Willkie Says He Will Keep U. S. Soldiers Out Of Europe

Britain Must Be Aided, Declares GOP Candidate

Three Questions Are Propounded In St. Louis Talk

By WILLIAM B. ARBERY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, declaring that American soldiers should not be sent to Europe again, expressed the opinion tonight that "if you re-elect the third term candidate, they will be sent."

Addressing a cheering crowd which filled the 20,000 seats in the St. Louis arena, Willkie revised a portion of his text to declare:

"We can say with the utmost confidence, standing here in the center

CAMPAIGN FROM NOW ON

PETERSBURG, Oct. 17. (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said today he, a Republican, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, will "campaign from now on" in behalf of their respective candidacies.

of America, we do not want to send our boys over there again. We cannot and we must not undertake to maintain by arms the peace of Europe.

Will Not Send Them Over

"If you elect me president, I will not send them over; by the same token, I believe that if you re-elect the third term candidate, they will be sent."

The Republican presidential nominee also argued that "production is the road to peace" and said that "we must produce more and more and more" in order to aid Great Britain.

Before beginning his prepared address, Willkie brought cheers from the crowd by declaring that he had "ended two of the most ridiculous poses ever assumed on or off the American stage — the third term draft and the make believe military inspection trip."

Asks FDR 3 Questions

He said in an extemporaneous statement that Chairman Edward J. Flynn of the Democratic national committee had announced that President Roosevelt would make five political speeches.

"Now since the third term candidate is shown in his true role," Willkie said, "I would like to ask him three questions:

"First, if he won't discuss a third term, what does he think about a

Germans Boast New Air Defense Weapon

BERLIN, Oct. 17 — Germany boasted a new air defense weapon — a super searchlight to blind nocturnal British fliers—while reports of havoc wrought by the incessant bombardment of England piled up tonight.

DNB, official German news agency, claimed for the light a sort of candle-and-moth attraction.

So blinding are its rays, DNB said, that the light seems to make an attacking plane fly directly into German defense positions and anti-aircraft guns.

The light was used successfully last night against a British bomber over the Dutch coast, the agency declared, and it was shot down in flames.

Biochemists Say They Can Feed Man A Year On $1.80

(By The United Press)

BOSTON, Oct. 17—Two formulas, either of which reportedly would feed a person properly at a yearly cost of $1.80, may be offered to the United States government, it was learned today.

Dr. Robert S. Harris of Massachusetts Institute of Technology announced the formulas yesterday in a paper presented at the 77th annual meeting of the New England Dental society. He said the preparations, developed by himself and other technology biochemists, were virtually complete foods.

Dr. Harris denied a published report that the formulas had been presented to the federal government or to the British government.

The formulas:

No. 1. A 20-gram preparation of skim milk powder, whole wheat meal, solvent soybean meal and a concentrate of all necessary vitamins except vitamin C.

No. 2. A 20-gram formula of oats, corn, wheat, skim milk and a concentrate of all necessary vitamins except vitamin C.

Dr. Harris said the preparations resembled corn flakes and were eaten like cereals. Two ounces of tomato juice daily, he said, would supply the vitamin C deficiency.

Asserting that the mixtures were "more or less a medicine," he doubted that they ever would replace the normal human diet.

Snyder will introduce winners of awards and will present prizes between halves of the football game. Awards will be given to the parents with the most children in Tech, those who have had the largest number in college since the institution opened, and parents coming the greatest distance for Parents' day.

Members of Alpha Phi Omega, Boy Scout fraternity, will serve as guides for parents wishing to tour the campus during the day.

Mother Files Protest

Her Son's Hair Blonde

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—Brig. Gen. J. Walt Page, Texas director of selective service registration, today sought validity to appease a mother offended by action of one of the Texas draft boards yesterday.

Her protest reached the adjutant general's office here where the state staff corps is handling details. It was that her son was classified as having light brown hair.

His hair is blonde, she insisted.

Church Session Ends Thursday

Closing session of the Texas Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church was conducted here Thursday night.

A supper and installation of officers of the Synodic Cabinet highlighted the pre-adjournment gathering. The session started Tuesday. Original plans were for the meeting to end this morning.

Next meeting of the Synod is scheduled for Oct. 14, 1941 in Oak Grove, Arcadia, La.

Former Pastor Introduced

Elected chairman of the Synodic Cabinet was Rev. N. A. Woychauk of Dawson. Miss Mildred Hardwick of Dallas, was named president. Serving as chairman in absence of the regular holder of that office until the above were named was Rev. T. J. Tanner of San Antonio.

Highlight of the final evening session was the introduction of all former pastors of the Lubbock church who were present. Rev. Carl C. Durbin, host pastor here, introduced Rev. J. L. Elliott of Denton, who organized the Lubbock church in 1908 with seven members. In order of service were presented Rev. Collins, retired and Rev. O. N. Baucom of Denton. Following the installation, Rev. Woychauk took charge and conducted a praise and testimony service followed by a special offering. Rev. Brown Welch of Garden City, spoke on Romans 3:22, "For All Have Sinned and Come Short of the Glory of God."

After reading of the minutes, the session was adjourned.

Supper Program Preserves

Concluding program of the three-day meeting was inaugurated with a supper at which special entertainment was presented. Approximately 70 were registered for the supper.

Rev. S. Q. Proctor of Overton, was toastmaster for the occasion. Welcome was extended by Bezell Fewell, response by R. S. Smith, both of Fort Worth. Highlights of the program were a solo by Rudolph Renfer of Dallas, "Why Should He Love Me So?," a duet by Rev. Alister Sinclair of Fort Worth and Rev. Woychauk, and a poem and skit by Rev. M. P. Allen of Olney.

Man Given Suspended Term At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 17. (AP) — O. L. Hickey, pump station engineer, was given a five-year suspended sentence today by a district court jury for the slaying of S. B. Bell last Jan. 22 near Electra.

Bell was shot five times with a small caliber rifle in an oil field pump station. Hickey testified he picked up his rifle and began shooting when Bell advanced on him with a poker in his hand.

Demo Leader Is Asked To Give His Evidence

McCormack Says GOP Is To Spend $30,000,000

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—A charge by Representative John W. McCormack (Mass) the House Democratic leader, that $30,000,000 would be spent on a "hate Roosevelt movement" before election day brought him an invitation today to submit supporting evidence to the Senate campaign investigating committee.

McCormack's charges against the "Republican National committee and the various Willkie groups" were made in a letter to the Senate committee. He enclosed what he said was a copy of an advertisement by an Englewood, Ill., bank which stated that "in a last stand for democracy every director and officer of this bank will cast his vote for Wendell Willkie."

Part Of Vast Scheme

The House Democratic leader said that the advertisement was part of a vast scheme to evade federal acts by "flooding the country with paid advertisements, ostensibly inserted by private interests, but in reality arranged and paid for by officials allied with the various financial groups, who, unable to control President Roosevelt, are using their tremendous wealth to try and defeat him."

Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) said that the Senate committee would try "to determine whether the Willkie statement in the bank advertisement constituted a political contribution."

The statement appeared at the bottom of an advertisement on the condition of the First National Bank of Englewood.

In asking a Senate investigation,

Warning Issued Axis By Turks

(By The Associated Press)

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 17—The official Turkish radio said in a broadcast tonight that if the axis powers attempt to drive through Turkey or Greece to Egypt and the Suez canal they will find that Turkey "resembles neither Holland, Belgium nor France."

The commentator accused Germany and Italy of trying to conquer Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece by various methods and said they had demanded that Greece give up her British guarantee or "she will be made to regret it."

Ministers Are Received

Premier-Dictator John Metaxas of Greece received the German and Italian ministers at Athens today, the broadcast said, but failed to say what happened.

Commenting on the movement of German troops into Rumania, it asserted:

"In case of an Italian attack upon Greece, in which Bulgaria might later join, Germany may wish to have a strategic point of advantage from which to check a Russian move.

Seems Far Fetched

"Finally, it may be planned to get to Egypt and the Suez through Greece and Turkey. This last possibility seems to us far-fetched, because it is extremely difficult.

"Our resistance in the Dardanelles in the last war is recalled and there is no doubt our resistance this time will be even stronger."

In view of Turkey's defiant stand, considerable significance was seen in a conference planned here shortly by British Balkan diplomats with Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, ambassador to Turkey, their host.

The British minister to Bulgaria already is here and envoys from Yugoslavia and Greece are on the way.

Curing War Wounds By Plaster Revealed

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP) — A dramatic new method of curing air raid and war wounds by use of plaster was demonstrated to the New York Academy of Medicine today.

The plaster immobilizes the wound, covers it so that it can be neither moved nor dressed after the first time, keeps infection out and by enforced rest for weeks produces some near miracle recoveries.

This technique was announced as the greatest contribution to wound care since the first world war showed how to keep down infection by "debridement" and the Carrel-Dakin antiseptic solution.

Scripture Quotation For Oct. 16 Is Noted

CINCINNATI, Oct. 17 (AP)—Long before a conscription law was thought of, publicly at least, a Cincinnati mortician distributed 1940 calendars. Thereon was printed a scripture quotation for each day of the month.

That for Oct. 16—draft registration day—was:

"Many are called, but few are chosen."

Burma Road Is Reopened By British In Defiance Of Axis; Japan Threatens Bombings

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Oct. 18. (Friday) China's trucks of war are rolling again on the Burma road under the threat of imminent Japanese bombardment.

At the stroke of midnight traffic was resumed across the border with British-controlled Burma after a three-month closure by the British in a futile appeasement gesture toward Japan.

Instead of using the three months to seek a settlement of the three-year-old China war—or "China incident" as the Japanese call it—Japan won, with pressure on Indo China, nearer bases for an aerial offensive against China and the great highway.

Only Two Hours Away

Now Japanese heavy bombers are only two hours at most from the Burma road at their Hanoi base.

The Japanese have threatened to close the road with bombs.

Facing this possibility, Chinese labor squads were drawn up at strategic points under orders to reconstruct as fast as the Japanese could destroy. As added measures of defense, Chinese will travel spaced apart and chiefly at night.

Lifeline Of Central Government

Once again the road, an improvement of the ancient "silk trail" which Marco Polo traversed in the 13th century, shook under the heavy tires of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's motor transport, bringing in the supplies necessary to carry on against Japan and taking out the exports to pay for them.

The Burma road, virtually the last lifeline of the central Chinese government, makes up less than half of a 2,000-mile trade route connecting the Burmese seaport of Rangoon with the Yangtze river. It runs from the Burmese railhead at Lashio to Kunming, southwestern China, where an extension carries it on to Chungking, the Chinese capital.

Coolies Improve Highway

The three-month closing gave China's coolie corps time to improve surfacing of the highway, widen it on the curves and reduce the grades.

Francis K. Pan, director general of the Chinese national transportation administration, said about 1,600 trucks would operate. All are American-made except 300 British lorries. Capacities range from two and one-half to six tons.

"Considerable amounts of the outgoing cargoes are destined for the United States and Russia," Pan said.

London Suffers 41st Air Raid

TOUCH OF GRIM HUMOR

LONDON, Oct. 17. (AP)—A touch of grim humor crept into a government communique tonight.

"It will be observed," the communique said, "that the German high command communique admits the loss of only two aircraft in Wednesday's raids on England. The four German aircraft destroyed are to be found near Harwich, Bishops Stortsford, Denby and Frome."

Thursday, stabbed at the city by dark in small groups or singly.

Air-wary Britons, however, anticipated heavier onslaughts, later in the morning.

Anti-Aircraft Guns Bark

Reaching up for the Nazis, the British "ack ack" guns at times fired with a crashing roll that echoed through the deserted streets.

The Germans also harassed Liverpool, where a hospital annex and several houses were wrecked or set afire.

The daylight raids, setting off five alarms in the capital, lengthened the roster of civilian dead.

Cathedral Is Struck

The deanery of Canterbury cathedral, ancient home of British religious tradition, was damaged by bombs in an afternoon raid, but the old church itself as the ministry of home security put it, "happily suffered no harm."

The Germans appeared tonight in the familiar setting, coming in very high to feel their way through the anti-aircraft barrage. Now and then, the shudder of an exploding bomb was felt in the city.

During the day hundreds of warplanes had been flung at the aerial line of defense drawn by British

First Draftees To Be Called To Army Camps On Nov. 18

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Secretary Stimson disclosed a conscription schedule today which would call 800,000 men to the colors by next June 15 and added that beyond that date "only God and Hitler" know what will be the conditions that govern the rate at which the men will be summoned to service.

The first group of draftees, a contingent of 30,000, will be sent to the training camps about Nov. 18, he said, adding 60,000 would go on Dec. 2; 60,000 on Jan. 3; 90,000 on Jan 15; 160,000 on Feb. 10; 200,000 and March 5, and 200,000 on June 15.

At the same time, the cabinet officer said Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, had been misled into making statements that were neither fair nor accurate" on the provision of housing for the troops. A "great majority" of the new housing facilities planned for an army of 1,200,000 would be ready by Dec. 15, he added.

Stimson also told of plans for forming two new armored divisions next June, the third and fourth of that type toward an ultimate goal of ten. One will have its headquarters

SURE CAN REGISTER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—State selective service directors were instructed tonight not to classify as "delinquents" those men who failed to register for the draft yesterday but who voluntarily report to their local boards during the next designated period. The lottery is scheduled between Oct. 29 and Nov. 1.

at Pine Camp, N. Y., and the other at Camp Beauregard, La., he said, and each will consist of about 11,500 men. He announced that a $6,000,000 contract had been let for new housing at Pine Camp.

To Call Many Guardsmen

As the conscription program gets into full swing, National Guard units not yet mobilized are to be called to active duty.

Stimson said that eight divisions and some other units of guardsmen—about 126,000 officers and men all told—would be mobilized between January 3 and January 19. He did not say which units these were.

Remaining national guardsmen, about 4,000 in all, will be called on February 3.

About 95,700 guardsmen already are in camps for a year's training.

Figures Above Expectations

Under war department plans, conscripted men will be distributed among regular army and National Guard units for training.

Preliminary figures indicated that the total draft registration was about 250,000 above expectations.

Some 16,404,000 men had been expected to present themselves for possible military training, but with state after state reporting more registrations than had been estimated for it, the grand total was revised upward to about 16,654,000. Officials said it would be four or five days before the exact total was known.

Dystra Takes Office

Meanwhile, Clarence A. Dystra, president of the University of Wisconsin, reached the city, took the oath of office as director of selective service, conferred with President Roosevelt and told reporters:

"The news is that the registration went off more than happily—with enthusiasm. It shows the ability of a great democracy to rise to an occasion of this kind."

Registration day had revealed, he said, that "those who thought we

Draft Officials Prepare Cards; Total Is 9,000

Conscription activity for Lubbock's two draft boards today centers on the shuffling of registrars' cards and preparations for the more important work of posting order numbers when they are received, preparatory to Lubbock county's sending away its first contingent of civilian soldiers.

A revised tally for Lubbock county draftees stands at 9,000 even. The city of Lubbock alone contributed 6,292 of those young men between 21 and 36 years of age who may be eligible for a year's active training.

First Call In November

Figures were released by Ed D. Allen, county clerk, who reported that delayed returns from Boston, Posey, Abernathy and 31 members of the CCC camp here had boosted the Lubbock county total to what might be considered more than half a division—measured on European countries' yardstick of a division including slightly less than 15,000 men.

First call for draftees will be issued in November, the lottery to determine the first persons called to be conducted in Washington sometime between October 26 and November 2.

Instructions Stressed

Lubbock's draft boards, No. 1 established in the Myrick building, No. 2 on the third floor of the courthouse, warned that "it is up to the names and numbers to keep up with the draft boards' actions." Instructions along this line are contained in the information bulletins issued to all persons registered.

The government does not write individual members of the new army. It writes the draft board, and the draft board posts names and numbers.

Revised Figures Given

Officials in the county clerks' office were running in circles for a while Thursday afternoon. A wire from the office of the state director of the selective service informed the two local boards not to number their

Conference Between Lewis, FDR Is Held

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—An early forenoon conference between President Roosevelt and John L. Lewis aroused speculation tonight as to possible political implications, but neither offered any explanation.

The CIO leader visited the White House soon after the president finished his breakfast and talked with Mr Roosevelt for about a half hour.

LENDABLE MONEY INCREASES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP) — Lendable money in Federal Reserve banks increased by $50,000,000 in the past week, the Federal Reserve board announced today. This sent the total of excess reserves in member banks to $6,870,000,000. The increase was largely attributable to treasury deposits of $116,000,000.

That Ain't The Way We Heered It, Pals

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—The official Rome radio, in an English-language broadcast picked up here by NBC tonight, thus described registration day in the United States:

"On the occasion of the beginning of the registration of the young men who are fit for compulsory military service, a demonstration was organized in the United States against those in favor of war.

"Crowds of demonstrators carrying banners with the words 'We Don't Want War' written on them went past the recruiting offices. Several organizers of these parades have been arrested."

Radio Gets Share Of Blame For Human Race Losing A Portion Of Its Sense Of Hearing

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—When bigger sounds are produced the human race will produce them—and probably lose its sense of hearing in the process.

This is how Dr. C. P. Boner, University of Texas physics professor, views the future, unless regulations are imposed to hold the intensity of sound below the 130 decibel level, the "lid" at which sound causes physical pain in the ear.

And noise is on the ascendancy, says Dr. Boner who cites put-put motorbikes the increased horsepower of automobiles and louder horns necessitated by higher street noises.

Because of these and similar factors the ears have grown to expect more sound. Witness the wiring of churches and classrooms because people complain they cannot hear otherwise.

This is in indication of a rapid change, he says.

The radio, too, gets a share of the blame.

Princeton Senior Has Quite A Time Trying To Figure Out Whether To Register Or Not

(By The Associated Press)

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 17—Here's a draft poser.

If you, an American citizen, were born in China on October 17, 1919, were you required to register in the United States on October 16, 1940?

Seems easy, but remember that when it is October 17 in China, it is only October 16 in the United States, so should you or should you not register?

That problem faced J. Sterling Hutcheson, Princeton senior from Houston, Texas. On the advice of Allen C. Hutcheson, his brother and a Houston lawyer, Hutcheson decided that he had not reached his 21st birthday as required in the compulsory military training act, and therefore would not be allowed to register.

"The question, therefore," wrote his brother in what amounted to a brief on the problem, "is whether you should operate under Chinese time or American time. It would be a little hard, if you were born when it was October 16 in the

Manufacturers' Leader Says Defense Sidetracked

Resignation Of Hillman Asked

(By The United Press)

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—H. W. Prentis, jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, charged today that the Roosevelt administration is sidetracking national defense through "extra legal maneuvers" designed to extend its labor reforms without the approval of Congress.

"If defense does not come first now," he warned, "the nation may come last later."

Attacks Handily Of Defense

Speaking before more than 1,000 New England industrialists at the 25th anniversary convention of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, Prentis attacked the administration's handling of defense, centering his fire on Sidney Hillman, labor member of the National Defense Advisory commission.

The N. A. M. head, calling for Hillman's resignation as an officer of the C. I. O. during his service on the defense commission, condemned the labor leader's recent proposal that any firm found guilty of unfair labor practices be blacklisted from defense contracts.

Hillman's proposal, subsequently turned down by the U. S. Comptroller General, "means that foreign agents, agitators and saboteurs in any plant, by producing a labor disturbance and securing a favorable decision from a biased labor board, could seriously disrupt national defense," Prentis said.

While endorsing the work of the defense advisory commission, Prentis insisted that its scope and powers were too limited to cope with the "entrenched, slow practices of government bereaucracy."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Thinks His Father Is Greatest President The U. S. Has Ever Had; Defends Elliott's Captaincy

(By The United Press)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., thinks his father is the greatest president the U. S. ever had.

"Yes, of all time," young Roosevelt emphasized today upon his arrival here to address a meeting of Young Democrats.

"He has seen problems in America and done something about them," the 26-year-old son of the president said.

He expressed irritation with what he called "unfair" criticism on the recent army corps captaincy given his brother, Elliott.

"Now there is something that gets me mad," Franklin, jr., exclaimed. "I think singling out a boy just because his father happens to be president of the United States is grossly unfair. There have been lots of commissions just like this. I think the army answered for him very well."

He apparently referred to the army's refusal to accept Elliott's resignation from the air corps.

He said that the comments of Columnist Hugh Johnson on the captaincy appointment were "disgraceful" and "a misrepresentation of facts."

NAVY DAY PROCLAIMED

U. S. Marines Open Up Recruiting Office

Office has been established in room No. 1, federal building, by Sgt. Lon F. Rowlett of the U. S. marine corps recruiting service with headquarters in Oklahoma City, who announced that he will remain in Lubbock until noon Saturday.

He is here, he said, to give preliminary examinations to men between the ages of 18 and 31 desiring to sign for four-year enlistments in the corps. Final examinations will be given in Oklahoma City, round trip transportation being guaranteed to those passing the preliminary tests. Those accepted will be assigned to the marine corps training base in San Diego, Calif., Rowlett said.

German Pamphlets Dropped On England

LONDON, Oct. 17. (U.P.)—German pamphlets dropped on British soil last night attacked Prime Minister Winston Churchill as a "gangster," it was revealed tonight.

The pamphlets charged he was carrying on "an absolutely criminal form of warfare."

They carried reproduction of a recent photograph of Churchill showing him puffing a cigar, holding a tommy gun and wearing a narrow-brimmed derby.

The photograph was captioned: "Wanted for incitement to murder."

Lubbock Schools Show Increase

At the close of the first month of school, enrollment for the Lubbock Public schools showed an increase of 206 over the same period for a year ago, according to a report in the office of Dr. W. B. Irvin, superintendent. Total for the first month was 6,286. A year ago it was 6,080.

By schools the enrollment was: Senior High, 1321; Junior High, 1299; Dupre, 621; K. Carter, 623; George M. Hunt, 505; Central Ward, 434; S ders, 337; George R. Bean, 317; Roscoe Wilson, 293; Southwest Ward, 11; Guadalupe, 142; Dunbar, 383.

Rodeo Clown Hoping Accidents Shun Him

GLADEWATER, Oct. 17. (U.P.) — Jack Quait of Pine Ridge, Ark., the cowboy clown, rode back into the rodeo arena today, hoping accidents wouldn't come quite so close.

Quait tried to bulldog a steer in the annual Gladewater rodeo last night, fell too far forward, rolled the animal completely over. Its horn went through his shirt and scratched his ribs.

Then he tried his best trick. He had his trousers tied to the saddle of a bucking bronco. The bronc was a little rusty and went into a forward somersault, with Quait still tied to the saddle.

He rushed in to get a laugh out of a steer that had thrown a rider. The steer turned on him and sent its horns through his jacket and shirt. Quait escaped with a bruised stomach.

Government Payroll Increased 91,036

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP) — The executive branch of the federal government took on 91,036 additional civil employes in the period from December, 1939 to July, 1940, the civil service commission said today.

The July payroll figure, the commission said, showed 1,023,341 persons compared with 932,305 for Dec. 30, 1939. Of the increase, 20,521 was reported for the final month of the period.

More than half of the increase during the December-June period was attributed to the national defense program, which the commission said accounted for more than 40,000 new jobs.

FDR Cites Need For Developing St. Lawrence Project

Committee For Study Appointed

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Declaring there is an urgent need for developing power on the St. Lawrence river for defense industries, President Roosevelt today created an advisory committee to conduct preliminary work on the project.

He announced this move in a special informative message to Congress in which he said that he has allocated $1,000,000 from his special contingency funds to finance preliminary borings and other exploratory work.

Amplifies Announcement

The message amplified a previous announcement by the president in which he had said he planned to allocate $100,000.

The president said today that development of the St. Lawrence rapids is "an essential part of the program of continental defense" to provide power for defense industries both in canada and the United States.

No Mention Of Treaty

Mr. Roosevelt made no mention of any treaty with Canada under which the power project would be authorized. His message left unanswered the question whether the rapids could be developed without a teraty. He mentioned only power deevlopment, and said nothing regarding disputed proposals for waterway development.

Earlier in his administration, during the 1934 session of Congress, the Senate rejected one proposed St. Lawrence treaty with Canada.

Los Angeles Mayor Is Treated Royally

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17 (U.P.) — When Mayor Fletcher Bowron departed some weeks ago on a good-will tour of New Zealand and the Orient by plane, he drew $350 from the mayor's entertainment fund. He figured there might be times when good etiquette would obligate him to pick up the check.

Happily, this desperate expedient never developed. The foreign officials and dignitaries insisted on being hosts in all senses of the term. Therefore, the mayor said today that he got back with his roll intact and the whole $350 would be returned to the public treasury.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (U.P.)— Former Sen. Thomas Pollard of Tyler, chairman of a state-wide committee to investigate drunken driving, announced here today that a meeting of the committee will be held at Houston, Oct. 25 to draft recommendations to the legislature.

Followers Of Father Divine Purchase New 'Heaven' Near John D. Rockefeller Estate

(By The United Press)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Followers of Father Divine, negro cult leader, have acquired a new "heaven" in exclusive Westchester county—about two miles from the borders of the John D. Rockefeller estate—it was learned today.

The property is a 69-acre estate and mansion on the Albany Post road a deed transferring the property to 33 joint tennants, any of whom are associated with Father Divine's movement, was filed in the county clerk's office here today. The estate was formerly the property of Leo S. Bing, a member of the New York real estate firm of Bing & Bing. Purchase price was $36,000. The property is assessed at $170,000.

Historic Spots Nearby

Directly across the Post Road from the property is the estate of the Duchess de Tallyrand, the former Anna Gould. The historic old Washington Irving house is about a half mile distant.

Among the joint tenants listed in the deed transfer were Nicholas Moses, Peace Love, Daniel Conquerer, Queen Elizabeth, Martha Faithful, Merry Martha, Love Patience Job, Positive Spirit, Blessed Virgin Mary, Victory Front, Radical Child and True Vocabulary.

City's Bonds In Brisk Demand

Belief that short-term Lubbock city bonds could be sold to greater advantage at this time than at any time before was expressed to city officials here Thursday by Henry Keller of Fort Worth, representative of William N. Edwards & Co., investment securities firm.

Reasons Are Given

City obligations should find a most attractive market for two reasons, he commented.

One is that the market, though nervous, is favorable. The other is that Lubbock bonds are as desirable as investments as those of any city in Texas which means, he said, that they are as desirable as those of any city in the entire nation.

Keller, paying a routine business visit, was asked his opinion because the city commission is considering at this time a proposal that an election be called on a $250,000 bond issue for expansions of the city water and electric plant to keep pace with growing Lubbock needs.

Secured By Revenues

As proposed, the bonds would be secured, wholly by revenues of the two departments and, in the opinion of officials, would be more than self-liquidating.

Keller warned, however, that if bonds are to be issued, the delay should be no longer than necessary. One reason for haste, he said, is that the market is so nervous that no one can predict what may happen.

Federal Tax Looms

The more important reason, he added, is the strong probability of federal legislation placing a tax on municipal obligations. At the present time, he said, such bonds are tax-exempt, which is their most attractive feature to the investor.

His comments encouraged the hope among officials that bonds might be sold to even greater advantage than those placed within the past year.

Of those bonds, one short-term $50,000 issue was placed at 1 1-4 per cent interest—said to be the lowest being paid on any outstanding obligations of any city in Texas. Another sale of $550,000 in long-term bonds was made at 2 1-4 per cent interest.

TO MAKE PEANUT LOANS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (U.P.) — The Commodity Credit corp. today announced a loan of $10,000,000 will be made available to regional associations of peanut producers to assist in financing the 1940-41 peanut surplus removal program, announced on Sept. 12.

The loan will be made only to growers' associations, not to growers directly. Surplus peanuts of the 1940 crop will be diverted to the manufacture of oil and other by-products.

Aged Recluse Is Raped, Killed

(By The United Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 17. — Mrs. Mamie O'Neal, a 75-year-old recluse, today was raped and murdered and her body abandoned under a porch of a vacant house near the one-room shanty in which she lived.

It was the third sex murder in Kansas City in two months.

Police said Mrs. O'Neall had been gagged and choked to death with her own garments. Her body was practically nude when discovered.

Neighbors said Mrs. O'Neill had lived alone in the shack for more than 10 years. She often had told them that she had been "a show woman in California," and that she had a brother, her only living relative there.

Coroner's deputies said she had been dead several hours.

Queen Victoria, who ruled the British Empire from 1876 to 1901, learned to speak the Hindu language when she was 70.

What is a turkey doing in an October gasoline ad?

This great American bird is the symbol of festivity and family reunion, just as the Phillips 66 Shield is the symbol of extra-high test gasoline without extra price.

Of course, it's rushing the season a little to broadcast his picture before Thanksgiving . . . but it dramatizes and high lights the money-saving facts about a remarkable motor fuel which does not rush the season!

NEW Phillips 66 Poly Gas is not merely high test without higher price. It is the right high-test for the month in which you buy it. Matched and re-matched to your weather every thirty days. Proved by continuous laboratory and field surveys to be the outstanding custom-tailored gasoline. More accurately engineered, all year 'round, to the month-by-month differences in climate than any other gasoline.

Today, NEW Phillips 66 Poly Gas is better than ever. At regular price . . . mind you, no premium! . . . it delivers practically the same kind of anti-knock performance for which you formerly had to pay 3c extra per gallon. And even now, premium price gasolines only infrequently equal or exceed the volatility (high test) of NEW Phillips 66 at its lower cost.

If you have any doubt about what this means in pep and power . . . in zip and pick-up! . . . in plus mileage and minus knock! . . . stop for a trial tankful, at any Orange and Black 66 Shield.

Monroe Club To Entertain For Lubbock County Federation Meeting

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Lindsey

SOME people find happiness by never wishing for anything they know they cannot have.

Any druggist or beauty parlor operator will tell you there are far more self-made women than men.

THE GREAT ROCK.

WE THINK that all young boys and old boys, too, should see the great picture, "Knute Rockne—All American," that is showing currently at the Palace theater. Whether or you like football or not (and who ever heard of a boy who didn't like football?) you will enjoy seeing a realistic account of the life of a great molder of character and of men. If Pat O'Brien isn't mentioned for an "oscar" for his acting in this picture, then it may be blamed on the make-up. He certainly goes to town as Rockne.

There seems to be a current epidemic among sports writers to debunk all of the Rockne legends possible. They are attempting to show that these little stories we have cherished for so many years are merely the products of over-active imaginations of the sports writers who hung around the Notre Dame mentor. They laugh at the touching story of George Gipp, of Rockne's tear-jerking sessions with his teams at the half and of the "four horsemen."

But we may be thankful that those legends, if such they be, will live despite the scorn of the writers today. They will go down in history with other legends that have been debunked but which people prefer to believe regardless of the cynics.

SERVE 'EM RIGHT.

A JUST reward for that man who shoves and pushes through a revolving door would be a chance meeting with his boss or his wife.

HALLOWE'EN COLOR.

EVEN a strict budget can embrace a wise old owl sitting on a tree for the Hallowe'en supper party. For a very few pennies you can plan a table spread with a yellow crepe paper cover, green napkins with red, yellow and green designs and an owl on a tree. A little gaiety belongs in every American budget for living.

MIND YOUR MANNERS.

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it important that business letters be answered promptly?

2. Is it necessary to ask a person's permission before giving his name as a reference when you are applying for a job?

3. Should you ask a person who knows you only slightly to give you a recommendation?

4. If a person writes a recommendation for you, should you write him a letter afterward telling him that you appreciate his help?

5. When you are trying to get by the reception clerk to apply for a job, should you say frankly why you wish to see Mr. Blank—or should you make up a story or refuse to state your business?

What would you do if—

You put in a business telephone call and the man's secretary says he isn't in but that she will have him call you when he does come in if you will leave your number—

(a) Give her your number?

(b) Say, "I'll call later"?

ANSWERS.

1. Yes. Whenever possible it is a good idea to answer them the day they are received.

2. Yes. If you cannot ask him first, at least write him immediately explaining you gave his name as a reference since you did not have time to get his permission first.

3. No.

4. Yes. And if you get the job, tell him so.

5. Say that you want to apply for a job if she asks why you wish to see him.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(a) is best since you will become a nuisance if you keep calling.

TO HELP PREVENT Many COLDS

MEDICATION MUST GET STARTED RIGHT AT START

3-Purpose Medicine a Success

At first sniffle, sneeze or nasal irritation, put a little Va-tro-nol up each nostril. Its stimulating action aids Nature's defenses against the cold.

And remember—when a head cold makes you suffer, or transient congestion "fills up" nose and spoils sleep, 3-purpose Va-tro-nol gives valuable help as it (1) shrinks swollen membranes, (2) relieves irritation, (3) helps flush out nasal passages, clearing clogging mucus. Enjoy the relief it brings.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk"! And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Pierson Back In Jail At Austin

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 17.—Howard Merit Pierson, slayer of his father and mother here in 1935 and fugitive from the state insane asylum since April, 1938, was placed in Travis county jail this afternoon by State Ranger Rip Collins and Ernest Best.

They brought him by automobile from Minneapolis, where he was picked up on a state police department circular.

Pierson said in all the time he was at liberty he saw no one whom he had known before his escape.

Planned Escape 5 Months.

He said he planned the escape from the asylum for five months. He said he formed a key from a spoon using a fingernail file as a tool. He had to try three times, he said, before he got the key filed so it would work in the lock.

Once outside the grounds, Pierson said, he walked to a drug store and called a taxicab. He rode in it to Round Rock and caught a bus to Temple. There he changed to a train and went to Fort Worth. He then traveled by bus to Wichita, Kansas, and remained a few days. Then he went to Pueblo and Denver, Colorado, and to Cheyenne and Rock, Wyoming. There he obtained a job on a ranch. Later he went to Minneapolis and worked in a drug store until he was employed as a magazine collector.

No Plans For Defense.

Pierson said he had made no plans for a legal defense but asked to see a local attorney. Instead he was notified he would be permitted to see his guardian, appointed when he had been declared insane after the double slaying.

He said he had planned to give up and come back to Texas. "Perhaps it is all better this way," he remarked.

Pierson was declared insane after he had admitted taking his father, Associate Justice William Pierson of the Texas Supreme court, and his mother to a mountain road near Austin ostensibly to see some Indian relics. He returned to Austin that night with a bullet wound in his arm, reporting a hold-up. After hours of quizzing he admitted he had killed his parents.

Votes Bring 'Two-Bits And A Drink Apiece' In Chicago's Flophouse District, Senate Investigating Committee Members Told

(By The United Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. — Votes in Chicago's "flophouse" district are bargained at "two-bits and a drink apiece," a witness today told a two-man Senate subcommittee investigating alleged illegal election practices.

Robert E. Bair, who said he was an independent canvasser for "different civic organizations," said residents of cheap boarding houses at the fringe of the populous loop area were solicited by both major political parties.

Two Senators Conducting.

He testified at a hearing conducted by Senators Lister Hill, D., Ala., and Clyde Reed, R., Kans., who re-started the sessions after Hill denounced as unofficial a "rump" hearing called by Reed Yesterday.

The hearing coincided with the arrival of Maurice Milligan, newly appointed director of the justice department's nationwide investigation of vote frauds. Milligan conferred at the U. S. district attorney's office before entraining for Kansas City, where he has spent two years in prosecution of Tom Pendergast and members of his powerful political machine.

No Political Springboard.

"We'll go wherever we find evidence of law violations," he said. "I will prosecute these laws impartially and I will not use this program as a political springboard."

Hill said that "there is no connection" between the Senate inquiry and the justice department action, but indicated they would cooperate.

So valuable is chinchilla fur that skins, though very small, bring more than $125 each.

Brownfield Legion To Talk Defense Plans

A national defense meeting has been set for Monday night in Brownfield, according to information received here Wednesday.

The meeting will be sponsored by the American Legion post with invitations to the general public to attend, the announcement said. A delegation probably will go from Lubbock.

Lt. George T. Coleman, commanding officer of Lubbock subdistrict of the army recruiting service, said he has accepted an invitation to show sound motion pictures dealing with defense preparations provided through the service.

First Baptism Is Held In House Chamber

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (U.P.) — Four-months-old Ralph J. Coar, jr., was baptized today at a ceremony conducted in the House chamber—probably the first baptism ever held there.

The child is he son of the head of the House radio room. The ceremony was performed by the child's grandfather, Rev. Arthur J. Coar, pastor of the First Parish Community church, Pembroke, Mass., while the chamber was not in session.

Rep. Frank Boykins, D., Ala., acted as the child's godfather.

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Chinese Rob Famed Shop In Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Oct. 17. (U.P.)—Seven Chinese, four of them armed with Mauser pistols, today pillaged the Sea Captain's shop, located on Nanking road in the heart of the Shanghai international settlement. The shop is known to thousands of American tourists.

Capt. Werner Tornroth and his wife Nell, owners of the shop, both of Seattle, were bound and gagged, as was an American woman visitor. The robbers—all of whom spoke English—then cleaned out four show cases containing valuable jade and jewelry estimated wotrh many thousands of Chinese dollars.

The robbers took one of Tornroth's trucks and fled with their loot.

The visitor managed to free herself and in turn she released Tornroth and his wife. In the excitement of sounding an alarm Tornroth fell and injured himself seriously.

NOT AT THE COFFEE TABLE... BUT BACK AT THE SINK!

Learn . . . and Habit—Their Admiration. AVOID Coffee Gossip—Serve Admiration Coffee!

"At the sink—that's where Helen ended. For days she had looked forward to her club dinner—had pictured herself skillfully preparing coffee for the gay party. But instead, she was washing cups at the sink! And that, the committee decided, was right where she belonged! Everyone knew her as a poor coffee maker." And if Helen had only known before, what she now knows . . . she would have spared herself this cruel humiliation—if only she had served Admiration Coffee. Coffee Gossip—or Coffee Compliments . . . depends on you!

So don't you risk it—not once. Don't be known as a poor coffee maker . . . don't expect just any coffee to satisfy any more than you would expect just any size shoe to fit. Avoid embarrassment—avoid coffee gossip—serve Admiration Coffee! It's foolproof. Remember . . . more Southwestern housewives use Admiration than any other coffee. Admiration is so dependable!

THRIFTY—The use of the world's most costly and full-bodied coffees in Admiration makes it economical to use. Many housewives report that they get more cups per pound with Admiration than with just ordinary coffees. Remember that . . . be a wise shopper.

DEPENDABLE—Exact blending and scientific thermo-roasting insures uniform flavor at every serving. No fear of embarrassment because of poor coffee. Remember that . . . be a smart hostess.

SATISFYING—Admiration's tempting, robust flavor is a hit with men. And women, too, enjoy its full richness and coaxing goodness. Remember that . . . be a good housewife.

Rains Come In Egypt And Italians May Be Held Up In Drive Toward Alexandria

Identity Cards May Be Issued Reserves

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (U.P.) — The Army and Navy were said today to be considering the issuance of identity cards to officers, members of the reserve forces and unmobilized National Guardsmen to match the registration certificates given to potential conscripts.

Members of the regular armed forces, militia and the reserves did not have to register and hence received no registration certificates. Many of them are seldom in uniform and possess no other means of ready identity.

Joking Sign Heeded By City Hall Burglars

MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 17 (U.P.)— The thieves who rifled more than 20 offices here apparently had a sense of humor. Although they robbed every other office in the building where Mayor Richard J. (Jab) Murray, former Green Bay Packers football player, has his headquarters, they did not enter his suite. Apparently they were dissuaded by this sign posted on his door:

"Burglars, take notice! Don't break in and damage property. Call for key if you want to look around a bit."

Patrol Versatile In Professional Skill

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 17 (U.P.)— Washington's state patrol lays claim to having one of the most versatile groups of men on the Pacific coast, at least from the standpoint of past experience.

A survey of former employment held by 140 patrolmen on the force showed they were qualified to act at jobs as widely different as embalmer or music teacher.

Other occupations listed included obstetrician, high school teacher, physician, musician, mill hands, lawyers, accountants, blacksmiths, pipefitters, plumbers and farmers.

INSURED FIRE LOSSES UP

AUSTIN, Oct. 17 (U.P.) — Insured fire losses in Texas for the first eight months of 1940 show a 19 per cent increase over the first eight months of 1939, State Fire Insurance Commissioner Marvin Hall said today was shown by reports of city fire marshals.

British Solidly Defending Area

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MATRUH, Egypt, Oct. 17.—Nine months of drouth have ended, and soon the desert over which Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's Italian legions must roll if they are to reach Alexandria and Suez will be a quagmire.

The rains came yesterday a lashing sub-tropical cloudburst. The parched land absorbed it quickly, but today it rained again. Bedouin tribesmen say the time has come now and for two months we may expect rain.

May Still Try Drive

The Italians may still try to drive towards Alexandria, but moving armored cars and tanks through the mud would be virtually impossible, and they have had difficulties enough as it is, supplying their forces.

The British, on the other hand, have solidly reinforced the railway line which stretches from Matruh to Alexandria and will have considerably less trouble maintaining their front lines.

The Italians still hold the 70-mile strip of coastline within Egyptian territory, and for the last month have been consolidating their position by building a road.

Air Raids Staged

Their offensive operations in recent weeks have been mainly air raids which seem to have done little damage. They usually fly at very great heights, drop their bombs and turn back quickly.

Since the war started their main target has been this idyllic resort town.

This was Paretonium to the ancients, and it was here that Alexander the great began his trip to Ammonium to be hailed as divine by the oracle.

Anthony and Cleopatra slipped away to Matruh once and the ruins of the villa they are popularly supposed to have occupied is one of the places hit by Italian air raiders in the past three weeks. More than 1,000 bombs were dropped in those 21 days.

NEW YORK, REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (AP)—Cotton futures moved within a narrow price range today with most business consisting of final closing out of October delivery. The spot month expired at noon and thereafter trading was quiet.

Elsewhere small but persistent trade price fixing absorbed limited southern hedging. Part of the buying was associated with optimistic textile advices and reports of light-to-killing frost in sections of the central belt.

Late prices were a point lower to 3 higher. Dec. 9.46, March 9.44, July 9.16.

Futures closed unchanged to lower:

Four Speeches Are Scheduled

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—President Roosevelt will make four "strictly political" speeches between now and election day, in addition to his usual election eve broadcast from his Hyde Park home.

The president's speaking engagements were announced today by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, who said that the president, in accepting the nomination, reserved the right to make political speeches "if it became necessary to keep the record straight."

Flynn said the speaking schedule represented no changes in Mr. Roosevelt's plans and contended that Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican nominee, had raised no issues which required an answer.

The speaking engagements are:

Oct. 23—Convention hall, Philadelphia; Oct. 28 — Madison Square Garden, New York; Oct. 30—Constitution hall, Washington; Nov. 2—Public auditorium, Cleveland, and Nov. 4—Hyde Park.

Worth, Oldest Dressmaking Firm In Paris, Launches New Collection In Sober Mode

By The United Press

PARIS, Oct. 17. (Via Berlin) — Worth, the oldest dressmaking firm in Paris, launched its new winter collection here today in a sober mode. This contrasted with a 100-year tradition of rich luxuriousness, as started by their first client, the Empress Eugenie, centered in easily wearable sports clothes.

While suits predominated, there were many capes and swagger coats, cut in a new silhouette. Full-length and of heavy wool, these featured "stand-up" shoulders, heavily padded and shirred at a vertical angle upwards almost like inverted pockets, a tight, nipped-in waistline and rounded hips completed the silhouette.

"Hippy" Clothes Featured

Worth also launched a collection of "hippy" clothes, thickly shirred in a four-inch band just below the waistline. Several of these also used fur bands extending sidewise—and, incidentally, adding a good four inches to the hip measurements.

Although there were few dresses in the showing, there were several fairly frivolous blouses to temper the practical severity of the suit collection. Largely created in soft pastel shades these featured high necklines, untrimmed and straight across or cut out and filled in with lace dickies. One sunshine yellow model had a tiny black collar and cuffs to match a black ensemble.

The outstanding evening dress in the collection was also a suit. Two piece, it consisted of a hip-length, black dinner jacket over a pencil slim black frock, trimmed with two bright pockets, which were placed aslant across the hips and decorated with red embroidery in a Chinese mask pattern.

ARKANSAS MAN DIES

Survivors includes his widow, two daughters and two sons, all of Rogers. Funeral arrangements were incomplete today.

Federal Control Question Looms

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 17. — The question of federal control of the oil industry was brought into the program of the Independent Petroleum Association of America convention today.

Frank Buttram of Tulsa, association president, said in his annual address that the issue of federal control must be faced by the nation's oil men.

"Having taken certain steps by which we have invited governmental cooperation for the benefit of the industry," Buttram said, "shall we take certain additional steps which will mean the definite control of our industry by governmental agencies?"

Future Involved In Issue

Involved in this issue, he added, "is the future of the greater part of the oil reserves."

"The stripper wells cannot continue production if their oil must be sold below the cost of production," Buttram continued. "But that involves a certain degree of stabilization. If the industry, obedient to the orders of properly qualified state regulatory bodies, holds supply within a reasonable distance of demand, it may be accused of price-fixing.

Must Make Choice

"If we wastefully over-produce, then we are threatened with . . . federal control. If we attempt to maintain a balance which will permit these wells of settled production to continue to operate economically, then the strong arm of federal power will hail us into court.

"We should not be obliged to choose between surrender of our properties to federal control or loss of our properties through the drastic penalties of a selected course.

"There must be another way out. Part of our task at this gathering should be the discovery of that way."

Defense Program Talked

In a luncheon address, Dr. Robert E. Wilson, technical petroleum advisor on the National Defense Advisory board, discussed the part the oil industry must play in the defense program.

A paper regarding the future oil reserves and geological factors involved was read by A. I. Levorsen of Tulsa.

Levorsen revealed that 41-billion barrels of oil has been discovered in the United States, of which some eighteen and one-half billion remain underground ready to be produced as a recoverable reserve supply.

Harold B. Fell, executive vice-president of the I.P.A.A., said much can be achieved in attempting to correct inequities in national taxation and in retaining a percentage method of reckoning depletion reduction in the federal income tax law.

Insurance School Conducted In City

A school of instruction sponsored by the Texas association of Insurance Agents was conducted in Hilton hotel here Thursday for general agents in the 30 counties comprising the Lubbock "region," according to J. E. Maisen, secretary-treasurer of Lubbock Insurance exchange.

The program included morning and afternoon sessions and a luncheon. Those participating in the program left late Thursday for Odessa, which will be scene of another regional school today.

Maisen estimated total enrollment for the school here at approximately 75, representative of the entire area. G. A. Akers of Brownfield, regional vice president, presided.

Speakers on the day's program included H. P. North of San Francisco, assistant director of the business division of the National board of Fire Underwriters; Virgil Hooks, Dallas, of the marine department of the Phoenix Insurance company; A. A. Reagan of Dallas, who discussed automobile insurance; R. B. Cousins, jr., of Austin, head of the Texas insurance checking office; Price K. Johnson of Houston, assistant manager of Cravens, Dargan and co.; H. A. Savage of Dallas, representative of Aetna Casualty and Surety Co.; and D. G. Foreman of Fort Worth, executive secretary of the state association.

U. S. Safer From Spies, Saboteurs, Hoover Says

Officers Better Prepared Today

EDITORS' NOTE: The United Press invited Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to make a "progress report" on efforts to combat fifth columnists.

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
(Director Federal Bureau Of Investigation)

(Copyright, 1940, By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17—The nation is safer from spies and saboteurs today than ever before.

There has been a negligible amount of sabotage in the second world war in conjrast to a similar period in the first world war.

This situation exists largely because law enforcement throughout every municipality, county, state and the nation is far better prepared to deal with these matters than at any time in the past.

Not Single-Handed Job

Protection of the internal security is not a single-handed job. Neither the FBI nor the naval intelligence, nor the military intelligence, nor any other single unit of law enforcement can do the job alone.

America has become the battleground for foreign agents, and these forces can be met only by a nation-wide offensive of all law enforcement, backed by cooperation of each and eve. .itizen.

The meeting of present-day challenges has been anticipated, and for years a carefully planned program has been quietly perfected to weld this great net to ensnare foreign subversive agents. The state and treasury departments, the military and naval intelligence services, and the federal bureau of investigation meet weekly to pool their assets and to coordinate their activities in matters dealing with the internal security and defense of the United States.

Conferences Are Held

In addition, special agents in charge of the 53 field offices of the Federal Bureau of Investigation throughout the United States, its territories and possessions, have through conferences with the ranking law enforcement officials in their respective areas, established a nation-wide plan of coordination of protective measures participated in the question most often asked the FBI—"if this fifth column activity is known to be so widespread, why doesn't the government arrest the responsible persons?"

The answer is a simple one—the government has chosen as its method of attack a comprehensive system of counter-espionage.

Preventative Measures Emphasized

Under this system the emphasis is placed upon preventive measures. They are less dramatic and non-spectacular, but effective. In fact, Attorney General Robert H. Jackson has pointed out that the more successful these measures are, the less the public knows about them. The less a foreign agent knows about them, the less secure he feels in perpetrating his offenses against the United States and its institutions.

It is often more expedient to keep a known group of foreign agents under surveillance than it is to make arrests. Surveillance of subversive elements permits law enforcement officers to observe their contacts, establish their methods of communications, discover their sources of information, and to head off any overt act.

Agents Merely Replaced

The government's counter-espionage system has as its worst enemies self-seeking politicians or psychopathic publicity-seekers, whose clumsy efforts flush foreign agents into the open. Foreign agents thus disclosed, are merely replaced by others with whom the police authorities must again start all over to establish an effective counter-espionage contact.

The activities of spies and saboteurs have long been scrutinized. Their names and activities have been carefully indexed and filed geographically for future reference. Added to these are the names of leading agitators in the German-American bund and the Communist party. Your government knows their identities and their activities. It is not conducive to the internal security of the country to issue irresponsible statements with flaring headlines as to who they are or what they do. The American people may rest secure, however, in the thought that their responsible government agencies are alert to and aware of these fifth column activities.

Press Given Cooperation

The FBI has in its files a sufficient number of important cases to create headline stories in the newspapers day after day for weeks on end. But the FBI, and I am sure that other law enforcement agencies share this viewpoint, seeks nothing more than a strong internal defense for this country—an objective which cannot be served at this time by blantant headlines. To this policy, I might add, the press has given excellent cooperation.

Among some of the preventive measures developed and established by the FBI has been the project for the survey of the facilities of plants and factories having contracts with the army and navy to determine the vulnerability for sabotage or espionage in such places. This project has been in operation for a little over a year, and much constructive work has already been accomplished. The FBI, after a painstaking survey of each of these premises, makes suggestions for the proper safeguards against saboteurs and espionage agents, thus helping to insure uninterrupted production of materials for the strengthening of our armed services.

FDR Foresaw Difficulties

The president of the United States, foreseeing the difficulties ahead, over a year ago recognized that conbatting foreign agents within our midst was definitely a technical problem and was one that could only be handled on a national basis, through the constituted agencies of law enforcement. At that time he designated the Federal Bureau of Investigation to act as a clearing house for intelligence information, and called upon all law enforcement and law-abiding citizens of this country to cooperate by referring compaints pertaining to national defense matters to the FBI.

The offices of the federal bureau of investigation are located in 53 of the principal cities of the United States and its territories, and are open 24 hours of the day and night to receive from any source whatsoever information which would be of value for the preservation of our national security. In addition, the headquarters office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Washington, D. C., is likewise open at all times, and any person in any part of this land may reach it by calling Washington, D. C., National 7117. Cooperation should be the full measure of public participation in this attack upon foreign enemies.

HALE CENTER, Oct. 17 — Nineteen Hale county residents who had reached the scriptural four-score year mark, were guests of honor here today at the 11th annual Octogenarian banquet given by Hale Center business men and women in the Methodist church.

As a special event, recordings were made of the voices of most of those present, including the singing of songs, with the audience hearing the playing of the record just a few moments later. The recordings were made by Webb Jenkins, director of music in the schools, using the school machine.

Dr. Smith J. Underwood, originator of the plan, presided at both the meal and at the program which followed. Rev. E. L. Stanford, pastor, gave the invocation. The youngest women of the church missionary society served the meal.

Guests occupied the front seats in the auditorium for the program. Col. T. J. Tison of Plainview, 92, sang for the recording, "Just 70 Years Ago." Mrs. Mary E. Ross of Hale Center, 80, sang, "How Tedious, How Tasteless the Hours," A. T. Ogg, 85, of Plainview, sang "I Came to the Garden Alone," and Mrs. John Sherman of Plainview played "Life's Railway to Heaven."

RECEIVES PROPOSAL

HALE CENTER, Oct. 17—Miss. Susan Petty, 88, who says she has never worn a hat in her life, was the recipient of a proposal at the octogenarian banquet here.

Seated at the dinner table, she was talking with friends, when one of the octogenarians asked who she was. He was introduced to her and as they started from the room, he was quoted as saying, "You and I ought to get along pretty well together—you can see and I can't."

Aged Woman Recites Poem

All of these were then played for the audience. In the morning Dr. Underwood and Jenkins had gone to the home of Mrs. E. J. Coffee, 90, who was unable to attend because of illness and she recited a poem she had learned as a girl of 12. The transcription was played for the audience.

The Octogenarians were each asked to give his or her name and age, for the record, and this too, was played. Dr. Underwood also talked briefly on the observance.

A. M. Lemmons, minister of the Church of Christ, talked briefly on "Our Mental Attitude Towards Life," in which he paid tribute to the part played by the older group in the development of West Texas, comparing it to that of the pioneers of the Lone Star state who founded the Republic of Texas.

Others Relate Experiences

Terming the work of the heroes of the Alamo, Goliad and other historic battles as a gift to the descendants, he added "these have made that gift worth while."

Following the talk, others related experiences of their younger days in this section, and in other states.

Rev. Mr. Stanford led the audience in singing.

The deaths reported during the past year were those of J. F. Sagerser, of Hale Center and N. A. Drake, also of Hale Center.

Mrs. Floyd Ferguson was chairman of the kitchen committee of the church missionary society, which served the meal; Mrs. Lee Stanford was chairman of the tables committee; Mrs. Sam Smith, decorating committee and Mrs. Jack Smith, coffee committee.

Registration List Given

Besides Mrs. Coffee, others unable to attend because of illness includes Mrs. J. W. Sears and S. A. Bird.

Registered were the following persons:

Plainview, Capt. W. F. Elkins, 93; Col. T. J. Tison, 92; John T. Douglas, 83; R. M. May, 84; Col. R. P. Smyth, 85; A. T. Ogg, 85; Dr. J. S. Shaw, 88.

Hale Center, R. W. (Uncle Bob) Lemond, 93; Mrs. J. L. Yates, 92; Mrs. Nancy Taylor, 90; T. R. Gault, 80; W. B. Jones, 80; Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Ritchey, 86 and 80 respectively; M. P. Rentzham, 68; J. H. Lutrick, 82; Mrs. Susan P. Petty, 80; Mrs. Mary E. Ross, 80; G. M. Roberson, 80.

Others in attendance included, Mr. and Mrs. George Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. George Moody, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Mounts, Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Jerrell, Joe Payne, J. Nute Watson, Mrs. A. Dickson, Mrs. Ben Slaton, Mrs. R. Bruton, Sam Smith, Miss Carrie Lutrick, Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Anderson, all of Hale Center; Mrs. J. C. Hurst, Abernathy; Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman, Plainview.

Col. Smyth recalled that he had surveyed the townsite of Hale Center in 1889. It was started after old Epworth, first town in the county, had been started by Rev. Horatio Graves, and a town called Hale City, south of the present town, could not be combined because of differences which owners refused to compromise.

Catholics Hold Great Program

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, Oct. 17.—Thousands upon thousands gathered on the summit of Mount Cristo Rey here today to do honor to their bishop, the Most Rev. Anthony J. Schuler, of El Paso diocese, who is celebrating the 25th anniversary of his ordination and to see and hear Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate from the Vatican City to the United States, dedicate the majestic monument to Christ The King, Prince of Peace.

It was a great demonstration and a moving one, for the trail to the top of the mountain is long and tortuous and tiring. But the multitude who made the pilgrimage were repaid.

They saw many of the leading prelates of their church join in the greatest Catholic event in the history of the Southwest. They saw the mighty statue on the Texas-New Mexico border facing Mexico.

Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, famed Catholic radio orator, made the principal address. He called for more penitential and sacrificial Catholics rather than merely devotional Catholics.

He said that the regious can not withdraw from the world, that they must lead and direct the social revolution, not follow it. He said that we are living in an apocalyptic time of destruction and violence; and said that Catholics will have to direct the changing world toward the Kingdom of God.

He closed, "We love thee, o Christ our king, Viva Cristo Rey."

VOLUNTEERS FIRST GROUP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—National draft headquarters said today that a sufficient number of men would be classified and selected by Nov. 14 to fill the army's first call for 30,000 conscripts. Volunteers between 18 and 36 are expected to comprise all of most of the first group sent to camp.

The first call for 30,000 will represent an average of less than five men to each of the 6,200 local board areas in the United States and less than two-tenths of 1 per cent of the more than 16,000,000 men estimated to have registered yesterday.

pilots over the southeast coast and while most of them were declared beaten off some broke through to strafe the capital.

How many had died here was not stated, the ministry saying that casualties "are not expected to be heavy." The greatest single disaster was the entrapment of an undetermined number of persons in an air raid shelter covered by heavy wreckage of a 3-story building smashed by a bomb-hit.

It was a day of mass attack—a change in tactics from the alternative Nazi technique of using small numbers of craft in quick and relatively formless thrusts—and much of the action was fought high above the clouds.

Willkie Speech

fourth term?

"Second, is he negotiating any secret pacts with foreign countries about which the people do not know?

What About Machines?

"And third, I would like to see the third term candidate justify for himself the support of three of the most corrupt political machines in the world—namely, Chicago, Jersey City and the Bronx.

Then, turning to his prepared talk, Willkie said he agreed with "many of the basic international objectives of this administration at the present time. But, he asserted, the administration has contributed to war rather than to peace by failing to view production as the American role in world affairs.

War Is Not The Road

"War is not the road to peace," he said. "Appeasement is not the road to peace. Production is the road to peace—and the only road to peace."

Describing Britain as "the rim of freedom far out beyond our shores," the Republican presidential nominee said the United States could not send an expeditionary force over there because "we have no such force."

"We are not helping the way we ought to help, the way we must help," he said, "if we are not to be left utterly alone in this bloody and barbarous world. . . .

Must Produce More.

"We must produce more and more and more. We must produce airplanes. We must produce hundreds of other things."

In that connection, Willkie said in a statement earlier in the day that the present "is no time for the third termers to play politics" with deliveries of war equipment to Great Britain.

Saying he had read reports that shipments to Great Britain were awaiting President Roosevelt's approval, the nominee added that he had read no denials.

"If the dispatch of further materials is being considered by anyone in high office in Washington, he asked, "why is it not at this time submitted to the consideration of the representatives of all the people in Congress? . . .

Favors Aiding Britain.

"In view of the high places in the council of New Dealers that are held by the unseen 'master minds' and the city bosses, it is conceivable that there may be a wish to delay sending further materials in order to make a good impression at the right time for purely domestic political purposes."

"I have said before that I favor aiding Britain at some sacrifice to our own defense program," he said tonight, "but I want to point out here, that it is a sacrifice, and that it is the New Deal's fault.

"In the history of the world there has never been such a huge production job as that which lies ahead of us. It surpasses what we attempted in the World war.

"America has contributed to make the crisis in the world today. And the men responsible for that fact are the men of the third term party, who are now seeking reelection on the international issue."

McNary Speaks Before Rally In Oklahoma

ENID, Okla., Oct. 17. (AP)—Senator Charles L. McNary swung into the Southwest's former drouth belt tonight asserting New Deal policy had dispossessed more tenant farmers than "all the dust storms that ever blew up out of Arizona."

The Republican vice-presidential nominee told a party rally here that a policy which permitted "big planters to pocket all the benefit payments" for cotton "cruelly drives thousands of tenants off the land."

"I have it on the word of a reliable informant," he said, "that 125,000 tenant farmers have been forced off the farms of Texas because of the New Deal's callous administration of this problem."

Henry A. Wallace, McNary's Democratic opponent, spoke here recently.

A large proportion of farm migrants in California, Colorado and Oregon, McNary continued, "were tractored off" their farms by New Deal policies."

"A one-price policy," he declared, "which insists on allowing Liverpool to depress the price on American wheat and cotton consumed in America not only beggars the American producer but deprives him of his foreign markets."

As a substitute, McNary said the Republican party proposed a two-price system and "the American market for the American farmer at the American price."

Two Dances Scheduled For Tech Homecoming Program; Lubbock Alumni Chapter To Aid

MRS. LINDA DODSON

Mrs. Linda Dodson Is Buried Thursday

Last rites for Mrs. Linda Dodson, 77, of 2218 Broadway, were conducted Thursday afternoon in Rix chapel. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery beside her husband who died several years ago.

Mrs. Dodson died at 3:15 o'clock Thursday morning in West Texas hospital.

Mrs. Dodson is survived by five sons, John and Bill Dodson of Lubbock, Stirl and Dr. Milton Dodson of Shawnee, Okla., and Charlie Dodson of Southland; three daughters, Mrs. J. H. Gilbert of Artesia, N. M., and Mrs. Callie Land and Mrs. Lillie Kitchen of Lubbock; 19 grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Dodson had lived in Lubbock about 19 years, coming here from Slaton.

Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, was to officiate at services.

Pallbearers were announced as Kenneth Leslie, S. M. Smith, R. L. Nelson, Henry Ford Lee, Buck Mitchell, Gene Aired, Emmett Kerr and Leslie Sparks.

Two alumni dances will be held homecoming night at Texas Technological college.

That became apparent Thursday night when the Lubbock county chapter was told the Alumni and Ex-Students association would sponsor the two dances if a financial success could be assured for the second dance.

The Lubbock county chapter pledged its cooperation in making the dance successful and Bill Collins, chapter chairman, immediately appointed a ticket sales committee, Ralph Brock, Royal Furgeson and Mrs. Leonard Barnett.

To Borrge Nash Meeting

Wendell Watson, secretary of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, is to have the tickets printed before the next Lubbock county chapter meeting.

The chapter decided to forego a meeting next week and meet again Wednesday night, Oct. 30, at which time efforts will be made to have the majority of alumni and ex-students living in Lubbock county present.

Tickets sold to alumni and friends accompanying them to homecoming will admit them to either of the two homecoming dances. Tickets sold to students and others, however, will admit them only to the dance in the college gymnasium.

To Provide Greater Opportunity

It was brought out in discussion the arrangement will give alumni greater opportunity for reunions with former college classmates and will attract a larger percentage of alumni.

The program was opened with singing of the college song, led by Miss Jeanette Kelly, with Miss Imogene Webster as piano accompanist. Mrs. J. C. Bateman was program chairman. Virginia Pitts gave a tap dance.

Barnett, vice president of the chapter, explained purposes of the newly organized chapter and J. Doyle Settle, field representative of the college, discussed how alumni may "talk Tech up." Miss Dorothy Rylander discussed cooperation between the chapter and the Council of Women Graduates. She mentioned possibility of sponsoring an information table homecoming day.

Miss Kelly, George Langford and William McKnivy were appointed members of the program committee for next meeting and Charles Cobb, John Rayburn, Mrs. McKnivy, Arphice Spikes and Miss Rylander were named November program committee members.

Lloyd Grosiin, Van Hinds and Miss Jones were appointed members of a permanent arrangements committee and Howard McNeese and Haskell Taylor were appointed publicity committee members in addition to a member named last week.

McCormack Charges

McCormack said that the advertisement was a "specific instance of a flagrant violation of the Hatch act and of employe intimidation and direct evidence of how the Republican national committee is being assisted in flaunting the Hatch act by indirect expenditures."

Barlier, Paul B. Appleby, acting secretary of agriculture, informed the Senate committee that any employes of that department or farmer committeemen administering farm programs would be dismissed if found engaged in political activity.

James M. Rankin In Amarillo Hospital

Treatment in the United States Veterans hospital at Amarillo is being undergone by James Rankin, former Slaton publisher who now is editor of the Levelland News, said Mrs. E. D. Farris of 1212 Eighth street, a sister.

Rankin served overseas with an ambulance unit and was gassed in the battle of Soissons July 22, 1918. His present condition, his sister said, had resulted from those injuries. Rankin received several decorations for his war service.

Visitors may call on him, Mrs. Farris said. He is in ward 1, room 582, in the new Amarillo hospital.

British lifeboats were launched over 800 times in the first eight months of the war.

El Paso Man To Speak At Scottish Rite Feast

The Feast of the Tabernacles, an annual observance, will attract members of the South Plains Scottish Rite club, their invited guests and delegations from far removed points to Lubbock Saturday night.

Reservations from the 15-county area, covered by the club are encouraging, according to Ed Parker, secretary of the organization. Both local and out-of-town members of the Masonic body are asked to make their reservations with Parker by this afternoon, calling telephone number 2466.

Principal speaker will be Joseph R. McGill, county judge of El Paso county.

Guests Are Invited

Numerous Scottish Rite Masons will have as their guests Master Mason friends, Parker said the reservation list shows. All members of the Rite living or visiting in this territory are eligible to attend and to bring friends who are Master Masons, the secretary announced.

The Feast of the Tabernacles is observed each fall, as it is observed in many cities and many lands the world over. Chief feature of the meeting here—set for Hotel Lubbock at 8 p. m. Saturday—will be a delegation of 32nd degree Masons from the El Paso Consistory, and visiting groups from Amarillo and Pampa.

Homer D. Grant is in charge of the program.

Draft Could Damage Faculty Of Schools

They included:

Junior High school faculty members—Carl M. Bailey, Byron Chappell; John Cox, Gordon Deering, Henry Elder, Jay Gordon, Joe Haddon, John Hancock, Ray Hynds, Lewis Magee, Russell Wimberly and John Wilson.

Texas Tech Meets Rugged Brigham Young Team Tonight

Utah Squad Shows Size And Speed In Final Workout Here; Raiders Drill At Night; Parents Honored

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Facts in brief about the game:

The teams — Brigham Young University vs. Texas Tech.

The kick-off time — 8:30 o'clock, tonight.

The special occasion — Parents Day at Texas Tech, and the opening of athletic relations between BYU and Texas Tech.

The officials — Referee, Abb Curtis (Texas); umpire, Ziggy Sears (Kentucky Wesleyan); head linesman, Frank Moon (Nebraska); field judge, B. P. Parcells (Northwestern).

The probable starting lineups, with numbers, weights and positions:

NO.	BRIGHAM YOUNG	WT.	POS.	WT.	TEXAS TECH	NO.
25	Ronald Jensen	195	L.E.	175	Robert Duncan	76
31	Fred Bateman	185	L.T.	211	Jack Shanks	80
30	Gail Lewis	215	L.G.	184	Will Allbright	29
62	Reed Nilsen	195	C.	223	Rafe Nabors	78

51	Gerald Marking	180	FB.	189	Chas. Dvoracek	54

And if there's anything else you'd like to know, go to the stadium tonight, buy a program and settle yourself for two hours of gridiron entertainment. It should be a good football game, what with Brigham Young presenting a varsity-experienced team with the exception of two brilliant sophomores, Fullback Gerald Marking pinch-hitting for the injured Dean Gardner, and Reed Nilsen starting at center in place of Shirl Blackman.

Coach Eddie Kimball confided that his Cougars would miss Mr. Gardner, who has a lifetime varsity punting average of around 47 yards, but who will be unable to play tonight. He also said that George Wing, a power against University of Wyoming last week but who "never starts a game," will be handicapped by a leg injury, and might not play much. The coach was backed up in this statement by his brother, Roland Kimball, who is trainer of the team and who knows all their hurts. Wing, however, was conceded a chance to get in and demonstrate his ball carrying ability.

Cougars Big And Frisky

The Brigham Young squad, embracing 32 players on this trip, worked out briefly but impressively at Tech Stadium yesterday afternoon. They indulged in a bit of passing, punting and signal running, crowded a general workout into the space of some 40 minutes, retired to their Hilton Hotel headquarters for a late dinner, and were put away early by the Brothers Kimball.

Impression of the railbirds watching the BYU practice was that Brigham Young has a good-looking squad of athletes, more or less average in size, but plenty husky, and liable to give Texas Tech a run for the money. The squad was in high good humor, shifty and fast in its signal running practice; the pass receivers nabbed shots from Coach Kimball and the regular passers; there was a lot of pep and enthusiasm, and the squad rushed through a frisky workout.

The Cougars, who have lost only one game this season, that to University of Utah, arrived early yesterday afternoon, took on a big lunch before going to their rooms, and started their workout at 5 o'clock. They made a good impression on arrival, were neither cocky nor lackadaisical, behaved like gentlemen and impressed the greeting committee and the hotel lobby with their gentility.

Raiders Drill Under Lights

On the field, they hopped to work like they meant it, cavorted swiftly but purposely over the field, and ate a hearty dinner.

Coach Kimball would make no prognostication, and neither would Pete Cawthon, the Tech mentor. Each expects a hard and rugged game tonight, with neither side letting up.

The Red Raiders delayed their workout until dark and practiced under the lights, indulging in an unusually hard drill considering the time of week, but left the field yipping and yelling for Utah football players.

As for the records, Brigham Young has tied one game, 6-6 with University of Nevada; lost one game, 6-12 to University of Utah, and won one game, 20 to 0 over

Aggies Face SWC Opener

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 17. — Untarnished Texas A. and M. starts shootin' for the moon Saturday.

Into the dread span of six Southwest conference games goes an Aggie team openly in quest of a second unbeaten season, the cherished conference flag and the Rose Bowl.

First in line on the rockiest road in football is Texas Christian, moving into College Station for a whack at the Cadets with some of its key men injured. But the Christians have pointed for this, perhaps straight over the heads of a North Carolina team that beat them last week, and the Aggies are due for stormy weather.

This Is Not Setup

Still fondled by the gods in that a major injury hasn't cropped up, the Aggies butt into a Christian crew that has lost its only able center replacement for the season; has Capt. Logan Ware, the driving reverse runner, on the shelf and can't depend on Woodrow Adams, big and fast tackle, to do much playing.

On the statistical side, its all A. and M. They even outshine TCU at their own racket—forward passing. Incidentally, the Aggies own the best passing record in the league with 29 completions out of 52 attempts for 400 yards and an average of 558.

But there's a feeling that the Aggies will have all the football they want for one day when they face TCU Saturday. The Horned Frogs are better than everyone suspects and have resolved to fire every barre. at the Cadets. If TCU gets an early scoring break, the game can go either way.

Meanwhile, Texas university, looking more like the real menace to the Aggies every day, goes back to the BALLAST IN COUGAR LINE — That's what they call Gail Lewis, above, 215 pounds of junior guard. He made the BYU varsity in his sophomore season last year and is currently regarded as a sure bet to win a place on the Big Seven all-conference team. Watch him go against Tech tonight.

Unbeaten Teams Put Records On Block In Schoolboy Games

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

More neck-chopping among the undefeated, untied teams of Texas schoolboy football was anticipated along all fronts as the field braced for its most crucial week-end of the season.

Indications were that Friday night battles would trim the list of the "perfect records" to fewer than 20 teams with elevens boasting unscored on distinctions in danger of losing them.

More than 30 conference games were included in the half hundred tilts. Amarillo's head-knocking with Norman, Okla., and little Kerrville's scrap with Brackenridge's powerhouse feature the schedule.

Does History Repeat?

It was in 1935 that Amarillo's mighty Sandies lost what had been considered a "warm-up" game to Norman for the first defeat in history on Amarillo's Butler field.

It shocked the state and also shocked the Sandies into being a much stronger team as the boys from the Panhandle swept to the title.

Now, here is another Amarillo team that critics rate with those of the middle thirties and a Norman eleven, which like that in 1935, ranks as just a fair club but with upset tendencies, scheduled to play at Amarillo Friday night.

Both Teams Unbeaten

Kerrville is the "dark horse" of the race this season. Little was expected of the Antlers but they go against San Antonio's Brackenridge as an unbeaten and untied

Eleven Grid Units Here Thursday

No less than eleven different football organizations including four from out of town, were in Lubbock yesterday, and all of them will have either played scheduled games, practiced or "slept" here during the three days ending tonight. As eleven teams were here Thursday, but not at the same time.

Brigham Young university's Cougars, here to play Texas Tech's Red Raiders tonight; the Ysleta High school team, enroute to Plainview for a game with the Plainview Bulldogs, and the Borger High Bulldogs, en route to Hobbs for a high school game today, all worked out here yesterday and spent the night here.

Other teams in town yesterday were the Levelland Junior High school team and their opponents in a regular game, the Lubbock Junior High Cowboys; the idle Lubbock Westerners and High Cowhands, the Junior High Calf Ropers, the Dunbar High Panthers and, until they left at noon for Lawton, Okla., and their game tonight with the Cameron Aggies, the Texas Tech freshmen, and, of course, the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Post-Slaton Game Tops Class A Card

Only 4 District Clashes Slated

By JOE PIERCE
Avalanche Sports Staff

With payoff time in the Class A touchdown - swapping bees of the area, the District 4 and 5 title chases, approaching November climaxes, most of the teams take a layoff from conference competition tonight.

Only four conference contests are slated, contrasted to the eight of last weekend. Three teams rest before playing decisive conference games next week.

Tigers Try For 13th

Topping the nine-game card is the Post-Slaton clash at Slaton tonight. Beginning at 8 o'clock, the game matches one of the leaders in the 5-A race with a team that has shown promise of great things all season but is still occupying the league cellar, result of two close conference losses. Slaton is riding the crest along with Brownfield as a result of a 20-18 victory in its initial conference engagement with Tahoka last week.

Slaton has a long record of victories over the Antelopes. As a matter of record, the Tigers will be trying for their 13th consecutive victory over Coach Howard Price's Post lads. And Post supporters are promising that as an omen of ill for the Tigers.

Four Unbeaten In Play

The section boasts no undefeated, untied teams, but has four with only ties to mar their record. They are Brownfield, Levelland, Paducah and Matador and all four go into action tonight attempting to keep the slate clear.

Paducah's Dragons, beating the best record in the area, play a conference game against Crosbyton's cellar-dwelling Chiefs at Crosbyton. Coach Ab Pruitt, in his first season at Paducah, has produced a well-rounded eleven that has stacked up three impressive victories, spotted only by a 6-6 tie with Crowell. In their streak, the Dragons have scored 111 points and allowed only six.

Matador Turns On Lights

Brownfield, still undefeated for conference championship purposes as a result of its first down decision after tying Levelland, entertains Littlefield's Wildcats from the north half of 5-A in a game that should give a line on the comparative strength of the two sectors. The Cubs are still considered the team to beat in the southern circuit, while the Cats must be called the second-best team in the north half while awaiting their chance to prove otherwise when the play Olton.

Matador, the "little brother" school in District 4-A which has suddenly grown up and got quite rough, dedicates a newly-lighted field with a non-conference game against Turkey's Terrible Turks. The Matadors are still undefeated, although tied by Crowell, and show among their victories a 12-6 decision over Olton's Mustangs, who are merely the defending bi-district champions. The Turks, one of the state's better Class B teams, promise stiff opposition on the strength of recent victories over Lockney and Flomot.

Loboes Have Breather

Levelland, the fourth member of the undefeated but tied quartet, promises to stay that way. It engages Morton's Indians in another 5-A north-south contest that is

Brigham Young Is Favored Tonight—

Litkenhous Has Grid Tilts All Figured For Weekend

Despite reversals which made all the "rating systems" look badly for the last two weekends, Dr. E. E. Litkenhous, fabricator of the Litkenhous "difference-by-score" system, comes back this weekend to present his figures designed to indicate the winners of outstanding games this weekend.

Dr. Litkenhous admits that he missed on 13 teams of the first 50 last week when upsets were the rule rather than the exception, and hit a new low for prognostication. But Litkenhous was no worse off than any of the other professional dopesters, and he's back again.

"Right" Last Week

The Litkenhous figures for this week are of particular interest to Lubbock and Texas fans because they indicate Brigham Young university will defeat Texas Tech tonight. Litkenhous gives Texas Tech a power rating of 73.2, and he gives Brigham Young a standing of 75.4, which means that, according to his figures, Brigham Young will defeat Tech tonight by two points.

And this is considered serious by some Litkenhous believers, who saw him come out right last week when he picked Texas Tech Red Raiders to beat Montana State university by 13 points. The final score was 32-19, favoring Tech. The doctor also picked Cornell to defeat Army by 41 points. The score was 45 to 0. He chose Boston College over Temple by 17 points and the tally was 33-20, and he elected Texas over Oklahoma by 2.8 points, the final score being 19-16.

The Litkenhous ratings are used thus: Cornell, the rating of which is 102.6, plays Syracuse, 72.0 this week-end. If Cornell isn't hampered by injuries and other misfortunes and if Syracuse isn't highly keyed up to play better than its average type of football, Cornell will win by about 30 points, the difference between the ratings being 30.6 points. The result, when the difference is so much, could be from four to six touchdowns.

Probable winners set in black face type.

Donald Cook Captures High School Net Title

Donald Cook won Senior High school tennis championship yesterday, defeating John L. Perry, 6-3, 0-6, 66-2, 6-1, in the finals of the school tournament.

Cook entered the finals by eliminating Robert Smith, 7-5, 6-4. Perry downed Lovern Curlee 6-0, 4-6, 6-2, in the other semifinal match.

Lamesa Tackles Steers Tonight

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Oct. 16. — Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes are reportedly in better physical condition than at any time since the Slaton game, opener of the season here, as they prepare to meet the Big Spring Steers in Conference 3-AA engagement on McCollum field here Friday at 8 o'clock.

A close game appears likely. The Tornadoes have shown much improvement in scrimmage since the Odessa and Plainview games, which they lost, both in passing and running plays.

Steers Beaten But Once

Cates, Futrell and Calhoun are equally good carrying the ball and White is showing promise as a backfieldman. He may possibly be shifted from his end post to a backfield spot.

Big Spring has not lost a conference game yet, and Lamesa has lost one. The Steers have lost one game, been tied twice and won two games. Lamesa has won three times and lost twice, failing completely to score in the Odessa game.

Big Spring Is Heavier

Starting average for the Steers is 170 pounds, while Tornado starters average about 153.

Probable starters: Big Spring—Nations and Stewart, ends; Nance and Patton, tackles; Battle and Barton, guards; Kasch, center; Brummett, Rowe, Bedick and Presley, backs.

Lamesa—Blair and White, ends; Morgan and McBride, tackles; Roberts and Oswalt, guards; Carmichael, center; Barnard, Futrell, Calhoun and Reeves, backs.

Odessa Gets Baer-Hunt Go

ODESSA, Oct. 17. (AP)—L. D. Thomas, Lubbock boxing promoter, announces that he has accepted this city's offer to stage a Buddy Baer-Babe Hunt boxing match here Dec. 6.

The bout will be in an auditorium having a seating capacity of 3,750.

Thomas said he had guaranteed Buddy $5,000 to fight Hunt, the Texas heavyweight champion, ten rounds, but that it would probably not be for Hunt's title.

Cigars three times the size of the ordinary American variety are smoked by the Burmese.

Tech Freshmen Engage Cameron Ags Tonight

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 17 (Special) Coach Berl Huffman's Texas Tech freshmen arrived here tonight, ready for their game tomorrow night with the Cameron Junior College Aggies.

Last season, the Picadors won a 7 to 6 contest from Cameron in Lubbock.

The Aggies have piled up an impressive record this season. Their only loss has been a 13-36 scoring spree with Ada Teachers, a senior college.

The Techsters have played and won one game, 24-6 over New Mexico Military institute.

Twenty-five players made the trip for the Picadors.

Akeys, Allen And Ford Win In Foursome Play

Hubert Allen and Mrs. Charles Akey captured low gross honors in Scotch foursome play at Country Club Thursday, scoring a 38.

Charles Akey and Miss Ruth Ford won low net with 32. There were 24 entries.

Cowboys Cop 13 To 0 Game From Levelland

Scoring on almost identical plays in the first and fourth periods, Lubbock's Junior High Cowboys Thursday afternoon kept intact a 13-game winning streak with a 13 to 0 triumph over a heavier Levelland crew at Chapman Field.

Billy Wooten, left half, circled end for 20 paces and the initial tally late in the first quarter. Right Tackle Darwin Morgan splitting the uprights for the extra point. Two puzzling and ground gaining reverses set up the touchdown play.

Teague Scores In Fourth

Second counter was reeled off in the opening minutes of the fourth. Lemuel Teague, right half, scampering 18-yards to paydirt on an end play. Attempt at conversion from placement failed. During the second and third periods, the Levellands kept the charges of Coaches Mule Davis and Lovic Liston on the defensive.

team and are given a good chance of winning the district championship.

Brackenridge also is unbeaten and should Kerrville defeat this team at Kerrville Friday night, the Antlers would become co-favorites with the fine Austin eleven for the title.

Other than Amarillo, Kerrville and Brackenridge, the undefeated, untied teams having games are:

Plainview, which plays Ysleta at Plainview.

Childress, which goes to Graham.

Paris, which entertains Gainesville.

Sherman, which is host to Benham.

Masonic Home, playing Riverside at Fort Worth.

Stephenville, entertaining Dublin.

Longview, meeting Texarkana at Longview.

Lufkin, tanging with Palestine at Palestine.

Jeff Davis (Houston), playing Milby (Houston).

Lamar (Houston), meeting San Jacinto (Houston).

South Park (Beaumont), engaging St. Anthony's (Beaumont).

Austin, playing Jefferson (San Antonio) at Austin.

Beeville, going to Victoria.

Brownsville, entertaining Mercedes.

Corpus Christi, opening the district campaign against Kingsville at Corpus Christi.

Harlingen, playing Edinburg in a district conference game at Harlingen.

Lubbock Bryan, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) and McAllen are the undefeated, untied teams resting this week.

strictly a breather for the Loboes. The Indians have won but one game this year, that in their season opener with Plains. Since then they have lost to Post, Sudan, Littlefield and Olton by decisive scores.

Other conference engagements find Ralls Jackrabbits at Spur to play the Bulldogs in a 4-A league game. Spur gave Matador quite a battle last week before going down, 20 to 13, and appears a very slight favorite to down Ralls, who lost to Floydada, one of the 4-A triumvirate of favories, last week, 13 to 7.

Coach Phillip Harmon's Sudan Hornets encounter Muleshoe at Muleshoe in a 3-A north half conference clash. The game probably doesn't mean a thing, since neither

Tahoka Juniors Win As Varsity Preps For Cubs

TAHOKA, Oct. 17 (Special)—Tahoka's junior Bulldogs, carrying on while the varsity rests in preparation for their battle with Brownfield's Cubs next week, won a 12 to 0 contest from the Brownfield junior team here tonight.

Coach Leo Jackson's Bulldogs, after losing their first conference game at Slaton by a 20-18 score, have been drilling hard this week. They play in Brownfield next Friday night, hoping to upset the Cubs, reigning favorites in the District 5-A race.

Despite the fact they have won but one game this season, Tahoka fans are supporting the Bulldogs ardently. More than 350 journeyed to Slaton for the game there, traveling in cars and on a special train. Another large group is expected to attend the game in Brownfield.

Tech Meets BYU

University of Wyoming, Texas Tech has tied one, 6-6 with the Oklahoma Aggies; won two, 19-0 over Loyola university of Los Angeles, and 32-19 over University of Montana at Missoula.

In those games, the players listed in the above lineups earned their right to start tonight. Although Brigham Young has ten regulars off last year's eleven, only seven of them are scheduled to start. They are Wayne Reeve and Roland Jensen at ends; Fred Bateman and Garth Chamberlain at tackles, Gail Lewis and Art Gilbert at guards, Lloyd Brink at right halfback. Another, Fullback Dean Gardner, will be replaced by Sophomore Gerald Marking, while Reed Nilson, another sophomore, has been named to start at center in place of Shirl Blackham, 212 pound senior.

Soph Backs Get Nod

Texas Tech's lineup reads entirely different from that of a year ago, but the club has been going nicely so far, has a lot of capable replacements in both line and backfield, and is considered fit to take care of itself in almost any emergency the 1940 schedule suggests. There are plenty of sophomores and juniors on the squad, particularly in the backfield where Jumbo Webster and Red Amonett are likely to step in at any time, along with C. L. Storrs, a junior who can throw strikes and steal bases and first downs.

Parents of Texas Tech students are to be honored today, and the fathers and mothers of varsity football players are to occupy special "benches" on the sidelines if previous rituals are observed, and will be introduced between halves.

SEMI-FINALS REACHED

SAN ANTONIO Oct. 17. (AP)—Rodney DeLange of San Antonio, Dr. D. S. Harris of Dallas, George V. Rotan of Houston and R. H. Nix of Dallas marched into the semi-finals of the state senior golf tournament today at the San Antonio Country club.

DeLange had the toughest battle of the group, barely getting by Ike Handy of Houston on the 19th green.

is given a chance to upset the Littlefield and Olton elevens, the leaders in the circuit. Muleshoe reigns as favorite by virtue of its strong showing in holding Olton to a 14-6 score last week.

Cowhands At Olton

Lubbock's Cowhands, considering ways and means of avenging a 32-0 drubbing they took last season, invade Lamb county for a contest with the potent Olton Mustangs. The Cowhands are manned by the best bunch of boys they've ever had this season, but they hardly rate well enough to upset the Mustangs, who still have the Hedges twins.

Floydada, Lockney and O'Donnell will rest, unless O'Donnell secures an opponent at the last moment. It was originally slated to play Andrews tonight, but Andrews school officials cancelled the clash.

Class B games include: New Deal at Seagraves at Stanton, Meadow at Abernathy, Ropes at Cooper, Seminole at Andrews.

Slaton Battles Post In Conference 5-A Contest Tonight

(Special To The Avalanche)

SLATON, Oct. 17. — Slaton's Tigers, once winner in the District 5-A title race, meet the twice-beaten Post Antelopes here at 8 o'clock Friday night in a game that could have an important bearing on the conference race.

Coach Curtis Hamilton's Tigers are currently tied with Brownfield for the southern division lead as a result of their thrilling 20-18 victory from Tahoka last week. But they are no better than even choices against Post, despite the fact that the Antelopes have been beaten in two conference games.

Everybody In Shape

The point is that the Antelopes were good enough to hold Levelland to a 6-0 victory and Levelland was good enough to stop Brownfield 6-6. Their 0-0 tie with O'Donnell isn't so easily explained, but may be charged mostly to over-confidence.

Both teams are in top physical shape, with every first-line player ready to start.

Post will lead off with Capt. Delmo Gossett, Ralph Dean, Charley Luttrell and Winifred Carpenter in the backfield, with speedy Laurence Sherrod ready to go in if necessary. Luttrell is a triplethreater who handles more than his share of the kicking, passing and running chores. He is particularly adept at passing. Gossett is also a crack runner, and is the usual receiver for Luttrell's passes. Dean is the boy they give the ball when they have to have a yard down the middle. He is also the outstanding defensive man on the team, operating from the left linebacking slot.

Collier Paces Slaton

Slaton's offense is constructed around a sophomore terror at fullback, Elzo Collier. As a freshman last year, he didn't start showing his wares until the Tigers met Brownfield for the division title. He entered the game in the last half with the score 20-0 against the Tigers and drove the count up to 20-13 at the final gun. This year he has carried on in satisfactory style. Against Roscoe it was his touchdown plunge and extra point through the line that beat the Plowboys, 7 to 6.

The starting lineups: Post—W. R. Carpenter and Guy Harrison, ends; Robert Miller and Billie Hudman, tackles; J. W. Hodges and Clyde Williams, guards; A. C. Surman, jr., center; Gossett, Dean, Carpenter and Luttrell, backs.

Slaton—George Green and Earl Biassingame, ends; Shirley Butler and Van Smith, tackles; Bruce Maxey and R. C. Hall, guards; Frank Weatherford, center; Billy Miller, Harry Bell, J. W. Martindale and Elzo Collier, backs.

Aggies Tackle Frogs

scene of its worst nightmare—Little Rock—to meet Arkansas in the other conference game. The starting Texas lineup will be dotted with new faces—faces of erstwhile second stringers who stirred up so much commotion in the Oklahoma game last Saturday that they have been promoted.

Two years ago at Little Rock Arkansas plastered Texas, 42-6. But that, as a wag put it, was 1938 B. C. —before Crain. The boy Jack Crain, who whipped Arkansas in the last twenty seconds last season by legging some 65 yards for a touchdown, is back again. Arkansas surprised by beating Baylor last week, 12-6, but Texas is something else again.

Mention of Baylor reminds of their Saturday night date with Villanova at San Antonio. The Baylors are gradually getting over the stunning loss of Jack Wilson and will try new stuff—plenty of aerials and swift running plays built around Bill Coleman—against the visitors.

In Dallas Southern Methodist, crippled by the absence of Quarterback Foster Elder, Guard Eddie Bianchi and minor hurts to other starters, meets unbeaten Auburn in a classic intersectional game that brings Dick McGowen, Auburn's touted back, to Texas for the first time.

Down in New Orleans Rice throws its newly found strength against thrice-defeated Tulane. If the Owls slip by this one—and Tulane is beginning to get very mad about the whole situation—they'll be as dangerous as time bombs. Little Gene Keel, 155-pound triple-threater, and T. A. Weems, a couple of sophomores who licked L. S. U., 23-0, are ready again.

WILSON RETURNS HOME

DENVER, Oct. 17. (AP)—Jack Wilson, Baylor university halfback who suffered a kidney rupture in Baylor's football game with Denver university here Oct. 4, was released from Presbyterian hospital last night and departed for his home at Paris, Texas.

Wilson's doctor said the Baylor back was "much improved" but declared Wilson could not play football again this season.

Combining Of Austin College, Trinity University Favored

Resolution Will Go To Trustees

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Oct. 17.—A resolution favoring the combining of Austin college, Sherman, and Trinity university, Waxahachie, was being prepared for distribution to trustees of the two schools today after having been passed by the Texas Presbyterian synod.

The resolution, adopted unanimously at the closing meeting here, read: "Hereby approve in principal the merger of Trinity university and Austin college and therefore instruct trustees of Trinity to confer with trustees of Austin in an endeavor to work out a place and program for a merger of the two institutions."

Pension Payments In Section Small

At the end of September, monthly payments totaling $1316.41 were being received by 86 persons in the area served by the Lubbock office of the Social Security board, according to Lang B. Holt, manager. "Of the 86," Holt said, 40 are fully-insured wage earners, aged 65 or over, who have retired from covered employment. In addition, 21 wives and widows are receiving payments each month, as well as 25 children and aged dependent parents of wage earners."

Besides the monthly payment, $2,817.14 has been paid in lump-sum benefits since January 1, 1940, in cases in which no monthly benefit were payable, Holt reported.

The Lubbock field office, Holt said, will lend assistance without cost to those desiring to file a claim. Furthermore, Holt pointed out, regular itinerant service is being maintained at Brownfield, Denver City, Levelland, Littlefield, Plainview, Post, Tahoka, Slaton, Floydada, Spur and Paducah for the purpose of assisting claimants to completely prepare their claims. Arrangements can be made by mail for an appointment at one of these towns if it is not convenient for the claimant to visit the field office, the manager said.

Veteran Rodeo Rider Dies In Vets Hospital

DENVER, Oct. 17. (AP)—Charles F. (California Frank) Hafley, 69, among the first of rodeo performers to wear the bright-colored shirts and kerchiefs now virtually a badge for all rodeo riders, died yesterday at Fitzsimmons general hospital.

Hafley was a rodeo and circus performer for 40 years and with his wife, Mrs. Mayme Francis Hafley, operated his own show for several years. Trick rifle shooting by Hafley and riding by his wife were the feature acts.

Dick Shelton, Hafley's son-in-law, was seriously injured Oct. 1 while bulldogging at Beeville, Texas. Friends said the accident materially affected Hafley.

Cole Bros. circus will give performances in Lubbock the afternoon and night of Thursday, Oct. 31, according to announcement Thursday. The site will be opposite the fairgrounds on East Broadway.

The stellar attraction will be Ken Maynard, famous motion picture star and his "congress of rough riders of the world." With him he will bring his famous horse, "Tarzan."

Circus Has Been Rebuilt

Advance announcements stated that the circus has been rebuilt completely since the fire disaster in winter quarters which cost a number of lives, destroyed many animals and caused an almost complete loss of equipment.

The complete performance, according to the announcement, will consist of more than 200 acts, including the gigantic spectacle, "La Habana," cast of which will include 50 dancing girls. The circus is traveling aboard two special trains.

Famine More Serious Threat In The Orient

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Oct. 17. (AP)—Famine is a much more serious threat in the Orient than in Europe, Broomhill's Corn Trade News said today.

"If war flares up in the Pacific we fear it would not be long before the peoples of Japan, China, and Manchukuo would feel the pinch of hunger," the trade organ said. "Japan's 1940 wheat crop has been a disappointment while the rice supply has fallen somewhat short . . .

"We are convinced that in event of war spreading to the Orient hunger will attack the people more readily than it will in Europe. For while the standard of living in Europe can be lowered in various ways, millions of Asiatics already are existing on the lowest standard capable of supporting life."

Few Detours In State Highways Announced

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Texas highway department today announced that a bridge on state highway 85, over an irrigation canal 23 miles northwest of Eagle Pass is open to light traffic only, due to repairs that are being made.

Truck traffic is being routed from Eagle Pass via Brackettville to Del Rio, while the repair work is being done.

The former three-mile use of a temporary route for state highway 78 through Bonham has been reduced to one mile.

The detour on state highway 110 in Smith county northwest of Tyler now has been increased to a total distance of four and a half miles. A little more than three miles of the temporary route is over paving. The rest is over gravel and is reported dusty.

Need For Regulations For Mines Safety Cited

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP) — The interior department said today that investigation of an explosion that killed 19 men in a Scott county, Ark., coal mine Aug. 27 gave "strong evidence of the need for federal administration of mine-safety regulations."

The department issued a report by the bureau of mines, which said that no safety organization was maintained at the mine and that "first aid or mine safety training has not been conducted at this mine for several years." It said there is no safety organization in any coal mines in Arkansas or Oklahoma.

"The immediate cause of the explosion," the report said, "was the forming of an inflammable mixture at the face of the second entry caused by the exposing of a gas feeder by a cutting machine which was ignited by an electric arc caused by shutting off the current from the machine or by the flame of a match."

Smaller Nations Of Europe Looking To Britain For Leadership In Conflict

Terms Of Peace Most Desired

By J. W. T. MASON
United Press War Expert

The problem of placing before the smaller nations of Europe what they are to expect if Great Britain brings Germany and Italy to terms has begun to be discussed among the British people. There are recurring signs of a desire among the occupied countries of the continent that the British encourage them to develop passive resistance by explaining how Great Britain believes Europe should be reorganized after the end of the war.

Winston Churchill in the house of commons yesterday refused to declare British war aims until the British empire's capacity to survive is more generally recognized. That probably means the British must carry the war more intensively against Germany and Italy before any advantage would result from an official announcement of Britain's post-war desires.

Strong Leadership Factor

Always in a great war there is pressure for peace in the belligerent countries. Such movements grow when there is a deadlock or when one side or the other does not quite see how it can gain the initiative or when economic distress is increasingly felt.

If strong leadership then shows itself the desire for peace declines. There was no strong leadership in France last summer and the French people's longing for peace met no resistance. France collapsed and has been in misery ever since.

In Great Britain resolution is much stronger. The staying qualities of the British have been demonstrated throughout centuries of warfare. It would be wrong, therefore, to attribute the desire for a statement of war aims to fatigue and a wish for peace on unsatisfactory terms.

Anxious For Leadership

Nevertheless, the conquered countries of continental Europe are anxious to have some form of leadership which will stimulate them morally and will encourage them to counteract, as far as possible, the infiltration of Nazi principles. No one can believe that the status quo as it prevailed before the war will be reestablished when the war ends.

Some changes, geographical and otherwise, are inevitable. It is possible that the era of small countries unable to defend themselves has gone into eclipse and larger geographical units may become essential for self-defense. Too, it may be that a better division of territories that produce essential raw materials will be necessary.

Must Be Encouraged

As the present conflict goes into next year and may even be prolonged into the year following, an important part can be played by underground resistance to the dictatorship form of government in the small democracies now occupied by German troops. It must be encouraged; however, sooner or later by public knowledge of the kind of peace which may be expected to result after the axis powers have become weakened.

If that is not done the smaller countries may turn in despair to totalitarianism with all forms of resistance in a state of collapse.

The offensive power of the British navy, though it is the most effective weapon for a lengthened war, is too invisible to impress the smaller nations with its vital strength. A more open display of offense is required. Until it appears, Churchill seems to be using strategy by postponing a detailed announcement of war aims which, in effect, mean the British terms for peace.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Motor Designed To Use Water

(By The United Press)

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 17.—Using water instead of gasoline as "primary" fuel, a new type of motor has been developed by Harry L. Anderson, former railroad engineer.

The motor can be used in airplanes, locomotives and other machines, the inventor claims.

Motive power for the motor is developed in twin boilers. Steam is generated by electric coils in the first boiler and then passes through the second one where it is supercharged before transmission to the compound turbine engines located in the wings of the plane or over the driving wheels of the locomotive.

Fan Operates Dynamo

A wind fan, located at the front of the plane or engine, operates a dynamo to create the required electricity for the heating coils in the boiler. The wind fan is operated automatically by the force of the wind when the plane or locomotive is in motion. When not in motion, the heating coils are fed from a standard starting device.

Anderson describes his motor as a "form of perpetual motion" and claims it is silent as well as economical.

The motor can be made in various forms and sizes to meet the particular requirements of the various machines used, says Anderson.

Seven-Year-Romance Is Ended In Divorce

LONDON, Oct. 17. (U.P.) — A man who knew his wife for 17 years before he married her, was engaged to her for seven years, but had only six months of married life, has been granted a decree nisi in London on the grounds of desertion.

Granting the decree to the man, Thomas William Clark, Justice Bucknill said that the only explanation Mrs. Clark gave for leaving her husband was that he paid too much attention to his mother, who lived in the same house, but had a separate flat.

Mrs. Clark contested the petition.

Officials' Expenses Are Said Too Low

ANTIOCH, Cal., Oct. 17. (U.P.) — The Antioch City Council rejected the convention expense accounts of its mayor, city clerk and city attorney on the grounds they were too low.

Mayor Claude Stitt, City Clerk Charles Hornback and City Attorney John Sutton attended the state convention of the California League of Cities in San Diego. They submitted expense accounts of $55 each, although the Council had previously authorized them to draw up to $200.

Councilman Foster Beaman, chairman of th city finance committee, said he knew none of the delegates had made the trip for so little as $55, and he advocated paying them the full amount they spent.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Use your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills. adv.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR GUMS

Do your gums itch, burn or cause you discomfort? Druggists will return your money if the first bottle of "LETOS" fails to satisfy. Mack Haisey Drug. adv.

Army To Mark Road Network For Defense; Traffic Control Is Defense Need

France's Defeat Example Cited

By OLIVER H. KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. — The army general staff is taking precautions against an eventuality that clogged roads in the United States might some day prevent troops from reaching a given point to turn the tide against an invader.

One of the contributing factors to the defeat of France, according to some military observers was the clogged roads of Belgium.

When the German army smashed into the Low Countries last May, fifth columnists spread terror among the population by telling them the Germans were only a few miles away and advising them to flee at once.

The result was that the Belgian townspeople and peasants, fleeing from the border, picked up new hordes of refugees as they swept past town after town. By the time they approached the French border, they were of such preponderant numbers that the French army they met on its way to stem the tide of invasion was unable to move past them.

The cumulative result was that Belgian fell and with it France.

Traffic Control Tested

The army is making sure that this will not happen in the United States.

The army recently held extensive maneuvers in three areas, attended by civilian traffic control experts. Their job was to observe army transport movements and submit reports and recommendations to the general staff on the best way to handle military traffic quickly and with a minimum of inconvenience.

Their reports will be made soon. But in the meantime, the army is making arrangements with the Automotive Safety Foundation for a study of all traffic control problems in connection with military movements.

The foundation, through its president—Paul G. Hoffman, offered its services which were accepted by the War Department and a number of conferences between army officers and some of the nation's leading traffic control experts followed.

The conferences took up the subjects of traffic engineering, training of traffic military police, and driver training and fleet operation.

Experts Study Problem

Among the observers at the August maneuvers were Sidney J. Williams, director, public safety division, National Safety Council; Dr. Miller McClintock, director Yale Bureau for Street Traffic Research; Lieut. Franklin M. Kreml, director, safety division, International Association of Chiefs of Police; Burton W. Marsh, director, safety and traffic engineering department, American Automobile Association, and Reynolds Weaver, assistant director of the foundation.

The facilities and personnel of the organizations represented by these individuals have been offered, as well as special facilities for research into traffic control and congestion.

In addition, the army enlisted the aid of the American Trucking Association, Inc., and the National Association of Motor Bus Operators, which will make available their fleet engineering methods and drivers' training practices.

Still a further step to build up a defense highway system has been taken by the War Department.

With the assistance of the Public Roads Administration, the army is making a survey of 750,000 miles of arterial highways in the continental United States to ascertain where they are weak, what repairs will be needed, what new roads if any will be necessary, and how much the whole job will cost.

A report on this survey probably will be made to President Roosevelt soon.

Meantime, the roads administration is preparing to construct 3,000 miles of roadway leading to military reservations—necessitated for the most part by erection of 120 cantonments to house draftees.

Star With One-Word Line Is Featured In Broadway Show

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 — The Broadway curtains are rising this season on as quaint a set of characters as producers have brought to the footlights for the entertainment of theater and night club patrons here in many a season. They range from a star actress who has a one-word role to a strip teaser who has the disrobing done by a nonchalant parrot.

Four and a half years ago Helen Craig walked into a producer's office and found herself the object of an almost embarrassing scrutiny by a man who turned out to be Elmer Harris, the playwright. He called over another man, producer Harry Wagstaff Gribble, and then they told Miss Craig they would have a role for her.

Part Was A Gamble

The role was ready only six months ago. And Miss Craig (whose husband is John Beal, the film actor) learned that she was to play a deaf mute with only one word to say and that word came at the very end of the play. Also, the part would require several months of study of the sign language—a gamble for the play might not be well received.

Miss Craig took the chance and her performance in Harris' "Johnny Belinda" won her critical applause. She plays a deaf mute scorned by the community who is regenerated by a visiting physician. The one word she says is "Johnny," the name of her baby son.

Parrot Her Aide

On the opposite end of the dramatic scale, so to speak, is Yvette Dare who is playing the night club circuit with her parrot, Einstein. Miss Dare's act varies slightly, but at Leon and Eddie's club she does a dance in a white two-piece sarong and at cues in the music Einstein flies from his perch and carries away the garments. He makes two flights per show.

Ed Wynn dug deep into the unusual act reservoir for his "Boys and Girls Together." One of his finds was Lucienne and Ashour, an Apache dance team with an unconventional twist. For the first chorus of their routine Ashour gives his feminine partner a two-fisted beating. The lady has her day in the second chorus and Ashour takes one of the worst flailings in stage history.

Boy Is A Star

"Journey to Jerusalem" is one of the rare times a playwright has attempted to deal with Jesus and his family. Maxwell Anderson wrote this play about the Christmas journey when Jesus was 12 years old and for the role he selected 15-year-old Sidney Lumet, a handsome lad who looks younger than his years. As preparation for his role Lumet engaged in his usual average boy routine of baseball, football and cycling and showed up to rehearsal all scarred and bruised. The play almost had to be changed.

"I play the Messiah as though he were a boy from your home town," Lumet said. "Everybody tried to get me to read books on Him, but I decided no one really knew what He was like—except that He was all boy to all boys."

Pitchmen Are Featured

The war is responsible for the appearance in this country of Harris, Claire and Shannon, although they are American citizens. Fred Harris is a New Yorker. Julie Claire and Joan Shannon are from Seattle. They comprise the only ballroom dance team in show business in which a man dances with two women. Famous from the Riviera to Cairo, the team got here via freighter when the war broke out and are now at the La Conga Club. Harris dances with his partners as though they were one girl, despite intricate steps and lifts.

Few acts can boast of reaching the plush-lined Rainbow Room on the 65th floor of Rockefeller Center, much less starting there, but an act which calls itself the Three Pitchmen performed this difficult feat. The Pitchmen are three lads who were doing a lapd office business at the World's Fair selling tin whistles. Each a virtuoso on the little instrument, they assured listeners it was easy to play as they did.

John Roy, who manages the room for the Rockefeller family was unimpressed by the spiel but fascinated by the kind of music the youths drew out of the whistles and so they made their formal professional debut before the white shirt fronts and ermine wraps of one of the swankiest spots in the country.

First Billion In Deficit Reached

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 — The treasury has marked up its first billion dollars of deficit for the 1941 fiscal year which began July 1.

The department's statement today recorded a deficit exclusive of debt retirement figures of $16,933,850, totaling $1,009,253,568.45, bringing the gross public debt to $44,059,874,298.

By the end of the 12 months, the deficit is expected to have reached about $5,700,000,000, running the gross debt up to more than $48,000,000,000.

Navajos Say Grazing Rights In Last Stand

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 17 (U.P.) — Navajos—colorful Indians of the West—are worried about their right to lands which they have held northeast of Bluff, Utah, along the banks of the San Jose river since 1900.

Recently, a group of nine, dressed in their traditional colorful tribal garb, came to Salt Lake City to discuss with E. J. Keefe, grazier, rights under the Taylor grazing act. Through their spokesman and tribal interpreter, Peter Begay, they claimed to represent some 40 Indian families. The party of six men, interpreter and two squaws said that attempts are being made to return them to tribal lands but they wish to remain where they are.

Federal officials in Salt Lake City said that other members of the tribe have returned to the reservation and they believe the group in question is rather a "last guard."

The question arose whether or not they are trespassing on public domain. Deputy Attorney John S. Boyden went over the legal aspects of their case with the Navajos.

Your children need
IRON DAILY

Brer Rabbit Syrup is RICH in IRON

To many mothers it may come as news that some of the foods which form a large proportion of the average child's diet provide very little iron, or supply it in a form the body cannot use fully. Yet a growing child needs relatively more iron than an adult.

To supply enough of this essential mineral, children's diets should include —daily—foods rich in iron that is fully available to the body.

Just such a food is Brer Rabbit Syrup! New research shows that the iron in Brer Rabbit Syrup is almost 100% available for use by the body ... more fully available than the iron in most other foods.

So why not let your children enjoy this delicious syrup daily? And be sure they get enough—for even a food high in iron content will not supply the body's needs if it is eaten in too small quantities.

Serve Brer Rabbit Syrup on all your pancakes, waffles, biscuits and hot breads. Spread it on plain or buttered bread for the children. Serve it on cereal in place of other sweetening. Everybody loves its old-plantation flavor ... that unforgettable goodness that comes from freshly crushed Louisiana sugar cane!

Give them IRON every day

In a delicious Milk Shake.

Pacific Coast Shipyards Win Defense Orders; Employment In Upward Trend

Huge Amount Of Contracts Let

(By The United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 17.—From an almost disapearing industry on the Pacific coast during the past 17 years, shipbuilding has suddenly leaped to the magnitude of one of the major industries.

The upward trend began early this year with the placing of orders by the various shipping concerns for new vessels for the Latin American and Far Eastern lines. The national defense program has now placed it back somewhere near the peak it reached as a result of the World War I.

A recent survey showed contracts totaling $691,650,505 had been awarded or are scheduled for Pacific coast construction. Of this total, more than half went to San Francisco and Bay Region yards.

Employment in the California ship-building yards has jumped to 16,090 men.

Need Skilled Men

On the basis of a $100,000,000 spending campaign from 20,000 to 25,000 men would be employed, authorities said, and with nearly $700,000,000 worth of ship-building scheduled for Pacific coast yards. The payrolls will approximate 80,000 men.

Shortage of skilled men along many ship-building lines already exists. To meet this emergency the ship-building yards and boards of education are conducting training schools. The United States Civil Service and the State Employment Service are cooperating.

It will require from five to six years to build the ships which have been or may be ordered, builders said.

The new methods of construction make it possible to build the hulls of vessels in 48 to 60 working days. Similar work required six months during World War construction.

Use New Methods

Some of these methods include speeding welding instead of riveting of plates and the prefabrication of sections of a ship's hull.

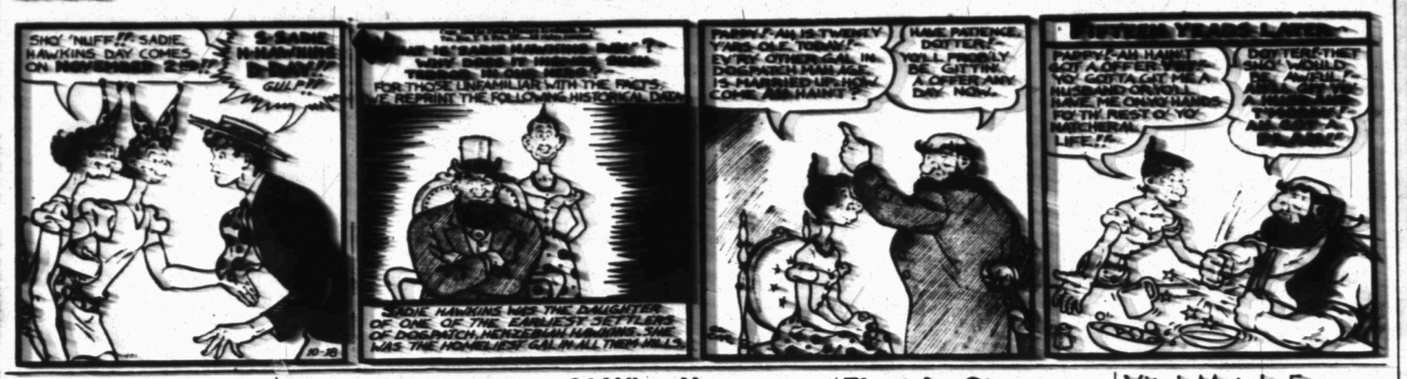

The government's Mare Island navy yard at Vallejo has the largest payroll. Its present number of 11,400 men is being increased at the rate of 400 to 500 weekly. Contracts there include six submarines, two airplane tenders and a floating dock.

Twenty New Subs

The Bethlehem Steel company of San Francisco has $277,740,000 worth of contracts for 20 submarines and four cruisers.

Contracts for commercial ships, distributed between the Bethlehem, Moore Drydock company, Western Pipe & Steel Corp., and other shipyards call for 21 ships at a cost of $51,466,520.

About 30 per cent of the total cost of each ship is paid in wages which is expected to increase the buying power of San Francisco ship-building workers by $120,000,000 before present contracts are completed.

American's Impression Of What Happens When Bomb Hits House Given By Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: What would you see and hear and do if bombs began dropping around your home? In the following dispatch, Harry Flory, European news manager for the United Press, gives an American's vivid and detailed answer.

By HARRY FLORY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 17—There was no warning—no whistling sound. Instead there was a sudden, terrific wham! And the clink of breaking glass mingled with the explosion of a German aerial bomb.

The house shook violently. I dived on the floor, yelling: "Duck!"

My dinner guest in the ground floor dining room of the five-story London house I share with a friend sat immobile in his chair. The maid who had just served dessert stood at the door. The sound of falling glass continued, but our house remained standing.

Felt Very Silly

I arose from the floor feeling very silly. We all laughed.

My friend said later I first looked cross, apparently because he and the maid had failed to take my advice and also because of my awkwardness in diving to the floor.

The house is in one of those garden squares of London's west end. We judged the bomb must have fallen in the garden, perhaps even on the trench shelter in which 50 or 60 persons usually sought safety.

Door Blown Open

Our front door stood open—the bomb concussion had blown the lock completely off the door. Our feet crunched on glass in the front hall. The heavy blackout curtains at the window on the first stair landing were down and light was streaming out.

We walked across the glass-covered street into the garden looking for the bomb but found nothing. An A. R. P. warden in a nearby church hall knew nothing.

An old woman, our neighbor, was shrieking unintelligible gibberish.

Finished Their Dinner

Her house had been hit by an incendiary bomb a co[illegible] of weeks before. She was the [illegible] person of the dozens I saw that evening who showed any signs of strain.

Returning to the house we found the maid and cook already had explored the entire house and had found this damage—about a quarter of the windows were broken, some window frames were bent or broken, the door of the servant's entrance in the basement areaway had been blown from its hinges, the ceiling plaster was down in three rooms and there were a couple of cracks in the top floor wall.

We sat down and finished our dinner.

Big Feet Are Called Helpful For Organist

EL PASO, Oct. 17. (U.P.)—Big feet are an asset to an organ player.

This theory was advanced by Dr. E. William Doty at a convention of the Texas Music Teachers association, and he is qualified to advance theories on the subject. He is dean of fine arts at the University of Texas and has the reputation of being one of the finest organists in the state.

While here to address the Association's convention, Dr. Doty said that his "big feet" and "loosely-constructed hands" were big factors to him as an organist.

"Organ playing demands independence of motion, not speed," he explained. "Organ playing requires independence of hands and feet in the organ. I'm built for that."

Florida Citrus Plan Adopted

(By The Associated Press)

LAKELAND, Fla., Oct. 17—Florida federal control committees adopted today an early and mid-summer orange marketing policy designed to help growers through a predicted heavy crop. It would exclude from interstate commerce all fruit grading lower than U. S. No. 2.

Definite grade and size restrictions will be drawn up at a meeting here next Wednesday. The federal secretary of agriculture will be required to impose first restrictions under the marketing agreement at 12:01 a. m. Oct. 28.

Grapefruit Already Regulated

Grapefruit already is being regulated under a policy adopted two weeks ago and which went into effect last Monday.

Today's orange policy recommends to the federal department that the Surplus Commodities corporation purchase 1,000,000 boxes of Florida oranges this year. Of these, it was recommended that 750,000 boxes be of early and midseason varieties and the remainder of the Valencia type. Further, it was asked that the purchases be made from the restricted grades and sizes so as to lend support to the cannery market. Purchase of a quality lower than U. S. No. 3 grade was not suggested.

Purchases Start Dec. 1

The policy requested that F. S. C. C. purchases begin about Dec. 1 and that oranges be placed as soon as possible on the list of commodities available to users of food stamps.

The policy was based on a recent federal crop estimated that Florida would produce 30,000,000 boxes of oranges, 18,000,000 of the early and midseason types and 12,000,000 of the Valencia types. This approximately was the size of the 1938-39 crop. The expectation for the nation as a whole in 1940-41 is about 85,100,000 boxes, including Florida tangerines. This compares with the next largest United States crop of 78,770,000 boxes produced in 1938-39.

Vital Metals From Alaska May Increase

SEATTLE, Wash. Oct. 17. (U.P.) — Alaskan tin deposits may give the United States a measure of protection in the event foreign shipments are cut off.

The Far North will produce between 50 and 60 tons of the vital defense material this year, it was said by Jack Underwood, manager of the Washington, D. C., office of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

If the deposits are sufficiently large, he disclosed, a tin smelter will be constructed near Seattle.

Miners have known of the existence of tin in Alaska for years," Underwood pointed out, "but since they were looking for gold, they didn't bother with it. Now government geologists are reported to have found new fields of ore in Arctic Alaska."

Most of Alaska's tin is produced at Tin City, near Cape Prince of Wales. In addition to tin, Underwood said, geologists are investigating possible large-scale production of chrome and manganese.

Russia And The Axis Powers

ATTEMPTING to forecast from this distance the course Russia may pursue in the Balkans obviously would be ridiculous.

However, elementary logic indicates that those who are hoping for war between Russia and the Axis powers are indulging in wishful thinking. Both would have too much to lose to become involved with each other unless there are factors not generally known which might force an immediate clash.

From the German viewpoint, it would appear that war with Russia would repeat the fatal mistake of the first World war. It would require fighting simultaneously on two widely separated fronts—one of those fronts being a Russia infinitely more powerful than the rrupt czaristic natio of 1914.

From the Russian viewpoint, involvement in war with Germany in the Balkans would mean the very strong probability of an attack by Japan in Siberia. On the Russian western front, Germany would be in position to swing into action all of the tremendous power of her gigantic mechanized land machine. Whether Russia could stand very long in the face of that machine is a serious question among military minds of the world. But an even bigger question is whether Germany could dare to risk dividing her air forces so as to cope with the several thousands planes which Russia would throw instantly into such a struggle.

Despite the factors which seem to argue for a continuation of the state of armed neutrality between Russia and the Axis, there are some which obviously might hold the potentialities of immediate war.

One is the possibility that Russia, regarding eventual war with the Axis as inevitable, might seize this as the time to fight with help instead of waiting to fight alone at some later date.

Another is that the Axis, faced with starvation because of the virtually impenetrable blockade that Great Britain maintains, may be forced in desperation to attempt the seizure of immense sources of raw material in Russia. It is entirely possible that shortage in the Axis are becoming so acute that sources of supply must be found if there is to be any hope of continuing any kind of war.

But war between Russia and the Axis would be a life-and-death gamble for them both. Russia, fighting on land without the hope of help from Great Britain, might be crushed and reduced to impotence by a blitzkrieg infinitely worse than those which subjugated Poland and France. Germany, on the other hand, might find the Soviet so tough a nut to crack that she would find herself engaged in two major wars simultaneously.

The gamble isn't one that either is likely to take except in the last extremity of desperation.

Time To Cut The Lace Away

RECENT comment by Hugh Baille, president of the United Press, that England's most pressing problem is a sufficient supply of airplane pilots might also be applied to all other nations, especially our own.

There isn't much question but that United States mass production methods can turn out a phenomenal number of planes. If we really set our heads to it, our industry conceivably could be geared to a production running into several thousand units a day.

But there can be no such output of pilots for the simple reason that the material isn't available. The supply of material is further limited by the fact that the young man who wants to be a pilot is required, among other things, to pass a literary test—though heaven alone knows how a knowledge of Shakespeare is going to help an aviator engaged in battle for his life.

Possibly it would help some in obtaining the men needed to fly the planes we build if we eliminate those portions of present tests which pertain to Greek, Latin and the flowers that bloom in the spring. The big question in considering the application of a prospective student pilot is: Can he be taught to fly? If he can pass that test, then others bearing on his literary accomplishments are entirely foreign to the subject.

The One Minute Sermon

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE FIRST PROFESSIONAL POET

Simonides of Ceos (556-467 B.C.) was the most popular Greek poet of his day and the first who refused to write poems unless he was paid for them. He used to say that he had two coffers at home—one for thanks, the other for money; the former coffer was always full. He was the first man to make literature a profession, and it is recorded that his mercenary policy in no way dimmed his fame or popularity.

The Road To Shami Lun

By RITA MOHLER HANSON

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britain, has failed in one last attempt to escape from her captor, Temu Darin, who is taking her to the Prince of Shami Lun, in the Mongolian desert for what Lynn supposed at first was a mere visit. Now Lynn is sitting atop a speeding camel, almost in agony from the beast's rocking gait, yet still unable to get the thought of dark Temu Darin out of her mind.

CHAPTER 14.
CAMP AT LAO.

The caravan was soon among the dunes, traveling sometimes between the ridges, but more often up and down, up and down, over the high-peaked mounds of yellow-gray sand.

By camping time Lynn was so wrenched and tossed and twisted that she didn't care whether she lived or died. They stopped in a level canyon between two mountain-high old dunes on which a bit of vegetation had taken root. Here where a well had been dug a small caravan on its way to Eastern China had already camped. The men were drawing water with a goatskin bucket.

Lynn's mount collapsed by tonis back and forth like a vibrating bridge and with a final, peevish, groan dropped to her knees. As Lynn slid off, the spry, old Duchess came trotting up and led her to the dining tent. Lynn sank into a comfortable canvas chair and groaned a bit as the camel had groaned.

"How do you feel, incarnate Tara?" Temu asked.

"Anything but a goddess," she replied and closed her eyes. She was so absolutely miserable that tears wet her lashes.

"I'm sorry," he said, sitting down in a chair beside her and bending forward to scrutinize her face. "We'll see that you get a good hot bath tonight to take out the soreness. In a few days you'll be feeling fine."

She tried to smile but her chin quivered.

He lifted one of her hands, spreading it out in his and looking at the beautifully kept, pink nails. He and the Duchess discussed the hand. Then he explained to Lynn.

"The Princess Mother has two nails on her left hand as long as your index finger."

Lynn marveled. "What care she must take of them."

"She is a lady from the imperial family of China and brought a large retinue when she came to Delun forty years ago. You will find many old Chinese customs at the court. The Princess Mother is gentle and retiring and she paints and writes poetry. She had no children, but her husband's Mongol wife bore him a daughter who is married and lives at the court."

"Married to you?" Lynn asked with more sharpness than she had intended.

"I wasn't eligible. She is married to the Duke of Sachto, a man from Eastern Mongolia." And in answer to the question she had asked indirectly, he replied, "I am not married. There are many unmarried men in Mongolia but no unmarried women that I know of. It is a country that breeds men."

"It is a hard country," said Lynn, aware once more of her pain-wracked body.

He rose. "Your tent is ready now. Let Little Bamboo take care of you."

That night Lynn managed to place a letter, a duplicate of the one she had written in Pai Shu, in the hands of one of the Chinese camel-pullers of the caravan camped near them. The possibility of learning the nature of the difficulties between Dick and the Prince made her desire to go on with the journey. But this somehow was a move she felt compelled to make in her personal feud with Temu Darin.

New Caravan.

The next day was not so bad. Perhaps, she reasoned, her poor body had become inured to the unaccustomed swaying. Her consciousness felt suspended in a queer mood of objective acceptance, in the way she imagined a saint must feel taking everything without resistance.

Dust and cold, the absurd antics of the camels, the peculiar music of the trail that rang in the camel bells, the song and laughter of the men urging the caravan through the shifting lights and shadows of the interminable dunes. The sharp combs of their crest, reminding her of the backs of mighty, yellow dragons—all these were a part of an experience not fully realized.

The Duchess led the footmen on her fast-pacing camel, but Lynn and Temu stayed with the slower-traveling pack animals.

Early in the afternoon, on a wide, gravelly bench between two sand ridges, they met a traveling committee of lamas; a pony cavalcade in search of an incarnate saint. Temu and Lynn dismounted and sat on the ground, lotus-fashion, to visit with them. Their leader, a priest in faded, yellow robe, related his story to Temu who in turn told it to Lynn.

They came from a white monastery on a red hillside in the Tiger Mountains. Several years before, the spiritual head of the monastery had died, and prognosticians now indicated that somewhere on the steppes east of this point he had been reborn in a Mongolian camp or settlement. They would go from tent to tent displaying a little collection of bowls and flutes and rosaries. One of each had belonged to their saint, and was a treasured possession. When they found a boy child who could pick out the proper articles from the collection by memory, they believed they would have found their leader again.

"Mightn't his parents object?" Lynn asked wonderingly.

"The parents will give him up gladly and feel honored that he was chosen."

She remarked skeptically, "Then, if it's such an honor, aren't certain children sometimes assisted in the selection of the right article?"

Temu grinned. These people are human. But sometimes beggar children seem to prove their rights to the positions and get them. I could tell you of some remarkable incidents."

He turned to the leader of the monks again. Lynn looked about. The gravelly bench on which they sat merged into a seat of dunes stretching to the rim of the inverted bowl of the sky, a yellowish-lavender light at the horizon and a fathomless blue at the zenith. Disappearing on the skyline into the Gobi solitudes, the caravan wended its way like a string of ants across a mighty furrowed field.

In Lynn's immediate presence, the two camels belonging to Temu and herself, and the six ponies belonging to the priestly cavalcade drowsed in the February sunlight. A monk brewed tea over a tiny argol fire, the smoke of which rose straight into the clear, heady atmosphere.

Strange Dreams.

Lynn's thoughts raced. What is this, a dream, a memory, or is it a fact? Here am I, Lynn Britton B. A. San Francisco, California, U. S. A., sitting on a stony desert road beside a cosmopolitan-spirited, scar-faced young Mongol waiting for tea to be served by a group of simple, more or less devout monks in search of an incarnate saint.

"Who is the saint they seek, Lynn asked Temu Darin.

"Maitreya, the laughing god."

Her eyes began to twinkle. "You are sure they're not looking for Tara?"

"Does one of these beads or flutes or rosaries strike a cord in your memory?"

"No, but the idea of a white monastery on a red hillside in the Tiger mountains fits into my dreams. Are memories and dreams so different?"

"Sometimes they're the same thing. And in the timelessness of the dream state, we frequently remember the future which has always existed along with the past. White monasteries may be stations on your journey, Tara Lynn, but a monastery is not the end of your road."

She gave him a sardonic glance. "I suppose you think a palace in Delun is the end of my road."

"Is it not?"

"I shall not go to Delun except of my own free will. A lilac tree is the end of my road."

His eyes went to the charm box that hung at her neck. "We'll see," he said.

"Tara Lynn is no simple Mongol child," she reminded him, "but an American girl with a will of her own."

He laughed. "If you're so clever, why distribute all your money to passing travelers? That letter you gave the camel-puller last night is in my pocket. Keep your money; then if you do escape you'll have some cash to use."

"Perhaps you're right," she agreed after a moment. "I shall learn to adapt myself to the country through which I must escape." She accepted a bowl of salt butter tea from the lama cook and drank it down determinedly.

Watching her, Temu laughed again and rose. "We must be going."

They soon caught up with the caravan. Lynn was surprised when, suddenly, they came to the end of the sand and entered a hilly country of rubble formation supporting a scant growth of wiry, yellow shrub.

An hour of travel up and down—and always more up and down—finally brought them to the winding level floor of a grassy depression sunk between bare, craggy mountains of scintillating reds and yellows and lavenders. It was warmer here, protected from the winds and flooded by sunbeams untempered by clouds of dust from the feet of traveling animals.

The caravan spread out and advanced at a quickening pace as if anticipating a perfect camping ground. They rounded a curve, and there ahead, towered the temple-monastery of Pallichao.

Temu Darin rode up beside Lynn. "Beautiful, isn't it?" he said in a low voice.

They saw horsemen descend from the monastery and gallop towards them.

"Sherdock is coming to meet us," Temu said. "He and the abbot, and there may be a Swedish explorer with them. There is something about this Mongolian country that seems to attract the Swedes. Perhaps they're Genghis Khan's warriors coming home. There may even be some Swedish strain in me."

She turned to him curiously. "Don't you know?" she asked. He shook his head.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FRESH revelations of Henry L. Stimson's apparent desire for immediate war on the dictators are proving a source of deep embarrassment to the administration. Inner War department circles hear that he may resign—or be transferred to another post—soon after or even before the November election.

Mr. Stimson's eagerness for an open alliance with Britain was no secret at the time of his appointment. His Yale exhortation to permit British vessels to repair and refuel in our shipyards already cluttered with American construction jobs foreshadowed the destroyer-bases deal. Recently he was disclosed as a director of the American committee for non-participation in Japanese aggression. His name still remains on the organization's letterhead, although it has been pen-scratched out since he signed up with the administration.

In their latest piece of propaganda, Mr. Stimson's former colleagues demand that "the United States . . . move promptly, without further delay, to end Japanese military aggression and to restore peace in the Pacific." With Fellow-Cabinet Member and Fellow-Republican Knox sharing this viewpoint, the fire-brand attitude of subordinate army and navy officers is explainable. They usually take their cues from topside.

SCUTTLE: Mr. Stimson's departure might be a political tenstrike for the President, especially if the latter is reelected. FDR would then be in a position to play long-range politics with a vengence. There are numerous "ifs" and "buts" in the way, but such obstacles have rarely daunted Mr. Roosevelt.

New Yorks Mayor LaGuardia is most frequently mentioned as Mr. Stimson's successor, no matter when the latter quits. The Roosevelt-LaGuardia favorite for next mayor of the metropolis happens to be Adolf Berle, jr., assistant Secretary of State and a LaGuardia rooter. Mr. Berle would undoubtedly be acceptable to Bronx Boss Ed Flynn, provided the latter were promised his mess of patronage. Since Tammany is again in the good graces of the White House, this combination might easily land Protege Berle in City Hall.

Possession of that stronghold along with up-state alliances would enable FDR to name Governor Lehman's successor in 1942. It would also strengthen the President's chances of picking his own heir at the 1944 convention through domination of the powerful New York delegation. And anybody who doesn't think FDR looks forward to continuation of his political riomination has not studied the President's career. The only fly in the political ointment is whether Brooklyn and Queens Democrats would submit to the Roosevelt-LaGuardia-Berle-Flynn regime.

PRESSURE: The attempts of New Deal hatchet men to suppress—or oppress—certain radio commentators may soon be aired on the floor of the Senate or House. The practices of intimidation will be likened to systems of terrorization under governments which the Democrats denounce in their public orations.

In several instances the administration radio agents have tried to persuade local clients to cancel their contracts with some commentators. They have spread the word that the radio speakers are unfair or prejudiced or antagonistic to certain racial or religious groups. But the latest and most flagrant episode involved one of those Presidential secretaries with a supposed "passion for anonymity."

After a news commentator had reported the egg-throwing at Nominee Willkie, together with Republican comments, the presidential spokeman phoned an unprintable remark to the aerial reporter—although FDR himself subsequently deplored the rude treatment of his rival. Some years ago the administration drove several speakers off the air because they were held to be hostile. Some radio interests have been forced to enlist under the New Deal banner because they were afraid to hold out. And the largest chains dare not apply a nonpolitical test too rigidly to FDR's speeches. The reasons are obvious—radio licenses must be renewed every 12 months, and the party in power controls the FCC.

OPINION: The American people are jingling more small change in their pockets today than ever before in our monetary history. The mints are working overtime to roll off dimes, nickels and pennies. The Philadelphia mint alone is turning out 4,200,000 pennies every twenty-four hours, but is behind orders.

Administration experts attribute it to the need for metal coins resulting from the new defense duty as well as local sales taxes and the spread of vending machines. But cynical Republicans retort that folks can't lay their hands on anything larger than a 10-cent piece!

NEW YORK
By Richard Wolde

CURIOUS politicians have just learned why Candidates Roosevelt and Willkie, while pictured by enemies to the brown and black shirts of Fascism, have not been cartooned in the blouse of Moscow. This election year exception by the Kremlin is reflected in the campaign politics of New York's assorted Communists.

Manhattan's best informed Reds confess that Moscow is unseasonably late with the campaign policy line. There have been no Soviet instructions on the editorial attitude to be taken by the Daily Worker on the U. S.-Japanese trouble and no instruction sheet on Russia's stand on the Asiatic Axis. Since 48 hours is the usual maximum between a military or diplomatic development and the Soviet delivery of corresponding operation plans, the unexplained delay has left the U. S. commissars on a limb.

Election officials expect one of the lightest Communist votes on record as a direct result of Moscow's deliberate decision to keep Soviet issues and partisans out of the election. With only three weeks to go, the pacemakers among Communist dailies are taking feeblest passbols at dictators and imperialism, reruns of old journalistic standbys, while keeping the presses ready for the blast-Roosevelt or blast-Willkie orders that fail to come.

AHEM: General Hugh Johnson promises to break fast on his own column if Gallup's election poll is right and Gallup says he'll never eat again if it's wrong.

Unlike any other questionnaire, in which the first job is toss out forever the Don't-knows and Undecideds, the first and practically the only—important duty of an election count is to spotlight these vacillating doubters. They are the news. One out of every 11 citizens questioned still can't say whom he's going to vote for. It's this fluid margin of nine per cent that will make or break Dr. Gallup. Not his four per cent mathematical allowance for error.

Professional politicians would delight and advertising "researches" would mourn to see the prideful Princeton an upset in his upper brackets this November. It could happen by a spontaneous stampede to Willkie as silent as was the far former Literary Digest in 1936, by the gentle manipulation, unseen but competent, of fewer than 4,000,000 voters of the sub-social level.

INDIRECT: The recent widening of interest in Canadian securities has led to speculation as to whether the Roosevelt-King mutual defense arrangements include provisions for U. S. financial partnership in the British Dominion of which the public at large is completely unaware.

Some executives suspect that agencies of the administration may quietly buy Canadian equities in order to bolster our neighbor's fiscal position and to pave the way for the long anticipated $2,000,000,000 loan to Ottawa. Some large institutional buying of high grade Canadian bonds is taking place currently, primarily because yields are more generous than in similar American securities. This development, it is pointed out, is of the greatest interest to London, since higher prices mean bigger profits from sales of requisitioned stocks and bonds.

Inspired American support of this movement, which is of no direct benefit to the people of this country financially, would thus serve the same purpose as the loans to Latin-American countries indirectly subsidizing London without directly contravening the Johnson act.

Here And There In Texas

By GORDON SHRADER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Oct. 18. — A sales tax likely will furnish chief issue for the 47th Texas legislature, as it did for the recent session of the 46th.

Results of the state Democratic primary elections show that leaders on both sides of that issue will again be members of the state legislature.

Pari-mutuel horse racing, tighter liquor restrictions, old age pension support, redemption of the state's pledge of a teacher retirement fund and defense measures promise to enliven any moment that the legislators have idle from the sales tax controversy.

May Curb Office-Holders.

The recent state campaign in which two members of the State Railroad commission and one member of the State Highway commission were candidates for governor has made a live issue of the movement to curb office holders running for new offices.

Various plans to regulate office seeking have been put forward, but it is likely that a constitutional amendment will be required to make any of them effective.

The state constitution sets the qualifications for holding the office of governor and most of the offices filled by state-wide election. The Fourth Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio ruled that when the constitution sets the qualifications for holding office, the legislature cannot add restrictions. For this reason it ruled that campaign expenditures in excess of the amounts fixed by the legislature could not bar a man from holding the constitutional office to which he was elected. So any legislative act limiting eligibility likely would be held invalid.

OBIE L. McALISTER, returning representative from Fort Worth, has announced that he will tackle the problem with a proposed constitutional amendment. It would prohibit persons holding state office with four to six year terms from seeking other elective posts without resigning. This plan would hit particularly railroad and highway commissioners, members of the State Board of Control, the Unemployment Compensation commission and other boards set up with overlapping six-year terms.

The proposal seems fated to hit a snag in the Senate because senators hold four-year terms. McAlister plans to get around this by making it apply only to full-time jobs.

It would not permit members of the House of Representatives, the governor, comptroller, attorney general, treasurer, agricultural commissioner, land commissioner, state school superintendent or other with two-year terms from being candidates while still in unexpired offices.

The Right Horsesh

The movement to create a separate commission to handle oil and gas affairs is almost sure to come before the next legislature but whether it will have any better luck than in recent sessions is doubtful. It has always in the past met opposition from forces that are seeking to reduce the number of state agencies, rather than increase them.

Taxes, as usual, will be a fighting ground. Based on former sessions it is a pretty safe prediction that after there is a showdown between the sales tax and the natural resources tax groups the time will be ripe for another omnibus tax bill adding a little to all taxes without singling out anything in particular.

An angle of the tax fight has had little serious attention in former legislatures is due for a thorough airing at the next session. This is use of taxes collected from motorists for purposes alien to road building, road maintenance or traffic supervision. The Texas Good Roads association already has started an educational campaign to arouse motorists to study where their taxes go—particularly the tax paid on gasoline. Data has been gathered to show that only about half the federal gasoline tax is returned to the state for highway purposes and that only two cents of the four cents a gallon state tax goes to the highway department for road building.

members of the next legislature for changes in liquor laws. He complains chiefly that the present law leaves a wide loophole for abuse of the medicinal liquor privilege in dry territory.

Buck Taylor, editor of the "Middlebuster," a political publication, predicted recently that there will be a movement to submit a constitutional amendment for prohibition. A plan to submit it to popular vote as a plank for the state Democratic platform was abandoned by the drys. Taylor says the war crisis will bring about a revival of the prohibition issue, pointing out that World war No. 1 precipitated the state and nation's former attempt at prohibition.

O'Daniel Plans Action

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel is reported to be planning a constitutional amendment to prohibit state appropriations in excess of amounts the state comptroller and state treasurer certify to be available for expenditure. This is aimed at halting the steadily-rising deficit in the state general revenue fund, from which most of the ordinary government activities are financed. The deficit now has passed $26,000,000.

TRUCK load limits, the so-called "fair trade" merchandising act and a barbers' price-fixing bill, all of which failed to become law after battles in the last legislature, seem headed for renewed battling in the next legislature. Prospects seem bright for the truck load bill if its advocates can agree on what they want in place of the present 7,000 pound limit.

WOOL EN ROUTE TO U. S.

BOSTON, Oct. 17 (AP) — A source close to the industry reported today that the first shipment of 250,000,000 pounds of Australian wool, valued at approximately $50,000,000, was en route to the United States for storage for British interests.

Although the wool was intended primarily for British military purposes, the source said some of it might be disposed of to American dealers.

Mattresses Will Be Distributed

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 17.—(Special)—As many as 3,679 low income farm families in West Texas are going to sleep better this winter as a result of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plan for providing surplus cotton and ticking for mattress making.

Of the 3,679 applications for mattress materials, 3,479 were filed by white families and 200 by Negro families, according to reports released by Lida Cooper, district agent for the A. and M. College Extension Service, who supervises home demonstration activities in 19 counties of this area known as Extension District 2. Under the program the Extension Service is charged with training rural leadership for supervision of the community mattress making centers, while the surplus cotton and ticking are provided by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. Community supervisors do not receive pay for their services.

Eligibles Are Determined

Regulations for the program provide also, that only farm families with a gross income of less than $400 in 1939 are eligible to participate in the program, and eligibility is determined by county AAA committees.

There are 99 community centers in the district where mattresses are being made. Some are in schools, gins, vacant buildings, fair grounds, and cotton warehouses. Since the program was inaugurated in the district this spring 1,474 mattresses have already been made and members of 2,444 families have worked in the centers.

Counties Are Listed

In counties where there are no home demonstration agents, agricultural agents are charged with the responsibility for arranging the program's operation and actual training of the community chairman in the principles of mattress making is done by Miss Cooper.

Counties in District 2 and county extension agents who are assisting with local administration of the program include: Bailey, Lillie Gentry; Castro, Mary Catherine Couch; Cochran, Lois Fouts; Crosby, Carolyn Dixon; Dickens Elizabeth Brooks; Floyd, Edith Lois Wilson, Clara Pratt; and Mona Keeter assistant; Lynn, Maurine McNatt; Parmer, Ruth Boyd; Swisher, Ruby Wood; Terry, Maretta Holloway, and Yoakum, Flossie Williams. Operations of the program in Briscoe and Motley counties will begin as soon as cotton and ticking are available.

Army Health Foreseen As Best In History

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 17.—(AP)—Young Americans who may be conscripted have a far greater chance to escape death through disease than at any time in the nation's history.

This assertion, made by Dr. J. N. Baker, Alabama state health officer, is based upon the progress made by medicine in the realm of disease prevention as well as cure.

The plan to coordinate the nation's medical "manpower" when and where needed in any emergency also will act as a curb to the spread of disease, Dr. Baker pointed out.

"It is by no means beyond the realm of reason to say that the outcome of the present war may be determined by the extent to which one of the leading belligerents will be able to curb illness among its civilian and uniformed population," Dr. Baker added.

Quadrant Made In 1636 Is Located

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Oct. 17 (AP)—A quadron and its book of instructions, both produced in England more than three cetnuries ago, have been found just 40 miles apart in Northwest Missouri.

The quadrant, used by mariners to determine the location of a ship, was manufactured by an astronomer named Gunter in the early part of the 17th century in London. Recently the instrument came into the hands of Dr. Lee McDonald, a dentist here. He immediately became interested in finding the instruction book that accompanied it.

This month, Dr. McDonald was informed that Dr. Charles D. Humbred, Bernard, Mo., had the instruction book. He investigated and found the volume still in excellent condition despite the fact that it was printed in 1639.

The book is of rag stock paper and contains more than 400 pages. It is illustrated with woodcuts and copper engravings. It was printed in James Boller's shop at the sign of the Marigold in Paul's Church yard.

Dr. McDonald and Dr. Humbred have worked out several problems with the quadrant by using the instruction manual. The instrument can be used to determine the time of day, sun's direction, and sun's altitude in degrees of celestial bodies.

Changing the name of the L. D. V.'s to the Home Guard cost Great Britain $14,600, the sum going for ner armlets for the men.
