Dole Aerial Derby Hop-Off Set For Tuesday By Signed Agreement Between Nine Of Eleven Men

Stirring Scenes In Sacco-Vanzetti Case—Policemen Disperse Boston Mobs Protesting Against Execution

OAKLAND, Calif., Aug. 12.—The start of the James Dole $25,000 prize aerial derby from here to Hawaii today was postponed until next Tuesday noon by agreement among nine of the eleven entries already here.

Disaster having struck twice against the entries in two days, the subject of qualification and competency, navigators and planes continued to be the foremost subject in flight circles today.

The latest entry to be removed from the race is the twin motored triplane "Spirit of Los Angeles," which crashed in San Francisco Bay yesterday while trying to land on the starting field. Captain James L. Griffin, the pilot, Ted Lundgren, navigator, and Lawrence Weill, a passenger, escaped injury. The plane was wrecked.

The accident to the "Spirit of Los Angeles" and the deaths near San Diego Wednesday of Lieutenant George W. D. Covell and R. N. Waggener of the navy while testing their freak monoplane entry, served to heighten the talk of qualifications and safety precautions.

The Tuesday starting agreement was made in order to permit all signers to pass federal tests. Postponement followed a suggestion yesterday from the Dole committee here to the Honolulu committee controlling the race, that the derby be postponed, but the latter body refused to sanction the delay.

No Break in Prospect

The new agreement leaves the fliers bound down until Tuesday by their signatures, the local Dole committee neither approving or disapproving of the plan. As the federal inspectors must certify the name of every approved starter to the Dole committee, there seemed little prospect of a break in the agreement.

The two remaining absent entries in the race were not represented in the agreement but were considered to be too far behind with their plans to hop off before Tuesday.

The biplane of Captain Frederick A. Giles was out of the list of possible starters when word was

May Be Bargain

Ex-Texan Loses $4,000,000 But He's Still Game

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Although a loser by nearly $4,000,000 paper profits, wiped out in the collapse of a pool operating in Manhattan Electrical supply company shares, George A. Carden, member of a law firm at Dallas, still thinks that he has a bargain in control of the company which rested in his hands today.

The drop of 69 5-8 points yesterday in Manhattan electric, a stock exchange record for recent years, cut almost in half the market value of the company's 120,000 shares, about 45,000 of which are believed to be held by Carden. The drastic decline was marked by wild confusion on the trading floor and was termed one of the most spectacular bear raids of recent times.

Carden declared in a formal statement that he "never bought a share for the purpose of enlarging its price," the recent advance in Manhattan electric had caused stock exchange officials to launch an investigation as to whether "technical corners" may exist. The apparent imminence of some official action was used to advantage by the short sellers who threw vast blocks of Manhattan electric shares on the market.

Throughout the raid, Carden radiated cheerfulness, asserting that he had added 25,000 shares to his holdings on the decline, and expressed the belief that the stock was worth intrinsically more than its market value after the sensational break.

MEXICAN FRUIT WORM GIVEN AS CAUSE OF ACT IN ORDER BECOMING EFFECTIVE AUG. 15

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—A quarantine on movements of grape fruit, oranges and other fruits from Cameron, Hidalgo and Willacy counties in Texas was announced today by Secretary Jardine.

The quarantine was decided on because of the presence of the Mexican fruit worm. It will become effective August 15.

All citrus fruits, except lemons and sour limes, will be affected as will peaches, apples, pears, apricots, mameys and guavas. Grape fruit and certain other approved fruit may be shipped under permits issued by the department of agriculture.

Secretary Jardine said that "in meeting this new menace to the fruit industry of the southern United States the department is undertaking to eradicate the pest, and all quarantines and control measures are based on this idea."

Starvation Tried

"An attempt to eliminate it by starvation is now in progress. During the present summer and for a period of about seven months beginning in March each successive year, all fruits on which the insects can feed or propagate are to be destroyed. If this proves successful, it is believed the shipment of fruit from the regulated areas safety can be made subject to adjustment during the months of October to February, under inspection and certification of the orchards and fruit produced." The department will not issue permits "for the movement of fruit grown in an orchard in which the host-free period has not been maintained."

Additional precautions to prevent shipments of infested fruit will include continuous orchard inspection and the immediate destruction of all fruits within an orchard or district found to be infested, or the processing of the fruit in a manner to destroy any insect life.

Firemen Go Out To "Fix" Phone

This is not another false alarm, only a wrong number. Charles Holcomb, 504 Avenue M, was calling the telephone company this morning to report a troubled phone. "Give me the repair department," the patron said.

The operator, easily confusing "repair" with the word "fire" connected the subscriber with the fire department.

"This is Charles Holcomb, 504 Avenue M," and then the caller started to state his trouble.

Considering the speed with which the fire department works the address is all that is necessary when a fireman answers the phone. An address given over the phone, without preliminary explanation, means "Fire," to the fireman.

There was a shrill of the sirens and two trucks were called out. Mrs. Holcomb told the firemen that she was calling the repair department of the telephone company.

Secretary Jardine said that "in meeting this new menace to the fruit industry of the southern United States the department is undertaking to eradicate the pest, and all quarantines and control measures are based on this idea."

PURNELL SAYS CHARGE FALSE

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Aug. 12.—Benjamin Purnell, leader of the House of David colony, took the witness stand in his own defense in the state's dissolution suit today, and made a sweeping denial of the charges preferred against him.

He was brought to the court in an ambulance. Three stalwart body guards carried him in on a stretcher. The witness chair was removed and the "King" testified reclining on his cot.

Purnell looked weak. His eyes flashed and his gestures were animated, however. He wore a tan pullover and over his long gray hair.

Questioned by W. J. Barnard, chief defense attorney, the "king" replied: "I never did" when asked if he had mistreated any girl or woman members of the colony.

Purnell replied with quavering negatives when asked if he had set up "an inner circle of Shiloh girls" or had posed as "God Emmanuel, the prince of peace or Gabriel." He insisted that there were no tunnels or hiding places in Shiloh or any other house in David's building.

Freighter Is Held With Liquor Cargo

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Ansonia, a single stacker freighter said by police to contain a half million dollar load of contraband liquor was anchored under guard off the Staten Island police pier today after the surprise attack of almost half a hundred Staten Island police, had cut a sandbarge in two in the Kill Von Kull and had run upon a sandbar where it was captured by the coast guard.

Thirty-four men were arrested by the Staten Island police, who also captured seven 7-ton trucks and three expensive automobiles. In addition the coast guard made prisoners of 2 men on the Ansonia.

The steamer was the second alleged run runner to be captured in New York harbor within 24 hours. The British steamer Sebastian was taken yesterday with a load of liquor estimated by the coast guard to be worth $300,000 at bootleg prices and the crew of 17 men was held for hearing later.

Better Net Returns On Crops Predicted

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (AP)—Producers this year will receive greater net returns on Texas live stock and crops than they received in either of the past two years according to present indications, H. H. Schutz, statistician in the division of crop and live stock estimate of the United States department of agriculture, announced today in his monthly crop report.

A decline in the yield of wheat, oats and fruits was noted but prospects are good for a higher income from cotton, corn and grains the report says. The producers of cattle, sheep, goats, wool and Mohair are having a good year, but the price of swine is feeling the effects of the rise in the corn market. Hay has done well, but only the best quality is bringing a good price according to the report.

GLOOM LIFTS FOR RADICALS

CONDEMNED MEN MOVE TO FRESH CELL IN BOSTON'S PRISON

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—The gloom of the death house had lifted its pall to some degree from Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti today, although one twelfth of their stay from execution already had expired.

The men were distinctly more cheerful as word came that their counsel had passed the last leg barrier to presentation of their contentions for a new trial to the state supreme court.

Together with Celestino Madeiros, who because of his identification with the case also was acquitted, the two radicals had been removed to freshly prepared cells in a part of the prison remote from the death house where Wednesday night, they waited until barely 15 minutes before the scheduled execution in ignorance that a stay had been granted.

The full bench of the supreme court, or as much of it as available, has been summoned to meet Tuesday to hear arguments by defense counsel on the last two lines of legal recourse left open to them in the state courts.

Sacco continuing his long hunger strike, entered his twenty seventh day without food, but Vanzetti yesterday twice drank coffee.

CHRISTIANS IN CITY URGED TO SERVE MASTER

"ON FIRE FOR GOD" IS TOPIC OF MESSAGE BY EVANGELIST

"On fire for God" was the high thought in the message that Dr. W. H. Hoag brought to his hearers at the morning service today. He spoke of the meeting of Philip and the Eunuch. Philip was on fire for God—he knew God. He was the first man that the rich Eunuch found that could tell him about Jesus, and he did that while riding along the road in a horse drawn vehicle.

higher and a nobler life. We never know when our services are needed in helping people to know what their hearts are longing for. We never know when God sends us to use us, but how many are ready with our armor on ready to do battle against sin. Too many of us have to get ready before we can get into action, and sometimes it is too late to do what is needed to be done.

FASHIONABLE, WASHINGTON USED TO SMILE AT FIRST LADY'S GARB, BUT NOT NOW "MRS. COOLIDGE IS GETTING SNAPPY!" "BEFORE AND AFTER"--SHOWING HOW WHITE HOUSE FASHIONS HAVE CHANGED

This picture might be called BEFORE. Here you have the high waists, long skirts, and utter lack of style, featuring the First Lady's garb in vice-presidential days.

Feathers still, and ankle-length skirts. The president liked them and picked out her clothes.

More feathers Mrs. Coolidge hated this hat for motoring, but the president liked it. She wore it.

Now it's AFTER. Her very latest picture. Note short, stylish skirt.

Here more snap Mrs. Coolidge's last Easter outfit of lacquer red and beige in ensemble suit style.

BY ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer

The Prince of Wales may determine the cut of Britain's pants legs, but it has never been customary for American fashion plates to follow the cut of the sartorial job of the presidents' wives. In fact, it has been quite the thing for fashion to make the same mistake about the clothes of our first ladies as the same old dame makes when surveying Queen Mary's hats. Please observe the past tense "has been."

All Is Changed

Have you seen by the papers the latest picture of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge?

It was the one taken at the president's birthday celebration a few days ago. Did you see the modishly brief skirt, the big summer hat with the wings, the kilted Coolidge feathers, the cute and chic little kick pants, and the turtleneck of modishness?

And before that, many an "Oh-and-ah" was heard over this broad realm when the photos of the "Two First Ladies," Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, flooded the land.

"Two snappy looking girls" was the general verdict.

Times change.

No one would have the temerity to suggest that the president's wife had posed as an illustration of a Before and After ad—or to illustrate a fashion monolog entitled "How and How Not to Dress."

But no law forbids thinking, and many people have been thinking that a handful of years of White House living have certainly changed the style of Grace Goodhue Coolidge until she could very ably pose as a Before and After ad of White House life.

"She's actually snappy!" is Washington's conservative substitute for a remark which once went, "Yes, she looks nice, but she's too conservative—always wears her skirts too long."

Even with all the evidence of the latest modish photos, Mrs. Coolidge has not utterly forgotten the political stage of a husband who has requested her to wear her evening gowns more than once, and not to be photographed more than once a season in really formal clothes.

But—political husband with an ax to grind or not—Mrs. Coolidge is a far different appearing woman today than when, entering the White House, she admitted that Calvin often selected her hats and gowns, or asked her not to wear things which he disliked.

The tale of the toque and the hat with the wings!

She Didn't Like It. Mrs. Coolidge wore the toque for motoring, but Calvin didn't like it, so she wore the hat with the wings, complaining at the folly of it, "but Calvin likes it."

The Mrs. Coolidge of first White House days didn't even have a permanent wave. She has now, it is said, is the round curl variety, but she says that the next one shall be a sure-enough inverted wave.

No woman feels it fair, of course, to dig up the pictures of yesterday and contrast them with her present ones.

But, granting that fashions come and go, there is more than that to explain the difference between the Mrs. Coolidge who was laughed at on inauguration day because of her hat, and the Mrs. Coolidge of today whose hats are sans reproche.

The same independence about dress still exists. Mrs. Coolidge wears the present snappy clothes because she has cultivated a taste for them and not because she thinks she should.

When she was vice president's wife a society reported called her at 6 o'clock one evening and asked what she was wearing to a 7 o'clock dinner.

"I don't know," said Mrs. Coolidge. "I have only two or three evening gowns, you know, and it seems so silly to keep reading about them. Oh, it'll probably be the blue one tonight."

"Oh," said the reporter, "we've been calling that green."

"Fine!" laughed Mrs. Coolidge. "Now write it up as blue and they'll think I have a new one!"

In the same spirit she wore remodeled gowns to the White House receptions and joked about their remodeling.

May-Try Paris Styles. Rumors are about that the snappy, chic, voguish, fashion-platey Mrs. Coolidge of the present who is wearing her skirts as short and as tight as fashion's best, may change her mind about wearing "American-made clothes only" and try a few fivers into the fashion realm of Paris.

A hat with a very long feather.

Big Dividend By General Motors To Be Given So

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A $2,000,000 "melon" establishing a record profit for American industry is to be distributed among holders of stock in the General Motors of Detroit, the spectacular bonanza Wall Street.

Plans for the distribution of the dividend will be decided by the corporation within a year and will be submitted for the approval of stockholders at a meeting in December 12 when directors will propose the declaration of a 100-cent stock dividend.

This in effect will be the result of a capital readjustment by which two shares of new $25 par stock will be issued for each share of the present 100,000 shares of common outstanding.

While no dividend rate on new stock was announced it is estimated in Wall Street that it will be $5 per share, or $10 annually instead of $8 at the present rate.

Wife Of Governor Reported Improving

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (AP).—Mrs. J. B. Henshaw, wife of the governor, is reported to be improving in a hospital where she went yesterday for rest and recuperation from a slight indisposition.

Repairs are under way at the governor's mansion and a house was found to be more desirable. The governor, who was to review national guard troops at Pahr, cancelled the engagement and remained here.

A terrapin with "H. E. C. 19" carved on the shell was found in a farm near Salem, Virginia. It is said to have been found by members carving his initials in the back of a full-grown terrapin in April, 1873.

Warfield's advice decided me on Luckies

At the Fairfield Country Club Hugh Beaumont explains to Miss Ethel Burnside how he came to prefer Lucky Strikes.

The Noted Actor, David Warfield, writes:

"Among other things, when young actors come to me for advice, I always say, 'Take care of your voice, cultivate it—and watch your smoking.' Usually they eye the cigarette in my hand with some suspicion. And then, I offer them a Lucky Strike—a cigarette I smoke freely, and have yet to feel the slightest effect on my throat. I've been told that toasting does that for this cigarette. When I smoke 'Luckies' my throat is beautifully clear and unirritated."

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Crane county's largest producer in several weeks was brought in yesterday by the Landreth Production company on the strip between the Gulf-McElroy block and the University pool, and looks like another "soft spot" with big production has been scratched.

The well, the Landreth Production company's No. 11 state land, topped the pay at 2,825 feet and drilled to a total depth of 2,844 feet when the well flowed a total of 4,300 barrels in 24 hours. The American State Department officials here said Mexican officials had violated international laws in not allowing De Courcy to communicate with his government's representatives and that protest will be filed with the Mexican government in this matter. De Courcy was accompanied to the United States by his ten year old son, Ernest, who refused to leave his father saying he knew the Mexicans would kill him. De Courcy's wife, who is of Mexican nationality, and three children were taken to the train to bid him goodbye when the son threw his arms around his father's neck and refused to leave him.

Carden Prominent In Texas Politics

DALLAS, Aug. 12 (AP)—George A. Carden, formerly of Dallas, who created a sensation on Wall street yesterday and today in his operations of the Manhattan Electrical Supply company above, is a law partner in the firm of Carden, Starling, Carden and Hemphill of Dallas. Mr. Carden, who is about 60 years old, was chairman of the state democratic committee when Tom Campbell was elected governor of Texas. He was an admirer and friend of the late William Jennings Bryan, and often entertained Mr. Bryan in his home here and in New York. Mr. Carden took an active interest in politics in Texas, until he went to New York in 1915 and began buying boats and selling them.

POLICE PROBE DUAL SLAYING

(By Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Aug. 12.—Police today delved further into gang war conspiracies in an effort to solve the slayings of two sisters whose deaths brought unsolved killings here to eleven during the past 18 months.

The husbands of the two women, Mrs. Ruth Barrett, 22, and Mrs. Lillian Kooser, 25, were sought by police. The women were found shot to death in the Barrett home yesterday.

Mrs. Barrett's husband, James Barrett, alias O'Byrne, alias Harry Morris, was engaged in an automobile finance business here. Police are investigating the possibility that he, too, may have been slain. His automobile was found burned on a country road near here.

Grand Larceny Charge
Kooser, whose wife came here a few months ago from Mankato, Minn., to live with her sister, is charged with grand larceny in connection with a jewelry store robbery at Blue Earth, Minn. he has been at liberty on bail. Several months ago he was acquitted on a bank robbery charge. He is believed to be somewhere in Canada.

Police learned that one of the women was a friend of two women who were slain here five weeks ago in what was believed to have been a bootleg gang feud.

Before books became so generally used, persons fortunate enough to possess any guarded them closely, often chaining those containing business records to their ledge so they became known as "ledgers."

Plans Launched For New Railroad To Plains And For Paving Of Highway No. 9 At Enthusiastic Meeting In Tahoka

The organization of a Plains to Gulf Railroad Development association and the creation of a new highway association were formulated yesterday at Tahoka when representative business men of cities along the route of highway number 9, from San Angelo to Amarillo, met in the South Plains city.

O. L. Slaton, chairman of the railroad committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, made the principal address outlining the plans of the new railroad association. The association plans to connect Sterling City and Lamesa with a railroad which will be a connecting link between the Plains and a proposed road from San Angelo through San Antonio to Corpus Christi. The road south from San Angelo is to be constructed by the West Texas and Gulf and a charter has already been applied for, the materialization of which will give this section a much shorter mileage to the gulf and will cut freight rates considerably on exports.

Short Link Left
Sterling City is connected with San Angelo with a road and Lamesa with its connection with Lubbock and other Plains cities leaves only a short link to be filled in to effect this new outlet to the gulf.

Carl Roundtree, Lamesa, was elected president of the association and A. B. Davis of Lubbock was elected secretary. C. T. Watson served as temporary chairman at the meeting and Claude Wild served as temporary secretary. Directors appointed were: H. H. Haines, Amarillo; O. L. Slaton, Lubbock; E. E. Stagg, Slaton; J. T. Williams, Wilson; C. H. Cain, Tahoka; E. M. Wilder, O'Donnell; Dixie Kilgore, Lamesa; E. M. Turner, Sparenburg; A. D. Brown, Ackerly; R. L. Price, Big Spring; W. L. Foster, Sterling City; and C. A. Broome, San Angelo.

Lubbock Men Elected
Jed A. Rix and Judge Charles Nordyke, both of this city, were elected as directors of the highway association, which was organized for the purpose of boosting the hard surfacing of the highway from San Angelo to Amarillo.

The Tahoka Kiwanis club entertained the hundreds of representatives of West Texas Towns who met there yesterday.

John T. Mathison, San Angelo, who was elected president of the association at Eden at the last meeting, was retained as president of the entire organization. A. B. Reagan, San Angelo, vice president, was retained for the southern division.

Holbrook Named
Captain Winfield Holbrook, Plainview, was elected vice president of the northern division, and Maury Hopkins, secretary of the Plainview Board of City Development, was elected secretary.

The following directors were appointed: Judge Sam Matlow, Potter county; Dr. S. J. Underwood, Hale county; and J. P. Nystel, Abernathy, Hale county; Judge Charles Nordyke and J. A. Rix, Lubbock county; E. M. Wilder, O'Donnell and M. L. H. Baze, Tahoka, Lynn county; Dixie Kilgore and Carl Roundtree, Lamesa, Dawson county; M. H. Morrison and C. T. Watson, Big Spring, Howard county.

The association will assist each county on the line in getting its section of the road under a hard surface, will work for state and federal aid, and will promote traffic over the route. Annual meetings and called meetings will be held in the interest of the highway.

FAMILY GAINS COOLING ON SMALL START

ALF, GIVEN EACH SON EXPANDS INTO HERD AND FARTHER

(By Associated Press)
 EMPFOHD, Aug. 12.—T. L. Bush, a farmer here, has exemplified the old adage that "if you wish any permanent good for man must begin before he becomes a man—you must start when he is a child."
 When each boy was 18 months old, Mr. Bush bought a cow and a calf. In the year that followed the calves became the nucleus of a herd of dairy cattle. Naturally Marvin hasn't identified with the tripartite alliance very long. In the morning Jack and Leon cared for their stock and did the milking and feeding. They sold the bull calves and added the heifers to their herd. "Spot" and "Janie," the two original calves, are still among their prized possessions. "Spot" time ago the boys pooled their resources and bought 12 registered Poland China pigs. Then came another problem. The acreage of their home was not adequate for a range and they solved it by letting the brood sows out to renters for half of the litters. When the pigs reached six weeks, the boys took them up, fattened them and butchered them for their father's store.

 As might be expected, these young livestock raisers took a try at cotton. They grew three acres of it last year and made a profit of $99.21. According to their books which they carefully keep, their expenses totalled $150.40 and their receipts were $249.71. The profit was made in the face of low cotton prices.
 Chickens, a few turkeys and a garden added to their profits. While Leon was away at college, the burden of the work fell on Jack, but Leon estimated the amount he would need for the two years course and gave Jack a note for the money. Next year Leon plans to teach school and pay the note. It is through such partnership arrangements that each son of the family will be enabled to obtain a college education and thus equipped they may be considered well on their way to a successful future.
 Tablets found in Babalonia show that banking was carried on there 5,000 years ago. There's a good political job waiting for some archivist who will dig up a tablet on Babalonian farm relief.

Jack Lockwill at Summer Camp

(Creator of Frank Merriwell)

By Gilbert Patten

"Ha!" exclaimed Tom. "Jim Hatchet!" Then he explained to Jack: "He's my cousin. They see him, and think it is me." "This is where we hunt and trap," said Hatchet. "White boys come over there. Bimeby white men come too, and soon there will be no game. I hate the whites, who think they are better than Indians! We have this one saught. What shall we do to him?"

"You will do nothing," said Longpine, "for he kept me from being whipped by the others." "The blood in your body has turned to water!" sneered Hatchet.

"Jim has been following me!" cried the Indian girl. "Make him keep away from me, Tom!" Her brother's eyes flashed. "Go away, Jim Hatchet!" he ordered.

Hatchet stood for a moment, staring hard at Tom. Then, without a word, he turned and walked away into the woods. "He's a bad actor, Longpine, old scout," said Jack. "He says he loves my sister," said the Indian boy. "This is she—my twin sister. She is called Twin Ross." "Well, speaking of names, that one fits like a glove," declared Lockwill, bowing to the girl.

Culture?

The shorter working day with its opportunities for "culture" has been and will continue to be halfhearted. All the champions of the 7 or 8 hour working day seem to take it for granted that more leisure will mean that the working man will pick up culture much as he might pick cherries or daisies.

Aldous Huxley shows another side of too much leisure in a keenly penetrating article called "The Outlook for American Culture". His contention is that the very machinery and wholesale production which makes leisure possible also produces "damned leisure" in the way of the movie, radio, amusement park, one mechanical thrill after another, so that culture has as little chance to exist as in the regime of the 8 or 10-hour working day.

He writes as follows: "Leisure makes culture possible but does not automatically create it. Machinery has brought leisure to the masses and leisure will increase. But can we honestly say that this leisure has given birth to a corresponding culture, or that there are any clear signs that culture is destined to spread in the immediate future? We can not. Leisure makes culture possible, but this possible culture has in fact become actual."

Family Albums

The old family photograph album with the fancy gadgets and brass hinges is coming back. Interior decorators have pictures from the walls and book case tops and tables, so the little old red plush album must be dragged forth when company is coming.

But it is not only the vogue for the antique which has resurrected the old plush album. It is modern science adding so many instruments of photography that ordinary individuals can now resist "smuggling" or "hoarding" negatives. Hardly has the furore over the photometer begun before a new device is heralded which tucks away in narrow space, can photograph passers-by and catch them in natural and unsuspecting poses.

New Things Needed

Nothing new under the sun? The ladder manufacturers' association of America is working day and night in search of a skidless ladder, one guaranteed to buckle anyone who stands on the top round as safe as the man below.

In fact there will be no man below, not if it is there for the purpose of holding the ladder, for such man need not be needed, they say.

The chairman of the skidless ladder committee declares that it is ridiculous to think that through all the years ladders have been used none has been perfected to a stage where it is safer than when the first ladder was erected.

If you will think half a second you can enumerate fifty things which would mean "something new under the sun" things badly needed, and so obviously simple that you wonder why they weren't invented long ago.

Eighteen Very Crad police officials have been held for trial on a murder charge. Clever, these Mexicans. They're only a year behind Canton.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:
When the 12 day stay of punishment was granted to Sacco and Vanzetti the Red cause scored the most impressive victory of its history. Radicals will admit that they've brought enough pressure to bear through threats of violence and through secret channels to stand in the way of America's laws. They have diverted justice in OUR OWN courts.

There in the Massachusetts penitentiary are Sacco and Vanzetti. Seven years ago they committed a murder. Lawyers decided, and they haven't paid their debt to society yet! Does that look just? Does it look right is that it keeps with the law? In The Plainsman's opinion it most assuredly is not.

Aside from a man's own conscience, his belief in God Almighty and his innate desire to be decent, upright and assure himself a place in the Hereafter, WHAT incentive is there to be law-abiding? There were more than 12,000 people slain in the United States in 1925 which in proportion to the population is more than 10 times as many as were recorded in the entire United Kingdom of Great Britain. Our murder total is increasing every year because our punishment is not certain, because our juries and our entire court system is lax and because some people of same minds seek to whitewash redhanded murderers with a coat of so-called "mercy." Appause!

A negro in the state of Texas, found guilty of murder and sentenced to die has been given a stay of 30 days so an insanity trial may be held. What if he is insane? He killed once and he might kill again. Why take another chance with him? Why use the state's good money feeding him, clothing him, keeping him behind lock and key when at any time he might escape and continue splashing in the blood of other humans?

There is only one solution to the problem. There must be a general and complete revision of our laws and our court customs. Penalties must be fixed and then unerringly applied when necessary. The treacherous pitfalls and legal tangles must be stricken from our code of justice and punishment for crime so that justice and mercy be held. What if he is insane? He killed once and he might kill again. Why take another chance with him? Why use the state's good money feeding him, clothing him, keeping him behind lock and key when at any time he might escape and continue splashing in the blood of other humans?

Can you remember a Smith, a Brown, a Jones or any other good old American name mentioned in connection with booze, machine gun gangs or wholesale killings? There have been of course, and there will be a certain percentage of native born Americans engaged in criminal pursuits but scan your lists of leaders in the riots of Chicago, New York, Detroit and other permanent criminal settings and you won't be able to pronounce a fourth of the names, all of which means that our immigration laws are too lax and that we are not exercising our rights of deportation.

We protect our borders with forts, guns and soldiers but evidently not with common sense. Were our immigration laws as they should be Sacco, Vanzetti and a million other undesirables would never have been permitted to enter the confines of our nation. It is time for America to arise and protect herself from this heterogeneous invasion for the good of the generations yet to come.

Reading the reports from the Geneva arms parley is just like reading bulletins from the bedside of that man who was kept alive for days and days by artificial respiration.

Napoleon's sister, says a new biographer, insisted on having a milk bath every day. There's something else to make the cows contented.

Prohibition War Zone Is Now Like Battle On Western Front, Rodney Dutcher Says In Letter From Capital

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Grown-ups may get that "New York attitude" but youngsters stay young and stern pretty much the world over. They make neighborhood affairs of everything—whether it's a Christmas tree in Broadway, the opening night of the grand opera, a symphony at Carnegie Hall, or a little theater in Greenwich Village. It's all the same to them—a source of curiosity and an intent to satisfy it. The tiniest peepshow of Potemkin gets the same reaction.

WANDERING through the Village mazes to the tiny Grove Street theater the other night, I found the regimented forces of the neighborhood gathered in front. It was a hot night and windows and doors were thrown open. Gamins cluttered the sidewalk trying to get a peep, and women rocked babies to the strains of the jazz band orchestra playing inside.

QUICK of wit and ingenious are these youngsters, particularly in the ways of picking up an extra penny or two. If you are a stranger and would be strolling to the neighborhood eating empanadas where wine may still be had with meals, just listen to the small boys of any of the side streets that run away from Greenwich Village into the Italian section. You'll find at once when you're in the right neighborhood for a small boy will tag you with "Want a taxi meter?"

His next will be: "Ya going to No. 59? I'll show you meter!" And when he has escorted you to the door he will recite: "Gotta compare extra pennies, mister!" And every street has a similar assortment.

MORE and more the little theaters are turning up material for Broadway. Here you see youngsters in their frid 'teens, with a suggestion of amateurishness and enthusiasm clinging to them struggling in little out-of-the-way places toward that day when a Broadway spotter will come and find them.

A season ago Betty Starluck was doing her songs and dances with the little Garrick Gaities group, those cute youngsters of the Theater Guild. Today she's in the "Big League."

frankly, it dares to do nothing else. The dry leaders believe their only real peril lies in the possibility that the rank and file of the cause will go to sleep in confidence that the cause is safe. They claim to have warned their Montana people of this peril and, because this warning was unsuccessful, to have lost a referendum in that state.

League's Worst Enemy Against the league, the only organization of importance which has appeared is the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. The association, however, is not to be compared with the league as regards its influence or organized support. It is about where the league was 20 or 25 years ago and it remains to be seen whether it will make any important headway.

Congress is so thoroughly dry that the most optimistic dry doesn't expect it to be anything else for years. The drys say it is becoming drier and drier and the wets that it is becoming gradually wetter, but the point is that the national prohibition laws are firmly entrenched and not likely to be modified for a long time, if ever.

That being the case, prohibition remains the law and the whole question boils down to whether prohibition in this country will be enforced more effectively, less effectively or just about the same.

PREVENTABLE FIRES

Four-fifths of the fire each year are man-made. All of them might be prevented by the ordinary exercise of care. Just now it is especially imperative that every precaution be taken to avoid starting fires, because the dry season of the year is here and the danger of heavy loss is increased manifold.

Careless campers are the worst offenders. Fires left burning in the woods, or lighted stoves and cigarettes stubs tossed into the brush last season burned more timberland than was cut by all sawmills in the country during the whole year.

More forests are burned each year than are grown and millions of dollars of property loss are the direct result of carelessness. Fires in rural sections are much more hazardous because of the lack of fire fighting facilities and campers and picnickers should be especially cautious with fire.

When farmers permit the use of their land for camping and picnic parties, it is nothing more than to invite disaster. The farmer's hospitality should take every precaution to avoid destroying his property.—Cleveland Journal.

We should all take a lesson from the above figures and see to it that never is a fire started in Lubbock that can be prevented. With this practice in vogue, we are sure that the percentage of fires would be even smaller than ten percent that are not preventable. Fire is one of the most dangerous things that the world has to contend with. It is even promised that the world shall be destroyed by fire the next time it is, and it looks like some folks seem to think that they should have a part in it. It costs Lubbock a lot to have fires. It costs Lubbock a lot to keep the losses down to the minimum. We have a good fire department here, and they do a wonderful work, but even with that degree of efficiency the losses are hard to keep down. Cooperation is the thing. We should watch our stoves, fires, and should watch our electric light wires. We should use the greatest care, and keep the consumption losses down to the lowest figures possible.

Some of the editors get up a after-while argument in their papers and very often it does not amount to a hill of beans. They get in a squabble about something that does not mean anything to build a special road through their county. Newspapers are instruments of construction and should use their precious space in matters that really means something.

School will open soon. It is an institution, intended to prepare sound heads, useful citizens, ship, worthy home-building, proper use of tools and technique of learning, wise use of leisure time, and vocational effectiveness. Schools should be taken to the home, and the parents should take an active part in school administration.—Pampa News.

Schools will be opening all over the country within the next few weeks. The big city schools, the little community schools, all alike will begin work. The school is a great institution. It is the one institution that has your children in a year than any other institution. They are under the care of the teachers, and for that reason the teacher should have the cooperation of the parents. The teacher to begin with should be one of the finest characters possible. They should be Christians and belong to some protestant church. They should be interested in the child's moral life as well as its physical, and mental life. We do not believe that a worldly man should teach children, nor a worldly woman. We do not believe that teachers should pour their doctrinal beliefs into the minds of the pupils, but they should be interested in their lives.

Theoretical cents looking for Utopia might take a look at Natal, Egypt, where 97 per cent of the people can neither read nor write.

CONFESSED KILLER OF STEPHEN PAYS WITH LIFE TODAY
HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Aug. 12.—F. M. Snow, 50 year old wood chopper of Erath county, died in the electric chair shortly after midnight for the murder of Stephen C. Connally, 18, his step son. The boy was decapitated, and it was the finding of his head in an abandoned storm cellar on December 9, 1925, that led to Snow's arrest and his confession to the murder of the boy and later to that of Mrs. Snow and her mother, Mrs. S. KILL FLIES PREVENT DISEASE

One fly is too many for safety—particularly when there is a baby in the home. It doesn't take a swarm of filthy-drenched, disease-spreading flies to contaminate food. The simple, convenient and effective way of being constantly on guard, is to put Tanglefoot Fly Paper and Ribbon to work. Buy them by the carton. Grocers and druggists everywhere sell them. When food is exposed to the air never use any other type of destroyer. THE TANGLEFOOT COMPANY Grand Rapids, Michigan

Reed Scored By Texas Official And Women's Leader For Attack Made On Federal Maternity And Infancy Law

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 12.—United States Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri was taken to task today by Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state and women's leader, for his statements recently in Houston in which he attacked the federal maternity and infancy law, known as the "Sheppard-Towner Act."

She said there was nothing new in it (Reed's attack) "to those who, for years, have been familiar with the periodical and illogical effects of the Missouri states-righter to interfere with the rights of women, both state and national."

Evils Pointed Out
What she considers evils of present unhygienic attention to birth cases were pointed out by Mrs. McCallum, who was secretary of the women's joint legislative committee when the Sheppard-Towner act was passed.

The statement in part: "I have read carefully Senator Reed's attack on the ways of his government, delivered before the Texas Bar Association at Houston and given such wide publicity."

"In his statement, the Senator ran true to form. He expediently avoided attacking federal aid for good roads, agriculture and tick-eradication, but confined most of his peroration to such things as pure food laws, woman suffrage, child labor, prohibition and the maternity and infancy or Sheppard-Towner Act."

"His sequence was unwittingly logical when he oratorically exclaimed that the announcement and burial are alike regulated by law, for burial of mother or babe (and sometimes both) follows announcement with pitiable and inexorable frequency. And I unhesitatingly charge that this is true because of the interference of such men as Senator Reed."

Midwives Rapped
"The yells of their wrath seem limitless when poured out against women and mothers who are striving through the Sheppard-Towner Act, under the Children's Bureau to remedy the situation—striving to instruct and govern midwives many of whom continue, right here in Texas, to administer such concoctions as wasp nest and dirt dauber tea to suffering ignorant mothers, and who have many other practices that are unprintable."

"But even such malpractice as this is not the worst risk to which destitute and ignorant mothers are subjected. When there is none of what the Missouri Senator terms interference with the tender and holy office of motherhood, I shall have to deal in very plain language, but it is a time when plain language is necessary."

"But nothing should be done about it. That is interference with the tender and holy office of motherhood. It's difficult to be restrained on this particular subject, but the outstanding fact is that most physicians and the midwife to be a necessity in thousands of cases."

Sly Terms As Spies
"How many there are practicing in this state it has not yet been possible to determine; but 2,738 have been located by those identified by Senator Reed as spies, snoopers, and regulators that swarm over the land like the lice of Egypt."

"Are Texans to be swept off their feet by mawkish sentimental outpourings concerning interference with the most sacred of earthly relations, and the dark valley of death, or are they going to clean up these relations, license and govern midwives, educate expectant mothers, save mother and the babe from the valley of death, administer prophylactic drops in the eyes of the babies to prevent lives of blindness, and suggest proper feeding, clothing and exercise to insure lives of health."

These are some of the things being accomplished under the Children's Bureau, and this is why informed mothers are ready to fight for it, as a Texas Senator truly said 'at the drop of a hat!'"

LIQUID ICE IS TEXAS' NEWEST REFRIGERATION TO BE PIPED INTO HOMES AT DALLAS

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Aug. 11.—Liquid ice will be piped to the business houses on main thoroughfares in Dallas when the winter weather season opens next year, according to plans made by F. O. Stevenson of Fort Worth, president of the Stevenson Engineering company, which is promoting the project.

A $1,000,000 downtown refrigeration system will be installed. Site for a central plant is now being selected. Pipe lines will be laid within three months on Main, Elm and Mr. Stevenson announced.

First in Texas
"This system, which will be the only one in Texas, is the first to be installed west of St. Louis. Several eastern cities use this system."

The downtown system will be the first unit of a great network of "piped ice" throughout the city. Year after next a $750,000 unit of pipes will be added in the residential section, according to plans.

Ice, ice water and food air will be supplied at a minimum cost to all business houses. City officials have already granted the company permission to lay the pipes under the pavement on Main and Elm streets.

Refrigeration Piped
Refrigeration, according to the announcement, will be piped in pipes as gas and water is piped. It will be generated at the central plant, ammonia, which is a gas, will be compressed to liquid ice and forced into pipes from the central plant. When it reaches the refrigerator in each building it will be converted into gas and the expansion will result in frigid air, even as to snow zero. The gas will return to the central plant where it will be compressed into liquid form again.

"This system, as has been proved in other cities, has no equal from the standpoint hygiene, service, efficiency and economy," Stevenson said.
