with unusually good gains in Wyoming, eastern Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and eastern New Mexico. West of the Rockies cattle are generally in good condition, except in parts of Arizona and southwest New Mexico. Dry range feed conditions have forced the movement of some cattle from Arizona and southwest New Mexico.

Student Shows How To Save

DENTON, Tex., (UP)—Veterans seeking an increased subsistence allowance and students who are continually writing home to Pop for more money can learn a lesson from Joe Howerton of Corsicana, now working his way through North Texas State College.

Valedictorian of his class at the State Orphans Home in Corsicana, Joe is a master of economy. Working part-time last year for a local furniture company, he made $567.25 and saved $562.25. He is now working at the boy's dormitory at the college for his board and room.

Asked what he did with the $5 he didn't save while working at the furniture company, Joe admitted that he has a few human weaknesses. He just blew it in.

PITTSBURGH (UP)—There's one sure way of living to the ripe old age of 100—get plenty of mountain air.

That's the advice of Mrs. Ruth Ann Groover, Brodocks Grove, Pa., who has just turned the century mark.

Denouncing trolleys and automobiles as peace disturbers, Mrs.

Groover says she retreats into the mountains every year to grow vegetables and flowers.

She recommends "hard work, clean living and plenty of mountain air" for a long life.

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—The district court here had a pretty tough time trying to tell who was on who's side in a recent murder trial.

The trial was postponed once because the defendant's attorney, State Senator Keith Kelly, was at the state capital helping to make laws. When it was called again recently, Kelly had two good reasons for being there—as defense attorney, and because he was one of the 400 names drawn for a special venire from the jury for the trial was to be chosen. The first time the trial was to have been held, the defendant's name was drawn on the special venire.

IRISH UNITY ISSUE ARISES TO PLAGUE GREAT BRITAIN

By JAMES KELLY

UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
BELFAST (UP)—Britain's newly tried Labor government may find the 27-year-old Irish partition problem blowing up in its face one of these days.

Gathering strength in Ireland and Britain at the moment is a fierce anti-partition campaign which has for its objective the ending of the British-sponsored regime of the Northern Ireland parliament in Belfast and the withdrawal of British troops from six counties of Northern Ulster. The Irish Anti-partition League, armed in Northern Ireland by the militant leaders of the one-third nationalist minority, now has sought the fight into the strongholds of Labor in the great cities of Britain such as London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Manchester, Birmingham and Cardiff. Already there is reason to believe that the issue is in position to control the votes of parliament.

The Northern Ireland government, which is Tory, already has been condemned by 200 Labor I.P.'s at Westminster. They voiced their complaint in the form of an amendment to Northern Ireland bill of 1947, at present before the House of Commons, asking that the second reading of the bill be held up pending a change of heart on the part of Sir Basil Brooke's government in Belfast.

The main complaint of the Labor M.P.'s was over the Northern Ireland government's use of the special powers act, which allows detention without trial, flogging, deportation orders, etc. This act was created to deal with illegal Irish Republican army a terrorist organization which is also banned by Eamon de Valera in Eire.

The position of the Northern Ireland government as a satellite regime with finance and defense controlled by Britain is decidedly awkward, now that a Socialist government is in control at Westminster.

Fears are held by many of its supporters that the growing pressure of the anti-partition campaign in Britain may lead one day to a secret understanding between their arch-enemy, Eamon de Valera, prime minister of Eire, and Britain, resulting in the disappearance of the straggling Ulster border which cuts across lakes, rivers, mountains, farmyards, and divides villages in two in its crazy 200 mile meander across the Irish countryside.

Sir Basil Brooke, the Ulster premier, is now vigorously plugging as counter-propaganda the fact that Northern Ireland was Britain's western bridgehead during the late war when Eire was neutral, and that her ports and airfields were vital in the battle of the Atlantic.

Lying low these days, except for occasional speeches demanding the settlement of what he describes as "the long remaining difficulty" between Ireland and Britain, is De Valera himself. But his Fianna Fail party is in close and constant touch with the anti-partition campaign in Britain. Due to the economic difficulties of Eire after the war, such as a shortage of coal for which she is dependent on Britain, De Valera cannot push the London government to far—at the moment—but the friendly relations now existing between the two governments, most people believe, will result sooner or later in a deal on partition.

Chairman of the Anti-Partition League is a Belfast lawyer, James McSparran, K.C., M.P. Other personalities in the movement are Cahir Uesly, M. P., who was jailed inrixton prison, London, during the war; Edward McAtee, M. P., brother of IRA Chief of Staff Hugh McAtee; famous will-o-the-wisp, now serving a 10-year sentence in Belfast prison for the attempted overthrow of the Belfast government by armed force; Patrick Maxwell, M. P., who paid a recent visit to Chicago on an anti-partition mission along with Capt Deris, Ireland, leader of the Protestant Ulster Union Club.

Locomotive Engineer Can't Drive Automobile

STEPHENVILLE, Tex., (UP)

—He may be a second Casey Jones at the throttle of a locomotive, but he's never in an automobile except as a passenger. Oliver Wyatt, Fort Worth, was an engineer for the old Frisco railroad lines and during the 50 years he put in at the job, made both freight and passenger runs between Fort Worth and Menard. He even piloted "big jacks" as far north as St. Louis.

Recently when he returned to Stephenville for a visit with old acquaintances, including J. D. Killough, another railroad pioneer, he had only one request. He asked Killough to teach him to drive an automobile.

Man Claims He Has Only Canine Receptionist

FORT WORTH, Tex., (UP)—

Clifford Herring boasts the only canine receptionist in Fort Worth, a black Chow named Chummee. She meets every customer at Herring's sound equipment store, he says, sniffs them over and escorts them in through the door and to the counter.

Chummee gets plenty of recreation, Herring says. She attends rodeos, the icecapades, TCU ball games and other sporting events.

On the way to town Chummee rides on top of the car. She seemingly enjoys balancing against the blaring loudspeaker, Herring says, where she looks much like the dog in the advertisement—"His Master's voice."

San Antonio Police Can't Give Free Rides

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (UP)—

San Antonio police have clamped down on free rides. In the future no one will be permitted to ride in police cars except on official business or unless they have permission from Police Commissioner Raymond South of Chief of Police Fred Palmer. They must also sign a waiver and assumption of risk injuries.

The order didn't say whether being "run in" was official business.

Quick Thaw

"Mr. America" and "Miss Quick Thaw." They were known as Mr. and Mrs. Alan Stephan, kiss just after getting their marriage license in Minneapolis, Minn. Stephan got his title in a male body beautiful contest in Chicago, while his bride won hers at a frozen food convention.

Here is one of 1947's most courageous men—Claude A. Watson, the Prohibition Party's candidate for the presidency in 1948. He accepted the nomination at the party's convention at Winona Lake, Ind.

Boys Find a Way

THOMPSONVILLE, Conn. (UP)—Youngsters on bicycles make an annual pilgrimage here from Springfield and Longmeadow near the Massachusetts-Connecticut border to lay in a supply of fireworks, which are legal in Connecticut but taboo in the B'y State.

Sanatorium At Cisco Restores Health To Many

For a number of years people all over the United States have been going to Brown's Drugless Sanatorium in Cisco to be cured of disease.

The sanatorium was started in a small way but now has a capacity for 37 patients. It is located on West Sixth Street in a tree and shrub surrounded building that is attractive to behold.

Dr. N. A. Brown is head of the institution and has associated with him his son, Dr. H. C. Brown, Dr. A. R. Withee and Dr. O. M. Withee. The sanatorium offers a magnet masseur treatment which assists nature in removing ill without the aid of medicines.

Theft Of Ring No Way To Heart

WACO, Tex., (UP) — The way to a girl's heart is not through stealing her diamond ring, a youth charged with theft learned in the county jail here.

And a pretty sure way of not getting another job is by using unemployment compensation checks for paying off fines for pilfering diamond rings, the same young man was told by arresting officers.

After spending an evening with his girl, the youth was placed in jail when she reported her ring missing. The ring was found in a pawnshop. The youth awaited arrival of his regular compensation check so he could pay his fine—or part of it. Otherwise, he was broke.

PUBLISHER TO PAY WOMEN EMPLOYEES DURING MATERNITY

NEW YORK (UP) — William Ziff decided that it was wrong for a working woman to lose her pay and perhaps her job to have a baby.

Ziff, founder and head of Ziff-Davis, book and magazine publishing firm, has formalized a company policy. All women employees who have been with the firm for at least three years will be entitled to three months leave with full pay if they are having a baby.

The salary will be paid to the woman three months after she has returned to work. About 65 per cent of Ziff's 350 employees are women.

With increasing number of women working—a recent survey indicated 16,000,000 will be employed by 1950—Ziff's decision has been hailed by the Commerce and Industry Association of New York as being an unusual departure. Although some union contracts specifically provide for a leave of absence, no such maternity leaves are with pay.

Ziff, who founded his company 20 years ago, dislikes the word "liberal" applied to his policy. "It's not liberal, it's intelligent," he said. "I believe we must learn to do willingly what people must do at the point of a gun in totalitarian states."

"I take a very simple view—you have to be interested in yourself, in your friends, in your family and beyond that, in your country. And I don't believe you should keep the best fitted people from giving children to the state."

"Why should we let Russia carry the ball?" He added that free enterprise should willingly, and on its own, meet the benefits of socialization, "which the Marxists promise." He thinks free enterprise can do it, too.

Sidewalk Cattlemen Have Rigid Rules

SWEETWATER, Tex. (UP)—Odie Hunt organized the West Texas Sidewalk Cattlemen's Association to acquaint members all over the United States and in some foreign countries with the West Texas style of humor.

A few of the more well-known members are Babe Ruth, Clark Gable, Sen. Claude Pepper, Bing Crosby, former Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas, Jack Dempsey and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Rules of the association allow the owner of at least two head of cattle to wear boots; owner of three head of cattle can stuff the right leg of his pants in the top of his boot; owner of four head may stuff both pants legs, and the owner of six head of cattle may wear spurs.

Anyone who violates the rules has to buy drinks for everybody in yelling distance.

New Traffic Hazard: 'Drunken Flying'

James Fronimos, the Los Angeles student pilot who crash-landed this plane in downtown Pasadena, Calif., has the doubtful distinction of being the first man ever booked at the local jail for "drunken flying." He only had two hours of solo flying to his credit when the accident happened and escaped with only a scratched face.

RANGER JUNIOR COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPT. 8

Dr. G. C. Boswell, President of Ranger Junior College, announces the opening of the fall semester Monday, September 8, with the strongest faculty the College has had, and the best facilities for doing real college work.

The six extra class rooms that have been completed are well equipped with tablet arm chairs and drafting tables to be used for the drafting classes and other college classes. The library has been completely remade, and is more useful for the students than any time in the past.

The business administration department for the college has been strengthened, and new comptometers, new tables, adding machines, and other things have been added to make this department one of the strongest in the country, and for the student who does not desire to receive a college degree he may get a commercial diploma with the certified courses accredited with the State Department of Education, senior colleges, and universities.

The natural sciences have had much new equipment and the second year of chemistry will be offered, which is fully accredited, as all other courses are.

The College will go strong for athletics, playing football, basketball, tennis, golf, and track. Basketball for girls will also be an added feature another year. The College will again enter into collegiate debate, extemporaneous speaking, radio, plays, and other public speaking events sponsored by the Texas Junior College Association. The social life of the College has many features, and one of the high lights for the college year will be the coronation services when the college queen is crowned.

Says Pound of DDT Value Is 2,000 Lbs. Beef

COLLEGE STATION—A pound of DDT is worth 2000 pounds of beef to the Texas stockmen during fly season this year.

A tall statement? Entomologist Charles A. King, Jr., of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, says, "Figure it up yourself." One pound of wettable DDT powder, mixed in 25 gallons of water, will spray about 25 head of cattle. Stockmen who have used DDT spray the past two years will put on an average of 80 pounds of flesh as a result of thorough spraying throughout the fly season. When 25 head gain 80 pounds, that's 2000 pounds of beef from one pound of DDT.

King says that the fly season is under way now, and experienced stockmen are checking up on spraying equipment and DDT supplies. Four pounds of wettable DDT powder at a strength of .2 of one per cent, mixed in 100 gals. of water, is the spray to use. When to spray? King says, "Let the flies tell you." If the pests are thick, the spray is needed. A lot of factors enter into the "when to spray" picture. Often the treatment holds flies in check for months, but a heavy rain can mean the job needs re-doing after a ten-day period.

Dairymen also have an opportunity to cash in on DDT, King says. After spraying barns and cows, dairy farmers have reported a five to 15 per cent boost in milk production.

New 25-Cent Airmailer

This is the Postoffice Department's new 25-cent stamp for Pacific, Asiatic, and Africa airmail. Blue, of special delivery size, it depicts a four-motored plane over the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge. It goes on sale July 30, conforming to an international rate of 25 cents a half ounce for the above named areas.

The game of shuffleboard was known in England as early as the 15th century and was a favorite of the aristocracy. Noted for some of the most varied geologic rock formations in the eastern U. S., is the region around Rosendale, N.Y.

READ THE CLASSIFIEDS

George Sanders, Gallant Rider Of The Trail, Lives In Oft-Told Stories

When Southwestern cowmen gather to spin anew their leathery, roped-up word tapestries of the trail days, when the most stalwart, courageous and gallant of the trails-men come to life again in re-told stories and legends, then it is that a genial, smiling character comes into view, bringing the best attributes of the days when Abilene, Kansas was the Mecca of all cowmen and their herds.

The man oft-remembered among the trail drivers was George W. Saunders, born to Mississippi parents in Gonzales County, Feb. 12, 1854. His saddle days began when he was five, as he rode a side-saddle to help "trail" the cattle his father drove to their new home in Goliad.

Young George won his right to the title "cowboy" when he was 10, in a night experience that tested the spirit of even the veteran riders. He and a brother were night herding a string of cattle that soon were to move into Mexico when, in the wee hours, the herd stampeded. Other riders joined in and the fight was on to round up the racing cattle. At daybreak, when riders returned with bunches of the herd, 10-year-old George was there with his quota.

Up trail to Kansas at the age of 17, hired to a cattleman named Monroe Choate, young Saunders got a full-fledged trail "tour" including swollen rivers, Indians, long hours in the saddle, the sport of killing buffalo — and a stormy night with a thousand stampeding, storm-crazed steers. When the trip was over, he had the high praise of "top hand" from his trail boss. He also had the admiration of all his fellow riders, who had watched him swim the flooded Washita River with a rope in his teeth to establish an anchorage across the banks for a make-shift raft that was to float the chuck-wagon and other material across the river. Others in the group had failed to swim the rope across.

His courage and cool thinking was once manifested while yet a youth in Goliad County, Outlaws, cattle thieves and vandals were making trouble. In June of 1874 a group of Mexicans found that a sheep man, Thad Swift, had brought wool money to his home. They murdered and cut the bodies of the Swift family into pieces. After the murderers were caught and dealt with, a group of about 75 men met on the prairie one night and decided to kill every Mexican in Goliad. Young Saunders stepped into their midst after the decision and reasoned that if this were done, the town would forever have a blot on it. The men changed their minds and went home.

One of his close "brushes" with death came in Kiowa County, when he was going up trail. Chief Bacon Rind and a group of braves confronted Saunders' trail crew and demanded beef. George told the cook to let them have food and he did but the chief became bolder and seized Saunders and held his arms, as other Indians pointed buffalo guns toward the trail riders. When an English rider and other cowboys rushed up with cocked guns, ready to shoot the Indians, Saunders signaled for them to hold fire and soon the trouble was over, the Indians gone. Had the cowboys opened fire, some of the Indians and cowboys would have been killed.

Ready for humor and fun, Saunders once accepted the baiter of an expert Indian to rope him as he sped by on horseback. The Indian came by — lying flat on the saddle. So Saunders roped both horse and Indian, but the Indian's horse and Saunders' mount went on opposite sides of a tree. All were spilled and Saunders laughed as heartily as any.

"Near tragedy" came to the stalwart man of the saddle in the comparative safety of a box seat at a New York rodeo he was observing. He had taken on a large chew of tobacco and the juice was accumulating when a group, including ladies, seated themselves around him. Finally when the crucial moment came for a decision, he sent a stream of tobacco juice far into the arena and then turned and politely apologized to the ladies.

"Don't mind," they replied, "we're ranch girls."

Saunders never lost his love for the saddle and rode into his elderly years. He called the meeting that established the Old Trail Drivers of Texas at Houston on March 21, 1916. While he never quite settled down to confining himself to an office, he established the commission firm that bears his name today, George W. Saunders Livestock Commission Company, with offices at Fort Worth and San Antonio.

A grandson, George W. Jary, manages the Fort Worth office.

Southern Ice Company Busy During Hot Days

The hot weather is keeping the Southern Ice Company busy and demands on the company require a large staff.

The local plant of the company is managed by Roy Dawn and a modern plant well equipped with up-to-the-minute machinery is maintained. It supplies ice for domestic as well as commercial consumers and serves a large area.

Those now employed by the plant are Elbert Young, L. L. Womack, A. A. Adams, R. C. Everett, E. E. Hill, C. B. Carter, D. R. Walton, A. L. Shelton, Royce Wheat, W. H. Bearden and the manager.

It was on a well-kept curb at Fort Crailo, Rensselaer, N.Y., that Dr. Richard Shuckburg, a British army surgeon, sat in 1758, whistling the tune and composing the satirical verses of "Yankee Doodle."

Ranger Lumber And Supply Is Being Kept Busy

The Ranger Lumber and Supply is a busy spot these days. With recent restrictions on building lifted, repairs of homes and business houses as well as the building of new ones, is keeping Calvin Brown and his son Earl busy supplying the needs.

The business carries all types of building materials and can supply most any need for repairs or building.

Even Stephen STILLWATER, Okla. (UP) — The breaks came out even for Carl Petty, a laundry truck driver.

He was booked at the police station for making an improper turn and was told to return to municipal court one hour later. A few minutes after leaving the station he found a $1 bill on the street. When he returned to court, he was fined $1 on the traffic charge.

Dr. Pepper One Of Ranger's Leading Firms

One of Ranger's outstanding businesses is the Dr. Pepper Bottling Company owned and operated by M. L. King.

Mr. King moved the plant to Ranger from Strawn early in 1942 after remodeling a brick building to accommodate the company. In addition to the modern plant, adjacent to it is another building that is used for storage and for housing the company's trucks.

According to reports the drink manufactured by the company is rapidly gaining in popularity and despite the war time restrictions on sugar the company has managed to keep retailers fairly well supplied.

Besides Mr. King personnel of the firm includes Joe Daskevich, Joe Daskevich, Jr., Z. Z. Bowen, Bill Lyman, Hubbard and Clyde Pollard.

Since coming to Ranger Mr. King has taken an active part in civic affairs and at present is president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce and of the Lions Club.

Culpeppers Now Owners of Dry Cleaning Plant

Not too long ago Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Culpepper, returned from DeLeon, after a brief absence from Ranger and purchased the Ranger Dry Cleaning plant which had been owned and operated by Roy Gray.

The new owners have added new services and kept up the good practices of former owners and have a splendid following in their business.

Employees of the company are Jess Weaver, Mrs. Jess Weaver, and Pickens Weaver, all veteran employes of the plant, Everett Weaver, Mrs. Viola Basham, Mrs. Faye Barnhill, Miss Mavere Lemley, J. T. Blackwell, and the owners.

Hobby Becomes Business After Several Years

Turning a hobby into a business is just what Delbert Capps has done and now with his brother, Hubert Capps, owns and operates a very modern photograph studio in Ranger.

The studio started out in a very small building on Main street and business expanded at such a rate and increased services brought in so much more business that the studio was moved to its now spacious quarters on Rusk street.

Besides the two brothers the studio employes, Zella Faye Stephen and Forrest Lyon.

Tommy Burns Today

Tommy Burns, heavyweight boxing contender at the turn of the century, and later world's champion, is now an ordained minister. Here he studies the scriptures at his Coalinga, Calif., home in preparation for a scheduled sermon. Burns, at 66, pursues a rugged physical fitness program, including skipping the rope 200 times every morning.

Gholson Now Being Operated By Melbournes

The Gholson Hotel, Ranger's fireproof hotel and one whose history is closely associated with that of Ranger, was recently sold by Price Crawley and Brann Garner to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Melbourne of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The Melbournes are experienced hotel operators, having owned and operated some of the outstanding hotels of the country. Currently they are making improvements in the hotel through a redecorating program.

It serves both permanent and transient guests. Besides the Melbournes the staff of the hotel includes, Mrs. Melbourne's nephew, Tilford Ferguson, Mrs. Gibson and daughter, Bill Arney, Bobby Brummett, Bud Hall and Charles Wilson.

The number of frozen food locker plants in the country has grown from around 1,300 in 1938 to more than 8,000 in 1946.

A. H. Powell who owns and operates a grocery store in Y. Addition makes a specialty of handling good meats and advertises the fact that the best in meats are always to be had there.

The store is located at 901 Pershing street but draws trade from all over Ranger. The store carries a full line of staple and fancy groceries and all food requirements can be met there.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Powell the store employs Mrs. Virge Johnson and Richard Cox.

Ranger Branch Retail Merchants Is Efficient One

An efficient branch of the Retail Merchants Association is operated in Ranger with H. C. Henderson serving as president and Mrs. M. A. Oyler as secretary.

At a recent election Henderson and the following officers were elected by the directorate, that group having been selected by the membership; F. P. Brashier, Sr., finance chairman; Mrs. Oyler, secretary and directors, A. J. Ratliff, John Tibbels, E. L. Martin, J. Floyd Killingsworth, Arlie Carver and W. F. Creager.

The organization, besides carrying on the regular work of such an association, cooperates in promoting trade extension and other interests to Ranger.

Trading Post Building Up Big Following

Ranger's Trading Post, owned by R. O. Bray and Lester Crocley, and operated by Mr. Bray, is a favorite marketing spot for Ranger people.

Located just east of the Main Street and Highway 80 crossing on Highway 80, the store gives additional service through the fact that it remains open all day Sunday.

In connection with the post is a filling station where Texaco products are sold and where super-service is given. The station also does washing and greasing work and makes a specialty of doing the job right.

Personnel at the Trading Post includes Eugene Shirley, Mrs. Ruth Smith and Mr. Bray.

Terminals feed one another. According to Encyclopedia Britannica, one method is the exudation of glandular products from the skin, which are licked by other members of the community.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., (UP)—A bird dog described as "well-trained" by its owners was not well enough trained to discourage burglars from including the dog in their loot at a farm near here.

After the burglars ransacked the rural residences of Frank Baldwin and Otis Hendrix, the sheriff's office learned that radios, guns, clothes, electrical equipment and the bird dog had disappeared with the burglars.

H. G. Adams Firm Builds Up Good Business Trade

Since coming back into the grocery and market business, H. G. Adams, has built up a trade that keeps him and others at the store busy.

A veteran grocery store operator, Mr. Adams, offers his customers the best in meats, staple groceries and fancy groceries along with a courteous and efficient service.

Others employed in the store besides the owner and Mrs. Adams who assists in operating the business, are Norman Richardson, Hayden Eastland, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Lyon, George Dailey, Wes Marchbanks, and H. G. Adams, Jr.

MAN CAN FLY AT ALMOST ANY SPEED, ARMY SAYS

By William F. McMenamin
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army Air Forces believes there is almost no limit to the speed that man can travel and survive if he takes certain precautions.

That is the conclusion reached by the air surgeons office after exhaustive research at the Wright Field, O., center and the school of aviation medicine at Randolph Field, Texas.

The AAF air surgeons believe the pilot of the X51 plane designed for an attempt to fly at supersonic speed this summer will not be harmed as long as he doesn't try to speed up or stop too abruptly or take too sharp a turn.

One AAF expert said that all humans are traveling constantly at 1,000 miles per hour without effect. He explained that the earth, which is about 24,000 miles in circumference, rotates once every 24 hours—thus at a speed of 1,000 miles per hour.

The AAF has a new device for measuring the effects on the human body of sudden increase or decrease in speed which it says are caused by the force of gravity and centrifugal force.

When a vehicle speeds up or slows down suddenly it increases the weight of the human body in the direction opposite to the movement, the air surgeons have found. It has the effect of a great crushing weight pressing against one part of the body.

This force is measured in "G's." One "G" is equal to your weight at rest, one experiment explained. The human body can stand up to 25 "G's" for less than one-tenth of a second as the peak force applied to it.

The trick of traveling at supersonic speeds, the AAF experts explain, is to subject the man to much lower force over a longer period in geometrical progression until the desired speed is reached.

In the same way, a plane traveling at supersonic speeds must be turned slowly or the centrifugal force will cause the pilot to "black out" or even rupture blood vessels and cause death.

SILVER CITY, N. M. (UP)—Molly, a veteran of hundreds of forest fires in the Gila National Forest, is on the job again.

Molly is a mule which knows every inch of trails in the wilderness area of the forest. For a time, the animal was threatened with retirement because of a growth on the left leg.

Forest service officials called in a veterinarian. He removed a five-inch pitch pine silver from the mule's leg and Molly's back on the trail.

SKY RANGER PREMIER'S NEW AVIATION OIL

The Premier Oil Refining Company of Texas, one of whose plants is in Ranger, recently introduced to the public the new Sky Ranger aviation oil, a 100 per cent paraffin base oil for airplanes.

The highly successful oil is made from Ranger crude oil which according to authorities is one of the finest crudes in the world. The oil was thoroughly tested in actual flights by two company planes which were disassembled after the tests and checked for carbon formations and wear.

This is the second product put out by the company to bear the name "Ranger", the other being the Premier Ranger 100 per cent paraffin base motor oil.

Refineries of the company are located at Ft. Worth, Longview, Baird, Arp, Cotton Valley, La. A booster plant and district offices are maintained at Ranger with David D. Pickrell as superintendent of the Ranger division.

Austin Mayor Proclaims Shirt Sleeve Season

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—Fellows you can take off that coat when you enter Austin for business or for pleasure. It's legal.

Mayor Tom Miller has proclaimed the period through Labor Day as official "shirt sleeve season" in the state capital.

"We want those business who have to be on the street a lot and in an out of our buildings to feel that they can go in their shirt sleeves and be properly dressed," Miller says.

He quickly adds, however, that "the coat is not being outlawed. When the occasion calls for a coat, a coat should be worn."

Army Dog Tags Solve The Lost Child Problem

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Ex-GIs at University Village, University of Minnesota housing project for veterans and their families, had a hard time keeping track of their some 600 children.

A 2 1-2 year-old boy was lost until after dark. Two other children wandered almost a mile away. Other incidents were reported.

Jack K. Hartman and James M. O'Hara, a couple of villagers, solved the problem. They're selling army-type dog tags at 25 cents each to be hung around the toddler's neck. The tag gives the child's name and address.

Organization Set Up Summer '43 In Ranger

In the summer of 1943 the West Cross Timbers Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, for a long time the dream of many in this section, was born in Ranger and since that time has been doing a very fine work in the West Cross Timbers section of Texas.

The organizational meeting was held at the Ranger Country Club and was directed by such men as Charles Bell, then vocational agriculture teacher in Ranger and Floyd Lynch, then Eastland county agent.

Dr. Bob Hodges of Ranger was elected president at that meeting and still is president, having been the only man to hold that office. M. L. Jernigan of Goldthwaite is vice-president and Hollis Blackwell also of Goldthwaite, is secretary.

Each year the association holds a show and sale and this year's show and sale opened today at Goldthwaite and will continue Thursday. Members of the association devote their efforts to improvement of the quality of their animals and since the organization of the association a number of ranchers in this area have limited their flocks and herds to nothing but registered animals. Rambouillet sheep and Angora goats are taking the ranches in this section.

Most ranchers say that this country is particularly suited to sheep and goat ranching and more and more of the ranchers are turning to this type of ranching.

The clips of wool and mohair are very heavy in this section and the C. P. Cloud and Company branch warehouse handles the clips for ranchers of this area.

Demands New Car Plus Damages For Waiting

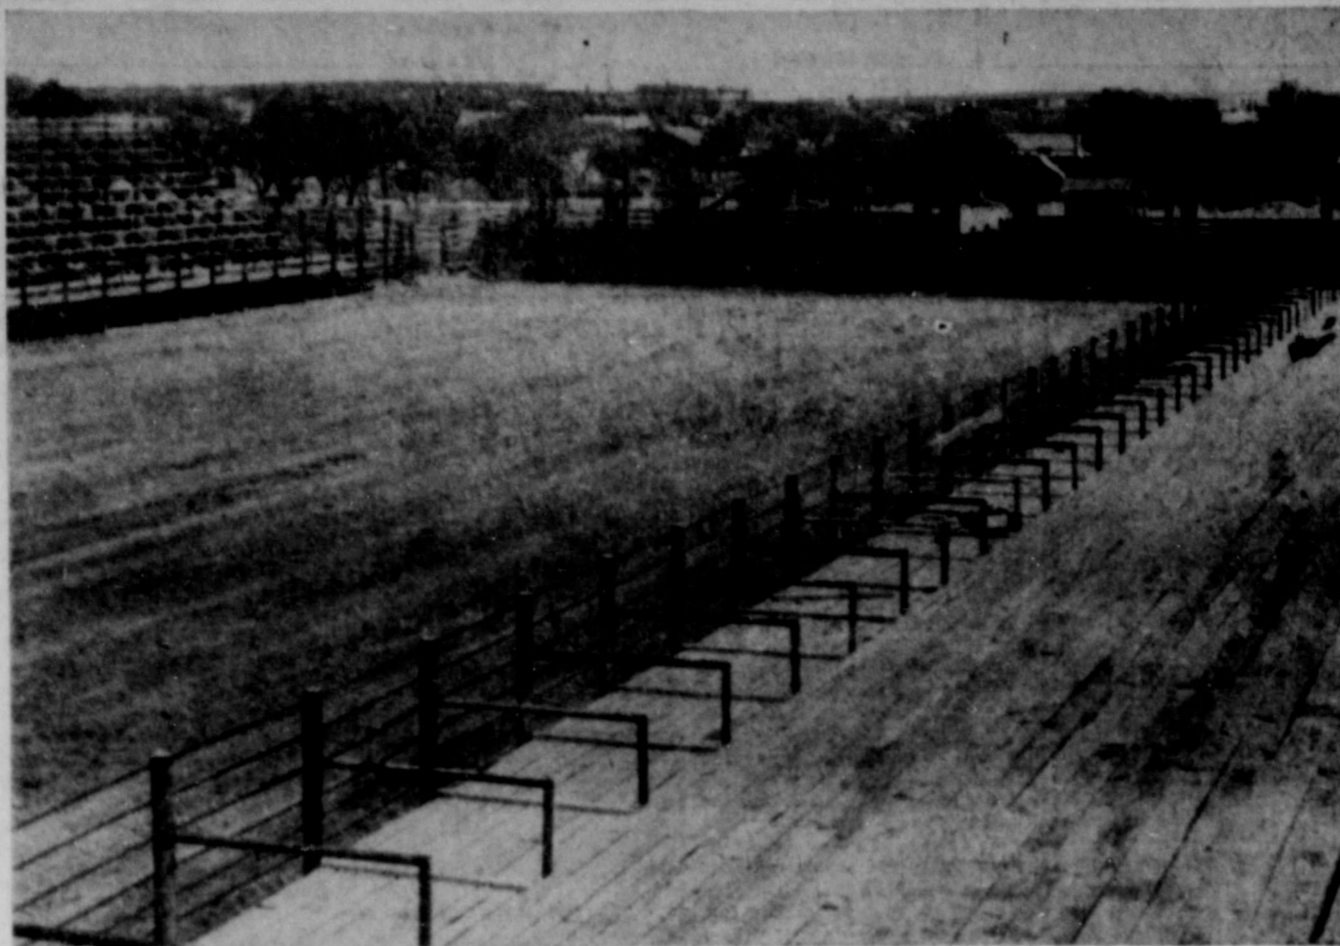

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — A Houston man tried of waiting for his new car, took drastic action by filing suit for delivery of a 1947 model and $1,500 damages for having to wait so long.

Earl M. Futch said he ordered a new car on Oct. 15, 1945. He was told he was near the top of the list. Futch paid $100 toward his new car and later sold his old car to the dealer for $175 under its market value.

Still no new car, so Futch went to court. He charged that people who got on the list after he did have already got their cars.

Learns To Tell Earthquakes And Milk Train Apart

NEW YORK (UP)—Miss Ruth King has just finished a year at Fordham University, where she learned to tell an earthquake 3,000 miles distant from the rumble of a milk train two blocks away.

She learned the trick by being assigned to watch over the university's seismograph, an instrument for measuring vibrations of the earth. Miss King made daily trips to the deep vault housing the seismograph and studied the recordings of the device's charts for the previous 24 hours.

Miss King's job was to measure the travel time of vibrations through the strata of the earth in this area. Sound travels through a layer of granite at one speed and through a layer of limestone at another. The nature of the earth in a given area provides the clue to when and where an earthquake occurs.

Having won her master's degree in mathematics at Fordham, Miss

King plans to attend Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., next fall and study for a doctorate.

JACK CHAPMAN IN RANCHING BUSINESS

Another Ranger business man has gone into full time ranching and is planning to move later with his family to the ranch.

He is Jack Chapman, formerly owner and operator of the Texas Drug Store in Ranger. The ranch is located in Palo Pinto county adjacent to the Caney ranch. Mr. Chapman bought the ranch while still in the drug business, but did not give full time to it until the recent sale of his drug store.

The ranch is 740 acres on which Mr. Chapman is grazing cattle and sheep.

An oil well was recently brought in on the ranch and is producing about 25 barrels a day from a depth of 4,645 feet believed to be in the Marble Falls section. The well is also making a million feet of gas. It was drilled by the Palo Pinto Oil and Gas Company and another location has been staked on the ranch.

The Chapmans have one child, Jimmie, about one year old.

Family of Seven Prosper As Worm Prices Soaring

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UP)—The price of worms hasn't escaped inflation, it was learned from an attractive 35-year-old housewife Mrs. Agnes Kenmir.

The price per dozen was 18 cents last year. Now Mrs. Kenmir gets 25 cents per dozen and is doing a rushing business.

The Lacey, Wash., mother of 5 finds business so good that the Kenmirs plan to build a new home soon and place a sign in the front yard: "This is the house that worms built."

Mrs. Kenmir, her husband Lawrence, and eldest son, Joseph, 16, find that on good nights between midnight and 5 a.m., they can "pick" 2,500 nightcrawlers from the capitol grounds in Olympia.

To Appear In Rodeo

Clarke Motor Co., Chrysler Plymouth Agent

Ranger's Chrysler and Plymouth dealer is the Clarke Motor Company, owned and operated by W. H. Clarke. The business is located on Main street and maintains a repair shop along with the agency.

Mr. Clarke has been in business in Ranger for a number of years and his shop is one of the most patronized in Ranger. The shop also gives wrecker service.

Besides the owner the business employees Willis H. Clarke, Jr., Ray McHenry, Raymond Hughes and W. P. Hatfield.

Ruth Mariam who has been engaged to appear in the Ranger Rodeo as a trick rider is shown here in some of her typical tricks and poses. She is a widely known rodeo figure, having appeared in rodeos in Canada and South America as well as all over the United States.

Her husband, Frank Mariam, will be a contestant in the rodeo.

The couple reside in Ranger.

JAYCEES MAKE QUICK WORK IN BUILDING RODEO ARENA

In March 1946, under the direction of the Abilene Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce was organized.

Price Crawley was elected its first president and under his capable direction the Jaycees set to work to build a rodeo arena in Ranger with the view to establishing an annual rodeo show for the summer. The $30,000 plant which resulted in one of the finest in the country.

In just about five months the first annual Jaycee Rodeo and Round-Up was opened with a fanfare, the first performance being on August 21, 1946. The success of that show is history but plans for the show this year are even bigger and better.

The first year the Jaycees ship was directed by the following officers: Price Crawley, president; Bobbie Powell, vice-president; Arthur Deffebach, secretary and Wilson Guest, treasurer. Directors were C. E. May, Jr., James King, James P. Morris, Delbert Capps, Howard Oliver, Nicol Crawford, Bruce Harris, Beauford Anderson, James Ratliff, Jimmie Marshall, Ernest Shelton and C. M. Deal, Jr.

Officers of the club at present are James P. Morris, president; Howard Oliver, vice-president; Wilson Guest, treasurer and R. B. Thomas Jr., secretary. Directors besides the officers are C. E. May, Jr., Bob Earnest, Price Crawley, Nicol Crawford, Morris Newham, and James Ratliff.

In addition to the rodeo arena and plant, the Jaycees now have nearly completed a livestock barn of native stone which they purpose to use for sponsoring FFA and 4-H Club livestock shows. It is located on the arena grounds.

Jay-Walking Ganders Warned To Get Off Street

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Sophie Hahn heard two of her geese honking in distress and hurried to the street to find her pedigree gander, James IV, lying in the gutter.

"I cried, 'Jimmy, speak to me,' but he did not," Mrs. Hahn told Justice Harold Crawford in small claims court. "He was dead."

She blamed Joseph Levine, a milk-truck driver, in her suit for damages.

"While the court's sympathy is with the plaintiff in the death of her pet," Justice Crawford ruled, "the law favors the defendant. The case is dismissed."

He pointed out that ganders walk the city's streets at their own risk.

UNCOVER TUSKED FOSSIL CAT

WASHINGTON (UP)—The scientist once more have come up with a fantastic creature out of the prehistoric past. This time it is a flesh-eating mammal with tusks, related in bone structure to the sabre-tooth cats that roamed the earth some 30,000,000 odd years ago.

The fossil skeleton of the long extinct animal was unearthed in the Bridger Basin of Wyoming by Institution. After intensive study a report on the animal was made by Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, curator of the vertebrate paleontology at the Smithsonian.

Dr. Gazin described the animal as about the size of a large house cat, with skull features similar to those of the sabre-tooth tiger. The family with long curved tusks adapted to a thrusting, stabbing type of fighting.

Although cat-like in bone structure, Dr. Gazin said this animal was only remotely related to the cat family. He called the creature a Machaeroides Eothen, belonging to the general race of Creodonts, from which present day flesh-eating mammals descended. The particular group to which this small-sized sabre-tooth belonged became totally extinct at least 35,000,000 years ago.

Three times in United States history, two presidents or ex-presidents have died in the same year—McKinley and Benjamin Harrison in 1901, Van Buren and Tyler in 1862 and Adams and Jefferson in 1826.

Whaddye Want to Know? Library Can Tell You

CHICAGO (UP)—An artist called the public library and wanted a picture of a cow with a fly on its back. He said he wanted it for copying purposes and that just any old milker wouldn't do.

Somebody else wanted to know how many bones there are in a pig's leg—below the knee.

Someone asked what was the astrological phase of the moon when Abraham Lincoln was born. But the reference room in the library accepts all such challenges and is seldom stumped.

Among other puzzlers are: Do chickens really sleep soundly while squatting on the roost? Where can I get a live queen bee? How do you cook liver?

STATE DIRECTOR

C. E. May, Jr., who has been a very active member of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce is at present serving the organization as state director. This position also places him on the executive board of the Ranger club. He has also been publicity chairman of the Ranger Rodeo in which position he has done an excellent job. He is associated with his father, C. E. May, Sr., in the insurance business.

Ratliff's Is One Of Town's Oldest Business Firms

One of the oldest business firms in Ranger is A. J. Ratliff's Feed Store, located at 111 E. Main St.

The store is wholesale and retail dealer of all kinds of feed, seeds, and grains, and handles Purina products.

James Ratliff is associated with his father in the business which also employs O. M. Franklin, R. V. Mathena, Bill Smith, and Billy Harper.

Eastland Bank Sends Greetings To Ranger Rodeo

A good friend to the Ranger Rodeo is the Eastland National Bank of Eastland who each year sends greetings to the Jaycees and best wishes for the rodeo.

Organized only a few years ago, the bank has built up a large patronage with service as the objective of the bank. The bank is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Officers of the bank are Walter Murray, president, Guy Parker, vice-president; Russell Hill, cashier and Fred Brown, vice-president.

Mrs. Perry Sayles returned Sunday from a two week's visit in Houston with her cousin, Mrs. E. T. Decker.

Joseph M. Weaver was the week end guest of Mr. Lew Wentz in Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Kaykendall chaperoned a little party of girls Monday afternoon who enjoyed a swim at Lake Trianon at Olden and after the swim had a treat of candy and soda pop. Personnel included Misses Juanita Matthews, Bessie Marlow, Agnes Odom, Gwendolyn Jones of Eastland and Ruby Pace of Ranger.

Eastland, July 18, 1929: Tuesday evening the Epworth League of the Methodist church enjoyed an outing at Lake Eastland. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. June Kimble and included: Misses Ruby Tindall, Jane Rotramel, Virginia Niel Little, Lucille Brogdon, Maurine Davenport, Clara June Kimble, Lorraine Taylor, and Raymond O. berbey, Oscar Hunter, Joe King, Carl Foster, Pettit Castleberry, Tillman Stubblefield, John Shearer, Jack Kimble, George Drogion, and Max Kimble. Following the outing the party adjourned to the home of Miss Ruby Tindall where the radio was enjoyed.

A charming little birthday party celebrating her seventh year was given her daughter, little Dorothy Helen Mathena, by her mother, Mrs. Mathena assisted by Mrs. Joe Mae King yesterday at the Mathena home. Among those present were: Pauline and Opal Bargeley, Julia Beth Ruth, Peggy Lankford, Thelma Ruth Martin, Mary Martha Fuller, Norma Jean Tucker, Lilly Nell Watazan, Edith Gray, Audrey Faye Taylor, Angelina Merideth, Bernice and Bernidine Bryson, Ella Mae and Louise Taylor, Georgia Mae Bishop, Doris Mae Mathena, Oleatha and Lane King, Frances Covington, W. T. Self, Willie Odell Black, Guy and Claude O'Neill, Billie Betts and Erlene Mangram and James Mangram of Ranger.

Eastland County is in receipt of $60 from the Texas State Fair officials, states J. C. Patterson, county agent. The check is for prizes won in contests sponsored by the State Fair.

With 23 of the 29 voting precincts in Eastland county heard from on Tuesday's election, the proposed County stock law carried by a vote of more than 4 to 1, while the 13-cent road tax measure was defeated nearly 3 to 1. Both of the state amendments were substantially defeated.

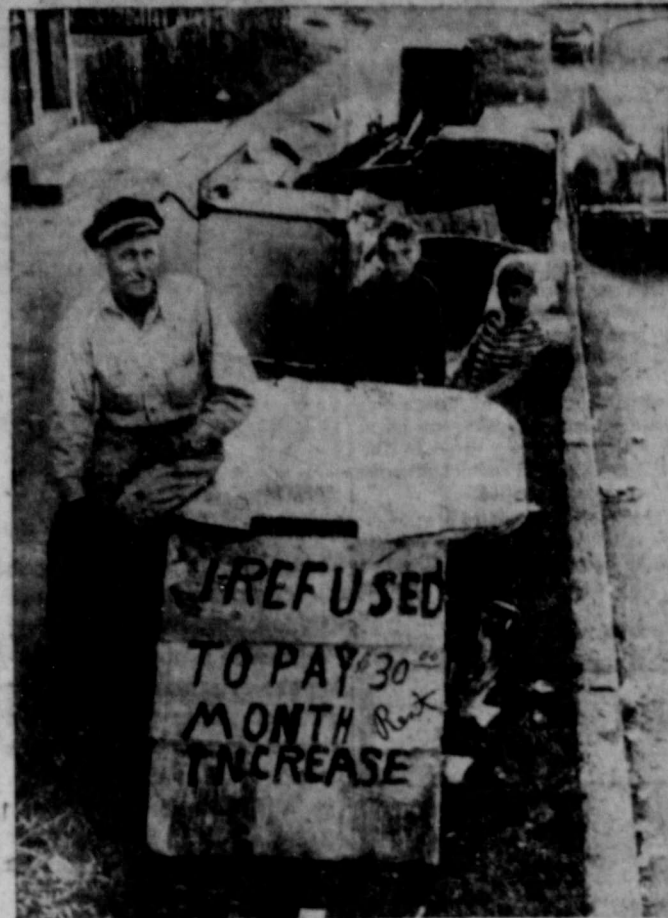

July 26, one week from tomorrow, will be the last day of the present term of Eastland summer school which has registered 62 students and been under the direction of Supt. P. B. Bittle and the following: Miss Sallie Bowlin, Miss Lois Nelson, Mrs. Dean Beard, Joe Gibson, J. Shelby Smith. The graduating class includes: Ray Watson, Tillman Stubblefield and Ward Mullings.

Here's your chance to get in the movies!

Guy H. Allright, Pathe News cameraman, has announced that he will be in Cisco Saturday to make motion pictures of the big resort and of the swimming pool, bathing and diving activities there.

"Give me 1,000 people and I will do the rest," says Mr. Allright. "I'll film the event as the world's largest out-door swimming pool and show New York how

A Sign of the Times

Scenes like this are appearing all over the country, following relaxation of rent controls. Guy Laird, of St. Louis, Mo., refused to pay a $30-per-month rent increase, which would have jumped his payments from $18 to $48. Here, Laird and his sons, Arthur, 11, center, and Guy, Jr., right, sit with their belongings on the sidewalk, after their eviction.

Commercial State Bank Handles Ranger's Money

Ranger's banking needs are capably handled by the Commercial State bank located on the corner of Main Street and South Rusk street.

In reply to a recent call by the Banking Commission of Texas, the bank issued a statement setting forth the condition of the bank and listing $2,246,462.46 as total deposits.

Officers and directors of the bank are O. D. Dillingham, president; M. R. Newnam, chairman of the board; Hall Walker, vice-president; W. F. Cragger, cashier and Edwin George. Other personnel of the bank includes Helen Dawley, assistant cashier; Bobbie Powell, assistant cashier; Mrs. Iris Hummel, assistant cashier; Wilson Guest, assistant cashier; Allen Smith, Teller; Norma Mills, bookkeeper; Ouida Brown, bookkeeper; Mrs. Mamie Ward, bookkeeper, transit clerk and Wesley Walker, bookkeeper and transit clerk. Charlie Burnett is maintenance man at the bank.

GALLUP, N.M. (UP)—A party of tourists stopped at the Chamber of Commerce here to inquire about a guide to show them the Navajo reservation.

The party was told of a guide who knew the reservation like no one else and whose fee was only $10 a day.

"Oh, we didn't expect to put in a full day at it," said the spokesman for the tourists. "We thought we'd have a look around before dinner."

The time—3:30 p.m. The reservation—spread out over 16,000,000 acres.

Air Conditioned Texas Drug Store Is Popular Spot

One of the most popular spots in town is the air conditioned Texas Drug Store.

This modern drug store is now owned and operated by George D. Nicholson and his sons-in-law, Beauford Waggoner and James Townzen. It has in stock a complete line of drugs and other items generally carried in the modern drug store.

The store, located at 105 Main Street, also employees Miss Claudia Fae Perdue and Mrs. Bernice Dorney.

American Churches Aid Civilians On Okinawa Island

NEW YORK (UP)—Church World Service, with a shipment of 25,000 pounds of foodstuffs, clothing and other items, has become the first relief organization to send supplies to Okinawa.

The shipment was sent aboard the SS. Contest from San Francisco, Okinawa is the 20th country to which American churches have sent aid through Church World Service.

Robert M. Fort, traffic manager for the interdenominational relief and reconstruction Agency, said the supplies will be used for general distribution, with credit factor.

To Germany?

Frank Lausche, former governor of Ohio, may go to Germany to consider one of "three top jobs" in the Office of Military Government offered him by Secretary of War Patterson. One job may be the post of director of internal affairs and communications, open following the resignation of ex-Gov. Griswold of Nebraska.

BUREAU OF BUSINESS RESEARCH TO MAKE SURVEY

WASHINGTON (UP)—American industry has created two new kinds of jobs a day for the last nine years the United States Employment Service reports.

The service said 7,500 new jobs had been defined and classified since 1939. A worker has choice of 26,000 different jobs under 40,000 titles USES said. The compilation covers 990 per cent of industry and will be published as a revised edition of the "Dictionary of Occupational Titles" in 1948.

The first edition of this volume, only one of its kind in the world, was issued in 1939. It has sold more than 75,000 copies at $2 each. It is a "best seller" of the Government Printing Office. Canada has adopted it unchanged for its national system of employment exchanges.

USES Director Robert C. Goodwin said the dictionary describes each job and outlines the minimum qualifications for filling them.

"It shows the relationship of one kind of job to her kinds of job," he explained. "If a worker cannot locate a job in his particular skill, local employment personnel can use this dictionary to find out what other types of work his qualifications fit him for."

Goodwin pointed out that on the other hand, there are many jobs with the same title but requiring different qualifications. Take "plater," he suggested. In track parlance, the title means a poor horse, he said.

In the hat and cap industry, a plater is a semi-skilled worker who irons the brims of hats by hand; in paper and pulp mills, a plater is a semi-skilled worker who presses grain into paper with a machine; in meat-packing, he is an unskilled employe on the killing floor; in textiles, he operates a machine combining several strings into a cord, and in electroplating, he is a highly skilled worker in metals.

That's Not Popcorn--That's Wheat

The record wheat crop may be good news to many people, but it's just extra work to grain elevator operators. This scene in a Kansas City, Kan., elevator, shows a helper guiding a scoop toward the door of one of the 2000 boxcars that have arrived in that city alone. Flying wheat fills the air, swirling around like popcorn.

Goodwin offered the title of "socket mounter" as an example of the new kinds of jobs found since 1939. Before the war, a socket mounter put sockets in radio and radar equipment. Now, there has been created a new post-war job of socket mounter who molds leather over plaster casts of stumps of arms and legs. The job is part of the post-war expansion of the artificial limb industry.

The industries which lead in the number of new kinds of jobs, Goodwin said, are plastic materials, fabricated plastics products, optical goods, light heat and power industry, radio electrical equipment paper and pulp industry and professional occupations. More than 250 different industries are covered.

The man who compiles the dictionary of occupational titles holds a job called "chief of job classification unit." It is unlisted in the dictionary, which covers only industrial jobs.

Millionaire Finds $1.40 He Didn't Know He Had

HOUSTON, (UP)—A dollar's a dollar even to a millionaire. W. F. Dubard, Houston superintendent of money orders and postal savings, recently notified a former Houstonian, now a New York millionaire, that the $1 he left in postal savings there more than 20 years ago was now $1.40. The man said he'd claim the money as it represented one of the first dollars he ever made.

Swoveland's Cool Cafe Good Place To Eat

One of Ranger's delightful places to eat and one that will be catering to the rodeo crowd is Swoveland's Cafe, located on Highway 80, just west of the Main Street crossing.

The air conditioned building is comfortable at all times and excellent food is served at the cafe.

Those employed by the cafe are Mrs. Edna Hill, Miss LaQuinta Perry, Mrs. Edith Hunter, Mrs. Gladys Higdon, Mrs. Chaney Jones, Mrs. Cubin Perry, Miss Graham and Mrs. Earl Swoveland, owner and operator.

Good Things To Eat Draws Trade To OK Grocery

The best in good things to eat is the practice of the OK Grocery and Market, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. George Fongler.

Located on Main street a few blocks from downtown Ranger, the store draws trade from its particular neighborhood and from every other section of Ranger.

Courteous and fast service added to items that people want to eat makes it one of the favorite marketing spots in Ranger.

Besides the owners the store employs W. P. Grogan, Miss Mary Frances Higginbotham, and Timon Fonville.

Coast To Coast Flight In 10 Min.

WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Pilot Bert Briney's home office in Wichita was puzzled — for a while—when he cabled from Santiago, Chile, that he had flown coast-to-coast in 10 minutes and six seconds.

Amplification of his message revealed that while delivering a Beech Tercraft plane to a buyer in the South American country he had crossed the Isthmus of Panama from ocean to ocean in that time.

Briney piloted the single-engine cabin plane from Wichita to the Chilean capital, a distance of 7,000 miles, in 50 1-2 hours flying time.

RODEO FIGURE

Mike Herrington, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Phelton Herrington, has become a Ranger Rodeo figure and looks forward to the rodeo each year. Last year he was highly incensed because his father would not let him enter the calf roping contest but he did get to ride in the grand entry.

NEW FAMILIES DRAWN HERE BY RANCHING

Ranching, a little more than a year ago brought two new families to Ranger. They are Mr. and Mrs. Penn Dorton and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reichert.

The two men have a lease on a 5,300 acre ranch on highway 89 east of Ranger which is known as the Double Gates ranch. They are running cattle on the range and expect to make this section their permanent home.

Both couples have purchased homes in Ranger and the two men operate out of Ranger. Mrs. Dorton and Mrs. Reichert are sisters, the former Misses Polly and Jody Baumgart, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Baumgart of San Angelo, formerly of Mercedes.

The land which is leased is part of a 32,000 acre tract which until about two years ago had been owned by the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company and had never been broken down into ranches. Other ranches are being sold out of the tract which was bought by Frank Walker of Ranger. Deals are pending on several tracts but the only other one which has been completed is the sale of about 2,000 acres to M. F. Offield of Ranger.

Another family that has recently moved here with a view to ranching, is the Allen Full family recently of Phoenix, Arizona and formerly of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Full and their two sons, Jimmie and Tommie, are currently making their home at the Gholson Hotel.

Both men are members of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Betty Jane Lampe, 22, of Chicago, who recently walked for the first time, promises to dance at her own wedding party this summer. The blue-eyed blonde was born without feet and had her lower legs amputated a year ago so she could wear artificial limbs. She's pictured in office of Chicago manufacturer wearing her new legs for the first time.

Kansas Ranges Far On Road Tricycle

SEVERY, Kan. (UP) — Jim Rue, who knows, says the worst part about peddling a special tricycle for hundreds of miles is not the highway traffic hazards, nor the weariness—it's finding a place to stay overnight.

On a trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., on his king-sized tricycle, he had to sleep in a truck, in jail, and on a cot in the hall of a small town hotel.

Jim had the three-wheeled gadget fixed up after he was crippled by multiple sclerosis. The disease hit him not long after he was graduated from the University of Oklahoma.

The tricycle, made of the forward two-thirds of a bicycle and two smaller rubber-tired, spoked wheels for the rear section, has enabled Jim to move down the highways at about six miles an hour.

"With a strong tailwind, I can make seven miles per hour," Rue said. "If I'm going against the wind, I'm cut down to about five." The young Kansan said he averages 30 miles a day on long trips.

Hooked From Either Bank, Fish Hangs in Mid-Air

BELVIDERE, Ill. (UP)—There were a lot of witnesses to this fish story, since it happened in a contest.

Clarence Countryman and Clark Wyde, both 13, each had a line in the city park millrace. They were on opposite sides of the bank.

They felt simultaneous jerks on their lines. They yanked at the same time and up came a 10-inch bullhead, hooked on either side of the head by the two boys.

While the fish dangled in mid-air over the water, somebody waded out and captured it.

Moscow Gets Unrationed Gas

MOSCOW (UP) — Sale of unrationed gasoline and oil has resumed for the first time since the war at state-owned "commercial" filling stations in Moscow. The price is four times that of first-grade gasoline on the monthly ration.

Penn And Calvert Operate Former Mid-Town Sta.

Quick, courteous, efficient service is the trademark of the Penn Service Station, owned and operated by Frank Penn and James Calvert.

After a short retirement from the service station business to become a farmer, Mr. Penn returned to serve the public when he and Mr. Calvert purchased the Mid-Town Service Station.

Miss Dorothy Penn handles the bookkeeping end of the station for her father, and others employed are Salvador Cancho, Charles Sullivan, Onis Mills, and Santos Martinez.

Vets Get Fishing Kits
BOSTON (UP) — Wounded veterans with an interest in fishing can thank a Boston telephone exchange switchman for the fly-tying kits the Red Cross has distributed to hospitalized hobbyists. Clarence J. O'Brien developed the kit while preparing his own flies during the winter months.

RANGER, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1947

Well...
I Dunno,
But...

Time's a wastin' and we just can't seem to stretch it any. Wanted to give everybody a very special story in this edition of the Times, but the boys in the composing room kept getting ahead of us.

So if your store isn't mentioned in a separate story look for the mention here.

Anyway we'd a lot rather write about you personally than hammer out a formal story about your business.

Now, take for instance, the Globe. Saule Perlestein has been a friend of this paper for many years and he's a good guy, too. He sells some of the best brands of merchandise available for men and boys and the choosy dresser like what Saule has. Besides Saule, and Mrs. Perlestein who keeps a check on the accounts, Earl Pittman and Mrs. Elder Thomas, help Saule sell his goods.

There's our Frozen Food Locker which people are liking more and more and out of which come some real good dinners. Not long ago we had some fried chicken from the locker of Mrs. Ada Gordon. No it wasn't frozen at the locker. We thawed it out and fried it ourselves and was it good. Morris Newham is running the joint and other employees are Frank Lee, Foy Funderburk and Anna Basham.

D. Joseph has been doing business in Ranger since boom days and he's still giving the people what they want. We've always enjoyed doing business with Joseph's and still do and they've got a lot of things that people want.

Besides Mr. Joseph, there are a lot of other people in the store to help you wind the hat you want and get your business with them done. There's Dan Mitmo, Mrs. T. O. Rawl, Mrs. Scott Suffady, Lee Roy Jacoby, Mrs. Myrtle Smith, who recently pleased us by telling us that she liked our column, Mrs. W. S. Adamson, Mrs. H. B. Getts, Freddie Joseph, Mrs. Grady King and Mr. Joseph.

Now take for instance T. C. Wylie's Ranger Peanut Company. T. C. Wylie is off up in Washington attending peanut meetings and besides this it ain't his season to operate. While the company is definitely an asset to the town, this is sure a poor time to write about 'em, 'cause it's practically shut down now. J. E. Hogan and Mrs. Bob Earnest are keeping the business going while Wylie is away and while they're waiting on peanuts to start coming in.

Lloyd Clem and his Ranger Sales Company are doing a land-side business selling war surplus materials to the public. He has everything that it took to fight World War II, 'ceptin' the guns, and you can fight as good at home with what he has to offer as you can out in the country where battles usually take place.

No foolin', that's one place that really tempts us and our pocket book.

Then there's the Gordon Dry Goods Company at Gordon who has sent best wishes to the Jaycees for the success of their rodeo and who constantly offer Ranger buyers, real bargains and items that are scarce.

Thank you, mister for your business and for your good wishes.

Ma Brown who is currently operating the cafe formerly known as the Doll House, has been doing business in Ranger for a number of years and though we haven't had the opportunity to eat at her Ma Brown's Cafe, they tell us that the food is good, and the service courteous and efficient.

Now take for instance, Roy McCleskey. Roy operates a filling station on Highway 80 east and sells Gulf products. He's one of the old-time citizens around here and always interested in the town's welfare.

Sorry to inject a sad note. But the late Tom Bryant, Jr., was writing a story for this edition of the Times about the Ranger Airport and Ranger Flying Service.

Tom was a gifted writer and had many other gifts, for that matter, and it was the request of those associated with him that he write that story. Fate interfered, however, and the story was never written.

Suffice it to say, it would have been a good story about a fine airport and a GI Flying School that's turning out a lot of good commercial and private pilots. The port is operated by C. C. McKeever and the school jointly by McKeever and Crawford Buttrill, "Speedy" to Times readers.

Jiggs and Pearl have been operating their Jiggs' Cafe in Ranger for a long time and no where will you find more thoughtful attention to your needs than Pearl can dish out. Jiggs slings a mean chef's dish too and can turn out the friendly place and you'll enjoy going there during the rodeo.

Then, too, we wanted to tell you in detail about the ranching conditions around Ranger. There's so much going on. New ranches being formed out of great blocks formerly held by oil companies—more new families coming to Ranger because of ranching conditions being good—more about the ranchers improving their stock quality. They tell us that ranchers are paying more attention all of the time to improving the quality of their herds. Rambouillet sheep and Angora goats, taking the place of the commoner flocks—Hereford and Jersey cows being brought into the country—all registered stock.

Goodness, we're gonna have to start reading up on our ranching and livestock to be able to keep up with such guys as Red Donely, Silas Eaton, R. B. Thomas, Jr., R. E. Harrell, Dr. Bob Hodges, H. C. Wilkinson, O. D. Cunningham, Leslie Hagaman, Perry Horton, Jack Reichert, Shaler Copeland, J. S. McDowell Morris Woods Grover Jennings, Phelton and Zelma Herrington, J. T. McCleskey Wash Woods, Lowe Wallace, Roy McCleskey and many others.

But then we can tell you about the C. D. Hartnett Wholesale Grocery Company which has a branch house in Ranger and which serves a huge territory. Locally it's run by H. C. Henderson with Ruby Lee Roberts doing the pitch in the office and handling the books.

The City Taxi Company is doing a good job of hauling people around and we guess that they'll do all right during the rodeo. Maybe they'd better get another car or two, seen' as how so many people are expected for the rodeo. Jim Ingram and his son, Alvis, who operate the service ought to do all right, though, they know the town well enough. Jim Ingram having been police chief here once and Alvis around all of that time.

I guess you know that the Continental National Bank in Fort Worth is sure a friend of the Jaycees, their rodeo and Ranger and if you don't believe it, just read their ad in this paper. All the way from Fort Worth they send out to wish best luck for the rodeo. Huck Newberry who's one of the chief moguls in that bank used to live at Gorman where he operated a bank and there married Beth Ebbing whose brother, Garrett used to live in Ranger.

B. E. Garner is still running the Interstate Theatres in Ranger, though we doubt that many of you know that on account of he's on one of his stubborn spells and arguing with people. The one inch ad he runs each day is a grudge deal, but we've known such to boomerang.

But we'll have to give the devil his dues. Not Brann but Interstate, they sure bring good pictures to Ranger.

G. O. Strong and Mrs. Strong who operate the Strong Furniture company, mix good nature and humor with their business and get a lot of fun out of it as well as making their customers happy along with all of it.

One of Ranger's favorite market places is Grady Pipkin's Piggly Wiggly. Currently managed by Lonnie Mayhall, the store offers Ranger people an ideal place to buy groceries.

Lou Williams who operates the market is dishing out as good meat as can be found in Ranger.

Deadline! Whew, we made it!

10,000,000 a Year
NEW YORK (UP) — The three-mile long, $60,000,000 Triborough Bridge, an important link in the city's arterial highway system, has just observed its 11th anniversary. More than 110,000,000 vehicles have passed over the bridge since it was opened in July, 1936.

RODEO ENTHUSIAST

Sheila Ernestine Shelton, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shelton, is a rodeo enthusiast and to prove it she assisted her father in getting up the big parade that will open the rodeo. Sheila answered the telephone during the time that plans were being made for the parade and entries were being called in. She's shown here in the togs she will wear to the shows when the big rodeo opens on July 30 and runs through August 2.

JAYCEE DIRECTOR

Nicol Crawford, a charter member of the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce is also one of its directors. Since being discharged from the service of the Army, he has been associated with his father, E. E. Crawford, in the drug business at their Oil City Pharmacy.

Western Auto Has Full Line Of Many Items

Everything for the automobile and many items for the home is the policy of the Western Auto Associate Store operated by John Tibbels in Ranger.

Located on Main street the store carries miscellaneous items for automobiles, homes, lawns, and all kinds of electrical appliances.

Besides Mr. Tibbels the store employees Billye Jeanne Crawley, Mrs. D. O. Moffet, Ernest Dempsey, R. C. Sawyer and H. F. White.

New York State maintains more than 574 miles of foot trails in the Adirondack Forest Preserve for hikers and mountain climbers.

Page Plumbing Co. Expands Very Rapidly

Carl Page, has expanded from a small garage housed shop to its present large building on Main street.

The company does all kinds of plumbing installations and repair and is known for its efficient service.

Besides the owners the business employs Orb Lambert, Bob Lester, Bill Lester and Truman Fox.

Newest type of rear-view mirror developed by Libbey-Owens-Ford is called "easy-eye" and is a pink glass to lessen eye strain.

Two and one-half hours after leaving the San Antonio airport, 260 miles away, Dr. Smith was operating on George Scales of Thurber. Dr. Smith is the Scales family physician. Dr. Smith was assisted in the operation by Dr. J. A. Shackelford of Ranger. The patient, who condition was considered to be critical, was doing nicely when Dr. Smith, two hours after the operation, boarded a plane for his return to San Antonio. Dr. Smith, it is believed, was the first physician ever to fly to this county on a mission of this nature.

Woods Grocery,
 Market Serves
 Area Efficiently

One of Ranger's progressive neighborhood grocery stores and markets is that operated by Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Woods, known as Woods Grocery and Market.
 Now associated with them in business is their son, H. O. Woods, Jr. The store located on the corner of Strawn Road and Young Street, carries a full line of fancy and staple groceries, along with good meats, and many other items now commonly carried by stores that serve neighborhood areas.
 The store has been in business for the past 15 years on the same street intersection, though it is now housed in a building across from the original site.

Burton-Lingo
 Helps Build
 Thru The Years

Burton-Lingo Lumber Company in point of years in business in the community is the oldest and most of the years here has been under the management of R. S. Balch who is still serving in that capacity.
 Very few homes and business establishments in Ranger, if any, have not been built without something from Burton-Lingo going into them.
 Located on the corner of Walnut and North Rusk streets, the business is still doing its part toward "building" Ranger.
 Besides Mr. Balch, employees include W. F. Murray, yardman, J. D. Nichols, bookkeeper and Bob Balch.

Gray's Barber
 Shop Favorite
 Spot In Ranger

L. E. (Doc) Gray's barber shop has not only been serving Ranger men for their torsorial needs for many years but it is a favorite gathering spot for men with a few off minutes.
 Now located in the Guaranty Bank building, the shop was for many years located in the Gholson Hotel building. When moving to the new location, the building was completely renovated and a cooling system installed.
 Besides Mr. Gray other barbers in the shop are W. A. (Tony) Lewis and I. E. Talley. James Dunn is shine boy.

Fashion Cleaners
 Owned, Operated
 By George Rogers

One of the newer businesses in town is the Fashion Cleaners, owned and operated by George Rogers, and managed by G. A. Murphy.
 An old hand at the dry cleaning business, Mr. Rogers claims the Fashion's cleaning will actually restore color and texture to the material.
 A large staff is maintained to serve the customers and those employed are Vivian Fleckenstein, Anna Mae Mathis, T. C. Weaver, Jack Eubank, Edwina Scitern, Bill Edwards and the manager "Chief" Murphy.

Father Al Has Grand Time Of It On Vacation Provided By Pilots

NEW YORK (UP) — The Rev. Aloysius Hedderman, a Franciscan friar from Limerick City, Ireland, had a "wonderful time" on a nine-month vacation in the United States given to him by the American crews of a trans-Atlantic airline company.

The young Americans—90 percent of them Protestant—had found a friend in Father Al, as they call him, while waiting in Limerick between flights.

He was "found" by one of the pilots, who came upon him playing tennis, his brown Franciscan habit whirling and whipping as he dashed about the court.

"In Ireland we shout a lot," Father Al said. "When we play, oh, we are a noisy lot over there."

When the game was over, the pilot introduced himself, explaining that any guy, friar or not, who played such a loud and skillful game must be all right. That was the beginning. The friar became a companion of all the crews entertaining them, showing them the beauties of Ireland, beating them at tennis and handball, and saying a prayer for them before their planes took off for America.

Nine months ago, the air crew members donated money to give Father Al a vacation in America. He spent most of the time in Manhasset, Long Island, trimming all the tennis players in Nassau County, visiting with Irish-Americans and friends at the monastery of St. Francis of Assisi in Manhattan.

Aside from his vacation, Father Al also tried to interest Irish-Americans in helping to rebuild historic Rosanough monastery in Donegal, ravaged in the 16th century as part of the Reformation.

"The walls of Rosanough have stood ivy-covered, roofless shrines for less and friarless," Father Al said. "It is the ambition and prayer of Franciscans in Ireland to restore it as it was built in 1474 by Red Hugh O'Donnell and his wife, Nuala, and presented to the people of Donegal."

Father Al said he had found Irish-Americans very generous, but admitted he knew little about the big time techniques of fund raising. He goes back to Ireland grateful to the young airmen who made it possible.

"I don't know what the boys saw in me to pay all my expenses for such a wonderful trip here," he said. "The boys needed a pal to show them around. Americans are a bit wild, we all know that, so I told them just where to draw the line. We had great times together."

The Indian name for Tucson Ariz., was Stjukshon, which has been variously translated to mean "dark spring" and at the foot of a black hill."

West Texas Produce Co. Serves Ranger

Much of the produce sold in Ranger is furnished the stores by the West Texas Produce Company of Cisco.

The company is managed by Simon Copeland of Cisco and has sent its best wishes to the Ranger Junior Chamber of Commerce for a successful rodeo.

Dairy Products Sold In Ranger By Kilgore's

Dairy products and foods made from them are the business of Kilgore's plant in Eastland, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kilgore.

The company serves many places in Ranger and has sent best wishes to the Jaycees for their rodeo which opens on July 30 and runs through August 2.

J. C. Penny Has Been In Ranger Number of Years

For many years the J. C. Penny Company has been operating in Ranger and today has one of the most up-to-the-minute stores in Ranger.

The store, located on Main street, carries apparel for men, women and children, as well as piece goods, sheets, pillow cases, blankets and other items.

The Ranger store is managed by Joe N. Graham, and employes M. C. Walker, Mrs. Ottilie Hise, Betty Ruth Bargesley, Mrs. Odell Booth, Eunice Perslar, Mrs. James Calvert, Arlene Stevens and Bobby Harper.

Truman Nominee

President Truman has nominated David K. E. Bruce, of Staunton Hills, Va., to be assistant secretary of commerce. Bruce, who, before his 1945 divorce, was Andrew Mellon's son-in-law, has served on the board of directors of many of America's largest concerns.

Casey at the Bar

Whether he has pitched or not, whether the Dodgers have won or lost, the contest is replayed in conversation at Hugh Casey's Brooklyn bar and grill. Here the Brooks' great relief pitcher describes to patrons the pitch that put out the fire.

Mission Schooner Going To Pacific
Restoring Old Tradition of Mercy

By Joseph Levine
United Press Staff Correspondent
BOSTON (UP) — Reviving a 90-year-old tradition of mercy, a tiny two-masted missionary schooner will sail from Boston this month on a 9,000-mile voyage to the Micronesian Islands in the South Pacific.

Manned by a crew of seven, the Morning Star VI is being sent by the American Board of Foreign Missions to furnish badly needed transportation between tiny atolls devastated and isolated by the Pacific war.

Scheduled tentatively to leave July 27, she will be the sixth vessel of her name to undertake the task since 1856 and the first to return to the islands since 1904.

Pioneer on the romantic missionary route half way around the world was the Morning Star I, which sailed from Boston Dec. 2, 1856. Financed by 10-cent contributions from Sunday school children, she reached the South Seas after a perilous voyage of several months.

For the first Morning Star and her successors the missionary trips were concerned with danger as well as with mercy and the spread of Christianity. Two of them were swept onto Pacific reefs and destroyed.

The early ships carried missionaries from island to island, but as American and native pastors took up residence in the area, the Morning Stars were used to transport children from isolated atolls to central schools and to carry food and medicines.

The present vessel will carry out the same tasks. Its American crew, mostly college undergraduates, will leave the ship at Honolulu but Capt. Price Lewis, Jr., of Holland Patent, N. Y., expects to remain in command for another year or two.

Lewis, a navy veteran and Dartmouth College graduate, will gather and train a new crew of Micronesian and Hawaiian islanders in Honolulu. With them he will travel among the Marshall, Caroline and Gilbert islands, spread over more than 4,000,000 square miles on the Pacific.

To avert the tragic fate of earlier missionary ships, the Morning Star VI is equipped with an auxiliary diesel motor, two-way radio and Loran long-range navigation aids.

Two of the American Board's missionaries already have returned to the islands to pick up their work after the lapse caused by the war. They are the Rev. Eleanor Wilson of Boston and Dr. Charles S. Gillett of Pasadena, Cal.

They reported that inter-island transportation is one of the most important needs. Populated atolls are often completely isolated for months at a time, they said.

Their messages bear out reports brought back by a U. S. navy commission which surveyed the islands last winter. Naval officers asked the natives what they wanted first and most.

"Send back the missionaries," was the reply.

An important aid in precision is an electrical measuring instrument that magnifies a surface by as much as 20,000 times.

JAYCEE DIRECTOR

Bob Earnest, who is one of the Junior Chamber of Commerce directors, is also a charter member of the organization. He is very active in the club. He is associated in business with his father, H. P. Earnest, who is the consignee for Texaco products.

Texaco Station Has New Owners

Lee Cantrell and Jack Cole recently took over the operation of the Texas Company Station at the corner of Main and Commerce streets, formerly known as Penn's Service Station.

The station, besides handling Texaco products, does washing and greasing of cars and all tire repair work.

Besides the owners the station employs Gorman Morton, Murry Peterson, Curtis King and George Camacho.

The electric fan, developed in the early 1880s, was one of the earliest uses of the electric motor.

Killingsworth's Two Businesses Among Oldest

Killingsworth's, hardware and furniture store and funeral home are among the oldest business establishments in Ranger.

Long located at the present site on Main street the store carries a full line of quality merchandise and recently added a very complete department of phonograph records, along with record players.

The Funeral Home is located on Pine street is known for the complete and efficient service that it gives.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd Killingsworth and Mrs. J. T. Killingsworth, owners and operators of the store and home, the personnel of the 2 business includes Mrs. Mineola Varner, Norma Jean Heinlen, Mary Jane Hale, Worth Earlin, D. W. Blackwell, and D. D. Moffet.

Ex-Mayor Now Devoting All Time To Store

Since retiring from the office of mayor of the city of Ranger, J. J. Kelly is devoting all of his time to his Ranger Auto Parts business.

The business was established a number of years ago by Mr. Kelly and has expanded from a small shop to its present spacious quarters. All types of parts and many other hardware items are carried by the store.

Besides Mr. Kelly the store employs Gaston Dixon and Dale Wheat.

Sir Charles Wheatstone, physicist of Kings College, London, coined the word "telephone" after studying methods for transmitting sound in 1821.

ATTEND THE JAYCEE RODEO

Johnnie Wheat Now Manages Goodrich Store

The young men of the community, returning from the armed services, are becoming more and more active in Ranger firms and civic activities. A good example is Johnnie Wheat, young manager of the Modern Home Supply Store, and Kenneth Jones, his associate.

The two boys, both members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, operate the store, in an efficient, friendly manner which would do justice to any business.

The store is the local dealer of the F. F. Goodrich Company, handling Goodrich tires, tubes, and accessories, as well as other automobile and household items.

Navajo Indian sand paintings, believed to be the only ones preserved, are contained in the Arizona state museum at Tucson.

Montgomery Ward And Company Has Improvements

Jack Moudy who recently came here as manager for the Ranger Montgomery Ward and Company store has announced that a streamlining program has been going on in the store and that every counter has been affected.

Each counter has been streamlined and modernized for the convenience of the buying public and all latest type displays have been installed. No expense has been spared to expand the service to the public which is invited to visit the store and see the new improvements. Currently they are advertising in the Times special rodeo merchandise along with other items of interest.

Texaco Products Distributed By H. P. Earnest

Texaco products in the Ranger and German areas are distributed by H. P. Earnest, consignee, who for many years has been representing the company and its products in this area.

Now associated with Mr. Earnest in the business is his son, Bob Earnest, who is a director and active member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The agency operates two trucks that distribute Texaco products over the district. Also employed with the Earnests is Frank Blakney.

Porky Pig One Of Favorite Ranger Drivers

For many years, a favorite drive-in spot in Ranger has been Porky Pig, now owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bryan.

Located on Highway 80 east, just a short way beyond the Main Street crossing, the place has long enjoyed a good business both local and transient.

At present, besides the owners, the personnel of the staff includes Lucille Watson, Marie Goswick, Faye Crabtree and Mr. D. D. Harper.
