MARSHAL WITHOUT SALARY

City Council Fixes the Nominal Pay at 50 Cents Per Month

The city council at a meeting this week fixed the salary of City Marshal at 50 cents per month. The salary heretofore has been $50 per month. Then the council appointed J. B. Gillespie night watchman at a salary of $49.50 per month. As we understand it, the regular hours for the night watchman will be from 12 o'clock (noon) to 12 o'clock at night, and to have official authority at all other hours when upon the street or called upon. This action leaves the office of Marshall practically without any salary and the only remuneration outside of the 50 cents per month would be what few fees allowed. However, S. N. Bond, the Marshal, contends he will continue to serve confident the salary will be forthcoming, through recourse to the courts if not otherwise.

PREACHING AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

It is expected that Rev. L. H. Humphrey, of Memphis, will preach at the Christian Church, Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Humphrey held a very successful meeting in this city a few years ago, and is therefore well acquainted with many of the people of Wellington, and the membership of this church extends a cordial invitation to everybody to attend.

MAY DELAY CONSTRUCTION

Building Out From Wellington May Not Begin in January

The publicity department of the Missouri Kansas & Texas railway, advised some time ago of plans that had been formulated, contemplating substantial improvements in Texas, in which was included the building of the Wichita Falls & Wellington out from this city to Roswell, N. M., the work on which was announced to begin next January but that this action had been suspended pending the outcome of the serious litigation which the state is now prosecuting against the Katy. President Schaff, in positive terms, reiterated his former statement that it would be unwise and imprudent for the Katy Railroad company to make further investments in Texas in face of the hostility of the state's administration, or until such time as the rights of the M. K. & T. had been determined by the courts.

THE GEM

Splendid audiences have been in attendance at the new Gem Theatre, all this week. They are giving splendid featured and high class pictures, which also have the merit of being the very latest productions. They have a comfortable house, comfortable seats, vitally interesting performances, which makes it worth your while to while a way a pleasant time there each evening after the cares of the day are done

DAMAGES COTTON

The cold and heavy rain is damaging to the cotton crop. We hear one man say that he estimated the damage to Collingsworth county at $60,000. He figured on a damage of a thousand bales at around $60 per bale. In all probability this estimate of damage is too high, and half this amount would probably be nearer correct.

AT THE AIRDOME

We will show on Thursday and Saturday nights only. A complete change of three reels of high class motion pictures plain and distinct at each performance on these two nights each week. We appreciate your patronage.

It is said the government will issue 4000,000,000 post cards; which looks like serial reading for the postoffice force.

When you come to us in the middle of the night to get only a dime's worth of something for the toothache, we wan't complain. When you give us your business during the day, we take delight in accommodating you during the night. But if you always have household remedies right in your home, you will save YOURSELF many an annoying midnight journey.

Come to OUR Drug Store.

GOOD ROADS PROCLAMATION

November 5 and 6 the Days Designated for Texans to Work the Roads

Austin, Texas, September 20. —Governor Colquitt by proclamation today designated November 5 and 6, 1913, as Good Roads Days in Texas. The Governor calls upon the people of the State to make preparations for working the roads on those days and hold meetings to discuss ways and means for building good roads. Governor Colquitt is expected to emulate the Governor of Missouri, who originated the idea of setting aside days on which to have a general working of the roads, and spend an hour or so himself with a shovel on one of the roads leading into Austin. The Governor's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, an adequate system of improved public roads is one of the great needs of our State and good roads lend powerful aid to everything good in modern life, while bad roads form an obsticle in the path of progress. Recognizing this fact, the people of Texas have taken hold of this problem with tremendous interest, and it is now one of the foremost economic questions confronting our people, and much good work has been done throughout the State in the past few years in the way of improving our public highways.

"Now, thererore, realizing the necessity for a system of work along this line, and in conformity with my sense of duty in this matter, I hereby designate November 5 and 6, 1913, as Good Roads Days, and call upon the people in every county and section of the State to make preparations for working the roads on those days and have meetings to discuss ways and means in the future for building good roads in the various localities throughout the State generally.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto signed my name and caused the great seal of Texas to be affixed hereto at the City of Austin this, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1913.

"O. B. Colquitt,
"Governor of Texas."

"By the Governor,
"F. C. Weinert,
"Secretary of State."

HEAVY RAINS THIS WEEK

Jupiter Pluvious More Liberal than Would Have Him Be Just Now

It began raining Wednesday afternoon and in the space of two hours it is estimated that the rainfall was 3 1-2 inches. It has been cloudy ever since, sometimes misting, at other times showering, and at all times threatening. The total precipitation since Wednesday afternoon is probably around six inches. It has also been unusually cold, at times coming within ten or eleven degrees of freezing.

LATER.—Being late with the paper thls week not going to press until Saturday morning, we find it still raining a steady shower.

CHAGRES RIVER from FORT SAN LORENZO

Panama, R. P.—It is not given to many men to destroy a city so utterly that it is never rebuilt. That is what Capt. John Morgan, the master buccaneer, did in 1671, when he led his band of cutthroats down from the hills upon Panama. After he had finished with that big, flourishing city there was so little left of it that the Spanish moved five miles west along the coast and there built a new Panama—the Panama we know today.

The story of Morgan's justly famous exploit, often told, never grows stale. It is a wonderful story of desperate bravery, endurance, suffering and ruthless cruelty, and as John Esquemeling was the first to relate it in detail, so he has been the best. Howard Pyle has well said: "In the case of the Esquemeling history, it should be decidedly hands off. One touch of the modern brush would destroy the whole tone of dim colors of the past made misty by the lapse of time."

So I wish I had space to quote the entire story of Morgan and Panama as Esquemeling, who was one of the band, tells it. Some of it, at least, must be given in his quaint language, beginning with the capture by a part of Morgan's fleet of Fort San Lorenzo at the mouth of the Chagres river. Says Esquemeling:

"Captain Brodely being made commander, in three days after his departure (from St. Catherine's) arrived in sight of the said castle of Chagre, by the Spaniards called St. Lawrence. This castle is built on a high mountain at the entry of the river, surrounded by strong pallisades, or wooden walls, filled with earth, which secures them as well as the best wall of stone or brick. The top of this mountain is, in a manner, divided into two parts, between which is a ditch thirty feet deep. The castle hath but one entry, and that by a drawbridge over this ditch. To the land it has four bastions, and to the sea two more. The south part is totally inaccessible, through the cragginess of the mountain. The north is surrounded by the river, which here is very broad. At the foot of the castle, or rather mountain, is a strong fort, with eight great guns, commanding the entry of the river. Not much lower are two other batteries, each of six pieces, to defend likewise the mouth of the river. . . .

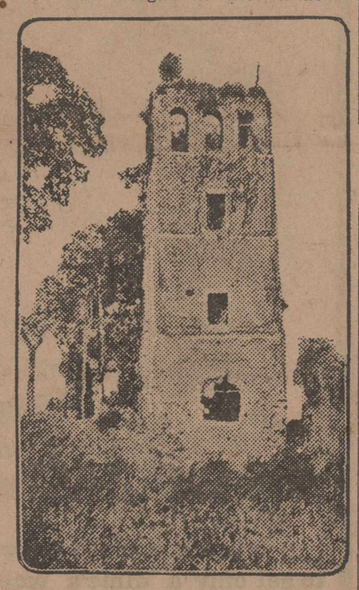

"No sooner had the Spaniards perceived the pirates, but they fired incessantly at them with the biggest of their guns. They came to an anchor in a small port about a league from the castle. Next morning, very early, they went ashore and marched through the woods to attack the castle on that side. This march lasted till two of the clock in the afternoon, before they could reach the castle, by reason of the difficulties of the way, and its mire and dirt; and though their guides served them very exactly, yet they came so nigh the castle at first that they lost many of their men by its shot, they being in an open place without covert."

The pirates bravely assaulted the castle, sword in one hand and fireball in the other, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Renewing the attack under cover of darkness, "there happened a very remarkable accident which occasioned their victory. One of the pirates being wounded with an arrow in his back, which pierced his body through, he pulled it out boldly at the side of his breast, and winding a little cotton about it, he put it into his musket, and shot it back to the castle, but the cotton being kindled by the powder, fired two or three houses in the castle, being thatched with palm leaves, which the Spaniards perceived not so soon as was necessary; for this fire meeting with a parcel of powder, blew it up, thereby causing great ruin, and no less consternation to the Spaniards, who were not able to put a stop to it."

Full advantage was taken of this by the buccaneers, and they set fire to the palings and gained a foothold within them, despite "many flaming pots full of combustible matter, and odious smells, which destroyed many of the English." All next morning the fight raged, but about noon the English gained a breach through which they fought their way to the heart of the castle. "The Spaniards who remained alive cast themselves down from the castle into the sea, choosing rather to die thus (few or none surviving the fall) than to ask quarter for their lives. The governor himself retreated to the corps du guard, before which were placed two pieces of cannon; here he still defended himself, not demanding any quarter, till he was killed with a musket shot in the head."

In a few days Captain Morgan arrived with the rest of his fleet and organized the expedition against Panama. He took his men by boat up the Chagres as far as Cruces, now a village not two miles from the canal, and [illegible] march. Leaving 160 men with the boats, he started through the jungle with about a thousand. For days they struggled on, suffering intensely for lack of food, for the Spaniards and Indians had destroyed the villages and crops along the way. At one point they found a number of leathern bags, and "made a huge banquet" upon them. At another a few sacks of meal, some plantains and several jars of wine were discovered in a cave. On the sixth day after leaving Cruces "ascending a high mountain, they discovered the South sea. This happy sight, as if it were the end of their labors, caused infinite joy among them." Then they came to a vale, where they found plenty of cattle, and their period of starvation came to an end with a monstrous feast. "Cutting the flesh into convenient pieces or gobbets, they threw them into the fire and, half carbonaded or roasted, they devoured them, with incredible haste and appetite; such was their hunger, as they more resembled cannibals than Europeans; the blood many times running down their beards to their waists."

That evening the pirate band came in sight of Panama, and pitched their camp, which was ineffectually bombarded all night by the guns of the city. Next day Captain Morgan led his thousand bold men down the hillside and confronted the forces of the governor of Panama, consisting of two squadrons of horse, four regiments of foot and a huge number of wild bulls driven by Indians. The Spaniards began the battle, but their horse were useless, owing to the softness of the ground. The foot were held in check by the fire of the pirates, so the wild bulls were driven forward but, frightened by the noise of the conflict, the animals ran away. After two hours of fighting the surviving Spaniards fled within the city walls. Six hundred of their comrades lay dead upon the field. Morgan at once attacked the city, and though the defense was desperate, many of the pirates being killed, Panama fell within three hours.

What Morgan did to the devoted inhabitants in the effort to find all their hidden treasure is too horrible to relate. Soon after the capture of the city fire broke out in many quarters, and Esquemeling says the conflagration was started by Morgan, though he laid the blame on the Spaniards. Anyway, as the houses were almost all built of cedar, the entire city was soon consumed by flames. Some three weeks later "Captain Morgan departed from Panama, or rather from the place where the city of Panama stood; of the spoils whereof he carried away with him 175 beasts of carriage laden with silver, gold and other precious things, besides about six hundred prisoners, men, women, children and slaves."

Of old Panama naught remains but the ruins of the cathedral, the tower of St. Stanislaus' church and the fragments of a few other stone and brick structures. For more than two centuries they have been buried in the jungle, but are now being brought to view by the efforts of the Panama government, which is having the undergrowth cleared away from the ruins.

The visitor to the isthmus should not fail to make the trip down the Chagres from Gatun to the sea, reversing Morgan's route. The scenery along the river is beautiful, and the great stretch of ocean beach—clean, hard, green and purple sand over which immense breakers roll—is ideal for bathing.

The massive walls of Fort San Lorenzo still stand on the hill at the mouth of the Chagres, and the heaps of cannon balls left by the Spaniards are yet there. In the dungeons of the castle are piles of rusted irons—the fetters which they hoped to fasten on the bodies and limbs of Morgan and his buccaneers.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY EVENING

Entered as second-class matter Aug. 25, 1909, at the post office at Wellington, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Leader Printing Co., Owners

Write it Wellington, "the Best Town in the Panhandle."

We are now experiencing the equinox storm. Too much rain and too cool for cotton.

The interest and co-operation of parent and teacher is absolutely necessary to assure a successful school.

It is said the government will issue 4000,000,000 post cards; which looks like serial reading for the postoffice force.

The prosperity of every business rests upon the prosperity of the farmer, thus it becomes the greatest concern of the wisest of our business men to in ever way possible augument his success.

At various times reports have come from nearly every section of the country of discovery of "good oil indications" and there is hardly any doubt that eventually there will be productive wells in this section.

There has not been a time since the writer arrived in Wellington eighteen months ago that the business streets of ihe town have not been obstructed by building material. While in some instances slightly inconvenient to the public yet we are all glad to see the substantial buildings going up and improvements generally.

The girl with a sweet little voice need not feel discouraged because she has no opportunity to sing in grand opera. She can give great pleasure by being a songbird in the home nest. Or if she has a knack with her brush or pencil, let her give her artistic tendencier full sway in making her home pretty.

There is a great deal said about making home attractive so the young people will not want to wander away from them; but it is a private opinion one hardly dares to express, that there is too much being done for young America in the well-to-do classes; they are coddled and humored and given places, while the parents take the rough ones, until the parlor has come to be looked upon as their orbit, while the mother "lives and moves and has her being" in the kitchen.

Having two children in the school here the writer went up after them just after the big rain Wednesday to take them home in the buggy, and while there we were invited to come in and see how the rain had poured in through the roof and on through the u pper floor down to the lower rooms. We told them no, that if it was that way and looked any worse on the inside than it did on the outside we did not care to see it, for it was already hard for us to hold heightened opinion of this community in its interest in school matters.

Fashionable society is not a promoter of health and long life. Ultra-fashionable folks of great wealth find the constant round of dressing and driving, of dancing and dining, of calling and receiving, so laborious and wearisome to the flesh that after a few weeks spent in the giddy whirl, they go to some retired country seat, far away from all gay associates, to just such a home as you and I enjoy all the time, where they can eat and sleep in quiet, dress in wrappers and slippers, and spend a period of time in natural, rational life-giving rest, and then return to try the old life again, like "the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire."

The World Will Never Starve.

At no time since Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden have the inhabitants of this world suffered from lack of production, but some people have gone hungry from the day of creation to this good hour for the lack of proper distribution. Slight variations in production have forced a change in diet. and one locality has felt the pinch of want, while another surfeited, but the world, as a whole, has ever been a land of plenty.

We now have less than one-tenth of the tillable land of the earth's surface under cultivation, and we not only have this surplus area to draw on but it is safe, to estimate that in case of dire necessity one-half the earth's population could, at the present time, knock their living out of trees of the forest, gather it from wild vines and draw it from streams. No one should become alarmed; the world will never starve.

Plymouth News.

Everything moving along nicely just now. Most all the farmers have a good stand of wheat and are looking forward to good winter pastures and a bumper crop in the spring.

Most of the farmers are making more cotton than they anticipated.

At this writing the Plymouth gin has ginned upwards of 75 bales.

We are informed by our merchant, R. S. Melear, that he has sold out to Mr. Westfall, who will take charge the 15th of October, and that he contemplates moving to East Texas. We regret very much to have him leave us but we are confident he leaves a good man in charge.

C. W. Frittz assumes control of the Plymouth Telephon Exchange, October 1st. he having bought same from J. E. Leggitt. We think Walter will make an excellent "hello" boy.

On account of the wind and sand-storm last Friday. the Literary Society failed to "exhibit," next Friday night is set for the meeting instead.

The little boy of Sol Yager's was buried in the Plymouth graveyard Sunday evening. We did not learn the cause of his death. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents.

Baxter Gardner and family are at home in plymouth.

Mr. Westfall our future merchant has rented forty acres of land from Dr. B. U. Spickard. Mr. Westfall has rented his magnificent home to a Mr. Honeycutt.

Messrs. Tom Rudolph and Bill Darrow, and Misses Bettie Kibler and Pearl Crow, came over from Lutie to attend the Literary Society Friday night but of course were badly dissapointed.

Well I will ring off and come again soon.

Hezekiah.

D. 1913, the same being the 10th day of November A. D. 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 19th day of September A. D. 1912, in a suit. numbered on the docket of said Court No. 290, wherein C. B. Boverie is Plaintiff, and Ida B. Thompson and Homer Thompson are Defendants, and said petition alleging that plaintiff, C. B. Boverie and Ida B. Thompscn are the joined and sole owners of Lots No. 9 and 10 in Block No. 182; Lots Nos. 21-22 in Block No. 189, and Lot No. 14 in Block No. 229, in the town of Wellington, Collingsworth County, Texas, according to the original map of said town, and alleging further that C. B. Boverie is the owner of 5-6 undivided equal part or interest in said lots and that Ida B. Thompson is the owner of 1-6 undivided equal interest in said lots and that the said C. B. Boverie and Ida B. Thompson are the sole owners of said property as far as plaintiff knows, and that Ida B. Thompson is married and her husband's name is Homer Thompson, and that said defendants are supposed to reside somewhere in the state of Montana; that the property is worth about the sum of $200, and consisted of resident lots in Wellington, and that they are not susceptible of partition, and that it will be more equitable and fair to sell said lots and divide the proceeds, and that said lots be sold and the proceeds divided according to the interest found.

Herein Fail Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

L. H. Aikman was quite seriously hurt Wednesday afternoon, during the storm by the wind blowing a hay frame off of a wagon against him, striking him on the head, which for a while dazed him and inflicted a deep cut.

Mrs. Dave Worley, who underwent a serious operation at Mangum, Oklahoma, only a short time ago, made remarkable progress and was able to return home on Friday of last week, and is feeling strong and fine, so our good friend, Mr. Worley, reports.

Rock Lowrie has moved into his new brick building and is fixed up handsomely. We learn that Mr. Lowrie has been in the barber business here eleven years and with the exception of Charlie Glenn, is the only person here following the same line of business continously for this period.

The Commissioners Court had a special session last Saturday. The matter under consideration, we understand, was the delinquent taxes of the county, and that they propose to have the delinquent tax list published, citations to follow, and make an effort to collect some fifteen thousand outstanding on taxes.

Fifteen cents for your eggs at Smith & Brown's.

T. F. Kelley of Collingsworth county, Texas, referring to the forage feed proposition, and the cattle situation, remarked that there was far more feed raised there than in Kansas this year. "We were a little short on feed, but we came across the country on this run with stock," he said: "That convinced us that we had more feed than others, and enough to carry our stock through."—Kansas City Drovers' Telegram, of 19th inst.

When you think of "Fire Insurance," come straight to T. O. Hill's office, and let him write you a policy that will be absolute indemnity from loss by fire to your dwelling.

S. A. Phillips was in the city one day this week, and informed us that he had just returned from a trip to points in Oklahoma and Texas, and stated that the people of this section, especially this county, should be very thankful, for the crops here were so much better than any he saw on his trip. In speaking of his own crop, Mr. Phillips said he believed he would make about a half bale of cotton per acre, and that he would get 100 loads of maize, besides a great deal of kafir and sorghum. As is usual with Mr. Phillips, he will have plenty of feed for the market.

A hail storm Wednesday afternoon did considerable damage in the King school house community west of town. O. B. Pitts, Marvin Byers and J. I. Dyrs and others suffered damages to crops. A number of them carried hail insurance and the adjustors are out there today to figure on the basis of settlement.

SAID IN EARNEST.

Honest poultry dealers make money by fair means and fowl.

When the society ball season ends that of the moth ball begins.

The man who is anxious to buy usually gets the worst of the bargain.

A girl can make a man think she doesn't know anything, erroneously.

But when a man's face is broken it never by any chance breaks into smiles.

The world owes us all a living and some go as far as the penitentiary to collect it.

After a man has landed a political job he begins to kick because the salary isn't larger.

The young man who professes a willingness to die for a girl before marriage may live to wish that he had.

Your friend will think it is a shame if you make a lot of money b. following the advice he gave you, but which he was afraid to follow himself.

PHILOSOPHY OF THE TATLER

Lots of people act as chief witness at their own prosecution.

When two fascinating people meet they usually hate each other.

Life consists of learning, knowing, teaching, and then forgetting.

By all means tell people what you think of them if you don't care what they think of you.

If women only knew it, sympathy and cushions nearly always make a man uncomfortable.

Actors are not the only public characters who "make up" when they have to face the limelight.

Think what an amusing time some people would have if they could see themselves as others see them.

A man with lots of money to leave and impecunious heirs need never feel that no one cares whether he lives or dies.

Life is like a moving staircase—one must always be going forward. It is a pity. It would be so nice if one could go back sometimes and pick up some of the things one dropped before one realized their value.

EGYPTIAN PROVERBS

In "Veiled Mysteries of Egypt," S. H. Leeder points to the remarkable faculty of the Egyptians for enriching their conversation with proverbs. Here are some from a long list of examples he gives:

"Man is often an enemy to things of which he is ill-informed."

"Don't ask any man about his origin; you can read it in his face."

"If you censure your friend for every fault he commits there will come a time when you will have no friend to censure."

Don't strain at a gnat and swallow a camel. A professional sword swallower died the other day from getting a fish bone in his throat.

"Knowledge without practice is like a bow without a string."—Veiled Mysteries of Egypt, by S. H. Leeder.

ANVIL SPARKS.

A stingy heart never swells with emotion.

A good experience is not a tether to tie to, but a pointer to progress.

He who borrows trouble is in danger of borrowing again, and forming the habit.

The lure of the heights is sometimes the strongest when they are seen in the distance.

Man is the very image of his Father until he goes into sin so far as to spoil the likeness.

You do not have to be an expert mathematician to add faith, multiply joy and divide grief.

If we had no trials, we could not prove ourselves, and therefore we could not stand for anything.

COMPENSATION CURIOSITIES

All sorts of funny claims are made under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and after making inquiries of several of the leading companies who insure under the act, the following are some of the droll claims, viz.:

A clergyman bitten by a dog while visiting.

A cook breaking coal, a piece went down her throat.

Dr. Cross.

In this issue of the Leader you will find the professional card of Dr. J. G. Cross. Dr. Cross recently moved here with his family from Mangum, Oklahoma, and comes highly recommended as a perfect gentleman in every respect and a man of exceptional ability in his profession. He has his office in the Curtner Drug Store.

To Cotton Raisers.

The report to the effect that we have sold out to or in any way have any connection with any oil mill is absolutely unfounded and positively false. No oil mill people or any one else outside of the firm name have any connection whatever with the Hall & Harrison Gin. Anyone having any idea that we have any such connections are invited to inspect our partnership papers at the First National Bank.

The business is being, and will continue to be, conducted as it always has been. We truly appreciate the patronage of the cotton farmers and at all times endeavor to give the very best service. Bring us your cotton to gin. 7-4t.

Oil Indications at Dozier.

For some time certain citizens of Dozier have thought there were indications of oil in that community. So strong was their belief that they decided to have an expert come and look over the situation. An experienced oil man came in last week from the Henrietta fields and after making an investigation and finding oil prospects favorable, he leased considerable land in and around and contracted to begin drilling not later than April 1st.

Oil prospects are especially good on the place Col. Frank Exum traded for last year. A well was drilled on this place last fall to a depth of 280 feet. Black lumps are being brought to the surface from this well and these lumps readily turn to oil when exposed to the sun.

The oil company has contracted to put down a test well 1200 feet, provided they do not strike oil or gas before this depth is reached, and those who have investigated the proposition are very confident that a gusher will be brought in before this depth is reached.—Shamrock Texan.

A Hint To The Housewife.

The tendency of the average woman is to buy everything as cheaply as possible, and her success in life largely depends upon the way she spends the family earnings. Her dollar is the yardstick by which all bargains are measured and her pocket book governs her expenditures. Before she places an order she meditates and investigates. She welcomes any suggestion intended to decrcase the high cost of living or increase her purchasing efficiency.

The advertisements of this paper are an open mine of reliable information on purchasing problems of the housewife. They represent a service rendered by the merchant to the consumer and every advertisement you read in this paper is the expression of a dealer whose methods and goods are honest. Get the ad reading habit and increase the purchasing power of your dollar. You will be well advised if you accept their suggestions.

There has not been a time since the writer arrived in Wellington eighteen months ago that the business streets of the town have not been obstructed by building material. While in some instances slightly inconvenient to the public yet we are all glad to see the substantial buildings going up and improvements generally.

The only way to know that your title is regular and perfect is to have an abstract of it preparee and passed upon. Templeton's office is Headquarters for Abstract and titles.

New Wholesome Quarters With Modern Bake Oven

Having moved into new and comfortable quarters in the new Lowery Building on the south side the Star Restaurant is in a better position than ever to meet the exactions of the patronizing public.

McDonald Brothers understand the Restaurant business as good or possibly better than anyone ever catering to this line of trade in Wellington. They have been doing a prosperous business, which has been steadilly growing, and now in their new home where they have better opportunities to give the very best satisfaction.

In connection with their new home they have built a modern brick oven having a capacity of 200 loafs of bread at one time, and those who believe in patronizing home industry can get their bread here which is cooked under the same conditions as that shipped from the large cities, but has the added advantage of being fresh and wholesome. They also cook and have in stock all kinds of pastries, and at any time will make cakes, pies or other pastries to your order, if you will give them a day or so notice.

As a place for a good regular meal or for a short order McDonald Brothers at the Star Restaurant can serve you well.

Visit them in their new quarters and see how neat, spic and span everything is.

The Recall in Ancient Greece.

In the balmy days of the Greek Republics, many centuries ago, as historians tell us, when a man arose to such a height of power or affluence that he became a possible menace to the State, the citizens took a vote on his case as an undesirable.

This was sent to the Senate, and if the vote was sufficiently large and representative, that body passed a resolution in which the too distinguished citizen was invited in polite diplomatic terms to take a few years of retirement abroad—in other words, he was officially exiled for the good of the State.

This was "ostracism," so called from the fact, it is explained that the voting citizens wrote their names on oyster shells, and it was instituted as a measure of security to the Commonwealth.

Any citizen of great wealth or influence or who had a large personal following which might in an emergency be used to the detriment of the State was liable to receive this distinguished mark of public consideration. It was a kind of primitive recall, which had the advantage of being equally applicable to ins and outs.

Those early Greeks were wonderful fellows and knew how to deal with the knotty problems of their day, which doubtless included grafting and other human peculiarities of our own time.

If an election did not suit them, or if any man swelled too far above his fellows there was always the leveling oyster as a wholesale corrective in reserve.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

CENSURING THE PRESIDENT.

By A. W. MACY.

It is a very rare occurrence for the senate of the United States to pass a vote of censure on the president, but such a thing was done during Andrew Jackson's administration. It was in the year 1834, and the trouble grew out of the celebrated United States bank and the president's relation to it. The resolution of censure read thus: "Resolved, That the president, in the late executive proceedings, in relation to the public revenues, has assumed upon himself authority and power not conferred by the constitution and laws, but in derogation of both." Jackson, as is well known, was not noted for meekness. When he learned of the passage of the resolution he was in a towering rage. He came back at the senate with a message that fairly sizzled with wrath. He defied the members and vehemently denied the right of the senate to pass judgment on the executive, a co-ordinate part of the government. The senate was equally obdurate for a time, but finally, in 1837, the resolution was expunged from the records.

Home.

Home is the place where our thoughts return in the hour of loneliness. Its memory seems to cling to us more in the time of need than in the moments of pleasure. We look upon home as a shelter where we find safety in times of distress, as a ship finds a calm sea behind the breakwater, when the waves roll high. Home is where we find a love worth while—a mother's love. Childhood days and the thoughts of home fill the hearts of the lowly as well as the lordly. We all love home but sometimes our thoughts are prone to roam to other things that for the moment command attention and seem more pressing. The awakening sometimes comes too late—after loved ones have departed or furious elements have done their work—but it is inevitable as life and death. Home is the natural haven of rest.—(By Mrs. E. P. Turner, Chairman, Rural Homes and Schools, Farm Life Commission.

The Love of The Beautiful.

We should give more attention to beautifying the home and its surroundings. Nature has given us every facility for making the premises attractive. The most beautiful and luxuriant vegetable growths in the world abound in their natural state in Texas and they are easily transplanted and cultivated. The wonderful variety of ornamental shrubbery permits a full expression of our aesthetic tastes.

It is a sad day for the family when the head of the home gets too busy to make the flower bed, plant a tree and fence the hogs out of the yard. We dislike to think of a mother going through the summer without gathering roses and of children whose sweet faces are never brightened by flowers and who have no shade to play under.

Unkept premises always make the home dreary and lonely. There is nothing more repulsive than weeds where there should be flowers and grass. No matter how humble or poor, Nature, with a lavish hand, has provided entertainment for us all.—(By Mrs. E. P. Turner, Chairman Rural Homes and Schools, Farm Life Commission.)

ACRES OF BIG BUILDINGS AT DRY-FARMING CONGRESS

R. R. Station | U. S., Canada and Foreign | Oklahoma | Other American States | Midway, Athletic and Agricultural Fields.

The greatest Exposition of its kind ever held in North America is being built from the ground up in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in ten months of this year. The occasion is the Eighth Annual meeting of the International Dry-Farming Congress, a world-wide organization for better farming, with branch offices in nineteen nations and members in sixty.

Today 40 acres of land are ready as an exposition ground. Eighty acres more have been set aside for farm machine exhibits and demonstrations. Seven great buildings, with a total floor capacity of more than 100,000 square feet, are under way and will be completed by October 1.

The Exposition buildings are being erected in the form of a parallelogram, in the center of which will be a park. At one end is the Oklahoma Kafir Corn Palace, 84 by 225 feet in size, built by the State of Oklahoma to house crop exhibits from fifty counties. Two buildings, each 60 by 200 feet, will be used for crop exhibits from various western states. Another will be given up to Canada; a fifth to the United States Government and a sixth to foreign nations.

A seventh great building will be occupied by the manufactured products of Oklahoma, while still another has been assigned to a wonderful collection of samples of women's work which will be brought to Tulsa from farms in all sections of the United States and Canada.

Three acres in the exposition grounds have been set aside to hold an exhibit of the crops of negro farmers from Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

WORLD'S GREATEST FARM EXPOSITION

INTERNATIONAL DRY-FARMING CONGRESS TO BE HELD AT TULSA OCT. 22-NOV. 1.

DELEGATES FROM ALL THE WORLD

Every Continent and Every Race to Meet and Discuss and Compare Best Methods for Cultivating Semi-Arid Regions

The world's most important farm convention for 1913 will be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, October 22 to November 1. Men from thirty nations will attend the eighth annual meeting of the International Dry-Farming Congress there and will tell about methods of farming in all regions of slight rainfall or occasional drouth.

Official delegates are expected at Tulsa from every continent on the globe. China, whose farmers have tilled the same lands for forty centuries, will be officially represented by its minister of agriculture, Chun Sen Chan. Tunis, in north Africa, which has been a dry-farming region since the time of Hannibal, will have representatives in Tulsa to learn even more of the science which its farmers have practiced for 2,500 years. Persia, whose agriculture is as old as history, will have at least two delegates, including the Mirza Ali Kuli Khan. Palestine will send its greatest agriculturist, Dr. Aaron Aaronsohn, who today conducts a huge farm on land which the shepherds used in the time of Christ.

Fourteen governors of states and scores of congressmen have accepted invitations to be present. On top of all these will be tens of thousands of actual farmers who will come from every state in the Union and from every province in Canada to study methods whereby they may increase the yields per acre on their own farms.

The great farm meeting at Tulsa will be held in nine sections, beginning October 27 and lasting five days. The Exposition held in connection with it will begin five days earlier, on October 22, and will last until November 1. One sectional meeting will be devoted entirely to talks about soils, tillage methods and farm machinery.

In other sectional meetings will be studied the home breeding and selection of seeds, live stock and dairying, feed and forage crops, farm forestry, the right kind of education for country boys and girls, farm management and farm engineering.

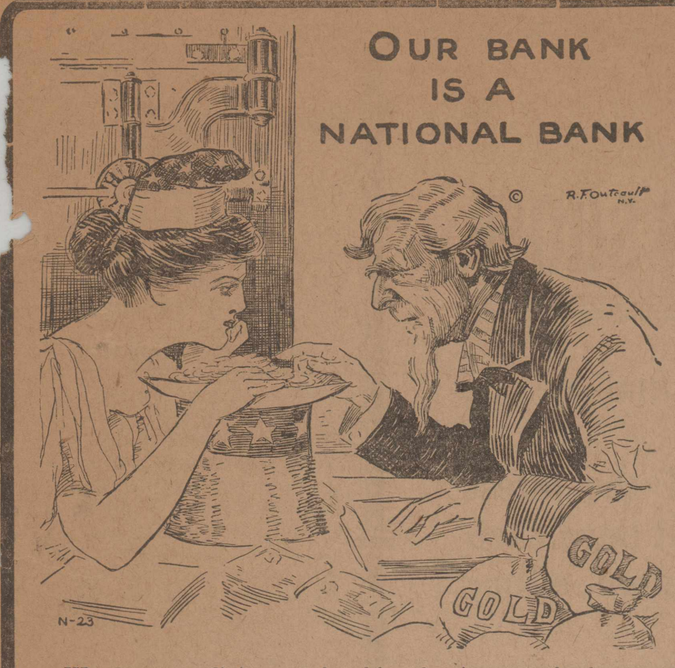

The real purpose of the International Dry-Farming Congress and of its meetings is to teach methods for the conquest of drouth. It has nothing to do with politics, colonization or religion. It is not an agricultural college, neither does it conduct experiment or demonstration farms. It merely collects from all possible sources the available information about methods whereby farmers may increase their yields per acre, the quality of their crops and their bank accounts in all regions of light or irregular rainfall. It then passes this information on, through its annual conventions and its publications, to the farmers in many nations.

The International Congress now has officers in nineteen nations and members in sixty and its influence for the development of farming methods is world-wide. Its work is of especial importance through the southwestern states, all of which are subject to occasional drouth which in many seasons cuts the profits out of farming. In even the driest years, however, thousands of farmers are making good through the practice of the new methods which are revolutionizing agriculture. These farmers will be at Tulsa and will help in making the Eighth Congress and Exposition the most important meeting of its kind ever held on the American continent.

Silo Men to Compete at Tulsa Dry Farming Contest.

The growth of the livestock and dairy industries in the southwest is today of so much importance in profitable farming that special attention is being paid to feed and forage exhibits at the International Soil Products Exposition at Tulsa. The largest prize ever offered in forage classes in any exposition will be given at Tulsa next October for the best collection, by individual farmer, of grass and forage seeds. The prize will be an Ann Arbor hay-baler and a 6-h. p. gasoline engine, given by the Ann Arbor Machine company of Ann Arbor, Michigan. The baler is adapted for use with any gas power and the winner may select any 6 h. p. gas engine made in the United States or Canada. The value of the engine and baler combined is $750.

Another big prize is that for the best yield of silage from results announced by affidavits of three reputable neighbors of contestant. Samples of the yield to be shown at Tulsa. The prize is an Indiana Silo valued at $250.00, given by the Indiana Silo company of Kansas City, Mo. Other special prizes aggregating nearly $600.00 in value will be given in the feed and forage classes.

KATY IMPROVEMENT WORK SUSPENDED.

Credit of Road Impaired by Hostility on Part of the State.

The announcement of President Schaff of the M. K. &. T. Railway that his road would suspend extension and improvement work pending settlement of the $105,000,000 lawsuit, it is understood, has affected the expenditure of several million dollars on their properties and the litigation has created a feeling of distrust in railroad and financial circles.

The Katy railroad operates 1,610 miles of line in Texas, it touches most of the important cities, penetrates the most productive region of the state and one-half our population is tributary to its tracks. It is such an important factor in the industrial affairs of the State that its affliction is felt by a large number of our people and the litigation becomes one of general interest to the public.

The Attorney General seeks to prevent the Katy from leasing the Texas Central lines, alleges an unfair division of the rates on interstate business and claims violation of the general office law. In discussing this feature of the litigation, President Schaff said: "The action of the Governor and Attorney General in preventing the M. K. & T. of Texas from availing itself of this legislation has been most discouraging, especially in view of the overwhelming demand from all sections of the State for the passage of this law." Concerning the division of rates he calls attention to the offer made to the Texas Railroad Commission to co-operate with them in an investigation of this subject. It is a well known fact that the M. K. & T. Railway Company of Texas has its general offices in Dallas and that the president and general manager of the road reside in the State.

In discussing the effects of the suit upon the future policy of the road, Mr. Schaff said:

"All work of improvement and extension will necessarily have to be suspended, as we cannot afford to take the responsibility of expending additional money for improving and extending railroad property in Texas in the face of the hostile attitude of the State administration manifested in his litigation. The suit has destroyed the credit of the road in the money markets of the world until the company's rights have been determined in court."

NATURE'S CURE-ALL.

Cure a felon.

Cure malaria.

Lemon juice will:

Prevent diphtheria.

Make the hair fluffy.

Beautify the complexion.

Cure a sore throat or cough.

Drive away a sick headache.

For the hair, add the juice of a lemon to the last rinsing water of a shampoo.

For a sore throat, gargle with pure, undiluted, unsweetened lemon juice.

For a cough or cold, mix equal parts of lemon juice and strained honey, and take a tablespoonful ever hour.

For malaria, mix the juice of half a lemon with two tablespoonfuls of water and a little sugar, and drink three times a day.

For a sick headache, mix one part lemon juice and two parts boiling water, and sip a teacupful as hot as possible every two hours.

For a felon, cut off the end of a lemon, stick the finger into the hole and bind it on. Let it stay for a day or two, when it will be ready to lance.

For the complexion, mix equal parts of rose water and glycerin and dip a cut lemon into this and rub the face with it. After it dries, rub with cold cream.

SIGNS AND SUPERSTITIONS

A cat's sneeze is said to be a sure sign of rain.

A goat has a peculiar cry which it utters when rain is near.

The bark of a fox at night is said to be a sure sign of storm.

The sand mole makes a mournful sound when the frost is near.

If the deer's coat is gray in October, a severe winter is to follow.

It is regarded as a sure sign of death in Germany to hear a cricket's cry.

Rain is, in many parts of this country, expected to follow close upon the loud chirping of crickets.

Spaniards of the sixteenth century believed that wherever spiders were found in abundance gold existed also.

Although an insect sacred to the Egyptians, the beetle has small place in folklore It is considered unlucky in England to kill a beetle.

The ancients maintained that there was a close connection between bees and the soul. Porphyry speaks of "those souls which the ancients called bees."

German tribes regard stag beetles as of a diabolic origin, and all beetles are thoroughly detested in Erin. It is believed that to see a beetle will bring a heavy rainstorm upon the following day.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Any form of torture is preferable to that inflicted by the rustic seat.

Hero is another inviolable rule: No boy preacher knows much about sin.

Some men are born that way. Others grow round shouldered carrying life insurance.

The trouble with the amateur show is that two or more performances nearly always are given.

One husband is as good as a college education, yet some women insist upon a post-graduate course.

A hero may also be described as a man who has taken the precaution to establish friendly relations with the reporters.

The recent charge that George Ade isn't funny can also be substantiated in the case of any other citizen against whom it may be brought.

When a man spends half his time bending his elbow over a bar he ought not to complain of a cramp when he has to sign a few checks.

FROM "BECAUSE OF JANE"

"There are but two classes of people in the world—the born getters and the born givers."

"The young at heart will always like to see a fat man sit down suddenly on the floor. Verbal witticisms are no use to them."

"The ladies talked together about clothes, and characters, and complaints, and children—the four c's which comprise the whole polite female after-dinner conversation."

"She always had the indefinite feeling that tomorrow was going to be splendid. Some people keep it until they die. And to lose it—that is age."—Because of Jane, by J. E. Buckrose.

PASSING OF AN OLD GROUCH

He Just Shriveled to Nothingness and the People Erected an Appropriate Monument.

Once there was a man who was not thankful. When good things came his way he raked them in and never said a word. He never saw the beauty in the fields or the woods, and no sunset ever feased him. He never heard a bird sing, never said howdy to a stranger, and never gave a child a piece of candy. His morning and evening salutation was a grunt. He dragged along through the years until the thing was over—but he didn't die. He just sort of shriveled up and blew away. And the happy onlookers who gathered near saw a green vapor hover for a few minutes over his old clothes and then pass with a weird and mournful sound into an abandoned well. And they filled the old well with tin cans and erected a monument over it in the shape of a cucumber. And this was the epitaph: "Here Lies a Grouch. Blessed Are the Grateful."

THE WATERS WED TODAY

Announcement comes from Panama that on September 26th the dike will be removed in the canal, permitting the lawless current of the Atlantic and the restless tide of the Pacific to unite for all eternity. For the first time in the history of man's achievement, two oceans will be thrown together in a spectacular "wedding of the waters". For them, there will be no turning back when once the step is taken; no annulment of the marriage vows of the seas.

Although the waves of unrest may shake the foundation of their matrimonial seas, no kindly court will release them from the ties that bind for all eternity. Man may make and unmake laws; marriages "made in heaven" may be snapped asunder on earth, but the great Law of nature, the basic statute of the earth. will obtain today when the Atlantic weds the Pacific.

How Much is the Woman on the Farm Worth?

Is the woman on the farm worth as much as the horse, cow, or the poultry with which the first class farm is equipped?

Before the farm woman is fully appreciated, in many instances, she must be educated to a fuller appreciation of her own value and economic waste attending the doing of work in inconvenient surroundings. When the housewife on the farm comes to a full understanding of her own worth, it will be an easy matter for her to impress her husband with the fact that she is entitled to up-to-date equipment with which to carry on her household duties, and that the modern conveniences will mean dollars in his pocket, as well as a wife that is not over-worked and prematurely old.

It is the duty of every farmer's wife to know her own value in order that she may make the most of opportunities in her everyday life.—(By Mrs. E. P. Turner, Chairman, Homes and Schools, Texas Farm Life Commission.

KING COTTON WILL SIT ON HIS THRONE AT THE TEXAS COTTON PALACE.

The Fleecy Staple Shown in All Forms From Planting to Making Cloth.

Cotton shown in all its forms from the plant to cloth will be one of the leading educational features of the Cotton Palace at Waco opening November 1st and closing November 16th.

All the subjects of King Cotton will assemble at the Palace. The by-products of both lint and seed will sit around the throne in the order of their importance and the manufacturing processes will be demonstrated in important instances. It is here all subjects will give an annual account to their king and the record will be one of glorious conquest and achievement. By visiting the throne room of King Cotton, one will be convinced that the half has never been told.

In the production of cotton per capita we excel any other country on the globe, and without our cotton the world would go naked and shiver with cold. Civilization has assigned to Texas the monumental task of clothing 300,000,000 people. To perform this gigantic mission, a half million plows must turn 12,000,000 acres of fertile soil per annum and over 2,000,000 people cultivate myraids of plants whose tiny looms weave from earth and air a fleecy staple that runs 4,600 gins, operates 113 compresses, runs 194 oil mills that crush 2,000,000 tons of seed, runs 30,000,000 spindles and fills the counters of two hemispheres with the most serviceable raiment the world has ever known. The story of the growth, utility and power of the world's greatest industry will be presented in a most convincing and unforgetable manner.

The whir of the machinery as it takes the fibre from the boll and transforms it into a beautiful garment for the wardrobe of mankind, is one of the most instructive and important lessons in Twentieth century civilization.

The turning of cottonseed from waste into profit is the most wonderful industrial achievement of the age. The seed, considered worthless a quarter of a century ago, now brings the Texas farmer $40,000,000 per annum. The by-products of this marvelous seed are legion and they will be on exhibition at the Palace, each telling a simple story of usefulness and power.
