With the Boys In the Service

CAMP NAMED AFTER SGT. WRIGHT

Wright received word this morning that a Camp had been named after her son, Sgt. William B. Wright, who died July 9th, in the African area. The camp is located at APO 622 as Camp William B. Wright. He was serving in the line with the Service Squadron, the family received a copy of the "Dat", the company of paper, giving a write-up of the family's appreciation of the letter also stated that the letter motivated its inception. The letter also stated that the pride in the memorial, expressed in a material way, and deep regard we of the soldier and a loved com-and Mrs. Frank Clement and the following letter from her son, A-S. W. H. Clement. The letter shows how the sentiment is stream lining the of the boys.

A-S. W. H. Clement, 429 1/2 C.T.D.M.S.C. 128 Abbot Hall, Lansing, Mich.:

My like here. We get up in the morning after lay down all night. This gives me time to wash, get make up our beds, shine shoes, etc. by 5:30. Then we sit side at attention and at that position while some has a bugle. As soon as we return to the mess and eat a hearty breakfast composed of some unidentifiable and several pieces of biscuits. After breakfast I sit around and scrub toilets, the floors, wash the walls, sweep the halls. Then the mess and requests that we do class. So we put on our shoes and start for class. Our class we have is Physical. We do a few simple exercises for a short period of 45 minutes such as touching the feet, they are both off of the ground and holding ourselves by the hands. After gym, we go to class. It is a streamlined concentrated course. I miss the equivalent of a month algebra course in time. A refrigerator car was from class to class and the cadets who freeze the side of the road and puts the car and thaws them by degrees. The boys who are only given two weeks guard house. At 5:00 p. m. classes are over for the day. They are usually two or three. They are taken to the mess and given treatment for if anyone is caught sitting in the fire and not doing any work. They are arrested for imitating an officer. Well, I close for now and go and have spinach. Boy!

Your son, Student W. H. Clement.

ROBT. D. BARNES RECEIVES CITATION

We are in receipt of the following memorandum in regards to Robt. D. Barnes, WT2C, U. S. Naval Reserve: The Commander North Pacific Force, United States Pacific Fleet, takes pleasure in commending Robert D. Barnes, WT2C, U. S. Naval Reserve for service as set forth in the following

CITATION:

"For meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services as a member of a construction party assigned the task of building an emergency airplane strip in mid-winter on a small island in the Aleutians. You ably and efficiently performed the difficult task of landing personnel and supplies under the most adverse conditions of wind and sea on an unprotected beach, while under the constant threat of enemy submarine and air action from an enemy base less than two hundred miles distant. While towing barges loaded with the party's equipment to this island, one barge towing another broke down and a six-knot tide through the channel swept both of them on the rocks on that island. In seas running to twelve feet in height, these barges were dismantled under most adverse weather conditions and dragged by sections over approximately 1 1/2 miles of rough terrain to a beach suitable for overhauling and reassembling. In the building of the emergency landing strip your vigorous and effective action in carrying out the tasks assigned you were materially responsible for a prompt and satisfactory conclusion of the project. Your conduct throughout was in accordance with the highest traditions of the naval service."

T. C. KINCAID, Vice Admiral, U. S. Navy. Permanent Citation.

Mr. Barnes is now in the Naval Hospital at Seattle, Wash., and expects to get a medical discharge in the near future.

FIRST 131st FA DEATH REPORTED

The first known death of a member of the ill-fated 131st field artillery, which was trapped in Java, was reported Tuesday with the news that Pvt. Gordon Griffin of Byers, member of Battery D, had died of wounds in October, 1942. According to the message received Private Griffin was wounded several months prior to his death. It was presumed that he died in a Japanese prison camp. He is a nephew of Mrs. Nora Griffin, Rt. 1, Burkburnett.

Pvt. Claude Mouser writes that he received his first issue of the Star and that it was like a letter from home. He wants the folks on home front to "keep 'em rolling" and he will help keep them running. He also asks all his old buddies to write him. His address is Hq. Co., 145 Inf. APO 37, c-o. Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Ensign John Pounds who is stationed near Norman, Okla., was here over Sunday visiting with friends. He will leave in a few weeks for Corpus Christi for his final training.

Captain Jack W. Manning, Chap. O-428147, 115th Station Hospital, APO. 29 New York, City, Sept. 27, 1943. Eng.

Rev. Boyd I. DeVore, First Methodist Church, Burkburnett, Texas (in part): I am with a large station hospital. We are located in such an area that we get patients from many sources and from almost every service of the U. S. Army forces and also some British, and others. My work is largely with the patients. Last month I averaged contacting 71 men per day, and averaged 20 personal conferences a day. I distribute many Testaments and Tracts and Mag-

Three Leave From Here for Induction At Camp Wolters

Preston H. Johnson, Shirley Lee Stubblefield and Jack Austin Columbus Riley were among the boys entraining at Electra for Camp Wolters this week.

Only Two Days Left To Mail Overseas Packages

Friday is the deadline for mailing Christmas packages to service men overseas, it was pointed out Thursday morning by Al Lohoefer, postmaster.

Hardin Club

Mrs. Schwede was hostess to the Hardin Club, which met Wednesday, Oct. 13th. The meeting was opened by the president and routine business was transacted. Mrs. F. W. Farley brought the county council report after which recommendations of the Texas Home Demonstration Association were read and discussed. An interesting marketing report was given by Mrs. J. C. Muller. During the afternoon Mrs. M. R. Hewell gave a demonstration on cutting and fitting a dress.

The next meeting date was scheduled for Nov. 3, with Mrs. J. H. Holliday, the County Agent, Miss Mason, will demonstrate at that time.

The club voted to have a Halloween party inviting her husbands and families, to be held Friday night, October 22, at the Edwin Muller home. Members were asked to bring articles for the achievement day to the next club meeting.

Owners of Land Near Burkburnett Claim Damage by Oil Production

Suit for $87,000 damage was filed in district court Friday against the Magnolia Petroleum Company and others by a group of landowners and tenants who claim that 760 acres of land had been damaged seriously by salt water resulting from oil operations of the past 25 years.

The plaintiffs are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Skelton Jr. of Florida, A. J. Van Cleave of New Mexico, land owners and J. H. Kinnard and Fred Wyatt, farmers. The land involved is a strip approximately three quarters of a mile wide extending from the southeastern extremity of the city of Burkburnett northward to the Red River.

Other defendants are New Anthony; Henry Cohen, executor of an estate, and the Valley Osage Oil Company, owners of a number of wells remaining in production.

The plaintiffs charge that approximately 500 barrels of salt water and bottom settlements are being produced daily by wells belonging to the defendants, and that while the waste is turned into slush pits, it is penetrating a shallow, underground sandy gravel stratum, and is cropping out on the surface.

Coach Beck On Rotary Program

Coach A. D. Beck was the principal speaker on the Rotary luncheon program Tuesday. He told of the football situation in Burkburnett as he saw it. He said the boys lacked enthusiasm and the will to win due to the fact, as he saw it, that they are overmatched in the AA class. He told of some of the incidents that happened before and during the Vernon game.

He was introduced by Tom Boyd, a member of the school board, who had charge of the program. After the coach's talk, Mr. Boyd said he understood the situation facing the Burkburnett team and the coach, and hoped that something could be worked to the football situation here.

Alvin Hill made a few remarks in regards to the 3rd War Loan Bond Drive just completed. He thanked the Rotarians and others for their help in putting the drive over. Especially, did he thank the American Legion for their part in the last days of the drive.

There were seven Rotarians from Wichita Falls making up their attendance here Tuesday. They were: Marian Conkling, Harley Goble, C. J. Tucker, Jim Allison, Edgar Mann, Merrill Blair and Bill Miland.

In announcing county organization for the $125,000,000 National War Bond Drive, Fred Brookman, issued an appeal to all, urging they participate by donating to the drive.

Funds raised by the Wichita County War Chest for the national drive will go to benefit seventeen agencies, it was pointed out, combining seventeen drives into one. Wichita County's quota is $86,000. Burkburnett's is $4,000. Geo. McClarty is to head the Burkburnett drive, and his co-workers will be announced shortly, Brookman revealed.

Sharing in the proceeds of the national campaign are United Service Organizations, to which go 48.9 per cent of every dollar raised in Wichita County; United Seamen's Service, 3.3 per cent; War Prisoner's Aid, 1.8 per cent; Russian War Relief, 8.1 per cent; United China Relief, 7.8 per cent; British War Relief Society, 4.5 per cent; Greek War Relief Association, 4 per cent; Polish War Relief, 3 per cent; United Yugoslav Relief Fund, 1.7; French Relief Fund, 1.7; Belgian War Relief Society, 2.60 per cent; United Czechoslovak Relief, 1.87 per cent; Queen Wilhelmina Fund, 1.60 per cent; Norwegian Relief, 1.60 per cent; Friends of Luxembourg, .097 per cent; Refugee Relief Trustees, 2.24 per cent; U. S. Committee for Care of European Children, 650 per cent. Administration and contingency is provided for by 10 per cent of the total.

Most Americans realize that we are not fighting this war alone, and that the lives of our sons and brothers are dependent upon the skill, the bravery and faithfulness of our Allies, Brookman declared. "They know that the civilian population of the devastated countries has had to bear burdens that we are not likely to be called upon to share directly. They want to help with their gifts."

By the time that blueberries dropped in price to almost our budget price, summer passes and we start thinking of pumpkin pie.

Band Instructor Wanted!

If you are a man or woman, age 15 to 35, and know something about instructing a band, and would like to make some extra money, get in touch with Ralph Davis, superintendent of the local schools. Burkburnett has the band students and instruments but so far have failed to get an instructor.

Burkburnett needs a band instructor and if you can spare a few hours each day for the work, Mr. Davis would like to talk to you.

High School News

Seniors

The Senior Class of the Burkburnett High School met on Tuesday of last week. The meeting was called to order by the president, Noel Duke, and a committee was appointed to plan for the Senior stand at the coming football games. Kathryn Blewett, Mary F. Boyd, Lewis Faulks, Betty Wilson, and Hugh Key are on this committee.

A date was discussed for the Senior Play, and Wilma Butts, O. J. Ensey, and Betty Miller were chosen to select a date and present it before the Student Council. This same committee was asked to look over some plays and be able to suggest a few good ones to the class at the next meeting.

Discussions were had concerning the annual Halloween Party for the Juniors. A committee consisting of Josephine Utts, Lewis Faulks, and Carol Lohoefer was chosen to make the necessary arrangements for this party.

Student Council

The members of the Student Council met in regular session on Wednesday, October 6. The meeting was called to order by the president, Gordon Clements, and reports were made by the various committees. The secretary, Wilma Butts then read the Constitution of the Student Council, and parts of it were discussed.

Students were elected to help new students register. Bobbie Heins was elected from the Freshmen class, Ramona Milford from the Sophomore class, Mary Frances Gamblin from the Junior class and Hugh Preston from the Senior class.

A committee was appointed to make plans for a "Sadie Hawkins' Day". Jean Boyd, James McDonald, and Billie Marie Nolan were appointed to serve on this committee.

Glee Club

The Glee Club met in the Library with seventy-nine members present. Music written in three and four parts, which will be used for the club throughout the year, has arrived. The club started working on their first four part song, "Smiles". Having never tried to sing four-part music, the members found it to be very fascinating. The assistant accompanist, Janice Caffee will accompany the club on these songs.

One of the aims of the club is to learn to sing their school song in three parts. They have been practicing on "pep songs" which will be used at the football games and on the "pep assembly" programs. We hope that the entire student body will take more interest in these meetings, and show the Bulldogs that we are for them one-hundred per cent.

High School Library

The High School Library has received the following books: "Spoon River Anthology"—Masters. "Cowper's Poetical Works"—Cowper. "Folk Songs of the South"—Cox. "Collected Verse"—Kipling. "Familiar Trees"—Mathews. The library is now equipped with some of the latest books.

Something to really worry about is a reputed shortage of materials so that when the war is over they may not be able to paint park benches right away!

Bulldogs Are Rated As Even Chance Against Cubs

Burkburnett's light and inexperienced team will tangle with the Olney Cubs here Friday night at 8 p. m. in their first home conference game.

The Bulldogs are rated an even chance to take the Cubs this Friday. They have been working hard the past week and they came out of the Vernon game without an injury, even though they lost by a lop sided score. The boys will have more confidence than they did when they tangled with Vernon. They found out that they were not going to get killed or maimed for life, and they have taken a new lease on life and will be out there Friday night to take the measurement of the Cubs.

Both the Bulldogs and the Cubs will be out for their first conference win. The Bulldogs lost to Vernon last Friday and the Cubs were defeated by Quanah by the score of 26-7.

Supt Davis stated that a number of good reserve seats are still unsold and that you can buy your season ticket at the game Friday night.

Lions Club Has Another 100 Per Cent Meeting

Every member was present at the regular meeting of the Lions Club last Tuesday night.

Rev. Harrison and Doug Douglas had the program and Harrison made a very interesting talk on the Bible, giving the history of the Bible. This being Bible Week the program was very appropriate.

Secretary Browning announced that the District Governor, Joe Childers, of Abilene, would be present at the next meeting.

Vela Blankenship was introduced as a Baby Lion.

1942 Bales Cotton Ginned To Date By Local Gins

At noon Thursday the local gins have ginned 1942 bales of cotton from this year's pickings. This is several hundred bales short of last year at this same time.

The cotton was bringing from 15c to 19c and most of it was going into the government loan. The price of seed was bringing $55.00 per ton.

Census report from the Bureau at Washington shows that 3439 bales of cotton were ginned in Wichita county from the crop of 1943 prior to Oct. 1st, as compared with 6164 bales for the crop of 1942.

ON THE HOME FRONT

Some people have a talent for making guests comfortable and are not always the people who are big houses and what used to be called a spare room. Many a housemaker today is graciously giving limited space in a house to a guest because war conditions make her feel that is part of her contribution.

ITALY:
Take Big Base

The once beautiful port of Naples smoked in ruins as Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark's Fifth Army clattered through its streets. To the north of the city, long German columns made their way toward Rome, 135 miles away, where they were expected to make their next stand in the hills.

Before giving up Naples, the Germans destroyed the elaborate docks and warehouses and other installations that had made the port one of Europe's finest. As a result, time will be required to reopen the port for Allied use in supplying the armies marching northward.

The German retreat at Naples also was influenced by Gen. Bernard Montgomery's flanking movement along the Adriatic sea coast to the East. By working its way northward, Montgomery's army had pushed behind the Germans, threatening to cut them off from the rear by crossing the mountains to the west.

WORLD AVIATION:
Seek U. S. Share

Returning from a 40,000-mile tour of the battle fronts, Senators James Mead, N. Y., Richard Russell, Ga., and Ralph Brewster, Maine, declared U. S. commercial aviation companies would be denied use of airports built in foreign countries by America.

The senators called upon congress to make provisions now for U. S. use of the airbases by including agreements in lend-lease assistance. The senators also declared that while the U. S. was supplying the Allies with 65 per cent of their oil, Great Britain was not fully exploiting her tremendous petroleum reserves in Persia. At the present rate of consumption, they said, our oil will be used up in 11 years.

Any attempt to reduce the importance of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command in the South Pacific by placing him under the supreme direction of Lord Mountbatten would be bitterly resisted by Australian Prime Minister John Curtin, the senators said.

RUSSIA:
Near Poland

Russian troops drove within 100 miles of the old Polish border in the northern sector of the long front, while other Red forces assaulted prepared German positions on the west bank of the broad Dnieper river to the south.

Failing to hold their new line, the Germans would be pushed out of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, and they would lose substantial control of their Baltic sea route to Finland.

Stiffening German resistance and appearance of massed artillery along the west bank of the Dnieper, indicated that the Nazis were determined to make use of the broad river as one of their last natural defense lines along 750 miles. Russian crossings to the west bank in some sectors were met by prompt German counterattacks in an effort to prevent the organization of sizeable Red forces for continuation of their drive.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

WAVES: Members of the WAVES, the navy's woman auxiliary, will not be permitted to serve overseas, by a provision in a bill reported out by the senate naval affairs committee.

JEWES: A separate force of Jewish soldiers may be established by Great Britain for service in Burma, it is announced from London. One or more divisions may be recruited in Palestine and the Near East.

GAS:
New Rations

Because the Midwest and Southwest were exceeding their gasoline allotments by 75,000 barrels a day, the OPA reduced their "B" and "C" coupon rations from three to two gallons. Similar reductions were made in the Southeast.

At the same time, "B" and "C" coupon rations in the Northeast were cut from 2½ to 2 gallons, while "A" coupons in the East were boosted from 1½ to 2 gallons.

In announcing the new rations, OPA declared that it was intended to force the use of at least one gallon out of the three gallons on the "A" coupon for occupational driving

FARM:
Guarantee Payments

Appearing before a congressional committee, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones asked for an additional 500 million dollars for the Commodity Credit corporation to provide farmers with guarantee payments in the 1944 production program.

The CCC now has a fund of 500 million dollars. It is intended to use this money for loans on major crops like wheat, cotton, corn, wool, tobacco and potatoes. With the extra 500 million dollars, guarantee payments would be advanced on vegetable oil crops, dry beans and peas, sugar beets, fresh truck and fruit crops, and canning crops.

Jones sought authority to buy surplus crops and absorb loss through resale at lower ceiling prices. He also asked power to resell perishable commodities like fruits and vegetables which the government might obtain through price-supporting purchases, at less than parity.

DRAFT:
Asks New System

Tightening up of deferments of men under 30 years of age and the draft of dads by age groups was proposed by Senator Robert A. Taft during debate on Senator Burton Wheeler's bill for postponing the induction of fathers until January 1.

Taft's proposal would grant deferments of men under 30 only if the deferment were approved by the men's own draft board and the draft board having jurisdiction in the territory where the deferment would be granted. Fathers under 25 would be called into service before those over 25 but under 30. Those over 30 would be called last.

Taft also proposed that the President establish a medical commission to study the possibility of lowering physical standards to draw more single 4F's into the service.

For Higher Allowances

Higher allowances for children of service men provided for in a senate bill, were supported by the army.

The bill would raise the monthly payment for one child from $12 to $18, and for every child thereafter from $10 to $11. The present payment of $50 to wives would be continued, with the government contributing $28 and the service man $22.

An army spokesman also advocated higher allowances for other dependents. Where a service man is not supporting a wife or child, it was recommended allowances to one parent be boosted from $37 to $50 monthly, and for two parents from $47 to $68. In cases where the service man is supporting a wife and child, allowances for a parent would be raised from $20 to $27, and for two parents from $30 to $38.

The army said it was in no position to withhold payments to financially independent or unfaithful wives.

Where Japs Lost

Bitter battles were reported in this area for possession of the port of Finschhafen and Wewak harbor. When the Japanese attempted to reinforce bases in this sector, Allied air fighters destroyed 58 enemy planes, seven surface vessels, and many supply barges. Many enemy planes were caught on the ground.

Things to do

AS PLEASING and gay as finding a real four-leaf clover—this pretty apron with the applique of green clover leaves. A bit more than half-a-yard of material will serve for the apron—scraps of light and dark dotted or figured green materials make the easily applied leaves. Use the paler green shade for the waistband. Use organdie for a "party" apron—muslin, percale or unbleached muslin for an everyday apron.

Due to an unusually large demand and current war conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers.

Those present were: Barbara Sue and Billy George McClarty, Harley Sullivan, Gypsy Vaughn, Norman Dodson, Charles Caffee, Judy Willingham, Janice and Jeanna Johnston, Donald Loy Nichols, Johnny Veach Jack Jamieson, Billy and Gary Bean, Shirley Jean Jones, Richard Ragsdale, Dannie Boden, Joy and Charlene Preston, Theora Hollingsworth, Charles Hall, Carol Cook. Sending gifts but not able to attend were Jerry Jack VanLoh, John Hy Bear, Gad Garland, Kay Morrison, and Mr. and Mrs. Harless Goodwin.

Christian Science Services Sunday

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 17.

The Golden Text is: "Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Wisdom and Love may require many sacrifices of self to save us from sin. One sacrifice, however great, is insufficient to pay the debt of sin. The atonement requires constant self-improvement on the sinner's part" (page 23).

"All Out" for Church Is Nazarene Slogan

"All Out" for Church and Sunday School is the Nazarene slogan for Sunday as it has been designated "Family Day". Our effort is to see how many families we can get to come and every member of the family at home be present.

We have boosted the time of starting from 9:45 to 9:40 and the first two members of the services are special. Here is the outline for "Family Day":

9:40 Choruses by the Juniors, Mrs. Joyce Longigan in charge.

9:45 Special prayer for those who are away from home.

9:50 Sunday School—M. S. Burkhardt.

11:00 Congregational singing—led by Pvt. Chas. Longigan.

11:15 Special song—Church Quartet.

Morning Message, "The Old Landmarks", Prov. 22.

7:30 P. M. Junior and N.Y.P.S. in charge of Sgt. Robert Thomas.

8:15 Song Service led by M. S. Burkhardt.

8:25 Special Song—Perry Sisters.

8:30 Evening Message, "Rebekah's Marriage," Gen. 24.

Blue Bonnet Club Hold Meeting With Mrs. Houser

Colorful autumn arrangements were used to decorate the home of Mrs. Emily Houser Tuesday afternoon when she and Mrs. Ella Dodson were co-hostesses and entertained the Blue Bonnet Garden Club.

Mrs. Florence Gage presided over the business session.

Entertainment for the afternoon was the judging of the covers on the year books, with Mrs. Maud Teal winning first prize and Mrs. Lillian Rains second.

Mrs. Stella Mills was program director for afternoon and presented Ethel Cope, who brought an interesting part on, "Roses which stand dead". Grace Brookman gave, "A Year in the Rose Garden". The Garden Quiz was given by Mary Cecil. Roll call was answered with a garden flip.

The contest on the fruit, flower and vegetable arrangement was displayed by Julia Boyd, each arranged their flower in a kitchen utensils and Hettie Gilbert won first place on her beautiful arrangement. Ethel Cope, Red Cross Chairman reported 107 hours for the month of September, as work done in the room by members of this club.

A dainty refreshment plate was served to guests, Alice Goodwin, C. L. Scott and members, Grace Brookman, Florence Gage, Dolly Bloxom, Myrtle Minick, Florice Jeffers, Loretta Hunt, Lou Ethel Boyd, Lillian Rains, Ada Westbrook, Mary Beth Naylor, Maud Teal Ethel Cope, Mary Cecil, Hettie Gilbert, Zella Mills, Sadie Jones, Julia Boyd, Ella Dodson, and Emily Houser.

Wesley Bible Class Goes To The Circus

The home of Mrs. H. J. Exley 511 E. 4th Street, was the scene last Thursday for a unique fall social and business meeting of the Wesley Bible Class. Serving with Mrs. Exley as co-hostesses were: Mrs. W. R. Hill, Mrs. Bill Cauthorn, Mrs. A. R. Bunstone, Mrs. H. W. Prinzing, and Mrs. B. I. DeVore.

The first half of the business session was presided over by Mrs. B. A. Browning, retiring president. The opening hymn, "Count Your Blessings", was followed by a prayer and devotional talk, "Keeping the Heart Clean", by Bro. DeVore. Mrs. H. J. Exley, newly elected president presided during the last half of the session during which Mrs. H. W. Prinzing, teacher, presented gifts of appreciation to Mrs. Browning for her work as president and to Mrs. F. L. Pilkenton and Mrs. J. L. Caffee for their attendance records for the year.

During the social hour Mrs. DeVore led the entire class as they made a "Trip to the Circus." The house was decorated with circus posters and colored paper. Games in keeping with the circus were enjoyed, after which delicious refreshments were served to the following members and their guests: Mesdames S. S. Reger, O. R. Wood, Wiley Bloxom, B. A. Browning, J. F. Felty, Bowie Danforth, I. D. Russell, J. M. Pogue, J. D. Majors, J. L. Coffee, W. C. Gage, A. R. Bunstone, H. J. Exley, B. I. DeVore Bill Cauthorn, H. W. Prinzing; Guests: Mesdames W. S. Exley of Pampa; J. N. Anthony, J. M. Patterson, Hugh Jones, H. L. Farney, R. C. Northheimer, Marilyn Felty, Paul DeVore, and Bro. DeVore.

Methodists Close Training Class On Worship

Dr. Paul C. Stephenson of Wichita Falls has been conducting an outstanding Training Class in "Christian Worship" at the First Methodist Church this week. The officers and teachers of the Church School, and a good number of others, have been attending each service. The class has been inspirational as well as instructive. The class closes with a covered dish supper on Thursday night.

Cashion W.M.U. Hold Meeting

The W.M.U. of the Cashion Baptist Church held its regular meeting last Wednesday in the church. The song, "Wonderful Words of Life" opened the meeting, and was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Riley. Mrs. Riley also gave a report of the association. The lesson topic, "Witness of the Word" was studied by those present. Mrs. Pemberton dismissed the group with a prayer.

Those present were Mesdames S. R. Riley, A. C. Horn, Charles Walker, G. W. Pemberton.

Clara Ladies Have Interesting Meeting

The Ladies' Aid of the Clara Lutheran Church met last Thursday afternoon at the home of Misses Lina and Freda Goetze. The Vice-President, Mrs. D. G. Holtzen, presided. The meeting was opened with the singing of "Rock of Ages" and with prayer led by the chairman.

A number of matters were discussed in the business session, among these, the matter of preparation for the forthcoming Mission Day, to be held on October 24, also the appointment of an enlarged missionary committee.

A timely and interesting address by the pastor, "War Time Service" was delivered by the pastor. Various ways in which the church can render important service in these times of war were pointed out. "The Christian Church must bestir itself. In the name of the blessed Christ, go to work for Him. Rally around His redeeming cross. Carry forward His Easter victory. Enthroned Him as the living Lord in the hearts of men everywhere. Faith, hope, and charity; by these we shall conquer," said the speaker.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and with the Lord's Prayer spoken by the assembly.

A delicious luncheon plate was served to the following members and guests:

Mesdames Adolf Brockriede, Albert Brockriede, Enderli, Engelmann, John Heins, Hieserman, Arnold Holtzen, D. G. Holtzen, the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Kaiser, W. Kaspar, L. W. Klinkerman, Koening, Louise Lohofener, Cropper, Arthur Ramming, Fred VanLoh, Schriebe, George Schroeder, Oscar Schroeder, Paul Schroeder, Henry Schroeder, Melvin VanLoh, Bunge, Schewe, George Streit, Pauline Schwegler, W. Dorre, and the hostesses, Misses Lina and Frieda Goetze.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Edd Heiserman.

Richard Ragsdale Celebrates His Seventh Birthday

Mrs. Marian Ragsdale honored her son, Richard Ragsdale, on his seventh birthday with a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boden, Saturday afternoon. Games were played and refreshments were served to the following girls and boys:

Barbara and June Vaughn, Jay and Marilyn Felty, Keith Hubbard, Clifford McKinnis, Barbara Jean Dodson, Jackie Alexander, Janice and Jeanna Johnston, Jerry VanLoh, Jerry Goble, Charlene Naylor, Paula Gene Buckner, Doc Sims, Bill Brown, Gad Garland, Dannie Boden, and Bettjean Harrison.

Lockett Circle Meets Monday

The members of the Lockett Circle of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Will Teal on Oct. 11. The meeting opened with the singing of "I Know the Bible is True." Presenting the devotional was Mrs. Jim Ady, followed by a prayer by Mrs. Jackson. The mission program was presented by Mesdames Johnson and Teal. Mrs. McMurry dismissed the group with a prayer.

The next meeting will be on Monday, October 18, in the home of Mr. F. M. McMurry.

W.S.C.S Hold Regular Meeting

The Women's Society of Christian Service met in the First Methodist Church Monday at 3:00 p. m., for their regular meeting. The president was in charge and opened the meeting with the song, "America". Mrs. M. W. Majors had charge of our mission study and directed the topic of "Making a Nation". The prayer was led by Mrs. H. W. Prinzing.

Those present were Mesdames M. W. Majors, O. E. Melton, J. H. Rigby, F. L. Pilkenton, H. W. Christman, B. A. Browning, Scott Morris, Sam Cope, A. H. Bazell, H. W. Prinzing, S. S. Reger, B. M. Cropper, Bro. and Mrs. Boyd I. DeVore and Paul.

Sunday School, 9:45. Preaching, 11:00. Training Union, 7:15. Preaching Service, 8:00.

The Old Sunday School looked mighty good last Sunday with 411 and that is about the number we ought to have each Sunday. Will you try to help us have that number Sunday, October 17th.

Sunday morning the pastor will speak on a "Victorious Faith". "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our FAITH".

Sunday night following the preaching hour we will have the baptismal services. There are several to be baptized.

You are cordially invited and urged to be present. The Training Union needs you and you need its influence.

The study course coming up Oct. 31-Nov. 5th. will count for either the Sunday School or the Training Union. We should have not less than a 100 to take this course. Begin now making your plans to attend this course. Three visiting teachers to teach during the course.

We'll be looking for you. A. E. Harrison, Pastor.

3rd. and 4th.: This week we have been making Hallowe'en decorations for our room. It seems as if the Spirit of Hallowe'en is really here with so many witches on their broomsticks, black cats, with big green eyes and laughing jack o' lanterns.

We've elected our room mothers. And we're so proud that Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Sheets wanted to be our room mothers.

Our room has been listening regularly to "The Story Parade" every Monday. This week we heard "Wait for William". And there's one boy in our room with the name of William, so that made us enjoy the story even more.

Keith Sheets has been ill this week. Hurry back, Keith. We miss you. Shrum.

5th and 6th.: The fifth grade is proud of their perfect attendance record. There has been no one absent or tardy during the first six weeks.

We have made Hallowe'en posters and decorated our room.

We elected room mothers. They are Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Boyd, and Mrs. Rogers.

We have made posters and charts in our health classes and washed our windows and cleaned the room. Some of the children brought pot plants and gold fish for our room.

The boys selected to keep the room straight and paper off the floor this week are Loranzel Elledge, Paul Ferguson, and Charles Russell Boyd. Lamanac.

7th and 8th.: We enjoyed the picture show "Venezuela". And this is the week we are worrying over those six weeks test. Especially that history. We missed Billy Sheets while he was ill. Williams.

Activity Periods

Primary: We have been having so much fun planning for our Hallowe'en assembly program. We have learned a new song, "Hallowe'en Pranks". Our little play, "The Lost Pumpkin", stars Rosine Hill, Ronnie Gresham, Virginia Hodges, Charles Burleson, and Barbara Crommett. We all think Rosine makes a very fine little pumpkin. And "Black and Gold" is our very spooky choral reading. Shrum.

Upper Activity: We are hoping our assembly program will be polished and ready to give by Friday. We have a play that's just right for now. We proudly present "October Days" with Francine Johnson, Patsy Morgan, Dorothy Louise Whigham, Burl Ray Matthews, Billy Sheets, Charles Russell Boyd, Paul Ferguson, Jerry Farrington, and Louise Hambleton. Our other play, "The Witch's Thinking Cap", suggests Hallowe'en. The cast includes Helen Sue Bundy, Mary Evelyn Sites, Loranzel Elledge, Donald Roy, and Maxine Gibson.

We are planning for two days a week to have our handicraft period. The girls will knit, embroider and weave, while the boys work on model airplanes. But not all of them anyway. Paul Ferguson wants to knit something and Junior Alexander thinks embroidery is a good idea.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

WNU SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, late of the editorial staff of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, has been inducted into the army, classified as a "spare" moment on KP duty. He has taken time out, however, to advise prospective doughboys to "paint the town red" before induction and once in the army to "keep an open mind" as the "first three weeks are the hardest." His constant assignment to KP is the despair of his sergeant who believes Hargrove will never learn to be a crack soldier. His last experience was a rifle inspection in which he fared badly. Now he begins a new episode concerning advancement in rank.

CHAPTER IV

Selectee Joseph G. Gant, late of Liberty, South Carolina, came out for reveille this morning with a grin you could have used for a foot rule. He held both his arms against the front of his shirt in a queerly strained posture and blushed happily every time someone looked at him.

"The heat's got the boy," I told Gene Shumate. "Looks like the best ones always go first."

"That ain't the heat," said Cookie. "He seems to have a cramp in his arms." We looked at Citizen-Soldier Gant's arms again. Then, for the first time, we noticed two shining stripes on each sleeve. Citizen-Soldier Gant was a corporal now!

"Heavens to Betsy," we shouted in unison for his benefit. "Is that punk a corporal?" Corporal Gant acknowledged the tribute by joyfully changing his color to a holiday red. The grin widened until his ears hung perilously on the brink of his lips. It took him half the morning to sober his spirits to working conditions.

Corporal Gant has been in the Army exactly four months. He had been an acting corporal for three weeks before he got his stripes.

Heaven grant him strength for the ordeal ahead.

The term "buck private" was explained to us this afternoon. It refers to the Old Army Game, "passing the buck." The sergeant is first called on the carpet for a mistake in his platoon. The sergeant seeks out the corporal and gives him a dressing-down. The corporal passes the buck by scolding the ears of the private. The private doesn't even have a mule to kick, so he can't pass the buck any farther. He keeps it. That makes him a buck private.

The Army, I find, has many subtle ways to trap the unwary into volunteering for work. First there was the sergeant over at the Reception Center who came through the recreation hall one afternoon calling for "Private Smith." Four men answered. All four were put to work picking up cigarette stubs.

On the call, "Anybody in here know how to handle a truck?" don't speak up. The last three were seen later pushing a hand truck up the battery street to haul rifle racks.

Corporal Henry Ussery is to date the most dangerous conscripser. This week he came into the squadroom to ask if anyone was good at shorthand. Three citizen-soldiers admitted that they were.

"Report to the kitchen," the corporal laughed. "The mess sergeant says he's short-handed on dishwashers."

"One of the most solemn and responsible trusts of a soldier," Sergeant "Curly" Taylor said today, "is his guard duty." Sergeant Taylor, who has been in the Army for nineteen years and probably knows more about guard duty than any man in Fort Bragg, is teaching us about guard duty now.

The soldier is called to this duty about once a month. For a twenty-four-hour period, he is on two hours, and off four hours, and he "walks his post in a military manner," guarding the peace and possessions and safety of a part of the post. He is responsible only to a corporal of the guard, a sergeant of the guard, an officer of the day, and his commanding officer.

The guard, or sentry, is known chiefly to the reading and movie-going public by two expressions, "Halt, who goes there?" and "Corporal of the guard! Post number three!" The former, Sergeant Taylor said with his best poker-face, has given the Army considerable worry at times.

According to the sergeant, the guard is instructed to give the "halt" order three times and then shoot. Over-enthusiastic rookies from the back counties, he said, had been known to go like this: "Halt! halt! halt! Ka-POW!" (You can believe it or leave it; I never question what the sergeant says.)

There was one rookie guard, he said, who halted him, questioned him and allowed him to pass. After he had gone several steps, the sentry again shouted, "Halt!" Sergeant Taylor came back and wanted to know—politely, of course—how come. "My orders," said the guard, "say to holler 'Halt' three times and then shoot. You're just on your second halt now!"

The other popular expression is the come-a-running call that goes up the line to the guardhouse when a guard takes a prisoner or "meets any case not covered by instruction" (General Order No. 9). If the guard is on the seventh post, he sings out, "Corporal of the guard! Post number seven!" The guard on the sixth post picks up the cry and it goes down the line like that.

There's the story about the officer of the day who questioned a new sentry, as officers of the day frequently do in order to test the sentries. "Suppose," the OD asked, "that you shouted 'halt' three times and I kept going, what would you do?"

The guard was apparently stumped by the question. Finally he answered, "Sir, I'd call the corporal of the guard."

The officer of the day gloated. "Aha!" he said. "So you'd call the corporal of the guard, would you? And just why would you call the corporal of the guard?"

This time the answer was prompt and decisive—and correct. "To haul away your dead body, sir!"

Heroes are born, not made.

There's one job here that is nothing but goldbricking in itself. That's the latrine orderly detail. You go to work after lunch and spend the rest of the afternoon watching the fire in the water heater and feeding it regularly—every two hours. The next morning you sweep and mop the washroom and spend the rest of the time until lunch watching the fire again. All in all, you lead a lazy, carefree existence.

There was a slip-up somewhere yesterday. I was latrine orderly instead of a KP. It was probably the mess sergeant's idea.

The boys started out after lunch for an afternoon of drilling in the warm Carolina sunshine and learning to drive trucks across ditches.

An hour later, I decided to take a casual look at the boiler. When I opened the furnace-room door, a blast of strong brownish smoke struck me to the ground. I lay there for several minutes, tapping my forehead thoughtfully, while more smoke poured out.

When it still hadn't slackened after five minutes, I crawled under the layer of smoke to the boiler. There the sickening vapor was, pouring nonchalantly through clinks in the door.

"Don't come telling me about it," said Sergeant "Ma" Davidson. "Take out the pipes and clean them. All of them."

I had to see the top sergeant to get my instructions. When I returned to Sergeant Davidson I was happy again.

"Ma," I told him, "the top kick says for you to supervise the job." The sergeant was furious with rage and frustration. I grabbed a screwdriver and he grabbed Private Downer, who had a black mark by his name for not wearing his identification tag. The three of us started work.

First, put out the fire in the boiler. Shake it down, throw ashes on it. It still burns. Shake it down more, throw sand on it. Still burns. Close the bottom door, shake it down more, throw ashes and sand on it. Curse it. After too long, it dies.

The man who devised the system for connecting an indoor boiler and an outdoor chimney should be parched with his own pipes and stuffed with oily soot.

Unscrew a pipe, lift it gently, coax it from its socket. Easy does it. Careful there. When you have it almost out, inhale for your sigh of relief. Crash! The whole network of pipes bounces off the floor scattering ashes and soot over half the battery area.

After half an hour of scrubbing and wiping the interior regions of all the pipes, they're ready to go up again. All but one of them are in place and the last one is ready to be fitted. Careful there! Easy, now! Watch out! Catch it! CRASH! The boys come in from the drill field at 4:30 and head for the showers. There is no hot water.

"Get a load of that Hargrove," they fume, in an unnecessarily nasty manner. "He gets a job where all he has to do is throw a shovel of coal on the fire every two hours. And then when we come in, there ain't no hot water. There ain't even no fire. Throw the bum out."

I grinned weakly as I reported to the supply sergeant for work. "You must be that nice Sergeant Thomas W. Israel I've heard so many nice things about."

"No, little man," he said. "I'm the nice Sergeant Israel you've been running your loud mouth about. I'm the nice sergeant who always gives you the wrong clothing sizes and hides your laundry and does all those awful things you've been telling about me."

"So help me, sergeant," I protested. "I never named thee but to praise. Somebody's been trying to poison your mind against me."

"I am also the nice sergeant," he said, "who is going to let you earn your seventy cents today. Take off your fatigues, my man, and prepare to sweat. Today we make progress. We are going to unpack rifles."

It seems to me that when the manufacturer prepares to pack a box of Army rifles, his cruel streak comes out at its worst. From the look of the rifles, he has his three-year-old daughter prepare a compound of molasses, pitch, and used motor oil—the gooier the better. He slings each gun into the resulting mess, sloshes it around for a while, and then lays it neatly into the box.

You use a swab about the size of a tablecloth to wipe the grease from the rifle. When you're halfway through the first rifle, you have to use the gun to wipe the grease from the cloth. When you have finished, you need a large coal shovel to wipe the grease off yourself.

There is nothing so conducive to itching as the inability to scratch. Just when the molasses-pitch-axe grease mixture covers your hand to the point where you can't see the outlines of the fingers, that left nostril starts tingling. At first it itches only a little and you decide to suffer it. So you don't wipe your hands on the seat of your trousers. Instead you pick up another rifle and your hand sinks to the elbow in the goo which wraps it. This is the stage where your nose gets peevish and impatient and decides to itch in earnest.

Finally, you decide to give in. You wipe your hands—an operation which takes a good three or four minutes for satisfactory results. You lift your hand to scratch your nose, only to find that your nose isn't itching any more.

I was doing fairly well this morning, even when you take the itch into consideration, until the mess sergeant happened to stroll by.

"Hello, little man," he sings gaily, with a horrible gleam in his eyes. "You've not been around to see me for a long time. Aren't mad, are you?"

I look at my hands, at the rifle, at the old shoe, and at the mess sergeant. I hold my tongue. Health is wealth.

"We miss you terribly in the kitchen," he coos, "even when you go griping around that my food is the worst in the Army. I just saw the first sergeant and I asked him to let you be a KP just as soon as he can spare you. Oh, we're going to do wonders to that kitchenware, you and I."

He pats me on the forehead with ominous tenderness and departs.

The sergeant yelled out of the window at me, so I dropped my broom and went upstairs.

Five paces away, he turns for a parting shot. "Blabbermouth!" he snorts.

I suppose he's good to his mother, though.

The sergeant yelled out of the window at me, so I dropped my broom in the battery street and went upstairs.

He was sitting on the foot locker, thoughtfully rubbing his chin with the handle of his mess-kit knife.

"Ralph Oxford got called up to the battery commander's office this morning," he said, "and do you know what the Old Man gave him?"

"I've got a pretty good idea," I said. "If he gave him what he gave me when I got called up, it has four letters, starts with an h and ends with an l."

The sergeant closed his eyes and slowly shook his head. "Oxford isn't a sore thumb to the platoon like you are," he groaned. "Oxford got a bright red stripe to wear around his sleeve."

"Oxford's no fireman," I told him.

"You're darn right he ain't," said the sergeant. "Starting with today, Oxford and Zuber and Roff and Maciejewski and Pappas and Mihal-akakos are acting corporals!"

I knew there must be a moral to all this, so I waited for him to go on.

"Now, why couldn't you have been one of those six boys?" he asked.

Ballad for Americans:
If you could buy a spot where you could see
How Nature had been lavish in its art,
If you could buy a place where Liberty
Is ever dearest to the human heart...
If you could buy the road to happiness
With little homes that bordered on the lane,
It would not take a fool a second guess
To know that you would buy and buy again;

If you could buy contentment through the years
And love that grows from fine and decent things,
If you could buy an armistice from tears
And all the grief and woe that battle brings—
Oh, if you could, how quickly you'd respond,
And yet, what else is bought with every bond?

The Magic Lanterns: James Cagney blew in with "Johnny Come Lately," his debut as an impresario, and he needn't worry about quitting a good job. He is breezy and tough as the tramp reporter who Page One's town's stuffer goniffs into being better boys. Grace George and Ed McNamara are part of the assets... Robert Donat, who is paid off in sighs where Sinatra collects shrieks, comes back in "The Adventures of Tartu," which is a stylish dish. He plays a British officer risking his precious neck in Czechoslovakia. The best place to view the tale is from the edge of your seat—as if you had any choice. Valerie Hobson is the girl... Abbott and Costello go in for Winter sports in "Hit the Ice," and being the kind of comics they are, you know what they hit it with... "They sent me over here to visit him a little while," she said. "He had never seen the baby"... She was a soap-and-water type of girl—very little makeup, and pretty... The stranger asked about clothing rationing in England... "I don't mind," she answered, "I've been wearing this skirt and blouse for two years every day"... As she started to go, the stranger pressed a ten-spot into her hand... "Buy something for the baby," he said, "and yourself"... "Oh, thank you very much," was the reply, "now I may get a new blouse."

Manhattan Mural: It was in the Stork Club Sunday evening... A youthful sailor without a rating or campaign ribbon was dancing with his little old mother... We have never seen such a lovely portrait in all our sinful years... No other couple on the floor seemed to be enjoying themselves as much as this boy and his proud mother... She simply beamed—and so did the rest of us—taking it all in from the ring-side... "Gosh," said a fellow, whose chest is crowded with decorations, "that sailor makes everybody in here look silly"... Kathleen Norris Says:

The Girl in Jim's Office

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"I finally persuaded Jim to drive me out one Sunday to the farm to see David. It was a happy day, lunch under the trees."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE story of Lillian White is a strange one, although its beginning was commonplace enough. Lillian worked in a law office seven years ago; she was pretty, unsophisticated, 22 years old and the boss was just twice her age. The boss told her that his marriage was a lonely one, that his wife had ceased to love him, and that his three children were practically strangers. Lillian never stopped to think that there is usually some reason why wives stop loving their husbands and children remain strangers to their fathers; Lillian never do. She gave him sympathy and understanding, she listened to the boss and presently she loved him.

Louis then rented a small apartment for Lillian, and Lillian gave up everything in life for him—home, mother, faith, self-respect. In the uncertain and scattered times that he could be with her, she comforted him and flattered him to his heart's content. She first wrote me five years ago when a baby was coming. Neither she nor Louis wanted this baby, and Lillian's question to me was about adoption. She didn't even want to see the baby. However, the hospital made her nurse it for two weeks anyway, and after that a quiet old maid cousin of Lillian's, Marian Black, took the little boy, came to love him passionately, and eventually adopted him legally. Marian had a lovely farm, some money, and had had a lonely time of it since her mother died.

"My fatal mistake," Lillian wrote me in her second letter, "was in wanting Louis to see his little boy. I finally persuaded him to drive out with me one Sunday to the farm to see David. It was a happy day, lunch under the trees, and Marian and Louis liked each other immediately."

Second Love Scorned, Takes Third. "But I never dreamed that they would fall in love. Louis' wife died a few months later in an accident, and from that time he began to pay attention to Marian. Of course there was no question as to what Marian would feel; she is 37 and has never been in love before. I have threatened Louis that I will tell Marian everything unless he plays fair with me and makes me his wife, but he says that he and I have stopped loving each other, and marriage between us would be a terrible mistake."

That was the second letter. By that time Lillian, shocked and angered by Louis' cold-bloodedness, really had stopped loving him; indeed she said she hated him, and Marian, too. My advice was to tell Marian the truth; poor Lillian took a vicious satisfaction in confessing the whole thing to Marian, and Marian, Lillian wrote me, was "bitterly grieved." Marian had a long talk with Louis, had another long talk with Louis, had many more talks; Louis felt deeply repentant, and Marian married him. They have one little girl. And Lillian killed herself.

Not every girl who falls in love with a married boss has quite so sad a story. But none of the stories come out happily. The boss holds 13 trumps; he can't lose. He can always end the affair as dishonorably as he began it; always explain to his wife that when a siren leads a man astray it is the siren's fault. Stockholder Embarrasses Lovers. "Neither one of us will ever love anyone else because we simply CAN'T," writes Ursula Davis, of her love for her employer. "His wife is as nice as she can be, but it was never love between them," the letter goes on. "Both of them were married when they met, both got divorces, and there is a daughter to each marriage, nearly grown. He feels that she will be as willing to get a divorce as he is. I am not a calculating girl and I am not a baby either, I am 24. I have flirted now and then, but this is the real thing. When Paul asked for my love I didn't stop to reason or make terms. His mother-in-law," the letter continues, "is a stockholder in his firm, and Paul cannot risk angering her as she might make a great deal of trouble. I see the reason for that; it's not romantic, but it's practical, and I think women too often put their emotional demands first and forget that a man is a provider as well as a lover. So we must wait until either his mother-in-law dies, which she may at any time as she has a bad heart, or until some circumstance makes his divorce and our marriage possible. Will you tell me what's wrong about a girl trusting fully the man she loves? Just because he loves me I am not to believe him when he promises at the first possible moment to make me his wife?"

GIRLS AND THEIR MARRIED BOSSES

A girl's relationships with her married boss, or any other married man, should be strictly confined to office work. Kathleen Norris relates the story of a girl who thought she fell in love with her married boss. After a series of difficulties and disillusionments, she committed suicide. Although all such relationships do not result in such extreme tragedy, none end happily. A married man who carries on an affair with a member of his office force or any other woman is not to be trusted.

To which last question the simple answer is "No." Any man who takes advantage of a girl's trust in him, her youth and inexperience, her general silliness and softness, to establish her in an illicit position, simply isn't trustworthy, and the sooner this is discovered by all stenographers, bookkeepers and office workers generally, and all other girls who are tempted by the attentions of anyone as important as the boss, the better. Propinquity can be a dangerous thing, and a girl must recognize it, and guard against it like any other danger. Men do divorce wives and do marry second loves. But the second love is very rarely a girl from Jim's office.

Boss Peses Problem.

"And yet, if the boss wants to be friendly," a girl said to me many years ago, "what can you do? He asks you to stay after hours to take some letters, then he asks you if you would mind having a bite of dinner with him, and then, if you are seen, there are questions and criticisms. A girl knows all the time what his pleasant remarks and kindly interest are leading up to," went on this wise young woman, "but she has her job to consider, too, and once the boss gets the notion that you are an unfriendly, stiff little prude, you don't improve your chances for promotion. So the only thing to do," she concluded cheerfully, "if you find yourself in an office where all the girls warn you that the boss is too susceptible, is to get out and get yourself another job. But it's too bad," she said, "that girls have to be bothered that way. There ought to be some way of letting the wives know what goes on."

JESUS AND THE SABBATH

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 20:8-11; Isaiah 58:13, 14; Mark 2:23-3:6.

GOLDEN TEXT—And he said unto them, the sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath.—Mark 2:27.

The sabbath was essentially a day of rest and worship; hence the principles which surrounded it and directed its life may be applied to our day of rest, which is the first day of the week—the Lord's day.

That word "rest" sounds a little strange in this busy world of ours, and yet it is an important one. It means quiet for the struggling one, calm for the troubled, repose for the weary, tranquility for the disturbed, cessation of labor for the worn-out one.

God in His infinite wisdom saw that without rest man would soon destroy himself, and He made provision for one day in seven when labor should cease and man should be free for that recreation of soul and body which should fit him for the labor of the week.

Our lesson answers two important questions about our rest day, namely, Why? and How?

I. Why We Keep a Day of Rest

(Exod. 20:8-11; Isa. 58:13, 14).

The chief reason is that God commands it. One day out of seven is for our recreation by rest and worship. That should be sufficient to cause His people to "remember" the day "to keep it holy."

Doubtless it is true that essential war work and related activities must be carried on, even on Sunday. God did not forbid works of necessity. But even though there is this need, who will deny that many use Sunday for work that is not essential—and countless others devote it to godless pleasure.

Notice that the day of rest was to be not only for the family, but also for servants and for visitors. The employer who unnecessarily operates his factory or office on Sunday violates this commandment. Note also that the man who is to rest on the seventh day is supposed to work on the six days.

The precept of Exodus 20 is enforced by the promise of Isaiah 58. The man who delights in keeping God's commandment regarding the day of rest, will find that God delights in and honors him. Both men and nations have found this to be true.

II. How We Keep a Day of Rest

(Mark 2:23-3:6).

The formalists of Christ's day, the Pharisees, had overlooked the heart of God's law and the holy living which it was intended to produce, and had bound up even the observance of the sabbath (which was intended to be a day of rest and gladness) in such a mass of technical "thou shalt not" that it was a day of fear. They had a false outward profession of worship and had entirely missed the true spirituality of God's law, a fact which drew upon their heads the anger and rebuke of our Lord.

The two incidents in this portion of our lesson reveal that under the cloak of earnestly observing the law of the sabbath, the Pharisees were actually covering their own hypocrisy and their hatred for Christ.

The accusations against the disciples because they had taken and eaten grain was not on the ground that they had stolen, for the law (Deut. 23:25) guaranteed that right to the one who passed through his neighbor's field. The Pharisees contended, however, that the disciples had worked on the sabbath in picking and hulling the grain.

The healing of the man with the withered arm revealed that back of their professed concern for the sabbath was a real hatred for Christ. It is an appalling thing that in the house of worship on the very sabbath day, these men, outwardly so religious, were plotting against our Lord.

"They watched him," and even so the enemies of the Cross watch us who are His followers. They are not concerned that the man with the withered arm may be helped, but only that they may find something to condemn.

Jesus cuts across human hypocrisy and hatred to declare that the true keeping of the sabbath is to do the work of God. No work of necessity (like plucking the grain) or of mercy (like healing the withered arm) is ever out of place on the day of rest.

A word of caution is needed, for some have sought to interpret this Scripture as providing biblical ground for doing all sorts of things on their day of rest. That day is for man's good, not for his destruction. His greatest good is served by rest, worship, spiritual development, Christian fellowship, and the doing of deeds of necessity and mercy.

The desecration of the Lord's Day in our time is a serious matter. Let us not contribute to its deterioration. America needs Sunday as a day of rest and worship.

Tobacco High in 1500; Professors Taught Its Use

When tobacco was first introduced in England during the 16th century, it was literally worth its weight in gold—a pound of tobacco was commonly sold for an equal weight of silver and coins.

The art of smoking was also regarded most seriously, and it was considered a disgrace not to be able to inhale smoke through the nose. There were even professors of smoking who initiated beginners into the mysteries of inhaling and blowing smoke rings.
