Cold Wave Is Scheduled To Follow West Texas Rains

Lubbock Given Over Inch of Precipitation

Temperature Drops to Five Below Freezing Thursday and Fair and Colder Predicted for Section Today

Moisture General

Winter Wheat and Pastures Benefitted by General Rainfall; Damage to Cotton Is Light at Slaton

LOWERING temperatures were expected to accompany rain which Wednesday night and Thursday blanketed the major portion of West Texas, gauge readings ranging roughly from a half to two inches.

Precipitation measured 1.02 inches at the state experiment station here. The rain began falling lightly in Lubbock shortly before daybreak and continued well into the afternoon, slacking at intervals.

Five Below Freezing

Thursday's maximum temperature here as reported by the experiment station was 41 degrees and the minimum was 27 degrees—five below freezing. The forecast for today in Lubbock and vicinity was fair and colder.

At Slaton, precipitation had gauged an inch and the rain had not halted late in the afternoon. Winter wheat and pastures in the area will be benefitted and damage to cotton in the Slaton vicinity was reported to be slight as 90 per cent of the crop had been gathered. The rain began at Slaton early Thursday morning.

Early reports indicated that approximately an inch of rain had fallen from Canyon and Plainview south to Big Spring and Sweetwater and from the main line of the Fort Worth & Denver City railway west to New Mexico.

Even heavier downpours were reported later from some points in the section. Precipitation as recorded at the Spur experiment station Wednesday night and Thursday totaled 2.11 inches, equalling a mark set 19 years ago.

Rain General

Precipitation from Plainview south to Southland appeared to be about the same as here, Santa Fe railroad attaches reported. Drivers for South Plains Coaches, Inc., reported rain all the way to Sweetwater with a good fall at that point.

The rain blanket extended northwestward to Muleshoe in Bailey county and southwestward to Seagraves. Precipitation was reported from Tahoka and Lamesa to Big Spring in the southern part of the territory. Sweeping eastward, the rain reached Estelline. Reports of rain also were received from Littlefield and Levelland, northwest and west of Lubbock. The Panhandle received a wetting. Amarillo, Canyon

Congressional Probe of Chicago Gangs Is Asked

Representative Kunz Blames Al Capone For His Defeat at Polls; Conspiracy Charged

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Representative Kunz today blamed Chicago gang guns for his defeat at the polls last month and demanded a congressional investigation.

Representative Rainey, also of Illinois, joined his colleague in calling for an inquiry and proposed it be made by the special house committee appointed to investigate campaign fund complaints.

Kunz, a democrat, asserted officials knew of a conspiracy to defeat him but were unable to stop it, that although police machine guns were sent into a few districts the gangsters were out all day and all night "forcing officials to change straight democratic ballots."

In addition he said court records show the brother of his victorious opponent, Peter C. Granata, to be a secretary of Al Capone.

Chairman Lehlback, republican, New Jersey, said the special committee would have to have evidence before it began investigation, for "we're not going up and down the country like the senate committee just because somebody comes and reports gossip."

Members of the committee, however, differed. Representative Michener, republican, Michigan, said he would view it in a judicial manner; Black, New York, democrat, was ready to look into the complaint and Howard, democrat, of Nebraska, observed "one look at the returns is enough to show there was something wrong."

Government of Andre Tardieu Meets Defeat

Resignation of Cabinet Given to President After Ministry Placed in Minority by Eight Votes Thursday

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Premier Andre Tardieu's second ministry was placed in a minority of eight votes by the senate today. The premier with his colleagues visited President Doumergue at the Elysee palace tonight and presented the resignation of the entire cabinet.

M. Tardieu went down smiling and fighting to the end. But the grave "elder statesmen" of the third republic decided by a vote of 147 to 139 the country needed a change of government. The financial scandals which already had resulted in resignation of three members of the Tardieu ministry mainly were responsible for the overthrow. In a wider sense the cause was the senate's dissatisfaction with the cabinet's general policy at a moment of national uneasiness.

The premier already had foreseen the senate would place a period to his labors. In a speech at the Thanksgiving night dinner of the American club he reminded his hosts the French senate, like "the American senate, really existed and could exercise its power, however rarely it had done so in the past. This senate, he said, he must face.

Tomorrow President Doumergue will begin the task of bringing another government into life. Raymond Poincare, who has been so often called to power in moments of crisis, was a big favorite lobby gossip in the chamber and senate tonight. Yesterday he told friends, however, he preferred not to return to the premiership.

A dark horse picked by many politicians for the post was Piere Laval, minister of public works in the Tardieu cabinet who won popular favor by the manner in which he settled the recent textile strikes.

M. Tardieu met the waterloo which Senator Rene Hery said he must meet to complete his resemblance to Napoleon after a five hour session of the senate. It was the fourth time in the history of the third republic a government had been forced to resign by the senate instead of the chamber.

Woman Is Star Witness in 7 Liquor Trials

Government Nears Close of Case Against Seven Charged with Conspiracy to Violate National Prohibition Laws

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 4.—As the government approached the close of its case against seven Tillman county citizens charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, the "Straw that broke the camel's back" and led to the investigation came to light today.

Mrs. Mary T. Robison, a star witness for the government, testified the aid of a United States senator in Washington was invoked after raids by federal authorities on stills operated by her husband and three sons last year.

She intimated this action was taken when the purported "protection" of the Robison stills by certain accused county officials grew into "line collections" which became larger each month.

Climaxes Testimony.

Mrs. Robison's testimony climaxed that of 15 other government witnesses during a day in which the government counsel suffered two severe setbacks because of technicalities.

Herbert K. Hyde, assistant United States district attorney, dismissed several court clerks who had been called as witnesses after Judge Edgar S. Vaught ruled their testimony regarding certain "bootlegging cases" in southwestern Oklahoma would be considered as having no bearing on the present case. Then, when a government exhib-

FILE FEDERAL CHARGES

A. C. Winford Held in Jail on Three Pro Counts

Two federal charges of liquor sale and one of possession were filed Thursday against A. C. Winford, who lived in northwest Lubbock, before Victor H. Lindsey, United States commissioner.

Appearing on a charge of liquor sale, James McLemon, negro porter at a local hotel, waived preliminary hearing Thursday before Justice G. R. Scott, who fixed bond at $1,000 to await grand jury action.

Winford was arrested at his home Wednesday night in a raid by police and county officers. McLemon was arrested Monday night by police. Both are in the county jail.

Open House Is Held At New American Legion Home; To Last Through Sunday

OPEN house began Thursday at the new American Legion home, 910 Texas Avenue, and committees of Allen Brothers Post, No. 148, and the post auxiliary were there to receive interested persons and conduct them through the structure.

Although inclement weather hindered attendance at the open house, post officials expressed pleasure at the number who came to the Legion home and announced that open house would be continued through Sunday.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday were the days originally designated for open house. Members of the Lubbock Legion post particularly asked that donors to the fund which made the home possible visit it.

"The home is part theirs—they made it possible, and we want them to see it, to be proud of it, to realize how much the legionnaires appreciate it," said Glen Hess, commander of Allen Brothers post in urging donors to attend open house.

The receiving line which will welcome house guests tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock will be composed of: Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Pharr and Mr. and Mrs. Howard.

Congress Told How Hoover Is To Spend Fund

President Outlines Plan to Relieve Unemployment by $150,000,000 for Public Works in Next Six Months

Asks Quick Action

House Appropriations Committee to Begin Hearing Today on Resolution to Provide Sum; Leaders Respond

By CECIL B. DICKSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Congress was informed today by President Hoover how he plans to spend $150,000,000 for public works within the next six months to relieve unemployment.

Administration leaders responded to the chief executive's urgent plea for quick action and the house appropriations committee will begin hearings tomorrow on a resolution to provide the sum. A similar resolution was introduced in the senate and will await house action.

To List Uses

Members of both parties who had looked skeptically at first at his proposal indicated the chief executive's decision to make known the use to which the money was to be put would create a strong favorable sentiment.

In submitting his supplemental estimate, President Hoover said application of the money was to be limited to work already directed by congress, the economic importance of which previously had been determined by it.

The president said the grant of a lump sum to a cabinet committee would avoid "the long delay incident to selection of new projects by congress and the further long delays intechnical preparation which new projects would require, both of which would render such action of no purpose in relief of unemployment."

The committee, he said, would be made up by the secretaries of treasury, war, navy, commerce and agricultural. Its commission, he said might be fixed in the appropria-

John Alsup Is Freed by Jury

Former Fort Worth Officer Found Not Guilty of Slaying Negro During Alleged Frame-Up Bank Robbery

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 4.—John Alsup, former Fort Worth policeman, tonight was found not guilty of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of George Terrell, a negro, during an attempted holdup of a Polytechnic bank last April.

Whether Alsup acted in good faith to thwart the robbery attempt or whether George Terrell, negro, was killed as part of a "frame-up" to collect a reward for "dead bank bandits" was the question before the jury here in criminal district court.

The case went to the jury at 6 p. m. after an afternoon of arguments by District Attorney Andrew J. Priest of Dallas county, for the state, and Otis Rogers of Fort Worth for the defense.

Testimony was closed after two Fort Worth newspaper men testified that after Will Tate and Terrell, both negroes, had been killed, Alsup insisted that newspaper stories show he had killed them both.

Alsup, testifying during the morning, denied that there was any intimation of a frame-up in the holdup and subsequent shooting of the two negroes.

Judge George Wilson in Charge Of State Land Titles

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Appointment of Judge George T. Wilson of Abilene to have charge of the land titles office of the attorney general's department was announced here by James V. Mr. Allred expressed the opinion that Judge Wilson, a West Texan, would prove well qualified to pass upon land title questions, a large number of which recently have involved West Texas lands.

When Police Battled Communists In Washington

Motive Sought In the Murder Of Amarilloan

Robbery Theory Discredited in Investigation of Fatal Shooting of Grocer; Two Solutions Are Offered

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Dec. 4. — With the theory of robbery virtually checked out of the affair, officers Thursday continued their search for a motive in the slaying here Wednesday night of Harold A. McCarrick, Amarillo grocer, on the front yard of his home, while the case began to take the complexion of a well planned and expertly executed murder with malice.

Three leaden slugs from a large caliber revolver, in the hands of one of two thugs, tore through McCarrick's body.

Course Intercepted.

McCarrick had walked home, arriving about 9:35 o'clock, carrying a basket of foodstuffs, when two men walked diagonally across the street, according to witnesses, intercepted his course.

Without warning to the victim and without attempting to force him to put up his hands, they opened fire at about five feet distance, three shots taking effect.

Two theories seem to stand out most prominently in efforts to solve the case. One is that McCarrick was a victim of mistaken identity, while the other, given less credence, is that of revenge.

McCarrick was a prosecuting witness in a hijacking case here two years ago, which resulted in a conviction and a sentence of five years in the penitentiary.

Action Motion Pictures Of Molecules Being Taken, Radiological Group Told

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Motion pictures of molecules in action are being taken, Professor George L. Clark of the University of Illinois, disclosed here today.

This amazing stride in science, offering untold possibilities for discoveries, was revealed at the meeting of the Radiological Society of North America.

Students working with Professor Clark, famous for his advancement of X-ray tube design, are doing this work in the university laboratory at Urbana, Ill.

The motion pictures are made possible by a new tube, operated at 50,000 volts and 20 to 100 milliamperes and which has cut the time of X-ray pictures from two hours to one-fiftieth of a second. It is used as a super-microscope presenting diffraction rays revealing molecular structure rather than the direct plane photography.

The X-ray diffraction is on a flourescent screen, of which motion pictures are being taken as molecular changes occur this showing the progress of molecules in action for the first time in the history of science.

Three Armed Men Invade State Institution for Criminal Insane; Attendants Over-Powered as Six Escape

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—New York's hundred thousand by-ways were searched tonight for six demented felons.

The maniacs were liberated about 3 o'clock this morning by armed men who invaded the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan and apparently they came straight to New York City. Mattewan is some 40 miles north of New York.

At least two of the men had records as killers and a third was a pyro-maniac.

Demands Admittance.

One knocked at the door of his wife's apartment in West Fifty-Third street a few hours after his delivery, and demanded admittance. He was Frank Vanderkuylen, who killed a bigamous wife with acid.

Later in the day he appeared again in the rectory of a church and escaped before a priest could summon police.

The liberty of the second killer, Harry Gordon, known as the "Mad Butcher," struck terror in Rochester, N. Y., where a few years ago, he rampaged through the town, killing two butcher competitors, and wounding a third.

The other objects of tonight's search were:

Anthony A. Alloy, 41, Brooklyn pyro-maniac.

John F. Gambill, 29, who last year assaulted a man with a knife in Manhattan.

Joseph Kaylor, 35, Long Island, adjudged insane after an arson and burglary record.

John G. Biggins, 30, Brooklyn, adjudged insane after violating a parole.

Madmen Liberated.

The leader of the gang which invaded the hospital, overpowered attendants and liberated the madmen, was recognized as William Nelson, New York. Nelson escaped a fortnight ago from the same institution. He had been committed for burglary.

Two men accompanied Nelson on the expedition. Four of the inmates were dressed and ready for the escape. The other two, including Gordon, left in their night clothing. They were carried away in two motor cars.

BORGER, Dec. 4. (AP)—Two unmasked and armed men held up a suburban grocery store here tonight, forced several customers to stand against a wall while they took about $97 from two cash registers, then ordered the customers to lie on the floor and made their escape in an automobile.

Confirmation Of Doak Seen As Labor Head

Mass of Nominations Before Senate Start Through Mill; Favorable Report Is Given to Virginia Nominee

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The mass of nominations before the senate was started through the mill today with William N. Doak, of Virginia, receiving a favorable report from the labor committee as secretary of labor.

Doak's name was put before the senate for confirmation but Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, insisted on regular order which requires reports lie over a day. Couzens added he had no objection to Doak and there appeared to be none from other senators. His confirmation Monday seemed probable.

Chairman Couzens of the Interstate Commerce Committee, called an executive session for tomorrow to take up the five men named yesterday for the newly organized power commission. Chairman Smoot of the finance committee called a special meeting for Saturday to begin consideration of the six members of the new tariff commission.

The senate is giving close scrutiny to the power commission appointees. Inquiry seemed to center on Frank McNinch, of North Carolina, after Senator Overman, democrat, North Carolina, sought to determine if the nominee was a democrat.

Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, announced his support of McNinch and described him as a "lifelong democrat." However, Simmons said the nominee did not vote for Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

Pending study by the committee, Couzens said he had no objection to any of the nominees for the power commission.

Tech Students To Usher In Christmas Season With Carols And Play Tonight

Students of Texas Technological college will usher in the Christmas season with an enterainment at the college gymnasium.

The singing of carols under the direction of W. R. Waghorne will begin at 8 o'clock and will be followed by the presentation of a three part play, "Town of Bethlehem," sponsored by the Thespian and Sock and Buskin dramatic clubs of the college.

The scene of the nativity opens the play which tells the story of several characters, with the influence of Christ as a back ground. Faustina, daughter of a noble Roman, has scorned the women of Nazareth and refused to give her a room in the inn. This role is taken by Miss Eileen Graves.

Cariston, a young Greek poet, declares his love for Faustina but she accepts Pompilius, nephew of Caesar, instead. The second part is an interlude and Faustina, who has been stricken with leprosy, is deserted by Pompilius and wanders over the hillside.

The last scene is laid near the well of David after thirty years have elapsed. Cariston, now in favor, has looked for Faustina for years without success. In wandering over the hills, she is told of a man with magic healing power and discovers that He is the one whose mother she had scorned 30 years before. She is healed of her leprosy after a visit to the Man of Galilee.

The role of Faustina's handmaiden is taken by Miss Margaret Cooper; Glaucius, a friend to Cariston, is played by Graydon Ausmus; and the role of Pomilius is taken by Haskell Beard.

This play was first presented by the Ben Greet players on the Christmas tide of 1909 and has been cut from its original presentation of 2 hours.

There will be no admission.

Now Anyone Can Learn To Play

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP) — The latest short cut to musical attainment arrived today on the liner Paris accompanied by its French inventor, Maurice Martenot.

The instrument, Martenot said, will produce almost every kind of orchestral tone by electric waves and a person without musical knowledge can learn to play it in three or four weeks.

It resembles a small piano. Above the keyboard is a wire which controls the sound vibrations and at the side a set of push buttons regulate the tones, which Martenot said range from flute like notes to the power and depth of an organ.

How Good Doctors Treat Bad Colds

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish, —no danger.

Get a family package of Calotabs, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store. (adv.)

Spanish Motif Is Used For Annual Dinner of Las Chaparritas Club

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

SINCE winners in the national health contest sponsored by the Boys-Girls 4-H congress each follow the fundamentals of health found in primer hygiene books, this should mean something to young people to whom physical perfection means so much.

The rules which these two winners say they follow are nine hours sleep, plenty of vegetables and at least a quart of milk daily. Tea and coffee are out. Neither smoke. Both eat spinach often and like it. Candy and desserts are all right in their places— after meals, the two stated. These winners were Marian E. Snyder-Gaard, 15, of Brundy county, Iowa, and William Ross Boenhamer, 20, of Johnson county Missouri.

To a lot of adolescent girls who are just becoming conscious of physical charms and whose ideals of beauty cosmetics, I'd like to become motherly and offer some counsel on the beauty that comes from within rather than from without.

WONDER WHAT THEY DECIDED

THE Y's out at Texas Technological college promoted a discussion on "I don't have time to get anything done" the other evening. Had I have had the time, I might have gone out to see what they decided to do about it.

LETS GET TOGETHER

ANOTHER announcement has come out from the college. Next week is going to be "dead week" so, as women's editor, I'd like to see all my town customers rally around with a lot of parties to make up for what the collegians don't have.

THESE EMINENT WWOMEN

WOMEN who are interested in marking every achievement of women should make a note of Lady Astor's manless dinner the other evening in London.

A gathering of emminent men, where women are involved in no capacity, is not unsual enough to draw attention, but a manless dinner such as Lady Astor gave is international news. Of course, she overlooked the substitution of women for men as waiters, but in every other particular women were used.

A thing which interested me, and amused me a little, was that no formal program was prepared. The women were free to talk when they liked and to choose their subjects. Since this was a gathering of women high in law, medicine, politics, business, diplomacy, literature, arts, aviation and other lines, one can imagine that the conversation was interesting and intelligent, and I'll venture that it was human. Those who have attained eminence and who have no need of pretending that they are intelligent are the most human and simple people in the world, as a usual thing, and the most interesting to talk to.

Ocassionally, I meet someone who poses as one of the intelligentsia and I'm always more or less disgusted with him. I can't think that these people deceive very many people.

Sincerity is so much more delightful. Sometime within the last week someone was telling me about a visit of a well known author to a college campus. It seems to me that the writer was Dorothy Scarbrough, but I am not sure. Anyway, it seems that various students were questioning her about recent books and the author admitted quite frankly several times that she had not read a book and knew nothing of the author. Finally, she laughed and said she did not even attempt to keep up with all writers; that she had her favorites whom she followed and she couldn't pretend to know of the others.

The stories of Schumann-Heink and Mary Roberts Reinhart, which appeared serially in women's magazines, have interested me because they reveal so much of these women, who mean so much to the people of America. Really great people are seldom bothered with superiority complexes.

One time several years ago, I was sent behind the scenes of an auditorium to interview Schumann-Heink before she appeared for her evening performance. It was in December or January and very cold. Since I arrived early, I saw the singer make her entrance through the back door and, much to my surprise because I was new at that sort of thing, she didn't have any earmarks of greatness in appearance. She has something that looked very much like a fascinator tied around her head and she was bundled up in more nondescript appearing clothing than anyone I had ever seen.

Behind the scenes she was just a motherly sort of woman and she carried a lot of her humanity on the stage.

Accident Ends Girl's Flight

British Aviatrix Comes Down at Sea; Swims Courageously to Shore to Save Life of Her Companion

(By The Associated Press)

CATANIA, Italy, Dec. 4.—Miss Winifred Spooner, British girl aviator who was seeking to make a record flight from Croydon to Capetown today came down in the Tyrrhenian sea near the toe of Italy's boot, and courageously swam ashore to save the life of her companion, Captain E. C. T. Edwards.

Their plane, in which they had left Rome before daylight, fell in the water about three kilometers from Bel Monte Calabro but did not sink. Although it was still dark Miss Spooner, who is 23 years old, plunged into the sea and eventually reached the shore.

Given First Aid

It was deserted and she could not find anyone, so she walked a short distance to a small railway station where her appearance startled railroad employes. She was exhausted but under their ministrations she was revived quickly and told them of Edwards' plight.

Meanwhile Edwards continued his signals and finally attracted attention of some fishermen who went to his assistance, took him off the plane and drew it to shore.

Miss Spooner said the flight would be abandoned.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Christmas Is Coming

IT won't be long now. Christmas is coming, and coming fast. You can see it in Lubbock stores. You can see it in the conversation of children. You can see signs of it in the postoffice.

It is essentially a season of merriment and good cheer. It is a time when everybody adopts for his own rule of conduct the precept that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

There are those who complain that it has been "commercialized," whatever that may mean. But if spending one's money for the happiness of somebody else is commercialism, then the sooner the whole world, all its institutions and all its people become "commercialized" the better for all concerned.

It is an elevating experience, this preparing for Christmas. It adds something to the joy of living and removes even the most callous from the dead level of existence and lets him dwell for a little while in the rarified upper air where the spiritual is placed above the material, where selfishness gives place to generosity and where the divine and the human are so commingled that the symbol of divinity in the person of the Child in the manger and that benevolent figment of human imagination, old Santa Claus, are spoken of in the same breath even by the most reverent.

It is a time for sweet secrets, for whisperings and consultations, for yearnings for others, for little sacrifices to the happiness of those we love.

And speaking of secrets, and of Christmas coming, we make bold to whisper that we have been listening in on Santa Claus. It won't be long now. Christmas is coming.

PRECEDENT

Republicanism's recent unpleasantness has attracted public attention to the political tradition that a party in power, defeated in the "midterm elections" after a great financial panic, is destined to lose the next presidential election.

There is historical proof that such a result has been almost but not absolutely invariable. Unlike most traditions, this one is based on fact.

Van Buren and the Democrats established the precedent in 1840, when they lost the presidency to the Whigs after the panic of 1837.

Democratic defeats followed the panics of 1857 and of 1893, while Cleveland's election in 1884 followed a financial crash.

Exceptions to the rule were the Republican victory in 1876 within three years of a panic during a Republican administration, the election of President Taft a year after the panic of 1907 and the Coolidge landslide in 1924 while the country was recovering from the business depression of 1920 and 1921. The latter two exceptions may be accounted for, respectively, by Taft's having had the backing of Roosevelt, who was then at the height of his popularity, and the opposition of that chronic loser, William Jennings Bryan, and by Coolidge's succession to the presidency after President Harding's death. Circumstances alter cases even when a political party is playing against the heavy odds of a business or financial collapse.

Henry Ford says the business depression is a good thing for us. So's the extraction of a bad tooth.

Practical Health Problems

INSURANCE APPLICANT IS GIVEN RIGID EXAMINATION OF HEART

By Dr. Morris Fishbein Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

When a man comes to be examined for life insurance, the examiner nowadays pays a large part of his attention to the condition of the heart and the blood vessels.

A failure by the examiner to appraise correctly the state of these tissues may cause the life insurance company to pay out a large claim long before the man has completed even a few payments of premiums.

Dr. Theodore Thompson, who is chief medical officer of a half dozen important British insurance companies, points out that both in Great Britain and in the United States heart disease is the outstanding cause of death and the mortality from diseases of the heart and blood vessels is more than the combined total from tuberculosis and cancer.

The life insurance examiner is very careful to find out whether or not the person who wishes insurance has suffered previously from rheumatic fever, syphilis, gout or any of the infectious diseases.

The reason is, of course, that rheumatic fever is one of the commonest causes of diseases of the heart. If the person affected in childhood has been five to seven years without any symptoms and his heart appears normal at the examination, he is likely to be passed as a first-class risk, because those who have rheumatic fever in childhood and survive seem less liable to contract the disease after passing the age of twenty-five.

If the person concerned has had rheumatic fever, the examiner will give more than the usual amount of attention to the examination of the heart. Syphilis and gout are also likely to affect the heart, as well as severe attacks of influenza and diphtheria.

The person who suffers with heart disease may have fainting spells. If he is very young, the person who is applying for life insurance may faint because of fright or a nervous disorder, but a man past 40 years of age who faints is perhaps to be considered a bad risk on the possibility of heart disease.

If the person becomes short of breath on slight exertion, he must be studied carefully, but the examiner always remembers that middle-aged people who do not lead outdoor lives are likely to be out of breath following severe exertion.

Pain in the chest following exertion is a serious symptom. The belief of the person that his heart palpitates at night is not considered an important symptoms, because of its close association with various nervous manifestations.

Fight Of 1856 Recalled

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The rule is that it takes a majority to choose a speaker of the U. S. house of representatives but the 34th congress had to waive the rule in 1856.

Supporters of Nathaniel P. Banks of Massachusetts totaled more votes than were cast for any other single candidate, but to save their lives they were unable to muster more than were cast for all other candidates put together. The fight continued for two months and 137 ballots were taken. Finally a special resolution was adopted, agreeing to a selection by a plurality. On that basis Nathaniel figures in history as one of the house of representatives' speakers.

The Seventy-second congress, scheduled to meet the first Monday in December, 1932 (unless there is a special session earlier) may not be split quite so many ways as the Thirty-fourth, but it is the most evenly divided of all our successive congresses since then.

For that matter, the Seventy-second congress may prove to be split into more conflicting groups than appear on paper.

Theoretically, both houses rate as so nearly balanced between Republicans and Democrats that a death, or a retirement or two would teeter either or both of them one way or the other—plus a Farmer-Labor senator in the upper branch and a Farmer-Labor representative in the lower one to add to the situation's uncertainty.

For purposes of practical calculation, however, additional groups multiply the problem's complications. If they get into a fight there is no telling—as bad a deadlock may result as 1856's.

To be sure a tie-up over the choice of a presiding officer cannot occur in the senate. There Vice President Curtis would still wield the gavel if there were not another soul of his politics in the entire chamber.

It is quite among the possibilities at the opposite end of the Capitol building.

And at both ends there is the matter of committee chairmanships and memberships to be settled. It is not an unimportant matter, either. While it is true that committees do not have the last word to say concerning the enactment of laws, they do have almost everything to say concerning legislation's initiation. They can greatly hasten action on policies that they approve, or delay them indefinitely if disposed to do so.

As for the speakership of the house of representatives, its power is tremendous.

In the last two congresses power has been exercised by a triumvirate consisting of Speaker Longworth himself, Chairman Snell of the rules committee and Colonel John Q. Tilson, Republican floor leader—but it has been exercised through the speaker. Those who rule the house and shape its proceedings must control the gavel.

This is necessary, for there are so many representatives that they could not transact business at all without a concentration of authority. It can be made less arbitrary, but a great deal of it is unavoidable.

It is interesting to note that Clerk William Tyler Page of the representatives' chamber will referee whatever contest may develop over the Seventy-second congress' speaker.

When a new congress meets the clerk of the house of representatives is left over from the old one. He knows that he soon is to be supplanted if there has been a change in the complexion of the house's politics, but he is on the job at the beginning, and among the duties is that of calling the representatives to order and presiding until a speaker is available to take the gavel over from him.

It has occurred in the past occasionally that the clerk has been accused of trying to influence proceedings in such junctures—and been sharply called down for doing so—but it is not a bit likely to occur in the veteran Clerk Page's case.

In the senate and house of representatives alike there are now, and will continue to be, at least three parties—

Republicans, Democrats and progressives.

The progressives are both Republican and Democratic, but the Republican progressives are more sharply divorced from the Republican regulars than are the Democratic progressives from the Democratic regulars. Still, there are plenty of regular Republicans and Democrats who are much more like one another than either are like the progressives of any sort.

There also is a prospect of decided jealousy between northern and southern Democrats.

The big gains in the last election were made by the northern faction, and indications are that they will come to Washington with exalted ideas of their title to recognition.

The southern element, however, includes most of the old timers, with strong claims upon all key positions by right of seniority.

Actual clashes in interest between them are inevitable.

For instance, it is difficult to imagine much in common between Senator-Elect Marcus A. Coolidge, primarily a wet from industrial Massachusetts, and the Eighteenth amendment's author, Senator Morris Sheppard, from agricultural Texas.

In reality there are nearer half a dozen blocs on Capitol Hill than only two parties represented—or three, if the Farmer-Labor senator and the Farmer-Labor member of the lower house be counted separately.

This fact of today will be a still more noticable fact in the Seventy-second congress, for the last election more clearly defined it.

Moreover, the lines are jumbled. An ultra-radical and an ultra-conservative, on economic issues, often will be found in perfect agreement on such an issue as prohibition; an ultra-wet and an ultra-dry may concur absolutely on economics. Some radicals have conservative streaks; some conservatives have radical ones.

EXPLANATION OF YE STERDAY'S CARTOON

BION—THE FIRST WISE-CRACKER—Bion, whose name spell the initials of "Believe It Or Not" was born in the town of Oczacoviak on the Dnieper, in ancient Scythia, about 230 B. C. In the course of his life he held, every religious conviction prevailing at the time, and just as frequently changed his philosophical allegiance. Acedemic, stoic, peripatetic, cynic, skeptic, agnostic and altheist were only a few of his titles. The historian Laertius describes him as a man of great intellectual attainments, but utterly profligate.

Heart Hungry

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Mitchell has forbidden his daughter to see Jordan. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Celia. She tells him she cares for Jordan but later realizes it is Shields whom she loves.

Mrs. Parsons goes to Mitchell and tells him the girl has been meeting Shields surreptitiously. Father and daughter quarrel and Celia leaves for Baltimore. Her mother is not there and all clews to Mrs. Rogers' whereabouts fail. Mitchell arrives. He and Celia become reconciled and return to New York after he has promised to locate Mrs. Rogers.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Parsons invites Shields to dinner and tells him Celia is to marry Jordan. Next day Celia and Lisi go to a matinee and encounter Jordan. All three are together when they meet Shields.

Celia leaves the others to talk to Shields. The interview ends with the understanding that all is over between them. That evening Mrs. Parsons announces to Celia that Mitchell has asked her to marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LIII

"You mean—!" Celia began and then she stopped. From the expression of Evelyn Parsons' face there was no doubt that what the woman had said was true.

Mrs. Parsons laughed and the sound was trident. "I mean just what I said," Evelyn continued. "Your father has asked me to be his wife—and I have accepted. I must say I'm disappointed, Celia. You don't look very pleased!"

The girl was staring at her. For a moment she said nothing. Then she leaned forward eyeing Evelyn appealingly and the words burst forth:

"But I thought—I mean when mother comes back—oh, Evelyn, it wouldn't be right! You wouldn't do such a thing! Mother loves him still. I know she does!"

Evelyn Parsons' shoulders straightened. "So you disapprove!" she said coldly. "Really, my dear, I think it would have been more polite if you concealed your feelings. After all, your father and I are both grown adults able to think for ourselves. I had no idea you disliked me so much!"

"Oh, it isn't that! Of course I don't dislike you. Please don't think me ungrateful for all you've done! But don't you see what they both mean to me? Mother—"

"There is no need for you to say any more. And I shall tell you frankly that if your mother were in this very room tonight begging me to give him up it would not alter my plans in the slightest. Do you think I'd let your father make a fool of himself over that woman a second time? Do you think I have no feelings? No rights? Why do you cling to this ridiculous notion that your father and mother, separated when you were a child, would be any happier together now? I tell you it's preposterous. They made one mistake, discovered it and parted. Do you think you could possibly bring them together again? No!"

Mrs. Parsons' eyes flashed. Anger had gotten the better of her usual suavity. The exhibition of temper held Celia spellbound.

"John and I love each other," Evelyn went on. "It will be useless for you to attempt to interfere. John's been devoted to me for years. Really, Celia, I should think you'd consider his happiness even if you do dislike me!"

"You mustn't say that, Evelyn. I do like you. It's just that it's such a surprise. I was startled."

"But why should you be surprised? Surely you must have known he was fond of me. Why, I've been putting him off for months! I had to respect Dwight's memory but it's a year since he left me—or practically a year. John and Dwight were such friends. That's one reason I feel the hand of fate is guiding me. Of course it will be some time before the engagement can even be announced. You must promise me, Celia, not to speak of it!"

"I won't tell anyone," Celia agreed.

"It would mortify me frightfully if the news got out. Of course I felt that you could know at once—"

"I'm glad you told me," the girl said slowly. "I suppose it changes everything, doesn't it?"

"Well, in some ways. In the first place I shall insist that John must stop killing himself in that office. He's made himself a slave and it's because there's been no one to guard his health and make him take time for recreation. I'm planning six months abroad immediately after we're married. The Orient would be a wonderful change for him, don't you think so? I'm sure it would do him good. And everything will work out nicely because you can stay with your grandmother. I'm sure you'd prefer to be in town anyhow and when we're here we'll probably spend most of our time at Larchwood. Really, I think it's only fair to you. You'll develop so much more without having us to depend upon."

Celia was silent.

Dr. Hugo Eckener Gives Vivid Picture Of R-101 Disaster To Jury In London

"W. K. Crawley has a hobby of writing verses for songs, Vic Lamb of the Lamesa Reporter says in his Page 1 "Do You Know?" column.

"Of course we are not as old as some, still we are old enough to have heard of a police dog catching a criminal if such a thing had ever happened," H. B. Adams recalls in the Lockney Beacon.

"Some men look to their wives for inspiration, and other for consolation," T. E. Roderick remarks in the Slatonite.

"Scurry county received every cent that it had asked for rural school aid. County folks are thankful for this acknowledgement of work well done by all angles of school enterprises. It is something that all of us can be quite thankful at this joyous season of the year," says the "Velvet Hammer" of the Scurry County Times.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, who probably knows as much about dirigibles as anybody else in the world, drew a graphic picture of the wreck of the British R-101 today.

It was technical testimony, but from it emerged the ominous hiss of gas escaping from the big ship's bag. It seeped out through holes in the forward bags, slipped astern and came out through the tail. The ship's nose, deprived of buoyancy, sank.

The men in the control tower ordered ballast overboard. They stopped the engines. Loss of motive power sent the ship into another dive. This was the "second dive" described by some of the survivors. The dirigible crashed into the French hillside, an electrical circuit was broken, a spark set fire to something and the ship became a funeral pyre for her crew and passengers.

This was the story which the investigating board heard from the German master of the Graf Zeppelin, sitting calmly in the witness chair, peering through his horn-rimmed spectacles.

As tre ship struggled to right herself in the air, Eckener said, the little rips which started the trouble became great rents from which the gas poured.

FEWER HOURS ASKED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The National Federation of Postoffice Clerks requested President Hoover today to support the Kendall bill to reduce postal working schedules from 48 to 44 hours weekly. Mr. Hoover was reminded by Leo E. George, chairman of the executive committee, that the present postal eight-hour law was passed 17 years ago. During this time, however, he said, the productivity of postoffice clerks had increased more than 10¢ per cent.

ARRESTED FOR FRAUD

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 4. (AP)—H. R. Templeton was arrested here today and arraigned on a capias of indictment issued in Fort Worth, charging him with using the mails to defraud in selling oil stock. Templeton admitted he was the man described in the indictment and expressed a willingness to return to Texas. He was released on $5,000 bond to appear in Fort Worth on a date to be set by the district attorney.

CHARGES FILED

SMITHVILLE, Dec. 4 (AP)—Charges of murder were filed today against John Rosanky, 30, Bastrop county commissioner, in connection with the fatal shooting last night of George Kirkpatrick, 35, section foreman for the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad here.

King George has denied rumors that he would give up horse racing.

Hale County Will Hold Poultry Show

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 4. (Special)—Everything is in readiness for the Hale County Poultry Breeders exhibit Friday and Saturday and County Agent Roy B. Davis is expecting a large number of entries.

Davis says: "This is a show for the person who thinks he has good birds and is trying to make them better. It is a show for the person who has a flock good enough to sell hatching eggs, breeders' stock or baby chicks. There are no entry fees and no premiums other than ribbons. An entry in poultry must consist of 10 hens and a cock or 10 pullets and a cockerel."

The show precedes the big Texas Panhandle-Plains Poultry show at Slaton on December 10 and 11, and it is expected that numerous entries will go from the Plainview exhibit to Slaton for the show.

Doctor Says Cancer of Skin Can Be Conquered

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4. (AP)—Cancer of the skin can be conquered if doctors will get together and exchange information, Dr. Rollin H. Stevens, Detroit, told leading experts at the Radiological society convention here today.

"If the cases would all present themselves and if it were made easier for physicians to exchange information on the subject, practically one hundred per cent of all skin cancer cases could be cured," he said.

"Eighty five to ninety five per cent of all such cases that present themselves to the radiologist are cured either by X-ray, radium or electro surgery. People generally, even doctors, do not realize the vast amount of knowledge on cancer of the skin which has been accumulated in the last 25 to 35 years.

Fire Loss of 1930 Exceeds Total of 1929

Loss of Good Fire Record and Possible Penalty May Be Result of Fire Increase, City Manager Says

"The fact that the fire losses of Lubbock this year greatly exceed 1929 losses probably will cause a loss of our Good Fire Record and possibly cause a penalty," City Manager J. Bryan Miller said in a letter this week to Lubbock insurance agents and members of the Chamber of Commerce fire prevention committee.

Damage by fire to buildings during the first 10 months of 1930 totaled $127,729 and to contents, $92,398, grand total of loss by fire being $220,127, the city manager reported.

Saving Cited.

"Past fire loss records of Lubbock show that we have been in the Good Fire Record column for a number of years, which has meant a great saving to our citizens in insurance premiums," continued the letter.

"A great per cent of the losses this year are due to a 'cause' over which we have no control to a certain extent. However, some of the 'causes' as shown no doubt could have been avoided had greater caution been used.

"It seems that hot water heaters and the handling of gas is the cause for a number of fires during the past year. Greater precaution in looking after this particular fire hazard is urged."

Strange Race of Man-Eating Sharks Found In Fresh Water; Promise To Throw Light on Study About Kidneys

SINGAPORE, Strait Settlements, Dec. 4. (AP)—A strange race of man-eating sharks living in fresh water has been found near here by Dr. Homer W. Smith, New York university physiologist.

This fish promises to throw light on some obscure points about human kidneys and thereby give science another grip on disease prevention.

"At Teluk Anson, on the Perak river, which flows into the straits of Malcca on the west coast of Malaya," Dr. Smith said, "we found rays, sharks and saw-fish in perfectly fresh water 40 miles from the sea.

Set Up Labatory

"We set up a labatory under a palm-leaf roof to keep off the terrific sun, and settled down to do some very exact scientific work.

"We were able to keep the fish until we wanted to use them in live-cars in the river. The natives use these live-cars frequently to transport live fish to market, thus making up for the absence of ice.

"The Chinese know this trick and ship large quantities of young carp to Singapore by aerating the water with paddles, these are made to slap the water by a mechanical device activated by coolies running on a tread-mill in shifts day and night.

Sharks Migrate

"We did not ourselves get any very large fish, but man-eating sharks weighing up to 100 pounds are said to come up the river sometimes. There are a few records of closely related going up river 200 miles from the sea.

"This migration into fresh water occurs for some unknown reason only in the tropical rivers of the equatorial belt, the vast majority of this group of fish being strictly marine.

"The immigration is the more interesting because some paleontologists think the group as a whole lived exclusively in the fresh waters of the Silurian continents (that is, about 500 million years ago) and moved into the ocean in the subsequent Devonian period.

"Our particular interest in them is in the presence of large quantities of ureo in their blood, a substance which is formed by the combination of protein in the body, and which in all other animals is immediately excreted by the kidneys.

"We are working on the theory that this uremia, as it is called when it occurs as a result of kidney disease in man, is in these fishes an adaptation which is necessary for them to live in salt water.

"It is hoped that a study of this may throw light upon obscure points regarding the function of the human kidney."

Slaton And Dalhart In Bi-District Go At Tech Today

Rain Fails to Dampen Spirit Of Title Foes

Game Starts at 3 o'Clock on Texas Tech Field; Tigers and Wolves Set for Battle for Bi-District Title

Rain or shine, the Slaton-Dalhart football game for the Class B championship of Districts 1 and 2 will be played on the Tech field this afternoon, as Coaches Paul Wright of Slaton and Blake Bolton of Dalhart announced last night. The contest will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Fear that enclement weather conditions would prevent a large attendance at the local gridiron today was slightly alleviated late yesterday afternoon with the cessation of rainfall and a rather hard wind. The turf at Tech field has not been molested for several days and with a wind last night and some sunshine this morning the grid should be in fair shape for the game. It drains well and is protected by a fast sod.

Dalhart Undefeated.

Coach Blake Bolton and his undefeated, unscored-against championship Dalhart Wolves, about 20 strong, arrived late yesterday, and reported that the wet weather of this section was a surprise to them. Clear weather has predominated at Dalhart this week, and the Wolves had no thought of playing on a wet field.

A telephone conversation with Coach Paul Wright of Slaton last night revealed that the Tigers would be here today about noon, and would work out a little while on the Tech field before the game. The Tiger mentor, who has seen his charges through a district championship, reported that all of his men would be ready to go today, and that his most powerful combination would be started.

Due to good road connections between Lubbock and Slaton, it is thought that the latter will "move" to Lubbock for the game today. Interest is at fever pitch in Slaton and the fans are backing the team to the limit.

Coach Bolton, team's goal line has not been crossed once all season.

Sul Ross Trounces Javelinas, 20 to 6

(By The Associated Press)

ALPINE, Dec. 4.—Playing inspired football to close the Texas intercollegiate Athletic Association season, the Sul Ross Teachers college Loboes broke a long losing streak here today with a 20 to 6 victory over the Texas College of Arts and Industries Javelinas from Kingsville.

The Loobes started with a rush and never gave the Hogs a chance, except in the fourth quarter when a series of long runs by Cox put the ball in scoring position.

A long 40 yard pace from Rosette to Young in the first five minutes was good for a score, and then Cannon, after Connally had blocked a Javelina punt, plunged from the one-foot line, making the score, 14 to 0. Aided by a 15 yard penalty, after a 20-yard run by Young to the 30-yard line, Cannon hit center for another score from the half-foot marker.

Cox played a fine game for the Kingsville eleven, while Cooper, Conally and Newton stood out in the Lobo lineup. Jackson, Lobo half, did the best tackling of the day, and his play in the fourth period prevented another Javelina touchdown.

GILMER VS. ROYCE CITY

MINEOLA, Dec. 4 (AP)—The football game between high school teams of Gilmer and Royce City, to decide the bi-district championship of Districts 6 and 7, will be played Monday in Mineola. Arrangements for the game were made here today by Coaches Faulkner and McClellan after the Gilmer-Mineola game.

DALLAS, Dec. 4. — Coach Jack Meagher's Rice Owls may be expected to run up quite a score on Iowa State in their post-season tussle Saturday at Houston. The Owls are meeting an eleven that has been cuffed about rather brutally the last two seasons.

Fifteen consecutive defeats is the record attached to the invaders, seven last season and eight so far in 1930. That includes a beating by the Loyola Wolves last week at New Orleans.

Rice finds itself somewhat in the position of the recipient of a "chain letter." Unless the Owls carry on the good work they can look forward to a shipment of misfortune in 1931.

Port Arthur Surprises Fans.

For the first time since 1927, the Port Arthur Yellowjackets have failed to reach the finals of the state high school grid race. It scarcely seems possible, but Coach Tom Dennis' eleven, which tied Breckenridge for the 1929 title, passed out of the picture by losing to John Reagan of Houston yesterday.

For the last two years critics have been crying that the Jackets had no business reaching the last round, that there were many stronger clubs in the state, yet the lads from the Gulf coast rambled right on into the big play-off just the same. They might have had to flip coins and call in the penetration rule to get by a couple of bi-district rivals, but they played in the finals. Either the experts failed to give the school credit for having some fine material, or Tom Dennis should not be wasting his time coaching a high school eleven. Maybe both.

Sandies Favored Over Breck.

The large noise this week-end will be had out at Amarillo, when the Golden Sandstorm, perennial champion of District 1, will try to repel the Breckenridge Buckaroos, District 2 titlists. The Rough Riders stopped the Sandies last year at Breckenridge and then went to the finals. This time, though, the big Amarillo eleven has been installed favorite. The Bucks are pretty well fagged, having played Ranger last Saturday and then beaten Cisco Tuesday in the district playoff.

The Corsicana Tigers, ranking favorites for the 1930 crown, have been picked to trim the Oak Cliff Leopards, District 3 champs, in their tilt Saturday at Corsicana.

John Reagan and Austin will settle the dispute between Districts 7 and 8, with neither a pronounced favorite.

May Postpone Games.

It would not be surprising to see the Southwest Conference make some provision for postponment of football games at its meeting here next week. In view of the widespread disappointment attending the two final games last week, the old "unwritten law" that a football tilt must go on seems doomed.

As previously chronicled, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian came within an inch of postponing their battle here, and the Baylor-Rice fray at Waco would have been set up if a train load of Houston fans had not already started for Waco. Both contests were played under conditions that made real football all but impossible, and the customers remained at home in vast numbers. It is doubtful more than enough cash was realized to pay the Rice squad's guarantee.

Some colorful rumors have been circulated during the last month by means of explaining the disappointing play of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs. Rather, they have attempted to explain what happened to that great Mustang eleven that played such a red hot game against Notre Dame in October.

One of the choicest rumors told of fist fights between members of the Methodist squad. That, so far as this department can learn after exhaustive research, was an exaggeration. There is no evidence there were fisticuffs. There is evidence, on the other hand, that there was dissention in the Pony camp. Plenty of it.

SHADE-HOOD DRAW

Californian Fights British Champ Dozen Rounds

LONDON, Dec. 4. (AP) — Dave Shade, California middleweight, and Jack Hood, champion of Great Britain, fought twelve slashing rounds to a draw tonight before a capacity house at Albert Hall.

The decision, which appeared fair to the press section, was greeted by jeers and catcalls from crowded galleries, as the fans seemed to think Shade had won. The Californian carried the fight to Hood, but the latter used a left hook with demoralizing effect to hold him off. Shade weighed 146 pounds, Hood 149.

Wilson was released by the Giants to make room for "Red" Cagle, the Army star, and as a free agent, played with the Stapleton team when it turned back the Giants last week. Free again, he signed with Green Bay.

Sir Thomas Is Recipient of 'America Cup'

Excitement in Receiving Cup Almost Too Much for Vet Sportsman; Says He Will Try Again for "The" Cup

BY LORENA HICKOK

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Sir Thomas Lipton today received America's Cup—without any "the" ahead of it—and for a few seconds it looked as if the excitement might be too much for him. As he was reading his speech of acceptance his voice faltered. With a quivering hand he adjusted his eye glasses and said huskily:

"Unfortunately I can't see so well as I used to."

Then, swaying a little and groping for support he whispered: "I—I can't go on."

They got him a chair and a glass of water and Hector Fuller of the mayor's committee finished reading Lipton's speech.

Rites For Long

A soloist began to sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and the old baronet feebly started to rise. But Mayor James J. Walker motioned him back into his chair.

He sat there uneasily until the band struck up "God Save The King" then pushing the mayor away, He rested nearly an hour in Mayor —head and shoulders above those about him—and stood through the anthem, proud symbol of the quality to which Americans paid tribute today.

The excitement and the heat in the crowded aldermanic chamber, combined with his feeble health, were thought to have been responsible for Sir Thomas' near-collapse. He rested nearly a hour in Mayor Walker's private office after the ceremony and when he left the city hall he apparently was feeling better and was able to respond with a friendly smile to greeting of more than a thousand persons who had waited in the square outside for a glimpse of him.

Sir Thomas, when he broke down, just had finished saying he hoped to offer again in 1932 a challenge for that tarnished old trophy he has been trying for more than 30 years to win—the America's Cup.

William F. Baker Dies At Montreal

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. (AP)—The baseball world today lost one of its leading figures, William Frazier Baker, president of the Philadelphia National League club, who died of a heart attack in his suite at the Ritz Carlton hotel. He was 64 years old and was second among the National League club presidents in length of service.

Mr. Baker, Mrs. Baker, his secretary, Jerry Nugent, and Mrs. Nugent, arrived here Monday night to attend the minor league convention. He apparently was in good health although he had been under treatment for a heart ailment the past few months.

He suffered a slight attack early last evening but quickly recovered and had dinner with Mrs. Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Nugent. At 10 o'clock he was taken seriously ill and a physician was summoned. The patient failed to rally, however, and died at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

Baker was born in Pittsburgh in 1866.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4. Another deal by the same clubs sent Outfielder Jimmy Dalrymple to Fort Worth in exchange for catcher Johnny O'Connell, formerly with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Outfielder Fred Lucas was sold outright by Houston to St. Joseph, of the Western league.

West Baden Is Selected 1931 Meeting Place

Constitution Amended in Few Places; Professional Ring Fighters Barred from Game; Some Questions Deferred

BY HERBERT W. BAKER
Associated Press Sports Writer.

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—The national association of professional baseball leagues today selected West Baden, Ind., for the 1931 convention, extended the association agreement for one year, deferred election of officers until the next annual meeting, and adopted several amendments to the major league rules.

It took a constitutional amendment to allow the selection of West Baden as the next convention city. Under the rules, the convention must be held in a city in which there is a member baseball club, but this clause was voted out of the constitution in order to permit the meeting to be held in the Indiana health resort.

Originally it had been expected the national association agreement under which the association gains its authority, would be renewed for ten years but at request of the so-called "big minors" the American Association, International and Pacific Coast leagues, it was extended for one year only.

These three Class AA circuits pointed out they were involved in a hot fight with the majors over the draft question and they could better deal with the situation if they wgre not tied down for so long a time. The question of extending the agreement for ten years will come up before the next annual meeting when the big minors hope to have settled their differences with the majors.

It was in line with the same idea that the election of officers was offered. It was pointed out the election might better come before the next convention when it will be decided whether the national agreement is to be extended for ten years. Under the action taken today, M. D. Sexton, Rock Island, Ill., remains as president and John H. Farrell, as secretary and treasurer.

Boxers To Be Barred

One of the most interesting amendments to the major-minor league rules was one providing for insertion of a clause in a player's contract forbidding him to compete either in professional boxing or professional wrestling. The amendment recalled the exploits of Arthur (The Great) Shires in the ring last year and was passed amid a general laugh.

Another amendment which was passed ruled "no contract shall be made with a player before he is 18 years of age." But another suggesting it be made illegal for a club to place a player on option with another club of the league was rejected.

Leave Umps Alone

Another amendment provided "in case of a physical attack on an umpire by a player or an umpire on a player, the offending person or persons may be placed on the suspended list for not less than 90 days or more than one year."

The national association agreement was amended to allow a Class C league to carry 15 players on their rosters 20 days after the start of the season. Previously they had been allowed only fourteen.

Larry Mullins May Not Be In Game For Notre Dame Against Trojans; News Heartens Southern California

(By The Associated Press)

TUCSON, Ariz. Dec. 4. — Coach Knute Rockne's hope that fullback Larry Mullins might play for Notre Dame Saturday against the University of Southern California at Los Angeles appeared to have been dashed by a physician's report tonight.

Mullins was taken to the office of a Tucson physician after the afternoon practice. The doctor reported he drained water from the player's knee injured last Saturday in the Army game in Chicago. The physician said the knee had not responded to treatment.

Favoritism Is Shifted

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4. (AP) — Notre Dame gridiron grenadiers dropper into the unusual role of short enders in the betting odds here today, with their football frolic with the University of Southern California only two days away.

Reports from Tuscon, Ariz., where the ramblers held secret practice, that Larry Mullins, fullback, might not be able to start the game, were given as the basis for the shift of favoritism to the Trojans.

Strengthening this trend was apparent certainty Coach Howard Jones' chief absentee, Ralph Wilcox, left end, would be able to start the game.

The influence of Coach Knute Rockne's statement his California bred fullback would not be able to start, was shown in the wagering which took a definite stand at 10 to 8 in favor of Southern California but the Trojan board of strategy lent no ear to the tidings of woe from Notre Dame as they put the men of Troy through another snappy session on defense.

The squad went through a two hour period of dummy scrimmage and finished off with a light touch of offensive tricks; all behind locked portals.

Notre dame's team will leave Tucson at 3 a. m., tomorrow and will arrive here at 5:12 p. m.

Mrs. Parsons had recovered her composure. After a moment she said softly, "Celia, you're going to wish us happiness, aren't you? Remember, you're going to be marrying one of these days yourself."

"I wish you—every happiness."

"But, my dear, you don't seem very cheerful!"

The girl's eyelashes lowered. "I keep thinking about my mother," she said. "Father promised me he'd do everything in the world to find her."

Naturally your father would not allow the woman who was once his wife to remain in want. You know him well enough for that!"

For an instant their eyes met.

"Do you love him a great deal?" Celia asked tremulously.

"Oh, my dear—if you only knew!"

The girl rose and walked to the window which faced westward. She could stand there with her back toward Evelyn pretending to look out at the night until she forced the tears back. There were great hot drops on her cheek. Celia brushed them aside casually. Then she turned.

"I didn't make plans for the evening," Mrs. Parsons said, glancing up, "because I thought it would mean a great deal to both of us to keep it uninterrupted. It makes me happy to know you're looking at the situation unselfishly."

The dart found it target.

"I suppose I have been selfish," Celia admitted. "But I didn't mean to be! I must see father tomorrow and congratulate him."

Evelyn started. "Oh, no! Promise me you won't do that," she exclaimed. "You see, dear, I have a confession. Your father wanted to be the first to tell you the news. I agreed but afterward when he said he didn't want you to know until just before the announcement was made public I left he was wrong. That's why I made up my mind to tell you myself. Of course, you can't blame John! He doesn't understand how a girl would feel about such a thing."

"Oh, I see."

The quick glance of Evelyn Parsons was apprehensive. "You are glad I told you, aren't you?" she asked.

"Of course."

"I was sure of it. It's just the sort of thing you couldn't expect a man to understand. And when he tells you himself you won't let him dream you suspected, will you?"

"Well, I'll do the best I can to keep him from guessing."

"That's a dear girl. You see, you and I must stand together. And we're going to! Give me your word, Celia, that you won't mention anything I've said to your father."

"Word of honor."

Evelyn heaved a little sigh and smiled. "I wonder what I did with that book on contract bridge that Fannie loaned me," she said after an interval. "Have you seen it anywhere?"

Celia shook her head. "I'll help you look," she offered.

She did not prove useful in the search. Mrs. Parsons found the volume without assistance and settled down with it before a reading lamp. Celia chose a magazine and curled up on the davenport. She opened the pages and looked down at them but the lines of type might have been invisible. She neither read nor saw them. Her hands were icy and Celia clenched them together. The pain in her heart had begun again.

Everything was lost. Everything in the world that she cared about was gone. With Barney beside her Celia felt she could have faced her father's remarriage, even though it severed ties from Margaret Rogers. Now—what was there left?

At the earliest possible moment the girl excused herself. Before she left the room Evelyn Parsons drew Celia down beside her and kissed the girl's forehead. "Happy dreams, dear!" she said smiling.

"Good night!" Celia replied and went to her bedroom.

She undressed and got into bed but she could not sleep. It was toward dawn when at last she drifted off into troubled slumber. Consequently she awoke late next morning and there were shadows under the brown eyes.

After she had breakfast Celia moved about restlessly. At 11 o'clock she put on her hat and told Mrs. Parsons she was going for a walk.

"Order lunch for whenever you like," Evelyn called. "I shan't be here."

Celia's answer was an inaudible murmur as she let herself out of the apartment. She took the elevator to the street and walked to Fifth avenue. There she mounted a bus and rode to the building where John Mitchell's law office was located. Celia had been there only twice before.

She gave her name to the girl in the reception room. Five minutes later a tall, dark haired young woman appeared, smiling. She was John Mitchell's secretary.

"Miss Mitchell?" the young woman said, approaching Celia. "I'm sorry. Your father isn't in."

"Oh!"

"Is there anything you'd like to have me tell him?"

"When do you think he'll be back?"

"Well, really, it's doubtful. It's almost noon now and he has a luncheon engagement. I don't know just when to expect him."

Celia had had enough business training to know that confidential secretaries were likely to be thoroughly informed on their employers' personal as well as professional affairs. Miss Roberts, who stood before her, was a confidential secretary.

"Could I come into your office for a minute?" Celia asked.

"Certainly."

The two went into a small inner room. Celia hesitated. Then she said nervously, "You probably know father's trying to locate my mother. Has there been any word yet?"

A look of quick sympathy crossed the older girl's face. She shook her head.

"We haven't heard anything yet" she said. "He was expecting a message all day yesterday but it didn't come. I'm sure he'll let you know as soon as there's anything definite."

"Then I guess that's all. Thank you very much."

Celia turned and left the office. She rode uptown and returned to the apartment. She was there at 10 minutes after three that afternoon when the maid announced there was a young man to see her.

Wichita Falls Landscape Worker Is Grateful

Satterfield Couldn't Eat Or Sleep To Do Any Good Before Taking Argotane

"Argotane proved to be the very thing I needed, for it soon put an end to my troubles," said T. V. Satterfield, 906 Third Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, a well known landscape gardener.

"I have been troubled with indigestion for over 16 years," he continued, "and was going down hill fast. I was constantly belching up sour food and didn't digest enough food to keep up my strength to do me any good, and I lived almost entirely on the lightest of diets. My stomach felt like there was a knot in it and hurt me all the time, and I was swollen up with gas till I would cramp almost double, until I would get so dizzy I could hardly sleep, owing to the condition of my kidneys as I would have to get up several times during the night and got very little rest at all.

"I had the best treatment money could buy, and kept getting worse all the time. I was induced by the high endorsement of other people to try Argotane and it fixed me up so I can eat and digest anything I want and sleep fine at night. I have no more gas on my stomach, no kidney trouble nor cramping, and I feel so grateful for what Argotane has done for me that it is a pleasure to endorse it. My telephone number is 6763 and if anybody will call me, I will be pleased to give them my experience."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store. Adv.

Cotton Cotton Is Nervous, Erratic Thursday — Livestock Broad Demand for Livestock Trade — Grain Light Offerings Of Grain Sorghums

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Cotton ruled rather nervous and erratic today with moderate trading. Owing to good Liverpool cables the market opened 7 to 10 points up on the active months and after easing off 3 to 6 points rallied to levels 10 to 14 points above the previous close. The market lost 8 to 9 points of this advance in the afternoon owing to weakness in stocks and the failure to settle the British coal strike. Prices rallied 2 to 4 points at the end on covering and the close was steady, the general market showing net gains for the day of 1 to 7 points.

Liverpool was 2 to 7 penny points better than due at the time the market opened here and private cables reported shorts had covered. First trades showed gains of 2 to 10 points.

The market advanced a little further in the early trading on the assumption better cables were due to favorable strike news which later proved not to be the case. January traded up to 10.49 and March to 10.75, while May touched 11.01, or 7 to 10 points above the previous close.

Prices later eased off slightly owing to an easier stock market and unfavorable British strike news losing 3 to 4 points from the highs but later rallied with stocks, January advancing to 10.52 and May to 11.05, up 6 to 10 points from the lows and 10 to 14 points above the previous close. A private estimate of the crop was issued making the total 14,194,000 bales or practically unchanged from a month ago. The strike authority estimated the total ginnings to December 1 at 13,800,000 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—A rally from yesterday's decline was followed by rather nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today, but after selling off from 10.79@10.86 for March, or within three points of Tuesday's low prices the market steadied up again on renewed covering. March closed at 10.72. With the general market closing steady at net advances of 6 to 7 points.

The relatively steady showing of Liverpool was followed by some buying here through houses with Liverpool connections, and there may have been a feeling that the technical position of the market had been strengthened to some extent by the decline of Wednesday. A private crop report was issued estimating the yield at 14,194,000 bales and ginnings prior to December 1 at 13,800,000, but the figures appeared to be without effect on the immediate market. There was further switching from near to late months which may have been promoted by the issuance of a few additional December notices but without important change in differences between months.

Mrs. O'Loughlin Will Take Stand

DENVER, Dec. 4. (AP)—John M. Keating, of defense counsel, said tonight Mrs. Pearl O'Laughlin, on trial for the slaying of her 16-year-old stepdaughter, would testify tomorrow in an effort to rebut police testimony that no force was used in obtaining statements regarding the child's death from the prisoner.

Decision to put Mrs. O'Laughlin on the stand was announced after a long day of legal skirmishes regarding the admissibility of portions of the testimony of Captain of Detectives Albert T. Clark, who conducted the investigation of the murder of Leona O'Laughlin, the stepdaughter.

The jury was ordered into the court chambers while Clark took the stand. The state attempted to show in its questioning no dures force, intimidation or threats were used against Mrs. O'Laughlin to obtain statements.

Man Convicted Of Assaulting Girl

AMARILLO, Dec. 4. (AP)—Paul Haisting, on trial in criminal district court on a charge of criminal assault against a 12-year-old girl, was found guilty Thursday night and his punishment set at five years in the penitentiary.

Haisting had been on trial Wednesday and Thursday, most of the first day being consumed in selecting a jury.

The prosecution Thursday introduced a surprise, putting Billie Burke, woman companion of the prosecuting witness, on the stand to corroborate the girl's story of the alleged assault.

Latest Stock Market Decline Broader In Second Day and Losses Are Heavier

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—The latest stock market decline broadened in its second day today, although the volume barely exceeded a million and a half shares.

Losses in active stocks were larger than yesterday, with railroad, utility and merchandising issues making the widest recessions.

Some traders professed to see resumption of liquidation, in a small way, in the increased activity on the down side, pointing out that the market's refusal to follow the rallies was bringing out stock. Others believed the selling was mostly by professionals who had capitalized the absence of constructive news from industry, and that a respectable short interest was again being built up. Sales amounted to 1,591,020 shares.

The lukewarm bond market had a relapse in all but the best grade listings. Governments, coincident with Secretary Mellon's request for authority to provide for the future refunding of Liberti Loans, were dull.

Disappointment over November retail sales figures, to which Woolworth contributed a report of a 7.9 per cent drop from last year, contributed to the change in speculative sentiment toward that group of stocks, which have made several bullish gestures in the past fortnight.

Liquor Cases

lt of cancelled checks signed by Wylie Jones, who testified he had been engaged in whiskey manufacture in Kiowa county, was produced, the court ruled the exhibit out due to the fact the checks, made out to men who had operated stills in Tillman county, were dated previous to the beginning of the alleged conspiracy.

Much of the government's fire again was centered on P. V. Ruch, county attorney, the only county official in the case who has not pleaded guilty. Among 17 citizens of the county to plead guilty were Constable Robert Rogers and Sheriff C. A. Wages and Bud Walls, formerly deputy sheriff and deputy constable.

Next came Jake Bock, Dorsey Parnell, Gordon Hays and Lee Slade, charged with supplying whiskey to the "line."

Collector Deposed.

A break between Bud Walls and the three accused county officers, ending in Walls' being displaced as collector by Bill Benson, was pointed to by counsel throughout much of the testimony.

Mrs. Robsion said that from May, 1930 to July, Walls collected whiskey instead of money from the Robsion stills, while the defense never lost an opportunity to stress Walls' alleged whiskey selling activities. Walls, the first star witness for the defense Tuesday and Wednesday, testified that Ruch, Rogers and Wages had formed an alliance against him.

Mrs. Robsion, at all times composed and prompt with answers, told the jury Walls had informed the Robsions their stills were protected from "county to state" and that he could get protection "higher up the creek if necessary." She told of various raids made on the Robsion stills and said that Ruch came to her place on one of these raids.

Still Removed.

Another time, when a raid was made, the still equipment had been removed a short distance from the house to an orchard, "in plain view of the officers with nothing but the blue sky overhead," she related.

Walls had "tipped" her of the impending raid both times she said and the raiding officers reported no liquor was found, Walls collected "line money" after each raid, the witness added.

Walls never collected as much as $2,500 altogether from the family stills, Mrs. Robsion said. His last collection was made just before Vernon Robsion's still "was knocked over" in July, 1930, she added. Shortly thereafter the indictment in the present case followed.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 4. (AP)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a continued broad demand for the better orders of fed steers and yearlings at strong to 25 cents higher prices. Although choice yearlings still command a premium over matured steers, the differential this week was not as large as last week. Choice long yearling steers in Chicago scored 13.15, while at Kansas City 1,418-pound Missouri fed steers of strictly choice quality brought 12.50.

Receipts of cattle were estimated at 24,000.

Opening trade on hogs was on a 5 to 30c higher basis, but the close was very slow with prices at some 4centers weak to 15c lower as compared with Wednesday's average market. The top of 8.65 was paid on early rounds at Chicago. Offerings were around 161,000.

The sheep supply numbered around 64,-000. Fat lambs were unevenly steady to 25c higher, but other classes were unchanged. Shippers and city butchers in Chicago paid 8.60@8.85 for several loads of choice lambs while at Omoha fed westerns made 8.20 on shipper accounts.

Older Boys

assigned to visiting delegates from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Places for about 400 out-of-town boys had been obtained to noon Thursday, leaving accomodations for 50 more delegates yet to be obtained, according to Mrs. E. L. Robertson, chairman of the reception committee.

Residents having a spare room which would accomodate one or more boys were asked by Mrs. Robertson to telephone her at No. 721 or the chamber of commerce at No. 2083.

Big Attendance Seen

Registrations received and communications assuring others indicated that attendance figures would pass the 500-mark as 15 to 20 towns had not reported the sizes of their delegations, Grover C. Good, associated secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., of Dallas, said late Thursday.

A group of 308 out-of-town boys and 120 from Lubbock had registered to that time. Attendance at the 1929 conference at Amarillo totaled 548 and 396 of the delegates were from other towns.

A banquet will be attended by the conference group from 7 to 9 o'clock Saturday night at Texas Technological college gymnasium. Women of the First Presbyterian church will serve the dinner.

Automobiles Needed

Additional automobiles are needed to transport the visitors through the city, according to Tom A. White chairman of the welcoming committee. Persons willing to contribute use of a car and services of a driver for that purpose were asked to telephone R. W. Matthews at No. 1033.

Condemnation Proceedings Are Under Way Here

An appeal case which began in county court Thursday as a result of dissatisfaction with a previous award by the county for property condemned for highway righ-of-way will continue today before Special Judge E. L. Pitts.

The case was brought by W. A. Patterson who appealed an award made by special commissioners in a condemnation suit against 40 feet of his property at Monroe. When considered by the special commissioners appointed to hear the case, it was decided against Patterson.

Mr. Pitts replaced Robert Bean, county judge, when the latter certified his disqualification.

Rainfall

and other points reporting rains.

Plainview, near the top of the South Plains block, reported .8 inch precipitation during Wednesday night and early Thursday. At the same time, Floydada, Petersburg, and Hale Center, reported falls of 1 1-2 inches each; Turkey, Quitaque and Lockney, an inch each, and Olton .62 inch.

Rain In Floyd

FLOYDADA, Dec. 4. (Special.)—General rainfall over Floyd County totaled 1.65 inches at mid-afternoon here today, and gave promise of continuing throughout the day and night. Heavy clouds with no apparent breaks blanketed the section.

Unusual in its amount for this part of the country at this particular time, the precipitation insured a good winter seasoning, and farmers welcomed the drenching. Very little damage has been reported, though unharvested cotton was destroyed on a small scale.

Harvest Retarded

LAMESA, Dec. 4. (Special.)—An inch of rainfall was registered here today with an overcast sky promising more moisture. Harvesting of crops will be retarded.

Possibly 75 per cent of the crops already have been gathered, however, and rain at this time will oe of marked value in conditioning winter pastures and ranges.

Downpour at Spur

SPUR, Dec. 4. (Special.)—Rainfall totalling 2.11 inches was recorded at the Spur experiment station Wednesday night and this morning.

This is the first time in 19 years that a two-inch rain has occurred during the months of November, December, January February or March.

The downpour which began here last night increased total of precipitation since September 1 to 10.21 inches, furnishing the best bottom season the county has had in years. Eight-five per cent of the total annual rainfall here occurs during the growing period of summer crops.

Wild rye on the range lands and wheat pastures never have been better.

(By Associated Press)

Texas was the recipient of a warm, winter rain Wednesday night and Thursday, giving farmers and stockmen the kind of moisture they need at this season of the year for feed crops and pasturage.

From all sections — Brownsville, El Paso, San Antonio and the Plains—came reports of steady precipitation amounting to inches in some places. The temperature was spring-like everywhere.

The Llano river was up five feet at Llano after a one-inch rain in that immediate vicinity and a heavier downfall over the watershed.

Heavy Downpour.

Electra received five inches in five hours. Austin reported 3.11 inches with a light fall continuing, the heaviest precipitation recorded there in two months. San Antonio measures .42 of an inch; Forsan, Howard county, three inches; Lubbock, one inch; Plainview .8 of an inch; Floydada, Petersburg and Hale Center, 1 1-2 inches each; Sweetwater, more than an inch, filling lakes to overflowing; Wichita Falls .79 of an inch, the precipitation in that territory extending as far northwest as Childress, north to Oklahoma and south to Dublin; Abilene, 1.39 inches, the rain extending in that section from Stamford to San Angelo and from Breckenridge and Cisco to Big Spring.

At Big Spring lightning struck the home of Steve D. Ford and set fire to it.

tion bill or by himself.

"The test of the value of such relief is the ability to pay wages between now and the end of the fiscal year and I therefore urge that this estimate be given early consideration," he said.

While he recommended the funds be distributed among the various government departments, he set aside $80,000,000 for federal highway aid and $25,500,000 for rivers and harbors improvement and flood control.

The army housing program, roads in national parks, veterans' hospitals, air navigation facilities, aid to navigation, naval vessels, the coast guard, penitentiary and reformatories, jails and prison camps also would receive shares of the fund.

Santa Claus Lands At the Pas on Way To Visit Lubbock

(Radiogram to The Avalanche)

THE PAS, Manitoba, Dec. 4.—Heralded by the hum of its powerful motor and later by the merry tinkle of tiny bells, a giant trimotored plane came out of the north today and landed on a long snow-covered slope here.

From the cabin, there emerged a ruddy faced plump little man, clad in scarlet. His white whiskers were streaked with daubings from the brush of Jack Frost and sparkling eyes seemed to laugh from beneath his shaggy white brows.

Almost immediately, the jolly old fellow was identified as Santa Claus and the entire settlement soon was gathered about the huge plane to catch a glimpse of the mysterious little man who each year passes over or stops at this little town in the frozen north.

Santa Claus brought his aircraft to earth at about noon today and said he was flying strictly on sceule, expecting to reach, Lubbock, Texas, by Tuesday, December 9. Late this afternoon, Kris Kringle waved a goodbye to the townspeople and children a soared away. His next scheduled stop was Superior, Wis.

FIND COMPRESSED AIR

Phenomenon in Scurry County Baffles Geologists

SNYDER, Dec. 4. (AP)—Drillers operating at the Seibert-Dibble-Blackburn test well discovered non-inflammable compressed air this week at a depth of 1,171 feet. Other wells in Scurry county are using the same type of air for pumping purposes, but the latest discovery is five miles distant from the first discovery of such air, made several years ago.

Geologists here were unable to account for the phenomenon, the only thing of its kind known. It takes the place of steam power for drilling and pumping purposes.

Scientists in several southwestern colleges also have been unable to give a technical explanation of the air found in such deposits, although it was determined it is not helium or gas but apparently compressed air that comes from the ground at great pressure.

TO OPEN BIDS

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—Bids will be opened by the Board of Control late today on approximately $100,000 worth of tires, most of which go to the state highway department.

Bids were taken several weeks ago but all were rejected after a drop in the price of rubber while the bids were under consideration.

South Tipperary County, Ireland, is considering the appointment of a commissioner to rule the county in place of the present county council.

Plainview Not To Withdraw in Rails Hearing

Board of City Development Railroad Committee Is to Remain Intervenor in T.-P. Hearing to Be Held Here

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 4. (Special.)—The railroad committee of the Plainview Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce and agriculture has notified all towns interested in the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern railroad that it will not withdraw from the case which is scheduled to be heard in Lubbock beginning Monday, December 8, Captain Winfied Holbrook, chairman, announced.

Letters were sent to the several towns involved and also to those who appeared here recently asking this city to withdraw from the hearing, setting forth the reasons why the local groups could not withdraw.

"Plainview is not opposing the construction of any rail lines in West Texas," Capain Holbrook declared. "It is intervening and appearing at the hearing for the purpose of writing into the record facts which will make certain that the permits will not be granted for the construction of lines west, southwest or northwest out of Plainview, which extensions have been sought for many years."

The Plainview groups will be represented at the hearing by counsel, it was also announced by Captain Holbrook. Witnesses will be used also.

The letter said in part:

"The railroad committee of the Plainview Board of City Development, and Plainview Chamber of Commerce, and Argiculture has duly considered the resolutions adopted at the meeting in Plainview, November 28, of delegations from the cities on the route of the proposed Texas and Pacific Northern Railroad, in which it was asked that Plainview not intervene at the hearing at Lubbock, December 8, on the application for a certificate of convenience and necessity.

"This is to advise you that the Plainview committee has decided to maintain the position at the hearing which was outlined and explained to you at the meeting Friday.

"The committee believes that this position will not in any way conflict with the interests of any city or town along the proposed route."
