NEW ENTRANCE—NEW NAME

This new wrought iron and brick entrance to the North Wellington Cemetery has been completed. A new name has been chosen for this, the town's oldest burial plot. It will be Memorial Gardens. Standing beside the entrance is Mrs. Joe Thompson, president of the Wellington Garden Club, which was responsible for the entrance and which carried out the landscaping of all cemeteries here.

Fire Department Receives New Truck Monday

Wellington's new fire truck, which is larger and will outperform other equipment in use by the Volunteer Fire Department, was received Monday, Oct. 30.

The truck was built according to specifications approved by the City Council and has been on order since April of this year. The total cost was $15,500.

"It has the latest equipment for fighting fires," said J. B. Oney, first assistant chief. The truck has 500 gallon pumping capacity and will pump the six lines running off it at one time. There are three two and a half inch nozzles, each with individual pressure control. It is electrically controlled throughout.

"This truck is identical to 10 trucks ordered by the Tulsa Fire Department a few days before our order was placed," Mayor John Coleman said.

The truck will carry 1,000 feet of two and a half inch hose, which the Wellington Fire Department already has. There are two new ladders, an extension ladder and the other 14 feet in length.

The Ford chassis has a 391 cubic inch engine. The fire-fighting equipment was built to specifications by the Boardman Company of Oklahoma City, and it was checked out before leaving the plant.

It was driven here by Mr. Oney, Buster Hughs, second assistant fire chief, and Jim Sikes.

Members of the Wellington Senior Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol will take examinations for officer rank at the regular meeting Monday, Nov. 6.

These will be given at Marian Airpark Terminal, the meeting place for CAP, and will be based on the Senior Members Program Functional Training Study Guides, according to Mrs. Cecil Masten, public relations officer.

Rank presentations will be made Dec. 1 and will be this squadron's observance of the 26th anniversary of the founding of CAP.

Those presently members of the Wellington squadron are Capt. Cliff Hartman, commanding officer; the Rev. Ronald Crosley, chaplain; and David Baumgardner, LeRoy Belew, Douglas Coleman of Dozier, Mrs. Byron Duncan, Pat Glenn, Bobby Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Masten, Ralph Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kitchum, Mr. and Mrs. Creed Hill, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Williams, Louis Patterson, Donald Nunnelley, Jack Sanford, Jerry Nix and Douglas E. Seal.

Plans Announced

New Cemetery Acquired for Wellington; Others Improved

Acquisition of land for a new cemetery and completion of a new entrance to the North Wellington Cemetery are major projects announced by the Wellington Cemetery Association.

The Association has acquired from Mr. and Mrs. James Donegh, a triangular plot of land for a completely new cemetery, located immediately across FM Highway 338 from the West Wellington Cemetery.

The frontage along the highway is 1200 feet, and the greatest depth is 753 feet.

There is space for 4650 graves in this new cemetery.

It will be divided into three sections, said County Judge Zook Thomas, who with Jimmie Kelso and Henry Sullivan are trustees of the Wellington Cemetery Association.

The central area will consist of single grave spaces, with flat markers to be used. In the west part, owners of lots may use any type of markers, the graves may be mounded and curbing may be used. In the east part, markers of any type may be used, but graves are to be flat and there will be no curbing around the lots, Mr. Thomas explained.

The new white wrought-iron and brick entrance to the North Wellington Cemetery is the work of the Wellington Garden Club, to which the Cemetery Association has delegated all landscaping and beautification work. This is one of the continuing projects of the Garden Club, Mrs. Joe Thompson, president, pointed out.

An iron arch, set of brick pillars, carries the new name of Wellington's oldest cemetery, Memorial Gardens.

The cost of the arch was approximately $500, said Mrs. Thompson, and Ernest Harwell, member of the City Council, contributed a considerable amount of work.

Just as there are improvements in Wellington's cemeteries, there are new names.

Shortly after the West Wellington Cemetery was established, it was officially named Fairview Cemetery by the City of Wellington. That name was never used, although it will be in the future. The plot just acquired will be the North Fairview Cemetery.

The honor of choosing the name for the North Wellington Cemetery went to the Garden Club, which selected Memorial Gardens.

The club will begin work within a short time landscaping and beautifying the North Fairview Cemetery, Mrs. Thompson said.

Panthers Seek Victory

Wellington Travels to Seymour Friday Night

Wellington Skyrockets will travel to Seymour Friday, Nov. 3, to meet a team that is still hunting its first conference victory.

Like the Rockets, Seymour is a young team and went into the season without too much experience, Coach Thayne Amonett remarked.

"But it has great potential," he added.

The Seymour team operates as a unit and so far has not developed any man who is outstanding on either offense or defense, the Wellington coach said. It is this teamwork that has been one of the outstanding features of the Seymour Panthers this year.

In non-conference play, Munday and Winters were among the teams who bowed to Seymour. Coaching the Panthers is Bud Montgomery, who is in his first year as head coach. He formerly was basketball coach at Seymour.

By way of comparison in its conference schedule, Seymour lost to Iowa Park Friday, Oct. 27 by a 34-14 score. The week before, Wellington was defeated 41-14.

Kenny Brown, Wellington's starting quarterback and ace punter, will be out for the remainder of the season, after receiving a fractured left leg in the Quanah game. Brown

Voting Boxes Unchanged for Nov. 11 Election

Collingsworth County voters will cast their ballots in the constitutional amendment election in the same voting boxes they have used in the past, County Judge Zook Thomas said this week.

The voting boxes set up when the county was re-precincted will not go in use until after Jan. 1, 1968.

Only 6 constitutional amendments will be voted on in the Nov. 11 special election.

Judge Thomas noted there has been a change in location of one polling place. In the Marella precinct residents will vote at the John Carson Home, as the place formerly used, the Marella store, is no longer in operation.

The complete list of polling places for the Nov. 11 election includes:

Wellington South Box—County courtroom of the courthouse.

Wellington North Box — A room on the east side of the courthouse, second floor.

Samnorwood — Samnorwood school.

Quail — Quail school.

Dodson — Dodson school.

Dozier — Church of Christ.

Marella — John Carson home.

Lutie — Lutie Gin office.

Winter Arrives With Wind Rain and Snow

Winter came to Collingsworth on a high wind that brought scattered reports of damage to cotton and grain sorghum but close on its heels came moisture badly needed by much of the wheat.

The season's first snow fell Tuesday, Oct. 31, but flakes melted as they hit the ground.

Moisture at the Weather Bureau station in Wellington measured .42 in. Reports in the general area, however, ranged up to an inch.

About the same amount fell eastward to the Vinson area.

Approximately .80 was reported at Dodosn and was general in the area.

The fall was lighter in the west part of the county.

North of Salt Fork along Elm Creek, as much as .75 inch was reported. The moisture was lighter farther west and at Dozier only a quarter of an inch was measured. This dwindled to a trace in the northwest part of the county.

Several farmers around Wellington, as well as in the Dodson area, reported some cotton blown out by high winds Sunday. Grover Graham, manager of the Davis Gin at Dodson said that some of the longer staple cotton of that area was damaged but stormproof cotton appeared all right.

The drop in grade cannot be determined until ginning begins again.

He said that some wheat was reported as blown out Sunday, but the benefit from the rain Monday and Tuesday will put the crop in good condition generally.

"The Friona Defense" will be explained by Coach F. G. Crawford of that school, to close the coaches' clinic.

The rules clinic for the Borger Association of Southwest Basketball Officials will start at 1:45 p.m. Don Lacy will attend.

Girls teams from six schools will participate in the game series that will open at 3:30 by Quitaque and Friona. A game between Stratford and Follett will begin at 5 p.m. and the Wellington and Darrouzett girls will meet at 6:30.

Four Wellington girls, Nancy Sikes, Connie Barnes, Kathy Kiker and Paula Kiker were joined by a group of Amarillo girls in conducting the Bible school, and these will come here for the service, according to the Rev. Ronald Crosley, pastor and sponsor of the trip.

The public is invited.

Damage Heavy in Series of Accidents

A series of vehicle accidents ranging from intersection collisions to those between a truck and cattle were investigated by city and county law enforcement officers during the week.

A truck and semi-trailer, loaed with an estimated 35,000 pounds of cake, collided with four head of black cattle a mile and a half west of Quail Saturday night, Oct. 28, Deputy Sheriff George Hooten reported.

The cattle were killed and the truck heavily damaged, he added. The truck was driven by Bill Kingston, Jr., of McLean and owned by Cary Don Smith also of McLean and was en route from Quanah to McLean, Deputy Hooten said.

Investigating the accident were Patrolman Bob Richardson of Childress, Sheriff John Rainey and Deputy Hooten.

The driver was reported uninjured. Three head of cattle were killed in two other highway accidents at almost this location a few weeks ago.

High wind Sunday caused an empty cotton trailer to begin whipping and both it and the pickup driven by Sam Carter were overturned. The accident occurred a mile east of Lutie. Mr. Carter was reported uninjured. Sheriff Rainey checked the accident and reported heavy damage to the pickup.

A car driven by Willie Gregson, an employee of the State Highway Department collided with the back of a cattle truck

Three Changes Made in '68 Cotton Program

Details of the 1968 cotton program were announced this week by Millard Brown, ASCS office manager.

There are three principal changes from the 1967 program, he said.

(1) The required diversion for farmers who wish to be in the acreage diversion has been reduced from 12.5 percent to 5 percent of the regular allotment. The payment rate will be 10.76 cents per pound.

(2) The payment rate for voluntary diversion up to an additional 30 percent of the allotment has been reduced to 6 cents per pound.

(3) The rules for measuring skip-row planting will be the same as from 1962 to 1965.

Most major provisions remain unchanged.

The national acreage allotment is 16,000,000 with a national projected yield of 16,100,000 bales.

A referendum will be held by mail from Dec. 4 to 8 to determine if the program will be operative. The loan rate remains at 20.25 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location.

The price support payments will be made as in 1967, but the rate of 12.24 cents per pound will be higher.

The domestic acreage allotment provisions remain unchanged; the cotton diversion program is continued and is voluntary. Small farm provisions are continued. Export market acreage remains unchanged.

Mr. Brown went into more detail on some of these provisions that closely affect the local producer.

Referendum

Notices of farm acreage allotments will be mailed to operators of cotton farms prior to the Dec. 4-8 referendum.

If marketing quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop are voted down by farmers, the allotment program will remain in effect, but there will be no acreage diversion program and no price support payments. Price support loans will be available at 50 percent of parity to cooperators who plant within their allotments as provided by law.

For 1968, the farm domestic acreage allotment has been set at 65 percent of the farm acreage allotment. Farmers who sign up to participate in the program and who plant at least 90 percent of their farm's domestic allotment but not over the permitted acreage for the farm, will be eligible for price support loans and for price support payments on the farm domestic allotment.

The price support loan for individual qualities of cotton will be based on a national average loan rate of 20.25 cents per pound for middling 1-inch cotton at average location. That is the same rate as for the 1967 crop.

Diversion Program

Participation in the cotton diversion program is voluntary. The farmer going into it, however, agrees to divert at least 5 percent of his allotment into soil conserving uses. For this he will be eligible to receive price support loans, price support payments and acreage diversion payments.

The ASCS county office has been notified that there will be no 1968 CAP sign-up since Congress did not approve an appropriation for this program for next year. The Cropland Adjustment Program (CAP) is the long term, 5 to 10 year program.

However, producers already having 1966 or 1967 agreements will remain in full effect for the remaining years in the agreement period and will continue to receive their annual payments.

The price support payment of 12.24 cents per pound is in addition to the price support loan. Collingsworth County farmers are familiar with the provisions. If cotton is destroyed or fails after it is too late to replant, the producer may replant to another income-producing crop such as soybeans, but only after the grower makes a written application and it is approved by the local ASCS county committee. This was the process followed following the July 5 hail in the area southeast of Wellington this year.

The acreage diversion payment will be 10.76 cents per pound. For additional diversion not to exceed 30 percent of the farm allotment, the payment rate will be 6 cents per pound. These payments will be earned on the acreage diverted from cotton production and put to conserving uses. Producers must also maintain the farm conserving base in conserving uses.

Farmers will have a choice of diverting any acreage between 5 and 35 percent of the farm's effective acreage allotment. Farmers must divert the acreage they sign up for to be eligible for full program benefits.

As during 1967, it will be necessary for both large and small farmers to sign up, showing they intend to take part in the cotton program. This sign-up period will begin not later than Feb. 5 and close not later than March 15.

Allotment Lease-Sale

The final date to apply for the sale or lease of cotton allotments is Jan. 2, 1968. They can be transferred within the county or between counties in the same state. Allotments cannot be transferred from one state to another.

650 Attend Barbecue

Jim Ray Elected to Head Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau members elected officers for the coming year and passed a series of resolutions pertaining to county, state and national problems as they met in their annual convention Saturday night, Oct. 28.

Approximately 650 members and guests attended the barbecue which preceded the business meeting. An all-time membership high of 610 was reported.

Jim Ray of Samnorwood was elected president for the coming year, to succeed L. A. Davis of Rolla.

Earl Patterson of Wellington was named first vice president; Selba Rainey of Samnorwood, second vice president; and C. A. Wilbur of Wellington secretary.

Directors elected to represent the area north of Salt Fork River were B. A. Purkey, Ike Paschall, Douglas Coleman, Gus Gooch and Jim Jones.

Elected for the south part of the county were Gilroy Rummel, Ray Clubb, J. C. Hartman, Grady Cochran and Jerry Scott.

Representing the west part of the county are Ray Null, P. P. Fielding, Elmer Feemster, Travis McGuire and Wayne Martin.

Director from the area east of Wellington are Buddy Yarbrough, John Brim, Les White, George Barton and Carthel Lewis.

Directors at large are L. A. Davis, the immediate past president, and Dee Coleman, Director for District 1.

All officers and directors were elected unanimously.

In the first resolution, members voted for county-wide boll weevil control with the cooperation of all farmers.

One of the first acts of the new administration will be the appointment of a committee to meet with other farm organization to work out this control program.

Four other resolutions were passed on the county level, with the voting under the direction of Douglas Coleman, chairman of the resolutions committee.

FB members voted to ask members to redeem the $1.00 per bale on the cotton checkoff until the Secretary of Agriculture's power is taken out of the bill.

The resolution pointed out that members do not oppose research or the $1.00 check-off, but they do oppose the method by which it is administered.

Approval was given the proposal for the Veterans Land Board to issue $200,000,000 in bonds and to include Vietnam veterans in its program. This will be voted on Nov. 11.

Collingsworth County and Wellington were asked to pave the road along the north side of town to take traffic away from schools.

The final resolution gave support to the men fighting in Vietnam against communism.

On the state level, the first resolution recommended that the office of commissioner of agriculture be done away with and a five man board appointed by the governor.

Others recommended that Texas do away with daylight saving time; that voter registration each year be reaffirmed; and that road fire guards on grass land be reaffirmed.

On the national level, resolutions reaffirmed the policy of skip-row planting and asked that the out rows be used as diverted acres.

The resolutions also recommended that:

—Non-payment diverted acres be used for hay or grazing.

—The American Farm Bureau set up a tabulation system for livestock, wheat and all commodities which will be more accurate than the USDA estimates.

—The American Farm Bureau begin working more toward a holding and bargaining action for farm products instead of using a large part of its money for legislation.

—All boys undergo compulsory military training upon reaching the age of 20. This was aimed toward stopping the riots and draft card burning.

The final resolution stated that since cotton allotments are aimed at doing away with the cotton surplus, it was recommended that the farmer not be required to plant his allotment in order to receive diversion payments.

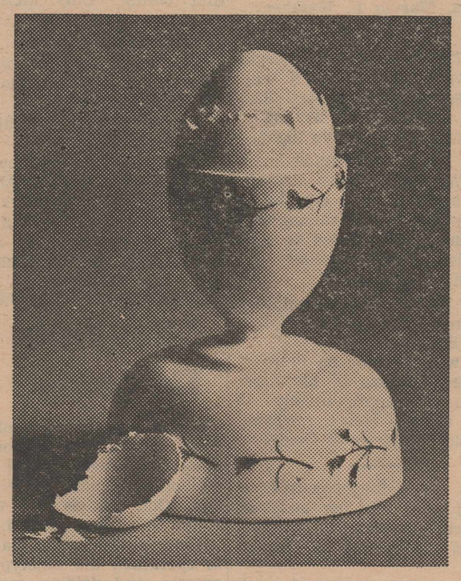
FEDERAL PAVILION at HemisFair 1968 — The revolutionary Confluence Theater in the United States government's two-building exhibit at the Texas World's Fair in San Antonio will feature presentations of a film on the cultural heritage of the United States. Interior walls of the 1,200 seat theater will lift at breaks during the film to merge the audience and create ever larger screens. Lower structure at the left is the Exhibit Building where static presentations will orient fair-goers who are waiting for the next movie performance.



You can cook a 3-minute egg faster with gas than with electricity.

Here's why. With a modern gas range there's no slow warm-up period. You turn the burner on and get the desired amount of heat — instantly! Burner-with-a-Brain holds that precise temperature until cooking is done. No waiting, no watching, no wondering with flame fast gas. You can see the flame go to work the instant you turn the burner on.

(Of course, faster cooking means less gas used and more economy for you!) Only modern gas cooking gives you this much control, flexibility and speed. See the wide variety of modern gas ranges at your local gas appliance dealer or LONE STAR GAS.

Employer Is Responsible for Reporting Wages

Employment does not become self-employment merely because the employer fails to report wages paid, observes Social Security Representative Gerald Millard.

Even though the employer and employee agree that the social security taxes shall not be withheld nor reported by the employer, the employee cannot obtain credit by reporting his earnings as self-employment income. (This would deprive the social security trust funds of nearly one-fourth of the correct amount which should have been reported by the employer.)

Gerald Millard pointed out that self-employment income is net profit of $400 to $6.600 per year from operation of one's own trade, business, farm or ranch.

It should be noted that the employer is responsible for reporting wages covered by social security, and for paying the total social security tax at that time. The employer is authorized to withhold the employee's portion of the tax from his wages. If the employer fails to dc so, he is liable for payment of both his own and the employee's social security tax.

Open House at Extension Service to Mark Consumer Education Week

"Hats Off to Consumers!"

This is the Texas theme for Consumer Education Week, November 6 to 10, which will be noted for the first time in Collingsworth County.

Open house will be held in the County Extension Service office Wednesday, November 8, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mrs. Leta Hill, home demonstration agent, has announced. The public is invited to drop by for coffee or punch, and see her office on the second floor of the courthouse.

"This week is set aside nationally to call to the public's attention the educational information that is aavilable from your County Extension Offices," Mrs. Hill said.

"Have you ever called on your local Home Demonstration Agent for home economics information?" Mrs. Hill asked. "Since the passage of the Smith Lever Act in 1914, home economics information has been a vital part of cooperative Extension Service.

"Every family makes consumer decisions daily and your local Extension Service can furnish you scientific information on buying. The many Extension Consumer Educational programs are directly supported by the research resources of Texas A&M University and the USDA.

"We in the County Extension Service offices hope we can be a continuing source of consumer information in Texas."

New Pattern Sizes to Conform to Standard Ready-to-Wear Garments

New sizing for patterns is here!

Effective November 1, 1967, and approved by the Measurement Standards Committee of the Pattern Fashion Industry (Buttrick, McCall's, Simplicity and Vogue), the patterns sizing has been changed to correspond more closely to standard ready-to-wear sizing, Mrs. Leta Hill, home demonstration agent, reports.

All major pattern companies have adopted this change.

Only patterns issued after November 1, 1967 (January 1968 dated pattern books) will have the new sizing. The pattern envelopes will be marked with a symbol telling you they are the new sized patterns.

"All consumers are asking how they will determine their pattern size. Your bust measurement is the key to your correct size for all garments except skirts and pants. You may find you will buy the same size pattern as you do in ready-to-wear. The figure types remain the same except a new young junior teen type figure type will replace the teen, pre-teen, sub-teen types. Contact your County Home Demonstration Agent or pattern dealer for more information about the new sizings in patterns," Mrs. Hill said.

Consumer Education Week

November 6-10 has been designated as Consumer Education Week. "Hats Off to Consumers" is the Texas Theme selected for this year. The purpose of this week is to again call to the public's attention the educational information available from the County Extension offices. It is a national observance.

Here are some Home Economics Briefs from your Consumer Education Center, your local County Extension Service, where you get unbiased facts on buying goods and services.

• Accessories for the home should be simple and employ principles of design such as balance, proportion, rhythm, emphasis and harmony. The design should be suited to the object's use. For example, a teapot appears as a teapot, not a frog. Accessories are well constructed and an honest use of the material. The material should not be made to take on the characteristics of or be made to look like another material. That is, wood should look like wood and plastic should look like plastic.

• For fall fashions short skirts and low heels are mated; heavier textured stockings go with sturdier shoes; and lacy legs with delicate shoes. The shorter the skirt, the more perfectly even the hemline must be. For tailored shirts, keep a collection of cuff links and large ties. The most important thing in your fall picture is a perfect fit.

• Good meat buys make us want to stock up on fresh meat. But remember, no fresh meats should be kept in the refrigerator over FIVE DAYS. Why? Some of them are not safe for more than TWO days. Ground meat is one of them. Because it has been ground up, it may have become contaminated through air holes between the pieces. Fish and poultry are not nearly so good if they are held over five days. Liver, kidney and other variety meats, also, should be used within one or two days.

• Do you take advantage of all sales on detergents? If the answer is "yes", you may be buying extra work for yourself. Different detergents have different chemical formulas which cause off-colors in clothing. When you change brands of detergent, "stripping" is necessary. To strip clothing, run them through the entire washing operation without detergent, using ½ cup of non-precipitating water softener per load. This will remove accumulated detergent which would cause graying, dulling or yellowing.

• Resilient floor coverings may be made of asphalt, linoleum, rubber, cork, vinyl, asbestos and vinly cork. They differ in cost, ease of maintenance, resilience, resistance to wear, resistance to soil and grease, quietness, comfort under foot, dent resistance and place of use. Each material is also available in a variety of colors, textures, patterns, and shapes. Since there is such a wide variety of resilient floor coverings from which to choose, be familiar with the characteristics of each to determine which is best for your particular use. For more information, contact your County Extension office during Consumer Education Week, November 6-10.

Safety Glass Used in Homes

COLLEGE STATION — Families, manufacturers and agencies with protection in mind are demanding tempered safety glass for home use and getting it.

In recent years home designers and builders have created with large areas of glass the welcome illusion of bringing the out-of-doors inside, says Jane Berry, Extension housing and home urnishings specialist with Texas A&M University.

But the increasing number of serious home injuries caused by shattering glass has prompted questions concerning its value. The subject is now being studied by the National Safety Council, the American Standard Association and other manufacturing groups.

The Federal Housing Administration, convinced of the merits of safety glass, now requires all sliding patio doors, shower stalls and tub enclosures in houses financed under its loan program to include this protection feature. And local building codes in many communities are being revised to include the use of safety glass, the specialist adds.

One major glass company is waging its own war against shattering glass by developing the new tempered model. The Architectural Aluminum Manufacturers Association, which includes about 70 per cent of the people engaged in making aluminum sliding doors in this country, is also endorsing the safety glass.

The new product is of the same thickness as ordinary glass, but is stronger and disintegrates into granular partiparticles when broken, minimizing serious personal injury. Local dealers are not able to custom cut safety tempered glass, as they have been conventional glass. Thus, the new product is purchased in numerous standard frame sizes, properly identified and stamped.

Higher Income Families Buy More Insurance

COLLEGE STATION. — Millions of American families are moving into higher income brackets and with this rise often comes more insurance coverage.

Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist, pointed out some interesting facts about insurance owners published by the Institute of Life Insurance.

Nine out of ten breadwinners with young children own life insurance of some type. Families are improving their life insurance protection each year.

The amount of legal reserve life insurance in force at the beginning of the year averaged $15,900 for each family in the country. This is $1,200 more than last year's average and more than twice the average of 10 years ago.

Last year Americans bought $122 billion in life insurance. More than three-fourths of that was purchased by individuals and the remainder by groups—such as employer and employee groups.

The average of all the ordinary life insurance policies purchased last year was $8,810 —more than twice the average of a decade before.

Food Marketing Workers Outnumber Farm Operators

COLLEGE STATION.— Food marketing, no matter how it is examined, is big business when viewed in terms of the number of people employed.

Last year, about 13 million workers were employed in the agricultural marketing field, according to Dr. W. E. Black, Extension economist in marketing and policy at Texas A&M University.

Those 13 million, he added, are more than twice the number of workers employed on all farms in the United States.

"In fact the number of workers employed in marketing is ever-increasing, while the number of farm workers continues to decline," he said. "Nearly one out of five civilian workers in this country is employed in marketing, full or part time."

Operations by the private business sector are supplemented by various government services, such as daily market reports of volume and price, by research and by regulations designed to "enforce the rules of the game," Black said.

YOUR INCOME TAX

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q.—I'm already claiming all my exemptions. Can I reduce my withholding any further? I could use the money to pay some of my medical bills.

A.—Additional withholding allowances may be claimed based on your actual itemized deductions last year. Ask your employer for Form W-4 and a Schedule A.

To claim such additional withholding exemptions, the taxpayer must expect his itemized deductions for the current year to be at least much as they were last year. For someone in the $4-6,000 wage bracket, an additional exemption is allowable if itemized deductions were at least $1,200 for 1966 and are expected to be at least that much in 1967. Taxpayers in the $8-10,000 wage bracket must have had and expect to have at least $1,705 in deductions to be entitled to an additional withholding exemption.

Q.—I'm working for part of my room and board at college. Is there any chance I'd have to pay tax on this?

A.—The general rule is that any credit you received toward your room and borad as compensation for work is counted as taxable income. If this plus any other income you have amounts to $600 or more for the year you will have to file a tax return.

Remember that if your earnings were less than $600 but any Federal income tax was withheld, a return must be filed to obtain a refund.

Q.—I just got a bill for additional tax. Can I pay this off in installments?

A.—There is no provision for the payment of taxes on installments. Payment is due upon receipt of the bill. You will also find that the bill includes interest on your unpaid taxes at the rate of 6% a year.

Q.—What form do I use to report tips to my boss? I want to get credit for them for Social Security purposes.

A.—Use Form 4070 and give it to your employer by the 10th of the month following the month in which the tips were earned. Do not give any of your tip income to your employer for withhholding, however. He will make the necessary withholding from the wages he pays you.

The general rule on tip income is to report it when it amounts to $20 or more a month earned while working for one employer. IRS has a diary that can be used to keep a daily record of your tips. Send a post card to your district director and ask for Document No. 5635.

Q.—When I retired I was given some shares of stock in the company by my fellow employees. Will this be taxable to me?

A.—If you received the shares as a gift from your fellow employees then they won't be taxable to you. However, you will have to report as income any dividends you receive on them.

Q.—I have several employees who work for me on a straight commission basis. Do I have to withhold any taxes on them?

A.—Yes you do. The withholding requirements apply to payments to employees of commissions and bonuses as well as to regular salaries.

Half of US Families Have Debt

COLLEGE STATION.—More than half the families in the United States currently have some form of personal debt, not including mortgage payments, considered to be the same as rent.

This use of credit plays a vital role in the country's economy. Properly used, it enables many people to get necessary home equipment, cars, make vital home repairs, and pay the cost of education, when they would be unable to pay cash, says Joy Arrington, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Each family must decide how much debt it can afford if it wants to take out loans, buy on installment plans or use revolving charge accounts.

Most authorities generally advise that a family should not use more than 15% of its after tax (disposable) income to pay installment debts (excluding mortgage payments).

Some families manage more effectively than others and never permit themselves to get into troble with excessive borrowing. They usually have become familiar with the facts on credit costs and know where the lowest interest rates can be found. In addition, they maintain good credit ratings so that they can use these sources when necessary.

The key to wise credit-buying is to find out the true cost of the money borrowed, Miss Arrington says. Sales and loan contracts should be read carefully and questions asked if there is any doubt about the terms or charges.

The cost of a loan can be figured in dollar costs, the actual amount you spend for the loan, or in true annual interest. To get dollar costs, simply add the down payment, any trade-in allowance and monthly payments, according to the Extension specialist. The difference between this total and the selling price of the item is the amount paid in borrowing charges.

True annual interest is the rate charged on money in your possession for a full year. If you borrow $100 at 6 percent true interest, after one year you would pay back $106.

Understanding Gap Top Concern

COLLEGE STATION. — The teenager slouches over a chair staring into space — the parent looks bewildering at his offspring, wondering if they speak the same language.

This is a picture painted by today's television, movies and magazines — and all too often it may be true.

In a recent interview at Texas A&M University, Dr. Ed Pope, federal Extension specialist in human development and human relations, named the understanding gap among generations as a top concern in American family life today.

The problem stems from today's fast, confused America where youth always don't have the opportunity to be heard, Dr. Pope said. In many countries youth is listened to in an organized way; China, Japan and several South American countries are only a few which have organized youth movements.

"There's nothing comparatiable in our society," he said. Many conferences concentrate on the young person yet the young people are not really involved. Nothing speaks for youth and their concerns, he said.

"We talk about young people but not work with them," the specialist said, citing an example of a recent youth conference which involved several hundred adults and 50 youth.

Children need to know more about their family, to share in family and community decisions, Dr. Pope suggested one means to help close the communication gap.

Pressures open the gap. "We need to help parents of adolescent children to recogize pressures which are on their children," he said.

Parents need to realize they are putting many of these pressures on their children. They want the child to achieve, go to the best schools "and all this nonsense," Dr. Pope said.

But, explained the specialist, the adolescent should become more sensitive to his parents' situation, too.

Dr. Pope suggested an educational system oriented more toward real life concerns of children rather than teaching things which "will be good for you when you're growing up" would help eliminate the communications gap.

"They need to be able to think through and decide about life problems which they are now facing," he said. This is closely tied to a child's own ambition.

"The revamping would not throw out the three R's but would put less stress upon the purely academic and more on practical life concerns and cares," the Extension specialist said.

Extension Education leader from the University of Illinois, Ernest Anderson, summarized his idea as he spoke on "Communication in a confused world" recently at the 22nd annual Town and Country Conference at Texas A&M.

"Too often, when we talk to one another and try to get our ideas across, we are simply not using the same code or we are not on the same wave length, so to speak. It's not the world that is confused; the confusion exists in the human mind," he said.

Leaders, whether in church, school or community, have a responsibility to work with parents to develop communication skills between parents and children, Dr. Anderson said.

New Use Found for Soybean Oil

The prospects are execllent for using soybean oil as a raw material in producing nylon 9, nylon with properties desired in the manufacture of many products, report U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists.

Soy nylon has properties not now available in domestic nylon; soybean oil is available in large volume and at stable prices and the nylon market is growing in size and variety, the report said.

Football Fans Outwit Black-Out

WHITNEY.—TV buffs, or possibly it is football fans, are using the facilities at state parks during the weekends when their favorite football game is being broadcast but is blacked out locally. People from Dallas, Fort Worth and other similar areas drive to Lake Whitney State Park Saturday morning, fish until game time, watch a football game on a portable television set all afternoon, and are ready to go for fish after the game. There are others who drive to Lake Whitney State Park, arrive just before game time Sunday and depart for home as soon as it is over.

Export Markets Necessary to US Agriculture

COLLEGE STATION.—American farmers are coming to rely heavily on the export market, says W. E. Black of Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service. Our commercial farm exports grew nearly 50% in the five years from 1961 to 1966. Even our dollar exports to the developing countries grew by a healthy 38%, he adds.

Demand for food in the world will increase even faster in the coming years because of rapidly increasing world population and rising personal incomes. The U.S. has a highly efficient agriculture and comparative advantages in the production of a number of commodities. Thus, he says, American farmers, including those in Texas, should take advantage of this growing commercial export demand.

Farmers have a vital stake in efforts to remove obstacles to the free flow of trade between countries, says Black. Of course, this is a two way street. If the industrial countries reduce their barriers against farm product imports, the U.S. would enlarge its exports substantially. To gain such concessions, however, this country must be ready to reduce its own trade barriers for both industrial and agricultural products.

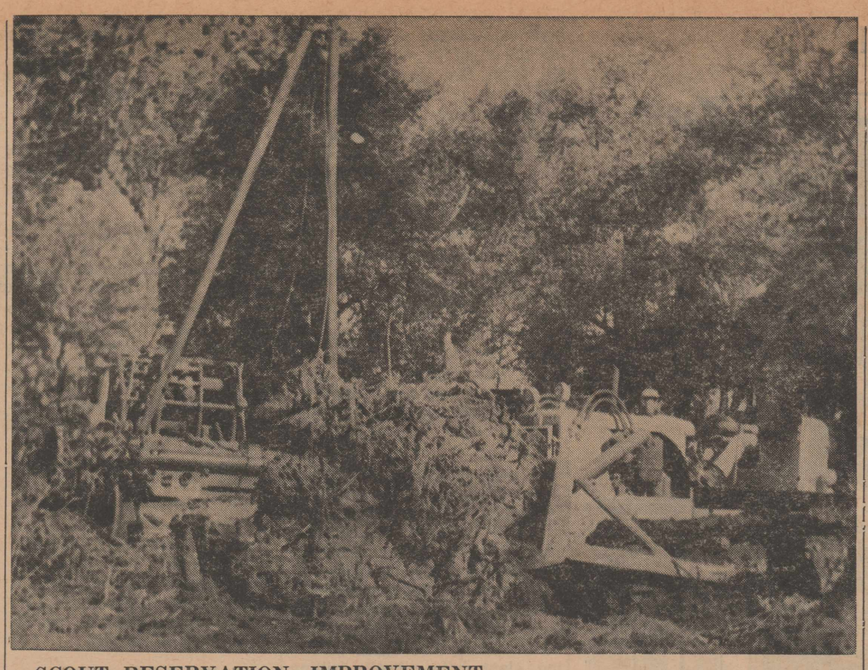
"Our agricultural exports now amount to 7 billion dollars yearly, and account for better than 20% of all U.E. exports," Black said. "If these products did not find markets abroad, we could quickly find ourselves with heavy surpluses of many products."

Nov. 22 Set as Hunt Deadline

AUSTIN.—From 909 applications for the free quail hunt in the Matador Wildlife Management Area, 720 permits will be drawn, according to Wlilie Parker, administrator of wildlife restoration for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Parker said deadline for the Matador applications has passed, but hunters have until Nov. 22 to apply for the 60 free hunt permits for the Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area, five miles east of Canadian in Hemphill County.

Texas has derived $66.3 billion from crude oil sales.



SCOUT RESERVATION IMPROVEMENT

Removing dead trees is one of the many ways in which work progresses at Adobe Walls Boy Scout Reservation. Collingsworth Scouts and Scouters help with the work, and camping activities will be centered there beginning in the summer of 1968. The camp is located between Wheeler and Mobeetie.

Wasps Can Be Dangerous

COLLEGE STATION.—Wasps as a rule are beneficial insects but they can become "tough customers" when disturbed.

This often happens, says Phil Hamman, assistant Extension entomologist at Texas A&M University, when the insects build nests in such close proximity to the house, or even in the house, to make the area too confining for both insects and man.

Polistes, hornets, yellow jackets, mud daubers and the cicada killer are all wasps and as a group are beneficial insects. They destroy harmful insects found around homes and in gardens, but they can also attack people. Mud daubers and cicada killers usually will not sting unless touched or get caught in a person's clothing. But stay clear of the nests of hornets, yellow jackets and Polistes wasps, warns Hamman.

A wasp stings by driving its needle-like ovipositor into the flesh and injecting a venomous fluid into the wound. This causes a painful swelling that may last for several days. In some people, a wasp sting results in severe illness or even death, says the entomologist. Because of the probability of serious trouble, Hamman suggests that a sharp lookout be maintained for the insects and especially for their nests.

Nests and insects can be destroyed by applying recommended insecticides. Do the control work at night, he says, when wasps are less active and most are in the nest. Since many nests are found in trees and shrubbery or on the house, Hamman suggests using a water based spray solution containing DDT, chlordane or dieldrin. If the wasps are nesting in the ground, the same materials in a dust form are recommended.

Numerous ready-to-use formulations and aerosol bombs are readily available and will give good results, says Hamman. But, he warns that regardless of the material used, label instructions should be carefully followed. Local county agents, he adds, can supply information on recommended insecticides, including rates of application and directions for mixing and using the materials.

Lt. Goxernor's Office Examined

The University of Texas Institute of Public Affairs has published a new study believed to be the first thorough examination and analysis of the office of lieutenant governor of Texas. "There Shall Also Be a Lieutenant Governor" is the work of Dr. J. William Davis of the Texas Technological College government department. Copies are available at $3 each from Institute of Public Affairs, The University of Texas, Austin, Texas 78712.

Fort Davis State Park Remodeling Near Completion

FORT DAVIS.—The $1.3 million construction and remodeling job at Fort Davis State Scenic Park is approximately 95% complete with Indian Lodge now open on a limited basis, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Mark Gosdin, director of park services for the Department, said the lodge is now open to guests but the 80-place dining room will not be ready to serve food for several days.

The lodge has 39 rooms which include 24 new rooms with two double beds and 15 which have been completely remodeled.

The Lodge complex has a new 42x22 foot motel-type swimming pool which has already been opened to guests.

New and remodeled facilities at the park include a headquarters building, an entrance, an interpretive center, 27 trailer camping sites with 14 shade shelters with electricity and running water, two restrooms with showers, another restroom without showers, ranger's residence, two scenic overlooks, nature and hiking trails, picnic and camping areas.

Construction of an amphitheatre, where campfire programs will be held is scheduled to begin soon.

Election on Constitutional Amendments 10 Days Away

In just ten days, Texas citizens will vote on six proposed constitutional amendments.

It is easy to pass over an election of this type. There are no colorful personalities to spice it. None of the proposals has engendered heated controversy.

Yet several of the proposed Constitutional amendments could affect Collingsworth County and its residents.

We urge you to study the proposed amendments during the next 10 days. If you have a question or if there is something not fully understood, ask about it.

Then on Saturday, November 11, go to the polls and vote your beliefs, for this election can have a far reaching effect on the state.

Drying Up Jobs

The day when an enterprising young college student, if he is determined enough, can work his way through college is not gone, but it is sure fading away.

The government's wage and hour laws are drying up job opportunities for young men and women who want to work.

It was reported in the Amarillo Globe-Times recently that Amarillo College counselors reported that many students have been unable to find part time jobs because of the minimum wage increase to $1.40 an hour.

Employers are reluctant to hire part time help when this minimum wage is further increased by a boost in unemployment compensation tax, federal payroll taxes, etc. They are apt to get along with less people.

The type of work that a college student has been filling for years has been work of a menial nature that didn't pay much. This includes waiting on tables, sweeping floors, doing odd jobs that do not take much skill, but which have to be done. An enterprising young person willing to work for a college education has handled these jobs because it provides a way to get an education.

We worked at a service station in Austin while attending the University of Texas. Our starting wage was 25 cents an hour, which wasn't much, but we made room and board with it. We had many friends who worked their way through school, too. Most of us were rather proud of ourselves for tackling this task of whipping it.

Colleges have made it harder to do this. Not only has the field of employment been drying up, but the colleges demand more classroom work, more outside study time, with the result that a college student has a hard time working his way through college now.

Somehow, we can't call this progress.

Condition: Critical

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN.—Voter registration for the big 1968 election year is getting into full swing. Secretary of State John L. Hill already is busy sending out detailed instructions for county tax assessors.

As chief election officer, Hill discussed current problems with an advisory committee of tax officials (who are local registrars) and reviewed suggested ground rules.

He remains firm in his agreement with an attorney general's opinion that voters must bring or mail in their own registration applications or submit them through authorized members of their immediate family.

Bloc or bulk registrations are outlawed by an Oct. 11 opinion. It brought critical comment from former State Sen. Franklin Spears, head of a liberal-backed drive to register five million voters.

Hill encourages house-to-house registration drives and says there is no restriction on the manner or the extent of distributing application forms. He is advising local registrars that:

—There is no limit on reproduction of sample registration forms by third parties or purchase of those ordered by official registrars.

—Solicitors may encourage individuals to register but must avoid inducing registration through false or misleading representation.

—Assistance to the applicant is all right (including filling out forms), but the voter must supply the necessary information himself and sign the form or put his mark on it.

—Drives may furnish envelopes and even stamps to voters, but the applicant or family members must mail the form.

—Local registrars should provide blank, simple forms to all who request them, but each registrar may fix his own policies as to furnishing forms in large quantities to solicitors.

Spears has called on registrars to ignore the attorney general's opinion, and accept applications delivered by third party solicitors in bulk, or a group of applications sent in the same envelope. Spears claims the opinion is the result of a "plot" to keep the registrations low.

The Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court heard Sun Oil Company argmuents for the right to use fresh water from the Ogallala formation, for oil well flooding purposes on their Hickley County lease. Lower courts have denied the Sun suit. A landowner and High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 contend that use of the water would dangerously deplete irrigation supplies.

Houston finance company seeks a ruling from the Austin district court as to its rights under the Texas Regulatory Loan Act to buy discounted home improvement notes from contractors. State Consumer Credit Commissioner Frank Miskell was named defendant.

Supreme Court knocked out contempt of court citations against three in a Denton County dispute over a 30-foot strip of land because the district judge failed to follow procedural rules limiting duration of temporary restraining orders.

State obtained a $34,952 judgment against a Dallas man by consolidating five cases involving slant hole oilwell drilling in Gregg, Wood and Rusk counties.

Court of Criminal Appeals divided 3-2 in upholding a Harrison County death penalty murder conviction, with the majority finding the condemned man had adequate warning of his constitutional rights six days before he confessed to the crime.

Workmens' Compensation Premium Cut

State Board of Insurance has approved a 4.2% cut in workmen's compensation insurance premiums effective Dec. 1. The slash, which is based on premium and loss statistics, should mean a $7,000,000 reduction in 1968.

Board Chairman Hunter McLean said cuts in insurance company expenses and fewer accidents made savings possible, despite rising medical costs and incomes. He said this emphasizes the importance of accident prevention programs.

Reductions by major classes included: All combined, 4.2%; manufacturing classes, 3.4%; contracting, 5.1%; oil, 4.2%; and all other classes 4%.

Attorney General Rules

Attorney General Martin clarified the state's complex, mandatory retirement provisions for Texas judges, as set forth in the constitution, with a new lengthy opinion (M-152).

In another ruling, Martin concluded that the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has the duty and authority to provide necessary medical treatment or services to persons admitted or committed to its institutions, without obtaining consent from relatives or guardians.

Screwworm Rise Feared

Hurricane Beulah may have stirred an outbreak of the dread screwworms in Texas cattle.

Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation reports 151 cases in 24 counties from South to West Texas. These are the most cases of the year and actually occurred in cooler weather when the problem usually declines. The screwworm fly is windblown.

Foundation President Dolph Briscoe, Jr., of Uvalde said hurricane and floods posed an emergency situation in the screwworm eradication program. Foundation leaders are requesting the U.S. Department of Agriculture for additional funds to expand the screwworm sterilization program which faces the threat of a cutback due to recent federal spending cuts.

Retail Record Due

While downtown Christmas decorations are being strung up Texas retailers already are looking forward to record sales in most lines during the next two months.

Texas Bureau of Business Research reports that the 11% August to September decline in durable sales and 5% drop in non-durable sales shook retailers' confidence "more than was warranted."

More encouraging signs point to "surprisingly strong" apparel store sales this fall, and to "substantial increases" in furniture and appliance store sales.

Total construction index in Texas fell to 127.1 in September from an abnormal high of 245.8 in August. Mark was the lowest for the year except for January's 106.6 reading. Despite this decline, the September index still was 16% above September 1966. Building permits totaled $131,700,000. Value of 1967 building probably will hit an all-time record.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

A big news magazine says the Tax Pigeon class is about ripe for a Tax Revolt, but my overtaxed neighbor can't see how this could be pulled off.

Says we might organize a taxpayers' union and picket the Internal Revenue offices and clobber any strike-breakers trying to get in to pay their taxes.

But collective bargaining on tax rates, or a taxpayers' strike just won't ever work as long as government is run like a lottery, whereby everybody goes around expecting to get more out of it than he puts in.

8th Closes on Victory Note

The Wellington Junior High Eighth grade football team played the Quanah eighth grade team Thursday, Oct. 26 at Quanah for their last game of the season.

The Wellington team picked up another victory, making a winning season of four wins, two losses and one tie.

The Firecrackers scored in the first period with Lester Robinson scoring. Another score was made in the first quarter which was a recovered fumble in the end zone by Larry Robinson.

Quanah scored at the start of the second quarter and ran in their extra two points. The Firecrackers scored right before the half, the ball was carried in by Lester Robinson, thus making the score at half time 18 - 8.

There was no scoring in the third quarter. The ball was exchanged and dominated by defensive play. The fourth quarter was a defensive battle and the Firecrackers again scored in the last minute of the game; the ball again being carried in by Larry Robinson.

Coach Carroll Nunnelley said "I feel like this was the best game this team had played all year. They have continued to show improvement from week to week."

Quanah entered this game with a 6 - 1 record, losing only to the Vernon Junior High team.

Coach Nunnelley also said that each player had played exceptionally well.

Wellington B Wins Over Quanah 22-20

The Wellington Skyrocket B team brought home another victory Thursday, Oct. 27, after playing the Quanah B team on their home field. The score was 22-20.

"I just can't say enough about our team," said Coach James Stavenhagen. "I knew that they would have a good team and felt like we would have to play real good in order to beat them. Our kids just outplayed them all over the field. We made some mistakes that hurt us in the ball game: we fumbled four times and lost the ball to them and this hurt our ball control game and our scoring opportunities," he continued.

"I feel like our line did some of the finest blocking of the year and would like to point out the fine offensive blocking of Kenny Cook, Reece Bowen, Teddy McLain, Danny Watts, Gary Killian, Anson Parker, Danny Brooks and Rufus Sosa," the coach said.

"The B team continued the fight to Quanah all night long and came up with key blocks when we needed to make an extra yard. The backs were doing a good job running with the ball and were able to put some scores on the board.

"Danny West scored three touchdowns and each of them was a real fine run. Most of these were made possible through the extra special line blocking. Tony Gonzales scored on two extra point plays and was continuously making 5 to 10 yards on running plays. Arthur Cantu did a good job taking and carrying the ball through the line also.

"Charles Mauldin made some fine plays and I feel that he will develop into a real fine quarterback.

"Our offense did well but I feel like that our defense deserves most of the credit for this win. We were able to hold Quanah on two extra point plays and were able to contain them during the crucial times during the ball game. They have one of the finest running backs of all teams played this year and we really had to get after them to contain him on defense," Coach Stavenhagen said.

"Our boys have a whole lot of hustle and a lot of desire," he continued.

The Wellington B team will meet the Clarendon B team in their home field on Thursday, Nov. 2.

Church Group Plans Film Friday Night

A special showing of a half hour film has been arranged in Wellington by Jehovah's Witnesses with the presentation to be made Friday, Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc. building.

Entitled "Heritage," the film has been presented on television throughout the United States as an effort to aid parents in dealing with the youth problem by using Bible principles in training children.

"Peace of mind and self-respect is emphasized in the film," according to a local spokesman, "and a contrast is depicted between parents who take the time to help their children in developing as compared with those whose daily lives are so filled with their own activities that it leaves very little time for child training."

The public is invited to attend the free showing which will include a brief introduction as well as a short conclusion that will be presented by Jack Cobb, presiding minister of the Memphis congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

DPS Approved Headgear Listed

Effective Jan. 1, 1968, the Texas Department of Public Safety will require protective headgear to be worn by all drivers and riders of motor scooters and motorcycles, according to Patrolman Chester Fant, safety officer for this area.

The Department has issued a list of approved safety helmets and anyone wishing to see the list may do so at the Sheriff's office or the office of the Chief of Police in Wellington.

Only the helmets on the list, which have been tested and approved, will be accepted by the Department of Public Safety and Patrolman Fant has suggested that individuals check the list before purchasing their safety helmet.

Wilson Heads Price-Ford Ticket Sales

Jeff Wilson of Wellington has been named Collingsworth County ticket sales chairman for the Nov. 17 fund raising dinner in Amarillo honoring Congressman Bob Price on completion of his first year as Panhandle representative.

Congressman Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, House Republican Leader, will be the featured speaker. Also attending will be Congressman George Bush of Houston, 1964 U.S. Senate candidate.

Congressman Ford has been the leader of recent successful attempts in the House of Representatives to reduce the Federal budget in hopes of avoiding the necessity of a tax increase this year.

A strong believer in maximum use of American conventional air and sea power in Vietnam, Congressman Ford has called for attacks on all significant military targets and a blockade of the port of Haiphong in order to bring the war to a speedy conclusion.

Like Panhandle Congressman Price, the Michigan congressman has also been an outspoken critic of administration welfare legislation, and has offered alternatives to Great Society programs.

Rockets Fall to Quanah Here Fri.

The favored Quanah Indians went on a second period scoring spree to defeat the Wellington Skyrockets 38 to 14 in a hard hitting football game at Powell Field Friday night, Oct. 27.

Miscues again plagued the Rockets, and the Indians were able to capitalize on them. Fumbles hurt the Rockets a number of times, and they helped to keep the Indians' offensive momentum up in the second quarter.

The Rocket defense had its troubles stopping the Indian running game, but the Indians were only able to complete two passes against the strong Rocket pass defense.

The Rocket offensive unit led by Gary Brewer, Kenny Brown, Herman Moore, Marvin Roland, Andy Lowe, Alfred Allred, Stevie Davis, Jim Lindsey, Johnny Harris, Chuck Wilbur, Jimmy Bohannon, Mike Gilmore, Andy Henard and Joe Brock had some good drives going, but fumbles either stopped these drives or took the momentum out of them.

The Indians won the toss and received to start the game, but neither team could move the ball in their first series of downs, until midway of the first quarter when the Rockets recovered an Indian fumble on the Indian 30 yard line.

Roland, K. Brown and Allred moved the ball to the Indian 18. Then K. Brown dropped back and passed to Henard in the end zone for the first Rocket touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Rockets 6, Indians 0.

The Indians really started to roll from this point on. Taking the kickoff the Indians' drive rolled for 76 yards and a touchdown. The try for extra point failed. Rockts 6. Indians 6.

In the second quarter, the imaginary roof fell in on the Rockets when the Indians were able to capitalize on a Rocket fumble and pass interception to help their cause. First stopping a Rocket drive and forcing them to punt, the Indians drove 69 yards for another touchdown. The try for extra point failed. The Indians then recovered a Rocket fumble on the Rocket 46 and scored another touchdown in two plays. Again the Indians got a break, intercepting a Rocket pass on the Rocket 43 yard line and in seven plays the Indians scored, and the try for 2 extra points was good. It was Indians 26, Rockets 6 at the half.

Opening the second half without the services of quarterback K. Brown, the Rockets took the kickoff on their own 31. Lowe, Allred and Roland drove to the Rocket 39, and then Roland, behind some great blocking, and shaking loose would-be tacklers, ran 61 yards for the last Rocket touchdown. The try for 2 extra points was good. Indians 26, Rockets 14.

The Rockets got another good drive going, driving from their own 24 to the Indian 35, but another Rocket fumble recovered by the Indians stopped this drive.

The Indians scored two more touchdowns on drives of 65 yards and 18 yards, to boost their total to 38 points. Final score Indians 38, Rockets 14.

The three top ground gainers in this game were Roland 136 yards, Lowe 22 yards, and Allred 17.

This Friday night, Nov. 3, the Rockets travel to Seymour to meet the Panthers at 7:30 p.m. This should be a good game, and both teams will really be putting out all they have to improve their district standings. The Panthers have a good ball club and have played a tough schedule. The Rockets need your backing now more than ever, it's not too far a trip to Seymour, see if you can make it to support our Rockets.

Roses Need Fall Attention

COLLEGE STATION.— Good cultural practices can make a September rose garden a place of beauty and the gardener the envy of the community.

If you aren't satisfied with the quality and amount of your blooms, give more attention to fall management practices, suggests Sammy Helmers, county agent.

He says not to fertilize the roses at this time of the year. Fertilizer, especially ntirogen, tends to produce soft, lush growth that will be damaged by the coming winter.

Many roses, he notes, are showing signs of iron deficiency—leaves turn yellow, but the veins remain green. Chelated iron or iron sufate sprayed on the foliage will give a quick green-up but soil application gives a more lasting effect, says Helmers.

Rose gardens should be kept clean. The agent suggests that all infected and fallen leaves be destroyed. Pick faded blossoms before the petals begin to fall and continue the spray program into the fall, he adds. Mildew and Blackspot are especially serious this year, he notes.

Mites have caused much trouble for Texas flower growers, he notes. Since these insects quickly become immune to constant use of one material, Helmers suggests a switch in miticides. Be sure, he adds, to spray the foliage on the bottom of the plant where the mites are concentrated.

Preparations for new rose beds can be started now so they will be ready for early spring planting. Roses need a well-drained soil. Add peatmoss or other decomposed organic matter to aid the soil drainage. Helmers says if the soil is heavy and is slow to drain, it's a good idea to raise the level of the bed from four to six inches above the surrounding soil. Redwood boards or brick edging can be used to hold the soil in place.

Locate the bed, advises Helmers, where the plants will get at least six hours of sunshine each day and plant varieties adapted in the area.

San Antonio Landmark Will Be Restored for HemisFair Exhibit

SAN ANTONIO.—A venerable stone building that formerly housed one of San Antonio's pioneer stores has acquired a new tenant—Humble Oil & Refining Company—and will reopen its doors next spring as the company's pavilion at HemisFair '68.

The weathered landmark, known to generations of Texans as the Schultze Stove and Hardware Company, will be completely renovated and will serve as a showcase for Humble's exhibits at the first world's fair ever held in the Southwest.

In a brief ceremony recently, Dr Chas. F. Jones, president of Humble, received the keys to the old building from San Antonio's Mayor W. W. McAllister, Sr.

Dr. Jones said that the Humble pavilion will contain a travel center, displays of models and toys—some of them antiques—depicting the history of transportation, and a multi-screen theatre featuring a unique 12-minute film on the peoples of the Americas. After the Fair the building and all improvements will revert to the city.

Yea Rockets! We're With You All The Way

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The time is near when we will go to the polls to vote on six amendments to the state constitution. Some people have decided how they will vote on all of them; but there are many more of us who have given them slight consideration up to the present time. I am more interested in No. 1 and No. 3 on the ballot than any of the others, and I believe they should pass.

★ ★ ★

The first amendment, No. 1 on the ballot, would permit counties to put all revenues into one general fund instead of the four existing funds for juries, roads, permanent improvements and general uses. A consolidated fund would enable the commissioners to spend money as the need arises and not as the money comes into the special funds. This would provide greater flexibility in meeting new or unexpected needs.

★ ★ ★

Opponents of Amendment No. 1 say the court might use all of the money without consideration of the budget or advance planning. That does not seem to be too weighty an argument. The management of the county finances will depend still on the wisdom and honesty of the commissioners' court just as it does today and it is up to us as voters to select the best we can. The new amendment will enable capable men to manage the affairs of the county more efficiently.

★ ★ ★

The date for voting on the amendments is propitious for the passage of Amendment No. 3 on the ballot for it is Nov. 11, which is Veterans' Day. The amendment concerns veterans. It would provide for the state to pledge its credit for $200 million in bonds for the purchase of land by veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam. Arguments for it are that the program costs the taxpayers nothing. The difference between the interest paid on the bonds and the interest paid by the veterans makes a profit to the state.

★ ★ ★

Arguments against passing the bill at this time are that the veterans of World War II and the Korean War have had ample time to buy land if they found some they wanted and that it is too early to pass an amendment for the veterans of Vietnam since half a million men are still there. The argument against this objection is that it is better to have the law working when the veterans of the Vietnam War return.

★ ★ ★

Some of the other amendments have little local bearing on us; but we will try to have some information about them next week.

★ ★ ★

About a month ago I wrote about a few large cities such as Austin, El Paso, etc., passing a city sales tax. Now there are hundreds of them adopting the levy in order to keep from increasing the tax on homes and other city property. You might as well be thinking about the tax because it will be coming up in Wellington sooner than you think.

★ ★ ★

The powers that be have returned the hour they took away last April without our consent. People have adjusted much more easily than they did to the change last April. The so-called daylight saving time eliminated our local drive-in theatre which was opposed to the change. With the exception of the ball games, this change or the dull programs eliminated a greater part of TV viewing. Perhaps it was the programs. Most of them are dull enough even with the regular programs now being shown. Perhaps it is a good thing after all. It has put me back to reading books.

★ ★ ★

Halloween was quiet in Wellington this year and it is a credit to the young people as well as the community. In spite of the hippies or other phenomena, the majority of our young people both in the grade schools and colleges are not only smarter than their parents were at that age, their character and sense of conduct will compare favorably with that of the people of one or two generations ago.

Buster Worley Dies After Long Illness

James D. (Buster) Worley, 57, died Thursday, Oct. 26, in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo, after being in ill health for several years.

Mr. Worley made his home at Plainview for 25 years, but for approximately 5 years he had made his home at Shamrock when not hospitalized.

Mr. Worley was born at Lutie, the son of Mrs. D. L. Worley, now of Shamrock, and the late Mr. Worley.

He attended Wellington High School and was graduated in 1930 as president of his class. He then attended Texas A&M University for several years.

As a youth, he was one of the outstanding 4-H Club boys Collingsworth County has produced, and received much recognition at the state level.

He was assistant county agent of Cochran County and later was with the Farmers Home Administration at Plainview.

He served as a captain in the Army Air Corps during World War II and was a major in the Army Reserve.

Upon returning from the Air Corps, he was associated with an alfalfa dehydrating company in Plainview until his health failed and he retired.

He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist Church at Shamrock at 2 p.m. Saturday by Dr. Marshall Rhew, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Plainview, assisted by the Rev. Lyman Wood, pastor of the Shamrock church.

Burial was in the Plymouth Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Paul Morgan, A. C. Brown, Bob Hamack, E. N. Schaffner, Lee Roark and Tom Field.

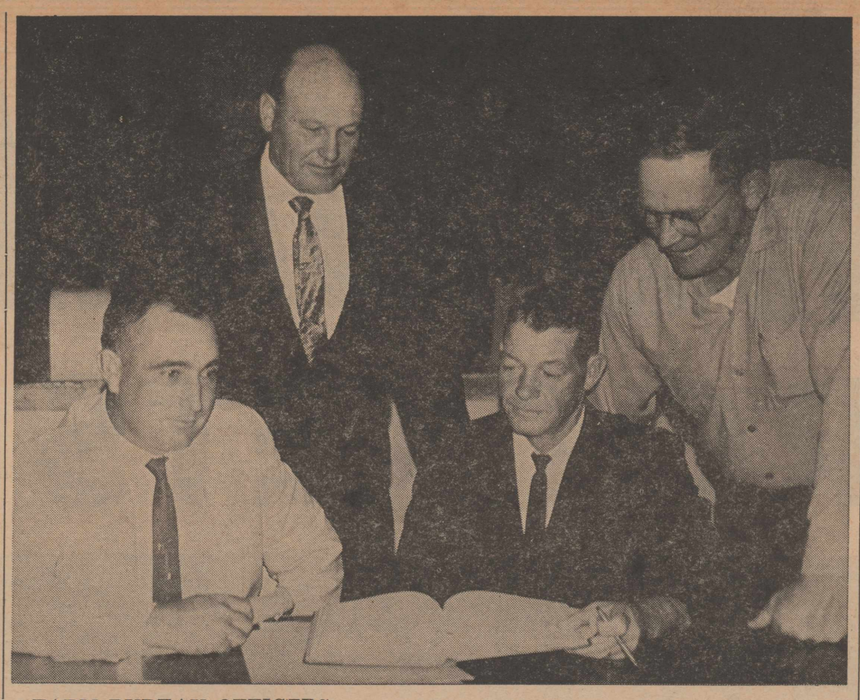
Survivors include a son, Lt. David Worley of Ft. Sill, Okla.; his mother, Mrs. D. L. Worley of Shamrock; and a sister, Mrs. Jess Deger of Samnorwood.

WTU Women Attend Meet

Mrs. Benton Wauer, Mrs. Johnny Brown, and Mrs. Helen Gribble, district home economist for the company, attended the Women's Conference of West Texas Utilities Company in Abilene, Oct. 22 to 24.

The activities began with a dinner on Sunday night. They attended an all day conference meeting on Monday and another banquet that night. Theme of the conference was "Watch That Image."

Mrs. Wauer and Mrs. Brown returned to Wellington on Tuesday. Both are cashiers for the West Texas Utilities office in Wellington.



FARM BUREAU OFFICERS

ON ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith has announced that Robert L. Thornton, Jr., of Dallas and Abner McCall of Waco will serve as two members of a proposed five-member advisory Committee for Smith's campaign for Governor. Thornton is a bank president and a civic leader in Dallas; McCall is an educator, an attorney and former associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court.

Farm Credit Expands in Texas

COLLEGE STATION.—Texas farmers and ranchers are continually using more agricultural credit, according to James Mallett, farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. On Jan. 1, 1967, farmers and ranchers in the state had debts of over $2,581,052,000 — that's two and one half billion dollars.

Real estate loans accounted for about two-thirds of the total — $1,705,427,000; and non-real estate loans accounted for one-third, or $875,625,000, Mallett said.

Non-real estate loans increased 4% during 1966, and 58% over the past five years. Real estate loans increased 8% last year and 75% over the past five years.

Commercial banks held 70% or about $617,434,000 of the non real estate farm and ranch loans on last Jan. 1. Individual lenders were highest in real estate loans with $591 million, followed by Life Insurance companies with $561 million, Federal Land Banks with $412 million, commercial banks with $126 million, and the Farmers Home Administration with $15½ million.

Non-real estate loans were used by farmers and ranchers for operating expenses, living costs and intermediate-type investments such as machinery, livestock, and property improvements requiring longer than a one-year repayment program. Real estate loans were used primarily for farm purchases, or additional land, however, some were used for items listed under non-real estate loans and for refinancing existing debts.

Mallett says, reason for the increased agricultural credit include higher costs of production items, higher land prices, and increased farm sizes. The index of prices paid by Texas farmers for production inputs increased from 255 in 1954 to 266 in 1959 and to 270 in 1964, the last three census years. For these same periods, average land prices increased from $60.54 per acre to $81.11 per acre to $114.20 per acre. The average farm size in Texas increased from 497.7 acres in 1954 to 690.9 acres in 1964 — a 38.8% increase in ten years.

Agriculture in Texas is big business, stated Mallett, and the move toward larger, more efficient commercial farms continues at a fast pace.

Food Demands Continue to Grow

COLLEGE STATION. — The world demand for food will continue to grow sharply, because of rapidly increasing world population and rapidly rising personal incomes in most countries, according to a Texas A&M economist.

W. E. Black says the world's population, currently at 3 billion, may reach 4.3 billion by 1980 and 6.1 billion by 2000. The world is now adding one million more people each week, thus total population could double during the next 35 years, according to predictions made by the National Commission on Food and Fiber.

Most of the population increase will be in the less developed countries where food is already in short supply, says Black. The populations in these countries are growing twice as fast as those in the developed countries.

The "population explosion" is the result of dramatically lower death rates around the world. This is a result of improved health care and sanitation. Birth rates in most countries are about the same as before World War II.

A less obvious, but important contributor to the world food needs is the "income explosion". Personal incomes are rising in most of the countries of the world. This puts additional pressure on the food supply because persons with more money seek better diets. The desire for more animal protein in the diet seems to be common to all societies. Thus because of increased consumption, food prices are going up.

The Commission asked if the developed countries can long produce enough food to meet the needs of the less developed countries, and concluded they could not. If the current trends in population, food demand and production continue, the food deficit could be too large for the developed countries to meet by the mid 1980's.

The long-run solution to the world's hunger problem must come through population control and increased food production in the hungry countries. Food aid, unless it is part of a well thought out assistance program, could depress prices in the hungry country, causing their farmers to grow indifferent about their agricultural development.

Arnett Indians Open Play Tuesday Night

The Arnett Indians, both boys and girls teams, will open their basketball season Tuesday, Nov. 7, against Lakeview there.

Both teams are young and inexperienced, said Supt. Bob Copeland, who is coaching this year.

Neither team has much height and both will have to depend on speed and mobility to carry them through the season.

A number of the 1967-68 players are freshmen and sophomores, and although they may be hampered by lack of experience this year, they show potential of becoming two of the stronger teams of Southwest Oklahoma in their class.

After the Lakeview game, the Indians will not play again until Friday, Nov. 17, when they travel to Duke. One other November game is scheduled, with the Quail Quails and Bobwhites at Arnett Nov. 28.

Members of the boys squad are Wayne Bennett, Bruce Mabry and Wayne Muckelroy, seniors; Bruce Rumbaugh, Ronald Cummins, Bobby Argo, Ronald Bailey, Gary Middaugh, and Rodney Halford, juniors; and Stevie Sikes, James Kuykendall, Robert Scott, Preston Woods, Earl Nash and Steve Carter, sophomores.

Playing for the girls are Shirley Norman, Janie Bell and Sheila Gee, seniors; Alice Whitson, Lana Richardson and Anita Sterner, juniors; Brenda Norman and Debbie Powers, sophomores; and LaQuita Defoor, Sherri Ginn, Merle Bennett, Cathy Carter, Retha Moore, Merlene Bell and Sharla Sikes, freshmen.

Many Tax Payers Get '67 Refunds

Apparently filing a tax return wasn't as bad a task as most taxpayers claimed here in Northern Texas.

Sixty-five percent of the taxpayers filing individual income tax returns during 1967 got a refund. The computer rolled out 987,000 refund checks, amounting to more than $137 million.

The tax folks say that they still have several thousand refund checks that could not be delivered. If you haven't got your refund check and haven't heard from it, either you made an error, or one of the processing employees gave the computer the wrong information, or else you hauled off and moved. If you still have a refund check coming and have not been notified of problems on the refund, sit down and write the Internal Revenue Service—tell them when you filed, what your social security number is, and how much refund check you are due. You will probably get your check.

Fourth of Food Dollar Buys Meat

COLLEGE STATION.—About 25% of the food dollar is spent on meat, one of the most important and popular foods you buy. It provides needed nutrients to the diet and is also one of the safest items on the dinner table, thanks to the US Department of Agriculture inspection service.

Let the USDA inspection stamp guide you as you select meat, Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, suggests.

All meat processing plants shipping meat across state lines must meet USDA inspection regulations and all meat they process must bear this stamp.

It is a round stamp: "U.S. Inspected and Passed." The stamp on the meat is purple, made from vegetable dye, and is harmless. The number in the stamp identifies the packing house.

Some establishments whose products do not enter into interstate commerce must meet state or city inspection regulation. (The inspection stamp guarantees that the meat was wholesome and suitable for consumption when it left the processing plant.)

belonging to the O'Donnell Cattle Company of Coahoma, Oklahoma, a short distance south of Wellington where Highway 83 is under construction. Deputy Hooten reported. The accident occurred early last week. He estimated the car as a total loss and damage to the truck at around $1,200.

Patrolman Richardson also investigated this accident.

Two intersection collisions occurred within three hours on Monday morning, Oct. 30, according to the deputy.

The first was between cars driven by Keith Brown and Mrs. Otis Roberson, and occurred at the intersection of 13th and Arlington Streets at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Roberson was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

The other collision at 12:15 p.m. was between pickups driven by James Hurst and Emil Kersten.

Police Chief Donald Nunnelley investigated both accidents.
