'Hands' to form Saturday

The "Hands Across Snyder" line to benefit the Easter Seal Society will begin forming on the east side of College Ave. around 10 a.m. Saturday.

All those standing in line will join hands at 11 a.m. with an estimated 4,000 individuals needed. Those standing in line will be asked to donate $1 toward the fund raising effort.

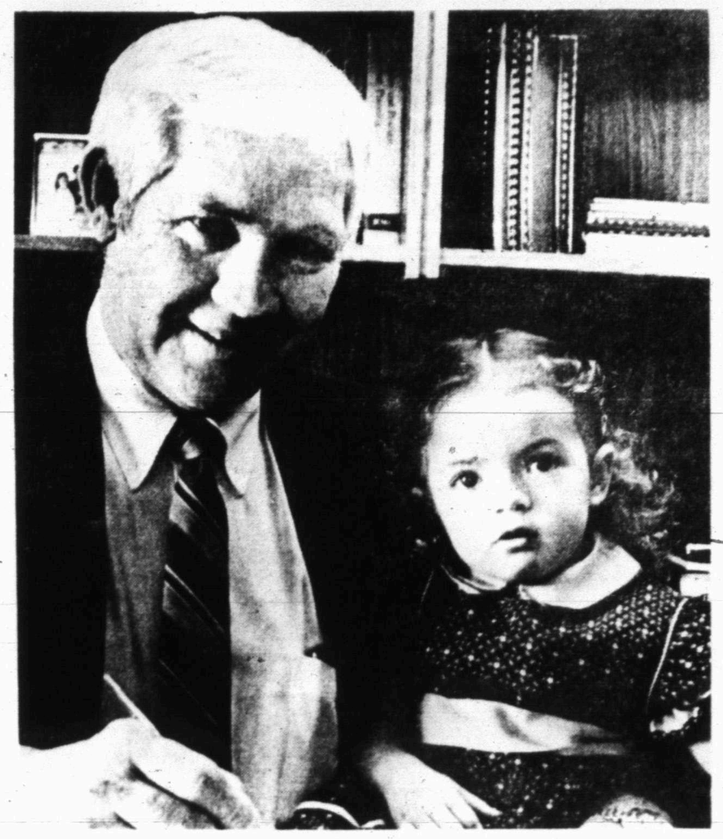

Drive sponsors stress there are no other requirements for standing in line. Persons are asked to "fill in" any gaps beginning around 10 a.m.

Poster girl for the project is two-year-old Brandy Shafer, a victim of cerebral palsey, one of the diseases being combatted by the Easter Seal campaign.

Brandy is the daughter of Clint and Shelia Shafer of Snyder and the granddaughter of Betty Rawlings, a Safeway employee who has helped organize the effort.

San Angelo court to be setting for local murder trial

The capital murder trial of Amanda Lynn Miles, accused in connection with the shooting death of an Allsup's convenience store clerk here March 23, will be moved to San Angelo.

District Judge Gene Dulaney, who granted an "agreed" change of venue in the Miles case Thursday, has transferred the trial to 51st District Court. The presiding judge there is District Judge Royal Hart.

A tentative date for the trial has been set April 27.

The new site was agreed to by both District Attorney Ernie Armstrong and Miles' court-appointed attorney, Pete Sheridan of Sweetwater.

Both cited as the reason the extensive publicity given both the trial and eventual death sentence of Miles' co-defendant, Dorsie Lee Johnson Jr.

Dulaney noted Friday that San Angelo was his first choice for the change, primarily because the case received little if any coverage in the news media there and due to its relatively close proximity to Snyder.

As part of the change of venue, Scurry County will be required to pay all trial expenses. Added to this will be expenses related to travel for the DA and any state witnesses.

At this point, it is uncertain if Dulaney will also be required to hear the case.

A generally estimated expense for the trial is $50,000.

Dulaney noted there are three district judges based in San Angelo, and any one of the three might hear the case. "If they have scheduling conflicts, I indicated I could also hear it," he said.

Dulaney noted also that any pre-trial motions filed in the future will be heard in San Angelo. He said he expects the defendant will be transferred to jail facilities there also.

Miles was arrested this past April along with Johnson. Both suspects, originally from Col-

Robbery suspect jailed last night

Scurry County sheriff's deputies arrested a 16-year-old suspect Thursday night linked to the robbery of the Hermleigh Allsup's store reported early Wednesday morning.

Deputies say they are still seeking a second suspect in the case, described as a Spanish male thought to be in his late teens.

The juvenile picked up Thursday was transferred to the Lubbock County Juvenile Detention facility where he remained Friday morning.

He was questioned Thursday by sheriff's deputies and police investigators and city officers say two other burglaries and three bicycle thefts have been cleared with the arrest.

The Hermleigh robbery occurred around 3 a.m. Wednesday.

No weapons were displayed during the robbery. Allsup's clerk Betty Rudd told investigators one of the robbers pushed her away from the check out stand and ordered her to sit in a corner of the store while the other suspect emptied the cash register.

Less than $100 was reported taken from the store.

The pair of robbers were last seen fleeing the store on BMX type bicycles.

Other incidents linked to the 16-year-old include the Oct. 14, 1986 burglary of Thompson's Shoe Store and the Dec. 28, 1986 burglary of the Roy Gutierrez residence at 1907 Ave. O.

A pair of tennis shoes and pair of boots taken from the shoe store were recovered Thursday evening along with three shotguns, a VCR and stereo speakers reported taken from the Gutierrez residence.

Also attributed to the suspect are three bicycle thefts including the Feb. 4 theft of a bike from the Adelia Martinez residence at 2807 Ave. N and the Feb. 11 theft of a bike from the Bobby Burnett residence at 2711 Ave. R.

The Burnett bike was recovered Thursday evening along with a second bike from an unknown theft which had not been reported to police.

The bike taken from the Martinez residence was not recovered and police believe that it was sold or given to someone in Sweetwater.

Plant worker injured today

A Warren Petroleum employee at the north gas plant beside the Clairemont Hwy. received facial cuts and was hospitalized for observation Friday morning after he was hit by machine parts thrown from a backfiring compression engine at the plant.

Treated for cuts to his face and chest was Gerald Hicks of 3727 Ave. U.

A plant spokesman said Hicks was standing at a control panel some 10 to 12 ft. from the engine when it backfired. The small explosion hurled pieces of the exhaust system which struck Hicks, he said.

The accident occurred around 6:15 a.m. Friday. Hicks was taken to the Cogdell Memorial emergency room by plant personnel.

Christmas 1986 down 30 percent sales tax indicates

The latest sales tax figures for Snyder indicate the 1986 Christmas shopping season produced revenues down from the previous year by some 30 percent.

This deficit figure, the second of two months reported so far in 1987, brought the year-to-date percentage down to a minus 24.5 percent.

Checks recently returned to cities which levy the 1 percent sales tax represent taxes collected on sales made in December and reported to the state comptroller by Jan. 20.

In Snyder, the monthly return for this period was just over $88,000 as compared to some $124,000 for December of 1986.

This brought the year's total here to some $134,000 as compared to more than $177,000 last year. Exact figures are $134,090 and $177,649 respectively.

Statewide, the sales tax returns were said down an average 5 percent. The indication from area cities both larger and smaller than Snyder included:

The SDN Column

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Man does not live by bread alone--that's why he stays in a jam."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

It's Friday the 13th, and Gail Redden, in the Sweetwater Reporter, told about a doctor who had some "bad and terrible news" for one of his patients.

The patient asked for the bad news first.

"You have only two days to live."

Shocked, the patient said, "If that's the bad news, what could be terrible?"

"I couldn't get in touch with you yesterday."

O. G. Nieman, editor and publisher of the Hereford Brand, got the following letter:

"I'm writing this letter to say that I abhorred the column you wrote yesterday.

"It was weak and insipid. In short, it lacked courage."

Joe Thompson, in the Hood County News in Granbury, had a few Valentine thoughts.

He recalled the toastmaster who lifted his glass and proposed, "To our wives and sweethearts...may they never meet."

George Dolan, in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, commented on the over-crowded condition of Texas prisons.

He told about a college senior who was trying to make a career choice. He was attempting to decide whether to study law or to follow a life of crime.

"He was unsure if it was more difficult to get into law school or into the penitentiary."

He added, "Oldtime jailers can remember when they locked the cells to keep the prisoners in, not out."

Q. — Why did the paper print who Mr. and Miss SHS were before the coronation at 2:30 on Thursday?

A. — In the past, the SDN has reported such same day announcements involving high school honors, to include valedictorian and salutatorian winners last spring. Such SHS ceremonies are traditionally conducted around 2:30 p.m. and the customary first "public" viewing of the SDN--when it is placed in local news racks sometime after 2 p.m.

Banks close

by The Associated Press

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. said it will pay off depositors in one of two Texas banks closed by the U.S. comptroller of the currency.

The bank closings Thursday were the sixth and seventh in the state this year. In 1986, a record 26 banks closed in Texas.

The Midland bank was ordered to close at 3 p.m. Thursday, Olcheski said.

About an hour later, the comptroller's office declared Federated National insolvent, said Frank Vance, a spokesman for the agency.

More AIDS

GENEVA (AP) — The number of countries reporting AIDS cases has doubled in the past year, the head of the World Health Organization's AIDS program said today.

Jonathan Mann said 91 countries had reported cases of acquired immune deficiency syndrome to the organization as of Feb. 12.

The World Health Organization says there are over 100,000 known cases of AIDS worldwide.

AIDS-like virus found in cats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have identified a new virus in cats that gives felines a disease much like AIDS, a discovery they say could signal a threat to the nation's cat population while helping human AIDS research.

Researchers at the University of California, Davis, say the new cat virus is related to, but genetically different from, the virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome in humans.

While both viruses belong to the subgroup called retroviruses, there is no indication the cat virus can infect people, they noted.

No one who had worked closely with infected animals showed any signs of infection by the cat virus or by the human AIDS virus after repeated testing, indicating the new virus is not a human disease agent, they said.

"There is no evidence for cat-to-human or human-to-cat infection," said Niels C. Pedersen, professor of veterinary medicine and the principal scientist involved in studying the virus found in a California cat refuge.

Although there is preliminary evidence suggesting the new virus may be widespread, the researchers say, no one yet knows how much of a danger it could pose to the domestic cat population.

"If the disease-causing potential of the virus in general cat populations is as great as it is in the cattery described in this report, its clinical importance will be substantial," the scientists wrote.

In a report published today in the Feb. 13 issue of the journal Science, researchers say the new virus is a lentivirus that is distinct from other retroviruses that can infect cats, including feline leukemia virus.

Feline leukemia virus causes a diverse number of cancers and diseases, including an immune deficiency similar to human acquired immune deficiency syndrome. However, none of the cats infected with the new virus showed evidence of infection by the leukemia virus.

President proposes health insurance for elderly people

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's proposal to provide the elderly with Medicare protection against massive hospital and doctor bills is being greeted as a welcome but limited step by health care activists in Congress.

While the plan embraced Thursday by Reagan also outlines potential approaches for improving health insurance for Americans under 65, as well as long-term nursing home care, the immediate focus is on acute care for Medicare beneficiaries.

Under the proposal, Medicare recipients could insure themselves against more than $2,000 a year in out-of-pocket hospital and doctor bills by paying an additional $4.92 a month under the Part B coverage that now costs $17.90 monthly.

Part B generally covers doctor bills and is voluntary, although about 98 percent of the elderly take the coverage. Part A of Medicare pays hospital bills and is financed through Social Security tax deductions.

Still not covered under the expanded Medicare program drafted by Health and Human Services Secretary Otis R. Bowen would be bills for drugs and eye and dental care, as well as long-term nursing home care.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., chairman of the House Commerce health subcommittee, said the president's move was "an important first step," but noted the plan does not offer a specific solution to paying for long-term nursing home care.

"Now we in the Congress will have to make the hard decisions about whether this limited proposal is an adequate response or whether we can do more to assist Americans who are severely ill," Waxman said in a statement.

Rep. Edward R. Roybal, D-Calif., chairman of the House Select Committee on Aging, said the plan falls short of the president's promise for a broad, national solution for uninsured and underinsured people and predicted Congress would go beyond the Reagan proposal.

Sen. David Durenberger of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee's health subcommittee, praised Reagan's decision.

Dear Abby

Have a Heart, Lend a Hand On This St. Valentine's Day

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Don't tell me tomorrow is St. Valentine's Day again! We just finished with Christmas. Well, it's true, so be a sweetheart and call someone you love and say, "I love you." Make two or three calls. Who said you can't love more than one person — in different ways, of course.

Go through your closets and get rid of all those clothes you've been saving until you lose 10 pounds. Your favorite charity can turn those good-as-new garments into money.

Visit someone in a nursing home and take him or her for a ride. Forgive an enemy, hug your children, neuter your cat, spay your dog, listen to a bore, tell your parents you appreciate them, send a donation to CARE, the Salvation Army or your United Way, fix up a date for someone who doesn't get many, quit smoking, get some exercise, count your calories, pay your dentist, donate some blood, return the book you borrowed, update your will, drive carefully, and if you're walking, thank God you're able to, and watch where you're going. And don't wait until next St. Valentine's Day to be a sweetheart again.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Does saying "I'm sorry" absolve a person from any further responsibility? I was wearing my best dress at a formal affair when a man I did not know accidentally spilled a drink on it. He said, "Oh, I'm sorry," then I pleasantly — not rudely — told him I was sure he was sorry, but it would cost $10 to have the dress cleaned, and I thought he should pay for it.

He said he was not that sorry, and turned away. I might add that I then spilled my drink all over his tuxedo and told him that we were even now.

My question: Is saying "I'm sorry" enough? If he had hit my car, he would have had to pay for the damages — sorry or not. Isn't spilling a drink on someone just a smaller accident?

BOCA RATON ACCIDENT

DEAR BOCA RATON: A gentleman (or lady) who accidentally spills a drink on someone should not need to be asked to pay the dry cleaning bill — it should be offered. The man who rebuked you was no gentleman, and repaying him in kind as you did was somewhat immature — but that's another letter.

Is saying "I'm sorry" enough? Certainly not. One puts his money where his mouth is.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I could have written that letter signed "Touch-Me-Not." I was glad to see it because I thought I was the only person in the world who did not like to be touched by people I don't know very well. I am a woman, and I particularly do not like to be touched by men.

Now, please tell me — and other women like me — how to signal the touchers of the world to please keep their hands off me? I am not a cold person, but here's the way most men operate: First, they touch your hand, then they place a hand around your shoulder and tend to draw you closer, and unless they are stopped, before you know it, they have their arm around your waist, and so on. So how do I handle that situation?

INDIANA TOUCH-ME-NOT

DEAR TOUCH-ME-NOT: When a man whose advances you do not welcome touches your hand, deftly move so that you are not within his reach. If he repositions himself and touches you again, move — but not so subtly this time. If he either doesn't get the message or chooses to ignore it and places a hand on you, don't rely on body language — get verbal. If that fails — leave.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how I can get a high school diploma by mail?

ANONYMOUS IN CAMBRIDGE, OHIO

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Telephone your neighborhood high school and inquire about its adult education programs. Ask specifically about the General Equivalency Diploma program. In most states you must be 18, but there are exceptions.

Security problems are downplayed

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An Energy Department spokesman said the extent of emergency measures taken due to security breaches at the Pantex nuclear weapons plant near Amarillo apparently were overstated by a federal official.

Edward Badolato, deputy assistant energy secretary for security affairs in Washington, testified at a House investigations committee hearing in March 1985 that the Pantex plant was shut down for five days after a surprise security inspection.

Excerpts from the closed hearing of the House Energy and Commerce Committee were released this week.

Tom Walton, an Energy Department spokesman assigned to Pantex, said Wednesday that only an area along the weapons production line was closed, not the entire facility, as Badolato testified.

"The first thing that happened was that the entire Pantex operation was shut down," Badolato was quoted as saying in the transcript.

Washington Energy Department spokesman Wolfgang H. Rosenberg said he does not think Badolato meant to use the word "entire" when referring to a shutdown at the plant.

"It's my supposition that in a burst of enthusiasm, that word (entire) got in there," Rosenberg told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Clements budget under fire

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic lawmakers say they hope to convince Gov. Bill Clements that some of his proposed spending cuts go too far.

"I'm hopeful that when we can sit down — and I believe we can sit down with Gov. Clements — that we can persuade him that some of those proposals are just not realistic. They don't square with reality," Sen. Carl Parker said.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, and other Democratic senators on Thursday delivered their formal response to Clements' State of the State message. They said the Republican governor's demand that taxes not rise above current levels is out of touch.

"This state should not be subject to a budget proposal derived from misplaced priorities and unrealistic assessments of our financial condition," Parker said.

A spokesman for Clements said the Republican governor is willing to listen to all ideas, but his pledge to hold spending to $36.89 billion over the next two years is firm.

"We have compassion and sensitivity for the Texas taxpayer who is trying to meet his monthly bills and his mortgage," said Reggie Bashur, Clements' press secretary.

"What they're talking about — what critics are talking about — is a $5.8 billion tax increase. We don't think Texas taxpayers can afford, nor do we think they want, that type of tax increase," Bashur said.

In a nearly hour-long presentation orchestrated by Sen. Hugh Parmer, D-Fort Worth, the Democrats blasted what they said are Clements' cuts that would hurt the needy, elderly, students and farmers.

Parmer said Clements failed to cover the state's pressing needs by insisting that spending peak at $36.9 billion for the 1988-89 budget years.

"We find it very doubtful that that bottom line meets the basic, elemental needs of the people of Texas," Parmer said.

Clements proposed extending the temporary tax hikes enacted last year, although in a different fashion by expanding the sales tax to include some services which now escape the level. But the governor insists that new taxes not exceed $2.9 billion.

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, predicted the Legislature would appropriate about $2 billion more than that total to continue basic programs.

"I would anticipate that a responsibly drafted proposal would pass," Jones said. "I think we have the votes to make that type of change."

Opening lead ♣ Q

I'm not superstitious, but an overly generous opponent is like a black cat crossing your path on Friday the 13th. On the other hand, maybe you make your own bad luck if you don't take that generosity for what it's worth.

The opening lead was the queen of clubs. There were 10 tricks if South could avoid losing more than one trump trick. Accordingly, he won the club ace and played the 10 of hearts from dummy. West won the king and continued clubs. Declarer won the king and played the queen of spades. West played the two and East took the ace. Back came a club, ruffed by declarer. Now declarer led a spade to dummy's king and took another heart finesse. West produced the queen, and the defenders later got a diamond trick to set the contract.

Declarer lamented his bad luck, but was it really that? Since defenders know very well how to give count these days, West's play of the two of spades showed an odd number of cards in that suit. Suppose you were East and had that knowledge, and suppose also that you still held the heart queen and a small heart. Is there any way that you would take the spade ace immediately, giving declarer access to dummy so that he could come through your queen of trumps? No way. Because of that strange kindness on the part of East, South should really have abandoned the second heart finesse and banged down the ace. Then, when the queen fell, his suspicions of East would be fully justified. Better still, the contract would be made.

3 Wall Street executives are charged in insider scheme

NEW YORK (AP) — Three executives who worked for top Wall Street investment companies have been charged with insider trading that prosecutors say reaped millions of dollars in illegal profits.

Wall Street veterans were shaken by the arrests announced Thursday, the latest in a series of insider-trading cases that have plagued the securities industry during the past year.

U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani said the investigation was continuing, but would not say if he expected more arrests.

"You don't know how far this goes, how deeply imbedded it is," said Monte Gordon, a vice president and director of research for the Dreyfus Corp.

"I think it's a great blow to the prestige of two of the most honorable firms on Wall Street," said Raymond DeVoe, an analyst for Legg Mason Wood Walker Inc.

Those charged are a vice president and former vice president from Kidder, Peabody & Co., and a partner at Goldman, Sachs & Co.

"It's probably just one of many more shoes to drop," DeVoe said.

In November, stock trader Ivan F. Boesky, settling charges that he illegally used non-public information in trading stocks, agreed to pay the government $100 million in penalties and to cooperate with the continuing investigation. He also agreed to plead guilty to an unspecified criminal charge.

Giuliani, who announced the charges, refused to say whether they were connected with the Boesky case.

Richard Wigton, 52, a Kidder vice president; Timothy L. Tabor, 33, a former Kidder vice president; and Robert M. Freeman, 44, a partner at Goldman, Sachs & Co. were arrested and charged with using secret information to make millions of dollars in illegal profits for Kidder.

All three denied any wrongdoing.

They were released on bond after being arraigned, officials said. They did not enter pleas, pending indictment.

Tabor worked for Chemical Bank after leaving Kidder and then Merrill Lynch Inc., said Bill Clark, a Merrill Lynch spokesman. Clark said Tabor was fired from the investment company in January for reasons unrelated to his arrest.

$3 billion plus said needed for bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than $3 billion may be needed to fix the B-1 bomber, and even that might not solve all the problems of the world's most expensive airplane, the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee says.

"The Air Force is requesting $800 million over the next two years to develop fixes for the B-1's problems," said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis. "But that is only the tip of the iceberg. The fixes are likely to cost in excess of $3 billion — and perhaps way in excess."

Aspin advised other committee members that he has identified six major problems with the airplane, and that for some of them "a solution isn't yet in sight at any price."

Each B-1 costs $265 million, and Congress has authorized 100 of them.

They already are operating out of Dyess Air Force Base in Texas and Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota. In all, 52 have been completed, with another 10 in final production, Aspin said.

"The option to kill the program no longer exists," said Aspin, who voted with the Carter administration to block B-1 production in the 1970s and unsuccessfully fought President Reagan's plan to revive a later version of the plane, the B-1B.

Sen. Charles E. Grassley, R-Iowa, said in a hearing last month that the fix "may cost $7 billion to $10 billion."

Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Larry D. Welch have defended the B-1, and are asking Congress for $415 million for 1988 and $387 million in 1989 to fix it.

Welch, in an interview Jan. 16, said, "There is no cause for great alarm about the airplane."

Weinberger has said the B-1 can perform all of its missions, which initially include deep penetration of Soviet territory in wartime and later would involve launching cruise missiles from outside hostile airspace.

School official says HB 72 helped, but not near enough

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston-area school official says the 1984 school reform act provided more state funding for low-wealth school districts but there is still a "substantial gap" to be bridged.

"There is still wide disparity among schools in Harris County, and we have a very high tax rate," testified John Sawyer, superintendent at North Forest.

North Forest "made greater progress in financing in 1984 than any other district in Harris County?"

"Yes, but there is still a substantial gap," Sawyer replied.

Sawyer was a witness for the 67 school districts that claim House Bill 72 financing discriminates against low-wealth districts. Turner is an attorney for a group of the 48 districts that have sided with the state in claiming the 1984 changes are fair and legal.

The trial began Jan. 20. Some of the attorneys predict it will last until mid-March.

Rick Gray, an attorney for the low-wealth districts, said the plaintiffs still have five or six more witnesses to present.

Turner showed figures that 15 of the 20 schools in Harris County received more money as a result of HB72, while five schools with larger tax collections lost state money.

Turner spent much of his cross examination comparing North Forest with the adjoining Aldine school district.

Sawyer said that North Forest spends $2,244 per student per year while Aldine spends $1,750 per student. He also agreed that Aldine pays an average teacher salary that is $600 a year higher than North Forest — $23,441 to $22,841.

Turner presented figures showing that North Forest has 4.1 administrators per 1,000 students, compared with 3.1 per 1,000 at Aldine. He said North Forest has 6.7 staff support staff compared with 5.7 at Aldine, and North Forest has 9.6 teacher aides per 1,000 students, compared with 6.6 at Aldine.

"We have more high-cost kids at North Forest, and it costs more to educate them than at Aldine," said Sawyer. "We have to have different type teachers and different size classes.

"Aldine is a wealthy school," said Sawyer. "They build $4 million and $5 million school buildings and pay cash. It's a growing, wealthy district."

Turner contended that if North Forest followed Aldine's example and paid less to administrators and support staff, the district could increase teachers' salaries by $1,100 a year.

Bullock's plan announced

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas should pay a lower sales tax but it should be added to bills for lawyers' fees and other professional services, according to state Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Under a proposed tax overhaul plan released Thursday by Bullock, the state sales tax would drop to 4.5 percent from the current 5.25 percent. The sales tax is scheduled to roll back to 4.125 percent in September, but Gov. Bill Clements and many lawmakers say it should remain at 5.25 percent.

Bullock said his plan would mean $3.3 million for the state in 1988-89.

"Restructuring the state's major taxes will assure tax equity and fairness and junk an outmoded tax system," he said.

Any changes in Texas' tax laws would require legislative approval.

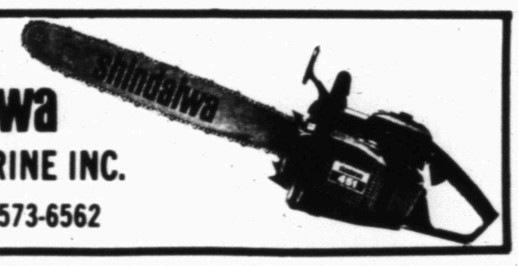

In addition to the sales tax change, Bullock supports keeping the state gasoline tax at 15 cents per gallon, a temporary rate set last year to help battle the state budget crunch.

The gasoline tax is scheduled to roll back to 10 cents per gallon in September.

Clements has said he opposes any tax overhaul plan that adds up to a net increase in Texans' tax bills. Bullock said his plan meets Clements' no-new-taxes stand because it is "virtually revenue neutral."

Clements has said he opposes any tax overhaul plan that adds up to a net increase in Texans' tax bills. Bullock said his plan meets Clements' no-new-taxes stand because it is "virtually revenue neutral." Simply continuing the temporary sales and gasoline tax hikes would add $2.9 billion to state revenue in 1988-89.

Texas prisons remain closed

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — For the second straight day, the Texas Department of Corrections will not be admitting new inmates today because the prisoner population has exceeded a state-mandated 95 percent population count, officials said.

The Texas prison system, the nation's second behind California, closed its doors Wednesday after a record number of inmates were admitted, prison spokesman Charles Brown said.

As of midnight Wednesday, the inmate population totaled 38,675, or 95.76 percent of capacity, Brown said. The figure represents 306 inmates over the 95 percent mark.

Only 118 inmates were scheduled to be released Thursday, he said.

Next Tuesday appears to be the earliest day the system can reopen since prisoners are not generally accepted on the weekend and Monday is a holiday, he said.

"That gives us a chance to release some more," Brown said.

State lawmakers mandated the 95 percent limit in 1983 after a federal judge ordered the prison system to reduce overcrowding.

The prison system turned out more than 100 inmates Thursday, but it wasn't enough to keep the doors open. The closing marks the third time in a month.

Prisoners may be released Friday and during the weekend if the corrections department gets parole certificates, Brown said.

Prison officials were forced to stop accepting new inmates Wednesday after some 700 new prisoners were admitted from county jails. The jails had been jammed with inmates awaiting transfer because of earlier prison closings.

If the system remains over 95 percent capacity for five consecutive days, state law requires the governor to declare a prison emergency. Brown said he believes only working days are counted toward the emergency declaration.

Under such an emergency, inmates classified as trusties and some other non-violent inmates would be advanced 30 days "good time" toward their parole. But Brown said only about 50 inmates would become eligible for release under that provision.

The next step of such an emergency would be a a 60-day good-time advance that would increase the pool of inmates eligible for release.

The latest closing came after a one-day record 455 inmates were admitted to the state system.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A partnership arrangement could be extremely fruitful today, provided each member plays his or her assigned role. You can make a dynamic duo.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't underprice work or services that you do for pay today. There are strong indications that your talents and efforts can earn you more than usual.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions in general look rather favorable for you today. You should be lucky romantically as well as materially.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A way to resolve a frustrating situation will be found today. The tactic you'll use will be daring and unique, but it will get the job done properly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Plan something out of the ordinary today for yourself and your special someone. Try to keep others out of your arrangements.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Although you usually prefer to operate independently of others, your greatest benefits will be derived today from situations where you are part of a team.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't let matters which are important to you financially drag on today. Your profit potential is better if you strike while the iron is hot.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your popularity is at a high point today. Regardless of where you go or who is present, you're destined to be the center of attention.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Chance could play a very important role in your financial affairs today. Be alert for opportunities from unexpected quarters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may be the recipient of some special information today that can be put to a profitable use. Act promptly while this unique condition prevails.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A matter of importance will be controlled by others rather than yourself today, yet it will work out just the way you would have engineered it.

State groups vie for funding

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers are being tugged by a variety of special interest groups wanting a share of more than $200 million the state won in lawsuits against energy companies.

A representative for one group urged legislators on Thursday to put some of the money into programs aimed at making low-income homes energy efficient, while another asked the money be used to relieve airport congestion.

The money is the state's share of lawsuit settlements with companies that violated federal price controls on crude oil and refined petroleum products.

Thursday's meeting was the second of four hearings the Special Joint Committe on Oil Overcharge Funds is holding to find the best use for the money, said Sen. Grant Jones, D-Temple.

The money must be used for federally approved programs, including low-income energy assistance, energy conservation for hopsitals and schools, and transportation projects.

"We would like to see as many of the dollars as possible get down to the people really in need," said L. Dewitt Hale, attorney for the Texas Association of Community Action agencies.

Hale told the committee he represents groups that teach low-income households how to conserve energy and reduce their utility bills.

C. D. Gray named vice-chairman

C. D. Gray was named vice chairman of the Senior Citizens Advisory Council at its meeting Wednesday. Gray represents Scurry County on the council.

He replaces Mort Ewing, who died of injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Delbert Downing, a representative to the Texas Silver Haired Legislature (SHL), reported on his experience with that group since his election last year. He pointed out that Texans in the over 60 age group represent a large bloc of voters and that they can make their voice heard through the 116 members of the SHL and by personal contact with their legislators.

Jerry Baird, new director of the Senior Center, was formally introduced and he gave a brief recap of the recent activities of the center. The activity report showed that the center served an average of 115 meals per day in the dining room during January along with an average of 47 home delivered meals and Baird commented that this number seems to be rising.

Coming events on the Senior Center's schedule include the coronation of the Valentine King and Queen on Friday, a country music jamboree on Feb. 26, the annual recognition banquet for volunteers on April 4, and the May Day fund raiser on May 2. The center's Kitchen Band will be participating in Safeway's Hands Across Snyder on Saturday. The Golden K Kiwanis Club, made up of men 60 and over, has scheduled its annual Fish Fry on March 15.

Aging can slow pulse

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a retired 72-year-old female. About 12 years ago my pulse was 60. In the last two years it has dropped to 44 and has gone as low as 35. What could cause this? I am very active.

DEAR READER — The heartbeat is controlled by a "natural pacemaker" that discharges electrical impulses into the nerves feeding the heart muscle. As we age and develop arteriosclerosis with poor circulation, the delicate pacemaker mechanism can be affected. Sometimes the pacemaker itself slows down. At other times, the heart's electrical conduction can be impaired. Often, the cardiac nerves become faulty and not evenly distribute the pacemaker's electrical impulses. In these instances, a slow heartbeat (bradycardia) can appear.

By itself, the bradycardia is of no consequence. However, if the pulse falls too low, a person can become week, dizzy or short of breath. Bradycardia is a common cause of fainting in the elderly. When symptoms appear, the patient must undergo testing to determine the exact location of the problem. Once the cause of the bradycardia has been identified, medicine may be required to enhance electrical conduction or otherwise improve cardiac functioning. Some patients may need an electronic pacemaker to keep the heart beating at an appropriate rate (60 to 80 beats per minute).

In short, bradycardia is often a consequence of the aging process. Medicine and/or electrical pacemakers are useful in treating the symptoms of slow heartbeat.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had intrinsic asthma for years. I'm 75. Inhalers make my lungs fill up with mucous and I end up in the emergency room. I take prednisone, Theolair and Proventyl, but I still have asthma. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER — The medicines you are taking are appropriate for bronchial asthma (if taken under close medical supervision).

Since they seem to be ineffective, you and your doctor might wish to investigate other possibilities. For example, heart failure often can appear to be asthma. In addition, allergies may trigger your asthma attacks; therefore, an allergist might be able to help you. Finally, your asthma could be eased by different brands of medicine. Theolair, for instance, is trade named theophylline; perhaps another brand of theophylline might be more effective. Your doctor may need to enlist the aid of a pulmonary specialist to help find the right type of dosage of medicine for your needs.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister almost had a heart attack recently because her coronary arteries constricted after she ingested some food prepared with MSG. Believe it or not, she had lunch at the hospital that day. How can this substance be allowed on the market?

DEAR READER — Monosodium glutamate is a flavor enhancer to which some people are violently allergic. It can cause flushing, palpitations, chest constriction and difficulty breathing. I doubt that your sister would have experienced a heart attack from MSG, although her symptoms may have resembled those caused by coronary artery occlusion. To document the role of MSG in producing heart attack, patients would need to have a special X-ray study, called coronary arteriography, both before and after ingestion of MSG; only in this way could scientists discover whether the coronary arteries were constricted by the food additive. To my knowledge, such a study has not been done.

Nonetheless, your sister must avoid foods that contain MSG in the future. Fortunately, most people are not as sensitive as she to the compound.

Learn how to protect yourself from heart and arterial disease. Send for Dr. Gott's new Health Report, EATING RIGHT FOR A HEALTHY HEART. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

Judging team places twelfth

The livestock judging team from Western Texas College placed 12th in junior college competition at the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth over the weekend, Jim Judah, team coach, said.

The team was 10th in horse judging.

Tim Long of Aspermont was the highest ranking member on the team and Barry Ezra of Ira was second. Long finished 10th in swine judging and 9th in both sheep and swine judging.

Kyle Cain of Frankston was 11th high individual in horse judging.

Other team members were Phil Carter of Ira and John Beckmeyer of Conroe. Lee Ann Beauchamp of Anson was alternate.

"Thirty-one teams representing colleges from California to Iowa and from Wyoming to Texas competed in Fort Worth," Judah said. Colby College from Kansas finished first, with Northeast Oklahoma second.

The European Common Market was set up by the Treaty of Rome in 1957.

PAUL & CHRISTY NEWBERRY

Ira Baptists slate concert with Newberrys

Paul and Christy Newberry of Grapevine will be in concert at 7 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church in Ira. Their performance will cap the Bible Conference which the church has been sponsoring this week.

The Newberrys entered full-time music evangelism in March of 1981. They made their first recording, "Live For Jesus," in February of 1984.

Paul Newberry sings tenor and plays guitar and five-string banjo. He was licensed and ordained to the gospel ministry by the First Baptist Church in Floydada.

Christy Newberry plays the guitar and has completed post graduate studies at Hardin-Simmons University toward a Master of Arts degree.

Credit repair clinics targeted

AUSTIN (AP) — "Credit repair clinics" that offer to cure credit problems for a fee promise a lot more than they can deliver, according to lawmakers who filed a bill to curb the clinics.

Movie begins here Friday

"Cry From the Mountain," a World Wide Pictures production, will begin a limited run showing Friday in Snyder.

Sponsored through the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, local churches and individuals, the movie will be shown at Cinema I and II Friday through Thursday. Showings are set for 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. each evening with a 2 p.m. matinee scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

The film's story centers around the Sanders family. Larry takes his 10-year-old son Cal on a camping trip where he is to break the news that he and his wife Carolyn are to get a divorce. A life-threatening accident and an old hermit living in a deserted mining camp combine to change the course of Larry's direction.

Filmed on location in Alaska, the film features James Cavan as Jonathan, the old mining hermit, Wes Parker as Larry Sanders, Rita Walter as Carolyn Sanders and Chris Kidd as Cal Sanders.

Liability reforms blasted by leader

AUSTIN (AP) — The head of the Mexican American Democrats says he is sounding the trumpet call for the Hispanic community to unite in opposition to proposed changes in liability laws.

The changes will "take money from the hands of the poor and put it in the hands of the wealthy," said Ruben Bonilla, MAD president.

"The idea that tort reform will in some way lower insurance premiums is a glaring inaccuracy," Bonilla said.

WTC golfers tourney bound

MELBOURNE, Fla. -- Western Texas College's 10th-ranked Westerners will play in the Sun Tree Intercollegiate here Monday and Tuesday.

The tournament, hosted by Brevard Community College, features the top 15 teams in the nation.

Expected to play for Coach Dave Foster's WTC squad are Mike Harrison, Joel Fults, Clint Adams, Matt Smith and Wes Skaggs.

Alexander City, Ala., is the nation's top-rated juco team, followed by Brevard, New Mexico Junior College, New Mexico Military Institute and Florida Community College. Odessa is ranked sixth, Palm Beach, Fla. is seventh, Glendale, Ariz. eighth and Paris, Tex. ninth.

Others include No. 11 George Wallace State, Ala., No. 12 Lansing, Mich., No. 13 Abraham-Baldwin, Ga., No. 14 Butler, Kan., and No. 15 Illinois Central.

Western will also compete in the third annual Bronco Invitational at Roswell, N.M. on Feb. 27-28 and at the Texas State Junior Championship in Conroe on March 22-24 before beginning spring conference play.

Snyder girls third in San Angelo event

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder's Lady Tigers shot a 399 here Thursday to hold down third place at the midway point of the San Angelo Invitational Golf Tournament.

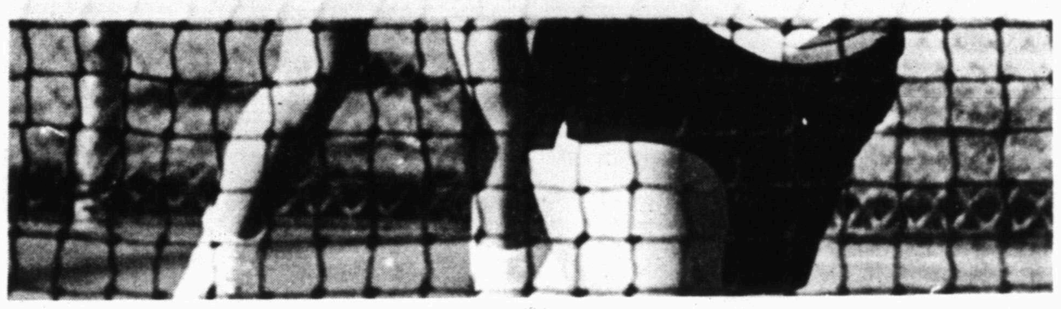

Andrews leads the 36-hole event with a 366, shot at San Angelo Country Club. The tournament moves to Bentwood Country Club for today's final 18 holes.

Second in the tourney after Thursday was Amarillo with a 391. Tied for fourth were Big Spring and Fort Stockton with 417 each. Thirteen other teams were entered in the competition.

"I didn't think we shot all that well but this is our first tournament and I'm not unhappy with the way we've played so far," said Snyder Coach Jan Kruse, whose Lady Tigers won the Class 4A state title last year.

Leslie Light turned in an 88 for Snyder here Thursday. Other players and their scores were Camille Reed with a 101, Lea Ann Thompson, a 103, Angie Lay, a 107, and Kristi Neil, a 115.

Lack of depth costs Western 118-104 loss to New Mexico

HOBBS, N.M. -- It came down to depth again here Thursday and as has happened too many times this season, Western Texas College paid the price.

"Depth is really hurting us right now," said WTC Coach Phil Spradling, whose Westerners were tied with fourth-ranked New Mexico Junior College in the waning moments before losing 118-104.

"In the last two minutes we missed some shots we should have hit and they capitalized on them. It was real similar to our loss to Howard (last Monday). We play so hard until the last two minutes and we just haven't been able to get it done when we need to," said the coach.

New Mexico's Thunderbirds led by as many as 10 points in the game, but were ahead just 56-51 at halftime. Western gained a four-point advantage in the second half but was unable to extend the lead. As time began to wear down, so did the bench-depleted Westerners.

"I thought Alvin Lee especially did a good job and Darrell Nelson did a good job scoring and on the boards," said Spradling.

Nelson, a freshman, scored a career-high 27 points. Lee had 39 and John Lewis put in 22. Melvin Thompson added 9.

The loss drops Western to 9-15 overall and 4-8 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play. NMJC is 24-2 and 12-1.

Leading the way for the Thunderbirds was Johnnie Hilliard with 35 points. Richard Hollis scored 29 and Harold Wright notched 16.

Next action for Western Texas occurs Monday when the Westerners entertain Odessa at 8 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum.

TCU claims 20th win; looks for NCAA berth

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Texas Christian Coach Jim Killingsworth just dares the NCAA to snub the Horned Frogs this time.

TCU hasn't been in the NCAA basketball playoffs since 1971.

The Horned Frogs clinched their third 20-victory season under Killingsworth Thursday night with a 69-50 Southwest Conference victory over Southern Methodist.

TCU got National Invitational Tournament bids in 1983 and 1986 when the Frogs won 20 games.

TCU has only had five, 20-win seasons in its history.

"You're talkin' NCAA bid now," Killingsworth said. "Twenty is the magic number. I feel with 20 victories and beating LSU and Oklahoma on the road we should get an NCAA bid no matter what happens in the conference tournament. They'll have to come up with a new excuse if they don't give it to us this year."

Carven Holcombe scored 17 points and Larry Richard added 16 for the 18th ranked Horned Frogs.

TCU is now 20-4 overall and 11-1 in SWC play. It was the Horned Frogs' 23rd consecutive victory at Daniel-Meyer Coliseum.

The Frogs have a three and one-half game over second-place Baylor in the SWC. TCU is idle this weekend.

Killingsworth said "I'll be afraid to practice on an open date. The last time we did that (guard) Carl Lott broke a finger."

Lott is expected to get a go-ahead from the doctors on Friday to begin practicing with the team again.

"I hope he's ready for our next game at Texas on Wednesday," Killingworth said.

The Horned Frogs oonvinced SMU Coach Dave Bliss they deserve to get an NCAA bid.

"TCU is just one excellent team," said SMU Coach Dave Bliss. "Our players tried hard but TCU was just too good. I thought we played awful hard but TCU just controlled the tempo."

SMU, which lost its fifth straight game to TCU, is 12-11 and 3-8 in SWC play.

SMU lost 57-53 to TCU last month in Dallas and Killingsworth added "We were fortunate to beat 'em there."

The Frogs dominated the Mustangs on the boards.

"It was one of the best defensive and rebounding games we've had," said Killingsworth. "SMU came out smoking at the start but we slowed them down."

TCU outrebounded the Mustangs 46-29.

"The 20-win plateau is awesome," said Richard. "It's a great feeling to reach 20 again."

Dusters rip Thunderbirds; battle rival Odessa Monday

HOBBS, N.M. -- Western Texas College kept its title hopes alive with an convincing 111-61 victory over New Mexico Junior College's Lady Thunderbirds here Thursday night.

The win, Western's sixth straight, sets up a showdown in Snyder next Monday between the Dusters and the Odessa Lady Wranglers. Odessa, defending NJCAA champions, slugged South Plains 75-41 on Thursday.

Western, ranked eighth in the nation, is 8-1 in conference play now and 23-3 overall. Odessa, fifth-ranked, is 6-1 and 21-2.

"It comes down to Monday night then, I guess," said WTC Coach Kelly Chadwick. "We really played well last night (Thursday) and I think we're going to be ready. I'm hoping we can get a lot of people out. I'm excited. I'm ready. I think it will be a real barn burner. I don't know what the outcome will be, but it will be a war."

Thursday, Western dropped the bomb early, sprinting out to a 49-26 halftime advantage. Chadwick was able to give everybody a lot of playing time, and 10 girls put points on the board.

"We played exremely well. Everything we did was right and very few things they did were right," said Chadwick. "Our defense was awesome and we shot well. We were 25 of 31 from the free throw line and we shot well from the field, too."

Sophomore transfer Lisa Thompson was perfect from the charity stripe, hitting 10 of 10 free throws. She had 24 points for the night - her season high. In addition, Brenda Welch had a 9-of-11 effort from the line en route to a 33-point outing.

Dee Ann Marr sacked up 19 points - including 15 in the second half - while Wendy Milner also landed in double digits with 13.

Chadwick praised everyone on the team, including Kayla Thompson, who was playing in front of a hometown crowd.

"We finally put a game together like I wanted us too," said Chadwick.

The coach had been concerned earlier in the week because some of the team was still suffering from sickness.

"The day before yesterday I worked them really hard. They worked up enough sweat to get it out of their systems," said the coach.

New Mexico, 1-9 now in conference play, was led by Lisa Lewis' 14 points. Michelle Lutes and Robin Pickett scored 12 each.

Monday's game with Odessa is scheduled for a 6 p.m. tip off in Scurry County Coliseum.

Cardinals play practice game

Hermleigh High School girls, District 17-A runnersup, will play Highland in a practice game at 7 tonight in Snyder High School Gym.

Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Hermleigh girls will enter playoff action early next week, Monday or Tuesday.

Tiger cage teams square off with AHS Mustangs tonight

Snyder varsity girls, barring an upset to the east, will wind up their 1986-87 basketball season tonight in Andrews.

Snyder's boys will be at home in Scurry County Coliseum - with hopes of upsetting the state's No. 8 ranked team.

Tip off for either varsity contest is 7:30 p.m. and both will be preceded by junior varsity tilts at 6 o'clock.

At home, Coach Larry Scott's Tigers are fighting purely for pride. The Tigers could still mathematically gain a playoff berth, but for that to happen Lamesa High School would have to lose its final three games - a possibility that is minute at best.

"We want to finish the season as strong as we can," said Coach Scott. "It would be great if we could defeat them. They are the number eight team in the state in our class."

Andrews comes into the boy's game with a 25-3 overall record, 13-0 in District 2-4A competition. Snyder is 16-11 overall and 9-4 in loop play.

The contest will be the first of three home games for the Tigers, who entertain San Angelo Lake View next Tuesday and wind up the season by hosting Monahans on Feb. 20.

Coach Ken Housden's girls will finish their campaign tonight in Andrews - unless, of course, Monahans' Loboettes should upset the Lady Mustangs in Sweetwater. Should that happen, several 2-4A teams would be tied for second place.

Snyder's Lady Tigers are 17-10 overall and 9-6 in district action. Andrews takes records of 11-16 and 7-8 into the game.

Fitch records 700th victory

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - Bill Fitch believes that coaching 700 NBA victories is a steppingstone to greater things, not a milestone to be savored.

"It's like being ahead at the the half; you're happy to be there but there is still work ahead of you," Fitch said after the Houston Rockets' 121-99 decision over New Jersey Thursday night gave him victory No. 700 in his 17th pro season.

"I'd like to win another 700."

His NBA coaching career started with an expansion team in Cleveland that won only 15 games in 1970-71. But Fitch said this season has been the hardest for him.

The defending conference champion Rockets have had to overcome injuries to Akeem Olajuwon, Ralph Sampson and Robert Reid, a 10-17 start and having two players banned from the league because of cocaine use.

But the Rockets have come back to win 16 of their last 21 games, and Fitch recently was given an extension on his contract.

"This season has been tougher than all of them," Fitch said. "But I could have 40 wins instead of 26 and I would not be happier with the way these players have responded.

"We continue to win because they haven't lost faith and they haven't lost the work ethic."

At age 52, Fitch has no victory goals in mind. He is the fifth coach to reach 700 victories; Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics retired with a top mark of 938.

"No one looks that far ahead," Fitch said of his chances of breaking Auerbach's record. "But I believe that if you work hard, good things will happen to you."

Rockets forward Cedric Maxwell, who played four years for Fitch in Boston, including a championship season in 1980-81, before being traded to Houston last month, said a willingness to work sets his coach apart.

"The way he prepares is unbelievable," Maxwell said. "He's the best in the league at getting you prepared for a game, and he's especially valuable in the playoffs. He'd have made a great spy or one of those detectives who goes on stakeouts."

SPRING LAYAWAY
Layaway now at your local Honda Dealer in order to have the best equipment for Spring.

One reason Honda lawn mowers are so popular is that most have Honda Overhead Valve engines* - so they're rugged and long lasting. Plus, with sturdy cast iron cylinder sleeves, sealed shaft drive systems and electronic ignitions, they'll take on extra yardage season after season.

Since they're Honda Overhead Valve four-stroke engines, they run up to 30% more fuel-efficient than comparable side valve engines.

Honda mowers are available in rear and side discharge models, in push and self-propelled designs. And each one will go for extra yardage.

*Except HR173, HR215SDAM.

Manager: DOE 'posturing' violates waste act

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Energy is circumventing the 1982 Nuclear Waste Policy Act by forcing Congress to take a stand on construction of a second long-range nuclear waste storage site in the Eastern United States, charged Washington and Texas waste managers.

"By undoing the balance in the Waste Policy Act, they're building a political constituency that rushes toward a Western repository," said Steve Frishman, director of Texas' Nuclear Waste Programs Office.

"This gets the flies from around their head so they can charge at what they want," he said Thursday.

The DOE announced in May 1986 that it had selected three sites in the Western United States as finalists for the country's first high-level nuclear waste dump, but deferred the search for a second site in the East.

Energy Secretary John Herrington announced Wednesday that the DOE will resume efforts to find a site for a second waste dump, this time in the East, if plans to postpone the second repository aren't approved by Congress.

Herrington said delaying the second site is proper because the nation may not need two dumps, but he said his department would be willing to reverse its decision to indefinitely postpone the second site.

Frishman and Terry Husseman, director of Washington state's Program for High-Level Waste Management, said the act guarantees geographic equity, and DOE has ignored that.

"The act is compromised," Husseman said. "By deferring the search for the second site they've ultimately solved disposal of all wastes.

"DOE will use the balance in Congress (of more representatives from the East) to force Congress to say, 'All right, it's all right to have a repository in the West, but not necessarily in the East.'"

DOE spokesman Roger Gale said Congress has never authorized construction of a second site but reserves the right to vote on the issue. He said he did not want to speculate on what Congress might do with the second repository.

The allegations by Husseman and Frishman came at a quarterly meeting of the DOE, states and Indian tribes affected by the waste dump issue. It was the first meeting attended by both the states and tribes.

Sites in Washington, Texas and Nevada have been selected as finalists for the first repository for highly radioactive wastes from commercial nuclear reactors.

Klan murder victim's mom awarded $7 million by jury

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The mother of a black teen-ager murdered by two Ku Klux Klansmen has been awarded $7 million in damages, a verdict her lawyer says may put the nation's largest Klan group out of business.

The all-white jury deliberated about 4½ hours Thursday before returning the award against the United Klans of America Inc. and six past or present members, including the two sent to prison for the slaying.

U.S. District Judge Alex T. Howard Jr., who presided over the three-day trial, will hold a hearing within 90 days to determine the assets of the United Klans, which has about 2,500 members and operates in the Southeast.

"I hope the jury's decision will put it out of business," said Morris Dees, a lawyer for the family of 19-year-old Michael Donald, who was beaten and strangled in 1981 and whose body was left dangling from a tree.

"I'm just glad justice was done," said Beulah Mae Donald. "Money don't mean a thing to me. It won't bring my child back. But I'm glad they caught the guilty and brought them to court."

Steps will be taken to gain title of a spacious office building occupied by the United Klans in Tuscaloosa, said Dees, who valued the building at about $100,000.

"We will take appropriate action to do something with it for the benefit of people — good things instead of bad things," Dees said, adding that the verdict was the first damage award against the United Klans for the actions of its members.

John Mays, an attorney for the United Klans, argued the corporation is a political organization that could not be held accountable for the murder. He said he had not decided whether to appeal.

Bill Stanton, director of Klanwatch, an arm of the Southern Poverty Law Center, praised the award.

"Victims of Klan violence now have a precedent to seek damages from the corporate Klan behind the perpetrators of these kinds of violent acts," he said.

Henry Francis Hays, 32, received the death sentence in 1984 for the slaying. Klansman James "Tiger" Knowles, 24, was sentenced to life in prison after pleading guilty to violating Donald's civil rights.

Knowles testified during Hays' trial that Donald was abducted at random from a Mobile street and killed "to show Klan strength in Alabama." According to testimony, the local Klan was angered by an unrelated trial in which a black was accused of murdering a white police officer in Birmingham.

The other defendants in the lawsuit were Bennie Jack Hays, a Klan officer and father of Henry Francis Hays, and former Klansmen Thaddeus Betancourt, Frank Cox and William O'Connor.

The lawsuit alleged the men conspired to deprive Donald of his civil rights in that they either knew of plans for the murder or knew it had been committed and kept silent.

Mrs. Donald and the Alabama National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had sought $10 million. The NAACP was severed from the case earlier.

Klan Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton declined comment on the judgment.

Arrests noted

Police logged three misdemeanor arrests Thursday evening.

One man was jailed for driving with a suspended license and two persons were arrested for possession of marijuana in a quantity less than 2 ounces.

Secretary of State Shultz urges support for Contras

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz is calling for continued U.S. assistance to the Nicaraguan rebels, but the nation's leading military man says American patience with the Contras may be running out.

Hours before Shultz delivered a ringing defense of U.S. policy toward Central America during a speech in New Orleans, Adm. William Crowe, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the American people will not support the rebels indefinitely unless they have some battlefield successes.

"You've got to have some kind of success or you're not going to get a continuing commitment," Crowe told reporters Thursday. "I don't think there's any question about that. And I don't know of anybody who would ask the American people to go on and on indefinitely without progress."

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, asked for reaction to Crowe's linking of future aid to battlefield success, said the U.S. commitment to the rebels "is fixed and is steadfast ... I don't know that I can address their tactics, but our support is not conditioned on any specific strategy or tactic."

Shultz, speaking to the American Bar Association in New Orleans, said the rebels cannot succeed without U.S. support and said that support should not be undercut by the scandal over U.S. arms sales to Iran and the diversion of profits to the Contras.

"It would be immoral to abandon them," he said.

On Capitol Hill, opponents of Contra aid say the controversy, coupled with internal squabbling in the rebels' ranks, has enhanced their chances to defeat an expected $105 million aid request for fiscal year 1988.

In an effort to patch up the latest internal problem with the rebels, Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams met Thursday with rebel leader Arturo Cruz apparently to persuade him not to resign from the rebel umbrella group United Nicaraguan Opposition.

There were also reports that Abrams met with Adolfo Calero, an UNO chieftain with whom Cruz has had frequent clashes.

Meanwhile, Alfonso Robelo, another of the top rebel leaders, demanded Calero's resignation, along with that of eight other rebel figures, The Washington Post reported today.

In other developments:

—Vice President George Bush, in an appearance in Lansing, Mich., for the first time acknowledged that he had voiced some reservations in the administration's inner councils about the Iran arms sale. He did not elaborate.

—ABC News reported Thursday night that conservative fund-raiser Carl Channell was instrumental in a fund-raising project for the Contras called "Toys." The report said that former White House aide Lt. Col. Oliver L. North, fired for his role in the purported diversion of Iran arms sales profits to the Contras, discussed rebel needs with Channell's contributors. Jane McLaughlin, a former Channell associate, told ABC she understood "we were working directly on behalf of the president and his policy in Central America, via Col. Oliver North."

—The Washington Post reported today that Reagan's hand-picked commission investigating the Iran-Contra affair has received a new file of computer messages sent within the National Security Council.

Seal effort has been undertaken by Safeway employees across the country.

Rawlings said Thursday she believes the goal to form an unbroken line is in sight. It is to stretch along College Ave. north from the U.S. Highway 84 bypass to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital turnoff at the south end.

"We're really hoping for a bunch of people who will just show up Saturday," she said.

Individuals who will be identifred as Easter Seal volunteers or Safeway employees will be soliciting the $1 donations.

Groups which have pledged donations may bring these to Safeway during the day Saturday.
