

TOWN TALK

By MAC MCKINNON

Sunday, I mentioned the cotton ginning business as one part of the local agriculture industry that is facing problems.

Another facet of the ag industry that is facing problems--and they have always faced problems--is the farmers themselves.

If you've never lived on a farm, you can't really appreciate the problems, the worries, anxieties, the failures that men and women of the soil must face every day of the year.

The farmer finds himself at the mercy of politics (effecting government programs), demand for their product, the weather, plant and animal diseases. It seems that if one of these factors doesn't get you, the other one will.

And then if a farmer gets real lucky, he can break even.

I've heard people gripe and speak disparagingly about government subsidies to farmers. But just stop and think for a minute.

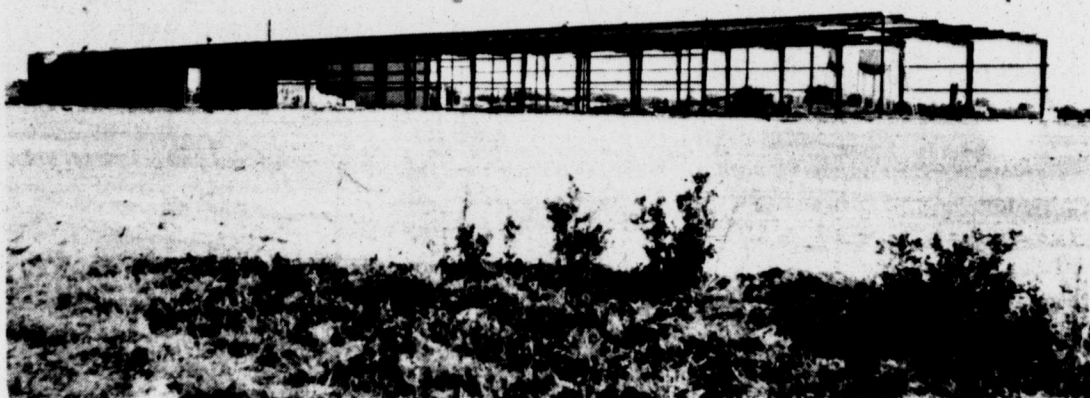

If there weren't government subsidy programs, few farmers could survive. Production of our food and fiber would probably fall into the hands of big corporations who could soon form a monopoly on the production and marketing of food and fiber.

You guessed it.

The price of food and clothing would soar. Plus as is the case with many large corporations with monopolies, there is mismanagement and strikes, both of which could cause a shortage of food and fiber.

It would seem that the price of goods would be much higher if production and marketing of food and fiber was monopolized than what we are paying now in the market place and what little bit of our federal taxes goes into farm subsidy programs.

The more people we can keep involved in farming operations through government subsidies, the better off we are as consumers, plus these subsidies help insure that there will not be a shortage of food and fiber.

Going Up

Sequoia Mobile Homes is expected to begin production before the end of November. The 100-foot by 500-foot building for the plant is rapidly nearing completion and is now about 35 per cent complete.

Richards Appointed To City Council

Lloyd (Pint) Richards, 59, of 1515 Watson, Monday night was appointed to the City Council of Colorado City to succeed Trevlyn Kelley. Kelley resigned effective Nov.

1 to move to Roscoe where he became president of the Roscoe State Bank.

Lloyd Richards
New City Councilman

Richards was nominated for the position by councilman Eddie Piland and the motion was seconded by J.C. Britton. The nomination received the unanimous approval of the council members present including Piland, Britton, Frank Brownfield and Mayor C.C. (Mike) Burt.

Richards was sworn in by Mayor Burt and then took his place on the council for the remaining part of the agenda.

The council had a short agenda for the meeting as City Manager J.A. Sadler Jr., and councilmen Buck May and J.C. Brown were in Dallas for a municipal league meeting.

A special meeting has been called for 6:30 p.m. Nov. 20 to act on other matters that were not taken up during Monday night's meeting.

The appointment of Richards was one of the first matters on the agenda, coming right after the council received and approved the resignation of Kelley.

Business Booming

Many Prospects For Growth

Prospects for many changes in the near future for Colorado City seem imminent and many are now being made.

One new industry-business, Claxton Lodge, became reality Sunday with its open house which was attended by more than 1,000 people.

When the 118-bed facility is full, some 40 to 50 people will be employed.

Sequoia Mobile Homes has announced that production at its plant on Interstate 20 East Access Road is expected to get underway within 10 days.

Sequoia is expected to employ about 100 persons once full production is reached.

Foam-Tex, Inc., is making a number of changes including the purchase of a new machine which will require the hiring of about five more employees and it is possible that within the near future that the plant may go into round-the-clock shift work.

There are now some 22 people employed at Foam-Tex.

Colorado City Manufacturing Co., is contemplating expansion that would take in Civic House and possibly the area of the Civic House where the Chamber of Commerce is located.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee, contact team and Industrial Team Monday made a proposal for a lease purchase to Izy Freudenreich of Dallas, owner of the company.

The sewing factory now has several large contracts and Freudenreich told local representatives that should he decide to accept the proposal that was made, it would mean employment of at least 25 more

Invited To Holland

The Colorado High School Wolf Band, pictured during its performance in Sweetwater, has been invited to participate in the Holland Tulip Festival during the Easter holidays next spring. The cost of the trip to Europe would be about $50,000 and school board members said that it is doubtful that enough money can be raised. However, they said they would leave the matter open until their December meeting in case large contributors came forward to sponsor the band.

Wolves In Season Finale

Win "Must" To Keep Out Of Cellar

The Colorado City Wolves travel to San Angelo Friday night to take on the Lake View Chiefs in a game that will determine who is in the District 3-AAA cellar.

Kick-off is at 7:30 p.m.

The Chiefs are playing good defense, said Coach Weldon Brevard of Colorado City.

Brevard noted that against Brownfield, the Chiefs held the explosive Cubs to only 14 points and Dunbar only defeated Lake View by 7-3.

Lake View is slightly larger physically than the Wolves. Brevard noted, but the two teams are about even in regards to quickness and speed.

The Chiefs have basically the same team they did last year in which the game between Colorado City and Lake View ended in a 7-7 tie.

In regards to the health of the Wolves, Brevard noted that Clayton Salmon is out for the year with a twisted knee and probably will have to undergo surgery when school is out next spring.

Otherwise, the club is about the healthiest it has been all year. Tim Stansel has recovered nicely from a leg injury and others with minor injuries seem to be in good condition, Brevard noted.

While the Wolves already have a better record than last year with three wins as opposed to two wins and a tie last year, a win over San Angelo would get the team on the right foot for next year.

Copies Of Speech Now Available

Because of requests for more copies of the talk "Then and Now" which Joe Earnest gave at the Old Timers' meeting, Sept. 7th, additional copies have been made and are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Wanted: Motorcycle Club For Colorado City

There is a growing interest in the sport of motorcycling in Mitchell County.

Interest has grown so intent that a number of people, headed by Colorado High School teacher Ken Burnam, are attempting to start a motorcycle club.

Burnam has asked that anyone interested in forming a club to contact him at 728-3967, after 5 p.m.

Burnam, who competes in motorcycle racing competition, recently prepared an article explaining motorcycles and many of the things that concern parents of would-be motorcycle riders.

Here is the article.

By Ken Burnam

Motorcycling is getting more popular today with the average family than in the past. Motorcycles or motorbikes have been associated with rough elements in previous years.

Today, you'll find almost any type of person riding a cycle, anywhere from an elementary student to a school board member.

And even some newspaper publishers.

You will often even see some wives taking up the cycle habit in order to spend more time with their husbands. Entire families are often seen cruising around the neighborhood.

The size of the cycles ranges from the small mini-bike, 50 cc to the large highway cycle, 1200 cc. The size of the cycle that a person gets depends on the riding ability.

A young teenager can get a driving permit at the age of 15, and he is limited to a cycle that is 100 cc or smaller. The cyclist must undergo a written exam and a driving test before he can get a license to drive the cycle on public roads.

The kinds of riding that a person can do are many and includes everything from riding from town to town on large bikes, to slow joy rides around town.

Still others like the adventure of the off-road riding. This is the type of riding that is catching on in the Southwest. The skilled rider can enter racing or riding events that improve his riding abilities. Some of these events are races based on speed, while others are based on riding skills with no speed involved.

A few of the riding events that involve speed and skill are:

--Straight track-- similar to the car drag strips.

--Oval track-- requires the cycle to travel around the track in a fast circular direction, in competition with other bikes.

--Moto-cross-- a race which requires the cyclist to go at fast speeds against other bikes over a dirt track that contains various sharp left and right turns, jumps, straight away, and mud obstacles.

Other types of racing events that depend more on skill than speed are:

--Times Enduro-- requires the rider to cover a marked course, usually across open country, at a certain speed. This is similar to the car rally.

--Trials-- requires the rider to cover a set of various obstacles, including logs, hills, rocks, and creek beds without touching the ground with the foot. This is done at the slowest speed possible. The best rider is the person that loses the least amount of point for touching the ground. This event is all skill and balance.

For those people who do not wish to participate in any competitive aspect of the sport there are other things. They can do what thousands of people are doing everyday--taking to the open trails and roads that are available throughout the country.

The motorcycle is basically safe under most conditions. It has certain advantages over the automobile. These include better vision, including 360 degree visibility with mirrors, shorter stopping distance, better maneuverability, and the fact that the riders foot is always resting on the brake pedal.

A young person who starts riding a motorcycle gains other benefits from this experience besides the joy of just riding. He learns safe driving habits and defensive driving procedures. It is economical and provides a healthy outlet for his extra energies.

The cycle has several disadvantages that require the rider to be extra careful. It does not offer the metal shell that the car provides in case of an accident. It exposes the rider to flying objects such as rocks, dust, and bugs. The two wheeled bike is more affected by road conditions than the four wheeled counterpart. Exposure to the weather conditions affect the rider more severely. The cycle is hard to see and is often concealed by brush or park-

...Even With Women

FLOWERS for the living can bring such very special pleasure to people!

Especially wonderful are unexpected posies like the beautiful spring bouquet that came to the house on East 9th Street Thursday.

There they were on the piano bench, white and yellow mums and iris with fern and greenery arranged in a pretty green pottery container embossed with white daisies.

It was not a birthday, anniversary, or any date to celebrate. A mistake, maybe?

THE INK, fingers reached for the florist's envelope opening it to read -- "Thank you from one of the many respect the position of the President of the United States and are aware of the cost one pays to serve our country as such. May God bless."

The card was unsigned.

THANK YOU, thoughtful friend

whoever and wherever you are And may God bless both you and our deeply troubled America.

FLOWERS, like words of praise are too often saved for the dead or dying.

The same is sometimes true of expressions of love for family, marriage partner, friend.

It has, for instance, always seemed sad to me that there are sons and daughters, sisters and brothers, who go for years without a visit to aged parents with few letters or tokens of affection in-between.

Then, when death comes, the same sons and daughters and relatives fly halfway across the world to cry at the funeral and heap flowers on the grave.

FLOWERS, for the living are such joyous, lovely things to see! And better a smile, a flower, a kind and encouraging word for eyes that can see and ears that can hear than all the wreaths and crosses you can buy--too late.

This much I know for sure. When regrets and remorse stand up to be counted, the wrong and the mean things are likely to be greatly outnumbered by regrets and remorse for all the right and good things left undone as we go along in this busy business of living.

"The world moves along with its sorrow and song" and all too frequently, the song is hard to hear over the sound of weeping.

Nobody ever expressed the real truth of what is wrong with this world than did the Scot poet, Robert Burns. Remember?

"Man's inhumanity to man Makes countless thousands mourn."

You're looking at one of the nice things about an electric dryer.

Drying a wet teddy bear, or other stuffed toys labeled "washable," is just one of many things you can do with a flameless electric dryer.

There are plenty of others. Like dusting draperies.

Airing bed covers.

Fluffing pillows.

And many, many more.

Your instruction booklet is your best guide to the many unique capabilities of your electric dryer. Read it carefully and file for ready reference.

One of the big advantages of electric dryers is that you can get control features which automatically determine the temperature and drying time needed for various fabrics.

This fabric selector is particularly helpful in this modern age of care-free polyesters and other permanent press fabrics.

Versatility is just one more reason why flameless electric dryers are America's favorite.

Seventy-three young men participated in the Colorado Junior High football program this season. These are two fine groups of young men. Our schedule, including "red" and "black" games, made it possible for every player to participate in several games. There is no substitute for experience. Several young men took advantage of this and moved into starting positions as a result.

Some of these were Gerald Hill, Joe Moreno, Freddie Rivera, and Ray Ritchey.

The 35 member 8-grade squad had a good season (4-3). We were impressed with the talent and versatility of these eighth graders.

Some outstanding payers were Manuel Arellano, Ruben Ornelas, Frank Frizzell, Ray Torrey, Wayne McKee, and Santos Reyes.

There are several promising young players in this group. Among them are Jim Jordan, Bill Stone, Steve Belvin, John Mahna, Pete Parham, Steve Shackelford, Alfred Lewis, Freddie Womack, Jackie Ellis and Buster Coe.

7th Grade Football

Thirty-eight boys participated in 7th grade football. Although these boys won only one game—that was against Sweetwater, the other games were close.

Showing toughness and desire, these boys looked good on defense this year: Blake Hammond, Frank Sanchez, Scott Neff, Ed Adams, Kevin Geiger, Bill Jordan, Rick Rivera, Mike Wilson, Steven Calloway, Rene Garcia, David Ornelas, Gary Bisnette, and Mark Brooks.

Offensively, many young wolves looked promising. Heading an offensive line that looks promising was the center Ramon Ramos, the guards John Boyd and Dobie Williams, the tackles Felix Lujan and Scott Beights, the tight end Ed Adams and the backfield Quartback - Daniel Torres, fullback - Kevin Geiger, wingback - Blake Hammonds, and I-back - Frank Sanchez.

These two teams know what it is to win and to lose. They know because they have been there. Putting their energy together with hard work the victories should overshadow the defeat and the future looks bright for the Colorado City Wolves.

Educational Materials Fair Held For Plan A Program Staff

Three representatives of Region XIV, Educational Service Center in Abilene held an educational materials fair in Kelley Elementary Friday afternoon for members of the Plan A program.

Lee Nell Gawn, Curriculum and Materials Consultant at the Center, Geraldine Parker, Instructional Supervisor for the West Central Texas Educational Cooperative of Sweetwater and Jo Huett, Librarian at Materials Center in Abilene conducted the workshop and displayed materials that are used for individualized instruction for children with learning disabilities.

School personnel from Lorraine Independent School System and the Colorado City Independent School District, were present for the fair hosted by the local Plan A supportive staff who are Mrs. Mike Burt and Johnny Creagor.

Materials on display included audio-visual items, reading, math, and materials for kindergarten and early childhood teaching processes.

This year is the first year that Lorraine and Colorado City have participated in the West Texas Central Education Cooperative which also includes Hermleigh and all of Nolan County.

Colorado City is one of 39 "schools" that is participating in the Plan A program and by 1976 all Texas schools are supposed to be involved in the program.

The Plan A Program is designed for children with learning disabilities where they are helped in a resource room type situation.

The children are worked with in small groups for approximately 30 minutes a day after which they return to their regular classrooms.

"These are classes for children that have a learning disability," said Geraldine Parker.

"These children that we work with may have a difficulty in reading or writing that may be attributed to a visual or audio problem.

"These materials enable the child to help himself overcome this difficulty with supervised help from the resource staff and the use of these materials."

The materials are available on a "check out" basis to the classroom and resource teachers for use in their classrooms and for individualized instruction.

Resource teachers and their schools are Mrs. Betty Richardson, Kelley; Miss Linda Perkins, Hutchinson; Mrs. Dorothy Fowler, Wallace and Miss Molly Phillips, Junior High.

Aides for the program are Mrs. Cindy Slaughter and Mrs. Nina Baker and Kathy Lyons is the secretary.

Johnny Creagor serves as the diagnostician; Mrs. Mike Burt, counselor and Mrs. Pamela Hood is the speech therapist.

Resource teacher in Lorraine is Mrs. Ed Newton; Mrs. Janie McNair serves as resource teacher in Hermleigh and Mrs. Linda Hughes is the Hermleigh aide.

Welcome

Colorado City is now the home of one of the largest and finest extended care facilities in West Texas.

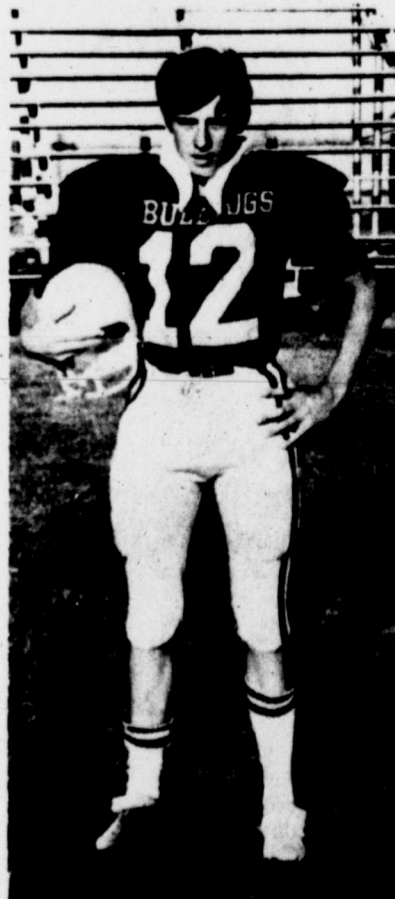

Claxton Lodge, a 118-bed nursing home, was formally opened in ceremonies Sunday.

This facility is a great asset for our community and we congratulate it's builder, Ray McDonald of Abilene, and co-owners Lewis Claxton and Mrs. Marion (Geneva) Stone, who is also administrator.

The Lodge will employ some 40 to 50 people once it is at capacity. We welcome the Lodge and extend to the lodge's builder, owners and employees our best wishes.

only once a month and had not met since Kelley announced his resignation.

Other items on the agenda included opening 19 bids on a three wheel motorcycle. The high bid, which was accepted, was for $500 from B.H. Bell.

The council also approved a permit for Joe Pharris to keep two horses at 20th and Hemphill and approved the 1973 contract for tax evaluation with Pritchard & Abbott of Fort Worth. Richards, who has been a resident of Colorado City for 20 years, and his wife, Bea, are active in a number of community organizations including the First Christian Church of which Richards is vice-chairman of the board.

He is also a member of the Evening Lions Club in which he has served as club twister.

Richards is an employee of Sun Oil Co., with which he is a production forman. He has been with the company 37 years and was transferred here from Mississippi. He works out of the Silver plant.

The Richards have one daughter, who is married and has been living in West Germany; two sons, Roger, a senior at Angelo State, and Wesley, who is in the Navy, stationed aboard the USS Holt.

Richards is a native of Vernon and it was in his hometown that he was nicknamed "Pint".

His older brother's initials are T.Q. but somehow those were turned around when he took over a milk route and he became known as Q.T., which some people lengthened to quart.

When Lloyd Richards took over the route, he was nicknamed Pint and when the route went to a younger brother, he was promptly nicknamed half-pint.

All three of the Richards brothers are now working for Sun Oil Co.

Richards said he considers it an honor to have been appointed to be done for the betterment of Colorado City.

Two things that are of primary concern to Richards include the problems with the city water and the conditions of streets.

Richards noted that he is looking forward to working with members of the council as he believes members of the council are "all good people and a good bunch to work with."

Congressman,

Born Here,

Dies

Martin Dies, Sr., of Lufkin, Texas, first chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, died Tuesday. He served in the Congress for 20 years.

He was born in 1900 in Colorado City in the house at the northwest corner of Third and Hickory which formerly belonged to Marjorie Plaster Hardegree.

The present widow of Dies came to Colorado City when a historical plaque was placed on his birthplace several years ago.

Some driving techniques are different for a cyclist. A bike rider rides in the left portion of his lane so he can have better visibility, avoiding people who may be backing out of parking places, and to discourage motorists from passing the cyclist in his own lane. This often invites the motorist to pass on the right, which is dangerous and unlawful. He does not ride in the center of the lane because the oil drippings from cars causes this area to be especially slippery for the cycle.

A group of cycles should not bunch up because it makes it difficult for cars to pass. Rather they should ride in smaller separate groups to permit cars to slip between them if needed. The cyclist should ride in a staggered pattern rather than a side-by-side style. This gives each rider a better chance to avoid a dangerous situation.

The rider must be extra alert at intersections and must always assume that at any moment a car could pull out in front of him. It is reported that the cycle is 50% more visible during the day with its lights on. Some states require that this be done.

A rider can protect himself from injury by wearing the proper equipment. It is a state law that requires all persons riding on a cycle on public roads, to wear a helmet. A safety shield or goggles prevent damage to the eyes by wind, dust, rocks, or other foreign matter. The black leather jacket that most people associate with the "Hell's Angels Cycle Gang" is actually a very important part of the riding outfit, as leather is one of the best materials to protect the skin if a person falls off the bike. Riding boots or heavy shoes are also necessary to prevent damage to the feet.

The cyclist must follow the same traffic laws as the motorist. He is also entitled to all rights offered to any motor vehicle. It is often better to give the cycle and rider every bit of the benefit.

One of the most dangerous situations that a rider can encounter is when a car pulls out in front of the bike, either because the car failed to realize that the cycle was not seen or because the car failed to realize that the cycle was traveling so fast, as it is hard to judge the speed of such a small vehicle.

Some poor car drivers get a motorcycle and maintain the same poor driving habits. He can be quickly identified as the cyclist who weaves back and forth in the lane, does his wheelies for the benefit of his friends, speeds in and out of the traffic, and displays inconsiderate driving practices to other motorists.

The average citizen is often irritated by these same inconsiderate riders when they sound off their extra loud bikes. However, all street legal cycles have quiet exhaust systems. It is only the inconsiderate and immature cyclist that takes these off so that he can get his thrills by "blasting off." This immediately sets the public against the cyclist.

Owners of land would not mind if some riding family ventured on his land, except that the hot-rodder has already been there and has run his livestock into the next county.

So, if the cyclist continues to want freedom of the roads, he must respect the rights of others, show courtesy to other drivers, and, above all, drive carefully.

When you get the urge to feel the soft breeze blowing against your face, the satisfaction of conquering another hill, or just the freedom of being where the action is, then mount up, "think dirt," and "keep on truckin'".

number of individuals have made numerous contacts recently with potential new businesses and industries for Colorado City but as yet, nothing has been firmed up on these contacts.

One drawback to enlarging the factory, Freudenreich said, is the fact that there is not a cafe downtown where his employees can have lunch.

This could be overcome by establishing a lunchroom in the factory, he noted.

There is also the possibility of an automobile air conditioner compressor re-builder going into business here which would mean initial employment for five men and could soon grow to hire many more men.

In addition, the trailer house factory could mean additional work and expansion for several local existing industries.

Word has sifted down to the Record from Big Spring that the scrapping within the near future of the Col-Tex refinery is a possibility.

There was a crew of men working in recent weeks at the refinery cleaning out debris and weeds to improve its appearance and possibly making it easier for scrapping operations.

A Big Spring shoe store has signed a lease on a downtown building and is expected to open Feb. 1.

There also is the possibility of the opening of a new shoe repair store in the downtown area.

Also, the construction of a new John Deere House by Key Brothers of Snyder, on Highway 208 is expected to get underway within several weeks and there are reports that a drive-in eating place will be opened within the next few weeks.

Construction is expected to start sometime within the next the downtown area and construction is underway on the Lake Colorado City State Park.

Other construction scheduled is two new wings for Root Hospital, one for patients and one for a laboratory and there is rumors of a hotel-motel chain making plans for a new motel for Colorado City.

Other construction being considered is two apartment-house complexes, one with about 20 units and the other with about 40 units. Plans for the apartments are now very tentative.

Three buildings are being torn down in the downtown area, two of which probably will be replaced by a new building and the other building may be replaced by a park or parking lot.

Efforts are being made by several groups to rent other unoccupied buildings.

Should Colorado City Manufacturing decide to expand into the Civic House, the city hopes to build a new civic center where a number of old buildings now stand.
