Dawson County Has Ginned 23849 Bales From The 1940 Crop Prior To November 1st; Ahead Of '39 Crop

Three Counties Of South Plains Ahead Of Dawson

Various Estimates Place Yield At Between Thirty And Forty Thousand

Dawson County ginned 23,849 bales between October 15th and November 1st, to bring the season's total to 23,819 bales prior to the first of November, according to figures released this week by R. S. Stanfield, special agent of the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

This compared with 23,209 bales ginned at the same date in 1939, or 840 bales more this year than last.

The freeze in the early part of this month is said to have done considerable damage to the top crop in this county, which could have made several thousand bales with prolonged warm weather.

Dawson County ranks fourth on the South Plains being led by Hockley, Lubbock and Lamb Counties only.

While estimates on the total crop for the county are still varied, it seems to be the general consensus that the country will not gin more than thirty-five thousand bales, with a few placing the estimate nearer forty thousand.

"Please Stop My Classified"

"Please stop that classified," a Courier Classified user said this week. "I expected some results, but I didn't expect anything like this. I have had enough replies to sell twenty times the things I offered for sale."

While it is true that results like the above are a little unusual, it is by no means unusual for advertisers to get phenomenal results from Courier Classified ads.

These little wonder workers, seldom exceed the minimum cost of 25c per issue and the results they get, are at times, almost unbelievable.

If you have something to sell, rent, lease or for numberless other reasons you want to contact the most people for the least amount of money, then you should use Courier Classified ads.

Thrifty people have found it pays to use and read the Classified ads in the Courier.

Roberts Grocery Has Anniversary

O. A. Roberts

O. A. Roberts is this week celebrating his second anniversary in their new building on South Dallas.

Two years ago this month they moved into their newly completed building following several years operation in smaller quarters. At the time the building was completed, Mr. Roberts felt that he had ample room to handle his business, with an apartment in the building, occupied by he and his family.

During the past year, however it has been necessary to tear out the apartment and devote the entire building to the grocery and market business. The Roberts built a lovely new home just west of the business building.

Your attention is called to their large ad in this issue of the Courier, wherein they are offering some unusual values for this week end.

$372,367.29 In AAA Payments Already Received

A total of $372,367.29 has been received by Dawson County farmers for compliance with the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program. All the total number of 1935 applications for parity payment have been submitted to the State AAA office except 15, for some time. The remaining 15 cases are either non-payment or incomplete signature cases.

Twenty-six per cent of the 1940 conservation applications have been submitted for payment. At present this is practically all of the applications that may be submitted until after the end of the fiscal year which is November 30, 1940. Only those applications for farms earning 100 per cent of the 1940 soil building allowance may be submitted before December 1, 1940. However, the county office is continuing to take signatures as fast as possible in order to have a large number of applications completed by the end of the fiscal year.

The conservation payment is the second and final payment that will be earned for 1940. The conservation payment will be the larger of the two checks received and will include the payment based on the cotton allotted acreage and the normal yield established on the farm, the general allotment, and any soil building allowance earned by the farm. The conservation payment will be paid all in one check and will be divided into individual checks to the tenant, sharecropper, or landlord in the same manner as the division of the parity payment.

It should be borne in mind in 1940 as it was in 1939 that for all payments that would otherwise amount to less than $200 there will be applied an automatic rate of increase. For example if your check earned would amount to anywhere between $60.00 and $185.99, fourteen dollars will be automatically added.

Draftees Are Warned To Return Questionnaires To Board As Law Provides

Two Hundred Questionnaires Have Been Mailed And Some Have Not Been Returned To Draft Board Office

The local draft board this week issued a warning to draftees who have received questionnaires, but who have delayed in returning them to the local office.

"The law provides a penalty of ten thousand dollars fine and five years imprisonment for failure to return these questionnaires within the time prescribed, and the local board has no other course, and cannot allow an extension of time, without an adequate excuse. L. E. Eager stated Wednesday, "We do not want to make any trouble for any draftee, but we must insist that these questionnaires be returned when they are due. There yet remain several out, which are overdue and we insist that those who have them, return them at once."

The first quota of seven men was filled this week, entirely by volunteers. The board now has eight more volunteers who will be used in the next quota.

Two hundred questionnaires have been mailed out in this county, and out of the number returned and

With Thanksgiving out of the way this week, merchants of Lamesa are making preparations for the opening of the Annual Christmas Shopping season in Lamesa. Only preliminary plans have been worked out at the time this is written, and more detailed information will be given later.

Museum Acquires Flag

The battered, bullet-riddled American flag that flew over the Mexican city of Tampico during the war between that nation and the United States nearly a century ago, is included in a valuable display of the belongings of Mrs. Ann Chase, that became a permanent part of the exhibit at the Texas Hall of State. Dr. Herbert Gambrell, Museum Director of the Dallas Historical Society, is shown inspecting the flag.

Lack Only A Few Hundred Dollars Of Having Entire 1940 Deficit Cleared Up

There Seems Little Doubt But That Funds Will Easily Be Raised And Lamesa Will Keep League Franchise

A representative from the Lamesa Baseball Club attended the annual meeting of the West Texas-New Mexico League in Lubbock Sunday, with the assurance that Lamesa would again be a member of the League. Local officials state that only a comparatively small sum remains to be raised to get the local club clear of debt and to start the 1941 season off with a clean slate.

Just as quickly as the money is raised, there will be a meeting of stockholders and fans, for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the new season, it is announced.

It will be in the hands of the new board, to select a manager of the 1940 Lobo machine, and rumors have been thick as to who would be chosen for this post. As one official of the club pointed out, no one can say who this will be, as it will be entirely in the hands of the Board of Directors, which has not as yet been named.

When the 1940 season closed, the club faced a deficit of approximately three thousand dollars. In all fairness to the fans of the territory and the support they gave organized baseball last season, it is pointed out that this by no means represents a loss in operating expenses, but is actually indebtedness against the ball club's plant, which actually cost more than twice the amount of the deficit.

Since the season closed, all but a few hundred dollars of the deficit has been raised through loyal fans of the sport, and it is felt that the balance will be raised without serious difficulty. Those who would like to aid, are asked to get in touch with any member of the Board of Directors, or if you don't know who they are, ask most any baseball fan around town and he will be able to direct you to one of them.

Goodfellows Will Stage Annual Drive For Funds For Lamesa Unfortunates

Funds Will Be Used For Having Santa Claus Visit All Unfortunate Children In Lamesa And Dawson County

The Goodfellows of Lamesa will soon start their annual drive for funds in which to bring Christmas Cheer to those kiddies of the county who would otherwise be missed.

The drive will start within the next few days, it is said, and will continue through to Christmas.

As has been previously pointed out, it is not the object of the Goodfellows to take away or usurp the privilege of the churches or other organizations in bringing cheer to the unfortunate children in the community, but rather to augment and supplement that service, by seeing that not a single child overlooked by Santa Clause on Christmas.

When the movement first started in Lamesa, some of the leaders of the churches were a little leery of the move, stating that they believed it was not only the duty of the church but also the privilege to take care of the unfortunates. But after they have seen how the Goodfellows operate, every church in the community is squarely behind the movement. It not only aids in avoiding duplications, but also in an equitable distribution of the Christmas goodies, so that no child is overlooked.

More details will be given from time to time on the movement.

Gridiron Grins . . .

John Tigart, president of the University of Florida, once played football at Vanderbilt. He was a cocky youngster.

October, 1901, Vanderbilt was playing Auburn in Montgomery. In those days the spectators crowded around the field and some times would get in the way of the players.

When the second half started, Auburn kicked off to Vanderbilt. Vandy, after a short run, had the ball on this 30-yard line. The teams began to call signals. In the midst of the signals, Tigart suddenly yelled, "Time". When the referee granted his request, Tigart rushed down the field near the Auburn goal line to clear some spectators out of the way, saying: "I'm coming down this way in just a moment."

The teams lined up. Signals were called again.

Tigart went "down this way" for a touchdown!

Wichita Falls Scheduled To Join West Texas-New Mexico League In 1941

Neal Rabe, Former Amarillo Manager, To Move Midland Franchise To North Texas Metropolis

Transfer of the Midland franchise of the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league to new owners and new territory and tentative action regarding the Odessa franchise were announced and approved at the league's winter meeting at Hotel Hilton at Lubbock Sunday.

The league voted approval of the sale of the Midland franchise to Neal Rabe, one of the "founders" of the circuit and one of its most faithful workers, and others and also granted Rabe's request to move the franchise and holdings to Wichita Falls.

To Construct Park
It appeared quite definite that Wichita Falls, former Texas League town and generally regarded as one of the best sport towns in North-west Texas, would be a member of the eight club West Texas-New Mexico league in 1941.

Rabe, backed by his own and some cash from "other sources," said he would begin construction of a 5,000 capacity grandstand at the site of the former Texas League diamond in Wichita Falls, Spudder Park, about January 1. He has acquired a lease on the grounds formerly occupied by the Spudders. The grandstand burned several years ago, leaving a concrete foundation and "box seat" area.

Hale To Manage Club
Rabe said that Sammy Hale, former manager of the Midland Cowboys, American League infielder and would be playing manager at Wichita Falls and have a financial interest in the club.

News of the action probably came as a surprise to Wichita Falls, which had no representative at the meeting, other than Rabe and Hale. Although Wichita Falls has been named as a prospective West Texas-New Mexico league base, nothing definite had been announced until the meeting here, and as late as Saturday night the Evening Journal in Lubbock was told by the Wichita Falls Record-News that "nothing has been done about baseball here, we know of no plans and of no delegates planning to attend the Lubbock meeting."

"On Our Own"
Rabe, however, said he had been to Wichita Falls "several times" and had made contacts and arranged to lease the old ball park site.

"We are going into Wichita Falls strictly 'on our own' and we are not asking Wichita Falls for a cent of money. We have enough money to guarantee a full season, if we don't draw fifteen cents at the rate, but I believe Wichita Falls will turn back to baseball use as Amarillo has come back," Rabe said.

President Milton Price, presiding at Sunday's meeting here, voiced full confidence in Wichita Falls as a league member and suggested that the club there would improve the status of the league in a number of ways.

Guarantee Eight Teams
That the league would continue to operate as an eight-club circuit was guaranteed by representatives of seven clubs and by Price.

Only team not represented was Odessa, and it is believed little effort will be made by the club owners there to operate. In fact, it is believed the franchise has been turned over to a group of Odessa business men headed by George Elbert, who are willing to turn it over to interested parties.

President Price appointed a committee consisting of Rabe, Bob Seeds, owner-president of the Amarillo club, and Joe Tate, deposed manager of the Lamesa club, to investigate the Odessa situation and make efforts to rehabilitate the crumbling Odessa ranks, or transfer the franchise and club to another location.

San Angelo Considered
While nothing definite was announced, it was felt that San Angelo might be interested in the Odessa franchise, provided a suitable arrangement could be worked out.

Announcing themselves as "ready to go" in 1941 were Berger, the 1940 pennant winners, Pampa, Amarillo, Clovis, Lamesa, Lubbock and Wichita Falls, while Price said he was "certain something will be done regarding Odessa's franchise."

Pettigrew Retained
President Price was authorized by the league to attend the Atlantic meeting and represent the league in voting for or against the many new proposals to be offered there, "using your own judgement in deciding for the best interests of our league."

The league voted to re-appoint Ned Pettigrew as umpire-in-chief, and requested Price to give us the best umpire you can find - for the money.

Dr. Cox Says:

With open season for colds at hand, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, suggests ways by which they can be avoided or reduced to a minimum. Here they are:

NUMBER ONE: Keep yourself as fit as possible. Substitute the simpler and more nourishing foods for rich mixtures. Eggs, milk, and other dairy products, fruits and green vegetables are rich in the vitamins that are a protection against colds. Add them to your diet. Drink several glasses of water daily.

NUMBER TWO: Dress according to the weather. Keep comfortably warm. Have a sweater handy or a warm coat to slip on when the days turn cold suddenly. Light a fire or turn on the heat if your house is damp and chilly. If you are a housekeeper, get your warm bedclothes out—and use them.

NUMBER THREE: Avoid sudden chilling. Change as quickly as possible to dry shoes and clothing if you are caught unprepared in a drenching rain.

NUMBER FOUR: Get some exercise in the open air every day—a brisk walk. If you can't do more than that. Hold your head up and breathe deeply as you walk. Keep your sleeping quarters and your working rooms well ventilated, and get plenty of sleep.

NUMBER FIVE: Colds are catching. Don't go where people are coughing or sneezing. Wash your hands before eating.

NUMBER SIX: If your powers of resistance have been lowered and a cold "catches" you, don't fight it. You will save time and strength and get well more quickly if you go to bed, eat lightly, drink plenty of water and stay in bed until your physician says you may get up. Don't wait either, until you are seriously ill to send for your doctor. Send for him promptly, and follow his advice.

NUMBER SEVEN: Don't give your cold to others. Have your own towel and drinking glass. Don't broadcast your germs. Don't sneeze or cough in your neighbor's face. Keep yourself well supplied with paper handkerchiefs and destroy them after using. Postpone visits to friends until your cold is non-communicable.

137 Farmers And Business Men Gather At Klondike For Monthly Banquet

Ladies Of Klondike W. M. U. Serve Turkey Banquet At Second Of Series Of Monthly Meetings In County

The regular monthly community banquet held Tuesday night at Klondike saw one hundred and thirty-seven business men and farmers enjoy one of the finest gatherings in the history of the county.

This is the second in a series of monthly meetings which will eventually see every community in the county visited. The first of such meetings was held last month at Key when nearly one hundred men gathered for a goat barbecue.

Turkey, with all the trimmings was the menu for the Tuesday night affair, prepared by the women of the Klondike W. M. U.

Rev. Phillips of the Klondike community, served as Master of Ceremonies, with Prof. Crane, delivering the welcoming address, and Sam Richardson of Lamesa giving the response.

Every man who attended this affair reports a most enjoyable time and each is looking forward to another such meeting, which will be held sometime in December, at a point not yet named.

There was plenty of compliments on the high quality of the food and the excellent manner in which it was prepared. The women of the W. M. U. are to be congratulated upon the deliciousness of the menu and the excellent service.

Duke University was playing an Eastern team. An end on the Duke team complained to the referee that one of the opposing tackles was holding him. On the next play the referee caught the offender and barked: "Fifteen yards on you for holding!"
Gleefully the Duke end turned to the offending player and blurted: "How do you like that, you blankety-blank?"
The referee was right on him: "Fifteen yards on you for swearing, and that makes it even!"
Play was resumed and on the very next play the Eastern tackle again held the Duke end. The referee saw the violation: "Fifteen yards on you for holding!" he yelled, and I don't give a damn what he calls you."

CCC Activities Are Enumerated

Fifteen hundred CCC camps, each containing 200 boys, staffed with men trained in administrative and executive duties, provide employment, training, and healthful surroundings for 300,000 boys the year around. Over 2,750,000 have been members of the Corps since its organization in April of 1933. In Texas alone, over 135,000 have been selected returning to their families over $400,000,000.

Each county welfare agency has the responsibility to carefully select only the very best available boys; those with anti-social ideas are not desired as members of the CCC. Good citizenship is stressed and boys are returned home with a greater understanding of their responsibilities, trained to work, healthy and ambitious as a result of having been members of the Corps. In our National Preparedness one of the first needs is to have strong healthy and alert citizens and this is what is being accomplished by the CCC. Their outdoor life tends to toughen and build them up and become immune to disease. The Edmunds and awakens ambition to a national program develops their ward the better things—the American way of life.

Applications for enrollment in January should be made at once with your County Welfare worker.

City Cooperates For Star Route

Lamesa business and civic leaders joined with Snyder and Gall business leaders to secure a Star Mail Route from Lamesa to Snyder.

"Due to the fact," Lamesa Chamber of Commerce officials state, the "proposed route would give Scurry Borden and Dawson County seven-day mail service, we are vitally interested in the new route."

Snyder Chamber of Commerce officials emphasize the fact a Snyder-Gall-Lamesa route was inaugurated a number of years ago, but was discontinued due to the fact that the unproved dirt highway was almost impassable in bad weather.

"There is at this time a great need for a 24-hour mail service from Gall and Lamesa," a small group of Borden county citizens stated Tuesday. All indications point to the fact that now is a good time to get some action on the route." —Scurry County Times

To Let Contract For Borden Road

Scurry and Borden County citizens alike interested in roadwork activities expressed a great amount of interest in the fact contract for the 14-mile strip of Highway 15 from the Scurry County line westward to a mile east of Gall is due to be let Friday, November 22.

State Highway Department officials at Austin refused to comment late Wednesday on the proposed Highway 15 contract in Borden County except to state that all necessary right-of-way is expected to be secured in time for the November 22 letting.

Contract on the 14-mile strip of Highway 15 in Eastern Borden County will call for grading and drainage structure dirt work. The new roadbed will do away with the curves formerly encountered on the East-West Highway after entering Borden County going west. —Scurry County Times

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—A little project so kindly and humane that it almost brings tears to the eyes has been buried under the welter of war and politics. I intend to unearth it.

It is simply a project to purchase with government funds 200 water color paintings and with a gift from the Carnegie corporation in New York 100 more to brighten the walls of the Carville, La. marine hospital and gladden the lives of 400 lepers, most of whom are living out their span in the United States' only leprosarium.

It is a project of the section of fine arts, whose dynamic chief, Edward "Ned" Bruce, himself one of the country's great artists, is entrusted with organization of competitors for murals, sculpture and paintings in public buildings, made possible by the government's stipulation that one per cent of the cost of the buildings be set aside for decorations.

Although $30 is being paid for each of the water colors, the paintings are rolling in in great numbers, proving how well Bruce knew his artists when he said: "I will know, be a very pleasant thought to the artists whose water colors are purchased to know that they are bringing pleasure to the unfortunate who are condemned by their dread disease to spend their lives in this hospital."

Katherine Temple of Tebo, Lubbock is spending the Thanksgiving holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Temple.

Must Britain Risk Ships to Save Merchant Convoys?

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — The German sea blockade may soon force the British Government to alter a fundamental policy of the Royal Navy and throw battleships of the line into the risky business of convoying merchant ships.

The British almost came to that pass in the World War, when, as our Admiral Sims put it, submarine warfare had starved the British to within six weeks of surrender.

But the convoy system answered the U-boat. At first destroyers were assigned to escort vital supplies. Battleships stood by for later use. The destroyers did so well, the battleships never were used.

And so the battleships remained the backbone of the grand fleet called out time honored British policy to remain intact, wait for the supreme moment of life or death for the empire.

This time it is different. The submarine-raider-pine menace is a German triple threat greater today than in 1917, although the British public isn't aware of it yet. Here are eight reasons why:

1. The Germans have the western tip of France saving their subs and surface raiders and planes hundreds of miles of risky ocean travel from home bases to convoy lanes and back.
2. The Germans as ever are perfect coordinators. They have blended the attack of their subs and pocket battleships and planes—and they are working them all from the same base—Lorient, France.
3. The British gave up by their treaty with Ireland in 1938, naval bases at Lough Swilly, Berehaven, and Cobh. That makes their flotillas go 200 to 400 miles further for refueling and repair.
4. In the World War, the British had the help of the French, Italian, Japanese and later the American fleets for blockade, patrol, and convoy. Today they face the task of blockading Europe, fighting in the Mediterranean and patrolling far eastern waters all alone.
5. At the start of the World War, the British had more than 500 destroyers. Counting the 50 old ships we sent them recently, they have no more than 200 destroyers today.

6. Ireland's stubborn neutrality and the German conquest of France forced the British to forsake two of their convoy lanes—through the English channel to London, and through St. George's channel to the Irish sea and Liverpool. That leaves one lane around the northern tip of Ireland on which the Germans can concentrate.

7. Nearby Scandinavia and France supplied many vital war supplies and much food to Britain during the World War. Today the British must bring in their supplies from far flung posts of Empire, South America and the United States.

8. The British had well over 16,000,000 tons of long-range merchant shipping at the start of the World War. They had only 13,000,000 tons when this war started. Recently they have been losing 100,000 tons a week. Even with the neutral shipping they've acquired, the best estimates indicate they have only 12,000,000 tons today.

Two immediate solutions of the problem are possible. The first is to get the Irish bases they need so desperately for airplane observation. But that might mean bloodshed, since Eamon de Valera will never consent to abandon neutrality.

The other way is to convoy merchant ships with battleships.

Battleships or battle cruisers can outrun and outrange Germany's pocket battleships. Battleships or battle cruisers can withstand the withering attack of dive bombers. With destroyer screens they have better than even chance to escape the submarines.

But there's still a heavy risk, for the Germans have co-ordinated their attack. It's like this: All three weapons are used for both observation and attack. An observation plane sights British merchant vessels gathering for convoy 700 miles out. It reports back to Lorient by radio. Lorient sends out subs and surface raiders and a bombing squadron of planes. The surface raiders hang far out to sea, risking NO trap. But their guns can outrange a destroyer convoy.

So, the question now up in the British high command is whether to risk battleships singly to protect vital war supplies.

The British had fifteen battleships when the war started. They lost the Royal Oak to a submarine. Three battle cruisers, the Renown, the Repulse and the Hood, can also cope with planes, subs and surface raiders. That makes 17. But five battleships at least are in the Mediterranean. One or two more, perhaps, in the Far East.

Aces in the hole are the five, 30-knot battleships started in 1937. They are either ready for action, or are even now with the grand fleet somewhere off northern England.

The German triple threat is bait for these battleships. But the Empire's lifeline is in danger. The British may have to throw them in—and hope for the best.

AFRICAN TRIBES LIKE BACH; GET IT MADE TO ORDER

AP Feature Service
Berlin — Johann Sebastian Bach recordings have been sold to African natives in seven negro dialects by an ambitious hard-headed Berlin recording company.

But that's not all. This firm has struck a real African gold mine in making recordings of ebony 'blues' singers warblings and selling them back to the African coastal inhabitants to play on their beloved gramophones.

Trying to force European jazz down their throats didn't seem to be such a business plan so the company directors sent crews with recording outfits into the jungle.

There they set up their mikes and a village orchestra whistles, whines and boom-booms away. Back to Berlin goes the wax recording and from it a matrix is made. Thousands of black discs labeled in various negro dialects are then pressed off and returned to the market.

The East African negroes are the ones who take a special liking to one of Bach's pieces. For these customers the lyrics have been translated into seven dialects.

Jazz doesn't please the customers like their own music, although some coast tribes will buy a few recordings. The 'Hymn for the Birthday of an East African King' is one of the best sellers recorded by native virtuosos.

S. C. S. Notes

Selling a farm is just like selling a second hand automobile, according to A. J. Thweatt, 3529 W. Seventh Street, Fort Worth. In order to get the best price for a used car, it should be given a new paint job and have the upholstery and other things repaired. The same thing applies to a farm. "If it is to have the highest market value, it must be improved," he stated.

Mr. Thweatt had owned a 160-acre farm two miles north of Ackery, Texas, for ten years. He didn't like its location and wanted to sell, but couldn't find a buyer. There had been droughts and crops had been poor for many years. Several tenant farmers had started out trying to make a living on the place. He decided that if he couldn't sell the place he would improve it. He installed a soil and water conservation program in an effort to make the farm yield larger crops.

In the spring of 1938 Thweatt entered into an agreement with the soil conservation CCC camp at Lamesa. They cooperatively terraced the place and put into effect a complete soil and water conservation program. The terraces were constructed on all the cultivated land that year, the crops were planted on the contour in a strip crop pattern, and a yearly rotation of sorghum and cotton crops was adopted. Soil erosion had robbed the land of a part of the topsoil, but there was still a lot of good soil left on the land. The principal trouble was that the soil was very tight and water soaked into it slowly; hence, during drought years the land didn't have enough soil moisture to make good crop yields.

During the first two years after the terraces were built and the contour strip rotation was used the yields increased 500 per cent, according to Thweatt. He said, "More crops were produced on the farm during those two years than in the 10 years preceding that."

He wasn't very eager to sell the place after these good crops, but some one offered him his price so he let it go late in 1939. Thweatt has another farm in Dawson County which the Lamesa CCC camp is helping him fix up with a complete soil and water conservation program. He says he doesn't think he will even set a price on this place if it responds as well to soil and water conservation treatments as the other farm did.
