WASHINGTON (AP) — Iraq has used American and other hostages in Kuwait to wire oil refineries with plastic explosives that, if detonated, would wipe out the emirate's entire refining capacity, Bush administration sources said Friday.

Explosives also have been placed at other vital oil installations, including pipeline pumping stations, oil processing centers, oil wells and loading terminals, according to administration and oil industry sources speaking on condition of anonymity.

The moves appear to be part of a "scorched earth" strategy by Saddam Hussein to devastate Kuwait's economic base in the event his occupying army is forced to withdraw by the U.S.-led multinational forces in the region, the sources said.

"They're basically all wired up for destruction — even the refineries," said one source, who is involved in the administration's monitoring of developments inside Kuwait.

Iraq also is removing large quantities of chemicals, pipes, meters and other oil processing and production materials from storage areas in Kuwait for apparent use in Iraq, the sources said. There is no evidence, however, that the Iraqis are dismantling oil refineries by removing operational parts, the sources said.

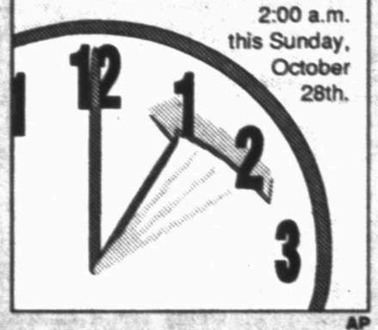

Members of the exiled Kuwaiti government have said their country's oil industry was being severely damaged by Iraqi forces, but few details had come to light.

Rashid al-Ameeri, the Kuwaiti oil minister, said earlier this month he believed mines had been placed around Kuwaiti oil fields.

Barry sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Marion Barry drew a six-month prison term Friday for cocaine possession from a judge who said Barry's drug use had given "aid, comfort and encouragement" to the illegal drug culture. Barry said the sentence came from "the American injustice system."

U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson could have merely sentenced the mayor to probation but said Barry's "breach of public trust alone warrants an enhanced sentence."

Parker & Parsley wins millions in fracturing suit

By David Morris
Staff Writer

Citing gross negligence, fraud and breach of contract, a federal jury awarded Parker & Parsley Petroleum Co. $245 million in damages Friday in the company's lawsuit against Dresser Industries and BJ-Titan Services.

The decision came after 10 days of testimony in a civil trial to determine whether Dresser-Titan, between 1983 and 1988, cheated Parker & Parsley out of millions of dollars worth of oilwell fracturing materials.

Parker & Parsley officials filed suit against Dresser and BJ-Titan and their subsidiaries in September 1989 to recover costs for fracturing supplies and lost production among some 523 oil wells.

The six-person jury awarded Parker & Parsley $60 million for lost production, $75 million for the wells' lost market value, and $10 million for overcharges on fracturing supplies. The jury, sitting in U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton's courtroom, awarded Parker & Parsley $100 million in punitive damages.

"I think this is a comment on the part of the jury as to how they want business conducted in West Texas," said Parker & Parsley attorney Jerry Jones. "They don't like fraud, and they don't like cheating."

Scott Sheffield, Parker & Parsley president, said 99 percent of the award will be passed along to the company's approximate 18,000 investors.

Judge to rule if Permian eligible early next week

By Rick Brown
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — A state district judge said Friday he will decide early next week whether Odessa Permian High School will be eligible to compete for post-season football honors this year.

Attorney Jerry Treece, who represents 12 Permian football coaches and one varsity letterman, said he was unsure how State District Judge Pete Lowry of Austin will rule after hearing arguments and testimony Friday.

Treece, a Houston attorney, asked Lowry to grant a temporary injunction that would allow PHS, the defending 5A state football champ, to take part in the playoff games, saying two league rules the coaches allegedly violated this past summer were vaguely written.

In addition, he said the future advancement and earning power of the coaches and student are threatened by the post-season ban imposed by the University Interscholastic League executive committee Sept. 20.

The plaintiffs' petition originally identified the student only as John Doe, but Treece Friday revealed his identity as Chris McMillan, a 200-pound senior defen-

Richards criticizes dropping probe of ClayDesta Bank

■ Controversy centers on meeting Clements had with the insurance board chairman before he told reporters the bank's agents had been cleared.

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial nominee Ann Richards accused Gov. Bill Clements Friday of conspiring with the Clayton Williams campaign to "put a lid" on an investigation into the candidate's Midland bank.

Clements said in a prepared statement that Richards' claim was "baseless and ludicrous."

"This latest false accusation by Ann Richards is nothing more than a despicable political ploy to grab headlines," he said. A spokesman for Williams, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, called the charge "unfounded."

Clements met earlier this week with State Board of Insurance Chairman James Saxton. Clements said the two discussed the board's inquiry into ClayDesta National Bank and other topics, such as the health of the insurance industry.

Oil, health main issues in congressional campaign

District judge candidates avoid mudslinging, plan to stay friends

TEXAS VOTE '90

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a seven-day series looking at the state and local races in the Nov. 6 election. Today, candidates for the 238th District Judge's chair and for U.S. Representative from Texas' 21st Congressional District are in the spotlight. On Sunday, the Reporter-Telegram will publish the annual Voters' Guide by the League of Women Voters.

People out here may be a little puzzled to hear that Lamar Smith has a challenger for his 21st congressional district seat.

Democrat Kirby Roberts hasn't spent much time in Midland since the primaries, but then again, neither has Smith, involved in budget talks on Capitol Hill.

But both low-keyed campaigns feature a refreshing absence of mud-slinging and an emphasis on the issues.

Smith focuses on the oil economy, crime prevention measures and stricter immigration laws — issues on which he's created legislation since first coming to the House in 1986.

Roberts is urging reform of national health care programs and the tax system, and believes he has a chance of winning the race due to taxpayers' dissatisfaction with incumbents.

Smith said he understands the voting public's discontent with the federal government and that's why he opposes current budget proposals.

John Hyde and Ralph Petty have no intention of letting a little election come between them.

"Ralph Petty was my friend before the race and I expect that he will be my friend after the race," said Hyde, the Republican candidate for 238th District Court judge.

His opponent is of a like mind.

"There's no animosity in this race between John and I," said Petty, the Democratic candidate. "John was my friend before I got into this race and I expect him to be my friend when this race is over."

With Texas political contests gaining nationwide attention for their characteristic backbiting and mudslinging, Midland County's only contested race in the Nov. 6 election seems like a virtual lovefest by comparison.

Petty, a Midland County assistant district attorney, and Hyde, who is serving as interim judge in 238th District Court, agree on many points. These include the need to create more prison space and the importance of continuing to elect, rather than appoint, district judges.

They also agree on the need for more use of alternative punishments — such as supervised probation or incarceration

TRIAL: Firm's president says ruling needed

(From 1A)

"I think that is just what was needed in the service industry," Sheffield said of the verdict, which he predicted would deter future cheating by service companies.

"I'm hoping what it does is bring the trust back into the oil and gas business. I'm hoping that people can begin to trust each other again."

Trust was a key issue in the suit, during which Dresser and BJ-Titan attorneys maintained that Parker & Parsley could have prevented losses by being more vigilant in overseeing fracturing operations.

During closing arguments Friday, Jones said his clients should not have been expected to police the defendants' operations.

"They make enough money without cheating people," Jones said of the defendants. "Why shouldn't you trust them?"

Danny Kellum, Parker & Parsley district operations manager, said after the trial that the defendants' cheating was so slick, Parker & Parsley employees never suspected any wrongdoing.

Jurors evidently believed this to be the case — they found Parker & Parsley was not negligent in failing to detect shorting on fracturing orders.

Dresser attorney Chris Pappas said during closing statements that Parker & Parsley deserved at least 50 percent of the blame for any shortings which occurred.

"There is no way you can defraud somebody on something that they already know about," Pappas said, reiterating his charge that Parker & Parsley was aware of cheating but allowed it to continue.

"It is our belief the evidence shows there was knowledge and complicity on the part of Parker & Parsley," he said.

Parker & Parsley officials said they didn't know about cheating — which involved delivering less supplies than had been ordered to fracturing jobs — until a former BJ-Titan district manager came forward in 1988.

That manager, Gary "Zeke" Lancaster, maintained that he was BJ-Titan's "fall guy" in a company-approved scheme to short fracturing orders in order to make up for huge discounts.

Lancaster, a third-party defendant in the suit, said he was fired for not agreeing to go along with a cover-up. BJ-Titan officials, meanwhile, said they fired him for stealing from the company.

The jury awarded BJ-Titan $1,117.93 for its claims against Lancaster.

Attorneys for Dresser and BJ-Titan could not be reached for comment after the trial. Sheffield said he anticipated the defendants would appeal Friday's decision, which assessed Dresser with a $33 million punitive damage payment and BJ-Services with a $67 million payment.

Parker & Parsley expert witnesses said "frac" jobs done with too little material, such as sand and gel, resulted in damage to wells' production capacity. Sheffield said it is not economically feasible to re-fracture the wells, most of which are located in the Permian Basin Spraberry Field.

Fracturing involves injecting wells with sand, water and other chemicals to create fissures in dense rock and facilitate oil flow to the surface.

BANK: Clements says charge 'false accusation'

(From 1A)

"Never during our meeting or at any other was Chairman Saxton asked to influence the outcome of the investigation in any way," Clements said.

The bank has been under investigation because of allegations that people were forced to buy expensive credit life insurance in order to obtain car loans.

Clements added, "My interest was to determine whether or not Ann Richards was following her usual pattern of making false accusations. And it appears that is what she is doing. ..."

But Richards and her campaign manager, Mary Beth Rogers, accused Republican Clements of trying to help the GOP's gubernatorial candidate.

"It is frightening that Gov. Clements would call the chairman of the State Board of Insurance into his office and within hours (board) Chairman James Saxton would tell reporters that ClayDesta National Bank has been cleared," said Mary Beth Rogers, Richards' campaign manager.

ClayDesta attorneys Friday were denied a temporary restraining order they sought in Houston. The order would have delayed an investigation by car owners who filed a class-action suit against the bank.

State District Judge Ann Cochran of Harris County refused to grant the order. But ClayDesta will have a second chance during another hearing in Houston on Nov. 5 before State District Judge Dan Downey.

Saxton said Thursday that the board had not found any evidence that two agents at Williams' bank were involved in such a plan.

The probe had turned up "no evidence that those (two) agents have been involved in any kind of scheme," he said, adding that the insurance board still is investigating an Austin insurance company and a Houston loan broker as part of its inquiry into the allegations.

Williams, interviewed in Houston, said only, "My management tells me there are no improprieties at all."

His press secretary, Gordon Hensley, said Richards "is continuing her pattern of unfounded allegations" and called the charge "the shrill, harsh rhetoric that is the real Ann Richards."

Asked about the investigation, Richards told news reporters Friday, "I'm not surprised, I guess, so much that he would do it, but that they knew they'd get caught."

Travis County Attorney Ken Oden, who also is investigating, said it was highly unusual for the agency chief to say no wrongdoing had been found before the inquiry was completed.

VOTE: Smith opposes budget agreements

the largest tax increase in U.S. history and would increase government spending by $200 billion over the next five years," he said.

The only aspects of the negotiations that meet Smith's approval are those providing incentives to oil and gas producers, including an increase in percent depreciation from 50 percent to 100 percent, a 10 percent credit for enhanced oil recovery, a 100 percent net income limit for stripper wells and a repeal of a transportation rule.

Smith was careful to say that the oil and gas provisions were incorporated in the Senate's version of the budget and he did not know if they would be included in the compromise verstion.

Smith said he had come up with an approach for cutting federal overhead expenses by 10 percent, by decreasing travel and supplies. He said the program would save the government $143 million over five years and would make a tax increase unnecessary.

The Republican incumbent is also promoting a Department of the Interior appropriation that would provide $27.3 million in enhanced oil recovery research.

He said two of the pilot programs would begin in the Permian Basin, bringing $16 million to the area in the next five years.

Roberts said he would support increased funding for alternative energy sources, especially solar energy.

"By creating financing, investing research money, and providing tax incentives, we can, where economically feasible, develop not only solar, but fusion energy sources," Roberts said.

"However, we should also take steps necessary to keep our domestic oil industry healthy. The boom and bust cycles that we go through lead to ultimate concentration of control of our energy in a handful of multi-national corporations and place us in the middle of crises such as the current problems in the Middle East."

Smith downplayed alternative energy sources. "We need to do a lot better job of extracting the oil and gas we have before we look at alternatives," he said.

Smith said he continues to be a strong advocate of crime control measures. He said he was responsible for keeping funding in place for local drug task forces and has also written legislation that could give Texas 11 new federal judgeships, three in the West district.

"Those judges in the West and South districts have the biggest backlog of cases in the country," Smith said, attributing most of the cases to the increase in drug trafficking. He expects the bill to be approved in the next month.

Smith said he has introduced two immigration laws to streamline deportation proceedings against criminal non-citizens, 30,000 of whom are convicted each year. He said the law would also give border patrol officers the authority to arrest not only illegal aliens but drug smugglers.

Smith, 42, graduated from Texas Military Institute in San Antonio in 1965 and earned his bachelor's degree from Yale University and law degree from Southern Methodist University.

After practicing law and working with the Small Business Administration in Washington, he was elected to the Texas House of Representatives in 1980. He became a Bexar County commissioner in 1982 and was re-elected in 1984, before his election to Congress.

Roberts, 34, a lawyer who lives in Kingsland and practices in nearby Buchanan Dam, has lived in Llano County since he graduated from Baylor University law school in 1982.

He earned his bachelor of arts degree at the University of Houston. This is his first run for public office, a point he considers an advantage.

"Many people ask me (if) am I the incumbent. When I tell them no, they tell me they'll vote for me," Roberts said. "It could be a close race or we could win it by a fair margin."

The Democratic candidate said he believes the lengthy federal budget dispute will help him as the challenger Nov. 6.

"People are very disgusted with our current tax system, and they're feeling the unfairness of it," Roberts said, adding that the system places an unfair burden on working people.

Roberts also said the ailing health care system, particularly in rural areas, needs more attention. He advocates reforming Medicare so that benefits are distributed equally, not based on what he calls arbitrary diagnostic related groups.

"We must enact a plan which will use resources of both the government and the private sector," Roberts said.

"This may result in numerous trade-offs, which will be acceptable provided that people can choose their health care provider; that medical care is available to everyone, everywhere; and that the quality and availability of our current health care system is maintained and improves with new knowledge."

Smith said he supports government incentives to encourage the private sector to provide insurance for its employees, but opposes a national health insurance program.

Roberts said he's been doing most of his campaigning by meeting in person with groups around the district.

"We're knocking on doors, shaking hands, passing out cards, visiting with people. We've gotten a good response," Roberts said. "People are getting tired of a do-nothing government."

While Smith has spent weekends visiting with voters in District 21, most of his campaigning has been through radio spots and newspaper ads. "Right now, we just think it's sufficient," Smith said. "I'm still thinking in terms of legislation as opposed to campaign strategy."

The 21st District includes New Braunfels, north San Antonio, the Hill Country, San Angelo, Midland and part of the Big Bend.

The Associated Press also contributed to this report.

PERMIAN: UIL lawyer says rules' violation warrants punishment

(From 1A)

sive tackle, one of only two returning PHS lettermen this year.

Lucius D. Bunton IV, an Austin attorney representing the UIL, said he expects Lowry to deny the order, predicting the judge will not be moved by plaintiff contentions their future careers are at stake.

"It's obvious they violated the rules, so they should be punished, right?" said Bunton, son of Midland federal Judge Lucius D. Bunton III.

"What this case is really about is they want to go to the playoffs," said the attorney.

On Sept. 20, the UIL executive committee banned Permian from post-season play, suspended its varsity and junior varsity head football coaches for two games and put all 12 coaching staff members on probation.

The committee later modified its order so the probation applied only to the four coaches who appeared during the Sept. 20 meeting.

The punishments were announced after committee members determined Permian had held organized practices earlier than Aug. 20, the date after which teams could begin their programs in earnest.

Specific UIL rules the coaches violated prohibit grouping athletes for the conditioning or instruction before Aug. 20 and using school facilities for mandatory practices before that date.

The UIL's executive director, Bailey Marshall, testified Friday that those rules and others are intended to maintain fairness among schools prior to actual competition.

"All of our rules are designed for educational purposes," said Marshall. Interpreting them should be a matter of common sense," he said.

Treece asked Marshall, "How are people supposed to know unless you guys write it down or make it clear ... what the rules mean?"

"The same way when I don't understand an IRS law or any other law," said Marshall. "I call someone."

Although verbal interpretations of UIL rules are not binding, Marshall said school officials may request written interpretations that do carry such authority.

Treece predicted that whichever party lost, the case will proceed to the Third Court of Appeals in Austin. He said plaintiffs also are contemplating suing for damages based on alleged civil rights violations.

"All these people now have this badge of infamy on them now and in the future," he said in his closing argument.

Neither Bunton nor plaintiff co-counsel John Minton of Odessa hoped the case would take as long to litigate as the Dallas Carter case, which now is entering its third year.

Dallas Carter, the high school that won the 1988 5A state championship, beating Permian in the state semi-finals along the way, originally was forced out of the competition that year by a no-pass, no-play controversy.

Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby determined a player's failing algebra grade was changed to passing, which had allowed him to play football.

But Dallas Carter attorneys were able to win a temporary in-in the Midland Restitution Center — for non-violent criminals.

"In terms of actual (local) control, some of the alternative concepts have the potential for greater incarceration time than a straight penitentiary sentence," said Hyde, who was appointed to the 238th District Court bench in April after Judge Vann Culp retired.

Both Hyde, 48, and Petty, 47, said the state prison system has lost much of its deterrent effect because of early releases for most prisoners.

"Because prisons are overcrowded, non-violent criminals are serving about 10 percent of their sentences and violent criminals are serving about 25 percent of their sentences," Petty said.

"A decision to engage in a crime involves a risk-benefit analysis," he said. "We have to put the risk back into criminal activity."

As far as judicial selection is concerned, both Hyde and Petty agree that judges should be elected, not appointed, and preferably elected in a non-partisan fashion.

"The fact that I am a conservative politically ... really does not carry over in terms of how I sit in any one case," said Hyde, who added that elections are the only "realistic" means by which to keep the judiciary accountable to the community.

Petty

Hyde

While Hyde has come out against geographic districting for judicial elections, Petty supports the concept.

"I think that all the people should have a voice in government, and I think that the election of judges at-large results in the same majority of voters electing all the judges," he said.

Petty, like Hyde, is polite but firm in his assertion that he is the most qualified man for the office in question.

A 1973 graduate of University of Houston law school, Petty has spent the ensuing 16 years as a criminal prosecutor.

"I have dedicated my life to the pursuit of justice, and I want to serve the public in a higher capacity than I am now serving it as a prosecutor," said Petty, who went to work for the Midland County District Attorney's office in 1986.

"I think Judge Hyde does have greater qualifications than I have in the area of civil law," he said. "However, I think I have greater qualifications than he does in the area of criminal law. I have tried over 125 felony criminal cases and my conviction rate is about 93 percent. I have been reversed one time on appeal in all of those cases."

These days, Petty is trying his cases in Judge Hyde's courtroom, and he said justice would not be denied if he finds himself doing the same thing after Nov. 6.

"He (Hyde) is well-qualified to be district judge and I would not be concerned about the quality of justice if he were elected and I was not."

That seems a likely outcome at this point, considering Hyde's incumbent status in an overwhelmingly Republican county.

"I have very little time and very little money," Petty conceded. "I am going to do the best I can with what I have, regardless of the odds."

Hyde, who received his law degree from the University of Texas at Austin in 1967, feels the fact that he has spent the past six months on the bench gives him an edge in the race.

"It's difficult for me to quantify the advantage," said Hyde, who has been practicing law in Midland for 20 years. "I do not advertise that I am the judge in my campaign. That does not really seem fair."

Hyde said being a judge appeals to him because it gives him an opportunity to help resolve human conflicts.

"The whole purpose of our court system is to resolve disputes over human affairs," he said. "I think it is that aspect of it that has predominantly interested me."

He said he has endeavored, in his capacity as judge, to "be a good listener" and to move cases through his court as speedily and efficiently as possible.

"There exists an important need to provide fair trials, at a faster pace than we now are able to provide," he said. "The rules of procedure as they now exist have slowed the process."

Attack probe

Staff Reports

Odessa police officers had to repeatedly shoot the Doberman that mauled a 10-year-old Odessa boy Thursday night before they finally killed it, police reported.

David Manuel Ontiveros was attacked by his own dog in his backyard at about 7 p.m. when the chained animal became agitated while playing with the child.

The boy suffered several bites and tears to his body and was pronounced dead at 8:15 p.m. after being transported to Medical Center Hospital.

A police spokesman said the first officers at the house in the 2300 block of North Hancock shot the dog three times with a pistol. The dog broke loose from its chain and ran under a car in the yard.

The police called out canine officers in padded uniforms, who succeeded in killing the dog with a shotgun, the spokesman said.

The Doberman's corpse was autopsied Friday morning and its head was sent to Austin to be examined for signs of rabies.

The police department is finishing its investigation of the incident, the spokesman said.

Concealed weapon

Midland police officers arrested a 16-year-old girl at Midland Freshman High School Thursday for having a gun in her locker, police reported.

When the police arrived at the school at 10:15 a.m., Principal Neal Richmond had the girl in custody in his office, after receiving information that she was in possession of a weapon.

Police found a Colt .38 caliber revolver with a two-inch barrel in the girl's locker and charged her with unlawfully carrying a weapon, a felony.

The girl was transported to the Culver Youth Home for detention.

State office settles suit with Mid-America Clinics for $150,000

By David Morris
Staff Writer

The Texas Attorney General's Office this week settled its lawsuit against Mid-America Clinics Inc. for $150,000, 142nd District Court records indicate.

The attorney general filed suit against Mid-America and some of its operators in April, claiming that the chiropractic clinic used deceptive trade practices.

The suit alleges that Mid-America employees gave unauthorized medical exams to patients and falsely represented themselves as medical doctors in an insurance fraud scheme. The suit was expected to go before a jury later this year.

"We basically got everything we wanted," said Assistant Attorney General Robert E. Reyna, who led the investigation into Mid-America. "It was basically time for the case to settle since they (Mid-America) were not in business anymore."

Mid-America is still a state-registered corporation but reportedly has not served any patients for several months.

The clinic's attorney, Paul W. White of Midland, said he was pleased with the settlement, which includes a permanent injunction forbidding the clinic from engaging in any deceptive practices.

He said the settlement vindicates the clinic because it does not include an admission of insurance fraud or deceptive trade practices on Mid-America's part.

The settlement, signed by State District Judge Pat M. Baskin, said the $150,000 payment is to cover "investigative fees."

Co-defendants in the suit included former Mid-America President Joe T. Boyd and former Mid-America employees R.W. Bratcher, James H. Crockett, Wallace B. Brucker and Rubye Mae Boyd.

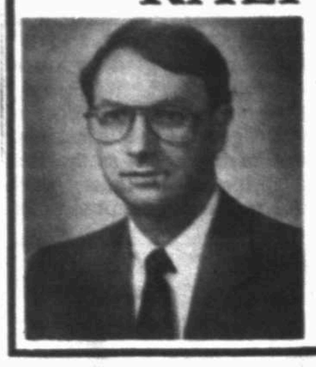

Boyd and Bratcher both signed the settlement agreement. Neither man could be reached for comment Friday afternoon.

A lawsuit filed against Mid-America by Odessa physician Edward T. Driscoll is still pending. Driscoll claims clinic officials misused his name to add credibility to their operation.

Their operation, according to the attorney general, included giving expensive and unnecessary tests to patients in order to collect insurance payments. Chiropractors at the clinic routinely identified themselves as medical doctors to patients, according to the attorney general's suit.

The settlement injunction forbids Mid-America, Boyd and Bratcher from making false claims about medical expertise and qualifications.

GAME: Ruling to affect playoffs

junction that kept the team in contention.

Friday, two Permian coaches also offered testimony, including Larry Morris, one of the four serving a year on UIL probation.

He said the staff looked on their PHS assignments as significant career advancements, owing to the school's reputation as a football powerhouse.

But with a UIL reprimand on his record, employers "are going to be afraid to touch you, to hire you," he said.

Kade King, Permian's receiver/defensive end coach whose reprimand was rescinded, said his future is threatened because of the heavy media attention the case has garnered.

Rule changes at the UIL this year make three teams from each district eligible for championship play instead of only two.

The two teams whose schools have the largest enrollments go into a bracket of 64 teams, while the one with the smallest enrollment goes into a separate bracket of 32 teams. In effect, the UIL awards two 5A football championships.

Congress apologizes to Wounded Knee victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Descendants of the Indians killed and hurt in the Wounded Knee massacre 100 years ago got their long-awaited apology from the U.S. government Thursday.

The House gave final congressional approval to a resolution expressing the government's "deep regret" for the event that marked the end of the Indian wars. The Senate approved the measure last week.

Depending on the historical account, some 150 to 400 Sioux Indians were killed by the 7th Cavalry on Dec. 29, 1890 on the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in southwestern South Dakota.

The resolution does not provide any reparations to the descendants or declare the remote site a national monument, as the Wounded Knee Survivors Association had requested.

"No money is spent by this measure," said Rep. Tim Johnson, D-S.D., who called the apology a "long overdue measure."

The resolution passed by voice vote.

The resolution said Congress "acknowledges the historical significance of this event as the last armed conflict of the Indian wars period ... and hereby expresses its deep regret on behalf of the United States to the descendants of the victims and survivors and their respective tribal communities."

The South Dakota congressional delegation hopes to get funds next year for the monument designation and reparations for descendants of the victims. The site was made a national landmark 25 years ago.

The descendants want compensation for thousands of dollars in property that was taken from the victims.

Indian and government historians have been at odds over the past century on the circumstances surrounding Wounded Knee and the toll of dead and injured.

Rhode Island governor facing tough opposition

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Trailing by 40 points in the polls, Republican Gov. Edward D. DiPrete is up against two tough opponents.

One is Democrat Bruce G. Sundlun. The other, more formidable according to political scientists, is the region's battered economy.

"I would say it's almost impossible for Gov. DiPrete to come back," says Brown University political scientist Darrell West. "Whether he deserves it or not, people are tying him to the economy."

DiPrete is quick to pull out a Moody's credit report that says the state's long-term fiscal management has been solid, although the current budget threatens to hemorrhage red ink.

"I wouldn't concede it's out of anyone's control, but it's certainly making it more difficult for us to get our message out," a subdued DiPrete said.

His consultant, Paul J. Manafort, the architect of President Bush's victory, says that if voters don't buy the forget-the-past-I-am-the-future message: "I wouldn't say we're dead. We just don't win."

DiPrete portrays Sundlun's promise to slash millions of dollars of waste from the $1.5 billion state budget as Draconian, cutting into services needed by the poor and elderly. But fiscal experts within and outside government suggest DiPrete may have to do the same thing.

The governor, seeking his fourth two-year term, says he alone has enough experience to lead Rhode Island through a recession — and that he is the bulwark against Democrats who dominate every other Statehouse office and the General Assembly.

He's proposed sweeping ethics and campaign finance reforms, a broad restructuring of state government and apologized for any mistakes he might have made.

But the reaction generally has been: Why not before this?

"He's running an election where Paul Manafort can't control the agenda," said one of the state's highest Republican officeholders, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "To make it work, he's got to raise Bruce Sundlun's negatives, and it just won't fly."

DiPrete, 56, has spent more than $2 million and Bush twice has attended fund-raising events. Sundlun, a millionaire businessman who largely finances his own campaigns, has spent about $3 million in the race, including the cost of the bitter three-way primary he won Sept. 11.

Sundlun, 71, never known for the light touch in two previous campaigns against DiPrete, has played like an incumbent while contending he's not a professional politician. But he's is trying to guard against cockiness.

"One of the problems I have right now is that the media is trying to make me the governor, and I'm leaning over backwards not to be the governor," he said. "That would be presumptuous."

It's that touch of overconfidence that DiPrete hopes will cause Sundlun to make a major gaffe.

"I'm playing the role of the underdog," DiPrete said. "And yet I think I can reverse this if I can pull him out a little."

But it won't mean much if people don't vote, and there's every indication they may not rush to the polls Nov. 6.

Trouble turns back press plane traveling with Bush

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A chartered jumbo jet carrying the press corps accompanying President Bush to Hawaii turned back over the Pacific Ocean Friday after one engine was shut because it was overheating.

The Pan Am 747 landed safely at Los Angeles International Airport and another aircraft was procured for the press corps to resume the trip to Honolulu, where the president was making a campaign appearance.

Passengers on the flight which left around 3:30 p.m. noticed that the plane shuddered twice less than an hour after takeoff. About 80 media representatives and White House aides were aboard.

About an hour into the flight the pilot announced that the engine had been shut down and that a decision had been made in the interest of safety to return to Los Angeles.

A smaller group of reporters was flying separately with the president aboard Air Force One, which was notified of the problems with the press plane as it continued on its flight to Hawaii.

Most taxpayers will pay more under proposed compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hardly any person who pays federal taxes would go unaffected by the tax bill on which congressional negotiators were completing work Friday.

Most Americans would pay higher taxes, but on their purchases rather than on their earnings. The bite would be relatively light for all but the well-to-do. Those with incomes over $200,000 a year would see their federal tax liabilities rise by an average of 6.3 percent.

Many of the 70 million couples and individuals with incomes under $20,000 would get a slight tax cut, thanks to expansion of the earned-income credit for poorer, working families with children.

The National Taxpayers Union, a nonpartisan organization that campaigns for lower taxes, estimated the bill would boost the taxes of a $30,000 family by an average of $109. A $40,000 family would pay $166 more; at $50,000, $214; $70,000, $277 more; $100,000, $542 more, and families at the $225,000 level would face an average tax increase of $3,572.

Here are major provisions:

GASOLINE: Raise the 9-cent gasoline tax to 14 cents a gallon and the 15-cent diesel tax to 20 cents on Dec. 1. A motorist driving 10,000 miles a year in a car that gets 22 miles per gallon would pay about $23 more.

ALCOHOL: Double the beer tax to 32 cents a six-pack; raise the $12.50-a-gallon tax on 100-proof liquor by $1, or 20 cents a fifth; raise taxes on most wines, including, for example, table wine, which would go from 3 cents a 750-milliliter bottle to 21 cents.

TOBACCO: Raise the 16-cent cigarette tax by 4 cents in 1991 and another 4 cents in 1993. Snuff, cigars and other tobacco would face 25 percent tax increases each year.

AIR TRAVEL: Raise to 10 percent the 8 percent tax on airline tickets, which had been scheduled to drop to 4 percent at year end. The average round-trip ticket, which costs about $300, would increase by $6.

TELEPHONES: Make permanent the 3 percent tax on local and long-distance phone service, which otherwise would expire Dec. 31.

LUXURIES: Impose a 10 percent tax on the portion of the price of cars above $30,000; boats above $100,000; jewelry and furs above $10,000 and private planes above $250,000. A $40,000 car, for example, would face a luxury tax of $1,000.

TAX RATES: Raise to 31 percent the 28 percent top income tax rate paid by the 600,000 couples and individuals with the highest incomes. That would raise taxes on singles making more than about $125,000 a year and couples with incomes above the $200,000 range.

Cut to 31 percent the 33 percent rate that as many as 4 million upper-middle-income people pay on part of their earnings. This would reduce taxes for single people with incomes between about $60,000 and $125,000 and couples between about $100,000 and $200,000. However, other parts of the bill would take back that tax cut in most cases.

Raise from 21 percent to 24 percent the alternative minimum tax, which is paid by fewer than 100,000 high-income people with large amounts of deductions that otherwise could reduce tax liability to near zero.

To Cambridge residents, Saudi is no prince

'Once they drove their limousines into the park and almost ran people down, then went up on the athletic field.'

— Cambridge City Councilor Edward Cyr

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Two months after a Saudi Arabian prince set up camp near Harvard Square — complete with a satellite dish and an entourage of 65 at a posh hotel — residents say the royals are wearing out their welcome.

In the latest of several incidents, North Cambridge residents complained security forces with the Prince Turki bin Abdul Aziz's entourage ejected local children from a park during royal family visits.

They also claimed the Saudis drove stretch limousines across newly seeded athletic fields.

Prince Turki, a brother of Saudi Arabia's king and the country's former deputy defense minister, arrived at Cambridge's Charles Square Hotel in early August for a visit to Harvard University.

But the prince says he has stayed to monitor U.S. response to the crisis in the Middle East.

Cambridge City Councilor Edward Cyr said he will ask the council to respond to the incident at the park.

"Once they drove their limousines into the park and almost ran people down, then went up on the athletic field," Cyr told The Boston Globe.

Cyr said he will ask the council to issue a formal reminder to the prince's group that "nobody will be allowed to essentially usurp a public facility for their exclusive use."

Mayor Alice K. Wolf said she has fielded complaints from residents that the prince's limousines have made it harder to park in an already congested part of the city.

Earlier this month, Harvard University police reduced its participation in the 24-hour guard protecting Prince Turki.

"We don't want to abandon the family, but with the advent of the school semester, we've been trying to phase it out," said Harvard Police Chief Paul E. Johnson. "Hopefully, he's going to be leaving shortly."

Even Prince Turki's attempts at charity have generated sour publicity.

University officials announced last weekend that the prince had endowed a Harvard Medical School professorship in immunology. The prince's father-in-law has been treated in Boston by a Harvard-affiliated physician following a kidney transplant.

But the student-run Harvard Crimson newspaper said in an editorial that university president Derek C. Bok was "selling his soul to the devil for a million-dollar professorship."

The Crimson referred to allegations from 10 female servants of the prince who claimed 10 years ago they were being held as slaves.

The Crimson also cited a 1989 incident in London when two German nursemaids hired to care for the prince's three children dropped notes from a sixth-story hotel window saying they were being held hostage.

Two Crimson photographers complained last month of being physically threatened by royal bodyguards.

No charges were filed in any of the incidents.

But at the Charles Hotel, where the prince has 40 rooms, hotel spokeswoman Martha Sullivan said the Saudis "have been model guests. I can tell you, honestly, it's been wonderful."

Barry sentenced to six months in prison

AP Laserphoto

Washington D.C Mayor Marion Barry departs U.S. District Court after he was sentenced to six months in prison, fined $5,000 and given one year supervised probation for his conviction on a cocaine possession charge. Barry's attorney said he would appeal the conviction.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Marion Barry drew a six-month prison term Friday for cocaine possession from a judge who said Barry's drug use had given "aid, comfort and encouragement" to the illegal drug culture. Barry said the sentence came from "the American injustice system."

U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson could have merely sentenced the mayor to probation but said Barry's "breach of public trust alone warrants an enhanced sentence."

The judge stayed the sentence, which also includes a $5,000 fine, pending an appeal, which defense attorney R. Kenneth Mundy formally filed later in the day.

Pleading for leniency before the sentence, the mayor said he had "led an exemplary life" since his arrest last January in a downtown hotel. Barry had been lured there by former girlfriend Rasheeda Moore and was videotaped smoking crack cocaine by FBI agents operating concealed cameras.

After the sentencing, Barry said, "I should have been shocked and stunned but I'm not. I understand that there are different sets of standards for different people, and that's the American injustice system."

The judge recommended that federal prison authorities place Barry in a drug treatment program.

NATION IN BRIEF

Grunseth stays; Urged to quit

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Three prominent Republicans demanded Friday that GOP gubernatorial candidate Jon Grunseth withdraw before he drags the party's other candidates to defeat because of allegations that he swam with nude girls.

The three included U.S. Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, who suddenly finds himself in a close race with Democratic challenger Paul Wellstone.

In the only debate before the Nov. 6 election, Grunseth blamed incumbent Gov. Rudy Perpich's campaign for spreading the skinny-dipping story and called the young women involved liars for saying it's true.

"I can't find the smoking gun," Grunseth said of Perpich. "but the circumstantial evidence that this was linked to his campaign I think is pretty clear."

Perpich denied that his campaign was behind the allegations.

"People who know me know that I wouldn't even think of this," Perpich said.

Grunseth called a news conference Thursday to announce he was quitting, but then changed his mind and wound up reaffirming his candidacy.

The allegations about Grunseth have hurt all Republicans campaigns, including his, Boschwitz said at a campaign stop Friday.

Grunseth was thought to have a chance of unseating Perpich until the nude-swimming allegations were leveled against him nearly two weeks ago.

During the debate, the candidates briefly turned to their differences on education, abortion, finances and other issues that have been shoved far into the background during the past two weeks.

In sworn statements, two young women said he encouraged them and two other teen-age girls to join him for a nude swim at a 1981 pool party. The women said he tried to pull down the swim suit of one of the girls and tried to touch her breast. Grunseth has denied the allegations.

Fatal beating call ignored

DETROIT (AP) — An emergency operator told a 7-year-old girl to "get off the phone" when she called to report her brother being fatally beaten, a newspaper reported Friday.

Troy and Jane McCants pleaded guilty Thursday to involuntary manslaughter in the June death of their 6-year-old son, Antwon Dumas. The couple originally was charged with second-degree murder.

The plea agreement was prompted in part by records showing their daughter's 911 emergency call was ignored, The Detroit News said.

"My brother been murdered," Iyesha McCants told a 911 operator, according to police recordings.

The operator responded, "Get off the phone, ... get off the phone right now," according to the newspaper. It said the girl's continued pleadings were obscured by the operator's voice telling her to hang up.

Jane McCants called for an ambulance five minutes later, according to the tape, but the boy was dead when the ambulance arrived.

Pilot pleads no contest

NASHVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Thomas Root, the lawyer who was found with a gunshot wound following an airplane crash in the Atlantic, pleaded no contest Friday to 364 counts of securities fraud, conspiracy and related charges.

Under a plea bargain, Root agreed to a 15-year prison sentence and a $5,000 fine, which will not be imposed until January. He also agreed to testify against others indicted in an alleged securities scam.

Root, who faced up to 1,812 years in prison if convicted of all 455 charges, called the agreement an "offer so attractive to me that I could not refuse it."

Holy Moses! OHS wins

■ Despite two long touchdown passes from Midland Lee's Derrick Turner to Reggie Webb, Odessa High rolled by the Rebels to claim sole possession of first place in District 4-5A.

By Bill Price
Staff Writer

ODESSA — With the Odessa High defense playing the part of the Red Sea, Midland Lee was unable to find a Moses to part it as the scarlet-clad Bronchos upset 10th ranked Midland Lee 23-14 at Ratliff Stadium Friday night.

The win puts OHS in sole possession of the District 4-5A lead, as the Broncs' record moved to 6-2 overall and 4-1 in district play. Lee, which had previously been unbeaten in 4-5A, is now 5-2 and 3-1.

Broncho middle linebacker Jason Johns, a 180-pound senior who seemingly has a part in every tackle, led an OHS swarm that stuffed the Rebels' ball-control wishbone offense and held the Lee rushers a combined 134 yards for the game.

The Rebs did sting OHS' pass defense for touchdown passes of 44 and 61 yards, but both came after the Broncs scored all 23 of their points in the first half, with a 17-point outburst in the second quarter.

"We knew they were good and we had to respect them, but at the same time we knew we couldn't be afraid of them," Johns proclaimed amid the post-game celebration. "We worked on their offense all week, and they did exactly what we thought they would do."

What Lee did offensively was try to pound away between its massive tackles, with an occasional option thrown in. But the OHS defense packed the line of scrimmage, allowing the Rebels just two first downs through the first 20½ minutes of the game.

Maybe more telling, though, was the ability of the Broncho offense to hold onto the ball. OHS entered the game as the district leader in fumbles lost with 16 for the season, but came away with the win after committing no turnovers against Lee.

"That was a big part of it, and us getting one from them in the first half. But I was also pleased with us being able to move the football against them. Most importantly, the little rascals came to play," said Jerry Taylor, OHS head coach.

The Broncs moved the ball from the opening possession, as they marched 89 yards in 10 plays to score on Brad Givens 1-yard run into the end zone with 8:08 on the first period clock. However, Lee also scored with the clock at 8:08, as Roderick Burns blocked Eric Nunez' extra-point kick then returned it to the OHS end zone for two points and 6-2 OHS edge.

Bronchos singing happy tune after 23-14 win over Rebels

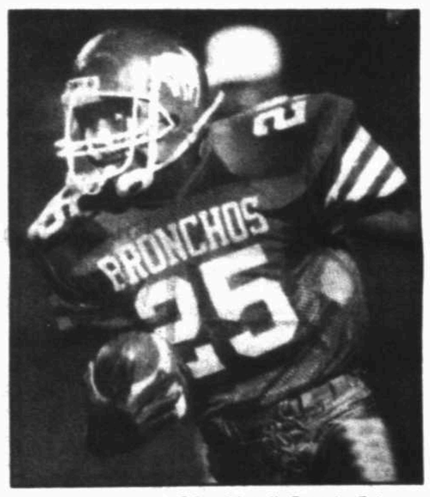

■ All the gold in Odessa, Texas, was in the hands of Broncho quarterback Ira Young ... a guy who refuses to even listen to Larry Gatlin.

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

ODESSA — The last time Odessa High won a District 4-5A football championship was in 1964 when they sang their way to a title behind quarterback Larry Gatlin. Well, you might just be able to add Ira Young's name to the OHS championship quarterback list some 26 years later after the Bronchos stunned the Midland Lee Rebels at Ratliff Stadium 23-14 Friday night.

OHS needs only to beat Abilene High in two weeks to end that long drought without a song. Young promises not to sing. He barely knows who Larry Gatlin is.

"Well, I've heard of the name," says Young. "He once wrote me a letter to wish me luck, but I don't listen to his music — no way."

Brian Adamcik/Reporter-Telegram

Odessa High quarterback Ira Young.

Young optioned, ran and passed his Bronchos to 23 first half points and moved OHS into sole possession of the 4-5A lead at 4-1.

"This win put it (championship) on, thank the Lord for that," said Young. "We lost to Permian and this will let them know that we could have beaten them too if we hadn't made so many mistakes. This is big."

The star on the defensive side of the ball for the Bronchos was middle linebacker Jason Johns, who continually harrassed Lee runners with bone crushing tackles before leading the crowd in cheers just before the game clock ran out.

Johns' memory doesn't go back to 1964, but this win still seemed like a long wait for him and his teammates.

"This means the world to Odessa High," said Johns. "We've been looking forward to this since the seventh grade. We lost to Permian and knew we had to beat Lee to win the district and Lee has a great team. Lee has the best offensive line in the state and we shut them down.

Mojo dumps MHS — again

■ Midland High falls for the 17th straight time to Odessa Permian, as the Panthers cruise to a 31-7 win.

By Joe Wyatt
Staff Writer

It had been 16 years since Midland High last defeated Odessa Permian on the gridiron.

Make it 17.

The Permian Panthers, owners of four straight shutouts over MHS going into Friday's clash at Memorial Stadium, settled for a 31-7 win that completely severed the Bulldogs' thin tie to the playoffs.

MHS fell to 1-4 in District 4-5A and stands 4-4 overall with one game remaining.

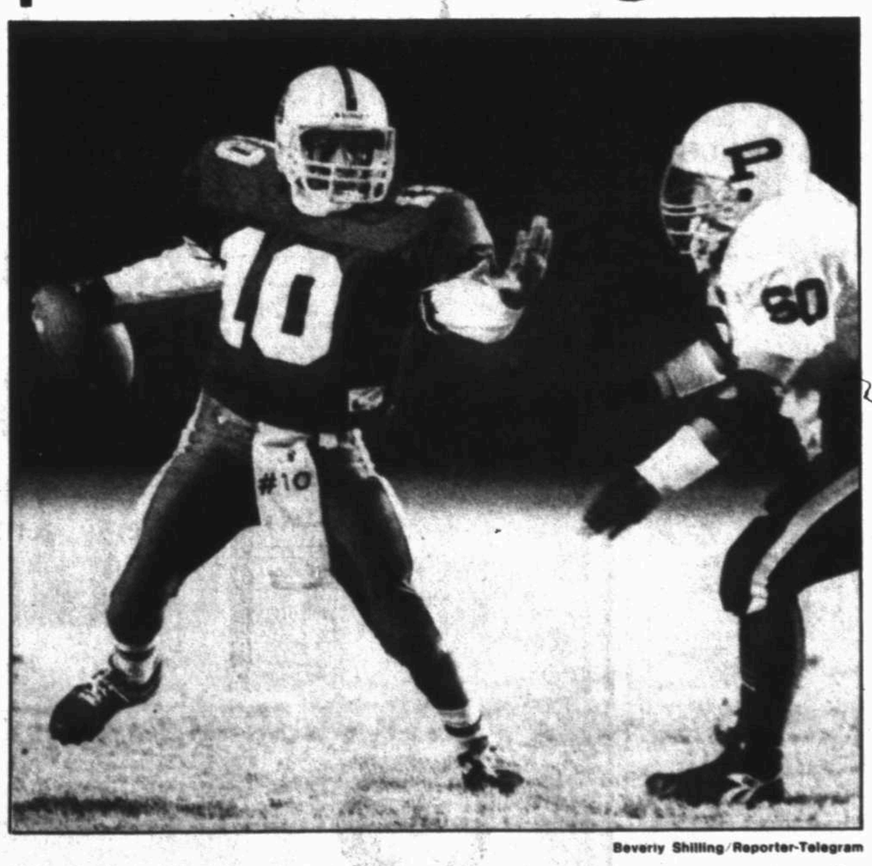

Either a Bulldog loss or a San Angelo win would have axed MHS from postseason play. San Angelo did win Friday, 38-7 over Abilene Cooper, but the Bulldogs did not learn about that until after Permian racked up 389 yards, converted 12-of-15 third down opportunities and scored a touchdown in every quarter.

"The biggest problem we had was giving them too much yardage on first down," said MHS head coach Davis Corley. "Most of those third down plays were short third downs."

Most were short, but not all. After Clint Stewart turned in a wind-backed 47-yard field goal that gave Permian a 3-0 lead midway through the first quarter, the Panthers faced a third-and-eight that Will Wagner turned into a 63-yard catch-and-run for a touchdown.

And only MHS cornerback Matt Jones kept Permian from scoring on its next drive when he intercepted Stormy Case in the end zone on third-and-11.

"Permian comes out and executes like this year after year, and that's what makes Permian Permian," Jones said. "Their quarterback was smart, and he new when to pick up the blitz."

Beverly Shilling/Reporter-Telegram

Midland High quarterback Jesse Arenivas, left, was pressured by the Permian defense all night.

The Panthers also knew when to blitz, and they knew to stop James Lee, 4-5A's leading rusher. Lee, who averaged 154 yards a game entering the contest, gained just 82 yards on 23 carries. And Permian held MHS to only 30 ground yards in the first half, one they led 17-0.

"I think our football team is getting better, showing its maturity, and that's what nice to see," said Permian coach Tam Hollingshead after the 6-2 Panthers upped their league mark to 3-1.

"We work hard in practice to convert third downs, and we've been able to convert them whether they've been short or long. Now, hopefully, we'll get to keep playing and keep getting better," he said, referring to the Panthers' legal quest to overturn a playoff ban imposed on them by the University Interscholastic League.

However the Panthers imposed a ban of their own for three quarters Friday.

Steers stun Mustangs

Staff Report

SWEETWATER — The Big Spring Steers took over the District 3-4A lead here Friday night with a 16-7 win over the Sweetwater Mustangs.

Big Spring is now unbeaten in 3-4A play with a 3-0 mark while Sweetwater, a key winner over Monahans two weeks ago, fell to 3-1. The Steers went into the game ranked No. 9 in the state in Class 4A and now climbs to 5-1-1 for the year while Sweetwater is 6-2.

The Big Spring defense held Sweetwater to a meager 99 yards of total offense as the Mustangs made only four first downs. Still, Sweetwater held a 7-0 second quarter lead before the Steers' Jermaine Miller scored on a four-yard run to knot the score before the half.

Gerald Cobos scored from two yards out in the third period to insure the win and Neal Mayfield kiced a fourth quarter field goal of 31 yards.

Big Spring had only 196 total yards of offense in a big defensive struggle, but had 12 first downs with a good ball control offense. Both teams lost one fumble.

Big Spring hosts Pecos next week.

Midland High's normally reliable James Lee was held to a mere 82 yards rushing against Permian.

REBELS: Long passes not enough for Lee

From 1B

The Rebels then took the ball at their own 31 and converted two first downs before giving the ball to OHS on downs at the Broncho 35.

From there, it was all OHS as the Broncs went on their scoring spree.

Nunez capped a 40 yards drive about 4½ minutes into the second quarter with a 29-yard field goal to make the score 9-2. Lee then hurt itself with a bobbled pitch by quarterback Derrick Turner intended for Reggie Webb. Webb was not able to gain control as the ball fell to the turf and Broncho Nabor Payen pounced on it.

Then OHS quarterback Ira Young, who led all rushers in the game with 83 yards and threw for 77, gave the Broncs their second TD in 2:29 when he scored on a 25-yard improvisation that made the tally 16-2 with Nunez' PAT [illegible].

OHS scored yet again on its [illegible] possession as Nunez, who rushed for 57 yards as the Broncho fullback, crashed in from a yard out and added the PAT with 1:39 left in the first half.

About the only saving grace for Lee in the first 24 minutes came as the half closed. On the last play of the half, Turner let loose a 44-yard pass to Webb, who caught the ball and scored after Fred Givens tipped it at about the 10-yard line. However, the Rebs' extra point kick went awry, putting Lee down by 15 points at intermission.

In the second half Turner and Webb again connected for a touchdown, as they hooked up on a 61-yarder with 8:59 left in the game. Again Lee's point after failed, as Turner's two-point pass to Jeb Honeyman fell incomplete to leave the score 23-14.

By that time, the clock was working against Lee as Young and OHS continually were able to convert third downs in to first-and-10s. The Rebs' last gasp came with 2:00 left, as the Broncho defense once again held Lee and took over on downs at its own 35.

"This win was real important after the Permian game (a 24-6 Odessa Permian win Sept. 28). We were kind of let down after that game, but after this I think they might know we could have won if it weren't for mistakes," Young said after rolling on the Ratliff carpet as the game-ending horn sounded.

UPSET: Odessa in position to win 4-5A

From 1B

Now just two more games and the district championship is ours."

OHS had not beaten Lee since 1982, so Broncho boss Jerry Taylor was especially pleased with the victory. Taylor, who turned in Odessa Permian for preseason workout violations, has lived through a season marked with the heights of joy and the depths of despair. This, however, may have been his finest hour.

"I'm proud of these kids — no they weren't kids tonight. I'm proud of these young men. They grew up a lot on that field tonight," said Taylor. "I don't know how to say how big a win this is. I just know that it was a heckuva district win."

With a district title dangling just in reach, Taylor would not predict a championship.

"No, we can't talk about a championship. We still have one more district game to play and we have to win it to take a title," said Taylor.

For Lee, the loss was not critical to its playoff chances, but its No. 10 ranking in the AP football poll was probably destroyed. Lee's chances at a share of the district title is also still alive, but will have to beat both Abilene High and San Angelo in the next two weeks.

Odessa High will play District 3-5A leader Amarillo High Thursday in Lubbock's Jones Stadium, but that contest will have no bearing on the 4-5A chase. It will, however, give bragging rights to two playoff bound teams that could possibly meet again down the line.

Lee coach Earl Miller was disappointed with the loss.

"We got a good old country whuppin' by Odessa High," said Miller. "The thing I was scared of happened. Our kids thought they were giant killers by beating Permian, but they forgot how they did it.

"That's totally my fault. It's my job to get them ready to play and I didn't do it. Odessa was ready to play and they put four quarters of football together for the first time this year and put it on us. I was afraid they would put it all together about the time we played them."

Still, Miller says his Rebels must go on from here.

"If you look at the standings, we are even with everyone else (OHS, San Angelo and Permian) with one district loss. Getting beat isn't the end of the world. We just have to go out and win the next two games and we will be in the playoffs and have the district title too.

"We've got to find 11 people this next week who want to play football and let them get on the field."

MHS: 'Dogs' downfall

From 1B

and it successfully kept MHS out of the end zone until Lee beat the defense to the left corner on a three-yard TD dash with 3:57 to play.

"We tried to get James the ball quite a bit, but we were up against the No. 1 defense in the league," Corley said. "James just never got to reel one off."

Permian increased its lead to 24-0 with a 12-play, 77-yard drive to begin the second half. The Panthers converted four third-down plays en route, the fourth one being a Lonnie Jones' three-yard TD burst through the center of the line.

MHS worked its way into Permian territory on its first possession of the second half, getting a 34-yard chunk of yardage when Major Williams took a handoff out of punt formation and carried it to the Panther 36.

But Jaron Jenson intercepted MHS quarterback Jesse Arenivas three plays later, and MHS had to wait until the fourth quarter to break the yoke of four straight shutouts at the paws of the Panthers.

Lee's touchdown came on the 11th play of an 87-yard march that included an option pass from Lee to DeWayne Culpepper that netted 31 yards. The Bulldogs, who had not scored against Permian since 1985, got into the end zone four plays after that catch.

Bobcats bury Cooper, stay tied for second

Staff Report

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Central walloped Abilene Cooper, 38-7, to stay in the middle of a three-way tie for second place in the District 4-5A standings with just two weeks remaining in the regular season.

San Angelo Central, Odessa Permian and Midland Lee are all tied for second place with 3-1 league marks. The Bobcats now sport a 5-2-1 mark as well.

Bobcat quarterback Shea Morenz who had passed for over 700 yards in the past two weeks combined, was held to just 160 yards passing by the Cooper defense. Morenz did, though, have a couple of scoring passes as well as running for six points.

Cooper was held to 55 yards offense by the Bobcat defense — 40 yards passing, 15 on the ground.

Steve Williams opened up Central's scoring with a 34 yard run in the first; after a Scott Caudle extra point and an additional field goal, Central held a 10-0 first quarter advantage.

Morenz' first TD pass of the night — a 10-yarder to favorite receiver Marcus Bibbs — allowed the Bobcats to take a 17-0 bulge into the halftime locker room.

Morenz came up with his second touchdown pass in the third quarter when he found Ryan King from 21 yards and San Angelo jumped to a 24-0 lead.

Morenz and Ben Montgomery both scored from two yards out and the Bobcats lead exploded to 38-0 before Cooper ever found the end zone.

The Cougars' lone score came from its defense when James Walker returned a Central fumble 49 yards for the score.

Cooper falls to 1-7, 0-4.

Central faces Odessa Permian at Ratliff Stadium next Friday while Cooper hosts Midland High.

Gretzky reaches 2,000 point mark

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — Wayne Gretzky, who already holds almost every NHL scoring record, became the first player to reach the 2,000-point plateau when he set up a goal by Tomas Sandstrom at 14:32 of the first period of the Los Angeles Kings' game at Winnipeg on Friday night.

The game was stopped momentarily as Gretzky's teammates poured onto the ice and a sellout crowd at the Winnipeg Arena gave Gretzky a standing ovation.

Gretzky, in his 12th NHL season, eclipsed Gordie Howe as the league's all-time leading scorer with his 1,851st point on Oct. 15, 1989.

SWC Thumbnails

Here is a look at Saturday's football games involving Southwest Conference teams:

ARKANSAS (2-4, 0-3 SWC) at HOUSTON (6-0, 5-0 SWC), noon CDT, HSE-Prime Network Live Telecast. The series: The Razorbacks lead the brief but highly-contested series 11-5 in all contests (since 1952) and 10-4 in SWC activity. Arkansas has a current, eight-game winning streak after falling to the Cougars 20-17 at Little Rock in 1981. UH's most recent win at the Astrodome over the Hogs came by a 24-17 count in 1980. Houston built its series-longest winning streak (four games) from 1978-81. After several tough defensive encounters, the last five games in the series have produced 298 points between the teams. Arkansas QB Quinn Grovey piloted the Razorbacks to a 45-39 triumph over Houston, but the Cougars since have compiled the nation's longest Division I-A winning streak at 10 games. The Razorbacks won 26-21 over UH in their last meeting at the Astrodome.

The coaches: Arkansas' Jack Crowe stands 7-19 (third season) overall, 2-4 (first year) with the Razorbacks, 0-3 in SWC contests, and faces Houston for the first time as a head coach. The Cougars' John Jenkins, who started at every backfield position on offense at one time or another at Arkansas during his 1971-73 varsity playing career, is 6-0 (first season) overall, 5-0 in SWC games and battles his alma mater for the first time.

The teams: After last year's aerial display, both teams have utilized the pass as a "lethal weapon" throughout 1990. Houston and Arkansas are 1-4, respectively, in SWC total offense with a composite 912.7 yards per game. The Razorbacks have one of the nation's most dangerous receivers in SE Derek Russell (29 catches, 622 yards, 21.5 yards per catch, school-record 7 TDs). QB Quinn Grovey is edging toward the 6,000-yard mark in career total offense (5,361 yards) and set a school season record with his 12th TD pass last week. UH All-America wideout Manny Hazard has sparkled in the last four games (33 catches, 284 yards during that span) and is second in SWC career receptions with 177. QB David Klingler still is first nationally in total offense with 412 yards per game while RB Chuck Weatherspoon is fifth in SWC rushing despite some injuries with 84 carries for 540 yards. "Spoon" also has 4,461 all-purpose yards in 28 games for seventh place in SWC history.

MIAMI (FLA.) (4-2) at TEXAS TECH (2-5, 1-4 SWC), noon CDT, Raycom Sports Telecast. The series: Miami meets an SWC opponent for the 44th time Saturday, and the Hurricanes hold a 25-18 lead against the current nine members. It's the fifth battle of the Hurricanes and Texas Tech, and Miami leads this series 3-1. The Hurricanes scored a 19-0 win in the initial meeting in 1939 before Tech's 1940 team downed UM 61-14 in Lubbock. Miami won the last two meetings 6-0 in 1941 and 61-11 in 1986 (both at Orange Bowl Stadium). The 'Canes last played a SWC school in Nov., 1988, while edging Arkansas 18-16 at Miami to spoil an unbeaten season possibility for the Razorbacks. The coaches: Miami's Dennis Erickson is 65-34-1 (ninth year) overall, 15-3 (second season) with the Hurricanes and 1-0 against SWC opposition after his 1988 Washington State crew edged Houston 24-22 in the Aloha Bowl in Honolulu. Tech's Spike Dykes, who has been head coach during two Red Raider bowl visits since 1986, is 22-19-1 (fifth year, all at Tech) and battling the stout Southern independent for the first time. Dykes has a five-year record in non-conference games of 9-8. The Red Raiders bring in a 31-season record of 67-38-5 (.632 winning percentage) against outside opposition since starting SWC football competition in 1960.

The teams: Miami was the "Team of the 1980s" in NCAA Division I-A football with a 86-19 mark and 11-1 record last fall under Erickson. Texas Tech has pulled its share of surprises at Jones Stadium, and some recent ones include a 27-24 win over Texas A&M in 1989, a 24-14 triumph over Arizona last year and a 23-21 victory over Texas in 1986. Key individuals: DT Russell Maryland anchors a Miami defense which is eighth nationally with 97.7 net yards rushing allowed per game. QB Craig Erickson has picked up where he left off in 1989 with 125-of-220 passing totals for 1,838 yards and nine TDs. The Red Raiders find strength in QBs Jamie Gill and Robert Hall (a combined 126-of-251 aerially for 2,039 yards and 11 TDs. They join with IB Anthony Lynn (166 carries, 671 yards) as a possible second trio in SWC history (Houston accomplished it in 1988 with QBs Andre Ware and David Dacus and SB Chuck Weatherspoon) to have two 1,000-yard passers and a 1,000-yard rusher on the same squad.

SMU (1-5, 0-3 SWC) at TEXAS (4-1, 2-0 SWC), 1 p.m. CDT. The series: Started in 1916, this rivalry is renewed for the 68th time this fall. Texas has a 41-22-4 overall advantage and 40-22-4 mark, excluding the series-opening win over the Mustangs 74-0 in 1916, in SWC encounters with SMU. Consistency of home and road play has marked past meetings. Texas is exactly 20-11-2 in Austin and in conference contests played on SMU turf. The Mustangs last won in the series 44-14 in 1985 at Texas Stadium in Irving while the Longhorns topped SMU 27-24 when they last met at Memorial Stadium. Texas won four of the seven games played against SMU in the 1980s and downed the Mustangs 45-13 at Ownby Stadium last season. The Longhorns also have the longest dominance in the series with a 13-game winning streak from 1967-79.

The coaches: The Mustangs' Forrest Gregg is 3-14 (second year, both at SMU) overall, 0-11 in SWC tilts and 0-1 against the Longhorns, though SMU kept the contest close for much of three quarters in Dallas last fall. Texas' David McWilliams stands 27-23 (fifth season) overall, 20-19 (fourth year) at UT, 18-14 in SWC competition, and 1-1 versus the Mustangs.

The teams: SMU, which has moved the ball effectively through the air and which has had some stellar performances from a variety of receivers for QB Mike Romo, could get a confidence boost with the all-out effort it had in the 1989 tussle with Texas. The Longhorns, climbing in the national rankings and gaining confidence weekly, have a tough stretch of six SWC games in six weeks ahead of them. Texas' defense has been the key to early success while the offense has become more cohesive (498 net yards against Arkansas) in every phase. Key individuals: LB Bill Kiely (79 tackles) and FS Cary Brabham (54 tackles, six deflections) have a chance to play major roles in slowing Texas' steady ground game. Romo (433-of-758 passing for 4,383 career yards) continues his trek through the SWC record annals. Longhorns' freshman RB Phil Brown (82 carries, 358 yards) has been a steady inside threat on offense. WR Johnny Walker (94 catches, 1,319 yards) is closing in on the century mark in receptions and is third in Texas career receiving yards.

RICE (3-4, 1-3 SWC) at TEXAS A&M (4-2-1, 1-1-1 SWC), 2 p.m. CDT. The series: These schools first met in 1914, and the Aggies have taken a 44-27-3 overall series lead since then. In SWC encounters, A&M also rules 42-26-3. TAMU seeks to make it a rivalry-record 10 games in succession with a win Saturday over Rice. The Owls last downed the Aggies 10-6 in a 1980 defensive struggle. Texas A&M also leads in SWC games played at College Station 17-10. Rice currently holds the series record for consecutive wins with 10 from 1945-54, and the teams have played 44 of their 71 SWC contests in Houston.

The coaches: Rice's Fred Goldsmith is 7-19-1 (third season) overall, 5-12-1 (second year) at Rice, 3-9 in SWC games, and 0-1 against A&M. The Aggies' R.C. Slocum is 12-6-1 (second year, both at TAMU) overall, 7-3-1 in SWC battles and 1-0 against the Owls after a 45-7 victory by A&M in Houston last fall. The head coaches have a combined, 41 seasons of experience as college head or assistant coaches.

The teams: The Owls have momentum after a stirring, 42-21 win at Rice Stadium over Texas Tech last week. Rice has demonstrated an ability to go to the running game when opponents shut down the pass and notched 301 net yards against the Red Raiders last week. The Aggies have a chance to climb a notch in the SWC standings from fourth place after a down-to-the-wire, 20-20 tie against Baylor last week. A&M's running attack can be dominating, and senior RB Darren Lewis enters the game needing 174 yards to become the SWC's all-time rushing leader. Key individuals: Owls' SE Eric Henley had a streak of 17 consecutive games with at least one reception broken last week but still stands second in Rice history with 139 catches for 1,583 yards. QB Donald Hollas offers formidable rushing possibilities with RB Trevor Cobb. That twosome has combined for 954 yards and 15 rushing TDs in seven games. The Aggies' Lewis has 4,277 yards (currently third in SWC career rushing behind Texas' Earl Campbell and SMU's Eric Dickerson with 4,450 yards from 1979-82) and has averaged 136.8 yards per game to rank third nationally.

BAYLOR (3-3-1, 2-1-1 SWC) at TCU (5-1, 3-0 SWC), 2 p.m. CDT. The series: Tied for the third-longest in Division I-A with Texas-Texas A&M and Kansas-Nebraska, the Bears-Horned Frogs' history is both long and colorful as it enters its 97th meeting. TCU has a narrow, 46-43-7 edge in all games and a 34-26-3 advantage in SWC contests with Baylor. The Fightin' Frogs also have a 17-12-1 margin in SWC battles with the Bears in Fort Worth. Neither team has enjoyed particular runaways overall. Both teams have eight-game winning streaks in SWC contests (Baylor from 1974-81 and TCU from 1964-71). Baylor managed a 6-4 lead in the decade of the '80s and captured last year's contest 27-9 in Waco. TCU won the last tussle with BU at Amon Carter Stadium 24-14 in 1988.

The coaches: Entering the season, Baylor's Grant Teaff was ninth among NCAA Division I-A active coaches in total wins while the Horned Frogs' Jim Wacker was 14th. Currently, Teaff is 152-141-8 (26th year) overall, 110-98-6 (19th season) at Baylor, 71-67-4 in SWC contests, and 13-5 (bolstered by the 1974-81 win streak) against TCU. Wacker is 137-82-3 (20th year) overall, 33-49-2 (eighth season) at TCU, 17-39-1 in SWC games, and 3-4 against the Bears.

The teams: Baylor has been one of the SWC's most improved units after much early adversity. The Bears have their running and passing games in order, as evidenced by a season-best 437 yards of total offense at Texas A&M last week. TCU already has topped its four-victory high marks of the last two years and has jumped into both major wire service polls for the first time since 1984. The Frogs used an open date last week to let some nagging injuries, especially to the offensive interior line, heal. Key individuals: Baylor throws a tough shield at opposing pass defense with a combined seven interceptions by safeties Mike Welch (five) and Michael McFarland (two) of the 11 team pickoffs. Freshman QB J.J. Joe has jumped into third place in SWC passing efficiency with 38-of-64 totals for 581 yards, 59.4 percent and four TDs after taking over the starting reigns in Game 4. The Frogs have an almost mirror image in their defensive backfield with young standouts Tony Rand and Greg Evans.

Yogi wrong; Rangers romp

By Bill Grimes
Staff Writer

KERMIT — Yogi Berra may have said "It ain't over 'til it's over," but the baseball Hall of Famer didn't have in mind Greenwood's 34-6 romp over Kermit in District 6-3A action here Friday.

Simply put, Kermit's homecoming game was essentially over as soon as the visitors discovered they could dominate the line of scrimmage.

The Greenwood win helped the Rangers stay in the playoff hunt. Greenwood remains tied for second with Sonora, a 32-0 winner over Colorado City on Friday.

The Rangers host Sonora next week.

Greenwood's vaunted line helped its backs to 398 rushing yards. The Rangers, 7-1 overall and 2-1 in district play, scored on four of their first five possessions before coasting for most of the last three quarters.

Quarterback Cody Mebane, who rushed for more than 200 yards against Kermit last year, earned 131 of his team-high 138 yards in the first half and scored three of the visitors' five touchdowns.

But Coach Bob Purser's team also got yeoman duty from fullbacks Shan Cumba and Joe Kilgore. Cumba rushed 17 times for 101 yards and one TD, while Kilgore finished with 12 trips for 91 yards.

"Kermit is an awful young team," Purser added. "We felt like we could knock them off the ball, and we did."

Kermit, 1-7 and 0-3, was only in the hunt early in the second period. The Yellowjackets cut Greenwood's lead to 14-6 on Darrell Pando's one-yard run with 10:46 left in the half.

Even then, there were mitigating circumstances. Greenwood gave the hosts their chance when Mebane's bad pitch was recovered by Steve Chavarria on the Ranger 10-yard-line.

Otherwise, the Yellowjackets were hopelessly outclassed. Linebacker Mike Bradford and end Jim Jones led a Ranger defense that allowed Kermit only 97 total yards.

Meanwhile, Greenwood's wishbone offense asserted itself immediately. The visitors needed only 2:21 to first hit the end zone after a nine-play, 75-yard drive that ended with Mitcheal Bishop's run off a flawless pitch by Mebane.

After that, Kermit started playing attention to Ranger halfbacks, and Mebane noticed.

"We felt like they were overplaying the pitch man," Mebane said. "The line was blowing them off the ball and it was just easy running."

After a brief possession by Kermit, Greenwood return man Robert Duran set up the visitors with a 20-yard punt return to his own 45. Seven plays later, Mebane kept the ball and strolled into the end zone from 17 yards out.

The senior quarterback set up his own score with consecutive runs of nine, five and 16 yards.

After Pando's TD run got the home crowd fired up, Greenwood put the game away with a pair of Mebane scores in a span of 87 seconds. First, the Ranger QB capped a 73-yard drive with a 32-yard option run. Four plays later, after Bishop recovered a Chavarria fumble on the Kermit 15, Mebane scored from two yards out to make it 27-6.

Cumba added the Rangers' final touchdown on a one-yard run early in the fourth quarter.

The Rangers gained 263 yards in the first half, but frequent substitutions made for little second-half offense by either side.

Purser thought his offense took too many chances after building up the big lead.

"When you feel like it's easy, you'll do some things at times that may not be a good idea.

Red Devils haunt Cowboys, 23-16

By George Brzezinski
MRT Correspondent

RANKIN — Junior quarterback Kirk Kennedy threw two touchdowns and ran for another to lead the Rankin Red Devils over the Grandfalls Cowboys, 23-16, in a district 8-A struggle here Friday.

Kennedy led all rushers with 106 yards including a 62-yard touchdown scramble late in the first half.

Although the Cowboys controlled most of the first quarter, they failed to put any points across and found themselves punting after two long drives. Glynn Underwood returned the second of these punts 26 yards, setting the Red Devils on the 50 yard line.

Nine plays and one facemask penalty later,Kennedy bounced four yards into the end zone for the game's first score. The versatile QB also added the extra point.

Grandfalls again owned the ball most of the second quarter. After James Watson finally ended a 12-play Cowboy drive by stopping Trey Thomas one yard shy of the first down, Rankin's drive was cut short as Todd Hunt intercepted a Kennedy pass. Hunt ran the pickoff back for an apparent touchdown but a Cowboy clipping call brought the ball back to midfield.

Hunt apparently liked the view from the end zone, however, and seven plays later took a Derrick Richardson pass 29 yards in for the score. Thomas gave the Cowboys their only lead on the ensuing conversion.

The Cowboy lead was short-lived as Kennedy needed only one snap from center to run 62 yards and regain the lead. Not satisfied with the impressive touchdown trot, Kennedy found another way to score as he dove into the end-zone for the crucial conversion.

The Red Devil defense continued its solid play stopping the Cowboy offense in its tracks on the ensuing drive. Suddenly Rankin found itself with the ball on the Cowboy 26 with 1:12 remaining in the half. Joey Varela caught the Cowboy defense napping and Kennedy's 17 yard crossfield pass with 23 seconds left in the half.

Jeff Jones added two points for the conversion and the Red Devils took a comfortable 23-8 lead into the locker room.

Grandfall's Danny Ornelas opened the second half with a 45 yard kickoff return, putting the Cowboys back into the game. After saving the drive with a 9 yard gain on fourth down, Vasquez rumbled four yards for the score with eight minutes left in the third. Thomas added two points with the now popular conversion.

The Red Devil offense took control for the rest of the game and while they did not score again, they ate more clock than Grandfalls coach Ray McKinnon cared for. The offense managed to recover three of their own fumbles in the fourth quarter frustrating McKinnon even more.

While it would be unfair to call Rankin's offense one-dimensional, a glance at the scoring summary might portray that. The versitile Kennedy was not only involved in every scoring play, he played solid defense, kicked an extra point and even returned kickoffs and punts.

Rankin took advantage of 7 Cowboy penalties totaling 65 yards.

The Red Devils, 5-2 overall and 2-0 in district play, travel to Sanderson next Friday.

Coahoma manhandles winless Stanton

By Charlie Dowd
MRT Correspondent

STANTON — As you enter Stanton on I-20 there's a welcome sign that says: "Welcome to Stanton, Home of 3000 friendly people and a couple of sore heads." Perhaps that sign should be altered to include the phrase "And a porous defense."

The Buffaloes showed very little defense as they allowed the Coahoma Bulldogs, more specifically Shane Walker, to run at will on their way to a 31-12 victory.

A large and vocal Homecoming crowd showed up to cheer on the winless Buffaloes, who dropped to 0-4 in district play and 0-8 overall. Coahoma took the crowd and the Buffs right out of the game on the opening drive as they put together a five minute scoring drive culminating with Rusty Ginnetti's one yard touchdown run.

Ginnetti may have capped the drive but the workhorse of the series was Walker, who carried on eight of the eleven plays during the drive, setting a work precedent for himself for the rest of the evening.

The Bulldogs simply dominated the first half of play, racking up 132 yards rushing in the first half alone. Walker was the main culprit with 116 yards at the halfway mark. Stanton certainly didn't help the cause. In a span of approximately five minutes during the second quarter, the Buffs ran three offensive plays that ended in two lost fumbles and an interception.

Meanwhile, Walker and his offensive mates were grinding out yards on their way to a 24-0 halftime lead.

The Buffs made an effort to get back into the game as they took the second half kickoff and ground out an impressive 80 yard touchdown drive. Jim Bob Kelly's five yard run capped an 11 play drive that moved exclusively on the ground. Five different ball carriers touched the ball on the drive as Stanton's offense mixed it up.

That would be Stanton's last hurrah until late in the fourth quarter when the Buffs scored on a nice grab over the middle by end Kenny McCalister. McCalister made an acrobatic catch over the middle with a number of Bulldogs draped over him. McCalister proved to be a relatively potent weapon in the Buffalo attack with two catches for 29 yards.

ROTAN — The Garden City Bearkats upped their record to 6-1 overall and 3-0 in District 9-1A with a 35-18 win over the Rotan Yellowhammers Friday night.

Bearkat running back James Soles racked up another fantastic performance with touchdown runs of 15, 35 and 69 yards and 215 total yards on the ground.

Combined with the passing game, Garden City rolled up 316 total offensive yards. Rotan, though, was not far behind in the offense department with 279 total yards.

The Bearkats were riddled with penalties, being flagged 11 times for 110 yards.

Garden City's Wesley Glass got the night's scoring off in the first quarter when he recovered a blocked punt in the end zone.

Eric Smith scored both of the Yellowhammers' TDs on runs of 33 and three yards while Rotan's David Daniel capped off the night's scoring with a 79 yard punt return.

The Bearkats return home next Friday to host Robert Lee.

Dykes hoping for a lot of luck

Associated Press

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes goes down a list of potential advantages his three-touchdown underdog Red Raiders might have over No. 8 Miami Saturday and discounts them one by one.

■ Miami (4-2) has given up an average of nearly 21 points a game.

"Yeah, but they are averaging 34 points a game," Dykes said.

■ With the exception of a 14-0 advantage against Kansas, Miami has been outscored in the third quarter 27-14. And opponents have held a 53:24 to 36:36 time of possession advantage during third quarters.

"Yeah, but they have been so far ahead in almost every game at halftime that they're probably just having a little letdown," Dykes said.

■ The Red Raiders (2-5) have former Miami defensive secondary coach Carlos Mainord on staff to tell them all the Hurricanes' secrets.

"Carlos was on board with Jimmy Johnson back in 1986," Dykes said. "They have got a whole new staff and attack under coach (Dennis) Erickson."

So what does Tech have going for it against the high-powered Hurricanes?

"Not a whole heckuva lot," Dykes said. "We just have to go out and play the very best we can and hope we get some luck — a lot o' luck."

But Erickson doesn't buy Dykes' rap.

"I have a great deal of respect for Spike Dykes and the job he's done at Texas Tech," Erickson said. "When you look at film of them ... it's obvious they can play. Our players are well aware of that."

Miami is coming off a 29-20 loss to Notre Dame which pinned a second regular season defeat on the Hurricanes for the first time since 1984. It also dashed hopes of a second consecutive national championship.

Erickson said he hopes the Hurricanes have put the setback behind them.

"I am more concerned about the Miami football team and how we react and how we play on Saturday than I am about the opponent," Erickson said.

Miami has played Tech four times, winning three, the last meeting resulting in a 61-11 Hurricane walkover in 1986.

To win this year, Tech must figure out a way to slow down the typhoon-like offense of the Hurricanes, featuring quarterback Craig Erickson, running backs Leonard Conley and Steve McGuire and a host of speedy receivers.

Erickson ranks third in the country in total offense, averaging 309 yards per game. Miami ranks in the top 10 in total offense and passing offense.

"They like to throw, but if you're covering the pass, they will just run it down your throat," Dykes said.

Dykes doesn't even like to think about Miami's defense, which ranks in the nation's top 10 in rushing defense.

Defensive tackle Russell Maryland and linebacker Maurice Crum "are two of the meanest son of a guns I've ever seen," Dykes said.

Toughest stretch lies ahead for TCU

Associated Press

Will success spoil the Texas Christian Horned Frogs?

The answer comes this Saturday after the Frogs have had two weeks to bask in the glory of their best Southwest Conference start since 1958.

Those Frogs come back from a week's vacation with a new Top 25 ranking and another must game against a fast-improving opponent.

The Frogs will be the 24th-ranked team in the nation when they host the Baylor Bears in Amon Carter Stadium at 2 p.m. It's the first time they've been ranked in The Associated Press poll since 1984 when they made it to 12th.

The Bears shocked the heavily favored Texas Aggies with a 20-20 tie last week.

TCU is enjoying its best Southwest Conference start since 1958 when the Frogs started 5-0 on their way to the Cotton Bowl.

The Frogs are 3-0 in league play and 5-1 overall. It's TCU's best overall start since the 1984 Bluebonnet Bowl team.

TCU was only a field goal favorite over the dangerous Bears who became potent once coach Grant Teaff installed redshirt freshman J.J. Joe at quarterback.

"We figured out how to get in the Top 25: Don't play a game," said TCU coach Jim Wacker. "The week off was good. We got a lot of bumps and bruises healed. I love open dates. It gives the kids a chance to regroup. It's tough going through a season 11 weeks in a row."

He said Baylor looked much improved with Joe running the Bears' Veer attack.

"Baylor scares me to death," Wacker said. "They improve every week."

Teaff said, "I've looked at TCU on video and I've been very impressed as I was after hearing all the good things about them. They have an outstanding defense and their offensive scheme is very impressive."

In other games, Texas was a 32-point favorite over Southern Methodist in a 1 p.m. game in Austin, Texas A&M was a 16-point pick over Rice in a 2 p.m. game at College Station, No. 6-ranked and unbeaten Houston was a 18-point favorite over Arkansas in a noon regionally televised game in the Astrodome, and Miami was a 21-point nod over Texas Tech in a noon regionally televised game in Lubbock.

"Miami is as good as there is in the country even if they lost to Notre Dame," said Tech coach Spike Dykes.

STANTON: Star back shrugs off broken nose

(From 4B)

Wyckoff was not sharp and he did not have much time on a number of instances. Wyckoff was hurried into an interception by Keith Fontana late in the contest that ruined a great opportunity for the Buffs.

In all fairness to Wyckoff he had been pressed into duty this week after senior quarterback John Paul Barry's leg injury suffered in last week's 58-0 loss at the hands of Iraan.

Shane Walker finished with 214 yards on 32 carries giving him his second-consecutive 200 yard plus effort. Last week he rushed for 216 in a win vs. Eldorado. What made Walker's effort tonight all the more impressive was the fact that he suffered a broken nose midway through the third quarter. When asked why he continued in the game despite the injury he replied that he "wanted to go for 200 yards."

Coahoma's head coach Steve Park's game plan worked to perfection. Coming into the game he "felt that we could run at them." His hunch certainly proved true. His late-game decision making could possibly be questioned however. By letting Walker play simply because he wanted to break the 200-yard level for the game exposed the 'Dogs meal ticket to unnecessary injury. In an effort to keep the ball to give Walker the opportunity to go over that mark the Bulldogs faked a punt with under a minute to go in the game while holding a 19-point lead.

Finally, after a penalty was called on Stanton on the last play of the game Parks gave the ball to Walker one last time when simply falling on the ball would have killed the clock.

There's a good chance that Stanton supporters will keep this one filed away.

Holyfield says Foreman his next target

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — The new heavyweight champion of the world surveyed his realm Friday and proclaimed George Foreman his most worthy challenger.

The morning after flattening Buster Douglas with one punch to win the undisputed heavyweight crown, Evander Holyfield made it clear that former champion Mike Tyson would have to wait his turn for a shot at the title.

"We felt it would be better to fight George Foreman first, then Mike Tyson," Holyfield said. "As far as business goes, it's better that way."

Holyfield's handlers said contracts for his first title defense against Foreman have been signed, and a site and date for the fight are expected to be announced in about two weeks.

"It will be in April in either Las Vegas or Atlantic City," said Shelly Finkel, who helps promote Holyfield.

Almost as quickly as Holyfield knocked out Douglas, boxing's sanctioning organizations began backing off earlier threats to force Holyfield to make his first defense against Tyson, and the way seems clear for a fight matching the new champion with a man who held the title during the early 1970s.

"George Foreman happens to be ranked now and Evander Holyfield has the option of fighting anyone in the top 12," World Boxing Association attorney Jimmy Binns said. "Mike Tyson will have his mandatory shot when he's entitled to it."

Holyfield was relaxed and smiling at a morning press conference at The Mirage hotel-casino, where he stopped Douglas with a right hand Thursday night in the third round of their scheduled 12-round fight for the heavyweight title.

Holyfield, who waited for 18 months as the No. 1 contender before getting his shot at the title, seemed to savor the realization he finally was the champion.

"The waiting wasn't in vain," he said. "To be the heavyweight champion is the ultimate thing you could be."

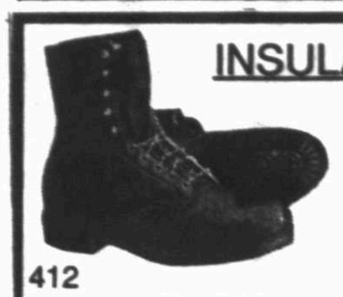

Douglas didn't attend the press conference, leaving his trainer, J.D. McCauley, to face questions about the former champion's bloated weight and apparent lack of heart.

"I felt from the bottom of my heart he was ready for the fight last night," McCauley said. "We talked earlier in the day about the fight and he said he was fine. He said, 'I got him.' But when the fight started he was flat."

As nasty as he wants to be

DENVER (AP) — If Melvin Bratton ever decides to give up his career as a Denver Broncos fullback, there's always the 2 Live Crew.

Bratton, who was raised in the same Miami neighborhood as 2 Live Crew leader Luther Campbell, joined the band on the road for a couple of performances a few years ago.

Ohio media rip Buster

Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Buster Douglas was hit hard by Evander Holyfield — and by the media in his home state of Ohio.

One day after losing his heavyweight title to Holyfield on a third-round knockout, Douglas was blasted by Ohio sportswriters for being overweight and out of shape for the scheduled 12-round bout.

"Buster ate his way out of history books," read a headline for a column Friday by Dick Fenlon in The Columbus Dispatch, Douglas' hometown newspaper.

Fenlon wrote that on Thursday night "Columbus' favorite chubby became a footnote to history," a reference to Douglas losing the heavyweight title in his first defense.

Douglas' weight was the big issue. He surprised even himself when he weighed in at 246 pounds.

"With one crushing right hand, 70 seconds into the third round, Evander Holyfield sent Douglas crashing to the canvas," Fenlon wrote. "The ring rumbled, the earth shook, the seismograph registered 3.6 on the Knockout Scale and weight watchers everywhere rejoiced. Self-control was back in style."

Fenlon pointed out that critics before the fight also questioned Douglas' desire to win.

"He mentioned, a day or two before the fight, that he had anxiety attacks thinking about losing the belt," Fenlon wrote. "The hunger pangs were just a little stronger."

The newspaper's report of the fight, in one edition, started with "From champ to chump to lump." In another edition, the story began with "Scales. Scales. . . . One measly, $30 set could have kept him from a major league embarrassment."

A story in the Dayton Daily News began, "As one Porky now should say to the other: 'That's all folks!' " It called Douglas a "second-helpings heavyweight who lately cultivated his paunch more than his punch."

"Douglas' demise proved that man does not live on bread — and cheesecake, pizza, Big Macs and doubled malteds — alone," it said.

Cincinnati Enquirer columnist Tim Sullivan noted that Douglas joined "a long list of one-shot heavyweight champs, including Jack Sharkey, Max Baer, Jimmy Braddock, Ingemar Johansson and Leon Spinks."

"The man who felled Mike Tyson must now be regarded as a fluke," Sullivan wrote.

"Except for the tassels on his shoes, Douglas might have passed for a paunchy punching bag," Sullivan wrote. He said Holyfield's "clearly defined muscles were in stark contrast to the baggy, bloated Buster."

JUST TRYING TO GET AHEAD

Sunday John 17:1-26
Monday Mark 3:31-35
Tuesday Psalm 36:1-12
Wednesday Psalm 65:1-13
Thursday Psalm 111:1-10
Friday Jeremiah 31:1-14
Saturday 1 John 3:1-10

"I'm just trying to get ahead."

How often we hear this phrase. Yet, how often the "great American dream" turns into a nightmare.

Certainly we need some financial security, but in the process of pursuing great riches and social standing, which might be lost in the blink of an eye, some lose sight of those riches which cannot be bought, and they may pay the price.

Most importantly, we may sacrifice our spiritual well-being. Matthew 16:26 warns us, saying, "For what will a man be profited if he gains the whole world and forfeits his soul?"

This week, seek the riches of the spirit as you worship God in His House. The Bible advises us in Matthew 6:20 to "lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust destroys. . ." and in Matthew 6:33 to "seek first His (God's) Kingdom and His righteousness, and all these things (worldly goods) shall be added to you."

Is this not the greatest security of all?

He's a shepherd with no flock

By Robert Imrie

MERRILL, Wis. (AP) — The Rev. Arthur Gustafson shuffled to the pulpit of his small church, just like he does every Sunday. The pews were empty, just as they are on most Sundays.

Gustafson, the 78-year-old leader of the Emmanuel Evangelical Covenant Church since 1947, is a pastor without a congregation; a preacher with no one to preach to, a shepherd without a flock.

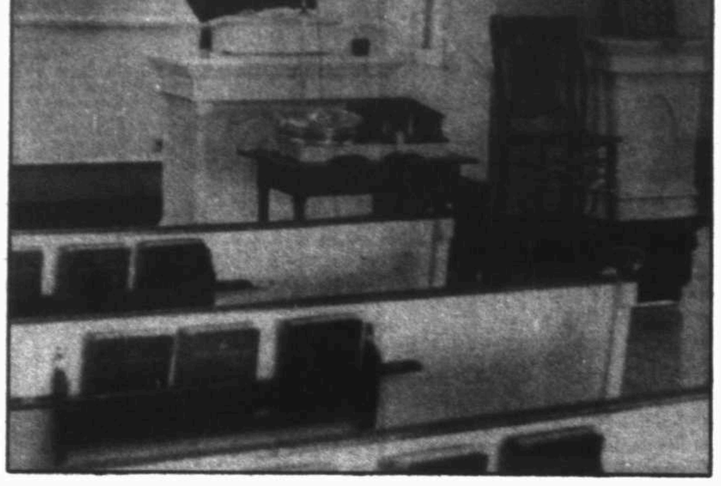

But still he preaches.

"If no one is here, God is here and he hears prayers," Gustafson said, looking across his empty church in this central Wisconsin community of 9,500 people. "I felt I heard the Lord say to stay so I stayed."

One by one, church members have drifted away, and the last member of his congregation left town about two years ago. Even his church building, owned by the Central Conference of the Evangelical Covenant Church in Chicago, is for sale.

"Sometimes, we have a number of visitors. A family from Pine River has been coming fairly regularly," Gustafson said, a smile covering his bearded face.

"When someone is here, I am encouraged," he added. "When they are not here, I just feel this is the way it is and this is the way I accept it. There's a lot to thank the Lord for."

The Rev. Arthur Gustafson, 78, preaches to an empty church in Merrill, Wisc. Without a congregation, Gustafson says his services are simple: He reads the Bible, gives a short sermon and sings.

Gustafson is the church's sole supporter, donating some of his Social Security check and an investment that earns $62 a month. The Park City Baptist congregation in Merrill helps with the bills by leasing Gustafson's church for services Sunday morning and evening.

The church was formed almost 100 years ago to meet the needs of Scandinavians settling in central Wisconsin. Since he's been pastor, the congregation seldom exceeded 30 people, he said. "It has always been a small struggling church."

These days, Gustafson, a frail man of slight build, struggles with his health, too. "My hearing isn't so good. I wear a couple of hearing aids."

Every Sunday, Gustafson prints six church bulletins, listing the order of worship and a few announcements.

His service is simple. He reads the Bible, gives a short sermon and sings. For hymns, he plays the melody on a piano with his right hand, faintly singing the words.

Paul Nulton, pastor of the Christ United Methodist Church in Merrill, believes Gustafson hasn't retired because his church and its rows of pews with cracking paint are like family.

Other ministers understand Gustafson's devotion and realize that for him to get active in another thriving congregation would be difficult, Nulton said.

"It would be kind of like a 78-year-old person joining a new family because his old family died off. It just doesn't work that way," Nulton said.

Last Sunday, Gustafson prepared enough wine for 12 people to drink during communion, the church's celebration of Jesus Christ's last supper with his disciples.

No one showed.

"I always like to have plenty," he said, smiling.

Conference deals with addictive behaviors

DALLAS — "Addiction in the Religious Congregation" is the topic of a regional, interfaith conference — featuring author J. Keith Miller and award-winning vocalist Cynthia Clawson — Tuesday and Wednesday at Spring Valley United Methodist Church, Dallas.

More than 10 percent of all church members are affected directly by substance abuse problems, and more than one-fourth have addicted loved ones, according to the conference organizers.

"A great deal has been done to address the medical and psychological aspects of this problem," says a release from the public relations department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. "The spiritual bankruptcy of the chemically dependent person is not aggressively addressed. The religious community can play a critical role in filling that spiritual void."

The conference is designed to equip religious leaders to deal with substance abuse problems in their faith communities.

Workshop topics include "Chemical Dependency and Family Needs," "Chemical dependency: Sin vs Disease," "Bridging the Higher Power Concept" and "Dealing with Shame and guilt in Addiction."

Miller, author of "The Taste of New Wine" and "Facing Codependency," will present "insights" from his new book, "A Hunger for Healing: The Twelve Steps as a Classic Model for Christian Spiritual Growth," scheduled for release next January.

For more information contact Lester Wigley, Rebirth, Inc., 11325 Pegasus, Suite W102, Dallas, Texas 75238.

Alamo Heights to show film

Alamo Heights Baptist Church, 1305 N. MIdland Drive, has announced that it will show the film "Cry From the Mountain," a World Wide Pictures Production, at 6 p.m. Oct. 28.

"This is an exciting adventure film with a setting in the majestic wilderness of Alaska with scene after scene portraying the beauty and wildlife of this 'last frontier' state," said a release from the church.

The story centers around the Sanders family whose story relates to the lives of so many people in our present day society, the release said.

The Sanders' lives are in "crises." Larry has had an affair with a woman in his office and his wife, Carolyn, who is pregnant, is considering having an abortion. Sanders takes his 10-year-old son, Cal, on a camping trip where he plans to break the news that he and Cal's mother are getting a divorce, but their trip is interrupted by a life-threatening accident.

"As is often the case in so many lives, this life-threatening accident brings this family to a realization of what real love and forgiveness in a family means," the release said. "It is a heart-warming movie for the entire family."

World Wide Pictures Production also produced "Joni" and "The Prodigal."

Billy Graham appears as himself in the film.

The public is invited to see the movie.

National Pastoral Care Week wraps up Sunday

By Georgia Todd Temple
Staff Writer

"Partnership in Healing" has been the theme of National Pastoral Care Week, which concludes Sunday.

"Among other things, healing and pastoral care demonstrate a dedication to human dignity, appreciation for individual differences, a balance of acceptance and accountability, a dedication to justice and mercy and an incarnation of love and hope," said the Congress on Ministry in Specialized Settings, the organization instrumental in establishing the national observance in 1984. "Nothing distinguishes institutions as much as the quality of their healing."

Midland is blessed with an active pastoral care community, said the Rev. Alan Williams, chaplain at Midland Memorial Hospital.

"Most of the large congregations have pastoral care teams," Williams said. He quickly cited as examples the Guadalupe Catholic Church, St. Ann's Catholic Church, First Presbyterian Church, Holy Trinity Episcopal Church and First United Methodist Church saying these are only five of the churches with "very active pastoral care teams.

"It makes me feel good to know that there is good care going on for people with a church background that have no local church," Williams said, referring to patients at Midland Memorial Hospital who are from out of town or are inactive church members.

The hospital's program includes 10 clergy members who function as interdenominational volunteers in the emergency department periodically through the month, Williams said. He finds it "outstanding" that some of these volunteers have been with the program for up to five years.

In addition, Midland Memorial Hospital has 50 shepherd staff members who work in teams of two to visit throughout the hospital many nights of the month.

"All of these personalities God can use to help people," Williams said. "Part of my job is giving my job away, helping other people be better pastoral care givers no matter if they are clergy, lay people or staff members."

The national observance honors the thousands of pastoral care givers of all faiths working in congregations and in such specialized settings as hospitals, correctional facilities, mental health systems, the military and counseling centers to provide spiritual healing resources to millions of Americans.

'Prodigal Son' to premiere at Latter-Day Saints church

Midland citizens will have the opportunity to take a closer look at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints Sunday when the church premieres a new film and hosts an open house at 4805 Gateway St.

The new film series, entitled "The Prodigal Son," is a modern-day depiction of the well-known biblical parable of the same name. It will be shown at 7 p.m. The 30-minute film will be transmitted from Salt Lake City via satellite.

"The film portrays the story of a man who has just returned home after spending months in a rehabilitation center and the reaction of his family to his return," said Bob Stanton, local lay leader of the LDS church.

"It's a drama that shows how choices affect us and how we can all benefit from accepting the teachings of Jesus Christ."

Following the premiere of the film, guests may view displays in the church which feature discussions about families, the purpose of life, Jesus Christ and the Book of Mormon.

"We want to invite all our neighbors and non-member friends to visit with us at this open house," Stanton said. "We think the film has a message for everyone, and the open house provides a great opportunity for non-members to see our church in an informal setting."

The Midland open house is one of more than 1,100 open house taking place the same night in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, Haiti, the West Indies and the Dominican Republic. For more information call Stanton, 697-1180.

ABC to air 'The Common Good'

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Common Good," examining how communities work through ethical dilemmas and produced by the National Council of Churches, is to be broadcast Sunday on ABC-TV.

The show is the first of four specials in a 1990-91 "Vision and Values" series presented by the Interfaith Broadcasting Commission.

In "The Common Good," differing perspectives on right choices are brought out about community issues in economically depressed Barbour County, W.Va., and in affluent Westchester County, N.Y.

Sociologist Robert Bellah of the University of California says that as a principle, the "common good" is urgent these days "as we are seeing that if individuals simply seek to maximize their own welfare, they produce not a common good, but a common bad."

The interfaith commission also includes the U.S. Catholic Conference, the Jewish Theological Seminary of America and the Southern Baptist Radio and Film Commission.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Film features Rev. Graham

Alamo Heights Baptist Church, 1305 N. Midland Drive, has announced that it will show the film "Cry From the Mountain," a World Wide Pictures Production, at 6 p.m. Sunday.

"This is an exciting adventure film with a setting in the majestic wilderness of Alaska with scene after scene portraying the beauty and wildlife of this 'last frontier' state," said a release from the church.

The story centers around the Sanders family whose story relates to the lives of so many people in our present day society, the release said.

The Sanders' lives are in "crises." Larry has had an affair with a woman in his office and his wife, Carolyn, who is pregnant, is considering having an abortion. Sanders takes his 10-year-old son, Cal, on a camping trip where he plans to break the news that he and Cal's mother are getting a divorce, but their trip is interrupted by a life-threatening accident.

"As is often the case in so many lives, this life-threatening accident brings this family to a realization of what real love and forgiveness in a family means," the release said. "It is a heartwarming movie for the entire family."

World Wide Pictures Production also produced "Joni" and "The Prodigal."

Billy Graham appears as himself in the film.

The public is invited to see the movie.

Church requests treats

Treats not tricks are being requested by young people from the Midland Seventh-day Adventist Church when they make their rounds of homes several days before Halloween.

"At the door they say they have a treat not a trick and present the homeowner with wholesome reading material for the family and a grocery sack," said a release from the local church. "Residents are asked to fill the grocery sack with canned food and clothing, to be picked up Halloween night."

The "treats" represent a 35-year nationwide tradition called the Halloween Can Collection Program by participating Pathfinder Clubs. Pathfinders are the members of the denomination's co-educational scouting-type program for young people between the ages of 10 and 15.

"Throughout the history of Pathfinding, the dynamics of collecting food and clothing for the needy has always been a main stay of Adventist youth activities," said Donna Barrosa, Pathfinder director.

Church hosts fun night

A Halloween Fun Night of "trick or treating" is planned for 6:30 to 8 p.m. Wednesday at Bellview Baptist Church, 1710 N. Big Spring St.

Games, prizes, candy, refreshments and movies are scheduled for the event to provide a safe and enjoyable Halloween for children ages 3 through sixth grade. Children will not be allowed to leave until the program is over unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

The public is invited to attend.

Anniversary celebrated

Good Shepherd Evangelical Lutheran Church will celebrate its 10th year anniversary Sunday.

The event will be marked by a 4 p.m. address by guest pastor the Rev. James Tauscher of San Antonio. A pot luck dinner will follow his talk.

The public is invited to attend.

The Rev. David Krenke is pastor of Good Shepherd, 3800 Bluebird Lane. Sunday School and Bible Class is at 9:30 a.m. Worship services follow at 10:45 a.m. Sundays.

Atkins hosts program

Sonshine Radio KENT, 90.5 FM and 920 AM, is hosting a Share-A-Thon Thursday through Nov. 3.

Host for the program will be Kent Atkins, president of KENT. Co-hosting will be Mike Middleton of Lifetime Guarantee.

Hours for the Share-A-Thon are 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday and Friday and 8 a.m. to midnight Nov. 3.

KENT is looking for volunteers to man the telephones. For more information or to volunteer call 1-332-5791.

Brass quintet performs

The Lone Star Brass Quintet will join with choirs and the congregation of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church in a Reformation Festival Service Sunday.

"Reformation means to restore the church to what God intended it to be," said the Rev. Ray Johansen, Grace Lutheran's pastor. "It's important that the church be and stay the way God made it.

"Through the centuries, since Martin Luther began the Reformation (473 years ago) science and technology have helped people to live healthier, longer and more comfortable lives, but we haven't learned how to make people better. We haven't devised a way to make ourselves at peace with God or save ourselves from the self-destruction of sin. But God has. And the Reformation reminds us that by God's grace we don't have to. Christ did it for us, and we need only take it, that is, believe it."

In addition to performing for the Reformation Festival Service, the Quintet will be playing before and after the 10:30 a.m. service.

The public is invited to attend.

'Caught' being shown

"Caught," the newest film from Billy Graham's World Wide Pictures, will be shown at 7 p.m. Sunday at Calvary Baptist Church, 1001 S. Main St.

"The true to life dramatic story portrays the power of one person caring for another," said a release from World Wide Pictures.

An 18-year-old American, Tim Devon, goes to Amsterdam in search of the father he has never known. His mother reluctantly admits he was born illegitimately out of a college romance she had with a Dutch exchange student.

"In this city, far from home, he slips into the self-destructive drug culture, but is encouraged by a single, caring person — a person of deep faith," the release said. "The person, Rajam Prasad, found a way to share Christ's message of love, hope and forgiveness in a way that Tim could not ignore."

No admission will be charged. The public is invited to attend.

Linton leading camp

The Westside Free Will Baptist Church, 4031 W. Illinois Ave., is holding an "Old Fashioned Camp Meeting" at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Rev. Linton

Evangelist for the week will be the Rev. Curtis Linton of Tulsa, Okla. Linton is the pastor of Northside Free Will Baptist Church there.

"Brother Linton has been used of God to build a church of more than five hundred, start a Christian school and also use him in revival meetings around the country," said the Rev. D.F. Bailey, pastor of Westside Free Will Baptist Church.

Each service will include preaching and gospel singing. The public is invited to attend.

Video seminar Sunday

Clyde Beeson's video seminar "Suddenly Single" will be presented by the Single Adult Ministry of Bellview Baptist Church beginning at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

The seminar has four sessions. They will be presented in the church's new Christian Life Center, 1710 N. Big Spring St.

"Suddenly Single: What to do When Divorce Strikes the Home" is based on author and former pastor Clyde Beeson's personal experiences. Areas that are covered include dealing with feelings, divorce and the Bible, leaving the past behind and reaffirming self-worth.

Each session will last from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. The sessions end Nov. 18.

Child care will be provided. The public is invited to attend the seminar.

Anniversary planned

The First Christian Church is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

As a part of the planned activities, Sunday has been designated as homecoming day where all former members and invited to return for a continental breakfast to be served at the church at 9:30 a.m. prior to the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

The Rev. Richard Clayborne, a former minister of the church who lives in Arlington, will deliver the sermon, "Coming Home to a Celebration."

As always, visitors are welcome and are encouraged to celebrate this special event with both the members and the former members of the church.

Neujahr remembered

Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, 3000 W. Golf Course Road, will conduct a Mission Festival Nov. 4.

The festival, celebrated on All Saints Sunday, will this year be dedicated to the memory of Don Neujahr, who recently died. Neujahr served many years as chairman of Grace's Mission Board.

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Carl A. Gaertner, pastor emeritus of Zion Lutheran Church, Dallas. His message will be "God's Busy Saints" based on Revelation 14:12.

The festival worship service begins at 10:30 a.m. and will include holy communion. Following the service will be a congregational pot luck dinner.

The public is invited to attend.

Fellowship scheduled

Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will hold its End of the Month fellowship after church Sunday evening.

Clean air bill has Texas connection

By James Cullen
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

STATE

The new act requires EPA to establish control guidelines for 190 toxic compounds.

AUSTIN — The new Clean Air Act will force more air pollution controls, but it also will encourage use of Texas natural gas as a cleaner alternative fuel, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said Friday.

The 700-page bill, passed by the House Friday night by a 401-25 margin, would strengthen and broaden the government's authority to reduce air pollution. President Bush is expected to sign the measure.

The Texas Air Control Board anticipates tripling its staff of 400 and its $16 million budget to handle additional responsibilities, with the revenue coming from fees on permitted polluters, said Beverly Hartsock, executive assistant to the agency's director.

Texas industries released 169.9 million pounds of air pollution in 1988, the latest year for which figures were available. Ector County industries reported 3 million pounds of pollutants into the air, while Midland County reported 148,986 pounds of pollutant emissions.

The figures do not include pollution from vehicles or small businesses.

At Mauro's prompting the Texas Legislature in 1989 ordered conversions in school buses, state vehicles and mass transit fleets to alternative fuels, including compressed natural gas.

The national law aims at converting fleets in 27 cities with the dirtiest air, including Houston, in the next decade.

The revisions also open another market for Texas natural gas, as coal-fired utility and industrial boilers are required to reduce emissions such as nitrogen oxide and sulfur dioxide, Mauro said.

"For the vast majority of these utilities, the fastest, cheapest, most effective way to make these emissions cuts is by co-firing their plants with natural gas," Mauro said.

In the past, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has attempted to establish standards for a relative handful of seven toxic chemicals. The new act requires EPA to establish control guidelines for 190 toxic compounds.

The plan significantly expands efforts to control six major pollutants, including ozone.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency already lists Beaumont-Port Arthur, Dallas-Fort Worth, El Paso and Houston as four metropolitan areas in non-attainment of ozone standards. This means those areas must reduce their ozone emissions by 3 percent annually.

Merritt Singer, superintendent of environmental projects and services at Du Pont's Beaumont Works, said although Du Pont faces higher costs, it supports the new law as it emerged from the congressional conference committee.

"Knowing that we do have to do something, this seems like a reasonable approach," he said.

Du Pont already has spent tens of millions of dollars in the past few years on equipment to reduce pollutants at the Beaumont Works, Singer said. "We haven't been ignoring the problem," he said.

As more pollution controls are added, he said, "It is going to make the production of chemicals more expensive and that price is going to go to consumers.

Ken Kramer, director of the Lone Star Chapter of the Sierra Club, applauded the passage of the revised act, which he said represents "a major step forward in air pollution control" after a hard fought battle.

But Kramer warned that environmentalists will remain vigilant in watching the EPA and state agencies implement the act.

Perry wags finger at Hightower

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is inept because he recently lost his fingertip in a lawn mower accident, his Republican rival Rick Perry charged Friday.

"This incident fully emphasizes his total lack of common sense," Perry said.

Hightower's campaign responded, saying, "It's unbelievable Perry is trying to make this a campaign issue."

This week, Hightower cut off the tip of his finger while mowing.

After a news conference Thursday, Hightower quipped, "I managed to put my finger under a lawn mower. If you'll check your manual and remember what your Mama said and what common sense tells us, is don't do that."

Perry blasted Hightower, saying, "It's probably a good thing Hightower is not a farmer, because there are machines much more dangerous than lawn mowers on the farm, like shredders and bush hogs and balers."

Richards credits Williams with her rise in polls

Associated Press

Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ann Richards on Friday credited GOP opponent Clayton Williams with contributing to her recent rise in the election polls, but she told about 1,000 supporters in Houston that they had to keep working until Nov. 6 to assure her victory.

"I know that Clayton Williams is doing everything he can to help us, but we can't count on him," she said to rousing laughter.

"I want you to be prepared for whatever might come in these next few days because I fully expect that they're going to try to throw everything — including the kitchen sink — at us," Richards said.

"But that's OK. That's all right. If we do our job, they're going to be the ones waking up the morning after the election wondering what in the world they should have done differently."

Earlier, Richards battled hecklers at the University of Texas to tell a student rally that a Republican pledge of "no new taxes" really means a tax increase is just around the corner.

Both President Bush and Texas Gov. Bill Clements promised no taxes while campaigning, then agreed to raise taxes when in office, Richards told the students.

"We read his (Bush's) lips, and now we know," she said. "No new taxes means your taxes are fixing to go up. ... You vote for the Republicans that make promises and do not keep them."

Williams has pledged to oppose any new taxes, although legislative experts have forecast a budget deficit of more than $3 billion for next year. Richards also has said she opposes new taxes.

Later, at a fund raising rally in Houston, Richards brought Republican supporters into the fold.

"I've been a Democrat all my life," she said. "The Democratic Party has represented to me the goals and dreams and aspirations of this country. But I've said all along, once you are elected to office, you represent all the people, not just the people who are aligned with you. And that's the reason we have so many Republicans for Richards here in this auditorium. And I am grateful for your support."

At both rallies, Richards strongly emphasized her pro-choice stance on abortion.

"No bureaucrat, no legislator, no judge and indeed no governor has the right to interfere in the choice of a woman," she said.

She also chided Williams for refusing to debate her. "It would be wonderful, truly, if my opponent would appear in a debate," she said.

The Democratic candidate organized the Austin rally, which drew about 3,000 students. Most supported Richards, but a vocal minority chanted "Claytie, Claytie" throughout much of her speech. Each time, they were drowned out by Richards' backers chanting, "Ann, Ann, Ann."

"It's good to live in a country where we all are afforded the right of free speech," Richards said to the hecklers. Later, she laughingly noted that one young man was carrying a sign that read, "Real Women Choose Williams." As she mentioned him, he quickly handed the sign to a female student.

In Houston, meanwhile, Williams toured the Harris County clerk's office where absentee ballots are being collected and where the votes will be tabulated for the county on election night.

"I think any person running for office is concerned about ballot security," Williams said.

County Clerk Anita Rodeheaver, who conducted the tour, would not predict an election day turnout, but said the county, the state's most populous, had about a 56 percent turnout, or some 480,000 voters, in the last gubernatorial election four years ago.

Harris County accounts for nearly 20 percent of all the state vote.

"That's why I've been here a lot," Williams laughed. "Gosh, I'm glad we're doing well here."

Fourteen injured in bus crash

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — A school bus carrying students home from classes Friday went out of control, overturned and landed upright in a gully, injuring 13 children and the driver, authorities said.

The driver lost control of the bus for unknown reasons about 4 p.m. on a two-lane road in a rural area about 20 miles southwest of this north-central Texas community, said Sgt. John Stahl of the state Department of Public Safety.

The eastbound bus swerved into the westbound lane, overturned once and came to rest upright in a gully, Stahl said.

Patsy Jackson, 8, was in critical condition with internal and head injuries, hospital officials said. The child was airlifted to Cook Children's Medical Center in Fort Worth, where she was undergoing surgery late Friday, said hospital spokeswoman Robin Worthington.

The other 12 children — ranging in age from 5 to 13 — and the bus driver were treated at hospitals for minor to moderate injuries, hospital officials said.

Virginia Bethel, 13, was in fair condition late Friday at Harris Methodist Hospital in Stephenville.

The driver, Elena Rouse, 33, was taken by helicopter ambulance to Harris Methodist Fort Worth hospital where she was in serious condition with head injuries, officials said.

Gordon Volunteer Fire Department spokeswoman Betty Cathey said the bus was taking students home when the accident occurred near Gordon, about 50 miles west of Fort Worth.

"It's a miracle that it's not worse," said Judy Kathey, Rouse's sister, who also drives a school bus in the small farming town.

The children escaped the bus through doors and windows after the accident, Kathey said.

Commissioner's fast a symbol of protest

SINTON (AP) — County Commissioner Pedro G. "Pete" Rodriguez says he'll limit his diet to coffee and water until he can resolve differences with San Patricio County Auditor Michael Weisman.

Rodriguez said he would stage a hunger strike until Weisman is removed from office or "changes his philosophy and follows the law."

Seated in front of a huge Live Oak tree on the county courthouse lawn, Rodriguez said Thursday that Weisman has become impossible to work with and frustration over Weisman's refusal to pay overtime to road maintenance workers finally led him to take such a desperate measure.

"I think the auditor is a very abrasive person," Rodriguez said. "He's vindictive and authoritative, and he's unwilling to admit when he makes a mistake."

Weisman laughed when he heard that Rodriguez was on hunger strike.

Reached in Beaumont where he is attending an auditors' convention, Weisman told The Associated Press he thinks Weisman's protest is "funny."

"I can just see him sitting out there on front lawn in front of that oak tree," he said. "I hope the man has more sense than to threaten to set himself on fire because I don't think I'll be there to put it out."

Rodriguez said Weisman has placed the welfare and safety of county residents in jeopardy by refusing to authorize budget transfers needed to make road repairs.

STATE IN BRIEF

State to benefit from conviction

AUSTIN (AP) — The state stands to recover between $2 million and $6 million after obtaining a major conviction in a motor fuel tax fraud investigation, Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle announced Friday.

Earle said Wilbur Roy Watson, former president of a Dallas fuel supplier, W.R.W. Enterprises Inc., was convicted and sentenced on eight felony charges by District Judge Bob Jones.

Watson paid $40,000 in fines and surrendered $360,000 in cash as the first payment of restitution ordered by the court, Earle said.

"This man stole millions from the state and its taxpayers and it's time for him to pay it back," said state Comptroller Bob Bullock, who with Earle has been investigating fuel tax fraud cases.

Watson was convicted on four counts charging him with filing false fuel tax reports and four counts charging failure to remit fuel taxes.

The sentence requires Watson to serve one year in a county jail work release facility on one charge. He was placed on 10 years probation on each of the remaining charges.

The judge also imposed the maximum possible $40,000 in fines on the eight charges and ordered Watson to make up to $960,000 in restitution while on probation, Earle said.

Trial not being moved

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A convicted rapist will be tried in El Paso on a serial murder charge accusing him of killing six women and young girls and burying them in the desert, a judge decided Friday.

Despite extensive publicity in the case, 171st District Court Judge Peter Peca decided against ruling on a motion the judge himself filed earlier this month to Wood outside the city.

Wood was indicted July 13 under the state capital murder statute. He adamantly denies committing the killings and has filed a $20.5 million lawsuit against the El Paso Police, accusing them of harassment.

Pay-off RTC approved

WASHINGTON ( ) — The Resolution Trust Corp., the federal agency created to straighten out the savings and loan industry, Friday approved paying off the insured deposits of Southmost Savings and Loan Association in Brownsville, Texas, and Southeastern Savings Association in Dayton, Texas.

Southmost Savings, which had total assets of about $89.4 million and total liabilities of $125.2 million, was closed by the Office of Thrift Supervision and the RTC was named receiver. Deposits at the thrift totaled about $97.4 million in 9,800 accounts.

Southeastern Savings, with total assets of about $82.9 million and total liabilities of $111.7 million, had about 6,100 deposit accounts totaling $89 million. The RTC was named receiver.

The RTC also was appointed receiver for CitySavings and Loan Association in San Antonio until officials negotiate a permanent resolution for the troubled thrift.

Founder of CBS empire dies in Manhattan at age of 89

NEW YORK (AP) — William S. Paley, the cigarmaker's son who bought a fledgling radio network for $400,000 in 1928 and turned it into the $3 billion-a-year communications conglomerate known as CBS Inc., died Friday. He was 89.

Paley died at his Manhattan home at 11 p.m., said Ann Morfogen, vice president of media relations at CBS. He had been ill with pneumonia.

Paley controlled the Columbia Broadcasting System for more than half a century as president or board chairman of its radio and television networks and its film, publishing, recording and other subsidiaries.

More than a decade after normal retirement age, he was still reporting for work at his sumptuous office atop "Black Rock," the black marble-faced tower in midtown Manhattan housing CBS headquarters, and giving the final approval to all major policy decisions.

In April 1983, he turned the reins of CBS Inc. over to Thomas H. Wyman.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A free-lance photographer who says he was "roughed up" after John Goodman's wedding in New Orleans last year is suing the actor, three police officers and the city.

Russell Turiak of New York, in a federal lawsuit filed Thursday, said he was accosted by policemen when he tried to take pictures of the Goodmans as they left their wedding reception aboard the river boat Creole Queen.

Goodman, 37, married Annabeth Hartzog, a former University of New Orleans student and model.

The photographer claims an officer grabbed him in a choke hold and removed the film from his camera after threatening to kill him if he didn't give it up.

Losing the film cost Turiak money and damaged his professional reputation with the unnamed publications to which he promised photos, the suit said.

Turiak seeks unspecified damages.

Goodman, who plays Roseanne Barr's husband on the television show "Roseanne," appeared in "The Big Easy" and "Everybody's All-American," both filmed in the New Orleans area.

He is scheduled to appear as Santa Claus in a New Orleans Christmas parade in December.

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles says developers need to check with environmental groups before beginning projects that could destroy Britain's wildlife habitats.

Actor Patrick Swayze and musical guest Mariah Carey rehearse for the Oct. 27 broadcast of "Saturday Night Live" in New York on Thursday.

The heir to the British throne made the statement Thursday in a videotaped message played at a news conference. It accompanied the release of a report by the Royal Society for Nature Conservation.

Nearly 700 sites of special scientific interest were lost or damaged between 1984 and 1988, the prince said, quoting government figures.

Road-building plans in southeast Britain could damage more than 370 other sites, he said.

"One pond drained, one new road through one small corner of an ancient woodland, might not in itself be a disaster, but the destruction of a whole network of sites, by a whole catalogue of changes, can destroy the viability of entire communities of wildlife," he said.

DALLAS (AP) — Actor Martin Sheen will play the lead in a European miniseries scheduled to be filmed here after Christmas.

"Touch and Die," a project of Italian, French, German and British producers, depicts a presidential candidate campaigning with tainted funds.

Ruble devalued as Gorbachev allows foreign-owned firms

MOSCOW (AP) — President Mikhail S. Gorbachev issued a series of economic decrees Friday that sharply devalue the ruble and allow 100 percent foreign ownership of companies in the Soviet Union.

Taking advantage of new powers given to him last month by the Soviet legislature, Gorbachev decreed the changes as part of his plan to convert this nation of 285 million residents to a market-based economy over a period of about two years.

The new commercial exchange rate for the ruble will go into effect Nov. 1, cutting the value of the Soviet currency by nearly 70 percent to spur exports and reduce imports, according to a decree published in the government newspaper Izvestia.

A second decree signed by Gorbachev permits Soviet citizens to buy shares in enterprises, purchase bonds and hold other securities, either singly or in registered groups, the official Soviet news agency Tass reported.

That decree also says foreign investors can establish enterprises in the Soviet Union, either in joint ventures with Soviet firms or with 100 percent foreign ownership. In the past, Soviet firms had to retain majority control.

Profits of foreign investors can be reinvested or transferred abroad under rules promulgated by the Soviet legislature, the decree said. It did now say when the new rules would be announced or when they would take effect.

"Foreign investors on Soviet territory will enjoy legal protection, and conditions cannot be less favorable than the corresponding conditions for the property of Soviet organizations, enterprises and citizens of the U.S.S.R.," the decree said.

The decree on stock ownership will have little immediate impact, because the Soviet Union does not yet have a stock exchange. However, officials have been discussing opening an exchange and recently sought advice from visiting representatives of the New York Stock Exchange.

Devaluation of the ruble, though, affects only one of the two official exchange rates.

Israeli report criticizes police commanders

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli report on the Temple Mount killings exonerated police Friday for using live gunfire on rioting stone throwers. But it severely criticized police commanders for ignoring warning signs of potential riots.

The report drew immediate criticism from Palestinians and Israeli leftists and brought renewed demands for Israel to allow a United Nations investigation into the deaths of 20 Palestinians in the Oct. 8 bloodbath.

The three-man Israeli investigative team said Palestinians started the riots. Still, it accused police commanders of failing to heed the danger that rioting could easily erupt in the heated atmosphere among Moslems at the shrine. And it said there was "indiscriminate use of live ammunition."

The panel, appointed by Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said danger to policemen's lives justified the overall use of gunfire, but also emphasized "the immediate need to develop alternatives to the use of live ammunition."

In the riots at the shrine in Jerusalem's walled Old City, more than 140 people were wounded by gunshots in addition to those killed, according to hospitals.

Police initially listed 19 dead, but Friday's report increased the toll to 20.

The killings brought a hail of international criticism of Israel. On Oct. 12, the U.N. Security Council condemned the use of excessive force, and Wednesday it delored Israel's refusal to accept a U.N. investigation.

Both resolutions were backed by the United States, Israel's chief ally.

Friday's 59-page report blamed the start of the rioting on "violent and threatening" calls through loudspeakers at the Mount's two mosques, including an exhortation to "slaughter the Jews."

AP Laserphoto

An elderly Palestinian man hobbles past a group of Israeli border police Friday in the Old City of Jerusalem. Only 7,000 Moslem worshippers were allowed into the Al Aqsa Mosque on the Temple Mount for Friday prayers.

A barrage of rocks and metal objects was then unloosed at policemen on the Mount, the report said.

"The commission has concluded that the lives of the police on the Temple Mount were endangered, and that they feared for their lives and for the lives of thousands of worshipers at the Western Wall," the report said.

Stones hitting Jews caused an intensely emotional reaction since the wall, also known at the Wailing Wall, is revered as the last remnant of the ancient Jewish temple.

Initial reports said the stoning began when as many as 20,000 Jews were at the wall for prayers during the eight-day festival of Sukkot. But the report noted that the first stones were aimed at police on the Mount above 55 minutes after the prayers ended, when Jews began moving away.

It listed nine Jews injured at the wall and 21 police hurt by rocks during the 40 minutes before police issued a cease-fire order.

After tear gas and rubber bullets failed to halt the rioting, police retreated from the mosque compound, the report said. It said they began to use live ammunition as they charged back onto the Mount.

The live fire also was justified by pleas for rescue from two police on the Mount, the report said. However, it later turned out the men already had been rescued by Moslem officials.

The report's strongest criticism was aimed at Jerusalem Police Chief Aryeh Bibi and District Commander Rahamim Comfort, saying they did not recognize the potential for rioting and were not even present in the area.

The report added: "We found virtually no attitude of special sensitivity ... when masses of Jewish worshipers were in the Western Wall plaza while at the same time, opposite on the Temple Mount, thousands of impassioned youths were gathering."

The Temple Mount is also holy to Moslems, who call it the Haram es-Sharif and believe it is the spot where Prophet Mohammed ascended to heaven.

The rioting erupted on a day when a group of extremist Jews had announced a gathering to lay a cornerstone for the building of a Third Jewish Temple atop the Moslem-controlled Mount.

The commission did not recommend disciplinary action against police officials, saying that was not part of its mandate. But Police Minister Roni Milo told reporters that after he studied the commission's findings "the necessary conclusions will be drawn."

After the report was released, the liberal Shinui Party and the Communists both urged the government again to allow a U.N. team to probe the killings.

WORLD IN BRIEF

State of emergency imposed in Moldavia

MOSCOW (AP) — The government of Moldavia clamped a state of emergency on its southern region Friday, after the Gagauz ethnic minority declared sovereignty from the republic and began holding local elections.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said the republic was "on the brink of civil war" as volunteer brigades of college-age Moldavians arrived in the disputed area to try to stop the separatist movement.

About 150,000 Gagauz, who are of Turkish descent, live in Moldavia and make up about 3 percent of its 4.3 million people. They claim 11 percent of its territory.

The largely agricultural republic, which borders Romania, is the latest of several Soviet republics to face separatist movements and ethnic tension.

The conflicts in Moldavia, Armenia, Georgia and elsewhere are fragmenting the country and pose a serious obstacle to President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reforms.

Pakistan election cleared

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — International poll watchers said Friday they found no evidence to support ousted Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto's claims that her party lost a parliamentary election because of widespread voter fraud.

Ms. Bhutto rejected the findings and declared: "Today we have a constitutional dictator after an electoral coup d'etat."

The winning alliance said it hoped the investigation would persuade Washington to resume vital economic and military aid to Pakistan.

Ms. Bhutto's center-left Pakistan People's Party was defeated by the right-wing Islamic Democratic Alliance more than 2-1 in Wednesday's election.

Raisa drops into wine bar

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spanish officials said Raisa Gorbachev let it be known from the start she didn't want a special program when her husband Mikhail S. Gorbachev made a three-day official visit to Spain.

So, when the Soviet president began his first round of talks with Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez after arrival Friday, Raisa Maximovna set out to see the Spanish capital.

At the Plaza Mayor in oldtown Madrid, Mrs. Gorbachev stopped in a tavern with a city official and drank a toast with red Rioja wine to the Spanish and Soviet people. Onlookers applauded.

Survivor fined after fall

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — A student who fell eight stories after trying to climb in through the window of his locked apartment has been billed more than $1,300 to repair the roof he landed on.

Authorities at first mistook the accident, which occurred in August in Oulu, northern Finland, as a case of attempted suicide, police Sgt. Tapio Perala said Friday.

"We soon realized that he just couldn't find his keys. He thought he had left them in the apartment so he decided to climb in through the window," Perala said.

The "relatively soft" corrugated metal roof of the bicycle shelter 82 feet below the window ledge saved the life of the 20-year-old student, Perala said.

The owner of the apartment demanded that the student pay $1,380 for damaging the roof.

Journalist wounded, wife killed in Guatemala ambush

GUATEMALA CITY (AP) — Two gunmen riding a motorcycle shot and gravely wounded the director of a Central American news agency Friday in the second such attack on a journalist in two weeks. The journalist's wife died in the attack.

Byron Barrera Ortiz, 37, was in critical condition. Slain was his wife, Refugio Aracely de Barrera, 39, said Fire Department spokesman Haroldo Juarez. A friend of the couple, Luis Roberto Gatica, 25, was wounded.

The three were driving in a car when the motorcyclist closed in and opened fire at close range. Humberto Gonzalez Gamarra, a radio station owner, was murdered in similar fashion on Oct. 15.

Barrera's brother, Adolfo Barrera, blamed the attack Friday on right-wing extremists. Death squads linked to various security forces have been blamed for countless murders in Guatemala the last three decades, though such cases are rarely solved.

Barrera fled into exile in Mexico during the 1978-82 presidency of Gen. Romeo Lucas Garcia, a high-point in official terror during which thousands of labor leaders, politicians and social reformers were killed or disappeared.

He returned in 1986, after an elected civilian government took office, and founded a liberal newspaper, La Epoca. The newspaper was forced to close last year after its plant was destroyed in a fire blamed on rightists.

Barrera left Guatemala for Costa Rica after the fire, but returned to head the Central American News Agency, ACEN-SIAG.

Barrera also is the vice president of the Guatemalan Journalists' Association.

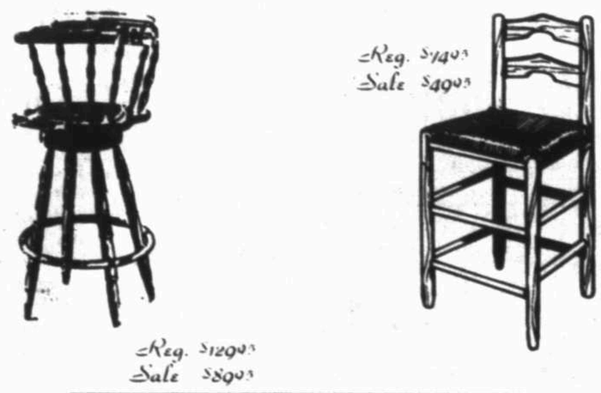

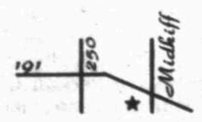

President Vinicio Cerezo said through a spokeswoman that he had ordered an investigation into the attack.

There has been a sharp rise in political violence blamed on the far right in the past year. Cerezo, a Christian Democrat, has been sharply criticized for failing to curb human rights violations.

The climate has been particularly tense the past few weeks as the Nov. 11 general elections near.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS

Exiled Kuwaiti leader calls for attack

Associated Press

Kuwait's exiled prime minister was quoted Friday as appealing for a military strike to oust Iraqi forces from his homeland. Diplomats said the occupiers had seized two American men who evaded capture for weeks.

Iraq gave new indications it might be willing to negotiate a settlement. President Saddam Hussein told Channel 3 radio of Algiers, Algeria, "When the greater interest demands it, everything is open to consideration." But he went on to rule out "ceding our rights."

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, opening a three-day visit to Spain, said his country favors a "political solution." Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze, traveling with him, reportedly said Iraq appears to be seeking international talks.

However, the Soviet leaders said Iraq must withdraw from Kuwait.

President Bush has asked Secretary of State James A. Baker III to visit Saudi Arabia early next month for discussions on the Persian Gulf standoff, the White House said Friday. Press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said news reports that Baker would ask the Saudi government to approve military action against Iraq were "not true."

Baker might also stop in Egypt and other countries, other officials told The Associated Press.

In his comments, Kuwait's exiled prime minister, Sheik Saad al-Abdullah al-Sabah, urged a military strike to reclaim his own homeland — even if it meant leaving the emirate in ruins.

"What is left of Kuwait after what Saddam's soldiers did to it?" the Saudi daily Asharq al-Awsat quoted him as saying in an interview published Friday.

"As a citizen and a responsible official, I am ready to sacrifice everything for the sake of regaining my land and liberating it, and that is how each ordinary Kuwaiti thinks," said the prime minister, who is also crown prince.

Kuwaiti officials earlier agreed with U.S. declarations that the international economic boycott should be given time to work before a military attack is contemplated.

The Americans who were seized were identified by Western diplomats in Baghdad as Uwe Jahnke, 47, of Washington Depot, Conn., and John Stevenson, 44, of Panama City, Fla.

The diplomats, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the pair was brought to Baghdad on Oct. 22, a day after being picked up in Kuwait, and taken to a hotel where scores of other foreigners are being held.

After his Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait, Saddam prevented thousands of foreigners from leaving Iraq and the conquered emirate. Hundreds have since been released, but Saddam is apparently seeking anew to pry concessions from Western governments in exchange for their citizens' freedom.

German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher said Iraq had set a "series of conditions" for the release of about 400 Germans, but that Germany would only accept their unconditional release.

In Canada, Prime Minister Brian Mulroney rejected the idea of sending a high-level envoy to win release of Canadian hostages in Iraq, calling it a bid by Saddam to divide the nations allied against him.

"I think a special envoy is a ploy of Saddam Hussein for publicity purposes, for propaganda purposes, to destabilize the solidarity of the alliance — that's all it is," Mulroney told reporters in Ottawa.

Iraq has said French nationals would be free to leave beginning Saturday, and France has insisted no deal was struck with Saddam to win their freedom.

French officials also denied any knowledge Friday of a letter Saddam reportedly sent to French and Soviet leaders offering to discuss Mideast problems.

French President Francois Mitterrand and Gorbachev are to hold two days of talks in Paris beginning Sunday. The French television network La Cinq said Saddam told the two leaders he was open "to all ideas" in resolving the gulf crisis.

In Washington, the Bush administration for the first time declared the kingdom of Jordan to be in compliance with U.N. sanctions against Iraq. Jordan had dragged its feet on enforcing the trade embargo, drawing the ire of both the United States and Saudi Arabia.

State Department spokesman Richard Boucher stopped short of urging Saudi Arabia to end an oil cutoff aimed at Jordan now that it was complying, but said its economy "warrants generous support."

Jordan was a major trading partner of Iraq before the invasion, and it has been hit hard by the sanctions against Iraq.

Saddam, meanwhile, was said to be seeking reconciliation with Iraq's Kurdish minority. He has attacked the Kurds with chemical weapons in the past.

The Iraqi president's motives were unclear, but he could be seeking to quell internal dissent as he faces a huge multinational force in the gulf region.

A report in the Baghdad newspaper al-Jumhuriya on Friday said Saddam visited Kurdish homes in a northeast province on Thursday, chatting and even praying with residents. Iraq's 3.5 million Kurds have fought for decades for an independent homeland.

In other developments:

■ Kuwait says casualties from the invasion were far higher than initially reported. The government-run Kuwait News Agency, monitored in Bahrain, said Friday that 4,200 Kuwaitis were killed during the invasion. Initial reports had said several hundred died.

■ In Japan, opposition mounted to a proposal to send Japanese troops to the gulf. Thousands of demonstrators marched on the parliament building in Tokyo on Friday to protest the plan. Critics claim the deployment of troops, even in non-combat roles, violates Japan's postwar constitution.

Troop additions will balloon $15 billion cost of operation

By Stewart Powell
Reporter-Telegram Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration's decision to send as many as 100,000 more U.S. troops to Saudi Arabia could substantially increase the cost of Operation Desert Shield, currently estimated at $15 billion in the current fiscal year, Pentagon officials said Friday.

Defense Department budget specialists are reviewing earlier cost estimates in light of the Pentagon's announcement on Thursday that the flow of reinforcements would continue beyond the 240,000 ground, air and sea forces originally scheduled for deployment to the Persian Gulf region. The United States already has sent 210,000 troops to the gulf.

"We're just beginning to look at those (cost) numbers," Pentagon spokesman Jim Turner said. "We expect them to go up."

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney told Congress on Sept. 19 that the far-flung U.S. military operation would cost an estimated $15 billion for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1991.

Salaries and benefits for troops, as well as some operating expenses, would be paid by taxpayers with or without the operation in Saudi Arabia, officials said.

But the U.S. Treasury is bearing considerable additional costs for everything from new equipment, added maintenance, additional supplies of food and fuel and the costs of shipping men and material from the United States to Saudi Arabia by sea and air.

From the time the U.S. reinforcement of Saudi Arabia began on Aug. 7 until Sept. 30, the estimated additional cost for fuel alone was $400 million, officials said.

The cost of using commercial and military cargo planes in the first seven weeks of the operation totalled $453 million, according to Pentagon estimates.

The "aluminum bridge" of aircraft that flew around the clock to ferry men and material to Saudi Arabia after Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of oil-rich Kuwait included 119 C-141 Starlifter cargo transports, 68 C-5A Galaxy cargo planes, 61 commercial cargo planes and 63 passenger planes chartered by the government.

Bush plans Mideast trip at Thanksgiving

By John Wallach
Reporter-Telegram Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — President Bush will visit Saudi Arabia at Thanksgiving to spend time with U.S. forces deployed in the Persian Gulf after Iraq invaded its neighbor Kuwait, a senior administration official disclosed Friday.

Secretary of State James Baker probably will travel to Saudi Arabia, Israel and Egypt soon to lay the groundwork for the visit, the official said. It would be Baker's first trip to Israel, which is angry with the United States over recent U.S. actions in the United Natfons.

The official, who spoke on the condition that he not be identified, said the White House had asked the French government to compress a 35-nation East-West summit, scheduled for mid-November, into two days so that Bush can leave Paris Nov. 20 for Saudi Arabia. He would stay two or three days, including Thanksgiving day — Nov. 22 — and visit U.S. troops stationed in the region, the official said.

Bush originally had intended to stay in Paris until Nov. 21 attending the Conference on European Security and Cooperation, where he will meet with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev and dozens of other heads of state and government attending the summit.

The French agreed to Bush's request to shorten the conference from Nov. 19-21 to Nov. 19-20. Because of the change, each of the 35 leaders will be asked to limit their official remarks to six minutes or less, the official disclosed.

Bush and Gorbachev are expected to jointly issue a strong warning from the 35-nation summit to Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein to withdraw Iraqi forces from Kuwait, the policymaker said. "It will be just short of an ultimatum," the official predicted.

Meanwhile, a State Department source said that Baker, who is spending the weekend at his mountain ranch in Montana, will decide by Monday whether to make his own trip. "The odds are he will go, probably as soon as next Thursday or Friday," the official said.

In addition to laying the groundwork for Bush, Baker wants to hold talks with Saudi King Fahd to maintain a united front in the alliance against Iraq and to visit Israel to repair a rift that has threatened the traditional U.S.-Israeli alliance.

U.N. reaches agreement on anti-Iraq resolution

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Security Council reached broad agreement Friday on a new draft resolution that takes a step toward establishing Iraq's responsibility for war crimes, diplomats said.

The resolution invites nations to collect information on serious abuses of Kuwaitis and other civilians contrary to the Fourth Geneva Convention and share it with the council.

Pickering

Ambassadors ranging from America's Thomas R. Pickering to Cuba's Ricardo Alarcon said the council was now working on details of the resolution's language and structure, and predicted a vote overnight.

The new resolution also would hold Iraq liable for war damages caused by its Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait and invite nations, companies and individuals suffering losses to document the damage for the council. It does not provide for punitive reparations.

The draft resolution threatens Iraq with unspecified new punishment under the U.N. Charter if it doesn't stop mistreating and oppressing Kuwaitis and release its foreign hostages.

It also says Iraq must allow the immediate provision of food, water and basic services to diplomats and foreigners in diplomatic missions in Kuwait City.

Iraq says Kuwait is now a province of Iraq and that the diplomats must move their operations to Baghdad. It has cut off water and electricity to the missions.

All those provisions were part of a draft put forward by Britain and the United States.

Taboo topics listed in Pentagon pamphlet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is advising U.S. troops to avoid discussions about the "Jewish lobby" with their Saudi hosts. Also on a list of taboo subjects are sensual commercials for perfume and lingerie.

"The following items and topics should be avoided or handled carefully," according to a pamphlet written by the U.S. Central Command for distribution to some of the estimated 200,000 troops in and around Saudi Arabia.

At the top of the list of 15 "sensitive" items is "articles and stories showing U.S.-Israeli ties and friendship." Other strictures include discussion of "anti-Arab demonstrations or sentiments in the United States" and of "U.S. involvement in supporting Israel and Israel's current presence in Lebanon."

The Pentagon advises troops to carry the booklet at all times.

Also to be avoided, it suggests, is discussing or showing "sensual advertisements for perfume, blue jeans, women's lingerie, gambling, alcohol, etc.; ads for pork or shellfish (which are forbidden by Islam)."

Other out-of-bounds topics include:

■ "Discussing the 'Jewish lobby' and U.S. intelligence given to Israel."

■ "Referring to the Arab blacklisting of U.S. companies that do business with Israel or the Arab boycotting of companies that have strong Zionist representation in executive positions."

The list, first published in the November issue of Harper's Magazine, has drawn protests from Jewish groups.

Writing to Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, the World Jewish Congress said it wishes to convey "our sense of distress at what appears to be a capitulation to bigotry and a surrender of our democratic values..."

The Pentagon and State Department, mindful of the vast cultural and religious differences between Saudis and Americans, have issued a number of booklets setting out "do's and don'ts" since the troops began arriving in the Persian Gulf in August.

Most of the pamphlets include a brief history of Saudi Arabia and its monarchy, and explanations of the strict Moslem code which governs Saudis' behavior. Alcohol is out for Moslems and for foreign troops; so is socializing with Saudi women.

Other guidelines for Americans found in the pamphlets are: women should cover their legs and arms when out in public; women and men should not show affection in public; Americans should not show the soles of their feet to a Saudi (by sitting with their legs propped on a table, for example) because the gesture is considered an insult; Americans shouldn't ask Saudi men about their wives; Americans shouldn't offer their rations to Saudis because they might contain pork, which is forbidden by Islam.
