PTA's Fate In Question

Life or death? The verdict on the issue of whether to disband the Parent-Teacher Association effective with the 1973-74 school year will be learned at the April meeting.

Members of the executive committee, meeting Tuesday, discussed the issue and approved putting the question before the people. Lack of participation in the organization led to the suggestion to disband.

Persons interested in keeping alive the organization that ties parents and teachers together are urged to attend the decisive meeting but are reminded there is a March meeting Monday night which should be supported.

The speech class will present their one-act play, "The Sisters McIntosh" at the 7:30 p. m. meeting Monday. The play will be presented in UIl District 1-A competition later.

A Few 'Hart Beats' Ago

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO - March 20, 1958

Farmers State Bank is constructing a vault to house the bank's safe and safety deposit boxes.

A new 4-H Club has been organized and will hold meetings each second and fourth Fridays.

The Rev. Juan Medina has been called as interim pastor of a Latin American Baptist Mission and will serve until arrangements can be made to secure a regular pastor.

TEN YEARS AGO - March 21, 1963

Approximately 150 persons attended the annual Teachers Appreciation Banquet Friday evening. Dr. James P. Cornette, West Texas State College president, was guest speaker. Cornette told his listeners, "Teachers become immortal in the minds of those whose lives they touch."

School board members are seeking to spell out the details of the effect on taxes if the proposed $460,000 school bond is approved.

FIVE YEARS AGO - March 21, 1956

Construction has begun on the highway between Hart and Edmonson.

Linda Popejoy and Rebecca Futrell were selected All District guard and forward, respectively. Named to the second team were Allene Van Vliet, and Margaret Swindle with honorable mention going to Linda Bailey, Reba English and Debbie Newsom.

SUNDAY GUEST

Mrs. Lucille Myers visited Mrs. Sam Davis Sunday afternoon.

"The modern proposal is said to be popping the question without questioning the pop."

"We used to hear about a business being started on a shoestring. Now one can only use them to lace shoes."

"We seldom feather our nest by going on a wild goose chase."

Coming Events

Saturday, March 24 - Roosevelt track meet; Hale Center meet for junior high boys and girls.

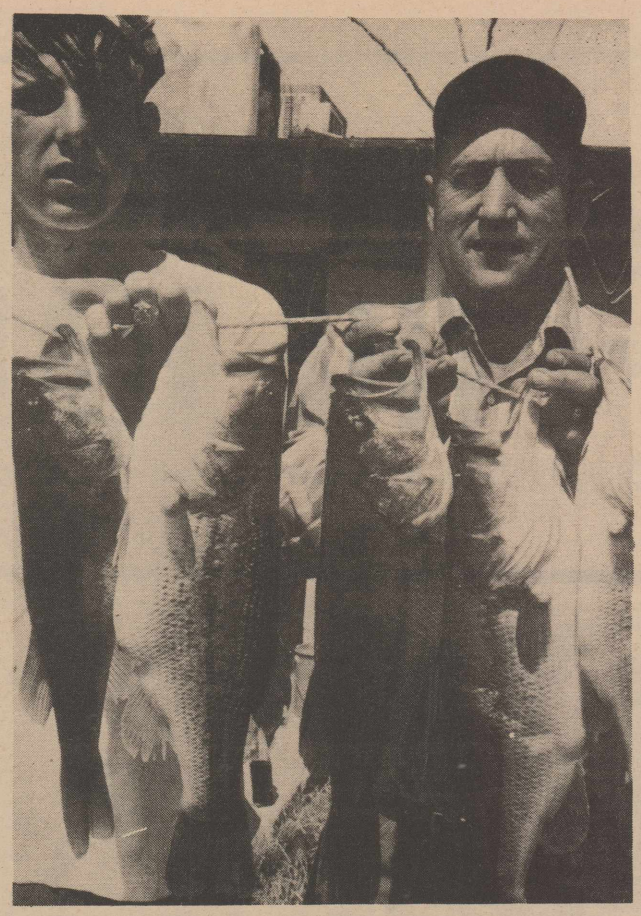

Monday, March 26 - Parent-Teacher Association.

Friday and Saturday, March 30-21 - Amarillo Relays.

FARM FINANCES

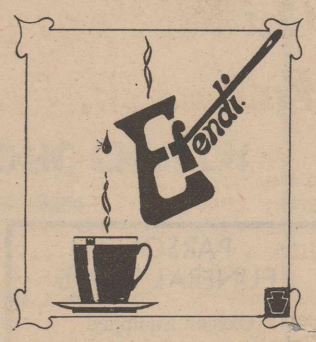

According to an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the financial picture for Texas farmers and ranchers is improving. Farm and ranch assets continued to climb during the past two years and now total about $32.8 billion, 85 percent of which is equity. Boosting overall assets is the continued increase in land values. Higher values for livestock, poultry and machinery are also contributing to the healthy equity situation.

"Diet is said to be the penalty we have to pay for exceeding the feed limit."

ONES THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY - Lanny and Jim Tucker proudly display proof of their anglers' luck with this catch they made last weeked at Oak Creek Lake near Sweetwater.

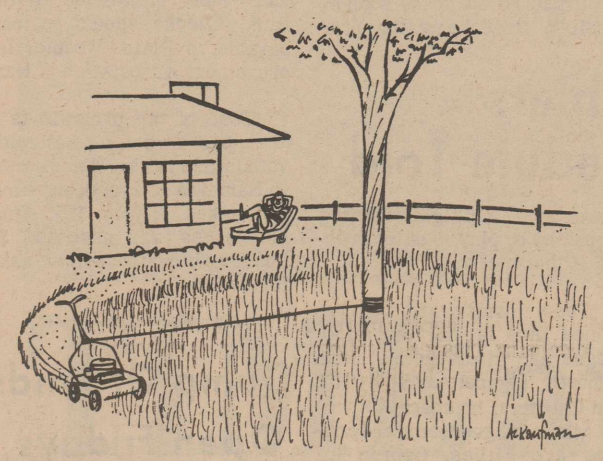

Turkish Delight

Not too long ago, cafe visitors shied away from any food or drink which they considered "exotic." Today's more mobile, sophisticated society has become more receptive to innovation. To sample a new blend, it's unnecessary to travel.

For coffee lovers who like the "unusual," the savory aroma and taste of Turkish coffee will be a welcome treat. Selected light roasted beans (American style) and dark roasted beans (French or Italian style) are skillfully blended and ground to an extremely fine consistency by experienced Turkish coffee makers. This brings a more intense and delicious flavor to the coffee break.

If you'd like a free sample and directions for preparing this demi-tasse, write to the Turkish Trade Center, 142 East 32nd St., N. Y., N. Y. 10016.

'Ma & Pa'

(Editor's note: the following poems are reprinted from Myrt Loman's column "This and That" in the Hart Beat section of the Olton Enterprise 15 years ago this month. We thought you might enjoy them again.)

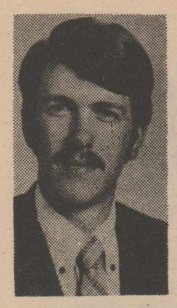

WHEN PA IS SICK

When Pa is sick, he's scared half to death,
And Ma and us just hold our breath.
He crawls in bed, an' puffs and grunts,
An' does all kinds of crazy stunts.
He wants "Doc" Brown an' mighty quick
For when Pa's ill, he's awful sick,
He gasps and groans, and sort O' sighs,
He talks so queer, an' rolls his eyes.
Ma jumps and runs, an' all of us,
An' all the house is in a fuss.
An ' peace an' joy is mighty skeerce,
When Pa is sick, it's something fierce.

WHEN MA IS SICK

When Ma is sick she pegs away,
She's quiet tho, not much to say;
She goes right on a'doing things,
And sometimes laughs or even sings.
She says she don't feel extra well,
But then it's just a kind of spell.
She'll be alright tomorrow. sure;
A good old sleep will be the cure.
And Pa, he sniffs an' makes no kick,
For women folk is always sick.
An' Ma she smiles, lets on she's glad
When Ma is sick, it ain't so bad.

DAVE LLEWELLYN

Know the Good Life

Life exists on five levels: plants, animals, man, angels, and God.

Significant qualitative differences separate each stage, though admittedly our present understanding cannot make the clear-cut, absolute distinctions we might wish. Some one-celled organisms are not definitively either plant or animal. The findings of some anthropologists and paleontologists seem to suggest developmental links between animal life and man. Parapsychologists studying phenomena like extra-sensory perception indicate they have found evidence that the human spirit is, apparently like the angels, not wholly limited to this physical body. There are some hints that the gap between angels and God has not always been considered unbridgeable (Isaiah 14:12-14).

In the middle is man. By "man" I mean, of course, both male and female. Although the roles of women and men — social, psychological, and spiritual — are undergoing intense scrutiny and evaluation, the quality of life in each is identical. Both were created "in the image of God" (Genesis 1:27) and thus are spiritual beings.

The "Middle" Man

Alexander Pope in his "An Essay on Man" describes mankind as:

"Placed on this isthmus of a middle state,
A being darkly wise and rudely great:
With too much knowledge for the skeptic side,
With too much weakness for the stoic's pride,
He hangs between; in doubt to act, or rest;
In doubt to deem himself a god, or beast."

The proper opinion is neither god nor beast but, simply, man.

As the only being with both soul (in common with the animals) and spirit (in common with the angels and God), man may be either brutish or godly and still be fully human.

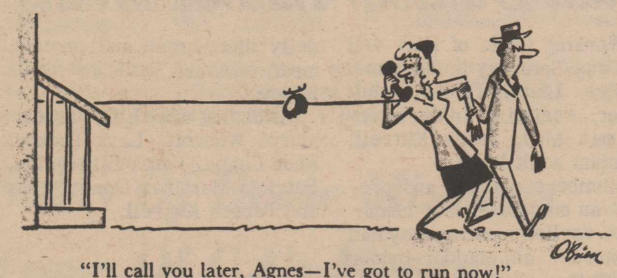

The Model Man

God has given man a responsibility and a privilege. The responsibility to manage the earth and the privilege to fellowship with God. Some men reject both and live as animals. (One need not be barbaric to do so; it may be accomplished with style and grace.) Most accept only the responsibility, managing their portions of the world with varying degrees of self-interest. Some try to exercise the privilege without fully accepting the responsibility and consequently mope through life dissatisfied in both work and worship. Most Christians, as far as I can tell, suffer in this error. The happiest find satisfaction in both responsible work and meaningful fellowship.

The Bible accepts the conclusion of some secular thinkers that man has a divine origin and a spiritual potential above that of animals. (Acts 17:28ff)

Once you see what you are, you will know who you can be.

TIME and TIDE

Curious, isn't it, how people look at life so differently? To some there is an irresistible desire to cope with the tides of life by escaping from dullness to new lands and faces. To others the answer seems to lie in the foaming breakers, with the sinister desire to end existence completely. And yet to others the waves of life speak of plan and order and a sureness and perfection in creation.

And so it is with time! One person begrudges every second as a relentless march toward the end of life. Another sees the sands of time as a slow and painful journey. And to still another, it is the golden passing of each day ordered and well-planned.

What shapes these different viewpoints? The Christian sees, in the certainty of seconds and the regularity of tides, a revelation of the order and beauty that God perfects in His works.

Every man needs God and His Church to give his life its noblest point of view.
