Couple hold school hostage; Bomb explodes

COKEVILLE, Wyo. (AP) — A heavily armed couple with a bomb took 150 students and adults hostage at an elementary school Friday and demanded $300 million but were killed when the bomb exploded accidentally and the man shot himself, authorities said.

At least 74 people, most of them children, suffered second-degree burns in the blast of the gasoline bomb about 4 p.m. MDT at the Cokeville Elementary School, and one teacher was shot in the back when he tried to flee, officials said.

The man gave the device to his wife to hold while he went to the bathroom, and she accidentally set off its hair-trigger mechanism, detonating the bomb, said Lincoln County Sheriff Deb Wolfley.

"I thought we were all dead," said secretary Christine Cook, who was in the classroom whet it exploded. "I heard this awful noise. It was smoke and flames. Just pandemonium."

A search of the school after the explosion turned up two other explosive devices that were removed safely, Wolfley said.

The couple was identified as David Young and his wife, Doris, and residents said Young was a former police officer in the town of about 550 people.

The incident began about 1 p.m. when the Youngs entered the school and herded the children, teachers and administrators into a large classroom, said Principal Max Excell.

A girl came into the town clerk's office and "said her father was going to blow up the school," said Nadine Dana, the clerk.

Witnesses said Young passed out leaflets, demanded to talk to President Reagan and announced, "This is the revolution." The pair asked $2 million ransom for each of the hostages.

Young said he intentionally came to Cokeville to press his demands, according to Excell.

"He told me he'd picked this town because it was a rural community and people take care of their children," the principal said. "He had it very well thought out."

The Youngs, who were in their late 40s, "behaved quite rationally most of the time," Excell said.

According to Wolfley, the bomb's hair-trigger device required either the man or woman to keep a hand on it. When Young started to go to the bathroom, Mrs. Young's hand slipped off the device, and it blew up.

Young then shot himself as Excell and others looked on, Excell said.

Mrs. Young was surrounded by children when the bomb went off, said Bob Looney, a spokesman for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.

"They (the children) were all in the classroom when it went off," Excell said. "The classroom was demolished. I don't know how they got out alive."

Children and adults with burns on their faces and arms streamed from the school after the explosion "completely hysterical," said Corrine Fredrickson, wife of the town's police chief. Many children lay on the ground screaming.

"We heard an explosion, two gunshots (and saw) kids running in every in every direction," said Donna Morfeld, a parent.

Odessan 'shocked' she failed essay

ODESSA (AP) — One of the teachers who flunked the statewide teacher competency test says she's not embarrassed about her failure and doesn't worry about what students or parents might think.

But Jessie Smith, who's taught for 20 years, says she was shocked to find she had failed the essay portion of the test.

"I said, 'This has happened to me?' I had four unanswered questions on the reading portion. I just knew the essay part would make up for it," said the sixth grade teacher at Zavala Magnet School.

"I thought I'd failed the reading part because I left some questions unanswered. But I didn't think I'd failed the essay," she said.

Results of her scores show she failed three categories in two sections of the essay portion of the March 10 Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers.

In the portion of the test in which teachers had to write a mock letter to parents, Ms. Smith chose the wrong words and used incorrect grammar and punctuation, her score indicated.

"To me, as far as I'm concerned, I composed a very good letter, but apparently the level was too advanced for parents to understand. I'm going to have to get on a very simple level to pass, which to me is degrading," she contended.

Ms. Smith said she questions the grading system. "I'm sure minorities didn't have any problems if the test was graded correctly. It wasn't that hard," she said.

She was among the 18.4 percent of black teachers who failed the TECAT. Six percent of Hispanic teachers failed, as did 1.1 percent of white teachers.

All compositions were scored by Measurement Incorporated of Durham, N.C. The scoring staff was required to have a minimum of a bachelor's degree in English, language arts, education or a related field.

Oil prices top $16 for first time since February

NEW YORK (AP) — Surging oil futures prices, bolstered by a continuing strong demand for gasoline and diesel fuel — especially in preparation for the Memorial Day weekend — on Friday broke through the $16 barrier for the first time since Valentine's Day.

Analysts said a shortness of supply of certain crude grades used to make distillates, such as gasoline, jet fuel and heating oil, was helping to support the recovery, along with technical market factors.

"The June contract is going to expire on Tuesday, but there is still a large short position that needs to be liquidated," said Andrew Lebow, an analyst at the Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc. securities firm.

In a short sale, an investor sells borrowed oil in the hopes that the price will fall before he must replace it. Lebow said the combination of the heavy demand together with the shortage of domestic and foreign crude supplies helped to drive prices higher.

He also cited the rising seasonal demand for gasoline as the Memorial Day weekend approaches.

Peter Beutel, an analyst with Rudolf Wolff Futures Inc., said the number of refinery runs to meet that demand is now at the highest point "since the weekend of August 28, 1981."

"Since March 21, we've increased refinery runs by almost 1.5 million barrels a day. That goes a long way to reducing the glut of crude oil," he added

In industry terms, a refinery run is the amount of crude oil that is put through a refinery to produce products, such as gasoline or heating oil.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, contracts for June delivery of West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude grade, closed at $16.16 a 42-gallon barrel, up 48 cents from Thursday's settlement price.

The last time a near-month contract closed above $16 was Feb. 14, when the price settled at $16.01. It then dropped to hover at levels between $11 and $14 in March and April.

Earlier this month, however, the bulls took over.

On May 2, the price broke back through $14, to $14.73. Then, less than a week later, it passed the the $15 mark, at $15.21, on May 7.

Among contracts for June delivery of refined products, unleaded gasoline closed at 54.38 cents a gallon, up from Thursday's 53.35 cents; leaded gasoline was up more than a penny to 54.41 cents, up from 52.95 cents Thursday; and heating oil also rose, to 44.54 cents, from 43.62 cents a day earlier.

Besides the advent of the summer driving season, Beutel said the rise in prices is also partly a result of the strike that shut down Norway's North Sea oil rigs for several weeks in April, taking about 900,000 barrels off the market every day.

"Norway is one of the big producers of light crude," he said. "The lighter the crude the more gasoline or distillate you can make from each barrel. The heavier the crude, the less you can make."

Although the strike is over, renewed shipments of North Sea crude are still enroute to this country. At the same time routine summer maintenance has shut down some British North Sea rigs.

One result, Beutel said, is that refiners have had to turn to heavier grades, which produce less gasoline per barrel.

"As a result, this has increased demand for crude (helping to push up prices), without increasing a corresponding supply of heating oil and gasoline," he said.

Commissioners reject proposed jail studies

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

Midland County commissioners on Friday reviewed "excellent" presentations on two proposed studies on Midland County Courthouse and Jail needs into the 21st century but rejected both bids because the price wasn't right.

"They are excellent presentations," Commissioner Durward Wright said of study proposals by Houston and Dallas planners, but "the price is considerably higher than we anticipated."

Daniel, Mann, Johnson & Mendenhall of Houston bid $115,585 on the project, and Henningson, Durham & Richardson Inc. of Dallas bid $116,600.

The commissioners indicated that they had requested not such exhaustive studies as suggested by proposed prices and study outlines.

"Both came in much higher than we anticipated," said Commissioner Win Brown, who noted that both firms submitting bids "are excellent."

"Both firms sort of over-emphasized the deal," said Commissioner C. Wallace "Wally" Craig. "I don't think we need this much information."

Wright said that the studies proposed by the firms detail architectural and engineering plans beyond the scope of what the commissioners had envisioned. The commissioners had asked for a study to propose sites for jail and/or courthouse complexes, and to study traffic flow, space and facilities' requirements, population growths and other factors which would guide the commissioners in developing a master plan for county government's physical needs. From that point, the commissioners would consider the community's economics, needs, financing, and the retaining of architects and engineers to propose designs.

"If they want to give us all of this information for less money, that's fine," said Craig.

Celebration of Arts arts, crafts festival to be this weekend

From Staff Reports

Celebration of the Arts, sponsored by Midland Arts Assembly, is hosting its two-day free arts and crafts festival today and Sunday at Midland Center and Centennial Plaza.

Included in the festival will be continuous performances by local talent. Hours today are 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Sunday, 12-5 p.m. A visual art sale, entertainment and food will also be featured.

The special project of this year's Celebration of the Arts is the 24-inch by 24-inch bronze plaque that will be placed in a prominent downtown location as a tribute to the Texas Sesquicentennial, 1836-1986.

Visitors and guests to the Celebration of the Arts event may, for $1 each, sign a four-foot by four-foot map of Texas. The map will highlight the Sesquicentennial logo, the Texas star at Midland's location on the map and Midland products such as cotton, oil, and cattle. Several thousand Midlanders are expected to participate.

The map will be photographically reduced and etched onto the bronze plaque. This will be presented to the City of Midland as a tribute to the Texas Sesquicentennial.

President of Kilgore College will address MC graduation

From Staff Reports

McLaurin

Almost 200 graduates are scheduled to receive diplomas this evening when Midland College conducts its 13th annual commencement ceremonies. The event begins at 7 p.m. in the Al G. Langford-Chaparral Center.

Guest speaker is Dr. Stewart H. McLaurin, president of Kilgore (Texas) College. He is in the second year of his three-year term as president of the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association, which is comprised of the presidents of the 48 public community college districts in the state. McLaurin received his B.S. degree from Sam Houston State University, his M.A. from Louisiana State University, and his Ph.D. from the University of Texas-Austin.

McLaurin taught mathematics in a Texas high school for three years before starting his 20-year association with Kilgore College. He served as registrar and dean of admissions, associate dean, vice president, and executive vice president before being named president in 1978. He served as chairman of the Kilgore Bicentennial Committee, was president and "Man of the Year" of the Kilgore Chamber of Commerce.

Midland College Community Band will play the processional and recessional music and will be joined by the Midland College Chorale for a special presentation of "America The Beautiful." Walter Osadchuk is conductor of the Midland College Band and Dr. Michael Jordan directs the Chorale.

William "Hoyle" McCright, president of the Midland College Board of Trustees will present the diplomas. Dr. Jess H. Parrish, college president, is serving as master of ceremonies. Trustee Steve Kiser will pronounce the invocation.

Following the ceremony, which is open to the public, graduates are being honored at the President's Reception.

Students graduating with an Associate of Arts degree are: Janis L. Allen, Kelly Ann Dumont, and Peggy Killion Meeks.

FORT WORTH (AP) — Ten years after Gus Gavrel Jr. was paralyzed by a bullet in a shooting at the mansion of T. Cullen Davis, the Fort Worth industrialist has given him land valued at $314,000 in a civil suit settlement, the Dallas Morning News reported Friday.

Davis, who was tried for the shooting but acquitted, signed papers transferring some 70 acres of land in southwest Tarrant County to Gavrel and the law firm of Gavrel's attorney, the newspaper said.

The transfer was made April 28, about three weeks after the $15 million dollar lawsuit was settled out of court.

A person familiar with the details of the settlement said Davis also agreed to make a cash payment in addition to transferring the land, the Dallas newspaper said. The amount of the cash payment was not disclosed.

Gavrel was wounded in a 1976 shooting at Davis' $6 million mansion. Davis' 12-year-old stepdaughter Andrea Lee Wilborn and Stan Farr, a companion of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla Davis, were killed. Mrs. Davis was wounded.

Gavrel, 31, was shot in the abdomen and still carries the bullet, which lodged near his spinal cord. Mrs. Davis recovered from her injuries.

Davis was tried twice for murder in the case, with the first ending in a mistrial and the second in acquittal. He has denied any involvement in the shooting spree.

Gavrel filed a civil suit, which was settled April 3. All records in the case were sealed and participants pledged not to reveal how the dispute was resolved.

Three weeks later, Davis signed a warranty deed transferring the property to Gavrel and to the law firm of Gavrel's attorney, Grover Swift. The papers were filed in Tarrant County this week.

Tarrant County Appraisal District records show the 70 acres of land valued at $314,000 for tax purposes.

The deed states Davis transferred the property "for $10 and other valuable consideration."

"The only consideration was the settlement," an unidentified source told the newspaper. "The only thing of value that passed was his (Gavrel's) release of his claim (against Davis)."

Don Neuville, an attorney in Granbury who owns the Hood County title company where the transaction was finalized, said the land "was part of the settlement.

"We got our instructions from Gavrel's attorney. They didn't want a Tarrant County title company to handle it for some reason, and they just requested we do it," Neuville said.

Gramm's new office will be in Tyler

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, who never seems to do things the easy way, announced on Friday that he is opening a new office in Tyler — not Sulphur Springs.

On Thursday, Perry Bradley, vice chairman of the Texas Democratic Party, told the Dallas Morning News that he believed Gramm, a freshman Republican, had opened an office in Sulphur Springs, hometown of Democratic Rep. Jim Chapman, for political purposes — that is, to aid Chapman's 1985 Republican opponent in a bid this year for state Senate.

In a special election last year, Chapman narrowly defeated Gramm's candidate, Edd Hargett, for the congressional seat. Hargett has not announced, but there is speculation he will run this year in a special election for Texas Senate.

The News said Gramm denied having a Sulphur Springs office but that directory assistance gave out a number for Gramm's office in Sulphur Springs and that the phone was answered, "Senator Phil Gramm's office" by Steve Moss, county Republican Party chairman and adviser to Hargett in the congressional election.

Sen. Phil Gramm

Moss, in fact, is running Gramm's new office, said Gramm's press secretary, Larry Neal. But next month the new office will begin operations in Tyler, not Sulphur Springs. That's why Gramm denied he had a Sulphur Springs office, according to Neal.

He said Moss was maintaining an office temporarily in Sulphur Springs "until he could make arrangements personally to move to Tyler and locate appropriate office space in East Texas."

Neal said Gramm was not trying to play politics with the placement of the office.

In a news release announcing the opening of the Tyler office, Gramm said, "Through this office, I hope to give the people of East Texas expanded access to their federal government.

"For me to be effective in representing the interests of the people of East Texas, and to be an advocate for the cities, counties, school districts and individual citizens, I need to have first-hand information concerning local problems and the views of the people back home," the statement said.

Neal said the Tyler office will be a one-person operation and that Moss makes about $35,000 a year.

Gramm's other offices are in Dallas, Houston, Lubbock, Harlingen and El Paso, Neal said.

Workers, GTE reach agreement

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Unionized communications workers for General Telephone Co. of the Southwest are expected to get copies of the proposed new contract with the company by late next week, a union spokeswoman said Friday.

Negotiators for the Communications Workers of America and GTE said they reached a tentative agreement on a new contract two hours before it was due to expire at midnight Thursday.

Company spokesman Clovis McCallister said terms of the deal will not be released until both sides get formal approval.

"They said they won't say much at all until it's ratified," he said.

The new contract would affect some 8,000 hourly-wage employees in Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. As a result, the proposed contract must be mailed out, said a CWA spokeswoman who refused to give her name.

In a non-binding vote earlier in May, 93 percent of the CWA chapter voted to walk off their jobs if a new contract could not be agreed upon by midnight Thursday.

'Painter of Stars' facing problems

AP Laserphoto

Master of portrait painting Dmitri Vail poses at his home in Highland Park, where he is trying to overcome legal problems, debts and declining health.

DALLAS (AP) — Dmitri Vail, who earned the title of "Painter of the Stars" by stroking the likenesses of movie stars, politicians and business executives onto canvas, is trying to overcome legal problems, debts and deteriorating health.

Twenty years ago, Vail's celebrity portraits were featured in Dallas hotels and busy centers. He once had exclusive clientele ranging from actor Maurice Chevalier to former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

But on Friday morning, 17 portraits seized by court order, including those of Sophie Tucker and Mickey Rooney, were auctioned in Irving to raise money for a $5,200 default judgment against Vail.

The judgment stems from Vail's failure to answer a lawsuit alleging that he substituted another artist's work for a portrait he had contracted to paint, court records state.

A second lawsuit alleges Vail, 83, broke a contract to paint two portraits for a family that made a $10,000 deposit. The suit is scheduled to be heard in June.

Vail also faces a misdemeanor trial on charges that he wrote a bad check for $250. An arrest warrant for Vail was recalled last Tuesday after his lawyers entered an innocent plea for Vail, The Dallas Morning News reported.

Vail denies wrongdoing and says he has consulted attorneys.

"I've never lied," Vail said in a recent interview. "I've had many lawsuits filed. They are just things from lawyer's desks."

Vail said the root of his problems is linked to a former employee who forged checks.

On Dec. 16, then-State District Judge Sidney Fitzwater entered the $5,200 default judgment against Vail that ended in confiscation of his paintings. The suit alleged that the portrait was improperly done.

In another suit, a Dallas family claimed to have received a portrait "of such poor quality that it was unacceptable," said the family's attorney, Sam Bonney.

"The complaint is ridiculous," said Jack C. Pate, Vail's attorney. "I don't know how you measure a great artist. He's quite an extraordinary individual and quite an extraordinary man. He's one of a kind."

Despite legal and financial problems, Vail plans to franchise his art school and sell some expensive antique furniture to raise some cash.

"I want to sell these so this will put me on my feet again," Vail said.

Foot surgery has temporarily hampered his mobility and his painting, but Vail remains undaunted.

"I love myself. I don't hate myself. I would describe myself as a complete and total artist," said Vail, who is temporarily unable to walk or paint.

Born Robert David Vail, his artistic interest piqued when his parents enrolled him in art classes at age 5.

During the Depression, Vail left his Chicago studio for California. In 1941, he changed his name to Dmitri and after painting military portraits in Corpus Christi, moved to Dallas and opened a studio in October 1942.

STATE IN BRIEF

Smoking ban in effect

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin's new smoking rules have brought results.

The new city ordinance, which bans smoking in public except in designated areas, became effective Thursday.

Officials said that one person was put on notice that a charge could be filed in 20 days for non-compliance.

A private citizen filed a formal complaint against a restaurant.

Six other reports of violations were made to the city-county health department and will be investigated, said Laurel Schulze, a sanitarian for the agency.

Farmers' markets expected

AUSTIN (AP) — Farmers' markets will be opening this spring in more than 40 Texas cities and towns, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said Friday.

"Many of the new markets this season are sprouting up in the West Texas-Panhandle area and along the Gulf Coast," Hightower said.

He said eight smaller markets are already open and five more are scheduled to open this Saturday. The others will open in late May through June.

"The recent rains should really improve both the quality and the quanity of the fresh produce that is available at markets opening in the weeks ahead," said David Currie, TDA's farmers market specialist.

Unfortunately, Currie said, "because of the mild, dry winter, this season's peach crop won't be as large as it was last year."

Man arrested in hit-and-run

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston man was in Harris County Jail Friday on a charge that he fled after his car struck and killed two pedestrians along a freeway earlier this week.

Alejandro DeJesus Munoz, 27, a hospital kitchen employee, was charged Thursday with two counts of failing to stop and render aid, police said. He remained in jail after failing to make $10,000 bail on the third-degree felonies, jail spokeswoman M. Richards said.

Munoz was traveling south along the Southwest Freeway early Monday when his car swerved onto the shoulder, striking two men who had stopped to help another motorist change a flat fire, police said.

Investigators said one of the victims, Randolph Pigg, 21, of Houston, died at the scene, while Raymond David Moon, 49, died a short time later at a local hospital.

Police officer W.C. Blair said witnesses reported that Munoz, after striking the men, drove back onto the freeway.

Loan rules established

AUSTIN (AP) — Local governments must have water conservation programs in action before they can get state loans for water supply, treatment or wastewater facilities, the Texas Water Development Board said Friday.

The new rules, required under the Texas Water Plan approved by voters, require loan applicants to have conservation measures such as public information and education programs, plumbing code standards, leak detection and repair programs and drought contigency plans.

The announcement said the board's staff would help local government officials develop programs to meet the new standards.

The board also said it has asked the attorney general whether regional flood control projects are eligible for state loans.

Legislative measures implementing the Water Plan authorizes the state, acting through the board, to acquire an interest in regional water supply and wastewater treatment facilities when necessary.

Losing TRC candidates endorse Fox vs. Henderson in runoff

AUSTIN (AP) — Republican runoff election candidate Milton Fox said Friday he and two unsuccessful contenders for the Texas Railroad Commission are teaming up against the "mystery candidate" who led the May 3 GOP primary.

Fox faces John Thomas Henderson of Austin in the June 7 GOP runoff for nomination to the three-member commission that regulates Texas oil and gas.

Fox, a state representative from Houston, told a news conference Friday he had the endorsement of both state Rep. Ed Emmett, also of Houston, and Ralph Hoelscher, a Garden City rancher.

"The three of us made over 70 joint appearances before Republicans and civic groups during the (first primary) campaign," Fox said. "Our positions, while not identical, were compatible and our philosophy is very close."

He added that the three supported deregulation of trucking, while Henderson opposes the proposed change, as does Sen. John Sharp of Victoria, a Democratic runoff candidates.

Henderson said in a statement that "a couple of weeks ago (Emmett) was throwing rocks at Fox and now he says he is going to support Fox. That makes the voters wonder."

Henderson said in the statement that Fox in 1984 got a homestead exemption for a home in Austin, "yet he is the state representative for the district around Katy, outside of Houston."

Fox told the news conference that he had a house in Austin but his home residence was in the Houston area and said he voted there on May 3. "I think I am a perfectly legal resident of Houston," he said.

He said Henderson seldom appeared with the other GOP candidates in the first primary. "He has never taken any position or offered any comments concerning the oil and gas industry and the impact its problems are having in Texas," Fox said.

"Mr. Henderson has become something of a "mystery candidate' He has avoided joint appearances and is currently refusing such invitations. He does not campaign actively," Fox said.

In the May 3 primary, Henderson got 29.9 percent of the vote and Fox had 25.8 percent. Emmett got 25.1 percent and Hoelscher about 16 percent.

In Corpus Christi, Ruben Bonilla, chairman of Mexican American Democrats of Texas, said MAD formally has endorsed Texas Supreme Court Justice Robert Campbell in his re-election campaign. Campbell faces Austin appeals court Judge Jim Brady in a Democratic runoff.

Bonilla said Brady ran unsuccessfully as a Republican for the Supreme Court in 1980.

"It's time he learns the lesson that (unsuccessful GOP gubernatorial candidate) Kent Hance and other turncoats have recently learned," Bonilla said, "which is that you can't switch parties to further your own political career because most voters will not accept it any more."

Oregon Pharmacist's

Wrinkle Cream Great Success

It's an exciting story of a pharmacist who developed a wrinkle cream which women all over the country are clamoring for.

Dr. Robert Heldfond, a Portland pharmacist, used knowledge from pharmacy school and years of experience, to compound EB5, a wrinkle cream he started selling in his drugstore and which is now making cosmetic history across the nation.

Women started coming to Heldfond's pharmacy when the word got around about its wonderful results in helping women look younger. The phones never stopped ringing and letters poured in praising the results with EB5 cream.

Research lab tests show that by using EB5 cream morning and night, facial lines, lines around the eyes, lines on the forehead and around the mouth are smoothed.

EB5 contains natural ingredients, including Liprogen, an exciting natural combination developed by Dr. Heldfond and other aids to help smooth aging skin. Heldfond's base for the cream absorbs quickly leaving the skin soft and velvety.

EB5 cream is actually 5 creams in one jar . . . a wrinkle cream, moisturizer, night cream, eye cream, and makeup base, all in one. One jar lasts many months.

DEATHS

Herbert Cavenaugh

Dr. Herbert Cavenaugh, 54, of Midland, died Thursday in a local hospital after a brief illness. Services were scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Dan Scheil and the Rev. Ray Stringer officiating. Burial was to follow in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Cavenaugh was born Sept. 10, 1931, in Wilmington, N.C., where he spent his early life. During the Korean War he withdraw from college to serve in the Air Force, where he piloted a B-47 bomber and achieved the rank of captain. After his discharge he returned to the University of North Carolina, where he received his medical degree in 1968.

While in the service, he married the late Mary Jane Stephans of Uvalde. After doing his internship at John Sealey Hospital in Galveston, he moved to Midland in 1971 to began his practice. In 1983, he married Cindy Evon Gwin in Midland. He was a member of the Midland Christian Fellowship.

Survivors include his wife, Cindy Cavenaugh of Midland; three sons, John W. Cavenaugh, James S. Cavenaugh and Herbie R. Cavenaugh, all of Midland; and his mother, Madge Childs of New York City.

The family requests memorials be directed to Johathan Stellma, 7001 U.S. Highway 301 North, Sarasota, Fla., 33577, or to the Christian Haitian Outreach, 6947 Northwest 22nd Court, Margate, Fla. 33063.

Lawrence Floyd

Services for Lawrence R. "Bob" Floyd, 74, of Midland will be at 9:30 a.m. today in Ellis Funeral Home Chapel. Graveside services will be at 4 p.m. today in the Gunsight Cemetery in Breckenridge.

He died Thursday in a Midland hospital.

Pallbearers will be Jake Sax, Carroll Reeves, Harold Clark, D.L. Coleman, Johnny Mills, and Carnell Lingo.

Honorary pallbearers will be Sammy Grant, Buddy Gray, Lloyd Mills, Johnnie Stewart, Herbie Harrod, Jack Johnson, Al Burdett, and Boots Johnston.

John C. Meigs

Services for John C. (Jack) Meigs of Midland were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Jimmy Stovall, pastor of South Memorial Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was at Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Meigs, 85, died at his home early on the morning of May 14.

Meigs was born March 2, 1901, in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, just south of Hulbert, Okla. His father, John Henry Meigs, was the great-grandson of Chief John Ross, and his mother, Elinor Boudinot was the granddaughter of Elias Boudinot. Meigs was 5/8 Cherokee and an original enroller of the Dawes Commission. He began his education at the Meigs School under the teaching of his mother. He attended high school in Farwell, Texas, and completed his education at Bacon Indian School in Muskogee, Okla. He married Chloe Grady Leonhardt Nov. 29, 1953. He was a member of the Church of Religious Science.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Annie Meigs and Elinor Meigs, both of Fort Gibson, Okla.; two nieces, Elinor Stott and Margaret McKee, both also of Ft. Gibson.

Pallbearers were B.R. Young, Andy Salcedo, Brian Schwanitz, Douglas Neeper, Reu Richards, and Leo Bartol.

Honorary pallbearer was Norman Hill.

Sarah E. Pearson

Sarah E. Pearson of Midland, 84, died Thursday at her home. Services were scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Lewis Avenue Assembly of God Church in Tulsa, Okla., with C.C. Wallace officiating. Burial was to follow in Rosehill Cemetery under the direction of Butlers and Stumpff Funeral Home in Tulsa.

Mrs. Pearson was born Sept. 22, 1901, in Missouri, and was reared in Tulsa, where she worked for Globe Clothiers in the alterations department for 20 years. She moved to Midland in 1959, and did alterations in her home and for Cal's Man Shop.

Survivors include a daughter, Julia Katherine Bridgewater of Midland; and a sister, Ann Deramo of Tulsa.

PUC postpones vote on fuel rule

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Public Utility Commission listened to nearly 50 comments on its new fuel rule Friday but decided to study the remarks before taking a final vote on the matter.

The rule, which commissioners adopted on an emergency basis earlier this year, requires utility companies to submit detailed information regarding their fuel purchases every month. The PUC staff examines that data to determine precisely what utilities are paying for their fuel, which commonly accounts for about 50 percent of the typical monthly electric bill.

Commissioners enacted the fuel rule to halt a series of fuel overcharges regularly occurring since a change in PUC policy three years ago. Since the fall of 1983, investor-owned utilities overcollected nearly $1 billion from their customers in fuel costs.

The rule also establishes a refund plan for utilities that charge their customers a higher rate for fuel than the commission allows. For residential customers, the provision bases refunds on current power consumption, rather than usage during the period of overcollection.

Several parties involved in cases at the commission have criticized that provision as unfair, claiming that some customers will not receive the refund they deserve. Comments on that and other aspects of the rule delayed final approval of the measure Friday.

State Treasurer Ann Richards urged commissioners to revise the rule so that customers who have left a utility's service area could still collect any refund they would have received had they not moved.

Midland girl hit by motorcycle

From Staff Reports

An 8-year-old Midland girl was listed in serious condition in Midland Memorial Hospital Friday night after being hit by a motorcycle in the intersection of Dallas Street and Louisiana Avenue, according to Emergency Medical Service and hospital reports.

Adriene Esquivel, 724 N. Lincoln, was listed in serious condition with a head injury, an MMH spokesman said. The girl was reportedly struck by a motorcycle shortly before 6 p.m., but further details about the accident were unavailable Friday night.

In other reports, a 34-year-old man and a 24-year-old woman were arrested at Midland Regional Airport on Friday night after Midland police dogs sniffed out suspected illegal drugs in their luggage.

The two, who were not traveling together, were arrested about 9:13 p.m. by Midland sheriff's officers after dogs from the Midland Police K-9 Unit sniffed something suspicious in at least two bags, according to Sheriff's Office reports.

The man was expected to be charged with possession of cocaine and misdemeanor possession of marijuana, and the woman was expected to be charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana, reports said.

In other reports, Midland Insulation, 1501 W. Industrial, reported the theft of a $1,000 portable radio from a 1982 GMC pickup which was parked on a road in northwest Midland County.

The theft occurred sometime between May 8 and Tuesday, reports said.

TEACHER

Under the school reform law of 1984, teachers must pass the TECAT to keep their jobs.

"Even if I pass the second test, there's a possibility I won't want to go back to teaching, because what else is going to come up later?" she asked.

"If my next (test) letter is not simple enough to pass, I'll just go on to another state. Or, I'll just go on to another field, period," she said.

Extension Homemakers donate flag to TAEX

From Staff Reports

The Midland County Texas Extension Homemakers Association on Thursday donated a 20-foot flagpole and the Texas and United States flags to the Midland County Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) facility east of town.

"It's just something that we wanted to donate because of our freedom," said Paula King Shepherd, chairman of the Homemakers association. She helped raise the flags.

The dedication of the flagpole and flags coincided with the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

Midland County Agent Marian Farr, adviser to the Homemakers association, said the TAEX staff was "proud" of the gifts of the flagpole and flags.

Clubs within the association are Chaparral, Prairie Lee, Moonlighters and Valley View.

During the dedication, Midland County historian Nancy McKinley gave a history of the Texas flag.

JAIL

In referring to the proposals, Wright said the county is "not ready to hire architects" who won't be needed for five to 10 years."

"If we can get all of this for $50,000, I'd say let's go," said Craig. "I think they over-engineered."

In cover letters to their outlines, DMJM and Henningson, Durham & Richardson explained their proposals.

"... Although our team is large," said Stainback, associate vice president and managing director of DMJM, "it is comprehensive and represents the entire team required to not only design but to finance, develop, and construct any improvements or new facilities. We would also like to clarify that the finance, develop and construction portion(s) of our team are only advisers for this Facilities Needs Assessment phrase. Their participation will ensure that the architects' and engineers' recommendations are based on realistic and accurate cost estimates, which will in turn assure Midland County that our recommendations are practical and buildable."

In their proposal, William Harry Munyon and Su Cunningham of Henningson, Durham & Richardson suggested that "the short-range component of the (long-range plan) contain recommendations on phased construction."

"This would involve your proposed jail and any other new or renovated structures required by the county. Phased construction would allow the county to meet their immediate and long-term needs in the most cost-effective and affordable manner, while providing for the ability to expand to meet future population needs. This would prevent a new facility being inadequate or overcrowded the day it opened."

Cunningham and Munyon said the proposed planning process would "save Midland County both time and money. Our staff is skilled in helping you determine the best use of your existing facilities, allowing you to build only, if and when, necessary."

The proposed long-range study of Midland County needs was spawned in a 1985 $3-million bond issue which called for renovation of the Midland County Jail, which is on the fifth-floor of the courthouse, expansion of Culver Youth Home, and funding the study of the county's courthouse and jail needs into next century. While passing the $3-million bond issue, Midland County voters rejected a $9.9-million bond issue which called for the construction of an $8.4-million jail apart from the courthouse.

Highway department to consider work bids

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The state Highway Department received low bids this week for two road-improvement projects in Midland County and its commission will meet May 29 to consider the bids.

Jones Brothers Dirt and Paving Contractors Inc. of Odessa entered the low bid for the biggest project, resurfacing of Texas 158 from seven miles east of I-20 and on FM 1379 from FM 307 southward one mile. Jones Bros. bid $235,002.64, compared with the highway department's staff estimate of $239,608.30.

The low bid on the other project, resurfacing and general improvements on Ohio Avenue at Kent Street and on Midkiff Road at Cuthbeth Avenue, came from South Texas Construction Company of Corpus Christi, which bid $44,860.45 compared to staff's recommendation of $37,181.50.

Deaver says he wouldn't trade on Reagan's friendship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lobbyist Michael K. Deaver said Friday he has not and would not trade on his friendship with Ronald Reagan and asserted that anyone who suggests otherwise is just as surely attacking the integrity of the president.

"After five months of innuendos and leaks, it's my turn today," the ex-White House deputy chief of staff told reporters as he entered a closed House subcommittee hearing to give his response to allegations of influence peddling.

In an opening statement prepared for the panel, Deaver blasted "mean-spirited" critics and denied violating conflict-of-interest laws in lobbying for foreign and domestic clients.

He told the Energy and Commerce investigations committee his "actions have been within the law at all times," and asserted, "I have never traded on my relationship with the president for any client — and I never will."

He called "groundless and impertinent" the accusation that he should not have lobbied the government on issues he once discussed while occupying his high White House office. Such criticism, he said, was "not only mean-spirited, but...also an implicit attack on the integrity" of Reagan.

Michael K. Deaver

Deaver spent more than five hours with the subcommittee, and told reporters afterwards he would not comment on specific testimony because he must appear before the panel again at an unspecified date.

He repeated his assertion that he did not violate the law, and when asked whether investigations of his lobbying would harm Reagan, answered, "I certainly hope not."

Earlier, four Democrats and one Republican on the subcommittee held a news conference.

Rep. John D. Dingell, chairman of the subcommittee and the full Energy and Commerce Committee, denied Deaver's charge that accusations against him were politically motivated. The Michigan lawmaker said some of the accusations came from "highly placed Republicans, quoted by the GAO (General Accounting Office), including a number of prominent people holding office in this administration."

Dingell added that Deaver's lobbying work raised "serious doubts" about the Reagan administration's ethical standards. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-Ohio, expressed concern about "the apparent inability of Mr. Deaver to distinguish between his government service and his consulting service."

"The message in these times is that government service can be turned into big bucks," added Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore. Rep. John Bryant, D-Texas, said Deaver's testimony "highlighted the fact it is legal today for the closest adviser to the president to go to work immediately after he leaves the White House for foreign governments. It's about time some of the administration's people put America first, not only with regard to their rhetoric but their private pursuits."

Rep. Michael G. Oxley of Ohio was the sole Republican attending the news conference.

Deaver said his 20-year friendship with Ronald and Nancy Reagan is neither "a commodity to be exploited by me, or a legitimate basis for my being hounded in the press or anywhere else."

The same subcommittee heard testimony last Monday from General Accounting Office officials, who said Deaver "may have violated" conflict-of-interest laws.

The GAO conclusions have been forwarded to the Justice Department, which is conducting an inquiry into whether an independent counsel should be appointed to look further into the matter. Deaver, himself, is among those calling for such an investigation.

Possible violations occurred, the GAO said, when Deaver lobbied on Canada's behalf for a joint U.S.-Canadian effort to combat acid rain. Deaver had participated in meetings on the acid rain issue while still in the White House.

Deaver has maintained those discussions were not of a substantive nature and did not preclude his taking a post-government lobbying role on the issue.

Federal law bars former executive branch officials from ever lobbying the government on a "particular matter" in which they "personally and substantially" participated as U.S. employees.

For matters pending under an ex-employee's official responsibility, the lobbying ban is in effect for two years after leaving office. For a year after leaving, the official cannot represent anyone before his or her former agency on a "particular matter" before the agency.

Specifically, Deaver defended his representation of foreign governments and corporations, saying he had "faithfully adhered to the Foreign Agents Registration Act," which requires lobbyists for foreign interests to register with the Justice Department.

"There have been some who have criticized me, virtually without restraint or qualification, on the ground that is improper for any former presidential advisor ever to represent a foreign government in its dealings with our government," Deaver said in his opening statement.

Teamsters president indicted on labor racketeering charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President Jackie Presser was indicted on labor racketeering charges Friday, three days before seeking election to a five-year term as head of the nation's largest labor union. Presser declared that the government's case was constructed of "a house of cards."

A federal grand jury in Cleveland accused Presser of embezzling money from a union local there. It was the latest development in a topsy-turvy legal saga that began to unfold in 1982 when Labor Department strike force attorneys launched an investigation of a so-called "ghost-employee" payroll scheme at Local 507 in Cleveland.

In a related case, the Justice Department announced that an FBI agent was indicted Friday for making false statements that led to the collapse of the government's probe of Presser a year ago.

Chief spokesman Terry Eastland said the Justice Department was continuing an internal probe of any involvement by FBI agents in the Presser case.

From Las Vegas, Nev., where Presser, 59, was preparing for the convening Monday of the 23rd convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the president said:

"I welcome our day in court as an opportunity to put an end to what has been a five-year pattern of insinuations and leaks of false information."

"For five years," the statement said, "the federal government has attempted to build a case against me, but has succeeded in building nothing more substantial than a house of cards."

Ray McElhaney, an FBI spokesman, said the bureau would have no comment on the indictment of one of its agents. McElhaney said all inquiries were being handled by the Justice Department.

Presser is the fourth of the past five presidents of the Teamsters Union to be indicted, the most recent being Roy Lee Williams, now serving a prison term on a bribery conspiracy conviction.

Kenneth Paff, national organizer for Teamsters for a Democratic Union, a dissident faction, said the indictment "puts a cloud over the whole Teamsters union. If there is a silver lining in that cloud, it is that a number of local officers at the convention are going to say, 'We've had enough.'"

Among other things, the indictment seeks to force Presser to forfeit all eight of his union positions at the national, state and local level. Besides serving as president of the Teamsters, Presser has continued to serve as secretary-treasurer of the Cleveland local.

Presser was charged with two counts of labor racketeering, one count of embezzlement and two counts of filing false reports with the government.

The Cleveland indictment charged that Presser, 59, paid money to "ghost" employees of Teamster Local 507 in Cleveland — people who actually performed no work for the union.

Presser's indictment came three days before the opening of a convention in Las Vegas, Nev. of the 1.6 million-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest labor union and the lone major labor organization to endorse President Reagan's re-election candidacy in 1984.

Presser was to stand for the first time for election by Teamster delegates as head of the union; in April 1983, the Teamster's 21-member General Executive Board elected Presser to serve the rest of Williams' term on an interim basis.

Presser had close ties to the Reagan administration; he served as a top-level adviser in late 1980 on a presidential transition team set up in advance of Ronald Reagan's January 1981 inauguration.

Presser all along had said he is innocent of any wrongdoing, and often had boasted that he'd never been indicted, even though he often had been under investigation by federal authorities.

The indictment returned by the grand jury in Cleveland said that in his role as secretary-treasurer of Cleveland Teamster Local 507, Presser made the payments to his uncle, Allen Friedman; and to John Nardi Jr., the son of a slain reputed Cleveland organized crime leader, and to a third ghost worker, George Argie.

According to the indictment, the defendants embezzled more than $700,000 during a 10-year period starting in 1972. The ghost employees received more than $700,000, which had been disbursed in checks co-signed by Presser, the government alleges.

The grand jury also indicted two Presser associates in the alleged payroll padding scheme. They are Harold Friedman, president of Local 507 and a member of the union's General Executive Board, and Anthony Hughes, recording secretary of the local. According to the indictment, Hughes and Harold Friedman paid $130,000 of the embezzled money to themselves.

Presser, Harold Friedman and Hughes also were charged with racketeering. Harold Friedman and Allen Friedman are not related.

The indictment alleged that from as early as Jan. 1, 1972 until at least Dec. 31, 1981, the three violated the federal anti-racketeering statute — the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organizations law — by embezzling money from the local's rank-and-file in the alleged "ghost-worker" scheme.

Embezzlement of union funds carries a maximum sentence of five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. The racketeering counts carry a maximum sentence of 20 years imprisonment, a $25,000 fine and forfeiture of ill-gotten gains.

The indicted FBI agent, Robert Friedrick, a 13-year bureau veteran, was accused of falsely telling superiors at the Justice Department that several FBI agents had authorized Presser to make the payments.

Friedrick was accused of covering up the fact he had met in June 1985 with Presser, Presser's attorney, John R. Climaco, and Hughes to find a way to forestall an indictment of Presser.

The agent was accused of falsely telling his superior at the bureau and the parent Justice Department that he had authorized Presser to make the illegal "ghost worker" payments.

Friedrick's statements killed the Presser investigation last July because, with FBI agents authorizing Presser's illegal conduct, it would be difficult in any prosecution to prove criminal intent.

Friedrick, who supervises the Cleveland FBI organized crime strike force, was indicted by a Washington grand jury investigating agents' involvement in the matter.

Shultz fires writer for leaking cable written by ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz fired a State Department speech writer Friday for leaking to the news media a cable written by the U.S. ambassador to Argentina.

State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman announced the firing but would not disclose the name of the employee, the news agency which received the leak or the nature of the material leaked.

However, administration and congressional sources, speaking on the condition that they not be identified, said the fired speech writer was Spencer C. Warren, who worked in the State Department's office of policy planning.

The incident involved a classified cable sent by ambassador Frank Ortiz to the State Department and leaked to the Washington Post, the sources said.

In the cable, the Post reported on April 10, Ortiz criticized a delegation of congressmen led by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. during a visit to Argentina for allegedly pressuring political leaders in Buenos Aires to condemn Reagan administration policies in Central America.

The Post said Ortiz wrote that Rep. Marty Russo, D-Ill., "exceeded all bounds in his attacks on the president...with Russo stating that the president (is) seeking armed confrontation with Nicaragua."

The leak appeared aimed at discrediting O'Neill and the other Democrats who visited several Latin American countries shortly before the House was scheduled to vote on a $100 million aid request for Nicaraguan rebels.

Warren was described as a conservative political appointee who worked on Capitol Hill before joining the State Department. The 1982 Congressional Staff Directory listed him as the legislative counsel to Rep. Matthew Rinaldo, R-N.J.

At the State Department's daily briefing, Redman would only say that the leak involved diplomatic relations and not military secrets and that the official found to be responsible had a personnel classification of GS-15, a ranking that carries an annual salary of between $52,000 and $67,000.

Warren was in the State Department Friday morning. But his secretary, asked about his whereabouts in the afternoon, said he was gone for the day. Calls to Warren's home in Washington went unanswered.

Redman said the incident was referred to the Justice Department, which decided to take no action. He said the official apologized to Shultz. The department is authorized by presidential directive to administer a lie detector test, but none was given in this case.

"We regret that because of this transgression the department is losing an otherwise productive and trustworthy employee," Redman said. "But we believe that leaking of classified information is a serious breach of discipline required of all public servants."

For several weeks, Reagan administration leaders have been making tough statements about people who disclose secret information. Shultz, for example, said in a speech to the Overseas Writer's Club this week that leaks have become "a gusher."

"It's disgusting the way stuff leaks out, and we've got to find the people who are doing it and fire them," he said.

DEATHS

Herbert Cavenaugh

Dr. Herbert Cavenaugh, 54, of Midland, died Thursday in a local hospital after a brief illness. Services were scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Dan Scheil and the Rev. Ray Stringer officiating. Burial was to follow in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Cavenaugh was born Sept. 10, 1931, in Wilmington, N.C., where he spent his early life. During the Korean War he withdraw from college to serve in the Air Force, where he piloted a B-47 bomber and achieved the rank of captain. After his discharge he returned to the University of North Carolina, where he received his medical degree in 1968.

While in the service, he married the late Mary Jane Stephans of Uvalde. After doing his internship at John Sealey Hospital in Galveston, he moved to Midland in 1971 to began his practice. In 1983, he married Cindy Evon Gwin in Midland. He was a member of the Midland Christian Fellowship.

Survivors include his wife, Cindy Cavenaugh of Midland; three sons, John W. Cavenaugh, James S. Cavenaugh and Herbie R. Cavenaugh, all of Midland; and his mother, Madge Childs of New York City.

The family requests memorials be directed to Johathan Stelima, 7001 U.S. Highway 301 North, Sarasota, Fla., 33577, or to the Christian Haitian Outreach, 6347 Northwest 22nd Court, Margate, Fla. 33063.

Lawrence Floyd

Services for Lawrence R. "Bob" Floyd, 74, of Midland will be at 9:30 a.m. today in Ellis Funeral Home Chapel. Graveside services will be at 4 p.m. today in the Gunsight Cemetery in Breckenridge.

He died Thursday in a Midland hospital.

Pallbearers will be Jake Sax, Carroll Reeves, Harold Clark, D.L. Coleman, Johnny Mills, and Carnell Lingo.

Honorary pallbearers will be Sammy Grant, Buddy Gray, Lloyd Mills, Johnnie Stewart, Herbie Harrod, Jack Johnson, Al Burdett, and Boots Johnston.

John C. Meigs

Services for John C. (Jack) Meigs of Midland were held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Ellis Chapel with the Rev. Jimmy Stovall, pastor of South Memorial Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was at Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Meigs, 85, died at his home early on the morning of May 14.

Meigs was born March 2, 1901, in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, just south of Hulbert, Okla. His father, John Henry Meigs, was the great-grandson of Chief John Ross, and his mother, Elinor Boudinot was the granddaughter of Elias Boudinot. Meigs was 5/8 Cherokee and an original enroller of the Dawes Commission. He began his education at the Meigs School under the teaching of his mother. He attended high school in Farwell, Texas, and completed his education at Bacon Indian School in Muskogee, Okla. He married Chloe Grady Leonhardt Nov. 29, 1953. He was a member of the Church of Religious Science.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Annie Meigs and Elinor Meigs, both of Fort Gibson, Okla.; two nieces, Elinor Stott and Margaret McKee, both also of Ft. Gibson.

Pallbearers were B.R. Young, Andy Salcedo, Brian Schwanitz, Douglas Neeper, Reu Richards, and Leo Bartol.

Honorary pallbearer was Norman Hill.

Sarah E. Pearson

Sarah E. Pearson of Midland, 84, died Thursday at her home. Services were scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Lewis Avenue Assembly of God Church in Tulsa, Okla., with C.C. Wallace officiating. Burial was to follow in Rosehill Cemetery under the direction of Butlers and Stumpff Funeral Home in Tulsa.

Mrs. Pearson was born Sept. 22, 1901, in Missouri, and was reared in Tulsa, where she worked for Globe Clothiers in the alterations department for 20 years. She moved to Midland in 1959, and did alterations in her home and for Cal's Man Shop.

Survivors include a daughter, Julia Katherine Bridgewater of Midland; and a sister, Ann Deramo of Tulsa.

PUC postpones vote on fuel rule

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Public Utility Commission listened to nearly 50 comments on its new fuel rule Friday but decided to study the remarks before taking a final vote on the matter.

The rule, which commissioners adopted on an emergency basis earlier this year, requires utility companies to submit detailed information regarding their fuel purchases every month. The PUC staff examines that data to determine precisely what utilities are paying for their fuel, which commonly accounts for about 50 percent of the typical monthly electric bill.

Commissioners enacted the fuel rule to halt a series of fuel overcharges regularly occurring since a change in PUC policy three years ago. Since the fall of 1983, investor-owned utilities overcollected nearly $1 billion from their customers in fuel costs.

The rule also establishes a refund plan for utilities that charge their customers a higher rate for fuel than the commission allows. For residential customers, the provision bases refunds on current power consumption, rather than usage during the period of overcollection.

Several parties involved in cases at the commission have criticized that provision as unfair, claiming that some customers will not receive the refund they deserve. Comments on that and other aspects of the rule delayed final approval of the measure Friday.

State Treasurer Ann Richards urged commissioners to revise the rule so that customers who have left a utility's service area could still collect any refund they would have received had they not moved.

Midland girl hit by motorcycle

From Staff Reports

An 8-year-old Midland girl was listed in serious condition in Midland Memorial Hospital Friday night after being hit by a motorcycle in the intersection of Dallas Street and Louisiana Avenue, according to Emergency Medical Service and hospital reports.

Adriene Esquivel, 724 N. Lincoln, was listed in serious condition with a head injury, an MMH spokesman said. The girl was reportedly struck by a motorcycle shortly before 6 p.m., but further details about the accident were unavailable Friday night.

In other reports, a 34-year-old man and a 24-year-old woman were arrested at Midland Regional Airport on Friday night after Midland police dogs sniffed out suspected illegal drugs in their luggage.

The two, who were not traveling together, were arrested about 9:13 p.m. by Midland sheriff's officers after dogs from the Midland Police K-9 Unit sniffed something suspicious in at least two bags, according to Sheriff's Office reports.

The man was expected to be charged with possession of cocaine and misdemeanor possession of marijuana, and the woman was expected to be charged with misdemeanor possession of marijuana, reports said.

In other reports, Midland Insulation, 1501 W. Industrial, reported the theft of a $1,000 portable radio from a 1982 GMC pickup which was parked on a road in northwest Midland County.

The theft occurred sometime between May 8 and Tuesday, reports said.

TEACHER

Under the school reform law of 1984, teachers must pass the TECAT to keep their jobs.

"Even if I pass the second test, there's a possibility I won't want to go back to teaching, because what else is going to come up later?" she asked.

"If my next (test) letter is not simple enough to pass, I'll just go on to another state. Or, I'll just go on to another field, period," she said.

Extension Homemakers donate flag to TAEX

From Staff Reports

The Midland County Texas Extension Homemakers Association on Thursday donated a 20-foot flagpole and the Texas and United States flags to the Midland County Texas Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) facility east of town.

"It's just something that we wanted to donate because of our freedom," said Paula King Shepherd, chairman of the Homemakers association. She helped raise the flags.

The dedication of the flagpole and flags coincided with the 60th anniversary of the founding of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

Midland County Agent Marian Farr, adviser to the Homemakers association, said the TAEX staff was "proud" of the gifts of the flagpole and flags.

Clubs within the association are Chaparral, Prairie Lee, Moonlighters and Valley View.

During the dedication, Midland County historian Nancy McKinley gave a history of the Texas flag.

Virginia Bryant coordinated the dedication ceremony.

JAIL

In referring to the proposals, Wright said the county is "not ready to hire architects" who won't be needed for five to 10 years."

"If we can get all of this for $50,000, I'd say let's go," said Craig. "I think they over-engineered."

In cover letters to their outlines, DMJM and Henningson, Durham & Richardson explained their proposals.

"... Although our team is large," said Stainback, associate vice president and managing director of DMJM, "it is comprehensive and represents the entire team required to not only design but to finance, develop, and construct any improvements or new facilities. We would also like to clarify that the finance, develop and construction portion(s) of our team are only advisers for this Facilities Needs Assessment phrase. Their participation will ensure that the architects' and engineers' recommendations are based on realistic and accurate cost estimates, which will in turn assure Midland County that our recommendations are practical and buildable."

In their proposal, William Harry Munyon and Su Cunningham of Henningson, Durham & Richardson suggested that "the short-range component of the (long-range plan) contain recommendations on phased construction."

"This would involve your proposed jail and any other new or renovated structures required by the county. Phased construction would allow the county to meet their immediate and long-term needs in the most cost-effective and affordable manner, while providing for the ability to expand to meet future population needs. This would prevent a new facility being inadequate or overcrowded the day it opened."

Cunningham and Munyon said the proposed planning process would "save Midland County both time and money. Our staff is skilled in helping you determine the best use of your existing facilities, allowing you to build only, if and when, necessary."

The proposed long-range study of Midland County needs was spawned in a 1985 $3-million bond issue which called for renovation of the Midland County Jail, which is on the fifth-floor of the courthouse, expansion of Culver Youth Home, and funding the study of the county's courthouse and jail needs into next century. While passing the $3-million bond issue, Midland County voters rejected a $9.9-million bond issue which called for the construction of an $8.4-million jail apart from the courthouse.

Highway department to consider work bids

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The state Highway Department received low bids this week for two road-improvement projects in Midland County and its commission will meet May 29 to consider the bids.

Jones Brothers Dirt and Paving Contractors Inc. of Odessa entered the low bid for the biggest project, resurfacing of Texas 158 from seven miles east of I-20 and on FM 1379 from FM 307 southward one mile. Jones Bros. bid $235,002.64, compared with the highway department's staff estimate of $239,606.30.

The low bid on the other project, resurfacing and general improvements on Ohio Avenue at Kent Street and on Midkiff Road at Cuthbeth Avenue, came from South Texas Construction Company of Corpus Christi, which bid $44,660.45 compared to staff's recommendation of $37,181.50.

Deaver says he wouldn't trade on Reagan's friendship

NATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lobbyist Michael K. Deaver said Friday he has not and would not trade on his friendship with Ronald Reagan and asserted that anyone who suggests otherwise is just as surely attacking the integrity of the president.

"After five months of innuendos and leaks, it's my turn today," the ex-White House deputy chief of staff told reporters as he entered a closed House subcommittee hearing to give his response to allegations of influence peddling.

In an opening statement prepared for the panel, Deaver blasted "mean-spirited" critics and denied violating conflict-of-interest laws in lobbying for foreign and domestic clients.

He told the Energy and Commerce investigations committee his "actions have been within the law at all times," and asserted, "I have never traded on my relationship with the president for any client — and I never will."

He called "groundless and impertinent" the accusation that he should not have lobbied the government on issues he once discussed while occupying his high White House office. Such criticism, he said, was "not only mean-spirited, but...also an implicit attack on the integrity" of Reagan.

Deaver spent more than five hours with the subcommittee, and told reporters afterwards he would not comment on specific testimony because he must appear before the panel again at an unspecified date.

He repeated his assertion that he did not violate the law, and when asked whether investigations of his lobbying would harm Reagan, answered, "I certainly hope not."

Earlier, four Democrats and one Republican on the subcommittee held a news conference.

Rep. John D. Dingell, chairman of the subcommittee and the full Energy and Commerce Committee, denied Deaver's charge that accusations against him were politically motivated. The Michigan lawmaker said some of the accusations came from "highly placed Republicans, quoted by the GAO (General Accounting Office), including a number of prominent people holding office in this administration."

Dingell added that Deaver's lobbying work raised "serious doubts" about the Reagan administration's ethical standards. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-Ohio, expressed concern about "the apparent inability of Mr. Deaver to distinguish between his government service and his consulting service."

"The message in these times is that government service can be turned into big bucks," added Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore. Rep. John Bryant, D-Texas, said Deaver's testimony "highlighted the fact it is legal today for the closest adviser to the president to go to work immediately after he leaves the White House for foreign governments. It's about time some of the administration's people put America first, not only with regard to their rhetoric but their private pursuits."

Rep. Michael G. Oxley of Ohio was the sole Republican attending the news conference.

Deaver said his 20-year friendship with Ronald and Nancy Reagan is neither "a commodity to be exploited by me, or a legitimate basis for my being hounded in the press or anywhere else."

The same subcommittee heard testimony last Monday from General Accounting Office officials, who said Deaver "may have violated" conflict-of-interest laws.

The GAO conclusions have been forwarded to the Justice Department, which is conducting an inquiry into whether an independent counsel should be appointed to look further into the matter. Deaver, himself, is among those calling for such an investigation.

Possible violations occurred, the GAO said, when Deaver lobbied on Canada's behalf for a joint U.S.-Canadian effort to combat acid rain. Deaver had participated in meetings on the acid rain issue while still in the White House.

Deaver has maintained those discussions were not of a substantive nature and did not preclude his taking a post-government lobbying role on the issue.

Federal law bars former executive branch officials from ever lobbying the government on a "particular matter" in which they "personally and substantially" participated as U.S. employees.

For matters pending under an ex-employee's official responsibility, the lobbying ban is in effect for two years after leaving office. For a year after leaving, the official cannot represent anyone before his or her former agency on a "particular matter" before the agency.

Specifically, Deaver defended his representation of foreign governments and corporations, saying he had "faithfully adhered to the Foreign Agents Registration Act," which requires lobbyists for foreign interests to register with the Justice Department.

"There have been some who have criticized me, virtually without restraint or qualification, on the ground that is is improper for any former presidential advisor ever to represent a foreign government in its dealings with our government," Deaver said in his opening statement.

Teamsters president indicted on labor racketeering charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President Jackie Presser was indicted on labor racketeering charges Friday, three days before seeking election to a five-year term as head of the nation's largest labor union. Presser declared that the government's case was constructed of "a house of cards."

A federal grand jury in Cleveland accused Presser of embezzling money from a union local there. It was the latest development in a topsy-turvy legal saga that began to unfold in 1982 when Labor Department strike force attorneys launched an investigation of a so-called "ghost-employee" payroll scheme at Local 507 in Cleveland.

In a related case, the Justice Department announced that an FBI agent was indicted Friday for making false statements that led to the collapse of the government's probe of Presser a year ago.

Chief spokesman Terry Eastland said the Justice Department was continuing an internal probe of any involvement by FBI agents in the Presser case.

From Las Vegas, Nev., where Presser, 59, was preparing for the convening Monday of the 23rd convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the president said:

"I welcome our day in court as an opportunity to put an end to what has been a five-year pattern of insinuations and leaks of false information."

"For five years," the statement said, "the federal government has attempted to build a case against me, but has succeeded in building nothing more substantial than a house of cards."

Ray McElhaney, an FBI spokesman, said the bureau would have no comment on the indictment of one of its agents. McElhaney said all inquiries were being handled by the Justice Department.

Presser is the fourth of the past five presidents of the Teamsters Union to be indicted, the most recent being Roy Lee Williams, now serving a prison term on a bribery conspiracy conviction.

Kenneth Paff, national organizer for Teamsters for a Democratic Union, a dissident faction, said the indictment "puts a cloud over the whole Teamsters union. If there is a silver lining in that cloud, it is that a number of local officers at the convention are going to say, 'We've had enough.'"

Among other things, the indictment seeks to force Presser to forfeit all eight of his union positions at the national, state and local level. Besides serving as president of the Teamsters, Presser has continued to serve as secretary-treasurer of the Cleveland local.

Presser was charged with two counts of labor racketeering, one count of embezzlement and two counts of filing false reports with the government.

The Cleveland indictment charged that Presser, 59, paid money to "ghost" employees of Teamster Local 507 in Cleveland — people who actually performed no work for the union.

Presser's indictment came three days before the opening of a convention in Las Vegas, Nev. of the 1.6 million-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters, the nation's largest labor union and the lone major labor organization to endorse President Reagan's re-election candidacy in 1984.

Presser was to stand for the first time for election by Teamster delegates as head of the union; in April 1983, the Teamster's 21-member General Executive Board elected Presser to serve the rest of Williams' term on an interim basis.

Presser had close ties to the Reagan administration; he served as a top-level adviser in late 1980 on a presidential transition team set up in advance of Ronald Reagan's January 1981 inauguration.

Presser all along had said he is innocent of any wrongdoing, and often had boasted that he'd never been indicted, even though he often had been under investigation by federal authorities.

The indictment returned by the grand jury in Cleveland said that in his role as secretary-treasurer of Cleveland Teamster Local 507, Presser made the payments to his uncle, Allen Friedman; and to John Nardi Jr., the son of a slain reputed Cleveland organized crime leader, and to a third ghost worker, George Argie.

According to the indictment, the defendants embezzled more than $700,000 during a 10-year period starting in 1972. The ghost employees received more than $700,000, which had been disbursed in checks co-signed by Presser, the government alleges.

The grand jury also indicted two Presser associates in the alleged payroll padding scheme. They are Harold Friedman, president of Local 507 and a member of the union's General Executive Board, and Anthony Hughes, recording secretary of the local. According to the indictment, Hughes and Harold Friedman paid $130,000 of the embezzled money to themselves.

Presser, Harold Friedman and Hughes also were charged with racketeering. Harold Friedman and Allen Friedman are not related.

The indictment alleged that from as early as Jan. 1, 1972 until at least Dec. 31, 1981, the three violated the federal anti-racketeering statute — the Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organizations law — by embezzling money from the local's rank-and-file in the alleged "ghost-worker" scheme.

Embezzlement of union funds carries a maximum sentence of five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. The racketeering counts carry a maximum sentence of 20 years imprisonment, a $25,000 fine and forfeiture of ill-gotten gains.

The indicted FBI agent, Robert Friedrick, a 13-year bureau veteran, was accused of falsely telling superiors at the Justice Department that several FBI agents had authorized Presser to make the payments.

Friedrick was accused of covering up the fact he had met in June 1985 with Presser, Presser's attorney, John R. Climaco, and Hughes to find a way to forestall an indictment of Presser.

The agent was accused of falsely telling his superior at the bureau and the parent Justice Department that he had authorized Presser to make the illegal "ghost worker" payments.

Friedrick's statements killed the Presser investigation last July because, with FBI agents authorizing Presser's illegal conduct, it would be difficult in any prosecution to prove criminal intent.

Friedrick, who supervises the Cleveland FBI organized crime strike force, was indicted by a Washington grand jury investigating agents' involvement in the matter.

Shultz fires writer for leaking cable written by ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz fired a State Department speech writer Friday for leaking to the news media a cable written by the U.S. ambassador to Argentina.

State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman announced the firing but would not disclose the name of the employee, the news agency which received the leak or the nature of the material leaked.

However, administration and congressional sources, speaking on the condition that they not be identified, said the fired speech writer was Spencer C. Warren, who worked in the State Department's office of policy planning.

The incident involved a classified cable sent by ambassador Frank Ortiz to the State Department and leaked to the Washington Post, the sources said.

In the cable, the Post reported on April 10, Ortiz criticized a delegation of congressmen led by House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. during a visit to Argentina for allegedly pressuring political leaders in Buenos Aires to condemn Reagan administration policies in Central America.

The Post said Ortiz wrote that Rep. Marty Russo, D-Ill., "exceeded all bounds in his attacks on the president...with Russo stating that the president (is) seeking armed confrontation with Nicaragua."

The leak appeared aimed at discrediting O'Neill and the other Democrats who visited several Latin American countries shortly before the House was scheduled to vote on a $100 million aid request for Nicaraguan rebels.

Warren was described as a conservative political appointee who worked on Capitol Hill before joining the State Department. The 1982 Congressional Staff Directory listed him as the legislative counsel to Rep. Matthew Rinaldo, R-N.J.

At the State Department's daily briefing, Redman would only say that the leak involved diplomatic relations and not military secrets and that the official found to be responsible had a personnel classification of GS-15, a ranking that carries an annual salary of between $52,000 and $67,000.

Warren was in the State Department Friday morning. But his secretary, asked about his whereabouts in the afternoon, said he was gone for the day. Calls to Warren's home in Washington went unanswered.

Redman said the incident was referred to the Justice Department, which decided to take no action. He said the official apologized to Shultz. The department is authorized by presidential directive to administer a lie detector test, but none was given in this case.

"We regret that because of this transgression the department is losing an otherwise productive and trustworthy employee," Redman said. "But we believe that leaking of classified information is a serious breach of discipline required of all public servants."

For several weeks, Reagan administration leaders have been making tough statements about people who disclose secret information. Shultz, for example, said in a speech to the Overseas Writer's Club this week that leaks have become "a gusher."

"It's disgusting the way stuff leaks out, and we've got to find the people who are doing it and fire them," he said.

Judge Claiborne arrives at prison

Inmates at the (Federal Prison Camp at Maxwell Air Force Base), which gained publicity when former U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell served his term for Watergate offenses there, work free of any confining fence or wall.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Harry Claiborne on Friday became the first sitting federal judge to go to prison, reporting to a minimum-security camp to serve a two-year sentence for tax evasion while still drawing his $78,200 salary.

Claiborne, 68, of Las Vegas, Nev., arrived in a taxi at the declining to comment to reporters at the prison gate.

Inmates at the prison camp, which gained publicity when former U.S. Attorney General John Mitchell served his term for Watergate offenses there, work free of any confining fence or wall.

"There's nothing taller than a blade of grass to keep them in," said Lt. Richard R. Bernick, who greeted Claiborne at the prison entrance.

Claiborne was sentenced to two years in prison for a 1984 conviction of failing to report law practice income totaling $106,000 on federal tax returns in 1979 and 1980. He would be eligible for parole in eight months.

The judge has refused to resign from the bench, a lifetime appointment, and will continue to draw a $78,200 annual salary in prison unless he is impeached.

Claiborne said Thursday he would welcome an impeachment trial and a chance to tell "my side of the story."

The House Judiciary Committee is considering impeachment proceedings. If the House votes for impeachment, Claiborne would be tried in the Senate.

On Thursday, Justice John Paul Stevens of the Supreme Court refused without comment to block Claiborne's imprisonment pending further appeals in his case.

Claiborne is only the second federal judge to be indicted for crimes allegedly committed while on the bench. The first, U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings of Miami, was acquitted in 1983 of charges of obstructing justice and conspiring to accept a bribe.

Another federal judge was convicted for actions committed before he was on the bench. Judge Otto Kerner of the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago was convicted in 1973 of income tax evasion, conspiracy and mail fraud in a stock scandal while he was Illinois governor. He served seven months of his three year-prison term.

Claiborne, like all new inmates, would have two weeks' orientation before being assigned a job in a clerical post or possibly as a maintenance worker at two of the base golf courses, said Prison Superintendent Tom Kindt.

The judge was probably sent to Montgomery instead of a West Coast facility to reduce the liklihood of contact with any prisoner he had sentenced, Bernick said.

As Claiborne arrived at 10:48 a.m. Friday, inmates were returning from work details for lunch at the tree-shaded prison, tucked at the back corner of the base on a 10-acre tract that wraps around a pair of inmate tennis courts on the shore of the Alabama River.

Claiborne would undergo medical and psychological tests and then be assigned to a two-bunk cubicle in one of the prison's eight dormitories, said Kindt.

"He'll know what's expected of him," the superintendent said. "Right now he is being photographed and fingerprinted."

The 470 prisoners at the base facility work in a variety of jobs, with the assignment depending mainly on physical condition, Kindt said. He said all the inmates were serving sentences for "non-violent crimes."

About 60 percent of the inmates were serving time for drug-related offenses, about 15 percent for offenses like bank larceny and wire fraud and about 10 percent for income tax evasion, he said.

"I've been here two years and in that time we've had one fist fight," Kindt said. "It's a very open environment but an inmate is expected to do a good day's work."

Kindt said there were no other prisoners currently at the facility "of national stature."

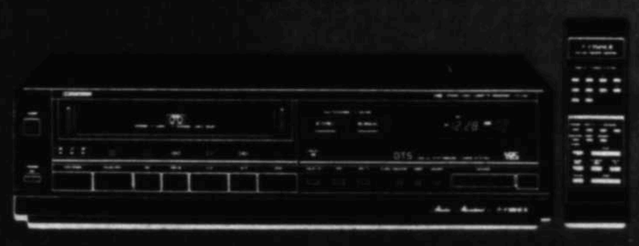

Asked if the prison facility could be categorized as a country club, Kindt said, "I've never had anybody ask to join or anybody ask to stay longer than they had to."

Second-grade students at Maxfield Magnet School in St. Paul show a letter they received from Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy. The students wrote to Khadafy and President Reagan after last month's air raid on Libya. Teacher Jill Swanson said the class has yet to receive a reply from Reagan.

Khadafy condemns Reagan in letter to young students

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy has written a second-grade class here, thanking them for their letter and calling President Reagan and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher "children murderers."

The youngsters at Maxfield Magnet School, who had written to Khadafy and Reagan as part of a class project, received the reply Thursday. They have not received a reply from Reagan, teacher Jill Swanson said.

Khadafy said in his letter that Reagan "should be toppled and tried" for the April 14 bombing of Libya.

"He told us stuff about President Reagan and how he doesn't like him," said Jestin Tyler, 8, of Khadafy's letter.

In his letter to Khadafy, Jimmy Xiong had written: "Dear Col. Khadfy, I am so sorry that your little daughter died and can I ask you a favor? Could you stop bombing us, OK? And we'll stop bombing you."

"Dear Col. Khadafy, Why are you bombing the U.S.A.? Can't you think of a better way to solve the problem? Well I can...Write letters!" wrote Daniel Barbosa.

Ms. Swanson said she expected Reagan also would reply. "I would hope we would get something more personal from him," she said.

"Dear President Reagan, Hi," wrote Leslie Garrett. "I have an idea instead of Libya and our state bombing each other, you and Col Khadafy can set up a time and day to talk to each other about it. So if you don't take my idea, I hope you figure out some way without hurting or fighting."

Khadafy's typewritten letter was on white paper trimmed in green and decorated with Libyan political slogans written in Arabic, French and English. The grammar and spelling were imperfect. It was signed in Arabic script over Khadafy's typed name.

"Dear freind," the letter said, "We received your kind letter in which you condemned the american barbarian aggression against our country and our people. We appreciate your deeply feelings towards us."

The letter went on to praise Libyan bombing victims as "martyrs for the cause of Allah," and urge that "children murders Reagan and Thatcher should be toppled and tried."

The letter defended Arab unity and Palestinian liberation and disavowed responsibility for terrorist actions in Europe and the Middle East.

The students' letter-writing project was started the day after the air raid.

"A lot of the kids were talking about it, wondering what we could do besides more bombing," said Ms. Swanson. "Whenever a child wants to know what's going on in the world, I try to capitalize on it." So the class fired off letters to the men in charge, Reagan and Khadafy.

NATION IN BRIEF

CDC: Hypothermia kills about 700 people, yearly

NEW YORK (AP) — Hypothermia, the loss of body heat, kills an estimated 700 people every year, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control.

It is defined as lowering the core body temperature to 95 degrees Fahrenheit or below, or a drop of 3.6 degrees from normal, but how low the temperature can go depends on such things as body weight and preexisting medical problems.

A person suffering hypothermia may appear intoxicated, show problems with coordination, slurred speech or even display irrationality. Other symptoms include the skin appearing blue or puffy.

Victims should be kept dry and warmed gradually. In some cases, blood can be pumped out, warmed and returned to the body, much as kidney patients are treated with dialysis.

Sudden warming could cause cardiac problems, experts say.

Live man declared dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who was pronounced dead was discovered to be alive nearly an hour later, and the two paramedics who made the wrong call have been put on desk duty while the matter is investigated, the fire chief said Friday.

The 63-year-old man was left for dead at his home Thursday by the paramedics until a deputy coroner who had been called to remove the body noticed something was amiss and pulled a wad of chewing tobacco from the man's throat, said Fire Chief Don Manning.

The man, who was not identified at the request of his wife, was in serious but stable condition in the intensive care unit at Holy Cross Hospital in Mission Hills, said hospital spokeswoman Rosie O'Meara.

Manning refused the reveal the names of the paramedics, but said both had years of experience. They believed the man dead because he lacked vital signs and his body was stiff, Manning said, adding that he had never heard of such a case.

He said the rules used by paramedics to pronounce death may be revised as a result of the accident, adding that the state Department of Health Services may conduct a separate inquiry.

Cars crash through trestle

RUTHERFORDTON, N.C. (AP) — Four railroad cars loaded with coal crashed through a trestle Friday, derailing about 20 more cars and blocking the two-lane road below with wreckage, twisted rails and mounds of coal.

No vehicles were under the trestle on U.S. 221 when it collapsed and no injuries were reported, law enforcement officials said.

The 88-car train, pulled by three locomotives, was delivering coal to a Duke Power Co. plant several miles from the trestle, said Owen Pride, a spokesman for CSX Transportation.

Pride said the trestle was on a spur leading to the power plant, and the accident would not affect other trains on the main line. He said the cause of the accident had not been determined.

Cruise passengers sick

MIAMI (AP) — More than 1,100 passengers have become ill aboard two South Florida-based cruise ships in the month since budget cuts forced federal health teams to drop surprise inspections.

Federal medical specialists boarded the Miami-based Holiday, operated by Carnival Cruise Lines, May 3 after receiving a report that 38 passengers became ill during the one-week cruise. An investigation revealed that nearly 400 passengers had diarrhea, said Tom DeMarcus of the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

On the Holiday's next voyage later that day, 321 passengers became ill, investigators said.

Specialists who boarded the Fort Lauderdale-based Rotterdam, operated by Holland America Cruises, May 9 in the Bahamas, also reported 400 passengers became ill, DeMarcus said.

Negotiator called 'rash, unobjective'

WORLD

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet delegation to the superpower arms talks on Friday accused the chief U.S. negotiator of being "rash and unobjective" in his response to a proposed Soviet draft treaty on medium-range nuclear missiles.

The delegation, in a statement distributed to reporters, also appeared to accuse U.S. negotiator Max M. Kampelman of violating the confidentiality rule agreed to when the arms talks began in March 1985.

On Thursday, the Soviet delegation called a special meeting with the U.S. side to introduce the draft treaty, and Kampelman later remarked on the document.

"The Soviet side, guided by the principle of confidentiality applied at the negotiations, did not make public that it had introduced" the draft treaty, said the statement issued Friday by the Soviet delegation.

It said Kampelman, in comments on Thursday to reporters in Bern, Switzerland, gave a "one-sided, distorted description of the Soviet proposal."

Kampelman had said in response to a question that the document "was merely a formal treaty carrying out statements they had previously made to us." The United States has said previous Soviet proposals on medium-range nuclear forces contained unacceptable elements.

Officials in Washington also said the document appeared at first glance to contain nothing new.

The Soviet statement called the presentation of the draft treaty "a major development at the negotiations, testifying to the willingness of the Soviet side" to work toward a quick agreement at the talks, now in their fifth round.

It said Kampelman "gave rash and unobjective assessments of the Soviet draft."

The U.S. delegation had no immediate comment on the Soviet statement, U.S. mission spokesman Christopher Henze told The Associated Press.

U.S. officials have explained the confidentiality rule as meaning delegates may not comment publicly on the substance of the talks during the round.

The Soviet proposals on medium-range missiles were outlined in a speech by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev on Jan. 15 that laid out a plan to eliminate nuclear weapons by the year 2000.

The plan called for elimination of U.S. and Soviet medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe and eventual elimination of British and French national nuclear forces.

U.S. officials in Washington have said the proposal contained unacceptable elements.

The United States has called on the Soviets to also reduce their mobile missiles based in Asia, which the Soviets refused to do. Also, the United States rejected the idea of including British and French nuclear forces in a U.S.-Soviet agreement, saying it could not negotiate away the forces of independent countries.

Young firefighter hero at Chernobyl

MOSCOW (AP) — A young firefighter raced to the Chernobyl inferno and stood over the open reactor for hours to contain the flames and avert a catastrophe, but absorbed a massive dose of radiation that killed him, a newspaper said Friday.

Komsomolskaya Pravda, the official youth paper, said Viktor Kibenok's wife had told him two days before the April 26 disaster that she was expecting their child. It said Kibenok, 23, was one of 28 firefighters who suffered severe radiation poisoning, and that he died 15 days later — last Sunday.

Five of the 28 have died, the paper said in a vivid account of how a few young men fought the fire from atop the burning reactor 235 feet above ground.

It gave this account:

Kibenok arrived at the power station five minutes after an explosion occurred in the No. 4 reactor building and the fire alarm sounded.

He and Vladimir Pravik, a young comrade, led their teams into the flames. Pravik also has died.

"The battle began with the raging fire that devoured everything. The fire, as they did not know then, was not the most important enemy ..."

The scene and the reckless bravery of the young men battling the fire terrified their commander, Leonid Telyatnikov, when he arrived.

Telyatnikov, who now is in a Moscow hospital, was on holiday leave at the time of the accident and was terrified at the "picture he saw...an open reactor, and, on top, above its death-carrying breath, at a great height, figures scurrying around."

Telyatnikov, Kibenok and Pravik were heroes of the battle at the reactor, 80 miles north of Kiev in the Ukraine. The commander used his experience of dozens of difficult fires to direct the dousing of flames that spread from the No. 4 reactor building to the roof of the No. 3 reactor.

As the roof burned, spewing suffocating smoke and sparks that penetrated clothing, Kibenok and Pravik were everywhere to help fight the flames, then "people got weaker."

Kibenok, whose uncle is a firefighter and whose father was decorated for rescuing people from a farm blaze, first noticed signs of radiation sickness when he saw his comrade Vladimir Tishcura writhing and squatting.

"After that, Nikolai Vashchuk swayed and fell flat on his back."

Vashchuk, Tishchura and a third man nearby, Vasily Ignatenko, could no longer fight the blaze. All three have died.

Pastora surrenders to Costa Rica authorities

ON THE SAN JUAN RIVER, Costa Rica (AP) — Nicaraguan rebel leader Eden Pastora on Friday gave up his fight against the Sandinista government he helped bring to power. He surrendered to Costa Rican authorities in hopes of winning asylum.

"We think there is no possibility of a military victory," the sweat-soaked guerrilla chief told reporters.

"We don't want to be soldiers of the United States in a war of pressure," Pastora added. "We want to be soldiers of the Nicaraguan people in a war of ours, the Nicaraguans, to overthrow the extreme left in a nationalist war."

Costa Rican authorities said earlier that Pastora's aides in San Jose, the Costa Rican capital, had submitted a written application for asylum on his behalf.

The first 90 of some 400 Nicaraguan guerrillas who are seeking asylum with Pastora also entered Costa Rica Friday and were taken to a site away from the border pending a decision on their status, said Radio Monumental in San Jose.

Pastora, 49, had become increasingly isolated in his fight against the left-wing Sandinistas as other rebel groups joined a rival organization that receives U.S. funding and support.

He had fought with the Sandinistas to oust the rightist regime of the late President Anastasio Somoza in 1979, winning the nickname "Commander Zero." But he later broke with the Sandinistas over political disagreements.

President Oscar Arias Sanchez said this week he would consider granting the request for asylum if Pastora promised to lay down his weapons and "stop being what he is today — one more comandante in the anti-Sandinista fight."

Public Security Minister Hernan Garron told reporters in San Jose that Pastora would be supervised by immigration authorities while the request for asylum is reviewed.

Pastora's Revolutionary Democratic Alliance was one of the smallest of several groups of rebels, called Contras, fighting the Nicaraguan government.

A 16-year-old Chinese casual laborer smiles over a 'wild celebration' cocktail at the Modern Times Restaurant, what may be China's first watering hole for Chinese. Management of the newly opened lounge gave student bartenders a crash course in mixology at a Peking hotel which caters to foreigners.

Chinese get introduced to mixed drinks

PEKING (AP) — Patrons more accustomed to Chinese beer, wine and spirits are warily bellying up to what's being billed as the first cocktail lounge for Chinese.

Sixty-year-old bouncers watch for rowdies and Jin the bartender mixes Western-style drinks at the newly opened Modern Times Restaurant, an intimate little watering hole some Chinese visitors find puzzling at first.

Most Chinese restaurants serve beer and a choice of Chinese wines and spirits, but Western-style cocktails are all but unknown.

"Some customers ask our opinion about what to order," said Jin Yansheng, 29, a former pastry chef and Modern Times star bartender. "We also have some customers who try different drinks one by one."

The menu offers 16 cocktails, including Vodka Bronx, Manhattan, Old Fashioned, Rapture, Saucy Sue, Whip, Honolulu and Cuba Libre. Jin also is working on perfecting his piece de resistance — the Rainbow-1.

The idea for the cocktail lounge, which shares premises with a coffee shop, a Western restaurant and pastry shop, came from leaders in Peking's No. 2 Commercial Bureau, said manager Zhou Zheng.

"There was much debate about this," said Zhou. "Some worried that since it was the first one, there would be few customers. Others were afraid of hooligans and drunks."

However, rowdies did not appear to be a problem during a recent visit. Only a few of the dozen tables were occupied.

The term "bouncer" brought a puzzled expression to Zhou's face. "We call them security personnel," he said, and the lounge has two, "Both in their 60s, and they control noisy customers through persuasion."

"We take in about 4000 yuan ($1,250) a month right now, about half what we expected," he said, adding that the lounge still was in "experimental" stages.

Most drinks cost about 70 cents, which is pricey for many Chinese. "We may lower prices," said Zhou.

"We also lack experienced mixers," he said. Jin and others on duty were trained at the Sheraton Great Wall Hotel, a luxury inn for foreigners. That's where Jin learned to mix the Rainbow-1.

Zhou said the staff of 25 was anxious to see the venture succeed. "Our bonuses depend on it."

Veteran police officer leaves street for high school's halls

By ELLEN ROSSINI

RICHARDSON, Texas (AP) — Veteran Richardson police officer Joe Fleming is walking a different beat these days, but it is no less challenging and possibly a lot more rewarding than the street.

The first full-time student resource officer in a Richardson high school, Fleming fills his busy calendar with class lectures, counseling sessions with troubled students and availibility to teen-agers with questions in his upstairs office at Berkner High School.

Students have taken note of his presence since his first day in January. While some have warmed up to his caring manner and straightforward discussions of the law, others are put off by his blue uniform and gun.

"I like him here, because I feel more safe. If there's any problem, he's always around to talk to," said junior Christina Son.

Sopohomore Mike Alvarez reflects another attitude among his peers.

"It's weird to have an officer in the school. It makes you feel like you're being watched all the time. You don't feel free any more," he said. "He can teach well. (But) this is school. Nobody's going to stick you or anything."

Fleming is not a disciplinarian nor an arresting officer, although he will fulfill his duties as a law enforcer if someone is threatened with imminent harm or if he witnesses a crime, he said.

"If I see something happen, I must do something about it," Fleming said. "I can't turn my back. I won't."

Nevertheless, he wants to communicate to students that he is not there to threaten them. In fact, he has become their champion.

"I'm not here to spy on you, I'm not here to arrest you, I'm not here to police your halls," he said. "I'm here as a resource person, to add credentials to the teachers' lectures. They are leery, though, just because I wear a blue suit.

"I love the kids. I love to work with them. These young people have an awful lot to offer. They're very intelligent. Many people sell them short."

One of Fleming's major goals is to change teen-ager's negative attitudes toward police officers through explanation and example.

"I try to present to the students that a lot of times an officer may seem very rough and hard to the young people that are drunk, but that's the same officer who has to pick up the teen in a body bag on account of drinking and driving," he said.

"We really do care. We are concerned. But if you don't build up that shell to protect yourself, it would eat you alive."

As a member of the school's new crisis intervention team, the policeman has become closely acquainted with students who have troubles at home, at school and with drugs.

"There are some students I'm extremely concerned about, because of what they're doing to themselves," he said. "It is a situation where you worry too much about them. Will I see them tomorrow? Will they come back to school? Will they stay in school?"

Soon after he finished talking about his closest young friends, a girl poked her head into his office to ask him if he knew where to find someone she had a message for.

He told her, but she cringed at the thought of walking back into a classroom she had just been in, so Fleming offered to take the note in himself. When he returned to his office, he held another note that had been given to the classroom teacher by a student.

In a scrawled script the note read: "Officer Fleming, I really need to talk to you today. It is urgent — "

As a counselor, Fleming swears to secrecy any information from students that the students want kept quiet.

"To betray confidence, that's the quickest way in the world to lose credibility," he said.

Not all of Fleming's encounters are serious. During a class change, when his office is a popular stopping place, a student asked for clarification about the drinking age.

In class lectures, the officer also tackles such diverse topics as DWI laws, trial procedures, search and seizure, and teens' legal rights.

Mary Lee Whipple, a junior English teacher, invited Fleming to speak to her class last year, and discussion included some complaints about police stopping people to search their cars or to check driver's licenses.

"Rather than being defensive, he allowed them to voice that, and said that was part of the job of the police department, to keep the community safe," she said. "They responded very well. It was very positive ... I think that built up a rapport they never had with a police officer before."

During that visit, however, Fleming was in a business suit, which "made a big difference," she said.

Despite criticism, the officer is proud to wear his uniform now.

"I am a police officer whether I am in a suit or whether I am in a uniform," he said.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Search resumes for ships from Napoleon's fleet

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (LAT) — A joint Egyptian-French search for the sunken fleet of Napoleon Bonaparte, who briefly occupied Egypt nearly 190 years ago, has been resumed off this Mediterranean city with the arrival of a French mine sweeper.

The mine sweeper steamed into port Thursday to take part in the operations, and 18 French divers and underwater cameramen have also arrived to work on the recovery effort.

Authorities said the mine sweeper would try to locate the ship Patriote destroyed by the British one month before the Battle of the Nile in 1798, when Lord Nelson sank the Napoleonic fleet in the Bay of Abu Kir west of Alexandria.

The wreckage of the flagship L'Orient was found in 1983, shortly after the operation. Divers located several cannons and brought up metal fittings and coins.

Officials hope L'Orient can be recovered by June and Patriote by August. Attempts will be made to recover four other vessels in 1987.

Meese: Media need policy

JERUSALEM (AP) — Edwin Meese, the U.S. attorney general, said Friday that news organizations should work out a common policy on interviewing terrorists.

He told a news conference that whether to interview terrorists is an ethical question and the government should not interfere. "I think it is something that should be answered by the news media itself," he said.

Meese was referring to an interview NBC television broadcast last week with Abul Abbas, a Palestinian accused by the United States, Italy and Israel of masterminding the hijacking of the cruise liner Achille Lauro last October in which an American passenger was killed.

There is no law against such interviews, Meese said, and the network cannot be prosecuted for its decision to broadcast the guerrilla leader's comments and pledge to keep his whereabouts secret.

"I do know, however, that the news media itself should have some internal dialogue with the various institutions of the press as to whether this is legitimate public information activity," he said.

In a lecture Thursday at Tel Aviv University, Meese said conducting the interview on the agreed terms "amounts to being an accomplice or collaborator with the terrorists."

Terrorists attack Interpol

PARIS (AP) — Terrorists attacked the headquarters of Interpol, the international police agency, with guns and explosives Friday night, wounding one policeman in the arm and shattering windows , authorities said.

Police, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the terrorists arrived in an automobile about 10:10 p.m., sprayed the building with gunfire and then hurled an explosive device. They said investigators could not immediately determine whether the explosion was caused by a grenade or a bomb.

A policeman guarding the building was hit in the arm by a bullet and was hospitalized.

Prosecutor clears supsect in assassination of Palme

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A Stockholm prosecutor, criticizing police investigators, on Friday formally cleared a man who for several weeks was a suspect in the Feb. 28 assassination of Prime Minister Olof Palme.

Prosecutor K.G. Svensson issued a statement saying the investigation had not shown that the former prospect "has had anything to do with the murder" and there was no reason to continue "the prejudicial investigation" of him.

The former suspect, a 33-year-old man described by his lawyers as a religious Swede with right-wing views bitterly opposed to Palme and his socialist policies, was arrested March 12 and released on the eve of his planned arraignment a week later for lack of evidence.

He was not identified by the state in line with the Swedish practice of not naming people who have not been charged. But two newspapers, in Malmo and Hudikvalls, identified him as Ake Lennart Victor Gunnarsson and said he had once worked as a security guard.

The anti-communist European Labor Party released a statment on March 18 saying Gunnarsson once belonged to the organization but asserting it had severed its ties with him in 1985.

He and an acquaintance were the only two people known to have been detained in the fruitless hunt for Palme's killer. The second man was dropped from the investigation immediately after his release.

But investigators had refused to clear the 33-year-old.

WEATHER SUMMARY

'Heat wave' to end today

From Staff and Wire Reports

Almost two months after the vernal equinox, Midland will finally experience some spring weather this weekend. After weeks of daily high temperatures in the 90s, the heat wave ends today — the mercury will rise only to the mid 70s.

The day will be mostly cloudy, with winds from the north at 10-20 mph, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. Tonight will be partly cloudy and breezy with a low in the low 50s and a slight chance of rain, and Sunday will be partly cloudy and breezy with a high near 70.

Friday's high temperature of 92 was eight degrees below the record high for the date of 100, set in 1946, while the overnight low of 69 was 22 degrees higher than the 1932 record of 47.

STATE

Several tornadoes were reported across the Texas Panhandle Friday evening as forecasters warned of the possibility of violent thunderstorms and the possibility of twisters over wide sections of the state.

Thunderstorms were expected to develop over the central and east parts of the Panhandle and a flash flood watch was posted for parts of North Central Texas due to expected heavy rainfall.

The National Weather Service reported a tornado touched down between two ranches east of Paducah shortly before 8 p.m.

A tornado touched ground shortly before 7 p.m. near Briscoe in Donley County, but no damage had been reported, a dispatcher in the sheriff's office said.

The forecast called for showers and thunderstorms across North Texas through Saturday. Scattered thunderstorms were possible across South Texas and east of the mountains in West Texas.

NATION

Wet snow fell Friday over Wyoming and the Colorado mountains, where wind chills plunged into the teens at midday, while thunderstorms dumped heavy rain from Missouri to South Dakota.

By contrast, the temperature at Caribou, Maine, soared to 81 degrees Friday afternoon, a record high for the date, the National Weather Service said. The previous record was 75 degrees, set in 1944.

Four inches of snow blanketed Casper, Wyo., Friday morning, with 2 inches at Cheyenne, Wyo., and 1 inch at Lander, Wyo.

Rain fell over western Nebraska, northwest Kansas and eastern Colorado, wth rainshowers and thundershowers scattered over Utah and northern Arizona.

A tornado watch was posted in portions of Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Illinois and Indiana.

Arkansas defeats Midland

From Staff Reports

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Midland Angel starting pitcher Vance Lovelace was rocked for four runs in the bottom of the first inning Friday as the Angels went on to suffer a 5-3 Texas League loss to Arkansas.

Seven of nine Traveler batters in the first inning reached first safely, and four scored on four hits, led by Tom Amante's two-RBI double.

The Angels mounted their only rally of the game in the third. Mark McLemore walked and Raul Tovar singled him to second. Billie Merrifield brought McLemore home with his single and Glenn Walker plated Tovar with his one-bagger. Merrifield came around to scored on James Randall's RBI fielder's choice.

The Travelers added an insurance run in the eighth on a double by Harry McCulla and Eddie Tanner's pinch hit single.

For the Travelers, Rick Embser went five innings to claim the victory for a 2-0 record. Jeff Keener finished the game to pick up his fourth save.

Today, Midland and Arkansas will play a doubleheader to conclude the five-game series.

Don Timberlake is scheduled for the first game and Urbano Lugo the second. Lugo is down from the big Angels in California on 20-day rehab.

Rockets beat LA, 117-109

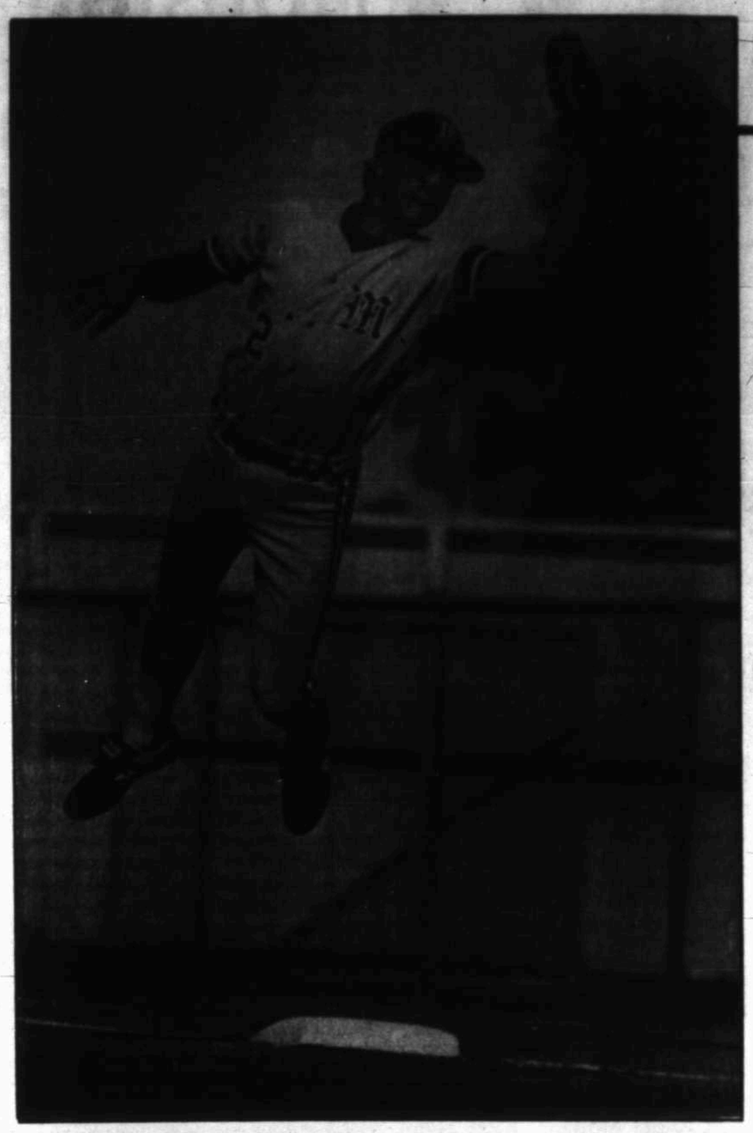

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Akeem Olajuwon scored 40 points to nullify a comeback performance by Los Angeles' James Worthy and 33 points by Kareem Adbul Jabbar to lead the Rockets to a 117-109 victory and a 2-1 lead in their NBA Western Conference title series Friday night.

The best-of-seven series resumes Sunday in The Summit, and the fifth game is scheduled Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Houston's Lewis Lloyd hit two quick baskets to start the frantic fourth quarter and give the Rockets a 94-91 lead. The Lakers never led again.

Ralph Sampson, who scored 18 points for the Rockets, hit a basket with 4:15 to go, breaking the last of

'Dogs muscle by Monterey

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

Midland High Bulldog Kenny De La Garza is tough to beat. If he doesn't get you with his curve ball, he'll get you with his bat. Sometimes he even throws both weapons.

Lubbock Monterey felt the sting of his presence in the bi-district championship game Friday at Angels Stadium. De La Garza pitched all seven innings and collected the game winning RBI in a 10-4 victory over the Plainsmen.

"That's how we got here," said MHS coach Tim Whalen. "De La Garza did a tremendous job."

In going the distance, De La Garza gave up six hits, two walks and hit one Plainsman while striking out two for the victory, an 11-6 record and a berth in the Region I playoff game against El Paso Eastwood at Dudley Field Saturday at 1 p.m. (MST).

At the plate, De La Garza was 2-for-4, scored a run and knocked in four, including the game winner with a two-RBI single in the fourth inning.

"I feel pretty good," said De La Garza. "I'm a little tired but I don't feel it too much right now, not as much as I will Saturday and Sunday."

SINCE OVERCOMING a sluggish start, the Bulldogs have been a team of destiny, finishing second in District 4-5A play after a 5-0 tie-breaker loss to Abilene Cooper. Now, in the playoffs, they have confidence.

"I wasn't nervous," said De La Garza. "The only confidence I had was because I haven't thrown for a couple of days and I always throw good when I have some time off."

"I knew we'd win it, well, I didn't know but I had a good feeling about it," said catcher Tommy Yorkman, who went 2-for-3, scored a run, knocked in one and threw out a runner on the game's only steal attempt. "We've been working hard for two weeks and had extra conditioning at the end."

Getting that first bi-district victory, the fourth one in four meetings against Monterey, only adds to their confidence.

"When we play well, we can beat anybody," said second baseman Jim Werner, who went 1-for-3, drove in one and scored one. "We already proved that. We beat TJ (Dallas Thomas Jefferson), Monterey and Cooper, three teams in the Top 10."

IN GAINING the victory, the Bulldogs had to overcome a 1-0 deficit.

After giving up an RBI single to Chad Pierce that plated Shanon Hays, the Bulldogs ended Plainsman starting pitcher Randy Robbins' perfect game with a four-run explosion in the bottom of the fourth.

Tommy Yorkman led it off with a single and moved to second on Jim Werner's sacrifice bunt. A throwing error by Kyle Guerry allowed Werner to reach safely, setting up the game winning RBI for De La Garza, who punched a 3-2 pitch to left to score two.

Anthony Deande followed with an RBI single to center and then benefited from Brian Pierce's misplay of the ball. Deande moved to third on the error and scored when Matt Sears reached on David Coleman's fielding error at third. The 'Dogs were in command, 4-1.

Midland High increased the margin in the fifth when Robert Malacara walked and advanced to third on Yorkman's single and Werner's pop up to right. He scored when Coleman committed his second error of the game on De La Garza's grounder.

Down 5-1, the Plainsmen came up with one last chance at survival, scoring three runs on a walk, two singles, an error and a ground out. Like the lead in the fourth, their new life was short-lived as Midland High batted through the order to score five runs on four hits.

De La Garza shut down the Plainsmen in the top of the seventh, ending the game getting Coleman to fly out to David Malone in right field.

"That was the longest fly ball in the world that guy hit out there," said Whalen of the last out. "I didn't think it was ever coming down."

It did and Whalen had his first-ever playoff victory.

DOG NOTES — The Bulldog defense made two errors on the day, but outstanding defensive plays were more the rule. In the second inning, Sears came off the bag to snare Malacara's errant throw, reached back and tagged Kyle Gueery for the out. In the third, De La Garza, leaped high to haul down a two-out, runners on second and third grounder by Randy Payne. In the fourth, Malacara dives for two grounders at shortstop and comes up throwing to put out Guerry and Max Stephenson to end a Monterey rally...The victory improves Midland High's record to 16-10 and ended a Monterey 18-game winning streak for a 25-4 record...The Bulldogs are 2-0 this year against Monterey, claiming a 2-1 decision in the Tournament of Champions...El Paso Eastwood moved into the regional playoff by sweeping El Paso Andress in two games, 4-3, Tuesday and 7-2 Friday.

Lubbock Estacado, Pampa capture first team titles at state meet

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

AUSTIN - Now we know why the state's legislature was placed in Austin. It rains here. Maybe they should consider moving the state track meet to West Texas.

Austin's heavy roof of clouds, rose just high enough to get in the first day of the state track meet Friday night, but caution warnings were being sounded for the bulk of the meet, which is scheduled for today.

Even though rain didn't plague Friday night's activities, a day long drizzle left the Memorial Stadium track wet and tricky. Numerous athletes fell during the competition, including some who were leading races. There may be more of the same in store for today.

At any rate, Lubbock Estacado and Pampa grabbed the first team titles to be awarded with Estacado winning the boys crown as Richard Ross came from behind in the mile relay to bring the Matadors the 4A crown. Ross is headed to Texas Tech next fall on a football scholarship. Estacado finished the meet with 40 points, beating Port Arthur Lincoln in the realy at the tape for both team and relay crowns.

PAMPA took the girls crown with 77 points while Brenham was second with 72. Pampa got most of its points by scoring heavily in three relays, winning the 400 relay and getting a first from Lidy Tanya in the 200.

Grady's Shanna Hale, who missed the dream of being a state champion a year ago with a second place finish in the Class A 3200, made her return trip to Austin a meaningful moment. Hale posted a 11:12.5 to win by 14 seconds over Woodson's Cindy Harper.

The 3200 was one of the events that all classes ran except 5A. All of the 5A division events will run today.

It was Harper who defeated Hale a year ago, but Hale got the last laugh in her senior year.

IN THE BOYS Class A 3200, Iraan's Chad Floyd was given second place in the event while Eden-Eola's Billy Escobar took the victory. Both finished with identical 9:50.0. Sanderson's Bert McEadin was sixth at 9:56.0 in a close race from top to bottom.

The 4A 100 hurdles looked like a Vietnam war zone with hurdles splintered all over the track. Lamesa's Keith Bryant was one of the survivors, placing third with a 14.4. Troy Guilbeaux of Little Cypress won the event with a 14.1. Two runners fell in the event, including 4A favorite Lamar Lathon of Warton, who had a big lead when he fell.

The thick and humid Austin air that yielded light rain throughout the day made competition in the 4A discus rough. Andrews' Bobby Kimbrough finished third with a 163-5 while Brazosport's Charles Johnson had a 168-6 for the win. Kimbrough had a qualifying throw of over 170 feet, but couldn't match that mark here.

Estacado's Ross, undefeated this year in the 100, posted a 10.4, but was judged third as the top three runners all had the same time. Dallas Lincoln's Bobby Johnson was given the victory while Kermit Ward of Waco University took second.

Lubbock Dunbar's Rhonda Lampkin won the girls 400 with a 55.8.

THE WET, muggy conditions made records of any type hard to come by, but there were some marks set. Two records came in the pole vault as Karnes City's Kyle Henderson set a 3A record of 16-0 1/2 while Goldthwaite's Scott Miller tied a Class A mark with a 15-0.

Dalhart's Sharon Hudson won both the 3A long jump and triple jump. Her 19-6 1/2 was a 3A long jump record and her 39-8 in the triple jump won by three inches.

Midlothian's Joey Chapman set a 3A record with a 9:24.3 in the 3200, beating the old mark by two seconds.

Austin Westlake's Duane Duncum set the 4A shot put record with a 63-8.

Although some events were run in other divisions beside 4A Friday, the majority of Class 5A, 3A, 2A and 1A will be held today with 3A and 1A competition kicking off at noon while 5A and 2A will run today at 6:30 p.m.

Midland Lee's Brad Cooper in the 400 and Quintus Hampton in the 300 hurdles will be among the 5A competitors.

Midland netters survive odd day

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
Assistant Sports Editor

AUSTIN - Midland High's Jill Bramlett and Laura Legg went through a weird day Friday as the state tennis tournament opened here at the Texas Intramural Courts, but they're still in the running for a state doubles title.

Legg and Bramlett won an easy 6-1, 6-2 victory over Tyler Lee's Donna Laminack and Jennifer Chase in first round action, but rain forced postponement of the semifinal match, leaving Bramlett and Legg a day to wonder if they would play or not.

The waiting is hard enough at this level of play, but the Bulldog duo had another surprise before winning thier first round match.

"We went to warm up on the court assigned to us and two players were already there. We started warming up with them I thought this was going to be easier than I expected," said Bramlett. "But we found out that the girls we were warming up with were in 2A from Sabine."

Laminack and Chase, the proper opponents finally showed up and made the switch. That could have been a double shock.

As it turned out, however, it was Bramlett and Legg who played the first round match in loose and care free manner. At one point, the Midland team won eight straight games after taking a 2-1 lead in the first set, making sure that the match was never in jeopardy.

"I thought Laura and Jill had very few unforced errors and I don't think they were pushed the whole match," said MHS tennis coach Pete Barizon. "They were dominating from the beginning and I was hoping they would have a first round match like this to help their confidence."

MHS assistant coach Cindy Hazen, a former singles state champion and Bramlett's sister, added, "They played pretty well, but they were really nervous before the match and the humidity is awful. I really think Laura got tired during the match."

Legg was pleased with the first round victory, saying, "I thought they would be a lot tougher than they were. I was nervous at the beginning, but not after the match started. I think we saw right away that we could play with them."

"It was an easy match," said Bramlett. "It's really humid down here and it is a factor."

Things may not be so easy today in the semifinals at 9 a.m., weather permitting. Legg and Bramlett are scheduled to go against San Antonio Churchill's Jenny Mainz and Alexandria Liske. Mainz and Liske were a 6-2, 6-3 winner over Clear Lake's Martha Tyler and Jen Zannelli.

Mainz is a tournament mainstay. She teamed with her sister last year to win the 5A doubles' title, but has Liske as a new partner this year. The Mainz-Liske team may not be as strong as the Mainz-Mainz matchup, but Bramlett and Legg have to feel in the back of the mind that half the potential for another Churchill state championship is in place.

"I really thought we would win in the first round, but our kids will have to really play well to win this next-match," said Barizon. "But who knows? Anything can happen if the girls play well."

"We certainly don't expect to have as easy a match in the semifinals," says Hazen. "You feel a little empty if you come down here and lose in first match. We've cleared that hurdle, so we have something to hang to. Laura and Jill will just have to go out and play well."

In Class 4A, Andrews' Martha Barrera and Mindy Kniffen skated to an easy 6-2, 6-1 win over Keller's Georgie Leonard and Teri Pennington.

Barrera and Kniffen are the defending 4A doubles champions and are off to a good start toward a repeat title.

The Stanton doubles team of Julie Todd and Kim Reynolds weren't as lucky as the two Buffaloes dropped a 6-1, 6-0 decision to Dena Hohn and Melany Brannies of Mason. Mason always seems to have good tennis players.

Baseball Trivia.

STAT— Baltimore's Mike Young, who hit 28 home runs last season, had gone 32 games and 103 at-bats this season without one when he connected off Twins ace Frank Viola Thursday.

SWINGS— Toronto left-hander Jimmy Key was 14-6 last season with a 3.00 earned run average. But since then, he's gone 0-2 with a 5.19 earned run average against Kansas City in the American League championship series, and is 1-3 with a 10.41 earned run average in eight appearances this season.

Kiddie corps leads Rangers over Red Sox

Associated Press

BOSTON — Oddibe McDowell, rookie Pete Incaviglia and Steve Buechele backed Jose Guzman's seven-hit pitching with solo home runs Friday night, powering the Texas Rangers to a 4-1 victory over Boston despite a career-high 14 strikeouts by the Red Sox' Bruce Hurst.

Guzman, 3-5, who snapped a personal five-game losing streak last Sunday, walked four, struck out one and lost his shutout bid on Steve Lyons' pinch homer with one out in the ninth.

McDowell led off the game by lifting a 2-0 pitch into the right-field stands for his fifth home run of the season. It was the first homer off Hurst, 3-3, since the season opener April 7.

Incaviglia led off the sixth with his seventh homer, a mighty blast over the high screen atop the left-field wall. Buechele started the seventh with another screen-clearing shot for his sixth homer.

The Rangers also picked up an unearned run in the fifth as Buechele reached on a fielding error by Dwight Evans in right, stole second and scored on McDowell's single.

Hurst reached double figures in strikeouts for the fourth time this year and the ninth of his career. His 14 strikeouts gave him 71 and moved him ahead of teammate Roger Clemens for the major league lead.

Blue Jays 7, Indians 6

TORONTO — Jesse Barfield hit a three-run double to highlight a five-run sixth inning that powered the Toronto Blue Jays.

Barfield, who also had an RBI single in the fifth inning, made a winner of reliever Jim Acker, 1-2, who was just dropped from the starting rotation.

The Blue Jays entered the sixth trailing 4-2 but tied the game on an RBI double by Rance Mulliniks and a run-scoring single by George Bell. With the bases loaded, Barfield hit a 2-2 pitch from Tom Candiotti, 2-4, into the gap in left-center, giving the Jays a 7-4 lead.

The Indians picked up two runs in the seventh on an RBI single by Brett Butler, who moved to third on a single by Julio Franco and scored when Joe Carter hit into a double play.

Angels 11, Tigers 1

DETROIT — California rookie Wally Joyner, who leads the major leagues in home runs and RBIs, hit two homers while Gary Pettis and Dick Schofield each hit one to back the seven-hit pitching of Mike Witt as the Angels pounded the struggling Detroit Tigers.

While Witt, 3-3, was pitching his third complete game, the Angels pounded four Detroit pitchers for 13 hits and the Tigers committed three errors.

Loser Dan Petry, 3-3, lasted only 1 2-3 innings, his shortest outing of the season. He gave up five runs on three hits.

Joyner, who has 15 homers and 37 RBIs, has homered in six of his last eight games. In the first inning, he crushed a 1-0 pitch from Petry off the facing of the third deck in right field. In the seventh, he blasted a Bill Campbell delivery into the second deck — both solo shots.

In the second inning, Petry hit Dick Schofield with a pitch and walked Bob Boone. Pettis then belted his second home run into the second deck in right on the first pitch for a 4-0 lead. With two out in the inning, Brian Downing singled and scored from first when right fielder Pat Sheridan booted Reggie Jackson's single for an error.

White Sox 4, Royals 2

CHICAGO — Reid Nichols' three-run double with two out in the fifth inning and four hits by Harold Baines led the Chicago White Sox and broke the Royals' four-game winning streak.

The triumph was the third straight for the White Sox and their sixth in eight games since Manager Tony LaRussa was given a vote of confidence last week. It also ended their six-game losing streak at home.

Richard Dotson, 2-3, was the winner and received excellent relief help from Gene Nelson, who pitched 3 2-3 hitless innings before Bob James got the final out for his seventh save.

Baines started the fifth-inning rally against Charlie Leibrandt, 4-2, with a single. With two out, Ron Kittle and Greg Walker walked to fill the bases before Nichols doubled down the left-field line.

Mariners 7, Yankees 3

NEW YORK — Hot-hitting Jim Presley drove in four runs and Mark Langston held New York scoreless until the eighth inning Friday night, leading the Seattle Mariners over the slumping Yankees.

The Mariners, winners of five of seven games since Dick Williams replaced Chuck Cottier as manager, snapped a six-game losing streak against the Yankees dating back to last Aug. 23. New York has lost three straight, five of seven over-all and six of its last seven home games.

Langston, 2-3 on the season but only 2-6 lifetime against the Yankees, lost his shutout bid in the eighth when Don Mattingly doubled, Dave Winfield tripled and Henry Cotto hit a sacrifice fly. Langston allowed 10 hits before needing last-out help from Pete Ladd.

Presley's two-out, two-run single highlighted a three-run third inning against Joe Niekro, 4-2, that gave Seattle a 4-0 lead. Harold Reynolds led off with a broken-bat single and scored on Spike Owen's double. Alvin Davis walked and both runners moved up on Butch Wynegar's passed ball before Presley's hit.

A's 8, Orioles 4

BALTIMORE — Tony Phillips became the first player in Oakland's 19-year history to hit for the cycle, keying a 14-hit attack 14-hit attack with a home run, triple, two doubles and a single as the Orioles snapped a six-game winning streak.

Phillips, who raised his batting average 25 points to .326, opened the game with his second homer of the season on a 2-1 pitch from Storm Davis, 3-2. He singled to drive in a run in the A's three-run second, doubled and scored in their two-run fourth, singled in the fifth and tripled a run home in the eighth.

Moose Haas, 7-1, pitching in his home town, allowed eight hits in six innings-plus, including a two-run homer by Larry Sheets in the fourth, to become the American League's first seven-game winner. Bill Mooneyham relieved in the two-run Baltimore seventh and worked two scoreless innings before Jose Rijo pitched the ninth.

Brewers 7, Twins 6

MILWAUKEE — Cecil Cooper opened the ninth inning with a triple and Bill Schroeder singled over a drawn-in outfield as the Milwaukee Brewers overcame a club record 19 runners left on base and rallied to defeat the Minnesota Twins.

After Cooper tripled off reliever Ron Davis, 1-3, Ben Oglivie was walked intentionally. Juan Castillo ran for Cooper and scored the winning run when Schroeder siingled to the right-field wall.

The victory went to Mark Clear, 2-1, who struck out four and did not allow a hit over the final two innings.

Mark Salas triggered a four-run Minnesota third with his fifth home run of the season. Greg Gagne and Roy Smalley followed with doubles and RBI singles by Tom Brunansky and Gary Gaetti gave the Twins a 4-2 lead.

They made it 6-3 in the fifth on a pair of walks, a hit batsman and a two-run single by Steve Lombardozzi.

Baylor upsets Texas in SWC baseball play

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Steve Jarvie drove in six runs with a triple and grand slam homer to help Baylor upset top-seeded Texas 13-5 in the opening game of the 10th annual Southwest Conference baseball tournament Friday.

Texas drops into the loser's bracket and will meet Friday night's loser in the Arkansas-Texas A&M contest Saturday. Baylor will meet the Aggies-Razorbacks winner later Saturday.

Blaine Beatty scattered 11 hits as he posted his third win over Texas in a two-year career at Baylor. It was only the second time that Texas has ever lost a first-round game in the tournament, and it was Baylor who beat the Longhorns 3-2 in 1977.

Every member of the Baylor lineup scored and hit safely as the team handed Longhorn ace Greg Swindell the pitching loss. Both Beatty and Swindell now have 10-3 records on the year.

The Bears wiped out a 3-1 Texas lead with six runs on six straight hits in the top of the fifth. Jarvie's two-run triple and Todd Hawkins' two-run homer were the big blows.

Texas scored twice in the seventh to cut the Baylor lead to 7-5, but the Bears came back with another six-run, six-hit rally in the eighth.

Curt Krippner, who had relieved Swindell to start the sixth, gave up two runs and had the bases loaded when he gave way to John Morton. Jarvie greeted Morton's first pitch with a towering grand slam homer over the left field wall.

Texas A&M 4, Arkansas 0

COLLEGE STATION — Dale Berry limited Arkansas to five scattered hits in pitching Texas A&M to a 4-0 victory over the Razorbacks in the second game of the 10th annual Southwest Conference baseball tournament Friday night.

The win pits the Aggies against Baylor in the winner's bracket at 7 p.m. Saturday, while Arkansas faces Texas in an elimination game at 1 p.m. Baylor beat Texas 13-5 in the tournament opener Friday afternoon.

The Aggies rapped out 10 hits to pin the loss on Steve Parker, who had no-hit A&M in an earlier meeting this season. It was Barry's second shutout of the year over Arkansas.

The Aggies scored two unearned runs in the third inning as Maury Martin reached first on Jeff King's error at third, moved to second on Rob Chandler's sacrifice bunt and scored on Jeff Schow's triple to left center. Scott Livingston then singled Schow home.

Barry walked one and struck out six while Parker walked two and whipped five.

Davis' bat leads Houston to win

HOUSTON (AP) — Glenn Davis had three RBIs, including a run-scoring single that capped a six-run sixth inning, leading the Houston Astros to a 9-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

Trailing 6-3, the Astros sent 10 men to the plate in the sixth and scored six runs off three Cubs pitchers. Kevin Bass led off with a single, went to second on a groundout and scored on Terry Puhl's single off Jay Baller, 1-2. After Mark Bailey grounded out, the Astros put together six consecutive hits. Alan Ashby's pinch-hit RBI single made it 6-4. Bill Doran followed with another single, Dickie Thon and Jose Cruz hit back-to-back RBI doubles ooff reliever Guy Hoffman and Davis capped the outburst with his run-scoring single, as the Astros pounded out 16 hits.

Both teams scored twice in the first. Ryne Sanberg's sacrifice fly and Kieth Moreland's solo homer off starter Jim Deshaies gave the Cubs the lead, but Davis tied the game in the bottom of the inning with a two-run single.

Jody Davis led off the second inning with the first of his two home runs to put the Cubs ahead 3-2, but singles by Puhl, Bailey and Doran tied the score at 3-3 after two innings.

The Cubs greeted Astro reliever Julio Solano, 3-0, with two runs in the third to take a 5-3 lead. Matthews led off with a walk, advanced to third on Sandberg's double and scored on Moreland's single. Sandberg scored on a wild pitch.

Davis' second home run of the game and sixth of the year in the top of the sixth made it 6-3.

Dave Smith pitched the ninth for Houston and retired the side in order for his 10th save.

Reds 7, Pirates 2

CINCINNATI — Buddy Bell, who entered the game with only two runs batted in this season, knocked in three with a double and a triple.

John Denny, 2-4, struck out seven, walked three and allowed four hits in six innings. John Franco came on in the seventh after Denny walked the first batter and recorded his fifth save.

It was Denny's first appearance since a Cincinnati sportswriter filed a misdemeanor assault charge against him over an incident in Philadelphia on Wednesday.

The Reds scored a run in the second inning and three more in the third off Rick Rhoden, 2-3, for only their third victory in 15 home games this season.

Bell drew a one-out walk in the second, moved to third on Sal Butera's checked-swing double to right and scored on the first of Ron Oester's two RBI singles.

Dave Parker and Nick Esasky started the Reds' third with singles, and Bell doubled down the third-base line to make it 3-0. Oester, whose three-run homer in the ninth gave the Reds a win Thursday in Philadelphia, followed with another run-scoring single for his fifth RBI in two games.

The Pirates scored in the fourth inning on Mike Brown's bases-loaded groundout and made it 4-2 in the seventh when Denny walked Jim Morrison and pinch-hitter Mike Diaz scored him with a double off Franco.

The Reds added three runs in the seventh off reliever Jose DeLeon. Parker's double, a walk to Esasky and DeLeon's fielding error loaded the bases. Catcher Tony Pena's wild pickoff throw allowed two runs to score before Bell tripled home the Reds' final run.

Braves 6, Cardinals 2

ATLANTA — Bob Horner and Ozzie Virgil each drove in two runs and Rick Mahler pitched a four-hitter.

Horner's sacrifice fly in the sixth broke a 2-2 tie. It scored Billy Sample, who had singled, stolen second and advanced to third on Dale Murphy's infield grounder.

The Braves added another run in the sixth off Bob Forsch, 2-2, on a double by Rafael Ramirez, an intentional walk to Ken Oberkfell and Virgil's first RBI single.

Sample, who had three hits, hit his second homer in the seventh off reliever Greg Bargar.

Mahler, 3-4, walked seven and struck out three. He blanked the Cards over the first five innings before St. Louis tied the game 2-2 in the sixth. Ozzie Smith and Jack Clark drew walks and later scored on RBI singles by Andy Van Slyke and Tom Herr.

St. Louis had the bases loaded with one out after Terry Pendleton walked, but pinch-hitter Jerry White hit into a double play from Horner at first to Virgil at the plate and back to Horner, with White being called out for interference.

Atlanta took a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Omar Moreno doubled on the first pitch and went to third on catcher Mike Heath's passed ball.

After Murphy walked with one out, Horner's broken-bat RBI single to right scored Moreno. Murphy and Horner then advanced a base on Heath's second passed ball, and Murphy scored on Ramirez' groundout.

The Braves added their final run off Bargar in the eighth on Virgil's second RBI single.

four fourth-quarter ties for a 107-105 Houston lead.

Worthy, who had averaged only 13.6 points in the two previous games, scored 27 points, but was scoreless in the fourth quarter. Lloyd finished with 26 points for the Rockets.

The Lakers held the lead through most of the second quarter, but the Rockets surged near the end of the period for a 60-59 lead at halftime.

Trailing 57-53, Houston scored seven straight points on a free throw by Akeem Olajuwon, followed by a basket by Olajuwon and two Lloyd jump shots.

Los Angeles did not regain the lead until Byron Scott's bucket with 7:22 to go in the third quarter, and from that point, the lead changed hands 11 times until the Lakers edged to a 91-90 led going into the final period.

Worthy led Los Angeles' third quarter with 15 points.

The Lakers scored the first eight points of the game before Sampson almost single-handedly pulled the Rockets back into the game.

Sampson scored 12 points in the quarter and the Rockets outscored Los Angeles 23-8 over a 4:08 span for a 23-16 lead.

TOKYO — Gary Rajsich extended his league-leading home run total to 14 as Chuichi Dragons defeated the Hanshin Tigers 6-1...The Hankyu Braves edged the Nippon Ham Fighters 2-1 and took over sole possession of first place in the Pafic League...

FORT WORTH — Lance Brown, pitching coach at Rice, was named head coach at Texas Christian University, where he was a star college pitcher. Brown replaces Bragg Stockton, who resigned to accept the head coaching job at the University of Houston. In 1983, his first season at Rice, the Owls had the nation's top college team earned run average of 2.60. Four of his players signed professional contracts and three were all-Southwest Conference...

Football

MADISON, Wis. — The University of Wisconsin named Jim Hilles as the interim Badgers coach, succeeding the late Dave McClain. AD Elroy Hirsch said hiring an interim coach would be the best way to quickly stabilize the football program. Also Friday, the athletic board revealed that the personnel committee had decided not to renew the contract of controversial women's basketball coach Edwina Qualls, but that Qualls had requested and was granted a review of the decision...

Basketball

NEW YORK — Marques Johnson of the Los Angeles Clippers, who averaged 20.3 points and made the Western Conference All-Star team as a guard after previously reaching all-star status four times as a forward, was named the NBA Comeback Player of the Year...

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — Kevin Stallings is the new assistant at Purdue University...

Tennis

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Vanderbilt University began a search for a new coach Friday, following an investigation by A Roy Kramer that shows two members of the 1980-81 team received payments in violation of NCAA regulations. Coach John Newman tendered his resignation Thursday night after an hour-long meeting with Kramer. Kramer said his investigation had revealed that "supplemental benefits in addition to their athletic scholarships" were received by two team members...

Shoemaker sets sights on 2nd jewel of Triple

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jockey Bill Shoemaker and trainer Charlie Whittingham, the old men of racing, try to keep alive their hopes for a Triple Crown Saturday with a colt named Ferdinand in the $350,000-added Preakness Stakes.

Ferdinand, who emerged from a 16-horse calvary charge as the the 17-1 Kentucky Derby winner May 3, has to beat only six rivals at Pimlico to advance on the Triple Crown trail, which ends with the June 7 Belmont Stakes.

Although made the early 9-5 favorite and a sentimental choice of many fans because of the 54-year-old Shoemaker and 73-year-old Whittingham, Ferdinand might not go off as the No. 1 choice.

That role could go to the strong D. Wayne Lukas-trained entry of Badger Land and Clear Choice, 2-1 in the early line.

The favorite has not been successful in the Preakness since Pleasant Colony won in 1981.

Badger Land, the Flamingo winner, was bumped at the start of the Derby, rushed to catch up by going wide on two turns. Clear Choice won the one-mile Withers in his last start at Aqueduct.

Broad Brush, 3-1, the Wood Memorial winner and third in the Derby, also will draw strong support. The Maryland-bred colt has a fondness for his home track where he won two small stakes this year.

Maryland-based horses have won three of the last seven runnings of the Preakness, which is expected to draw a crowd of more than 90,000 on a sunny day with temperatures in the 80s.

There is also the question whether Snow Chief, 4-1, who had won five straight races and $1.7 million, can bounce back after his 11th place finish in the Derby. He had been made the slight favorite over Badger Land at Churchill Downs.

Miracle Wood, another Maryland-bred, 20-1, and Groovy, last in the Derby, complete the field of 3-year-olds for the 1 3-16-mile test, one-sixteenth of a mile shorter than the Derby.

Reagan orders panel to try to find end to railroad walkout

Associated Press

President Reagan ordered creation of an emergency panel Friday to end a 2½-month-old railroad walkout after strikers began picketing Conrail sites in the Northeast and Midwest, crippling one of the nation's biggest freight carriers.

The Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees announced late Friday that it would stop picketing the Conrail sites.

More than 100 of the union's members at Maine Central struck March 3 in a dispute with the railroad's owners, Guilford Transportation Industries Inc. of Billerica, Mass., over job security, wages and severance pay.

About a week later, union members at two other Guilford-owned lines, the Boston & Maine and the Delaware & Hudson, refused to cross picket lines.

On Thursday, the strikers began picketing Conrail yards in Massachusetts, New York, Indiana, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the District of Columbia after an appeals court stayed an injunction prohibiting the picketing. Conrail service was disrupted as train crews refused to cross picket lines.

The order issued by the president usually leads to a 60-day cooling-off period during which strikers return to work under pre-strike conditions while the panel tries to solve the labor dispute.

Union attorney Robert Naumes said strikers were prepared to return to work immediately but Guilford officials did not want to take back all the strikers because the company's business is down due to the job action.

Twitty birdies into share of 1st

Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP) — Howard Twitty finished off a 68 with birdies on two of the last three holes and moved into a share of the lead Friday in the second round of the $600,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

The journeyman Twitty, winner of two titles in a 12-year PGA Tour career, completed two trips over the Colonial Country Club course in 136.

He was tied at that figure, 4 under par, with David Edwards, who had a 3-under-par 67 in the tricky winds.

"It was gusty, and swirling around in the trees. Real hard to figure. The golf course plays difficult when you've got a cross-wind like this," said Edwards, who teamed with older brother Danny for a victory in the 1980 National Team Championship and also won the 1984 Los Angeles Open.

Bob Tway, a winner at San Diego earlier this season, and Dan Pohl were a single stroke off the halfway lead at 137. Tway had a 68 and Pohl shot 69.

Gene Sauers, the longshot who held the first-round lead, slipped to a 72, two over par, and was tied at 138 with Bill Rogers, defending champion Corey Pavin, Bob Gilder and Bob Lohr.

Lohr had a second-round 69. Rogers, a former British Open champion, shot 71. And Gilder closed up with a 5-under-par 65, the best round of the day.

"I'm rather surprised at the position I'm in (two shots off the lead)," said Pavin, a winner at Hawaii earlier this season, who had a solid 68. "I expected somebody to jump out and take charge."

But no one did. And, going into the last two rounds of the chase for a $108,000 first prize, 15 players were within three shots of the top spot.

"If you roll the dice, sometimes you get a 7, sometimes you get a 12. Sometimes somebody will jump out in front, sometimes they bunch up," shrugged Edwards.

And some of the game's more well-known names remained bunched up, but they were bunched up.

Player leads in Senior

FRAZER, Pa. (AP) — Gary Player drove with irons from the tees Friday for a tournament record-tying 4-under-par 66 and a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the $200,000 United Hospitals Senior Golf Championship.

Player was trailed by Gordon Jones at 2-under-par 68. Jones stood 2-under-par after 10 holes, but could not break par on the remaining holes at the Chester Valley Country Club.

Player began his round with a bogey, then launched his assault on the 6,406-yard, par 35-35—70 course with birdies on the second and third holes.

The one-time winner of the U.S. Open, British Open, PGA and Masters titles continued with keen stroke work and birdied six holes. He made only one other bogey, on the 15th.

His longest birdie putt was a 30-footer from the fringe of the eighth green.

Player's score tied the 1985 tournament record of Don January, the defending champion who bogeyed four of the first five holes on Friday. January finsihed at 39-35—74.

5A to Conroe; Brownwood claims 4A golf

AUSTIN (AP) — Conroe, led by medalist Bo Beard, won the Class 5A boys high school golf state championship Friday by 13 strokes over runner-up Sugar Land Dulles.

Beard shot 71 Friday, giving him a two-day total of 140. Teammate Steve Termeer shot 146, tying Dulles' Randy Kerbow and Port Neches Groves' Mike Dulin for second-best two-day score.

Conroe's team score was 595. Dulles was second at 608. Cypress Creek was third at 614.

Brownwood took the 4A team title with a score of 626. Liberty was second at 634, 10 strokes better than third place Kerrville Tivy. Kyle Jerome of Liberty took low-score honors at 150.

In Class 3A, Texarkana Pleasant Grove needed two playoff holes to beat Abilene Wylie. Both teams finished regulation play at 639. Third place went to Devine at 665.

Bo Cooper of Sanger was medalist with a score of 146.

Weimar took the 2A title at 651, 13 strokes better than second-place Stanton. Memhis was third at 666. Low-score honors in 2A went to Craig Koch of Ranger, who fired a 143.

Nicklaus, Kurt Beck reach N-S semifinals

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Former North Carolina teammate Kurt Beck birdied the 18th hole Friday to defeat defending champion Jack Nicklaus II 1-up to advance to the semifinals of the 86th annual Men's North and South Amateur golf championship.

Beck, of Pittsburgh, was knotted with Nicklaus after 17 holes of the quarterfinal match, but Nicklaus, of North Palm Beach, Fla., got into trouble off the tee on the 18th hole.

Sports Briefs

SWC must show records

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal judge ruled Friday that the records of the Southwest Conference and the NCAA are subject to public disclosure under the Texas Open Records Act.

The Dallas Morning News, the Dallas Times Herald and Belo Broadcasting filed suit against the NCAA and SWC after officials for those organizations declined to release information obtained in investigations of SWC football programs.

George Gangwere, chief attorney for the NCAA, said he was "disappointed" by the ruling and fears it will hinder future investigations by the association.

Theismann wants to play, even as backup

WASHINGTON — Washington Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, fighting to return to action after suffering a career-threatening broken leg, said Friday that he would accept a backup role if he makes the Redskins' roster.

Theismann, 36, broke his right leg six months ago in a game against the New York Giants. Although he has been unable to participate in the mini-camp that began Monday, he has vowed that he will return to challenge Jay Schroeder for the starting spot.

Theismann, the team's all-time leader in a variety of passing categories, had previously told Washington Coach Joe Gibbs that he could not accept being No. 2.

Thompson appointed

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Georgetown University's John Thompson on Friday was named head coach of the 1988 U.S. Olympic basketball team.

Dave Gavitt, Big East commissioner and chairman of the selection committee, said Thompson was chosen from an original list of 30 candidates, which was narrowed to 10 finalists on Friday.

"The decision was unanimous," said Gavitt. "I talked to John this Thompson's selection will require the approval of the Amateur Basketball Association's council as well as the U.S. Olympic Committee's executive committee, but such approval is considered a formality.

Thompson, 43, has compiled a 321-115 career coaching record. He has been at Georgetown 14 seasons, leading the Hoyas to the 1984 NCAA championship and to the Final Four two other times, in 1982 and 1985.

AUSTIN — Top-seeded Stanford and No. 2-seed Southern California completed 5-1 victories Friday before a misting rain halted play in quarterfinal matches of the NCAA National Women's Tennis Championships.

Stanford had topped Northwestern and USC bettered Arizona State in the early play. Subsequent matches involving USC and Miami, and Oklahoma State and Trinity, were delayed more than four hours due to the continuing poor weather.

PHILADELPHIA — Cincinnati sports writer Bruce Schoenfeld, 24, has sworn out a private criminal complaint with the district attorney's office charging Cincinnati Reds pitcher John Denny with slamming him against a wall in a hallway underneath Veterans Stadium.

The crunch on the U.S. National Park Service will begin in June, despite a $39 million budget cut.

Visitations will be up 16 per cent, which means decreased services and, interestingly, greater reliance on volunteer help.

At Rocky Mountain National Park it is hoped to trade free camp spots for help in everything from patrolling park boundaries to counting deer and sheep herds.

The Rocky Mountain region operates Yellowstone, Grand Teton and Glacier, as well as 38 lesser-known parks and monuments in six western states.

Herm Hoopes, director of volunteer programs in the Rocky Mountain area, says officials hope to compensate for some of the budget-mandated workforce cuts by recruiting volunteers, especially in many of the lesser-known parks.

For example, volunteers are being sought for the Dinosaur National Monument on the Colorado-Utah border to perform such chores as counting mountain sheep, walking the wildlife sanctuary boundary to check fence damage, working on archeological projects and acting as campground hosts.

Hoopes said the park service has added volunteers to camp deep in the mountainous back country of Rocky Mountain National Park and to aid hikers and mountain climbers....

THE TEXAS SKI Council has lined up its schedule for the 1986-87 ski season and it will include four trips with one optional.

The Flatlanders Ski Club of the Permian Basin is a member of the TSC.

A Fall Roundup Thanksgiving (Nov. 26-30) trip is planned for Keystone, Colo., while Texas Ski Week (Jan. 10-18) will be at Steamboat Springs.

In Feb. the Winter Shoot-out is scheduled for Crested Butte (Feb. 4-8) and the Final Shoot-out is at Heavenly Valley, Calif, where the TSC will have access to four ski areas.

Next season's Globetrotter romp is scheduled for the Italian Alps (Feb. 20-28)....

MEDIOCRE was the word for fishing at lakes J.B. Thomas and E. V. Spence during the past weekend. That's what most of the catches were, although Lloyd Wright took a 21-pound striper at Spence and Gary Reese landed a 22-pounder...Greg and D.D. Williams, Andrews, took 23 white bass while at Thomas, Randy Adcock, Lubbock, checked in with a 23-pound yellow....

Gary Martinec displays some of the slime globs that residents of Eagle Mountain Lake are worried about. Area property owners have organized to try to prevent additional pollution of the lake near Fort Worth.

Everyone will need fishing license after September 1

AUSTIN (AP) — After Sept. 1, anyone who fishes in Texas must have a license, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said.

Those under 17 and over 65 will not be charged a fee for the license, and holders of commercial fishing licenses will be required to obtain a free license for fishing for sport purposes, the department said.

The changes were mandated by the 1985 Legislature.

Some of the new fishing and hunting license fees include combination resident hunting and fishing license $15; resident fishing $8; resident hunting $10; resident hunting license for those under 17 and over 65, $6; duplicate hunting $6; temporary non-resident fishing $8; non-resident small game hunting $75; general non-resident hunting $200; and blind and disabled veterans fishing $1.50.

TPWD makes changes in hunting regulations

From Staff Reports

Establishment of a uniform statewide white-tailed deer hunting season was among a number of hunting regulation changes adopted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The general white-tailed season will be Nov. 8 through Jan 4. 1987. The archery only deer season will be Oct. 4-Nov. 2.

A special early anterless-only gun season for whitetails was authorized for portions of Polk and Trinity counties, Oct. 18-Nov. 2, and a special post-season anterless-only season was adopted for six South Texas counties Jan. 10-25.

The statewide whitetail season is the first time in modern history that all Texas counties will have the same season dates. The Commission also added 59 counties to the either-sex system of deer bag limits. Special anterless tags will be issued to landowners with no limit as to acreage required for taking anterless white-tailed deer. The counties experience chronic overpopulation of does.

The experimental post-season anterless-only season authorized for six South Texas counties is designed to increase hunter participation in the anterless deer harvest and help remedy deer population. Counties authorized to have the special 16-day lseason are Webb, Dimmit, Zapata, Zavala, Maverick, and Duval.

Hunting deer with dogs in 10 East Texas counties where it has been permitted in the past will be permitted only during the last half of the deer gun season. In these counties, (Hardin, Harrison, Jasper, Newton, Orange, Panola, Polk, Sabine, San Jacinto and Tyler) dogs may be used for hunting deer from Dec. 7 through Jan. 4...

Mule deer hunters will have the same seasons in 1986 as in 1985. The Panhandle gun season will be Nov. 22-30; the Trans-Pecos season will be Nov. 29, Dec. 7...

Another change prohibits the use of dogs to trail wounded deer in Angelina County, but allows the practice in Winkler County...

A legal bow is defined as a "low bow, recurved bow, or compound bow that is hand-held and hand-drawn, and that has no mechanical device built into, or attached that will enable the archer to look the bow at full or partial draw. Other than energy stored by the drawn bow, no device to propel the arrow will be permitted."

Amended archery regulations require that bows have at least a 40-pound minimum peak draw weight, rather than the ability to propel an arrow 130 yards as specified in the previous regulation. Broadhead arrows must be a minimum width of 7/8 inch with at least two cutting edges...

In upland game, several counties were added to those having an either-sex turkey bag limit, and Cooke and Milam counties were added to those having a spring season. In the Panhandle, the turkey season was lengthened from 16 to 58 days and the bag limit was increased from one turkey, either sex, to two turkeys, either sex....

In Pecos and Terrell counties the bag limit will be changed from one turkeu, gobbler or bearded hen, to two turkeys, either sex. In Ward and Crane counties, the bag limit will be changed from two turkeys and, gobblers or bearded hens, to two turkeys, either sex.

New bass minimum

From Staff Reports

A 14-inch minimum length limit and bag limit of five per day for largemouth bass in most of Texas marked fishing regulation changes. Most hunting and fishing changes adopted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. went into effect May 1. Saltwater regulations go into effect June 1.

On Sept.1 no largemouth bass smaller than 14 inches in length may be legally retained by anglers except in the Panhandle region north of U.S. Highway 70, where a 12-inch minimum length limit will be in effect. The bag limit is five per day and 10 in possession statewide.

The 12-inch length limit adopted for the Panhandle counties would apply to all bass species. In the remainder of the state, the 14-inch minimum applies only to largemouths, and anglers will be allowed to retain smallmouth or spotted bass 10 inches and longer. The five per day bag limit will be in effect regardless of which species of bass is retained.

The 14-inch minimum will apply to all public reservoirs except those which have special regulations such as slot limits.

The 10-inch length limit still applies to spotted, Guadalupe and smallmouth bass...and in the Panhandle, where the limit is 12 inches for all bass.

Church conference held

HOUSTON — Cyril Miller of Burleson was reelected President of the Southwestern Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventist church here May 6. The election was the main item of business at the 24th regular session of the Conference, held every five years.

Also returned to office were Clayton R. Pritchett of Burleson, secretary; Max A. Trevino of Keene, treasurer; and three vice presidents, Richard W. Bendall of Cleburne, Max Martinez of Keene, and E. Wayne Sheppard of Keene.

W.C. Jones of Dallas, president of the Adventists' Southwest Region Conference, one of five subsidiary conferences of the Southwestern Union Conference, was elected as an additional vice president to the Union. All departmental directors of the Southwestern Union were also reelected.

In other business, the session approved a new constitution, which enlarges the executive committee of the organization to include more lay persons, who now compose about 35 percent of the committee membership. The headquarters of the Southwestern Union Conference are in Burleson.

High priest to appear

Terry Shelton, high priest, will be making a return visit to Midland from San Antonio Sunday.

Shelton will conduct a baptismal service at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the Central YMCA. Four members of a Midland family will be baptized, and a confirmation service will follow at 11 a.m.

The public is invited to attend.

Headquarters for the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is at Independence, Mo.

Skating party planned

A skating party is being held from 10 a.m. to noon today at Playland Skating Rink.

Soft drinks and cup cakes will be served and prizes will be awarded.

Admission is $3 and $1 of each admission goes to the Vacation Bible School fund of Ranchland Heights baptist church. The church is located at Midkiff and Country Road 118 West.

Sunday school planned

GREENWOOD — St. Mark's United Methodist Church is sponsoring a group of United Methodists from Greenwood in a project to begin Sunday school in the Greenwood community.

Start Up Committee members include Linda Smith, Martha Rhodes, Ardis Smith, Mary Cole Peden and Jack Riley of St. Mark's UMC, and John Underwood, Betty Underwood, Dickerson, Louise Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wilkerson of Greenwood.

Homemaking meeting set

The woman's organization, Relief Society, of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints holds a monthly homemaking meeting in which women are taught personal improvement skills.

Three different classes are offered monthly. The classes have included such topics as quilting, food storage, gardening, gourmet cooking, travel tips and coordinating warderobes.

The summer months will include classes on canning, budgeting, ceramics, self-defense, powderpuff mechanics and time management. The public is invited to attend.

Kelview plans film series

Kelview Heights Baptist Church is presenting the film series "Building a Healthy Self-Concept" The series will be shown at 5:45 p.m. Sundays through May 25.

The series features Paul Meier and Frank Minirth of the Minirth-Meier Clinic. "Their many books, along with their national radio and television broadcasts have made available the expertise, experience and personality that marks them," said Jerry Berry, church spokesman. "Their use of integrated biblical and psychological approach to helping people reflects their committment to preventative counseling."

The series covers six stages of life that forms a person's self-concept. The first segment covers three basic needs of individuals, compensation for inferiority feelings, and five factors found in a healthy home.

The Rev. Frank Johnson, pastor, invites the public to attend. The church is located off N. Big Spring at Scharbauer Drive. A nursery will be provided.

Hukle appointed director

LUBBOCK — The board of directors of Blue Haven Youth Camp has appointed Dale A. Hukle, Lubbock, as the camp's new full-time executive director.

Accredited by the American Camping Association and Christian camping International, Blue Haven is a non-profit organization located in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains near Las Vegas, N.M., and attracts youngsters principally from the tri-state region of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Hukle's appointment comes as the camp celebrates its 30th year of operation.

A native of Fulvane, Kan., Hukle holds a bachelor's degree in education from Concordia Teachers College, Seward, Neb. Since 1979, Hukle has served as youth minister for the Greenlawn Church of Christ in Lubbock and as a faculty member at Lubbock Christian High School. His experience includes planning and directing successful camping programs.

Hukle and his wife Carla have two daughters, Rebekah Grace, 8, and Jenifer Lynn, 7.

For more information on the camp, write Camp Blue Haven, P.O. Box 98236, Lubbock, Texas 79499 or call 1-806-793-0700.

'High Mysticism' to begin

Lessons in "High Mysticism," based on Emma Curtis Hopkins' scientific Christian mental practice will commence at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. The series lasts six weeks and consists of 12 lessons.

"A pioneer among modern teachers of Truth, Mrs. Hopkins was called the 'teacher of teachers' as so many of her students became teachers," said the Rev. Nina Douglas, minster of the Permian Church of Religious Science. As a young man, Ernest Holmes, founder of Science of Mind, studied with her.

"Mrs. Hopkins' lessons present a point of view and breadth of vision that inspire with a unity of spirit yet freedom in expression," the Rev. Douglas, who is offering the course, said.

Cost of the course is $50. It will be held at the Science of Mind Center, 4410 N. Midkiff, D-217, The Courtyard, above Schwartz, at 7:30 p.m. each Thursday.

Churches dumping stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Many U.S. religious bodies, including the congregation reputed to be the richest in the country, are getting rid of stocks in companies doing business in South Africa.

Some church agencies not doing so face protests about it.

Among church organizations deciding to sell all investments in such companies was Manhattan's Trinity Church, an Episcopal parish in the Wall Street district. The parish's divestment value was estimated at $10 million, roughly a fifth of the congregation's $50 million stock portfolio.

The national executive council of the Episcopal Church also instructed its committee on trust funds to divest all such holdings.

The United Church of Christ says 12 of its 39 regional conferences have divested or plan to divest themselves of such stock.

The board of governors of Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion ordered divestment of stocks in companies not complying with the "Sullilvan principles," a code formulated for conduct of U.S. employers in South Africa.

A group of United Methodist ministers says they plan to burn pension checks at a June 12-15 meeting in Bridgeport, Conn., to protest continued investment by the church's pension board in companies doing business in South Africa.

Rabbi reports Vatican ties

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Jewish leader with close acquaintances among Vatican officials says that Pope John Paul II has decided to extend diplomatic recognition to the the state of Israel, Religious News Service reports.

Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum, director of international relations for the American Jewish Clommittee, told RNS he learned of the Vatican's intentions during recent meetings with cardinals in Europe, the United States and South America.

He says the Vatican was likely to take "several interim steps" before announcing diplomatic recognition, such as appointing an apostolic delegate to Israel.

Salvadoran refuge set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — On the heels of conviction of eight sanctuary workers in Tucson, Ariz., the regional office here of the United Church of Christ this week became a refuge for a Salvadoran family that had fled its strife-torn homeland.

Mormans reaffirm policy

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The three-man first presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) has reaffirmed its policy of "not endorsing political candidates or parties" in elections.

Other major denominations, Protestant and Roman Catholic, have similar policies.

Baptist oppose abortion

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A bigger proportion of Southern Baptists than Roman Catholics oppose the U.S. Supreme Court's 1973 decision allowing abortion, a Gallup poll finds.

It reports that 60 percent of Southern Baptists oppose the decision, 31 percent favor it, and 9 percent have no opinion, while among Roman Catholics, 48 percent oppose, 40 percent favor, and 12 percent have no opinion.

Overall differences between Protestants and Catholics on the question were found to be statistically insignificant, with 50 percent of Protestants opposing the ruling, 42 percent approving and 8 percent with no opnion.

Americans generally were found to be evenly divided about it, with 45 percent opposing, 45 percent approving and 10 percent with no opinion.

The results were based on in-person interviews with 1,570 adults in more that 300 scientifically selected localities.

Feminist theologist says women had status

Hearst News Service

RELIGION

Many women in the Bible have much greater status than some theologians believe, says Dr. Lois Daly, assistant professor of religious studies at Siena College. Daly teaches a course in feminist theology and says scripture can be relied on to give women more power in their religions.

The school of thought among many feminist theologists says the Bible is too sexist and too influenced by the culture of 2,000 years ago, she says.

"Most feminist theologians want to argue that the reality of what Christianity speaks is not sexist. But much of the language that has historically been used to describe that reality about that God has been sexist. A lot of feminist theologians face the problem of how to use texts like scripture. An increasing number of women are saying the Bible is no longer useful. I think more is available in scripture than other feminist theologians" believe, she says.

The Resurrection is a very important example, she says. Women went to the tomb first and were the first to learn that Jesus had risen from the dead. Then they told the disciples.

"That's very important because women did not have the kind of legal status or civil status (to be considered reliable observers). It's odd to think they were the reliable witness, but it had to be women because women attend to the dead. Men don't do that. That's not their role. Yet at the same time you want a reliable witness and the reliable witnesses in your culture aren't women. I mean you've got a real problem. But (women) are still believed."

There are other examples, she says:

- In the gospel of Matthew, Jesus did not recoil when the bleeding woman touched him to be healed. Men were not supposed to be around women who were bleeding, which was considered unclean, she says.
- Jesus spoke to the Samaritan woman trying to get water at the well in the gospel of John.
- In the Book of Acts, Paul referred to a woman named Priscilla as spreading the gospel. A woman named Phoebe was referred to in the Book of Acts as having a leadership position, perhaps the head of a house church in the early Christian community. Paul also described a woman named Mary, "who has worked hard among you," Daly says.

To name a woman at all in scripture was to give importance to her, Daly says.

- In the Old Testament, Miriam performed valuable work by protecting her brother Moses from the Pharoahs.
- In the Book of Judges in the Old Testament, a woman named Deborah is referred to as a judge. She is recognized as a charismatic.

"For women in Christian churches and in synagogues, this can mean an awful lot," Daly says. "Women aren't completely left out, and there are possibilities for social transformation inherent in them. Scripture is not a group of texts just to be relegated to the past. There are passages to indicate that some change is forthcoming."

These references to women lend the air of tradition to a more powerful role for women in the church, she says.

"In some Christian churches and in some Jewish communities, tradition is highly valued as the authority for continuing to do what you do," Daly says. "One way to talk to the more conservative element in these churches is to talk in terms of tradition, and scripture is the basis for much of that."

Weir to receive degree

The Rev. Bill Weir, minister of program at First United Methodist Church, will be awarded the doctor of divinity degree from Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University Saturday.

First United Methodist Church will honor Weir during the 10:35 a.m. Sunday service by vesting him with the doctor's pulpit robe. After the service, there will be a reception in his honor in the church parlor.

The doctor of ministry degree is a professional degree awarded to persons who complete the necessary courses ands show professional expertise in an area of ministry. Weir completed the degree requirements over a 5-year period through summer and short term courses at SMU.

His speciality was in the area of Christian Education with his theses project on leadership development of the laity in the church. The plan for leadership training described in the thesis is one he helped develop at First UMC which the church has used for the past five years.

The Rev. Bill H. Weir

In addition to the doctor of divinity degree he also has earned bachelor of science, master of English and bachelor of divinity degrees and is a certified minister of Christian Education.

He is married to Joan Mitchell, a diaconal minister on the church's staff in the field of children's ministry. They have two children, Cindy and Andy. The Weir's have served First UMC since 1976.

Gossetts to be honored for active ministry service

Asbury United Methodist Church of Midland and Garden City United Methodist Church are honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Gossett with a Retirement Reception today, 2-4 p.m. in the fellowship hall of Asbury United Methodist Church, 106 W. Dakota.

Gossett will be retiring from the active ministry at the Annual Conference to be held at Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo, June 2-5.

While in Perkins School of Theology in Dallas, they served the Renner-Addison Circuit and Wheatland United Methodist Church. In the Northwest Texas Conference, they have served churches at Wilson, Odell, Morse, Blackwell, Wiley-Abilene, Oklahoma Lane-Bovina, Hart, Amherst, Matador, Roaring Springs, Claude, Hereford, and Fairmont-Abilene. They are presently serving Asbury United Methodist Church and Garden City United Methodist Church.

The Gossetts have a daughter, Linda Gayle of Austin and a son, Warren Gossett of Round Rock.

Rev. and Mrs. Gossett

After retirement, the Gossetts will be residing in Lubbock. Members, relative and friends are invited to the reception.

Musical to be presented

The Willing Workers of Goodwill Baptist Church will present a musical at 3 p.m. Sunday at 1508 S. Main St.

Those participating include Glodine Rand, Odessa; Fitzgerald Davis, Lamesa; and Alvin Anderson, the Rev. and Mrs. James Berry, Barry Stanford and The Light of Praise Singers, all of Midland.

The public is invited to attend.

Command Performance set

New Jerusalem Baptist Church, 1801 N. Carver St., is hosting its Youth Choir's 10th annual Command Performance at 8 p.m. Sunday.

The choir is directed by Patricia Johnson. The church's pastor, the Rev. John F. Campbell, invites the public to attend.

Marriage weekend held

EL PASO — A Marriage Encounter Weekend will be conducted for El Paso and Las Cruces area couples Friday through May 25 at the Sheraton El Paso (off I-10 downtown). The weekend is sponsored by the El Paso Lutheran Marriage Encounter community. All married couples are welcome to register.

Weekends are the result of couples concerned about the stresses imposed upon marriage relationships by today's life styles. Well over 1,500,000 couples in over 56 countries have experienced a weekend. Marriage Encounter is the largest pro-marriage movement in the world, according to a spokesman for the organization.

A Marriage Encounter Weekend is an opportunity for husbands and wives to spend a weekend away. In an environment free of the daily distractions of children, jobs, phones, and household problems, couples are encouraged to talk with each other about issues and concerns in their lives. During the weekend three lay couples and a clergy couple will address day-to-day needs common in any marriage. Couples are taught a technique of communication intended to enhance their relationship. It is not a group therapy session nor are there any group discussions. Instead each couple works on their own communication techniques in private.

The weekend starts early Friday evening and concludes early Sunday evening. An advanced registration fee of $20 is required. An opportunity to make an anonymous contribution to cover the cost of the weekend will be provided during the weekend.

For more information, contact Gary and Loraine Amundson, 1-915-751-9046. To register, call Bill and Shirley Server, 1-915-591-6714.

Seminar includes Schuller speaker

An all-day seminar, entitled "Where to Go From Up," is being held today. Host lecturer, Robert P. Merkle, is the executive director of Christian Counseling Service, Inc., with the Robert H. Schuller Ministries of the Crystal Cathedral in Garden Grove, Calif.

The seminar will make practical suggestions regarding how each individual can contribute to "tapping the resources that are available, free of charge, to serve all humanity."

"Never before in the course of human history has it been realistic for a majority of ordinary individuals to commit their lives to doing something effective to make the whole world work for everyone," says Merkle. "Every one of us makes a difference in our world — either beneficial or destructive."

"This seminar is a summons to exceptional individuals who, having attained high levels of personal success, want to do more with their lives," the counselor says.

Scheduled in the Ramada Hotel it begins at 10 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. The fee is $30 per person for $50 for a couple. Sponsor is the Permian Church of Religious Science.

Merkle received his doctor of ministry fron Andover Newton Theological Seminary in Maryland. His bachelor of divinity is from Eden Theological Seminary in St. Louis and his BA is from Elmhurst College in Illinois. Clinical training was performed at City Hospital and Homer Phillips Hospital in St. Louis, Fulton State Mental Hospital, in Missouri and the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry, New York.

St. Mark's to hold celebration

St. Mark's United Methodist church, 1701 N. Main St., will begin the Celebration of Pentecost at 10:20 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall with a birthday party for the church.

Sunday School classes will be dismissed at this time and all other members and friends are invited to join in the festivities. Birthday cake and punch will be served.

Observation of Pentecost will continue at the 10:50 a.m. worship service when the Chancel choir assists the Rev. Jack Riley, the minister, with a dramatic reading of Acts 2, "The Day of Pentecost" by Hal Hopson. The Chancel Choir, directed by Ruth Ellen Riley, will also sing "Listen to the Rustle of a Living Church."

"All members and visitors are urged to wear red or white to this celebration of the coming of the Holy Spirit like flames of fire," said a church spokesman.

The church will host a fellowship supper at 6 p.m. Sunday in the Fellowship Hall. During this service the children's choirs will present their awards program. The Cherub and Carol choirs, ages 3 through 2nd grade, will sing. The choirs will be directed by Linda Harkness, accompanied by Dixie Brantley.

The Wesley Choir, 3rd through 6th grade, will sing anthems by Scariotti, John Rutter and Betty Ann Ramseth. Mrs. Riley will direct and Marsha Crawford will accompany this choir. A quartet from the Chancel Choir will join them in singing John Rutter's "I Believe in Spriflgtime." Quartet members are Becky Criswell, Laura Timmermann, Ronald Thomas and Gary Timmermann.

Certificates of choir service will be presented to all children who have sung with the choirs during the year and certificates of achievement will be awarded to those being promoted from one group to another. Award pins will be presented to all children with 80 percent or better attendance for all practices and performances. This will conclude the Children's Choir Program for the year.

Lebanese Christians encourage Westerners to use new airport

By RODEINA KENAAN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's Christians are finishing up the construction of their own international airport about 20 miles north of Beirut and are inviting U.S. and West European airlines to use it.

They also are launching their own Freedom Airlines company.

Western air carriers no longer fly to Beirut because of the danger of hijackings and other possible violence.

"We need this facility because our people dare not use Beirut airport," said Nabil Karam, 32, the engineer in charge of the new airport at Halat in the Christian heartland. "So many of them have been kidnapped or killed at the airport or on its highway. Once we can safely travel again from Beirut, we will shut down the new one."

Beirut International Aiport, a scene of the TWA hijack drama last June, is surrounded by densely populated Shiite Moslem slums that often are used by kidnappers and airplane hijackers.

Lebanese Christians have been traveling by boat to the Mediterranean island of Cyprus to catch international flights.

Moslems, however, contend that the Christian airport is illegal and they say that accidents with planes using Beirut's airport would be inevitable because of Israeli and Syrian curbs on air corridors.

"So be it," responded the prominent Christian politician Dany Chamoun. "The Beirut airport control tower bears the reponsibility of handling the accidents. Halat airport is going to function no matter what."

Construction work is almost over at Halat, where a military landing strip has been converted into a single 7,200-foot runway.

Wealthy Christians who have executive jets, including President Amin Gemayel, are already using Halat. But the formal inauguration is expected later this month.

"Our's will be the safest airport in the whole world because the Lebanese army controls and guards it. It's originally a Lebanese army airport," Karam, the engineer, said in an interview.

"TWA and other American carriers will have no security problems at Halat airport. We invite them to come."

Halat is within range of Syrian army gunners in northern and central Lebanon. But Christian leaders believe neither the Syrians nor their Moslem and leftist allies would shell Halat.

"If they shell, we will reciprocate. We will close Beirut airport," said Karim Pakradouni, the second-in-command of the Lebanese Froces, the mainstream Christian militia.

Halat airport is on a flat Mediterranean plain near Jubayl, the ancient port city also known as Byblos.

Christian troops of the Lebanese army guard the airport's single entrance off the the main highway from Beirut.

"This is an illegal airport because it has not been licensed by the prime minister and the public works minister as the law stipulates," said Capt. Sami Saad, a former pilot who serves as chief of air security at Lebanon's Civil Aviation Department.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami is a Sunni Moslem and Public Works Minister Walid Jumblatt is a Druse. Both have disapproved the airport, contending it accelerates Lebanon's drift toward Christian-Moslem partition.

Saad said he is worried by the threat of air collisions.

Sunday, May 18, 1986

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: A year of discovery and adventure lies ahead. You gain ground at place of employment. Expand your base of operations. Changes in the economy work to your financial advantage. Romance gets a healthy push from a third party. A long-cherished dream becomes reality. Count on friends to help out when you need them most. A partnership or marriage is strengthened by a sacrifice you willingly make. Your generosity wins you new admirers.

CELEBRITY BIRTHDATES: Pope John Paul II, California Angels slugger Reggie Jackson, former senator Jacob Javits of New York, Perry Como, actor Bill Macy, ballet's Dame Margot Fonteyn, Bertrand Russell.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A church service gives you new insights. Check the Sunday papers for employment ideas and resolve to follow them up this week.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You and mate may be on opposite sides of the fence today. A third party encourages you to remain positive. Being around successful people helps you feel optimistic. Keep your sense of humor.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your generosity will be repaid tenfold. Outdoor activities and team sports hold special appeal. A small social gathering should be lots of fun. Look forward to new developments where romance is concerned.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A change in lifestyle brings you great happiness. Romance beckons. Wear something glamorous if going out this evening. Some get engaged tonight! Protect your health. Keep any diet or exercise resolutions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A family reunion proves very rewarding. Trust your intuition and you will make some happy discoveries. A platonic relationship begins to intensify.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): An excellent day for a family outing. A search for new living quarters is successful. Write to someone who is anxious to hear from you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): An attractive member of the opposite sex shares a secret with you. Romance could lead to new thoughts about marriage. Domestic life looks better and better to singles! Know your own heart.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You meet a new personal challenge with great success. Secrets could harm a happy romantic relationship. Be open. You feel most content in the company of old friends. Entertain at home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): An excellent day for getting together with neighbors and friends. Some sports activity may be featured. Be more open to mate's suggestions regarding entertainment. Keep costs down.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): A drive in the country or walk in the park puts you in a great mood. A picnic lunch may hold special appeal. Seek the company of positive, upbeat friends. Love abounds!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your excellent sense of timing pays off big today. Romance becomes more relaxed and friendly. A loved one receives great news. Be careful not to let a celebration get too expensive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Casual gatherings hold special appeal today. Spiritual concerns could influence your plans. An attractive member of the opposite sex offers some helpful advice. A phone call is a source of delight.

Mandrell says she feels safer in the air than on the road

Mandrell

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Entertainer Barbara Mandrell says she feels safer in the air than on the road after a 1984 traffic accident that left her seriously injured.

"It bothers me," she said in an interview Thursday. "I don't mind flying, but being in a car is different."

The country music star suffered a concussion and leg and ankle injuries in the two-car head-on accident north of Nashville. The driver of the other car was killed.

She said she will probably have an operation this year to remove a rod that was placed in her right leg after the accident.

Miss Mandrell, 37, is known for hits such as "I Was Country When Country Wasn't Cool," "Sleeping Single in a Double Bed" and "Married, But Not to Each Other."

CANNES, France (AP) — Bob Dylan will play a former '60s rock star who retires to a chicken farm, says a Hollywood producer, and the film role will be his first major one on 13 years.

The singer-songwriter will appear in "Hearts of Fire," said Graig Baumgarten, president of Culver City, Calif.-based Lorimar Motion Pictures.

"It's a dirty fingers story — not your typical rock story with all the cliches of the rock 'n' roll world, drugs and everything," Baumgarten announced in Cannes, which is holding its annual film festival.

The role will be Dylan's first major one since 1973's "Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid," although he also appeared in his film "Renaldo and Clara" and the rock concert film "The Last Waltz."

"Hearts of Fire," which is budgeted at $12.5 million, was written by Joe Eztherhas and will be directed by Richard Marquant. The film, which also stars Rupert Everett and singer Fiona, is scheduled to begin shooting Aug. 11.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aspiring film writer says pop star Michael Jackson, Walt Disney Co. and others stole his idea for a fantasy 3-D movie featuring Jackson as an outer space explorer.

Matthew Gentry, 24, has filed a $3.9 billion suit against Jackson, Disney Co. and its forerunner Walt Disney Productions, Eastman Kodak Co., which worked with Disney on the film, and John Branca, Jackson's business manager. He is charging copyright infringement and unfair trade practices.

Gentry alleges that "Captain EO" is based on his 1984 proposal for a movie called "Michael Jackson in the Third Dimension."

The suit was filed Wednesday in federal court by Stanely Katz, Gentry's attorney.

Disney Co. spokesman Ben Chester said company attorneys hadn't seen the suit. A call to Kodak headquarters in Rochester, N.Y. went unanswered after business hours Thursday. A receptionist in Branca's office said he was out of town and refused to relay a message.

Disney has announced that "Captain EO" will open Sept. 19 at Disneyland in Anaheim and Disney World in Florida.

The three-dimensional film was produced by George Lucas and directed by Francis Coppola.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Painter Andrew Wyeth, best known for his scenes of rural southeastern Pennsylvania, was named the 1986 Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist, Gov. Dick Thornburgh announced Thursday.

"We are particularly proud and delighted when the objects and people of our own familiar Brandywine River Valley transcend our world to become inspiring and beloved works of art for all," Thornburgh said in a prepared statement of Wyeth's works.

Wyeth, 69, of Chadds Ford, southwest of Philadelphia, is to accept the award in ceremonies at the Capitol June 3, according to the governor's office.

Wyeth's paintings are primarily realistic renditions of fields, hills, and old buildings. His 50-year painting career started in 1935, when he held his first one-man show in Philadelphia.

Wyeth has also been awarded the President's Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor in the United States. He is also a member of the French Academy of Fine Arts and the Soviet Union Academy of Arts.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Persistent fans of actor Michael J. Fox and rock singer Joan Jett managed to find them filming in the nation's rock 'n' roll capital this week, and Ohio's governor visited one of their film sets.

Although filming locations were supposed to be kept under wraps, the fans found cast and crew in suburban Cleveland Heights, helped in their search by local radio stations, as filming got under way here for a movie about a rock 'n' roll band.

Only a few of the filming sites had been disclosed before the cast and crew arrived this week.

On Thursday, Gov. Richard Celeste visited a closed set at a factory on the city's west side.

On Wednesday, Fox and Ms. Jett entertained the local media with a news conference.

The film, "Just Around the Corner to the Light of Day," was written and is being directed by Paul Schrader. The title song will be by rock singer Bruce Springsteen.

"I wanted to do a family drama set against a modern environment," he said Wednesday. "Cleveland, without going into the hype you know so well, is a real rock 'n' roll environment."

Last week, Cleveland was selected as the site of the future Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of world-renowned violinist Pinchas Zukerman, has canceled its tour of Europe because of fear of terrorism.

Nine of the 33 musicians who were scheduled to leave May 23 on the 18-day tour dropped out and two others were excused for medical reasons, Board Chairman A. William Sands said Thursday.

The tour included 13 concerts in West Germany, Switzerland and Austria.

The fear of terrorism was enhanced by the perception that an orchestra from the United States with a prominent Israeli-born conductor might make it an especially inviting target.

"Our master contract gives us the right to refuse transportation for health or safety reasons," said oboist Thomas Tempel, one of the first players to tell management that he would not make the trip.

CANNES, France (AP) — Bob Dylan will play a former '60s rock star who retires to a chicken farm, says a Hollywood producer, and the film role will be his first major one on 13 years.

The singer-songwriter will appear in "Hearts of Fire," said Graig Baumgarten, president of Culver City, Calif.,-based Lorimar Motion Pictures.

"It's a dirty fingers story — not your typical rock story with all the cliches of the rock 'n' roll world, drugs and everything," Baumgarten announced in Cannes, which is holding its annual film festival.

The role will be Dylan's first major one since 1973's "Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid," although he also appeared in his film "Renaldo and Clara" and the rock concert film "The Last Waltz."

"Hearts of Fire," which is budgeted at $12.5 million, was written by Joe Eaztherhas and will be directed by Richard Marquant. The film, which also stars Rupert Everett and singer Fiona, is scheduled to begin shooting Aug. 11.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An aspiring film writer says pop star Michael Jackson, Walt Disney Co. and others stole his idea for a fantasy 3-D movie featuring Jackson as an outer space explorer.

Matthew Gentry, 24, has filed a $3.9 billion suit against Jackson, Disney Co. and its forerunner Walt Disney Productions, Eastman Kodak Co., which worked with Disney on the film, and John Branca, Jackson's business manager. He is charging copyright infringement and unfair trade practices.

Gentry alleges that "Captain EO" is based on his 1984 proposal for a movie called "Michael Jackson in the Third Dimension."

The suit was filed Wednesday in federal court by Stanely Katz, Gentry's attorney.

Disney Co. spokesman Ben Chester said company attorneys hadn't seen the suit. A call to Kodak headquarters in Rochester, N.Y. went unanswered after business hours Thursday. A receptionist in Branca's office said he was out of town and refused to relay a message.

Disney has announced that "Captain EO" will open Sept. 19 at Disneyland in Anaheim and Disney World in Florida.

The three-dimensional film was produced by George Lucas and directed by Francis Coppola.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Painter Andrew Wyeth, best known for his scenes of rural southeastern Pennsylvania, was named the 1986 Distinguished Pennsylvania Artist, Gov. Dick Thornburgh announced Thursday.

"We are particularly proud and delighted when the objects and people of our own familiar Brandywine River Valley transcend our world to become inspiring and beloved works of art for all," Thornburgh said in a prepared statement of Wyeth's works.

Wyeth, 69, of Chadds Ford, southwest of Philadelphia, is to accept the award in ceremonies at the Capitol June 3, according to the governor's office.

Wyeth's paintings are primarily realistic renditions of fields, hills, and old buildings. His 50-year painting career started in 1935, when he held his first one-man show in Philadelphia.

Wyeth has also been awarded the President's Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor in the United States. He is also a member of the French Academy of Fine Arts and the Soviet Union Academy of Arts.

Jett

CLEVELAND (AP) — Persistent fans of actor Michael J. Fox and rock singer Joan Jett managed to find them filming in the nation's rock 'n' roll capital this week, and Ohio's governor visited one of their film sets.

Although filming locations were supposed to be kept under wraps, the fans found cast and crew in suburban Cleveland Heights, helped in their search by local radio stations, as filming got under way here for a movie about a rock 'n' roll band.

Only a few of the filming sites had been disclosed before the cast and crew arrived this week.

On Thursday, Gov. Richard Celeste visited a closed set at a factory on the city's west side.

On Wednesday, Fox and Ms. Jett entertained the local media with a news conference.

The film, "Just Around the Corner to the Light of Day," was written and is being directed by Paul Schrader. The title song will be by rock singer Bruce Springsteen.

"I wanted to do a family drama set against a modern environment," he said Wednesday. "Cleveland, without going into the hype you know so well, is a real rock 'n' roll environment."

Last week, Cleveland was selected as the site of the future Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of world-renowned violinist Pinchas Zukerman, has canceled its tour of Europe because of fear of terrorism.

Nine of the 33 musicians who were scheduled to leave May 23 on the 18-day tour dropped out and two others were excused for medical reasons, Board Chairman A. William Sands said Thursday.

The tour included 13 concerts in West Germany, Switzerland and Austria.

The fear of terrorism was enhanced by the perception that an orchestra from the United States with a prominent Israeli-born conductor might make it an especially inviting target.

"Our master contract gives us the right to refuse transportation for health or safety reasons," said oboist Thomas Tempel, one of the first players to tell management that he would not make the trip.

Inmate paints colorful world

By JEFF BROWN

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Joe Mason spends his days in a fervent, loving art memorial, bliss and wonderful. But he never sets foot outside.

Mason, 37, is serving a life sentence for murder at the Texas Department of Corrections Ramsey I Unit.

"The environment is his own canvas.

Mason is an artist.

In two months, he has covered the walls of a small room next to the gymnasium with paintings.

They are just the most recent of hundreds of paintings he has done since entering prison 15 years ago.

"I try to paint every day," he says. "I don't feel good unless I do."

He paints landscapes, mostly.

Only one of the paintings hanging his workroom depicts a person: A boy in a straw hat can be picked out, fishing as the sun sets over a lake.

Almost all the paintings are of lakes, rivers, woods, farm fields of bluebonnets, birds or still-life.

"When I'm painting it, I can actually visualize and partially feel what it would be like to be over that tree," he says. "I really get off into these paintings."

Mason escaped about 17 years ago and spent a year and 17 days on the run, sleeping with a gun under his pillow and another on the nightstand, he says.

Since his recapture, Mason hasn't left the building, even to exercise in the recreation yard.

"I done been in so long, I have no desire to get out in that sun," he says. "I'm honest about it. I doubt that I'll ever get out. But I have no one to blame but me."

So he leaves prison vicariously through art. You won't find prison scenes on his canvas.

"I don't paint anything that I think would be depressing. I just don't think the free world people would enjoy prison pictures," he says. "I never paint anything that shows any violence because I'm in here for violence."

He doesn't paint portraits, either.

TDC inmate Joe Mason poses with about two-months worth of his paintings. While serving a life sentence for murder, Mason has developed his artistic abilities.

"It's too time-consuming," he says. "I can do eight or 10 landscapes and get more out of them than I can one portrait."

Abstracts were distracting.

"I don't do it because I don't enjoy it. I tried it a few times, but I didn't enjoy it so I just gave it up," he said.

After 16 years, he recalls little about nature, so he relies on other sources to fill in the blanks.

"I haven't been out in so long, I don't even remember what a real tree looks like," he says.

He paints from pictures and descriptions, duplicating and combining pictures in magazines such as "Southwest Art" to make his own originals.

Mason is good at his work, as several awards at the Windham School System and TDC annual Inmate Art Show and Sale attest.

In 14 years, he says he has earned two or three first-place awards and five third-place awards.

"I'm thankful to Windham," Mason says. "Especially the poor secretaries. The secretaries up at Windham School administration are really great. They get a lot of complaints from us."

Inmates write to them, he says, complaining that their work didn't sell or they never received the money from it.

Usually the problems are the inmate's fault, Mason says. They never actually sent the work they thought they did, or they sent it to the wrong place.

Mason also sends paintings to the TDC inmate rodeo every year.

"I sell about 96 percent of what I send," he says of the art show. He makes nothing to the show or realizes that is priced more than $60.

"I know if you get over $60, then there's no need to send them up to the art show or rodeo," he says.

He earned a long list of painting-tags in the first Prison Fellowship Inmate Art Exhibit in 1985 and did well, also.

He earned a first-place award for an acrylic titled "Moonlight Ducks," and a third-place for an acrylic he called "Shadows."

Selling nothing for more than $40, he earned $927 at that exhibit.

The most he ever received for a painting was $2,500, but most of his sales have been in the $35 range, he says.

He has to pay for supplies out of his earnings.

Mason would like to receive a higher price, but he needs a reputation that is hard to build from behind prison walls.

"A lot of people won't accept you because you are in prison," he says.

Still, he has sold some of his paintings to Florence Art Gallery in Dallas and he has sent nine paintings valued at $2,000 each to the Oklahoma Wildlife Art Festival in Tulsa.

"All I need is one good, lucky break," he says. "And I may get it out of Oklahoma."

Ramsey I Warden James Shaw encourages inmate artists, Mason says.

He pulls out work by another inmate and holds it against a similar one of his own, comparing them.

"He can out paint me, that's all there is to it. He's my best friend and he's a better painter," Mason says of the other inmate. "And I'm envious."

Mason got interested in painting when he was living with a commercial artist in Los Angeles.

She worked in oils during her spare time, piquing his interest.

But it wasn't until he went to prison that Mason developed his talent.

Handicapped workers pick litter from Arkansas roads

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The five-man crew of handicapped workers can clean 2½ miles of the shoulder and median of a divided highway in a day, picking up 6½ to 7 cubic yards of beer cans, bottles, fast food wrappers and milk cartons.

To some the work might be menial, but Kenneth B. Milligan, director of contract services for Pathfinder, said he's had no one complain that the workers are being exploited.

"I fully understood that. I was prepared for that," Milligan said. "I've had nothing but good responses."

"We saw it as a positive measure — being able to offer employment to the handicapped," Dan Flowers, assistant chief engineer for operations for the state Highway and Transportation Department, said. The AHTD has a $76,188 contract with Pathfinder, a Jacksonville organization, for the one-year pilot program.

The contract calls for the handicapped workers to pick up trash along state highways in Pulaski and Saline counties.

"What should handicapped people do? Should they sit around?" Milligan asked. "This is an honorable job. And it's something they can be qualified to do very quickly."

Milligan said other workers at Pathfinder-contracted jobs make wages comparable to employees in similar industries. The workers on the litter crews are paid minimum wage because no one else does similar work.

Pathfinder workers also stock shelves at the post exchange at Little Rock Air Force Base and make warning flags for the highway department.

On a recent day at the Pathfinder workshop in Jacksonville, handicapped workers were stuffing envelopes with fliers. In such jobs, employees work at their own pace and are paid by the piece. They also assemble hardware for customers.

Chemung crew foreman Jack McCoy, almost shouting over the noise of cars and trucks rushing by on U.S. 67 south of Little Rock, said the crew works in 10- to 15-foot sections of highway shoulder or median, so that the workers stay close to him and each other.

"The one thing we stress is safety," McCoy said. "No crossing the road. Not off the grass." If workers have to pick up debris near the highway, they use long plastic poles with hooks on the end. They can also use a rod protruding from one end of the pole to spear paper or pack up bottles.

"We talked about safety in detail," Flowers said. "So far, it hasn't been a problem. They put up their signs and they stay off the road surface."

The men concentrate on trash that can be seen by passing motorists. "We pick up what's objectionable," Milligan said. "We can't pack up pop tops and get anywhere."

Today, the Audi 5000S becomes even easier to handle. $298 a month*.

The Audi 5000S sedan's ability to negotiate roadways crisply and efficiently is certainly one reason to admire it. That you can negotiate a lease of just $298 a month on this fine European luxury sedan is all the more reason to acquire it.

Performance aside, this 1986 Audi 5000S sedan comes with many standard features that increase comfort without altering the lease price. Electronic climate control, cruise control, power windows and door locks, AM/FM stereo cassette, and automatic transmission make this limited time offer a tempting invitation to unlimited driving pleasure.

A closer look will prove what words cannot. Come in for a test drive and complete lease details. Program ends May 31, 1986. And drive away in an Audi 5000S sedan at a lease price that is, well, easy to handle.

*This offer is available only from a participating Audi Leasing dealer through May 31, 1986 as a 60-month, closed-end lease. No purchase option. No down payment is required. First month $298 payment and $300 security deposit are required in advance. Monthly payments are based on manufacturer's suggested retail price and special lease terms exteded by VCI Leasing. Total lease payments $17,880.00 plus 10¢ per mile over 75,000. Registration, local fees, tax, options additional.

On a quiet trip to New York last weekend, we once again had the inspiring opportunity to view Liberty enlightening the world, the wonderful, now-100-years-old Statue of Liberty.

Pete Hamill, in the current issue of New York magazine, writes:
The statue of Liberty is our most famous immigrant, conceived and born in France, carried across an ocean into the harbor and, like so many millions of others, given space and dignity and function in New York.
He describes the remarkable history of her origins - the parts played by Bartholdi, Eiffel, Emma Lazarus, Pulitzer and not least, by the little people of France and America who raised the money, a centime or a nickel at a time, to finance this remarkable tribute to "the stuff of Fourth of July oratory".

The article is wonderful, moving, elightening - worthy of its subject! If you did not have a chance to read it and would like a copy, please call and we will be happy to drop one in the mail.
