Blizzard Closes Schools, Roads In Seven States

No Peace Feelers Says RFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says he did not bring any Vietnam war peace feelers from Europe, but he told President Johnson the French could provide meaningful contacts with Hanoi.

Kennedy said after a White House conference with Johnson Monday, "I never received the impression that I was any recipient of any peace feelers."

This momentarily quieted, but did not entirely erase, a flurry of speculation which grew out of reports in Newsweek magazine that the New York Democrat was bringing back at least some second-hand information that might be helpful in arranging peace talks.

LITTLE CHANCE

Kennedy told Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach earlier Monday that French President Charles de Gaulle had reiterated to Kennedy his position that there was little chance for peace unless the United States was willing to announce a schedule for withdrawal of its troops from Vietnam.

Kennedy repeated this assessment to Johnson when Katzenbach accompanied him to the White House.

The New York senator interpreted this as indicating that De Gaulle was not prepared to take any practical steps at this time to get negotiations going.

THREE POINTS

But Kennedy was said to have found the lower echelons of the French government, where contact is maintained directly with Hanoi envoys, much more flexible in their approach to the problem.

Although he would not discuss his talk with Johnson, Kennedy said in an interview that his remarks in Europe that the next two or three weeks may be crucial in the search for peace were based on three points:

— The truce beginning with the Vietnamese lunar New Year Wednesday and lasting until Sunday morning could produce "intensified efforts for peace" in several quarters.

— There is belief in European capitals that Hanoi's ties with Communist China have been loosened by the turmoil in China.

— There is a "general feeling in Europe that North Vietnam is not as adamant in its demands" as it has been previously.

PAUSE EXTENSION

He is not yet prepared to do it, but Kennedy seemingly is going to join some Senate colleagues in urging an extension of the pause in the bombing of North Vietnam that is scheduled for the New Year period.

At the White House Kennedy told reporters he thinks that possibly too much emphasis has been placed on merely getting negotiations going for the sake of talking and not enough on getting the kind of talks needed to achieve a settlement.

In the last analysis, he said, "We will have to depend on his (the President's) judgment to find a peaceful solution."

Johnson told a news conference last week that there had been no "serious effort" on the part of Hanoi to confer. Asked if there was any change in this situation, Katzenbach replied "no."

'DOVES'

While Kennedy was conferring for two hours with Katzenbach, six Democratic "doves" took the Senate floor to urge an extension of the forthcoming bombing pause.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called for an indefinite halt in the bombing to give Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations, Pope Paul VI and other world leaders a chance to see if negotiations could be started.

Morse was joined in this plea by Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; George McGovern, D-S.D., and Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska.

Crew Training Unit To Replace 331st

The Air Defense Command unit based at Webb Air Force Base will be assuming a new role.

Rep. George Mahon announced today that effective March 1, the 331st Fighter-Interceptor Squadron will become the 4760th Combat Crew Training Squadron. It will remain in the ADC chain of Air Force command.

The training mission of this unit will continue for an indefinite period of time, Rep. Mahon's statement said.

SHOULD STABILIZE

According to the congressman, who heads the House Appropriations Committee as well as that group's sub-committee on military appropriations, there will be a "temporary fluctuation" in number of personnel; however, this should stabilize by early fall and the net effect should be little change in the number of personnel assigned and the amount of equipment utilized.

This was the extent of the congressman's announcement, but there were assumptions that the unit would now be training crews in maintenance of the F-104 fighter aircraft, which presently is assigned to the squadron.

There was no word locally on exactly what changes would be brought about. Base officials said they had no authority to go beyond Congressman Mahon's announcement.

WARNING IN 1965

A warning whistle for the 331st Fighter - Interceptor Squadron as such was blown in early December, 1965, when Defense Secretary Robert McNamara announced that it would be inactivated during 1967. This was part of a broad cutback in several military installations announced by McNamara as an economy move.

While the 331st has maintained its primary mission of guarding the southern segment of the U.S. against hostile attack, it has gradually been undergoing some changes.

Only last week the Air Force confirmed that some Air Force personnel and F-104 aircraft (the type employed by the 331st) were being sent to Jordan to help maintain a balance in the Mid-East. There was no official confirmation that the 331st people were involved in this deployment, but there were local indications that some of its people were on "TDY" or temporary duty assignment.

HERE IN 1958

The 331st FIS first came to Big Spring—to be a tenant organization at Webb AFB — in August, 1958. There was a big community welcome for this first detachment.

While it has operated out of here, the 331st has won some signal honors for combat readiness. In October, 1962, it was deployed to Florida when the Cuban crisis was at its peak.

The unit was in place, and in readiness for combat, at Homestead AFB, Fla., within about nine hours after receipt of orders.

Again, the squadron was sent into combat readiness in the Dominican crisis of May, 1965, and this time some 12 aircraft plus pilots and supporting personnel were flown to Ramey AFB, Puerto Rico.

CITATIONS

The squadron received special citations for these performances.

It also figured in the highly-publicized "sonic boom" tests over Oklahoma City. For some four months the squadron's aircraft and pilots were operating in an FAA project to determine results of the use of supersonic aircraft over population centers.

The 331st has had four commanders during its tenure here. Lt. Col. Dick Watson brought the first elements here in 1958 from Newburgh, N. Y. He was succeeded by Lt. Col. Dick Crowell, who in turn yielded command to Lt. Col. Jack Price. Col. Price was succeeded by Col. M. W. Shareck Jr., present skipper of the squadron.

The 331st dates its history back to World War II, having been organized originally in California in 1942. It was operational again during the Korean conflict, was based on Long Island and at Newburgh, N. Y., before being transferred here.

Its planes during the first days were F-86D's, later it got the F-102 "Delta Dagger," then was equipped with the present F-104 Lockheed "Starfighter."

Fund Grows For Family

Warm - hearted people were rallying to help the Carl Garrison family today in a material way.

Grace Baptist Church, where the Garrisons are members, agreed to serve as the receiving agent for funds contributed in memory of Vicki and Sue Garrison, who lost their lives in a traffic mishap while waiting for a school bus last week.

Even with limited publicity word was getting around, and the first day brought in $133. Gifts should be brought or mailed to the church at Box 1507.

Among donors reported today were Quality Contractors $15; Paul Organ Real Estate, Pollard Chevrolet, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Honea, each $10; Mrs. G. W. King, Betty Sue Hollandsworth, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hollandsworth, Mrs. Cynthia Earnest, each $5; and the Non-Commissioned Officers Club, $48.18.

Funeral services were being held in Marion, S.C., for the two girls, both pupils at Goliad Junior High.

At 4 p.m. Wednesday in the Webb AFB Chapel, memorial services will be held for Sue and Vicki, with the Rev. Roy Honea, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, and Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Robert T. Deming, presiding. Members of Grace Baptist are especially invited to attend.

Three Shrimpers Missing In Gulf

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Coast Guard planes searched today for three crew members of a shrimp trawler that capsized late Monday near Lobos Island some 200 miles south of Brownsville.

A fishing vessel radioed the Coast Guard that the Loless Maurine, a Port Isabel-based shrimp boat, had overturned in heavy seas.

Mrs. Wallace Boudreaux of Brownsville, wife of the boat's owner, said three men were aboard.

A Coast Guard spokesman said vessels and planes from the New Orleans Coast Guard district were searching.

Scattered rains are forecast as a possibility for this area Wednesday. This is the first time in many weeks that the weatherman has been so brash as to promise rain.

The forecast calls for continued cool weather through Wednesday. Tonight, the forecast said, will be cloudy and cool and Wednesday cloudy, cold and with possible scattered showers.

Senators Okay State Workers Pay Hike Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas senators did in eight minutes today what they have been fussing about for two weeks—they passed an emergency state employes pay raise bill.

The final vote was 28-2, sending the controversial issue to the House, which earlier joined with the Senate in petitioning Gov. John Connally to give top priority to a pay raise.

Speaker Ben Barnes said: "I have my rules and I intend to enforce my rules" when told of the Senate action.

Barnes has said he would not ask House consideration of any Senate-passed pay raise until the general appropriations bill is approved.

"We've been discussing this for some two weeks now," said Sen. Charles Herring of Austin, "and I think everyone is sufficiently acquainted with the problem. Both houses have unanimously asked for an emergency pay raise. . .

EMERGENCY ACT

"This is an emergency bill that would be effective March 1. It does not necessarily set a pattern for the general appropriation bill which should have a pay raise in it. . . Nobody else is going to help state employes if we don't."

Despite the petition from the Senate and House, unanimously approved in both chambers, Connally did not mention an emergency pay raise in his address to a joint session last Thursday.

One amendment was made to Herring's bill today, with his approval.

The change, offered by Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, would provide pay raises also for hourly workers in the Highway Department. The present rate of $1.15 for common labor would become $1.55 to $2.02; semi-skilled labor would get hourly wages of $1.91 to $2.51, and skilled hourly labor $2.40 to $3.

Strong opposed consideration of the bill at this time and was one of those voting against it. The second vote against consideration was Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

The House adjourned until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday after passing a bill placing Glasscock County under state herbicide controls and tentatively approving a Senate bill raising pilotage fees for shipping in Galveston and Jefferson counties. Another vote on the pilotage bill is needed.

Senators also quit until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday after approving four bills unanimously on final passage, including one by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo that would make the possession of one pound or more of mercury without a bill of sale a felony.

WINDS BOOST LOSS

Fires Taking Toll Of Dry Grasslands

The winter drouth and high winds are proving disastrous to county fields in more ways than one.

Fire has swept through several local fields, wiping out grass stands, as well as hitting at vacant lots and drainage ditches in the city.

Near Lee's Store Sunday, Big Spring firemen battled a blaze on a Shell Oil lease that wiped out 500 acres of grasslands, the biggest rural blaze so far this year.

The fire started as a small local blaze about 17 miles south of Big Spring, but high winds whipped it into an inferno that gobbled up the dry grass before firemen could get it under control.

Last month, Big Spring firemen answered a total of 84 calls, 46 of them grass fires and 16 of them outside of the city limits.

A. D. Meador, fire marshal, has these tips to help reduce this loss:

"First, avoid throwing matches and cigarettes from your car windows into the dry grass," he said. "With the weather as hot as it has been, it doesn't take much to get a grass fire started.

"Second, avoid throwing bottles onto the roadside near dry grass. The bottles provide an excellent magnification device for the sun to start grass fires," he explained.

"Third, avoid throwing trash into the dry grass," he said. "Papers in grass helps a grass fire get bigger and spread."

"Last," he urged, "watch the wind and find a clear spot to burn trash or weeds. This should be done inside a metal container or brick surroundings with a screen over the top. A gust of wind is all it takes to spread a controllable fire to an uncontrollable one."

Viet Cong Shell Four Airfields

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Viet Cong shelled four airfields in South Vietnam today in an 11th hour surge before the start of the lunar New Year truce and U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported 143 Communist soldiers killed in ground fighting.

Simultaneously U.S. warplanes, beginning the third year of the air offensive against North Vietnam, got in a final day of bombing raids before the cease-fire but poor flying weather held down the number of strikes.

The U.S. command announced that a small U.S. Air Force observation plane was shot down by ground fire in North Vietnam Monday, and a helicopter that tried to rescue the pilot was downed also. The command said another helicopter rescued one of the crewmen from the downed chopper, but the other three crewmen and the observation pilot were missing.

GI'S PULL BACK

The truce, in observance of the Vietnamese New Year called Tet, will start at 7 a.m. Wednesday — 6 p.m. EST today. Allied forces in the field began pulling back into defensive positions.

The allies will halt offensive actions on land, sea and in the air for four days. The Viet Cong has declared a truce of seven days.

The approaching of the cease-fire also was accompanied by an upsurge in Viet Cong terrorism against civilians in several parts of South Vietnam. This included the assassination of a school teacher and a grenade thrown into the home of a deputy province chief during a pre-New Year's party which killed one civilian and wounded 11 others.

MORTARS LOBBED

U.S. troops reported killing at least 72 Communist soldiers in a series of engagements Monday, but three companies of American infantrymen sustained moderate casualties in two separate actions. South Vietnamese forces reported killing 71 Viet Cong in three actions.

In the airfield attacks, the Viet Cong lobbed mortar and recoilless-rifle fire onto the airstrips, three of them in the Mekong Delta. U.S. and South Vietnamese spokesmen reported light or no casualties to allied troops and light damage in all four shellings.

Early today the Viet Cong fired 20 mortar rounds on the Tra Cu airfield 72 miles southwest of Saigon and 10 rounds of recoilless rifle on the Tra Noc field 78 miles southwest of the capital.

Rain Dampens Annual Mardi Gras Madness

By The Associated Press

A blizzard rolled up the Atlantic Coast today and swirled through the New York City area with snow, howling winds and subfreezing temperatures.

Ground and air transportation were badly snarled from Kentucky to Massachusetts. At Washington, National Airport closed and operations were slowed at Dulles International Airport.

Roads and schools were closed in parts of seven states, and blizzard conditions were forecast for as far north as Springfield, Mass.

FLAKES PILE UP

More than two inches of snow had fallen in New York City at 8 a.m. and wind-blown flakes were piling up faster in some suburbs.

Winds gusted through the city's skyscraper canyons at 30 to 40 miles an hour in a 15 degree temperature.

The Weather Bureau forecast eight inches would fall before the storm ends late tonight.

The blizzard had formed off the Carolina coast and swept northeastward during the predawn hours.

ALL SCHOOLS SHUT

All of New York City's public schools were ordered shut in the first onslaught of the storm that disrupted traffic and caused long delays to office-bound commuters.

The city called a snow emergency and ordered all available equipment into the streets.

Similar conditions were reported all along the Eastern Seaboard.

The storm quickly iced roads in southeastern New York State and rushed north to hit towns shivering in subzero temperatures. During the night the mercury hit -16 at Plattsburg and -12 at Watertown.

HIGH WINDS

The Weather Bureau said the snow would total more than eight inches in New York City and from six to eight inches almost everywhere along the Eastern Seaboard.

High winds quickly caused drifting across the region.

Gusts of winds up to 30 miles an hour slammed heavy snow into Washington D.C. By midmorning the snow was six inches deep and drifting.

The snow forced nearly all school's in communities neighboring the nation's Capitol to close. The closings included the University of Maryland at College Park.

EIGHT INCHES

All emergency snow plans were put into effect in an effort to ease morning rush-hour traffic. The snow was expected to total at least eight inches by midafternoon.

Snow emergency plans brought crews and equipment to

One-Two Punch Skids Mercury

By The Associated Press

Light snow fell near the north edge of the Texas Panhandle today in the second half of a wintry one-two punch which belted the state's central and southern sections with snow, sleet and rain Monday.

Temperatures skidded well below freezing at many points and held only a little above that level at some places in the extreme south. Frost nipped sharply at the Lower Rio Grande Valley, dropping the mercury as low as 26 degrees.

An inch of snow still was on the ground to accent the chill at Austin, where a storm dumped four to six inches of the white stuff before sweeping eastward Monday.

FRESH CLOUDS

Skies cleared in most areas, but fresh clouds appeared with the new snowfall around Dalhart in the Panhandle and the temperature there bounded from a low of 22 degrees up to 34 before dawn.

Forecasters looked for a low pressure center developing over the Panhandle to bring a return of south winds over most of the state. They predicted increasing clouds in nearly all areas tonight and Wednesday, accompanied by continued snow flurries in the Panhandle and scattered light rain in South Texas by Wednesday.

TRAFFIC JAMS

Most of the snow which all but paralyzed the Austin area melted quickly. Power lines snapped and monstrous traffic jams developed there Monday, forcing suspension of classes at public schools and the University of Texas.

In other areas the storm brought up to 2.04 inches of rain at Corpus Christi and 1.69 at Galveston, 1.68 at Beaumont, 1.22 at Laredo and 1.09 at Houston. Smaller amounts fell at a number of places.

30 AT McALLEN

Lower Rio Grande Valley temperatures dipped as low as 26 at Rio Grande City, 30 at McAllen, 31 at San Manuel, 32 at Harlingen and Raymondville and 34 at Brownsville and Edinburg.

The freeze was expected to cause little harm to the last of the winter vegetables still in the fields but promised to delay the start of cotton planting somewhat.

At Junction in the Southwest Texas Hill Country the mercury dived to 15 degrees above zero.

Early morning marks elsewhere included Perryton 18, Lufkin and San Angelo 19, fort Worth, Waco and Wichita Falls 20, Childress, Midland, Texarkana and Van Horn 21, Amarillo and Dalhart 22, Alpine 23, Austin, Dallas, Presidio, San Antonio and Tyler 24, Abilene, Del Rio and Plainview 25, Longview 26, Lubbock 27, Beaumont, El Paso and Houston 28, Laredo 31 and Corpus Christi and Galveston 35.

Lady Lawmakers Barred From Gym

WASHINGTON (AP) — One right that lady congressmen want to exercise is the right to exercise.

The problem: There is no women's locker room in the otherwise beautifully appointed House gym — perhaps because there are only 11 women in the House and only a fraction of those are exercise addicts.

Rep. Patsy Mink, a trim Democrat of about 40 from Hawaii, is one who would like the place turned over to the women members for just a few hours a week. But the men won't let them in.

ODDS IGNORED

"Their argument is that there are 424 of them and only 11 of us," she said.

The odds didn't faze Mrs. Mink Monday when she and two other congresswomen made a frontal attack. In the process they jarred gym director Herbert Botts.

Rep. Charlotte Reid, R-Ill., 53, leader of the raid, marched into a gym anteroom with Mrs. Mink and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., 52.

With straight faces, they said they were there in response to a letter inviting all members of the House to a new series of calesthenics classes.

'EQUAL TIME'

Botts hurried them out, explaining they had already penetrated the defenses of the all-male establishment more than was proper.

"The men come out there in various stages of dress to make telephone calls and things," Botts said.

The ladies knew they were off limits but they said it was worth it to keep the pressure on for an "equal time" gym - sharing treaty.

"We were trying to make a point," said Mrs. Mink.

"We really felt sorry for the poor man," Mrs. Reid said, "but when we heard about that letter we couldn't resist it."

Many Changes On New Texas Maps

AUSTIN — Six new public lakes, 819 miles of new highways and 18 new safety rest areas make their appearance for the first time on the Texas Highway Department's colorful 1967 Official State Highway Map.

Before the year is out, about one million copies of the map will be distributed throughout the world, inviting Texan and out-of-state visitor alike to "Discover Texas, America's Fun-tier."

All the new lakes are accessible to the public via the 67-thousand-mile Texas highway system. Largest of the new reservoirs is Lake Meredith on the Canadian River in the Panhandle. Others are Lake Arrowhead, Fin Creek Reservoir, White River Lake, Bardwell and Somerville Reservoirs.

The new map shows 115 additional miles of Interstate highways, added since last year. More than 1,700 miles of these superb new highways are in service now.

The 1967 Official State Highway Map also delineates approximately 704 miles of new farm to market roads. Many of these provide the visitor with access to recreational areas throughout the state, as well as serving agriculture and industry.

Eighteen additional safety rest areas are shown on the map for the first time. More than 1,100 safety rest areas, scenic turnouts and roadside parks now enhance the safety and convenience of Texas highways.

Further emphasizing the water resources of Texas, a scenic photograph of the Sam Rayburn Reservoir in East Texas graces the cover of the map. Padre Island centers a pictorial display, along with 12 other color photographs of scenes and sights from every area of the state.

For the convenience of the traveler, the face of the map contains a handy mileage table, inset maps showing principal streets in larger cities, and listings of state parks, Texas Highway Department Tourist Bureaus and highway patrol offices.

The 1967 Official State Highway Map is one of a variety of services provided for the convenience of the traveler by the Texas Highway Department.

Through its Travel and Information Division, the Texas Highway Department assist nearly three - quarters of a million visitors each year in eight Tourist Information Bureaus located at key highway gateways and in the rotunda of the State Capitol in Austin.

Texas motorists may order the 1967 Official State Highway Map when registering motor vehicles during February and March. County tax officers have been provided with supplies of special order cards.

Copies of the map also may be ordered directly, sending name, address and ZIP code to: Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Post Office Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78703.

DON'T BE MISLEAD . . . .

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Sick people are more frequently than otherwise unaware of spine failure in cases of sickness, pain and disease. Spine failure does not always produce pain or discomfort in the back unless there is acute backache or lumbago, but don't be mislead. In the great majority of cases the effects of spine failure are observed at some distant point remote from the spine, such for example as neuritis in the arm or leg; headache or malfunction in one or more vital organs. Because of this fact, you are not recognizing the location of the cause of your pain or illness.

If you have been doctoring for some time, and find yourself, relieved, but not entirely well, might it not be wise to try something different, some new approach and means to locate and remove the cause, rather than treating the effects?

In the spirit of a sincere helpfulness, it may be suggested that you consult a Chiropractor. It may mark the day when you start on the road to vibrant health.

This man came to the office 4 years ago complaining of trouble with his right arm. We located the trouble but it didn't seem possible to him so he went and received other treatment and spent several hundred dollars. Last fall he came back to the office, still suffering but now he could hardly use the arm. All this time he had remembered that I said I had found the cause but it was hard for him to believe. Then, finally when desperation took over, he came back and put himself into our hands. We are happy to report there is no trouble left in his arm since the cause we found four years ago, has been corrected and removed. No. 2108. Investigate! This could be your solution to that pain or trouble. Hansen Chiropractic Clinic across from Piggly Wiggly, 1004 Eleventh Place, AM 3-3324. Next article next Tuesday. —adv.

Oil Output Dips Again

TULSA (AP)—Production of crude and lease condensate in the United States declined last week for the second week in a row.

The Oil and Gas Journal reported today that production averaged 8,569,145 barrels per day for the week, down 6,210 from the previous week and 12,715 from two weeks ago.

Texas showed the biggest loss at 2,940,050 barrels daily, down 18,100 for the week. The loss was partially offset by gains in Louisiana and Oklahoma. Louisiana reported 1,997,200 barrels daily, up 12,200; and Oklahoma 646,935, up 2,325.

What else besides Long Distance telephone service costs you less today than it did 20 years ago?

Tough question. Not many things have gone down in price these past few years. Most goods and services have zoomed up in cost.

Long Distance rates are a pleasant exception. There have been ten rate reductions in Texas since World War II.

Nowadays, you can make a three-minute, station-to-station call to anywhere in the continental United States (except Alaska) for $1 or less after 8 p.m. or all day Sunday. This is the lowest rate ever. (Interesting comparison: The first transcontinental phone call, made in 1915, cost $20.70.)

And service today is faster and more convenient than ever before.

Better service at lower cost; we think that's a winning combination. Don't you?

Couple Weds On Saturday

Miss Karen Hall and Billy Gage were united in marriage Saturday evening in the study of the College Baptist Church, with the Rev. Byron Orand officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamby, 1610 Main, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. W. L. Gage, 1515 Tuscon, and the late Mr. Gage.

The full skirt fell from a high-rising bodice trimmed with a white satin bow. She wore white shoes and her shoulder-length veil of illusion cascaded from a cabbage rose encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white carnations.

Jimmy Tucker of Wichita Falls was the best man.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Big Spring. The bride is a graduate of Big Spring Senior High School and is attending Commercial Business College in Midland. The bridegroom graduated from Big Spring Senior High School and is now employed by the United States Post Office.

Designer Creates Window Illusion

A windowless, blank wall is not a dead end for the enterprising decorator. An illusion of windows can be created by draping a portion of the wall. Colorful murals may be used.

Decorator ceramic mosaics, the small ceramic tiles now available in many striking hues, are another possibility for turning a dull, open space into an exciting accent wall. Ceramic mosaics can be used on floors as well as walls.

A LOVELIER YOU

Hair Seldom Ceases To Create Problems

By MARY SUE MILLER

Hair problems never cease, or so letters from lovely readers indicate. The current puzzlers involve hair care and grooming. In this rundown on them, you well may find an answer to a pet perplexity.

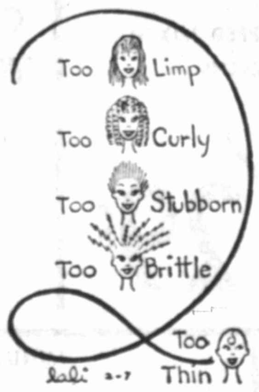

Q. What, if anything, gives limp hair lasting body? A. A permanent. There's nothing like it to provide body and bounce for three to six months. If you don't want curl, use an "uncurly" permanent.

Q. Does straightening damage the hair? How long does it last? A. Both home and salon curl - free formulas are now very gentle and have built-in hair conditioners. Your natural curl reappears as the hair grows out. The new growth, however, can be straightened when it is several inches long.

Q. What type of setting lotion really holds? A. Clear, protein spray-ons offer both hold and bounce. What's more, they dry quickly and leave no sticky residue.

Q. Is there a completely safe hair tint? A. The ingredients in all tints come under government regulation and are therefore safe in the broad sense. Careless application and overuse — the human element — is responsible for difficulties. Prudence demands regular conditioning treatments for tinted hair.

Q. Will tonic stop falling hair? A. Excessive fall-out requires the advice of a doctor. And pronto!

If you have an unsolved hair problem, write me in care of The Herald. I will find a solution and let you know. (Please enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.)

RULE WAVES

What's your hair problem? You'll find a way to overcome it in my 16-page booklet, "Rule Your Waves." Advice includes: beauty treatments for oily, dry, and normal hair; ways to manage unruly locks; how to add color and highlights; tips on cutting, permanents and styling; grooming tricks. Write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald for your copy, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Welcome
To Big Spring Webb's New Pilot Training Class 68-E

All Big Spring joins in a hearty West Texas welcome to the new class at Webb Air Force Base. While they are citizens of our city for the next year, it is our hope that they will find a helpful, cheerful and hospitable atmosphere. We hope the new students can become acquainted with our town, and find a "home" here. They are asked to drop in and see us at any time and let us extend, in person, the hand of welcome.

A "HOSPITALITY GIFT" For New STUDENT PILOTS

If the Webb student pilot or his wife will call within the next 10 days at the store or service establishment whose name appears with his under his picture (bringing this page with him for identification), he will be given a "welcome gift" by that firm. There is no obligation, and we simply ask that the visit be for getting acquainted. Be our guest!

A Devotional For The Day

Faith means putting our full confidence in the things we hope for; it means being certain of things we cannot see. (Hebrews 11:1, Phillips)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, grant that in every trial our Christian faith may sustain us in confidence until we are certain of Thy love and guidance. We pray with the assurance of Jesus Christ, and in His name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Over-All Perspective

Now that the furore over the proposal of Gov. John Connally to license and tax liquor-by-the-drink has subsided, perhaps it is well to look at his budget message in the larger perspective.

All in all, the governor spoke out for meeting substantiated needs with substantial appropriations. He noted, wisely, that to grant all requests would be extravagance, but to fail to meet demonstrated needs would be irresponsibility. In the larger view, his message is a practical application of efforts to meet those demonstrable areas of service.

The liquor-by-the-drink bill is but one segment, and one of the lesser ones at that, of the complete package of recommendations. Doubtless, it will engender more heat than most of the others. Nor, despite the early reaction, is it at all certain that it will be adopted by the legislature, at least not without some sharp changes. In both houses, the committees hearing this proposal are fairly evenly divided. In the House, Speaker Ben Barnes has a record of being against the issue.

But there are several factors which afford the proposal its best change of passage to date. First of all, the governor's recommendation will carry considerable weight. Secondly, it is tied in with a revenue-raising proposal. Thirdly, the present prohibitions against liquor-by-the-drink have been so broadly interpreted or so laxly enforced that they are ineffectual if not somewhat of a mockery. This latter may have as much weight as anything in the final decision.

Meanwhile, sight should not be lost of the governor's over-all proposals to respond to the rising needs of Texas occasioned by rapid population increase, urbanization and general growth.

The Ultimate

The complexity of modern life is the product of the almost infinite ingenuity of the human mind. Instead of leveling off, that complexity is only going to increase, or so a recent Wall Street Journal story suggests.

A lawyer representing a group of mediators who belong to the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has sent letters to all staff employes of the service saying that a mediator's union is being contemplated, the Journal reported.

"An independent union of journeymen mediators would be comprised of the best educated bargainers in the nation," the circular letter argued.

The prospect of a mediation and conciliation service set up to reconcile disputes on wages, hours and other grievances of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service is enough to make strong men weep. It's kind of like the players organizing the umpires union.

A Keynoter For False Peace

WASHINGTON — George Kennan, ex - ambassador and extraordinary cogitator, recently donned still another hat — as lead-off witness at the Foreign Relations Committee's latest go-around on Vietnam. He became a keynote speaker for the party called peacemongers.

A keynote speaker in political jargon is a generalizer, a denouncer and a rouser. Without departing from his dignity or stooping from his eminence as diplomat and scholar, Kennan performed those three indicated duties which always signal that a political convention is in session.

HE WAS not, it's true, so much addressing the Senators seated before him. Rather he was keynoting the far-flung partisans of Pax. Especially, he was speaking to those discontented intellectuals in Congress and out, who need sustaining arguments and encouragements for folding the tents and stealing away from the long battle against communism.

TO THESE, Kennan was generalizing in true keynoter style. He told them exactly what they most ardently wished to hear and believe. The Communist bloc, said Kennan, is a "Humpty Dumpty (a term which he used in a prepared text handed to the press but omitted in spoken testimony to the committee) which will not and cannot be reassembled." Why do they yearn so much to hear these tidings? Because if, as Kennan said, Communist unity "is a thing of the past," then much of the danger, much of the American need for vigilance and suspicion, are also "of the past." We can relax. We can confidently await the detente.

TO THE partisans of peace, Kennan was denouncing the opposition, as convention kick-off orators have done since time immemorial. He did this by methods well-recognized on the hustings. He built up straw men and bowled them over. The opponents, as Kennan artfully depicted them, were persons "in this country . . . even within the halls of this august legislative body" who still believed world communism to be "a unified political personality . . . a single disciplined force . . . the conspiratorial control of a single political will."

There really aren't many such persons, and very few in Congress, with such simplistic conceptions, but keynoters don't have to be very realistic in propping up straw tragets. Kennan condemned the ideas of all such imaginary dolts and bigots to "the realm of patent absurdity."

AND, THEN, he exhorted in his role of rouser, all good peacemongers to look upon the fallen Humpty Dumpty ("I think I have as intimate an acquaintance with this phenomenon as anybody in the country") and to put their faith in trade treaties, peace treaties, nuclear arrangements and "patience." Otherwise, he warned, we might drive our long resistance to communism "to a violent and apocalyptic conclusion." This end-of-the-world prediction, the last refuge of all brimstone orators for peace, appropriately, served as the punchline for Kennan's presentation to the committee.

THERE IS A peace party in this country that goes against the realities of a warring world, and George Kennan is one of the most articulate wranglers in its behalf.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

This may be a bad time to point it out, with the end-of-year bills hitting the mailbox and the income tax return awaiting, but Americans are piling up a whale of a lot of debt.

The national debt is not the only one that is growing. Federal figures reveal that we Americans are putting more and more on the cuff as individuals, too.

A recent review by the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank noted that America's consumers are now in debt by $90 billion. Today almost 15 cents out of every dollar in the American's take-home pay is committed to his creditors before he ever opens his pay envelope. In the middle- and lower-income brackets, the proportion is higher.

Ten years ago, the debt payment figure was only a dime out of each dollar. At the close of World War II, the figure was four cents per dollar.

It may be that Americans have become so accustomed to their government's buy - now - and - pay - later approach to financing that they have adopted it for their own household budgets.

The trouble is that the individual householder, spending more and more of his future earnings, must eventually run into a limit. When he finds himself owing more in his weekly payments than he is earning in his weekly pay, he is in deep trouble.

The government, which can create more and cheaper money on order, can put off ruin considerably longer than he can in using this approach.

Unless the nation's borrowers and lenders beware of the ill-advised addition to growing consumer debt, they may find that the insupportable loan can lose more than itself and friends.

Billy Graham

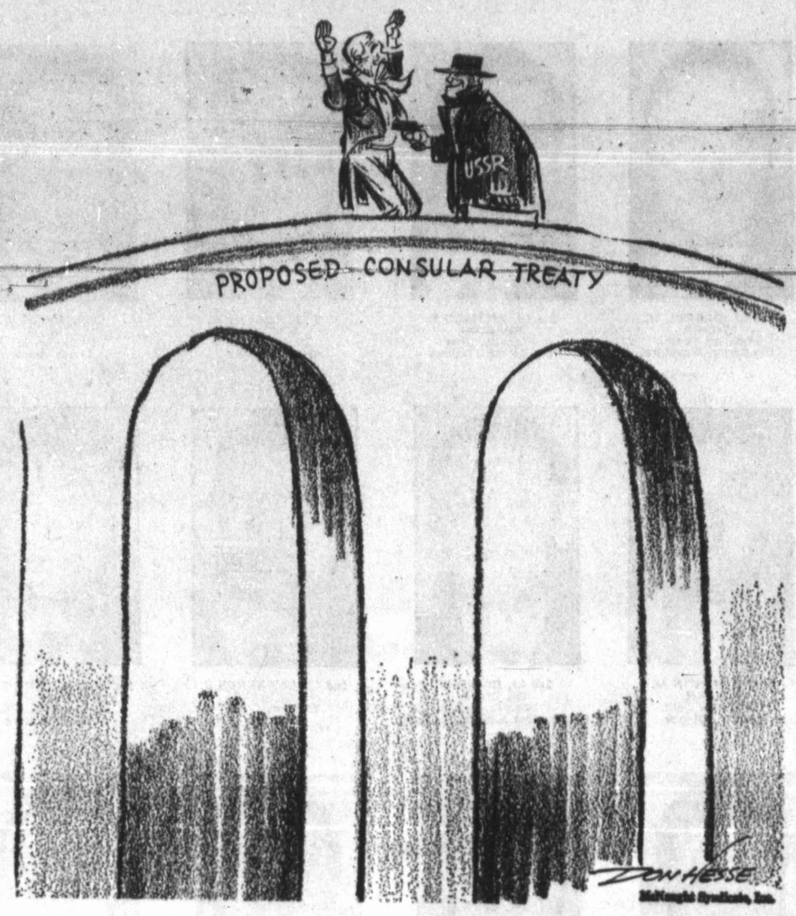

I attend church occasionally but I read my Bible and try to live a good life. Is it necessary to attend church to be a good Christian? L. W.

If you were hungry you would go to a good restaurant. If you were ill, you would go to the doctor. If you had car trouble, you would not be reluctant to take it to a garage. Then, why should you be so reluctant to go to church?

The church is the place where an atmosphere of worship exists. It is a place dedicated to the nourishment of souls. It is a place where the Word of God is read, and where sincere prayers are prayed. It is the logical place for Christian to find encouragement, fellowship and strength.

It may be possible for you to be a Christian and not go to church, but barring physical impairment, you would not be an obedient Christian.

It is possible that something may have happened at your church which has caused you to avoid going. If it is your fault, ask forgiveness. If it is something beyond your control, seek another place of worship. But go to church.

War On Crime Program Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's program for a nationwide war on crime, with the federal government footing a good bit of the bill, had hardly reached Congress before Republican leaders attacked it.

Johnson's proposal would not make the federal government boss of crime control but would give the government a major role in it by being a big help and a guiding force.

But the Republican House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said the best way to finance a nationwide attack on crime would be through federal tax-sharing. Tax-sharing has been a much talked of way to bail out states.

AS USUALLY discussed, tax-sharing would have the federal government turn over to the states — without strings and therefore without control — billions of dollars from federal revenue.

Under such an arrangement the states could suit themselves on how they used the money. With this latiiude some states, perhaps most, could decide none of the federal money would be used for crime prevention.

Ford's deputy in the House, Rep. Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, pointed out that last Nov. 13 Johnson had vetoed a bill for fighting crime in the District of Columbia.

He said this put the Johnson administration in a poor position to help states against crime until the federal government acted against crime in Washington.

NEVERTHELESS, Johnson was applauded by police and city officials from coast to coast last month when he disclosed he would offer a nationwide program for crime prevention.

When Johnson vetoed the District's anticrime bill — a highly controversial measure before it ever reached him — he explained he thought it would create more problems than it solved and would be fought in courts for years.

Anticipating the usual complaint of federal interference in local affairs if his new anti-crime program became law, Johnson in a special message to Congress Monday explained why he was suggesting it.

HE SAID IT this way: Crime control is mainly a local problem, but so are health and education. Yet the federal government has had to help local governments on health and education and should do the same about crime since maintaining public order is the "first business of government."

Young Fellow, Hear This

NEW YORK (AP) — Now hear this, young man.

One of the chores of a columnist is to tell youth how to live. No one knows just why columnists are entitled to this privilege, but if they don't exercise it at least once a year they are likely to have their licenses revoked.

So, young fellow, here is my free advice for 1967 on how to wrest the best from life and avoid the pitfalls of a trap-filled world:

If you are idealistic and yearn to improve the human race, try to get the job done by the time you are 25. If you haven't, then concentrate on improving yourself.

SLEEP ON a firm bed. Half the people who wake up tired do so because their bed is too soft.

The other chief source of fatigue is boredom. To avoid boredom make change a routine thing in your life. Never spend two days in a row exactly alike, even if you only eat in a different restaurant or go home by a different route.

Always dry between your toes thoroughly after shower. You can't go far on sore feet.

If you are unable for one reason or another to marry your employer's daughter, marry a girl with a merry mind and a responsible heart. These qualities endure long after beauty does.

NEVER drink anything except milk or water at lunch until your 60th birthday Avoid drinking hard liquor before dusk or after midnight.

If you play golf, play it on weekends. The young fellows who sneak out to the country club during the week usually wind up bums.

Ask for a pay rise every 18 months—whether you need it or not. There is no surer way to find out how you stand with the firm. If you get turned down twice, better look for another job.

Don't quit a good job, however, just because you are piqued with your boss. The chances are fairly good that in time he will retire, get fired himself or be sidelined by an ulcer.

TAKE AS little medicine as possible. Too much medicine probably keeps as many people sick as it makes well.

If you learn early that you are inept at handling money, let your wife handle the family income. Then, if you both wind up in the poorhouse, you'll at least have someone besides yourself to blame.

Have at least two children, or adopt a couple. And keep a pet cat, dog, or goldfish in the home. Children and pets do more than anything to keep a household sane—and in an uproar.

If you must gamble, bet on the one thing you can't afford to lose—yourself. It is foolish to bet on a race horse that could have no possible interest in your welfare.

Save 10 per cent of what you earn until you get your house paid for, and after that save 15 per cent.

Take your wife out at least one evening a week, even if you only stroll around the block together.

It Doesn't Pay To Be Too Suspicious?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

I spend a good deal of time in this column explaining when various symptoms should send folks to the doctor.

But sometimes a word is warranted to calm people down a bit. Here's a letter:

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 29 and the mother of three children. I had a chest X-ray at a mobile unit and was notified that there was something on my lungs.

I went to a specialist who had large X-rays taken. They showed that my lungs were marked, so I went to the hospital for a week of tests, including scrapings from the lungs, skin tests, urine test and "Pap" test.

The doctor told me he could tell me what I haven't got but could not tell me what I do have. The pathologist's report was "unidentified."

Doctor, is this possible? Or is there a possibility that the doctor is keeping something from me? I never cough up blood or run a fever and I feel fine. —J.C.

That's a puzzler, but it has happened to others. Sometimes all we can say is that some calcification or scarring has occurred, and leaves a mark, but the disease which caused it is all over, and it is no longer possible to prove what the original ailment was.

The tests you have had obviously rule out tuberculosis, cancer (the "Pap" test) and others.

No, I don't think your doctor is concealing anything from you, and I suspect that you are worrying too much. It's natural for mothers of small youngsters to worry, though.

No doubt the doctor advised you to return after some specified interval for another X-ray, which would be a wise precaution. If the marks on the lungs have not changed, then there would be good reason to assume that something happened to you in the past, and is no longer active.

Dear Dr. Molner: This question is so often raised: Does a rowing machine firm up the muscles or does it, as some say, overdevelop the upper body? — MRS. H.C.

For practical purposes, I don't think any of the standard exercising machines will overdevelop you anywhere. The work of rowing, whether in a boat or a machine, involves a lot more than arms and shoulders. It's good exercise for the back, hips and legs.

The main point to remember is that exercise is exercise. Special exercises can be helpful in certain types of deformities, but for the average person, the choice of an exercise machine depends on what you find agreeable. Or just do calisthenics. The physical effort is what counts.

Around The Rim

Oh, Blessed Purple Martin

I might paraphrase Gelett Burgess:

"I never saw a purple martin—
"I never heard of 'em.
"But I can tell you right now,
"I'd like to have a hundred of 'em."

THE RHYME is rough, but believe me, the sentiment is pure.

I have just received a complimentary copy of a book entitled "What You Should Know About the Purple Martin." It's from the Griggsville, Ill., Wild Bird Society.

I wasn't too much impressed when I first looked at the book. There are some photos on the cover of a little bird, purplish in color which looks a little like a sparrow.

Then I turned to the back dust cover and the sentence I saw there shook me.

"A PURPLE MARTIN" it read, "Will eat 2,000 mosquitoes per day!"

I haven't read a single line inside the book as this is written. However, if the statement made on the dust cover is true, I'm for a city bond issue to buy a batch of purple martins for Big Spring.

If one purple martin can destroy 2,000 mosquitoes a day, think what would be accomplished with a couple of thousand purple martins.

THEY'D DO a darn sight better job of coping with our annual summer invasion of mosquitoes than that oversized flit gun the municipality hauls into action each spring in a heroic but almost futile war on the pests.

Martins would be prettier, too, and smell a lot better than the fogging machine.

I understand that the purple martins come into Texas this month and stay until Oct. 15. That would be just dandy in our war on mosquitoes.

IT SEEMS that in Griggsville and in other communities where the little birds have been accepted and welcomed, the idea is for as many householders as possible to build or buy ready - built martin houses. The martins set up housekeeping in these houses and then go out mosquito hunting.

I'm all set to buy a martin house. In fact I'll build a high rise apartment in the latest approved design if the purple martins will settle down on the Blackburn Ranch for the spring and summer. I can quarantee, I think, an adequate supply of mosquitoes to keep a dozen martin families fourishing.

LAST YEAR I had no purple martins. But I had 2,000 mosquitoes to eat me each time I was brash enough to walk around my limited domain.

I don't know how you go about encouraging a purple martin to come calling, but I'd like to know.

Whose Poll Is First?

WASHINGTON — Lately, I have been very intrigued by the various popularity polls that are being taken by our leading pollsters. Last week, for example, both Lou Harris and George Gallup revealed that Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's popularity with the American people had gone down because of her fight with William Manchester over "the book." At the same time, Gallup reported that Sen. Robert Kennedy's popularity was greater than President Johnson's.

I REALLY don't know who is popular or unpopular in this country any more until I read the polls. The question is, do people lose popularity before or after a poll is taken?

To ascertain this fact, I started some polling of my own.

"Sir," I asked a man, "what do you think of Jackie Kennedy's popularity?"

"I guess it's okay."

"Well, it isn't exactly okay. The polls revealed that her image had been hurt because of her fight with Manchester."

"I didn't know that," he said. "In that case I guess she's lost popularity."

"EXACTLY. Do you think more of Mrs. Kennedy or less of Mrs. Kennedy now than you did before?"

"Well, I guess I have to think less of her if her popularity has gone down. I mean, you can't think more of a person if the polls say people don't think as much of her."

"I must add," I said, "that 33 per cent of those polled by Lou Harris said they thought less of her, while 10 per cent said they thought more of her, though a majority of 51 per cent said they still felt the same about her."

"I SEE. That changes things, doesn't it? I would say, then, that although I might think less of Mrs. Kennedy for getting into a fight with Manchester I think more of her now because obviously she knew people would think less of her when the polls came out."

"Sir, you've got to take one side or the other."

"I'm trying to be objective about it, but I forgot what the question was."

"All right, let's go on to Sen. Robert Kennedy for a moment. Do you think Sen. Robert Kennedy is more popular than President Johnson?"

"How do the pollsters read it?"

"GALLUP SAYS he's more popular, but Lou Harris says he's less popular."

"May I ask a question?"

"Certainly."

"Is George Gallup more popular than Lou Harris or is Lou Harris more popular than George Gallup?"

"I don't think a poll's ever been taken on that. What difference would it make?"

"WELL, IF George Gallup is more popular than Lou Harris, then his popularity poll on Sen. Kennedy would be more popular and vice versa. I don't think pollsters should take popularity polls on other people until they find out how people feel about them."

"I never thought about that," I said. "How would you go about it?"

"Well, the first thing I'd ask the public is whether Lou Harris or George Gallup's image was hurt by doing a poll on Mrs. Kennedy's popularity."

The Issue Of Communist Trade

WASHINGTON — A small offstage skirmish over exports to Castro's Cuba shows how complex and difficult is the whole question of expanded trade with Communist countries. At stake was a proposed British loan to underwrite the sale of a $39,000,000 fertilizer plant.

In order to make the deal a British firm had persuaded the government in London to guarantee a loan covering about four-fifths of the cost of the plant. This made the State Department distinctly unhappy.

IN AN exchange of telegrams with the Foreign Office in London the State Department insisted that such a loan saved Castro scarce foreign exchange which he would otherwise spend on guns and infiltrators sent against his Latin-American neighbors. Britain replied by noting President Johnson's declaration in favor of building bridges with Communist nations and asking whether this did not include the small Communist island 90 miles off America's shores.

The reply was a firm no. A report had come in that officials believed was proof of how Castro is spending his precious hard currency for underground ventures in violence such as those that the democratic government in Venezuela frustrated.

TRADE WITH Cuba, according to the State Department line, is in a separate and distinct category unrelated to the changes in trade relations with the East European-bloc countries proposed by the President. Instead of settling down to make his own system work Castro has continued to try to undermine the governments of his nearest neighbors. As the Cuban economy sags he is kept going by an annual subsidy of $300,000,000 from the Soviet Union, which is reported to be impatient with Fidel's failures.

LOGIC MAY be on the side of Washington in this dispute. But the fact increasingly evident is that chidings by officialdom here can no longer check the swelling current of trade with the Communist world, not even in the instance of Cuba.

One of the biggest Western trading partners with Castro is Spain, which has in recent years been a major beneficiary of American military and economic aid. In the first nine months of last year Spain exported goods valued at $55,000,000 to Cuba. This included fishing vessels and port facilities. Imports were $24,000,000. With recent headlines describing savage police and military repression of student demonstrations Franco's Spain can hardly be accused of an ideological affinity with Castro's Cuba.

CUBA IS A small sideshow. The real test is whether Congress will approve the President's proposed changes in the trade relationship with Eastern Europe, giving Communist-bloc countries the "most favored nation" status that is a matter of course in most of America's trading relationships.

The dollars-and-cents value of such a change is evident in the fact that the United States Chamber of Commerce once endorsed it. Businessmen know how fast Western Europe is moving into the markets of the East led by West Germany. They have no illusions about what will happen if this country takes a stiff-necked stand against trading with Communist nations. Germany, Britain, France and every other Western industrial power will move evermore rapidly into an expanding market.

AMERICAN opposition can only further fray the ties with NATO allies in Europe. West Germany and Rumania are establishing diplomatic relations. Hungary is expected to follow. German trade millions have broken the ground and the diplomats are ratifying what is all but an accomplished fact.

Credit Cards Mowed Down

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—Don Pabst was cutting his lawn with a power mower when his billfold slipped from his pocket.

Next thing he knew $45 in cash, credit cards, driver's license and other papers had been chopped up by the mower and scattered over the lawn.

He exchanged the money chips at the bank for whole bills but said it would take some time to replace the other papers.

Flames Damage Historic Inn

BENSALEM, Pa. (AP) — Fire caused an estimated $10,000 damages recently at historic Red Lion Inn.

The tavern where George Washington's army encamped in 1781 is located on what was the only road between Philadelphia, New York and Trenton in Washington's day. President John Adams also was reported to have lodged at the inn.

Six-Year-Old Lifts 135-Pound Weight

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — James Rundell says his 54-pound son, Sean, 6, can lift a 135-pound weight.

He added that he and his son recently had walked 50 miles in 15 hours, 49 minutes, and rode bicycles 100 miles "to show what an American boy can do."

Rundell, 38, said he owns a gymnasium in nearby Lomita. His son, oldest of four brothers and sisters, has been lifting weights since he was four.

Pals Await Folsom Con

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — James A. Fleming, 32, leaves Folsom Prison today to return to the little Oklahoma town where he found refuge and won friends.

Fleming lived the life of "Jim Miller," ex-auto salesman, for two years in Chandler, Okla., before the sheriff spotted his face on a wanted poster.

Chandler, population about 3,200, was shocked, but stood by Fleming, appealing to authorities not to take him back to prison, where he had escaped while serving a robbery term. That was 20 months ago.

Why had he escaped?

"I didn't see any future there," Fleming said in a prison interview.

Things were going well in Chandler for Fleming, who grew up in Chicago's South Side and served prison terms in Kansas and Illinois for auto theft and robbery before coming to California.

Now he can return to Chandler on parole under his true name and with nothing to hide. His old job is waiting for him. So are his friends.

Hoffa Plans Another Bid

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa makes another attempt in federal court today to stay out of prison.

Hoffa is appealing the denial of his motion for a new trial on a jury-tampering charge. The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals hears arguments on the case.

Hoffa also has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court directly to throw out his conviction because the government allegedly tapped his telephone and his lawyers' telephones during the Chattanooga, Tenn., trial. The Justice Department denied that charge last week.

The appeals court gave attorneys for both sides two hours to present their arguments — twice as much time as for most hearings.

Hoffa, who was sentenced to eight years in prison and fined $10,000 after his conviction at Chattanooga in 1964, arrived in Cincinnati Monday night with his legal advisers.

The work consists of the construction of a pre-engineered, pre-fabricated metal building on slab; provision of one main classroom space with office and toilet facilities; provision of sidewalks and site improvements, central heating and air conditioning, and connection to all utilities.

The contractor will be required to begin work within 10 days after receiving notice to proceed and to complete the work within 90 days.

CB Radio Club Has Meeting

The Big Spring Five-Watters CB Club of short wave radio operators heard several reports and talked over plans at the semi-monthly meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the North Birdwell Methodist Church. Reports included the club's participation in the March of Dimes telethon. Ideas were sought by March 6 for decals and member cards. Proposals for a VB News letter as well as a membership drive were discussed. The next meeting will be the same place and time on Feb. 20.

Lindsay Likes Sidewalk Cafes

NEW YORK (AP) — If Mayor John V. Lindsay has his way, there will be many more sidewalk cafes throughout the city.

Licenses Commissioner Joel J. Tyler says Lindsay already has appointed a committee to increase outdoor dining facilities which now number about 50 sidewalk cafes, primarily in Greenwich Village and midtown Manhattan.

Texans Split Over Effect Of Decisions

HOUSTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., makes a final sampling in Houston today of Texas opinion on Supreme Court rulings on the rights of the accused. In his first session Monday he found lawyers and lawmen split over their effect and his suggested remedies.

Bayh's Senate Judiciary subcommittee on constitutional amendments was in Houston for the first of eight sessions away from Washington, to discover if the court has hamstrung prosecutors and investigators by insisting that suspects be told immediately of their rights to silence and counsel.

SILENCE RIGHT

His subcommittee holds a controversial proposal by Sen. Samuel J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to amend the Constitution so that the trial judge has final say on whether an accused person's confessions is voluntary.

Defense lawyer Percy Foreman of Houston told Bayh Monday he opposed police questioning of suspects, but would not object to interrogation by a magistrate.

Though neither Bayh nor other legislators has formally proposed such a system as an alternative to the Ervin resolution, many feel that the plan would require alteration of the Fifth Amendment, which guarantees the accused's right to silence. Several of Foreman's fellow defense lawyers objected to the proposal on that basis.

"I'm surprised that the committee would believe that the Bill of Rights can be amended," said defense laywer Hume Cofer of Austin. "It's as untenable as to say the 13th amendment can be changed . . . slavery re-introduced."

Driver Of Truck Burns To Death

TULIA, Tex. (AP)—A driver burned to death shortly after midnight Monday when his big truck ran off a bridge three miles north of Tulia on US 87, caught fire and exploded.

Authorities tentatively identified him as Charles Robert Willard, employed by a Lubbock trucking firm. The firm's manager said a truck operated by Williard was overdue.

A motorist driving about one mile behind the truck told officers he saw its tail lights disappear and then discovered it had run between two bridges on the divided highway.

The truck dropped about 20 feet and the driver was pinned in the wreckage, which burst into flames. There was an explosion a short time later.

Tulia firemen quenched the blaze. They found the driver burned beyond recognition.

Airliner Hijacked?

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian airliner originally reported to have blown up is safe, Misrair Airline reported today. There were indications that the plane has landed in Jordan after being hijacked.

The plane carried 41 persons —34 Egyptians and seven vacationing Germans.

An airline spokesman hinted at the defection after a report from Amman, Jordan's capital, said an Egyptian plane had landed there piloted by a senior officer of the Egyptian intelligence corps. He was granted asylum.

However, the plane landing there was described as an Ilyushin military plane. The plane reported blown up near the Red Sea was identified by Misrair Airlines as a Soviet-built twin-engine Antonov.

DFC Got Lost In Confusion

EAST WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Merritt Duane Francies is finally getting his Distinguished Flying Cross for helping down a German spotter plane with pistol fire near the end of World War II.

The senator informed Francies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Francies, Monday that the commanding general of the 5th Army would make the presentation in Chicago.

Francies now lives in Keokuk, Iowa.

Heart Fund Drive Set Feb. 25 - 27

Mrs. Morris Robertson, 2806 Clanton, and Mrs. Tom Hammond, 1708 Johnson, will serve as Heart Sunday chairmen of the 1967 Heart Fund campaign, it was announced recently by Dr. J. P. Darby Jr., president of the Howard County Heart Council.

The annual Howard County Heart Fund drive will reach its peak during the three day period, Feb. 25-27, when Heart Sunday volunteers will visit their neighbors to deliver educational information and receive Heart Fund contributions.

"Heart Fund dollars pay off," Darby said. "A good - sized library could be filled by the 20,000 scientific papers, containing previously - unknown information about the cardiovascular system and its disorders, which have been made possible by the 18 Heart Fund campaigns since 1949. Research behind these publications, underwritten by more than $120 million Heart Fund dollars, has speeded virtually every present-day advance in the fight against heart and blood vessel disease. Results now are coming back to the American People."

"Since the onset of massive heart research programs in 1950, with the heart association serving as the world's largest non - governmental source of research support fund, dramatic results have been achieved," he explained. "Among persons aged below 65, there has been a decline of about 15 per cent in the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases. And despite an increase of about five per cent in the death rate from heart attack among men aged 45-64, this age bracket has enjoyed an over-all improvement of about seven per cent in its mortality rate from all heart and circulatory diseases."

"But much remains to be done," he said. "The heart and blood vessel diseases are still responsible for more deaths than all other diseases and causes combined. Research, education and community heart programs of the heart association need support."

Residents wishing to help with the Heart Sunday effort, are urged to call Mrs. Robertson, AM 3-1452, to volunteer.

The girls voted Monday night at a 3½-hour meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria to apply for membership in Local 277 of the Teamsters. Union men were on hand to sign them up.

As a result, the bunnies withdrew their picket line from outside the club on 59th St.

DRENCHED CARNIVAL

Rain — seven inches of it — drenched the carnival city of New Orleans on the eve of its annual big day and forced the evacuation of 150 families who found themselves wading through a foot of water in their living rooms.

Near-freezing temperatures forced New Orleans' shivering beauties to abandon plans to appear in brief costumes. Despite it all, up to a million celebrators were expected to pack the city's central area today.

Weather problems elsewhere were more severe.

WARNINGS POSTED

South of the snow belt, mixtures of snow, sleet and freezing rain made driving difficult from the central regions of the Carolinas to northeast Mississippi. Shriver Credits Local Initiative

AUSTIN (AP) — Sargent Shriver, director of the "War on Poverty," says local initiative has brought success to programs of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Shriver, director of OEO, said his agency "marks a significant watershed in American social action." Opportunities for youth and conservation programs have been created by the OEO, Shriver told a group of Job Corps center operators Monday night.

"Instead of these new opportunity programs being designed in Washington, funded in Washington and operated by federal bureaucrats — they are designed with local initiative," Shriver said.

He called the Job Corps program the first in the nation to provide residential training and education for young men and women. Of 33,000 youth who have completed various levels in the Job Corps, more than 25,000 are in jobs earning an average of $1.71 an hour, he said.

DEAR ABBY

Snooping Is Wrong

DEAR ABBY: What should a 17-year-old girl do when she finds out her mother has been reading her diary? Also, I know she reads the letters I have received after I have put them away. I have lost all faith in her! She has no reason to doubt me. Why does she do this, Abby? How can I prevent her from snooping? LOST FAITH

DEAR LOST: There is nothing you can do except to hide that which you wish to be kept private. A mother who snoops in this manner is in effect admitting that she is incapable of establishing a good mother-daughter relationship — one where there is mutual confidence and respect for privacy.

While I do not condone snooping, if your mother is typical of most snooping mothers, she is probably motivated more by good intentions than nosiness. But she is wrong, wrong, wrong.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is killing me, and I need someone to tell me what to do.

The man I have been living with for nearly two years does not believe in marriage. He says the piece of paper saying you are married doesn't mean anything. We are very, very happy together until I bring up the subject of marriage.

This man had a very bad experience with his first wife. It's not just his word. Everyone who knows her says she was so bad she was unbelievable. But what have I to do with this lady? All women are not the same.

My man is very good to me in all ways, and we love each other very much, but I want to be a respectable married woman. When I mention this to him he walks out of the house and says he will not come back if I keep pushing him. I am thinking of leaving him. Please help me do the right thing.

BELIEVES IN YOU

DEAR BELIEVES: Tell him that either he marries you or you are finished with him. But unless you MEAN it and can stick with your word, don't say it. Let him walk out — and tell him not to come back without a wedding ring. If you lose him — you lose him. But I'd bet in favor of his marrying you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently I read where a number of housewives boycotted the supermarkets to protest their high prices. What they were REALLY protesting was their own laziness. Today, most women can't put a decent meal together without Duncan Hines, Betty Crocker, Birds Eye and Mrs. Stauffer. Naturally if one is going to buy everything already prepared — requiring only thawing and heating, he should expect to pay for it.

I suggest that instead of complaining about the high cost of groceries, those housewives invest a few dollars in a good cook book and learn how to transform raw material into delicious meals.

I bake my own bread for less than I can buy it at the supermarket, and I can put my own "delicious butter sauce" on two pounds of peas for less than I could buy 12 ounces of peas "frozen in butter sauce." Perhaps that is why I am—

STILL A BACHELOR

Packs Early For Reunion

DALLAS (AP) — Cornelia Wieth, 11, started packing in August for a trip that finally ended Monday in a reunion with the mother she hadn't seen in six years.

She's the daughter of Mrs. Joe Moreno, who left Cornelia with relatives in Frankfurt to come to this country with her serviceman husband.

"We tried our best to get her home for Christmas," said Mrs. Moreno. "We'd been working on the papers since July, but somehow her birth certificate had been lost."

To bystanders it appeared that wide-eyed Cornelia and her happy mother still regarded the occasion about like Christmas.

The little girl hurried off an airliner to hugs and kisses from a family which also includes two brothers and a sister, all younger than she.

Regardless of their ages, said Mrs. Moreno, "the other kids feel like they're getting a new baby."

Three-Car Wreck Kills Texas Man

Tiny Harris Quint Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Tiny Talitha Harris, smallest of the four surviving Harris quintuplets, died today of a cardiac arrest following complications of pneumonia.

A spokesman for the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn said the infant died at 4:15 a.m., about 24 hours after she took a turn for the worse.

Her two sisters and a brother were reported in good condition. The quints were born last Wednesday night to a Brooklyn couple. A fifth infant was dead at birth.

A spokesman for the Jewish Hospital of Brooklyn said Monday night the infant, who weighed two pounds, 10 ounces at birth, was breathing irregularly. He said the prognosis was grave.

Intravenous feeding was started and five doctors and four nurses began an around-the-clock watch.

A hospital spokesman said the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Harris, knew of the child's condition. "The mother has received the news very, very sadly," the spokesman said.

Sukarno Ouster Measure Slated

JAKARTA (AP) — A resolution will be presented to the Indonesian Parliament calling for the removal of President Sukarno from office, Parliament sources said today.

The sources added that they expect the resolution to be watered down before it is approved and passed on to Congress, Indonesia's highest legislative body, which is to meet early next month.

One source said the resolution may ask for Sukarno's suspension instead of his dismissal. But the sources said the resolution is aimed at eventually bringing the 65-year-old president to trial on charges of complicity in the attempted Communist coup in October 1965.

Indonesia's military rulers have been working to avert the ouster of the president and to prevent his being tried. A parade of top military men have been calling on Sukarno and urging hhim to withdraw from the presidency before he is dragged down.

TEXANS AT WAR

Herd Of Buffalo Used In Ambush

By The Associated Press

The Viet Cong used a herd of water buffalo to set up an ambush of troop-laden helicopters, recalls Chief Warrant Officer William Browning, a Texan at war.

Browning's unit and two other companies were summoned before dawn to report to Phouc Bien, an outpost near the strategic crossroads village of Dong Xual between North and South Vietnam.

ENEMY MORTARS

His mission was to transport troops into a landing area at Dong Xuai. This was to be the Battle of Dong Xuai, the most fierce of the Vietnam War at that point.

Another helicopter unit went in first.

"The Viet Cong drove a herd of water buffalo onto the front end of the airstrip, forcing the formation to land short," says Browning. Enemy mortars were trained on the area left open.

'IT'S A TRAP'

"It's a trap, it's a trap!" Browning, airborne at the time, heard over the radio moments before a close friend and fellow pilot was shot down.

As his own unit approached, machine gun fire riddled the ships from beneath bridges, hitting a sister helicopter which "just tumbled out of the sky."

Not a single ship escaped bullet damage and many troops were cut down as they disembarked.

"I felt like this might be my last trip," Browning recalls.

But he survived the ambush and now is assigned to the Army's Primary Helicopter Training Center at Ft. Wolters in Mineral Wells.

Browning, 25, is from the tiny oil, ranching and farming South Texas hamlet of Vanderbilt, 20 miles east of Victoria.

Even Mr. Edison would be surprised

Thomas A. Edison predicted great things for electricity and for the electric industry he founded. But if he were alive today, even he would be surprised at the progress that has been made.

He would see many new uses of electricity, such as television, air conditioning and electronic computing, that were only dreams in the minds of visionaries in his time.

He would marvel at giant generating units and ultra high voltage transmission lines that produce and transport electricity with an efficiency and dependability that were not considered possible even a few years ago.

And he would discover that through the use of these and other technological advances, the price of electricity has been kept low, while other prices have gone steadily upward.

Yes, Mr. Edison would be amazed at the growth and development of the industry he founded. And he would be pleased, too, to note electricity's important contributions to progress and better living.

CLAY CONNECTS WITH MOVING TARGET
Champion demonstrates boxing ability in Ernie Terrell bout

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Cassius Eyeing Rosy Future Following Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay, the undisputed heavyweight champion of the world again after humiliating Ernie Terrell in a one-sided 15-round fight, had an easy road ahead of him today in his brilliant fistic career.

Unless the Army gets him first, the all-winning 25-year-old, new Texan, only has mediocre competition ahead of him, the likes of Zora Folley, the scientific if meek No. 2 contender from Chandler, Ariz., Canadian George Chuvalo in a repeat, young Thad Spencer, and possibly — horrors of horrors — Floyd Patterson once more.

"It will be either Zora Folley or George Chuvalo next," said Clay-Muhammad Ali, unmarked as usual, "but I'm sure it's Folley. I think Folley can put up a better fight than Terrell. He's a better boxer."

"I can beat Clay," said the 34-year-old Folley. "I saw plenty of openings."

How would he do it?

"With my two hands," said the soft-spoken Folley, a man of few words.

A Clay-Folley match might be made for New York's Madison Square Garden or Detroit's Olympia, in late March.

Meanwhile Clay is appealing his 1-A draft status, claiming he is a minister of the Black Muslim sect.

Clay, now winner in eight title defenses and six in 11 months, had predicted he would hand the 27-year-old 6-foot-6 Terrell "a Floyd Patterson humiliation beating."

He did just that in half-closing Terrell's left eye, cutting him over the right eye, and pounding him almost at will. He did everything but knock down the lumbering giant, who stumbled about half-blinded from the middle rounds on.

Terrell's vaunted left jab, his main attacking weapon, was completely nullified by the dazzling foot work and head movements of the superbly conditioned Clay.

The three officials had Clay ahead by lop-sided scores. Using the 10-point must system, referee Harry Kessler had it 148-137 (12-2-1 in rounds), judge Jimmie Webb had it 148-133 (13-2 in rounds), and Judge Ernie Taylor 148-137 (13-2 in rounds. The Associated Press card had it 148-137, and 14-1 in rounds, giving Terrell only the second.

"He was disappointing because he just kept holding and clinching all the time, but he had to have great courage to stay in the ring and take a whipping for 15 rounds," said Clay.

"He fought a dirty fight," Terrell contended. "He rubbed my right eye against the ropes and thumbed my left eye so that from the third round on I couldn't see Clay to hit him.

"I kept seeing two or three people."

Terrell was bruised under the left eye in the fourth round, and it puffed his eye to a slit by the end of the tortuous whipping. Big Ernie was cut over the right eye in the seventh round and he lurched about the ring from then on, trying to close in on his elusive, taunting foe, who popped him with both hands and moved like a ballet dancer.

Reserves See Lots Of Action As 'Hawks Triumph, 125-85

By TOMMY HART

Franks Phillips College of Borger, a team with about as much bounce as a 16-pound shotput, came to town Monday night and caught a revved-up HCJC team fresh off a five-game losing streak.

The resident Hawks chewed up the Plainsmen, 125-85, with magnificent ease to achieve their 14th victory, compared to 11 defeats. In Western Conference competition, the Hawks are now 5-2.

Over a period of two years, the Frank Phillips team is carrying a big monkey on its back — 29 defeats in a row.

HCJC so dominated play that coach Buddy Travis was able to play his regulars the first half and his reserves the entire final 20 minutes. The reserves, it turned out, were about as hard to get along with as a snake with a tooth-ache.

Henry Willis played only the first half for HC and scored 24 points. Had he been in there the whole game, he might have set a scoring record for the local school.

Larry Linder did all his playing in the final half for the Hawks and finished with 22 points, far and away his best effort of the season. He proved especially deadly with a jump shot from the side. Larry might have done even better had he not fouled out in the final few minutes.

This was the second straight game the Hawks won by 40 points and was significant in that it marked the third time this season that locals have gone over the 100-point mark. This beat their previous high for the campaign by 11 points.

Five of the locals hit in double figures. Jack Hosley saw no action after the intermission but counted 19 points. Leon Smith and Robbie Lemon each had 10.

Frank Phillips was not without its heroes. Little Dale Dawson banged in 24 points while his brother, Danny, settled for 18. Arville Atherson scored 15.

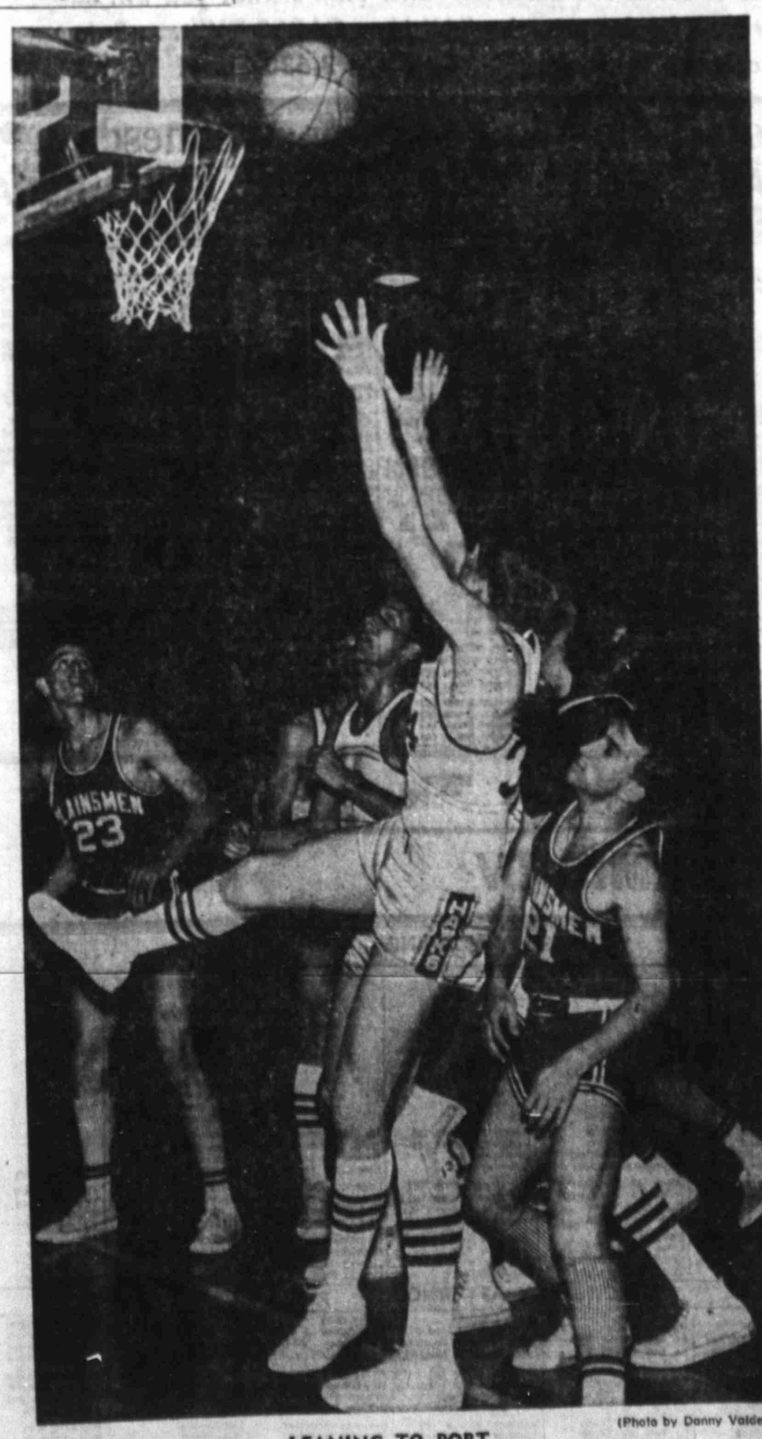

Phillips had no rebounding strength and had to connect on the first shot or automatically go on defense.

The Hawks get a big test Thursday night, at which time they will go to Lubbock to oppose LCC. The Chaparrals are always tough on their home court.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

CHRIS PELEKOUDAS, umpire in the National baseball league:

"I had ambition to be a major league baseball player but I couldn't hit the curve. Now some people think I can't call one, either."

* * * *

MICKEY MANTLE

CHARLEY SHIRA, new head coach at Mississippi State:

"My first aim, with the team, is to establish a winning attitude at Mississippi State. My offensive thinking will go along the lines of what we ran at Texas. I like the "I" formation if it fits your personnel. You need a good quarterback and a good runner at tailback. But, then, you need that at any formation. Actually, personnel and execution are what wins for you. I may not have all the answers for winning at Mississippi State, but football is a lot like engineering. If you work long and hard enough, you can come up with the answer to the problem."

* * * *

TOM FEARS, new head coach of the New Orleans Saints of the NFL:

"Will I be the Vince Lombardi type? No. I think they broke the pattern after Lombardi. He's a great coach and I feel very fortunate to have been associated with him. I will probably emulate him in many ways, and I've learned a lot from him."

* * * *

JOHN MECON, owner of the Saints, interjecting a thought about Fears and Lombardi:

"You know, when you try to copy someone, you can only come out second best."

* * * *

JIM MURRAY, Los Angeles scribe:

"Rick Barry ranks second in popularity in San Francisco only to the five o'clock martini, another deadly shooter. He's an Irish hero in an Irish city which had ranked pro basketball as a spectator sport second only to seal-watching . . . His free throw form looked like a guy lifting an anvil . . . He was so spindly you could clean rifles with him. But he's also so tall you need a bosun's chair to give him a haircut."

* * * *

MILTON GROSS, New York columnist:

"Mickey Mantle continues to play, even being fitted for a basket glove, because he can't afford not to. After all these years and all the money he's made, Mantle is not broke, but he's lived high and lived big and not always wisely. Too many of the investments he made over the years went bad. Only a few weeks ago, Whitey Ford left me with the impression that Mantle's not rolling in it . . . During the last couple of seasons he's said many times, 'I wish I could afford to quit, but I can't' and maybe that's the shame of the whole project, conceived with noble purpose, but possibly one that could damage Mantle's image and his legs more, while the memory of what used to be presumably is being preserved by the last place Yankees. It's somewhat pathetic."

* * * *

DICK PEEBLES, Houston scribe:

"For the third time in history, the U.S. Open Golf championship will be played in Texas when the Champions Golf Club (in Houston) hosts the 1969 divot digging clambake. Considering the fact that Texans have won an average of one of every eight Opens, and one of every three since 1937, you might say it is about time the U.S. Golf Assn., has seen fit to play its blue ribbon event in the Lone Star State. But there's always the torrid Texas June heat to consider and also that clubs must bid for the Open. In some instances the USGA would have been happy to award the Open to Texas if it could have found some club willing to undertake the tremendous job of staging the championship. Many clubs want no part of playing host to the national championship because of all the work and the inconveniences involved."

Steers And 'Dogs Vie Here Tonight

Don McDonald sends his Big Spring Steers out against the Midland High Bulldogs in an 8 o'clock 2-AAAA basketball game in the local gymnasium this evening.

The Longhorns are dormie in the conference race. They must win their remaining three games and the Abilene High Eagles must lose their three for the locals to even tie for first place.

That appears unlikely to happen. However, the Steers can set a school record for total number of victories by winning two of their remaining starts. After tonight, the Bovines play Abilene High and San Angelo in that order.

Midland has the rangiest ball club in the district and some excellent shooters in boys like Mike Mason and Jody Mayes. The Bulldogs are coached by Jay Spears. They could tie Big Spring for third place in the standings by winning tonight and would have the satisfaction of having beaten the Steers twice this year.

When the two teams met previously in Midland, the Bulldogs won in the fourth overtime period, 75-73.

Probable starters for the Big Springers tonight are Richard Green, Danny Clendenin, Wayne Johnson, Charley Tubbs and Robert Jackson.

Midland is apt to go with Mason, Cecil Jennings, Robert Jackson, Cleve Mackey and Mayes.

B teams of the two schools square away at 6:15 p.m.

We're Sorry
Big Spring Cable TV proudly purchased closed circuit television rights on the Clay-Terrell fight as a bonus service to its patrons Monday evening.
Unfortunately, telephone pickup equipment at Aledo failed. Not until near the end of the fight was service restored, and then not of the quality we require. We apologize to our patrons and other friends for this unavoidable disappointment.

Bill Filed For Abolishing County Superintendent Post

A bill proposing the abolition of the job of county school superintendent in Howard County has been introduced in the Texas House of Representatives. Rep. Temple Dickson, Sweetwater, who serves Howard County, is author of the bill.

The measure comes as a result of campaign promises projected into last year's county school superintendent's race by both the Republican and Democratic candidates.

Walker Bailey, incumbent Democratic candidate, who defeated Mrs. Judith Spencer, his Republican opponent, said today that the bill, insofar as he knows, is not at his immediate suggestion.

"I proposed and discussed the idea with Dickson," said Bailey, "but I have had no further conversation with him on the matter since the campaign."

HAS NOT SEEN

Bailey said he would like to see a copy of the proposal. He pointed out that there are numerous variations in such measures. Some, he said, carry the emergency clause which would speed up the bill's date of activity. Others do not have the emergency clause. Some specify a date when the office shall expire; others stipulate that the expiration date falls on the day the bill becomes operative.

The "bracket" bill introduced in the house by Rep. Dickson applies to "all counties having a population of not less than 40,000 and not more than 40,500." Howard County had a 1960 census of 40,139 and is the only Texas county which would match the description set up in the bill.

DISTRICTS FADE

The abolition of the office of county superintendent was projected when the last of the county's once numerous common schools disappeared a few years ago. The consolidation of the Vealmoor Common School with the Borden County Independent School District, was the end of the common schools in the county. The county superintendent's office responsibility was largely delegated to the handling of common school affairs. However, as Bailey points out, the office has other functions which must go on even if the office per se is abolished.

Reports said that the bill Rep. Dickson introduced would delegate these duties to the county judge.

Such a plan has been followed in other counties where the office has been eliminated. Generally the county judge is allowed an increase in compensation to pay him for his extra duties.

Apparently no copy of the bill has been received here.

ELECTION ISSUE

Mrs. Spencer, the Republican candidate for the office, angled her campaign on the premise that if elected she would launch a drive to have the office abolished. Bailey, who has been county superintendent for more than two decades, countered with a similar proposal. Bailey was re-elected for a four year term and assumed his new duties on Jan. 1.

In some cases the abolition of an office of this nature does not become effective until expiration of the term of the superintendent. However, a way is open by legislative procedure to designate the time such abolition may be made effective.

The bill, it is said, will be sent to the committee on education where a hearing will be set. Usually bills of this nature are approved by the legislature without fanfare.

Publisher Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph A. Dear, 44, president of Dear Publication and Radio, Inc., died Monday of an acute viral infection. President of the National Press Club in 1964, Dear published newspapers in Wheaton, Ill., Elizabeth City, N.C., Sedalia, Mo., and Henderson, Ky.

Morgenthau, Ex-Treasury Chief, Dies

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Morgenthau Jr., whose long service as secretary of the treasury under Franklin D. Roosevelt was marked by controversy and accomplishment, is dead at the age of 75.

Morgenthau, who had the job of raising funds for World War II and whose interests in foreign affairs brought him into several controversies, died Monday night at the Vassar Brothers Hospital after a long illness.

He served as secretary of the treasury from January 1934, until July 1945, when he resigned with some bitterness from the Cabinet of President Harry S. Truman three months after Roosevelt died. He held the nation's top fiscal post longer than any other man except Albert Gallatin, who served for more than 12 years in the early 1800s.

AXED BY HST

Morgenthau said shortly after his resignation that he had hoped to serve until the victory over Japan, which was won a month after he stepped down. He said he had been asked by Truman to retire.

Truman recalled in his memoirs published in 1955 that he had thought poorly of the so-called Morgenthau plan for Germany under which postwar Germany would have been stripped of her industry and reduced to the status of a third- or fourth-class agricultural nation. This was initialed at the second Quebec conference in 1944, but dropped later.

Truman related in his memoirs that Morgenthau asked to go with the President to the Potsdam conference with Britain and the Soviet Union.

NEEDED AT HOME

Truman said he replied that the secretary of the treasury was needed more at home than in Potsdam. Truman wrote that Morgenthau "replied that it was necessary for him to go and that if he could not, he would have to quit."

Truman said he told him: "If that is the way you feel, I'll accept your resignation right now."

In his 11 years as secretary, Morgenthau served as chief financial officer of an administration that spent more money than any other up to its time and that intervened more actively in the financial markets of the world than all of its predecessors together.

For 30 years, Morgenthau was Roosevelt's confidant. His farm adjoined Roosevelt's at Hyde Park, N.Y., and they became friends as fellow farmers. As a boy, Morgenthau had refused to follow his wealthy father into finance, preferring farming instead. The father made a fortune in New York real estate.

Morgenthau's first wife, the former Elinor Fatman, died in 1949. He married Mrs. Marcello Puthon Hirsch of New York in 1951. She survives him.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Suggests Steps To Make 'Bird' Street Area Safer

To The Editor:

It is unfortunate that it took the deaths of little Betty Sue and Vicki Ann Garrison to compel me to write a letter I wanted to write a long time ago. I, too, have two little girls, ages three and two, and I know I have shared, until recently, all the goals in life for them with Airman Garrison and his daughters. I hope sincerely that the tragedy which struck less than a week ago will not be soon forgotten; rather that adequate and immediate attention will serve to remedy the cause of that heart - breaking event.

I live one block away from the Garrisons, on the corner of Robin Street and FM 700. On two separate occasions I have found one of my daughters in the middle of FM 700, even though our yard is surrounded by a fence. But for some twist of fate, Vicki and Betty Sue could have been mine.

I have a response, though certainly not the only solution. FM 700 enters the area of the "bird" streets from a blind curve around the East Gate of Webb Air Force Base. The speed limit around Scenic Mountain is 45 mph, reduceable to 30 mph just prior to the curve. Most people speed around the mountain and use the one mile "bird" street stretch to slow from 60 to 40. This has been evidenced by the death of three dogs and two cats right beside my house. I recommend a speed limit of 20 mph with an operational "flasher" light at the curve during school hours, since Airport School is just beyond the next curve.

Secondly, I recommend sidewalks. This area is heavily populated by pre-school and school-age children, and sidewalks would dispel the danger of getting too close to FM 700, especially for those who walk to Airport School. Those who wait for the bus must stand near the highway, and in the evenings depart the bus, at times which coincide with rush hour traffic from the base.

And as a last suggestion I recommend small bus stop houses in which school children may await the bus. Again they will be away from a busy street. There is ample room on either side of FM 700 for these houses, and they can be designed to be attractive as well as functional.

Certainly the City Council can accept the credibility of these ideas. The cost of implementing them should be far less expensive than the lives of any more children.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	4 ♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

A shrewd false-card by West diverted South from his true course, and led to the upset of the latter's four heart contract.

The auction was sound. North opened the bidding with one diamond and South, whose holding consisted of a semi-solid heart suit and no outside strength, made the proper response of four hearts. This call shows about seven winners, inasmuch as the opening bidder is expected to produce three.

West opened the jack of spades, dummy covered with the queen and East played the ace. West won the spade return and shifted to the ten of diamonds which was taken by North's king.

A heart was led on which East discarded a spade. Since there was no way to shut out the king, South played the ten from his hand and West was in again. The nine of diamonds was led and declarer put up dummy's ace.

South's sole concern was to reenter his hand so that he might complete the drawing of trump. In order to accomplish this end, he cashed the ace of clubs, intending to ruff the next round of that suit.

When the ace of clubs was led, West threw a monkey wrench into the proceedings by dropping the king, to make it appear that he held a singleton. Declarer now feared that, if he played a second club, he would be subjected to an overruff if he trumped with a small heart. On the other hand, if he ruffed with the ten of hearts it would establish an additional trick for West.

Declarer finally decided to rely on the hope that his opponent had a third diamond and he came off dummy with the three of diamonds. South ruffed with a small heart and West overruffed for the setting trick.

Observe that West's alert false-card of the king of clubs has nothing to lose, for by the time the ace of clubs is cashed—South's hand is revealed to consist of eight hearts, two spades, two diamonds and, therefore, only one club. By the same token, declarer may conclude that West has available a complete count of his holding, and that the king of clubs may not be a true play.

It seems reasonable to assume, however, that if West had followed suit with the seven of clubs, South would have attempted to reenter his hand by ruffing a club instead of the diamond.

Atomic Bomb Blast Called Big Mistake

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The World War II atomic bomb attack on Japan was a mistake, Dr. Edward Teller told a University of Notre Dame audience Monday night.

"We now have documents which show that Japan was ready to accept surrender without our dropping the atomic bomb," said the scientist who is known as the father of the hydrogen bomb.

Teller, now professor at large with the University of California, said the documents indicated the Japanese government dispatched an envoy with secret instructions to Moscow to accept conditions for surrender.

Teller also said that instead of a ground explosion "killing 100,000 people," the United States could have detonated an atomic bomb in the air.

Prowlers Are Investigated

Two prowlers and one obscene call were reported to police during the night.

Mrs. Bonnie Soles, 4208 Calvin, reported a prowler who was gone when police arrived.

Mrs. Billy Smith, 305 E. 10th, reported a man was trying to get into her house. A nearby police unit arrived at the house and a man was seen running from the alley.

A woman in the 1800 block of Scurry, said she had received an obscene call, which police are checking.

Jackie Attends 'Don Giovanni'

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, on an unannounced visit, attended the opening of the Boston Opera Company's production of "Don Giovanni" Monday night.

Priest Swats Church Thief

CHICAGO (AP) — A burglar hadn't reckoned on meeting two priests when he entered the rectory of St. Brendan's Roman Catholic Church.

The Revs. William J. Quinlan and Gerald Millan surprised the man on the second floor of the rectory Monday.

Father Millan, who stands about 6 feet 4, struggled with the burglar, Father Quinlan said, while he grabbed a baseball bat and swatted the intruder a few times.

The priests said the man dropped the wallet and watch he was holding, leaped out the window into a snowdrift and fled.
