Ronny Durham of Hereford, a sophomore student at Eastern New Mexico university, earned a straight "A" record during the fall semester at the university. Faye Knox, Hereford freshman student at ENMU, earned an honor-point average of 2.75 for the same period.

One of our readers came in the other day with a new one. Here it is: An Oklahoma resident tried to buy a Lone Star flag for a lady in Pennsylvania to fly over a camp in Canada named the Lone Star camp. THE READER SAID A LONE STAR FLAG COULDN'T BE FOUND IN THE CITY OF HEREFORD!! And he thinks things have come to a pretty past when that happens.

DUST HAD HARDLY SETTLED on their schoolbooks Friday afternoon before these five young Izaak Waltons yielded to the temptation of the schoolboy's ever-popular vacation pastime—fishing. The Brand camera tried to capture the human interest angle so evident in a scene like this in which youths abandon their schoolbooks for a summer of recreation-around-the-clock. These boys were on their way to their favorite fishing spot along the Tierra Blanca at the time the camera caught them along New York street. Just like their fictional counter parts—Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn—these boys appear not to have a worry in the world—unless it's coming home empty-handed. From left to right, the boys are: Marcus Cyril Jacobson, seven-year-old first grade student at Central school; Donnie McDonald, six, who was the "bait-carrier"; Norman Bookout, 13, a junior high eighth-grader when he returns to school in the fall; Ronald Sherman, 12, an eighth-grader in junior high next fall; and Milton White, 14, also a 1951-52 term eighth-grader. If asked, the boys MIGHT have been able to answer a question bothering a lot of fishermen for ages: Why can a boy catch more fish with a cane pole than an "expert" fisherman can with high-priced gear? Bootleg F-M Work Will Begin Monday

Road-building equipment was being moved into Bootleg Saturday by Bell, Braden, Barker, and Gilven, Amarillo construction firm awarded the $312,332.84 contract for construction of the 37.5-mile farm-to-market road north and west of Bootleg.

Construction work on the road is expected to begin Monday, "weather permitting", according to W. V. York, resident engineer for the Texas Highway department.

The crew going into the Bootleg area now will work on the strength of the new highway (FM1412) that goes north of Bootleg for 14 miles. In about a week, a second crew will begin work at the eastern terminus of the road, 14 miles north of Hereford on Highway 51. The two crews will work together for completion of the project.

The new road will extend 14 miles north of Bootleg and then 23.5 miles east to Highway 51.

Bell, Braden, Barker, and Gilven were awarded the contract for the work on their low bid at Austin on March 21.

Work on the road was held up due to the weather. In the initial contract, 180 working days were allotted for completion of the work.

Included in the contract is the grading, structures, caliche base, and asphalt surface.

Crews Will Raise Tierra Blanca Bridge This Week

A Texas State Highway department bridge construction crew is expected in Hereford early this week to begin repairing the Tierra Blanca highway bridge just west of the city.

The concrete span sunk from three to four inches as the run-off from recent heavy rains gouged large gaping holes from around the bridge's wooden pilings. The bridge abutments were not damaged.

W. V. York, resident engineer for the highway department, said that at the end of the bridge closest to Hereford (the northeast end), the rushing water had torn a 25x75 foot hole to a depth of 13 feet. This undermined the wooden pilings and caused the two spans on the down stream end and one span on the upstream end of the bridge to settle three to four inches.

At the present time, the water-weakened pilings are not deep enough into the river bed to hold the bridge secure for heavy traffic, and a 5000-pound load limit has been placed on it. All heavy traffic has been rerouted through Dimmitt since last Monday.

Additional pilings will have to be driven into the river bed for the concrete span. They will be sunk to an approximate depth of 30 feet, York said.

The bridge crew coming to handle the work will be assisted by local highway department personnel.

Traffic over the road will be re-routed for a short period of time if present plans are carried out, York said.

MANY MERCHANTS WILL CLOSE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

A majority of the retail merchants of Hereford are planning to close their stores for Memorial Day next Wednesday. However, there are many who feel they must stay open in order to accommodate the farmers and others who are very busy this time of year.

Yesterday was official Poppy Day in Hereford with the American Legion in charge of Poppy sales throughout the day.

The retail Merchants voted to officially declare Memorial Day a holiday in Hereford this year, although the majority of stores have not closed on Memorial Day in previous years.

Sales Training Course Offered Local Residents

Clerks and others interested will have an opportunity to participate in a retail training institute beginning Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the county court room, according to an announcement made today by S. N. Henry, distributive education coordinator.

Definite class schedules will be formed at the general meeting Monday. Ford Johnson, retail training specialist on the staff of the University of Texas, will be the instructor. Courses are 10 hours in length and may be scheduled in 10 one-hour class sessions, or in five two-hour classes, subject to the preference of the different groups.

The only charge made for the course will be for supplies. $1.50 will be charged for the 10 hour course. If there is enough interest, a management course may be given, Mr. Henry pointed out.

Heading the list of training courses to be offered is the course in better selling which may be broken up into two or more classes, one for those engaged in selling softlines and another for those selling hardlines, Mr. Henry said.

In addition to these sales

New REA Sub-Station Will Hike Power at Black, Friona

A $15,000 expansion program by the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative designed to improve service in the Friona and Black areas was begun Thursday as work started on a 600-KVA sub-station at the west city limits of Friona.

Leo Forrest, manager of the cooperative here, said this installation would improve service given to patrons in the Friona and Black area, doubling the capacity afforded by the old 300-KVA sub-station which is located at the hub. The new sub-station will be just west of the latter installation, which is being retired and kept in reserve.

The increased capacity at the Friona sub-station will allow three-phase service at the new Black Grain company, Forrest said. Due to the inadequate sub-station serving that area, farmers in the Friona and Black areas have had to operate with reduced electrical service while the elevator was operating.

Work necessary for the change-over to the new sub-station will be completed during the next week, the local REA manager said. Service will not be cut while work is being done, but there will be short interruptions of service while lines are being changed.

The 300-KVA sub-station will be left at the hub, Forrest said, for possible further expansion and increased needs of electrical power in that area.

Cut-Off Date For G. I. Education is July 25

A warning to veterans regarding the July 25, 1951 end of G.I. Bill of Rights educational benefits was sounded this week by Ralph Smith, local veterans counsellor.

Training under the provisions of PL 346 must be INITIATED by July 25, 1951 for all veterans discharged prior to July 25, 1947, Smith warned. This does not mean that the application must be in by the deadline, but that the actual training must be BEGUN by that date.

Veterans discharged after July 25, 1947, must begin their training four years after their discharge.

Under PL 16, which applies to disabled veterans, there is no cut-off date for beginning training, but such training must be completed by the wind-up of the program on July 25, 1956.

Korean veterans have a time limit of nine years after the end of the current emergency.

Any questions local veterans may have regarding G.I. training may contact Smith at his office on the top floor of the Deaf Smith county courthouse from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. every week day but Monday and on Saturday until noon.

Municipal Pool Opening Set for Friday, June 1

Hereford's municipal swimming pool will open for the season on Friday, June 1, Mayor W. E. Dameron told The Brand Saturday.

Kenneth Vaughn, an instructor in the Borger public school system, has been hired for the summer as manager. Vaughn has extensive swimming and life-guard experience, Mayor Dameron said.

Hired as assistant to Vaughn is Gerald McCune of Canyon, a student at West Texas State. Both he and Vaughn are qualified life-guards.

Hours for the pool will be from 1 p.m. until such an hour in the evening as patronage no longer merits staying open. Mr. Dameron said the first couple of weeks will serve as an experiment in closing hours. "We would like to conform the hours of the pool to the use of the people," he commented.

Repairing and re-painting work is being completed at the pool in preparation for the opening.

Swimming lessons will be given again this year Admission to the pool will be 25c and 40c. City officials hope to break even on the operation of the pool this year, something which could not be done last season due to unfavorable weather.

Highest Honors Go To Patsy Wiltshire

Patsy Wiltshire, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Wiltshire, received the two highest honors of the 1951 graduating class of Hereford High school at commencement exercises Friday night when 83 students were graduated.

In addition to the valedictory award, she was acclaimed the best "all around" student, having been selected by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, honor, loyalty, and other outstanding characteristics.

Other students especially honored were Nan Buckner, salutatorian; Neal Lomenick, highest ranking boy; and Keith Savage, who received the Lions club scholarship.

In addressing the class, Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of West Texas State college, said, "You cannot attain knowledge and build character by investing in fool's gold. A tree bears fruit after its kind . . . That's just as true today as when it was stated in the Bible.

"We buy a lot of fool's gold," he declared, referring to the many unwise actions of people. "You cannot afford to be satis-

OUTSTANDING CONSERVATIONIST

Boardman Work Result of Rehabilitation Efforts

Herbert Boardman, recently selected as the best GI and conservation farmer in the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District, certainly knows his way around a farm. If one thing won't work, he tries another. There's never a dull moment, and few idle ones, around the Boardman place. While proud of his accomplishments, Herbert modestly gives most of the credit for his success to his wife, Irene. They will attend the regional conservation awards meeting and banquet at Hale Center, Texas on Tuesday night, May 29th, as guests of the district board fo supervisors.

Following is a letter from Perry McMinn, past post commander of the Hereford Post—Veterans' of Foreign Wars to the chairman of the VFW soil conservation contest, nominating Boardman as the district's outstanding farmer:

"In accordance with your request, there appears below our nomination for the outstanding GI farmer in the soil conservation contest. Our nomination goes to Herbert D. Boardman, age 33, Hereford, Texas.

This man entered the service at Chicago in June, 1943, and was assigned to Indoctrination School at William and Mary College Chaplin School, thence to Sampson Naval Station as Chaplin, then to Pearl Harbor as Chaplin of the 18th Special Sea Bee Battalion as a protestant Chaplin. He was discharged in July 1944, following which time he spent six months in veterans hospitals, both he and his wife being advised that due to nervous fatigue that there was very little liklihood for him to recover sufficiently to be able to work again. Very much in need of rehabilitation, he secured temporary employment in defense work until V. J. Day, following which he and his wife returned to Hereford and began farming in partnership with his father.

The farm consists of 190 acres of irrigated crop land, and 10 acres native pasture, one and a half miles southeast of Hereford, Texas. It was operated as a general farm, growing wheat, grain sorghums and potatoes. The place was considered as being one of the worst abused farms in Deaf Smith County. It was practically solid Johnson grass and very much run down.

In 1947, Herbert worked out a conservation plan on the place with the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion District. During 1947 and the early part of 1948, practically no progress was made on his conservation plan due to resistance on the part of his father in the acceptance of new ideas. In 1948 his father retired from active participation in farm operations due to his age and health. Herbert took over and began to move. In two years following that time ,the following accomplishments are reported:

There has been legume soil improving crops planted on 125 acres. Crop residue management on 157 acres, improved methods of irrigation water application on 188 acres. In addition, an improved irrigated pasture consisting of a mixture of crested wheat grass, smooth brome, perennial rye and alfalfa was established on 17 acres. Barnyard manure produced on the farm is returned to the land. Increase in yields due to the soil improving work along with other good farming management practices increased the yields on grain sorghums from 40 to 80 bushels per acre and wheat from 15 to 30.

To balance out his farming operations, Mr. Boardman established a Grade A dairy consisting of 30 Holstein and jersey cows. Emphasis was placed on fall and winter milk production in order to take advantage of the best prices for milk at that time of year. The major part of the feed used for the dairy herd is produced on the farm in the form of grain sorghums which are ground and mixed with grain and concentrates. He annually puts up enough ensilage to take care of the dairy herd. Grazing is furnished by the irrigated pasture, by wheat in the winter, and by supplemental crops of sudan in the summer.

Some production figures on his dairy herd follow:

In November of 1950, his herd stood second in the local dairy herd improvement association with an average production of 780 lbs. of milk and 32 lbs. of butter fat per cow. In December, 1950, his herd stood 1st. with an average production of 890 lbs. of milk and 37 lbs. of butter fat. The Dairy Improvement association, of which he is a member, is composed of approximately 20 dairies and 400 cows.

During the month of November, 1950, five of his cows were in the top 10 of the association in both milk and butter fat production. During the month of December, 1950, he had six of the top ten cows in the association, with the highest producing 1950 lbs. of milk and 66 lbs. of butter fat for the month.

Revenue from the farm permitted Mr. Boardman to construct a grade "A" dairy barn, purchase needed equipment, provide a living income for him and his family, with one-third of the proceeds going to his father who still owns the farm. He has been able to pay some back debts such as doctor bills, and has sufficient cash on hand for future operations on his own.

His family consists of a wife and two children, age five and two. Needed improvements in the farm home and out-buildings are in their plans for the future. The man is completely rehabilitated and has regained his health. During 1949, he did all the work on the farm himself. In 1950, he had the help of a part-time employee.

We appreciate the opportunity to submit this man's record in the soil conservation contest for 1950."

Mr. Boardman plans to plow up his irrigated grass this summer and put the land to wheat. He will then take about 30 acres of land north of the house, prepare an dseed it to grasses and cross fence it into about four fields for better utilization. He will continue planting Hairy Vetch as a winter cover crop to turn under for soil building.

Week end guests in the homes of Lloyd and Lowell Sharp were their mother, Mrs. T. H. Sharp and her granddaughter, Rita Sharp, of Clovis, and their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Dunagan of Pegosa Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Hoppe and children of Borger spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Adams.

fied with anything except the very best preparation you can make." In his address, Dr. Hill also stressed the necessity of believing "in yourselves, your powers and vast possibilities."

Howard Gault, a member of the school board, awarded diplomas, in the absence of the board president, A. J. Schroeter.

Even standing room in the auditorium and balcony was filled and many relatives and friends of the graduates stood in the halls during the exercises.

Mr. and Mrs. George Millard and Mrs. R. E. Cottingham attended baccalaureate and commencement exercises Sunday & Monday nights at Texas Tech where Robert Neill Millard was one of the graduates.

G. I. Insurance Dividend Checks On Their Way

Those G.I. insurance dividend checks will be coming your way soon!

The first check was mailed April 22 on insurance policies bearing a January issue date. Checks will be about four months late, according to Ralph Smith, local Veterans Administration representative. So you can figure the approximate time your check will get here by noticing the month in which your insurance was originally issued.

Dividends will be paid on insurance between 1948 and the present time. The first dividend paid by the government covered all policies affected until 1948.

These benefits will be paid automatically, Smith said, so it will be unnecessary for the veteran to make application.

In cases where a veteran has died since 1948, the dividend will be paid his beneficiary.

Smith also reported on the extension of POW and civilian internee claims until March 31, 1952. The government will reimburse POW's or internees $1 for each day they spent in enemy prison or internment camps.

"Tale of the Foolish Farmer" Is Story of George Sessions Perry

George Sessions Perry, a Texan, writes of his own life on a Texas farm in his new book, "Tale of the Foolish Farmer". He will be remembered for "Hold Autumn in Your Hand" which compares with Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" (this is a Texas sharecropper story) and his well written "Cities of America".

Full of incidents, a number of people involved with a farm, unusual information, with chuckles included it gives insight to life on a south Texas farm.

Such bits of philosophy as "All cotton's good for, is to work colored folks to death and make white folks go broke" Perry said to his farm help, the Arnwines.

Understandingly and with love for the same family he writes of their ways and their outlook on life, their clever little words and phrases and their very own vocabulary. The reader gets a better understanding of how folks who have negroes about them, feel toward them as friends and helpers, and how they work out schemes to an advantage for them both.

The animals, especially the cattle, are the highlights of the farm and the author is constantly buying, selling and trading them, forever trying to make them pay out the expenses of the place.

"We started in with a wilderness and made it into a garden. Though the land has drunk our sweat and our treasure, it has become a garden whose blooms are little rose-and-white calves", he writes.

Other pets included horses, dogs, chickens, and even the hogs with everything getting a name. The Arnwines named everything upon arrival by some outstanding characteristic and the only ones Perry ever had the fun of giving a name, were the ones he named in advance.

The original farm was called "Hold Autumn" and was made up of 200 acres and a little over, he says. The deed calls for 205 acres, the abstract 211½ and he paid for 207 and the conservation air map describes it as 218.

Two rivers on the place differ and both contribute to the farm in their own way. One is an inviting stream for fun and fishing and the other ugly and acts up, with only the rich silt that it brings to the farm as its good point.

Through the good years, and the first one was—and even showed a profit, the bad years —when everything went wrong especially loss from Mexican clover, the droughts and the losses that may befall the farm, the Perrys and Arnwines carry on.

Rush, head of the Arnwines advanced a saying which is true, says the author and his neighbors, "If you'll stick to the black land when it's dry, it'll stick to you when its wet!"

Perry refered to the Joads when it was dry and everyone wondered if they could stay on but unlike the Joads, they did stay and pulled through.

The farm increased in value but when he and his wife, Claire, try to show a profit and never enough in income taxes, he writes even Uncle Sam is puzzled.

"I could only deduce that I must surely be the most foolish of farmers and one whose amateur standing will forever remain intact."

This new book by Perry with a number of his other books is available from your county library, according to the librarian, Mrs. J. J. Boydston.

TOASTMASTERS SPEAK

My Home Town: A Few Remarks On The Town Without a Toothache

ED. NOTE: This is another in a series of speeches by members of the Hereford Toastmasters club. This was given in the club's contest finals March 20, 1951, by Elmer Patterson.)

My home town is known as "The Town Without a Toothache." This nomer came about several years ago due to the findings of Dr. G. W. Heard, local dentist of my home town, Hereford, Texas. Through years of close observations, he discovered that natives of Hereford had far less tooth decay than people of many other areas. Dr. Heard discussed these observations with Dr. Ed. H. Taylor of the Texas Health Department at Austin. As a result, the State Health Department conducted some surveys, and their findings were unbelievable. Almost overnight, Hereford received national publicity about its low rate of tooth decay, it being less than half of that of the next lowest known area in the world.

One day a tourist, one of those cute little tricks, came into one of the local cafes, and approaching one of the old timers of Hereford, said, "I have read a lot about the people of Hereford having good teeth. Would you mind letting me see yours?"

"Sure, here take a good look," and he obligingly took both plates out of his mouth and offered them to the tourist.

Our town is comparatively a good town. We do have a few folk that get drunk these days and get out on the highways to do some speeding in these fast new cars. Usually, one of our efficient officers will pick him up, and then he is put where he can sober up. Hereford does not have a saloon. Wonder where they get the stuff?

A long time ago there was a saloon here, so I have been told, and back in those days there were those that liked to celebrate too. One day an old cowboy sauntered into the saloon, walked up to the bar, and asked for a glass of half and half—half whiskey and half milk. As he was drinking it, the new tenderfoot preacher, who had just arrived in town from a long hot, dusty ride, came into the saloon, and seeing the old cowboy drinking what he thought was a glass of milk, said to the bartender, "Give me a glass," as he nodded toward the other customer.

He took a sip, blinked his eyes, took another sip, then gulped the entire contents down, wiped his lips, and exclaimed, "Brother, what a cow"!

My home town has quite a number of other things of which it can justly be proud. It is a community of churches, Where some folk make a pretense of religion, and where some don't. It has a lot of civic clubs, many of which are rendering a real service to the community We have a fine school system where some of the kids get "book larnin", and where some don't. Some figure it doesn't matter anyway, Uncle Sam will soon have them.

Our school has had some mighty fine athletes that have made some fine records for dear old Hereford high. One Hereford boy, Babe Russell, was so fast in track that he went to the state meet at Austin and won first in the record breaking time of 9.8 seconds. Babe's coach was talking to Mrs. Russell one day, and asked her if she had ever seen Babe run .She said that she had not, so the coach invited her out the next afternoon to see her son run. When she arrived, the coach had her stand right down next to the track. In a few seconds Babe came by so fast that Mrs. Russell failed to see him. After the race, the coach asked her if she saw Babe. Mrs. Russell said, "No, but I know he must have run, because all that is left of the track is just a lot of cinders."

My town, The Town Without a Toothache, has two dentists that are so busy that you have to have an appointment from one two months ahead of time in order to get your teeth cleaned. The folks that have a toothache are the foreigners who come to Hereford expecting to grow a perfect set of teeth by drinking Hereford water. The Hereford Clinic is another busy place. They always have a good assembly line in the waiting room. One day Dr. Wills examined a man. He then went into the consultation room with the man's wife and confided to her: "I don't like the way your husband looks."

The wife replied, "Listen you, if you want to get personal about it, you don't look so handsome yourself."

Our county judge is very congenial, and is always ready to lend a helping hand, especially to the distressed. One of our good citizens had the misfortune to lose her husband, who died intestate I think that means without leaving a will

A short time later, she wrote the following letter to the judge of the probate court, desiring to be appointed executor.

"Deer Jedge of the reprobate court: My husband died a few days ago detested, leaving me four little infidels, and I want to be appointed their executioner."

There are so many interesting things to tell about my home town, but I must tell you this one little incident. We have about 300 ardent duck hunters that would a-hunting go each fall. One day, Mont Baker went duck hunting and when he came back, Homer Henslee asked if he brought back anything. Mont said: "Sure did. Four ducks, a goose, and a potfor." Homer said: "A potfor? I never heard of that. What's a potfor."

Mont Replied: "That's to cook the goose in."

I'm proud of MY HOME TOWN. Aren't you?

War--Fight for Free People? Or To Benefit War Mongers?

By Mavis Henslee

The definition which the dictionary gives to war is: "War is the use of organized forces between two human groups pursuing contradictory policies; each group seeking to impose its policy upon the other." What does war mean to you? To me, war is the cruel slaughter of innocent people, heartache and torn homes. War tortures everyone who has any heart at all. I do not see how anyone could see fit to make a profit off the blood of the young men of our country. When the young boys return from fighting they are usually despondent and without hope for the future, because they were called to the service of their country before they had time to prepare in any way for their own future if they should happen to survive.

The normal American citizen should be afraid of these people who constantly scream: "Hate them because they have wronged you—hate them because their ancestors and yours had a battle once." These are people who glory in war. War breeds in the greed of man's mind, and unless this can be stemmed, it often spreads like a disease to the thoughts of others. Soon it becomes a sickness in the minds of those that believe such. A person who wants to become the supreme head df all is surely in a poor mental state. In America we put people who act like children and those we know to be in poor mental health, in institutions where they cannot harm anyone. But yet these that, like Hitler, think that they can rule the world are turned upon the people of the world like a mad dog.

Destruction

The destruction that is wrought by war is not only physical, but mental as well. The land that is fought upon is ruined for many years as far as the commercial value is concerned. People who are inocent bystanders are the ones who receive the full brunt of the blow that is dealt to their country. Young children lose their limbs and are blinded by the shells and bombs.

Some people are glad to see a war come about because it means more money in their pockets. One major advantage of war is the fact that the people who have been asleep more or less to what is going on in the war are awakened to reality. The biggest disadvantage of war is that homes are broken up; the morals of the country lag and after the war is over, there are so many boys who have not finished their education and do not care to continue in their scholastic studies that will have no definite future.

In the book, "To Hell and Back" by Audie Murphy, he gives the soldier's reaction to the war. The first 30 days that he is over there he is concerned with his life and talks in term of "when I get home," but as the days lengthen he does not care what happens to him. He loses all hope of ever getting out of the place where he is and says, "if I get mine tomorrow". Our soldiers do not wnat to go to war anymore than their mothers and dads want to send them.

How many of you read LIFE? Did you see the articles in the September 18 and September 4 issues? How would you liked to have seen your buddies stood up with their hands tied behind their backs and shot down like we would shoot down a sick animal? How would you like to lie among their dead bodies afraid that if you breathed an enemy bullet would take your life too? Or how would you like to be a platoon leader and run out of ammunition with the enemy closing in on all sides of you? How would you feel? How would you feel to see your buddies lying out in the open under enemy fire, hurt badly and not be able to help them? I think that if the American citizen could be on a battlefield for just one day, he would do everything in his power to prevent war. Another thing that war is good for, it teaches unselfishness among the men of our country.

Self Destruction

Ever since the beginnoing of time, there has been war of some kind. Eventually man will destroy himself with his own efforts to make a more perfect world.

Strategy plays a major part in wartime activitiy. It is derived from a Greek word meaning "the leading of an Army." It is a connecting link between politics and tactics.

War is caused by many things. It is a last resort for the settlement of disputes. The weaker will, sooner or later, yield to the stronger. One major cause of war is one nation's complete disregard for the laws of other nations.

When there is a slight hint of war, most people are thrown into a panic. They buy all articles which they think will become unavailable. This is one of the worst things a person can do, because although it is unintentional, this is aiding the war monger.

War is a term that is taken to mean that there is to be a conflict betwen men.

Instead of sending millions of young men to be slaughtered like cows or animals, why couldn't they just send a few to fight. I mean, say, for each country to send five each and let them fight.

Would U.S. Be Calm?

I wonder just what the United States would do if ever a war was to be fought on our own soil. Would the people be as calm as the people of the foreign countries? Would they organize as a force to help fight here on the home front? I would not be afraid to wager that they would, they would do their part heroically and bravely—man, woman, and child.

It seems to me that the American people are the source of strength for the nations of the world. Right at the present time, the U.S. troops are the mainstay for the United Nations troops in Korea.

So many new methods for fighting in actual warfare have been developed that a person never looks in the papers for something that has been invented to better mankind, but rather for something to destroy it.

The atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, guided missiles, and all the other things that have been invented since the end of the last war, are not very conducive to peace. If you were a Frenchman and were reading in your paper about how the United States had developed a new bomb much more powerful than the Atom bomb, what would you feel like? Wouldn't you feel like that he was preparing for a war?

In the Bible it says that there shall be wars among man couldn't this be one time that the Bible was wrong? I know that this is almost impossible, but stop so much of this all out killing of innocent people.

Magnolia Dumps Hardware Team; Twin Bill Monday

Hereford Hardware took its first bumps of the young softball season as it dropped a ragged contest to the Magnolia Petroleum nine Thursday night by a 9-2 count at the American Legion diamond.

The game was a close contest tied at two-all until the sixth inning when things fell apart for the hardware team. A series of errors aided by some good Magnolia hitting set off the first break in the ball game in the sixth frame.

Magnolia added to their total in the top of the seventh by more Hereford Hardware miscues.

League play will be getting into full swing with the six teams next week.

On Monday night, C & R Cleaners will play Summerfield in the twilight opener beginning at 7:30. This contest will be followed by the Hereford Hardware—Dawn tilt.

Communism Is Topic Rotary Club Discussion

"Anything trying to destroy the order of government is of a criminal nature and should be stamped out", Hershel Coffee, head of the government department of West Texas State, remarked Friday when he addressed the weekly luncheon of the Hereford Rotary club.

Presenting an unusual approach to the subject of communism, Coffee traced its development, starting with the Karl Marx theory of socialism from which it developed. Principal difference in the two theories, he pointed out, is that socialism believes in gradually changing the order by legislation ;whereas communism believes in revolution to accomplish its objective. He pointed to Moscow as headquarters of communism throughout the world with parties in various countries under the jurisdiction of the Kremlin.

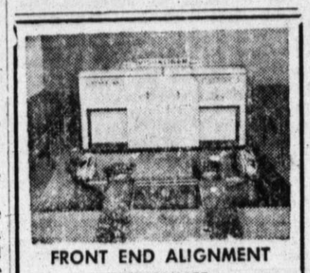

There are those who believe it is against democratic principles, to outlaw communisum, Coffee said, adding that communism should be put out because of its criminal nature which makes it undemocratic.

Friday's meeting being the final session of the month. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McCracken and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Childers were honored because their anniversaries fall in the month of May.

The Childers were not present.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Webb returned Monday from South Dakota where they spent 10 days visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Childers are attending the convention of Rotary International in Atlantic City. Childers, incoming president, officially represents the local Rotary club at the three day convention.

Lakes Over Roads Are Still Big Problem in Northwest Hereford

By Mrs. R. C. Childers

Residents living north of the four-mile road are going north to the T. B. Cox road and getting out that way. The lakes are still over the roads, and it probably will be months before travel can be resumed on many roads.

A. Petersen, Route 4 mail carrier, can only make a portion of his regular route. The mail boxes of R. N. Cooke, Fred Wolfington and M. Finley are standing in about three feet of water.

Mrs. A. C. Hershey, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hershey to Abilene Saturday morning to visit her mother. The group returned Monday afternoon.

Patsy Childers was a guest in the Guy Walser home in Summerfield Friday night and Saturday morning.

Visitors in the R. C. Childers home Thursday were B. F. Block and young daughter, Marsha Lynn.

Raymon and Patsy Childers assisted Billy Robinson in his piano recital Sunday afternoon by playing a two-piano duet. The recital was held in the Baptist Educational building. Mrs. Ellis Coombes, sponsor of the program, presented Billy Robinson with a gift, as this is Billy's last year here, and Raymon Jr. was presented with a music emblem for a Superior rating in the Federated Music Festival held here several months ago.

School will soon be out, boys and girls of this vicinity are looking forward to a long summer vacation. Colleen Cooke and Patsy Townsend were selected as delegates to go to the district camp. Patsy is a member of the Westway 4-H and Colleen is a member of the Workers 4-H club. These girls won their trips by having the best record books.

Workers Meet

The Workers 4-H club met in the home of Mrs. R. C. Childers Tuesday afternoon. One sponsor, Mrs. R. N. Cooke, one visitor, Mrs. Paul Corbett, and the assistant agent, Doris Mahaffey were present. Miss Mahaffey gave a step by step demonstration on the making of cheese fondue. She said that this could be used as a main dish, and urged everyone to use lots of eggs while they were cheap and plentiful. Miss Mahaffey also stated that eggs were one of the healthiest foods obtainable and that few people ate their quota of eggs daily.

Girls attending this meeting were Colleen Cooke, Bonnie Lewis, Sue Cooke, Paula Beth Corbett, Patsy Caywood, Jan Cooke, Patsy Childers and the hostess, Mrs. Childers.

Mrs. R. N. Cooke will work in Bible school at the First Baptist Church starting Monday.

Cultural Meeting

The meeting of the Cultural Home Demonstration club was held in the home of Mrs. J. T. Richardson Thursday afternoon. Roll call was answered by 11 members and Mrs. Argen Draper. One new member, Mrs. Stan Nelson was welcomed into the club, making a total of three new members for the month of May. The other two are Mrs. Edgar Telechick and Mrs. J. T. Combs.

Mrs. Draper gave a step by step demonstration of setting in sleeves for a thick shouldered person and a thin shouldered person. She also showed how to properly attach collars and cuffs. The next demonstration will be putting in zippers and the clothing demonstrators of each club will give that demonstration.

After a short business session, refreshments were served to Mesdames Earl Dehart, Louie Olsen, Grady Parson, R. C. Childers, Paul Corbett, C. S. Barclay, Leona Packard, Arnold Hershey, R. N. Cooke, Stan Nelson, Mrs. Draper and the hostess, Mrs. Richardson.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Leona Packard who lives on the Wert Phillips place.

Home Nursing

Mrs. Earl Dehart is wanting a list of the people who are interested in taking the home nursing course in this community. Anyone wanting to take this course should see Mrs. Dehart not later than Monday. Girls 13 years old or older are urged to take these courses. The plans are to use the home nursing center that will be set up in town, if it can be secured at a time that will be suitable to the members of this community. These courses will probably start in about a month and will continue for three weeks, two lessons a week. Each lession is two hours long. These lessons will certainly be well worth the time pent. Mrs. Dehart is civil defense chairman for this community. She is also asking for a list of peoples names who are interested in a first aid course which will be taught in the fall. Everyone interested in these courses should see Mrs. Dehart by Monday afternoon at the latest.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stietts of San Jon, were visitors in the home of Mr .and Mrs. Paul Corbett Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Packard and Mr. and Mrs. Foy Cook and sons of Spring Lake visited their mother and brother, Mrs. Leona Packard and Leroy last Sunday.

An epidemic of measles has invaded this community this month with four families having from one to two cases each. Mrs. Pat Robinson has had three cases in her home, Dianne, Vance, and Marcia Lynn James Corbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corbett, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Combs, and Jimmy Childers son of Mrs. Ella Mae Childers have all had measles.

Mrs. Leona Packard and Leroy joined a fishing party at Buffalo Lake Friday night. The group were from Spring Lake A real fish fry was enjoyed by all.

A meeting of the year book committee will be held at the home of Mrs. Grady Parsons Monday afternoon at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Childers and Mrs. F. G. Witherspoon were callers in the Johnnie Carathers home Tuesday night, five miles south of Dawn.

Patsy Childers is spending several days with her sister, Mrs. C. S. Barclay.

Mr. Barclay and Tom Barclay went fishing at Buffalo Lake Thursday.

Earl Johnson of Pampa was a visitor in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Childers on Wednesday night and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfington, with the help of the men from the Avenue Baptist church, are tearing down their old house to use the lumber in the new house they are building. The Wolfingtons started their house several months ago, but were slowed down due to field operations. But with help from friends and neighbors, it its hoped that they can complete their home before too long. There is still a foot and one half of water in the old house but even that isn't stopping their work. The Wolfingtons are living at the Bob Cookes place for the time being.

JACOBSEN BROTHERS

By JIMMIE GILLENTINE

It must be the warm weather of the past two days. Anyway, people are talking about vacations. Everywhere you go this gets to be part of the conversation. Many, many people are not too optimistic, however, and at least half of them are planning on waiting until late in the summer or next fall. Others frankly state that they can hardly afford to stay at home, much less go anywhere. The cost of living, despite Mr. DiSalle and his O.P.S., is up to the point that it is hurting. Furthermore, there seems little relief. This new-fangled OPS business is nothing but the old "cost plus" which put the country in such bad shape during the war. Retail merchants are on a percentage profit set-up. The more they pay, the more they can charge, because it gives them a greater dollar mark-up on the percentage basis.

Current price controls are the administration's worst bungle to date—and that's saying a lot. The MacArthur business took the heat off the price control program—but it will come back. Right now there is a surplus in many lines which is holding prices down. When, and if, commodities become scarce there will be a riot.

Hats off to the Commissioners Court. The public toilets in the courthouse are reasonably decent—for the first time in a long, long while. It looks like the walls have been washed down and you can pass along the corridors without holding your nose. This is a real, worthwhile improvement. Furthermore, the lawn around the courthouse is beautiful. A scant year ago it was a disgrace. It is really wonderful to see the county building and grounds keep pace with individual improvements. We do have a reasonable bunch of boys in the county offices now. They don't go overboard on things, but they try to maintain and protect the property of the tax payers. Furthermore, you can sitdown and talk with them and even if they don't agree, they don't get mad at anyone.

Speaking of lawns, have you noticed the millions and millions of tiny elm trees which are popping out? A lot of them, of course, would naturally die but unless disturbed quite a few would grow into trees. Just occasionally do the elm seed sprout and grow in such magnitude. The weather and rain has to be just right. Anyway, now is a good time to hoe them out but they would not become serious for another 12 months.

J. A. Buckner is one of the few old timers who literally hates Chinese elms. Mr. "Buck" built a lot of houses and business buildings around here and he is a stickler for details. He planted walnut and oaks around his place at Fourth and Roosevelt. The trees are now large and durable. Mr. Buck was one of the few people who suffered no tree damage during the ice storm a few years back and he is not worried to death by the extensive root system which is killing 50 percent of the lawns in Hereford today. It takes years to grow one of these hardwood variety trees, but it is probably worth it in the long run. At least that is Mr. Buck's contention and it is an idea worthy of consideration by the scores of new home owners in the community.

It seems about the only method of beating the Chinese elm root system is to install one of those sprinkler systems, which are too expensive for the average home owner. The M. L. Steele place on Third street installed one of these fancy systems around eight years ago—and has boasted a beautiful lawn since, despite the elms. Hugh Clearman and Mrs. Draper may not agree, but I have been personally worrying with the lawn problem and I believe those elm roots literally drink up all of the water you can apply with a hose. Joe Beyer spends a lot of time and "know how" with a garden hose—and he has to re-seed every few years.

Here's a joke the farmers should appreciate. George Heard was telling it the other day and I understand it was originally started at the banker's convention:

An old wheat farmer about like the Bootleg Philosopher watched the green bugs eat his crop and finally, in desperation, went down to the bank to see if he could float a loan. He waited all afternoon and the banker didn't get around to him, so he had to come back next morning. After sitting on the mourner's bench all morning he finally got in to see the banker, who reviewed his case and came out with a flat, "No."

Shaking his head, the farmer started to leave when all of a sudden his small dog leaped across the railing and bit the banker on the seat of his pants. The farmer pryed the dog loose and started down the block and the dog ran up to a stranger and once again sunk his teeth in the seat of a pair of pants.

The police got the dog—and the whole thing wound up in court. The farmer told his tale of woe to the court and the judge leaned down from the bench and asked: "Why did your dog bite the banker?"

"I guess it was just because he likes me so much," replied the farmer.

"In that case," reasoned the judge, why would he turn around an dbite an innocent stranger?"

"I can't figure that, Judge," said the farmer, "unless he just wanted to get the bad taste out of his mouth."

B. N. Nelson, the editor at Dimmitt, is still screaming about the sorry type of whiskers displayed by the men around Hereford. Here's his latest: "It is possible that the water which is good for teeth is harmful to whiskers. Maybe a mixture of Dimmitt and Hereford water would produce a prolific growth of both the outside and inside of the face."

It just shows how shortsighted some people can be. Mr. Nelson is an optimist. He is figuring on best results from both waters. What if he got Hereford's scant whiskers and Dimmitt's poor teeth? If he keeps on reasoning like this he will be running for Congress next thing you know.

Which recalls the probability that Allan Shivers and Martin Dies are probably going to run against Tom Connally next round for U. S. Senate. This will be a horse race. Furthermore, it will be one of the few times when the people can't say, "Well, I don't know much about any of the candidates." I know a lot of old timers will disagree, but I think the time has come to replace Senator Connally. He's been a big man. He's lived a ripe, rich life. Texas has honored him many times. Too many, maybe. Things have changed, though, and conditions call for new blood in the White House. Even if he is re-elected, I think we should at least demand that he gets another type haircut. The old Indian Chief style is out of date. Besides ,it's time a lot of things in Washington were changed.

MRS. DUDLEY GREEN

Who Said Custard Pie is Old Stuff? Certainly Not!

Who said custard pie is old stuff? — There are dozens of recipes for this classic. The French cooks add raisins, others coconut and some sprinkle a little rum or brandy over the top before baking.

Mrs. Dudley Green tried one recipe after another before she found one that wouldn't turn out watery. Finally her mother-in-law gave her an old one and she has found that it never fails. It happens to be one of Mr. Green's favorites. Here it is:

Old-Fashioned Custard Pie

4 whole eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup sugar
3 cups milk (scalded)
½ teaspoon vanilla
dash of nutmeg

Beat eggs until foamy, then add salt and sugar and beat well. Add milk and vanilla gradually, a small amount at a time. Brush bottom of unbaked pastry sheel with butter and gently pour in the custard mixture. Sprinkle with nutmeg

(Note) To prevent the pastry shell from ending up on top of the pie instead of at the bottom where it belongs, drop the pastry-lined pan on the table once or twice before trimming, then prick with fork to eliminate air bubbles. Brushing the pastry with a little melted butter keeps it from being soggy. Bake in very hot oven (450-F degree) for ten minutes; reduce the temperature to slow (325-F degrees) and bake thirty to forty minutes longer or until an inserted knife comes out clean.

Ward Hall...

of her greatest interests and among the many material contributions made to the local work of the church is Ward Hall which she gave to the church in memory of the late Mr. Ward as a memorial dedicated to the young people, with whom they loved to work. Having no children of their own they sought out the unfortunate, the orphans to assist and to educate.

Currently, Mrs. Ward is at work sponsoring her own individual "Thousand Dollar Club" at the Methodist Home in Waco. Visiting on the campus recently, she presented a $1,000.00 gift, which she says is the first thousand toward a "Ward Hall" that she hopes eventually to contribute. Mr. Ward was very much interested in the Methodist Home during his lifetime, and Mrs. Ward's hope is to erect the building as a memorial to him.

For years Mrs. Ward and her Sunday School Class, The Win One Class, have sponsored a girl at The Home, providing clothes, gifts and other items designed to make her happy. While she was visiting The Home, she visited Bettie Roath, with whom she is pictured. Bettie will graduate this month and plans to enter a Dallas hospital for nurses training in June. Bettie is shown wearing the pretty red dress which the class sent for Christmas, along with lingerie, coat, hat and shoes. For graduation the class sent her a gold watch.

In Dumas

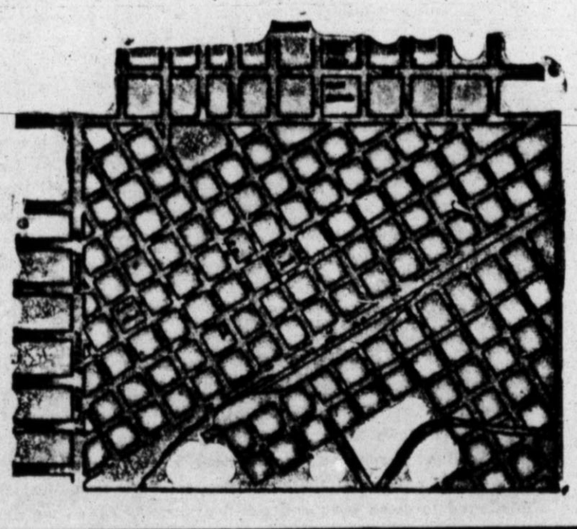

Mrs. A. L. Manjeot was in Dumas Monday where she attended a luncheon in the home of Mrs. F. G. Collings and attended a meeting held by the Dumas Garden Club. She gave a lecture and demonstration on corsages for the Dumas club. She was accompanied from Amarillo by Mrs. Liston Wilson, District 1, councilor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Boydston visited in Clovis Wednesday with Mrs. Boydston's mother, Mrs. Alice Casebolt.

NO TRAFFIC will traverse the road shown in the above picture for several days—it's right in the middle of a lake, thanks to the 6-to-10 inch rains Deaf Smith county received. Robert Thompson, county clerk, stands on the left shoulder of the road and Alex Thompson stands on the right shoulder. The lake at this point was a quarter mile wide. The scene was 12 miles north of Hereford, west of Highway 51.—Brand Staff Photo.

Pioneer Days Success is Tribute to Hereford

The 1951 Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration, which now takes its place in history alongside other community-wide efforts of Hereford's citizens, was an unqualified success.

Credit for the measure of success enjoyed by the venture goes to all residents of Hreford who played the role of host to former residents so graciously.

There were several individuals and organizations who carried a great share of the responsibility in the successful completion of the event. To attempt to single out any one person or group would be a futile undertaking. Only the combined efforts of a determined and friendly community could achieve the degree of perfection evident here last Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in the events scheduled for the homecomers.

Wherever they may now live, former residents of this friendly plains town will cherish for years to come memories of the pleasant days they had renewing old acquaintances and reliving—if for only a few short hours—events of those bygone days.

Hereford showed once again that she is THE small town in Texas with a heart as big as the vast plains she surveys.--W. W. K.

Let's Have Indoctrination Program in Flag Etiquette

A complaint decrying lack of proper respect for the American flag was forwarded to this writer following the Pioneer Day parade on May 18. We feel the matter is important enough to discuss with our readers and seek a solution.

The person who lodged the complaint marched at the head of the parade Friday with the color guard and noted the lack of proper flag etiquette displayed when Old Glory passed by.

The Stars and Stripes deserve every bit of respect a grateful free people can give it. But should the blame be placed on people who some think may have "disrespect" for the flag?

Not entirely.

There is a great deal of difference between wanton disrespect and an unintentional mistake. We know of no one we would want to charge with deliberate disrespect for the American flag.

What then, is the cause? Perhaps the people have not been given the proper indoctrination in flag etiquette.

Veterans of both wars have demonstrated their love for their flag. Families of the veterans have shown, also, that they know how much respect is due the American flag.

Their error cannot be an intentional one.

The matter of flag etiquette presents a golden opportunity for the veterans organizations in the city. Instead of getting hot under the collar and threatening to "tramp someone's hat if they don't remove it," why not take a constructive attitude and organize a program of flag etiquette indoctrination? Other towns do it—why can't Hereford's veterans groups?

They, above all, should be the leaders in a program to instill in all Americans the proper respect for the American flag.

Other communities have pamphlets distributed by veterans organizations (the national VFW prepares them) giving instructions for flag display, flying, etiquette, etc. for all occasions. Why can't Hereford's veterans organizations give our patriotic people something like that?

Is there any club—social or service—that would not welcome a program dealing with proper respect for the American flag at all times? The writer would wager all of them would be only too happy to devote time to a program showing them how the American flag should be honored.

Would the veterans organizations be allowed the time to present such a program at Hereford's public schools? The administrators would undoubtedly welcome such a suggestion from a veterans organization.

Why, then, blame the people—who never had the opportunity, perhaps, to learn all there is to know about flag etiquette—when an oversight results as the American flag goes by.

The veterans organizations should be most concerned about respect for our Stars and Stripes. So much so, in fact, that they would make a determined effort to instruct all who will listen in the proper respect of the flag for which they fought.

It would help, too, for a veterans group to distribute among merchants of the city, information on when and how to display the American flag out-of-doors. Too often flag-flying is done on a follow-the-leader basis because of ignorance of the flag-flying days.

Especially in these troubled times, Americans should be proud to be Americans. A little effort and work to give the people of Hereford a patriotic indoctrination program would do away with the cause for a complaint.

We pass the above on as suggestions to those who want to see proper respect given Old Glory. We hope they are received and expedited in the same spirit of patriotism in which they are set out in this editorial.—W. W. K.

What has become of the ancient and respected doctrine that people should earn what they enjoy?

Leaders Can Learn From Nature

We read once where a European suggested that President Truman and Stalin sit down and "peel potatoes in the interests of world peace."

The reasoning behind this suggestion was that if the leaders of the world's two mightiest countries discussed their differences in quietude over a pan of spuds, they might take a different view of things.

That sounds all right, but let this corner make a suggestion that can't fail:

Let President Truman and Stalin join each other on the shady bank of a quiet stream and fish—just fish. Let them listen to the gentle coaxings of nature and forget the rumble of power politics and "cold wars."

Let them take a lesson in living from the greatest of all teachers—the out-of-doors. Let them watch how all the beings of nature yield and cooperate and live under the same sky.

Let them take a lesson in living from nature.—W. W. K.

THEY CAME, TALKED AND HAD A GOOD TIME

'Tater Peelin's

By Roberta Campbell

Goatheads have changed up the last day of school for a lot of youngsters since the times when we not only went to get our report card and tell our teacher good-bye but also turned our feet out to grass for the summer as soon as we got home except for Sundays and when we went visitin.'

Course we had probably already had the croup a time or two from goin' barefoot earlier in the spring while our mother made one of her rare visits to town. Since she had to walk four blocks it gave us plenty of time to get our shoes back on and an innocent expression established after she came in sight.

We can't figure out why DiSalle is so concerned about tryin' to save us a dime on a pound of steak next October when the government will get the dime anyway to enforce his controls. Looks like a sort of a bulldog characteristic common to Michael, Dean and Harry.

The latest we've read on polio advises not only against any summer operation which will disturb the mucus membrane of nose and throat, but also against inoculation of children 2 months prior to the time when infantile paralysis is usually more apt to appear.

Nothing conclusive has come from the United States it seems but Australia and Great Britain have proof that inoculation may increase paralysis in the limb in which the shots are given and danger of the deadly bulbar type becomes greater.

SUNDAY'S CURRENT QUESTION

Let Clouds Alone, Some Say, While Others Say Rainmaking Is O. K.

Rain-making has been much in discussion in recent weeks, especially prior to the downpour. What is your opinion of artificial rain-making?

BUD JACOBSEN—I believe that it has possibilities. It probably will take time to develop the proper means and methods, and they could have caused our recent disturbance. I feel that some government agency should do development work and control the whole operation. In the future, it could mean a lot to the Panhandle's economy.

GAYLE ROBERSON—I don't think it should be. I think they should just let it come naturally.

A. M. HARE—I don't think it works so good.

MRS. CHARLIE CALLOWAY—I don't think it ought to be done. I just think you should let nature take its course. I just don't believe in taking over God's work. Of course, I know sometimes we need it, but I just don't much like the idea.

MRS. OSCAR ALTMAN—I guess it's all right.

MRS. FRED BELL—I don't think we need any artificial rainmaking right now. I think it would be all right if it is a success when it is needed.

J. O. MILLER—I think you had better let those clouds alone. You might jar something loose up there you couldn't stop. I think they are out of their bounds of reason.

MRS. G. A. BOGLE—I think they should just let nature take its course. I just don't believe in it.

MRS. W. S. FLUITT—I think it's mixing up with God's business.

NORMAN WHISENAND—I think whenever they get it under control so they can control the areas, it will be a pretty good thing. Right now they can put the dry ice on in Arizona and maybe it will rain in New Mexico or Texas. I think when they can control it a little better, it will be a wonderful achievement.

Chiang Evidence

LOCKED IN the files of the house foreign affairs committee is some dynamite-laden evidence by a former adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, which would be of great interest in the MacArthur-Truman debate.

Secret testimony was given on April 6, 1949, before the foreign affairs committee by Maj. Gen. David G. Barr, former military adviser to Chiang. At that time Barr testified, among other things, that Chiang's staff officers were incompetent, lazy, derelict and in some cases downright dishonest. He described the surrender of some Manchurian cities to the Communists by Chiang's generals as so suspicious as to raise possible doubts of a sell-out to the enemy. In some cases, Chiang's staff officers were not even present when the troops under them surrendered.

General Barr also told how great quantities of American Equipment which we supplied the Nationalist forces fell into Communist hands, and in turn made the Red conquest of China much easier and quicker.

In one case a big allied supply base at Chinchow was left virtually and mysteriously undefended. Considering the amount of American equipment stored there, the actions of the Nationalist Chinese had all the earmarks of a sellout to the Communists who shortly thereafter captured it. It was not long before all Manchuria fell.

General Barr testified that he believed Chiang himself was honest, but that his troops, lacking leadership, long ago had lost the will to fight. For a while the war against the Communists on the Chinese mainland simply depended upon how rapidly Mao Tse-Tung's men wanted to travel.

History Repeats

Herbert Hoover, who has been the chief confidante of General MacArthur during the present big debate, paradoxically was on the other end of a somewhat similar situation when he was President of the United States.

Hoover made the mistake of ordering the court-martial of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, a popular marine corps figure, after Butler had started a lecture that Benito Mussolini, then dictator of Italy, had run over a child with his car but failed to stop. General Butler's court-martial was ordered after Italian Ambassador Di Martino had protested officially.

But immediately there arose a tremendous outcry from the American press and public, and for weeks Hoover was the butt of possibly more scathing criticism than Harry Truman.

The situation was somewhat comparable to the present MacArthur debate in that the admirals did not like General Butler any more than some of the leaders in the Pentagon love General MacArthur.

It was also significant that Hoover's popularity at that time had sunk to an extremely low ebb, comparable to that of Truman's today.

In the end, Hoover did what Harry Truman has not done. He abjectly surrendered and called off General Butler's court-martial.

Droughtproof Crops

Most important experiments in modern agriculture in years are being conducted at the government's research laboratory at Beltsville, Md.

Beltsville scientists, though cautious in their comment, indicate that they are on the scent of a sensational discovery that may make farm crops droughtproof.

Briefly, the scientists are developing a chemical spray that makes plants capable of holding moisture for prolonged periods.

STORM WARNING

The Wellington Leader reports the fire siren will be used there to warn of the approach of a cyclone or storm cloud, should that occasion arise. A barometer in the city hall warns of the approach of stormy weather, and as in the past, a city employee will keep close watch should a storm cloud appear to be forming in the vicinity. How about a similar plan for Hereford?. . . . Another Wellington story tells about 123 coyotes captured in a month and a half by the county trapper, William Hamilton, who has been using cyanide bombs in killing them. With spring and the increase of food supply, he will be using steel traps to catch the grown animals and will hunt the pups out in their dens.

HAD NOTHING ON THE PANHANDLE

"Noah had nothing on the people of the Panhandle," reports The Donley County Leader. "In looking over the reports from all sections of the area, the only difference noted was that Noah used a boat and the people of today are attempting to use powered vehicles and plenty of those have become stranded. Just imagine a semi-arid area (as the Panhandle is classified) receiving over ten inches of rain in a two day period."

He was unconscious for a period of nearly 24 hours, reports the Matador Tribune.

URGES BRANDING STOCK

The Lamb County clerk's office, according to The County-Wide News, reports only 60 horse and cattle brands are registered in the county. This number cannot represent more than a small percentage of the large and unestimated number of Lamb countians who own livestock that should be branded. Officials of the county are urging stockmen to brand with legally recorded brands.

NATURE LENDS A HAND

Nature lent a helping hand at Levelland as in many other places. With the heavy rainfall last week, the scheduled "filling" of the new lake at the Levelland Municipal Park came earlier than anticipated. It was to have been filled June 1. Nature didn't know quite when to stop and filled under the trees, which officials had not planned to do . . . Levelland is having the same difficulty in regard to dogs that exists here and elsewhere. Two collies, both of them valuable to the four children and two adults who owned them, were poisoned last week.

FOUND WAY TO ECONOMIZE

Al Hinds at Paducah has definitely found a way to economize in these days when prices are so high few people can find a means of economy. "Heretofore," he writes, "we have been using a ten cent piece to unscrew the top of our cigarette lighter to fill same with fluid, but we found out a one-cent piece will do the trick just as well as the dime. Consequently everytime we fill the lighter, using the penny, we figure we save exactly nine cents????

ONCT IN A LIIFETIME

"Yes, son, I'm glad it fell within your lifetime, so that you can tell your grand kids about it," was the general explanation of the 7.69 inches of rain which fell in less than 24 hours, the Claude News reports. "Some thought the rain might be the result of seeding clouds up near Spearman. Experiments were being performed there Monday night. If true, they are privileged to come over and get their seed back, as we have an abundance here now."

DIAL SYSTEM TELEPHONES

If 70 per cent of the people at Groom want dial service and approve of the rates, the needed equipment will be installed as quickly as possible, perhaps around the first of June. The Southwestern Associated Telephone Company already has the approval of the Groom City Council to install the new system.

The—— BOOTLEG ——Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his farm near Bootleg is baffled over ceiling prices on live cattle, his letter this week reveals.

Dear Editar:

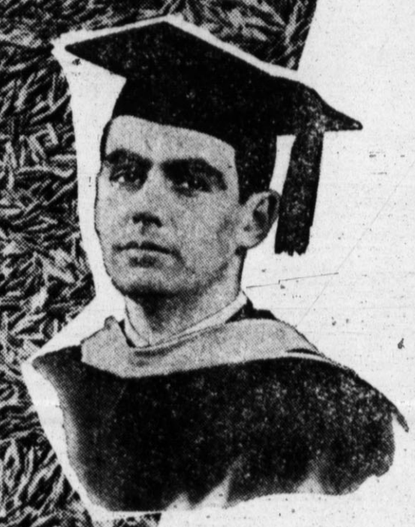

I found a copy of a paper which the wind blew against my front door, of the two, dust with newspapers or no wind and no papers, believe I'd take the latter, don't like to be ignorant of what's goin on in the world but I put comfort ahead of learnin any day in the week, ain't seen a paper yet I hadn't rather be without than have dust in my eyes, and pulled it off the screen and brought it inside and shook the dust off and read where cattlemen throughout Texas are excited over the ceilin prices being put on live cattle.

Accordin to the cattlemen, this will ruin the cattle business, but I will look at it another way. As I see it, it'll ruin the price controllers.

That is, it will when they come out here and start puttin ceilin prices on my cows.

As you may know, I ain't never won no prizes at a fat stock show, and my cattle ain't what you'd call registered stuff, and I am lookin forward to the day when some bureaucrat comes out here and attempts to classify em. Would like to know what they are myself. I got one cow that was crossed

'Woman of the House' Away, 16-Year-Old Takes Over

When the "woman of the house" takes a vacation, her absence ordinarily creates a big problem, but the George Eptings, who live in the Ford community kept things running smoothly—thanks to the ability of Thelma Joyce Epting, age 16, a member of the Jolly Girls 4-H club.

Mrs. George Epting was in Carlsbad two weeks taking the home nursing course for instructors, and in her absence Thelma Joyce took over the responsibility of cooking, keeping house, seeing that the four younger children were properly attired for school everyday and that the youngest, Geraldene, was properly cared for during the day. Of course, Thelma Joyce had the assistance of her father and the older children in order to keep everything going as it should.

Just because Mrs. Epting was gone didn't mean that Mother's Day was overlooked at the Epting home. Thelma Joyce saw to it that flowers were sent to her mother in Carlsbad, and in order that the family would not have a lonesome day, she invited a special friend to have dinner with them. For the occasion Thelma Joyce prepared chicken and dressing with all the trimmings. She could have baked the cake too, but a neighbor prepared one for the family.

Part of the time Geraldene accompanied the older children to school at Vega and part of the time she stayed with her father.

Mrs. Tommy Pope and her mother, Mrs. Maude Montford of Amarillo, visited Mrs. Pope's sister, Mrs. Homer Brumley, and family here the past week end.

with what I called a Jersey and a Hereford, but her mother was a cross between a Bramer and a Holstein, and her mother was a cross between a cross and a cross which is too complicated to enumerate. What the calf is, nobody knows, but when it comes to classifyin it in order to put a ceilin price on it, I believe it would be simpler if the government just asked me to put it in a deep freeze and say nothin about it, and I'm willin if the government will furnish the deep freeze.

Also, I'm wonderin what will happen at a cattle auction when the auctioneer reaches the ceilin price. Who gets the cow when half a dozen bidders is noddin their heads simultaneously at that level?

Just don't see how it'll work, which may not be no stumblin block to the government.

Any thing to the report they're figurin on puttin ceilin prices on the various grades of live cat fish?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Three County Holsteins Earn High DHIA Rate

Three Deaf Smith county farmers were among those mentioned for high individual cow production by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the month of April in the latest record list released by supervisor Harold Hersley.

Holsteins belonging to D. Pullum, C. J. Albracht, and to Jack Renfro were listed in the 50 to 60-pound of butter fat class in the association's April listiing.

Enlistees Go to Army, Navy, and Air Force

The Selective Service Board recently received notification of enlistment cards for eight boys of the area.

In the army are William Franklin Prater of Muleshoe and Nowell Ellsworth Mick of Earth.

Hafford Eugene Alley of Dimmitt, Eugene Coy House of Summerfield, and Joe Allen Ford of Hereford are serving with the Navy.

Air Force men are Phillips Mason Whitman of Canyon, Phillip H. Wolfram of Dallas, and Marion Maupin Kaufhold of Amarillo.

Big New Years Day Snow Recalled by Mrs. Williams

Mrs. E. J. Williams wrote The Brand regarding that snow storm which has been the center of discussion for the past few weeks among old-time residents of this area.

Mrs. Williams said the day preceding that 1918 snow storm was a lovely warm day, not one cloud in sight. The days previous to the fall were nice and sunshiny, too, she recollects.

Everyone was glad to see this kind of weather, Mrs. Williams writes, and that people went to bed that New Year's evening praying that their sons in France were enjoying the same kind of weather.

On New Year's day, the people awoke to find ice-crusted windows ,tree branches broken by the weight of ice on their limbs, and the ground covered with three or four feet of frozen snow. Children walked to school on top of the crusty snow without even leaving a footprint, Mrs. Williams says.

Cattle died by the thousands over prairies and those that did not die were killed, Mrs. Williams recalls, on government orders. The carcasses lay on the prairies and men could not get feed to their livestock.

The fall stayed on the ground three months.

People that fell short of a coal supply for that period had to rely on those who had stored up on coal the previous fall. Groceries were divided so no one starved to death.

Men lost fortunes in that snow fall. Mrs. Williams recalls that most of them were mortgaged, making it hard on the cowmen and farmers as well as the grocers.

Doctors got very little sleep during that hectic period. Schools were closed and railroad traffic was blocked.

"The best people in the world lived in the Panhandle," Mrs. Williams writes, "and they still do."

Water pipes were frozen three feet under the ground, telegraph wires were broken, cutting off all news. Those residents had to melt snow to have water needed for cooking and drinking.

Washings hung on the lines frozen stiff until they thawed out on warm days that happened along during the big snow.

Veterans Have Eight Years to Take Up Policy

Any veteran having an eight-year-term G.I. insurance policy (taken out prior to September 1, 1945) may reinstate that policy up until the end of the eight years, according to V. A. Smith, local veterans counsellor.

After that eight-year period, there will be no more chances for insurance. A new insurance law which became effective on April 25, allows servicemen $10,000 insurance coverage at government expense.

Servicemen with that type of insurance must convert their government - paid insurance within 120 days after their discharge or lose eligibility for conversion.

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

BY LEE FALK & PHIL DAVIS

ON A VACATION, MANDRAKE, NARDA AND LOTHAR VISIT AN OBSERVATORY...

GOSH--IT'S SORT OF SPOOKY--LOOKING AT THE STARS THROUGH THIS HUGE TELESCOPE.

PROFESSOR, DO YOU EVER WONDER IF SOMEONE OR SOMETHING IS LOOKING AT US FROM OUT THERE?

THAT'S QUITE A THOUGHT, MANDRAKE. I WONDER IF WE'LL EVER KNOW?

THAT WAS FASCINATING! AND I'M STARVED, MANDRAKE.

THE PROFESSOR SAID THERE WAS A FINE LOBSTER PLACE DOWN THE ROAD.

THE PROFESSOR WAS RIGHT. THE LOBSTER WAS DELICIOUS.

THERE'S A FISHING BOAT COMING IN WITH A FRESH LOAD. EVER SEE THEM CATCH A LOBSTER, NARDA?

"TRAPS, CALLED LOBSTER POTS, ARE LOWERED TO THE OCEAN BOTTOM. THE LOBSTERS WALK IN, BUT CAN'T WALK OUT. THEN THEY'RE PULLED UP."

THEN, LATER, AS THEY DRIVE ON--

AH, I FEEL BETTER NOW. WE SHOULD REACH THE NEXT TOWN BEFORE SUNDOWN.

WHAT THAT THING--?

DARNED IF I KNOW. LET'S STOP AND HAVE A LOOK AT IT.

IT LOOKS LIKE NOTHING I EVER SAW BEFORE!

WHAT IT FOR?

I HAVEN'T THE SLIGHTEST IDEA. NO ONE LIVES AROUND HERE. LET'S EXAMINE IT.

Prince Valiant

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR

BY HAROLD R FOSTER

Synopsis: PRINCE VALIANT RIDES INTO TORINO AND SLIDES STIFFLY FROM HIS SPENT HORSE AT THE CONVENT DOOR. ON THE LONG JOURNEY HE HAD TIME TO REALIZE HOW MUCH HE LOVES HIS YOUNG SQUIRE. HE HOPES HE HAS ARRIVED IN TIME.

THE DOCTOR GIVES A TRAGIC REPORT: "YOUNG ARF BORE HIS AGONY LIKE A WARRIOR DESPITE HIS TENDER YEARS, BUT NOW HE IS DYING, FOR HE HAS NO WILL TO LIVE."

BY A SUNNY WINDOW ARF LIES, WHITE-FACED, STILL AS DEATH. ONE FOOT IS STILL SWATHED IN BANDAGES.....AND THE OTHER.....?

WITH A SHOCK VAL SEES.....THERE IS NO OTHER FOOT!

HE SITS DOWN AND TAKES THE LAD'S HAND. A BRIGHT SMILE LIGHTS ARF'S FACE FOR AN INSTANT, THEN DRAINS AWAY. THEN HE SPEAKS BITTERLY:

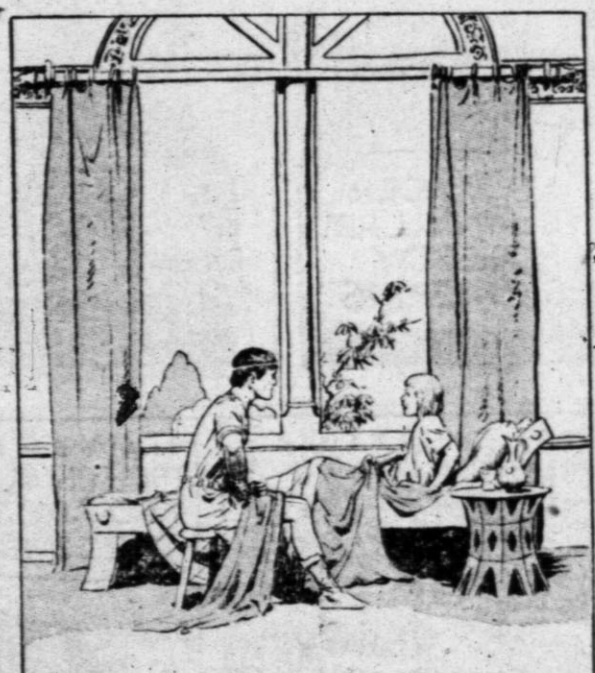

"I AIMED TOO HIGH. I WAS TO BE SIR ARF GEOFFREY, KNIGHT OF THE ROUND TABLE, A GREAT WARRIOR. ALL MY LIFE I'VE DREAMED A VAIN DREAM....."

".....OF BEING A Cchampion AND SERVING MY LADY ALETA AS HER KNIGHT ERRANT." HE LAUGHS CYNICALLY, "WHO EVER HEARD OF A ONE-LEGGED WARRIOR?"

COPR. 1951 KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc., WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED. 746 5-27-51

"I HAVE," ANSWERS VAL COLDLY. ARF LOOKS UP SHARPLY; HE HAD EXPECTED SYMPATHY FROM HIS GENEROUS, WARM-HEARTED CHIEF.

"BUT," HE CONTINUES, "I HAVE NEVER HEARD OF A GREAT WARRIOR QUITTING THE FIELD WHEN A FIGHT IS TO BE WON!"
