Keeping tab on our neighbors:

There was a piece on the press wires the other day advising that television audiences are beginning to turn off their sets when shows with excessive violence are on and that some are even complaining to sponsors and withholding business from sponsors.

Orlin Brewer of the Vernon Record says there has been plenty of violence in America since "before the Revolution...but it took television and the movies of this generation to make killing as common as munching a pickle or eating a bag of popcorn...nobody knows the total for sure, but a frequently cited study done by the National Association for Better Broadcasting estimates that a child will see some 13,000 violent deaths during those ten formative years."

Beware of the "weaker" sex.

The Colorado City Record reports that a man who threatened to whip his wife with his belt when she burned his chicken supper ended up in the yard outside his home when his wife took exception to being whipped and used a two-by-four to beat him on the back and arms.

"Colorado City police dispatcher received a call from a neighbor that the man was lying in his front yard and needed assistance," reported the Record.

"He thought his back and arm was broken," the police dispatcher said. "But when they took him to the hospital, they found he was all right, only bruised up a little."

Walter Buckel of the Lamesa Press-Reporter says, "If you're the kinda feller who pays his bills on time and doesn't borrow any money...you've got problems. You're probably the same feller who pays cash for things and that in itself is enough to bring the insults for such business dealings. Without borrowing money or charging something, you have no credit references. Without credit in today's world, you're swimming upstream."

He told of a Dallas woman who inquired about the price of a new car and when the salesman quoted a figure, she wanted to buy. When he learned that she intended to pay cash, however, he flew into a rage, declaring that the price he quoted took financing charges into consideration.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 11, the 163rd day of 1976. There are 203 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, it was disclosed that the United States and the Soviet Union had made a lend-lease agreement to aid the Soviet war effort in World War Two.

On this date:

In 1727, King George the First of England died.

In 1859, a prospector laid claim to a silver deposit in Six Mile Canyon in Nevada. The claim turned out to be the Comstock Lode, which yielded ore worth more than 300 million dollars.

In 1940, Princess Juliana of the Netherlands arrived in Canada as an exile during World War Two.

In 1963, Alabama Governor George Wallace stepped aside to permit Blacks to register at the University of Alabama in Montgomery as the federalized National Guard stood by.

In 1964, Greece rejected direct talks with Turkey over the future of the island of Cyprus.

In 1970, U.S. military presence in Libya ended 19 days ahead of schedule when the last American detachment left Wheelus Air Force Base.

Ten years ago: Fresh American troops moved into forward positions for new assaults against a battered but stubborn North Vietnamese unit in South Vietnam's Central Highlands.

Five years ago: Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev called for an end to the arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate confirmed the nomination of former Gov. Stanley Hathaway of Wyoming as secretary of the interior.

Bicentennial footnote: Two-hundred years ago today, the Continental Congress in Philadelphia named Thomas Jefferson to prepare the first draft of a declaration of independence from Britain.

Hays Emerges From Overdose Induced Coma

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Pres Writer

BARNESVILLE, Ohio. (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays emerged today from a coma induced by an overdose of sleeping pills, his doctor said. Hays smiled at his wife and spoke short sentences that made sense, the doctor reported.

Dr. Richard Phillips said the overdose taken by Hays, central figure in the congressional payroll-sex scandal which broke May 23, was apparently accidental and that Hays should be fully recovered within 10 days.

The 65-year-old Democratic congressman was in satisfactory condition, Phillips said, but is still technically semi-comatose despite periods when he makes rational statements.

Hays was unconscious when taken to the hospital Thursday morning. He awakened at 5:30 a.m. this morning and asked to see his wife, Pat, who kept a night-long vigil at the hospital. She returned to the room later and the congressman smiled at her, Phillips said.

"His recovery should be complete," Phillips told a midmorning press briefing. After his release from the hospital he will have to rest for a week to 10 days before returning to his congressional duties, the doctor said.

In Washington, meanwhile, House leaders said today that a proposal to force Hays to resign as chairman of the House Administration Committee will be put off until he recovers.

The proposal was scheduled for action next Wednesday at a meeting of the House Democratic Caucus, but House Speaker Carl Albert and House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill said there is no question that meeting will be postponed.

Phillips said studies of the blood are being made now at the University of Pittsburgh to determine the amount of the sleeping-pill overdose. The pills had been prescribed for Hays because he was under stress, Phillips said.

Also at the briefing was Carol Clawson, Hays's Washington press secretrary. Mrs. Clawson denied a report by columnist Jack Anderson that revelation of Hays' extramarital sex activities had alientated him from his wife of a few weeks and that she had left him Wednesday for a second time.

Mrs. Clawson also denied an Anderson report that Hays would shoot himself if he felt it would spare his wife any further pain over the congressional payroll-scandal in which Hays admitted he had a personal relationship with 33-year-old Elizabeth Ray.

But less than a week ago, when asked by an Associated Press reporter whether he had threatened suicide, Hays had responded, "No comment."

Miss Ray, the 33-year-old blonde who accused Hays of putting her on the staff of his House Administration Committee to be his mistress, arrived at London airport today and appeared close to tears when told Hays had been hospitalized.

IN ANGOLA

13 Mercenaries On Trial Today

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — Angola's new Marxist government today began a show trial of two Americans and 11 other captured mercenaries and demanded that they all face the firing squad.

The Americans, Gary Acker of Sacramento, Calif., and Daniel Gearhart, of Kensington, Md., were charged with "murder, pillage and the destruction of Angola's property and natural resources" under the 139-count blanket indictment read out by the prosecution and ending with the words "and should be punished by the death penalty."

Both have denied firing their weapons or killing anyone in Angola, but there were separate charges against Gearhart of "commanding a combat section," laying mine fields and helping direct the defense of Sao Salvador, headquarters of the losing pro-Western National Front — FNLA — faction in the bitter three-sided war that erupted after Angola became independent from Portugal.

Kevin Marchant, one of 10 Britons in the group, told how the accused called "Col. Callan" shot one of his men and ordered his regimental sergeant major — RSM — to execute 13 others.

"Take them away, RSM, and wipe them out," was Callan's brisk order, according to the testimony of Marchant, the first mercenary to testify before the five-member Peoples' Revolutionary Tribunal.

Costas Georgious, alias Tony Callan, sat among his fellow mercenaries behind the velvet rope in the dock as 18 separate charges of murder, looting and pillage were read out against him.

Most of the time he did not even bother to listen in on his headset earphones that provided simultaneous interpetation of the proceedings in five languges.

Andrew McKenzie, described in the charges as "Callan's right-hand man in the killer group" sat in a wheel chair, occasionally hugging the stump of his left leg missing below the knee.

Twenty-year-old John Nammock, youngest of the prisoners, also was in a wheel chair but could hobble about on aluminum crutches with a plaster cast on his right leg.

Democrats Hammering Out Platform Draft In Secret

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter's primary victories may keep the Democratic presidential nomination out of smoke-filled rooms, but it looks like the Democratic platform will be drafted this week in secret.

The party's 15-member platform subcommittee began hammering out a platform draft today in the first of three days of closed meetings.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, the subcommittee chairman, told reporters before today's opening session that "This is very simply a drafting process and we can't very well meet our responsibility ... when we have all sorts of people running around.

"It doesn't make any sense opening it up," Dukakis said. And though some believe the party charter requires such session to be public, he declared that is not the case.

Asked how much input Carter would have, Dukakis said "It's quite obvious Gov. Carter's apparent near nomination will have some influence."

But he added that party platforms often influence the candidate as much as vice versa.

Dukakis said the platform will be specific on major issues such as foreign policy and employment, but will not detail each and every issue facing the nation. "We don't want to make it a Christmas tree platform," he said.

Once adopted by the subcommittee and then the full platform committee next week, a final proposal will be sent to delegates to the Democratic National Convention where a platform will be enacted to serve as party policy for the fall election campaign.

The platform is expected to concern itself to a large extent with economic issues, with special focus on ways of reducing unemployment.

The issue of whether the meetings should be public didn't come up at a procedural session last month when the subcommittee decided to keep them closed, said Michael Barnes, director of the platform committee. However, a new provision in the party's charter, approved at the party miniconvention in Kansas City on Dec. 7, 1974, leaves little doubt that such meetings are supposed to be open.

According to Section 12 of Article 11: "All meetings of the Democratic National Committee, the Executive Committee, and all other official party committees, commissions and bodies shall be open to the public, and votes shall not be taken by secret ballot."

Reporters at the 1974 convention recalled that the wording was adopted at the insistence of liberal delegates against the wishes of some of the regular party leadership.

Barnes said he thinks the subcommittee decided their meetings could be closed because the platform draft "was not an official action." The meetings will be "a preliminary preparation of what constitutes a tentative and unofficial party document," he added.

He said the document would become official only when the full platform committee takes it up at a three-day meeting here beginning in June 14. Those meetings will be open to the public.

But Barnes did not deny that the subcommittee was an official party body to which Section 12 of the Democratic charter would apply.

He said the decision on closed sessions was made unanimously by the 15 subcommittee members, who include representatives of candidates for the party nomination for president, including several representing Carter.

"Nobody mentioned Section 12 in that meeting," Barnes said.

STAFF STUDY REPORTS

NYC Teamsters Bilked Out Of Insurance Plan

By EDMUND PINTO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters in New York City local were bilked out of $1.1 million from a life insurance plan by individuals connected with organized crime, a Senate subcommittee report says. The report adds that one longtime union officer was also an underworld figure.

The staff study was being referred to the departments of Labor and Justice and the Internal Revenue Service with a recommendation that the agencies review the information for possible prosecution.

The study concluded that "the severance trust fund and the fund's life insurance benefits were used by persons of questionable background to extract large amounts of money contributed by management, that rightfully belonged to union members," between 1970 and 1973.

In just one example provided, the staff of Government Operations permanent subcommittee on investigations said Local 295 paid out $790,000 more in life insurance commissions than needed because of the manner in which a life insurance plan was organized for its members.

The report said commissions should have been $10,000 instead of the $800,000 paid to agents who had close ties to Louis C. Ostrer, the originator of the plan. The associates were identified as his sister, Dina Gelman, Cy Reeves Snyder and Seymour Greenfield.

The local 295 trust fund "and its life insurance feature were established and operated more to benefit the creator of the system — Louis Ostrer — and his associates than the workers," said the report.

Ostrer was identified in the report as having links to organized crime. The report said his associates included Anthony "Tony Ducks" Corallo, Johnny "Dio" Dioguardi, Anthony "Hickey" DiLorenzo, Ruby Stein, Nicholas "Jiggs" Forlane, all known organized crime figures.

The secretary-treasurer of the local when the subcommittee began its probe in 1971, was Harry Davidoff, described in the report as "a ruthless New York thug, a gangster who gravitated to the labor movement for no other reason than to steal from it."

The report said Davidoff was in firm control of the local when the investigation began. The local has 1,400 truck driver members who deliver air cargo to and from and around the New York airports.

The insurance scheme, the report said, stemmed from arranging individual policies rather than organizing the program under a less expensive group plan.

The report criticized the Teamsters International for allowing the scheme to develop. It said, "Ostrer should never have been allowed to participate in Local 295 affairs. Conscientious labor leaders would have noted his ties with organized crime and the fact that he lost his agent's license in a criminal matter."

Corrective actions were undertaken at the local in January 1973, and the New York State Insurance Department claimed that $1.1 million had been depleted from the fund through irregular practices.

School District Offers Surplus Lots For Sale

Snyder School Trustees last night authorized the sale of several lots in various areas of the city and approved plans for improvements to the press box and concession stands at Tiger Stadium.

The school district owns a number of lots which have been acquired via tax suits, etc., over a period of years and these will be offered for sale by sealed bidding. The City of Snyder, which also owns several lots acquired by similar means, will join the school district in the sale. The city council approved the offering at its meeting Monday night.

Bids will be due on July 1 and will be opened at the regular board meeting on July 13. None of the lots has ever been used for school purposes.

Plans for remodelling the press box at Tiger Stadium are to be prepared, and the administration was authorized to employ carpenters to improve concession stands at the football stadium.

New personel approved by the board include Bob Travis as principal at East Elementary School; Sam Robertson as band director at the junior high school, and Bruce Kenner as assistant band director at the junior school.

Travis, former school superintendent at Morton, will succeed Frank Weaver, who is retiring as the East Elementary principal. Robertson had resigned as the junior high band director, but decided to return and was rehired.

Charles Anderson, principal at Northeast Elementary School, will transfer to the principal's position at Central Elementary.

Resignations accepted by the board include Ruth Banks, teacher aide at Humble-Smith School; Martha Barr, second grade teacher at Stanfield Elementary; Merle Bass, diagnostician at Humble-Smith; Lynn Cooper, assistant band director at the junior high school; Ken Plumlee, biology teacher and coach at the high school. Retiring are Edna McConnell, third grade teacher at West Elementary, and James Moffett, social studies teacher and coach at high school.

The board approved continued participation in the Region XIV Service Center's program and awarded contracts for gasoline, milk and bread for the 1976-77 school year. Only one "bid" was received for gasoline. It quoted a price of 45 cents per gallon, subject to change as the tank wagon prices change.

The bread contract went to Rainbo, which had the lower of two bids on coney buns at 24 cents per package. Its bid on pound-and-a-half loaves of bread was 34 cents each and on hamburger buns it was 26 cents per package.

Gandy had the lower of two bids on providing milk and its bid was accepted. Its quotations were .1140 cents for half-pints of white milk, .1240 cents for half-pints of chocolate milk and $1.79 per gallon for ice cream mix.

Prices for bread and milk also are subject to change.

A revision of the personal illness regulation for auxiliary personnel was approved, and a Cub Scout group was granted the use of a school bus to make a trip to the Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains on June 19-20.

Billy Sullenger, who has been working with the school gymnastics program expressed appreciation for an opportunity to participate in the program and he urged that gymnastics be continued. He said that the supply of qualified instructors has been limited, but that more are coming out of the colleges now, and that benefits of gymnastics extend beyond that activity itself.

Capitol Sex Scandal Grows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Capitol Hill payroll-sex scandal grew today as a former aide to Rep. John Young said through her lawyer that the Texas Democrat paid her a premium salary in return for sexual favors.

Colleen Gardner "was abused and humiliated" by Young, said attorney Sol Z. Rosen.

"In essence she's saying it was made known to her indirectly and through subtle pressure that he applied that her submitting to sexual advances was a job requirement and if she didn't do it her options were either to take his personal abuse or quit and her salary was raised commensurately with the amount of sexual services that she performed for him and the amount of gratification he felt he received," the attorney said.

Young, 59, a 10-term congressman from Corpus Christi, married and the father of five, denied Thursday night that Mrs. Gardner's $26,000 yearly salary was contingent on sex. He declined to confirm or deny whether he had a sexual relationship with her.

Speaker Carl Albert said today he assumes the House ethics committee will consider the matter "if it is broad enough."

House Democratic Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill defended Young, saying: "He denied it ... There is no admission ... The question comes 'Did she work or didn't she?' He says she did.

"John Young is an honest, decent, capable, God-fearing man," O'Neill added. "I judge him in all decency, moral and otherwise."

At a news conference in his office today, Young said: "I can assure you she was not hired for sex. She's a capable, resourceful woman from a good family."

The congressman added: "She came up through the ranks, so to speak. She was one of the fastest typists on the Hill. She does type and she can answer the phone and file. The whole thing mystifies me. I see here the Elizabeth Ray syndrome. I would presume there is a book in it for her."

Rosen said Mrs. Gardner, 28, is a former friend of Miss Ray, whose allegations that Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, put her on the House payroll $14,000 a year to provide him with sex are being investigated by the ethics committee, the Justice Department and a federal grand jury.

Borden Has 1st Case Of Screwworms

MISSION—Borden County became Texas' 89th screwworm infested Texas county on June 7 with laboratory identification of a sample taken from a calf 12 miles north of Gail, says Dr. M.E. Meadows, Jr.

Meadows is director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Screwworm Eradication Program which works in close cooperation with Texas Animal Health Commission (TACH) to control or reduce spread of this parasite of all warm blooded animals.

The program is operated for USDA by the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS).

Ernest Kiker submitted the Borden County sample from a castration wound in a calf owned by Doyle Newton of Fluvanna. Jeff Davis County's first 1976 case was identified the same day, bringing Texas to 2,693 confirmed screwworm infestations in 90 counties for the year.

Meadows explains that rancher submitted samples are an essential part of the program. Laboratory identification of these samples is the only sure way of knowing where wild screwworm flies exist.

When a wild population is accurately located it is treated with sterile flies produced in the APHIS insectary which are released to mate with wild flies. Eggs produced as the result of a sterile to fertile mating will not hatch, ending the life cycle.

The sterile male release technique is most effective, says Meadows, when used against a light population of wild screwworm flies. To keep this situation, ranchers are urged to strive to avoid infestations in their animals and to submit samples of all worms found in wounds.

Siamese Twins Undergoing Tests

HOUSTON (AP) — Tiny Siamese twins from Kansas underwent tests in a Texas Medical Center hospital today to determine if surgical separation is possible.

A Texas Children's Hospital spokesman said one-week old Craig and Greg Bongiorni were in "fair condition" when they arrived at the hospital Thursday after a 90-minute flight from Wichita, Kan.

"Several days of tests and evaluation will be needed before any decisions on possible surgery can be made, the hospital spokesman said.

It was the second flight-for-life for the twins, who weighed a combined 10 pounds when born by cesarean section last Friday in a Fredonia, Kan. hospital.

Within hours after birth, the twins—joined from upper chest to mid-abdomen, were transferred by special ambulance to the Wesley Medical Center in Wichita, some 100 miles away.

Experts in newborn problems at the Wichita center said the twins seem to have "conjoined hearts and conjoined livers."

Surgical separation of the boys "will be of very high risk" said Dr. Sergio Bustamante, a Wichita neonatologist supervising the infants' early medical evaluation.

Two Kansas consultants agreed with Bustamante at a Wichita news conference that chance appear "slim" for successfully separating the twins.

Bustamante said Texas Children's Hospital was asked to take the twins for further studies because of the hospital's past experiences with Siamese twins.

Gary Bongiorni, 25, a draftsman, and his wife, Nyla, 21, who live in the tiny Kansas farming community of Thayer, are parents of the twins. They consented to the second emergency trip for their sons but did not come to Houston with them. They also have a four-year-old daughter.

Bustamante was quoted by Wesley Medical Center official as saying the twins suffered some deterioration, including decompensation of heart-pumping problems, earlier in the day.

Fearing other complications, the Kansas medical team recommended the Bongiorni boys be transferred as quickly as possible.

A private Lear jet was donated for the flight to Houston. Bustamante, another physician, a nurse and respiratory therapist accompanied the twins who were met by a Houston Fire Department emergency medical ambulance with its specialized transport incubator to take them to the hospital.

"The twins are in fairly good condition but we have become concerned about problems with cadiovascular system," Bustamante said.

The Houston Post quoted one physician as saying a minimum of two to three days likely will be necessary to ascertain the potential for separation surgery.

The key question was whether each boy has sufficient heart and liver to function independently of the other. Bustamante said there is no previous experience of similarly joined twins surviving more than a few months without separation.

He added that even in less complicated cases only about 10 to 15 per cent of Siamese twins live after being separated.

The Post said a check showed at least five sets of Siamese twins have been admitted to Texas Children's Hospital over the past 11 years. Two of the sets survived surgery, another died during the operation and the others died before the surgery could be done, the newspaper said.

The most noted case at Texas Children's was the Webber twin girls of nearby Bay City, Tex., whose conjoined area was similar, but less severe than the Kansas boys. Their separation surgery was Feb. 16, 1965.

Mishap Reported

City police reported only one traffic accident. The mishap occurred at 6:49 a.m. Thursday in the 1800 block of Thirteenth Street. A 1975 Ford driven by Clarance E. Rayvon was involved in a collision with a 1969 Dodge driven by James M. Kurtz. Only minor damages were reported.

400 Uncommitted GOP Delegates Are Scattered

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 400 uncommitted and yet-to-be-chosen Republican national convention delegates are scattered in small packages around the nation, targets now of a one-by-one hunt by President Ford and Ronald Reagan.

With the primary season over, Reagan and Ford are running neck-and-neck, so that every delegate will count on the road to Kansas City.

The attention which the closely matched contenders are paying to small numbers is illustrated by their matching forays this weekend to Missouri, where 19 at-large delegates are to be selected at a state convention.

The closeness of the Missouri at-large struggle is reflected in previous results of Missouri district conventions: 15 delegates for Ford, 12 for Reagan, 3 uncommitted.

The current Associated Press delegate count lists 962 for Ford and 865 for Reagan, but the California challenger appears to have an edge in most states where delegates are yet to be picked.

Here's a rundown on the rest of those states:

—Washington, June 19: 38 delegates. Both sides agree that Reagan forces control more than 60 per cent of the state convention delegates, although Ford has an edge in two of seven congressional districts. Reagan could win as many as 32 delegates.

—Delaware, June 19: 17 delegates. Party sources predict Ford could win all 17.

—Iowa, June 19: 36 delegates. Based on earlier results at local meetings, the delegation could wind up evenly divided.

—Texas, June 19: four delegates. Reagan already has won 96 delegates elected in a primary, and with Sen. John Tower, a Ford backer, dropping out of the at-large race, Reagan should win all four.

—Minnesota, June 26: 18 delegates. Ford has dominated most of the district conventions and should pad his total at the state level.

—Montana, June 26: 20 delegates. Although Reagan's victory in the primary election there was not binding on delegate selection, the state party chairman is recommending a split based on the results. That would mean 13 for Reagan, 7 for Ford.

—New Mexico, June 26: 21 delegates. Reagan forces will control this convention and could take all 21 positions. There is some consideration, however, being given to including the state's two GOP congressmen in the delegation, and both are Ford supporters.

—Colorado, June 19: three delegates. July 9: nine delegates. July 20: 12 delegates. Reagan won the first three delegates decided in this state and is regarded as generally strong.

—North Dakota, July 10: 18 delegates. Republicans expect a fairly open fight, with most estimates giving Reagan from five to eight delegates.

—Connecticut, July 16: 35 delegates. Reagan has made little effort here and Ford is expected to get most of the delegation.

—Utah, July 17: 20 delegates. Straw polls indicate Reagan may take the entire delegation.

Inspectors Mum About Roloff Visits

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — State welfare inspectors said Thursday there will be no public report made of their visits to evangelist Lester Roloff's three children's homes.

The visits were carried out Thursday, in some instances in the presence of a Roloff attorney.

The inspection team was made of up Dixie Huffman, an inspector based in Corpus Christi; Margaret May, director of institutional licensing; Johnnie Trossi, protective service worker for the Welfare Deparftment; and Assistant Atty. Gen. Lynn Taylor.

The inspections began around noon and were completed in the evening.

Roloff gave permission for the visits, with the provision that he be represented by counsel. Roloff was not present during any of the visits.

Huffman said there would be a confidential report made of the visits, but that the report would not be made public. "This was done in keeping with the court order to inspect and evaluate the facilities," Huffman said.

Taylor said the visits were not a licensing study.

Dr. Lamb

See doctor for this problem

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For the last 20 years the doctors said I had a spastic colon and kept me on a very bland diet. This affected my bowel movements and I had to take enemas and put up with a lot of pain. I never had a natural bowel movement until I read your article about eating the bulk foods and cereals and breads made of bran or whole wheat.

You stated if one could stand the gas for three weeks she could overcome the problem. Well at this point I was willing to try anything and believe me it worked beautifully and all my pains disappeared. I felt like a new woman. I even stopped taking my nerve pills.

This continued for a whole month and then all of a sudden for two days I didn't have a bowel movement. Dumb me, I took a laxative I got from the health food store. I took two tablets with no results and then next day two more.

That day I had seven movements and the lst two were filled with blood. This continued for about three days and then my stomach was real nervous so I thought I had ulcers. I've had them before. So I went back to my nerve pills and took a small amount of Mylanta which seemed to help some and it seemed to flush out what looked like dried blood. I do feel better, but still have some pain in my right side. I would like to stick to your bulk diet. What do you think happened? Where could the blood have come from? It's not from the hemorrhoids.

DEAR READER — The first point I want to make is that anyone with a significant change in bowel habit for no known reason should see a doctor. Your sudden constipation after having had normal functions for a month is definitely a change. Why see a doctor? Because sudden changes in bowel habits for no good reason can mean cancer of the colon. Do you realize that cancer of the colon and rectum is the second most common cause of death from cancer in both men and women?

The second point is that you should never resort to harsh laxatives. It is entirely possible that the strong chemicals in the laxative irritated your colon so badly that it caused the bleeding. Those forceful contractions are damaging.

Whether or not that is so, anyone who has bleeding in his bowel movements that is not explained must see a doctor at once. That too can be a sign of cancer of the colon.

I am glad the bulk diet helped. It is too bad you didn't have such a program years ago. Some investigators think that bulk diets that straighten out spastic colon problems may help prevent cancer of the colon. I don't think your bulk diet had a thing to do with your sudden attack of constipation and the complications you had after taking a harsh laxative.

The bowel program for a person with a spastic colon includes more than just using a bulk diet. I am sending you a copy of The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable or Spastic Colon and Constipation. Others who want this information can forward 50 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1441, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

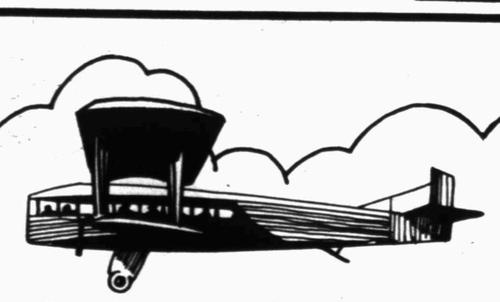

If you have not seen your doctor yet see him without delay. For the rest of my readers please remember that if you have a change of bowel habit it can be a sign of cancer. If you bleed don't try to diagnose it yourself, see your doctor without delay.

You Can Reach Me Through Abby, Elvis

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am some kind of kook, because I'm not. I am an attractive 24-year-old, level-headed southern girl who would like to know if there is a way I can get a date with Elvis Presley without having any big connections. I am not a screaming fan who has all his records and would attack him on sight. In fact, I have none of his records, but I have attended some of his concerts, and I do love the way he sings.

I know there must be at least five million other girls who would like to date him, and he has to date someone, so why not me? I honestly believe I could show him a good time.

Please print this and maybe, just maybe, Elvis will realize that he might be missing the chance of a lifetime if he doesn't meet me. Keep my name and phone number, Abby, but don't publish it. If Elvis wants it, he can get in touch with me through you. Sign me...

WAITING FOR ELVIS IN LOUISIANA

DEAR WAITING: You deserve an "E" for effort and a "T" for trying. (Also a "C" for chutzpah.) I'll keep your name and number. Okay, Elvis, it's your move.

DEAR ABBY: The other evening I telephoned a very good restaurant to reserve a table for dinner.

When my reservation was confirmed, I was told that the gentlemen were expected to wear neckties and jackets. Considering myself a gentleman, and having every intention of wearing a tie and jacket, I was a bit miffed.

Why, I wonder, didn't they specify what the LADIES were expected to wear? Isn't that discrimination?

FOR EQUAL RIGHTS

DEAR FOR: Now that you point it out, it is. But I suppose the line must be drawn somewhere, or some males will show up in tank tops or bare from their Bermuda shorts upward, which is not very appetizing. The squeaking wheel gets the grease—so squeak a little as a matter of principle.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would settle a difference of opinion that has caused much resentment and hard feelings in our family.

My daughter-in-law, who lives quite a distance away, spends her vacation visiting my home. When she is here, she feels that the relatives who live in town should contact her and make an effort to see her.

On the other hand, the relatives who live here feel that my daughter-in-law should call THEM to say that she's in town and would like to see them.

Who should do the calling?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: The visitor should call those whom she wants to see. But since she is always your houseguest, you could easily solve the problem by inviting all the relatives over for a gathering of the clan.

DEAR ABBY: You don't waste words, so I won't either. Do you believe in luck?

BERNIE

DEAR BERNIE: Certainly. How else could one explain the success of his enemies?

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Economics In Home Canning

By Gaynor Maddox

In other times "home canning" was the economy cry of women throughout the country. But today women are realizing that home canning is not the money saver it once was.

"Times change, customs change and economic patterns change," states nutrition specialist, Anita Dean, at Michigan State University. "In the Middle West, where more canning is done than in any other part of the country, we have found that the cost of the food women put up is often the biggest factor in the total cost of preserving food at home. And the cost very often depends on the source of the food," she adds.

"Gifts of produce from friends with overproducing gardens reduces the costs of preserving foods immensely," she says. "Growing your own produce—vegetables and small fruits—is probably the next most economical way to get food for processing. Buying from a pick-your-own operation, a farmer's market or a roadside produce stand during the height of the season is another fairly low-cost option."

Family food preferences should determine what you preserve. Just because green beans, carrots or potatoes are plentiful does not mean you should can them. They are available all year around. But foods such as peaches, cherries, rhubarb and other foods of short availability should be top priority.

"Failure to follow canning instructions carefully can lead to spoliage and waste and even food poisoning," cautions Dr. Dean. "If you are unsure about your skills, you would be better off freezing food or buying commercially processed products."

Storage of your canned foods is important. They need a cool, dark place that does not get cold enough for food to freeze. Storage in an overly warm area lowers the quality of the food. And storage in a hard to get to spot may lead to waste because you have forgotten the food is there.

"Because of the initial cost of a home freezer and the expense of operating it, home freezing is usually more expensive than home canning," Dr. Dean says. "Homemakers often prefer freezing to canning, however, because freezing is easier and it preserves more of the fresh-from-the-garden taste."

"If the main aim of home food preservation is to save money, however, canning is the way to go." Dr. Dean cites a study done at Cornell University that showed that foods frozen at home cost anywhere from 19 to 53 cents more per pound that comparable foods bought at the supermarket. This was true even if the freezer was energy-efficient, if it was used to full capacity and if electricyty rates were low. A poorly operating freezer, inefficient use of freezer space or high electrical rates would push the cost per pound still higher.

Cosmetic Puffery Adds Up To Profits

By ELLIE GROSSMAN

NEW YORK — (NEA) — If the merchandise isn't moving, puff it up.

The cosmetic industry follows that dictum eagerly, as the Helena Rubinstein company proved recently.

Just listen to the alarums in this letter from the Softness Group, Inc., a public relations firm representing the company.

We should interview Shirley Lord, vice president of corporate relations at Helena Rubinstein, the letter says, "because she is prepared to discuss some startling information concerning the effects of environmental pollution on health and beauty."

Everyone knows, it continues, "how technology is rapidly destroying our native natural resources. However, the constant assault of pollutants has taken its toll on human life as well. For example, skin and hair have no means of repelling the airborne hazards."

(The reader is left to infer what he will from the last two sentences.)

The letter continues about how the company is "investigating the problem to develop new products which will protect us from these environmental changes."

It certainly sounds serious. By all means, let's talk to Shirley Lord.

A former English newspaperwoman, Ms. Lord is one of the beautiful people, a globe-trotting "expert in beauty and health care," her bio reads, a former beauty editor at Vogue.

She is average height, chubby, a high-powered executive with teased, blonde hair.

GIVES ADVICE—Beauty Advisor Shirley Lord says "The American woman lives in a punishing environment.

All right, Ms. Lord, let's have that startling information.

"The American woman," she says, "lives in a punishing environment. Because of air conditioning and overheating, there is a constant stealing of moisture away from your skin. And all light, not just ultra-violet rays, ages the skin. Pollutants have deleterious effects on skin because the dirt and grime attack it."

However, she continues, with Helena Rubinstein's new skin and hair lotions, The Protectors, the American woman is safe from all that. "The Protectors is the most superlative sunscreen on the market, though we were worried about positioning it as that. It's a barrier, a preventive measure for the skin."

It happens, though, that the Hair Protector is moving better than the Skin Protector, and that's where the press comes in. "We hope people like you will help spread the word about the need for a woman to protect her skin."

Yes, but you haven't given us any startling information yet; "the toll on human life" and all that. We're not making a case for air pollution but what research have you done with everyday pollution and skin?

Ms. Lord suggests we view a promotion film on The Protectors she shows to stores around the country.

Against typical shots of smoke stacks, car exhausts and garbage heaps, the announcer's voice intones, "We can no longer escape it. It's everywhere – the threat to beauty and health."

For example, look at what those atmospheric acids have done to that marble monument.

Cut to the laboratory. Here, shielded by The Protectors, skin and hair samples, even "protein-coated paper approximating human skin" survived desert-like conditions, ultra-violet light and corrosive acids and chemicals. Unprotected control groups, however, fared badly.

End of promotional film.

Okay. We know ultra-violet light is harmful. But those other tests – most of us don't live in the desert, and is the concentration of chemicals and acids used in the lab the same as we encounter daily?

Perhaps Dr. Jack Mausner, vice president of research and development for Helena Rubinstein worldwide, can help.

"As far as pollution is concerned," Dr. Mausner concedes, "we don't have enough information of the effect on the skin, but we approach this from the point of view that it is very likely to be harmful.

"There are infinitesimal amounts of impurities in the atmosphere we think cause slow damage. By accelerating these conditions in the laboratory – and, okay, you can call them very severe – we proved The Protectors will protect."

Whether we desperately need that protection is something else.

Dermatologists and environmental researchers say that the airborne particulates which adhere themselves to the skin are washed away with soap and water.

Dermatologists also say that the outer layer of the skin renews itself every two to four weeks, unlike marble monuments, which is why monuments get eaten away by acids.

And dermatologists say that any barrier – make-up, for instance – will protect against everything but ultra-violet light.

Therefore, unless you were to use The Protectors as a sunscreen – and its efficacy against other sunscreen products was not shown – it's kind of like arming yourself against snakes in Ireland.

Opening lead — Ace ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The English pair of Rose and Forro took the early lead at the Cavendish invitational, only to falter in the stretch and fall back to seventh. Here is one of the hands that helped them off to their good start.

American pairs tend not to make a takeout double with too much strength in the opponent's bid suit, but the British double with all good hands, so Rose doubled West's heart opening bid. East adopted the rather doubtful strategy of leaping to four hearts to try to shut out the spade suit, but Forro did not cross the Atlantic Ocean to be shut out of the bidding. With the spirit that Nelson showed at Trafalgar and Wellington at Waterloo, he bid four spades.

Rose went right to six and there was no defense against the contract.

West led his ace of diamonds. Forro ruffed in dummy and led a trump to his queen. West held back his ace, but Forro simply led a second trump. West took his ace this time and led out his last trump, but Forro just claimed with the announcement, "I throw my last three diamonds on the long clubs."

Brownfield won the district in a playoff.

Ray Pauling of Brownfield was named the district's "Coach of the Year."

Other members of the all district team are Randy Rozean of Brownfield and Valente Garza of Lamesa, pitchers; Jerry Joplin of Brownfield, second base; Mike Halamicek of Brownfield, first base; Mike Swain and David Harrell of Brownfield, and Mark Hughes of Lamesa, outfield; Mike Murphy of Brownfield and Herman Martinez of Lamesa, catchers.

'Cats, Rangers Are Victorious

Theresa Ashworth went 3 for 3 and pitched the winning game to lead the Red Robins over the Bobcats, 12-11, in mini-minor league girls' softball league action last night.

Ashworth cracked two singles and clubbed a double during the game. Ashworth was not, however, alone in the hitting department. Tami Robinson, Kelly Warren and Candy Shoemaker grabbed singles.

For the Bobcats, Susan Albin, Mary Warren and Susan Brim collected singles. Warren also clubbed a double.

Ashworth picked up the win, and Warren was charged with the loss.

Tracey O'Day slammed a homer and a single as the Rangers shot down the Cardinals in girls' softball major league play last night.

Rudolph Leading Kemper, As Trevino Forced Out

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Lee Trevino was back in his motel considering whether he'll be able to play in the U.S. Open and Mason Rudolph was stranded in the clubhouse, anxiously wondering if his 66 would be wiped out, when a violent thunderstorm swept the Quail Hollow Country Club course late Thursday afternoon.

Rudolph's question was answered. His six-under-par score stands, even though the round was postponed with almost half the field of 153 competitors in the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament still to complete first-round play.

Trevino's question is unanswered. He doesn't yet know if he'll play in next week's national championship, a title he has won twice and for which he ranked as a leading contender this year.

"I don't know if I'll be able to play or not," Trevino said of the U.S. Open after a painful pinched nerve in his back forced him to withdraw before the start of this weather-plagued event.

"I'm gonna stay in Charlotte, rest, practice maybe if my back feels up to it. I'll beat some balls Sunday and then, depending on how my back feels, I'll make a decision on whether to play in the Open."

The 42-year-old Rudolph, an easy-going, low-key, softly-drawling native of Tennessee, one-putted 10 times — including the last six holes he played — to pace the 78 men who completed play before the rain, wind and lightning struck the course.

Play was suspended for three hours before officials decided to postpone for the day and resume in the morning. Had they decided to cancel, all scores would have been wiped out. Since more than half the field was in and all but a handful of late starters had completed at least nine holes, they opted for a postponement. All completed scores stand. All players stranded by the storm marked their positions and were scheduled to resume today.

Of those stranded on the course, Jim Dent and Bob Lunn were the leaders at three under par — three back of Rudolph — after nine holes. Cesar Sanudo and Larry Nelson were two under and playing their back nines. Defending title-holder and Masters champion Ray Floyd was even par after 10 holes.

J.C. Snead was alone in second among the early finishers with a 67.

Tom Purtzer, the rookie who led through three rounds of last week's Bicentennial Classic, and Rex Caldwell completed play in 68 strokes, two back. At 69 were Forrest Fezler, Mark Hayes and Gary Groh.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed his first four holes and had to rally for a 74. Gary Player of South Africa also was at two over par.

Julius Boros shot a 71 and also wondered if it would be rained out. His effort included a hole in one on the 13th, worth $5,000 from a local business concern. It stands.

Snyder Well Service Tops Softball Loop

In Men's Softball action Monday, the first game, between Snyder Well Service and Ira, was rescheduled for a later date. Top Acidizers topped Lee's 66, 9-4, in the second game. Myers picked up the win while Hester was handed the loss.

Wadleigh edged Lee's 66, 7-6, in Tuesday's first game. Sullivan was the winning pitcher and Hester was tagged with the loss.

Snyder Well Service stomped N. T. Lee, 24-3. Bill Terry grabbed the win, and Barnes was the losing hurler in the second game.

Top Acidizers blasted N.T. Lee, 14-3, in Thursday's first game. Myers picked up the win, and Warren was tagged with the loss.

Wadleigh bested Ira, 9-1, in Thursday's second game. Sullivan won the game, and Gladson was given the loss.

The league standings are:

Snyder Well Service—4 wins, 1 loss
Top Acidizers—4 wins, 2 losses
Wadleigh—4 wins, 2 losses
Ira—3 wins, 2 losses
Lee's 66—2 wins, 2 losses
N.T. Lee—0 wins, 6 losses

The next Men's Softball League action will be Monday night. The male softballers will post a double header. In the first game, Top Acidizers will face Wadleigh, and in the second game, Ira will go up against Lee 66.

Westerners Drop To Fourth Place

GALVESTON — "It's a fight between Brevard and Alexander City for first and Chipola, WTC, and McLennan for third," explained Coach Bob O'Day after the third round of play at the National Junior College Golf Championship.

Western Texas College's linksters fired a 12 over par, 300, yesterday to drop another notch, to fourth place. The national golfing event opened play Tuesday with the Westerners finishing in second place. Wednesday, WTC slipped to third. WTC has a three day total of 893.

Coach O'Day explained the golfers' fall as, "simply due to tough competition." Brevard Junior College, the tourney leader, is located in Cocoa, Fla., a golfing community and was the pre-tourney favorite. Brevard has carded a 867 for the event, five strokes ahead of second place Alexander City, Ala. and 26 strokes of WTC.

McLennan Community College of Waco, WTC's Texas counterpart, is breathing down the Westerner's necks, firing a tourney total of 894, one shot off the WTC linkster's pace.

Conditions at the Galveston Country Club, host of the event, were good yesterday. Only a slight breeze was reported.

Here are the scores of the top dozen teams on the par 72-18 hole course:

Brevard, Fla.-867
Alexander City, Ala.-872
Chipola, Mariana, Fla.-890
Western Texas College—893
McLennan Community College, Waco-894
Sandhills, N.C.-908
Phoenix Junior College-914
Temple Junior College-926
Spartanburg, S.C.-926
Abraham Baldwin, Ga.-927
Monroe, N.Y.-937
Southeast Nebraska-937

Individually, for the WTC linksters, Grant Collyns fired a 76 for a three day total of 221, tying him for 11th.

Ross Wortham carded a 75 for a three day score of 222 for 17th place. Bryan Hargrove posted a 75 for a three day 226, and Donnie Loerwald fired a 76 for a three day tally of 226 also. Arnold Madril shot a 78 and has a three day record of 231.

The tournament ends today and the Westerners will return tomorrow.

Braves, Rebs Winners In Teenage Loop

In a low hitting game, the Braves scalped the Buffs, 12-6, in Teenage League play last night.

For the warriors, Sid Everton and Randy Wolf cracked singles and Shawn Ragland and Sid Everton clubbed doubles.

John Davis, Gerald Snyder, Billy Stephens and Gary Martin racked up singles for the losers. Billy Stephens also picked up a double.

Pitching duties for the winners were divided between Shawn Ragland and Sid Everton with Everton grabbing the victory. For the Buffs, John Davis, Billy Stephens and Richard Crayton shared the hurling. Crayton was nabbed with the loss.

In a nine inning game, the Rebels dodged the Dodgers, 8-5, in the second Teenage League contest last night.

At the end of regular play the score was knotted up 5-5, but, after a scoreless stanza, the Rebs grabbed the winning runs on singles by Ronnie Myers and Hector Barbosa and Tony Degrate getting hit by a pitch.

For the Rebels, Bobby Degrate, Toby Neves, Myers and Barbosa clouted singles, with Barbosa picking up two.

For the Dodgers, Bryan Vincent, Bobby Ford, Joe Stewart, Marty Hammond and Scott Crenwelge clubbed one baggers. Crenwelge had two singles.

Rocking Chair Singer At First Baptist

A rocking chair, normally identified with age and aches, is a vital part of one man's performance. He is Eddy Nicholson, a Tennessee hillbilly who has parlayed a smoothly produced package of down home stories, bluegrass style gospel songs and genuine mountaineer philosophy into an idea that is enjoying national success. The unique program is called "Folks Ain't A-Livin' No More" and focuses on America's fast moving society.

"We need to slow down, spend more time with the younguns and take time to smell the roses," says Nicholson who dressed in overalls, boots and sings from a rocking chair.

Eddy began doing his program for civic clubs, banquets, churches and special events in the West Texas Area where he now lives. Those who heard it told others. It soon spread to other states and included appearances with outstanding show personalities. He just completed a tour with Paul Harvey, Dale Evans and others.

Audiences laugh, cry, sing along, clap their hands and reminisce as Nicholson portrays the lifestyle, music and thinking of a typical East Tennessee farm family at the turn of the 20th century.

Eddy Nicholson, the Rocking Chair Singer, will make a personal appearance at First Baptist Church Sunday night at 7 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

Burglar Leaves Thank-You Note

SEATTLE (AP) — The burglar ate salami and potato salad before he took off with the old stereo. He left a note thanking W. Lee Singleton and congratulating him on his new master's degree.

The burglar's note, written after the thief rummaged through some mail while Singleton and his wife were asleep, read:

"Dear Sue and Lee

"Due to the circumstances I write in great haste; I regret the necessity of 'borrowing' your stereo, but checking out the house, I'm sure you can afford it. Congratulations on the M.A. Remember, you either fear your fate too much or your deserts are small, if you dare not put it to the touch — to win or lose it all. Good night."

THE POWER OF FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE

A row of poplar trees alongside my house blew down during a moderate windstorm. The root systems were shallow, though the trees had grown splendidly tall. The mighty oaks nearby merely shook their limbs at the wind.

Modern man must learn that that which is good grows slowly. Good things need deep roots in order to stand firmly.

Witness the lowly Nazarene. He planted seed in twelve men's hearts. He was in no hurry. He knew they would use that seed as a lever and their faith as the fulcrum to move the world.

Faith, hope and love are three seeds which grow ever so slowly in our lives. But, ah, the roots are ever so deeply embedded in the muscle of our souls. They laugh at life's storms, and grow stronger in the fiercest winds.

—Paul M. Stevens
