PALMER RULING SEALS DOOR ON BONDED BOOZE

Kremer Edict Prevents All Withdrawal of Liquor Out of Warehouses and Blocks Wholesaler's Way

Stocks May Still Be Kept in Storage; Sweeping Lid Leaves Some Loopholes, Wording Indicates.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Doors of distilleries and bonded warehouses in every state in the union, Hawaii and Porto Rico were ordered indefinitely closed against liquor withdrawals today by Prohibition Commissioner Kremer. At the same time wholesale liquor dealers were ruled out of further participation in the sale of intoxicating beverages, by Attorney General Palmer.

Today's order and the attorney general's interpretation of the Volstead act, prohibition officials said, meant the elimination of the wholesale liquor dealers and make possible the prevention of "bootlegging" through forged permits and illegal disposal of intoxicants.

The nation-wide ban does not apply to withdrawal of industrial alcohol or reasonable quantities of sacramental wine, and makes an exception in the case of retail druggists who are permitted to make withdrawals up to five cases of liquor at a time.

Warning against attempts to obtain whiskey despite the order was sent out by Mr. Kramer, who declared all owners of distilleries and warehouses not to honor permits for whiskey withdrawals, "purporting to be issued by any state director, irrespective of the date such permit is issued or approved by the director," no such applications are being approved, he said, adding that failure to comply with the notice would deprive owners of their license to hold their stock still in storage.

Mr. Palmer's opinion was said by revenue bureau officials to constitute the authority upon which the sweeping closing orders were issued.

Wholesale liquor dealers, the attorney general held, are entitled to dispose of their warehouse receipts for liquor stored in bonded warehouses to manufacturers and wholesale druggists, "but the right to withdraw said liquors from bonded warehouses is granted to manufacturers and wholesale druggists only."

On the question of the authority of the prohibition commissioner to issue permits to sell liquor in wholesale quantities, the attorney general held that power was limited to manufacturers and wholesale druggists.

With respect to industrial alcohol, Mr. Palmer held the authority to issue permits for its disposal in wholesale quantities was limited to manufacturers and wholesale druggists if the alcohol were fit for beverage purposes but not if it were denatured.

ATTORNEYS FAVOR NO PARDON BOARD

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—The county and district attorneys association of Texas partly endorse the action of Governor Neff in abolishing the board of pardon advisers and recommending to the legislature to repeal the suspended sentence law. A resolution to this effect was adopted at a meeting of the association held here Monday and Tuesday.

The association also resolved that the crime wave now sweeping Texas demanded the highest degree of vigilance at the hands of the juries and officers of the law. It also found that the suspended sentence law as it has been applied in the past is not calculated to reform the criminal but that it has proven a deteriment to the state. The association also prepared a bill to be introduced in the legislature providing to take the fees for delinquent tax suits out from under the maximum fee law.

Fairfield Boy Insists He Swallows no Snake While Mother Is Away

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 2.—Willie Johnson of Fairfield, denies that he has swallowed a snake. Also authorities at the Tennessee company hospital in a formal statement back Willie in his denial.

The snake story has been current in Fairfield several days. Carried from mouth to mouth in all seriousness, it reached Birmingham today. It was that while playing in the backyard while his mother was attending a political meeting, the child had swallowed a snake, and that he had been rushed to the hospital, where an operation had been performed in an effort to capture the reptile.

SON BARTERS GROUND HOGS, DEFEATS DAD

Year of Waiting to Find Out if Winter Signs Be True Fails.

By Associated Press.

MONMOUTH, Kan., Feb. 2.—Because his young son has an eye for business, John Willheimer of Monmouth did not find out today whether the ground hog knows anything about the length of winter.

Willheimer has his doubts as to the old theory that if the animal sees his shadow when he comes out of his hole on February 2, he knows more cold snaps are in sight and goes back for a six weeks' nap. So he decided to test it out. Last fall he laid in a supply of five ground hogs, housed them on the bank of Lightning creek, built himself an observation tower, marked up his calendar and sat back to await the day when, the tradition has it, the ground hog goes over the top.

Willheimer got up early this morning and went down to the creek bank to see what would come off. It was a fine day for the experiment. He perched himself in his observatory to watch, and kept one eye on the sun and the other on the creek bank. After considerable time had elapsed and he was no nearer solution of the mystery than before, he began to wonder if his ground hogs were especially late sleepers or whether they did not know what day it was. At that juncture his 14-year-old son appeared on the scene.

"Pop," he began, "I don't think your ground hogs will show up today, because they are not there. I didn't mean to do anything you didn't want me to, but last fall some fellers from town came out here hunting and wanted 'possums. Sam Willits and I sacked your ground hogs and sold them as 'possums for $2 apiece."

So Willheimer went back to the house. He said tonight he did not know whether he would try the experiment again next year.

FIND JACKSON GUILTY, GIVE HIM 20 YEARS

Jury Reports Prisoner Murdered A. E. Berlin, Newtown; Motion to Appeal Case Filed.

Walter Henderson alias Heinie Jackson, was found guilty of the murder of A. E. Berlin at Newtown on January 9 and sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary by a jury reporting late Wednesday afternoon in Thirtieth district court. The jury remained out four hours in deliberation upon a verdict.

Notice of appeal and motion for new trial were filed by R. Shields Heyser, counsel for the defendant.

The calling of two witnesses to the stand by the state in rebuttal marked the opening Wednesday of the third day of the trial. By 10 o'clock all testimony had been taken; the state closed its case; and a few minutes later the court delivered the charge to the jury.

Arguments by counsel were concluded at noon. Each side was allotted one hour.

Assistant District Attorney Sam Holliday opened arguments for the state, followed by Attorney Beauchamp Williams and Heyser in the order named. County Attorney John Davenport closed for the state.

CLOTURE RULE ON TARIFF DEFEATED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Shoving aside all pending legislation, including a dozen big appropriation bills, the senate voted today to continue consideration of the Fordney emergency tariff bill. The gates were opened wide for a flood of oratory when a petition for the use of the cloture in the tariff debate was voted down, 36 to 25, mustering far less than the necessary two-thirds majority.

In a session marked by political jockeying, debate consisted of short, but heated speeches. Attempts were made by each side to lead the other into pit-falls. Republican leaders sought to avoid cloture but the democrats challenged that it be brought in and then marshalled their forces, defeating it promptly. Minority members then sought a unanimous consent agreement fixing a date for a vote on the tariff, only to have one of their own ranks enter objection.

CALLS MEETING OF DEMOCRATS FEBRUARY 17TH

George White, Party Chairman Asks Executives of National Committee to Gather in Washington.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—George White, chairman of the democratic national committee, today appointed an executive committee of the national committee, and called it to meet in Washington February 17 for the purpose of obtaining its "advice and counsel," in the re-organization of the party's machinery.

The executive committee is composed of sixteen members as follows: W. T. Sanders, Alabama; Homer S. Cummings, Connecticut; Miles C. Saunders, Colorado; Miss Julia E. Landers, Indiana; Mrs. Campbell Cantrill, Kentucky; Mrs. Julia H. Briscoe, Maryland; William F. Connolly, Michigan; J. Bruce Kremer, Montana; Norman E. Mack, New York; Mrs. Bernice Pyke, Ohio; Mrs. D. A. McDougall, Oklahoma; Mrs. Rose Heiflin, Oregon; Joseph F. Guffey, Pennsylvania; Cordell Hull, Tennessee; Senator Carter Glass, Virginia and Angus M. McLean, North Carolina.

Mr. White, as chairman, Wilbur W. Marsh of Iowa as treasurer and E. G. Hoffman of Indiana, as secretary of the national committee, will act as ex-officio members of the executive committee.

Chairman White, in announcing the appointments and the call for the meting gave no details of the matters likel yto be brought up, merely stating that he desired "to have the benefit of the counsel of the executive committee in planning for an efficient organization of the national committee.

Bride Sleeps 4 Weeks; Minister Must Wait While

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Awakened from a four weeks' sleep one day after she was to have been married, Miss Yetta Lehman, 21, today said she felt no ill effects and would be wed in a week or two.

Attending physicians said she had not been suffering from sleeping sickness and that they were unable to dianose the malady.

HOUSE REFUSES CONVENTION TO REDRAFT LAWS

Solons Vote Down Call for Constitutional Meeting, 79-32; Concurrent Resolution Also Dies.

Senate Adopts Plea to Investigate Reports Convicts Are Brutally Put About on Prison Farms.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 2.—After having the house joint resolution by Satterwhite of Carson and Rountree of Brazos calling for a constitutional convention to frame a new state constitution under consideration for more than a week, the house late today refused to pass the measure by a vote of 32 to 79.

The measure occupied almost the entire time of today's session and was the subject of spirited debate. The resolution resembled little of its original form when it came up for final reading.

The failure of the house to pass this resolution, automatically kills the measure in the senate by McNealus of Dallas and the failure of one branch of the legislature to pass a concurrent resolution kills the other.

The senate bill by Clark poviding that all automobiles owned by the state have the word "Texas" painted on each side was passed to the third reading, also the bill by Carlock giving additional supercedeas bond in cases pending on writ of error in the supreme court.

The house also considered the right of the committee investigating charges against Representative H. J. Neinast of Washington, contesting his seat in the house.

The senate today adopted the senate concurrent resolution by Senator Williams of Decatur calling for an investigation of alleged mistreatment and brutality to convicts of state penitentiaries and prison farms. The investigation is to be made by a committee of nine members from the house and senate. The investigation grew out of charges printed in state papers alleging brutality to prisoners.

Most of the day's session in the senate was taken up with debating the resolution and voice little other business was attended to.

A bill was introduced in the house late today by O. B. Black of Bexar giving the state board of control the power of a state board of equalization for taxing property. Burmeister of McMullin introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 for the state health department to use in aiding counties to exterminate rats, sparrows and other anmal and bird pests.

COMMITTEE AGAINST NEINAST

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—The house committee appointed to investigate charges against H. J. Neinast, representative from Washington county, contesting his act in the house of representatives reported to the house this morning that the committee found that Mr. Neinast was convicted on his own plea of guilty to a felony and that he is not qualified to hold his seat in the house.

When the report was read, Representative Lauderdale declared that Mr. Neinast was the victim of a political fight, that he was elected by the American party "and if he had been a democrat, this issue would never have been mentioned." Mr. Lauderdale was elected on the democratic ticket.

TWO WAR BILLS UP

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—At the request of the American Legion, Senator Rogers of Collin introduced three bills in the senate today, one declaring November 11 Victory Day, another establishing a fund for the relief of widows and orphans of the world war, and creating the office of relief commissioner, and the third, providing that only citizens of the United States shall be allowed to vote at elections.

STEAMER CAPTAIN SHOOTS HIMSELF

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 2.—The body of Captain M. J. Brophy, former commander of an oil tanker operating between Beaumont and Mexican ports, was found in his room in a local hotel tonight. He had shot himself in the head with a .38 calibre pistol. He was lieutenant commander in the naval reserve during the war. He was 35 years old.

GRAY-HAIRED SEER TURNS BACK UNUSED WEDDING LICENSE WITH COMMENT, "WE COULDN'T AGREE"

Bridegroom of Four Score Years and Fiancee of Eighteen Surrender Matrimonial Document With no Explanation Against Mating of May and December.

"We couldn't agree."

With this explanation a gray-haired man turned back a marriage license to the county clerk's office Wednesday, unused, and thus the apparent end of a romance was written. In taking out the license he gave his age as 67 and his intended bride's age as 18.

Whether the youthful bride-to-be decided against the mating of May and December, or whether the groom himself had a hand in the failure to agree, or objections from outside sources were encountered, was not indicated in the frustrated bridegroom's laconic surrender of the document.

And the court reporter, remembering endless divorce petitions and divorce trials, in which the complaints all simmered down to the simple "couldn't agree," came to the conclusion that here was a couple with wisdom beyond the average.

U. S. ATTORNEYS REST FIGHT TO CONVICT ROWAN

Detectives Wind Up Circumstantial Chain About Scion of Wealth Charged With Postoffice Robbery.

By Associated Press

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 2.—The government late today rested its case in the trial of Albert L. Rowan, R. Ben Luna and W. S. Scrivner, charged with robbing a postoffice sub-station here January 14. Seventeen witnesses were heard today. The defense testimony will begin tomorrow morning.

The government introduced several city detectives, who told of meeting Rowan on a road between Dallas and Fort Worth, east of Grand Prairie, on the night of the robbery. An employe of an oil refining station told of pulling an automobile driven by Rowan and Luna out of the mud on a detour from the regular highway on the same night and said he was told they were going to Fort Worth. A Dallas chauffeur also testified he drove Rowan to his home shortly after 5 o'clock the following morning. Rowan's clothes being covered with mud. Arriving at Rowan's home, the chauffeur testified, Rowan ordered him to drive back to town when he saw several officers surrounding the house, with guns in their hands.

W. E. Carpenter, one of the city detectives, testified he found some money and four pistols on the back porch of Rowan's home the day following the robbery. This testimony was temporarily excluded, but later admitted by Judge James C. Wilson. The defense contended that the officers entered the house without a warrant and that the testimony was inadmissible.

W. O. Ford, assistant cashier of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank identified cancelled currency which, he said, was sent to the postoffice shortly before the robbery occurred.

Ed Cornwell, federal reserve bank guard, testified that he saw Rowan near the war loan department of the bank several days before the hold-up. Asked whether the shipping department was in full view from where Rowan stood, Cornwell said it was.

Rowan is the scion of a wealthy property owner of Dallas. Scrivner, who is an escaped convict, is the government's star witness in the case. Two other alleged bandits are still at large, while another was killed when an automobile in which he and Scrivner were making their escape turned over near Fort Worth a few hours after the hold-up.

SEEK PARDON TO PUT SCRIVNER ON STAND

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—A pardon for W. S. Scrivner, confessed postoffice bandit, may be applied for, in order that Scrivner can testify in the state's court in the trial of Alfred Rowan, it was learned today.

Under the state laws a convict can not testify in the trial of a felony case in a state court. Scrivner, by his own confession, escaped from the state penitentiary, where he was serving two terms.

The rule barring the testimony of escaped convicts does not apply in the Federal courts

BOY, 11, FOUND NOT GUILTY OF CHILD MURDER

State Witness Testifies Accused Youth Warns Victim to Throw Up Hands and Fired After Threat.

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 2.—Deliberating one hour, a jury in juvenile court here today acquitted George Eaton Rogers, 11-year-old boy of a charge of murder in connection with the death on January 18 of Ernest Champion, his playmate, who was instantly killed by a discharge from a shotgun.

The trial started early today and the verdict was returned late this afternoon. While Judge Hugh L. Scott prepared his charge, Mrs. Rogers, mother of the defendant, became hysterical and was carried from the court room.

Lester Kirksley, 10-year-old, was the star witness for the state. He said that he and the Champion boy were sitting on the banks of a creek south of Polytechnic, a suburb of Fort Worth, when the deefndant, with a shotgun in his hands, came walking towards them. A cap pistol in the hands of the Champion boy attracted the attention of the defendant, Lester said. The Rogers lad asked to see the pistol, according to the witness, and after looking at it threw it over an embankment.

It was when young Champion went after the toy pistol that the Rogers lad warned him to throw up his hands and then shot him, according to Lester. The defendant insisted the shooting was accidental.

Atlantans Steal Coolidge's Coat

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 2.—Atlanta's police department admitted today that Calvin Coolidge's overcoat had been stolen while the vice-president-elect was visiting here last week and that the city's best sleuths could not find it. The public was asked to help.

The coat was taken while the vice-president-elect was inspecting the Y. M. C. A. building and because of civic pride the detectives wanted to return it without the world knowing the theft had been committed here.

Local Merchants to Display Dollar-Day Bargains Thursday

With the throwing open of local stores this morning for Wichita Falls' first dollar day, Wichita Falls merchants are offering the buying public their first opportunity at exceptional bargains in the smaller merchandise, apart from the confusion of a large sale—an opportunity both for the buyer and the seller, as the occasion has been pronounced by John W. Thomas, secretary of the Retail Merchants Association.

The stores co-operating in this movement have prepared for the day with bargains of exceptional merits, according to pronouncements of unprejudiced observers who are qualified to pass on them.

Swearing Like Trooper Erstwhile A. E. F. Supply Chief Answers Waste Charges Against Yanks

Dawes Declares Britain Wishes Today She Had Sold Leftover Stores Immediately After Truce.

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Sledge hammer blows at critics who had tried, he said, to detract from the glory of America's part in the world war, were struck in the course of five hours' examination today by Charles G. Dawes of Chicago before a house war investigating committee.

Mr. Dawes, who was former chief of supply procurement for the American army in France, bitterly attacked what he charged were political attempts to discredit the achievements of the people who won the war.

At times, as Mr. Dawes condemned those who, he said, picked flaws and paraded trivial faults 3,000 miles away, the air was thick with a streak of oaths, for which, the witness frankly confessed, he has neither apology nor excuse.

Late in the day he reiterated an earlier off-hand statement as to his own part in politics, which was accepted to mean that he would not become a member of Mr. Harding's cabinet, a position with which his name has been linked. Even before his views on this subject were expressed, Mr. Dawes sharply denounced the present system of conducting the federal government, evil of a hundred years' standing, he declared, with which investigators might better afford to deal instead of trying to scoop up water already over the dam.

Mr. Dawes was called by democratic members of the committee to answer testimony relating to waste and extravagance, and particularly with reference to liquidation of American airplanes in France and sale of surplus stocks to the French government. Answering charges that food and clothing supplies might have brought more than the $400,000,000 paid by France, Mr. Dawes turned sharply upon one of his questioners, Representative Blackney, republican, Indiana, and shouted:

"It is just that sort of foolish argument that forced Great Britain to hold on to its stock and enabled them to drive a hard bargain. That stock is there today, rotting. You cannot discuss an ex parte question 3,000 miles away. There is no use to try to throw mud when you were not there to know conditions.

"England lost billions of dollars by listening to that sort of talk—listening to a lot of people who were afraid of muckrakers at home. They are raising the devil in England now because England did not sell supplies when we sold."

Mr. Bland questioned Mr. Dawes about excessive prices paid for equipment and material.

"Sure we paid," he said. "We did not stop to dicker. Why, man alive, we had to win the war. It was a man's job. We would have paid horse prices for sheep, if the sheep could have pulled artillery to the front. Men like Johnson there (the witness frankly confessed, he has neither apology nor excuse.

Negro Digs Nails In Dallas Woman

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 2.—Mrs. C. W. Bishop, white woman living in Arlington Heights, a residential suburb, was attacked in her home at noon today by a negro and badly beaten. Men working in the neighborhood heard her screams and captured the negro near Lake Como. The woman was terribly beaten, the imprints of the negro's fingers, brought blood from many wounds on her throat and face. The negro entered the house through the front door.

In order to prevent any possible mob violence, District Attorney Brown placed the negro's case before the grand jury, which was in session this afternoon.

FIFTH OF ALL WATER TAXES PAID LAST DAY

Practically twenty percent of the 1920 taxes collected for Wichita County Water Improvement, District No. 1 were paid into the county treasury on the last day of grace, according to V. W. Meadows, deputy county tax collector.

The total amount of taxes paid during the year under this head was $57,163.59 of which $10,317.94 was paid on the last day. The total taxes assessed were $80,526.49, leaving a total of $23,362.90 delinquent water improvement taxes due. The ten percent penalty for delinquents will run the total tax due to $25,699.49, thus bringing an additional $2,336.59 into the coffers, according to Mr. Meadows.

The county tax collection of $171,448.71 on last Monday breaks all records for a single day's collection of taxes, according to the county tax collector. The largest previous record was reached two years ago when a total of $106,000 was collected.

The total tax collection for the year including the collection for Monday and poll tax receipts was $1,063,284.57. The taxes represented by the 1920 rolls amounted to approximately a million and a half, according to officials.

The property taxes alone as collected by months during the current period, were: October, $20,717.10; November, $52,350.96; December, $399,484.72; January, $590,681.79.

Approximately 6,600 poll taxes were paid and 341 exemptions issued according to the county tax collector, of which practically 1,000 poll tax receipts were issued to women, running the total of Wichita county voters, as announced by county officials through the Record News Tuesday morning to near the 7,000 mark when the final count is made.

Tax payments made by mail are expected to increase the county totals by approximately $100,000 over the figures given Wednesday, according to officials.

OFFERS OIL MEN EXPERT ADVICE

Local offices for the National Engineering company have been opened in the American National Bank building. It will be in charge of H. Kiener and H. G. Youch, both of whom have had several years' experience in the production end of the oil business.

The local office will devote its efforts to the lowering of overhead expenses in the operation of producing properties in this section. It is prepared to give expert advice and practical assistance in all phases of the work, they declare.

The company is ready to give special financial aid to operators, where needed to secure the highest efficiency in the operation of properties.

and ammunition. Oh, it's all right now to say we bought too much vinegar and too many cold chisels, but we saved the civilization of the world."

The line of questioning shifted constantly, but all the time it came back to prices and waste stores on hand when the armistice was signed. Then diplomats were mentioned.

"The diplomatic system of appointing men with pink tea experience in war time," said Mr. Dawes, "was a rotten failure. Sharp was all right, but the rest of them were utter failures. It was all due to the appointment of society men—pink tea fellows. Why, we could not get anywhere. We had George McFadden over there and he did in three days what the diplomats could not do in three months."

Mr. Dawes said mistakes were made.

"But I am glad," he continued, "that there is a desire in some quarters to make a permanent and honorable record of what our men did."

Mr. Dawes agreed to remain over for another session tomorrow, Chairman Johnson announcing that his examination would require about three hours.

DOCTOR WARNS WICHITANS OF TIMELY STITCH

"Wichita Falls will come to Beaumont's plight of a million-dollar campaign to rid their city of rats and the bubonic plague which came with them, unless effective steps are taken now to relieve the city of this menace," Dr. Mike Walker, city and county health officer, told the members of the Wichita calub at their noon luncheon.

The seriousness of the rat menace in Wichita Falls was emphasized by Dr. Walker, chairman of the central committee for rat extermination, and by J. C. Hunt, chairman of the Chamber of commerce business council committee.

Following these talks the Wichita club pledged its co-operation with the local rat extermination campaign on February 22, and, on motion of C. W. Reid, voted to petition the governor to set aside that date as rat extermination date—the latter on the grounds that the work in Wichita Falls will count for little permanently without similar steps in other areas.

In dealing with the economic factor of the rat menace, Dr. Walker quoted statistics furnished by the United States public health service showing that the annual upkeep or damage done by one rat was around $4.82.

In relieving the city of rats, too, Dr. Walker pointed out, the largest part of the general health and sanitation problems will be solved. He spoke of the work of the newly organized public health board in Wichita Falls, stating that for the first time in its history the city had a well organized and smoothly working public health department.

Co-ordination of the work of the various social agencies through a central federation, a "chamber of commerce" of social endeavor, was discussed by Elmer Scott, secretary of the Dallas civic federation. Mr. Scott spoke of steps being taken to form a state-wide organization of this sort to co-ordinate the work of the 63 state social agencies.

NEW WARSHIPS DENOUNCED AS USELESS TYPE

By NEWTON C. PARKE.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—Publishing pictures of America's new dreadnoughts L'Illustration severely criticizes the construction of these ships. It firstly attacks their enormous length and breadth and their armaments. But what it most severely takes objection to is the central tower on these ships.

"On all their ships, the Americans have kept those metallic trellis work masts which characterize them and with their towers, casements, kiosks, foot bridges and funnels form a central castle offering a big target to enemy fire. The development of superstructures is a danger which is not justified either on account of the necessity of long-distance observation or of the advantages of grouping the steering gear of the ship and the control of the guns. The lessons of the late war and those of the Russo- Japanese war showed that a single shell falling squarely in this mass of steel can cause a veritable catastrophe. The conjugation of the funnels on the cruisers of the Indiana type is a novelty, albeit in contradiction with the lessons of naval warfare which have demonstrated that the fall of a funnel sends the smoke back into the interior of the ship and forces the men to abandon their posts. An aeroplane bomb or a shell falling squarely on these conjugated funnels would be even more disastrous, for the natural draft would be suppressed immediately.

We are surprised to see America continue to build ships of a type condemned by the war. Admiral Sir Percy Scott in a recent speech in London stated that the submarine had killed the cruiser, and in this he was right. If there remains any doubt about this let us remember that at the beginning of the peace conference the United States and Great Britain attempted to forbid the use of submarines in future naval battles. That was the only way of saving the cruiser."

POSTOFFICE PUTS 4 MORE CARRIERS ON LOCAL ROUTES

Four new carriers will be added to the city mail carrier force Thursday morning and the delivery service materially extended, according to an announcement Wednesday by Postmaster Howard. Mr. Howard said that citizens will be able to obtain regular service as soon as residence numbers and proper receptacles are put up.

The new territory scheduled to receive carrier service will be as follows, according to a table given by L. M. Howard assistant postmaster: "Hays, Tilden and Grant streets, south to Avenue F. Some additional territory on Giddings and Britain streets; a new route through the Southland addition, taking in Pearl, Smarsh and Magnolia streets; extensions of service on Seventh street from the 1800 block to the 2400 block, inclusively.

A new route on Truehart avenue and Truehart street; new route on east side of the railroad, taking in Second, Third, Fourth and Seymour streets and numerous other small extensions.

Besides the four new carriers seven new regular clerks are allowed, effective Thursday morning, according to Mr. Howard.

The additions to the postal force makes a total of 19 carriers and 38 regular clerks.

HUSBAND ON TRIAL FOR SLAYING FORMER PARTNER TESTIFIES IN TRAGIC LOVE TRIANGLE

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 2.—On trial for the murder of Howard Phillips, a former friend and partner in business, Justus B. Murray took the stand in court recently and told his reasons for slaying Phillips. Phillips was killed in front of the boarding house in Newport, Ky., where Mrs. Murray, separated from her husband, lived. Murray says that Phillips, as a friend and partner in a chain of bakeries, visited the Murray home often and finally violated the trust Murray placed in him, even causing Mrs. Murray to leave her husband. Murray told how he had denounced Phillips at one time for his acts and that a reconciliation with Mrs. Murray followed when Phillips promised to refrain from paying attention to Mrs. Murray. Later he learned Phillips was seeing Mrs. Murray and the shooting followed.

Murray's story on the stand follows:

"I was married eleven years when Howard Phillips, my best friend, came between me and my wife. I noticed undue cordiality between him and my wife after we moved to Cincinnati. But I dismissed suspicion.

"One evening I caught my wife and Phillips going out of the Gibson hotel together after she had told me she was too tired to go out with me. Later I found a sealed letter that had dropped from Phillips' pocket. It was from Phillips to my wife.

Letter to Phillips

"The next morning there arrived at the bakery Phillips and I owned jointly, a letter addressed to Phillips. It was from my wife who was visiting her parents in Iowa.

"I then denounced Phillips, and demanded dissolution of our partnership, to which he consented. He was deeply penitent and begged me to let him write a letter to my wife asking her never to write to him again.

"Then I moved with my wife to Evansville, Ind., and she was happy for a while until she again came under the influence of Phillips. She became depressed and discontented. I decided to move to Minneapolis in order to take her further away from Phillips. I bought a home there for her, and, after much persuasion, I finally induced her to join me at Minneapolis.

She Had Disappeared

"I was called away on business, but when I returned, the house was closed, and she and our child had disappeared. She was gone six weeks. I learned later she had been in Newport.

"We were again reconciled and happy, but there was another rift in our happiness when my wife again became cold and indifferent toward me. We agreed on a separation, she to have the child six months and I six months. That was last March. On September 20 I met her in Louisville to receive from her the child, because her six months were up. It was a happy day and it seemed we might again become reconciled.

"She moved to Newport and she wrote me two affectionate letters.

"In these letter, which I have here, she spoke of her great loneliness and the bitterness of her life and the desire for reconciliation was deep down in her heart. She signed herself 'Your dear wife.' So I decided to go to Newport, thinking a word from me would cause her to return to me.

"It was on the night of October 20 that I arrived in a taxicab in front of the boarding house in Newport where she lived. I saw her coming out of the house on the arm of a man whom I recognized as Phillips. Something snapped in my head. All the past came back to my mind. I ran toward him. The next moment I was standing over the body of Phillips. I do not know how many shots I fired. Realizing he was dead, I told the chauffeur to drive me to jail, where I have been ever since. I had brought a pistol along with me because I had heard Phillips had threatened my life.

"I wanted to believe my wife could do no wrong. The sight of her walking with Phillips confirmed in my mind my suspicions."

PARALLEL TO TYPHOID MARY CASE FOUND IN PHILADELPHIA

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 2.—Chicken salad prepared for a church supper by the acknowledged best cook in a small town in the central part of this State has furnished the clue in a typhoid carrier case that parallels the famous "typhoid Mary" held in restrain by New York health authorities for years because she insisted upon being a cook.

In the New York case ten outbreaks of typhoid numbering fifty-one cases were traced to "typhoid Mary" while in the case of the Pennsylvania woman twelve people who served the chicken salad and ate plentifully of it at the church supper contracted the disease. In addition a revelation by the woman's husband, three children, four domestics, two young lady guests, two adult sons home on a visit and various other people were ill at different times in the house where the woman was cook. One of the sons died of the disease.

The epidemic growing out of the church supper has been traced to the woman who has been an unrecognized menace to her community for thirty years. Positive evidence of typhoid has been found in her system, although she has never had the disease.

The woman is now being kept under control by state health authorities who refuse to reveal her name or address. She is being treated and is not allowed to touch food to be eaten by other persons.

Closer Relationship Among Women, Keynote of Meeting

"Closer relationship and comradeship among the women of Wichita Falls, similar to the spirit which prevails among the men, fostered by their various clubs, furnished the keynote for the program for the Civic league's luncheon, held Tuesday at the Kemp hotel, and attended by 215 women, including about 20 guests and a number of new members.

In outlining the plans for the work for the coming year the chairmen of each department paid special attention to this co-operation in a spirit of citizenship which the men's club exhibit, urging that the league continue in its growth along these lines so that the new responsibilities and possibilities of women in the civic affairs of the city, state and nation be fully realized.

The meeting, apart from the business side, was a delightful social event, and the gathering was probably the most representative of the women who are identified with matters of progress along every line ever held in this city.

Mrs. Smock Presides.

Mrs. T. B. Smock, president for the fourth consecutive term, presided and at her table were the officers and the chairmen of the various departments. The musical program, arranged by Mrs. Walter S. Robertson of the entertainment committee, interspersed the program of toasts and the business, making the order exceptionally well balanced.

A tribute to Mrs. J. A. Kemp, the first president of the Civic league, paid by Mrs. Smock, who referred to Mrs. Kemp as one of the greatest sources of inspiration that she has ever known, and a tribute, in original verse, to Mrs. Smock by Mrs. Bentley Bacon were features of the program.

"The Angelus," sung by Mesdames C. F. Spencer, J. C. Mytinger, J. C. Albright and Walter S. Robertson, with Miss Annette Walsh at the piano, comprised the invocation. The program of addresses was opened by Mrs. Smock, who prefaced her outline of the work of the league that is in prospect with a few humorous remarks on "Woman." Webster's dictionary was sought for the definition of "woman," which the speaker quoted as being "an adult of the female sex; a female attendant; a wife." The definition for "man" was then quoted as "a human being."

"Evolution of Woman."

In a humorous manner Mrs. Smock traced, in brief, the evolution of "women's clubs" was also embodied in the development of the address, emphasis being placed on the phrase, "No aspect of the social betterment of women has been without its special society."

"The women of the nation are now recognized as having a part in the scheme of life," she continued, "socially, morally and politically we have taken our place as important factors, which are to be reckoned with. There can be no shirking of the new responsibilities, and if we are to play our part in city making, in state making and in nation making, as powers for good, for our sake, and for our children's sake, we must study that we may act intelligently and with understanding."

Varied Interests of League.

In conclusion Mrs. Smock pointed out the varied interests which the Civic league organization contains within the whole, the beautification of the city, the promotion of sanitation, both for health and appearance; the extending of the benefits of organization to other women on the outskirts of the city and in the rural districts, the interest in civic betterment, and the problem of the women unfortunates of the city and county, the study of the problems of citizenship, and the social side, promoting wider acquaintance and more intimate relationship between the women of the city.

The details of each department were elaborated in the report, and the forecast for the coming year, made by each chairman during the progress of the business meeting, and the committee members were named.

Reports Are Rendered.

Mrs. F. E. Van Wormer read the report of the sanitary department, Mrs. M. H. Glover, the chairman, being present, but unable to make the report because of the recent removal of her tonsils. Mrs. W. S. Curlee gave a detailed report of the city beautiful work; the market committee report and plans were given by Mrs. W. A. Patterson, the chairman; the extension plans were outlined by Mrs. J. E. Sharpe, chairman of extension and new organization; Mrs. J. W. Stone, entertainment chairman, made her report and discussed plans briefly, and Mrs. J. M. Isbell, membership chairman, reported an encouraging increase in new members.

The two new departments of the league, the public affairs, with Mrs. Flora W. Perham chairman, and the citizenship study department, Mrs. O. O. Long, chairman, showed excellent results already obtained.

Mrs. Perham in her report outlined work already accomplished, together with plans for the coming activity. Mrs. Long's report was made by Mrs. W. W. Cooke, a member of the committee, Mrs. Long being out of the city.

Preferences Asked.

An invitation was extended to the members of the league to express their preference as to the department they preferred to work with, after the plans were outlined.

The presentation of the tea cart used by the Civic league in serving the Rotary and Wichita club dinners, to the Ladies' Aid of the First Christian church, whose kitchen was used in the preparation and serving of the meal, was unanimously voted during a brief session to attend to miscellaneous business.

Miss Katherin Henricle, county superintendent of the work of the Texas Children's Home and Aid society, made a short talk, expressing her appreciation of the part the Civic league played in making it possible for her to have an automobile to use in her work in the oil fields.

Humorous Side.

The humorous side of the program was featured by the parodies written by Mrs. Walter S. Robertson, a printed copy being placed at each plate, so that all could join in the singing. Mrs. Smock was introduced by a parody on "Smiles;" there was a snappy introduction for Mrs. J. W. Stone, the chairman of the entertainment committee, and the program's close was marked by a new arrangement of "Keep the Home Fires Burining."

Two piano numbers given by Miss Virginia Parks and Miss Annette Walsh were received appreciatively. Miss Walsh was the accompanist for the songs.

Seventy-eight dollars was received by the secretary, Mrs. J. V. C. T. Christensen, from new members, old members renewing their dues, and donations.

Knight Templars Will Confer Degrees Today

Wichita Falls Commandery of Knights Templars will confer degrees this afternoon on C. C. Connor, C. C. Hooper and C. R. Cowan, all of Archer City, at their meeting in the Masonic Temple. Daniel Bond of Vernon, commander of the Vernon commandery, will make an annual inspection.

There will be a social feature to the meeting in which music will be furnished by Messrs. Ben E. Neal, Paul Von Allmen, J. W. Akin Jr., and F. M. Hanson.

A banquet will be served at 7 o'clock.

Circle Will Elect Delegates Friday

Woodman Circle 1487 will meet at the Swartz-Weed building Friday afternoon. There will be an election of delegates to the convention in Houston next month. Plans will be completed for the market which will be run by the circle Saturday, the place to be announced later.

NEW YORK SOCIETY MISS IS POPULAR AT FLORIDA BEACH

Miss Ethel Cahart

Miss Ethel Cahart of New York is one of the popular society debutantes, "debbies," as they are familiarly called, at Palm Beach. The season there is well under way and the sands are always decorated now with pretty northern girls in their beach costumes or swimming suits.

Meetings

The Ladies Bible Class of the Floral Heights Methodist church will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. B. M. Bullard, 710 Denver. All members are urged to be present.

Y. W. C. A. Business Girls Club Plans Reception

A Martha Washington party was the next social event decided upon at the weekly meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls Club at the Y. W. recreation rooms Tuesday evening. Tea will be served by the girls in the living room of the Y. W. Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. This affair is planned especially for the business women and girls who have helped to make the Y. W. C. A. budget campaign a success.

The Martha Washington party will be held during the last week in February. Members may invite guests.

Reports were heard from chairmen of the various departments of the club and other business was discussed. A dainty luncheon consisting of fried oysters, potato salad, biscuits, ice cream and angel food cake was served to about 50 club members.

Baptist Church Woman's Auxiliary in Session

The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Baptist church met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lee Bass, Polk street. Readings were given by Miss Smoot and Harrell Simmons. A contest in which Biblical characters were drawn and identified by the guests proved entertaining.

A five course luncheon was served to Mr. and Mrs. Loving, Mesdames Dixon, Basham, Smoot, Taylor, McGuigan, Toplitt, Cox, Simmons, Hitley, Galloway, Mims, Duke, Farmer, Tanner and Misses Smoot and Williams.

Household Hints

VEGETABLE DISHES.

Creamed Potatoes—Cut two cups cold boiled potatoes into dice and reheat in one and one-quarter cups white sauce.

White Sauce—Put two tablespoons butter in a saucepan, stir until melted and bubbling; add two tablespoons flour, a little salt and pepepr, and stir until well mixed. Pour on gradually one cup milk, stirring until well mixed and smooth.

Almost any other cooked vegetable may be served in white sauce in the same manner.

Potatoes au Gratin—Rice potatoes and mix with white sauce. Put in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese, cover with buttered crumbs and bake over a medium flame until crumbs are brown.

Escalloped Parsnips—Cut cold boiled parsnips in dice. Put into a buttered baking dish in layers with crumbs, chopped parsley and grated cheese between them. Place crumbs mixed with grated cheese and butter on top. Pour over white sauce to moisten mixture and bake until well brown over a medium flame.

Escalloped Tomatoes—Cover bottom of buttered baking dish with buttered crumbs; cover with tomatoes, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a bit of sugar if preferred sweet, and a few drops of onion juice; cover with buttered crumbs and bake over a medium flame until crumbs are brown.

Corn Pudding, Southern Style—Six ears of corn (or two cans), two eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar and one and one-half cups milk. Grate the corn, beat the eggs with a spoon and mix all the ingredients together. Butter a deep earthen dish and pour in the mixture. Bake over a low flame an hour or more. Serve hot. If the corn is old, use more milk.

CAN YOU MAKE GOOD—

Coffee—Allow one tablespoon of coffee for each person to be served and one for the pot. Moisten with the white of an egg and sufficient water to make a thick paste. Add as many cups of boiling water as spoonfuls of coffee used. Boil three minutes. Pour a little to free the spout of grounds and return it to the pot. Let stand on stove where it will keep hot, but not boil, ten minutes before serving. For after-dinner coffee, use more coffee to the same amount of liquid.

Tea—Two cups boiling water, three teaspoons tea. Scald an earthen or china teapot and dry it. Put in tea and pour over it the boiling water. Let it stand in a warm place five minutes before serving.

Cocoa—One and one-half tablespoons cocoa, two tablespoons sugar, two cups milk, two cups boiling water. Add sugar and a few grains of salt to cocoa, mix with one-half cup boiling water and stir to a smooth paste; add the remaining water and boil one minute. Add scalding milk and beat with an egg-beater to prevent scum forming.

The court of Chancery is the highest court of judicature in England next to parliament and is of very ancient origin. It is called a court of equity because it was instituted for the purpose of proceeding by the rule of equity and conscience in moderating the rigor of the common law.

Invisible Guest Day Nets $167.20

A total of $167.20 was added to the Wichita county European relief fund Wednesday, when the Y. W. C. A. made its returns from the "invisible guest day," February 1. Of this amount $114.27 came from the penny box which Mrs. Worthington, director of the cafeteria, has had placed on the cashier's desk for the past month to receive donations from the cafeteria. The sum of $29.25 came from Charlotte Kemp hall, Mrs. C. J. Coyne, the director of the home, having served a club luncheon and given the entire proceeds to the fund. The "penny box" at the Travelers' Aid desk, Union station, collected $1.35 during the ten days it was on the desk.

The noon meal at the cafeteria added $22.13 to the fund. The receipts were $173.17. The cost of food was $78.49, and the overhead expenses $72.55, this including rent, water, light, heat, wages and salaries. The total expenses were $151.04.

The "penny" donation will be continued at the cafeteria, it is stated, for the benefit of the local day nursery, a milk bottle being placed on the cashier's desk and almost filled with pennies on Wednesday.

Twenty years ago a Methodist missionary at Chemulpo, in Korea, put under way the important work of reforestation of that country by planting a handful of seeds he had taken with him from this country, and since that time much attention has been given to the shipment of seeds and planting of trees by all missionaries in that land.

Early studies in human anatomy were conducted under many difficulties. Aristotle was among the first to study the human body, about 350 B. C. Through all the years there was objection to dissection of bodies to verify facts, and when Titian designed and had completed the first anatomical plates they were destroyed by Vesalius, about 1538.

Woodman Circle Grove Guardian Is Honoree

A party consisting of a group of ex-members of Woodman Grove 1087 met at the home of Mrs. J. D. Sherrell, 1301 Burnett street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Lee McDowell, who served the Grove for eight years as guardian, was the honoree, the gathering being a "Surprise party." A social afternoon was enjoyed. Two interesting readings were given by Mrs. Della Young James. A Guardian jewel pin was presented to Mrs. McDowell by those present in recognition of the work done by her while in office. Presentation was made by Mrs. Bert Soule.

At a late hour, refreshments of sandwiches, olives, cake and coffee, brought by the guests, were served to Mesdames Lee McDowell, J. D. Sherrell, E. Wilkes, T. Marshall, E. B. Fitzgerald, A. Frank, L. Scott, C. R. Smith, A. McConkey, R. Williams, E. Edwards, H. Hudgins, S. Roark, C. E. Young, J. Young, Jackson, H. Okey, J. H. Gibson, M. INDIA SCOUTS MAKE APPEALS FOR APPROVAL

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Just because the White boy scouts of India are so snobbish as to refuse to associate with their brown brothers in sufficient cause for the king to take a hand in the matter and for Sir Robert Baden Powell to take a special trip over there.

The fact that the white scouts have refused to allow the Indian boys to affilate with them has for some time been a great bone of contention. There are over two million Indian boy scouts, and they have for some time felt that the scout spirit was not shown by the white boys.

After the big "Jamboree" here the Indian boys again made a claim to be allowed to affiliate with the whites—and were refused. This caused so much unrest that the Indan government appealed directly to the king, pointing out that these boys were just of an age that they would come to manhood at about the time when the Prince of Wales would, in the course of nature, attain the throne and that to have this number of disaffected Indians at that time would hardly be of much value to the empire.

The king sent for Sir Robert, and after due consideration of the matter it was decided that the Chief Scout—for such is Sr Robert's title—would go to India and try to adjust the matter.

Sir Robert is now on his way, and it is hoped that he will be able to fix things up so that the Indian boys will no longer feel that they are out of the game—as far as their English brothers are concerned.

The Prince of Wales, as chief scout for Wales, has taken a big interest in the matter, and he personally urges Sir Robert to undertake the mission.

Hearty Laugh Is Gone Since He Came Home

O. Anderson, warehouseman for the Gulf Production company at Burkburnett once famous for his hearty, infectious laugh has lost his sense of humor, entirely, according to reports which E. N. Foster, purchasing agent for the Wichita Falls district, brought back from the recent trip to Mexico, which the two took, making an inventory for the company. "Andy" got separated from his laugh by a Mexican, on the Gulf launch at Tampico, a machete figuring prominently in the divorce.

Anderson, according to his best friends has a laugh that could be heard from Burkburnett to the county line between Wilbarger and Hardeman, and he used this laugh freely. One day the story goes on the bay at Tampico he started guying some of his companions about being homesick, and lifted up his famous laugh. Suddenly he found himself on the deck of the launch, with a Mexican machete in hand standing over him flourishing the weapon and promising him in Mex to cut his head off. The ship's captain grabbed the deck hand from behind and secured his weapon, explaining to Anderson that the native got the impression that he was laughing at him.

Mr. Foster is authority for the statement that until "Andy" got back on Texas soil, he didn't even smile fearing to be misunderstood. The man they say, was arrested at the limit, for striking an American, two hours in jail. Mr. Anderson it is said, carries a souvenir on his cheek, where the machete struck with force enough to fell him.

Miles of Our "Fillum" Goes To England

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Last your America sent to this country over 8,624 miles of moving pictures of a total value of nearly ten million dollars.

This is one of the many statistics worked out by the Kinematograph Year Book, which this year makes its eighth appearance.

It states that the hardest worked film star is Roy Stewart, who appeared in eleven new films last year, with Sessue Hayakawa and Corinne Griffith a dead heat for second place with ten appearances each.

From the same source it is learned that 599 new companies were formed in 1920 in connection with the industry and that an average of seventy-two new pictures a month were placed on view.

Thirty of last year's films had the word "Man" in the title and twenty-five had the word "Woman". "Wives" got into twenty-one of the titles, but "Husband" got into only eleven. "Love" was in nineteen, "Girl" in fifteen "Heart" in twelve and "Shadow", "Life" and "Lady" in ten. There were only eight "Mysteries."

Sixteen Spudder Contracts For 1921 Signed; Pair of Of Local Youngsters on List

Slowly but surely Walter Salm and Will Gray are gathering together the makings of the 1921 Spudders. Sixteen contracts calling for the services of divers ball players are now resting in the club's strong box, while about the same number will be sent out in the next few weeks, according to the affable handlers of the Spudders' destinies.

Two youngsters, both local boys, were signed Wednesday and will report for practice March 5. One of them, Charlie Wickson, a third baseman, played with the Childress team of the independent Panhandle league in 1919, holding down the hot corner the majority of the season. He was offered a contract to play with the McAlester club of the Western association in 1917, but passed it up to enter the army, playing with the Ninetieth division, after the armistice was signed.

The other rookie is H. S. Sylvester, a graduate of the semi-pro ranks.

It seems, according to wire reports, that the "Toledo Mauler and "Maulee" have a poor chance to meet again, especially in New York or under the auspices of Tex Rickard. The bout, which was scheduled for March 17, has been postponed.

While it would be like some of our cheese champions to wriggle out of a "doubtful" bout when there was more money in sight with an easier opponent, it is doubtful if the heavyweight titleholder will call off the contest on this account. Willard is an old man, pugilistically speaking, while Dempsey is but 25 and has not reached the pinnacle of development. The difference in age alone would give all the odds to the present champ, and, if the bout is finally staged, he should win easily. Until further information is obtainable, the best thing to do is to wait until Dempsey is ready to make his next statement.

After licking Martin Burke, the pride of New Orleans, Monday night, Bob Martin, champion heavyweight of the A. E. F., declared he was gunning for a whack at Dempsey. The big ex-soldier, while one of the gamest and a man with a terrific punch, is far from being in the same class as the Mauler.

Martin's manager, Ray Bronson, once himself a battler of fair reputation, was not very enthusiastic on the subject, although he admitted that it was his plan to gradually take Martin along a harder route than he has been traveling and, if successful, would demand a bout with the champion.

Martin has a wonderful record as a terrific puncher, winning 24 of his 29 professional fights via the knockout route. Eleven of these, or almost one-half, came in the first round. His recent knockout of Martin Burke, one of the promising heavyweights, came as a surprise to many of the New Orleans fans, but, according to reports from other parts of the country, the result of the bout was expected.

Several of the sport writers in the East have advocated a bout between Martin and Carpentier before the half million dollar bout was definitely settled. While perhaps a go between the A. E. F. champion and the holder of the light heavyweight championship would be popular with the masses, it is doubted whether Rickard, the only promoter in the country able to meet Carpentier's demands, would stage the battle, owing to the fact that, should Martin win, the big scrap wouldn't draw enough to pay training expenses.

Never before in the history of professional sportdom has a champion acceded to the demands of the public if it were possible for him to get out of it, yet there is an exception to the rule. Ed "Strangler" Lewis, present heavyweight champion, has offered to do away with the terrible head-lock, the hold that sent more than one aspirant to championship honors to an unconscious defeat.

As a sign of good faith, he failed to use the hold when engaged in a bout with the Italian Renato Gardini, in Boston, Monday night, throwing his opponent in 1 hour and 38 minutes. Lewis gave as his reason for offering to do away with his most valuable asset, "just for the good of the sport." It takes a man as well as a champion to give up voluntarily any factor that will help him to win. Lewis should be popular and a good drawing card from now on.

Boy, Gangway for The "Accidentals" In Auto Expenses

"Incidentals" on a Ford, or any other kind of an automobile, for that matter, are familiar details to every auto owner, but it remained for Miss Henricle, the Wichita county head of the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society work to supply the classification of "accidentals" which motor drivers will easily recognize as appurtenances of their own machines.

"We put on all the incidentals" she said at the Civic League luncheon Tuesday, in telling about the new Ford sedan, which through donations from the league, and from various individuals, has been made available for her in the work with the neglected children of the county. And she enumerated the incidentals, bumpers, shock absorbers and all other things.

"And here are the accidentals" she added. "One man hit with the bumper, knocked down and his trousers torn. I asked him if it hurt, and he said, 'No'm it felt good.' One wheel broken, a piece of the sidewalk missing, posts hit, and several other similar experiences, but to date there have been no casualties." This is Miss Henricle's initial experience in "Fording", she explained.

ELECTRA GOAL SHOOTERS WIN FROM WICHITA

Although supported by the presence of between 70 and 100 student rooters, led by the principal, S. H. Rider, the Wichita Fall High school quinete went down to defeat at the hands of the fast Electra basket-shooters by the score of 13 to 15, Wednesday afternoon, at Electra.

While losing the game, the red and black tossers retained the championship of Wichita county because of their overwhelming victory over Electra last Saturday.

The opening whistle found Wichita Falls taking the ball and rushing it down the court, but were suddenly stopped by the staunch defense of the homelings. During a mixup in the middle of the court Referee Micheal called a foul and allowed Houser to try for a free goal. Houser's toss was perfect, and Electra scored the first point.

After the toss, Brannon, by a series of short dashes, crept along the side lines until he reached shooting distance, nestling the ball through the net for the first red and black counters. From then on until the end of the half both teams fought nip and tuck, the whistle blowing for the end of the 15 minutes with the visitors leading, 9 to 7.

Solves Wichita Falls' Defense.

The second half failed to produce as many scores, because of the gradual solving of the Wichita Falls' defense by Electra and the many misses for baskets by the red and black forwards.

Coach Cantrell's men fought a clean, hard game, but after their defense was broken could not stave off the accurate shooting of Houser and Thomas, losing out in the last few minutes of play.

Harper and Brannon were easily the stars for the red and black, while Houser shone brilliantly for Electra.

The line-up:

W. F. H. S.	Electra.
Harper, f.	Houser, f.
Johnson, f.	Sterns, f.
Brannon, c.	Thomas, c.
Anderson, g.	Crass, g.
Coffey, g.	Gossage, g.

Goals scored from field: Harper, 3; Brannon, 3; Houser, 4; Thomas, 3; Sterns, 1. Free goals: Brannon, 1; Houser, 1. Time of halves, 20 minutes. Referee, Micheal, Electra.

Owing to the new point scoring used this year by the Interscholastic league, the winning of a game does not count as much as the largeness of the score. Having won from Electra last Saturday, Wichita Falls High retains the title and the right to play Montague in an elimination series of two games to decide the championship of the district.

Montague eliminated Bellevue from the running Wednesday afternoon.

WHAT'S A KISS MADE OF? CONSIDERABLE, ACCORDING TO FRENCHMAN'S TREATISE

One of France's most learned savants describes, analyses and dissects a kiss in all its phases in a thirty-two page treatise just printed in La Mercure. He arrives at the astonishing conclusion that people kiss on the lips from the force of habit and not because the lips are the most sensitive part of the human body. In the white race the kiss is above all achieved by touch and its characters may be affectionate or social. Courts have been trying for years to set a financial value on a kiss.

Bloodless Boxing Contest Offered Longhorn Solons

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 2.—The legislature was today given the opportunity of witnessing a boxing bout staged for their especial benefit when Senator McNealus of Dallas read a telegram from A. M. Jones, boxing promoter of Dallas, proposing to stage the exhibition.

Mr. Jones said that he could stage a bout between Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world and Harry Greb, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the lawmakers and that the bout would be a bloodless exhibition.

Senator Dudley of El Paso was in favor of accepting Mr. Jones' offer but the senate decided to refer the proposal to the committee on military affairs which also has Senator McNealus' boxing bill under consideration.

Tex Defers Dempsey-Willard Comeback Until Carpentier Meets American Champion

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The proposed boxing bout between Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Jess Willard, former champion, which, Dempsey announced today, was off, has been postponed until September 5, Labor day, with the consent of both parties, Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, announced today. The bout was scheduled to be held in New York March 17.

Rickard said he would stage a bout that day between Willard and the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, under the terms of Willard's existing contract.

"For various reasons, I have decided to postpone the Dempsey-Willard match until Labor day," said Rickard. "Whole both Dempsey and Willard are willing and eager to observe the original contract and meet in Madison Square Garden on March 17, I have decided that the contest had better be staged in the open, following the Dempsey-Carpentier match of July 2.

"The demand for the Willard-Dempsey bout makes it clear that the garden will accommodate but a fraction of those who desire to see the bout. Willard has absolute confidence in his ability to regain the championship and has impressed many followers of boxing. A demand has been created that he be matched with the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout.

"I shall, therefore, erect a large, open-air arena for the international contest and stage a match between Willard and the winner of the Dempsey-Carpentier bout under the existing contract, on September 5. This change of date is made with the consent and approval of both Dempsey and Willard."

Rickard said he intends to erect an open-air arena in the vicinity of this city early this spring and transfer his boxing organization to that site during the summer months. During the open-air period he will stage a series of championship bouts in all weight classes, bringing together the title holder and the most formidable contender in each of the organized divisions.

The arena will seat at least 50,000 spectators, and will permit the offering of large purses on a percentage of the gate receipts without handicap, even under the recent ruling of the New York state boxing commission fixing a maximum charge of $15 a seat. While definite plans have not been completed for the proposed bouts, it is expected that in addition to Carpentier, Dempsey and Willard, such champions as Leonard, Kilbanne, Wilson and others will take part in the contest.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS BY JACK KEENE

Charlie Herzog has received from President William Veeck complete exoneration on the charge made against him by Rube Benton last summer, and with it his release. The natural query under the circumstances is: What about Benton? The Rube charged that Herzog, in company with Hal Chase, took him to a cafe in the loop district of Chicago one evening in 1919, where Chase offered him a certain sum to "throw" the game scheduled for the following day between the Giants and Cubs. As a matter of fact Benton first said Herzog made the offer, but later changed his story, though he insisted Herzog was in the deal. If Herzog is innocent—and a rigorous investigation has failed to bring to light any testimony to the contrary, save the unsupported statements of Benton—what do the powers in baseball intend to do in regard to Benton?

A new heavyweight has arrived in New York looking for action. He is "Wild Bill" Reed of Miami, Ariz. Wild Bill distinguished himself on New Year's day by knocking out Willie Meehan in the tenth round of a battle at Phoenix. This was the first and only time the conqueror of Jack Dempsey was stopped. Reed was a miner before he took to the ring. He is six feet two inches in height and scales 194 pounds in fighting condition. Wild Bill is ready to tackle any of the aspiring heavies. He says that all he wants is the chance to show his wares and in the future he will not have to beg for matches.

Joe Driscoll, big recruit pitcher plucked by the Yankees from New York semi-pro ranks, has been farmed out to the Greenville, S. C., club of the South Atlantic Association. Driscoll has made an excellent name for himself among the semi-pros and now aspires to a major league career. Wisely realizing that he is not yet fit for fast company the youngster has gladly agreed to play this year in Greenville in the hope that he will learn much that will help him later on in his career. The Greenwich cub is managed by Lew Wendell, former Giant catcher, who is well qualified to guide the young pitcher through his first season in the minors.

Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, is now promoting boxing matches in San Francisco. He has been placed in charge of the Golden Gate Post of the American Legion. Chief of Police O'Brien has assured Ritchie that just as long as the amateur rule is obeyed he may conduct bouts. Ritchie has sent out notice to all prospective contestants that certain rules must be observed. Affidavits must be furnished attesting that the boxer has never fought for money. Only boys who have a steady occupation other than boxing will be allowed to compete. All amateurs must have a good reputation in their community.

Jack Dempsey, who is about to rush fearlessly into conflict with Terry Keller, the venerable trial horse of Frawley law days in New York, is working with might and main in a special gymnasium built for him in Oakland, Calif. It is said that Dempsey is rounding into perfect condition for his match. Dempsey does not expect to experience any trouble in stopping Keller, which makes it unanimous.

James H. (Buster) Caton and Charles W. Ward, infielders of the Brooklyn club, have been placed on the "voluntarily rtired" list at their own request. Both players have been ill this winter and neither is in shape to make the southern training trip, which will start early in March. They will report to the club late in March or early in April.

THE DELICATESSEN FARM.

The popularity of the Delicatessen has given birth to a brand-new industry—the delicatessen farm. Far-sighted delicatesseners have seen the disadvantages of the present system and have devised the delicatessen farm to supply the demand for such provender as veal-loaf, dewy ham, pickled pigs' feet, pressed chicken, etc., in a more efficient way, cutting many of the preparatory processes.

"Why," said they, "should one raise a veal as such—bring it up in the manner to which veals are accustomed—merely to make veal-loaf out of it later? Why not raise veal loaf? Again, why go through a long and arduous process of pickling pigs' feet when the pigs can be taught to do it themselves?"

So they started farms in which the veals were taught to loaf from early vealhood. And the pigs were trained to wade in specially prepared salt-water vats so many hours a day until, after a short space of time, their feet were nicely pickled. A much better flavor was imparted to the veal-loaf which loafed from the beginning, and the pig's foot which acquired its delicious pristine picklitude through the earnest, wholehearted application of the pigs themselves.

There are few more touching examples of rustic simplicity and charm than a herd of little veal-loaves coming home in the dewy eve; and how beautiful is the sight of the trustful pigs weaving home on their pickled feet each night and going forth in the morning, eager to become more and more pickled!

The preparation of pressed chicken is predicated on the well-known susceptibility of the chicken toward auto-suggestion. The chickens who are to become pressed chickens are raised in small compounds and surrounded by wire fences of a very small mesh. Each day the chickens are hypnotized and the suggestion is made to them that they leave their compounds and go forth into the world. The chickens object at first, saying that they can't get through the wire fences, but by suggesting to them how easy it is, they will, in the hypnotic state, force themselves through the fences. As this process is repeated each day and the meshes are made smaller and smaller, in time there will be no difficulty for the chickens to press themselves through. After they have been through a number of times they are pressed chickens.

In another corner of the model delicatessen farm the Dewey hams are raised. Here the hams are carefully secluded from the heat of the sun and the light of the day and allowed to gambol only in the dewy morn and the dewy eve. After a few weeks of this, by some intricate alchemy known only to Nature herself, a subtle change takes place and they gambol home in the dew as Dewey hams. It is a beautiful sight—one calculated to inspire all the nobler emotions—to see these Dewey hams trotting across the fields, ready and eager to perform their life work—that of furnishing Sunday evening suppers in thousands of homes where dyspepsia waits on appetite and indigestion on both!

Cardinals Sign Texas U. Hurler

By Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 2.—Arthur Riviere, a 19-year-old pitcher from the University of Texas, who made his professional debut with an independent club in Bay City, Texas, last year, has been signed by the St. Louis Nationals and will join the team next month, when spring training starts.

Riviere was credited with 18 victories and six defeats while with Bay City, and comes to the Cardinals with a reputation for pitching low-hit games, marked by heavy lists of strikeouts.

HOLLAND BEAT ANDERSON TO PISTOL FINGER

A charge of assault with intent to murder was entered on justice docket Wednesday afternoon against Sam E. Holland, following his arrest on Tuesday night by Texas Ranger Gonzaullas and Deputy Sheriff Belcher in connection with an alleged attack upon Frank Anderson at Bridgetown.

According to the story as related by officers, at the conclusion of a "party" which had held away there the greater part of the night, Anderson was told that some one was going to cut his throat. With this idea in his mind, it was said, he sallied forth from the party and Holland was the first man he met.

Words were passed between the two, officers say, and Anderson endeavored to pull his gun. Holland beat him to the "draw," they say and fired a bullet frim his .25 caliber automatic pistol.

The psysician who rendered first aid to Anderson said that the bullet had struck him on the forehead and glanced upward, penetrating the crown and brim of his hat. The injury, pronounced only a flesh wound by the doctor, was not of serious consequence and did not incapacitate Anderson in the least.

Holland was arrested several hours later while sleeping at the Michna f[illegible]. He told the officers the deta[illegible] of the affair and submitted his pistol as evidence.

First Electra Completion at 707 Feet Made

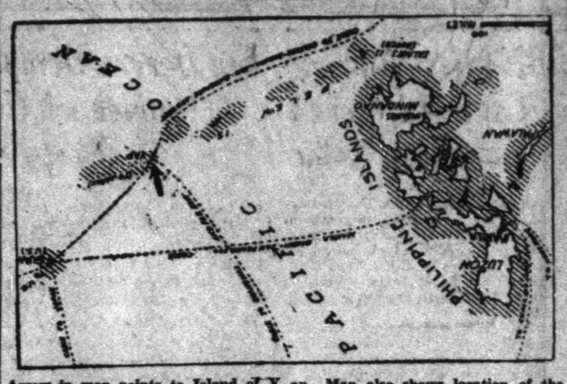

The No. 1 test of B. Churchill Armstrong, located on the Burnett tract in block 6 of the South Electra field has been brought in a 40-barrel well from a sand struck at 707 feet, according to information from the local office of Mr. Armstrong. The depth at which the producer was obtained, although not new to the Electra field is the first well to be completed in that section at that depth. An area of less than a quarter of a mile in radius now has commercial wells producing from four sands.

The well is located on a lease that offsets that of the Texas Interstate Company, which has production at 960 and 1425 feet, the same as the Bryan, Gladiolus and other leases in that section. Mr. Armstrong is moving rig to a second location. He said Wednesday that as long as he could obtain the commercial production at the 707-foot depth, he would not drill for the deeper pay sands until later.

The B. Churchill Trust Company purchased an 80-acre lease offsetting to the south the producing leases of the Bryan Oil Corporation and that which Judge Armstrong of Oklahoma City recently purchased from the Gladiolus Oil Company. Development of the tract will start within the next fifteen days.

Yap, Tiny Island, Looms as Jap-U. S. Stumbling Block

Arrow in map points to Island of Yap. Map also shows location of the island in reference to the Philippine islands and the cables which touch Yap.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—When the island of Yap first came to the public attention its funny name served the humorists for a time and then it was forgotten. Now Yap seems to be coming back to the forefront of Japanese-American relations, and may prove to be the most serious stumbling block in the way of agreement between the two nations.

Yap is a very small island in the Pacific. Its size and population are negligible, and it is not important as a naval base or as a basis for fortifications. Its significance lies in the fact that it is a cable center. For the United States it is a telegraph half way house between the American continent and the Philippines.

Lying north of the equator, Yap is one of the islands included in the Japanese mandate. All of Germany's Pacific possessions north of the equator were awarded to Japan by the Versailles treaty. They were not however, awarded as absolute and permanent possessions. Japan has objected to the terms of the mandate, and has demanded an adjustment which will in fact if not in definite language give her absolute ownership.

Any such arrangement would place Guam in a pocket and spread a Japanese screen between the United States and the Philippines. Washington is undisguisedly concerned. The American government does not desire Japan to administer the islands otherwise than as a mandatory power, and is not prepared to concede Japan's right to possession of Yap to Shanghai and the Dutch East Indies. The senate foreign relations committee is at present considering the question. It has conferred with President Wilson and with Acting Secretary Davis and has called for recommendations from the general board of the navy and the chief of operations. It is generally understood that these recommendations will strongly favor an American foothold on Yap.

Inasmuch as Japan has never accepted the mandate in the form prescribed by the peace congress the United States is not attacking the peace treaty by its present consideration of the status of Yap. The Japanese position in the Pacific is still an open question and it is the desire of the senate and also of the executive departments to effect a settlement which will not be unfavorable to American interests.

LABELS FOR PROPAGANDA

There has been, and still is, too much propaganda in circulation. Every parisan group, representing every known topic of discussion and current interest from international to purely local matter, presents its own point of view forcibly with little regard to impartial justice and the wholeness of truth.

The great increase in attempted lobbying in Washington is simply one manifestation of this zeal for lop-sided propaganda which has hung on to civilization since the war. It is becoming ever more difficult for the public mind, which is the target for this propaganda bombardment, to distinguish simple facts from highly colored half-truths.

An eastern newspaper makes a suggestion which ought to be taken up eagerly by the victims of modern propagandism. It is intended chiefly for guaranteeing the unbiased nature of news stories, but its application could be extended to cover the prized works of the lobbyist or the propagandist of any type. It is that the news items which editors feel obliged to print be labeled as the food and drugs act requires that food products be labeled. It would work thus:

"This story of Russian—or Irish, or German, or Timbuctoo—outrages contain but a trace of truth"; or, "This description of conditions is artificially colored" or, "This report is 99 per cent pure, or 93 per cent adulterated," as the case may be; and "This one is pure bosh", and so on. An honest editor would take pleasure in such labeling of a great deal of the stuff that passes through his hands.

The food law has had the beneficial effect of eliminating certain harmful adulterations from canned and other goods, and of enabling the consumer to know exactly what he is getting. It is easy to see what a boon a similar law regulating propaganda would be to the much-torn, confused and weary public mind.—Ithaca Journal News. (Ind.)

THE GOOD CHORUS GIRL.

Secretary of State Lyons, of New York, has compiled statistics of crime which go to show that one popular and valuable contributor to the gayety of nations has been grossly maligned. In a list of 2773 women convicted of crime in the state of New York last year, only one was a chorus girl. Yet there were eighteen stenographers in the list, four teachers, seventy-nine cooks, (we did not know there were that many left) and eighty-nine waitresses.

The popular picture of the chorus girl is that of the red-lipped vamp with her toes on the table and a wineglass in her hand, the brazen "gold-digger", with no name to lose, pilorized by the moralist, careless of all but the spotlight and the plaudits, the roses and raptures along the great white way.

But as a matter of fact, she is usually a girl who hates the stage-door Johnny as she hates bats or mice. She would like a husband and a home as much as any other girl who earns her own living. She has the same affection for her mother and the members of her family that other girls feels who divide their earnings with those partly or wholly dependant. Sweeping generalizations about any class or profession are not safe, and because some chorus girls are tough hoydens who snap their fingers at the conventions it is assumed by some persons that they are all like that.

As excellent officers have risen from the ranks of an army to places of high command, so certain actresses who have attained conspicuous distinction and enhanced the prestige of their calling were once members of the chorus. In that school of sobriety and diligence they acquired habits of hard work and self-control that helped them later. Today with the fierce conditions of competition there is no vocation for man or woman in which cheap dissipation is not the passport to ruin. The chorus girl knows that if she means to be a "star" she must work hard and live temperately as one with whom the homely virtues are habitual.—Philadelphia Public Ledger. (Ind.)

Editorial Digest

ALLIED NEUTRALITY TOWARD RUSSIA.

President Wilson's latest note on Armenia, involving as it does the whole Russian question, has given rise to a wide range of newspaper comment. To some, the document proves, in the words of the Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.), that "he is still a leader" while others agree with the Chicago Tribune (Ind. Rep.) that, since it was signed by a member of the state department and is thus "a part of our foreign policy" it is "presumptuous to the point of insolence."

The main issue raised in the note, most of the writers agree, is the emphasis on a "hands off" policy toward Russian as a whole, not merely that part of it which affects Armenia. To this theory the Springfield Republican (Ind.) gives its unqualified support: "It comes at a time when the Russian policy that the allies have hitherto pursued has ignominiously broken down and an effort is being made to agree upon a substitute. No better substitute has been proposed than the one which Mr. Wilson advocates."

Unless the "menace of invasion" is removed from the Russian people, communism cannot be overthrown, the Brooklyn Eagle (Ind. Dem.) declares, and the allies "should follow the lines laid down by President Wilson" for a "unified Russian policy." The president's utterance, which the Worchester Telegram (Rep.) thinks is "likely to rank as one of the clearest, most rational and most convincing" of his writings, presents a solution of the Armenian question and the problem of the peoples without and within the borders of the new Russia which cannot but "appeal to the student, the sociologist and the taxpayer—however it may impress the nervous chancelleries." The Chattanooga News (Den.) is another newspaper which thinks this "most discreet of state papers" will bring the president "again into the position of world leadership" for "if his views are adopted, he will become a vital factor in the general peace movement."

The "homely but convincible principle that if the Bolsheviki are given enough rope they will hang themselves" is the basis, the Memphis Commercial Appeal (Dem.) considers, for the president's suggestions. "He would treat Russia in much the same way," it remarks, "as he treated Mexico and, if his advice be followed, it is hoped, with equal success" for "the president is absolutely correct both in his diagnosis and his prognosis." The Boston Post (Ind. Dem.) finds his doctrine "sound" statesmanship and the Philadelphia Record (Ind. Dem.) finds that it analyses "with perfect accuracy" the cause of conditions in the Near East.

Such "strategy" as the president suggests, the New York Globe (Ind.) feels would place the responsibility for renewed hostility on Lenin, "would bring France and Japan to heel," would "strengthen the moderate parties in Russia" and would "give peace to the Balkan states and Poland."

A large number of writers, however, take quite a different view of the matter. The Detroit Free Press (Ind.) does not accept the "hands off" idea without criticism:

"Taken with its context this conveys the impression that Mr. Wilson is rather mixed in his ideas. He offers a curious conglomeration of the theory of watchful waiting and the sacredness of the doctrine of the status quo as taught in Article X of the league. He condemns the Bolshevist regime as something evil but advocates a guarantee of its neutrality against outside assault. Altogether, his program is a pretty example of opportunism."

The "digressions" from the question of Armenia itself, in the opinion of the Buffalo Express (Ind. Rep.) with regard to the Bolsheviki and Turks "are the circles within circles by which President Wilson's letter completes the whole round of futility." The Boston Herald (Ind. Rep.) finds "the dispatch and exercise in non sequiture" which leaves "Armenia in the lurch." What is "unjustifiable" in the Herald's opinion, is the fact that it links "the government of the United States with Mr. Wilson's extravagant scheme" since it was signed by an under secretary of state.

In the Mail Bag

Wichita Falls, Jan. 31, 1921.

After reading the statements of the Right Reverend Father Boniface in the public press concerning the so-called "Blue Laws" and his sarcastic criticism of the people who are opposed to a commercialized Sabbath, I wish to state that as a lay member of a Protestant church, I am glad indeed to note the stand he has taken, for as usual, he is opposed to something that practically every other church or religious organization in the land favors; viz., That the Sabbath shall not be desecrated and commercialized and that we shall "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

It is interesting to note the opinion the Father has of anyone who is not in favor of the Sabbath; we certainly appreciate the fact that it is only his opinion and in no wise the facts and I absolutely deny the charges he makes and plead "not guilty" to putting up a camouflage religion and feel proud of the fact that the religion I represent has stood the test of years and has not yet been torn down by the "Father" or any of his type. Surely a camouflage religion would have been torn down long before this.

One would think from the utterances of the "Father" concerning liberty that he would want to live in a land where there was no law and everyone would have all the liberty he wanted. As a modern example of such a land we would call his attention to Russia and suggest that if this is the kind of country he likes that he move there at once. We do agree with him in one instance where he says that any thorough going Christian should stand for the liberty that is his by God's law, but wish to reiterate that any thorough going Christian does not want the liberty to violate God's command to keep the Sabbath day holy and surely must object to anyone being licensed by the laws of the land to desecrate it.

Surely the "Father" was misquoted when he is alleged to have said that God's laws cannot be transgressed by anyone. Did not God say, "Thou shalt not kill." And can we now pick up our daily paper without reading where this law has been violated somewhere in this land. If His laws cannot be transgressed then how does man sin? As to the law being carried out in spirit instead of in letter, we would ask if the spirit of God's law is being carried out when the Sabbath is desecrated and commercialized. We certainly cannot feel that it is. Would that we might see the will to carry out the spirit of God's law manifested, at least by the socalled representative of a Christian organization.

The comparisons drawn by the "Father" are rather ludicrous to say the least. To compare the Pharisee of the time of Christ with an advocate of the so-called "Blue Laws" is nothing short of humorous and borders on the ridiculous for we certainly do not advocate the strict formalities and fanatical ceremonies of the Pharisees. We feel that a fitting comparison would be that of Father Boniface and the Pharisees. It is pathetic indeed to know that the "Father" would intimate that the fact that Christ and his disciples plucked corn on the Sabbath to satisfy their hunger would authorize anyone to commercialize our Lord's Day for the benefit of increasing their bank account. Did Christ and his disciples receive any gain from this act save to satisfy their hunger? We have no record of their having hired out to gather corn.

It is very easy for the "Father" to say that Christ would not want the blue law, inasmuch as there is no one to tell us just exactly what He would have done were He here at present. We can only judge by His actions while here and we certainly fail to locate any record of His having in anyway commercialized the Sabbath and if we cannot take Him for an example, after whom then shall we try to fashion our lives? Surely the fact that the Saviour healed the sick and lame and satisfied His hunger on the Sabbath does not license us to commercialize His day for our own gain.

I have not as yet heard of anyone trying or wishing to force people to attend church and personally have no desire to do so.

Please understand that Dr. Knickerbocker nor anyone else, save myself is responsible for this letter and I am not attempting to speak for anyone save myself, but when a man who is supposed to be a follower of the meek and lowly Nazarene comes out in the public press and makes such statements as does the "Father" I feel it my duty as an American citizen and a Christian to resent the insult to the Christ all Christians love and honor.

Again I wish to thank the "Father" for the stand he has taken and feel that the advocates of a commercialized Sabbath should have a feeling of most profound respect ? ? ? ? for the Right Reverend Gentleman. Of course they will support him. Were he to come out in favor of a law abolishing the punishment for stealing and murder, would not all the thieves and murderers pat him on the back and say he was a good fellow? But what respect would they have for his religion or the Christ he is supposed to represent?

Shall we as a people go on record as being in favor of doing anything on Sunday that we can do any other day and as having absolutely no respect for that day? God forbid.

ROY ERWIN CANTEN,
Lay Member of the Baptist Church
Address P. O. Box 801,
Wichita Falls, Texas

Wichita Falls, Texas.
February 2, 1921.

To the Record News:

Referring to the letter of Roy Erwin Carter, appearing in your columns, criticizing my stand on the blue laws, I wish to say, "Says the pot to the kettle," "And his sarcastic criticism," etc., while just a few words before he sarcastically calls me "Right Reverend Father Boniface." It is true Wichita Falls has greatly prospered in the last few years, but, in spite of all prosperity, no bishop of any denomination has as yet been allocated at this place, hence the title is as truly sarcastic as any criticism of mine was sarcastic. The truth is that many people cannot distinguish between sarcasm and truth because they are used to having truth stare them in the face sarcastically.

I am sorry that Mr. Carter had nothing to go by but a few jottings of a reporter, covering a little more than a column, when the lecture itself came dangerously near the two-hour mark. However, I would have appreciated it if Mr. Carter had used the meager means of information at his disposal in a more truthful spirit, especially when he claims to be fighting the battle of the Lord. For example, he declares in his first paragraph that I am "opposed to something that practically every other church or religious organization in the land favors, namely, that the Sabbath shall not be desecrated and commercialized." His source of information has me to say, "We are all for a Christian Sunday." If I have said the latter, and I plead guilty, then the former statement is not in harmony with veracity.

With regard to the second paragraph I must say that, in spite of the reporter, I have never used "camouflage" in my lecture as an adjective, but only as a noun and verb. I stated that the advocates of the blue laws were camouflaging either religion or the sanctity of the law, but that it was my intention to tear down both camouflages. Hence I have not attacked any patricular denomination, but merely the religious pretense of the individuals.

Another flagrant case of insincerity is found in his third paragraph. Let us put his statement and mine as correctly reported side by side. Mr. Carter says, "One would think from the utterance of the 'father' concerning liberty that he would want to live in a land where there was no law and every one would have all the liberty he wanted." I am reported to have said, "Christianity stands for liberty, and any thoroughgoing Christian should stand for the liberty that is his by God's law." I challenge Mr. Carter to show the public how he can deduce his statement from mine without blowing truth to smithereens.

In the next paragraph Mr. Carter feels that I have been misquoted, and he is right. I stated that God's law shall not—instead of cannot—be transgressed by anyone, not even by a legislature that would attempt to pass blue laws that would be against the liberty which is ours by the law of God. If he can subscribe to this statement—and I hope he can—we would stand on the same plank.

In connection with this paragraph on God's law, I would ask Mr. Carter to please state to me the authority for transferring the Sabbath laws to Sunday. If that transfer is not based on Scriptures, on what authority is it based? If there exists an authority outside of Scriptures that can transfer the law of the Sabbath to another day, can you prove that said authority is so limited that it cannot modify that law in other particulars and specify these unalterable particulars? Do you believe that Christianity as it came out of those terrible Roman persecutions in the beginning of the fourth century was truly Christian? And do you know that in this truly Christian era the first Christian emperor, Constantine, passed the first Sunday law, prohibiting judges from trying cases and townspeople from working, but exempted agriculture? If that was done by the first Christian emperor and sanctioned by the Christianity of that time, can you prove that every commercialization, of whatever nature it may be, must necessarily be a desecration of the Sunday? If you are really down in your heart so sincere against every commercialization of the Sunday, will you please apply for the job of pumping your new organ gratis? Will you see that tallow candles made by the Aid society of your church be used for Sunday evening illumination of your church? Will you see to it that the old palm leaf fan will be restored to its pristine exalted position in your church during the hot summer months? As long as you fail to exert yourself honestly and sincerely to put a stop to your church aiding and abetting the electric company in "increasing its bank account" on Sunday, so long must I consider your enthusiasm for the blue laws not a camouflage, but a poor attempt at camouflaging.

You want me to understand that Dr. Knickerbocker has no hand in this communication. I do not see the point. According to my view, personalities do not figure in principles. I am speaking and writing in the truly American spirit of fair play, with malice to no one, with good will to all. I am fighting in the truly American spirit of the fathers of our independence for what I consider my inalienable rights. If that is wrong, I am proud of my company. If I am wrong, prove that I am wrong in the spirit of truth and uprightness, and I shall be on your side.

But to settle this much mooted question fairly and squarely let me give you a little problem. First consider that God in the earliest stages of the human race found out that it was not good for man to be alone. Too much aloofness is not to our best interests. Then take to yourself Dr. Knickerboker, or anybody else, and devise a program for Sunday observance that is absolutely free from commercialization and I bet you dollars to doughnuts that the Sacred Heart church will suffer least of all the churches in this place. If you can devise such a program that is acceptable to all the ministers who went on record to oppose last Sunday's free show with a free will offering for the sufferers of Europe, I will throw up the sponge. Two requirements only for this program—absence of all commercialism whatsoever, and consent of all ministers aforesaid. Till this come to pass you will find me as a true American soldier on the firing line, hugging my musket.

Yours truly,
P. BONIFACE, O. S. B.

CITY WILL TRY OUT NEW TYPE SAFETY ZONES

Work will start within a few days on the construction of a new type of safety zone on the corner of Eighth and Ohio streets, according to information from the office of the city engineer. The construction of the safety zone follows the authorization by the city council at its meeting Monday night.

At that time several different types of zones were discussed, it being the consensus of opinion of the council that those that have been used in the uptown district for the last several months have failed to answer the purpose. Traffic in all cases has torn down the pipe railings constructed, resulting in large upkeep expense.

The plans of the trial type provide for a concrete platform 35 feet long five feet wide and six inches high to extend along the street car track and within two feet of the outer rail. The platform will be close enough to the track to allow passengers to step from it to the car.

At the traffic end of the platform a concrete "bumper" will be constructed, 15 inches in height, five feet in length and the same width as the main platform. The bumper tapers from the main platform to the traffic end, at which a cement post will be constructed. A two-inch iron railing will be constructed on the outer edge of the platform and bumpers, so that pedestrians cannot step off the platform to the pavement without going to the main street crossing.

The cost of the safety zone will be approximately $200. The type is the same as that used by several of the larger cities. In Washington, D. C., a similar type is modeled with a wooden platform.

Mrs. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and children, Emily (left), Joe and Victoria.

The interesting group above is of Mrs. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, wife of Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, and their children. The Frelinghuysens are expected to be frequent visitors at the White House when the Hardings move there, and the children will share with the Harding grandchildren the distinction of being able to play about the White House. The senator is now entertaining President-elect Harding on a houseboat cruise in Florida waters.

FIND $75,117 SCHOOL, CITY TAXES UNPAID

A total of $75,117 of city and school taxes became delinquent February 1, according to final figures announced Wednesday by City Tax Collector Anderson. The final check on all receipts received Monday, the last day that city and school taxes would be paid without becoming delinquent, showed that all city records in the payment of taxes had been broken.

The total for Monday was $93,820, paid by 499 city taxpayers. The amount of the number making payments were practically double that of any day in the taxpaying history of the city.

The amount of delinquent taxes is considerably less than had been expected by city officials. It was thought during the last week of the month that the amount delinquent might exceed $150,000. Based on returns from other cities, the delinquents here are few.

The amount of city and school taxes due on October 1 was $671,098.76. Of that amount $596,181.06 had been paid up to February 1.

ASK TO DOUBLE DELEGATION TO C. C. MEETING

Possibility that the proposed delegation from Wichita Falls to the annual meeting, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at Ranger, may be doubled and a second special car chartered were indicated Wednesday by J. W. Chatham Jr., secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Reservations sufficient to practically fill the first car to capacity were secured by Mr. Chatham Wednesday.

The large demand for space is attributed to the importance, in the view of local business men, that Wichita Falls be well represented at the Ranger meeting, as all the points in the Wichita Falls trade territory will be represented. Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco, cities competing with Wichita Falls for West Texas trade, will have large delegations at the meeting.

Practically all of the local business houses which have been approached have made reservations for a representative, Mr. Chatham said. The Wichita Falls party will leave Wichita Falls at about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Reservations for the round trip are $20.

COMMISSION OF DEPUTY BARNES IS CANCELLED

The first step in pursuance of Sheriff Smith's announced intention of reducing his staff of deputies was taken Wednesday with the cancellation of A. M. Barnes' commission as deputy sheriff, upon recommendation of the sheriff, following his arrest early Wednesday at Iowa Park on a charge of swindling over $50.

Further action toward this end, the sheriff was reported to have announced, will be taken Thursday, when H. C. Daken, who was recently appointed to the department, will arrive and assume the duties of chief deputy in charge of the office to succeed H. T. Lanier, who has been working in this capacity since Smith took office.

No iinformation as to the third change in the department has been made public.

When arraigned before Justice R. V. Gwinn Wednesday afternoon, Barnes waived examining trial and was held to await action by the grand jury under $500 bond. He was released several hours later after perfecting bond.

The charges against Barnes were made in a complaint filed Monday before an assistant county attorney by L. L. Dixon of the Dixon Automobile company of Burkburnett to the effect that a $200 check which Barnes had given them as first payment on an automobile had been returned to them by the bank and marked "No account."

The check, which was deposited with authorities as evidence, was drawn on the Farmers State bank of Burkburnett on January 22.

Sheriff Smith and Deputy Sheriff Beicher went to Iowa Park Tuesday night and placed Barnes under arrest. He was returned here. He was left in the sheriff's office by himself for a few minutes and when the officers came back to take him to the jail he had gone away.

Early Wednesday the sheriff made a second trip to Iowa Park and, after a short chase, captured Barnes for the second time. This time he was held under guard in the sheriff's office until bond in his case was set, shortly after noon.

Commenting upon the affair, Sheriff Smith expressed indignation at the alleged action of Barnes.

Barnes was commissioned as deputy on January 4 and since that time has been stationed for duty in the Iowa Park section. Sheriff Smith said Wednesday that he will appoint another man at an early date to fill the vacancy there.

The famous soprano is believed to be the first woman in the world to manage and direct a grand opera company.

Pretty Young Russian Wife Arrives After Long Journey; Finds Husband Loves Another

DENVER, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Esther Olesh, a pretty young Russian woman consumed five months in reaching her husband in Denver, and was accorded an affectionate reception upon her arrival here, only to be told two weeks later by Olesh that he loved another woman and she must get a divorce.

While seeking the divorce from her erring mate Mrs. Olesh told Judge Dunn that she spent weeks crossing the icebound steppes of Siberia, many days in rude railroad coaches, bitter miles by horse drawn sleds, a weary sea voyage from Vladicostok, to Seattle, Wash., in the steerage of an overcrowded Oriental steamer, and was met at the station in Denver by her husband and a party of friends who gave her a warm welcome.

Two weeks later, however, Olesh disclosed to his wife that he loved another woman and refused to live with her.

Mrs. Olesh said her husband left Ostro, Russia, ten months after their marriage and promised to send for her within a few weeks. After a lapse of two years, she said, she wrote to him and he sent her money to come to America.

She was granted the divorce.

Pythian Knights To Offer Prizes For Best Essays

To create interest in the minds of High school pupils in the qualities of manhood and womanhood that go to make up good citizens, Pioneer Lodge No. 49, Knights of Pythias announce that they will give three prizes to the three High school pupils who write the best essays on good citizenship. The prizes to be awarded will be gold, silver and bronze medals and will have the names of the winners engraved on them, according to the announcement of Pythians.

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

First. To be eligible the person must be a regular student of Wichita Falls High school, with a reasonable attendance record for the session, be of good moral character and make an average grade in the year's work in the High school of at least 85 percent.

Second. Each contestant may select his or her own subject for essay, but same must be on some topic of good citizenship as applied to the community, the state, or the nation or to all, and be submitted to and approved by the contest committee not later than February 10.

Third. All essays or papers entering the contest shall be not less than 2,000 words nor more than 5,000 words in length, and shall be typewritten and completed and handed to the judges of the contest not later than May 10.

Fourth. In grading the papers the judges shall consider the grammar, spelling, punctuation and rhetoric as well as the thought expressed therein.

Fifth. The contest committee shall consist of a three members, two of whom shall be selected from the Knights of Pythias lodge and the third member shall be Lee Clark, superintendent of city schools.

Sixth. The judges of the contest shall be three in number and shall be selected by Pioneer lodge No. 49 Knights of Pythias, not later than May 1, and no judge so selected shall be in any way connected with the Wichita Falls High school.

Seventh. The winners of the prizes shall be announced by the judges and the medals awarded on commencement day at the High school, or wherever commencement exercises are held.

Eighth. Unless as many as ten persons enter this contest and hand in subjects to contest committee by February 10, the offer of prizes will be withdrawn by the lodge.

Ninth. The Knights of Pythias lodge or its contest committee reserves the right to amend the foregoing rules of the contest by public announcement not later than March 1st.

J. C. Ward, John P. Marrs and Lee Clark, have been appointed a committee by the lodge to have charge of the contest.

Hat Removal In Elevators Under Probe

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 2.—Shall men keep their hats on in the presence of women while in public elevators?

This question has occasioned widespread comment here.

The Building Owners and Managers' association here has suggested that the practice of men removing their hats when women step into the elevators be abolished.

Members of this association say one man's eyeglasses were broken and he was injured as a result of doffing his hat, and that numerous accidents have occurred, due to the display of courtesy.

Cincinnati club women, however, oppose the suggestion.

"Simply because women have received the right to vote, or have entered the business world, is not a sufficient reason to affect the innate courtesy of men, which a true gentleman will show toward a woman," insist officials of the women's clubs.

Expressing the hope that this old-time courtesy never will be discouraged, they say they do not see why relations between men and women should change in any way.

"It's high time something were done to force the motion picture theaters to stop exhibiting pictures dealing with violence and crime."

"Don't worry. They'll have to stop it soon. Crime and violence are getting to be such every-day occurrences in real life that it won't be long before the public will demand something different on the screen."

Bears, especially those of the white species, are rather fastidious about their toilets. They comb their hair with their curved claws and lick themselves to make their hair shine.

Sidney Miller Trial to Begin This Morning

Selection of jurors from a special venire of 150 men for the trial of Sidney E. Miller, charged by indictment with murder in connection with the fatal wounding several weeks ago near Stringtown of Frank Logue, a driler, will begin Thursday morning before Judge H. F. Weldon in Thirtieth district court.

Taking of testimony is expected to start either late Thursday afternoon or Friday.

Indications that a plea of self-defense will be offered were made in a statement by Miller to the district attorney soon after his arrest in which he declared that he struck Logue on the head with a pick handle to ward off a blow which he caimed Logue directed at him with a bit gauge.

Logue died a few hours ater at a Burkburnett hospital.

Since the return of an indictment against him by the grand jury, Miller has been free on bail.

BOARD DEFERS ACTION ON NEW SCHOOL HOUSES

Definite action concerning the building of two additional school buildings was deferred at the last regular meeting of the school board, pending sale of school bonds, according to W. W. Brown, business manager of city schools.

Present plans of the board contemplates that one building for white children will be erected at Kentucky and Jalonic streets and one for negro children at a site to be chosen at an early date. Mr. Brown says that the sale of bonds will probably be made in about two weeks.

The purchase of eight Fairbanks platform scales to be placed in each school building for the purpose of testing the development of pupils proportionate to their height, was authorized by the board and the scales are expected to be installed at an early date, according to Mr. Brown.

Work on the Sam Houston building, which has been temporarily postponed pending the arrival of finishing rock is scheduled to begin Friday, according to reports made at the board meeting. It was also reported that excavation work for the erection of the San Jacinto building will be completed at an early date.

Abandon Attempt To Burn Way in Fort Worth Bank

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 2.—The vault in the Britton State bank withstood the attacks of yeggs last night, it was discovered today. Two holes were burned in the steel wall, but the burglars were not able to enter. An acetylene torch bearing the name of a Fort Worth firm was abandoned in the bank.

STAR WITNESS WINS INSTRUCTED VERDICT

Myrtle Ray, proprietor of the Star rooming house at Newtown, and a star witness for the state in the reopenet trials of George Dewey Bland and Heinie Jackson for the murder of A. E. Berlin there on January 9, was found not guilty of a charge of vagrancy Wednesday in county court at law on an instructed verdict by Judge Guy Rogers to the jury.

The young woman was arrested among some 59 other persons at Newtown shortly after the slaying of Berlin in accordance with orders from the grand jury then in session for a rigid probe into the affair.

TRIO OF NEW STORES OPEN WITHIN MONTH

Three business houses in the uptown section are being remodeled for new stores which will open about March 1.

A. H. Fell and Brothers are remodeling the building formerly occupied by the Crystal Cafe at 722 Indiana street. They have purchased the entire stock of the Royal Confectionery which recently closed its store at 718 Indiana street.

Mr. Fell will open the new store March 1. He formerly conducted a similar business at the same location. The store was moved to 718 Indiana avenue when sold to the Royal Confectionery. Although no definite announcement has been made it is understood that a mercantile store will be opened at 718 Indiana.

On Eighth street, the store location formerly occupied by Haltom and Friedly, jewelers, at 614 Eighth is being remodeled with an entire new front. The store will be occupied by the Beacon Shoe Company which will open a branch store here about March 1. The local store will be one of a chain of 7,000 retail shoe establishments operated by the Beacon Company.

CABLE WIRELESS ROUTE TO SHIPS ENTERING PORTSMOUTH

LONDON, Feb. 2.—World-wide interest has been aroused in the working of the "radio" piloting cable laid at the bottom of the channel leading to Portsmouth, which enables fog-bound vessels to steer by sound an accurate course into the harbor.

"There is no connection between the ship and the cable other than the magnetic waves that are radiated from the cable," said an expert.

"The cable is laid beneath the exact course to be followed by shipping and its 'free' end is out at sea—the Portsmouth cable is about 20 miles long. The high-frequency, electric current in the cable emits a certain note in Morse code.

"On board ship the navigating officer wears a set of ordinary wireless telephone receivers. These receivers are connected to a battery, a set of 'amplifiers' similar to those used in wireless telephony, and two coils, the latter being hung over the side of the ship above the waterline, one on each side.

"Approaching the harbor the officer adjusts his earpieces and listens first through one coil and then the other for the "note" of the guiding cable. It may come to him through the right or 'starboard' coil; if that is the case he knows his vessel is to the left of the cable. As soon as he hears the note equally loud through both 'port' and 'starboard' coils, the officer knows that his vessel is directly above the cable and is able to feel his way along the correct channel."

FIRE INSURANCE RATE ADJUSTER INSPECTS HERE

To set the rates for fire insurance policies of all mercantile establishments in Wichita Falls, T. A. Harmon of the State Fire Insurance Rating Board of Austin will begin an inspection of the various buildings and mercantile stocks of the city Thursday morning, according to an announcement made Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Harmon, who arrived here Tuesday night from a similar inspection at Decatur, said that the inspection probably will require four to six weeks time.

Mr. Harmon said that rubber hose or other flexible gas connections, trash and rubbish piles, and disposition of boxes and barrels as well as the construction of buildings and the arrangements of stocks are all considered in fixing the rates. Rubber hose or flexible gas stove connections require an added premium of ten cents on the hundred dollars, according to Mr. Harmon.

The following representatives of the State Board will assist Mr. Harmon in the inspection: C. G. Whyburn, H. L. Houston, C. R. Fuller, P. H. Hodges and C. B. Capron.

Girl Weds While Mother's Body Waits in Casket

By Associated Press.

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Feb. 2.—Although grief-stricken over the death of her mother two hours previously, Kathleen Tankersley fulfilled her dying parent's last expressed wish that she not delay her marriage to Coulter Young of Hot Springs, Ark. The wedding ceremony was performed while Mrs. Tankersley's body was being embalmed for burial. Kathleen is the daughter of H. E. Tankersley, well known Texas cattleman.

Rheumatism

A Remarkable Home Treatment Given by One Who Had It.

In the year of 1882 I was attacked by muscular and sub-acute rheumatism. I suffered as only those who are thus afflicted know for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, but such relief as I obtained was only temporary. Finally I found a treatment that cured me completely and such a pitiful condition has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted, even bedridden, some of them 70 to 80 years old and the results were the same as in my own case.

I want every sufferer from any form of muscular and sub-acute (swelling at the joints) rheumatism to try the great value of my improved "Home Treatment" for its remarkable healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked for means of getting rid of such forms of rheumatism, you may send the price of it, $1, but understand I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer, when relief is thus offered you free. Don't delay. Write today.

Mark H. Jackson, 1122-G, Durston Bldg., N. Y. Mr. Jackson is responsible. Above statement true.

Why be Fat?

Have you heard about the very best system for weight reduction? It is so easy to follow, so different from the objectionable ways—easy and safe.

You may eat and drink all you need. There is no tedious exercising. Use a little Korein (pronounced korsen) at convenient times; also follow the simple, clear directions. A loss of weight, 10 to 30 pounds (whatever you need to lose), may be expected by this safe and pleasant system of fat reduction. At the druggist's get a small box of Korein, and start at once. Be of normal size, with good figure and attractive appearance, agile, quick-witted, healthier and more efficient. Look and feel younger. By reducing weight you are likely to avoid one or more diseases, heart weakness, stomach trouble, sunstroke, apoplexy, etc., and to add many years to your life. Remember—KOREIN—in tablets. Become slender and stay so. Brochure mailed FREE.

Babes Taken To Have Faces Made Pretty

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The most entertaining place in this city is a hairdresser's shop.

There you learn how high-born babies are made good-looking; how women alter their features and renew their youth.

A hairdresser showed how the face could be altered by changing the position of the eyebrows.

"If the eyes are deep-set," he said, "and the forehead high it is not becoming to a woman.

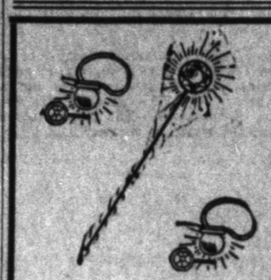

"She can improve herself by having the eyebrows shaved off and others pencilled a little above."

Wealthy people call in a beauty specialist at once if their baby is not good-looking and have Nature's errors rectified.

"I like to see the mother make herself look as young as the daughter," continued the hairdresser.

"I don't care what woman it is—when she gets to a certain age she must make up."

HAUL MILLIONS WHILE BANDITS ROBBING BANKS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. —While bandit gangs were shooting down private citizens and daily risking their lives in hold-ups netting paltry hauls of a few housand dollars each during the unprecedented crime wave in St. Louis in November and December, more than $80,000,000 in gold, silver and currency was hauled through the streets under the very noses of notorious highwaymen, it has just been learned.

This huge amount, carried almost daily in quotas of $500,000 to $5,000,000 any load of which would have made the gunmen wealthy beyond their wildest dreams for the remainder of theeir lives, was transferred in motor trucks from the United States sub-treasury in the post office building, at Eighth and Olive streets, to union station, at Eighteenth and Market streets, a distance of fifteen blocks, through a section in which several times a week the boldest daylight payroll robberies were being staged, not to mention numerous "stick-ups" of private citizens. And never did the guard to any one of these rich hauls consist of more than three armed men.

The movement of this great wealth was made known by W. D. Vandiver, head of the sub-treasury, after completion of the transferring of the money to United States mints at San Francisco and Denver. The transfer was necessary in order that the St. Louis sub-treasury could be closed in accordance with an act of congress last May.

A branch of the St. Louis federal reserve bank is preparing to occupy the quarters vacated by the sub-treasury. Vandiver, who has been in charge of the sub-treasury for the past seven years, is to retire to his country home near Columbia, Mo., and the twenty-five other employes of the sub-treasury are to be transferred to other branches of government service here and in other cities. Some of them had spent as many as twenty-five years in the local sub-treasury.

The St. Louis sub-treasury was established Aug. 6, 1846, and because of unsuitable quarters the first sub-treasurer, it is said, found it necessary to nightly carry the currency on hand to his home and secrete it until the following day.

There was $40,000,000 in the sub-treasury when Vandiver took charge and the amount on hand has at times reached as much as $83,000,000, the pinnacle being attain the past year.

Of this amount more than $40,000,000 was in gold. This was transferred to Union Station by thirty-five motor trucks. One day a catavan of five huge trucks, each laden with one hundred thousand silver dollars, wended its way through the congested traffic to Union Station. The day previous $5,000,000 in gold was transferred through the streets to the station and placed aboard trains.

Vandiver was much amused overhaving outwitted the several gangs of bandits, each rated as desperate as the famous Jesse James outfit, which are believed to make their headquarters in St. Louis, but which have managed to evade all efforts of the authorities to run them down.

BATTLEPLANES OR BATTLESHIPS—WHICH WILL IT BE?

One of the army's biggest bombing planes—the Martin bomber—and the pride of the U. S. navy, the U. S. S. New Mexico.

Should the United States proceed with its tremendous building program which calls for more massive battleships costing $40,000,000 each, or should it divert this money toward aviation and depend upon its air force for coast defense and aggressive warfare if necessary? That's what congressional committees are now debating. Brig. Gen. Mitchell, actively in charge of the air forces, has asserted before committees that with the development of aerial attack the present method of coast defense is obsolete. Proponents of airplane development point out that Great Britain is about to change her entire policy of defense. The navy is now building seven teen floating fortresses at a cost of more than $40,000,000. It is to halt this program and other plans that members of the army committee are working. Representative Anthony of Kansas, chairman of the house appropriations sub-committee, has said he will take up with the house naval committee the subject of formulating a joint request to the navy department for a battleship to be made a target for aerial bombing to decide by practical test the worth of the heavy ships.

Amusements

OLYMPIC

Piquant with refreshing humor, well-sprinkled with thrills and interest-gripping situations, Bebe Daniels latest picture play "She Couldn't Help It," recalled to hundreds at the Olympic theater last night, memories of the story's great previous success as a novel and stage play under the author's title, "In the Bishop's Carriage."

Miss Daniel is convincing and sincere as "Nance Olden," the pickpocket orphan, while Herbert Standing runs her a close race for first honors as the kindly old bishop, terribly embarrassed to find a beautiful girl riding uninvited in his carriage. Z. Wall Covington is laughable as a tourist, returned from "a business trip" to Cuba, while Helen Raymond, of "Twin Beds" fame, is his stern and unyielding wife.

Larry Semon in his newest two part comedy, "The Sportsman" is an extra added attraction.

Plurality Lacking, Law Gives Taxpayer No Delay Until 1921

AUSTIN, Feb. 2.—The bill recently passed by the legislature and signed by Governor Neff, postponing publication of delinquent tax lists until October, 1921 and reducing the penalty for failure to pay 1920 taxes on time from ten percent to 5 percent does not affect the penalty for failure to pay 1920 taxes due February 1, 1921, according to a ruling by the attorney general's department.

The bill did not pass the senate by the necessary two-thirds majority to make it effective on being signed by the governor and therefore does not go into effect until ninety days after adjournment. Up until that time the penalty for non-payment of 1920 taxes will be ten percent, according to the opinion. The opinion was given at the request of Lon A. Smith, state comptroller, who said that he had received large numbers of queries from over the state as to whether the reduction was now applicable.

British Cops Become Adept During Riots

LONDON, Feb. —The easy—almost apologetic—way in which the British policeman handles a crowd always impresses a stranger, particularly an American.

The British "bobby" has had a number of opportunities lately of demonstrating this manner of his—and he will, no doubt, have a great many more chances this winter with its many unemployment parades.

During recent disturbances all the newspapers—with the exception of the one Bolshevik organ—commented on the good temper and restraint shown by the police in their very difficult job.

It must be remembered that the British policeman does not carry a revolver. His only weapon is a short "billy," which he calls a baton, and this is hidden away in his pocket, to be drawn and used only on the greatest provocation. When using it he must be careful not to hit his opponent over the head with it, but must strike him only on the arms or body.

In addition, he is hampered with an oilskin cape, which he carries rolled up and slung from his belt. This, of course, is in his way when he is defending himself or attacking a crowd. He occasionally finds it of use, however, as a weapon, and it is certainly of more value in dispersing a crowd than is the little "billy."

During the Whitehall riots last fall it was a funny sight to see a long line of policemen advancing against the mob lustily swinging their capes—which, rolled in a tight bundle, made a very effective "night stick."

The cape has the additional advantage, as well, of knocking a rioter down—and leaving no mark.

It is certainly a liberal education to see a platoon of English police "moving on" a crowd. First they stand in a line, looking rather bored at the whole proceedings. Then they move out together and, locking arms, try to force the crowd along by sheer pressure. When they succeed in getting it on the move then they separate and break it up into small parties, all the time saying, "Move along, please," or "Don't stop, please."

Always the "please," and if they have to draw the "batons" they seem to hit with great care so as to do as little damage as possible.

But when they really lose their tempers and see some of their comrades struck down—then the best thing to do is to get to some spot of safety as quickly as possible, for they can "handle 'em rough" when they have to.

EXPECT TO BEGIN WORK ON BIG WICHITA IRRIGATION PROJECT IN 90-120 DAYS

Work on the building of the Big Wichita irrigation project, declared by many to be the greatest step of progress before Wichita Falls, will probably begin in the next 90 or 120 days, according to a statement by J. A. Kemp, president of the board of district No. 1, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Kemp said that the beginning of the work waited only on the sale of the bonds, and he is of the opinion that, with the improving conditions in evidence in the bond markets, that this sale can be arranged in the near future.

While in the East recently, Mr. Kemp conferred with a number of financial houses which would be in a position to take the $4,500,000 worth of bonds as it became necessary to market them during the progress of the work, and he is in hopes that a good sale can be arranged in the near future. These bond people are expected to be in Wichita Falls in the near future for a final investigation.

W. O. Winston, president of Winston Brothers Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., was in the city Wednesday to go over the project with a view toward bidding on the construction of the great project. Mr. Winston's firm is considered one of the largest in the country, Mr. Kemp said. Mr. Winston was recently elected president of the National Association of Contractors at a New Orleans meeting.

It is expected that the construction of the project will take from two to three years. The diversion dam above Wichita Falls, which by itself will impound three times the volume of water impounded by Lake Wichita, will be the first part of the work to be undertaken, according to present plans.

In discussing the value of this project, Mr. Kemp Wednesday enthusiastically quoted the words of Dean T. U. Taylor of the department of engineering, University of Texas, made at a recent irrigation meeting at Austin, at which Mr. Kemp presided.

In this statement Dean Taylor said that the artesian water supply of the towns which depended on this source was playing out, and that the impounding of surface water was proved to be the only feasible plan for providing a water supply for a big city. "Those cities which can impound a great amount of water will be the great cities of Texas," Dean Taylor said.

FIELD SECRETARY OF FEDERAL C. C. HERE

C. V. McAlpine, Washington field secretary for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is in Wichita Falls for a several days stay in the interest of his organization.

On his arrival Mr. McAlpine expressed appreciation felt by officials of his organization for the support and co-operation they have always received from the local Chamber of Commerce and its officials.

While here Mr. McAlpine was a caller at the office of Frank Kell, long active as a director of the national organization, and who recently expressed the opinion that this organization was the strongest force in the dealing with business problems in existence in the country.

EARL KEESE SURE HE IS NOT DEAD

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 2.—Quoting Mark Twain, "The report of my death is greatly exaggerated," a man who claimed to be Earl Keese of Danville, Ill., and whose identification as such was apparently substantiated by persons who said they knew him when he was at Camp Grant, walked into a local newspaper office tonight to state that his is not the body identified by his relatives as that of the "ragged stranger" shot and killed by Carl Wanderer in Chicago last summer.

Quack of Stately Gander Picks Way For Sightless Ox

GREENSBORO, Ala., Feb. 4.—A queer tale of the extraordinary friendship existing between a gander and a blind ox on the farm of Braxton Holcroft, in the southern end of the county, was brought here today.

Each day, so the story goes, a stately gander, with his breast full of sympathy and his head full of responsibility, leads an aged and totally blind ox to a nearby pond for water. The gander, walking just in front, quacks now and then in order that the sightless ox may follow and when the pond is reached, gander stands guard while his protege drinks his fill.

When the ox has finished drinking, the gander leads him back to the field.

JURY PRAYS, THEN ACQUITS PRISONER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—A jury in circuit court today prayed and then returned a verdict acquitting W. V. Spencer of a charge of murder.

Spencer killed Elmer Penneti during a fight in a rooming house. His plea was self-defense.

Later, the foreman of the jury, an ordained minister, explained that as he prayed the principals of the killing appeared before him in a vision. Spencer, he said, was surrounded with a bright glow, while Penneti appeared in a darkness.

"Then it was I decided that darkness was not for truth," said the foreman. The vision appeared to him, he said, after the first ballot. When the second ballot was taken, he said, the verdict was for acquittal.

PLOT TO DYNAMITE LEGION POST FAILS

ABERDEEN, Wn., Feb. 2.—An attempt to dynamite the American Legion building here shortly after 7 o'clock tonight was frustrated by Henry G. Lancaster, a legionnaire, who discovered the smoking fuse of a package of dynamite planted beneath a corner of the building and stamped it out. The package was found to contain 26 sticks of dynamite, each with a percuaison cap attached.

Congress Considers Big Appropriations For Army and Navy

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Congress discussed disarmaments today, but went ahead with consideration of large appropriations for the army and navy and incidentally received the views of President-elect Harding on the future military policy.

Chairman Kahn of the military committee told the house today in debate on the annual military appropriation bill that he had been informed by Mr. Harding at a recent conference at Marion that the president-elect favored a regular army of 175,000 men for the present and also legislation providing for the voluntary military training of 15,000 men annually.

Before the house met, its naval committee received from General Pershing a warning against fostering a national spirit of pacifism and unpreparedness.

WIFE CONFIDENT DOCTOR WILL BE ACQUITTED OF MURDER OF TEACHER

Dr. H. C. Winnes and wife, photographed during the doctor's trial at Harlan courthouse.

Entirely at ease despite the net of circumstantial evidence woven about his actions by the state, Dr. H. C. Winnes, formerly assistant state veterinarian of Kentucky, recently took the stand in his own behalf in the Harlan, Ky., courthouse and denied having any part in the slaying of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain school teacher. He is charged with murdering her as she walked from Dillon railroad station to her school. Winnes told of his conversation with her regarding cattle at the school before she left the station, but denied having seen her en route to the school. Winnes voluntarily gave himself up when the warrant was issued for his arrest and when he was indicted by the grand jury. A negro convict is waiting trial for the killing of Miss Parsons. He was seen near the scene of the killing.

MOTHER AND SON ARE BOTH RESTORED BY IT

"I Was on the Verge of a Complete Breakdown," Says Bryant—Tanlac Overcomes Troubles.

"Harry L. Bryant, of 1226 Montgal Ave., Kansas City, Mo., receiving clerk for the John Taylor Dry Goods Co., is still another who has cause to be glad that he was induced to give Tanlac an honest trial. In relating his experience with the medicine recently Mr. Bryant said:

"Tanlac has had a good chance in my case to show what it can do. Why, before I got hold of the medicine my liver was all out of order. I had no appetite and my stomach gave me no end of trouble. The little I did manage to eat wouldn't digest properly but seemed to lump together in my stomach, causing me terrible distress, and at times I could hardly get my breath. My nerves were so shattered the least little thing worried me and a good night's sleep was out of the question. In fact I was just on the edge of a complete breakdown and it was all I could do to drag around.

"My mother received such splendid results from the use of Tanlac I began taking it myself, and before I finished half a bottle I could tell I was improving right along. I just kept on with the medicine until three bottles have put me in fine shape. My appetite can't be best and I eat and digest anything I want without its troubling me a bit. My nerves are so steady I sleep good and sound every night and I have put on several pounds in weight, too."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarlton Drug Co., and by all leading druggists.—Adv.

Dallas Leader Urges More Co-Operation, Less Bossing In Charitable Activities

More co-operation in dealing with social problems of a community and less of the tendency of the individual charity agencies to "boss," was urged by Elmer Scott, secretary of the civic federation of Dallas, in a talk at a called meeting of the directors of the Wichita Falls Welfare Council at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night. Social organization of the modern city with reference to the handling of the various problems by the separate organizations to the best advantage, could best be completed by an intelligent survey with especial attention to the peculiar needs of the particular community," Mr. Scott declared.

"There is no formula for social organization," Mr. Scott declared, "as each community must work out its individual problems with regard to previous organization, aspirations of the citizenship, peculiar conditions and precedent." He cited the example of Waxahatchie, a town of 12,000 population settled in its way and without the "floating population" of a boom town and with less of the social menace that is common to cities that attract a large number of people of all classes, to show how much less complicated the social problems were there than the questions that confront a city the size of Wichita Falls.

"The larger the city the more serious the social menace and the more need for a compact force to combat these evils, he continued.

A great hindrance to the efficiency of social organizations is found in the desire of each separate agency to build its own organization sometimes to the neglect of the original purpose of doing good and extending the helping hand, Mr. Scott emphasized.

"The greatest good is accomplished the speaker continued, "by a council of representatives of the different charity agencies for the purpose of discussing common problems, using the 'mass attack' to accomplish the purpose.

"Individual social agencies should be managed," he said, "like a business and the social workers should be chosen with care to secure trained and competent individuals. Unless trained social workers be obtained," he said, "the charity dispensed by the Welfare Board would amount to a pension instead of helping the unfortunates to better their own condition.

During the talk Mr. Scott made frequent reference to the methods employed in handling the problems of social welfare in Dallas to emphasize the points he developed. There are 62 agencies in Dallas, according to Mr. Scott, that look after social work, all of which operate, to a large extent, in union, especially in financing the work. A common chest, nonsectarian, for the financing of work that comes under the jurisdiction of the charitable organizations is used in that city, and the welfare board there does nothing but take care of the financial side of the work.

The confidential exchange is also used by the different churches, Mr. Scott said, to good advantage and with little friction and conflict. A smooth-working union of the different churches is very important, the speaker said, in financing the common chest.

On account of the inability of some of the directors to attend the called meeting, it was decided to carry over some of the more important matters to a time when all of the board could be present.

Routine business consisted in receiving the monthly report of Mrs. C. E. Ousley, secretary of the Welfare council.

CATTLE MARKET OFFERING FEW, PRICES STEADY

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2.—Not many cattle were needed today and only a few cars arrived. On account of the light run, b ut buyers took hold freely and the market was moderately active at prices that were fully steady. The count called for 500 cattle and 400 calves. Nothing topped what was available, but most of the run was of a fairly useful type.

A supply of 1,500 hogs as fresh receipts and 450 additional as holdovers sold on a slow market, but prices were steady to strong. One car brought $9.50 and several went at $9.40 to $9.45, although the bulk of the run was cashed in at a spread of $8.75 to $9.35. The pig market dragged throughout the day, but when sales were made they looked steady. The best kinds sold at $7.50 to $7.75.

Sheep house receipts consisted of about 250 head of choice weihers which sold readily at $7.75, a good steady value; quotations follow:

Cattle—Beeves $5@7.50; stockers $5@7; cows $3@6; canner, $2@3; heifers $4@7.50; bulls $4@5; calves $4@9; yearlings $5@6.75.

Hogs—Light $9.40@9.50; heavy $9.25@9.40; medium $9@9.25; mixed $8.50@9; common $7.50@8.50; pigs $5@7.75.

Sheep—Lambs $5@9.50; yearlings $5@8; wethers $5@7.25; ewes $5@6; culls $1.50@v.50; goats $1@2.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 2.—Cattle receipts 6,800 head; trade slow on all classes; as es generally steady to weak; top steers $8.50; other sales $5.75@8.15; choice heavy heifers $7; bulk she stock $4.50@5.50; good heavy stage $7; calves steady with packers level of Tuesday; odd vealers $11@11.50; practical top $10.50.

Hog receipts 12,500; market, light and medium active; steady to 10c higher; spots more; heavy unsold bids lower; of sales $9@9.50; to $9.60; packing sows and pigs steady; good and choice fat pigs $9.75@10.

Sheep receipts 3,000 head; market strong; lambs mostly 25c higher; nothing choice offered bulk best lambs on sale $9.

COVER SHORTS HEAVILY, PUT COTTON HIGHER

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.—Covering of the short interest became heavy in the cotton market today and it was a supporting influence of importance during the greater part of the session, causing moderately wide fluctuations upward following the initial decline. Toward the end higher call money sales in New York and the report that large spot concerns were preparing to tender large quantities of spots on March contracts resulted in paring the gains down and the market was closed at net advances of 11 to 15 points.

The opening decline was laid to the feeling of pessimism that still lingered regarding the political situation in Europe before after losses of 12 to 17 points in good demand came from the short side and values commenced to do better. Total sales, in this market were, 2,294 bales at a decline of 25 points. Middling closed at 13.50.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Early declines in the cotton market were followed by rallies with May selling up from 13.97 to 14.32 and closing at 14.17, or six points net higher. March was relatively easier, owing to rumors t hat in addition to retenders of some cotton taken up on January contract further supplies were to be brought here from the south for delivery.

Reports that a prominent British authority was urging governments of all cotton producing countries to buy up surplus supplies in order to prevent a reduction in acreage and stabilize the industry were considered partly responsible for the advances which carried March up from 13.63 to 13.96. Local brokers attributed the bulk of the demand to covering, however, and the later market was quiet with last prices showing reactions under realizing. It was rumored during the day that about 30,000 bales of cotton were to be brought here from Texas for delivery on March. Liverpool cables reported some export demand but said spinners were buying sparingly.

The Berlin statement regarding indemnity terms may have led to some of the early selling but had little apparent influence on the market.

DALLAS COTTON.

DALLAS, Feb. 2.—Cotton, middling 12.45; market quiet; at Houston, 13.00, market steady; at Galveston, 13.50, market quiet.

BEARISH SWAY CHECKED AND WHEAT RISES

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Belief that for at least the time being, all bearish conditions had been discounted led to material upturns today in the value of wheat. Closing prices, although unsettled, were 1¼ to 2¼c net higher with March 1.58¾ to 1.57 and May 1.46 to 1.36½. Corn gained ¾ to ¾ and oats oats quarter to ⅝@⅝c and provisions 10 to 20 cents.

Bullish orders in wheat made much of assertions that rallies were overdue account recent big declines and that immediate opportunities for profit on the selling were limited. It was also contended that the chief question was far less in regard to competition from Argentina than whether the United States exportable surplus had already been disposed of. Something of a setback from the day's top prices took place near the end of the session, owing to denial of rumors that the proposed Argentina export tax on export had been fixed at 14½ cents a bushel.

Corn and oats were strengthened by a falling off in the volume of receipts in corn and by talk that the country was not selling.

Provisions at first tended downward as a result of increased stocks here, but later reflected the advance of grain.

CORNING CRUDE CUT 50 CENTS; NOW $3 BARREL

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—Further reduction in the price of Corning crude oil was announced here today by the principal purchasing agencies. The new price is $3 a barrel, a cut of 50 cents.

RETRENCHMENT RESULT.

MANNINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 2.—The recent cut in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil to $5 a barrel is beginning to be felt in the important fields of Northern West Virginia. Many new projects which were to have been set going with the opening of spring have been temporarily abandoned, while field work already under way will be confined to wells which must be completed in order to hold leases or which would result in heavy loss should operations be suspended.

It was stated here today that the South Pennsylvania Oil company had ordered suspension of 21 strings of tools and the crews laid o ff. This company has also reduced its force of laborers, the water gang, pipe line gang and employes in other departments.

Employes of the Eureka Pipe Line company, who have been receiving a bonuses, have placed a straight wage scale. Other oil pipe line companies have followed these same general retrenchment policies and are planning no additional work until the slump in crude is over.

RESUME OLD SCALE.

TULSA, Feb. 2.—Announcement was made here today by the Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. that the wage scale in effect in 1918 had been resumed February 1. This means a reduction in all wages of approximately 15 per cent, it was said. About 1,500 office employes and hundreds of field w orkers throughout the mid-continent field are affected.

Several hundred contractors here doing development work have declared wage reductions of 40 to 50 per cent for rig builders, driller and tool dressers.

PRAIRIE RETRENCHES.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2.—The cut of the Prairie Oil & Gas Co. on drilling contracts, announced today from Tulsa, will be met by all the companies having headquarters for Texas here, it was announced at the local office.

REFINING FORCES ACCEPT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Employes at a ll the refineries of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, have voluntarily accepted a reduction of one-half of their cost of living bonus effective February 15, it was announced here today at the general offices of the company. The reduction is equivalent to 10 per cent of the wages.

GASOLINE CENT LOWER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey today announced a reduction of one cent a gallon in the price of gasoline and kerosene in Ohio, Kentucky, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina and Louisiana.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The market for raw sugar was weak again today and prices declined to the lowest level recorded in over two years. There were sale of 16,000 bags of Cubas for prompt shipment at 3⅞ cents cost and freight equal to 4.64 for centrifugal. Later additional sales of 48,000 bags of Cubas were sold at 3¾ cents, cost and freight, equal to 4.52 for centrifugal. There was another reduction of 15 points reported by four of the local refiners on the basis of 6.85 for fine granulated, the level announced one of the refiners yesterday. The decline failed to attract any increase demand, buyers were inclined to hold off, owing to the further reduction in raws. The futures market was weak in line with the decline in raws and under scattered liquidation and trade selling, prices declined in to new low ground for movement, closing at decline of 11 to 15 points.

Final bids: March 2.76, May 3.96, July 4.14, September 4.36.

COFFEE MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The market for coffee futures showed rather a steadier tone today. Buyers found no encouragement in the Brazilian cables, but the unsettled ruling of the primary markets failed to inspire much selling here. The closing was a few points off from the best, with the general market closing net unchanged to four points higher. Closing bids: March 6.48, May 6.90, July 7.30, September 7.48, October 7.89, December 8.00.

BEARS CONTROL STOCKS, MONEY ON CALL RISES

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Sentiment in stock market circles today was unmistakably bearish, feeling finding frequent expression in pressure directed against almost every important division of the list.

The money market was a powerful factor, call loans opening at 8 per cent, the highest initial rate since the middle of last November, and advancing to 9 per cent in the final hour. Quotations for time funds and commercial paper were unaltered, but offerings were in small supply.

Rails, in point of fact, however, were the only relatively strong issues, especially Great Northern and Northern Pacific, those stocks rising briskly in the last hour and aiding materially toward reducing losses elsewhere.

In the foreign exchange market, radical change for the better occurred, based according to reports, on short coverings. The London rate made up more than yesterday's loss and substantial strength was evidenced by quotations to France, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland and Sdeden, also to China.

Liberty issues featured the narrow dealings in the bond market, recovering the greater part of their recent declines, but rails, industrials and equipments were disposed to ease moderately.

Old United States government twos rose half per cent and the forms, ¾ per cent on call.

COURT NOTES

Arguments in a motion for new trial in the case of Floyd Ray, negro, who was convicted on a charge of rape and sentenced to hang by a jury in 13th district court recently, will be presented before Judge H. F. Weldon Thursday by Attorney Charlie Francis, the negro's counsel, by appointment.

At the conclusion of the second day of the trial in 89th district court of the case of A. L. Huey against the Wichita Falls Electric company, with a large part of the evidence yet to be heard, Judge P. A. Martin late Wednesday ordered a continuance of the trial until Thursday morning. The suit is for mandamus and damages against the defendant company to compell them to install electrical service in Scotland addition.

Final decision i n the cause of Southern Surety company against A. B. Mason, for injunction restraining him from carrying out execution of judgment which was awarded him several weeks ago i n trial o f a suit here in district court against D. W. Young, will be rendered Thursday by Judge E. Napier in 78th district court. Trial of the case Wednesday was postponed to allow the court to consult law governing proceedings. Plaintiffs claim that trial of the case, in which Mason received judgment, was heard by a special judge and that this was illegal according to the laws of the state.

Judge Ed Napier Wednesday in 78th district court announced that all jury cases in h is court which were not reached last week will be set for trial during the week of February 14.

SCORE KILLED BY EXPLODING OF OIL CAR AND BLAZE

View of the rows of tenement houses wrecked by the explosion and glimpse of the fire at its height.

A whole block of negro tenement houses were leveled to the ground, at least fifteen negroes killed and fifty injured when a gasoline tank car exploded at North Memphis, Tenn. The blast was followed by a fire which did a quarter of a million dollars damage. Gasoline vapor let loose when the cap of the car was removed shot into the air and exploded forty-five feet from the ground, it is said. The blast went off at 7:40 a. m. The men had gone to work from the tenement homes, but the women and children were pinned beneath the wreckage of their homes as the cheaply built two-story buildings went to the ground like so much pasteboard.

W. F. & S. LINE EXPECTS EARLY VOTE ON PLEA

Recommendations that the extension of the Wichita Falls and Southern to Breckenridge, via Graham, South Bend and Eliasville, have been forwarded to the interstate commerce commission by the Texas railway commission and by Col. William Colston, chief of the division of finance, the department which has jurisdiction in this work, who attended the hearing by the Texas commission as the representative of the interstate commerce commission, leaving little doubt of an early and favorable action by that body, it was announced by Frank Kell Wednesday.

In connection with these recommendations, the additional fact that the interstate commerce commission has ordered that no more protests against this extension be filed, is considered as highly significant. Wednesday, on his first day at home after an extended trip away, Mr. Kell closed contracts for all the remaining materials for the construction of this extension for speedy delivery. Much of this material has already been ordered and is on the ground.

While in Washington attending a meeting of officials of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, of which he is a director, Mr. Kell had a conference with Colonel Colston which he pronounced satisfactory in every respect. On his return Mr. Kell spent several days at Atlanta, attending the sessions of the Southern Tariff congress at that place.

BUT 22 PER CENT OF DETROIT AREA LABOR EMPLOYED

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 2.—Seventy thousand men, or 22 per cent of the number working in factories in the Detroit area a year ago, now have employment, according to an industrial survey today by the employers' association, made public by George W. Grant, secretary.

Approximately half of the 70,000 are working on half time. Normally these factories employ 30,000 workers.

The employers survey placed the number of unemployed at 160,000, which does not include 70,000 believed to have left the city since last December.

TESTIFIES 'VICTIM' WAS ALIVE AFTER DATE OF "MURDER"

By Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 2.—Testimony that Jacob Charles Denton was alive after June 2, 1920, the date fixed by the state as that of the alleged murder of the mining promoter by Mrs. Louise L. Peete, was given by several witnesses for the defense at Mrs. Peete's trial here today.

The defense opened its case by introducing a deposition from Dwight Dale, oil operator, now in Franklin, Pa., in which Dale said Denton had called to see him at a Los Angeles apartment the night of June 3, last. Dale said he fixed the date by stubs of checks he had written that night.

Mrs. Bernice Collins, a tenant of the same apartment house, told of having seen Denton the night mentioned, but on cross-examination admitted she "might be mistaken."

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND
BY DAISY DEAN

Here is our newest photograph of that amusing little screen comedian, Flora De Haven, wife and co-star of that versatile actor, Carter De Haven. The De Havens are numbered among the most popular of present day screen comedy dramas. They are now making their first Independent production for First National. Their first feature is "Twin Beds" and the second will be "The Girl in the Taxi." Both Mr. and Mrs. De Haven enjoy the unique distinction of having played in the stage as well as the screen version of these famous plays.

"Ladies Must Live"

George Loane Tucker—who is always identified with the description of producer of "The Miracle Man" has completed arrangements for the forthcoming exhibition in New York of his latest photo play, "Ladies Must Live," adapted from Alice Duer Miller's story.

Short Western Plays

It is said that the increasing demand from exhibitors for good short reel films has led Cyrus J. Williams, producer of the Tom Santschi short stories to be called "The Adventures of Bill and Bob." Twin boys, it is reported, are to play the leading parts.

"The Money Master"

Sir Gilbert Parker's first original photo play written at the Lasky studio, where he has been studying photoplay technique, is "The Money Master," in which Alice Hollister and James Kirkwood will play the leading parts. Sir Gilbert will give active assistance to George Melford in filming the story.

VETERAN SERGEANT STUMPED AT LAST

By Associated Press.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Feb. 2.—When it comes to spelling Sergt. W. R. Arthur of the Dubuque recruiting station has been stumped but once in an applicant's name since he has wandered from the Mexican border, the fields of France and South American countries.

And he was stumped today when Ismael Ricorricio Vasquezestrachold of Namegupa, Chihuahua, Mexico, walked into his office to enlist.

"That's all right, partner, I know you want to get into the army, but please sit down and write that name out," was his request.

FRANCE PAYS $9 TON FOR U. S. COAL

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The French government has fixed a new maximum price of $9 per ton for all American coal, free on board, at French Atlantic ports. This is the lowest level American coal has reached since it began declining last October, when the figure was $32 per ton.

Representatives of the coal dealers of France who are meeting in Paris in a national convention, declared today that the government's action was in effect an embargo on American coal, because no American company could afford to sell at the new price, which after the payment of freight, would net not more than $4 a ton.

BANDITS FAIL TO ROB ARMY PAY CAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—An unsuccessful attempt by four bandits to rob an army pay automobile containing several thousand dollars here today resulted in injury to Major Stuart, in charge of the car, and wounding one of the bandits, by an armed guard in the car. One of the bandits was arrested.

President of Retail Liquor Dealers Held

By Associated Press.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 2.—George T. Carroll, president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers' association, was arraigned, with 48 other persons here today, charged with violation of the New Jersey liquor license act. Carroll and 47 others pleaded not guilty and were held under $1,000 bonds for trial March 7. One man pleaded guilty and will be sentenced February 11.

COCKTAIL HABIT GROWS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The cocktail habit is growing upon Londoners.

Five years ago if a man wanted an "appetizer" before dinner he had a gin and bitters. Today he is almost equally likely to have a "coffin varnish," an "old harmony" or a "corpse tickler."

For the Briton there is a wealth of poetry in cocktails not to be found in the less exotic and more standard drinks. The very names are alluring—or terrifying—and of the cocktails themselves there is an infinite variety.

At the American club in London the three most popular are the "Bronx," the special club "egg nogg" and "the doctor."

The lady held up her hand in horror. "Towzer," she said, 'could not do such a thing. Go and tell your father that he must have made a mistake."

"But father saw him with one of the chickens in his mouth, ma'am."

"Tell your father circumstantial evidence has led many a wiser man astray," sniffed the lady. "Run away and do as I tell you now."

The first public library was founded at Athens, Greece, by Pisistratous, about 540 B. C.

NEW THEATER OPENS DOORS TO BIG CROWD

Opening with a prayer by The Rev. Fred T. Datson, for the artists who carry us from the material cares to the smiles or tears of stageland, the Palace theater Wednesday night swung wide its doors to the theatergoers of Wichita Falls, and there were many of them for the house was packed to its doors.

The Reverend Datson in his broad and sympathetic manner, gave thanks for those who amuse us though they themselves may be in need of comforting.

William N. Bonner spoke in his natural and agreeable manner, explained why he was making the opening address in the place of Mayor Cline, whom he said was getting ready to go to New Orleans and see the Mardi Gras.

It was to be expected, since it was the opening night of the playhouse that there would be mistakes and in behalf of the D. F. R. organization, R. D. Rogers came out and apologized for anything that might possibly go wrong. This proved a needless precaution for there was no apparent friction and the audience, aided by the enthusiasm of The Shrine patrol laughed long and heartily.

The initial number of the program was Tozart, an actor artist, who makes his entrance very effectively by seeming to break into a studio apartment of an artist. Tozart, recalls the days that he was not a vagabond and thief but an artist, and now in the studio he again hears the call of the paint brush and turning on the light, paints a snow scene. This number is followed by Nelson Story and Elsie Clark in "Songs." Miss Clark is a clever personality singer and the applause grows louder and louder as she comes back.

Glad Hands Betters Act

One imagines that she has "temperment" for the improves with appreciation. Nelson Story is very good on the xylophone and wins his applause partly by his irrepressible smile.

If you want more money, invite your employer to your home and allow him to gaze upon your poverty and suffering inflicted by him. If you need any assistance in putting over this little stunt, it may be well to see the farce, titled "$5,000 a Year." The acting is comparatively good and the idea is original which makes for the success of the number.

Nell Brinkley didn't appear, but one wonders if she had a hand in the make-up and costumes of one Laurel Lee, the chummp little chatterer who comes on with a French accent, a baby face, much curly hair and an irresistible line of—well we'll say she was right when she gave her act the name of "The Chummy chatterer."

Costumes "As Isn't"

History tells us of the far-famed all-covering costumes of the Turkish women, costumes bold enough to show the eyes, and history tells too of the morals of these same women and the Turkish harems, so costumes may not be an indication of modesty and here in we find the permission for Bothwell Brown's Bathing Beauties as they are presented in a "1921 Revue." They say it is "A Somewhat Different Vaudeville Diversion" and they are not far wrong. The girls are really good looking, a rare fact in vaudeville, but owing to the fact that the theater was opened by prayer at least two, and that is conservative, of the bathing costumes should have been censored.

The act is extravagantly presented, and one can truthfully say, beautifully set. The costumes too were dazzeling and, (the critic was about to say "peacock-like," but peacocks are well protected from the cold).

Their final dance "The Dance of Jealous" reminds one of the literature we have read on the early Babalonian days, or perhaps, the historic Cleopatra or what a few of us have read of Solomon and his courts. It is a marvelously set act with a great surprise in the end for the most charming dancer proves to be a man.

Good Nonsense At That

The two concluding acts were James Mullen and Anna Francis in "I Get What's Left" and James and Etta Mitchell in "Fun In the Air." The former was an unusually comic number, nothing but nonsense, but it was good nonsense. The latter too were rather amusing for those who care for acrobatic stunts.

In all, the entire seven acts were good and the new theater has started on its way rejoicing, initiating as it does a full program of big time vaudeville for Wichita Falls.

THEATER MANAGER AND HIS WIFE ENTERTAIN

In honor of the opening Wednesday night of the new Palace Theater, the newest of the Dye, Ford and Rogers, and Southern Enterprises, Inc., theaters in Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ford entertained with a dinner party at the Wichita Club. The guests included several officers of the Southern Enterprises here from Dallas for the occasion, the out-of-town members of the Dye, Ford and Rogers consolidation, and the Wichita Falls managers and staff. The members of the Palace theater orchestra were also guests, and gave several selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross D. Rogers of Amarillo and Dr. E. Lee Dye of Plainview, Miss Leah Ford, Herschel Stuart, George S. Morgan, A. G. Chaney and D. T. Callahan of Dallas and J. D. Pierce of Denver were the out-of-town guests. The local managers and staff members present were: Misses Maude Mayo and Anna Belle Brooks, W. D. Harwell, Steve Ford and Robert Sparks.

C. G. Manuel, vice president and general manager of the Record News and H. F. Johnson, member of the Times staff, were guests.

EX-DALLAS COTTON MAN IS ARRESTED

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Feb. 2.—L. N. Huie, former head of the Huie Cotton company of Dallas, Texas, was arrested at a hotel here on information received from Dallas police, charging him with felonious embezzlement from a big cotton concern in Texas. Huie claimed he was not guilty of the embezzlement charge, but merely closed out his business when a man tried to "beat him out of some money."

The three marshals of France—Joffre, Foch and Petain, receive yearly in pay about $8,000 each.

YOUR MEDICINE CABINET

What should it contain? There is one thing that is certain, it must be well stocked! It must have all the necessities for First Aid treatment. Go over your cabinet and see what it lacks, then come down and get it. If you have not already attended to the matter of a cabinet, then make your plans and come down and let us advise you.

If you have children, there are many things you will need. Something for bruises, burns and scars of all sorts, something too for little colds and fevers. This is an important phase of family life that you can not afford to overlook. Remember "Accidents happen in the best of regulated familie
