Earl Waide of Perryton was elected vice-president of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., at the Annual Membership Meeting of this association in Galveston August 25-26. The veteran rural electric official had earlier been re-elected to a second term on the TEC board.

Practice Continues For Football Team Until School Opens

Football drills continue twice daily for the Perryton Rangers as the season opener draws closer.

"The boys will continue to work twice a day until school begins," according to Coach Pete Peterson and his three assistants.

Initial game for the local eleven will be on September 9 at Ranger Field when Perryton will play Panhandle. Indications are that the Panhandle team will be much stronger due to several key lettermen returning. Perryton beat Panhandle last season 45 to 18.

"Prospects are good for an average team," Peterson stated, "but we can't tell anything beyond that point this early. The boys are eager and willing to learn, and that always makes a big difference."

BEATING 100 DEGREES—Little Tanis Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Price, northeast of Perryton, gets cooled off at the local swimming pool during Friday's 100 degree weather. Everyone in Perryton was cooled Tuesday night when the mercury dropped to 50 degrees. The pool is expected to close this week.

High Winds Hit City Late Monday Evening

Most of the west side of Perryton was out of lights and part of the east side of town was hampered electrically by strong winds which struck the city early Monday evening. The northerly gale wrapped power lines together on West Brillhart Avenue and caused a brilliant display. Traffic was routed around the damaged area which drew several spectators.

"Very little damage resulted from the winds," however, according to Community Public Service Company officials.

The high winds brought .11 inches of moisture to the Perryton area and other reports around the area reported as high as .30.

Several small tree limbs and leaves were scattered throughout Perryton streets, but no major damage was reported.

Reserved Seats Sale Scheduled On Friday

Reserved seat tickets for the Ranger home football games will go on sale at Burk Drug on Friday morning, September 2. The sale of the season tickets is sponsored by the Ranger Club. However, holders of reserved seat tickets are still required to purchase the general admission ticket. The price on general admission is $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for students at each home game. There will be 350 reserve seats sold and they are all located between the 40 yd. lines. Demand is expected to be brisk for the tickets this season.

Highway Collision North of Perryton; Three Are Injured

A truck-tractor collision nine miles north of Perryton, Tuesday, resulted in three people being hospitalized and approximately $500 worth of damage done to a 1950 Chevrolet pickup driven by Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Wriggle of Floydada, Texas.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wriggle were hospitalized following a crash which apparently resulted when a tractor driven by J. B. Moore of Beaver, Oklahoma, crossed the highway in front of the oncoming pickup. Moore was mowing weeds for the Oklahoma Highway Department.

Moore received an arm laceration which was not believed to be serious. He was treated at the Beaver, Oklahoma, hospital. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wriggle were taken to a local hospital where they were released early Wednesday.

The pickup was loaded with household goods and was traveling south on US Highway 83 when the accident happened, at about 12:45 p. m.

Investigating the accident were Oklahoma Highway Patrolman Roy Likes, assisted by Bud Campbell, Beaver County Sheriff.

Ratliff Says SW Conference To Boast Tough Competition

By HAROLD RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Next week 403 Southwest Conference football players hit the practice grind. In the field will be 132 lettermen, an average of almost 19 per school. It is the most experience boasted by the league since the last year of two-platoon football. That was 1952 when there were 146 lettermen.

There's quality as well as quantity this season and the conference should rate high in the national picture.

Texas Christian comes up with the most lettermen, showing 26, while Arkansas boasts 23, Southern Methodist lists 19 and so does Texas, while Baylor has 17, Rice 16 and Texas A&M 12.

The most sophomorish team of all time should be the outfit Bear Bryant trots onto the field at Texas A&M. Bear was supposed to have started rebuilding last year but he has a bigger job this season. There are 38 sophs in the squad of 57 at Aggieland.

Baylor has a veteran and powerful line and its backfield should be about the best at the Baptist school in many seasons if not for all-time. Del Shofner, Reuben Saage and Weldon Holley offer everything to be desired in running, kicking and defense. Doyle Traylor, sophomore, should be the best passer in the league.

The way things are pointing, Rice may be the championship favorite by virtue of having a few more critics favor it than the others. The Owls appear destined to come up with a real passing attack and there never has and never will be anything wrong with their running under the fundemental coaching of Jess Neely.

Many favor Southern Methodist and there's cause for it. Four backs, who between them rolled up 1,284 yards rushing last season, return. John Marshall whose 76-yard touchdown dash against Notre Dame was a feature of last season, heads this mighty ground brigade. He rushed 568 yards. Don McIlhenny with 316, Hal O'Brien with 230 and Blake Tucker with 170 round out probably the greatest running backfield in the nation.

Texas Christian also has what it takes—a truly fine line, a flock of terrific runners, featuring Jim Swink, Buddy Dike and Ray Taylor, and a passer who should be among the best in the country in Chuck Curtis. The Frogs are stacked two deep and better, at all positions except quarterback. The Purple won only four games last season but nobody beat them bad and that included Oklahoma.

Arkansas has the men but is changing coaches and systems. The Razorbacks probably would be favored to repeat as champions were it not for those items because if they stayed with the single wingback, for which they are well equipped, they would be probably stronger than last season.

That leads up to Texas and don't get any ideas that the Longhorns despite their dismal 1954 record, couldn't win the title this season. There are capable hands at most positions and the Texas backfield is going to pack dynamic running. Especially will the Longhorns be great offensively if that prized sophomore, Walter Fondren, plays as he is expected to and most likely will play.

It should be the finest race of them all with each week establishing a new favorite.

Q—I am taking a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill. What does VA consider as the official beginning and ending dates of my course?

A—The beginning date is the date the school supplies you with your first lesson. The ending date is the date the school services your final lesson.

Q—I am receiving disability compensation payments, and, according to a statement by my physician, my condition has become worse. Would that statement alone qualify me for increased payments?

A—The evidence provided by your physician must be verified by an official VA physical examination. If VA finds that your condition has become worse, the compensation increase may be made effective as of the date the VA received the evidence from your physician.

Q. I am planning to take flight training under the Korean GI Bill. At what rate will I use up my GI training entitlement?

A—Your entitlement will be used up at the rate of one day for each $1.25 paid to you as a GI training allowance.

Q—If I take a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill, at what rate will I use up my GI training entitlement?

A—One-fourth of the length of the course will be charged against your entitlement. If the course runs for two years, for example, you will have used six months of entitlement.

Q—I have just been discharged from military service. What is my time limit for applying for Korean GI insurance?

A—You must apply, and pay your first premium, within 120 days after the date of your discharge.

Q—I am a disabled veteran in school under Public Law 16. Would I be entitled to VA dental treatment if I need it to prevent interruption of my training?

A—Yes. You would be entitled to dental treatment to avoid interrupting your training.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN, Tex.—Main impact of the 54th Legislature will be felt next week when most of the bills it passed will become law.

Taking effect Sept. 6 will be laws designed to eliminate insurance abuses, overhaul the scandal-racked veterans land program and restrict some labor union activities.

Tax increases are most likely to be noticed first. To augment state revenue by $50 million per year, new levies were placed on beer, cigarettes, gasoline and corporate franchises.

Ultimate payment will fall to the consumer.

Nine major insurance bills are aimed at strengthening the industry and providing better protection for the buying public. Capitalization and surplus requirements will be raised, and sale of insurance securities and stock regulated.

Individual insurance commissioners will be empowered to act together as a board. Insurance counselors will be licensed, and agents will have to pass an examination.

Veterans land program legislation will tighten regulations and impose more stringent controls on both buyers and sellers. Both are made liable to jail terms up to 10 years and fines up to $10,000 for fraud or misrepresentation.

Major labor legislation includes the "Port Arthur bill." It will enable employers to enjoin strikes by a union which cannot show it represents a majority of workers. Already effective is the "Ford Motor bill" denying unemployment payments to union workers by a strike in another plant of their company.

Other new laws will provide $7 million more for public assistance and bring 30,000 more state employees and college professors under federal Social Security. Corruptive comic books will be banned and incorporation requirements will be broadened to include "any lawful purpose."

Politics is Budding

Texas' governorship campaign seems to be shaping up, considerbly ahead of schedule.

Former Supreme Court Justice and University of Texas Chancellor James P. Hart addressed an East Texas meeting at Henderson, sponsored by the liberal Democrats. Liberals have been courting his entry in the race, and he is "thinking about it."

There were those who said he "sounded like a candidate" in his talk on "ideas and ideals."

Former Speaker Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, only announced candidate for governor, has held a meeting of his statewide campaign steering committee in Austin. He said he will name county and precinct campaign chairmen by January.

State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton is an intended candidate. He was present in Henderson when Hart spoke. A statewide rally in Galveston on Sept. 1 was planned by his friends as the send-off for his campaign.

Mrs. Wayne W. Wagonseller of Bowie, widow of the senator killed in a car accident two weeks ago, also has been mentioned as a possible candidate. She was the only other speaker at the Henderson rally which her husband was to have addressed. Her's was not a political speech.

Senator Price Daniel, currently abroad, is holding up disclosure of his decision whether to run for governor next year, two years before expiration of his first Senate term.

Governor Shivers hasn't announced his plans. "Anything can happen; at this time I am not a candidate for anything," he told newsmen.

Ratliff Says SW Conference To Boast Tough Competition

By HAROLD RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Next week 403 Southwest Conference football players hit the practice grind. In the field will be 132 lettermen, an average of almost 19 per school. It is the most experience boasted by the league since the last year of two-platoon football. That was 1952 when there were 146 lettermen.

There's quality as well as quantity this season and the conference should rate high in the national picture.

Texas Christian comes up with the most lettermen, showing 26, while Arkansas boasts 23, Southern Methodist lists 19 and so does Texas, while Baylor has 17, Rice 16 and Texas A&M 12.

The most sophomorish team of all time should be the outfit Bear Bryant trots onto the field at Texas A&M. Bear was supposed to have started rebuilding last year but he has a bigger job this season. There are 38 sophs in the squad of 57 at Aggieland.

Baylor has a veteran and powerful line and its backfield should be about the best at the Baptist school in many seasons if not for all-time. Del Shofner, Reuben Saage and Weldon Holley offer everything to be desired in running, kicking and defense. Doyle Traylor, sophomore, should be the best passer in the league.

The way things are pointing, Rice may be the championship favorite by virtue of having a few more critics favor it than the others. The Owls appear destined to come up with a real passing attack and there never has and never will be anything wrong with their running under the fundemental coaching of Jess Neely.

Many favor Southern Methodist and there's cause for it. Four backs, who between them rolled up 1,284 yards rushing last season, return. John Marshall whose 76-yard touchdown dash against Notre Dame was a feature of last season, heads this mighty ground brigade. He rushed 568 yards. Don McIlhenny with 316, Hal O'Brien with 230 and Blake Tucker with 170 round out probably the greatest running backfield in the nation.

Texas Christian also has what it takes—a truly fine line, a flock of terrific runners, featuring Jim Swink, Buddy Dike and Ray Taylor, and a passer who should be among the best in the country in Chuck Curtis. The Frogs are stacked two deep and better, at all positions except quarterback. The Purple won only four games last season but nobody beat them bad and that included Oklahoma.

Arkansas has the men but is changing coaches and systems. The Razorbacks probably would be favored to repeat as champions were it not for those items because if they stayed with the single wingback, for which they are well equipped, they would be probably stronger than last season.

That leads up to Texas and don't get any ideas that the Longhorns despite their dismal 1954 record, couldn't win the title this season. There are capable hands at most positions and the Texas backfield is going to pack dynamic running. Especially will the Longhorns be great offensively if that prized sophomore, Walter Fondren, plays as he is expected to and most likely will play.

It should be the finest race of them all with each week establishing a new favorite.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Main impact of the 54th Legislature will be felt next week when most of the bills it passed will become law.

Taking effect Sept. 6 will be laws designed to eliminate insurance abuses, overhaul the scandal-racked veterans land program and restrict some labor union activities.

Tax increases are most likely to be noticed first. To augment state revenue by $50 million per year, new levies were placed on beer, cigarettes, gasoline and corporate franchises.

Ultimate payment will fall to the consumer.

Nine major insurance bills are aimed at strengthening the industry and providing better protection for the buying public. Capitalization and surplus requirements will be raised, and sale of insurance securities and stock regulated.

Individual insurance commissioners will be empowered to act together as a board. Insurance counselors will be licensed, and agents will have to pass an examination.

Veterans land program legislation will tighten regulations and impose more stringent controls on both buyers and sellers. Both are made liable to jail terms up to 10 years and fines up to $10,000 for fraud or misrepresentation.

Major labor legislation includes the "Port Arthur bill." It will enable employers to enjoin strikes by a union which cannot show it represents a majority of workers. Already effective is the "Ford Motor bill" denying unemployment payments to union workers by a strike in another plant of their company.

Other new laws will provide $7 million more for public assistance and bring 30,000 more state employees and college professors under federal Social Security. Corruptive comic books will be banned and incorporation requirements will be broadened to include "any lawful purpose."

Politics is Budding

Texas' governorship campaign seems to be shaping up, considerbly ahead of schedule.

Former Supreme Court Justice and University of Texas Chancellor James P. Hart addressed an East Texas meeting at Henderson, sponsored by the liberal Democrats. Liberals have been courting his entry in the race, and he is "thinking about it."

There were those who said he "sounded like a candidate" in his talk on "ideas and ideals."

Former Speaker Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, only announced candidate for governor, has held a meeting of his statewide campaign steering committee in Austin. He said he will name county and precinct campaign chairmen by January.

State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton is an intended candidate. He was present in Henderson when Hart spoke. A statewide rally in Galveston on Sept. 1 was planned by his friends as the send-off for his campaign.

Mrs. Wayne W. Wagonseller of Bowie, widow of the senator killed in a car accident two weeks ago, also has been mentioned as a possible candidate. She was the only other speaker at the Henderson rally which her husband was to have addressed. Her's was not a political speech.

Senator Price Daniel, currently abroad, is holding up disclosure of his decision whether to run for governor next year, two years before expiration of his first Senate term.

Governor Shivers hasn't announced his plans. "Anything can happen; at this time I am not a candidate for anything," he told newsmen.

HELP MAKE THEIR HOMEWORK EASIER

with proper light for home study

When it's easier for school-age youngsters to see ... it's easier for them to learn! Good study lighting reduces eyestrain and fatigue ... aids concentration ... helps students make better grades in school. Make sure that their study lamps have the right-size bulbs, the proper shades, and are properly placed to provide maximum light on their work. See your lighting dealer or come by our office for lamps and right-size bulbs for home study!

Use a 150-watt bulb for best light from a table study lamp. The lamp should be equipped with a diffusing bowl and placed as shown in illustration. A 150-watt white indirect bulb should be used if the lamp has no diffusing bowl.

Monthly Meeting Held August 27

County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met for the regular monthly meeting Saturday, August 27 in the office of Miss Lou Ella Patterson, County Demonstration Agent.

Mrs. Allan Dennison, County Chairman, presided. The usual business and bills were taken care of.

The delegates to the State Home Demonstration meeting at Ft. Worth, August 3rd thru the 5th, Mrs. D. C. Wilson, Mrs. Chas. Selby, and Miss Patterson gave reports. Mrs. Harry Reimer, the other delegate, was absent but will assist the other delegates in giving the State report to the various clubs.

The theme for the State meeting was "God and Home—The Source of Freedom". In giving her report, Mrs. Wilson brought out the thoughts presented by various speakers at the meeting that—Home is the place where a world of strife is shut out and a world of love is shut in. It is a Father's Kingdom, A Mother's World, and a Child's Paradise. It is a place where we grumble the most and are treated the best. It is the center of affection on which our wishes entwine. A place where the stomach gets three meals a day and the Heart thousands. Where the small are great and the great small. Home is a haven, but God must be the center. He is the one person capable of making a place Home. Let's not shut him out. He is our only hope for strength.

Mrs. Selby is County Chairman of 4-H Clubs. She stressed the need for 4-H Club work for Youth, the keeping of records of their work, and that a greater portion of the time spent in their Club work should be taken up with recreation. There is a vital need for leaders in this field.

Where's the Fire?

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP)—"It's seems confusing but it's really simple," said fire chief R. D. Brunson.

Jacksonville Beach residents who want to report a fire should phone the fire department 5-2334; not the police department 5-2331.

However, residents of adjacent Neptune Beach and Atlantic Beach who want to report a fire should call the police department 5-2331; not the fire department 5-2334. That is, unless there is no answer at the police department. Then they should call the fire department.

Now that explanation should cut down the number of calls going to the wrong department —sometimes 30 to 40 a week, Brunson said.

Education Styles Change

Present day education is getting its knocks lately, with a rash of "Why Johnny Can't Read" books and treatises on the shortcomings of the students.

Maybe present day students don't write in the clear, precise way their parents were taught. Maybe they can't spell. Maybe they can't add or subtract.

When you get right down to it, why should a child learn to write by hand. They can type it out twice as fast and even more clearly on a machine. If they can't type maybe they can find someone who can.

If they can't spell verisimiliture, the chances are they can't do it—and neither can you. They haven't been asked to waste time learning to spell words they may never use in their lifetime. If the need arises, they ca nalways use a dictionary, or even misspell the word and chances are the person reading it will never know the difference.

If today's studnt can't add or subtract, he probably knows where to get a machine that can do the job far more quickly and accurately than you can.

Maybe he doesn't know much about geography, but he is not alone. Don't ask who is the premier of France because he may not be the same bird they had yesterday.

Education styles have changed. The world has shrunk and horizons have broadened. And don't make the mistake of asking a high school graduate about nuclear fission, the Bonn agreement, the genocide treaty or the Taft-Hartley act.

He might know more about these things than you do—and will probably commiserate with you that you didn't have the advantages of modern education so you could keep up with what is happening in the world today.

Automobile Safety

The 1956 Lincoln press book, which displays the features of the soon-to-be-unveiled Lincoln for 1956, contains some sobering thoughts. The 1956 Lincoln is the first to introduce safety devices engineered to help protect both driver and passengers. As the result of four years of car crash tests on the Ford test track, the new Lincoln offers a safety-flex type steering wheel, safety seat belts for driver and passengers, new safety double-grip rotor type door locks, a new covering for instrument panels to reduce reflection.

In other words, the Lincoln people have come to realize that the driver of an automobile is flirting with death every time he ventures on America's busy highways and they are equipping him with some protection.

Here in the Perryton area, within the span of a few short months, tragedy has struck in at least three families when death came to those riding or driving automobiles. This is repeated every day, all over the nation, until the automobile is the leading cause of death in this nation.

Perhaps the time will come when all cars will have safety belts, and the passengers and drivers required to wear them. Perhaps the time will come too, when governors will regulate the speed of cars on our highways an dthe roads themselves will be engineered to avoid accidents.

Certainly the point is rapidly being reached where something has to be done other than talk about the rising death and injury toll from automobile accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bartel of Grand Prairie announce the birth of a 9 pound, 7 ounce daughter on August 15 and have named her Janis Kay. Mr. and Mrs. M. I. Hudson of Amarillo are maternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartel of Balko, Okla. are paternal grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Bartel also have two sons Danny and Gary.

Mrs. Edith Manning left Wednesday for Texarkana, Ark., to visit her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gordon and family.

Betty Ketron and J. C. Jones of Lubbock were guests of Mr. Jones' mother, Mrs. C. F. Jones, last Friday and Saturday.

4¼ Trillion ft. of Natural Gas

was marketed by Texas during the year 1954, writes Paul Swain, staff writer for the Oil & Gas Journal. That's a huge figure, but Texas is a huge state and often leads the nation. The figure represents one half of all the gas that was marketed in the United States during the past year.

Why such a tremendous demand for Gas? Because it is the cheapest fuel available. Because a home equipped with Modern Automatic Gas Appliances effects a substantial saving, not only on the original investment but in maintenance and in operating costs. That's why.

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

This department is enjoying the cool of the mountains this week while fellow wage slaves swelter in the August heat. While on this vacation, Glen Lemon, home from Oklahoma A&M, is gathering and writing the news for the Herald.

We started working for the Herald nine years ago this week and since that time in 1946 have missed one issue of the paper. The one lapse was the first issue of 1948, missed while we were in New Orleans on our wedding trip. After our return to duty, we have chalked up 398 consecutive issues of the Herald without a miss.

This will be our second time to be absent and it is going to be rather strange going to bed on Wednesday night without burning the midnight oil—a tradition of many years standing at the Herald. But we suppose we can make the proper adjustment and come home refreshed and invigorated.

The amount of sleep required by individuals varies—except that each person needs just five minutes more.

We can hardly wait for football season to start—and of course will be pulling for the Rangers all the way. If the long predicted change in Texas Interscholastic League classifications come through, this will be the last season we have to be in the same district with Phillips. The Blackhawks are slated to move into AAA, along with Dumas and Hereford, with the 1956 season, but we'll believe that when we see it.

Last week's Herald had an editorial calling for the passage of legislation designed to make public the financial statements of counties, schools and other political subdivisions. We have been accused of promoting this to "feather our own nest" since the basic feature of the proposed laws would be that financial statements would be required to be published in a newspaper. This is a false accusation—but one that has thus far stopped the passage of the legislation.

We would like to remind our critics that it has been the newspapers at Cuero and Alice who unearthed the Veterans Land Board scandals and the George Parr scandals, both of which could have been prevented by adequate publicity of their proceedings. And just last week the Morton Tribune, in Cochran county, was able to run an extra announcing the arrest of four former Cochran county officials charged with misapplication of county funds. This climaxed a running feud the newspaper had with the four officials for several years and a feud which resulted in some loss of business for the newspaper.

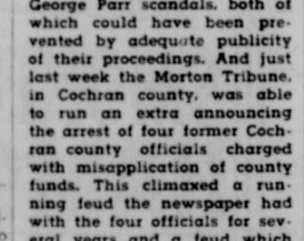

The four men, a former county auditor, county treasurer, county clerk and county commissioner, have posted bonds totaling $14,000. All are accused of using county money for their own purposes. The newspaper at Morton had quite a time in securing any county news, especially from a financial standpoint, while these men were in office and it must be gratifying to see that their suspicions were confirmed.

A college diploma is often the receipt a young man gets for the bills his father paid.

Newspapers all over the county have run articles in recent months deploring the lack of reading ability in the younger generation, and the book by Rudolph Flesch "Why Can't Johnny Read?" is quoted extensively. The newspapers have a right to be worried. Once a generation grows up that can't read, where will we (the newspapers) be? It is absolutely necessary that people be able to read in order for the newspapers to peddle their wares.

Imagine the howl that would go up from radio stations if it were discovered that the younger generation could not hear, at least not well enough to understand what they hear!

Wolf Creek Philosopher

Knows How Farmers Manage During Tour

(Ed Note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Wolf Creek discusses work this week, a matter he has only a theoretical knowledge of.)

Dear editar:

A bunch of farmers was sitting around out here the other day and the topic of discussion was this:

For more than a month now a group of Russian farmers, or at least that's what they're called, I think they're mostly experts who have dodged the necessity of farming, have been touring the United States to study agriculture, and at the same time a group of American farmers have been touring Russia for the same purpose.

Now what this group out here wanted to know is: who's been looking after these visiting farmer's farms while they've been away over a month? Who's been feeding the cows? Who's been looking after the harvesting? Who fed the dog? Who cut the grass around the house?

They contended they didn't see how a bonafide farmer could leave his farm for a month at this time of the year. Maybe in the winter time, but now, they couldn't see it.

Well, I'll tell you. It's possible. I never left my farm out here for a month at a time, have no desire to, but that hasn't kept me from letting the grass around the house go un-cut for that long. Lots of winters I've gone a month without feeding my cows, on account there wasn't any feed on the place.

A man doesn't ..ave to go all the way to Russia to escape a month's work. I've stayed right here at home and done it lots of times.

Moreover, one of the American farmers visiting Russia to escape a month's work, got back last week after traveling 10,000 miles and reported he hadn't learned a thing worth using on his farm. It seems to me that's a lot of traveling just to get out of a month's work on your farm.

And as for the Russians visiting over here, I don't know what they learned, but whatever it was, all it will amount to is more work for the Russian farmers, not for the visiting experts.

Travel is a fine thing if you like it, but I've ne... necessary to travel ... to learn nothing ... my own farm. It's ... more fun to stay ... do it in the shade.

'Soldier of Fortune' To Show at Ellis

"Soldier of Fortune", a red-blooded adventure tale plucked from the seething caldron of today's Orient, will open Sunday, Sept. 4 at the Ellis Theatre starring Clark Gable, Susan Hayward, Michael Rennie and Gene Barry.

All the tremendous emotional punch of the best-selling novel has been delivered in toto to the screen script by its author, Ernest K. Gann, who has already chalked up other screen favorites.

The film, produced in CinemaScope and color is set against the flaming background of Hong Kong. It shows the riff-raff of its waterfront, pleasure seekers, tourists and spies.

Known to all of them is a Yank in exile (Gable) who has learned to plunder and profit, but never quite in reach of the law. It is with Gable that Susan Hayward, a young American woman, must bargain to learn the whereabouts of her missing husband.

The exotic atmosphere of this Oriental world port clearly defines the mood of the rugged action, the intrigue and exciting romance that makes "Soldier of Fortune" a definitely different kind of movie entertainment.

Benedict Arnold Story at Ellis Friday-Saturday

The story of one of the most infamous treacheries in American history will be unfolded on the Ellis Theatre screen Friday and Saturday, Sept. 2-3 in M-G-M's new CinemaScope picture, "The Scarlet Coat," starring Cornel Wilde, Michael Wilding, George Sanders and Anne Francis.

Director John Sturges has fused suspense, historical validity and a gripping dramatic impact in depicting a fascinating cross-play of espionage between the spy organizations of the American and British forces. Its the story of Benedict Arnold, the traitor who almost succeeded in turning over West Point to the enemy.

JERRY LEWIS, masquerading a san 11-year-old in an attempt to evade a killer, threatens Dean Martin with his milk-pistol, in this hilarious scene from "You're Never Too Young" due to open at the Ellis Theatre, Tuesday, September 6.

"You're Never Too Young" Hailed As Martin and Lewis' Funniest

A hilarious lesson in the delightful art of provoking laughter is scheduled to open at the Ellis Theatre, Tuesday, Sept. 6, when "You're Never Too Young" arrives with the entertainment world's top instructors, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, at the head of the class.

The setting for the comedy sensation, already hailed as Martin and Lewis' best yet, couldn't be more appropriate, for Dean portrays a teacher at a school for girls and Jerry romps madly about the grounds masquerading as an eleven-year-old boy—with two hundred gorgeous teen-agers in hot pursuit.

The other members of the class and staff are also at the top of their professions. Sparkling Diana Lynn and lovely Nina Foch co-star as the distaff members of a highly complicated romantic quadrangle with Dean and Jerry; and Raymond Burr is featured as a jewel theif killer whose pursuit of Jerry causes the little boy-masquerade—and some of the most excruciatingly comical situations ever filmed.

Two of the nation's top tunesmiths, Arthur Schwartz and Sammy Cahn have turned out six new hit tunes for the film, and dance master Nick Castle has put together some extraordinary routines, one of them featuring Dean and Jerry and 108 girls—one of the most unique and spectacular musical sequences in movie history.

"You're Never Too Young" was filmed in Vista-Vision and color by Technicolor and has been called a delight to behold.

Ochiltree Soil CONSERVATION District News

Howard Holt, cooperator of the Ochiltree Soil Conservation District, interplanted Mung beans in some 200 acres of irrigated grain sorghum.

Both crops have made fair growth, especially the feed and both are looking very good at this time.

This conservation cropping practice first started in the Corn Belt states where soybeans were interplanted in corn and was proven to ve very satisfactory.

Since that time it has spread throughout most farming sections of the nation, with, of course, some changes in kinds of legumes used for inter-planting in the various cash crops grown in different areas according to adaptation.

Practicability, with some slight emphasis on economy of initiating, is probably the primary reason for such widespread use of this particular type of cropping system.

It is practical from two standpoints, namely: (1) Peas, beans and soybeans are legumes and, as we know, legumes are soil improving plants—their roots are vigorous and extensive and therefore have the ability to penetrate and destroy what we commonly term the soil "hardpan" or "plow-sole", they all very drastically needed organic matter, and help to build up or increase the nitrogen content of the soil on which they are growing, thus much soil improvement benefits are derived from legumes in planned cropping systems. (2) It does not necessitate idling of a tract of fairly good cultivated land for even one crop year to permit the planting of a soil conditioning legume. In other words, it permits a cash crop to be harvested and at the same time permits putting something back in the form of fertility each year.

A planting such as this is not expensive to initiate and there is no extra planting operation since both the legume and grain sorghum are planted at the same time and, in most cases, in the same row.

Lester Barnes, district cooperator, has recently completed plans for the construction of a flood prevention dam on 100 acres of his farm which is devoted to native range grasses. Local Soil Conservation Service personnel assisted Barnes in the design and layout of the dam and construction will begin within the next few days.

Newton Hutchinson has seeded approximately 15 acres which is bordering a lake on the farm to a mixture of Blue grama and Buffalo grass. Purpose is to reduce or minimize soil erosion and furnish grazing to livestock.

Native grass mixtures in a long time crop rotation make for a more sound and prosperous agriculture in that they encourage a diversified type of farming operation and if left to grow on land sufficiently long will restore the fertility to a point practically comparable to what it was in the native state.

Due to the past and present drouth as well as sinking cattle prices and possibly other factors, interest in grass rotations has not been too high in the past some four or five years but with even slightly improving conditions, when they come, it is expected that much interest will be developed in regard to revegetation in the Ochiltree Soil Conservation District.

Baptists To Hold Week-Long School

Churches in the Canadian Association will join 1,800 other Southern Baptist churches in Texas this fall in a mammoth program of Schools of Missions and Stewardship. During the week of study, one night will be set aside for a "church and denomination" program.

Highlighting this week of emphasis on missions and stewardship, most of the churches will have as guest speakers, one of Southern Baptists' 1,002 foreign missionaries, one of the denomination's 1,100 home missionaries, denominational leaders and stewardship speakers. The programs will also include films and other visual presentations.

Rev. R. Elmer Dunham, director of the schools for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, said the stewardship phase of the schools is particularly significant now because most of the churches will subscribe their annual budgets following the week of study. Next year, Texas Baptists will give an estimated $72 million through their local churches. Of that amount, $8.5 million will be used for missionary work outside the local communities.

The area churches cooperating in the stewardship program include: Booker, Canadian, Follett, Gruver, Gem, Higgins, Locust Grove, Miami, Perryton and Spearman.

Boys' Ranch Sets Date for Rodeo

AMARILLO—Homecoming for ex-Boys' Ranchers is to be held during the Labor Day weekend Rodeo, September 4 and 5.

Several hundred boys who have made their home at America's First Boys' Ranch, Amarillo, Texas, are expected to visit with Cal Farley, Ranch founder and president, other staff members and their buddies, during the 11th annual Boys' Ranch Rodeo. Many boys are in the service and overseas and although they will be unable to attend they have sent their regards to their friends. Almost 1,200 boys have lived at the Ranch in the past 16 years.

All ex-Ranchers are urged to attend the Rodeo and reunion and bring their families. Many boys have already responded and are looking forward to the homecoming celebration, the first ever held at the Ranch, but it will be an annual event in the future.

The 220 cowhands who make their home at the Ranch now are planning a real show for the ex-Ranchers and other folks. The Rodeo is open to the public and tickets will be on sale at the Ranch on the two days of the Rodeo at $1.25 for adults and 75¢ for children.

Every Rancher from the little fellows on up will participate in at least one event and in addition to the prizes in each division the youngsters will be participating for the title of All Around Cowboy. Special acts such as trick roping and riding and clown acts will be presented by the boys. They will put on as fine a show as seen anywhere. The show will begin at 2:30 each afternoon.

Ex-cowhands planning to attend should write or contact Boys' Ranch, Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas, or Phone DRake 44687.

Old Timers Picnic Set at Mobeetie

MOBEETIE—The annual old settlers picnic will be held here on Labor Day, September 5, 1955.

An interesting and entertaining program will be presented during the day. Special interviews will be held and a Memorial service honoring the memory of those who have passed away during the year will be held.

Mobeetie is the oldest town in the Texas Panhandle, and used to be the county seat of what is now 27 counties.

Last year, over 1,000 old timers registered for the annual picnic. Those attending this year are asked to bring a basket lunch to supplement the bar-b-que, beans and coffee.

Entertainment for the night will consist of a dance.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my grateful appreciation to those who so thoughtfully remembered me with flowers, cards and other expressions of sympathy during my recent confinement at the hospital. Special thanks to the doctors and nurses at the Perryton Hospital. May God bless you all.

Minister, View Point Friends Church
Booker, Texas

The following is the 24th in a series of message by ministers of this trade area. This week's message was written by John L. Robinson, Minister of the View Point Friends Church, Booker, Texas.

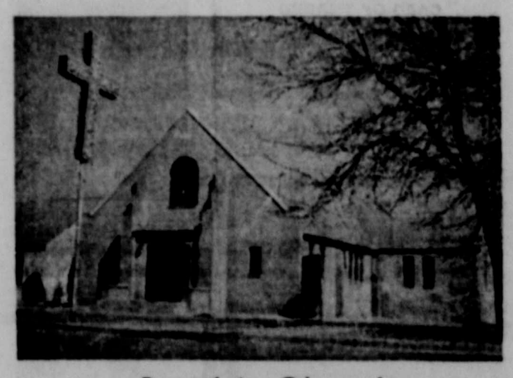

TO WHOM SHALL WE GO?

The questing heart of the 20th Century has gone through a myriad of doors seeking peace and satisfaction for the longing desires of the soul. Statistics show that our day has been characterized by frustration. Geared by increasing horsepower, multiplied gadgets, high pressure advertising and endless superlatives, one must be "on the go, in the know, and part of the show." Grandfather could miss the train and wait three days for the next one to come by and never think anything about it, but we make the air blue when we miss one section of a revolving door.

Christ saw that frustration and need in man's life and had the answer for it. Twenty centuries later, He still has the answer. Taking only the lunch of an humble lad, he multiplied it to feed the multitudes in what Scripture records as a miracle. The Bible also tells us that the multitude stayed by Him when they were being fed and while miracles were being performed. But when He gave the greater lesson of the Bread of Life, they begin to lose interest in His ministry. Some one has well said that the "Church is floated through the winter on chili suppers and through the summer on ice cream socials."

Seeing the multitudes go away in that "summer slump", Christ turned to the disciples and asked, "Will ye also go away?" The Spokesman answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." (John 6:68) Thousands from that day to this have proven that Peter's statement was true. When all things else have failed, the ministry of a Changeless Christ in a changing world can meet the need of the human heart.

You, too, will find this true when you experience the joy and the fellowship that comes by knowing His Peace. (John 14:27; Rom. 5:1) Meet the Lord in the Lord's House on the Lord's Day. Use this slogan for September. "Back to school . . . . Back to Church."

Farmer May Have Security Eligibility

Some people have misunderstood the provisions of the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act, according to John R. Sanderson, Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

"We have been asked quite often if one cannot qualify for benefits as a farmer because he is already age 65 or over," John R. Sanderson said. "The answer is that the farmer already 65 or past that age, who is continuing to operate a farm, will qualify sooner than the younger farmer but the fact that they are 65 alone does not entitle them to benefits.

Age does not disqualify an individual from entering into the program. If he is actually operating a farm, he is eligible to participate by keeping his records in 1955, paying his social security tax on his farm income in 1956, and then doing the same thing for 1956. This second payment, made in 1957 would qualify him for benefits if he is already age 65 or older." Sanderson, added.

The answers to all questions about social security can be secured by contacting the representative Nat Houston or Floyd B. Elligton of the Amarillo Office who will be in Perryton on Sept. 27th, at the Courthouse, at 9:00 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slack and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Archer and family returned Sunday from a vacation at Red River, New Mexico.

WHEAT!

Mr. Wheat Producer:

In addition to a discount of 20 per cent per bushel on all undesirable wheat, there could be an even greater discount on undesirable wheat if the market advances to the extent that producers redeem their wheat from government loans and sells it on the open market.

Some mills figure that non-milling varieties will even sell FOR FEED AT FEED PRICES!

In counties where undesirable wheat is harvested in 1956, Elevators and mills will be compelled to keep good milling wheat separate and not mix it with the undesirable varieties. If undesirable wheat is mixed with good wheat, all of it will be discounted.

Thus, the government of wheat to market will be slowed down as elevators and mills will have to examine every load and will be forced to keep empty bins and pits in order to keep the good varieties from the poor quality.

We urge you to plant acceptable milling varieties.

Extension Agent Explains Method For Preparing and Canning Tomatoes

Canning still is the best way of preserving some fruits and vegetables. Take tomatoes, one of the most popular garden crops. They're easiest of all fruits to can, and canning is the best way to preserve them, according to Extension Agent, Lou Ella Patterson.

Tomato juice and puree can be frozen successfully, but the whole tomatoes cannot. Tomatoes do not call for pressure canning. The water bath method is recommended. Any deep pan with rack and close fitting lid can be used as a water bath canner.

A cold-pack method for canning tomatoes now has been developed—use only ripe, perfect tomatoes. Dip them into boiling water for about half a minute, then plunge them into cold water to make peeling easy. A wire basket or thin cloth is convenient for holding the tomatoes during scalding.

Cut out the stem ends and slip off the skins. Tomatoes may be left whole or halved or quartered. Pack raw tomatoes into clean jars. Press gently to fill space. Add salt—½ teaspoon to a pint jar, 1 teaspoon to a quart. To remove air bubbles work a knife down the jar sides. Add more tomatoes, if needed, to fill the jar again to ½ inch from the top. Wipe jar rim and close tightly with the two piece self sealing type lid.

Have some hot, not boiling, water in water bath canner. Put filled jars on rack in canner. Add boiling water to bring water one or two inches above jar tops. Put lid on canner, bring water to boiling. Start count-processing time when water boils. Process pints to 35 minutes; quarts 45 minutes. Remove from water bath and do not tighten lids. Allow to cool and store.
