Loraine merchants have made great preparations to serve the people of this territory with their Christmas needs and will be disappointed if they do not have an opportunity to serve you. They want to serve their customers and friends with what they want and if I am a judge of merchandise they have just about anything anybody would want.

Give your home town merchants a chance to show you what they have before you go elsewhere hunting Christmas gifts. They will appreciate the courtesy.

Roscoe Telephone System Goes In Red

Roscoe—Declaring that it is losing nearly $500 a month on its operations in Roscoe, the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has announced that it is asking the city council for approval of an increase in rates here.

Proposed new rates present an increase of $1.25 a month for business telephones and 25 cents a month more for residential telephone users. Rural business customers would pay 25 cents more a month and rural residents 50 cents more.

During 1948, the company collected $6,000 here, Manager R. B. Peterson said. But cost of furnishing the service was $12,000. Post-war level of payrolls and other costs make adjuster rates necessary to help offset losses here, telephone officials said.

Present telephone rates were established in 1929, when Roscoe had 237 phones as compared with 360 now.

The company said that by the end of the year 150 families in Highland and Wastella communities will have service and many new rural phones are being added.

Loraine Invited To Fat Stock Show

Loraine has been extended a special invitation to have a "day" designated in its honor at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show which will be held in Fort Worth, Jan. 27 through Feb. 5.

On this city's "day," the high school band is invited to give a concert in front of the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum.

Band members in uniform are admitted free to the exposition grounds and are given aisle seats at a rodeo performance.

This city is invited also, as a feature of its "day," to designate a young lady as its "cow-girl sweetheart" and she will ride in the rodeo grand entry and will be introduced to the audience.

"We greatly appreciate the co-operation you and your citizens have given in the past and we are counting on you again this year," Deen states.

$120,000 Loss In Warehouse Fire Monday Night Here

Loraine suffered its worst fire in many years last Monday night when one of the cotton warehouses belonging to J. L. Woodrow and Carl Pratt burned to the ground with its contents, approximately 800 bales of government loan cotton in storage. Damage was estimated at about $120,000, the cotton being fully covered by insurance but the building, valued at $5,000, had only $200 insurance.

The fire was first discovered about six p. m. in the west end of the warehouse but within a few minutes had spread to cover the entire warehouse. Some believe that sparks from the bur burner at the Producers Gin set the cotton afire, others believe the bur burners do not put out enough sparks to set a fire.

Loraine volunteer firemen and a crew from the Colorado City fire department fought the blaze for several hours before bringing it under control. The Loraine firemen stayed all night to keep another warehouse nearby, containing approximately 1000 bales, from catching fire.

A salvage crew went to work Tuesday morning to save what cotton they could, though not much of it was worth salvaging. Insurance rates will be higher in Loraine next year as a result of the fire losses this fall. A 25 percent credit for good fire record will be wiped out and possibly a penalty attached.

CHINA: A New Try?

The situation in China appeared to be thoroughly static, although minor maneuvers would confuse the casual observer. Chinese Reds seemed easily in the saddle and likely to remain there barring some militant action from the West...

THE UNITED STATES and the United Nations had asked 30 countries to join in a demand on Chinese Communists that U. S. Consul Angus Ward be freed, and those nations agreed. But there was little said about what would be done if the Reds declined to free the U. S. consular official.

In another move, the ailing Li Tsung-jen, acting president of the practically defunct Nationalist regime since Chiang Kai-shek "retired" some months ago, might attempt to form a third Chinese government, independent of both the Reds and Chiang. Informed quarters in Hong Kong speculated to some extent on the possibility of such a maneuver.

FOREIGN OBSERVERS arriving in Hong Kong argued that it was fair speculation that Li might attempt to form an anti-Communist, anti-Chiang organization and go to the United States to seek substantial material aid. According to these sources, Li was expected to go to Washington soon to bolster the aid pleas of his personal contact man, Kan Chieh-hou, who has been there several months.

If Chiang, with the Nationalist government behind him and supported by extensive U. S. funds and arms, couldn't stem the Red tide, how could Li believe he could convince the U. S. that he could do it, especially since he'd have to split Chiang's forces and followers to get any followers of his own?

EISLER: Better Stay Put

Gerhart Eisler, the balding, chunky little Communist who fled the U. S. aboard the Polish-owned ship Batory while on bail on a contempt-of-congress charge, had better stay put in the Russian zone of Germany.

THE UNITED STATES supreme court emphasized that advice when it rejected Eisler's appeal, a ruling which meant Eisler faced a $1,000 fine and possible imprisonment if he returned to America. Eisler had attracted widespread notoriety because of reports that he was the Number One Communist in America.

While on bail, Eisler left America by stowing away on the Batory. He went first to England, which refused to hold him for U. S. action, and then to Russian-held Germany. Recently he was named chief of the newly-formed Soviet zone information ministry.

THE CASE against Eisler arose when he refused to be sworn as a witness before the house un-American activities committee.

PANAMA: No Blood

It wasn't at all like the comic opera impression of banana republic revolutions with all the shooting and the fury. In fact there was no shooting, no blood. However, everything had been planned for the real ingredients of a revolt, but last-minute intervention by the diplomatic corps, including U. S. Ambassador Monnet D. Davis, prevented any violence.

INSTEAD, Police Chief Col. Jose Remon took the stage as Panama's "strong man" and forced the resignation of President Daniel Chavis, the surgeon-politician who had held office only four months. Vice-President Roberto F. Chiari was sworn in after a night of feverish activity involving plans for a threatened police attack on the presidential palace.

Fighter

Dr. Tingfu Tsang, China's representative on the United Nations, has served notice he will fight any effort by the Chinese Communist government to oust him from his post.

IRISH: Ready to Fight

The Irish, according to a prominent spokesman, were ready to fight if necessary to regain the six British-controlled counties of Northern Ireland.

The spokesman was Gen. Thomas Barry, a retired Irish army officer who was in the U. S. to speak at an anti-partition rally of the United Irish Societies of Western Pennsylvania. The general was a hero of the Irish rebellion.

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET Real Roses in the Cheeks - You Call That a Handicap?

By BILLY ROSE

When Eleanor and I first moved up to Mt. Kisco, some of our neighbors dropped by to pay their respects, but I didn't encourage these visits. The landed gentry of Westchester are nice enough folk, but they don't talk my lingo. Besides, I see no point in cultivating people who think it's smart to chase a fox.

But a little down the road from us live a couple I cultivate as often as they'll have me. Their names are Fred and Jane Newell. I met them through Eleanor two years ago, and I'll never forget the first night we had dinner at their house.

Jane answered the doorbell. She was pretty all over, and I liked her right away. "Excuse the peasant skirt," she said. "I have a baby penciled in for the fall."

Fred was in the living room listening to the radio. He had the tweedy look of the good guy in the women's magazine stories. We talked for a couple of minutes before I realized he was blind. He told me he was a writer, and answered my unspoken question by explaining he dictated his stuff to his wife.

It was a fine dinner and a fine evening. Jane carried her child as if baby-having were some kind of party. Around eleven o'clock, Fred said to Jane, "Maybe the roses would like ice cream."

"Maybe they would," said Jane, "but we haven't any. I'll drive down to the village and get some." "I'll go with you," I said, "just to make sure you don't forget chocolate."

ON THE WAY to the ice-cream parlor I said, "Tell me something. What makes you kids act as if you had a gold mine in the cellar?"

The Fiction LIKE A FOX Corner

that. He didn't show up until two weeks before election, and then it was to announce a piece of news that overshadowed Al's great work. Tyler, it seemed, had made a trip to the capitol himself. He had consulted the proper authorities and received a promise that the state would employ local labor in constructing that section of the road that ran through Dexter.

The news was something to cheer about. It began to look as if Tyler had pulled another fast one.

Well, Tyler might have been elected if news hadn't drifted back into town that the state, because of adverse business conditions, had decided to abandon the idea of building the road that year.

Al made a hurried trip to the capitol. He didn't return during the next week, and folks began to forget he was even a candidate.

And then on the day before election one of the newspapers from the capitol that claims a fair-sized circulation in Dexter came out with

Star Dust STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

HEDY LAMARR has never been more beautiful and seductive than in Cecil B. DeMille's "Samson and Delilah", with magnificent costumes designed by Edith Head largely responsible. A good deal of credit should be given, too, to the sets and to the excellent HEDY LAMARR color effects. In fact, this is a picture in which art directors, photographers and others who never appear are among the stars. The scenes actually photographed in the Holy Land, Algiers and Morocco are beautiful and memorable.

Film star Van Johnson and band-leader Elliot Lawrence are dead ringers for each other. Their resemblance is so remarkable that sometimes it's difficult for them to convince autograph seekers they're not each other.

Dan Seymour never visits Hollywood, doesn't have to see movie stars; he sees as many in a year as a head-writer at Ciro's. During the past 12 months, on "We the People", Dan has interviewed such celebrities as Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Glenn Ford, Dick Haynes, Kirk Douglas, Janet Blair, John Payne, Marie Wilson, Linda Christian, Tyrone Power, among others.

Jane Wyatt was puzzled when crowds of visitors arrived at the Samuel Goldwyn studio to see her work in "Our Very Own". She discovered that her 12-year-old son, Christopher, was responsible. He had been promising a trip to see his famous mother with every new subscription to a local paper he delivers. Ann Blyth, Farley Granger and Joan Evans co-star.

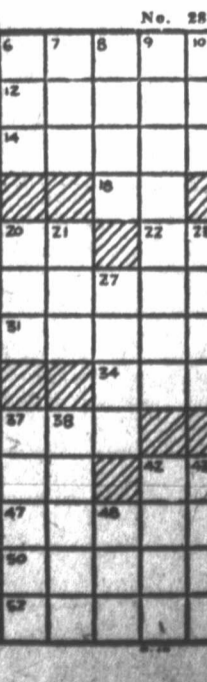

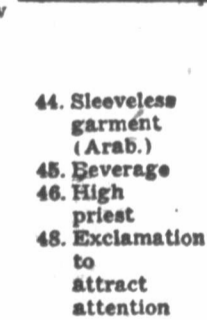

The power of radio has never been better demonstrated than in the success of the fund raising project to aid the fight against polio which is being conducted on Horace Heidt's "Youth Opportunity" and Ralph Edwards' "This Is Your Life" shows. Helen Hayes' appearance as one of the guest speakers on the former was touching, since her daughter died of polio.

No matter how he switched plane and train schedules, Don Ameche couldn't figure a way to get his whole family together for Christmas. So he will have an early celebration with his two boys in school in Iowa, then spend Christmas Day in New York with his wife, who accompanied him East for the Manhattan broadcasts of the Jimmie Durante show.

Army and Notre Dame

I SAW Notre Dame beat Navy, 40 to 0, and I saw Army beat Fordham, 35 to 0. Fordham was unquestionably as good a team as Navy was, probably better defensively. In looking at the two leading teams, only a week apart, it would be tougher than merely difficult to rank them.

Both are blessed with fast, hard-hitting backs who can pass, run and block. Both have two brilliant quarterbacks in Arnold Gallifa and Bob Williams. They are just about on a par. Williams has a slight edge in offensive worth, Gallifa in defensive strength when needed.

In the matter of backfield strength Notre Dame has the call with more good backs—Williams, Sitko, Zaleski, Coutre, Swistowicz, etc., vs. Stephenson, Gallifa, Cain and Martin, also Bob Black. The top Army four can match the top Notre Dame four, but Notre Dame can reach in the fat for more runners.

There isn't much difference in the play of the two lines. The main difference is that Army uses two sets of lines, Notre Dame only one. I doubt that Army has a group to match 260-pound Hart, 245-pound Tonneff and 235-pound Martin—all can handle the better part of 60 minutes whenever needed.

Both teams are brilliantly coached. Both have the ability to strike with such speed and devastation they can wreck good teams in less than 10 minutes. Army's defensive line is about as strong as Notre Dame's. I'm not sure her offensive play is quite as good, although it is deeper.

Notre Dame proved against Michigan State that Frank Leahy needs his first team strength against strong opposition. Michigan State grabbed 14 points before Leahy could blink twice, as he rushed his first team back into action after a 34 to 7 lead.

Army vs. Notre Dame would be a terrific game. Those who have seen Oklahoma in action tell me that Bud Wilkinson's outfit is an even match for either with just as much power and just as much all-around speed. The three don't happen to meet.

Among the unbeaten teams left we have Notre Dame, Army, Oklahoma, California, Boston U., Virginia and Cornell. None of these meet. Every team in the Big Ten, the Southwestern, and the Southern conferences has been beaten, most of them several times. Fordham is among those beaten only once and it should be stated here that Ed Danowski's Rams put up as gallant a fight against superior numbers, competitive experience, and all-around class as anyone would care to see. Outside of some three or four teams, Fordham is a match for anyone today.

Army's Schedule

Those who are criticizing Army's schedule overlook one fact: Red Blaik said before the Fordham game, "These boys are up at 5:30 a. m., well before daylight. They face 16 hours of hard physical and mental work. It would be cruel to ask them to play a schedule of nine major games. Each year I see the Army team fading out, but its last two games, or losing its earlier edge."

"This year we had Penn State, rated before as one of the strongest teams in the East. We had Michigan—at Michigan. We had Harvard—they almost beat us last year and looked to be a much improved team this fall, until the trip to Stanford practically wrecked the Crimson. We had an up and coming Fordham team. We had or still have Pennsylvania and Navy, two old traditional rivals who always give us a battle to the finish. I claim that schedule is all Army can handle. In 1950 we have Michigan again. We meet a powerful Stanford team at Stanford. We have Harvard and Pennsylvania who must be better than they were this fall. We have Pennsylvania and Navy. All told we have at least seven major games."

Captain Tom Hamilton, while head of Navy athletics, had this belief—"We'd rather be beaten by class than run over mediocrity. Our system is to meet the best." Navy was not equipped at that time—or now—to have any chance in its schedule. It had the sort of schedule Army should and could have played. Hamilton would play anybody—as long as they were good. So will Navy's present leaders. Navy has certainly earned more public acclaim from this plan than Army has sniping too many second or third graders.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Do Christmas Shopping at Home This Year

NO WOMAN LIKES the ordeal of Christmas shopping in crowded stores with picked over merchandise she knows is not what she wanted to get for Aunt Mary, or her neighbor or the sweet old lady who lives down the street.

How much happier is the woman who gets her household chores out of the way and can sit down at her sewing machine and make several presents in just a few hours.

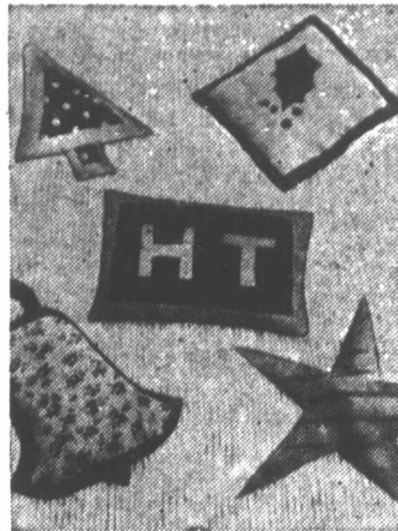

No great outlay of money is needed. The presents are personalized to the extent that they are not only a real pleasure to give, but also a certain ticket to deep gratitude for the thought they represent.

Instead of planning a shopping list for some of your items, why not sit down and make a list of things which you yourself can turn out with a great deal of pleasure. Some of the items which are made at home are so simple, but so effective that you'll wonder why you've never done it before.

With gift list completed, you simply need take out the sewing machine, ironing board and iron, and that scrap bag which is bulging with pieces of pretty lace, odd buttons, pieces of felt and delightful materials.

Just what type of thing can be created with so little, you ask? First of all there are the sachets, then monogrammed towels, pot holders, scull caps for the younger can easily be made at home or purchased. Use smaller flowers of the same type on one corner of the napkins to match.

These same ideas, namely the contrasting edging or the appliques may also be applied to towels, be they Turkish, hand or kitchen types. If you like, buy monograms and apply these to towels for that real personal touch.

An extensive treat for any woman may include two pillowcases with or without a sheet or two, depending upon the extent of the gift you want to give. You make or buy the pillowcases, and add a personal and colorful note to them by sewing a contrasting small floral print to the top opening of the pillowcase. The same edging applied to the set, soft toys or clothing for the new arrivals, hostess aprons or luncheon mats or cloths for almost any woman friend.

What about clothing bags for lingerie or linens? These may be made with the plastics and bound with a tape either sewed or pressed on.

What about a clever clothespin bag made in an apron style for the lady next door? You can use remnants from a shirt for the apron and the pockets which hold the pins can be cut from still another shirt remnant. The waistband to the apron may also be made from the contrasting material.

Women Appreciate Items Made for Their Homes

What women would not be completely thrilled with a wispy organdie table cloth and napkins to match? Yet how difficult is this to put together? You need only do simple hems on the cloth, making them wide for a luxurious touch. Or, place in the hem, use contrasting material and color.

If the organdie cloth has a simple, but wide hem, say an inch to an inch and one half, it may be decorated with flower appliques which Decorative pillows are a welcome present if they are done in the proper color scheme.

Mashed Finger a Bowling Hazard

By Will Bernard, LL.B.

If a Bowler Gets His Fingers Pinched, May He Collect Damages?

Three young men went to a bowling alley and started to roll a game. Halfway through the contest, one youth decided he would like to use a lighter ball. He found one, plugged in his fingers, and started to lift it out of the rack. Just then another ball, returning from the alley, smacked into the row and pinched the youth's finger. The injury was so severe that he later filed a damage suit against the proprietor. However, the court denied his claim. The judge figured that, since this kind of accident was a normal hazard of the game, the proprietor should not be held responsible for it.

A widow lived with her two grown daughters, next door to an auto mechanic. One evening the auto mechanic got drunk, and then went for a walk down the block. When he encountered the widow on the sidewalk, he burst into a torrent of abuse—accusing her and her daughters of immoral conduct. The next day the widow filed suit for slander. The mechanic pleaded that he had been too drunk to realize what he was saying, but the court held him liable. The judge said that slander is still slander!

Must a Judge Grant a Divorce—Even if He Thinks There is Hope For a Reconciliation?

A man deserted his wife and she sued him for divorce. At the trial the man showed up and announced that he was "a changed man." He assured the judge that time would soon bring about a reconciliation. However, when the wife proved adamant, the judge awarded her a decree. His Honor said that, even if he thought there might be a reconciliation, he had to grant the wife's demand anyhow. He explained that, once she had proven her case for a divorce, he had to give it to her.

If Your Canary Escapes, Does it Still "Belong" to You?

A bachelor had a tame canary named "Sweetie." One day the bird escaped from its cage and fluttered to the street. There an alert neighbor caught it, took it into his house, and stubbornly refused to give it back. But when the bachelor sued, the court ordered the neighbor to restore the canary to its original owner. The judge figured that a creature tame as "Sweetie" should not be considered fair game for the public just because it happens to escape momentarily from its owner's control.

filler. Covers may come from remnants that you have or buy as necessary.

No Sewing Is Required To Make Sachets

Personalized sachets make ideal gifts when given with handkerchiefs or lingerie, or in sets of two or three. All you need buy for them is hot iron mending tape which is used for the edging and decorative motif, and of course the scent. One bottle of bath salts will fill at least 20 sachets.

To make the sachets cut a pattern from a piece of cardboard and then cut two pieces of material from this pattern. Iron the two pieces together with hot iron mending tape, choosing a contrasting or matching color in the tape.

To finish, leave a small opening in which to put the sachet filling before you finish the binding. Tuck the bath salts into cotton and stuff the sachets with it.

If you like to make decorative sachets with holly, initials or flowers, cut the shape of the design out of the mending tape and then iron into the cloth before stuffing or binding the sachets.

an with her husband sat next to me. She said it was her first experience and she felt out of place and shy. Presently a rather heavy rubicund man whose looks didn't impress me pleasantly arose and made a mild-sounding proposition as to a certain large tract that was to be purchased "for an amusement park."

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Go to Next Political Meeting

THE STORY of Eugenie Anderson ought to give about 80,000 American women something to think about. It should be an example to them, and it well might make them ashamed of themselves.

Mrs. Anderson is, of course, our new ambassador to Denmark; the first woman to be so honored by the greatest country in the world. I never have met her, and until she—so to speak—put it on the map, I never heard of the small town from which she comes. It is probably smaller than your town.

But this I know of her, and this is what makes me admire her and wish that the 80,000 women aforementioned would wake up and make themselves half as valuable citizens as she has made herself. She has a family, a husband and home. Many women consider that these responsibilities are enough to keep them busy for many hours a day and entitled to what leisure they can win at night.

Lot of Silly Men

These cares didn't keep her from attending an apparently unimportant political meeting some years ago. Just such a meeting as takes place in your town and mine every autumn: "a lot of silly men getting up and shouting," you perhaps think them. Her attending that meeting led this unknown, unimportant small-town woman straight up the ladder to the position of high honor that she holds today.

But as I say, I am not writing for house mothers, for those busy young wives who have little children, and sitters, and washing machines and formulas on their minds, as well as the man who comes home tired, and must find a quiet house and a hot dinner not writing for house mothers, for those busy young wives who have little children, and sitters, and washing machines and formulas on their minds,

Each of the girls has a private room. The spacious main house is luxuriously furnished. It has a grand piano.

The principles of the girls' monastery can be paraphrased as these: No lipstick. No liquor. No men. No money.

The first two are to make the third one easier. Maybe the fourth one helps, too.

The girls wear yellow monkcloth dresses and are called by Hindu names. Three are college graduates. Two are divorcees. All must study five years before taking the vows of sisterhood.

In the convent, as Sarda, the elder sister, puts it, the members seek "divinity of mankind in a simple life of intellectual study and spiritual discipline."

"Most of the time we keep the same jobs which we have because we like them," said Sister Sarda. "For instance, I am laundress. It's not hard. I just freeze down to the nearest laundrette."

After the chores are done, the girls study and read. "There is no censorship of literature here," said Sister Sarda, "but we do not read dime novels."

Be Smart!

Play up your costume with jewelry whether for daytime or that important evening. Play it safe with color and glitter such as the bib of over-size crystal beads or gigantic simulacra of such precious stones as rubies or sapphires, matched with a cluster in the earrings for added richness to your best evening dress. At the right is another new and quite inexpensive idea for wear with velvet dinner dress or a daytime costume, a velvet bib collar with a rich design of beading in crystal, jet, or ever so many individual colors.

HADACOL IS HELPFUL TO FOLKS OF ALL AGE GROUPS

Countless thousands have proved that HADACOL is beneficial to folks of all ages. That is the reason so many purchase the large economy size bottle so all the family can benefit from nature's Vitamins and Minerals in HADACOL.

For instance, Miss Eibel Guidry, 822 Montgomery St., Port Neches, Texas, only 17 year old, was "feeling nervous, had little appetite, her face was pale and drawn and she suffered from gas on the stomach."

Her system lacked the B Vitamins and Minerals which HADACOL contains and this may cause digestive disturbances such as heartburns, indigestion, and often times Miss Guidry says she could not eat the kind and type of food she wanted without feeling terrible afterwards.

Miss Guidry, who recently graduated from high school, is already working in a bank. She said that after taking several bottles of HADACOL she is now "feeling wonderful," and has "lots of pep and energy."

Most folks take HADACOL because it has worked such wonders for relatives or friends. Miss Guidry took HADACOL because her mother had taken 12 bottles with excellent results.

In nearby Port Arthur, Texas, Mrs. W. M. Thompson took HADACOL because it had done her husband so much good. He, in turn, had taken HADACOL because an elderly neighbor told him of "feeling so much better" after taking several bottles of HADACOL.

Mrs. Thompson's normal weight is 135 pounds but she was down to 110 pounds before taking HADACOL, and after taking a few bottles of HADACOL she regained her normal weight. "I was bothered with stomach trouble, gastric disturbances, I had lost my appetite and was bloated," said Mr. Thompson. She had tried several preparations before taking her husband's advice on HADACOL and now she enthusiastically recommends HADACOL to her friends.

She, too, like Miss Guidry and the others, was suffering from the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals in her system which HADACOL contains.

A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances... Your food will not agree with you... You will have an upset stomach... You will suffer from heartburns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while these symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals which HADACOL contains. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no known cure except the administration of the Vitamins and Minerals which your system lacks.

HADACOL contains not only one, but 6 of the B Vitamins. HADACOL contains not only one, but 4 of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilates in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL.

So, it matters not where you live... or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial. —A.M.

BAPTIST W. M. U. IN ALL DAY MEETING

The W. M. U. of the Baptist Church met December 5 in an all day meeting observing the Week of Prayer.

The program chairman, Mrs. D. F. Butler, was assisted by Mrs. Wayland Boyd and the president, Mrs. Bob Horton, in preparing the program.

The program opened with the song I Need Thee Every Hour. Mrs. J. C. Hall, Sr. gave the devotional, reading from Isaiah 9. Prayer that Christ might be revealed by His messengers as the living Redeemer and friend of all who seek Him, led by Mrs. Horton.

From I Know A Name author unknown was given by Mrs. Butler. Mrs. Leach talked on His Name Shall Be Called Wonderful; Mrs. Edwin Hallmark gave, His Name Shall Be Called Counselor.

Mrs. Howard Tartt rendered the solo Joy To The World. The topic, The Mighty God, was given by Mrs. Boyd followed by the song Sweet Hour of Prayer. After prayer there was an interesting round table discussion as those present gave personal experiences of the missionaries that they have come in contact with. The morning session was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Meek.

A covered dish luncheon was served at the noon hour.

The afternoon program was opened by singing Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing. Mrs. Tom Ray offered prayer. Mrs. A. J. Barron talked on, His Name Shall Be Called the Everlasting Father, followed by the song, I'll Go Where You Want Me To Go. Mrs. D. W. Haralson discussed, Unto Us a Son Is Given and His Name Shall Be Called Prince of Peace.

In the business session the minutes were read by Mrs. Hallmark. The Lottie Moon Christmas offering was taken by Mrs.

W. S. C. S.

The W. S. C. S. met with Mrs. Jim Johnson Monday afternoon with 16 members present.

Mrs. F. M. Reiley led the opening prayer. Mrs. J. D. McDonald led the devotional, reading from Matthew 26. Across the boundaries of race chapter in the study book Women of the Scripture, was discussed by Mrs. Percy Bond and Mrs. Johnson. Legend of the Black Madonna was given by Mrs. Bond. Mrs. B. B. Blair led the group in meditation.

During the business session plans were made for a turkey dinner at the Lions building on December 17, to raise funds for the building.

Mrs. Elmer Martin dismissed with prayer.

Questions and Answers
Q. I am eligible for three years of training under the GI Bill. May I use 9 months of my entitlement, to complete my high school course and the remaining 27 months for on-the-job training?

A. You may complete your high school course with your entitlement, but it is necessary for you to obtain a vocational certificate of eligibility following completion of your high school course so that you may present it to the institution in which you are to receive job training.

Q. I intend to apply for a GI loan to go into business. If my business venture fails and I have not paid off the entire loan will I be expected to pay the balance?

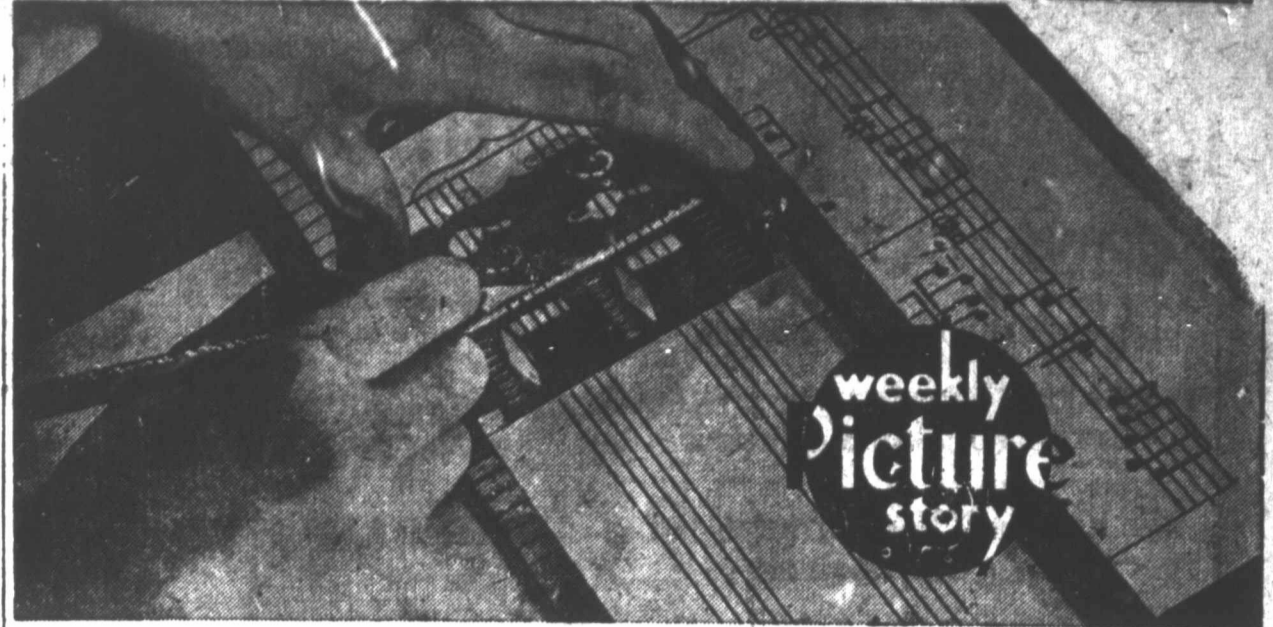

A. If the government has to pay the lender any part of the guaranteed portion of the loan, you will be obligated to the government for the payment.

Q. I am an unmarried World War I veteran and receive non-service-connected pension. This year I expect to receive $5,000 from an insurance policy which I intend to deposit in the bank. Will this jeopardize my pension from VA?

A. Assuming the policy is other than U. S. Government Life Insurance policy, the receipt by you of $5,000 will cause your income to exceed the limitations set by law so that you will not be entitled to pension for a year. The law provides that a veteran's income cannot exceed the amount of $1,000 annually if single and $2,500 if with dependents and still receive a pension. Proceeds of insurance from other than a government insurance policy is income within the meaning of the law.

FINGERTIP SIGHT

Development by various research organizations, in cooperation with the American Foundation for the Blind, of specially adapted instruments and tools provide many new opportunities for blind and assist blind women to move as efficiently and as rapidly in their kitchens as their more fortunate sisters who can see. As shown above, a pencil guide enables a sightless composer to write music at the rate of a page in 12 minutes for a simple tune. Blind people may draw or write the lines of the top surface of the cellophane of this rubber-covered drawing board (left) with hold-down clips; a ball-point pen, filled with a colorless lubricant, is used.

The instruments shown above are timing devices—second-timers for blind people who work in photographic dark rooms. These instruments were developed after studies by the American Foundation for the Blind. At right is an outdoor braille thermometer, popular with blind poultry raisers and truck gardeners and for greenhouses. This product also is a result of research and development at the foundation for the blind.

FFA Elects Sweetheart

The F. F. A. boys have just closed out the chapter sweetheart race and we found the Freshmen taking the lead by a big majority. Maurine White was the lucky girl and she will be honored at the annual Father and Son banquet.

The Freshmen and the Sophomores are getting ready for the district leadership contest that will be in Sweetwater December 10. Freshmen are training for the F. F. A. quiz and farm skill and the Sophomores will enter the farm skill.

Now is the time for all poultrymen to begin to make plans for the young chicks that are to be bought. One-half to three-fourth square feet to the chick should be allowed. Overcrowding will cause disease and trouble all through the brooding season. Any further information desired by anyone can be had upon request.

Sports News

Basketball got underway this week. Tuesday night we went to McAuley. The scores there were McAuley girls 20-15. The boys of Loraine won by 16-13. Thursday night the teams took a trip over to Highland where all of the teams won except the A girls. Friday night brought happiness again to all the teams except the A boys who lost by 2 points.

This week we meet Highland here Tuesday night which will provide some good entertainment. The rest of the week is open.

Next week the teams go to Hobbs and then to a tournament at Westbrook the 15-16-17.

So far our teams have been successful and they will continue to win if they have some strong backing. Lets all get together and back our teams.

Soph News

Everybody is looking forward to the junior play Thursday night, especially one of the Sophs.

Marie is all smiles today, she is looking for a little niece. Joan is celebrating her second anniversary today alone.

Lynn's old man is in California. Peggy actually got her hair fixed.

Joan went kodaking Sunday. La Joyce made a New Years resolution not to go courting any more.

Shirley went to C. City yesterday. Wonder why, and with whom?

Last minute news flash—Marie has a new nephew.

Fish News

The freshmen had two new boys last week; they were, John Draper and Archie Walters. They have started out with a good start in basketball; let's all wish the boys and girls luck.

This morning a bunch of the Home Ec. 1 girls got our club sweaters, and we are really proud of them.

There hasn't much happened except we are all looking forward to our Christmas holidays. See ya next week.

Junior News

The juniors look a little shaky this morning. Maybe it's because it's only three days until time for their play. The name of it is "The Blue Bag", and it is to be presented Thursday night, December 8, at 7:30. Admission will be 15c and 35c. Tickets may be purchased from any of the juniors or at the door.

Maybe you're wondering why there wasn't many of the juniors in sight over the weekend. Most of them were home studying their parts on the play.

It seems that about three of the junior girls had a good time over the weekend, especially Sunday night.

The juniors are all busy writing their letters to Santa Claus. We hope we have been good enough that he will come to see us.

Senior News

The annual sales are coming along fine! 72 annuals have been sold. Melvin Baumann sold 31; Dale Baird, 18; Deryl Bennett, 8; Donald Black, 13; Peggy Shumate, 4; and Joy Graham, 1.

Roman Campos is back with us this morning. We are glad to have him back.

Mr. Manias is coming back today to finish taking pictures. This is one step nearer the completion of our annual.

It seems that one of our sponsors had quite a bit of trouble over the week-end. Mr. Crawford decided that he didn't like batching.

Introducing A Senior

Donald Gene Black is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Black. Donald Gene was born March 25, 1933 at Loraine. Donald Gene is known and liked by all.

Some of Donald Gene's activities are: 3 years of football, 4 years of Ag. Speech Club one year, Speech Club vice president and junior year class favorite.

A few favorites are: actor, Alan Ladd; actress, Ava Gardner; sport, football; day, Friday 13th; ambition, mechanical engineer; Donald Gene seems to be partial to brunettes when girls are concerned.

Band News

The Loraine High School Band accepted an invitation to take part in the Big Spring Christmas parade by J. W. King, Jr. The band made the trip and got back in time for the ball game Friday night.

There were 26 members making the trip: Doyle Combs, Hal Haralson, Don Martin, Jimmy Hall, Bobby Reddin, Dixie L. Templeton, Margaret Phillips, Dorothea McGee, Joyce Coldey, Beth Narrell, Norma Jan Snyder, Darrell McGee, Joe Edd Coldey, Jim Edd Taylor, Kenneth Harris, Charles Coley, Arnold Faulkenberry, Billy Ray, David Hamblen, Max Shepherd, James Hallmark, Henry Salley, Dale Haralson, Keith Laseter, Glenn Linder, and our band director, Mr. Jimmy Verner.

In comparison with October 1942, farm cash income for October 1943 rose 5 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howell and Glenda Simmons of Ozona spent the week end with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howell, and W. E. Simmons. Mrs. Howell returned with them to spend this week.

Interest Great In Fat Stock Show For Hereford Cattle

Fort Worth, Dec. 1—Inquiries indicate that the Hereford breeding cattle division of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show will be as strong as the 1949 show which attracted probably the largest number of Herefords in the Fort Worth exposition's history. Dates are January 27 through February 5.

The grand total of awards for Hereford breeding cattle will be $15,800. Deadline for cattle, sheep and swine entries in the Stock Show is December 12.

Weekly Swing of SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Majority of southwest farm products sold unchanged to a little lower Monday than a week earlier, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Hogs were little changed from a week ago at San Antonio and Denver, but lost around 25 cents at Oklahoma City and 50 cents at Fort Worth. Pigs held steady at Fort Worth.

Cattle and calves sold steady to $1 lower for the week at Fort Worth.

More livestock came to southwest and midwest markets last week than the week before, but receipts of all except hogs fell short of the same week last year. Dressed pork prices declined last week, and other meats were steady to lower.

Poultry held firm, but eggs weakened. Feed markets showed a stronger trend last week, despite rather light demand. With most hay in storage, prices held firm in the face of slow demand. Cotton gained 25 to 40 points.

Mrs. Jake McMillian of Iraan spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lankford and Kaynell spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Lankford at Ackerley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall and children visited in San Angelo Saturday.

Mrs. F. M. Hickey and Mrs. John Mahon were visitors in Abilene Friday.
