New sign design will expand list of SHS honorees

A recommendation was approved Monday by the city council that the "Tiger" billboard sign located east of Snyder on U.S. Hwy. 84 be repainted to reflect other "state or higher" winning groups at Snyder High School.

In addition, the council agreed to fund some $300 to have the sign repainted and directed the city staff to identify a second highway sign which can be used to honor "district or higher" winning groups at the school.

The recommendation for both signs was brought by a local committee headed by Betsy Griffin, who addressed the council Monday along with Donna Holt, who designed the proposed signs.

As discussed, the Tiger emblem on the Hwy. 84 sign will be retained. It now honors the 1983 state baseball championship won by SHS.

A line noting the 1983 baseball win will be retained. Achievements to be added include the presentation in 1984 of the Rockefeller Foundation Arts and Education Award to the SHS fine arts department; five state awards for one-act play dating to 1980; the state volleyball championship this past fall; plus two state and national awards won by SHS agriculture teams and industrial arts teams.

The criteria, according to Griffin, is an "actual state championship or higher." She said the selections for inclusion on the sign were coordinated through high school administrators and group sponsors.

Q. — How many U.S. astronauts have died in the line of duty?

A. — The death of the seven in the space shuttle Challenger last week brought the total to 13, according to NASA officials. Three astronauts — including "Gus" Grissom, one of the original seven — died Jan. 27, 1967 as Apollo I burst into flames on the launching pad. One was killed while on a routine training flight and two others were killed when their jet crashed into a building housing their space capsule.

State of Union address slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a week's delay due to the shuttle Challenger explosion, President Reagan goes before Congress tonight to deliver a State of the Union address calling for welfare overhaul, catastrophic health insurance and revamping of the international monetary system.

The half-hour speech to a joint session of the House and Senate will be carried live by the major radio and television networks beginning at 8 p.m. EST.

Aides have said Reagan will use the speech to "redefine the role of government" for the rest of the century. As part of that, they said, he will order yearlong studies designed to develop proposals for revising federal programs for the needy, initiate a program to protect all Americans from the costs of catastrophic illness and deal with uncontrolled currency fluctuations that aggravate the U.S. trade deficit.

Oil prices slip to $16

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — An OPEC committee broke up today without agreement on a strategy to defend the cartel's shrinking market share, and some prices dropped below $16 a barrel for the first time since 1979.

Prices intensified their slide after Mana Saeed Oteiba, the oil minister of the United Arab Emirates, said OPEC is in a price war "whether we like it or not."

OPEC President Arturo Hernandez Grisanti, who also is oil minister of Venezuela, said the committee agreed that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' fair share of the world market should be above 16 million barrels a day, but did not mention how much above.

Hernandez Grisanti would not specify a possible date for a full conference of the 13 OPEC members, but cartel sources said it could be held next month in Geneva.

The once-powerful group, which dictated prices in the 1970s and enjoyed a two-thirds share of the market, has watched its business shrink by about half because of overproduction and competition from non-OPEC producers, especially Britain, Norway and Mexico.

The price for some grades of a 42-gallon barrel of oil, which cost more than $40 less than five years ago, has declined drastically. Prices have dropped by about half since November and 25 percent since the year began.

The spot-market price of Brent crude, produced by Britain, was sold in Europe today for just below $16 a barrel, the first time prices have dropped so low this decade.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, March-delivery prices for West Texas Intermediate, the best-known U.S. crude, hovered near the $16-a-barrel level.

Political list here finalized

No new local political candidates came forward Monday — the last day hopefuls could file for the 10 district or county positions due to expire at the end of 1986.

With the deadline passed, 23 candidates — 18 Democrats and five Republicans — will be on the ballot for both Democratic and Republican primaries slated May 3.

Voters will elect individuals for county judge, county attorney, district clerk, county clerk, county treasurer, three county commissioners and two justices of the peace. Each serve four-year terms.

The following is a complete list of announced candidates by office and party affiliation.

County Judge

—Incumbent Preston Wilson will face Bobby Goodwin in the Democratic race.

County Attorney

—Incumbent Mike Line will run unopposed for the Republican nomination. Line, appointed last Feb. 11, is seeking to fill out an unexpired term.

Commissioner Pct. 1

—Incumbent Duaine Davis, appointed July 29, faces two challengers in his bid for the Democratic nomination for an unexpired term. Fred Cross and Milton Stephens are seeking the party nomination also.

Commissioner Pct. 2

—The names of four individuals will appear on the Democratic ballot in the Pct. 2 race. Dick Fowler, Jerry House, Alfred Kohl and Tommy Pate are seeking the post. Current commissioner Hassie Sneed will not seek re-election.

Ambulance radio funding possible

A positive indication for city financial help was given Monday for a radio system which would substantially improve communication linkups between mobile ambulance units and local or area hospitals.

The communication system was proposed to the Snyder city council by a group of local EMTs who double as volunteer members of the Snyder Fire Department.

Addressing the council was Perry Westmoreland, who works part-time with Aid Ambulance of Snyder in addition to his fireman service.

He was assisted in preparation of the radio proposal by volunteer fireman Paul Gilbert.

The system as proposed would update the radio communication abilities of the ambulance service at an equipment expense of some $21,300.

As noted by Westmoreland, if the council was receptive to some financial aid, the group planned also to contact Scurry County commissioners for matching help.

The operation of the local ambulance is jointly subsidized by both the city and county. The city is in charge of administering the day-to-day operation.

Several advantages of a new radio system were pointed out, indicators which point to the "inadequacies" of the present system.

Problems noted include:

—The relative short range of current radio communication, estimated to be no more than 10 miles from Snyder. It was noted some areas of the county create problems for as short a distance as 2 miles from Snyder and that some metal frame buildings — to include the coliseum — also create sending and receiving problems.

—Interference to ambulance transmissions — including often critical patient assessment information — due to the other entities using the ambulance's only radio channel. It was pointed out the ambulance now transmits over the "local government" channel, which is used also by city water,

Suspect indicted for local slaying

A county grand jury Monday returned two felony indictments — charges of voluntary manslaughter and possession of a firearm by a felon — against a suspect held since Jan. 17 in connection with the shooting death of Alberto Rodriquez of 1605 College Ave.

Indicted Monday was Domingo Miramontez Trejo. He was arrested by police a few hours after Rodriquez was killed by a single shot fired from a .22 cal. rifle.

The shooting occurred around 11:20 p.m. Jan. 17 after an alleged argument between the victim and Trejo.

Trejo has been held in the Scurry County Jail since that time in lieu of bond set at $50,000.

Both indictments against the 43-year-old Trejo were "enhanced" under the law due to previous felony convictions in 1957 and 1961.

With the enhancement clauses, possible punishments are raised in the event he is found guilty on one or both counts.

Grand jurors also returned two indictments against 31-year-old Domingo Zapata Martinez who escaped from the Scurry County Jail last Wednesday.

Martinez, currently still at large, now faces additional felony charges of escape and aggravated robbery.

Brown loses appeal in court

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown, who announced as a candidate for state attorney general, did not want to take "no" for an answer from the Texas Supreme Court.

But apparently he has no choice.

The court Monday denied Brown's plea to get on the Republican Party primary ballot, but Brown said he would appeal to the 1st Court of Appeals in Houston.

Meanwhile, State GOP chairman George Strake said he had refused for a second time to accept Brown's filing fee as a candidate.

Strake, however, said, "I kind of feel sorry for him," and he joined Brown in criticizing the court for not holding a full hearing on Brown's appeal.

The court overruled without comment Brown's motion to file a writ of mandamus with the court, but Brown said the justices had failed to answer his "questions of law."

Strake said the court had failed "to make a decision as it's paid to do." The court often overrules mandamus motions such as Brown's without comment.

Brown said the Supreme Court "can refuse to hear (an appeal) for any number of reasons, and since it didn't spell it out, I have no way of knowing" what the court's reason was for denying his motion.

Attorney General Jim Mattox, a Democrat running for re-election, said, "Any layman or any lawyer could read the (Texas) Constitution and see that Buster Brown was in violation of the wording of the constitution should he be allowed to run ..."

Mattox told a news conference that Brown, who claimed he was the only Republican who could beat Mattox, indeed was the "strongest potential candidate" for the Republicans.

But Mattox added, "I'm not sure he believed from the beginning he was going to be eligible. I think it was an opportunity for him to get his name exposed on a statewide basis without any real danger."

Mattox was asked why Brown would want to do that, and he replied, "So that he could run at some future time for some other spot."

Inspections of Boeing 747s are ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airlines flying older Boeing 747s have begun special inspections of the jumbo jets after the Federal Aviation Administration determined there might be severe cracks in the main frame of some of the huge planes.

The FAA ordered inspections on as many as 160 of the Boeing 747s flying in the United States and advised foreign carriers to do likewise after routine maintenance uncovered cracks in the frame, or rib cage, of four jumbo jets.

In one case, the FAA said, three adjacent frames were found "to be essentially severed" — a condition that "could lead to rapid decompression of the fuselage ... and possible loss of the aircraft."

Spokesmen for a number of air carriers, including Pan American World Airways, United Airlines and Northwest Airlines, said Monday the inspections already were under way and were not expected to disrupt service. They all said the initial findings revealed no cracking problems.

The FAA directive, sent to the airlines during the weekend, calls for Boeing 747s with more than 14,000 landings to be inspected within 25 flight cycles — a takeoff and a landing — and newer ones within 50 flight cycles. Planes with fewer than 10,000 landings or those that have had the frame inspected within the past two years need not undergo the special inspection, the directive said.

FAA spokesman Stephen Hayes said the agency estimated between 150 and 160 of the planes would be subject to inspection, including those belonging to U.S. airlines and foreign carriers serving the United States.

The Boeing 747 began commercial service in January 1970 and has been a mainstay of commercial aviation's long-distance aircraft fleet. According to the Boeing Co., there are 631 of the jumbo jets in service worldwide, including 161 flown by U.S. airlines.

The FAA directive did not say what airlines were involved in the four incidents that prompted the inspection order, but agency and industry sources said one incident involved Pan Am and another British Airways.

All of the cracking was discovered during routine overhaul of the planes.

The FAA order requires a "close visual inspection" of the aircraft skin and further inspections if small cracks are discovered that might indicate a more severe problem.

Boeing spokesman Jack Gamble in Seattle said the inspections would be for small cracks that might occur at "lap splices" where the skin of the plane is attached at the frame.

"It's not unusual to find cracking," Gamble said. "It has no effect on the operation of the aircraft, nor does it in any way compromise the integrity of the airframe."

Reagan withdraws his bid for Jordan sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, faced with overwhelming congressional opposition to an arms sale to Jordan, has decided to withdraw the proposed sale of 40 jet fighter planes and batteries of mobile missiles to the Israeli foe.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz informed Congress in a letter Monday the controversial $1.9 billion deal would be postponed indefinitely.

He praised King Hussein as courageous and firmly committed to seeking peace with Israel. But Shultz said the administration understood Congress wanted to see negotiations started before sending new weapons to Jordan.

He took the step in a letter to Sen. Richard Lugar, the Indiana Republican who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

It was not immediately clear whether diehard opponents would try to force a vote in the House and Senate anyhow. They are believed to have more than enough votes to kill the sale.

But a knowledgeable observer, who insisted on anonymity, said he was convinced Congress would go along with the administration and postpone consideration.

"The deal is done," he said.

Kids Across the Country Are Saying 'No' to Drugs

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Last August you printed a letter from Angel Wiltz describing the "Just Say No" clubs, made up of children 7-12 years old who use positive peer pressure to support each other in their commitment to lead drug-free lives. As a result of Angel's letter in your column, 8,000 people wrote or phoned for information, and hundreds of clubs have formed in cities and towns across the country!

Oakland Parents in Action, sponsor of the "Just Say No" charter club, has published a book explaining the clubs and how to start one. The book includes suggestions for projects and activities, discusses fund raising and recruitment, and lists a number of resources for information about preventing drug abuse. "Just Say No: Stopping Drug Abuse Before It Starts" costs $3.50. Checks should be made out to OPA, and orders under $10 must be prepaid. (Quantity discounts are available.)

"Just Say No" clubs are organizing an international Walk Against Drugs on May 22. Five million children and teen-agers are expected to take part. Information about the walks is contained in the book. Oakland Parents in Action is compiling a national "Just Say No" directory, and is asking clubs around the country to contact us so that they may be included.

We now have a toll-free "Just Say No" information line—(800) 258-2766 — which operates Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Pacific time.

Abby, you have helped us so much already. Will you please help us again and put this in your column?

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I am vastly smarter than virtually everyone I know—at least I think I am.

This troubles me, because shortly after I have begun a conversation with someone—anyone from my dentist to my wife—I begin to realize that they are intellectually inferior, and I regard what they say as only amusing, if not utterly stupid. Yet, I don't want to become an isolated hermit, or associate exclusively with super-intellects. What should I do?

SMART BUT CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: For openers, you could quit rating everyone you meet by where you perceive them to be intellectually. Why not relax your standards a bit, and try harder to find something worthwhile in what your wife has to say—and your dentist as well?

I think your chances for becoming a hermit are infinitely better than associating exclusively with the super-intellects, who may find you more confused than smart.

Your Birthday

Feb. 5, 1986

Your ability to make new friends and maintain these associations will be one of your strongest assets in the year ahead. This is a big plus because people who like you will help you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Career objectives will have greater chances of being accomplished today if you do not talk about what you intend to do in advance of taking action. Major changes are ahead for Aquarians in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Socializing with friends will be good for you today. Strive to participate in some type of activity that will take your mind off your problems.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Conditions are promising today for a joint venture in which you're presently involved. Take the initiative yourself; don't wait on your cohort.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your intuitive perceptions will serve as reliable guidelines today in your important dealings. Be cognizant of your hunches when they send out warning signals.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you have been wanting can be acquired today through a source you seldom use yet is always available if needed. Tap it today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Personal gains can be derived by serving as a bridge or middle person between two unrelated enterprises. Look for an opportunity to link them up.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have a unique talent today for transforming outmoded methods or things into something more functional and useful. Don't waste it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your associates will be following the examples you set for them today. This should make you feel good — imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have good possibilities at this time for increasing your financial base. Ways can be developed to add new funds if you're motivated to do so.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) You possess the type of influence today that is essential for promoting your ideas. But be sure you talk to the right people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You should be able to successfully work things out today and ultimately gain material benefits.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your sphere of influence is far more extensive today than you may realize. Fortunately, you'll be transmitting positive messages.

Deputy is killed

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — A Webb County Jail inmate shot and killed one deputy and wounded two others while attempting to escape and held off heavily armed officers for several hours before surrendering today, authorities said.

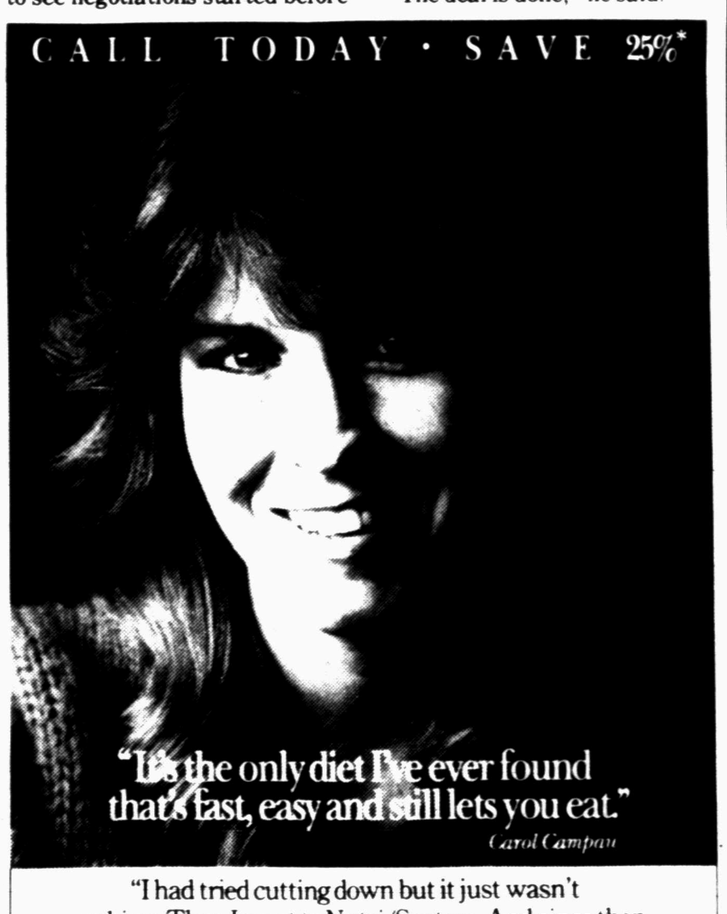

The inmate, identified as Rogelio Hernandez, 35, who was on parole from a 1978 murder conviction, surrendered at 5:38 a.m., said Laredo police dispatcher Idalia Nava. He had been held in connection with the shooting death of a U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service inspector, Ms. Nava said.

Other inmates were suspected of aiding the gunman and officers confiscated five weapons from the jail after the man surrendered, she said.

All of the approximately 160 prisoners in the jail were evacuated to allow deputies to make a cell-by-cell search for other weapons, said a sheriff's department spokesman who would not give his name.

Armed officers kept watch over the inmates, who were detained in two U.S. Border Patrol buses parked outside the jail.

Springers place second in Andrews gymnastic meet

The Snyder Springers, member of the Texas Acro-gymnastics Association and the U.S. Acro-gymnastic Federation, placed second over-all in team standings at their first novice competition in Andrews on Jan. 18.

Competing in the Andrews High Fliers Invitational Tumbling and Trampoline T.A.A. meet were other members of district two, including Hobbs, N.M., Brownfield, Andrews, Denver City, Plains, Crane and Midland.

The T.A.A. is for girls and boys ages 2 years and up with three ability levels that are broken into seven categories. Snyder's team consists of 76 young gymnasts and three coaches.

Competitors may have an opportunity to advance to the nationals, which will be held in Mobile, Ala. The U.S.A.F. is spread over the United States, with some teams making world tours throughout the year.

This is the first year in tumbling competition for the Snyder Springers. They scored 77 points at the Andrews meet, with one Andrews team placing first and Hobbs, N.M. placing third. The Snyder team brought home 22 first places, 22 second places, 13 third places, 9 fourth places, 4 fifth places and 1 sixth place.

Earlier at an advanced meet in Hobbs, N.M., Tisha Evans a 12-year-old, 4A competitor, placed eighth out of 21 with a score of 16.03. Joellen King a 10-year-old, 4A competitor, placed tenth with a score of 15.5. On the advanced level there are three ability levels with breakdowns according to age. They are allowed to do sommersaults and twists with very little run except at the beginning of both passes.

The Springers are sponsored by the Booster Club and taught through Kellye's School of Dance and Gymnastics. Coaches are Kellye Luera, Kay Porter and Kaprece Bedell.

Opening lead ♣ Q

When North, a passed hand, supported hearts, South had serious slam interest. Notice that South correctly did not ask for aces. Since he had all first-round controls, he was interested in discovering an important second-round control in the North hand. Although North was able to cue-bid the diamond ace, it was his five-club bid, showing the club king, that provided the impetus to South to confidently bid the small slam.

The bidding was fine, but declarer failed to pass muster in the play. He won the opening lead with the ace of clubs in his hand and immediately ran off five rounds of trumps, discarding two spades from dummy. Then he led a club to the king and cashed dummy's ace of diamonds, shedding his other club. Now it was time to test the spades. He played A-K and another. Unfortunately East had heard South make the natural bid of two spades. He therefore held on to his J-9-8-5 to the bitter end and was rewarded by taking two tricks and setting the slam contract.

Declarer has a happier result if he draws only two rounds of hearts, retaining the king in dummy. He then should play the A-K of spades and another spade. East will win the third spade, but there is no way to prevent declarer from ruffing his losing spade with dummy's preserved heart king.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have had a prostate infection for the last year. I've been seen by a urologist and he's been treating me with all kinds of medicine, but it keeps coming back. Will I have this the rest of all my life?

DEAR READER — Prostate infections can be troublesome and resistant to treatment. You might have a prostatic stone that is forming a focus of infection.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Other readers who want a copy should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this newspaper to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My bowels don't move very much and I have to strain a lot. I take Metamucil and eat bran cereal, fruits and vegetables. Hope you can help me. I'm 82.

DEAR READER — Like thinning and graying hair, bowel malfunction seems to be an inevitable consequence of aging. Try using a combination stool-softener/laxative (like PeriColace); this, plus bran and fiber, may get things going.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In a recent column, you recommended eating gelatin to strengthen nails. I'm certainly surprised that you would repeat that old wives' tale as though it might be factual. Even if protein would help nails, which is unlikely, a single ounce of red meat gives you more than a package of dry gelatin.

DEAR READER — True, true. But it sometimes works, and it's inexpensive. In some cases, it turns out that those "old wives" weren't so dumb after all. But for heaven's sake, don't eat the gelatin dry; mix it with water or a little fruit juice.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I would really like to know if it is sanitary to take communion from the common cup. Some say no and others say that the wine sterilizes the cup.

DEAR READER — The wine does not sterilize the cup. I understand that some churches are re-examining their policies in regard to common-cup communion. The public-health aspects of this form of communion need to be objectively addressed.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have uric acid. My doctor put me on Zyloprim. He had me take 100 mg. for one week, the 200 mg. the second week and 300 mg. the third week. Will you please explain why?

DEAR READER — The manufacturer of Zyloprim recommends that patients be started on 100 mg. a day and that the dosage be raised each week by 100 mg. until the blood uric acid falls or a maximum dosage (800 mg. a day) is achieved. In my experience, 300 mg. is usually enough to do the trick, and for an average adult, I usually start with that dose. I think that your doctor is simply being cautious by adhering to the drug company's suggestion.

Ex-headhunters greet Pope

SHILLONG, India (AP) — Pope John Paul II paid tribute to the missionaries who brought Christianity to India in a Mass today on a Himalayan golf course attended by about 200,000 people, including former headhunters who had trekked hundreds of miles.

The crowd cheered and waved tiny Vatican flags as John Paul arrived for a Mass on the Golf Links course in the rolling foothills about 330 miles northeast of Calcutta.

It was the most enthusiastic crowd to greet the pontiff since he began his pilgrimage of "peace and unity" in India three days ago.

As the white-robed pontiff, surrounded by tribal dancers, stepped onto a raised platform on the 18th tee for his homily, a group of Roman Catholic priests broke ranks and rushed to greet him.

Among the crowd was a group of Konyaka Naga tribesmen, dressed in sarongs and bright tops, who had journeyed more than 200 miles for the Mass.

The Konyaka Naga tribe gave up headhunting more than two decades ago. A priest who accompanied the group, Father Jesudah Fernando, said the pilgrims had converted to Catholicism two years ago.

The issue of converting Indians to Christianity has prompted criticism of and demonstrations against the 63-year-old pontiff by Hindus who dominate this country. Only 3 percent of India's 750 million people are Christians.

In his homily, John Paul praised the "countless courageous priests" and other religious workers who braved "innumerable difficulties and obstacles of every kind, even to the extent of shedding their blood" to bring Christianity to this region.

"Today the proclamation (of the Gospel) continues," the pope said in English. "It is being lived out in every corner of this region in harmony with local traditions."

Foreign missionaries were banned from this area after India's war with China in 1962 because of allegations they passed sensitive information to the CIA.

India later banned all foreigners, although some foreign journalists were allowed to visit here last year. The area is militarily sensitive because it borders four countries — Bangladesh, China, Burma and Bhutan — and is linked to the rest of India only by a narrow valley corridor.

Although Christians comprise only about a tiny fraction of India's mostly Hindu population, Christians are a majority in surrounding Meghalaya state, which has about 1.5 million people.

John Paul flew here from Calcutta, where he visited Nobel Prize winner Mother Teresa on Monday and prayed at her Immaculate Heart home for the dying.

Attorney said seeking Spindletop trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — More than 200 people who contend they are entitled to royalties from the legendary Texas oil gusher Spindletop deserve a day in court to prove their claims, an attorney for the claimants told a federal appeals court.

Pittsburgh attorney Richard Ferris told three 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judges Monday they should reverse another federal judge's decision to dismiss the Spindletop royalty case.

Ferris represents more than 200 people who claim they have rights to royalties from the field, which launched the Texas oil boom when it erupted in 1901.

U.S. District Judge Joe Fisher of Beaumont last May dismissed the case, filed in 1984 by two of Ferris' clients — James Clark of Cincinnati and Dan Profitt of Elsmere, Ky., who are cousins.

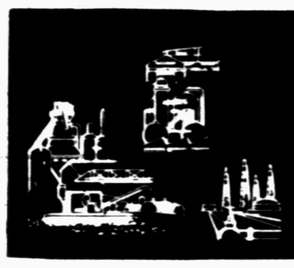

Clark and Profitt are seeking $20 billion in royalties from Amoco Productions, Mobil Oil Corp., Phillips Petroleum Corp. and Texaco Inc. In addition to the $20 billion, Clark and Profitt want the oil companies to open their records and accounts for the past 70 years.

The cousins are basing their claims on a deed, which is dated 1911, which gave James Meadors one-eighth interest in the Spindletop mineral rights. Clark and Profitt claim they are heirs of Meadors and therefore are entitled to the interest from the mineral rights.

Fisher said he dismissed the lawsuit because the cousins and other alleged Meadors heirs waited more than 70 years to stake their claim and allowed the oil companies to work the field without the heirs claiming part ownership.

Appeals judges Will Garwood, Jesse S. Williams and Edith H. Jones said they will decide on the appeal within one to three months.

If the panel reverses Fisher's ruling, the case returns to Beaumont for trial.

BESSIE SHERROD, Doris Andrews and Opal Stout (seated) of JOB Bookkeeping are ready to help you with all your bookkeeping needs. (SDN Staff Photo)

JOB is prepared to handle all your bookkeeping data

A new business was formed last July in Snyder. Judy Greenway, Opal Stout and Bessie Sherrod, each having several years experience in bookkeeping, took the first letter from the first name of each partner and formed the name and firm of JOB Bookkeeping.

JOB Bookkeeping is proud to announce that Doris Andrews has joined the other partners this month and they feel that her knowledge and help will help make their service even better and more efficient. Doris is a lifetime resident of Scurry County.

Conveniently located on the south side of the square at 1822 26th, they will be glad to help you with all your bookkeeping needs. JOB Bookkeeping is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday or you can call 573-9002. After office hours call Bessie Sherrod at 573-6493 or Opal Stout at 573-3857.

The ladies at JOB Bookkeeping do all phases of bookkeeping including quarterly reports. For individuals they will assist in helping you balance your bank statement and write your checks to pay bills.

They would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the business response they have had thus far.

Go by and see the qualified ladies at JOB Bookkeeping for all your bookkeeping needs.

Search underway for jail escapees

GONZALES, Texas (AP) — Authorities were searching today for three prisoners who escaped from the Gonzales County Jail in South Texas by greasing themselves with soap and squeezing through a small air conditioning vent, authorities said.

Chief deputy sheriff Richard La Font said the prisoners were reported missing after a routine check of cells early Monday.

In 1977, two elevated trains crashed in Chicago, killing 11 people and injuring more than 150 others.

Graham 'will not retire'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost like a patriarch, Billy Graham stood on the floodlit stage, cheers raining down from more than 1,000 religious broadcasters who are, in a way, his descendants.

Suddenly reflective, he told them, "I don't know how many more years I have."

But he quickly added, "I don't intend to retire."

And the applause surged again.

Graham, who turned 67 in November, was at the National Religious Broadcasters' convention Monday merely to accept one more award — this one for a new television show on his trip to the Soviet Union — and to briefly plug his upcoming crusade in Washington.

Marriage penalty explained

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second in a series of five articles written to help taxpayers prepare their 1985 income tax returns. This installment covers the marriage penalty deduction.

By Jim Luther

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you and your spouse both earn salaries, think twice — and check the special "marriage penalty" deduction — before filing separate returns.

The closer the wages of two spouses, the greater the chance they might be able to save money by filing separately. But the special deduction of up to $3,000 has reduced considerably the number of couples hurt by what has become known as the marriage penalty.

That penalty is a result of the progressive nature of the tax system; as income rises, so does the rate of taxation. The tax rate on a single person is higher than the rate on a married couple with the same income. But two single workers can face a higher tax if they marry; their combined earnings on a joint return can push them into a higher bracket.

The two-earner deduction cancels a part of that marriage penalty and is available to any couple filing a joint return if both spouses have earned income. If you file the long Form 1040, take the deduction by attaching Schedule W. Filers of Form 1040A must fill out Part I of Schedule 1.

The calculation is simple. Add the earned income (wages, salaries, tips and the like) of each spouse separately and subtract any adjustments claimed for employee business expenses and for Individual Retirement Account or Keogh plan contributions. Multiply the smaller of the two totals (up to $30,000) by 10 percent to determine the deduction.

Even with this deduction, separate returns may be better for some couples, such as those living in community-property states or when one spouse has extraordinary medical expenses. But if one spouse itemizes, so must the other.

For tax purposes, you were married for the whole year if, on Dec. 31, you and your spouse were living together as husband and wife, legally or under common law, or if you were living apart but not legally separated. Generally, you may file a joint return even if your spouse died during the year.

A couple on a joint return does not have to file until gross income hits $5,620 (if both are under 65), $6,660 (if one spouse is 65 or over) or $7,700 (if both are 65 or over). For any married person filing a separate return, the threshold is $1,040.

A married person who lived apart from the spouse during the last half of the year, who has a dependent child and who has head-of-household status does not have to file until income is $3,430 or more (if under 65) or $4,470 (if 65 or over). The same thresholds apply to a single person, including divorced and legally separated.

If you were widowed in 1983 or 1984, have not remarried, and have a dependent child living with you, you won't have to file a return unless your income is $4,580 or more (if you're under 65) or $5,620 (if you're 65 or over). This "qualifying widow" status permits you to use the lower joint-return tax rates.

If you were widowed before 1983 and have not remarried, you must file a return if your income is $3,430 or more (if under 65) or $4,470 (over 65).

The head-of-household status allows many taxpayers — especially divorced women with children — to calculate their taxes on rates that fall between those for singles and couples filing joint returns.

In general, you qualify if at yearend you were unmarried or legally separated and paid more than half the cost of keeping up a home for (1) a dependent parent, or (2) a married child or grandchild who is your dependent or (3) an unmarried child or grandchild whether or not your dependent.

Soviets expelling diplomats

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today it ordered several French Embassy staff members out of Moscow in an apparent response to France's expulsion of four Soviet Embassy officials from Paris.

The official news agency Tass did not say specifically that France had ordered the four Soviets to leave France, but said the Soviet action was in response to an "unfriendly action" by French authorities toward Soviet employees in Paris.

French sources said the Soviets ordered to leave Paris were linked to the arrest late last month of retired French air force noncommissioned officer Bernard Sourisseau on charges of spying for the Soviet Union.

Shivering is part of our body's natural mechanism to keep warm. Shivering, doctors say, increases the body's metabolism, so that more heat energy is generated and warmed blood is pumped more quickly to extremities.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL NEWS

MARILYN BURTON, Roy McCloskey and Lesa Hertel (seated) are up-to-date on the new lower auto insurance rates for Scurry County. (SDN Staff Photo)

R. McCloskey at State Farm wants to update your policy

Roy J. McCloskey, State Farm agent, would like to remind homeowners and renters that their insurance policy should be reviewed periodically in order to assure that proper coverage is provided. During the past three or four years some new coverages have been made available. Have you taken advantage of these new coverages and had them included in your policy? If you are not sure that your policy has been updated, Roy invites you to come by his office and let him explain the various coverages available.

On February 1, 1986, Scurry County was transferred to a new rating territory for auto insurance. This change of territory has resulted in a lower insurance premium for auto owners in this county. Scurry County motorists now have the same rates as the adjoining counties of Borden, Garza, Kent, Nolan, and Mitchell counties. All classes will get decreases, but it appears that the male driver under age 25 will get the largest decrease.

Why not come by the office or call and let Mr. McCloskey or a member of his staff go over your auto insurance needs.

Along with car and home insurance, State Farm provides other insurance coverages including life, health, and Medicare supplement. The Medicare supplement has no deductible and is issued at a very competitive premium.

For insurance in any field, give Roy a call at 573-7266 or come by his office at 3904 College.

Satellite entering orbit

PEKING (AP) — China's second telecommunications satellite, launched three days ago before state leaders, safely entered Earth's orbit, the official Xinhua news agency reported.

The satellite and the Long March 3 rocket are completely made by China.

Theory worries workers

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (AP) — A somber mood prevails at Morton Thiokol, maker of the boosters that helped hurl Challenger toward orbit, as workers express shock that one of their rockets might have caused the shuttle to explode.

But company spokesman Gil Moore said Monday that even if the solid-fuel booster is found to be at fault, Morton Thiokol will correct the problem and forge ahead with its work on the shuttle and other programs, including the MX missile.

"NASA wants to get back on stream with the space shuttle program as rapidly as it can safely do," he said. "Whenever the source of the problem is found, we, Martin (Marietta), Rockwell, whoever, that contractor will fix the problem and we'll proceed with the program."

Still, according to one of many employees who spoke on condition of anonymity, reports that a booster rocket may have malfunctioned and stunned the work force.

"It just shakes our self-confidence. How would you feel right now?" he said.

An investigative board held its first formal meeting Monday to determine a cause of the disaster amid speculation centered on a mysterious plume of fire from the shuttle's right booster.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials, speaking on condition they not be identified, said the flame that appeared about 15 seconds before the shuttle exploded may have caused the disaster by igniting the huge liquid-fuel tank.

While company officials refused to speculate on the cause, workers at Morton Thiokol's Wasatch Division west of here, where the 149-foot boosters are manufactured and assembled, tried to cope with a wide range of emotions and fears about possible layoffs.

Tigers test Mustangs in 2-4A action tonight

Barring some unforseen minor miracle, tonight's game is for pride. There's also revenge and a little bit of prestige thrown in to make it interesting.

Snyder's Lady Tigers, out of the running for a playoff berth unless Andrews should lose its last two ballgames of the season, take on Class 4A's 4th-ranked Lady Mustangs in Sweetwater tonight.

Snyder's boys play the host role, entertaining Sweetwater in Scurry County Coliseum.

Sweetwater's girls, 25-1 on the season and 11-0 in District 2-4A play, have already wrapped up at least a share of the loop championship.

At 9-2, it would appear Andrews has second place sacked up. Andrews hosts Fort Stockton tonight and finishes its regular season Friday in San Angelo. Combined, those two opponents have a district record of only 7-17.

Snyder is 7-4, two games behind Andrews with two games left to play.

Nonetheless, a victory over Sweetwater would give Coach Ken Housden's Lady Tigers their 20th win of the season. Snyder has lost only four ballgames. Unfortunately, all were district outings. Included among them was a 63-60 loss to the Mustangs - thus the revenge factor.

Tipoff is scheduled for 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a junior varsity contest at 6:30.

The times are the same for the boys, who have a better chance of making the playoffs. The boys are 7-3 in conference play, one game behind Andrews, which is 8-2. Snyder hosts Andrews on Feb. 11.

Tonight's opponent, Sweetwater, is 4-6 on the season and in district play. The Mustangs enjoyed a state football championship, but as could be expected, it led to a late start in the gymnasium.

Overall, Snyder is 16-6.

Snyder won a previous meeting between the two teams, 51-42, in Sweetwater.

Tickets, either here or in Sweetwater, are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Dusters grab 20th victory; pluck Hawk Queens, 79-61

BIG SPRING -- Western Texas' Dusters got the job done here Monday night, rolling past Howard College 79-61 to pick up their 20th win of the season.

The Dusters put on a spurt of offense late in the first half and again midway through the second - and that was all it took. Maybe that was good, however, because the Dusters weren't drawing rave reviews on offense.

"We just weren't very sharp offensively tonight," said Coach Kelly Chadwick. "I thought our posts and our guards weren't in sycronization with each other. We were off in our timing."

Chadwick wasn't worried, though. He knows the Dusters offense has taken a back seat lately.

"We've been devoting our workouts to different things - defense and our press attack. We're trying to put the total package together by the regional tournament. Lately, we've been stressing defense more than offense."

Actually, Western didn't start off real well defensively, either, but by halftime, the usual Duster 'D' was dominant.

The teams traded the lead until D'Ann Marr put up a short jumper to give Western a 16-14 advantage with 12:17 to play in the first half. Brenda Welch added another bucket, and WTC led by four.

The Dusters outscored Howard 12-2 during the rally, and walked into the dressing room at halftime holding a 40-32 advantage.

In grabbing a halftime lead, Western had managed to overcome Howard's full court press. It was something Chadwick had been ready for.

"(Howard Coach) Don Stevens is a great coach and we knew he'd throw something different at us," said Chadwick, whose Dusters had played and defeated the Queens twice before during the season. "We worked on the press break all week and I thought we did a good job of it."

Diana Quincy got Western off to a solid start in the second half as she scored from underneath. Angela Jeans popped a 15-footer, and the Dusters led by 12, 44-32.

The margin got as high as 23 points, 67-44, when Quincy, Pam Cox and Jeans scored back-to-back buckets with about seven minutes still to go in the game.

WTC was led by the double-figure scoring of Cox, Welch and Jeans. Cox, a 5-8 sophomore, put in 21 points while freshman Welch added 20. Jeans punched home another dozen. Quincy and Robinson added 8 apiece.

In all 13 girls played and 10 scored points.

Howard got 25 points from Terri Powell. The 5-7 freshman was a long-range threat throughout the game, though 15 of her points came in the first half.

Carolyn Willandt added 15 points and Sophia Ish notched 9.

Lorri French, who came into the game averaging 14.6 points a game, was limited to just 2.

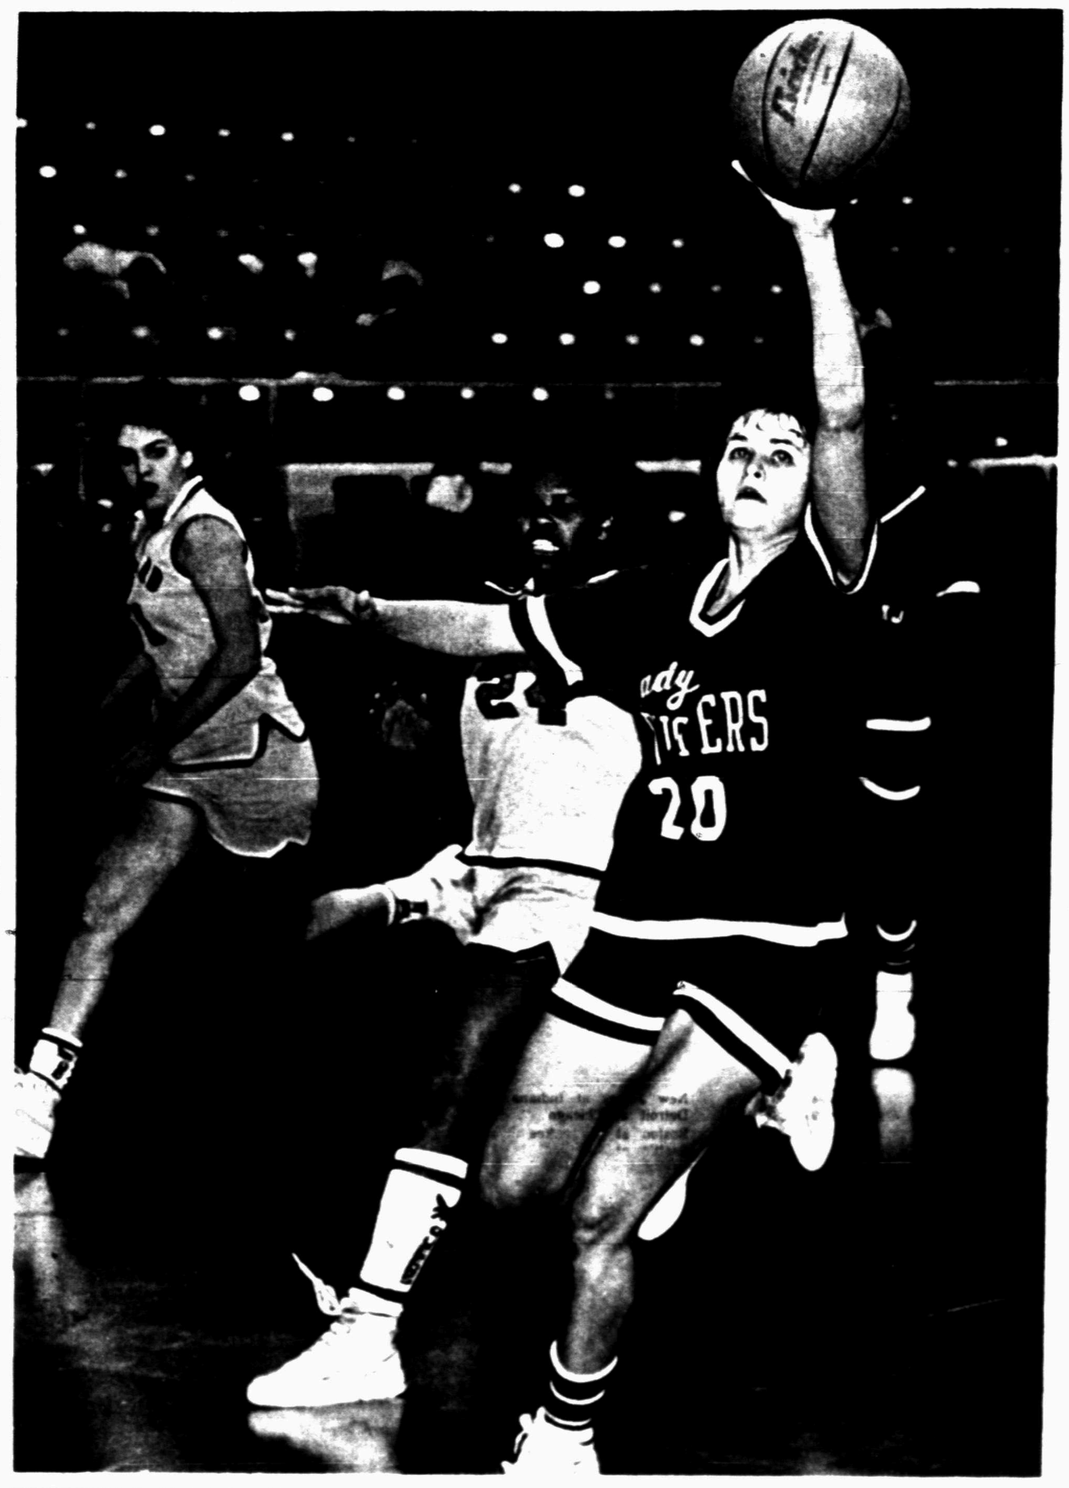

The victory leaves the Dusters at 20-6 overall and 6-1 in Western Junior College Athletic Conference play. Howard falls to 9-15 and 3-5.

Top-rated Tar Heels set for Georgia Tech

The contest, which has been sold out at the 16,237-seat arena for two months, also is for sole possession of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Both teams are 6-1 in the league.

North Carolina, 22-1 overall, whipped Georgia Tech, 17-2, 85-77 on Jan. 25 at Chapel Hill.

"It was a Super Bowl buildup and turned out to be one team playing great and another playing fair," Georgia Tech Coach Bobby Cremins said of that loss.

"It would be an upset to me if we won down there," Smith said.

"We've got to prove we can win on the road," he said. "We haven't played that poorly on the road. The teams we've played have had phenomenal games."

North Carolina's only loss came at Virginia last Thursday night when the Cavaliers beat the Tar Heels 86-73.

The Yellow Jackets, who were the No. 1 choice in the preseason Top Twenty with North Carolina second, have had five days off to prepare for the Tar Heels and are coming off a 67-54 victory at North Carolina State last Wednesday night in what may have been one of its best efforts of the year.

"When we play like that, we're tough," Cremins said. "We probably played as well as we can play."

The last time the No. 1 and No. 2 teams met was last February and both teams were from the same conference. St. John's, then No. 1, met Georgetown, ranked second, in a Big East regular-season game at Madison Square Garden won by Georgetown 85-69.

Behind Dawn's 34-point effort...

Western hops Hawks, 75-71

BIG SPRING -- James Dawn ignited the nets for a season-high 34 points and Alvin Lee and George Moore offered some timely free throw shooting as Western Texas edged Howard College in a Western Junior College Athletic Conference ballgame here Monday, 75-71.

JAMES DAWN

Western trailed 35-34 at halftime and didn't gain control of the game until Dawn scored back-to-back shots with 50 seconds left. The 6-5 sophomore gave the Westerners a 71-67 lead.

Even then, it took some accurate charity shot work from Lee and Moore in the final 25 seconds to pull off the win.

Lee's pressure free throws came with 23 seconds remaining but were answered by a field goal from 6-7½ sophomore Walt Reynolds, making it a 73-71 game.

Moore calmly stepped up to the line with 11 ticks remaining and aced a pair of freebies to insure the win.

Western had trailed 67-65 before Alvin Hicks scored on a 12-foot shot with about two and a half minutes to play. Howard had a chance to go back in front but Vernard Goode missed the front end of a bonus free throw situation and WTC's Cliff Langford came away with the rebound.

Dawn then put Western ahead 69-67 on a layup. The Amarillo native had a chance to do more damage, but missed a bonus free throw try with 1:45 left.

Howard still couldn't take advantage, however. Mike McCall fired a shot that was off the mark and Moore rebounded for WTC. This time, Dawn hit a turnaround jumper in traffic to give the game a 71-67 look.

Howard continued to struggle in the waning moments as Goode missed another free throw inside the final minute mark.

A charging foul on Langford put Mike Duran at the stripe with 29 seconds left and he made it a two point ballgame. But Lee and Moore answered with clutch free throw shooting of their own to wrap up the victory.

"We played the last two minutes with a lot of intensity because the guys knew that it was up to them whether we'd win or whether we'd lose," said Coach Phil Spradling, whose record goes to 15-8 with the victory.

Dawn had scored only 10 points in the first half but came back with 24 in the second. He helped WTC to an eight-point, 60-52 advantage, with just 8 minutes to play in the game. Western had chances to expound on the lead, but never could.

Fouls, traveling calls or charging calls kept the Westerners from gaining any momentum in the second half.

In the end, however, Western went back to Dawn.

"We wanted to get the ball to James because we didn't feel like they had anybody that could cover him in there," said the coach. "He's so strong and he's a versatile player. He can score for you from outside or inside."

Western also got double-digit scoring from 6-9 sophomore Langford, who put up 14 points, and from Hicks, who added 10.

Moore and Lee contributed a half-dozen points apiece.

Coach Spradling said he is still looking for more intensity from his squad.

Spring golf season sitting in tee box

Snyder girl's golf team, District 2-4A runnersup a year ago, will begin the spring golf season Saturday in Lubbock at Pine Hills.

The 18-hole tournament will feature a number of teams from around the Lubbock area.

Coach Jan Kruse said she will make up a team from Leslie Light, Angie Lay, Lea Ann Thompson, Xalyn Harris, Camille Reed and Michelle Holder.

Sports in summary

COLLEGE FOOTBALL

NEW YORK (AP) - Paul "Bear" Bryant, the second winningest coach in college football history with 323 victories, was named to the College Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility.

Bryant, who died of a heart attack at the age of 69 in January 1983, posted records of 6-2-1 at Maryland (1945), 60-23-5 at Kentucky (1946-53), 25-14-2 at Texas A&M (1954-57) and 232-46-9 at Alabama (1958-82). He broke Amos Alonzo Stagg's record of 314 victories on Nov. 28, 1981, when Alabama defeated Auburn 28-17. His Alabama teams won national championships in 1961, 1964, 1965, 1978 and 1979.

BOXING

NEW YORK (AP) - Marvelous Marvin Hagler, the middleweight champion who saw just eight minutes of action in 1985, was named the winner of the Edward J. Neil Award as fighter of the year by the Boxing Writers Association.

BASEBALL

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) - Former Cincinnati Reds pitcher Don Gullett was listed in serious condition today at Scioto Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted Friday after complaining of chest pains.

Snyder netters begin action; to host Monahans Saturday

SWEETWATER – Snyder tennis team prepares for its third District 2-4A match here this afternoon.

The Tigers hosted Andrews and Fort Stockton over the past weekend, and will entertain Monahans this Saturday.

In non-district action, the Tigers defeated Colorado City 24-1 and topped Big Spring 15-6.

A tough Andrews team handed the Tigers a 14-4 loss in loop play, however, and Snyder fell to Fort Stockton 12-6.

Today's match at Sweetwater was to begin at 3:30.

In other upcoming district action, Snyder plays Lamesa and Pecos in Pecos on Feb. 15, and hosts San Angelo Lake View on Feb. 18.

Future tournaments for the Tigers include the Sweetwater Tournament on Feb. 28 and March 1, the Midland Tournament on March 7-8, the Lake View Tournament on March 14-15 and the Snyder Tournament on March 21-22.

Snyder will also play in the Abilene Tournament on April 4-5. The District 2-4A tourney is slated for April 11-12 in Odessa.

Baylor barred from playing in SWC post-season tourney

WACO, Texas (AP) - The Southwest Conference's barring of Baylor's basketball team from play in the posteason tournament was disappointing and may sap the team's motivation for this season, Coach Gene Iba says.

Hit hard already by NCAA probation, suspensions and dismissals of players, the squad had counted on making the SWC tournament as an incentive, Iba said Monday after the SWC Executive Committee voted.

"I'm very disappointed with the executive committee's decision. We feel very strongly their decision is wrong," Iba said.

"We have adhered to the NCAA penalties 100 per cent and now the conference is adding to these. Although I haven't been in the league that long I don't ever remember them doing this.

"I really don't know what kind of motivation we will have for the remainder of the year and I don't think that's right. Ever since our situation with the NCAA started you haven't heard me say much but I think this is unjust.

"Our players feel they have paid for their wrongdoings. If they (the SWC) are worried about us beating someone in the tournament then maybe some of those teams don't belong there," Iba said.

Baylor is under NCAA probation for rules violations and is also ineligible for the national tournament this season. The penalties include a ban on post-season play, and a reduction in scholarships. The Bears can be on television this year.

The Southwest Conference has a rule prohibiting its members from competing for the conference championship under such circumstances. The NCAA considers a post-season conference tournament as part of the regular season and had no objections to the Bears qualifying for it.

SWC Commissioner Fred Jacoby said Baylor had asked for an interpretation of the conference rule covering SWC tournament participation after the NCAA sanctions went into effect last week.

The SWC Executive Committee made the interpretation during a conference telephone call Monday.

The SWC post-season tournament will be held Friday-Sunday, March 7-9, at Dallas' Reunion Arena.

Since it encompasses an eight-team format, the other eight schools now automatically qualify for the first round of games on Friday, March 7.

Mavericks getting cheered after five straight victories

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Mavericks have finally shaken the boos blues.

Stung by catcalls from their normally patient fans, the Mavericks have won five consecutive National Basketball Association games, including a 100-97 victory over Utah on Sunday.

"We're on target now," said Dallas Coach Dick Motta, who has benched his rookies in favor of an all-veteran lineup.

The Mavericks, who ranked 19th in the NBA in defense, have played aggressively since a loss to the lowly Los Angeles Clippers brought out the boo birds for the first time in Reunion Arena.

Even star forward Mark Aguirre, who has had a running feud with Motta, is into the defensive spirit.

"I used up most of my energy guarding Adrian Dantley," said Aguirre. "That's why I only scored 18 points. To play him hard defensively then play on offense is virtually impossible."

Aguirre's three-point play with 34 seconds left clinched the victory.

Dantley, the high scorer for the Jazz, had 19 points Sunday but hit on only 7 of 18 field goal attempts.

Dallas' All-Star guard Rolando Blackman said the Maverick players don't want to go through the booing experience again.

"We don't want to hear any more boos," said Blackman. "It was kind of a shock to most of the players. We had heard nothing but cheers at home even when we were going bad."

Rookies Detlef Schrempf, Uwe Blab, and Bill Wennington are logging scarce minutes during the Maverick revival.

"Things are working so why change them?" asked Dallas guard Derek Harper. "It's tough for the rookies who are not getting to play but we are in a situation where we have to win and what we have been doing has been successful."

The Mavs, now in third place in the NBA Midwest Division, have 12 games in February against teams with records of .500 or better.

"We needed that winning streak," said Motta. "It's erased some problems we had in late January. I believe we would have lost Sunday's game to Utah earlier in the year but we stayed in there tough this time."

The Mavericks discover tonight how far they have rebounded.

They catch the world champion Los Angeles Lakers on the road.

AT&T organizers call it quits; declare Zoeller, weather, winners

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) - The weather - Crosby weather - won and Fuzzy Zoeller was the beneficiary in the on-again, off-again AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am.

Zoeller collected $108,000 after the bizarre wind-up Monday (at one point it was scheduled to go until Tuesday and actually was completed Sunday) of the tournament that once was celebrated as the Bing Crosby.

Crosby's name was gone this year - erased in a bitter dispute between his widow and the tournament organizers - but the weather that provided so much of the legend and lore of his tournament was very much in evidence.

In the end, it was the Crosby weather that prevailed.

It disrupted the tournament schedule; lashed the Monterey Peninsula with hail, rain, wind, thunder, lightning; threw officials into turmoil; prompted the circulation of petitions; was responsible for decisions and the reversal of those decisions, and, eventually, halted the proceedings after three rounds.

After Friday's play was lost to severe weather, the third round was set to be completed Sunday and it was with Zoeller holding a five-shot lead at 205, 11 under par.

The fourth round got under way Monday in sunny weather, but before Zoeller could complete nine holes, a storm swept in off Carmel Bay, producing "the worst conditions I've ever played in," according to Zoeller.

Payne Stewart was second alone with a 54-hole score of 210. He collected $64,800. Tom Watson, Tony Sills and Mark Wiebe tied for third at 211. Each won $31,200.

Pats' controversy still being studied

BOSTON (AP) - Despite tests last month which showed they had not used drugs for at least four weeks, seven New England Patriot players will continue to be checked on a random basis, the head of the team's drug program says.

Dr. Armand Nicholi, who also is the team's psychiatrist, said Monday the group includes two players whose tests showed they had been drug-free for six to eight months.

"Until they understood that they would be tested some of them questioned" why the tests were continuing, Nicholi said. "If players are clean for six to eight months, we stop consultation but test.

"To my knowledge we tested all seven" during the week before the Patriots' 46-10 Super Bowl loss to the Chicago Bears Jan. 26, he said at a news conference.

Nicholi called the news conference to reinforce points he made in a written statement last Thursday in which he said seven Patriots were tested for drug use during the past year. He said all those players were drug-free for four weeks before he issued the statement and two hadn't used drugs all season.

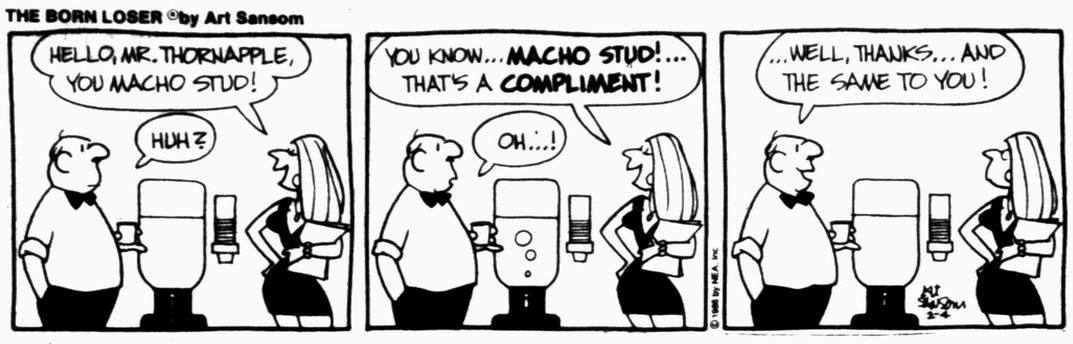

In that statement, he said tests showed that five of them had used marijuana and the other two had used marijuana and cocaine.

Commissioner nixes re-election try

AUSTIN (AP) — Travis County Commissioner Bob Honts, who recently was acquitted on a drunken driving charge, says he will not seek a fourth term in the office he has held since 1975.

Honts, 45, a Democrat, said he made the decision not to run for the Precinct 2 office because it was best for him and Travis County.

Disbanded board continues its probe

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Members of a NASA board investigating the explosion of Challenger a week ago today will continue studying debris and data to support the presidential panel named to find out "how it happened and how it can be prevented from happening again."

Robot submarines that can see "hundreds of times better than the human eye" continued scanning the ocean bottom about 85 miles northeast of here for the shuttle's cabin or what remains of it and other parts of the broken ship.

Human body parts recovered from the Atlantic Ocean, meanwhile, were being examined to determine if they were remains of any of the seven astronauts, sources said Monday.

The surface search for debris has been scaled back considerably because the sea is yielding so few pieces. Ships have retrieved 11 tons of material from as much as 220 miles away, and it is believed that some pieces not picked up or sighted have drifted hundreds of miles away.

The 11 tons is only a small fraction of the 123 tons that Challenger and its cargo of satellites weighed.

Even though President Reagan named a board of inquiry Monday, the members of the interim board, some of those closest to the shuttle program, will continue the probe they began within hours of the accident.

"As we move away from that terrible day," the president said, "we must devote our energies to finding out how it happened and how it can be prevented from happening again."

Heading the commission is William P. Rogers, secretary of state during the Nixon administration. The vice chairman is former astronaut Neil Armstrong, the first man to walk on the moon. Other members include Chuck Yaeger, the first man to break the sound barrier; Sally Ride, America's first woman in space who will represent the interests of the astronauts; scientists, government officials, technical experts and executives.

The sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, reported that some body parts had been recovered from the ocean near here and that they were being examined to determine if they were remains of any of the astronauts.

NASA has acknowledged that only one bone fragment was found last week and has not reported on its examination.

At the White House ceremony introducing the new board, NASA acting director William R. Graham refused to comment directly on the report.

"On the issue of human remains, all I can tell you at this point is that we are sensitive to the issue of personal effects and to the remains of the astronauts," Graham said. "We have plans in place to treat them with great dignity and great privacy, appropriate to the respect that we have for them."

The space agency said Monday it has recovered no shuttle debris from the ocean bottom. Two promising "targets," it said, turned out to be the old wreckage of a helicopter and a light airplane. That left 17 potential targets about 15 miles offshore where radar indicated large objects hit the water after Challenger exploded 73 seconds after liftoff.

On May 6, 1937, the German zeppelin Hindenburg burned at mooring in Lakehurst, N.J., killing 36 people.

Stenholm is seeking fifth term

Charles W. Stenholm has announced that he will be a candidate for a fifth term as representative from the 17th Congressional District of Texas.

Accompanied by his wife Cindy, Stenholm expressed appreciation for support from friends through the years. He also assured the group that he is cautiously optimistic regarding the economic future of our country.

"If we can influence 218 votes in the House of Representatives for more legislation to get our fiscal house in order and muster the political courage to continue on this course, this nation will be vibrant and productive," Stenholm said.

Youth is arrested in dad's murder

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — A 14-year-old Bastrop boy was being held today for psychiatric testing following allegations he killed his father and persuaded two friends to help him bury the body, authorities said.

The youth, a freshman at Bastrop High School, is accused of killing his father at a mobile home in a subdivision in Bastrop County, near Travis County. Stanley Dale Kisner, 33, an unemployed carpenter from Illinois, was found in a makeshift grave in a wooded area last week, authorities said.

Kisner was shot once at about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday through the right temple at close range with a .22 caliber rifle, Bastrop County Chief Deputy Tommy Adams said Monday.

Presidential panel is much different than NASA probe

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The board appointed by President Reagan to investigate the Challenger explosion contrasts sharply with two NASA-controlled panels that investigated the major accidents in the Apollo program.

In the Apollo 1 fire that killed three astronauts in 1967 and the oxygen tank explosion that nearly killed three astronauts on Apollo 13 in 1970, the administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration selected the board members. NASA, in effect, investigated itself.

For the Apollo 1 fire investigation, six of the nine members were NASA employees. Another was the chief engineer for the Apollo spacecraft contractor. Only two members had no direct connection with NASA, and one of those was in the space division of the Air Force. The other was a university professor.

After Apollo 13's oxygen tank exploded on the way to the moon and the astronauts had to use the attached lunar module as a lifeboat, the NASA administrator named seven agency executives and an Air Force general to investigate.

For the investigation of the Challenger explosion that killed seven crewmembers a week ago today, Reagan selected as chairman William P. Rogers, an attorney who served earlier presidents as secretary of state and attorney general and is not well-known for engineering expertise.

The vice chairman is Neil Armstrong, the Apollo 11 commander who was first on the moon while a NASA astronaut. Armstrong served on the accident panel that investigated the Apollo 13 explosion.

Of the 10 others on the Challenger panel only Sally K. Ride, America's first woman in space, is directly connected with NASA. The others are either military, academic, or former executives with major NASA contractors or customers.

The Apollo 1 investigation panel was appointed Jan. 28, 1967, a day after the fire, and issued its final report 95 days later. It took NASA 18 months to make the spacecraft changes ordered by the board. The first Apollo was not launched until Oct. 11, 1968, almost 22 months after the fire.

The Apollo 13 investigation took only 59 days. The fire was on April 13, 1970, the panel was named April 17, and completed its report June 15. Apollo 14 was launched Jan. 31, 1971, or 7½ months after the report.

Reagan has given the Challenger panel 120 days to complete its work. If the board takes the full four months and orders extensive changes in processing or manufacturing elements of the shuttle, there may not be another mission until next year.

NASA officials, however, say they expect the correction necessary to prevent other shuttle explosions to be made quickly.

Missing auto found locally

Police on routine patrol early Tuesday morning recovered a car reported stolen in Nolan County Monday.

Listed as missing shortly after 9 p.m. was a 1976 AMC Pacer. That vehicle was found apparently abandoned at the City Automatic Laundry at the intersection of 27th St. and Ave. Q at 1:05 a.m.

The vehicle was impounded for return to Nolan County authorities.

In other Monday night action, police jailed around 10 p.m. a 27-year-old Snyder woman on charges of misdemeanor possession of marijuana and possession of prohibited drug paraphernalia.

Jury indicts local suspects

He was sentenced here Jan. 23 to a 35-year jail term after being convicted of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The grand jurors returned six other indictments against six defendants before closing their regular February session Monday.

Indicted for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle was Darrin Keith Sherman of Dallas.

Sherman — who remains in custody in Dallas — was arrested by Dallas police Sunday evening and charged with the Jan. 25 theft of a 1984 Chevrolet owned by Margaret Kruger of Dunn.

That car was recovered with the arrest.

Bond for Sherman on the local charge was set at $2,500.

Named in a single indictment for burglary of a motor vehicle was Thomas Lee Deitrick of Rt. 3, Snyder.

Deitrick is alleged to have burglarized a pickup owned by Timoteo Estrada of Snyder on Jan. 11. He is now free on a bond of $2,500 set at the time of his arrest.

Also free on a $2,500 bond is Jackie Moody of 2011 Ave. O who was indicted for forgery by passing.

Moody is alleged to have passed a forged check drawn on Richard West of Snyder on Jan. 14.

Indicted on one count of theft by deception and remaining at large is R.L. Taylor — thought to be of Tarrant County.

Taylor is alleged to have used false collateral — a tractor he did not own — to obtain a loan from the Sweetwater Production Credit Association.

Bond for Taylor has been set at $3,000.

One defendant indicted in January was reindicted Monday on the same charge.

Named was 23-year-old Gilbert Martinez of 805 27th St.

He was reindicted for one count of aggravated assault on a peace officer in connection with a Dec. 15 incident in which highway patrolman Larry Brown was allegedly threatened with a knife.

An error in the wording of the original indictment was cited as the reason for the reindictment.

Martinez is currently being held in the Scurry County Jail in lieu of bond set at $6,000.

Michael Earl Palmer of 133 20th Pl. was named in the 10th indictment handed down Monday.

He is ordered to trial for felony DWI in connection with an arrest Jan. 6. He is free on a $2,500 bond posted following the initial arrest.

Minor wrecks here Monday

Two minor traffic accidents were reported in Snyder Monday.

Involved in the first at 1:17 p.m. in the 3000 Block of Ave. E were a 1986 Ford driven by Viola Schwarz Stirl of Loraine and a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Janet Williams Harris of Abilene.

The second accident was reported at 4:08 p.m. on the parking lot of the Allsup's Convenience Store on College Ave.

At that time, a 1983 Plymouth parked at the store and owned by Leroy Thrower of 2226 Sunset Dr. was struck by a vehicle which fled the scene.

Obituaries

Elsie Stahl

Services for Elsie Stahl, 84, of 412 36th will be at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home with the Rev. Rex Reynolds officiating. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens.

City agenda noted below sanitation, maintenance and animal control personnel.

—The ambulance's current inability to communicate with any other hospital in the area other than Cogdell. The new system as proposed would expand this capability to include hospitals in both Lubbock, Abilene and San Angelo.

At the end of Monday's presentation, council members expressed their interest in assisting with the project. They asked the EMS group to talk with the county and indicated city staffers would be in contact with county officals also.

The proposal as outlined would give the ambulance its own base station and new "walky-talky" portable units. This would link ambulance personnel to both the Snyder police station, which serves as the central dispatching station here, and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room.

During Monday's regular February meeting of the council, the board also authorized seeking bids for a new drive-through window facility for water customers paying at city hall.

Noting it will not require any additions to the building, it will consist of a separate station comprised of a vacuum tube similar to the outdoor teller units used by local banks.

The unit will be located at the north side of the building. Customers in their vehicles will enter as they do now and will exit west of city hall onto Ave. T.

The council included some $30,000 in the 1985-86 budget for addition of the water payment unit.

The only council member absent Monday was Mayor Rod Waller. Presiding in his place was Truett Bryan, mayor pro tem. Councilmen attending were Don Osborn, Mickey Nunley, Troy Williamson, Tommy Davis and David Hines.

In other city business, the council voted to:

—Draw up a new agreement and advertise for bids to lease the city-owned alfalfa field located adjacent to the old city dump. The current lease was for five years and expires March 1. As part of the new agreement, the council directed the staff to waive a requirement that a specified amount of treated water affluent must be used to irrigate the land.

—Approve a request from the Snyder Chamber of Commerce for motel tax funds to cover a $1,490 deficit incurred by the appearance of the Fort Worth Chamber Orchestra here in December. In granting the request, the city noted that further requests for motel tax monies be presented prior to the event as part of the budget planning for such events. Councilmen noted they did not feel comfortable with granting such requests to "pick up losses" incurred.

—Accept the low bid of $25,674 to purchase 500 water meters from Trans Tex Supply of Odessa. The bid followed a recommendation by city staffers to purchase a bulk order of meters to receive a cheaper per unit cost.

—Approve a request from Jimmy M. Ritchey for a special use permit to operate a plant nursery from a greenhouse he owns at 2113 Ave. I.

—Approve on first reading an ordinance to rezone the 1500 Block of 23rd St. from M-1 (manufacturing) to R-3 (general residential). The change has been requested by four property owners.

—Approve on second and final reading an ordinance to rezone a 1 acre tract of land at 3205 23rd St. from M-2 (heavy manufacturing) to R-3 (general residential). The change was requested by Robert A. Sims.

Sign to honor SHS winners

above the district level up to being a state finalist will be recognized.

The time frame for both signs will be the past decade, beginning in this case at 1980.

Groups which will be included on the second sign include those previously listed plus SHS band and choir efforts; girl's and boy's basketball, track, tennis and golf; football, distributive education, ICT and industrial arts.

It was noted that the city now owns and maintains seven highway signs, and staffers were directed to determine if one of these might be suitable for the second SHS-honoring sign.

Same man sought in two killings

HOUSTON (AP) — Investigators believe the person who killed the wife of Houston businessman Dean Goss last year also shot and killed Goss' first wife in 1982, a Harris County prosecutor said.

Authorities have considered for some time that one assailant is responsible in the July 31 death of Paula Brawley Goss, 42, and the March 6, 1982, death of Elaine Goss, 43, said Assistant Harris County District Attorney Chuck Rosenthal. Both women were found shot to death in the couple's southwest Houston home.

"We have had a suspect in mind since very early in the investigation" of Paula Goss' killing, Rosenthal said Monday. That same suspect killed Elaine Goss "if we're correct on who the killer is," he said.

Investigators announced Monday that they had recovered the pistol Paula Goss carried in her purse for protection.
