40 Small Boys Out for Football

Forty of the smallest boys to report for football training since Coach V. F. Bingham came to Post were out Monday to receive equipment, Bingham said. Nine lettermen are returning. They are Jack Smith, guard; Buddy Davis and Cletus Graves, tackles; Gene King and L. W. Evans, ends; Jack Kirkpatrick, Norman Cash, Ronald Joe Babb and Rex King, backs. Davis, the heaviest man on the team, weighs 171, Bingham said. Average weight of the team is 150 pounds, according to the coach. The Antelopes open the season against Crosbyton here Sept. 8, three weeks away. Six regulars were lost from last year's squad. This year Bingham expects to lose 15. Bingham and Coach Vernon Ray are working with the boys from 9 o'clock until 11 in the morning and in the afternoon from 6:30 to 8 o'clock. From 4 o'clock until 6, they are working out with a junior squad of 23 boys. Coach Bingham would make no predictions on the outcome of this year's schedule. Wayne Pipes comes here after being assistant coach at Tahoka to coach in the grade school. Pipes attended Texas Tech in Lubbock, playing center for the Red Raiders. Married, he has two children, a daughter, Era Jean, 4, and a son, Pat, 2. He is looking for a house in order to move his family here. Mr. and Mrs. Pipes are members of the Baptist church.

Saturday, the court will also decide on what part of the secondary road allocation it is willing to allow for the project.

TEEN-AGE ARSENAL RAIDED—Chief of Police Jack N. Runnels of Texarkana and Asst. Chief Homer Goff hold a "super-shotgun", one of thirty odd guns of all types made by a group of youngsters in Texarkana and rounded up by police. The youngsters were reported to have planned to stage a "make-believe war" at a nearby gravel pit. Chief Runnels said the "war" would probably have resulted in tragedy. "Those guns would kill," Runnels said. "The combination of firecrackers, gun powder, and slugs or rocks, would give the same blast as that of a shotgun." The other weapons rounded up in the raid are on the table in front of the officers.

CofC and City Commission Discuss Water Bond Issue

Feasibility of voting a bond issue for the improvement of the water system was discussed Tuesday night when the board of directors of the chamber of commerce met with the city and Lorene Benson, secretary. The meeting was held in the city hall. T. L. Jones acted as mayor. Other city officials present were Vachel Anderson, commissioner; Joe Moss, attorney; and Lorene Benson, secretary. It was decided to consult engineers and have them estimate the cost of an adequate system. Those at the meeting also discussed voting a paving bond. As soon as figures are available, the city will circulate petitions to determine if calling an election for these two projects is warranted, it was decided. Also at the meeting were Jack Morris of Dallas, representing R. A. Underwood and Company, Incorporated, and Morgan Cox, of the Columbian Securities Corporation, San Antonio. Chamber

All three of these are slated to test the Pennsylvania line. GORDON REVIVAL. Harold Dyer is conducting the revival beginning Sunday at the Gordon Church of Christ.

No Curtailing of Crop Production Need Be Expected for Year

Babson Discusses Our Foreign Policy

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—The country is disappointed by setbacks in Korea and alarmed at the possible prospects of a third World War less than five years after the second. Even if we do succeed in Korea, it will not cause enthusiasm among us—only relief. For all thinking Americans know by now that the Russian objective is subjection of the whole world, or, of course, any "peaceful" solution of the Korean problem can only be temporary.

For Russia's policy is to divert America's attention from her strategy, disperse and scatter U. S. troops as thinly as possible over the globe and to attack all "soft spots" everywhere from without and/or within.

Past Stupidity

We may be our own worst enemies. We have been blind and foolish and some among us have even committed treason. Who on behalf of the U. S. consented at Yalta to the cutting in half of Korea, with Russia given control of the best developed industrial part of the country? Who withdrew U. S. aid to Nationalist China because Chiang Kai-shek refused to take Communists into the government? China would have been a bulwark against tyranny in the Orient. Who denied the military importance of Korea and Formosa only a few months ago? Who ordered State Department files stripped of "derogatory" information on employees as early as four years ago? Who put Alger Hiss in high position at the formation of the UN and at the world-dividing conference at Yalta? Who partitioned Germany so that the U. S., Britain and France had no access to its main city and capital except by grace of the Russians?

Who withdrew our forces from Korea months ago? Who failed to deliver what the Non-Communist government asked in military supplies? It doesn't look to me as if our government has been operating for us. It's actions have encouraged the spread of Communism, caused us anxiety of mind and a lien on our pocketbook.

Present Political Trends

Months ago Senators Taft, Knowland, and McCarthy, among others, called attention to the danger in the Orient and the need for protective action. Today the President still appears loath to recognize the government on a non-partisan basis. There is still a failure to appoint the best brains and ability in the country to the most important administrative positions. Also there is a general feeling in Congress that all of Russia's friends have not been cleaned out of government departments.

If a real emergency develops in the near future, we have reason to believe that price, wage and material controls will go into effect immediately. Yet, it looks as if necessary action would be delayed if possible until after the coming Congressional elections. If controls come again, we should let our Congressmen know that we want good judgment and restraint on the President's appointees to control jobs. The American people know now that they were pushed around by quite a few political crackpots of questionable loyalty during World War II.

The transportation of food-stuffs great distance and possible losses of food-carrying vessels is always to be anticipated under war conditions. Therefore no curtailing of crop production need be expected the next year.

OUTLOOK FOR COMMODITIES

A sharp crackdown on civilian consumption can be expected before summer is over. Now may be a good time to buy an automobile; but there is no reason for now hoarding foods, clothing or shoes. There will be some inventory accumulation in business; but not on a large scale.

The Korean War will tend to make prices fairly firm for the present. This applies especially to foods and livestock. The latter may drop in late summer or early fall. Grains will tend to drop too unless weather or developments interfere. Industrial materials will rise moderately. This applies to textiles, and building materials. Real estate, especially residential, could have an earlier start than now anticipated because of an expectation among young men of being drafted. It could curtail home purchases. All of these are of necessity short term price trends, subject to the "risk of war". If amounts are now thrown into defense, our government must cut civilian spending. If not, we are in for more inflation. We know how dangerous that is.

GETTING OUT
On the LIMB
by EDDIE the EDITOR

Everytime anything happens, I learn something new.

Just the other day I learned all about barbecuing, portable barbecuing, that is.

Charles C. (Buck) Lowe of Amarillo had his outfit down here barbecuing up about 263 pounds of beef for Delbert Dalby and the Will Rogers Range Riders from Amarillo.

Buck is a champion barbecuer and he has a unique setup. He has been known to barbecue 27 beaves all at one time. His personnel includes his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Miller of Amarillo.

During the summer, he has a fulltime schedule. Among other things, he is chief barbecuer for the Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo. He accompanies them on their annual three-day trek around wherever they go.

Buck is a typical big-bellied West Texan. He works without his shirt. His son's boy is a right nice sized baby as girl herself. Her uniform is usually levis or overalls.

The other day when I saw Buck, he was barbecuing 263 pounds of beef for 250 people. The beef was brought here wrapped in 200 pounds of dry ice. This is something new for Post, I understand.

This portable pit he brought is about six feet square. It stands 16 inches high. It is made of steel and sheet metal. Bars extending across the top hold the meat.

Buck puts a tarp over the whole outfit. This keeps the sand out and holds the smoke in. He claims this adds to the flavor of the barbecue.

Instead of cutting the meat up, Buck cooks it like barbecued chicken. He calls it round-dressed beef. He splits the beef down the stomach, then vees out the neck. Next he and his assistants break the carcass' back and make it lay flat across the pit.

Buck spends about eight hours barbecuing 250-260 pounds. He doesn't taste his meat with any sauce—he claims that hardens it. All his customers have false teeth, he says, and he barbecues stuff they can eat.

When he gets through cooking the meat he puts a special sauce over it. Mrs. Buck makes the sauce. His meal usually includes stewed apricots, beans, and black coffee. Buck doesn't use red beans. Instead he cooks those small Mexican pintos. He was brewing up in two wash pots full when I saw him.

Buck built a special tent for his kitchen. He serves the meat from a table, but the rest is taken helpy-sefly by the guests at the barbecue. He even has a special built truck to carry all his stuff.

He has barbecued in New York City, Boston and other foreign ports. Buck has a business card with a little verse printed on it. Of course, I rarely print poetry in the columns of this newspaper, but Buck's little verse is apt and typical. It goes:

"Way out in West Texas
Where the food is really good,
Where the wind draws the water
And the cows cut the wood."

If any of the references in this poem are obscure I will be glad to explain them to any and all who would care to drop by the office and ask.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON
By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Washington Service.

I am an old West Texas boy and feel qualified to discuss such matters.

I could use a lot more barbecue myself if people would go to a lot of trouble to fix it up and invite me to come. This idea of not cooking it with sauce is fine. For anybody that has stomach trouble, they could just leave the sauce clear off. I don't have stomach trouble of that kind, however, so I really don't need to worry.

If Buck says small Mexican pintos are better than plain old red beans, I guess maybe he knows. To me, a bean is a bean. I never was one of these guys to be able to tell if the lettuce was broken with the fingers or cut with a knife. Just as long as I know it's food, I'll eat it.

They used to barbecue goats and sheep a lot, but now nearly everybody has seen the light and started barbecuing beef. They could have done that in the first place as far as I am concerned. I like beef pretty near anyway you cook it and barbecue is as good a way as any.

Barbecued chicken is a fine dish as well. There is a place in New Orleans that really makes fine barbecued chicken. That meat is succulent. This place is kind of out-of-the-way, not being down town. It is out past the end of the main street, past the parks and everything. It is sort of in a residential area and the barbecued chicken is but good. It beats all that French food New Orleans is famous for all to heck.

Another thing I like is shrimp and oysters, but I never did try to barbecue any. Wonder how you would barbecue a little old shrimp? You could probably put a few coals in the frying pan and do a pretty good job.

I've been hearing a lot about cooking in tin foil or aluminum foil or whatever you want to call it. Seems to me you could barbecue small amounts that way pretty good. Then you could do like Buck and make up your sauce on the side and then spread it on. It might even turn out to be economical.

Everything you hear about cooking is economical nowadays. Probably it would be economical to cook up a batch of sauce and store it in your home freezer. I read and hear so much about how economical everything is, but I'll be darned if my grocery bill doesn't get higher every month. If the Little Woman didn't know how to be economical, goodness knows how we'd eat at present prices.

People are always eating all kinds of meat, cooked in many different ways. I am always hearing of snake steak. Now I don't know how good snake would taste bar-

WASHINGTON, (AP)—There has been much confusion here since the Korean outbreak. The question of government controls over the economic life of the nation is the reason.

Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont, who spent some time in his district recently said:

"Here we are bombarded on all sides by pressure groups and tension. We hear one thing one day and something else the next. It's a good thing congressmen can get back to their districts once in a while and get their bearings."

Your correspondent has just returned from an extended automobile trip through Texas.

In stops at Waco, Hillsboro, Fort Worth, Dallas, Denison, Bonham and Paris, we encountered the same questions:

"Well, you're in Washington with the big-shots; give us the low-down. Are we going to be in World War III soon? How long is the Korean fight going to take? Are we going to have price controls and rationing?"

Nobody Knows

The answer is that nobody here knows anything more about what's going to happen than does any man or woman in Texas who reads his daily newspaper.

Events on the war front can change the complexion of things from day to day. And politics still enters into the picture.

Last week the House debated controls for three days, starting out with a bill recommended by the banking and currency committee. It adopted one amendment after another to strengthen controls, then suddenly reversed itself.

Adjourned for Weekend

Therefore, they adjourned for the week-end by wiping out all they had done in the previous 72 hours and deciding to start all over again.

The split was along party lines with some Southern Democrats going along with the Republicans in voting to go back to the control bill originally recommended by the committee.

That the Korean situation has abruptly changed the attitude of the public, or at least a good portion of it, in regards to price controls and rationing is indicated by answers to a questionnaire sent out by Texas Republican Congressman Ben Guill of Pampa.

He mailed out 42,000 queries to poll tax payers throughout the Panhandle just before the Korean conflict started.

Among questions asked was whether "you think Congress should grant President Truman's request for power to reestablish price controls and rationing?"

The first replies received by Guill were overwhelmingly against giving the president such powers. The Korean outbreak brought a wave of buying and higher prices. The replies Guill received on the question promptly turned in favor of concluded, but I'm telling you, I couldn't eat it fixed anyway.

A good snake is the best pet you can have. I have had snakes for pets, man and boy for many years. Sometimes I have been bit but I am happy to say I have never yet died. How a man can turn on a good pet like a snake and eat him, is really more than I can say.

Anyway, I am open to all invitations to barbecues, provided they are barbecuing something good, tender and juicy. When I retire, I may go into the business myself. It's hard work, but I bet I could keep from eating up all the profit.

Minute Editorial

Hardly anyone realizes it but there are just two or three more weeks before school starts. We wonder how many of the children found with defective vision in last year's survey have been fitted with glasses. There was no question in anyone's mind when the survey was authorized what an advantage good vision is to school children. Children are supposed to improve their grades as well as their physical condition when they are properly fitted with proper glasses. Now is the time for those who have neglected buying needed glasses to do so. Then the child can get used to them before school starts. Now is also a good time to see the dentist and take school children to the family doctor for a physical checkup. Things corrected now will prevent lost school days later. In some larger towns pre-school training is being held for children entering the first grade. It seems that it has proved good orientation for those being away from their parents' supervision for the first time. Efforts are being made to organize a kindergarten here in Post. Educators highly recommend sending preschool children to nurseries and kindergartens. Not only is the group association said to be important to the child's adjustment, but children with a kindergarten background are said to get more out of their regular school work. In no time at all, school bells will be ringing.

What Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

Just Talk

Not long ago my wife wangled me into a tea room and I felt like I'd been caught with my hand in the till. It was a very dainty place with fawn colored curtains, one gravy dip size napkin that dropped off my knee every time a new customer came in the front door, and food that was all cold. Practically every bit of it was in little wads of stuff under lettuce leaves. It was like hunting Easter eggs only the stuff did not taste as good to me as Easter Eggs used to taste when I was at the age to hunt Easter Eggs.

There was one other man who was trying to slide down under the table and about thirty or forty women all dressed up like Aunt Mary at Christmas time, hair frizzed, plastered and twisted until it looked like everything except human hair, they were all googling about how beautiful the place was and I sat down at the table where I had to spraddle out my knees in order to get my feet under the table: I tried to listen to some of the high pitched twaddle that was going on around me but there was such a contest that I never did get to hear about what happened way after twelve o'clock at the next door neighbor's house of the woman who sat at the table next to me. It sounded right interesting, too. Perhaps I will find out the next time I go, which will be in 1954.

It Sez Here

Margaret Turner is complaining about men again. This time she is mildly put out over the fact that only 82 per cent of the males are harnessed to the task of washing the family dishes! Shades of Daniel Boone! If washing the dishes has been added to the man's moral obligations around the house, it's small wonder we're losing the war in Korea. We want it emphatically understood that after spending from ten to eighteen hours earning the national tax dollar each day, we do not go home and wash dishes, dust, scrub the floors or knit garments for the kids. We don't help the wife get dressed, make up her face, rinse out the filmy stuff, carry her to the table or wash behind her ears. In return, she does us the courtesy of staying away from the office. She does not, after her work is done, run down to help hubby set up ads, run the job press, operate the Intertype or mess up the bookkeeping. It's plumb too bad about how tired women get bending over an automatic dishwasher containing the dishes for the average family of 3.2 persons. The least hubby could do is volunteer, without nagging, to turn on the electric switch. For dishwashing is, she'll complain, simply NOTHING compared with a 12-hour day of plowing.

Replies continue to come in.

10 base load power plants are operated by your Public Service Company to meet your needs for dependable, low-cost electric service. These 10 power plants are strategically placed approximately 100 miles apart.

These 10 great power plants are tied together by a 2700-mile network of transmission lines. The heart of our system—a 115,000-volt transmission line—makes electric power generated at our Riverview plant available at Carlsbad, New Mexico, if needed.

To further assure you a continuous and economical supply of electricity, your Public Service Company has provided a central load-dispatching center which allocates generation to each plant for most economical operation. In this manner the local area plant is still able to meet increased demand for electric service within its own area when necessary.

To meet your growing needs for electric power, important 1950 plant expansions will be made at Amarillo and Moore County, and a new unit has already gone on the line at Roswell. Price of Rice Triples When Monsoon Fails

MADRAS, India, Aug. 16. (AP)—The failure of the monsoon for the third successive year has left this south Indian state with a critical situation.

Lakes are dry, crops have withered and cattle are starving. Some farmers are migrating. The price of rice has tripled in the black market and rice rations are down to less than seven ounces a day. Official estimates are that eight million people have been affected by the scarcity of food.

Food officials have tried to supplement the rice ration with wheat, milo and millet. But rice eaters don't like these grains, and it has not been possible to provide adequate stocks, anyway.

THESE CHANGING TIMES

EDMUNDON, Alta., Aug. 16. (AP)—Steel girders didn't move as fast to the job when they were building the MacDonald hotel here 38 years ago as they are moving today toward the hotel's 300-room extension. Joseph Smith had a hand in both jobs. Today he is moving the steel by truck from the railway yard—38 years ago he hauled all of it with horses and oxen.

Report on Spring Grass Plantings Given by SCS

Most of the grass planted on 1026 acres in Duck Creek district this spring is doing very well, local work unit technicians say.

Sand lovegrass planted by the Double U company near Crossroads school, planted in deep sand is growing, very well, although there is some competition from weeds. Other plantings were made by John Lott, Rex Welch, W. E. Kittrell and Mrs. B. K. Bird.

Now is the time to plant cover and prepare seed beds for next spring grass plantings. On retired farmland and old fields, the weed crop should be destroyed and a protective cover should be planted. This cover could be drilled cane, sudan or combine maize stubble, preferably left about 12 to 18 inches high. The grass should then be drilled between the stubble next spring.

ATTENTION VOTERS

Garza County Courthouse And Jail Paid For:

In 1922 there was voted a bond issue of $82,000.00 providing for the erection of our courthouse and jail. The last of these bonds were due to mature in 1957. Through the efforts of your present County Judge and the County Commissioners a plan was worked out with a bonding company whereby the interest rate was lowered from 5 1/2 to 3 1/4 enabling the county to save enough money to retire the entire bond issue this past spring, seven years ahead of time. There will be no courthouse and jail sinking fund tax this year.

County Hospital Coming:

Your County Judge and County Commissioners must let the contract for erection of the hospital, employ a business manager, staff the hospital, buy all necessary equipment including laboratory, X-Ray, kitchen, etc. Your present County Judge in purchasing supplies for Garza County in the past has gained invaluable experience which can not be discounted.

Highway Expansion Program:

The personal and official contacts your present County Judge has had with the State Highway Commissioners and the County Judges along the proposed Broadway-Big Bend route will enhance Garza County's prospects of securing both the Post-Spur highway and other contemplated routes.

War Emergency Demands Experienced:

During the last war your present County Judge in addition to the routine duties of his office was County Coordinator and as such appointed the draft board, rationing board and other war time agencies. Such experience in securing the aid and support of our citizens will stand the county in good stead in case of another world wide conflict.

As your County Judge it has been my goal to give you an honest and efficient administration. Such an administration is best reflected by the number of projects completed and the condition of the treasury. During the past few years there has been completed several road projects, the courthouse bond issue has been retired, our hospital is nearing realization and in spite of rising costs of labor and materials there is today $149,746.64 in the treasury of Garza County, Texas. Of this amount $49,788.52 is in the operating funds and $99,958.32 is in the sinking funds. Such accomplishments have been possible only through the closest cooperation between your County Judge and the County Commissioners for which cooperation I am indeed grateful.

Sincerely,
J. LEE BOWEN

Annie Maude Parr Weds Mr. Fancher

A wedding of interest locally was held Saturday in Bryan when Miss Annie Maude Parr of Amarillo became the bride of William Carroll Fancher, jr. Miss Parr is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Knox Parr, of Amarillo, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Post. The bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fancher of Moscow, Texas. Reading the double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday night was the bride's uncle, the Rev. J. E. Cooper of Warren, Ark. The chancel rail was covered in greenery, dotted with Marconi daisies. White calladiums and small palms outlined the pulpit. The wedding party passed through a double arch decorated in fern and white daisies.

Miss Bettie Goodman of Bryan played traditional wedding selections and accompanied Miss Dolly Moss of Bryan who sang "I Love Thee." At the conclusion of the ceremony, Miss Yvonne Wilson of Abilene sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bridal gown of old-ivory slipper satin and chantilly lace. Lace formed the bodice of the dress which emphasized a sweetheart neckline. The full skirt extended into a chapel-length train.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught to a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. Her bouquet, carried atop a white Bible, was fashioned of white butterfly orchids, bouvardia and stephanotis.

Miss Wilson was maid of honor. Miss Charlotte Hyde of Silsbee and Misses Betty Ann Clendenin and Gail Skelton of Houston were bridesmaids. Mary Elaine Voss of Waco, cousin of the bride was flower girl.

Best man was Bob Pate of Woodville. Ushers were the bride's brother, Charles Parr; Theron Byrd of Fort Worth and Jimmy Rosborough of Tyler.

A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Jaynes in Bryan.

The bride graduated from Stephen F. Austin high school and Southwestern university. Her husband graduated from Corrigan high school and Lon Morris College. He is attending Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist university and is pastor of the Dew Methodist church.

Mrs. Jessie Voss of Post was a wedding guest. The bride and her family formerly lived here. Her mother is the former Miss Mary Voss.

Howell-Carey Vows Are Read In New Mexico

The Lovington, N. M., courthouse was the scene Saturday of the informal wedding of Miss Leola Ruth Howell and Leonard Othell Carey.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Howell of Post. Parents of the bridegroom are the O. R. Careys of Gordon.

A justice of the peace read the simple ceremony attended by five guests. After a short honeymoon in Lovington, the couple is living in the S. W. McCrary's apartment here. The bride is a clerk at Wacker's and her husband works for C&C Test company.

CHURCH NEWS

By GANELL BABB

Scripture:
Happy the man who never goes by the advice of the ungodly, who never takes the sinner's road, nor joins the company of scoffers, but finds his joy in the Eternal law, poring over it day and night. He is like a tree planted by a stream that bears fruit in due season, with leaves that never fade; whatever he does, he prospers. Not so the ungodly! No, they are like chaff swept away by the wind; when judgments come, the ungodly shall not stand, nor shall the sinful last in the community of the just. The Eternal cares for the life of the just, but the ungodly life shall perish. Psalms I. Moffat translation.

The Rev. Gerald Blackburn of Port Neches will preach at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. He will be on trial before the congregation which is choosing a new pastor. Sunday school will also be held Sunday morning. A congregational meeting is tentatively slated for the next Sunday.

Twenty-three attended the regular meeting of the Methodist Men Monday night at the church. A supper was served. The group decided to sponsor a playground on the property east of the church, including a surfaced tennis court.

Other Methodists will be attending camp at Ceta Canyon; juniors next week and the special "Know your Job" camp Aug. 28 to Sept. 1. A camp was held this week for children's workers.

A detailed study of the gospel of John is underway during the midweek services at the First Methodist church here. A nursery is being kept open during the morning church hour for all children too small to fully understand the importance of the church service.

The Rev. Frank Gillham, jr., is conducting a revival this week at the Liberty community Baptist church near Santa Anna. His father, the Rev. Frank Gillham, sr., was formerly pastor in Santa Anna. The younger Gillham will be a student at Howard Payne college in Brownwood again this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fisher Settle Oilfielder's Housing Problem

years of discussion. Mrs. Guy Fisher has found a satisfactory solution to the oil field man's housing problem.

During the time they have been in the area, Mrs. Fisher has made two moves with the Ray family, which her husband is moving from Brownfield about 18 miles ago, and the other was moving from here to Seagraves early in the spring.

Otherwise, the family has been separated from three weeks to 18 months after each move, waiting for housing.

The Fishers have four children, Tom, 7; Mike, 6; John, 5; and Mary Kathryn, 3. Fisher himself is exceptionally tall, being 6 feet 4. These two factors were among the top considerations the Fishers always came up against when they thought of buying a trailer house.

Last Move

The last move the crew made was to Seagraves and no sooner had Mrs. Fisher established her family there, than the company moved the men back to Post. So they decided at last to buy a house trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher spent a good deal of time finding exactly the right trailer to accommodate three boys and a girl, as well as a 6-foot-4 man. They looked and looked, examining various makes of trailers. The first thing Fisher did on entering a different one was to let down the bed and see if he could stretch out on it.

Selection of a 35x8-foot trailer was finally made. The Fishers chose one with relatively straight lines inside, first the living room, then the kitchen-dining room, hall and bath and last, the children's bedroom.

Windows all around the trailer are at the same level. They are covered by wide-slatted venetian blinds. The trailer is paneled on the inside in birch. Floors in all except the living room are covered in inlaid linoleum. There are 22 electric outlets.

The grey, freeze-upholstered couch in the living room makes into a full-length bed. The couch was especially bought. Mrs. Fisher plans to recover it with gray sailcloth.

Shelf Behind Sofa

Behind the sofa is a shelf, especially designed by the Fishers. It holds ashtrays, a pot of ivy, a chartreuse ceramic, and two chartreuse reading lamps. At the right of the couch is a leather-covered hassock, in which Mrs. Fisher stores her vacuum cleaner and all attachments.

On the left side, between the couch and the wall is a combination radio-phonograph. Then across the room and next to the bar separating the dining area and living room is a modern-style red upholstered chair.

Draperies at the windows are a floral print on a gray background. Colors in the pattern are wine, pink, green, chartreuse, white and brown. Darker tones of green are picked up in the carpet on the floor.

Cabinets are placed above the couch next to the ceiling on each side for storage. A stove is beside the front door.

Dining Area

The dining area is at the right side of the cooking area. The table is yellow chrome and plastic. It is surrounded on three sides by a circular bench upholstered in green and yellow leatherette.

On the opposite side is the cooking and food-preparation area of the kitchen. This wall is faced in a green linoleum-like substance. A dropleaf of that substance covers the top of the apartment size butane stove. This was Mrs. Fisher's idea and gives her more table space.

The sink is in the center of this wall. Next to it is a large size, 9-foot, electric refrigerator. The Fishers had the large refrigerator installed since the regular trailers have a much smaller one. Storage cabinets are beneath the sink and next to the refrigerator.

Closets in the hall hold folding chairs, clothes, dishes, and there is an especially built-in closet to hold the ironing board. Four bunks are in the bedroom area. They are stacked in two rows above the other. There is a built-in birch chest of drawers separating them. Spreads on the beds are red, blue, green and white plaid. A fluorescent light is over the chest.

Bathroom Next Bedroom

The bathroom is next to the bedroom and just off the hall. It is walled with peach tile board. Mrs. Fisher had a stopper fixed for the bottom of the shower and walled it up several inches at the door, making a regular tub for the children, who dislike taking showers. Fixtures include a train-size lavatory and a small commode. A linen closet is built in here.

The closets are shut with sliding doors. The Fishers had a special airconditioner installed as an extra. The trailer comes equipped with several overhead vents. Another extra is a small hood over the kitchen stove.

The Fishers are able to use all their small electrical appliances such as a coffee maker, toaster and so forth. A mirror on one wall gives the illusion of more space. There is even a doorbell at the front door.

Mrs. Fisher cannot help putting down roots of some kind, so she has planted a lawn and flowers beneath the 26-foot awning on the front or south side of the house. So the next time the family gets a 24 to 48-hour notice to move, she will still have something to leave behind.

The Fishers are living in Ralph Welch's tourist court, just west of the Lubbock highway and just past the city limits. They picked the trailer they did because the factory was in Fort Worth and they were near enough to make whatever changes they wanted to make.

They have yet to make their first move since they have lived in the trailer.

Falls 150 Feet Only To Get Wet

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Aug. 16.—Fred Ferrell was strolling along a cliff-top at the edge of Pt. Fermin Park, which faces the Pacific Ocean.

He slipped on a round stone and plunged over the sheer 150-foot drop, headed for water-washed, jagged rocks below. He lit in water two feet deep between two boulders. A life guard pulled him out. At the receiving hospital doctors found only two small head cuts. They sent him home—to get out of those wet clothes.

Ted and Betty Lamb of Dallas were trick riders and Sonny Bradley presented a riding act with two white horses. Dale Winders of Earth was main clown. Two newsreel companies took movies at the afternoon show.

Some 250 contestants were entered, causing some of the events to be too large to play off at the regular shows. Roping and bull riding were carried on day and night before the final eliminations.

Our Christmas merchandise is just beginning to be dumped in our back door but we do hope to have our dolls and toys out soon so that you might enjoy seeing if the winding toys will wind, the breakable toys will break, and the cry baby dolls will cry, not to mention the Betsy Wetsy dolls.

Please save us whatever money the worms leave you and we will certainly try to give you the best possible merchandise your money can buy at the lowest possible price to you, or at least that's what the Lubbock papers say.

Thanks, Respectfully yours, Bob Collier.

We have a complete line of Madam Alexander Dolls. These dolls have that little something that all the girls from six months to 80 years old love. The clothes on them are finer quality than my best Sunday suit and we are really proud of them. For 50 cents we will lay away any one of them for you. "On July 25, I got up early because I didn't want to be left at home as this was the day to leave for our 4-H camp at Lubbock. We were to leave Post at 9 o'clock but had some trouble getting off. By "we" I mean Jewell Strasser, our home demonstration agent, Mrs. Wesley Stephens, our sponsor, five other girls and I.

"We were a happy bunch of girls in the new 4-H pickup that left for camp. When we got to Lubbock we were assigned our bunks and we fixed them. Then we ate lunch.

"We then lay down awhile to rest. I was in Section 1, so I was in the first group to start on our craft work. It was tying and dyeing. We made a headscarf. It took us two periods of an hour and 10 minutes to make it. We then had a session on how to set the table properly and table manners the first afternoon.

"After we ate our supper we went to the Merchant's building and saw a 2000-foot film that Mr. McMillan had taken in Africa. There a college student told us all about the stars. Then to bed.

"The next day was Latin-American day. We got up at 6 o'clock and put on our gayest dress for this day. We had 45 minutes to dress and make our bunks, being careful to make them as they were graded daily. We then had a devotional period led by the vice president of Tech. Then we had a good breakfast of eggs, bacon, toast, juice, jam and milk.

"We finished our headscarves and then helped set the table for dinner, putting into practice what we learned the day before. We ate, then went to our bunks and rested awhile.

"We then had recreation in the hall where we enjoyed some of the Spanish sports. After supper we had a Latin-American party with special guests present. The next day, we followed the same schedule only the club girls gave the devotional service.

"We learned to cook in aluminum foil that morning. We cooked meat loaf and baked apples. We could not cook outside as it was raining. We had dinner then went to assembly in the hall to elect new officers for next year.

"Each day we went to the Mackenzie park to go swimming and each day a little newspaper was published about the happenings of the day. We enjoyed it very much.

Rye and Vetch Planting Should Get Started Soon

Farmers and ranchers in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district who are planning on planting rye and vetch this fall should be locating their seed now and getting the fertilizer ordered, work unit technicians say.

A good planting time is the first two weeks in September, although it may be planted a little earlier or later, depending on soil moisture and weather. A six weeks to two months growing period before heavy frost will enable the plants to become well established and have a deep root system.

Vetch seed should be inoculated with a nitrogen fixing bacteria and planted in a moist seed bed. This inoculant enables the plant to take nitrogen from air and soil, allowing it to make a more vigorous growth as well as enrich the soil.

Recommended seeding rate is ten pounds of vetch and twenty pounds of rye per acre drilled. Phosphate fertilizer is recommended for legume plantings on most soils in the district at the rate of two hundred pounds per acre. Locally grown vetch and rye seed is available from S. S. Bevers in the Justiceburg community and from W. N. Williams near Close City.

The Duck Creek district has a grain drill and fertilizer spreader available for rent for a small fee per acre. Notify local work unit technicians immediately in order that a schedule may be made to allow as many district cooperators to use the drill as possible.
